CAT'S PAW

200 years in the future, modified and enhanced meta-humans have become a common element among the population.

With nearly infinite possibilities, the only limit mankind has left is their imagination... and people have always been creative when seeking pleasure! Ideas beget technology, but new technology also begets ideas.

Looking for a thrill, Rose and Claire purchases a vore-suit, giving Rose the ability to devour people whole and alive, unaware that there is a catch to the deal that she's just made...
