The Ultimabot lay broken and defeated. It offered only scant seconds of resistance to Kendra. It's pulse lasers crashed harmlessly away, it's size and strength less than a third of hers. The rangers considered it a small victory that they'd managed to extract Zortanna's memory core from the mechanical behemoth, before Kendra had delivered the cous de grace.

The survivors of that battle only lived to face a new nightmare. Kendra, merged with Regina, rampaged unchecked throughout the city.

Kendra towered above the city, striding wherever she saw fit, crushing, killing and destroying recklessly.

With every step she took a dozen lives, sending another dozen sprawling as they tried to flee, tried to put as much distance between them and the giantess.

The futility of their actions didn't register above their fear. She could do what she wanted now, and there was no one to stop her.

If they escaped, if they lived a few minutes longer, if they were crushed to mulch underfoot... all these things because it was her will.

She ground the toe of her ludicrous shoe into the concrete, cracking the solid material like polystyrene under her, laughing like a maniac as she did.

A lone police officer shouted against the living tide of people. "Hurry! To the Subway! We'll get you away from her, hurry!"

The officer wailed and screamed, getting through to a handful of the running people, ignored by most. The officer chanced a glance back at the impossible monster. He couldn't even see her properly in the darkness, but heard enough terrifying laughter to know he needed to move fast.

"This way!" he told the crowd, "Hurry!" he pleaded, as Kendra's foot came down again...

He flinched pathetically, then put out his arms instinctively, to try and stop the danger. But there was nothing anyone could do.

The concrete splintered brutally underfoot, crushing the policemen and several unlucky others.

She laughed triumphantly as more and more insects scurried away from her, screams of terror just loud enough to reach her ears, six hundred feet up.

People poured down the subway entrances, fleeing from the most terrifying thing they'd ever seen as Kendra destroyed a building mercilessly.

Down at subway level, the trains filled in seconds, the officials had been swept away ages ago, lost in the rush of bodies trying to flee Kendra's rampage.

They packed themselves in, uncomfortably close, filling the cars with as many people as they could, perhaps even more than that. They cowered and panicked, the sound of destruction and carnage ringing out from above.

ANOTHER BUILDING CRUMBLED UNDER KENDRA'S FOOT, THE CONCRETE AND STEEL OFFERING NO RESISTANCE TO HER UNLIMITED STRENGTH.

KENDRA STRODE ON, LOOKING FOR FRESH FUN TO BE HAD IN THE LITTLE CITY. WHAT COULD BE MORE FUN, SHE THOUGHT...

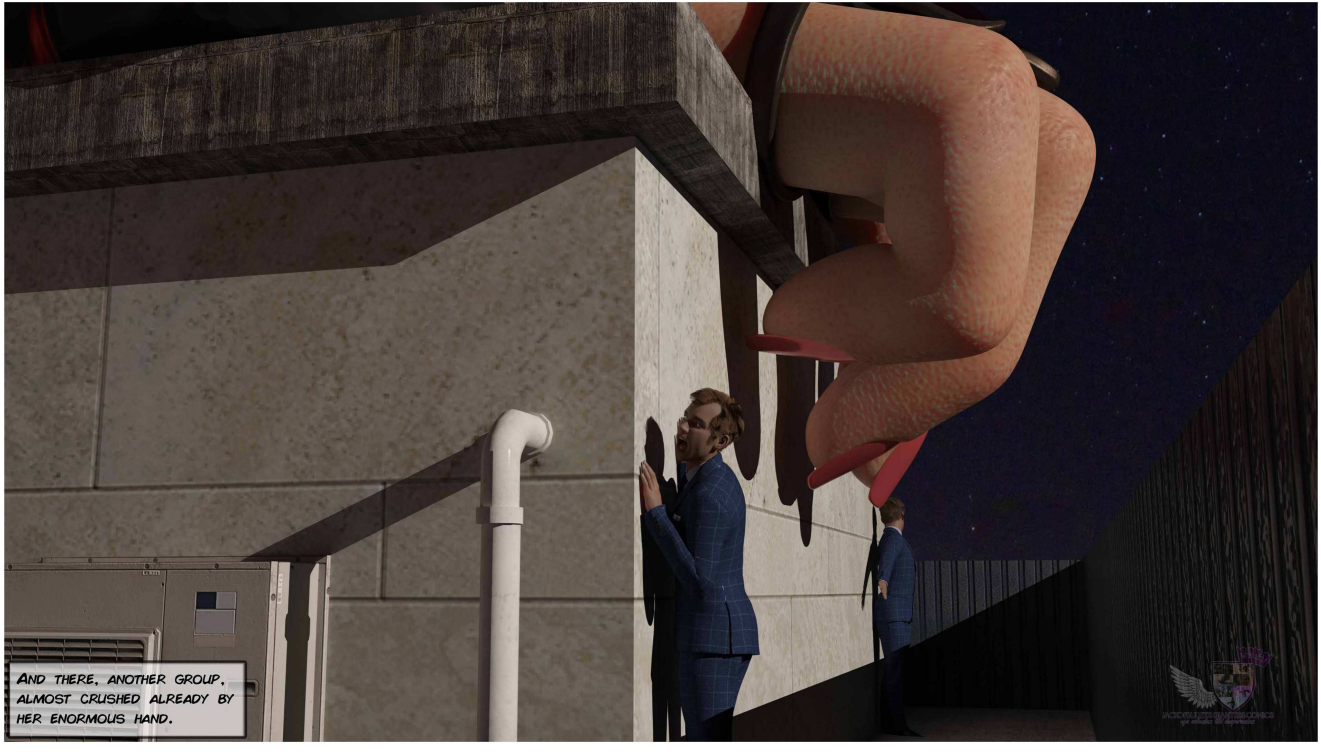
Kendra selected one at random, for no reason other than it offended her eyes. She grinned evilly, her mind racing with a hundred and one depraved things she'd do to the occupants.

She grabbed the building, testing it with her incredible strength. She felt the steel give, the concrete crack. The foundation groaned and protested at this stress; it simply wasn't designed to handle.
As she thought about simply pushing the enormous building over, destroying everything it in turn landed on, she noticed something.

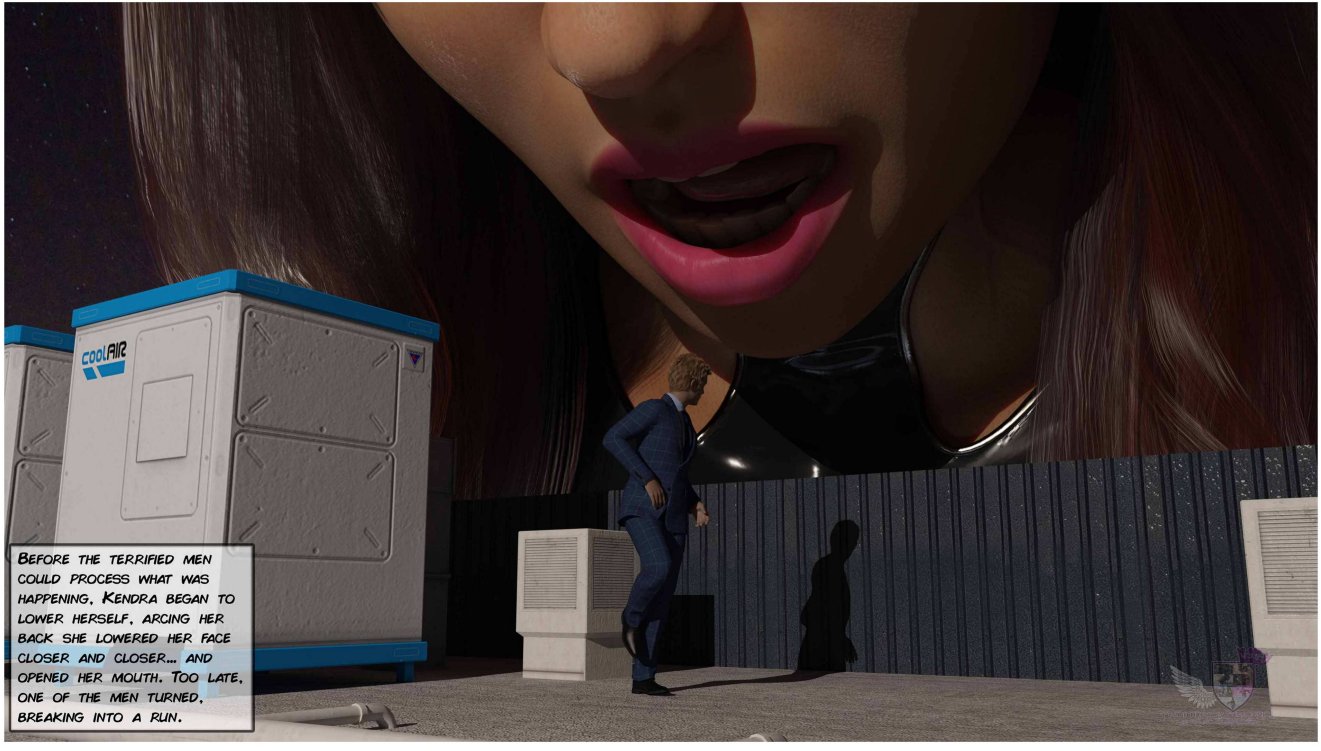
There were little, tiny citizens on the roof. Perhaps they'd come up here to get a better look at her. Perhaps they'd come to face their end head on, rather than flee like rats. Perhaps they were trapped. It mattered not, it gave Kendra new, sinful ideas.

The more she looked, the more she saw, hiding in amongst the meaningless junk affixed to the roof of the toy building.
DANGER

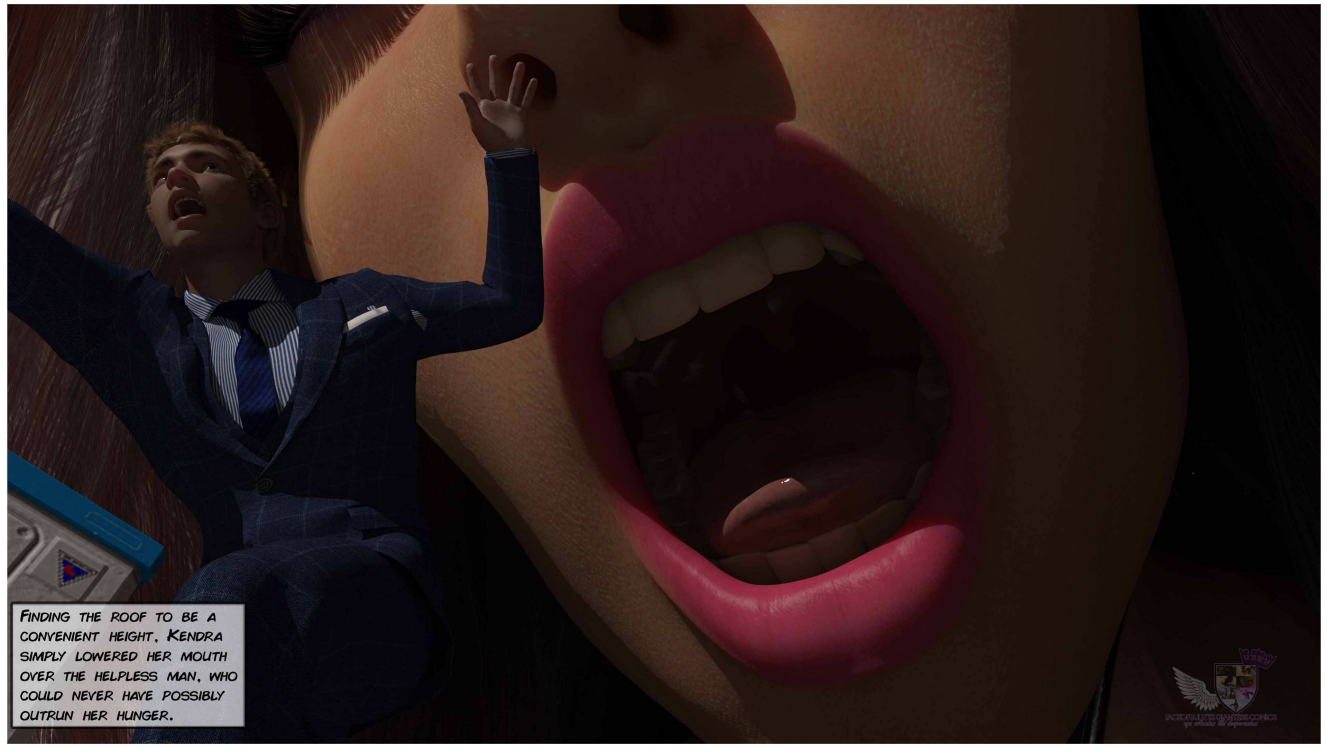


And there, another group, almost crushed already by her enormous hand.

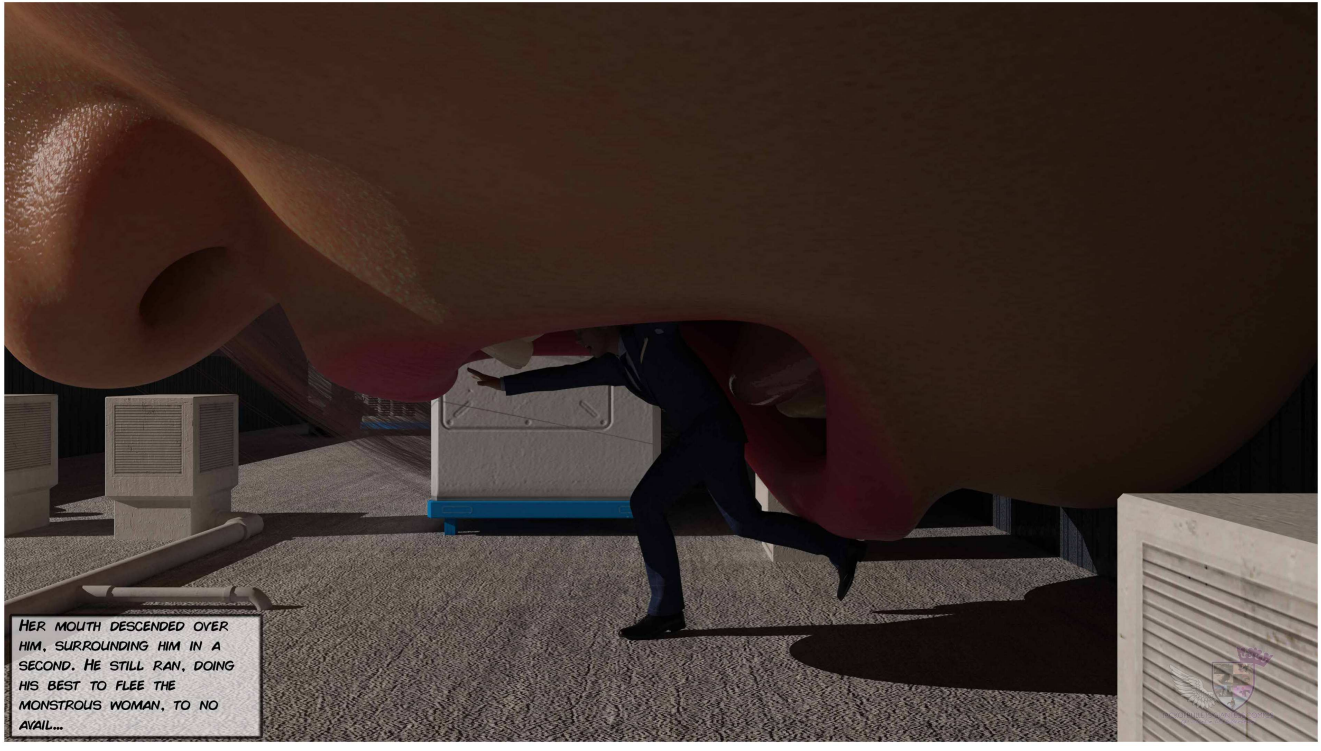
"LOOK WHAT WE HAVE HERE..."
KENDRA RUMBLED.



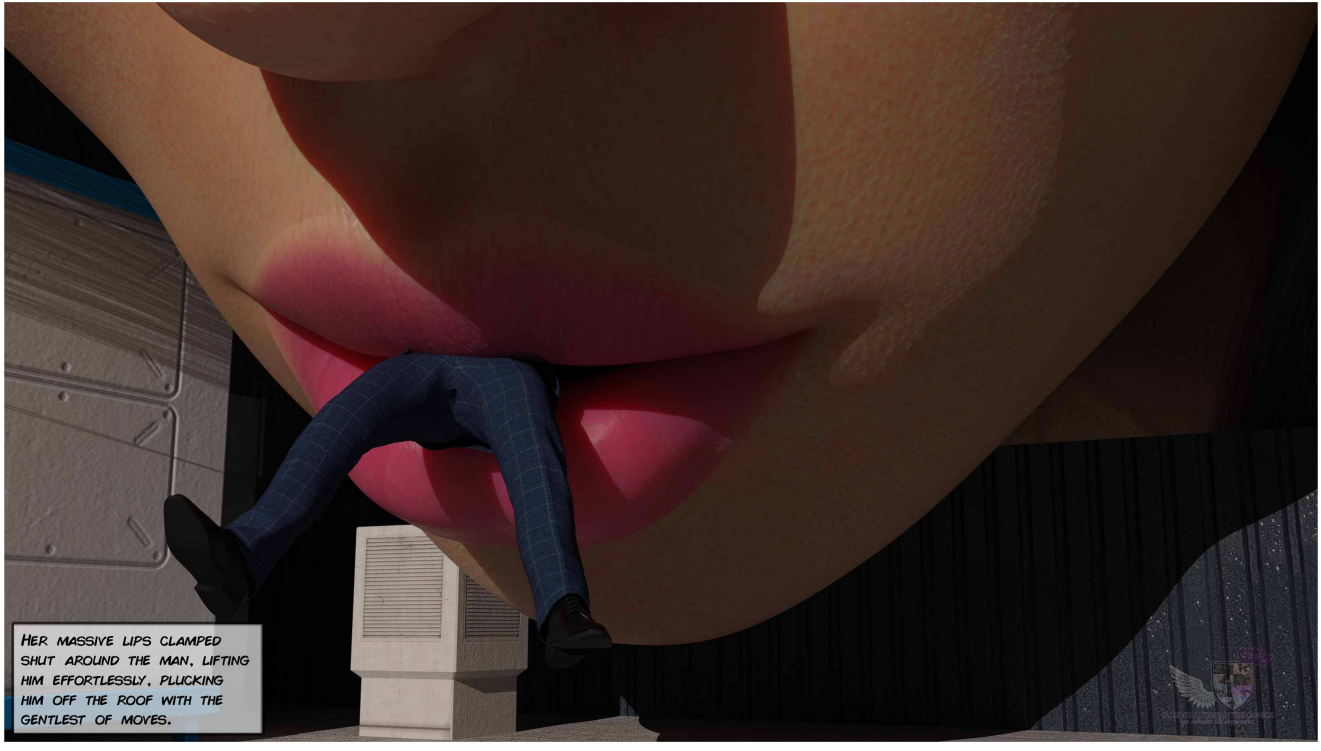
coolAIR
Before the terrified men could process what was happening, Kendra began to lower herself, arcing her back she lowered her face closer and closer... and opened her mouth. Too late, one of the men turned, breaking into a run.



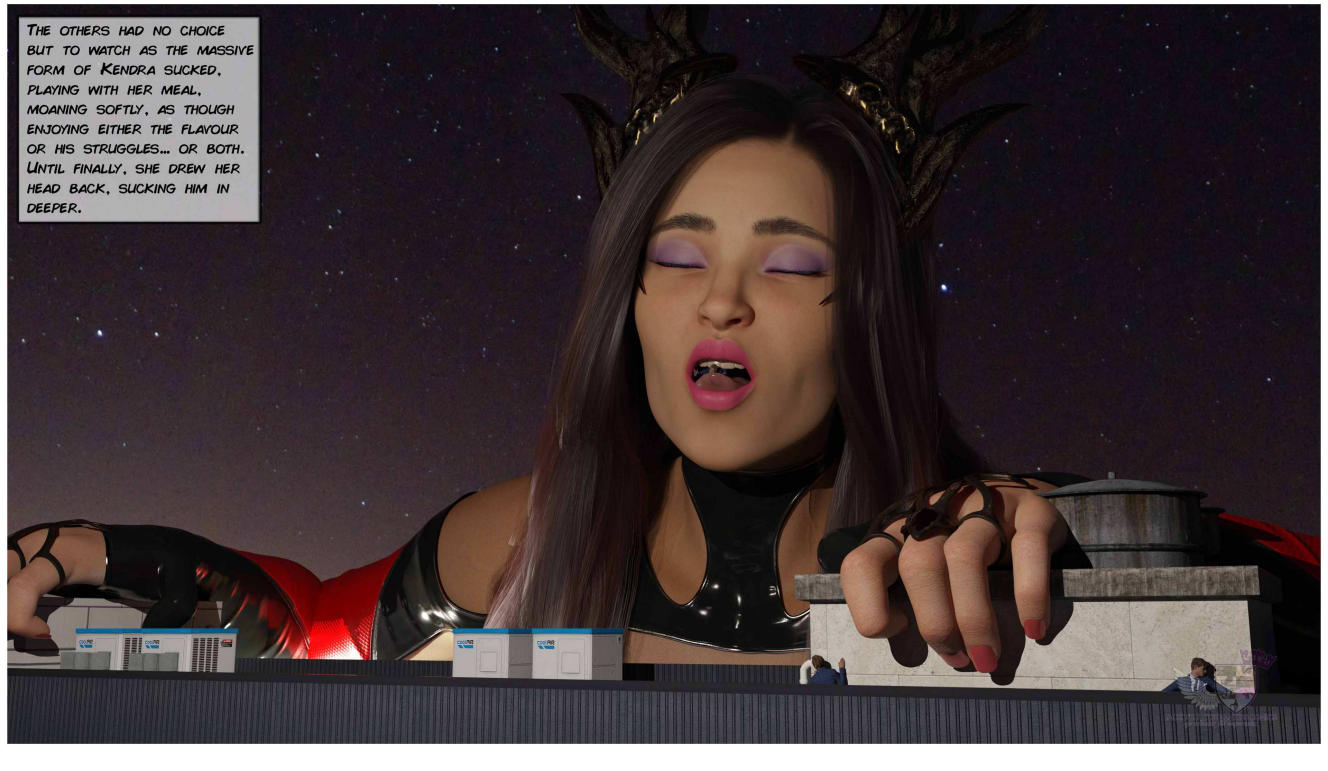
Finding the roof to be a convenient height, Kendra simply lowered her mouth over the helpless man, who could never have possibly outrun her hunger.



Her mouth descended over him, surrounding him in a second. He still ran, doing his best to flee the monstrous woman, to no avail...



Her massive lips clamped shut around the man, lifting him effortlessly, plucking him off the roof with the gentlest of moves.

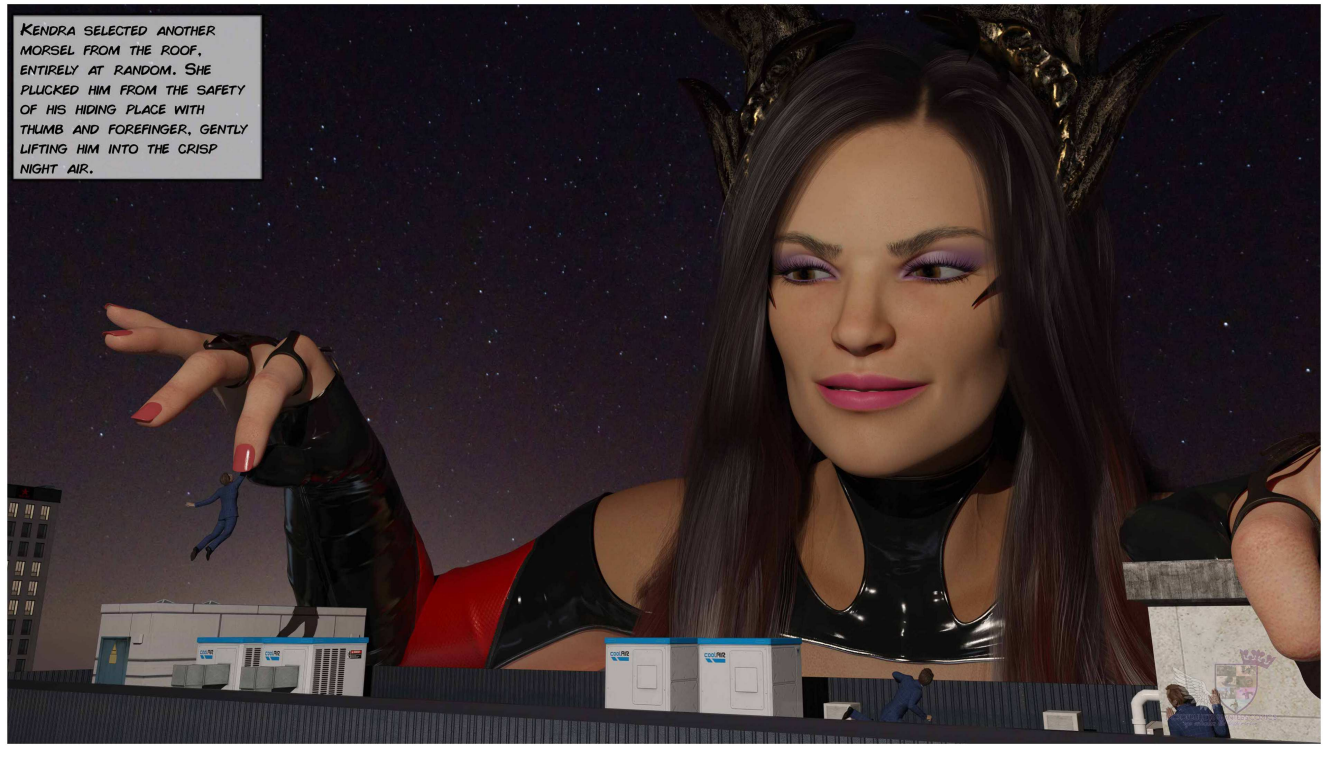


The others had no choice but to watch as the massive form of Kendra sucked, playing with her meal, moaning softly, as though enjoying either the flavour or his struggles... or both. Until finally, she drew her head back, sucking him in deeper.

KENDRA TORTURED HIM, DRAGGING HIM BACK IN, THEN ALLOWING HIM TO CLIMB TO THE END OF HER TONGUE, AGAIN, AGAIN, A FOURTH TIME.

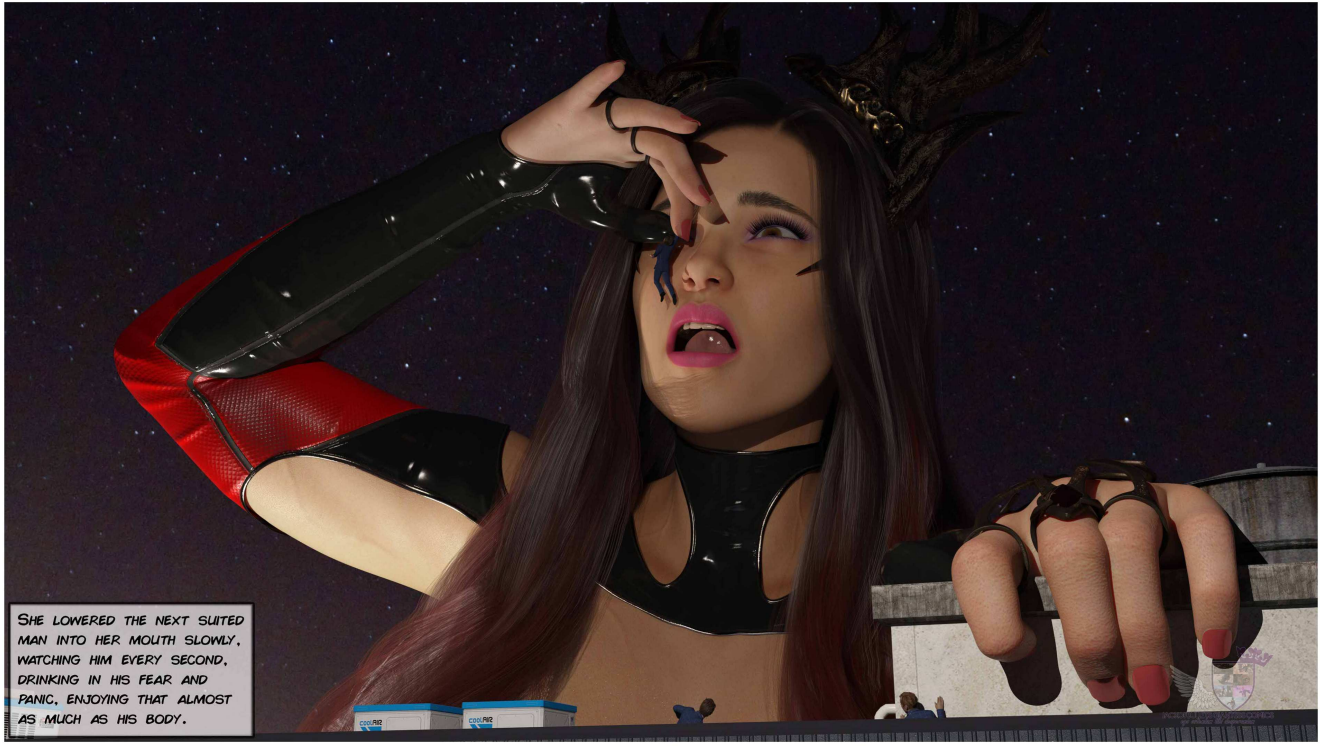
UNTIL AT LAST, SHE COULD STAND THE WAIT NO LONGER, AND DREW HER GIGANTIC TONGUE BACK INTO HER MOUTH, SLOWLY CLOSING HER TEETH...

Kendra swallowed casually. The miniscule man not even needing to be chewed before making the journey to her enormous stomach. Kendra sniggered internally... it was as though she were taking a tablet...

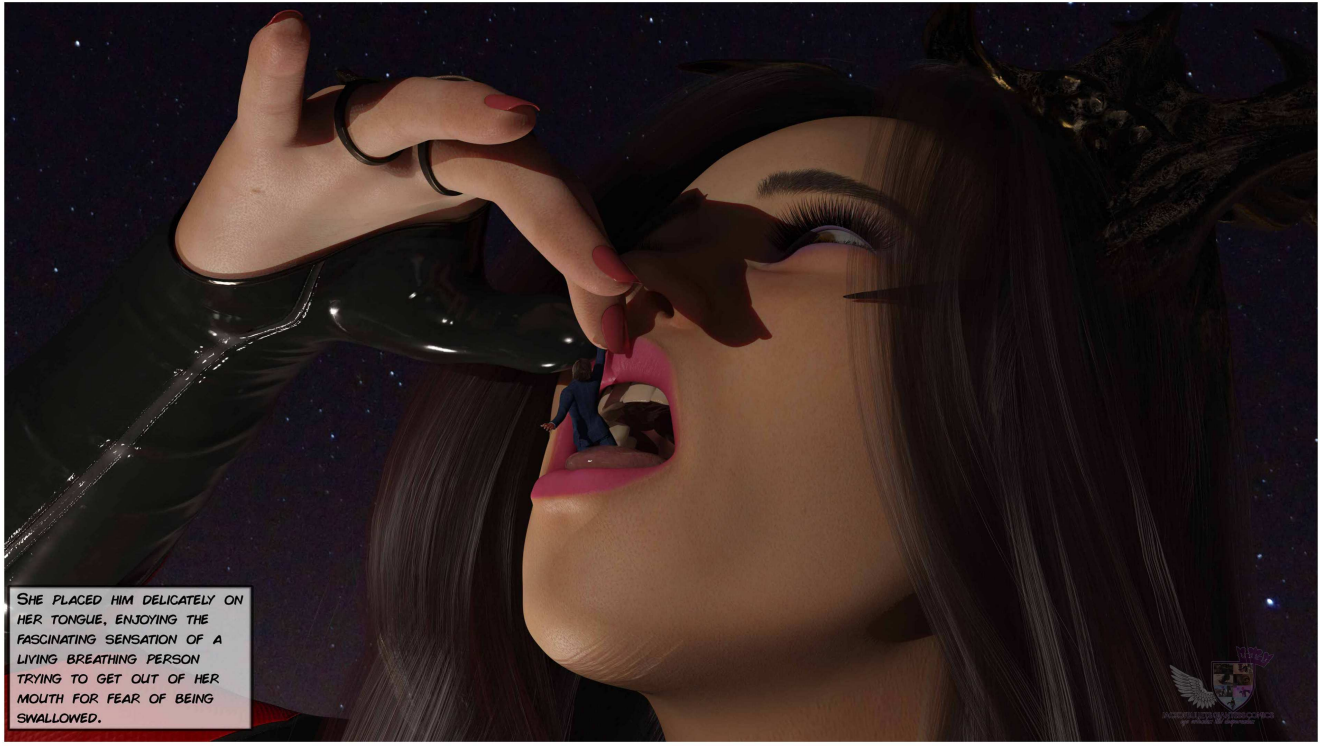


Kendra selected another morsel from the roof, entirely at random. She plucked him from the safety of his hiding place with thumb and forefinger, gently lifting him into the crisp night air.

KENDRA EXAMINED HER CATCH, EYEING THE TINY FLAILING MAN CAREFULLY, BITING HER LIP AS SHE DID.

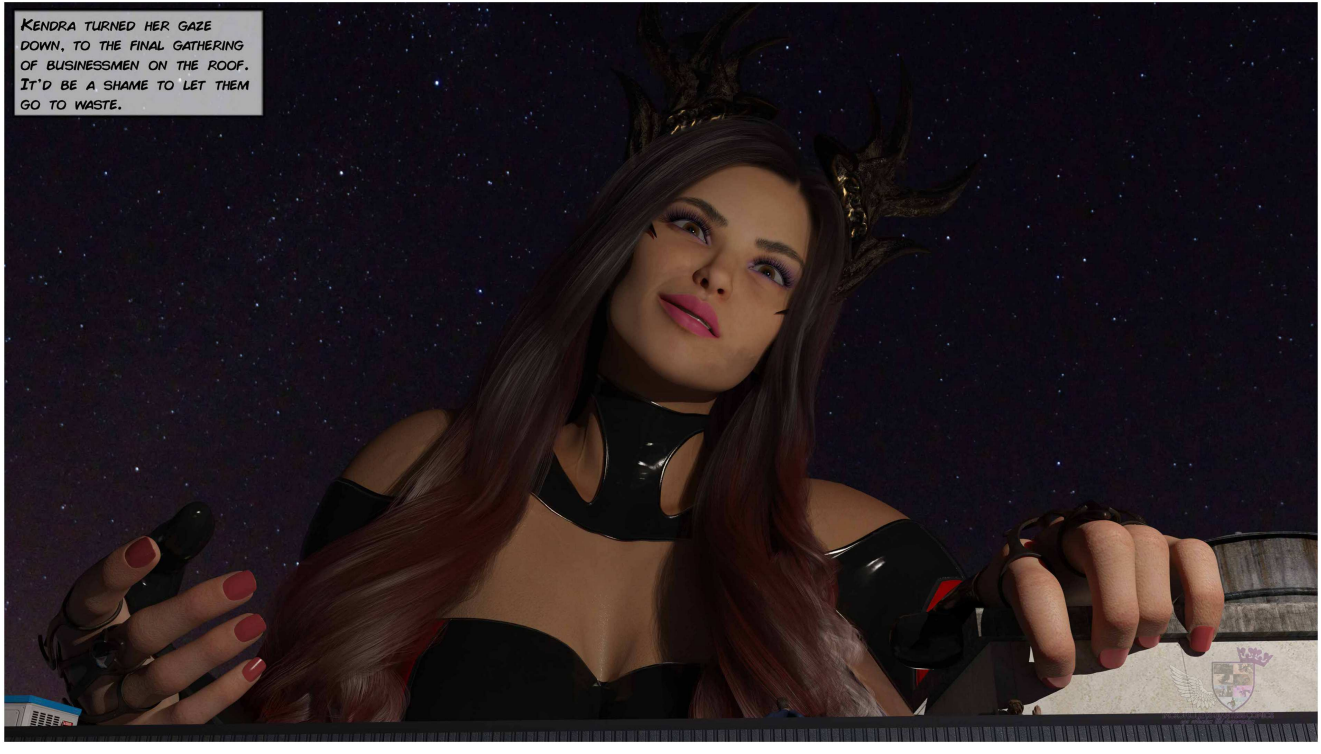


She lowered the next suited man into her mouth slowly, watching him every second, drinking in his fear and panic, enjoying that almost as much as his body.



She placed him delicately on her tongue, enjoying the fascinating sensation of a living breathing person trying to get out of her mouth for fear of being swallowed.

The giantess moaned, her pleasure at the tastes and textures matched only by the arousal she felt consuming the tiny human for her own satisfaction.



Kendra turned her gaze down, to the final gathering of businessmen on the roof. It'd be a shame to let them go to waste.

Far below on the city streets, Todd and Lee fled. They'd been running for hours, dodging this way and that, weaving through crowds, hiding in buildings until Kendra stomped them. They'd been lucky so far, but they were both exhausted. They could only run for so long.

"What... what are you doing!" Lee growled through ragged breaths. "We can't stop, not here! She'll see us!"
Todd gasped for air. Bright lights danced in front of his vision, and the strength in his legs was gone, replaced by a grim numbness. He couldn't run another step.
"Leave me here..." He whispered through his desert dry throat.

"Don't be stupid Todd, she'll kill you! Is that what you want?" Lee tried his best to rally Todd.
"Maybe... maybe I should. Maybe it's what I deserve." Todd managed.
"Damn it man, we have to fix this! Only we have the power to save the city, now come on, fight!" Lee demanded, seizing Todd's arm, and looping it around his neck. Todd went limp in response, allowing himself to be carried, his strength completely gone.

"It's hopeless..." Todd mumbled as Lee bodied him, hauling along the dimly lit street. At the same time, Kendra dropped the remainder of the bystanders from a great height, above her open mouth.

Having been saved from the plummet by Kendra's soft tongue, the citizens faced a new horror...

A short life in Kendra's stomach.

"My my my! What do we have here!" Kendra roared. Her voice filled the city, a siren of dread and terror and pain to come.
She looked right at them, and Lee dared to incline his head to the side, and check what it was that had grabbed the Titans attention.
It was them.

Or so lee had thought, and he shuffled for all his life was worth, dragging the limp form of Todd alongside him. But Kendra wasn't so excited at the prospect of finding Todd and Lee... She'd seen something else.
Juice

The L train.
Todd and Lee caught sight of it too, to them, it was a potential means of escape.
To a giantess like Kendra, it was a lunch box.
The city shook with her joy, as she turned on her heel, abandoning her toy building and striding down the street, covering half a dozen blocks in a few steps.

With a mighty effort, Lee hauled Todd out of the way, making for a wall, a doorway, anything he could use to hide the two of them from her gaze.

But lees effort was futile, there was no way he could match the speed of someone that size, he crumbled alongside Todd near a small wall, helpless. Kendra's foot plunged dangerously close, and Lee waited for the inevitable. He waited to be plucked from the ground, and tossed into the giantess's mouth, to join the citizens he'd failed in the dark pit of her stomach.
But instead, her massive shoe crashed into the ground nearby, kicking up dust and debris in a choking cloud. She hadn't seen them!

Sure enough, Kendra strode on, her enormous feet smashing the street. Lee recoiled in horror, as he realised... she'd been distracted by the L train, that why she hadn't noticed them in the street.
He cursed, as he knew several hundred people were about to experience the most depraved acts the giantess could think of before they succumbed to her merciless nature... but at the same time, they'd distracted her from him... he had a chance to escape!

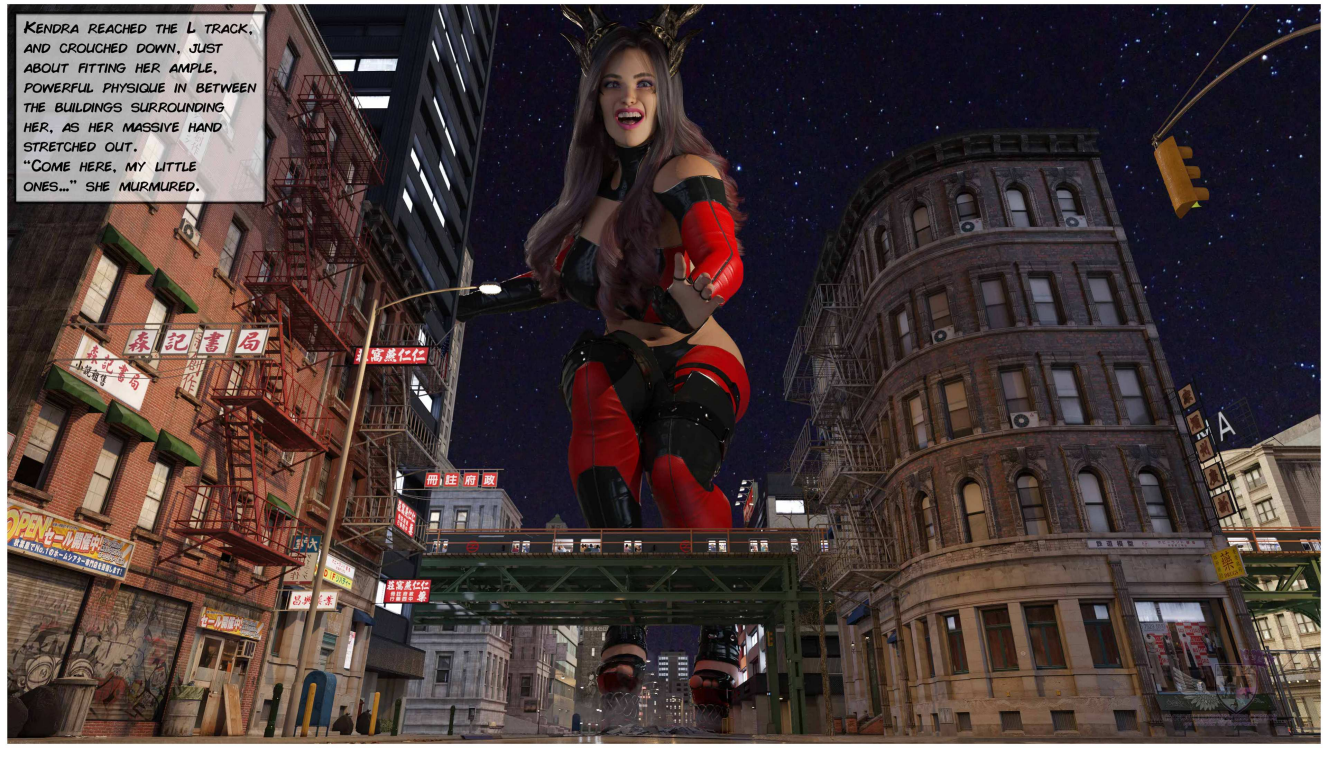
Shielding his eyes against the dust and chunks of flying concrete, Lee chanced a look up. It was hard to take in her titanic form, but sure enough she strode on. This was his chance to get Todd out of here!



Kendra reached the L track, and crouched down, just about fitting her ample, powerful physique in between the buildings surrounding her, as her massive hand stretched out.
"Come here, my little ones..." she murmured.

As the train dawdled on slowly, overburdened by the silly number of people on board, Kendra's hand clamped onto it.

The metal screamed and screeched, the sound of metal fatigue deafened the poor people on board, drowned out by their own screams at how helpless they were in the grip of the giant woman. Sparks exploded from electrical cables, metal shearing under the weight of an action that it was never designed to withstand.

Three train cars came away from the track in Kendra's hand, and she grinned mischievously, a thousand terrible ideas crossing her mind as to the fun she could have with such suggestive objects.

Kendra snapped the remaining cars in two, more sparks and noise punctuating the act. Two helpless people tumbled down, caught with nowhere to go as Kendra's infinite strength severed the umbilical between the two cars. They tumbled four hundred feet to the city streets.

Kendra took her time, her movements slow and deliberate. She had nothing but time, and the horrified people inside the train cars weren't going anywhere fast.

Kendra peered in at all the tiny people, doing their best to keep their footing, holding as Kendra played with the toy train in her hand.

"Oh look... a can of delicious, tasty fear... I'll eat all of you!" Kendra told them quietly, huskily, as though she were whispering to a lover. She licked her lips as she lifted the train higher...

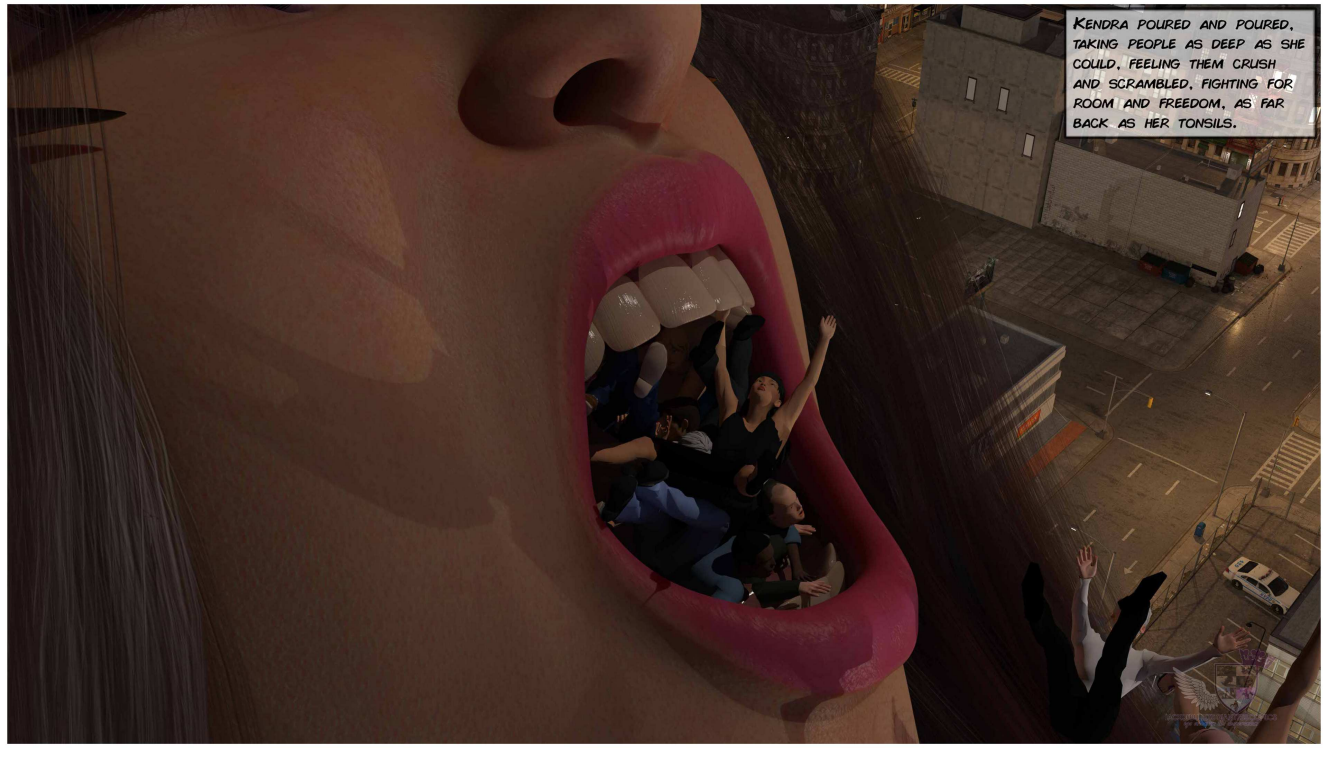
A steady stream of people plummeted from the safety of the train, down into the certain doom of Kendra's mouth.



Kendra poured and poured, taking people as deep as she could, feeling them crush and scrambled, fighting for room and freedom, as far back as her tonsils.

Kendra closed her mouth slowly, allowing those in her mouth one last glance at starlight, before her lips touched, and some 50 people pummelled the insides of her mouth and cheeks, fighting to get away from the black chasm of her throat.

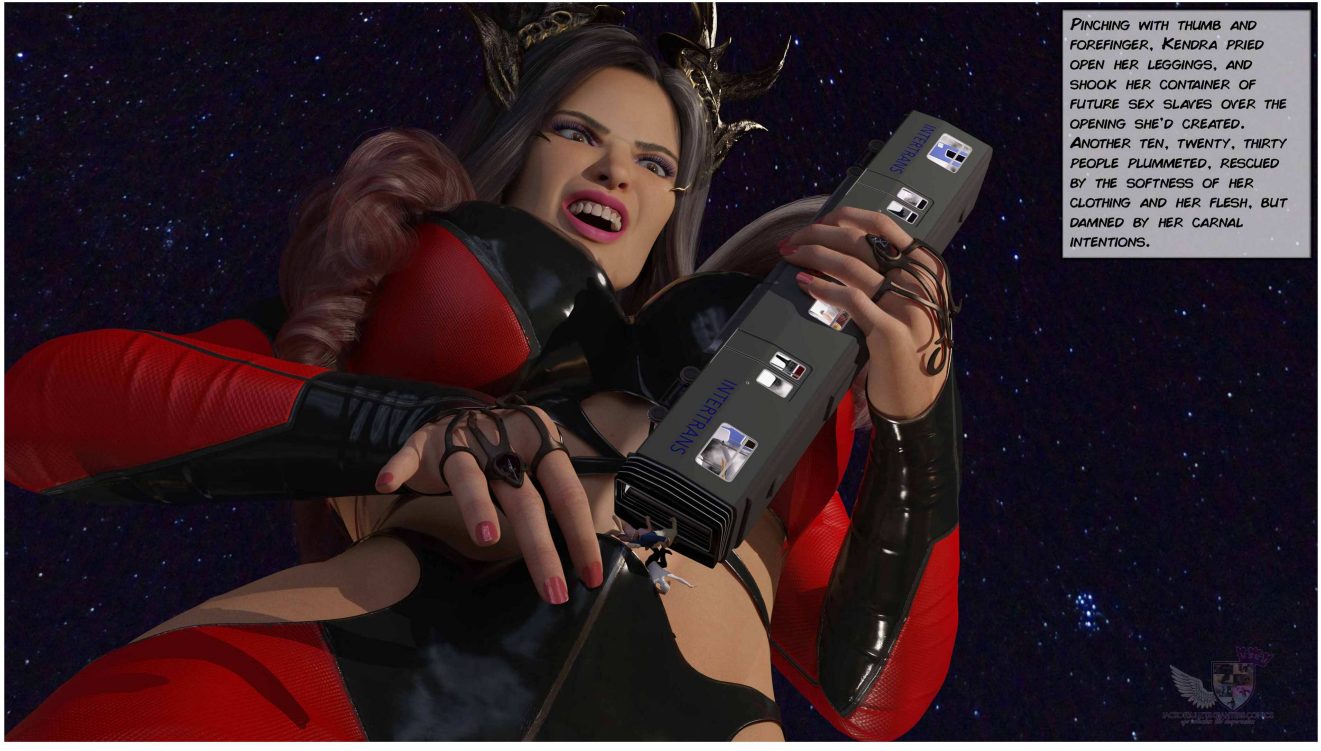
Her voice went from fury and carnage to silk and satin in a breath, and the terrified occupants of the train car were forced to watch as Kendra playfully stroked her free hand across her skin, lower and lower. Her fingers fought their way under her leggings, making room for something else, surging lower and lower...



Pinching with thumb and forefinger, Kendra pried open her leggings, and shook her container of future sex slaves over the opening she'd created. Another ten, twenty, thirty people plummeted, rescued by the softness of her clothing and her flesh, but damned by her carnal intentions.

KENDRA GIGGLED AS THEY TUMBLED TO THE VERY BOTTOM OF HER PANTS, LANDING HARD AGAINST HER VAGINA, STRUGGLING TO ESCAE AS MORE AND MORE PEOPLE PILED ON TOP, PUSHING THE BOTTOM ONES DEEPER INTO THE SOFT FOLDS OF HER LABIA.

Kendra gave up fighting her urges. She was the queen of the world now, the biggest and most dangerous woman on earth. She should be able to do as she pleased, and that included stopping to masturbate with a fistful of her tiny subjects whenever the hell she wanted.

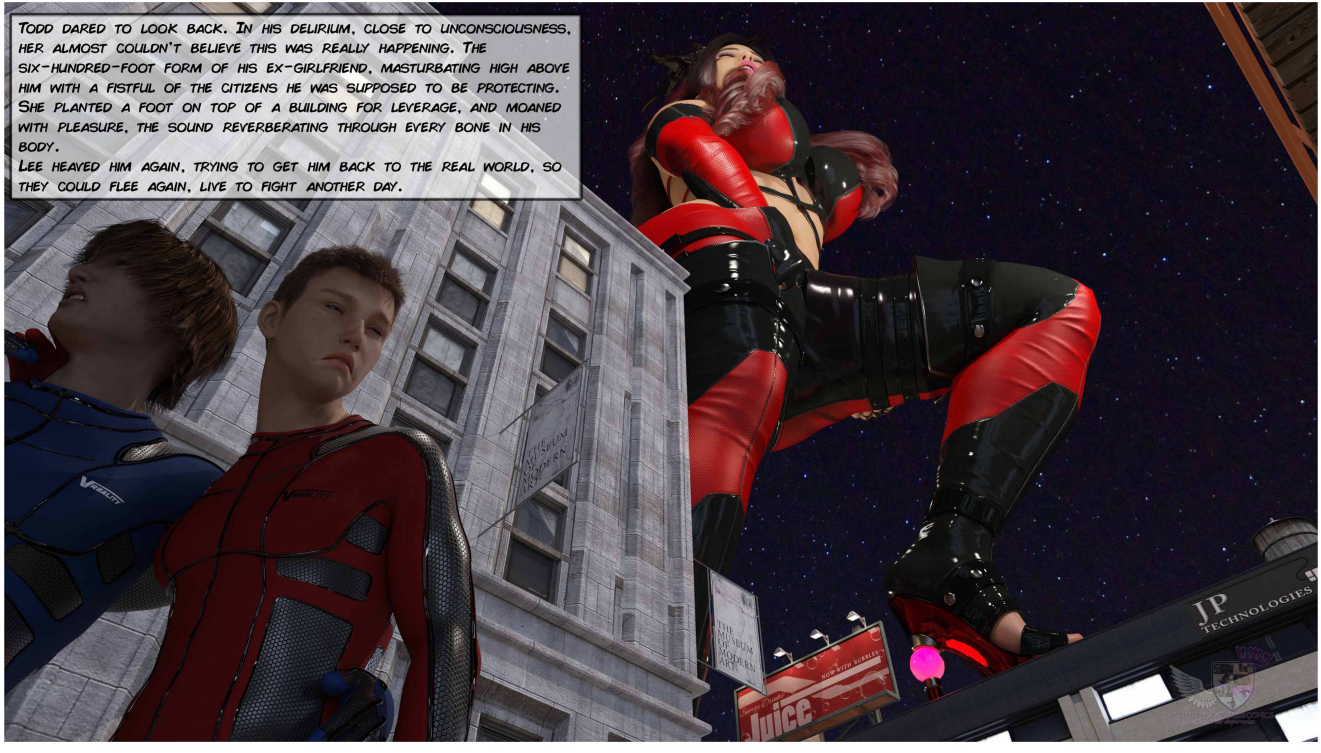
Her beathing increased in speed and depth, as she rummaged in her leggings, shoving people inside herself with her fingers, her pleasure heightening with every trapped person stuffed roughly inside.
Three hundred feet below, Lee and Todd ran, or shuffled as best they could.



Todd dared to look back. In his delirium, close to unconsciousness, her almost couldn't believe this was really happening. The six-hundred-foot form of his ex-girlfriend, masturbating high above him with a fistful of the citizens he was supposed to be protecting. She planted a foot on top of a building for leverage, and moaned with pleasure, the sound reverberating through every bone in his body.
Lee heaved him again, trying to get him back to the real world, so they could flee again, live to fight another day.

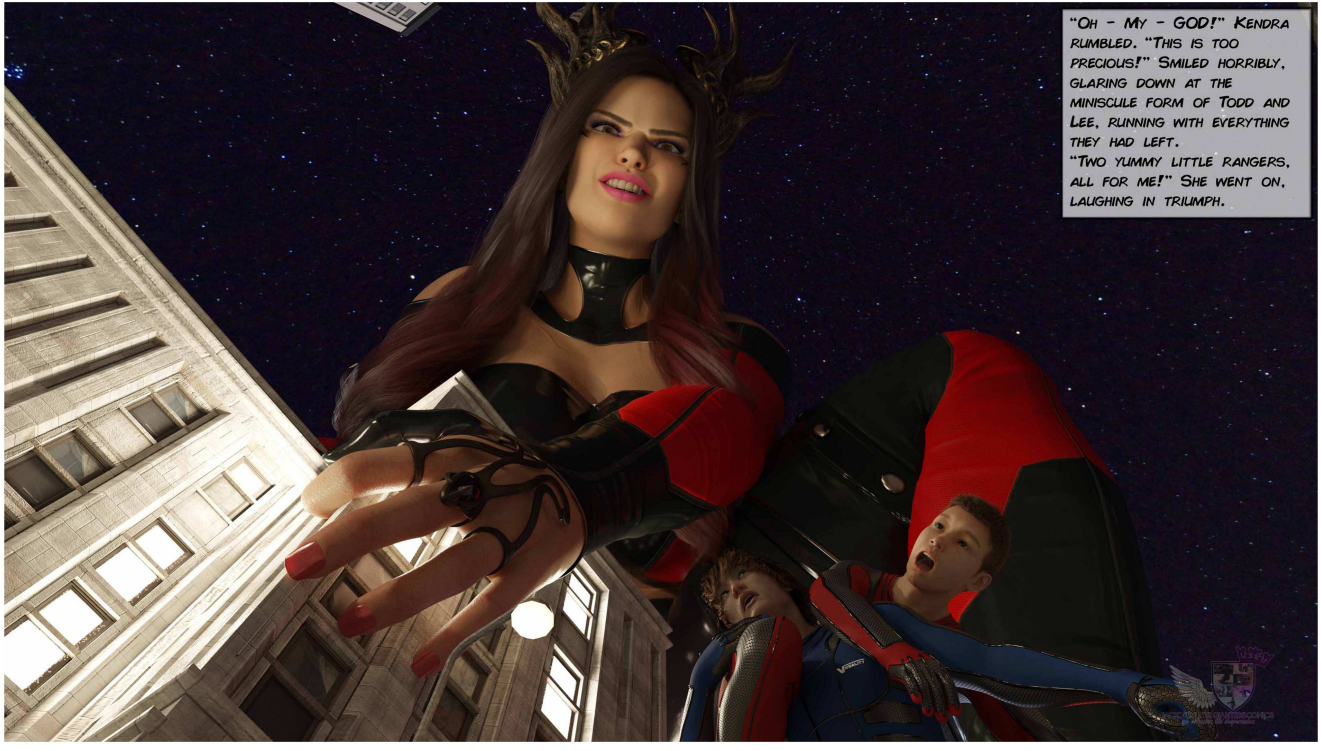
The two struggled on, trying to get out of her eyeline. As it was all she'd have to do is glance down, and she was sure to see them.
Phones

Sick of dragging Todd's dead weight, Lee flung him over one shoulder, hoisted him and continued running. Lee himself was close to dropping dead right there from fatigue, but fear and adrenaline kept him moving, fighting against the pain. High above them, Kendra filled the city with sound. She held no discretion, cared nothing for the thoughts or opinions of the miniscule sheep far below, or deep in her pants. She orgasmed noisily, messily, spasming and tensing, almost toppling over forwards.

Lightheaded from her orgasm, and tottering on her heels, Kendra stumbled slightly. As she did, the tiniest of movements caught her eye. "What..." She mumbled, as Lee and Todd rounded the corner scurrying into the shadows.

Lee breathed a sigh of relief. He'd made it around the corner, out of her eyeline. Now all he had to do was get around the next corner, and the next, and out of the city. Maybe then they could get back to Zortanna's ship and find a way to do something about...

Kendra was on top of them in a few seconds. Her foot plunged down a dozen metres from where they were a moment ago, and a huge hand reached own, supporting the weight of the monster as she crouched down.



"Oh - My - GOD!" Kendra rumbled. "This is too precious!" Smiled horribly, glaring down at the miniscule form of Todd and Lee, running with everything they had left.
"Two yummy little rangers, all for me!" She went on, laughing in triumph.

HER FEET SWUNG AROUND THE BUILDING, AS SHE LEISURELY MANOEUVRED, WATCHING LEE RUN FOR HIS LIFE. SHE LAUGHED, TRIUMPHANTLY, TERRIBLY.

"I'M SO GLAD I DIDN'T KILL YOU BOTH ACCIDENTALLY WHILE I SMASHED UP YOUR USELESS LITTLE ROBOT!" KENDRA ROARED, OVERPOWERING THE SOUND OF LEE'S VERY THOUGHTS INSIDE HIS OWN HEAD.
"I'D HATE TO HAVE ROBBED MYSELF OF THE PLEASURE OF STEPPING ON YOU!" SHE ADDED THROUGH NIGHTMARISH GLEE.

Kendra's boot plunged down, smashing hard behind Lee. The sheer shock of the impact flung him forward, with Todd tumbling off his shoulders through the air.

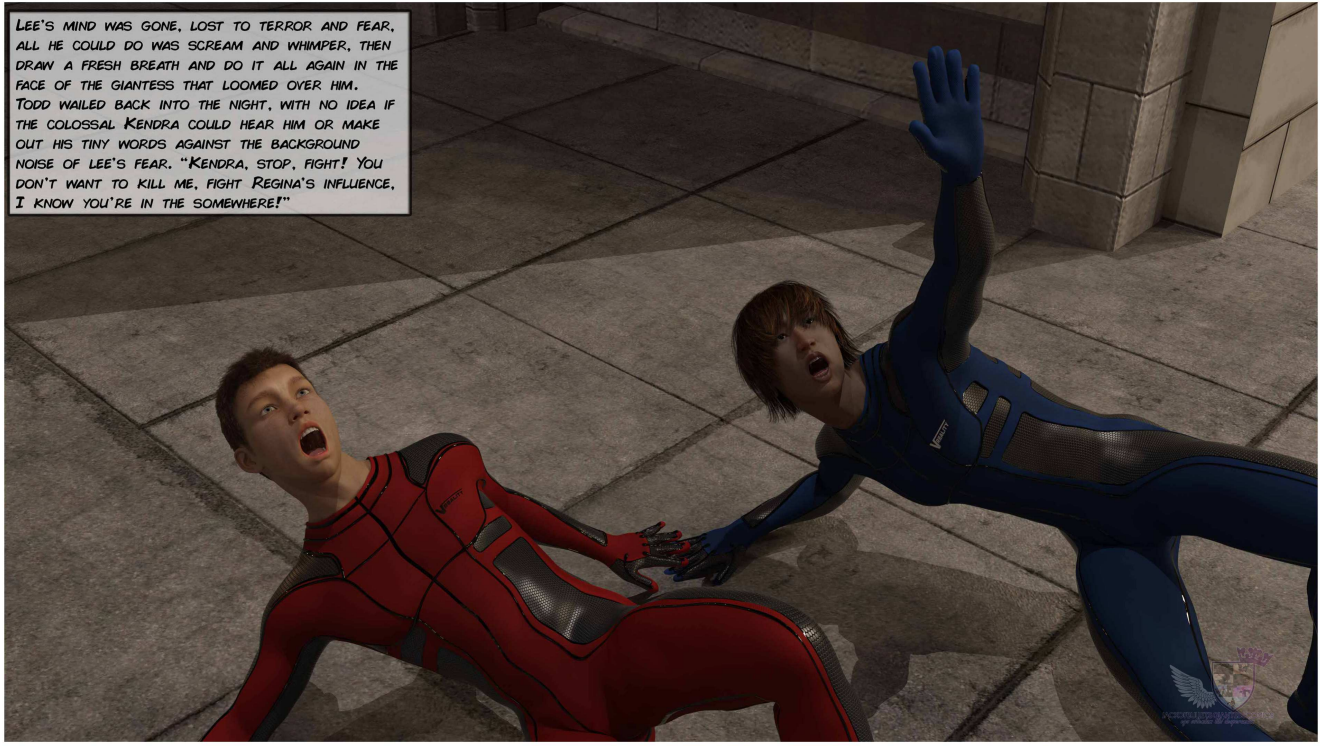
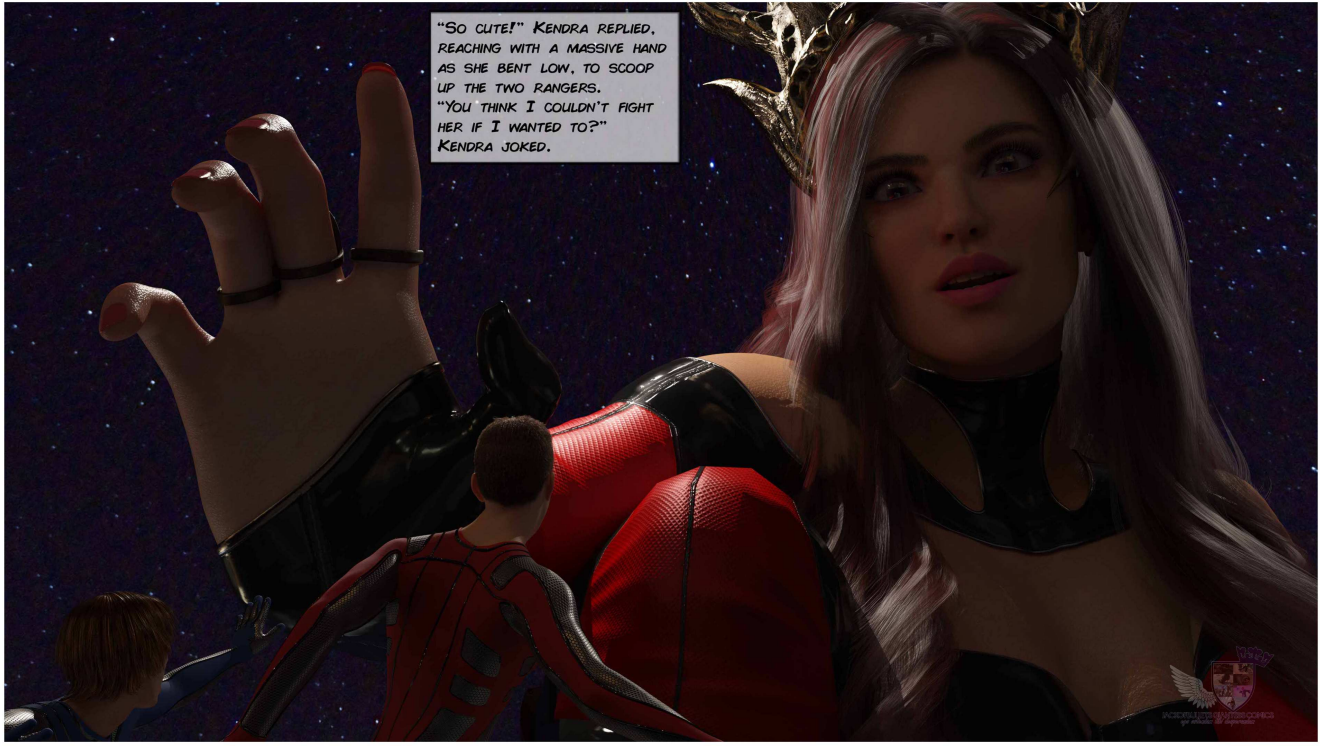
The two rangers screamed, staring up in shock and awe at the titan that had them dead to rights in the streets.
"Oh how easy it would be, Todd... too easy to just move my foot an inch and crush you with my beautiful shoe."



Lee's mind was gone, lost to terror and fear, all he could do was scream and whimper, then draw a fresh breath and do it all again in the face of the giantess that loomed over him. Todd wailed back into the night, with no idea if the colossal Kendra could hear him or make out his tiny words against the background noise of lee's fear. "Kendra, stop, fight! You don't want to kill me, fight Regina's influence, I know you're in the somewhere!"



"So cute!" Kendra replied, reaching with a massive hand as she bent low, to scoop up the two rangers.
"You think I couldn't fight her if I wanted to?" Kendra joked.

Kendra handled the two men roughly, almost crushing them both with the simple act of picking them up. Her grip was immutable, and even the ranger's enhanced strength wasn't enough to budge so much as a finger on Kendra's hand.
As the shrieked through the air, ascending at a blistering rate, Kendra went on. "Regina is a means to an end. She's made me more powerful. Powerful enough to stop you and Zortanna from destroying me. But she doesn't rule me. No one does. Not anymore."

With an almighty crash, Kendra sat back, reclining, putting her feet up over a department store, making herself comfortable.
"I'm going to have some fun with you insects before you die..." Kendra breathed, holding her two former fellow rangers in the palm of her hand.

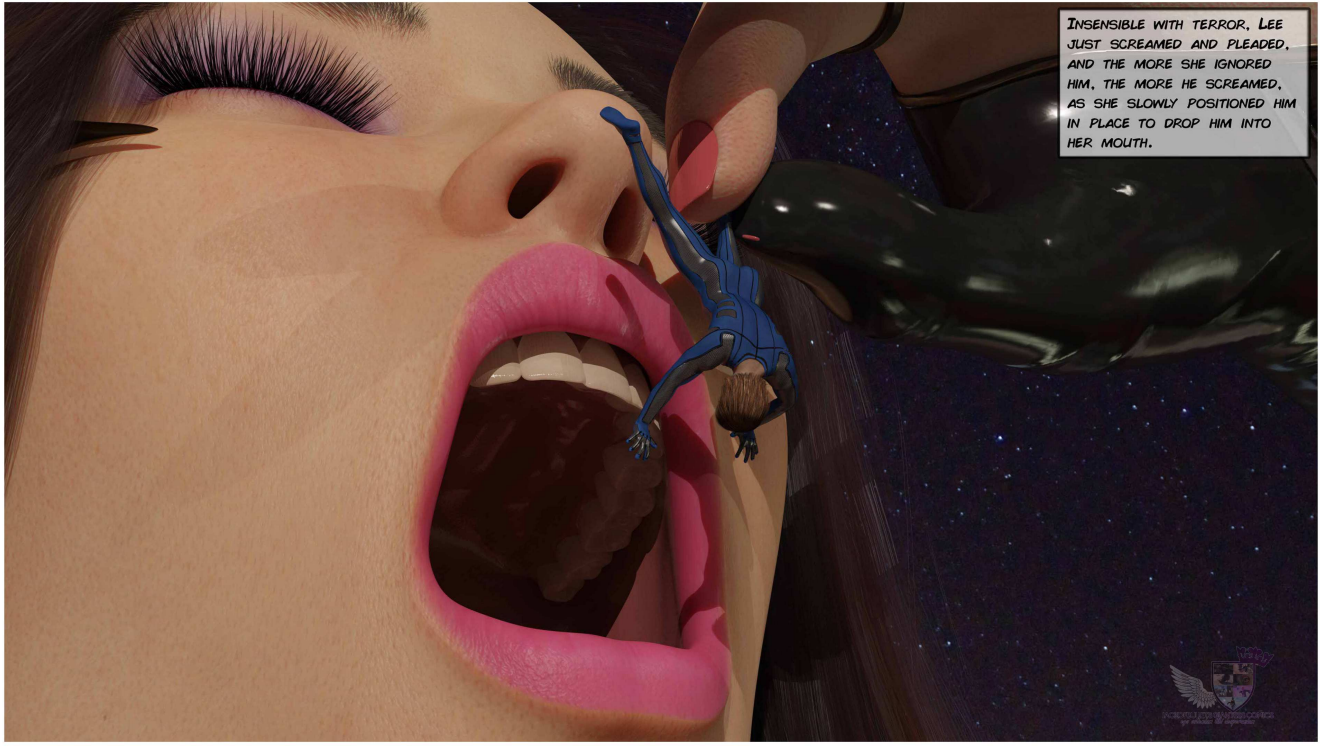
"Firstly, Lee, your time is up... I want one last date with Todd before I squish him, and you're quite the fifth wheel..." Kendra rumbled, lifting Lee with thumb and forefinger.

"I wonder if eating rangers will make more even more powerful..." Kendra mused as she dangled the helpless form of Lee over her massive mouth.



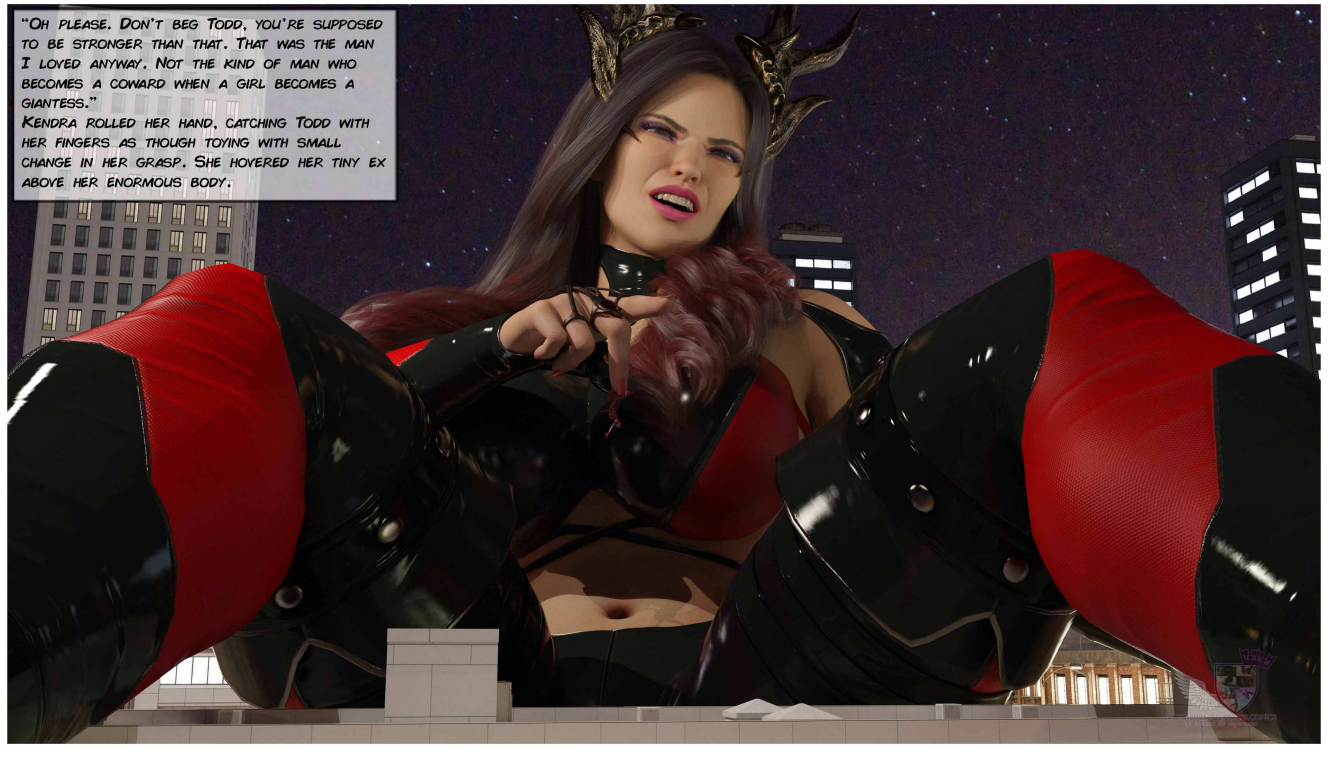
Insensible with terror, Lee just screamed and pleaded, and the more she ignored him, the more he screamed, as she slowly positioned him in place to drop him into her mouth.

With an artful, almost gentle flick, Kendra chucked him in. He landed awkwardly, on one shoulder atop Kendra's impossibly large tongue.

from down on Kendra's palm, Todd couldn't help but wince, then flinch as Kendra lolled Lee around her mouth, seeming to enjoy the screams and struggles emanating from her own mouth, before ending the suffering she'd cause with a flex of her jaw.
Despite the sickening crunch, Lee wailed for a few seconds longer, before Kendra, smiling delightedly, chewed in earnest, utterly destroying Lee's body.

"Yum, yum. A mighty morsel ranger... your turn, sugar!" Kendra jested, mocking Todd's fear, enjoying his humiliation.

"Kendra, let's talk about this! Don't eat me! There's still time to fix this, we can fight Regina together!" Todd begged in the face of the giantess.



"Oh please. Don't beg Todd, you're supposed to be stronger than that. That was the man I loved anyway. Not the kind of man who becomes a coward when a girl becomes a giantess."
Kendra rolled her hand, catching Todd with her fingers as though toying with small change in her grasp. She hovered her tiny ex above her enormous body.

"And now, it's time for your last act as my boyfriend... you get to die pleasuring me!" Kendra mocked, dropping Todd onto her football-field sized stomach.

Todd landed with a dull thump onto Kendra's skin, rolling and slipping awkwardly along Kendra's massive, toned abs.

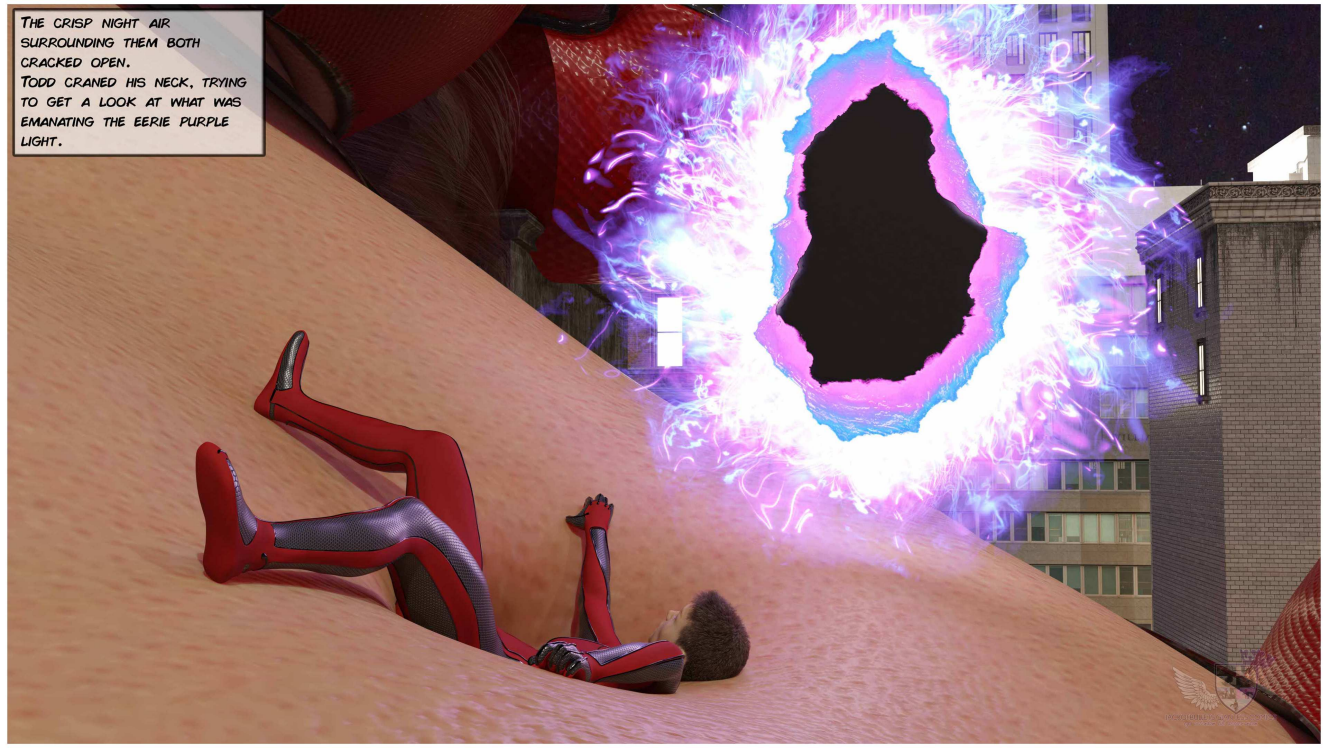
Rolling and flailing, Todd finally came to a halt, lodging his back and shoulders inside the deep crevice of Kendra's belly button.

"Oh, this is priceless! Look at my new belly button ring, his name is Todd!" Kendra laughed at the happy accident that had stuck her ex-boyfriend in her navel.

Paralysed by fear, Todd found himself unable to do anything. He was where he was by sheer luck, holding himself inside his Giant ex-girlfriends belly-button with sheer friction and force of will. The slightest move by either of them, and Todd would likely fall again... this time, down into her crotch. Even now, Todd could hear the cries of the stricken occupants of the train that Kendra had mercilessly stuffed into her leggings.



The crisp night air surrounding them both cracked open.
Todd craned his neck, trying to get a look at what was emanating the eerie purple light.

A person emerged from the portal. A person in a red suit, not totally different to his own.
"Take my hand! Hurry, if you want to live, take my damned hand!" This new stranger insisted.

Everything happened at once. Kendra's face flashed with white-hot fury as she swung an enormous hand down to her navel. Whether she planned to capture them both, or swat them like flies was unclear.
At the same time, Todd lunged out with a free hand, catching the grip of the red stranger, feeling him immediately haul back. Lifting Todd clear of Kendra's belly button.

AND THEN, TODD WAS SOMEWHERE ELSE.
WITH A GREAT THUMP, HE LANDED PAINFULLY ON A HARD WOODEN FLOOR, BATHED IN PURPLE LIGHT.

Todd sprawled in fear and confusion.
"Where am I! Who are you!" Todd blurted, but as he did, he choked with fear as this new stranger readied itself for battle, looking as though he'd set upon Todd at any second.

"I used my last damned power cell to save you, now tell me, Do you have it? Give it to me, I need it!" The stranger asked, feral, and furious.

"What? What do you want?" Todd asked, afraid the stranger would pounce on him.

The stranger wrestled with him, grabbing his shoulders. He yelled into Todd's face. "Zortanna! The memory core! Do you have it!"

"Yes... why? Why do you want it. Who are you?" Todd asked, slowly calming down.
"I'm the Red Ranger." He answered, his senses slowly coming back to him.
"No... I'm the red ranger!" Todd replied.

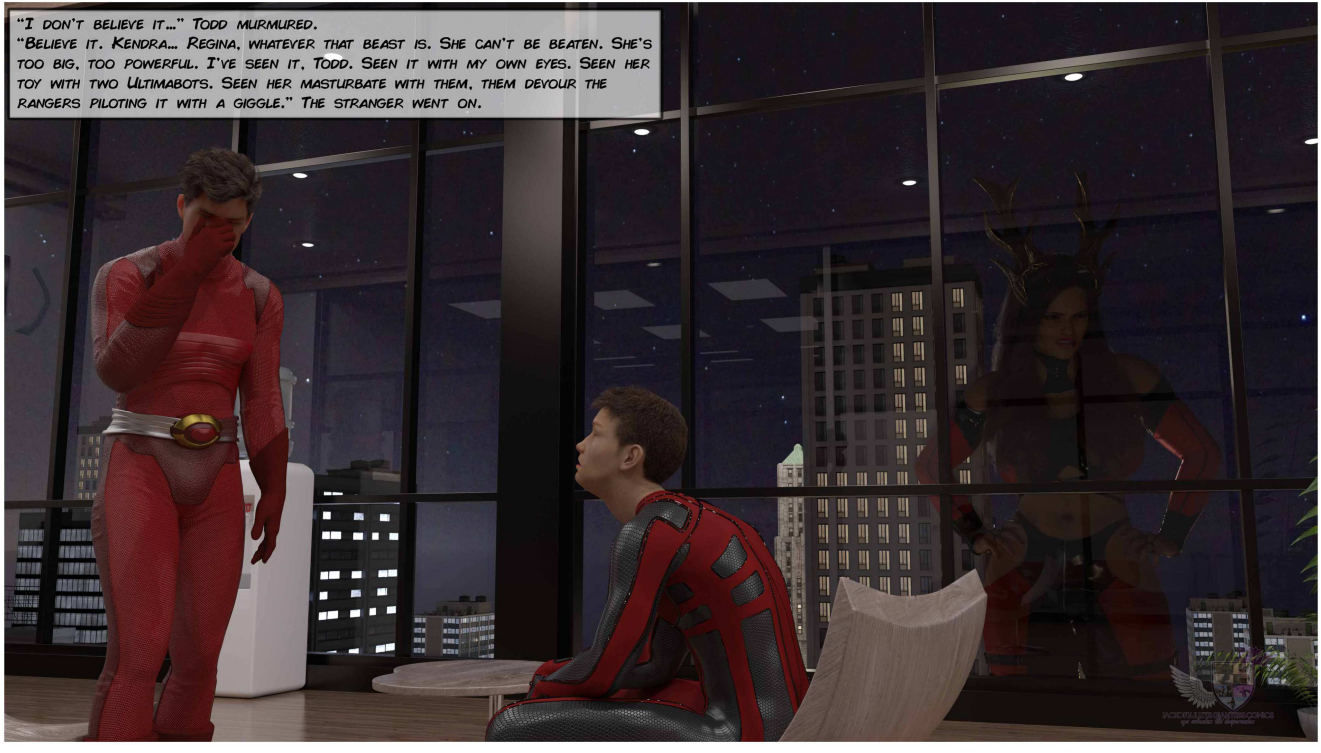
Kendra stomped furiously, searching as much of the city as she could from her impossibly high vantage point. "Where are you Todd? Come back and fight like a man, you coward!" She roared, audible for miles around.

"You... You're from the future?" Todd managed, hardly able to speak at all after the stranger's bombshell.
"Yes. Your future. One possible future." He replied.

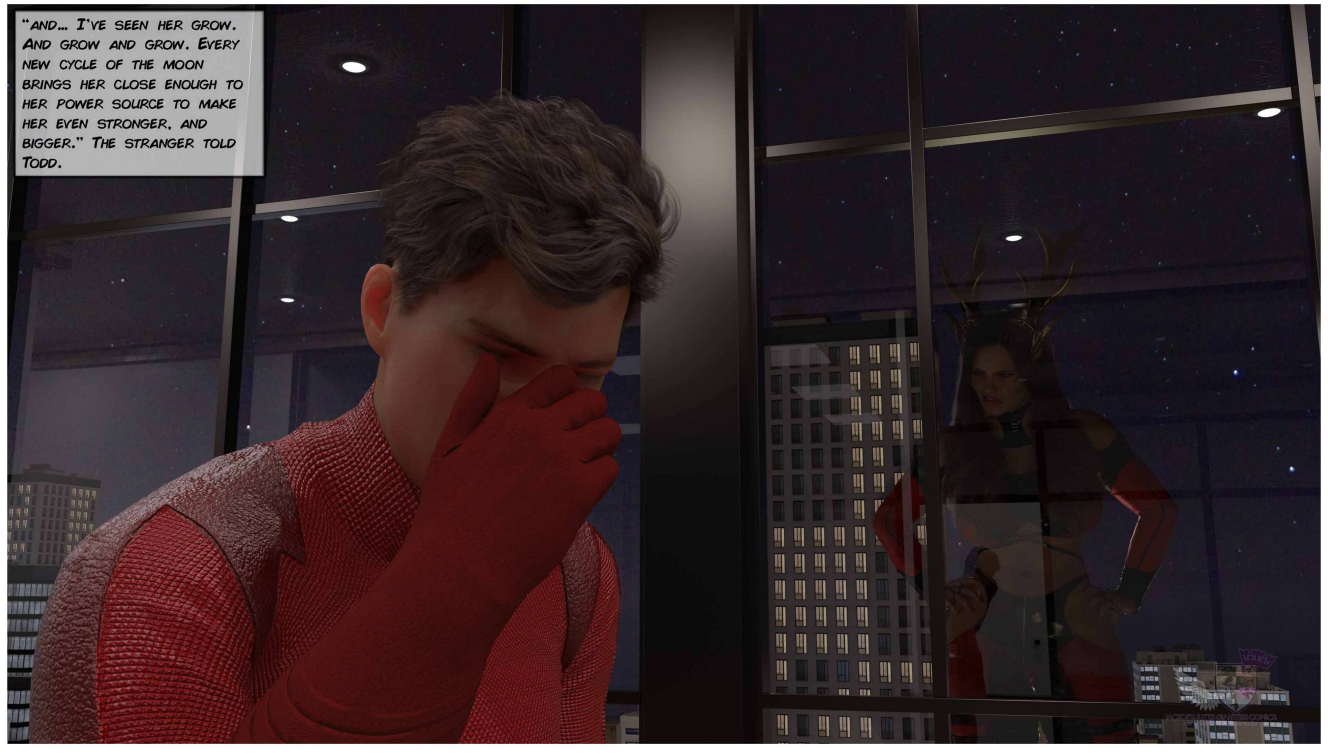
"Why are you here? How are you here?" Todd demanded.
"To stop her... to stop all of this from happening. He spoke. But my time breaker must've malfunctioned... or ran out of power. I'm supposed to be intercepting you, but yesterday. Or this morning. Not much is known about the last few hours, in my time." He replied.
"What's happening in your time?" Todd asked.

"I... Can't tell you. I can't go through it all, not again. We've... We've lost Todd. She's unstoppable. She's indestructible." The stranger almost teared up.
"That's... impossible, everything has a weakness, there's always a way! We have to get Zortanna...." Todd began.

"AND WHAT!" THE STRANGER BARKED. "AND GATHER A NEW TEAM OF RANGERS? AND ANOTHER, AND ANOTHER, AND ANOTHER?" HE WENT ON, WHILE TODD SAT, SLACK JAWED, TOO EXHAUSTED TO REACT. "UNTIL EVENTUALLY HALF THE EARTH IS ASHES, MILLIONS DEAD CRUSHED UNDERFOOT, HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS EATEN WHOLE?" HE SHOUTED, HIS VOICE WAS RAW AND EMOTIONAL, THE OUTBURST OF A BROKEN MAN. "I WON'T ALLOW IT! NOT AGAIN!" HE FINISHED.



"I don't believe it..." Todd murmured.
"Believe it. Kendra... Regina, whatever that beast is. She can't be beaten. She's too big, too powerful. I've seen it, Todd. Seen it with my own eyes. Seen her toy with two Ultimabots. Seen her masturbate with them, them devour the rangers piloting it with a giggle." The stranger went on.



"and... I've seen her grow. And grow and grow. Every new cycle of the moon brings her close enough to her power source to make her even stronger, and bigger." The stranger told Todd.

"You think she's powerful like this? Imagine whole city blocks Todd."

"Gone. Obliterated. Erased in the blink of an eye, every time she takes a step."

"She's not like this-" The stranger gestured out of the window. "In my time. She's thousands of feet tall. Big enough to decimate cities for fun. Big enough to show up on the Richter scale whenever she walks from A to B."

"I saw her you know. I saw it, from far away. Saw her stomping London flat. Saw her laugh as though it were some kind of game."

"The chaos... the devastation. She enjoyed it. She was lost, Todd, lost in the extinction of the human race."

"She'd get down on all fours from time to time. To get closer to the carnage she was causing. And of course... to hunt... for food."

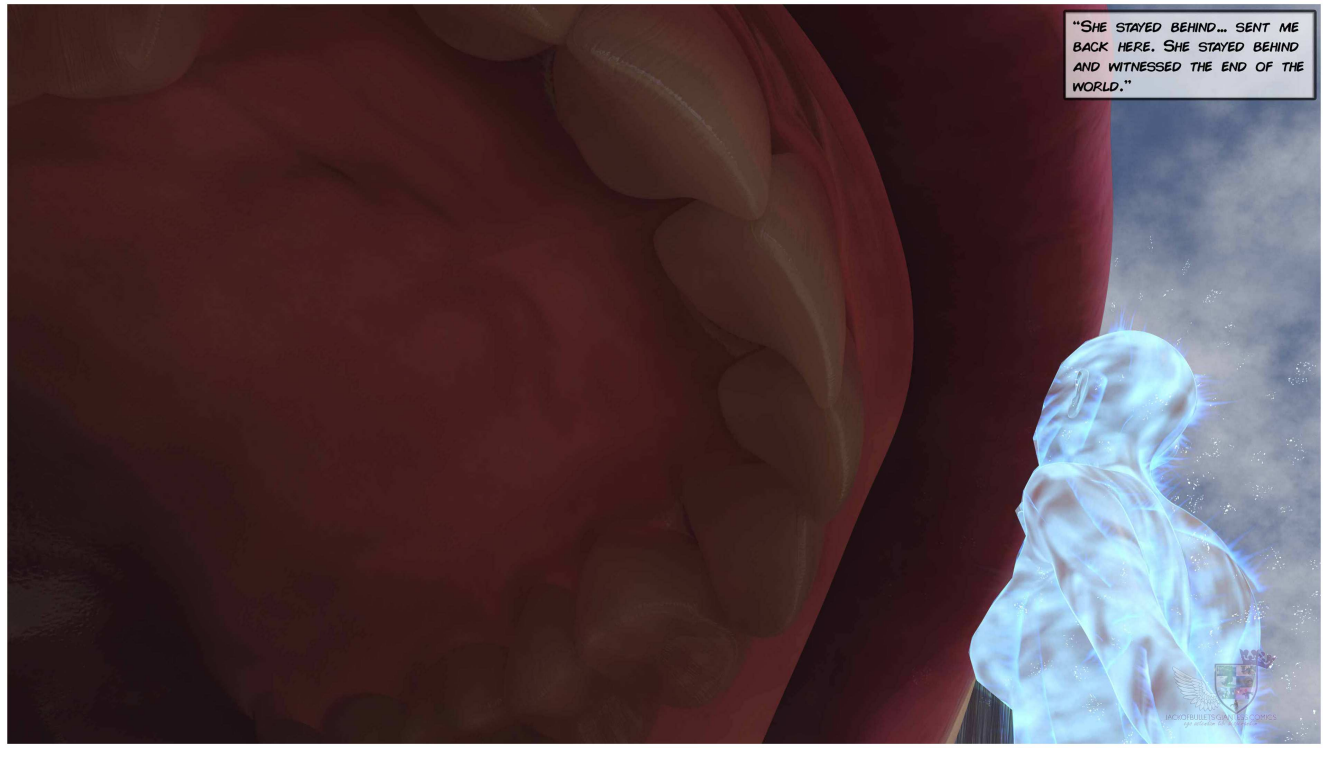
"AND OF COURSE, SHE LOVED TO GET THE LANDMARKS."

"We gave up, eventually. Fighting her became pointless. Zortanna and I agreed that the only way to save the earth was to fight Kendra and Regina in the past. To stop Regina before she ever manages to corrupt Kendra. Before she combines herself with Kendra's body. Eventually Zortanna and I were the only ones left for miles around. We worked day and night on the Timebreaker. Right there outside her starship on that same dusty road."

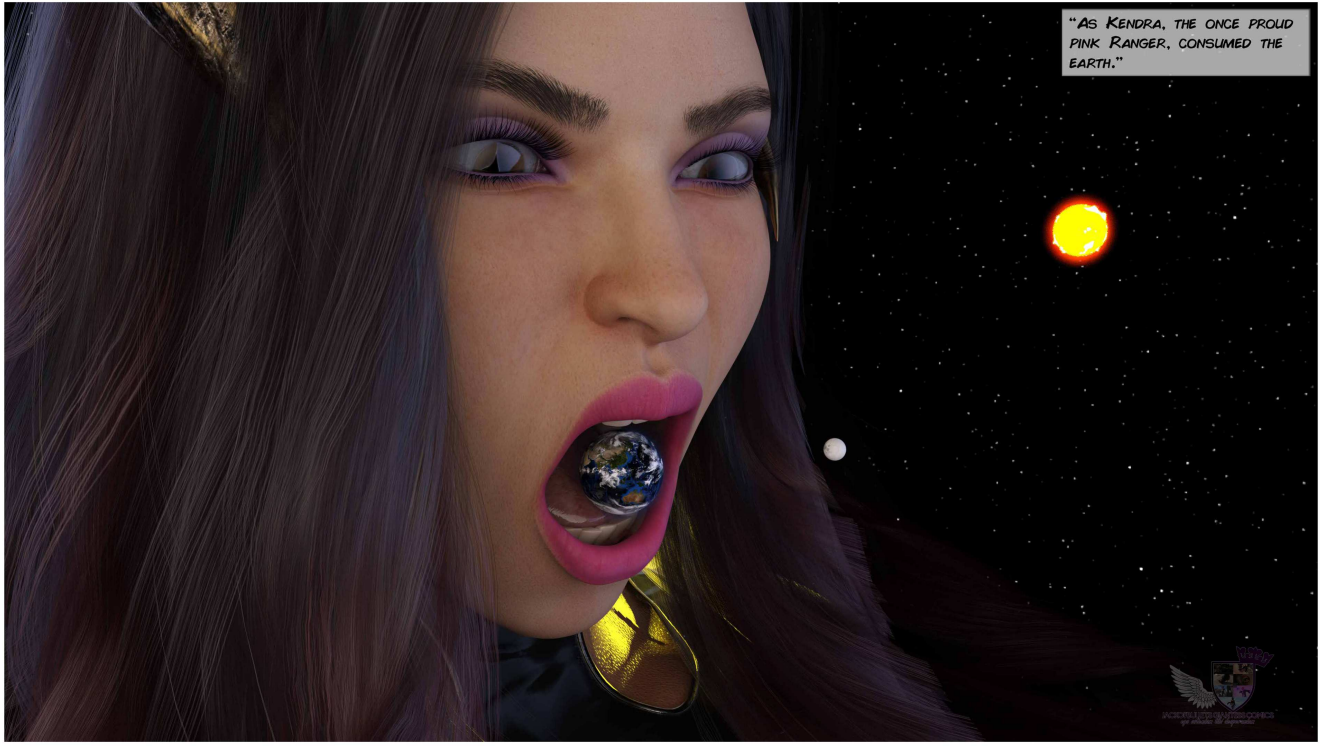
"We completed the machine with no time to spare. Even as Zortanna finished the final calculations, Kendra... she.... She..."
"What is it, did she find you?" Todd asked.
"No... well, I suppose so." The stranger replied.

"She outgrew the earth, Todd. She filled the horizon; she was that big. Zortanna and I watched, as slowly, Kendra loomed over the whole world."

"I tried, Todd. I tried to get her to come with me. But only she could prime the reactor core of the timebreaker. We both knew it."
The stranger choked back, almost breaking down.
"You don't get it Todd... How it felt to leave her there, leave her to face Kendra alone."



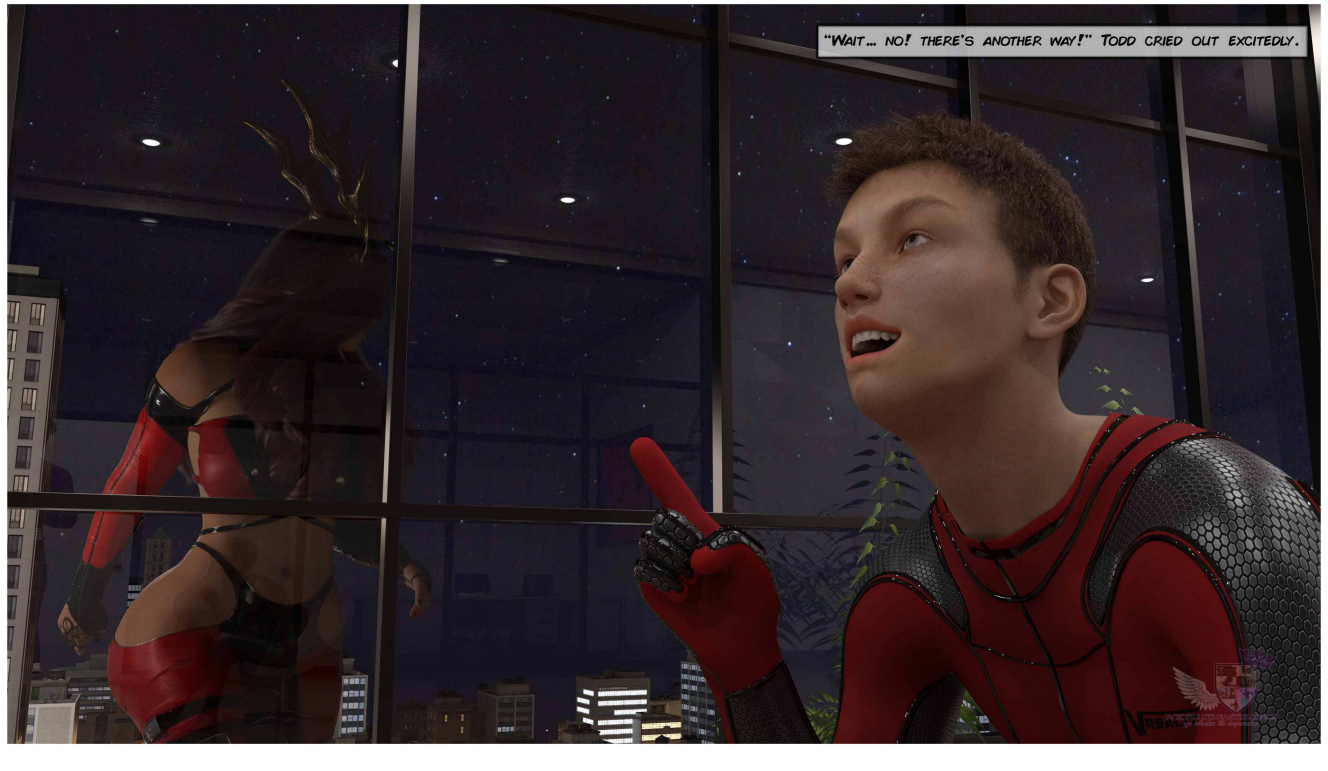
"She stayed behind... sent me back here. She stayed behind and witnessed the end of the world."



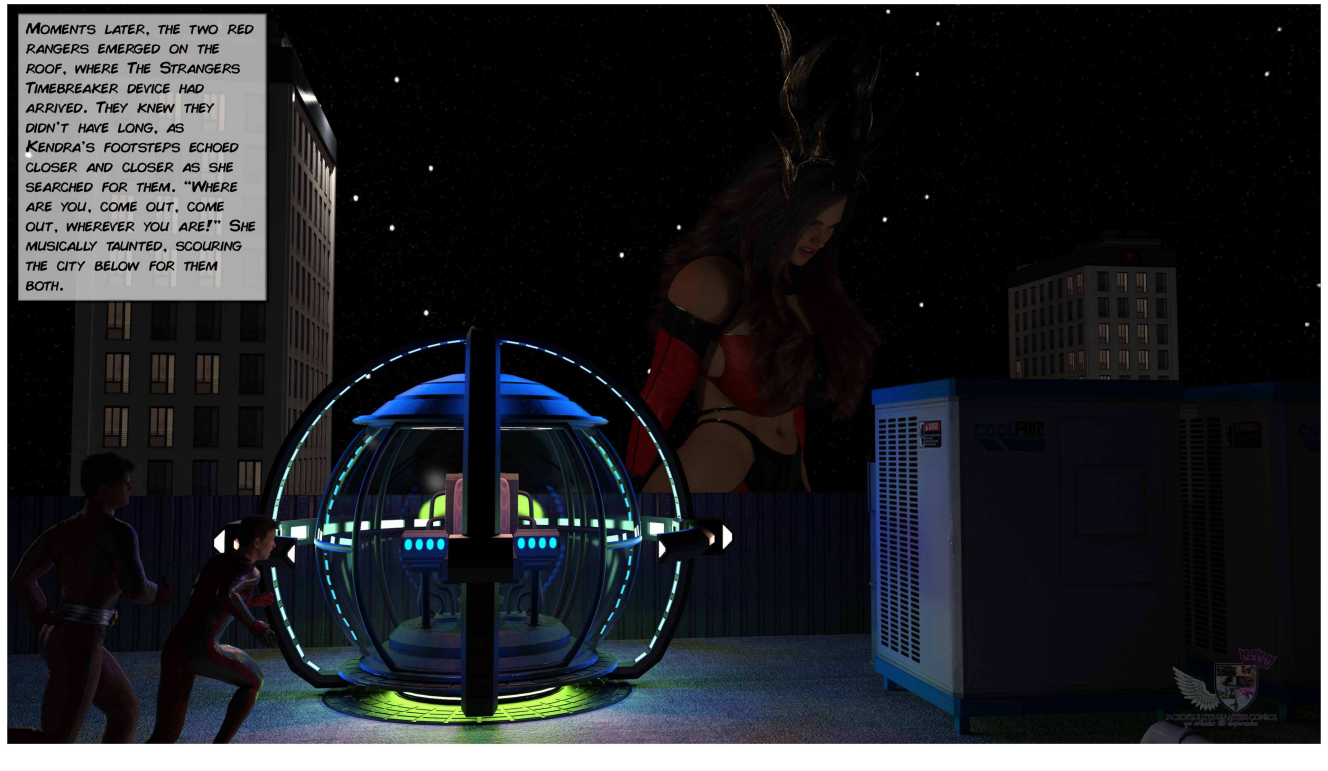
"As Kendra, the once proud pink Ranger, consumed the earth."

INC
"So. You'll have to forgive me if I don't feel so chipper about helping you and your Zortanna rebuild the Rangers. This is where you come in Todd." The stranger told Todd, getting down to business.
"Me? What can I do against her?" Todd asked.
"Nothing. You have to go back. If I use the memory core from your Zortanna, I can provide just enough power to the timebreaker. And you know the exact time to go to. You can change this, change everything. You... can save the world."

"Zortanna and I knew that at some point today, Kendra was struck by Regina's magical size-enhancing ray. We figured if we could intercept it, get Kendra out of the way... none of this would happen."
Todd grimaced. It might just work... but what if...



"Wait... no! there's another way!" Todd cried out excitedly.



Moments later, the two red rangers emerged on the roof, where The Strangers Timebreaker device had arrived. They knew they didn't have long, as Kendra's footsteps echoed closer and closer as she searched for them. "Where are you, come out, come out, wherever you are!" She musically taunted, scouring the city below for them both.

The two rangers worked together, worked hard. They connected the remnants of Todd's Zortanna to the timebreaker, and crossed their fingers. Todd knew the right time. How couldn't he, it was the moment his whole life turned upside down. The stranger from the futures plan was good, but his was better. If he was right, He could save Kendra AND defeat Regina. Maybe even once and for all.

The timebreaker accepted the new co-ordinates, and the power provided by Todd's salvaged memory core. The device responded by glowing a pleasing green, the international symbol for go. But the sudden change of light, and celebratory cheers by the two red rangers attracted the wrong kind of attention...

"There you are Todd! Now hold still, while I smash you!" Kendra howled, stomping toward them inexorably.
"Go!" The stranger told Todd. "No, come with me, we can fit in together!" Todd demanded.
"It won't work, it's one person or nobody. Just go!" The stranger commanded.

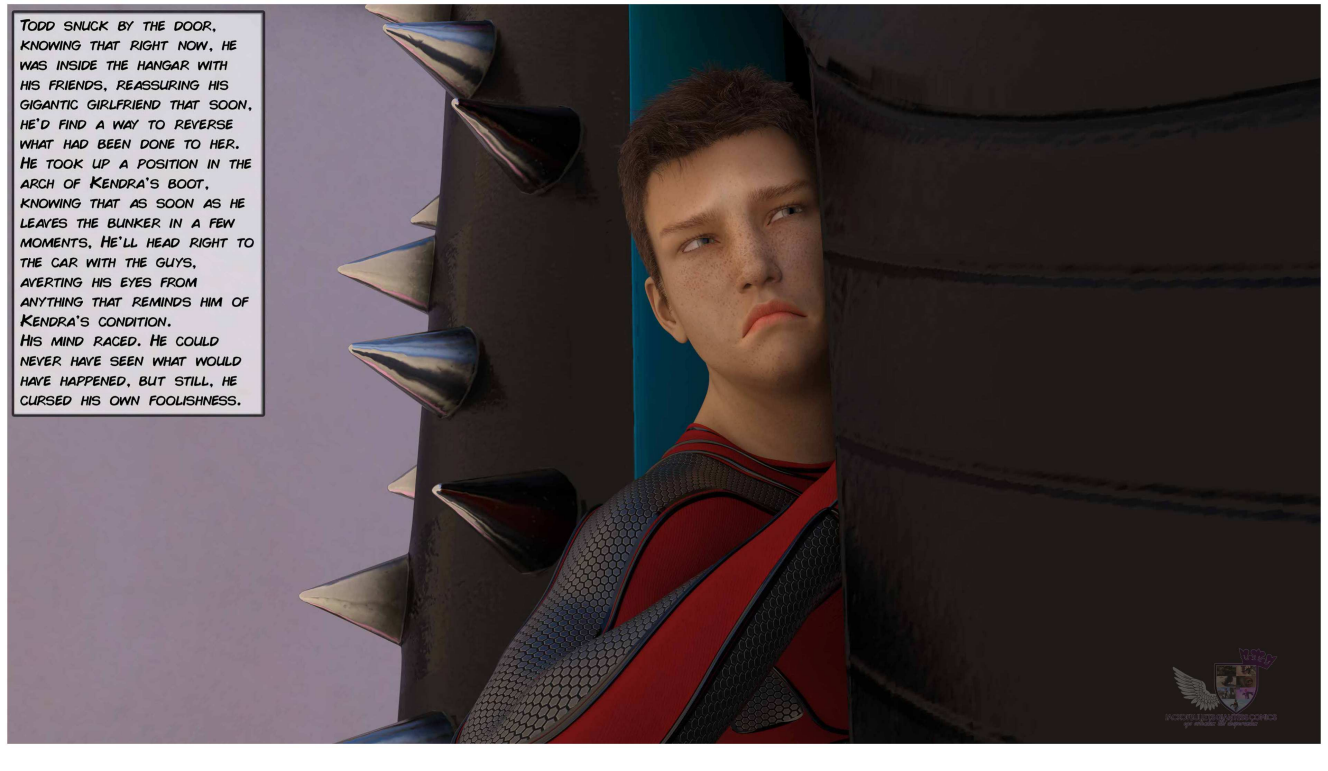
"Don't worry! We'll meet again! I'll fix this, I swear!" Todd reassured the stranger, as he keyed the switch that would send him spiralling back through time.
As he did so, Kendra's fist raised skyward, ready to crash down on them both at any...

Time.
In the space of a second, two things happened.
Todd simply was no longer there, not present in that moment of time....

...and Kendra's fist obliterated the building where Todd once was.

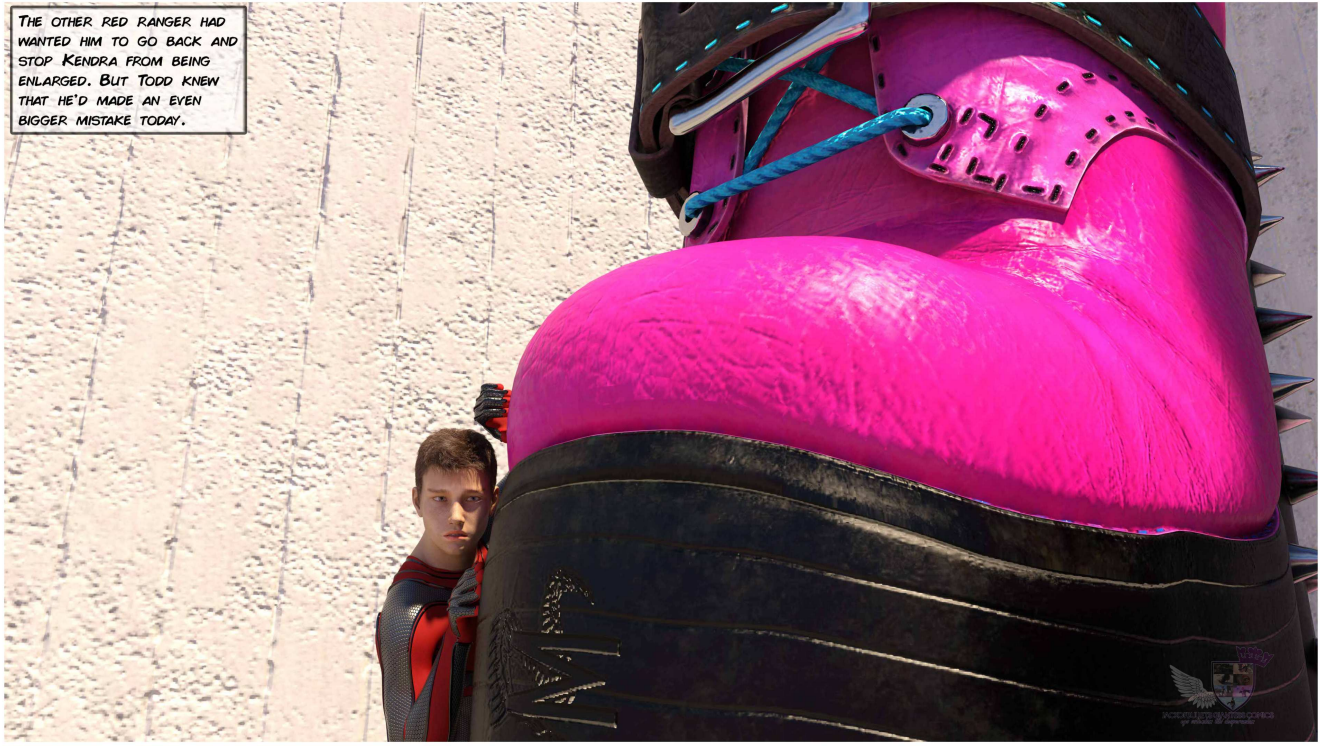
"Kendra's not a monster, dude," Todd corrected. "She's still my girl."
"Sure," Bruce said. "Tell us how it works out next time you hit that, bro."

As he and the guys... the rangers.... His friends from this time entered the hangar, Todd hid.
For a moment he took stock of himself. Ironically, this plan would require precision timing. A single mistake here, and not only could history repeat itself, but it could easily be worse than before.
KEEP CLEAR



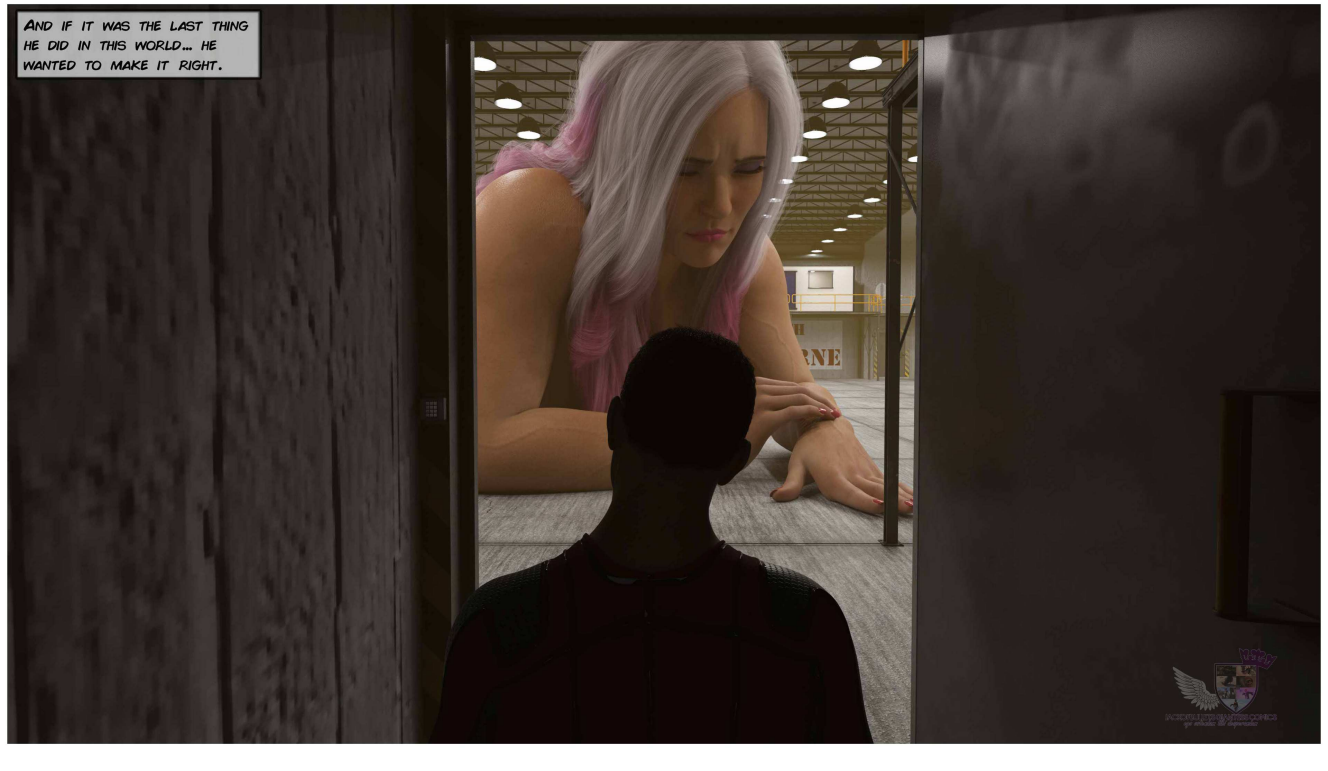
Todd snuck by the door, knowing that right now, he was inside the hangar with his friends, reassuring his gigantic girlfriend that soon, he'd find a way to reverse what had been done to her.
He took up a position in the arch of Kendra's boot, knowing that as soon as he leaves the bunker in a few moments, He'll head right to the car with the guys, averting his eyes from anything that reminds him of Kendra's condition.
His mind raced. He could never have seen what would have happened, but still, he cursed his own foolishness.

He heard himself and the guys leave.
His heart sank, because deep down inside, he knew.
Moments ago, in this time, he'd just hurt his girlfriend's feelings, she'd poured her heart out to him, and he'd given her the cold shoulder, and left.

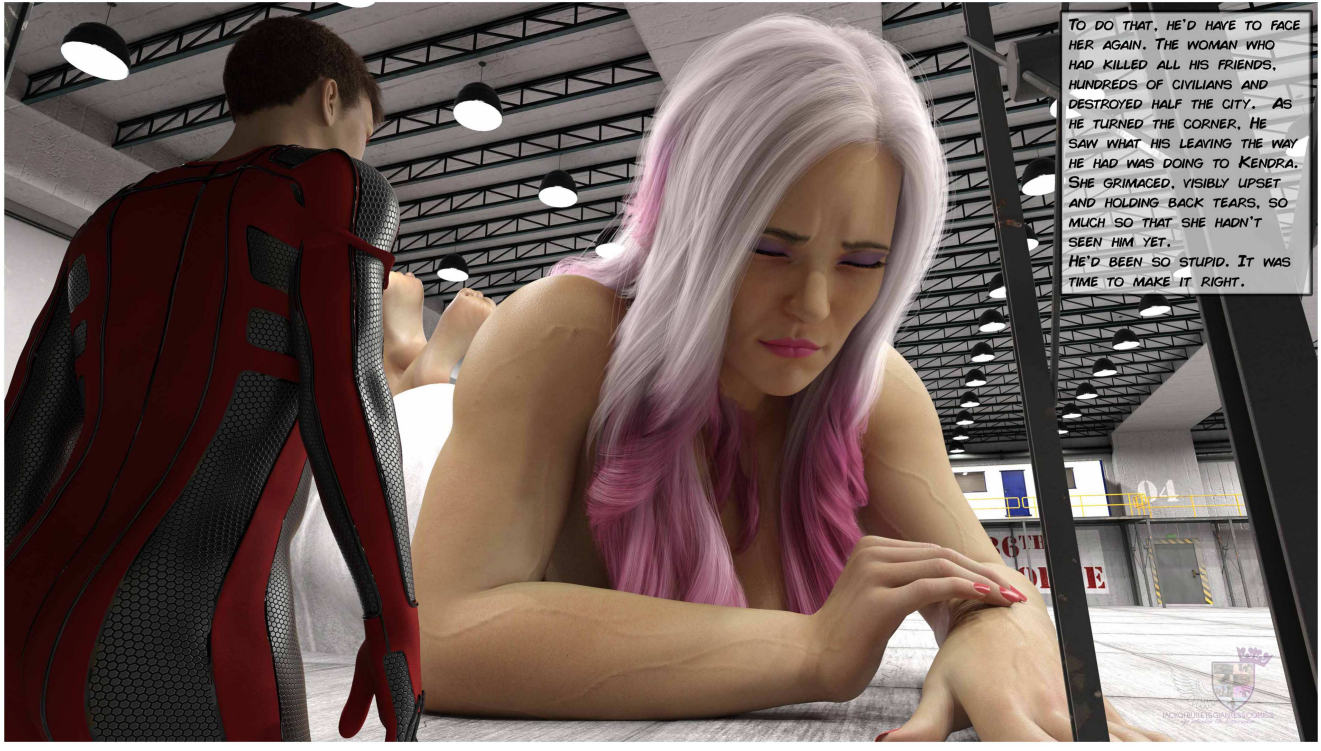


The other red ranger had wanted him to go back and stop Kendra from being enlarged. But Todd knew that he'd made an even bigger mistake today.

He'd opened the door. His lack of trust, his lack of support had created the first rip that allowed Regina into Kendra's mind. From this moment on, Regina was pulling on those threads, slowly unravelling Kendra's defences.



AND IF IT WAS THE LAST THING HE DID IN THIS WORLD... HE WANTED TO MAKE IT RIGHT.



To do that, he'd have to face her again. The woman who had killed all his friends, hundreds of civilians and destroyed half the city. As he turned the corner, He saw what his leaving the way he had was doing to Kendra. She grimaced, visibly upset and holding back tears, so much so that she hadn't seen him yet.
He'd been so stupid. It was time to make it right.

"Hey, Kendra..." Todd began. His voice was weak, croaking. "It's me?" He added. Kendra's head snapped to the side, she obviously didn't want him to see her weak, almost sobbing like this. "Todd, you're back, is everything okay?" She blurted.
Todd had a lot to balance in his mind. He had to complete his own mission, but also remember a conversation that happened yesterday, when he was upset and scared. To cap it all off, it turned out to be the worst day of his whole life. He treaded carefully.
JET A-

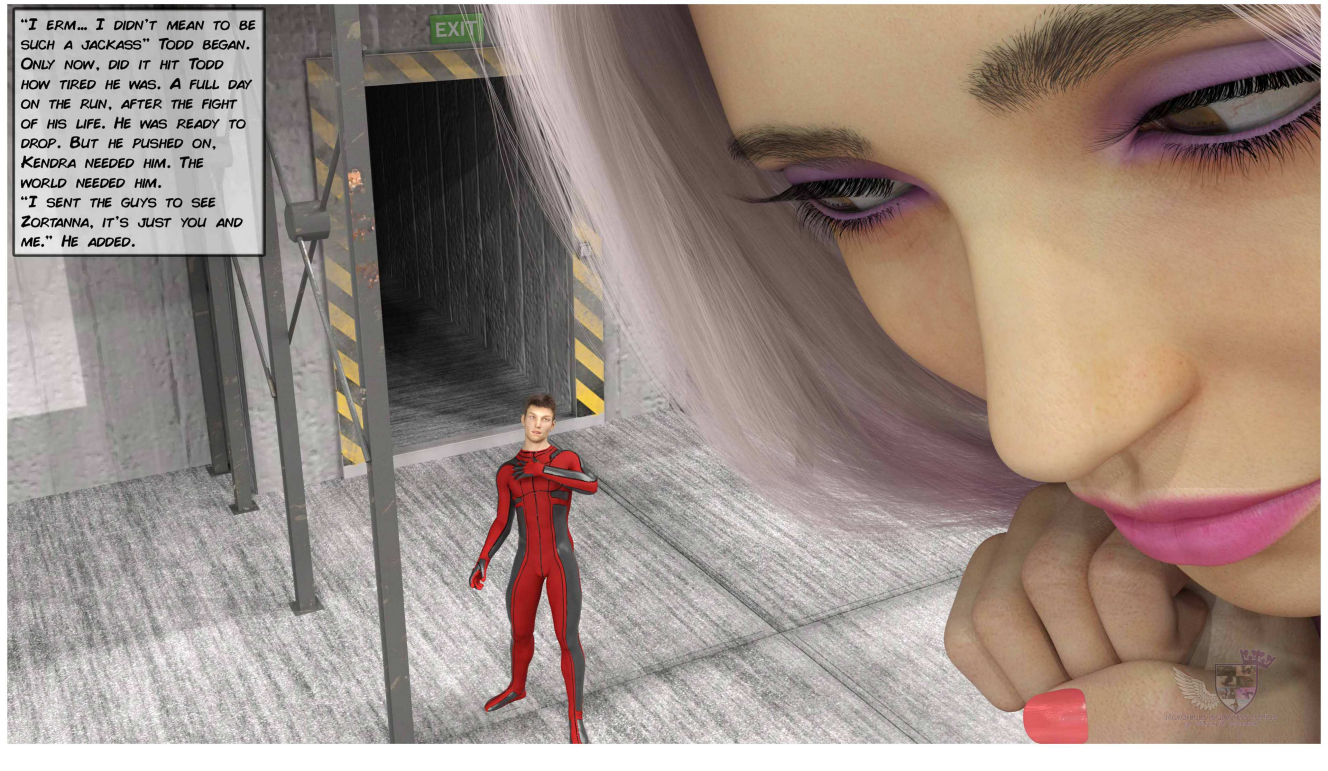
JET A-



"I erm... I didn't mean to be such a jackass" Todd began. Only now, did it hit Todd how tired he was. A full day on the run, after the fight of his life. He was ready to drop. But he pushed on. Kendra needed him. The world needed him.
"I sent the guys to see Zortanna, it's just you and me." He added.

"I'm here for you baby, I always am." Todd concluded. This was it. This was the moment; he could feel it. If he could convince her, if he could win her the same way Regina had won her... Then the 200 foot Ranger would fight Regina, instead of becoming her.

"You..." Kendra breathed. Todd almost flinched. He caught himself, kept his mask of happiness, stayed still and passive, waiting patiently for Kendra to speak. Literal minutes ago he'd been hiding from this woman, lest she splat him flat with her shoe.
"You mean it? You're not angry with me?" Kendra asked.

"How could ever be angry with you? None of this was ever your fault. You're the best girlfriend ever. I love you, Kendra, no matter how tall you are. We'll make it work, together, I know it!" Kendra seemed to cheer up a little, a slow smile crossing her massive face.

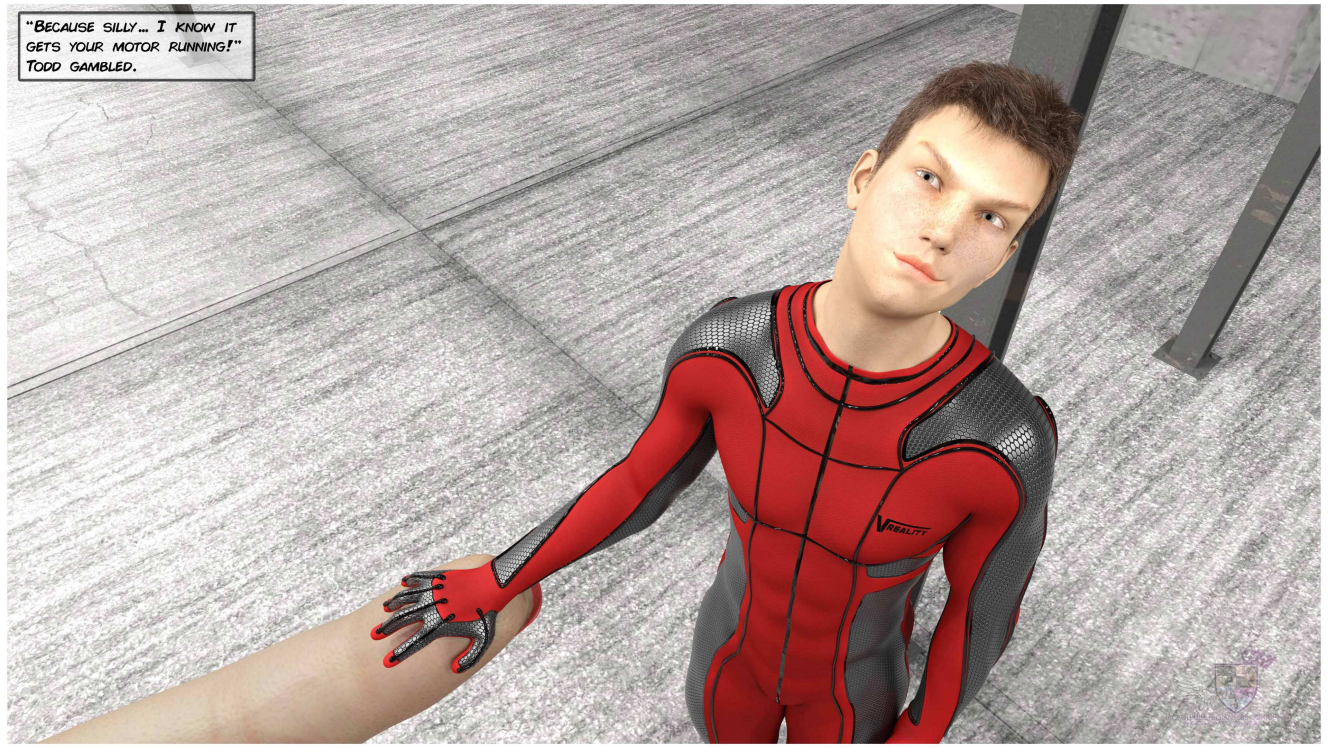
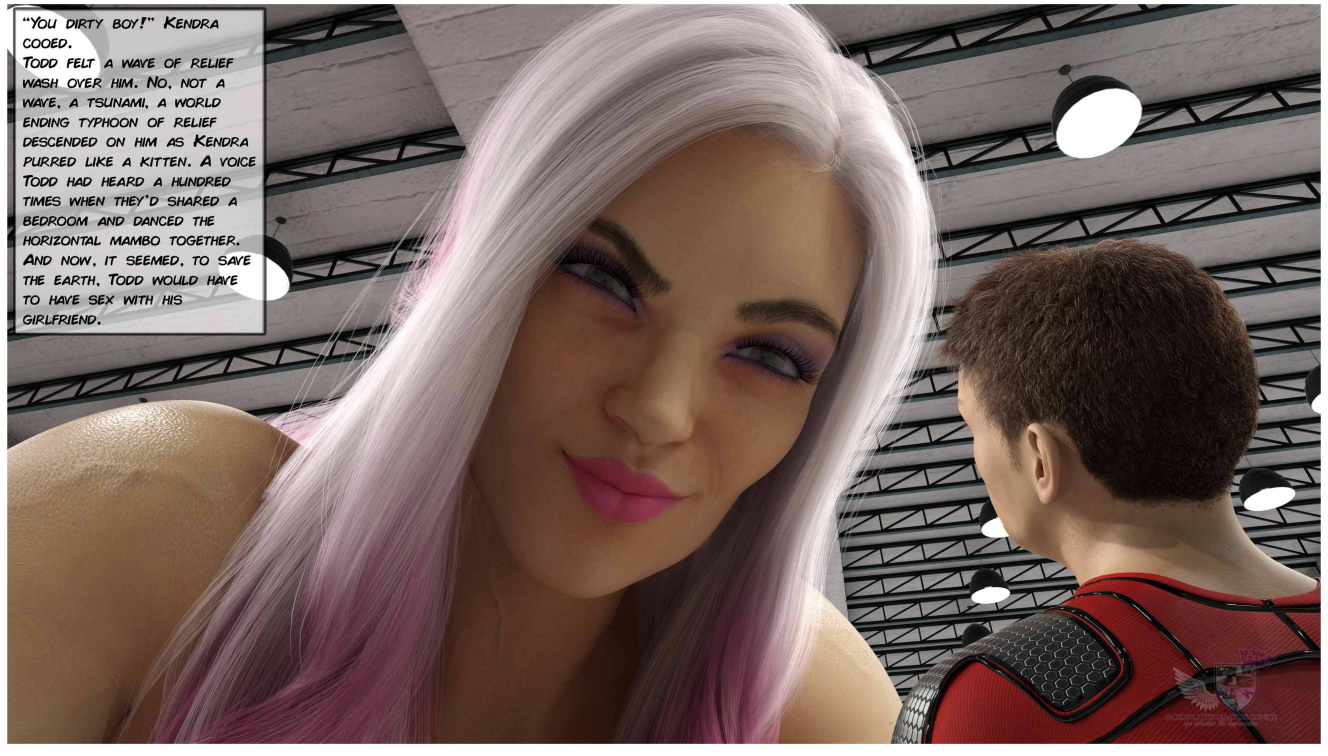
"Talk to me baby, tell me what you're feeling?" Todd asked.
"Well..." Kendra began, her face contorting with confusion.
"I'm feeling better already but... why are you in your ranger outfit?"
Todd's heart turned to stone. If she figured out the secret of his being here, his plan was sunk.
Todd thought fast, only one move left to play.



"Because silly... I know it gets your motor running!" Todd gambled.
VRREALITY

Kendra stayed silent for entirely too long. The moment of silence took an eternity, in Todd's mind the silence lasted a life age of the universe, the big bang became the big crunch and time restarted, screaming through eternity back to this very moment, as all humanity depended on his shameless flirting.



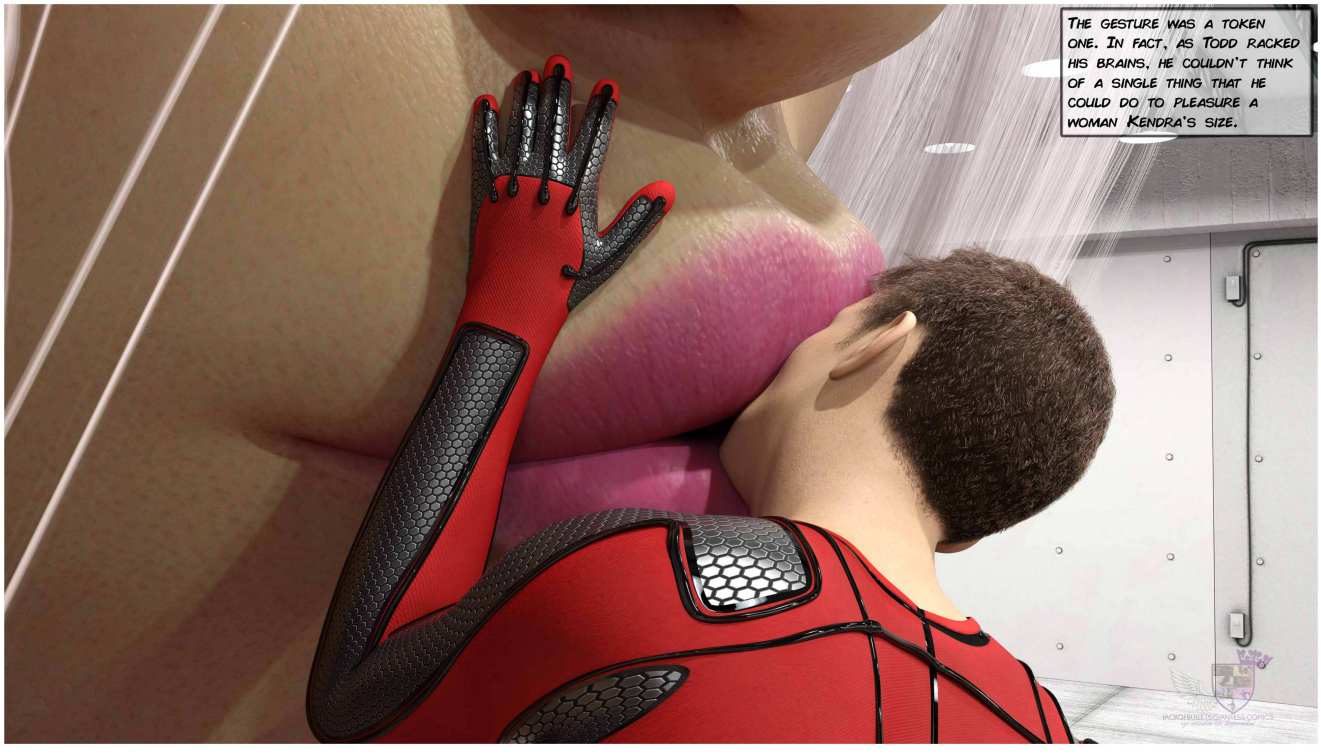
"You dirty boy!" Kendra cooed.
Todd felt a wave of relief wash over him. No, not a wave, a tsunami, a world ending typhoon of relief descended on him as Kendra purred like a kitten. A voice Todd had heard a hundred times when they'd shared a bedroom and danced the horizontal mambo together. And now, it seemed, to save the earth, Todd would have to have sex with his girlfriend.

HIS GIANT GIRLFRIEND.

Todd steeled himself. He was running on fumes and having sex with regular Kendra would've been tough. But now she was a giantess, it would take every ounce of willpower he had to achieve this feat. She reached out to him, slowly, as gently as a woman that size could be.

"I'm so glad you came back Todd... I really didn't' want to be alone." Kendra smiled, lifting Todd with ease.
Inside, he flashed back to less than an hour ago. Or tonight, damn, he hated time. He and Lee had fought for their lives in her palm, and she'd eaten Lee. Then she meant to make a sex toy of him.
It looks like she'd get to, after all.
"I think I can do better than our last kiss though..." Kendra reassured him.

"Me too!" Todd announced and lunged forward within the confines of Kendra's hand. He kissed her huge lips, and she pushed back against him, but with significant restraint.



The gesture was a token one. In fact, as Todd racked his brains, he couldn't think of a single thing that he could do to pleasure a woman Kendra's size.

Placing Todd back on the ground, Kendra rolled, shimmying her enormous body around within the confines of the bunker.
"Are you ready for the biggest show of your life?" Kendra teased, her hands caressing her own body as she moved them towards the hasty knot holding the aircraft tarpaulin around her body.
"Oh yeah, let me get a look at you!" Todd played along. She flung off the tarp, and Todd's heart skipped a beat.

"Now... come and ravish me!" Kendra told Todd.

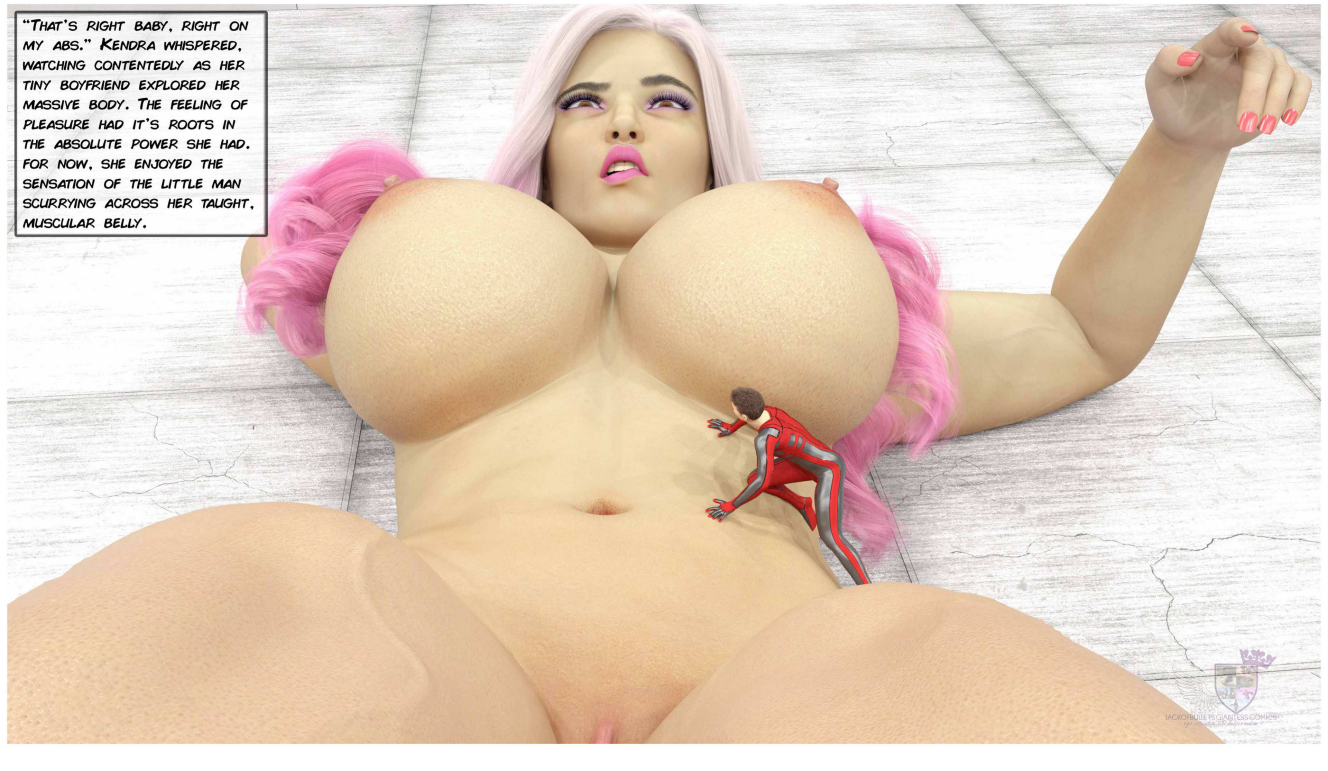
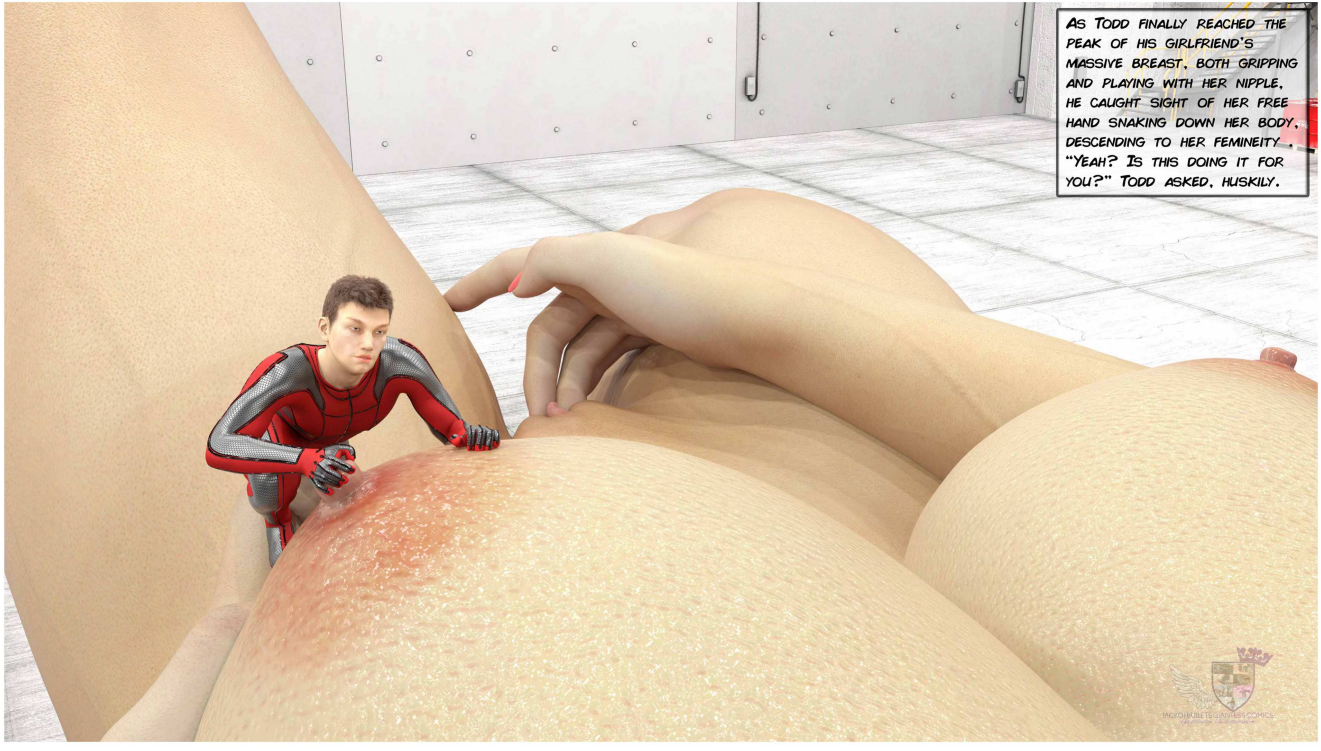
"Well... Kendra, you see... the spirit is willing, but the you're... so big, and I'm... still y'know..." Todd floundered. The elephant in the room was that he was much too small to please her in any real way.
"Don't worry little guy, I was just kidding. Now come here, let momma take it from here!" Kendra giggled, a sly, wolfish grin on her face.

"Climb up, get on top of me..." Kendra giggled, lying on her back.

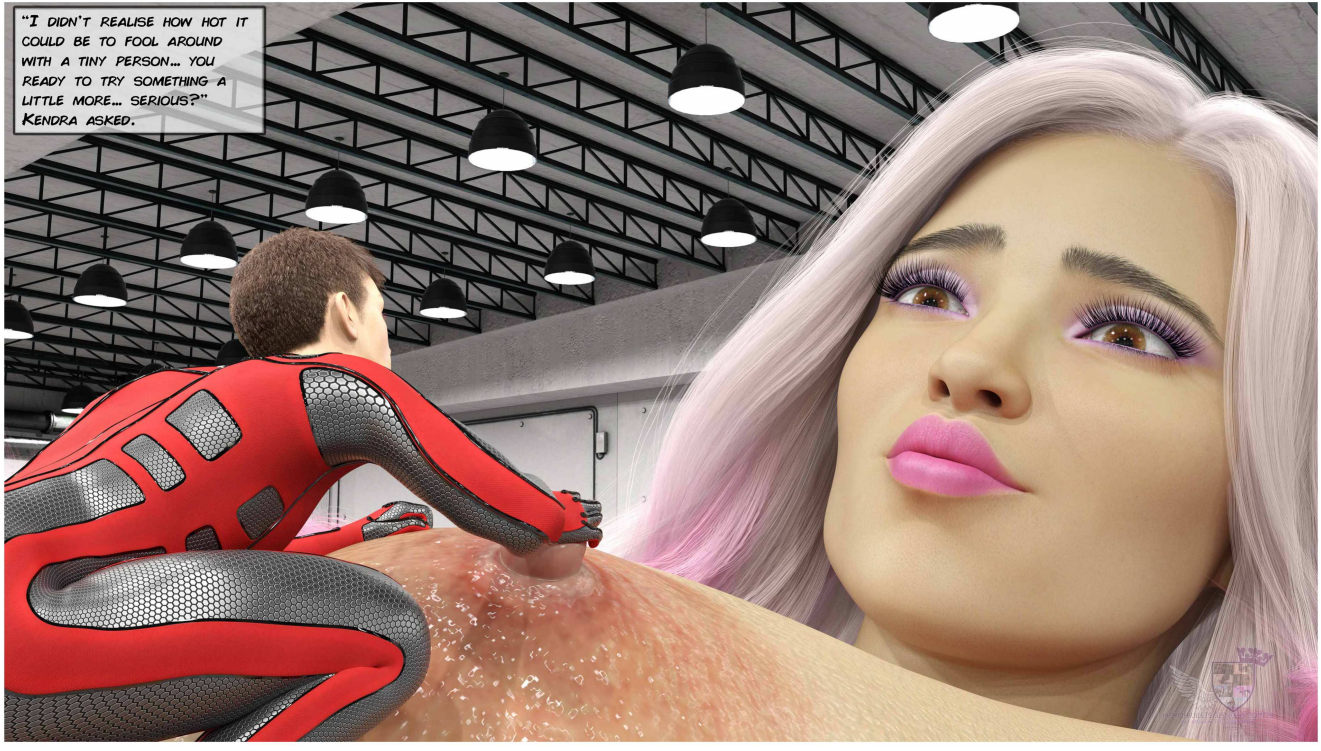


"That's right baby, right on my abs." Kendra whispered, watching contentedly as her tiny boyfriend explored her massive body. The feeling of pleasure had it's roots in the absolute power she had. For now, she enjoyed the sensation of the little man scurrying across her taught, muscular belly.

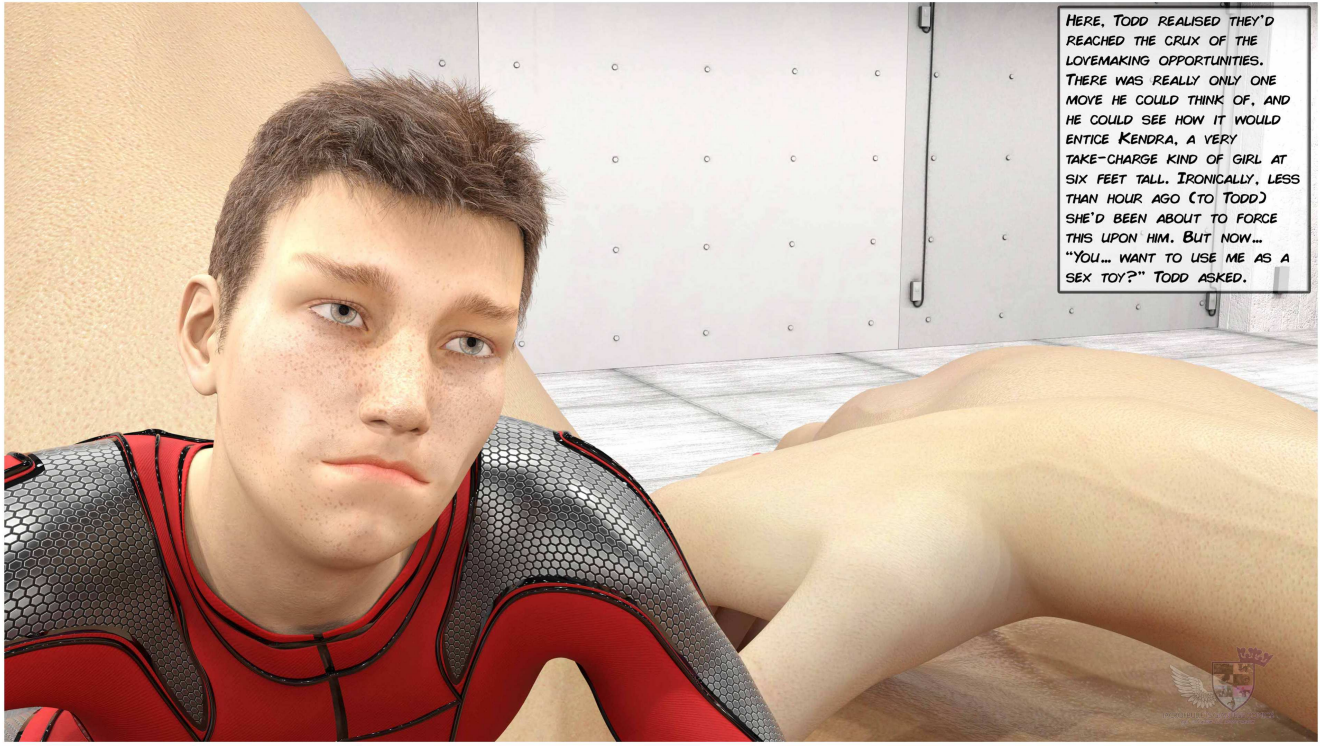
"Now climb on my tits... oh wow, this is so hot..." Kendra moaned.



As Todd finally reached the peak of his girlfriend's massive breast, both gripping and playing with her nipple, he caught sight of her free hand snaking down her body, descending to her femineity. "Yeah? Is this doing it for you?" Todd asked, huskily.



"I didn't realise how hot it could be to fool around with a tiny person... you ready to try something a little more... serious?" Kendra asked.



Here, Todd realised they'd reached the crux of the lovemaking opportunities. There was really only one move he could think of, and he could see how it would entice Kendra, a very take-charge kind of girl at six feet tall. Ironically, less than hour ago (to Todd) she'd been about to force this upon him. But now...
"You... want to use me as a sex toy?" Todd asked.

"I REALLY DO..." KENDRA VISIBLY ACHED WITH PASSION. "IS THAT OKAY? I'LL BE SUPER GENTLE..." KENDRA PROMISED.

"It's fine... let's have a little fun, there's a first time for everything... right?" Todd joked.
Not that he had much choice.

Todd did as much as he could to help, holding his legs rigid as Kendra gently pushed him deeper and deeper inside herself. She moaned and quivered with pleasure, her massive fingers holding him firmly but gently.

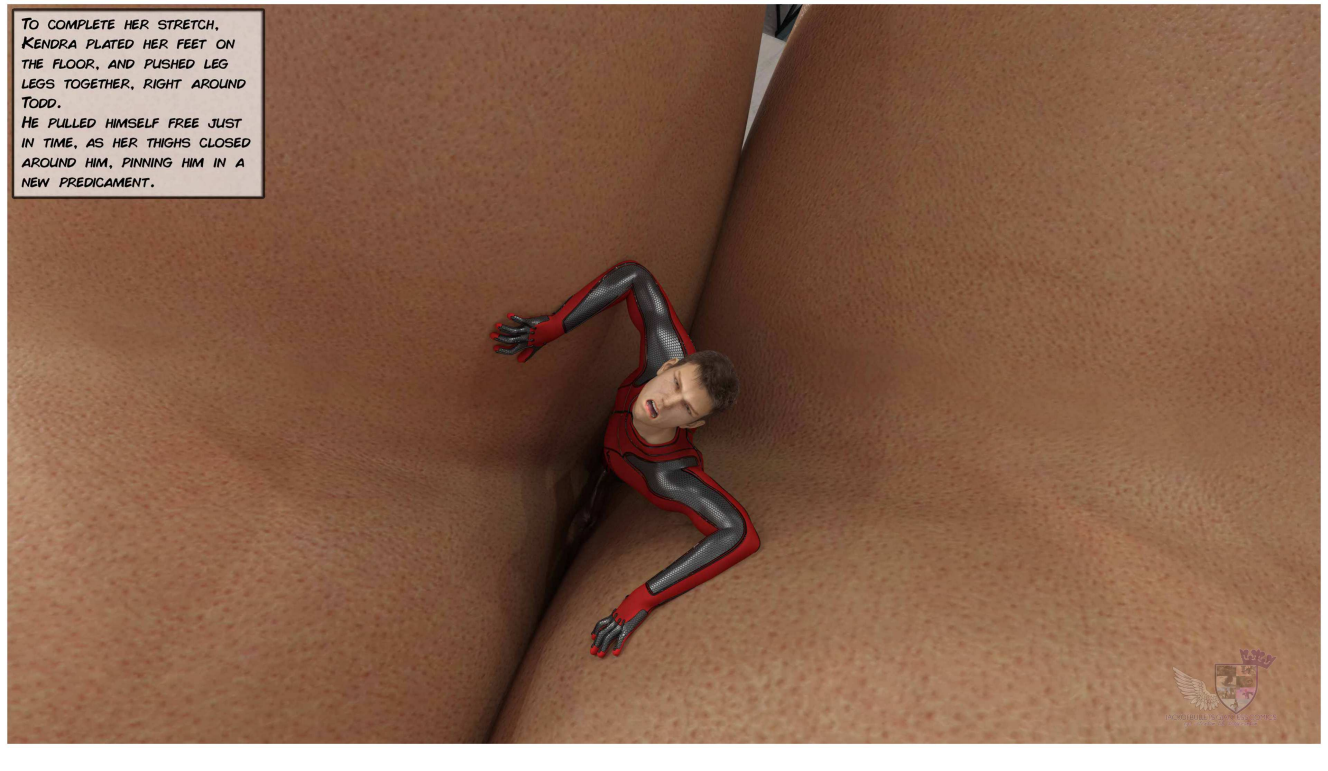
AIRBORNE
"Oh Todd..." Kendra moaned, her wrist pulsing with motion as she jostled Todd in and out rapidly. Every few seconds, her grip would tighten in response to the waves of pleasure crashing over her. Then she'd catch herself, and loosen her body, lest she crush her tiny lover.
"Gently does it..." Todd called out, his voice distorted and interrupted by the motion of Kendra's hand.

"Todd... You're so... I'm gonna..." Kendra panted. Todd felt her body tensing up. He'd felt this sensation before, but not with his body inside Kendra up to the nipples. Kendra was building up to an orgasm.

The buildup was quick, and the payoff was explosive. Kendra plunged Todd deep inside her, and as he felt his feet hit something solid, Kendra came.

She momentarily lost control of her body as she squirted, spasmed and screamed. Todd hung on for dear life as Kendra's pussy tightened around him, clamping down and squeezing his ribcage.

Just as Todd thought her massive vagina would crush him to death right there in the hangar, There was a huge, dull thud as Kendra's head and body crashed down, and she stretched, like a cat. As her ass and lower body lifted, Todd faced a new problem.



To complete her stretch, Kendra plated her feet on the floor, and pushed leg legs together, right around Todd.
He pulled himself free just in time, as her thighs closed around him, pinning him in a new predicament.

THE SMALLEST MOVEMENT FROM KENDRA'S ENORMOUS LEGS WAS ENOUGH TO FREE TODD. HE PLUMMETED DOWN 7 FEET FROM KENDRA'S CROTCH, LANDING AWKWARDLY ON THE FLOOR.

Todd pulled himself to his feet at length, and stumbled around Kendra's ass, to get a look at her, see if he'd done the job.
"Hey Kendra, you okay big girl?" He ventured.

Kendra didn't reply, save for some soft breathing. Todd took his time, walking along her truly gigantic body, watching the soft rise and fall of the caravan sized breasts, the tiny movements of her thick, pink hair.

As Todd had begun to suspect, Kendra was fast asleep. Todd took it as a mark of his skill that he'd satisfied a woman of her size and voracious appetites. But then Todd remembered - only an hour or so ago in this time, Kendra too had been through a particularly stressful day. Todd smiled, and spoke softly to her. "See you soon... well... sort of."

Todd took one last look, and touched her hand gently as he walked by, the better to find a decent hiding spot. Soon, Bruce would be arriving with Kendra's lunch, and Todd would find out if he'd done enough to change the course of history.

NOT LONG LATER, HISTORY REPEATED ITSELF.
A SOFT, SEDUCTIVE VOICE WHISPERED DIRECTLY INTO HER EAR. "WAKE UP, BEAUTIFUL..."

"Ah shitballs!" Kendra jerked upright, out of her dream.
"No shitballs," Bruce laughed, wandering in with boxes under his arms. "Only me!"

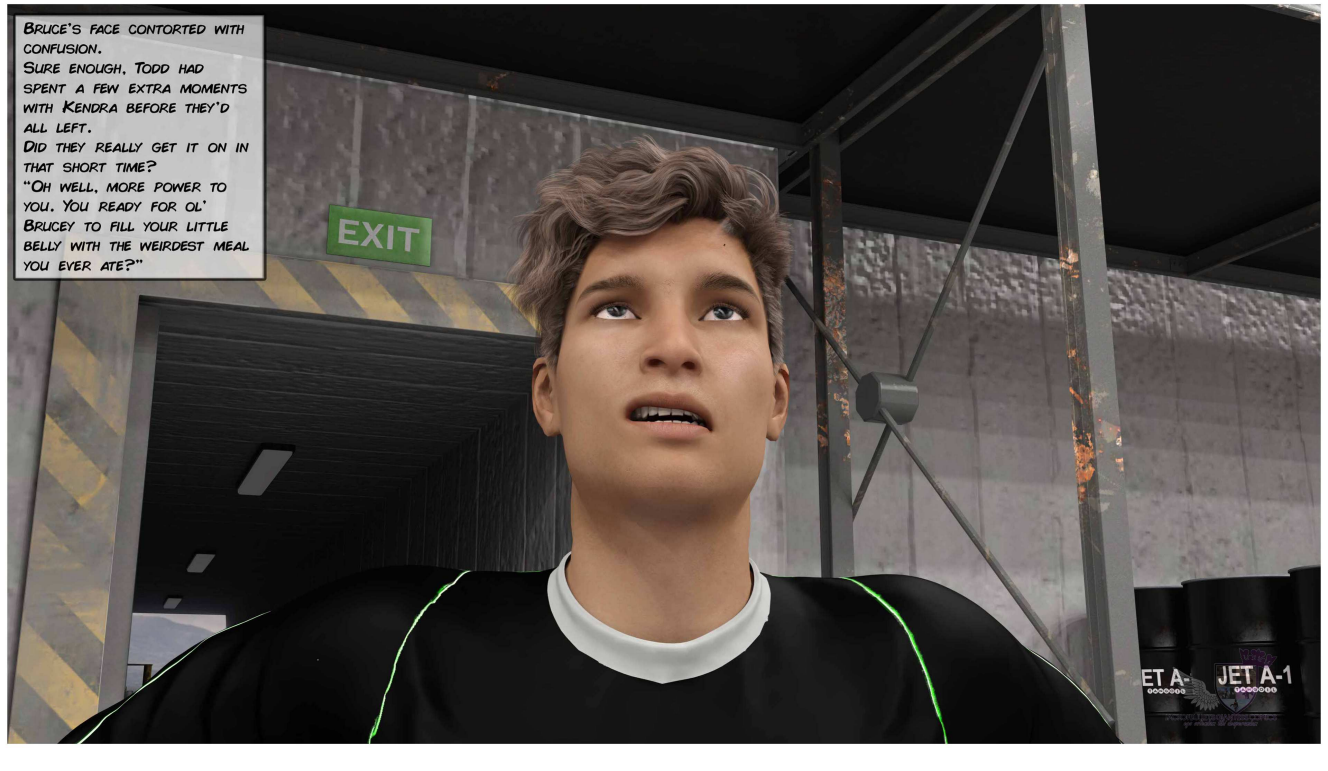
"Whoah Ken, I'm really sorry, I didn't expect you to be undressed, you want me to leave?" Bruce asked, taken aback by Kendra's massive assets.
In the shadows, Todd watched the exchange. He didn't know much about what had happened inside this bunker. All he knew was that Bruce never left here alive. He watched from his vantage point, hidden by the steel struts and Kendra's tarpaulin robe.

"Don't worry short stuff." Kendra began "Todd just got me a little hot and bothered. You got something for me?" Kendra asked. "Todd?" Bruce asked. "Yeah, I must've nodded off, did he go to see Zortanna?" Kendra asked innocently.



Bruce's face contorted with confusion.
Sure enough, Todd had spent a few extra moments with Kendra before they'd all left.
Did they really get it on in that short time?
"Oh well, more power to you. You ready for ol' Brucey to fill your little belly with the weirdest meal you ever ate?"

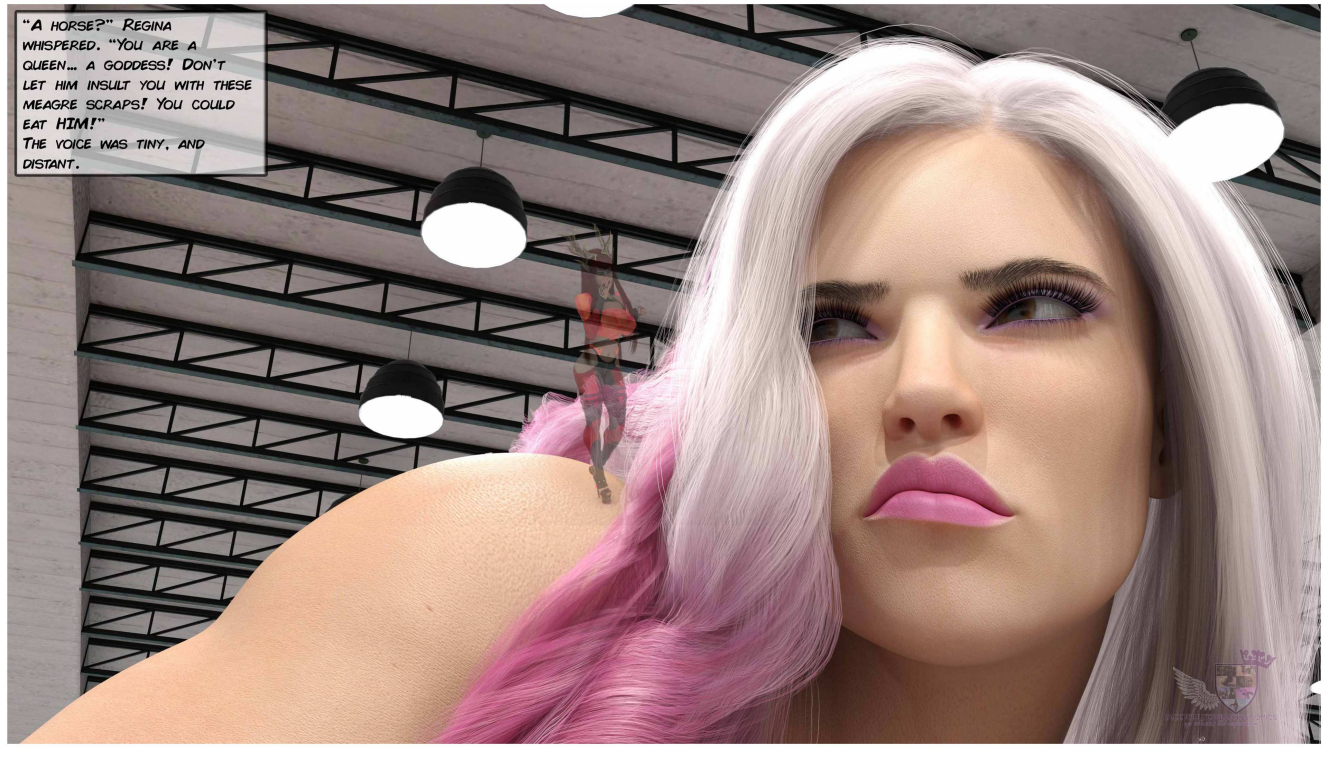
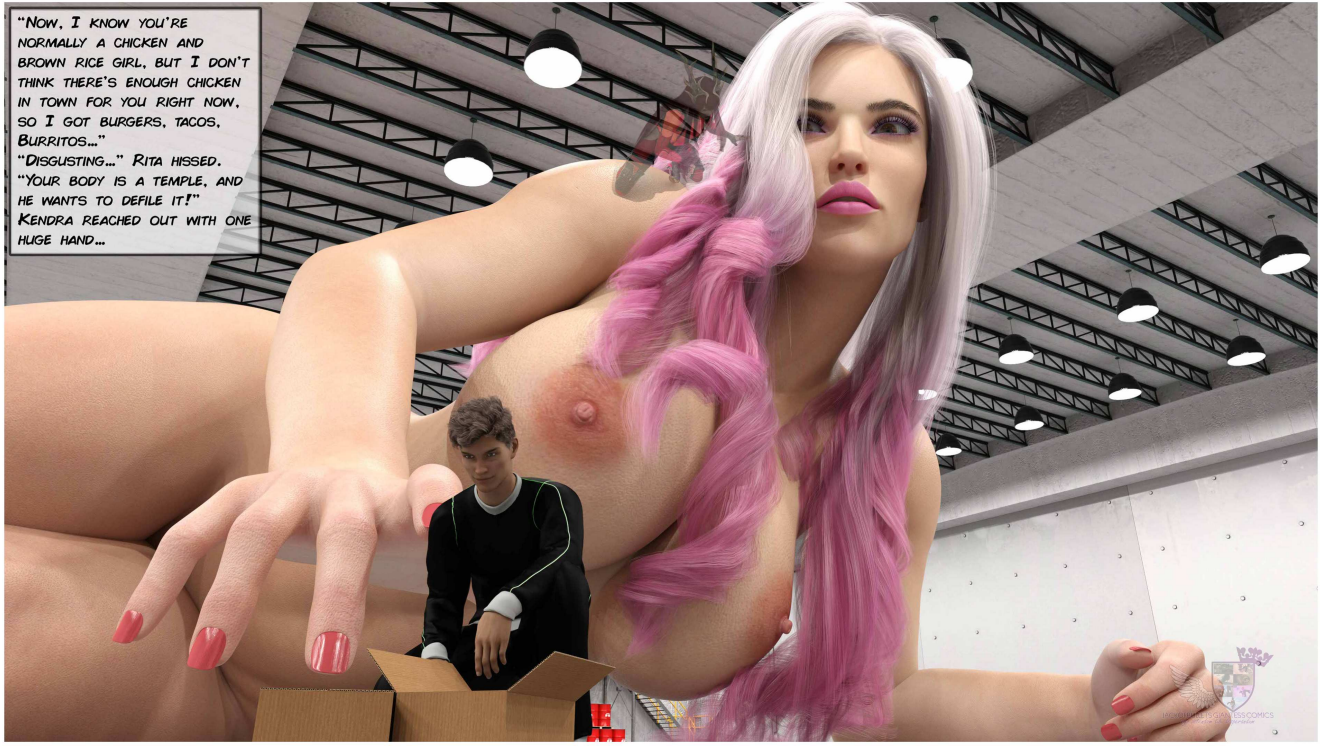
"You know it Bruce! I could eat a horse! Well... I mean, now I think that might be literally true, I think I could!" Kendra chirped.

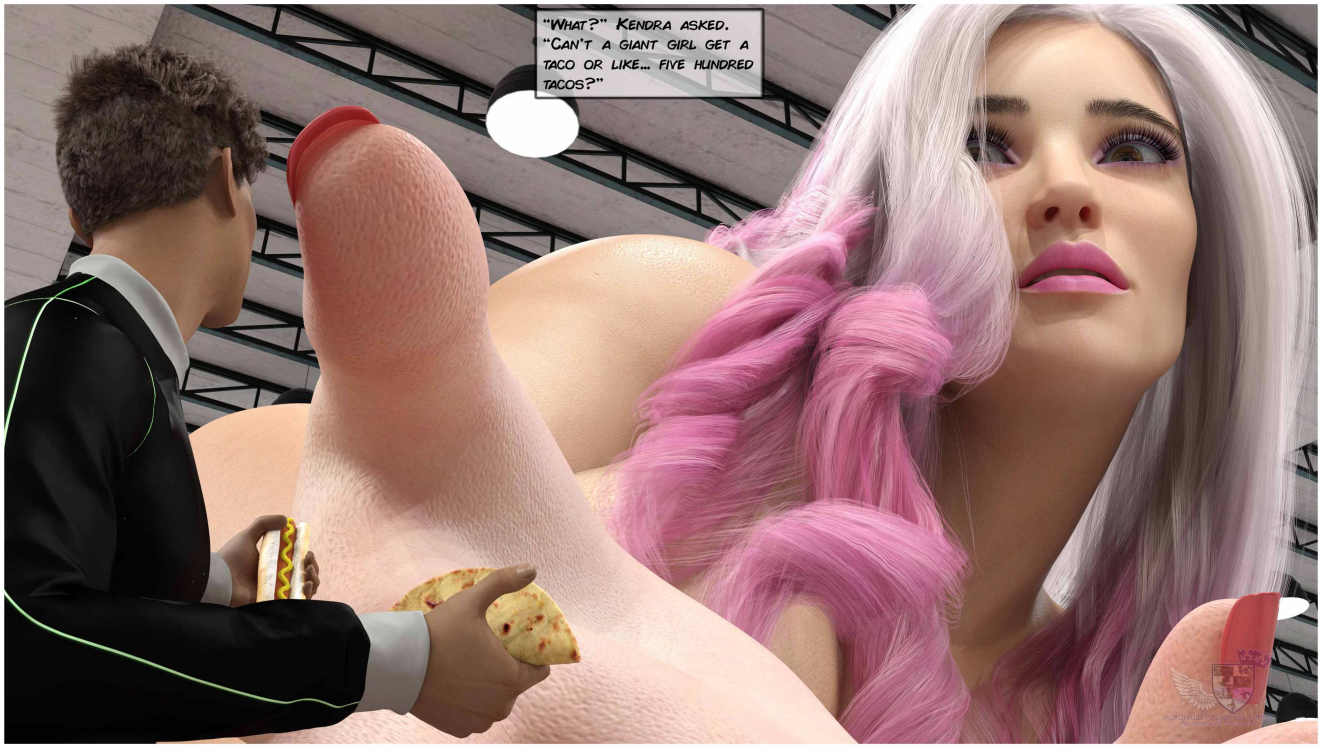


"A horse?" Regina whispered. "You are a queen... a goddess! Don't let him insult you with these meagre scraps! You could eat HIM!"
The voice was tiny, and distant.



"Now, I know you're normally a chicken and brown rice girl, but I don't think there's enough chicken in town for you right now, so I got burgers, tacos, Burritos..."
"Disgusting..." Rita hissed. "Your body is a temple, and he wants to defile it!"
Kendra reached out with one huge hand...

As he turned, the closeness of Kendra's hand made him jump back, he hadn't sensed her approach, and this whole 'giantess' thing was new and scary to him. He gasped, sheer terror gripping him.



"What?" Kendra asked. "Can't a giant girl get a taco or like... five hundred tacos?"

"WHAT!" REGINA CRIED. "HOW? HOW IS THAT PINK BITCH RESISTING MY POWER?!"

Regina stomped, hard, unthinkingly. Krampus took the full force of her boot, his spine and ribcage cracking like dry firewood. Catman lunged forward, showing sympathy for his fellow lackey.
"Mistress, stop, please, you're killing Krampus!"

Fury overtaking her, filling her every thought, Regina went right on stomping.

With a final sickening crunch, Kendra stomped the last vestiges of life out of Krampus.
"Mistress, please, don't take your anger out on your loyal subjects!" Catman protested.

"Fine... I've had enough of these rangers, and that goody-two-shoes Zortanna! I'll deal with this myself!"

"Any other day, I'd make sure you weren't banging my girl, Bruce!" Todd joked. The tinny speakers on Todd's futuristic space watch squealed back, as Bruce laughed aloud.
"Please, even at 6 feet she would've eaten me alive!" Bruce replied.
"Too right. Keep Kendra company Bruce, we'll hike back." Todd told him.

That was everything Todd needed to hear. That phone call hadn't taken place in his timeline. He'd tried to call Bruce, but by then, he was most likely already in Kendra's stomach.
He'd done it.

He snuck out, the sounds of laughter from Kendra and Bruce following behind. He racked his brains. What should he do now? He mulled over revealing himself, helping to put an end to Regina's evil, telling Zortanna what he knew about the timebreaker. But in his heart. He knew what had to be done.
03

TODD HIKED BACK INTO THE DESERT, FAR FROM THE BUNKER, AND FAR FROM THE ROAD, WHERE HE'D LEFT THE TIMEBREAKER.

Todd reached in, and as the stranger had showed him, he removed the future Zortanna's memory core. "I'm sorry. I know I failed you, I failed everyone. But now, you're all back, I fixed my mistake, and stopped Kendra from becoming corrupted." Todd told the small, battery shaped device. He felt as though he were reading a eulogy.

"I promise, I'll be back in a few hours to deal with the machine... but until then, this will have to do." Todd told himself, as much as the little memory core.

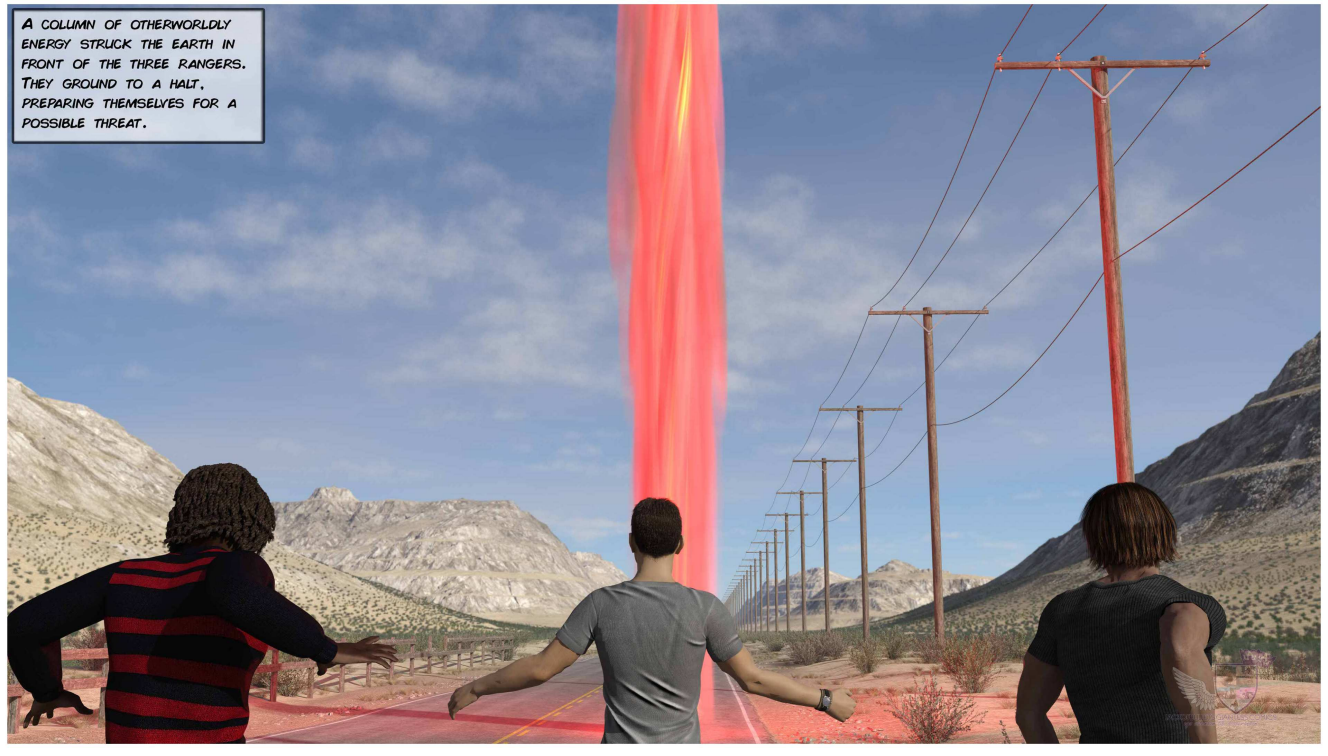
"Goodbye..." He muttered to himself as he crushed the memory core in his hand. Now, it was done. It always would be done. It was unavoidable.

Pain
Pain blasted through Todd's body, assaulting his senses, ripping him apart from the inside out. His ribs were altering shape, his arms felt as though they were glowing with white hot pain, shredding his muscles, crumbling his bones.
His legs went out from under him as he almost passed out from the sheer sense of agony that laid him low.

The pain subsided, but it left a mark. He'd done his fair share of fitness, and even further shares of rehab for injuries sustained as a ranger. He recognised the new feelings in his body. And noticed, to his horror... some feelings were missing. Todd crumbled into the dust, the feeling of a dozen day old injuries pulsing under his skin and what was worse...

He was paralysed.

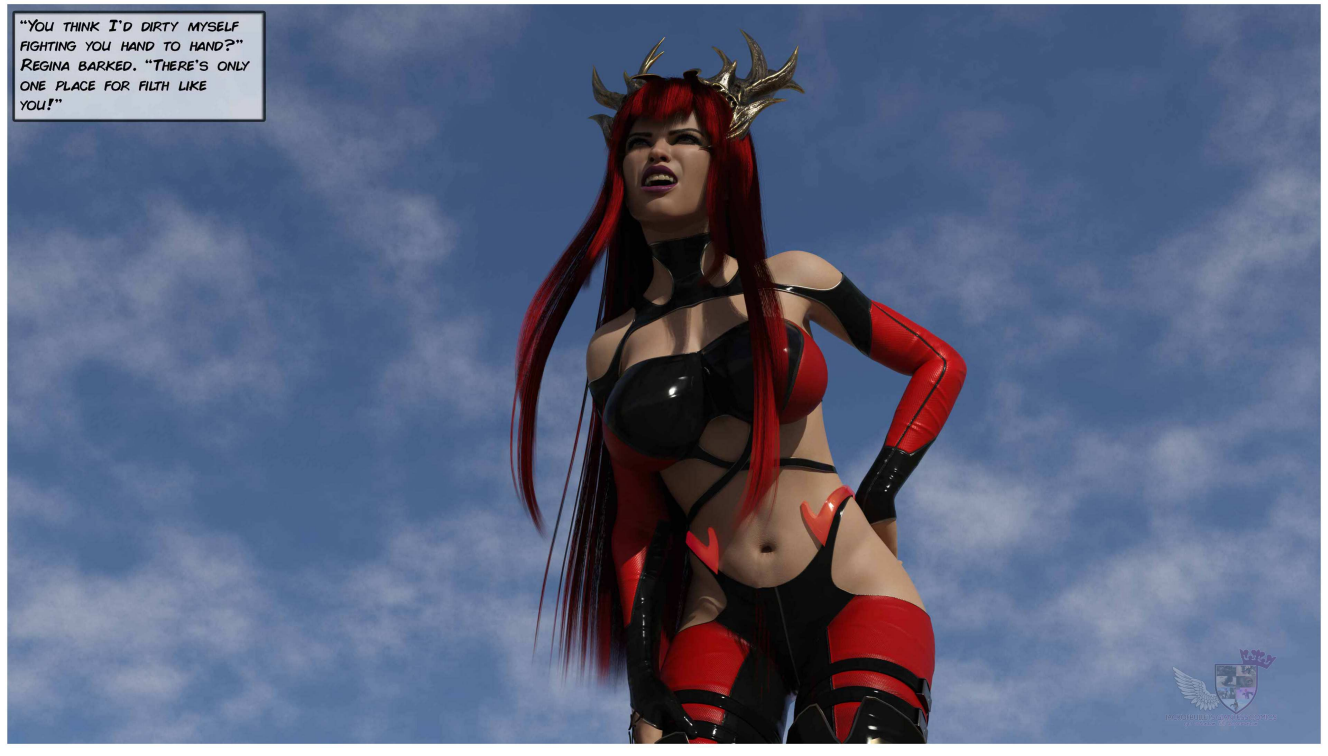
Todd, Lee and Greg took the road back at a steady pace. There was no rush, so they jogged, sharing jokes and laughter while they got in their extra cardio for the day.



A column of otherworldly energy struck the earth in front of the three Rangers. They ground to a halt, preparing themselves for a possible threat.

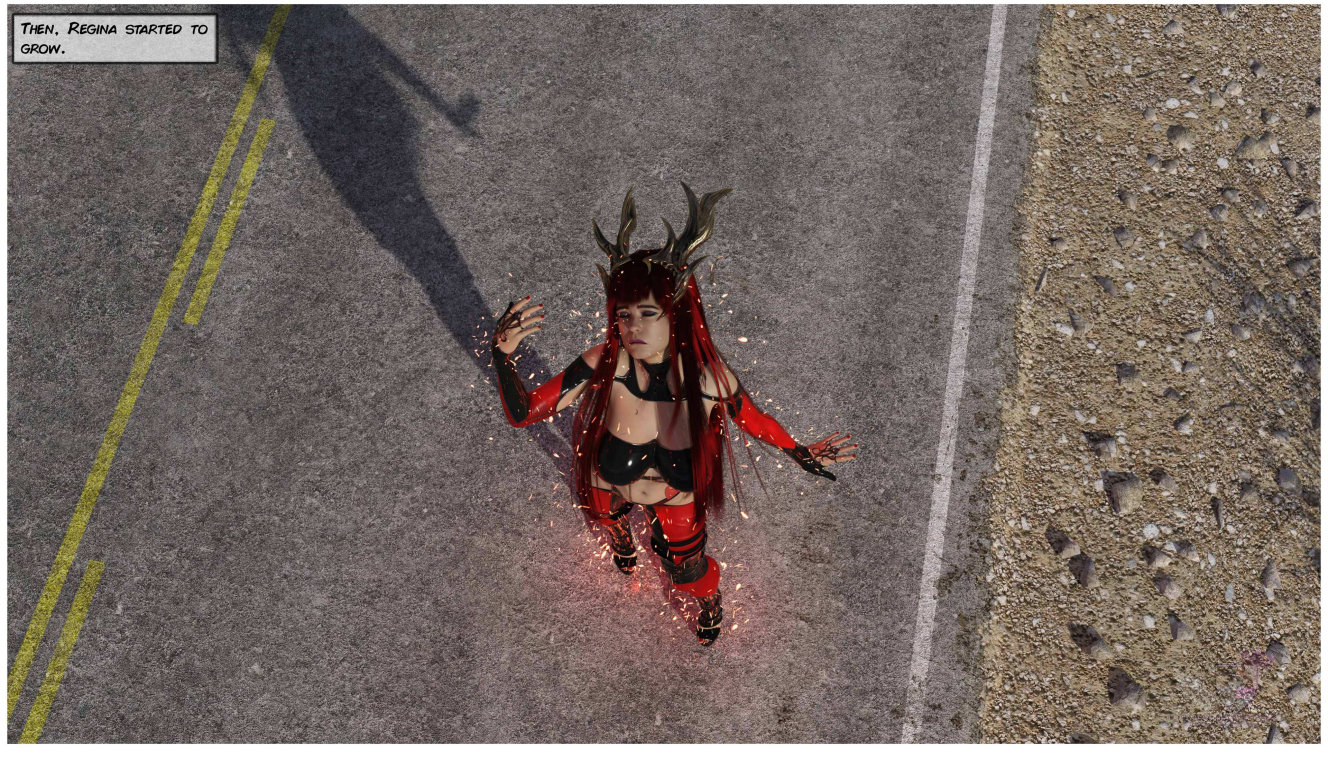
And a threat it was. Regina stepped out of the coalescing energy, as though it were an elevator directly from her moon palace.
"My my, look what we have here, Three little rangers, separated from their friends!" She jabbed.

"Oh yes, now were talking!" Todd exclaimed. "Now we get to pummel you, and have you return Kendra to normal, all at the same time!"
He and the others took on fighting stances, preparing for the battle of their lives. Regina had never faced them in person before, and Todd knew she was no slouch.



"You think I'd dirty myself fighting you hand to hand?" Regina barked. "There's only one place for filth like you!"

"And that is under my feet!" Regina concluded, her body suddenly surrounded by fireflies of magical power, bathing her in an eerie red glow.



Then, Regina started to grow.

She doubled in size in just a few moments, moaning with pleasure as she did. Todd heard creaking, twisting unnatural noises as Regina's magic did its work.

Todd and the others began to grow nervous. As strong as they were together, Regna's ever-expanding size would make their martial arts knowledge all but meaningless.

Regina sounded like she was enjoying the act of growth, just as Kendra had earlier, when she'd accidentally received the power instead of the beast.
"Todd... what are we doing boss?" Lee asked, backing away slowly, intimidated by the rapidly enlarging space goddess.
"I don't know!" Todd fumbled.

"Guys, stay with me! If we work together, we can defeat her!" Todd tried to reassure the guys, as they both slowly backed away, fearfully trying to put distance in between them and Regina as she showed no signs of stopping her terrifying growth.

"Guys, wait!" Todd shouted, growing desperate. Regina laughed now; the colossal woman looked down at them as though she were examining rodents.

Regina stopped growing, a small comfort to Todd, as Regina was now as tall as Kendra, over a hundred feet high, looking down at him with a smirk.

Regina's movements were slower than if she were normal sized, but that meant little. In two steps, she closed the distance between her and the rangers. The concrete of the old road could barely support her, kicking up dust and stone with every huge step. All Todd could do was flinch as her massive feet closed in...

Regina's foot swept over him and Todd flinched, preparing himself for the end.

But the monumentally huge shoe swept over him, stomping down further along the road. Within another second Regina was bending down, a huge hand snaking down from above over Lee and Greg.

Todd snapped around as Greg screamed a brutal, guttural scream. Todd watched in horror as Regina snatched him up like a toy, lifting him impossibly high in a second.

Before Todd could chamber a scream of his own, Regina had Lee in her free hand too. He wailed, fighting against treetrunk fingers as they coiled around him, restraining him totally.

Todd surged to his feet, bolting as fast as his legs could carry him. He had nothing left, no plan, no friends... all he could do now was run, hopefully make it back to Zortanna and find a way to fight back.

Todd broke into a sprint as Regina rose above him, standing to her full, awe-inspiring height, taking her new toys with her.

As Todd huffed and puffed, running hard, Regina turned her attention down. "Thought I'd forgotten about you huh?" She boomed, raising her massive foot above him.

Regina's foot closed quickly, pushing Todd down, then planting itself firmly on his spine. To Todd's surprise, The shoe stopped, hovering, resting on the telephone pole-sized stiletto heel.

"That's right, little red ranger. Scream for me... can't have you running away, I'd hate for you to miss what comes next!" Regina mocked, torturing Todd with miniscule movements of her gigantic foot.

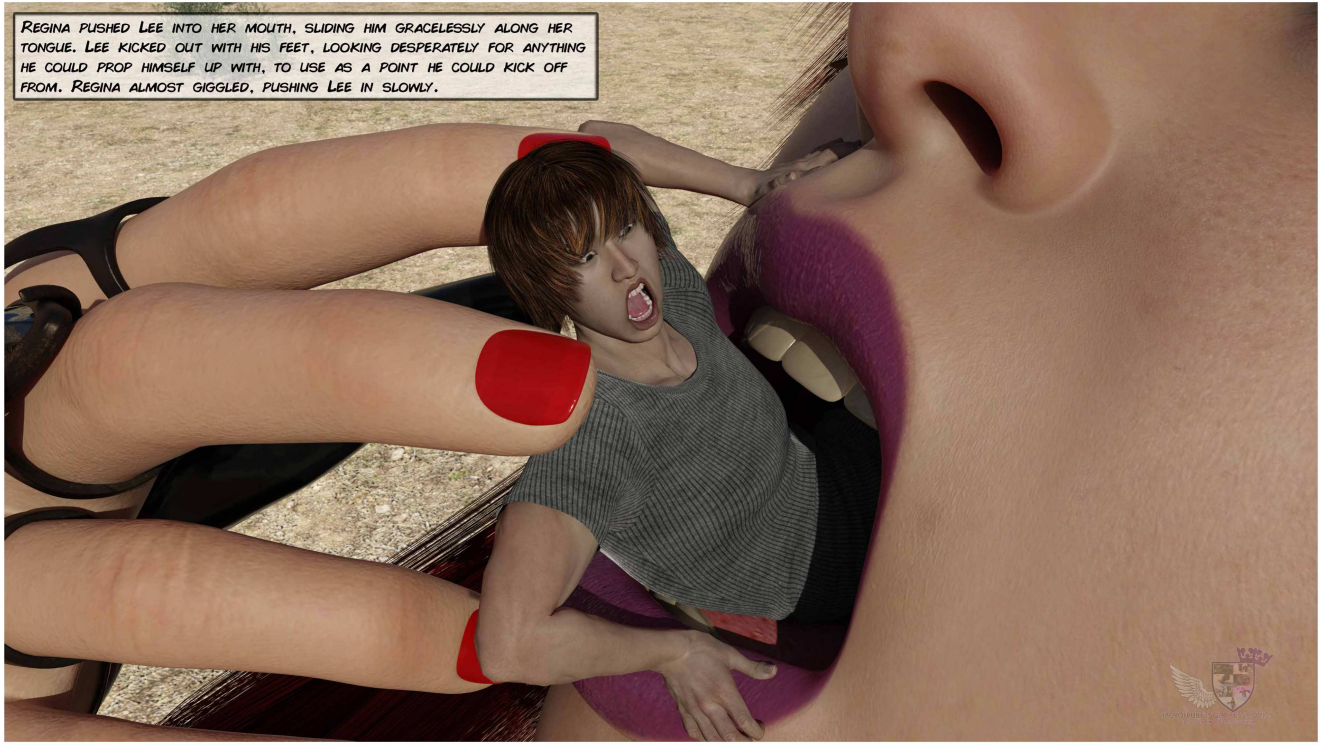
With Todd sufficiently trapped and watching, Regina went about her grisly business. "I've waited so long... now I finally get to eat my fill of you pathetic humans!" Regina announced, slowly raising Greg to her lips...

Regina wasted little time. She shoved Greg in roughly, thoughtlessly. His arms clawed for purchase, his legs flailed. He screamed, the sound echoing back from the chasm of Regina's open, moaning mouth. With a sickening crunch, Regina closed her teeth on Greg, breaking bone and traumatising flesh. Greg's desperate cries for mercy turned to pathetic whimpers in a split second.

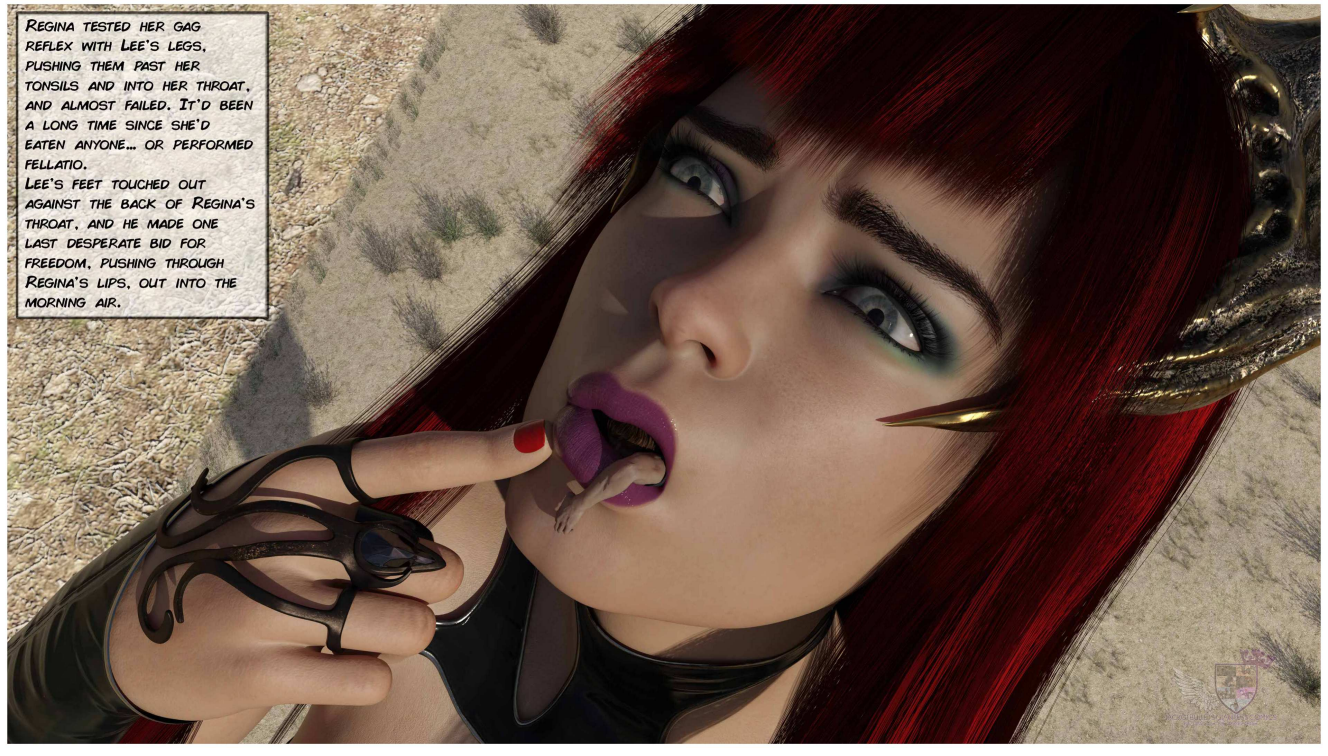
Slowly, horribly, Regina drew Greg in deeper and deeper, munching and crunching as she did, carefully doing irreversible damage, but ensuring that Greg remained alive for much of the process of her eating him.
Lee couldn't watch, how could he? How could he float there and watch their arch rival slowly consume one of his best friends? Especially since he knew that more than likely...

...He was next. Regina viciously swallowed, and even Lee could hear the sound of dull whimpering from within Regina's mouth, then her throat. The volume slowly diminishing as Greg made his way down Regina's oesophagus.

"Oh how I do adore the taste of humans... but not as much their fear... Now little ranger, scream for me!" Regina breathed, her voice low and husky, speaking to Lee as though she might speak to a lover, holding him close to her mouth so as to drop him in feet first.



Regina pushed Lee into her mouth, sliding him gracelessly along her tongue. Lee kicked out with his feet, looking desperately for anything he could prop himself up with, to use as a point he could kick off from. Regina almost giggled, pushing Lee in slowly.



Regina tested her gag reflex with Lee's legs, pushing them past her tonsils and into her throat, and almost failed. It'd been a long time since she'd eaten anyone... or performed fellatio.
Lee's feet touched out against the back of Regina's throat, and he made one last desperate bid for freedom, pushing through Regina's lips, out into the morning air.

Finally, satisfied with Lee's level of terror, Regina swallowed him whole.

"No!" Todd cried out, his despair total. He'd been forced, pinned under Regina's huge shoe, to watch her eat his friends.

"Well, my little red insect, I hope you enjoyed the show. Now there's a whole city full of delicious humans, totally defenceless. Without all 5 rangers together, there's no one to stop me!" Regina announced.
"Kendra will stop you!" Todd countered, with what felt last the last of the air in his lungs.

"A poor choice of last words..." Regina scoffed and strode on. For a second her entire weight was on Todd. There was a crunch-splat, and a sickening squelch as Regina strode on down the road, headed for Central Grovebrook.

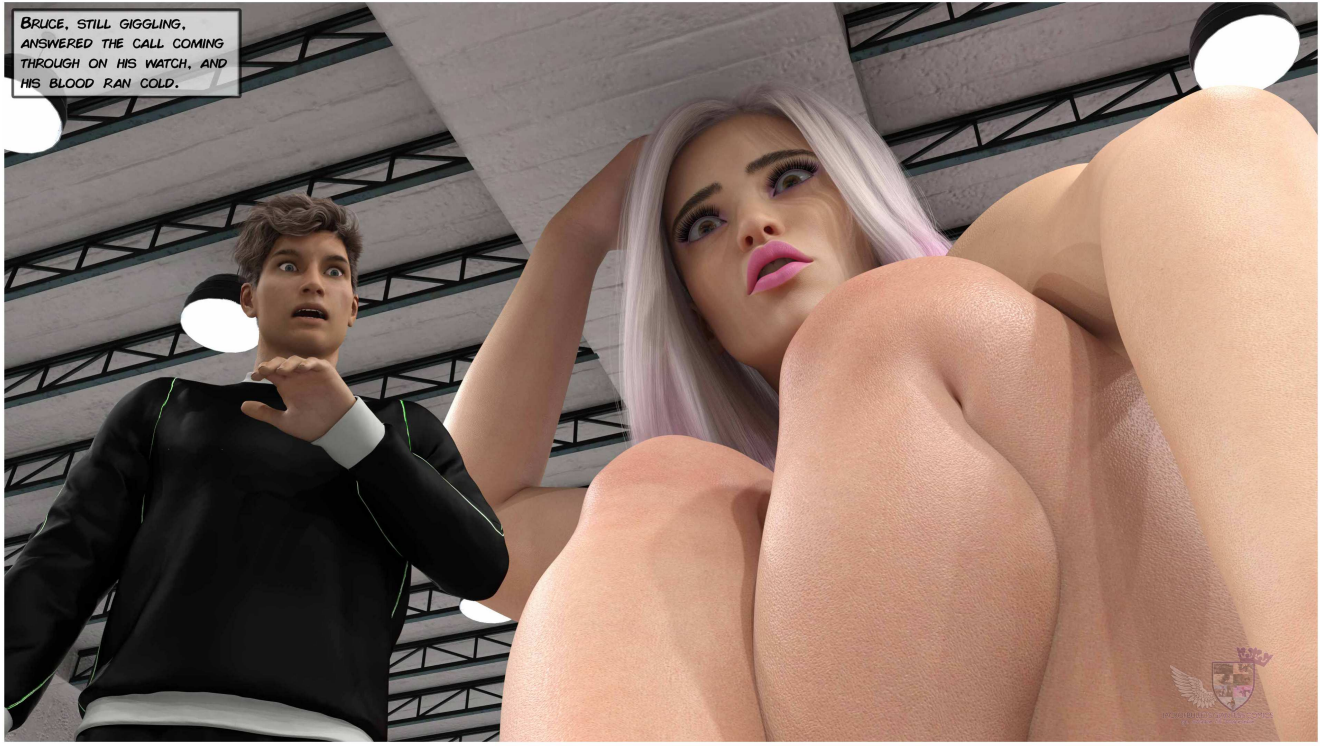
Regina laughed heartlessly as she strode on. The sounds of booming footfalls slowly getting more and more distant.

Regina left Todd laying in the road, laughing as she strode on to Grovebrook. No need to lower herself to devouring someone she'd just crushed with her foot.

Todd came to.
He felt only mind-blowing pain, and a wave of shock overtaking him. Was he dying, or had his Ranger enhancements saved him from the brink of death?
There was no time to waste. He had to do something, but no matter how hard he tried, he couldn't move. He couldn't seem to get his legs to listen to him, couldn't shift his weight. The pain was unbearable, and he felt like he was about to pass out.

There. A chance. His watch! With the last ounce of strength in his body, he managed to fumble to the button. His whole body was numb from agony, but with a huge mental effort, he redialled the last contact on his space-age watch.

KENDRA LAUGHED. BRUCE LAUGHED. THE TWO OF THEM WERE HAVING A WHALE OF A TIME. WAITING FOR THE GUYS TO RETURN.



BRUCE, STILL GIGGLING, ANSWERED THE CALL COMING THROUGH ON HIS WATCH, AND HIS BLOOD RAN COLD.

Deep in Grovebrook, a terrifying shadow fell upon the fleeing masses.

Regina laughed heartlessly as she crushed people underfoot without a care. With three of the five rangers gone, she was free to rampage unchecked. She fell upon the meagre defences, toying with them.

"This has only just begun, my pretty!" Regina shouted back. "This world is mine, and it's going to take more than an underdressed ranger to stop me!"

"I might be underdressed Regina, but I'm overpowered!" Kendra countered. Bruce hung on for dear life on Kendra's shoulder. "Now, what have you done with my friends?"
