

ASCENSION:

BULLIES

PART SIX

Lieutenant Morris could not believe what he was seeing. He had thought his superiors were full of shit when he had first heard about the giant girls. He had seen them on TV, but even that had not been able to convey the shock that he was feeling right now. Seeing them live, towering over people, buildings and cars as they looked up at him with a defying attitude.

At least he was out of their reach!

"Are the tiny fuckers planning on spying on us all day long?" Hannah complained.

"They're pesky. Too bad they are out of reach!" Kate complained.

"Really? I guess that's what they think!" Hannah said, smirking evilly.

There was no warning as the brunette girl drew her arm back and threw the man she had been holding in her hand to the police chopper, much to the surprise of everyone, including Kate.

Her aim was perfect as the tiny man hit the relatively small target the aircraft had been, hitting its side and sending it rocking out of place.

Needless to say, the pilots were incredibly shocked at what had just happened.

“Let’s get out of here!” Morris said.

His colleagues could not help but agree.

"There you go, Hannah!" Kate cheered as she saw the helicopter turning to leave.

"I still have it!" Hannah said proudly, touching her biceps to let the world know that being a giant had not taken her softball skills away from her.

Twelve stories below, at street level, Anne and Martha were sobbing as they contemplated their fate between the giantesses' feet.

Having seen them kill yet another of their friends, their only hope was that the girls had forgotten about them.

It was soon evident that they had not when Kate and Hannah looked down and smiled at them mischievously.

“So, what should we do with them?”
The brunette asked.

Kate crouched down as a response, reaching for the tiny women as she stood in the catcher's position. Anne and Martha tried to flee when they saw her threatening hand approaching, but it was to no avail.

NO PARKING
EXCEPT FOR THE USE OF A CURB CUT

WORLD NEWS UP IN 2014
VA PLANET
BY STEFAN MORRELL

WEE
CHRIS A. R.

Beach Drive

2014

Kate was soon standing, opening her palm to offer her catch to the curious Hannah.

She had naughtier plans, though.

"So, which one do you like the most?" she asked. "I mean, since you seem to like women, lately..."

Hannah was momentarily taken by surprise by her friends comment but reacted quickly enough.

Reaching out for her palm, she picked up the woman in the white T-shirt and said:

“This one looks hotter.”

"But in reality, I like you most!" Hannah then added as she dashed towards Kate and locked her lips on her friends, this time in a passionate kiss.

Kate, who had started all this like a game, was so shocked that did not know how to react.

It worked well enough for Hannah, who had other plans. Her hand containing the tiny woman soon found its target, which was no other than Kate's cunt.

It only took her a finger to guide the woman inside and make her blonde friend moan in a surprised pleasure.

“What is this?” Kate asked, shocked.

It was Hannah’s turn to be naughty.

“Come on! Unless you are planning to find anyone else my size, I’m the best lover you are going to get! Besides, isn’t College the time and place for a little experimentation?”

It took Kate some time to react. She did not talk when she did. She just guided her hand downwards, following the same path that Hannah's had.

Both girls were soon pleasuring each other, using a tiny woman as a dildo.

The unexpected sex went on for a while, the entire city witness of the scene as Kate and Hannah used their lips, hands and captives to satisfy their libidos.

They did not reach the climax, but it was great.

“See?” Hannah asked in her best bedroom voice as Kate moaned yet again.

"Aren't you happy to have me around, now?" Hannah teased.
"Besides, it's not as if you could have scored any hotter girlfriend!"

"Oh, come on! As if I was the lucky one! You are not bad looking, but I am as hot as it gets!" Kate said.

"I would not be so sure if I were you," Hannah replied naughtily.

"Are you serious?" Kate asked.

"Well, the plan was to ask the two women... but I don't think they are in great shape to answer."

"I don't think it will be a problem to find more volunteers that can certify the obvious!" Kate said.

The employees at EO Inc were watching the images in TV in awe. There was no doubt that the developments in their city were shocking.

"They are coming! The girls are coming!" Susan shouted as she rushed into the meeting room.

"Calm down!" Annelise said. "They said on TV they were the height of a 6-story building. We are in the eight floor."

Susan went back to the window and felt her hair stand on end as the tremors started becoming more noticeable. Soon, the two girls became visible as they turned around a corner only a block away.

Susan was stunned at their sight first. Then, she noticed something else and started screaming.

Kate ignored the people at her feet as she led the way down the street. Finally, a mirrored window caught her attention and she stopped, fixing her hair as she admired her naked figure.

To Susana and the rest of employees at EO the scene was way less appealing, as the humongous girl's body blocked the light coming through their large windows and made them realize that the false feeling of safety they had felt had been very misguided.

“What do you say? Do you think we can find some volunteers here?” Hannah asked as she eyed the shadows behind the mirrored glass.

“Let’s find out!”

Feeling playful, Kate lowered her face and groaned at the terrified people inside the building, much like a blonde and hot version of Godzilla.

She could not prevent a laugh as the people inside reacted in fear, some falling on their butts. From up close, the mirror effect was lost and she had a great view of the building's interior and its multiple occupants.

Feeling playful, Kate stood back up as she kept her hands on the windows and pushed her massive chest into the glass.

The battle was short and very one sided, Kate's humongous boobs crashing into the building like wrecking balls as the panicked people inside increased the intensity of their screams.

The giant's chest dwarfed the people inside. It was only a prelude of what was to come.

Kate's face soon showed back through the broken window, admiring her work.

"Look at how many cute guys and girls we have here! I'm sure you will be very useful for a little thing Hannah and me have in mind!" she said cheerfully.

One of the men tried to flee to the far end of the large office space.

“Not so fast, you tiny!” Kate said as her left hand broke through another section of the window and reached for his diminutive form.

The blonde giant admired her catch as she stood back up.

“Which part of ‘you will be useful for us’ didn’t you understand?” she asked to the man in a mocking tone.

"Here, catch!" Kate said as she tossed the tiny man to her friend. "I'll be back with more."

"Now, I hope you guys are smart enough to realize that there is nowhere you can go but out with us. Do yourselves a favor and don't do anything stupid!" Kate warned them.

She used her right hand to make herself some more room to maneuver as the startled people inside kept reacting in a variety of ways.

Kate did not give them any warning as she moved both her hands inside the building and grabbed a double-handful of men and women, not minding too much to be gentle.

“Here you have some more!” she said as she tossed her catch to Hannah, who was starting to realize that there was no way she would be able to carry so many people in her hands.

She had to bring her hands and her captives towards her chest, making a cradle between her perky breasts and her arms so that the six people she had so far would not fall.

Meanwhile, Kate continued removing obstacles out of the way as the remaining four people screamed in panic.

“You did not think you would be able to hide from me, did you?” she mocked.

Kate was soon tossing the last people in the floor they had chosen to her friend.

“Wow! You won’t complain, right tinies? I mean, Hannah’s tits are not as great as mine, but they are nice enough, don’t you think?”

The ten people now in Hannah's possession were stuck in multiple ways between her hands, arms and breasts. It was almost a miracle that none of them had fallen the hundred feet that separated them from the ground.

"Follow me! Let's find somewhere to have a conversation with the tiny fuckers!" Kate said as she led the way once more.

Hannah could not move as fast as she would have wanted. After all, the balance that held her ten captives in place was as unstable as it got.

Meanwhile, Kate found the perfect spot for what she had in mind.

“There!” she said cheerfully.

Hannah crouched to let the ten people she was carrying drop in the low roof. She was rougher than ever, glad to finally be able to get some freedom of movement. This ended up unavoidably causing more injuries and bruises than intended, but there was nothing that she could do to prevent them. After all, it was not her fault that they were so puny!

Both girls stood back up as they observed the multitude they had gathered on the roof a building that had trouble to get to mid-thigh.

“Ok, tinies. You’ll be wondering why we brought you all the way to here,” Kate started. “It’s simple. My friend Hannah and I are having an argument about which of the two is hotter. I know the answer looks quite obvious, but we would still like to have some objective way to resolve our argument. So, you are going to be the jury!”

“Those that think that I’m the hottest will step to my side of the roof. If any of you thought that Hannah is hotter than me, feel free to step to her side of the roof too,” Kate went on.

“Wait.” Hannah said. “There’s ten of them, what if there’s a draw?”

The blonde giant then crouched without warning, making the already very jumpy crowd even more scared.

“Oh damn, right.” Kate looked at them and crouched down. “I’m afraid we need an odd number,” she said in a threatening tone as she reached out for one of the men in the roof.

"You have been relieved of jury duty," Kate then said, pinching the man's leg and lifting him as if he were nothing more than a bug. The man screamed for his life, but it was to no avail.

Kate did not flinch as she tossed the screaming man over her shoulder. He flew for a hundred yards, before splashing into the façade of a tall building twenty stories over the ground.

The corpse of the man Kate had so carelessly tossed slid down the façade of the building, leaving a red streak as it did. She was not concerned about it in the least. Her attention was back at the nine people now in the roof.

“Ok, time to choose. Quick!”

A few seconds later, there were four people on each side of the roof, with one still in the middle, undecided. Kate was shocked at seeing that her election was not as overwhelming or immediate as she had expected. Her anger could be noticed when she snapped at the hesitant man:

“What the fuck are you waiting for? Pick a fucking side!”

To Kate's surprise, the man chose Hannah, making her frustration grow as her brunette friend giggled ecstatic.

"So, see what I was saying?" Hannah said proudly.

"You cheated!" Kate replied, still not believing that anyone could consider that she was not way hotter than her friend.

"Oh, come on. Don't pay it with me. We played your game by your rules, after all!"

“Yeah, but we picked the wrong jury. I don’t think they fully appreciated my assets. They might need a closer look!” Kate said as she turned to show her humongous ass to the terrified people on Hannah’s side of the roof.

Her massive buttocks landed without warning, much like a meteorite. The building barely managed to hold her, but there was no way than any of the five people trapped under her ass could have survived.

"Serves them well!" Kate said as she felt the five bugs that had not voted for her squish under her butt.

"You are a sore loser!" Hannah mocked.

"Yes. And now I can do something about it!" Kate said, her mood heightened once more by her little act of retribution.

“You know, I did not like not being voted either. It’s kind of unfair that you can crush my fans and yours make it out of this unscratched, don’t you think?” Hannah said, turning to show her hard butt to the four remaining and terrified people in the roof.

They knew what was coming. There was nothing they could do to prevent it.

Hannah crushed the remaining four people much like Kate had done, enjoying the weird feeling as her blonde friend giggled at the action.

The four-story building miraculously held, serving as the perfect chair for the titanic beauties.

Their relaxation was quickly interrupted by the sound of sirens. Both Kate and Hannah turned in unison to see the assembly of squad cars approaching them. They were not the least concerned, but the sight of the cops pissed them off anyway.

“What will they want?” Kate asked.

“I guess we’ll learn it soon enough,” Hannah replied.

TO BE CONTINUED

Thank you for your support!