"Yeah? You and what army?"
Regina grinned.
She was entirely too confident, but Kendra didn't care. This was it, the one chance she'd get to put her hands on Regina Revolta. She wasn't going to waste it.

"You really think you have what it takes?" Regina sneered. "Bigger things than you have tried. and here I am."

"In the name of everyone you've hurt..." Kendra began as she strode towards Regina, careful to walk slowly, giving the crowd enough time to part.

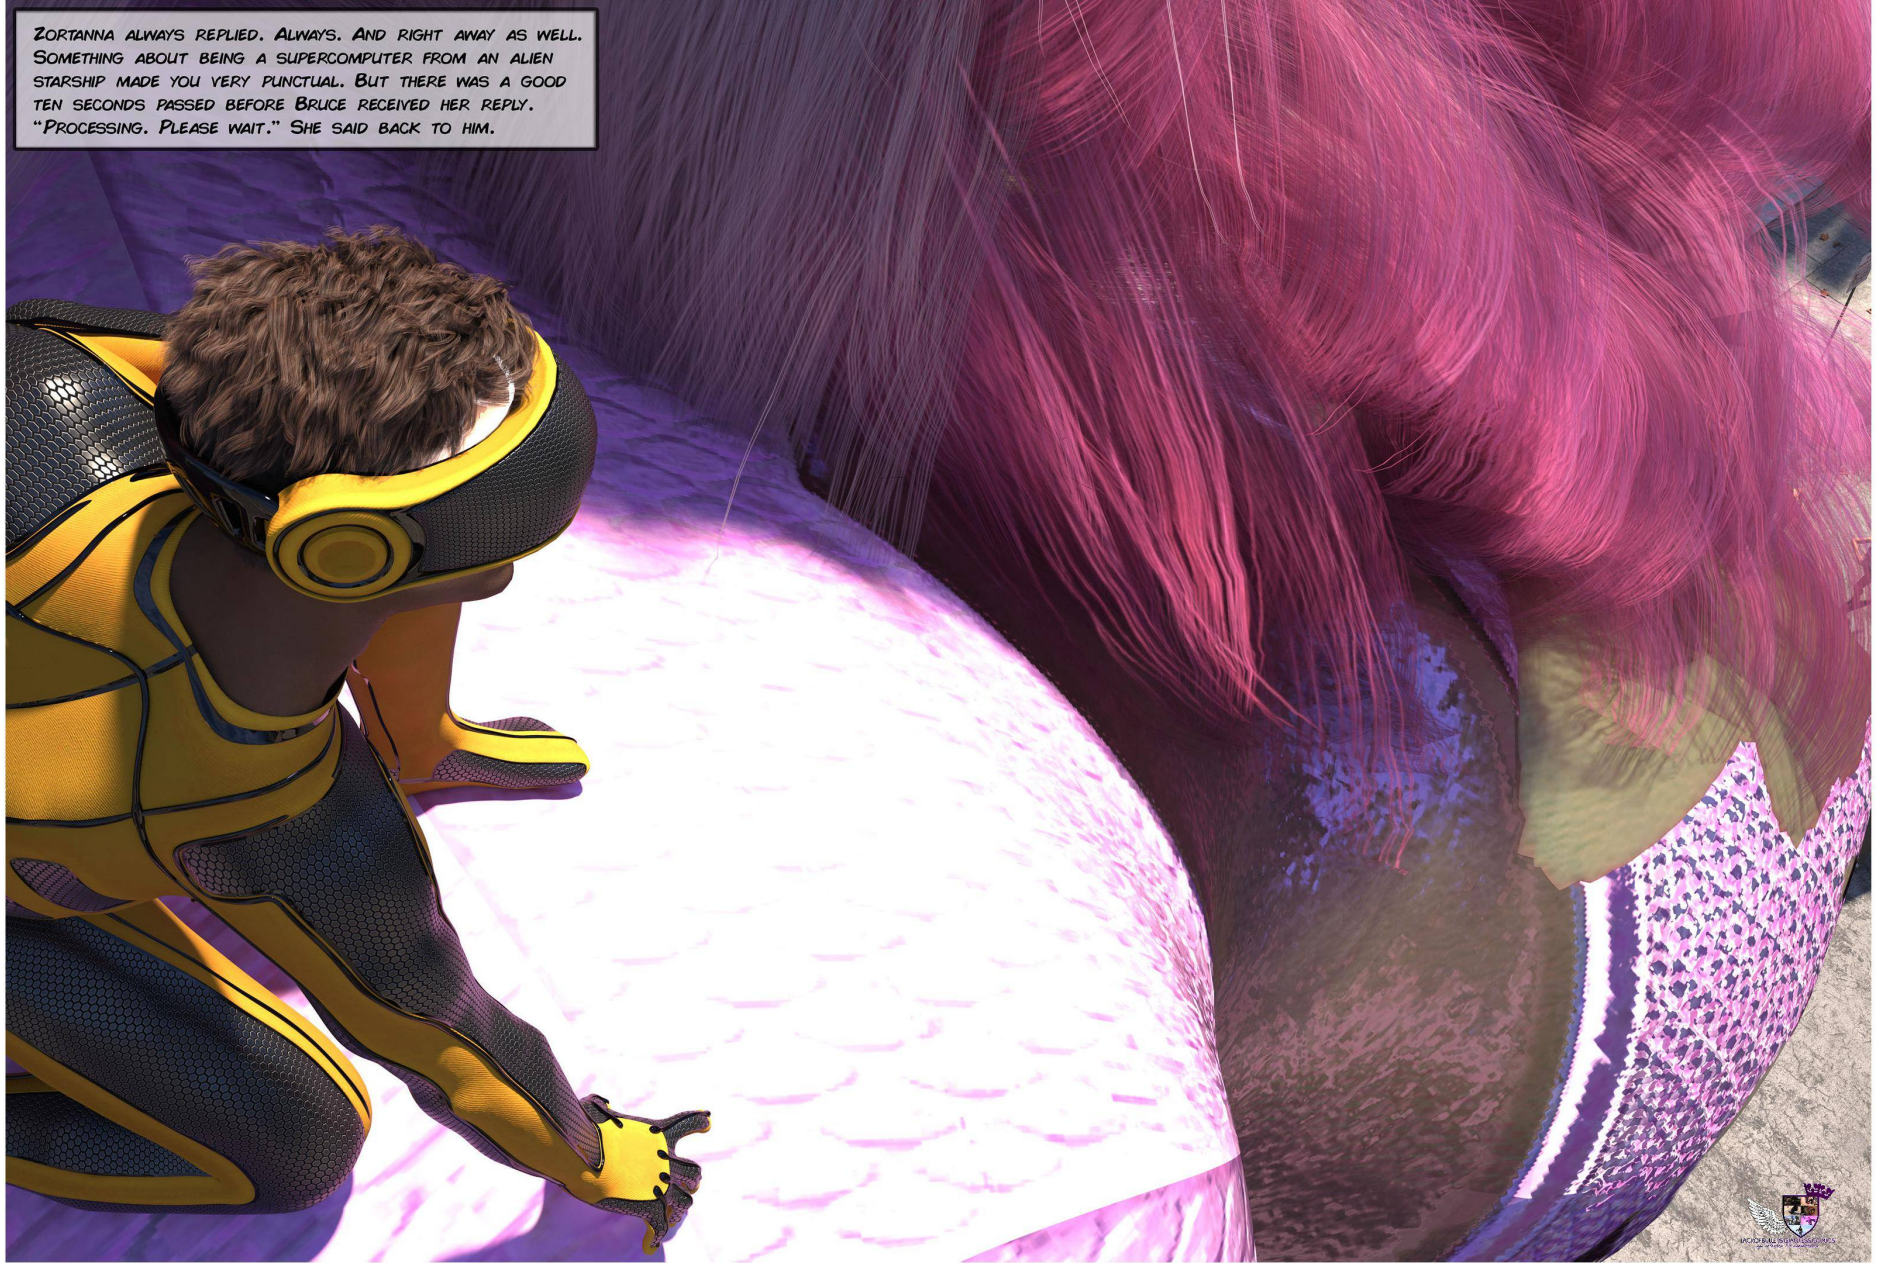
"Ah, Kendra. Always thinking will all the muscles, except the one that counts." Regina taunted, flicking and idle hair away. Her flippancy drawing more and more aggression from Kendra, until Kendra finished closing the distance...

"Uh... Zortanna, this is Bruce. I sincerely hope you're prepping the Ultimabot right now!" Bruce called out over the radio. "Kendra is about to engage Regina, and I think there might be no stopping her!" There was an awkward moment of silence, adding to the seasickness that he was feeling from riding around on Kendra's shoulder like a pet.



Zortanna always replied. Always. And right away as well. Something about being a supercomputer from an alien starship made you very punctual. But there was a good ten seconds passed before Bruce received her reply. "Processing. Please wait." She said back to him.

"You're fucking WHAT" Bruce gasped.
"Never mind her, I can take Regina myself!" Kendra growled, and charged the last few steps as Bruce protested, "No wait! Ken, something isn't right!"

Kendra swept over Regina like a tidal wave of muscle. They were both giants, sure, but Kendra was muscular and powerful in a way that made Regina look tiny and weak. Time seemed to slow for Kendra as she relished these final few seconds before the first blow landed, before she rained down on this tiny, fragile woman like the holy ghost itself.

But in the heartbeat or so before the blow landed... Kendra realised the look on Regina's face hasn't changed. In fact, if anything she'd gone from confident... to menacing.

Pain lanced through Kendra's huge body the instant her fist drew within six giant inches of Regina. It was as though an invisible field protected the evil witch, unseen to anyone and as soon as Kendra touched it, it blasted her...

KENDRA TRIED HER HARDEST, IGNORING THE PAIN, USING EVERY OUNCE OF HER STRENGTH TO TRY AND PUSH THROUGH THE UNSEEN BARRIER, AND FINALLY WRAP HER FINGERS AROUND REGINA'S CHICKEN NECK.

"Awww... how sweet. You've lasted 5 seconds longer than I thought you would..." Regina cooed, mocking her giant foe.
But the harder Kendra pushed, the more the pain intensified, tearing her apart from the inside, every nerve and sinew on fire with magical power, burning her alive.

Kendra stumbled back, overwhelmed by the pain from Regina's powerful shield. Smoke and steam issued from her, as she fought to stay conscious.

"Ken! Speak to me!" Bruce called out from the wreckage, still half choking on concrete dust

"Silly little Ranger. You have no idea what you're up against. I, who gave you that power. I, am invincible, so long as I have my magical crystal. While I have this, my evil power will be focussed and concentrated, and all your strength will mean nothing!" Regina gloated.

"I'm a giant evil space witch. You didn't think I'd risk losing the battle for your world in a fistfight with YOU! Did you?" Regina taunted, approaching at a steady walk, not as careful as Kendra to avoid stepping on people still surging through the streets, buildings emptying into the carnage.

"Well?" Regina continued to taunt, reaching into the destruction and grabbing a handful of Kendra's suit. "I thought not." She confirmed.

"Ken! Please, don't leave me alone!" Bruce begged, sheer terror gripping tight. They were all dead now... and he was left with the burden of responsibility of saving the whole world... alone.

"Oh my... the yellow ranger! Kendra, you're spoiling me, so good of you to bring snacks!" Regina smirked, her wicked tongue creeping out to lick her lips.

"Ranger ray activate!" Bruce cried out. If he was going to go down... he'd go down fighting!

Was the last thought to pass through his head as Regina snatched him easily from Kendra's shoulder...

CARRIED HIM EFFORTLESSLY THROUGH THE AIR...

And placed him gently into her mouth.

Regina took her time. The feeling of devouring her enemies, as she had devoured so many others... it intoxicating. The way the screamed, the way the thrashed and fought, feet and hands pushing against the inside of her cheeks, lost in the frenzy of trying to live another moment.

But all good things must come to an end. Regina squashed the temptation to chew the little ranger, instead opting to send him to join his friends.

Regina arched her back, taking these precious to enjoy her dominion. But moreover, to enjoy the feeling of the whiny yellow bug land in her stomach. She imagined his exquisite terror at seeing the others crumpled and broken in the pit of her stomach.

The streets still seethed with people. Snacks. Insects to crush. Regina was spoilt for choice now that the rangers were ruined.

A FEW MOMENTS EARLIER...

"This story... It is difficult to believe. Time travel is highly forbidden. If this is all true... what would you have me do?" Zortanna asked.
Todd sat in a crumpled heap in the corner of the room, his paralysis had made the crawl here exceptionally difficult.
"It hasn't worked... we need a new plan, Zortanna. We stopped Kendra going crazy, but we left the door open for Regina to just... ambush us. Without her fear of the Ultimabot, she can just do as she pleases! And without a normal sized Kendra... we can't pilot the Ultimabot!"

"And yet, you say that in your time, I piloted the Ultimabot, and I was defeated?" Zortanna asked, the hologram representing her flickering slightly.
"Yeah, Kendra... Regina blew through you easily. When she combines herself with Kendra, she's unbeatable." Todd groaned.
"Indeed. This is logical, I require my rangers to adequately control the power of the Ultimabot. That is your purpose." Zortanna hummed.

"There is always a chance. There must be a way. Regina and I have been locked in this uneasy stalemate too long to lose it all over one bad choice between two humans. No offense. I must tabulate all available data. Please wait." Zortanna asked.
"Yeah... whatever... don't take all day, not like there's a giant space witch stomping about." Todd grunted.

Regina stomped on, crushing at will, choosing her targets easily, uncaringly. She happened upon yet another street packed with fresh victims, with some little fighters firing primitive weapons at her for added flavour.

Her favourite heels thudded into the ground among them, an announcement of the violence to come.

"It's been far too long since I squashed someone... good luck worms!" Regina teased, raising her foot above the pack...

"Oh my... that crunch!" Regina cheered to herself, not even feeling the small arms fire bouncing off her impervious body.

"Ken!" A little tiny voice buzzed in her ear. Suddenly, Kendra was a aware the buzz had been there for a long time... and she'd been sleeping.
"Ken, do you read me?" The voice chirped.
Ah, now she knew she was dreaming. That was Todds voice, and Todd was...

"Todd?" Kendra realised, barking the name out suddenly.
"Yeah... it's me baby, listen to me now. I need to tell you something...." Todd told her from Zortanna's chamber.

"I need you to stop fighting. Get away from there, you can't beat her." Todd told her over the radio.
"Have to... get her..." Kendra groaned, picking herself up. Her gaze followed the sound of carnage and screaming, and she took it in. Wincing through the pain, with one she saw it.

"Baby, you need to stop! She's going to kill you! I need you to return to Zortanna's starship... but there's someone I need you to pick up along the way. I mean... I need you to pick ME up along the way. Or there's going to be... shit, some sort of paradox? I dunno babes, I don't understand." Todds voice insisted.

"You're sure this is going to work?" Todd asked Zortanna. "Of course not, Todd. This is precisely why time travel was outlawed. However, the Zortanna of the doomed timeline saw fit to build the time breaker knowing this could happen. We must proceed under the assumption that she... I foresaw this." Zortanna did little to comfort Todd.
REALITY

"But how am I supposed to do all this? I'm paralysed... the Todd from this timeline must be terribly injured?" Todd insisted.

"I will upload a paralysis correcting algorithm to your super-suit. You will have the use of your legs. Remember Todd... the truth. Nothing else. Absolutely nothing less than the truth will do it." Zortanna told him.

With an almost comical pop, Zortanna's memory core came free of the housing that projected her.
"I believe in you." She said.

Todd steeled himself. One more trip in the time breaker. One more chance to fix everything he'd broken. If he screwed up now there'd be no more do-overs.

As he and the guys... the Rangers... His friends from this time entered the hanger, Todd hid.

Todd snuck by the door, knowing that right now, he was inside the hanger reassuring his giant girlfriend that soon, he'd find a way to reverse what had been done to her.
While at the same time... Todd watched.

"Bro..." Todd said, almost scaring himself to death. "Calm down. I have a very strange tale to tell."

"Shit... this is heavy. I can't believe we doomed the world by being a doofus." Past Todd grimaced.
"Yep. Heavy. That about covers it. Now you need to hide dude, at this point we've been copied more times than that poster of the tennis girl scratching her ass." Future Todd warned.
"And you'll... you know..." Todd asked.

"I know what to do. Time for us to stop being a jackass... and treat Kendra with some respect." Todd said.
"You think she'll buy it?" Todd asked.
"She has to." Todd said.

AND IF IT WAS THE LAST THING HE DID IN THIS WORLD... HE WANTED TO MAKE IT RIGHT.

"Hey Kendra..." Todd began. Just as she had before, Kendra shied away. She was vulnerable and scared; her giant body had pushed all her friends away. Todd understood his mistakes now, understood how he had pushed her into Regina's waiting arms. "Todd, you're back. Is everything okay?" She blurted.

"Kendra... it's... not me. I mean I'm not YOUR Todd." Todd began. "I'm here to tell you something very important. You're in danger. We're all in danger. I thought if I worked hard enough, I could save everyone. But I was wrong. Only you can save us Kendra."

NO MOKING

She didn't like it. Who would? She was visibly repulsed by Todds account of her heartless, cruel actions. She almost wept.
But as Todd predicted. She understood what had to be done. She knew how to save everyone, and put all the timelines back on the right track.

"How long?" Kendra asked.
"I don't know. I wasn't here for this part, but I had time to get to the starship before it all went to shit." Todd replied.

"So we have a few minutes?" Kendra asked. "Yeah, why?" Todd asked, absent mindedly kicking a stone along the floor.
"You... want to fool around? Being all giant is driving me crazy... and that suit of yours always did turn me on..." Kendra offered.
JET A-1

"But I'm not your Todd?"
Todd blurted, shocked.
"You'll always be my Todd."
Kendra purred, her tree trunk fingers creeping around him.

One more time it seemed, Todd would have to save the world... by having sex with his giant girlfriend.

She kissed him hungrily. The nagging thought occurred to him that it made sense that she'd eat basically anyone who got in her path... if this was how she was feeling.

She ran her tongue along his body, teasing him... and Todd couldn't help but realise it wasn't going the same as last time. Clearly Kendra had something different in mind.

As though there were any illusion of control, Kendra shattered them, Holding him like an action figure and humming happily as she pulled at his ranger suit, the better to reveal his body underneath.

"Let me get that for you Ken..." Todd laughed, her efforts to be gentle and cautious would surely destroy his suit. It was a simple flick of a switch to remove it and allow Kendra access to what she wanted most.

"My, My... so much bigger than I remember... Now hold still, I don't want to hurt you... again." Kendra teased, taking very careful command of him.

THE FEELING WAS INDESCRIBABLE.

He and Kendra had an active sex life when they were normal sized... but this was beyond belief.

Kendra knew precisely what she was doing. The exact pressure with which to seal her mouth around hm, the exact amount of suction to draw to excite him... his mind was on fire with pleasure. It was as though she were always this big and had done this to him a hundred times.

"Ken... I'm gonna..." Todd breathed, moments from release.
"It's okay.... Let it happen..." Kendra mumbled, not breaking her stride, still sucking and playing until...

Not that Todd had much choice of course. He finished explosively, easily the best orgasm of his life so far.

"Well... that was quite the finish!" Kendra admitted, swallowing his semen.

"Well... you're quite the girlfriend sugar." Todd clapped back.

"SO... I GUESS YOU HAVE TO GO?" KENDRA ASKED, APPREHENSIVELY.
"AFRAID SO. BRUCE WILL BE HERE SOON... AND THERE'D BE TOO MANY QUESTIONS IF HE WALKED IN AND SAW US TOGETHER." TODD JOKED.

"Take care Ken and hey, look after... well the other me. We love you Kendra. I'm sorry for fucking all this up." Todd admitted, finally.
"Don't worry Todd. I got this." Kendra promised.

And so, as Todd left, Kendra rested, just as she had last time, and waited for what came next... waited for her chance to put everything right.

Todd walked sullenly back
His knowledge of temporal theory was limited to half watched back to the future movies interspersed with make-out sessions with Kendra.
But last time he used the timebreaker after making a change, he destroyed the memory core and the change was finalised.
It was as though removing the possibility of using the timebreaker again solidified his choices.

One more time, Todd extracted the power core from the futuristic machine and destroyed it.

The feeling swept over him. A light-headedness at first. Almost a feeling of weakness. He felt as though he'd been disconnected from the Ranger grid, almost human again.

But then he looked down at his hands, as though the sight of them might help him to remember their strength... and he understood.

He could only just see himself. He felt the strange fluxuations in himself, as though he was loosing whole seconds of time... during which there was nothing.

If this was what he thought it was... it it meant what he thought it meant, he wanted to be there at the end. He wanted to see it happen. There was a place he knew. The perfect place to take in the show.

"Jesus Christ!" Kendra barked as she awoke.
"Nope, I'm not Jesus. Jesus can turn water into wine." Bruce joked. "I'm Bruce, and Bruce..."

"Can turn misery into cheeseburgers, tacos and all that good junk food." Bruce cheered as he set down the boxes. "Ready for the weirdest fuckin' lunch you ever did eat?"

"Now, I know you're all about that clean eating life. But there's not enough chicken and brown rice in the city for you right now, so you gotta make do." Bruce said, shuffling through boxes, trying to decide what the gargantuan woman would prefer to eat first.
"Disgusting." Regina hissed into Kendra's ear. "Your body is a temple, and he would defile it with junk food." Kendra sank lower as Regina's thoughts brushed against her own.

Kendra licked her lips, breathing onto Bruce's back as she approached.
"So what'll it be, Mexicano or Americano?" Bruce asked.

But as he turned to look, something Kendra's expression made him jump back.
"Dude... what is it? You're looking at me like..." Bruce breathed, immediately on edge.
JET A-1

"Oh no... you were always the joker Bruce. Now how about that nice yummy American?" Kendra teased, leaning in, teeth bared and ready to chomp...

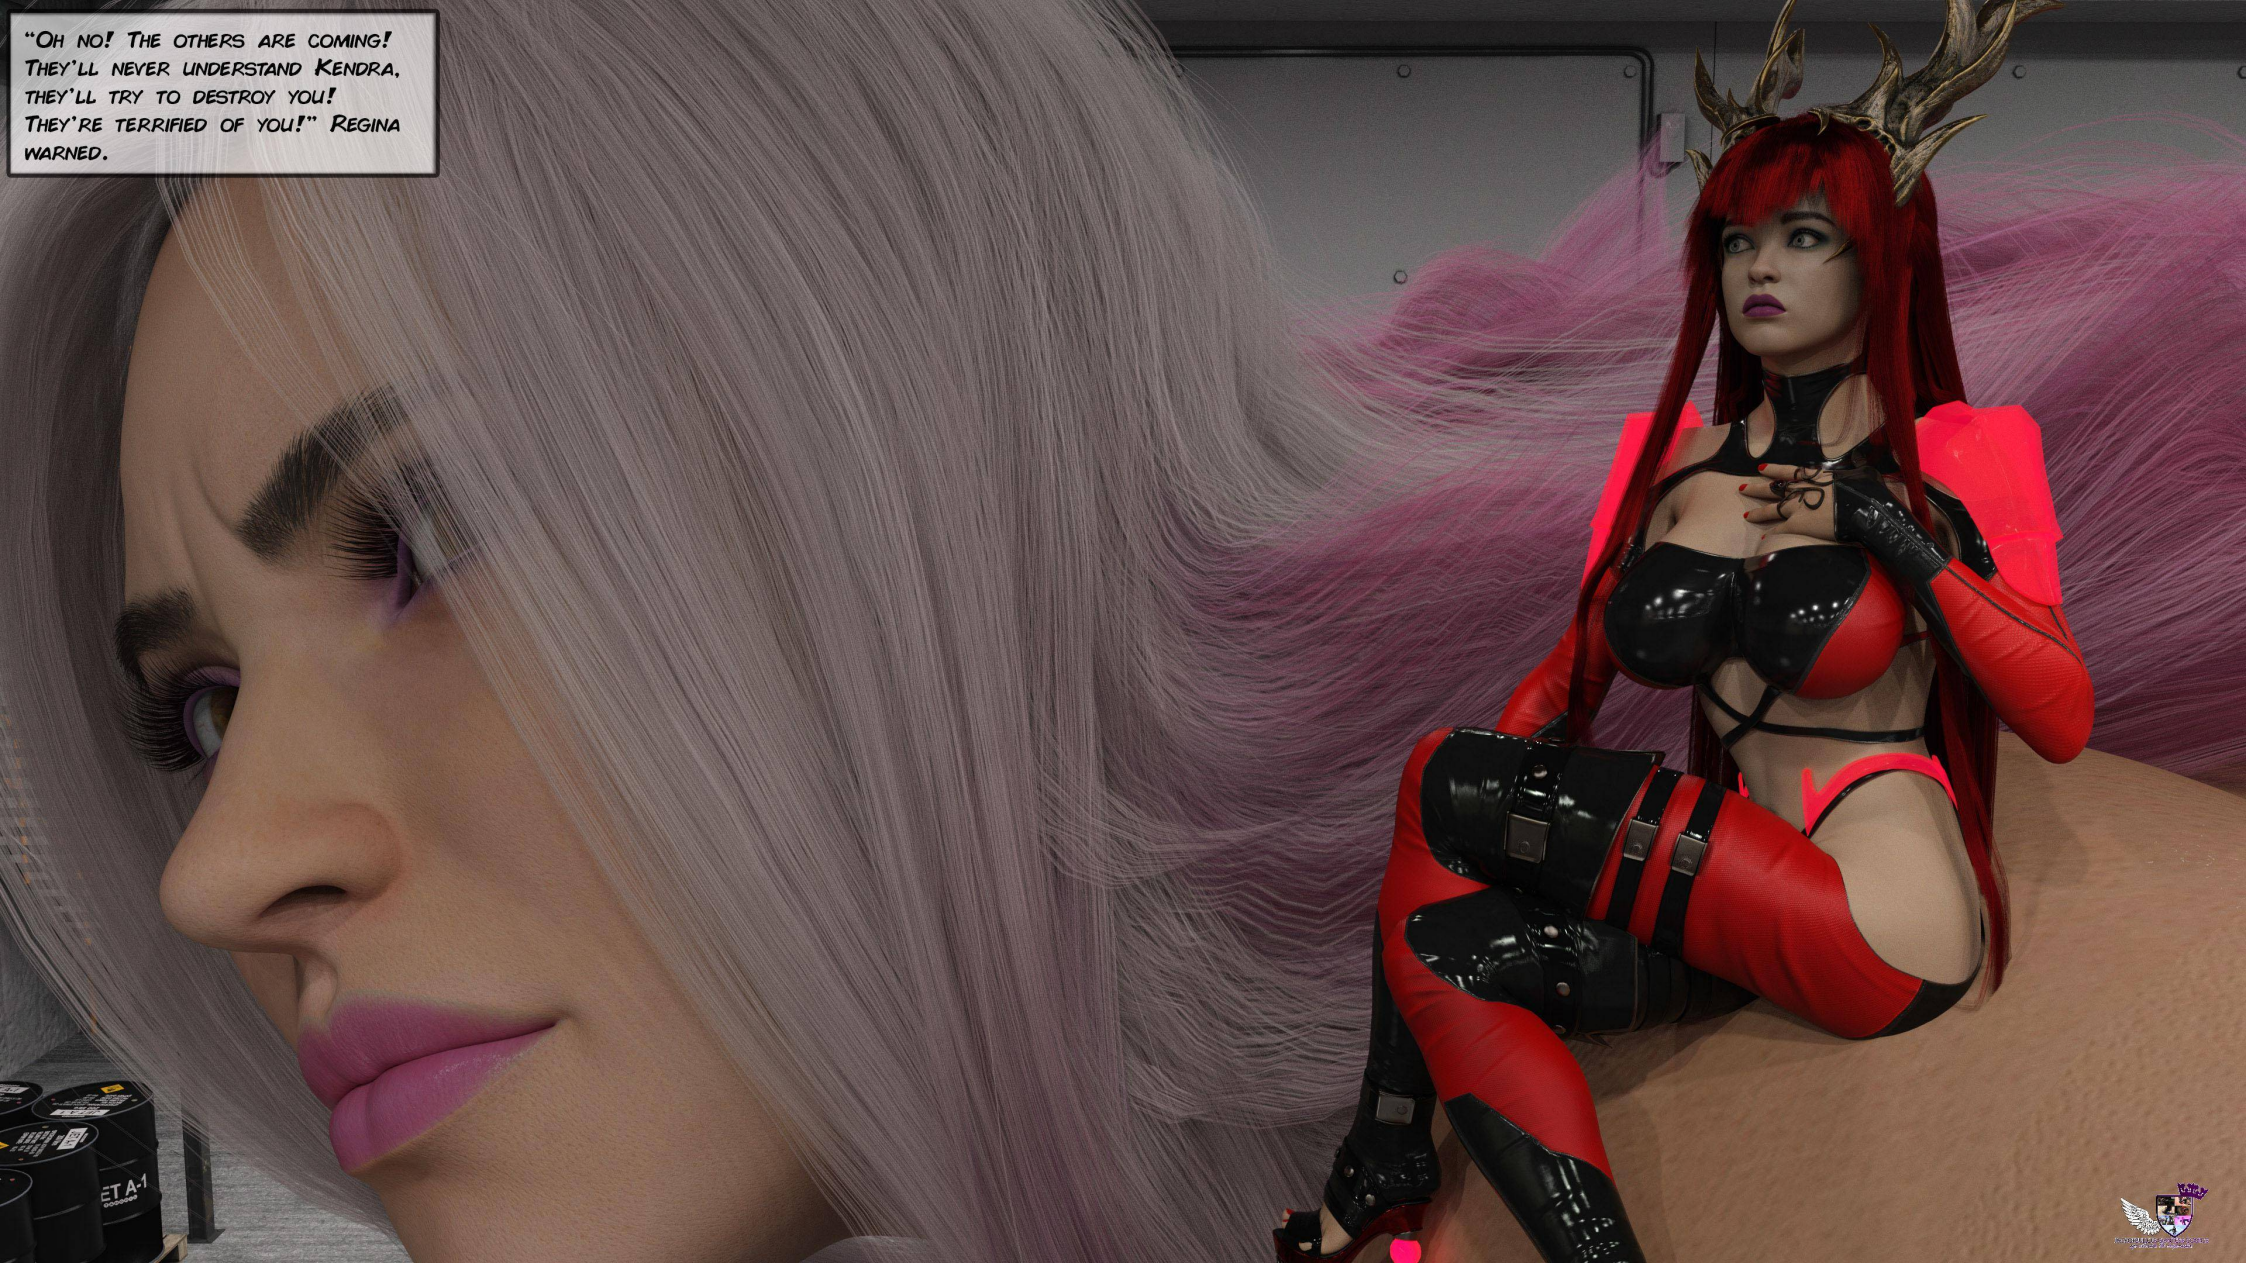
"Oh shit!" Bruce exploded, dropping everything and bolting. Kendra's massive hand snaked out behind him to cut off his escape...

But her hand swept short, and Bruce slipped through her fingers, sprinting on into the morning air.

"Oh drat!" Kendra exclaimed. "Looks like he got away. Damn, I won't get to eat any tasty men today." She added.
Regina scowled. Her plan to turn Kendra against her own was a sound one, and there were bound to be teething issues. Against her more evil nature, Regina poured on the charm.

"There, there my pink titan. You'll get your chance!" Regina reassured her.

Back on her moon fortress, the real Regina watched from above. "Curses, The others are arriving! But is this a chance to kill all of them with one simple step?" Regina mused, to the sycophantic audience of one.



"Oh no! The others are coming! They'll never understand Kendra, they'll try to destroy you! They're terrified of you!" Regina warned.

"Bro!" Bruce exploded as the other rangers returned from their visit to Zortanna.

The weight of what Kendra had to do hit her. If she told them, Regina would know. If she kept it from them... they would try to stop her, like they'd stopped a hundred other monsters before this. Kendra gritted her teeth, knowing that Regina's eye was on her...

"Raaaagh!" She acted. "I'm all evil now! I'm on Regina's side now, all because you were a douchebag!" She added.

"Now I'm off! I'm gonna go... erm... stomp some buildings! And cars and shit!" Kendra growled fictitiously, balling her fist and shouting at her friends.
"WHAT?" Todd exploded, unsure how to process the insane amount of information he was being given. But before he could question Kendra's ham fisted acting, she broke into a walk, right towards him!

KENDRA'S GIGANTIC FOOT LANDED IN THE MIDDLE OF THEM, FORCING THEM ALL TO HURL THEMSELVES TO ONE SIDE. IF TODD HAD TIME TO THINK, HE MIGHT HAVE NOTICED THAT KENDRA'S FOOT WAS CLOSE TO HIM... BUT NEVER ACTUALLY CLOSE ENOUGH TO GET ANY OF THEM.

Todd and the others recovered, still trying to get over the revelation that they'd just seen, while craning their necks to watch their giant friend stride away.

"You missed them!" Regina hissed at first, then remembered what her malign plan required. "Mighty Kendra... why not turn back and flatten them now, while you're here!"
"Erm... Oh no! I failed to step on any of them! How silly I am! Oh well, on to the city, where there'll be plenty of people to step on!" Kendra said aloud, purely for Regina's benefit.

"Damn! That opportunity was perfect... no matter, my plan is perfect, it cannot fail! She can warm up by destroying Grovebrook!" Regina chanted, convinced of the success she so sorely deserved.

"Mighty mistress... I can't help but feel that there might be a flaw developing in the grand scheme you have concocted. Something doesn't feel right..." Catman hummed, not convinced by Kendra's act.

"You dare to question me!" Regina snarled, reaching down to grab hold of the sycophantic creature.

"Ragh! Raaaagh! I am Kendra! I mean- EVIL Kendra! You're all my slaves now!" Kendra overacted as she stomped through the city, confused people stampeded away from her, her staggering size enough to frighten them, even if her act didn't.

"Now, it's time to crush lots of you! With my Right foot! RIGHT! FOOT!" Kendra mixed her horrific acting with an instruction. It was hard to tell if anyone was understanding... but it was better than nothing.

"RIGHT! HERE IT COMES!" KENDRA WENT ON, CHOOSING HER MOMENT CAREFULLY...

To stomp down on nothing but concrete. She knocked a few people down, sure. But there were no injuries she could see, other maybe some sprained ankles.

"Mistress... She is... misleading... you!" Catman struggled as Regina's fingers closed tighter and tighter.
"How dare you insult my divine genius! You were always my least useful servant! Now die, you wastrel!" Regina commanded...

And crushed Catman, bones and all.

KENDRA THUDDED ON...

Doing irreparable damage to the sidewalk...

But being overly careful not to squash any people.

And succeeding. Behind Kendra was a string of very much empty footprints smashed into the concrete. And If Kendra was careful, they'd stay that way.

"Are you guys filming me?" Kendra asked the gaggle of girls on the top apartment of the nearby building.

"Ah look, a handful of deliscious snacks, and right at grabbing level! Go ahead dear, indulge yourself! No one will judge you, you are a goddess now!" Regina urged her.
But Kendra was prepared. She had to think fast, as Regina would take some convincing.

"Erm... Grrr! Argh!" Kendra tried. "Now I'm all angry, I'm going to gobble you up!" She went on.

"Ready? You're going... in my mouth..." Kendra grimaced, ready to put on quite the show for Regina.

Kendra opened wide, being as careful as she could to not injure them as she put them in. She knew they'd fight and wiggle, and the last thing she wanted was to drop one.
APARTMENTS

Kendra shoved them in, almost gagging at the idea of eating them. Just as she'd done in the other Todds timeline.

"YES! YES!" REGINA CHEERED, THE DEVIL ON HER SHOULDER. "NOW WILL YOU SWALLOW THEM WHOLE, OR CHEW THEM UP INTO MUSH?" SHE ASKED, CLEARLY EXCITED BY THE PROSPECT OF WATCHING.

"Wait... what are you doing! You're supposed to eat them, they are your food now!" Regina gasped, suddenly exasperated and annoyed with her pink puppet.

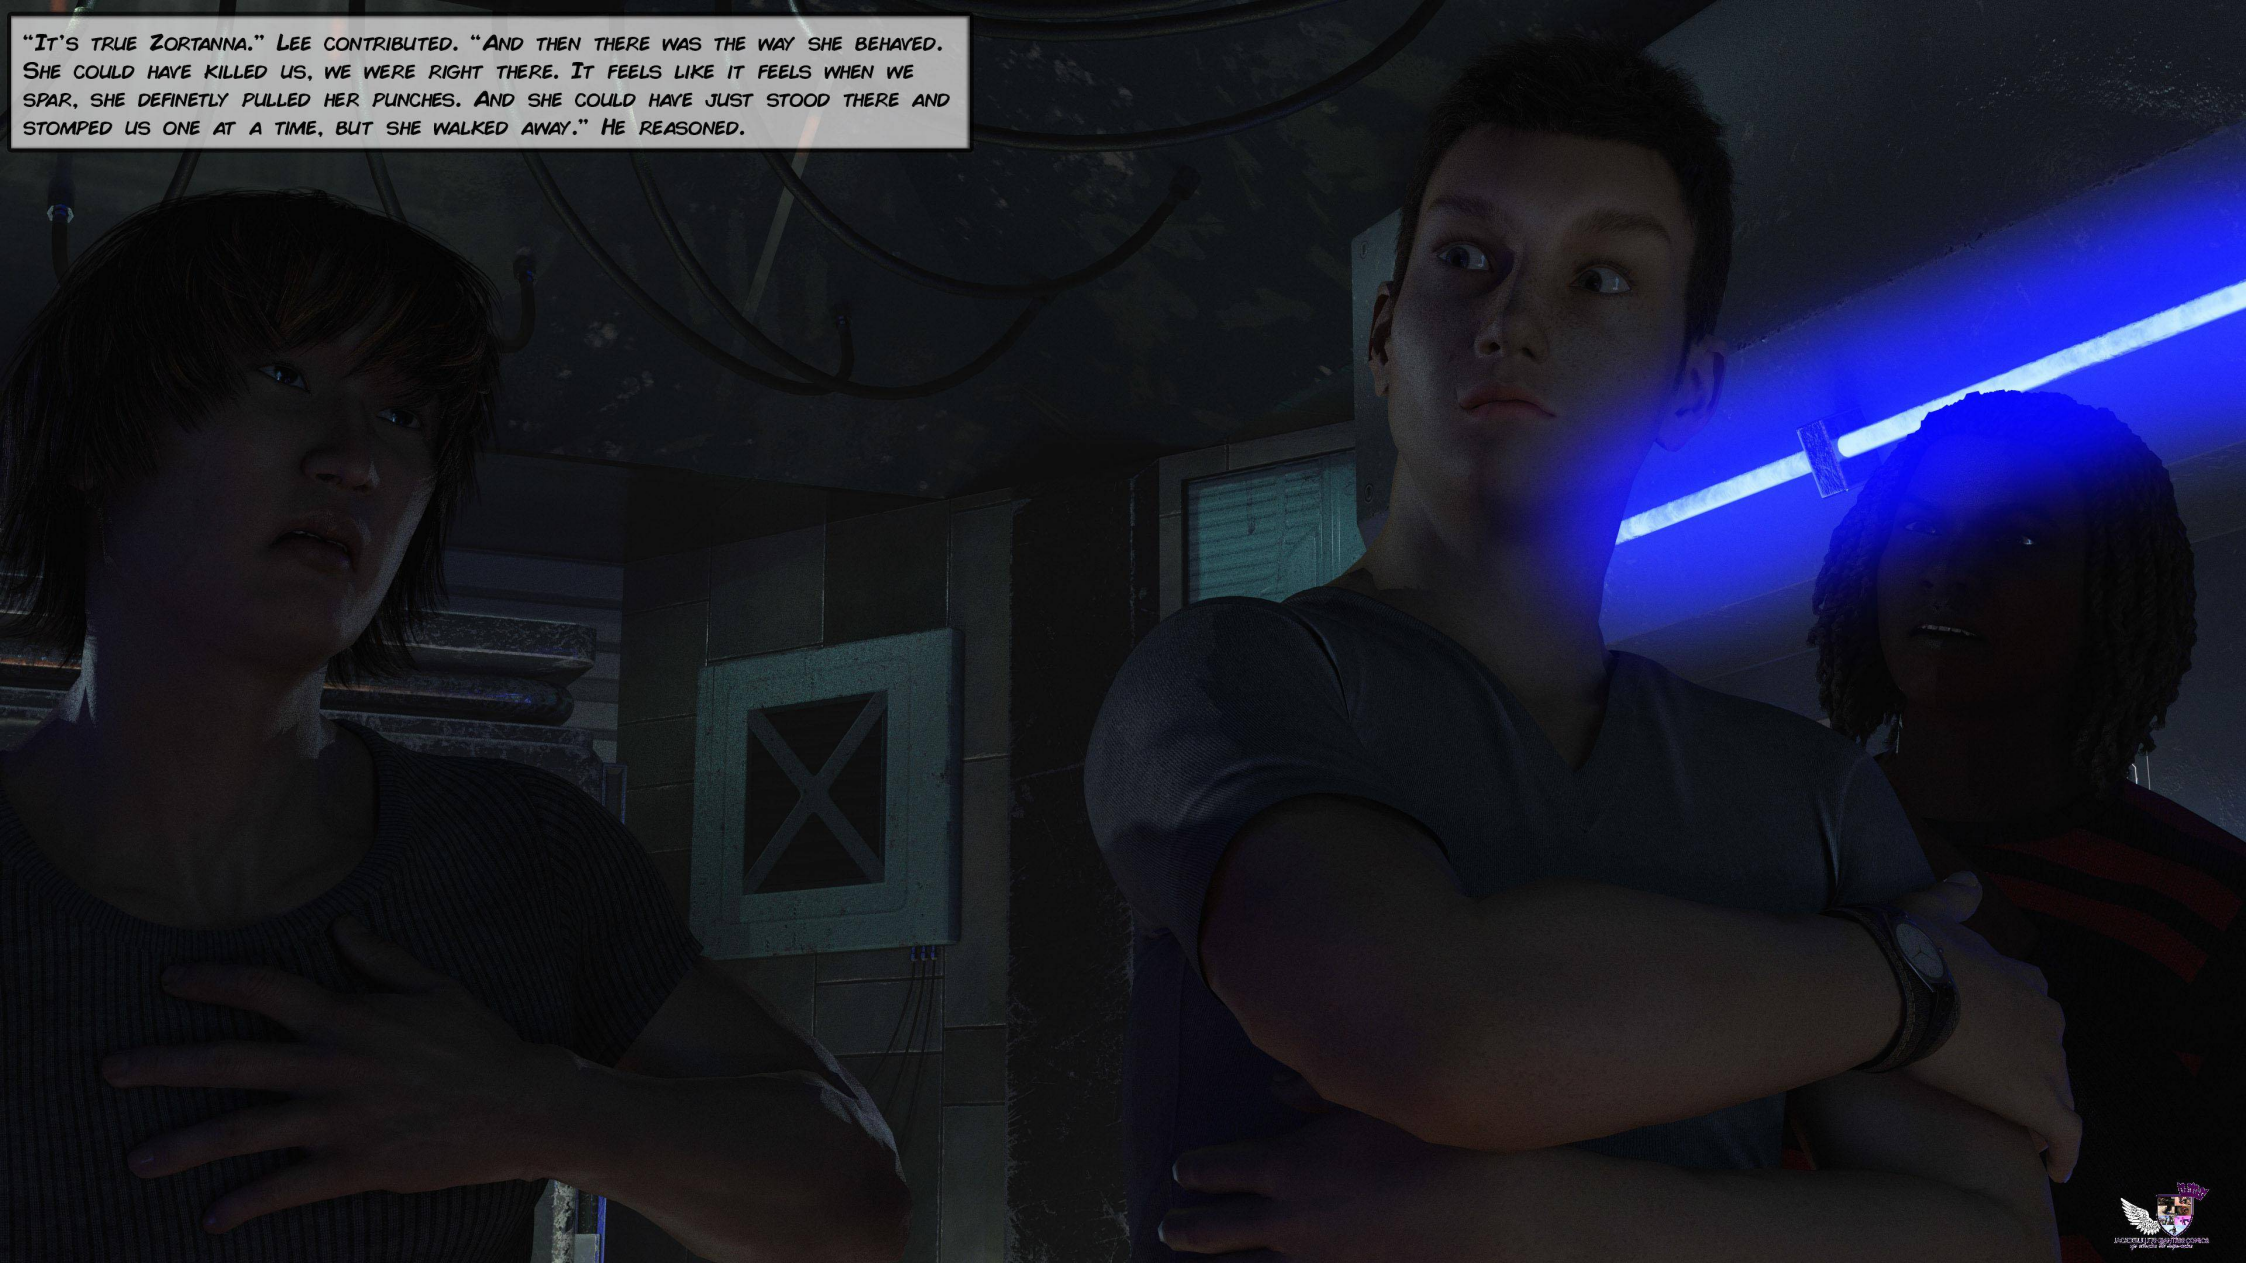
"Well no, I better not swallow them, now they're alive to... uh.... Spread my legend. And I want to keep them for slaves, of course!" Kendra reassured Regina.
CANTON

"Very well. But the next group of humans you meet, you should kill them, nothing spreads a legend like a mountain of slain victims!" Regina demanded.
Kendra squeezed through the buildings, heading on into town. She wasn't sure what was more terrifying. The plan... or the fact she DID want to eat those women.

"All of you must board the ultimabot. I will take Kendra's place, then hopefully we will have enough power to stop her." Zortanna basically commanded.
"It's not as simple as that." Todd confronted Zortanna. Drawing some confusion at first, but eventually, understanding glances crossed between the rangers.

"I'm telling you Zortanna, something is amiss here." Todd protested.

Greg chipped in next, the situation not sitting well with him at all. "Yeah, you catch that act though? I was afraid, so I didn't think too hard until now..." Greg pondered. "But she did sound a bit... overact-y" He went on.



"It's true Zortanna." Lee contributed. "And then there was the way she behaved. She could have killed us, we were right there. It feels like it feels when we spar, she definetly pulled her punches. And she could have just stood there and stomped us one at a time, but she walked away." He reasoned.

"When you light a candle, it casts a shadow." Lee spoke in proverbs again.
"He's right. She had me cold in the bunker, could have had me in her belly before I knew which way was up. She LET me go, Zortanna." Bruce told her.

"I.. respect your opinion rangers. I really do. But this is the fate of the world we're talking about. We can't gamble all human life on your hunch that Kendra is flying solo!" Zortanna argued, her voice broken and stressed, not the usual flat monotone of the computerised entity.

"Well. If you pilot the Ultimabot without us, you'll lose. It's up to you Zortanna, but we aren't going to fight Kendra. We're going to help her." Todd told her how it was for once, ever the leader. It was his way... or the highway.

"Raaaagh! Erm... Rooooar!" Kendra continued her schtick. "Oh look! Loads of cars! I sure hope they're absolutely full of people!" Kendra warned.

"Because everyone who is still in a car is about to get stepped on!" She announced, telegraphing what came next.

"RAAAAGH!" KENDRA CRIED OUT, BEING AS LOUD AS SHE COULD, AS IF BEING HUGE WASN'T ENOUGH TO FRIGHTEN EVERYONE. HER FOOT HOVERED OVER THE CAR, STRIKING FEAR INTO THE TINY PASSENGERS...

But giving them ample time to escape before she crushed the car like an old can.

Slowly but surely, she took aim at the next vehicle.
"Boy, I sure hope there's lots of people in that van RIGHT THERE. THE SILVER ONE." Kendra warned...

"Rats, another empty one. Oh well, better keep trying, she smiled for Regina's benefit.

But Regina didn't reply, instead fixing Kendra with a suspiscious glare.
Then finally, she broke the anguished silence, "I can't help but feel you might have a better chance of squashing those people if you... didn't warn them?" Regina spt.
Kendra smiled, but instead she seethed with anger. Not much longer, she thought.
"I can't help it. I'm such a klutz!" Kendra grinned.

AND SO SHE CRUSHED ANOTHER...

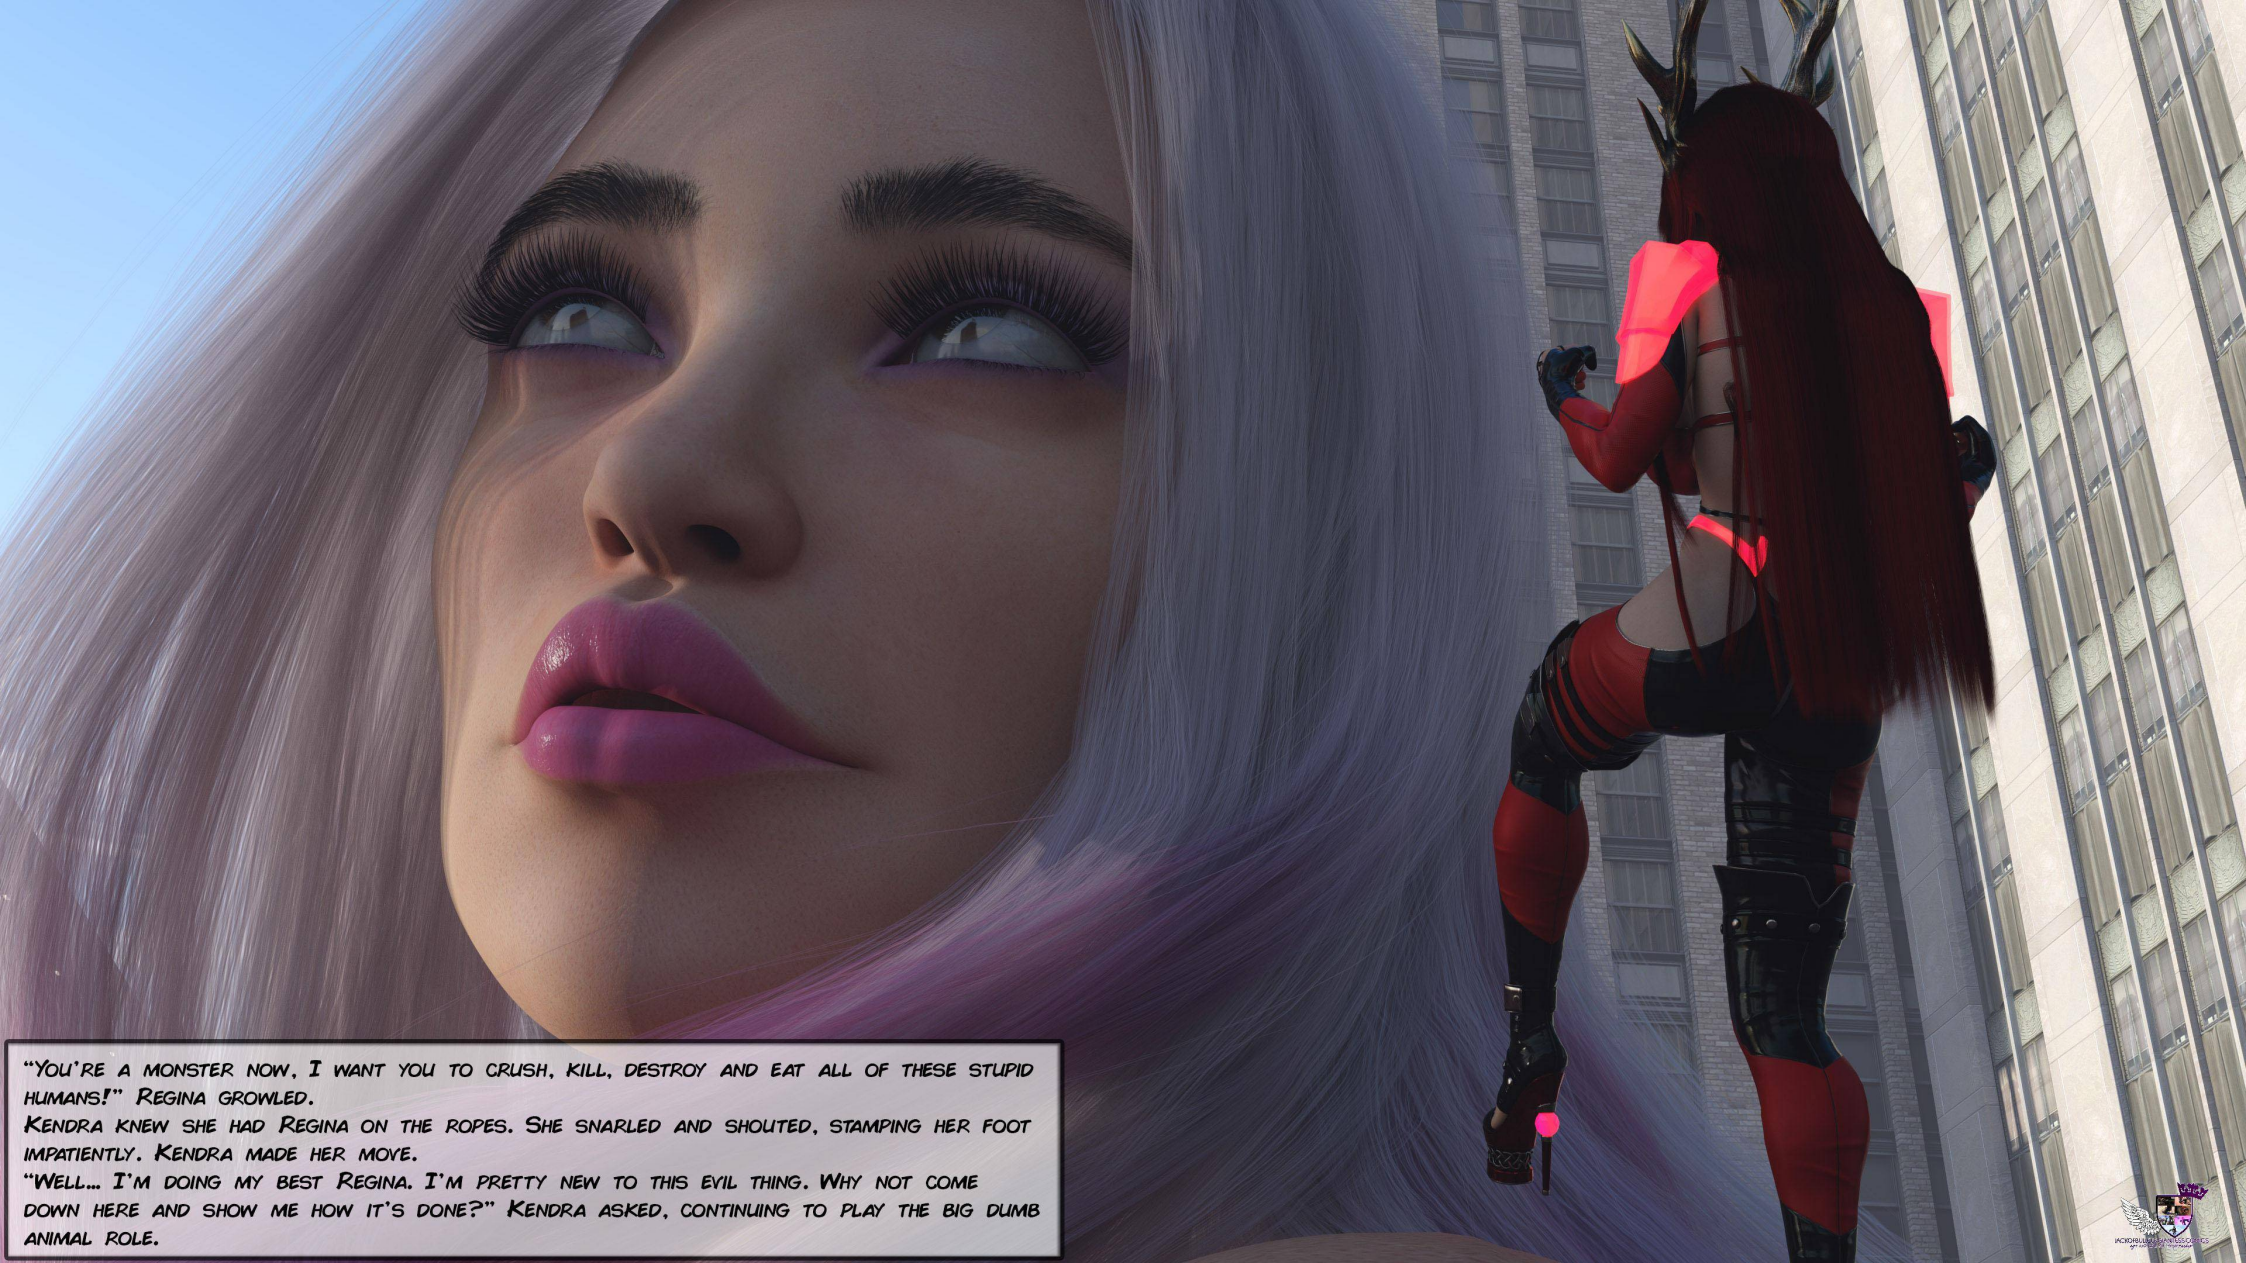
KENDRA COULD FEEL IT NOW, REGINA'S PALPABLE ANGER AT WHAT SHE WAS DOING.

"Kendra... I've had enough, you're doing it WRONG! All this damage, and you haven't killed a SINGLE person!" Regina scolded her.



"You're a monster now. I want you to crush, kill, destroy and eat all of these stupid humans!" Regina growled.
Kendra knew she had Regina on the ropes. She snarled and shouted, stamping her foot impatiently. Kendra made her move.
"Well... I'm doing my best Regina. I'm pretty new to this evil thing. Why not come down here and show me how it's done?" Kendra asked, continuing to play the big dumb animal role.

"Fine! If you want something done right, you have to do it yourself!" Regina raged, the ancient powerful gem focussing her power as she rose. It was time to return to earth, triumphant. There was no way they could stop her now, without the Ultimabot, Regina's victory was assured.

And with a flash of light, and low bassy thump sound, Regina appeared on the earth for real. She had a scowl on her face, all her focus on Kendra and what a bad job she was doing as a giant monster.

"Now you bumbling pink oaf! Let me show you how a real goddess dominates a city!" Regina shrieked, that familiar red aura of magical power surrounding her.

Regina started to grow once again, just as Todd had told her, just she had in the other timeline.

She doubled in size, all of that magical power surrounding her, the pleasure it gave her as she felt every cell in her body double, triple, quadruple in size...

Kendra understood it. Understood how it lit up every nerve in her body.

Understood it made her superiority complex inescapable. As Regina joined her among the skyscrapers, her gigantic size would make her think she was untouchable. Think she had all the angles covered.
STOP

As Regina reached her size, Kendra knew the magic moment was coming. Knew this fight was all but over already.

Regina struck out immediately, barely even finished growing. She stamped her feet like an angry child, all to a chorus of "I'm so tired of this, I have to do everything MYSELF!"

Regina wasted no time, she was hot and angry, unthinking and distracted. Right where Kendra wanted her.
"Now look. This is what you do. Choose your insect, there, that one in the stupid hat." Regina told her. Taking her eyes of Kendra in the process.

"Then lift up your foot..." She added, demonstrating. All of her attention on the defenceless man on the ground.

"Then stomp!" Regina said.
And then... everything happened at once.

Regina's foot hovered in the air. The man screamed, panicked... then realised that she'd stopped.

Regina's eyes, full of shock and fear tracked to her right.

"Oh, don't stop Regina. You were doing so well." Kendra growled, as she closed her hand around the mystical bauble, Shattering it into a million pieces.

"YOU... YOU!" REGINA SHIVERED.

"I've been waiting a long time for this. I'm going to HURT you." Kendra said, reaching back...

Suddenly Kendra was somewhere else. Back in the school hallways, being called weak, being called a nerd, being bullied mercilessly, being beaten to a pulp for trying to defend herself. Todd had saved her back then, and now her body was a weapon. But now, just as she had then, she didn't feel fear, only a heightened sense of things. Just as she had in those hallways, she threw absolutely everything she had...

INTO ONE, BONE CRUNCHING BLOW.

High above, Todd shuffled into place. The same building he'd been on when he escaped from evil Kendra only a few hours ago now afforded him a perfect view of Kendra landing her first punch on the evil giant space witch. The first of many.

He was sad of course, that it was over for him. But happy at the same time. Happy that he'd get to see it happen. He let himself smile. He was about to watch Kendra kill Regina Revolta.

TETLEYS

She had a lifetime of training, and heaps of experience. But none of that mattered. Regina was no fighter, she was a thinker, and she had no defence for Kendra's attacks.

Kendra followed her barrage with a body shot that folded Regina over in the middle...

AND A BRUTAL KICK...

That smashed her into a nearby building.

But so great was the force of the kick that Regina kept falling, through the building...

"I... can fix it. I can make you normal again." Regina stammered, now a mere twenty feet tall and slowly shrinking.

"You can?" Kendra stopped, suddenly listening to the evil space witch's plea.
"Yes... Let me go, and I'll put everything back to normal..."
Regina coughed, her hand on her body not nearly enough to self soothe the pain of her staggering internal injuries.

"KENDRA!" TODD CALLED OUT, AS THE OTHERS FINALLY ARRIVED.
"DON'T LISTEN TO HER, SHE'LL SAY ANYTHING!" BRUCE SCREAMED, READYING HIS RANGER RAY TO DELIVER THE COUP DE GRACE HIMSELF.

"Good choice. Now... let me leave, and I'll reverse my growth beam... then I'll go, I promise..." Regina groaned.
But Kendra didn't budge, didn't move her eyes from the stricken evil witch.

In fact Kendra took a small step forward, to better position herself for what came next.
"What are you doing?" Regina panicked.

"It's easy." Kendra replied.
"You just pick your insect..."

"Raise your foot..."

"AND STOMP!"

"But babe... with Regina dead, how will you get back to normal? Can we even... be together anymore? Can we be a team?" Todd poured his heart out. The greatest threat they'd ever faced was dead under Kendra's foot, but Todd still wasn't registering it.

"Don't worry babes. There'll still be five rangers. One of them is just a bit... overpowered." Kendra reassured him, adding...

"And don't worry. I have it on good authority that we can get up to all sorts of fun times as a couple." Kendra smiled.

High above the city, a long lasting, long overdue peace was beginning to settle in. Maybe one day there could be another threat to the world for the rangers and Zortanna to respond to, but for now... it was over.
