A Message to My Supporters

First of all, I want to sincerely thank you all for your ongoing support and affection. Your subscriptions and encouragement are the driving force behind my continuous creative efforts. I genuinely hope that my comics can not only fulfill your fantasies but also bring you joy.

Here, I have an earnest request to make: please do not upload my comics to public websites or forums like e-hentai. This is very important to me, and I greatly appreciate your understanding and support!

As an independent creator, I devote a significant amount of time each month to producing comics, using almost all of my spare time for creation. I typically queue rendering tasks at night and wait for the computer to generate the renderings during the day. Day in and day out, I work on short and long comics, creating over 450 pages each month. Although I started creating comics out of interest, subscription income has now become my primary source of revenue, which directly affects my livelihood.

If my comics are frequently pirated, my income will inevitably suffer a substantial impact. Just in May 2024, nearly 400 pages of my new work were uploaded to e-hentai the day after release, causing my sponsorship income to be nearly halved. Given the quality of my comics, I believe such a significant drop in income shouldn't be attributed solely to the quality. Therefore, having my comics uploaded to these websites severely impacts my income, livelihood, and creative enthusiasm. I hope you all can understand this.

I know that your intention in sharing is good, and we all have watched pirated movies, animations, and comics at some point. Sharing my comics comes from a place of appreciation for my work. However, our community is small, and creation is not easy. I earnestly ask you to refrain from quickly sharing my entire comics on public websites. Thank you once again for your understanding and support!

With love,
YTsnow

About This Work and My Future Creations

First off, this work is really weird—like, I totally let my creativity run wild with it. The final content ended up being nothing like what I originally planned.

I’d been wracking my brain trying to figure out how to keep this series going: how to make the fourth installment have enough surprising twists, while still keeping the pure, sweet romance between John and Judy intact. I did come up with some ideas eventually, but I couldn’t figure out how to bring them to life. So I had to start creating with what I had—but the more I worked on it, the more frustrated I got. That’s why I shared those thoughts and talked them through with all of you the other day.

At the same time, I decided to make this work just by following my instincts. So the story might feel a bit abrupt right now, but at least it gives a proper ending to this little series.

Moving forward, I’ll adjust my creative direction. Like I said before, I’m going back to the core appeal of skinsuits—the real satisfying parts that make them fun. Of course, I’ll never stop chasing new and creative ways to use them. I’ll tweak the plot as I add these new ideas, cutting down on twists that only exist just for the sake of twisting. Instead, I want to use twists and the plot in a logical way. I really hope I can pull this off.

If I ever do another long-form story in the future, I definitely need to finalize a solid outline before I start creating. No more making it up as I go like I did with Little Sister or False Honor—(to be honest, False Honor was sort of planned two steps ahead, but still). That’s the only way to keep a long story engaging to read. My goal is to hold onto the good parts of how I create now, while making my works even better.

Thank you so much!
