

Two months.

It had been two long months since Wonder Woman was last seen by anyone, the Justice League had looked for her, but found no sign of her and with other threats to the planet, like Darkseid having his forces prepared to attack Earth, the efforts of the Justice League were needed elsewhere.

But one woman was not going to let this go unsolved and that was Daily Planet's reporter, Lois Lane.

She checked with her sources and got a timeline of everything that happened prior to Diana's disappearance, she was in the city of Los Angeles California looking into several robberies done in the city that had the MO of none other than Cheetah.

Lois was in LA, taking vacation time from the Daily Planet to work on this, Lois checked with LAPD for any reports of robberies in the last two months and went from location to location, trying to find something to help in the search.

So far none of the leads panned out and Lois headed to the last one on the list, a warehouse that was used by a popular adult shop to store their merchandise, apparently BDSM was big business in the city of angels.

As Lois got out of her rental car and approached the warehouse, late at night, she saw no security guards there, thinking they probably went off for a smoke break.

She saw the door was opened and slowly approached the building, making sure to take out her stun gun, just in case.

She heard a voice as she went inside and kept low, she soon saw who was inside, none other than Cheetah herself, who was going through boxes, muttering to herself, how her pet would love some of this.

Lois went to get closer to hear what Cheetah was talking about, when she knocked over a box that fell to the ground. Cheetah heard the noise and with her heightened senses knew where it came from.

Before Lois could even get off a shot, Cheetah had her disarmed and thrown her to the ground, she leered at the beautiful Lois Lane and smiled, her contact in the LAPD was right to tip her off about a beautiful, nosy woman who was asking a lot of questions about her pet Wonder Kitty.

Lois Lane was a real hottie with her lovely raven hair, short skirt, red jacket and wondered how hot, she would look without them on. She used Lois's own stun gun to knock her out and got to work, relieving her of her clothing.

Cheetah was not disappointed in what she saw in the box Lois knocked over, which opened the contents: another bitch suit. A new plan started to form in her mind.

Cheetah searched around the warehouse and found all that she was looking for and did not waste any time on getting her new pet Lovely Lois ready.

Lois finally came to after she had been hit by her own stun gun and as her eyes opened, Cheetah was smiling and brought forward a mirror so Lois could see what was done to her. Lois was horrified and tried to scream, which was muffled.

She was in a bitch suit, a leopard skin print one, her arms and legs frog tied and fake paws now on her knees and elbows, openings for her breasts, pussy, and ass, she saw her new tail, a large anal plug with a fake tail attached and that she was ballgagged.

Cheetah smiled saying “You look so nice like this, Lovely Lois. That’s you new name. You will be my pet, just like Wonder Kitty, she will be so happy to get a new playmate for her. Now just to add the finishing touch.”

The mad woman put a leopard print, leather bondage hood in the shape of a leopard’s head on Lois’s head as she cried and screamed. It bore fake ears, fake whiskers, and a fake mouth. On top of that, the lenses for the eyes now forced Lois to see the world in black and white.

Cheetah put a golden collar with a chain attached around Lois’s neck and lead Lovely Lois out of the warehouse, back to her new home.

When they arrived, Lois was horrified to see Wonder Woman was there in similar attire to what she was now in, Diana was acting like a loyal animal to Cheetah, acting happy to see her.

Cheetah petted Wonder Kitty on the head and said “I brought you a new playmate. Meet Lovely Lois, she will be staying here with us from now on.”

Wonder Kitty was delighted at this and Lois was in horror, thinking if Diana could be broken like that in two months, how long would she hold out.

Cheetah ordered her pets to kiss one another and smiled as Wonder Kitty kissed her new playmate, as all sorts of ideas went through her head of all the fun, she can now have with 2 pets at her beck and call. This was going to be good.