

ASCENSION:

BULLETS

PART ONE

It was not comparable to being big, but sipping her drink in the sun, Diana felt relaxed. After two years, she knew that the authorities were getting close to catching her, but she was getting even closer to getting back what she wished.

But in the meantime, she needed a distraction.

Diana had been surprised by the effects of the serum, last time. They had ended up working well, but after two more years of research she knew that there was a lot she had not unlocked. She would not rush it this time, though. She had time to use the scientific method.

And the method demanded her to validate her hypotheses first. Smiling as she observed the three approaching girls from the neighboring college, Diana thought that she might have found her candidates.

Diana did not feel sympathetic for the redhead.
Diana had been a nerd too, but she had not let anyone bully her back in college.

The other two, though... they looked like the perfect candidates for what she had in mind. Her first objective was to validate the results of her work, of course. She also needed to learn more about how the world had prepared itself to confront a giant woman, though.

Seeing the two bullies sitting in a table in the same terrace she was at, Diana's smile widened and she made her mind up. They seemed a safe bet.

"These are for you." The waitress said, placing two drinks in front of them.

"Huh? Where are the boys?" Diana heard the blonde one say.

"Cocky, of course." Diana thought. It served her well.

"Drinks are on her." The waitress said, nodding towards Diana.

Removing her sun glasses, Diana shot them a glance before departing, enjoying their surprised faces. They had no clue about how much of a gift it really was.

Miranda was finishing her shower after her track and field practice. Running was one of the few things in college that she could still enjoy.

When Kate and Hannah walked into the locker room, obviously coming from a session of glance-attraction at the gym, she cursed between her teeth.

"Hey, 'Randa, where are your friends?" Kate asked. "Oh wait, that's right... you don't have any!" She added, snorting.

Closing her way out on the other side, Hannah joined her friend's laugh.

It was Hannah who took her towel from her. Every cell in Miranda's body was asking her to fight back, but she knew she had no chance against the quite bigger girls.

"Oh my God! Look at these two little peas!" Kate said in a mocking tone, lifting her A-cups with her fingertips. "You could iron your clothes on that chest!" She added, snorting again.

"Let me show you some real tits, washboard." Kate said, pulling her bra away and pushing her massive and famous E-cups into Miranda.

Then, without knowing too well why, Miranda craned her neck and sucked Kate's nipple.

Her action had an immediate reaction in the form of surprise first and laugh later.

"Oh my God! She is a lesbian!" Hannah said as Kate laughed out loud.

Dropping to her knees, Miranda felt her soul crashing. College had been a living hell so far, but she knew it was about to get much worse.

Miranda broke out in cries as Hannah and Kate walked out of the locker room, still laughing. She heard Hannah say:

“Wait until we tell the boys!”

The abandoned warehouse was close enough to college and the city center to be convenient and far away enough to not attract those they didn't want. It was, in a word, perfect.

It was a perfect place to hang out, get some laughs, make out with boys, get some weed... they loved it.

Chris and Paul were already there by the time they got in. They were not their favorite guys in college, but they weren't half bad either. Hannah evaluated whether to go for one of them or not. Maybe she could wait a bit and see if anyone else showed up.

"Hey guys. What's up?" Kate said.

"Not much." Chris said, smiling. "We're just--"

A noise in the back made everyone turn. Jaws dropped, no one having expected Miranda in there.

Kate started mocking at her, "Hey washboard. Here for some more... fun?" She laughed.

Hannah did not feel comfortable, though. She soon realized what was wrong. She tried to warn Kate of the object in Miranda's hand as she progressed, but it was too late. The obvious hate in Miranda's face meant she was going to use it.

"Come on Mir- ow!"

Blue sparks lit the warehouse as Kate screamed in pain when Miranda tasered her. She looked like a madwoman. Hannah realized that if she had had a real gun, they would both be dead by now.

Acknowledging the danger, Hannah turned to run. It was too late. A second discharge of the taser got her in the back, making her legs feel numb and forcing her to the floor immediately as the most intense pain she had ever felt run along her body.

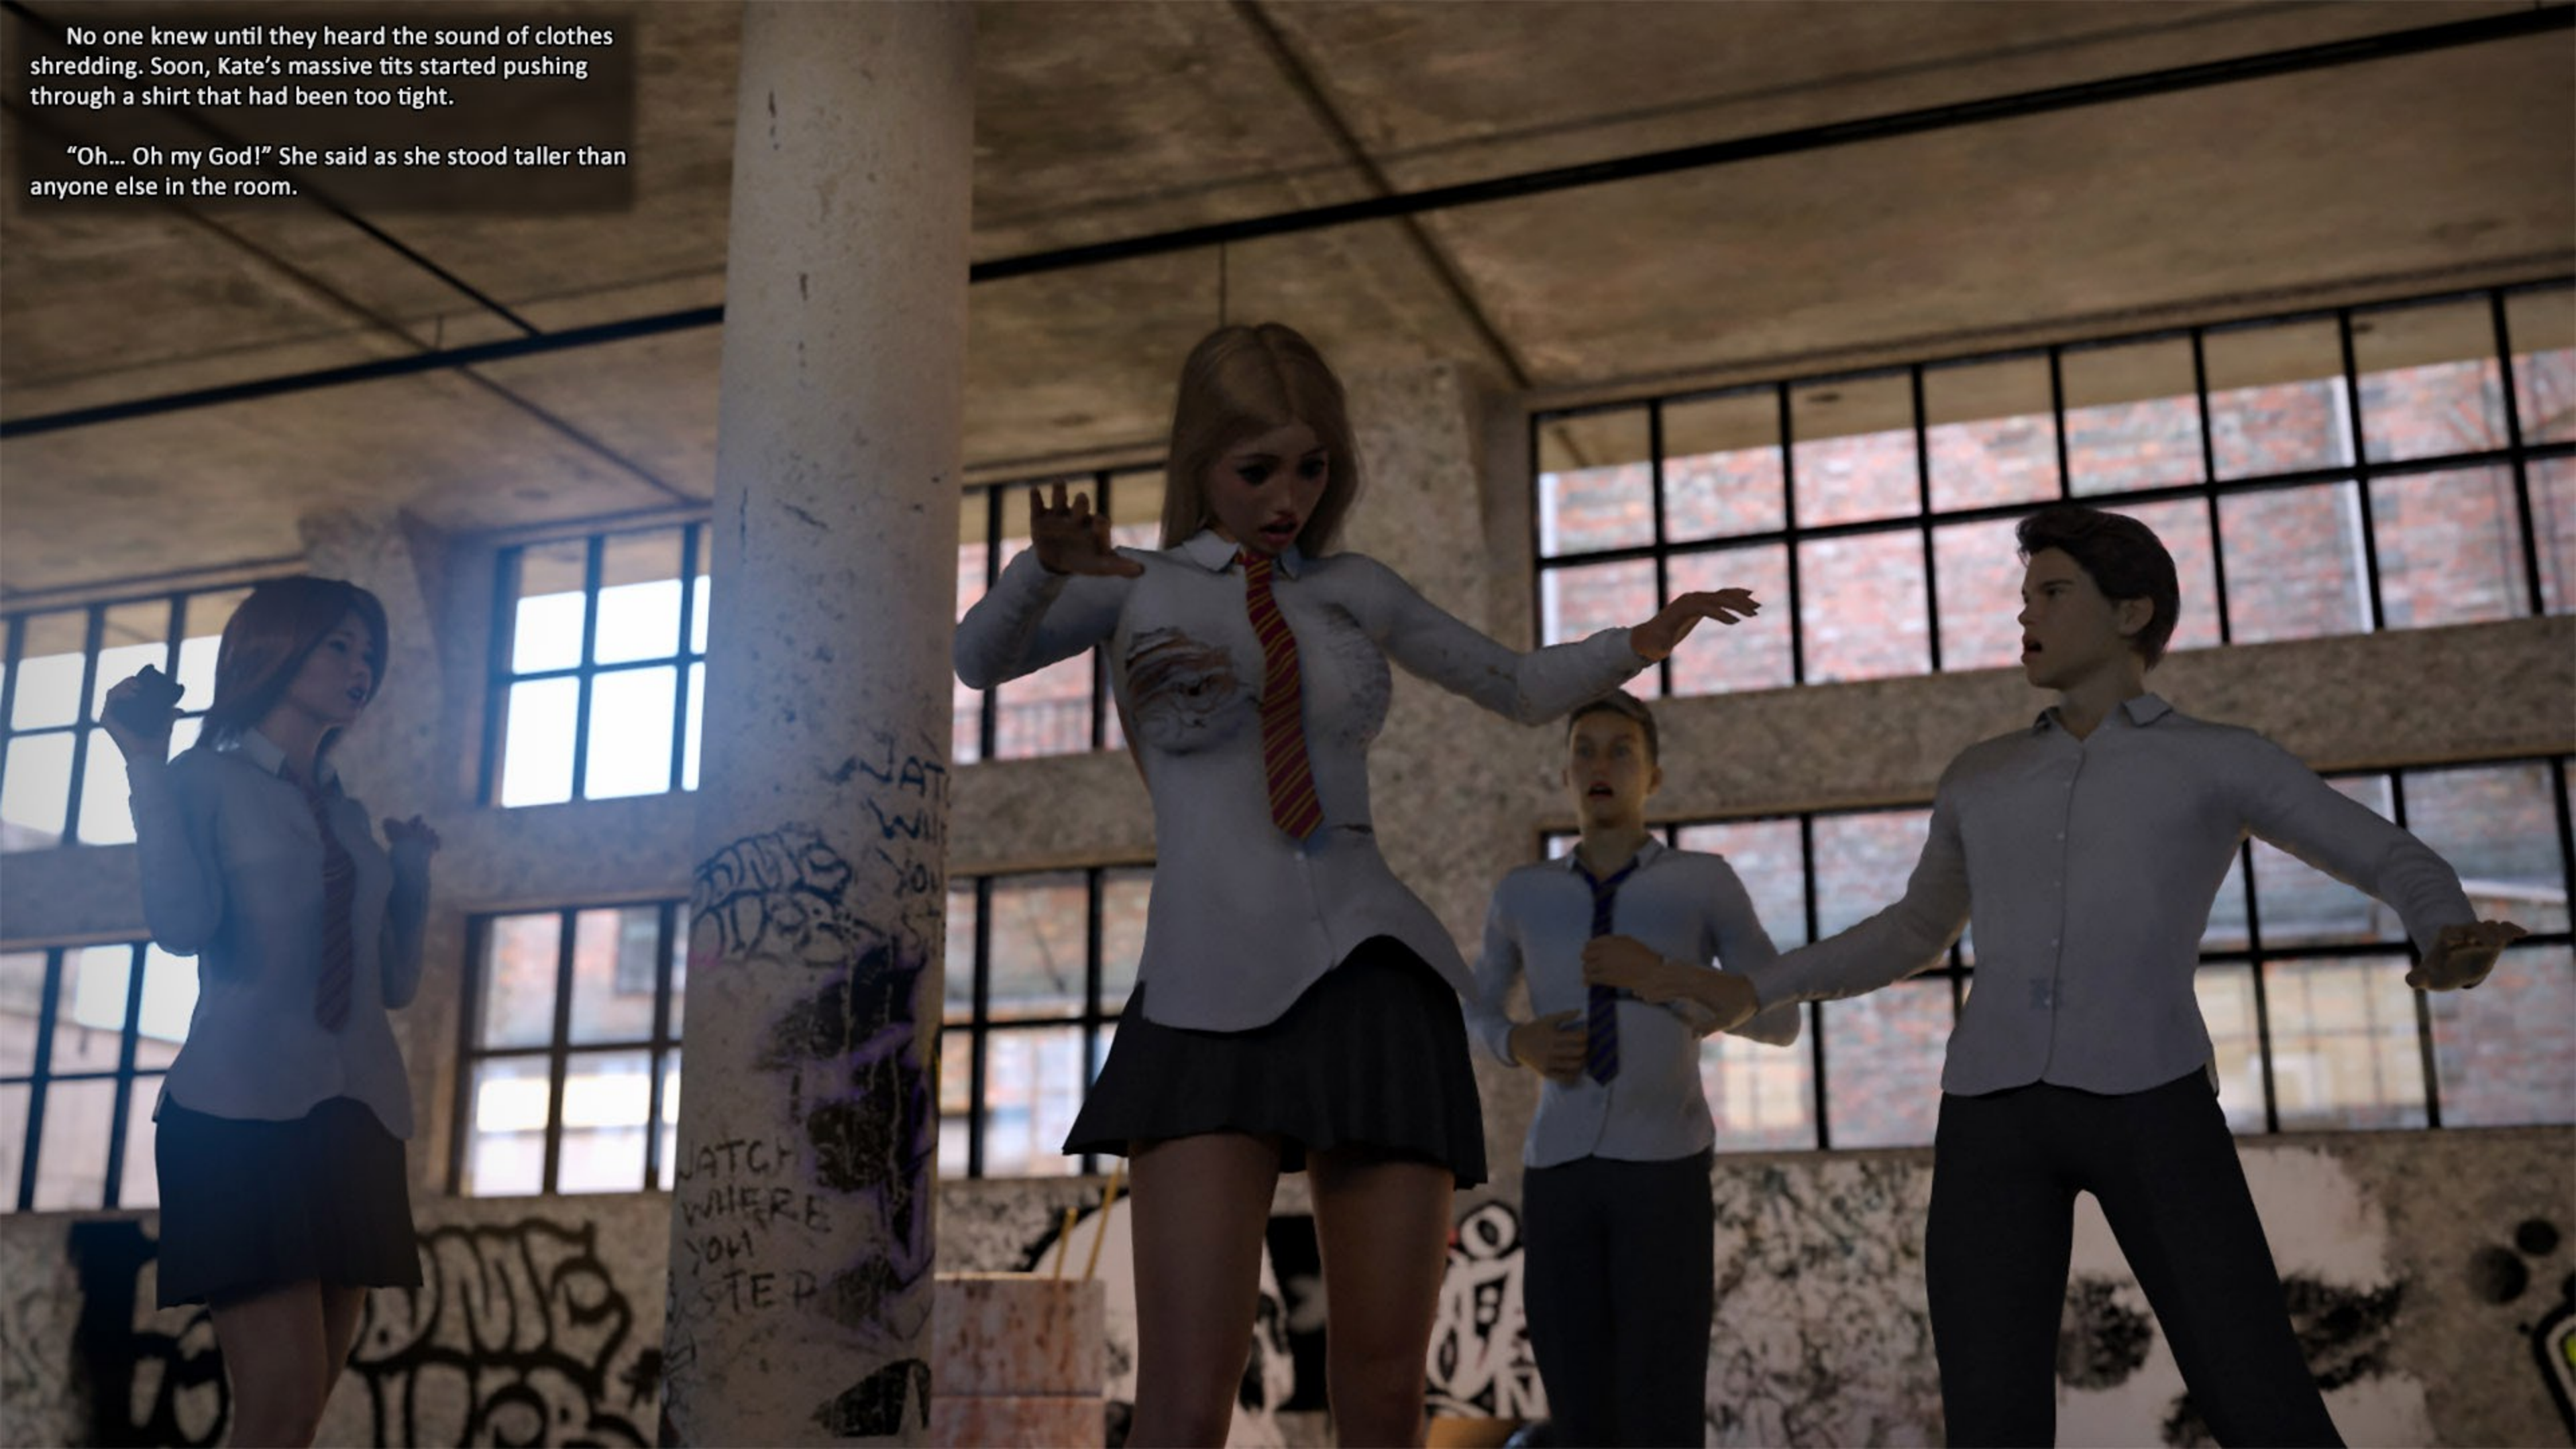

Alarmed, the boys advanced towards Miranda, but they stopped in their tracks when she threatened with tasing them too. Then, suddenly, Kate stood on her knees, drawing in a deep breath.

“What is happening to me?”

No one knew until they heard the sound of clothes shredding. Soon, Kate's massive tits started pushing through a shirt that had been too tight.

"Oh... Oh my God!" She said as she stood taller than anyone else in the room.

Kate's clothes continued ripping apart as Hannah stood up, looking as confused as her friend. Her college uniform was shredding too.

"Kate... what's going on?"

"I- I don't know!"

By now it was obvious that the girls were growing, and that they were growing fast. Miranda's momentary madness faded away and was replaced by fear. She was soon running away from the two girls that had bullied her since her first day in college. The boys soon realized that fleeing was probably the best idea, too.

Chris took a look over his shoulder as he moved away to see Kate and Hannah going through a growth spurt and breaking out of their clothes in an instant. By the time they were naked, their heads were about to reach the ceiling!

“Oh my god Hannah!” Kate screamed, “This can’t be happening!”

The girls did not have too much time to realize about the fleeing boys, though. The accelerated growth they were going through was taking their entire attention, forcing them to stoop and brace by the time their heads were about to hit the ceiling.

"I'm getting too big!" Kate screamed. "Oh my god!"

Kate was the first to break through the ceiling and into the second floor. She screamed loudly as the concrete around her broke like cardboard, debris shooting outwardly.

By the time Hannah joined her, Kate's oversized bust had already broken through the floor. Opening her eyes and becoming aware of the situation, she hyperventilated. She was growing! She was becoming a giant! But how?

Her first reaction was one of fear. Then she felt claustrophobia. She had never had it before, but being a growing giant in a constrained space seemed to have changed that. She felt anxious to do something. Having just broken through the concrete floor without a scratch gave her the answer. Charing, Kate broke spectacularly through the warehouse's wall.

Hannah followed Kate's lead and dashed towards the wall too, breaking more of it as their still expanding bodies dropped into the street below.

Down in the alley, the three fleeing students looked over their shoulders in panic to their former coeds. Miranda kept running, the track and field training helping her to keep the pace. She had never been so terrified.

“Oh my God! What the hell happened to us?”
Kate asked.

“We are huge!” Hannah said.

“I can see that! But... how?” Kate replied.

Hannah narrowed her eyes and said: “The taser...
Miranda’s taser... we both started to grow right after she used it on us!”

Frowning, Kate looked down the alley, looking for someone.

Miranda screamed at the sight of her college tormentors emerging from the warehouse, standing gigantic. They looked startled for a second... and then they focused and locked their eyes on her.

"You." Kate said, her voice still sounding like Kate but feeling way more powerful at the same time.

"Fucking nerd." Hannah added, muttering between her teeth.

Never before in her life had Miranda known that she had to run as she did now.

Kate and Hannah were startled by the diminutive appearance of their coeds, but fueled by rage, they forgot for a second about the implications of what had happened and started to chase them.

The old industrial area was filled with stairs, alleys and various obstacles. Soon it became evident that the girls had less trouble getting around them than the fugitives.

Step after step Kate and Hannah gained on the three fellow students they were chasing. They did not even have to break into a run. A mere fast walk was enough to keep their pace and then recover some distance. Encouraged by the realization, the girls even put some strut into their advance.

Their path was bound to cross with someone else sooner or later. It did when a creepy fellow that was probably up to no good in one of the balconies in the abandoned area got so startled at their presence that rather than fleeing remained frozen, looking at them.

Absurdly interpreting that the guy was staring at her nakedness rather than her colossal size, Kate became instantly upset.

Covering her massive boobs with one hand, she reached for the man with the other.

“What the fuck do you think you are doing, you perv?”

He could not react on time so soon Kate's massive fingers were wrapped around his chest. It was then piece of cake for the oversized teen to lift him from the balcony as she narrowed her eyes.

Kate never thought on the consequences of her reaction, just on the instant hatred she had felt for the man. So, in a harsh impulse, she just tossed him back while giving her an angry farewell:

“Go stare somewhere else.”

Less oblivious than Kate, Hannah realized that what her friend had done was probably going to have serious if not fatal consequences for the little man’s health. Her first reaction was that of astonishment. The second one was closer to exhilaration when she realized that she was perfectly capable of doing the same.

The people in the avenue were surprised when two young men a young woman in the same college uniform came running through one of the alleys that led to an abandoned industrial district.

"They're coming! They're coming!" One of the boys said. He looked distressed.

And then they came into view from the same alley and they understood what the boy had been referring to. The two girls were also young, probably the same age than the college students they had just seen... but that was the only similarity.

A blonde and a brunette, the two girls were gorgeous and completely naked. This was not the most remarkable think about them, though. The fact that they stood all the way up to the third floor of the neighboring building was.

Kate had felt curious at the new landscape at first, but as soon as she felt the piercing look of the two little men in her naked chest she was flooded by a combination of shame and rage.

Quite a bit less bashful, Hannah advanced towards the two men, one of them falling on his back as a result of the shock of seeing her. The other was looking up, quite obviously trying to make his mind up.

“Come on Kate, the entire city is going to see us naked. It’s not as if we are going to find any clothes our size any time soon.”

Hannah knew that Miranda and the two boys had come this way, so it was clear that the two little men had to know which way they had fled. Quite instinctively, she decided that the best way to get that information from them would be through intimidation.

So, without second thoughts, she placed her foot on the back of the man that had fallen and pinned him to the ground, his feeble attempts at getting out tickling somewhat.

Kate had already joined her by the time the second man looked up at both of them in awe.

“Three of our fellow students came running this way not long ago. Tell us where they went and we’ll leave you alone. Don’t, and well... let’s say that it’s going to hurt you more than me.” Hannah threatened.

The man did not waste any time to point in the direction down the avenue the three college students had fled to.

Hannah felt proud as power rushed along her body. Next to her, Kate had a very satisfied look in her face.

"Aren't you coming?" Hannah said, turning as she felt Kate was not following.

"In a second," Kate said.

Hannah saw her placing her foot on the back of the same man she had pinned to the ground an instant before. Kate did more than pin him though. Hannah could hear the sound of breaking bones even from where she was. The man would have at least a few broken ribs, she guessed.

Looking up at her friend's face, Hannah could see a look of sadist satisfaction.

"Serves you well, perv." Kate said.

If Hannah knew her friend well, it was clear that their presence in the city would end up with more than one person seriously injured.

The girls followed the lead they had been given, which soon took them to a much more crowded road. Having quickly grown used to their new status, they were more thrilled than scared when they saw all the activity and people there, everything looking so different to them now.

Hannah was the first one to spot the boys and Miranda getting into a double-decker tourist bus. She pointed the way to Kate, sure that their coeds would not be able to escape anymore.

Kate and Hanna's approach caused a significantly greater deal of anxiety inside the bus.

"Start the engine! Start the engine!" Chris yelled, the rest of people in the bus finally understanding the reason behind his nervousness.

Kate easily stopped the attempt by placing herself in front of the starting bus and resting her foot on it, clearly overpowering the engine's pathetic attempts.

Meanwhile, Hannah flanked the bus and prepared to go for her objectives.

Chris did not even see it coming as Hannah crouched and punched her hand through the window, easily shattering the glass. Her fingers were wrapped around his torso before he could react.

Paul quickly followed Chris' fate. Once she had them both, Hannah stood back on, holding the two boys as if they were no more than dolls. She was exhilarated at the scenario.

Not losing sight of the situation, Kate easily identified Miranda's escape attempt. She let out a chuckle, knowing that it would be very short lived.

Miranda ran as fast as she could... and then stumbled. By the time she looked over her shoulder while standing up, Kate was already on her. She started shivering uncontrollably.

"Where do you think you're going 'Randa? I thought you liked me." Kate mocked as she got ready.

Holding the little girl was so amazing! All sorts of thoughts were running through her head as she observed the screaming Miranda as she unsuccessfully kicked to free herself. Most of them had to do with the power the situation represented. The rest were related to the possibilities that had suddenly opened up for her on how to handle the pesky redhead.

"What's the problem, dollie? Not so brave without your taser?" Kate asked.

The girls' attention was suddenly caught by a siren. It was easy enough to follow it and meet the squad car where it had originated. More concerning than it were the two cops on either side, both aiming their guns at them.

To Kate and Hannah it felt as if they had been caught with their hands in the cookie jar.

"Fuck! Pigs!" Kate said, grabbing Hannah's attention as she took a step back. She had never been pointed a gun at, before, and while somehow the situation seemed less threatening because of the relative size of the cops, it was far from desirable.

In her rush, Kate had not seen the car parked right behind her. Tripping with it when she was already in the middle of completing her step was too much for Kate, who screamed as she lost her balance.

Lucy had gone out for grocery shopping. She had never expected to find a science-fiction scene on the road when she made a right. That's what she had found, though, two colossal girls taking her full attention. She was starting to think that they looked both young and good looking when the one closest to her screamed. Lucy barely had time to scream herself when she realized what was going on. The most massive ass she had ever seen was dropping on her like a meteorite.

The range rover cushioned Kate's fall. Of course, it never stood a chance. Her ass, driven by her nearly 10 tons of weight, crushed the car badly.

Kate's first feeling was one of embarrassment at having looked like a klutz in front of everyone in the area. She then had some thoughts about the fragility of the car. Once surprise was gone, Kate checked that she still had a good enough hold on Miranda. Then it occurred to her that there must have been a person inside the car.

"Oh my god," She realized. "Did I just kill someone?"
