

HALLOWEEN 2020

HEADGEAR HORROR

BY TIDY FOX

It was Halloween and Jenny was just closing up the store she worked at before joining her friends at a party.

As she straightened the clothes racks, she suddenly noticed an ornate headpiece resting on a pile of sweaters.

A customer must've left it, although it'd been a quiet day and she didn't recall seeing anyone carrying this thing around...

Picking it up, the headpiece felt sturdy -real metal-, and the craftsmanship was superb. Intricate, ornate and creepy!

Jenny was pretty impressed by it.

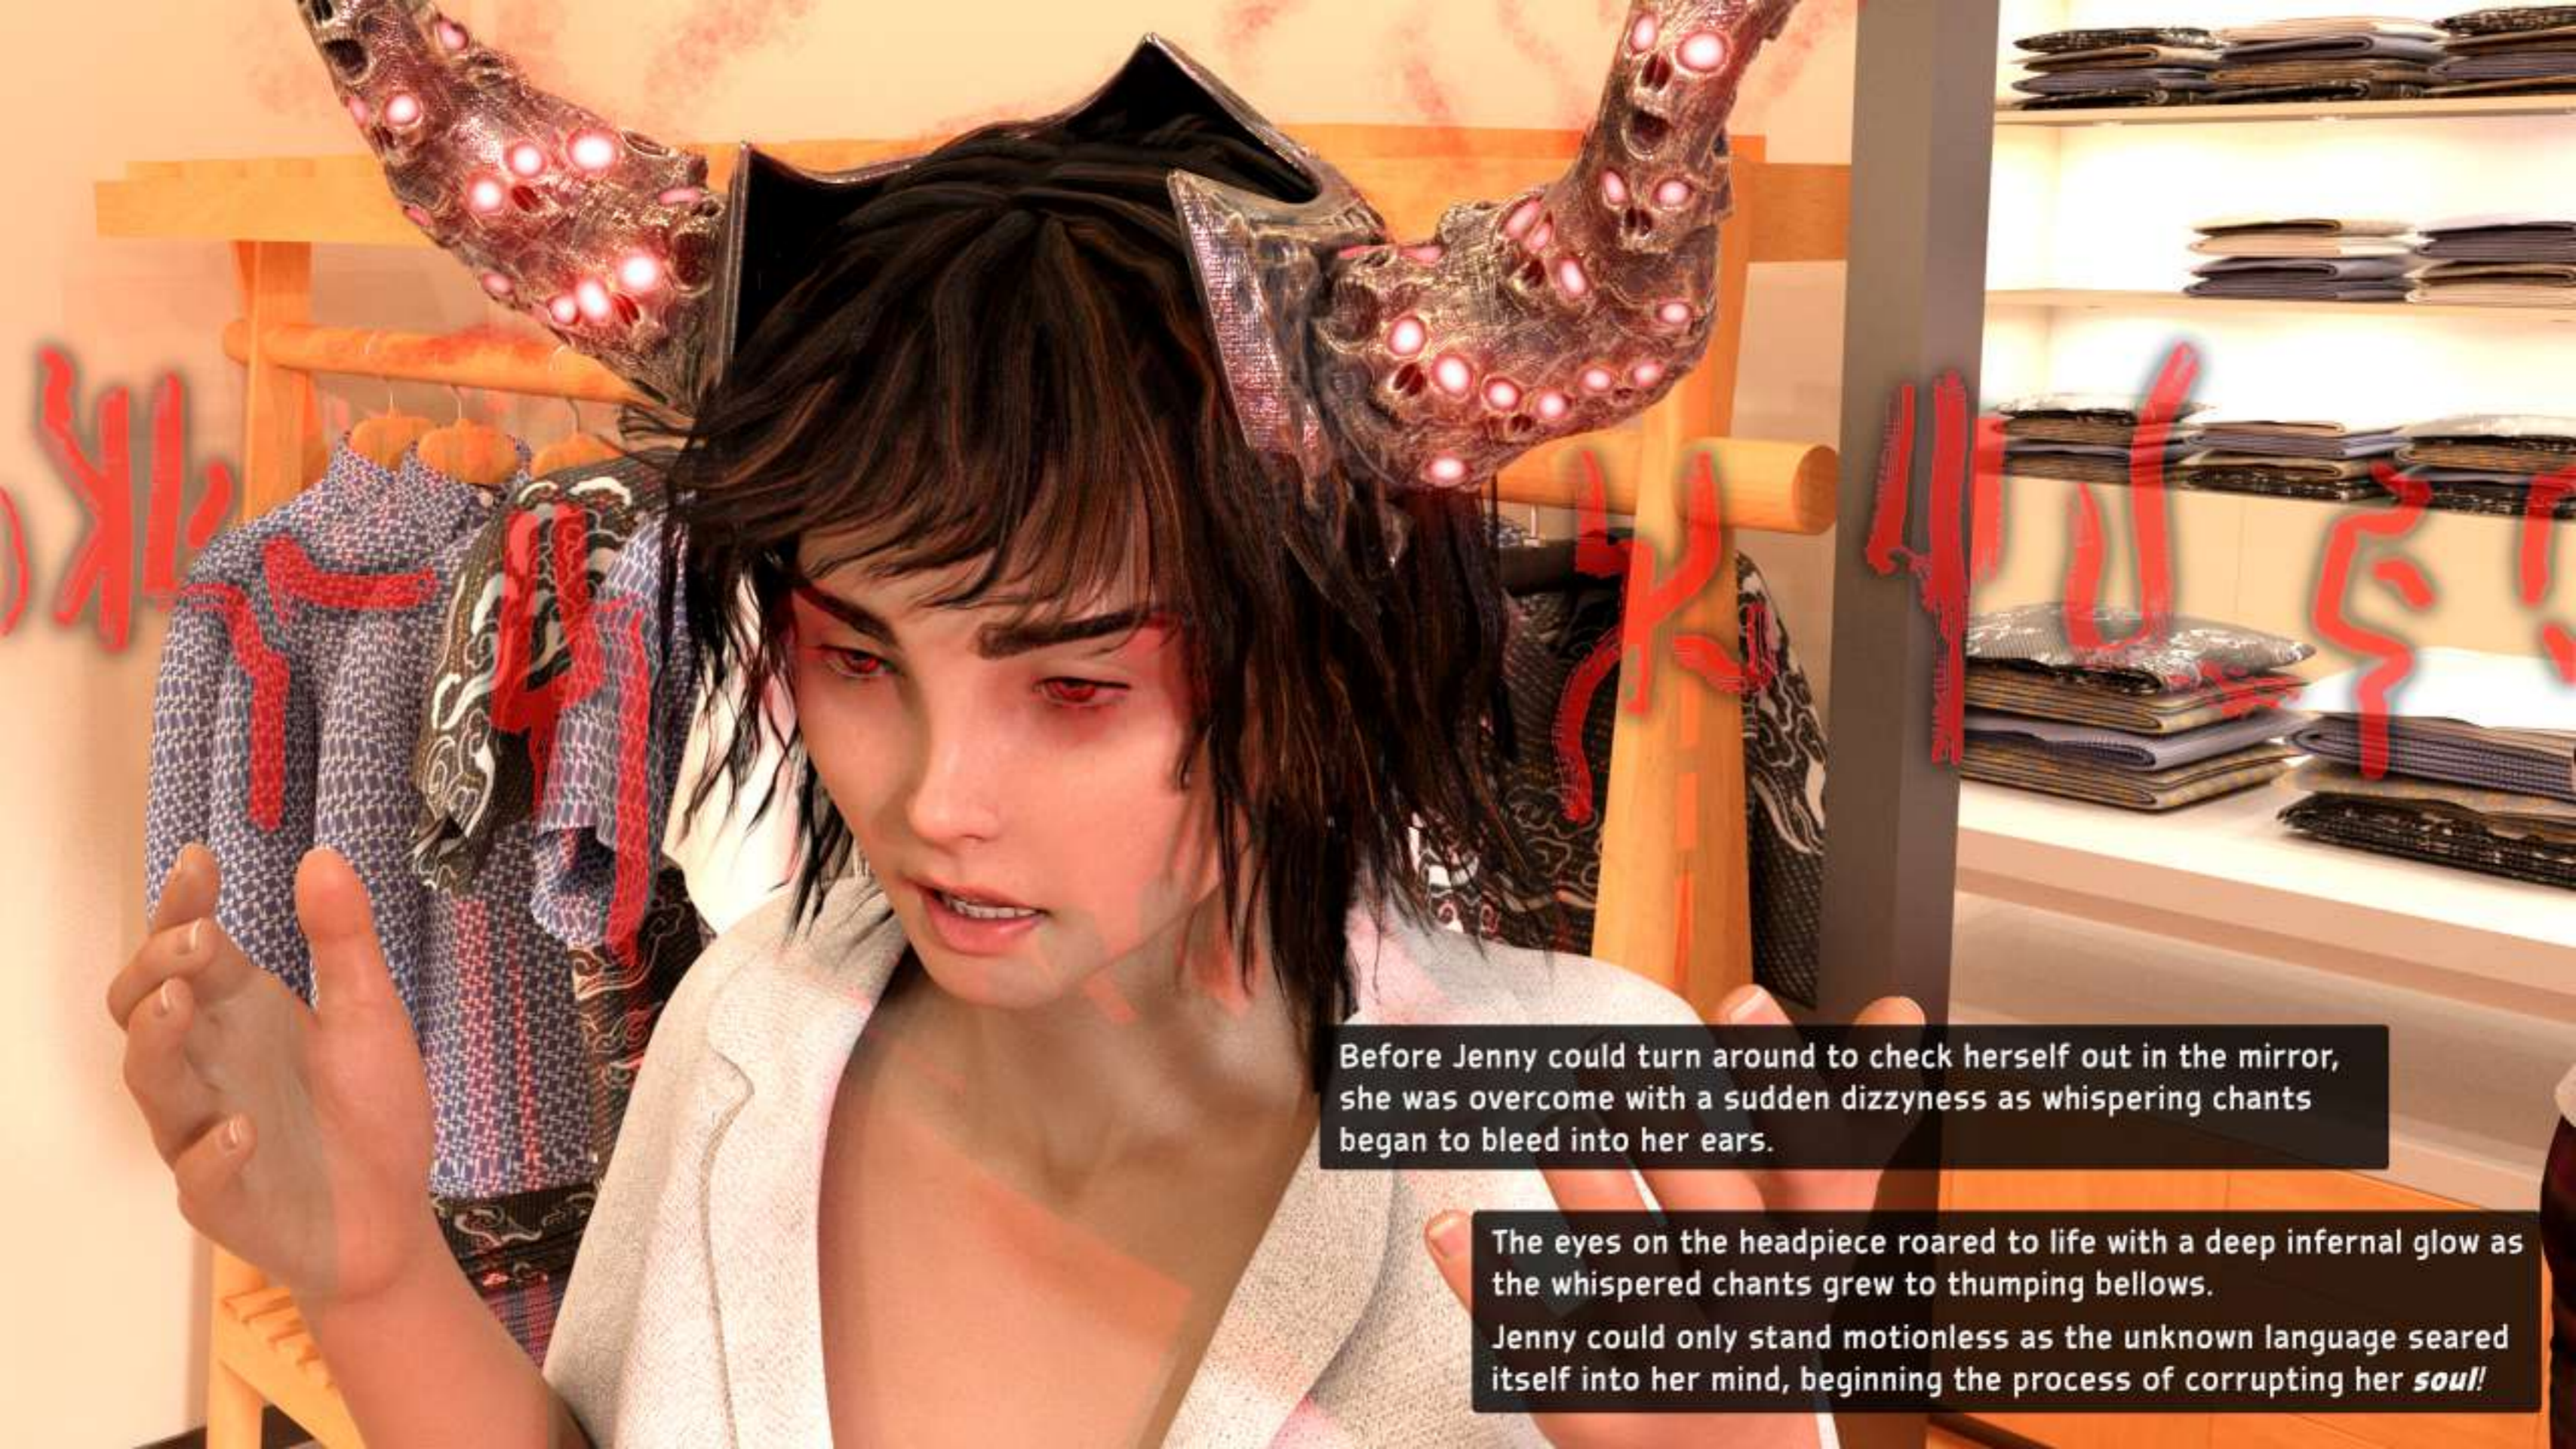

It was a shame someone had left it! No doubt they would be sorely missing this soon, but Jenny couldn't really wait around for the owner to return since it was already past closing time.

She decided that she'd keep it behind the counter and, undoubtedly, the owner would come looking for it tomorrow. In the meantime, she was curious to see how it would look on her. She'd been so busy lately she hadn't gotten a costume this year.

Lifting the headpiece up, she slid it carefully onto her head. The cushioned insides felt comfortable and it sat surprisingly well.

Before Jenny could turn around to check herself out in the mirror, she was overcome with a sudden dizziness as whispering chants began to bleed into her ears.

The eyes on the headpiece roared to life with a deep infernal glow as the whispered chants grew to thumping bellows. Jenny could only stand motionless as the unknown language seared itself into her mind, beginning the process of corrupting her soul!

In a moment, Jenny's body jerked backwards and contorted into a sickening, unnatural pose as she let out a primal shriek of horror!

A burning heat seared across her body, instantly drenching her in a glistening film of sweat.

The heat concentrated on her chest and with a sudden burst, her tits exploded from average size into giant perfect melons as her shirt flew open from the new flesh!

As her body was being transformed, so was her mind. Rather than the terror and shock of what was happening, a part of her considered that she had always wanted bigger boobs and a part of her couldn't wait to feel and squeeze them...

Before she could continue pondering on her new and incredible breasts though, her body contracted and flew forward.

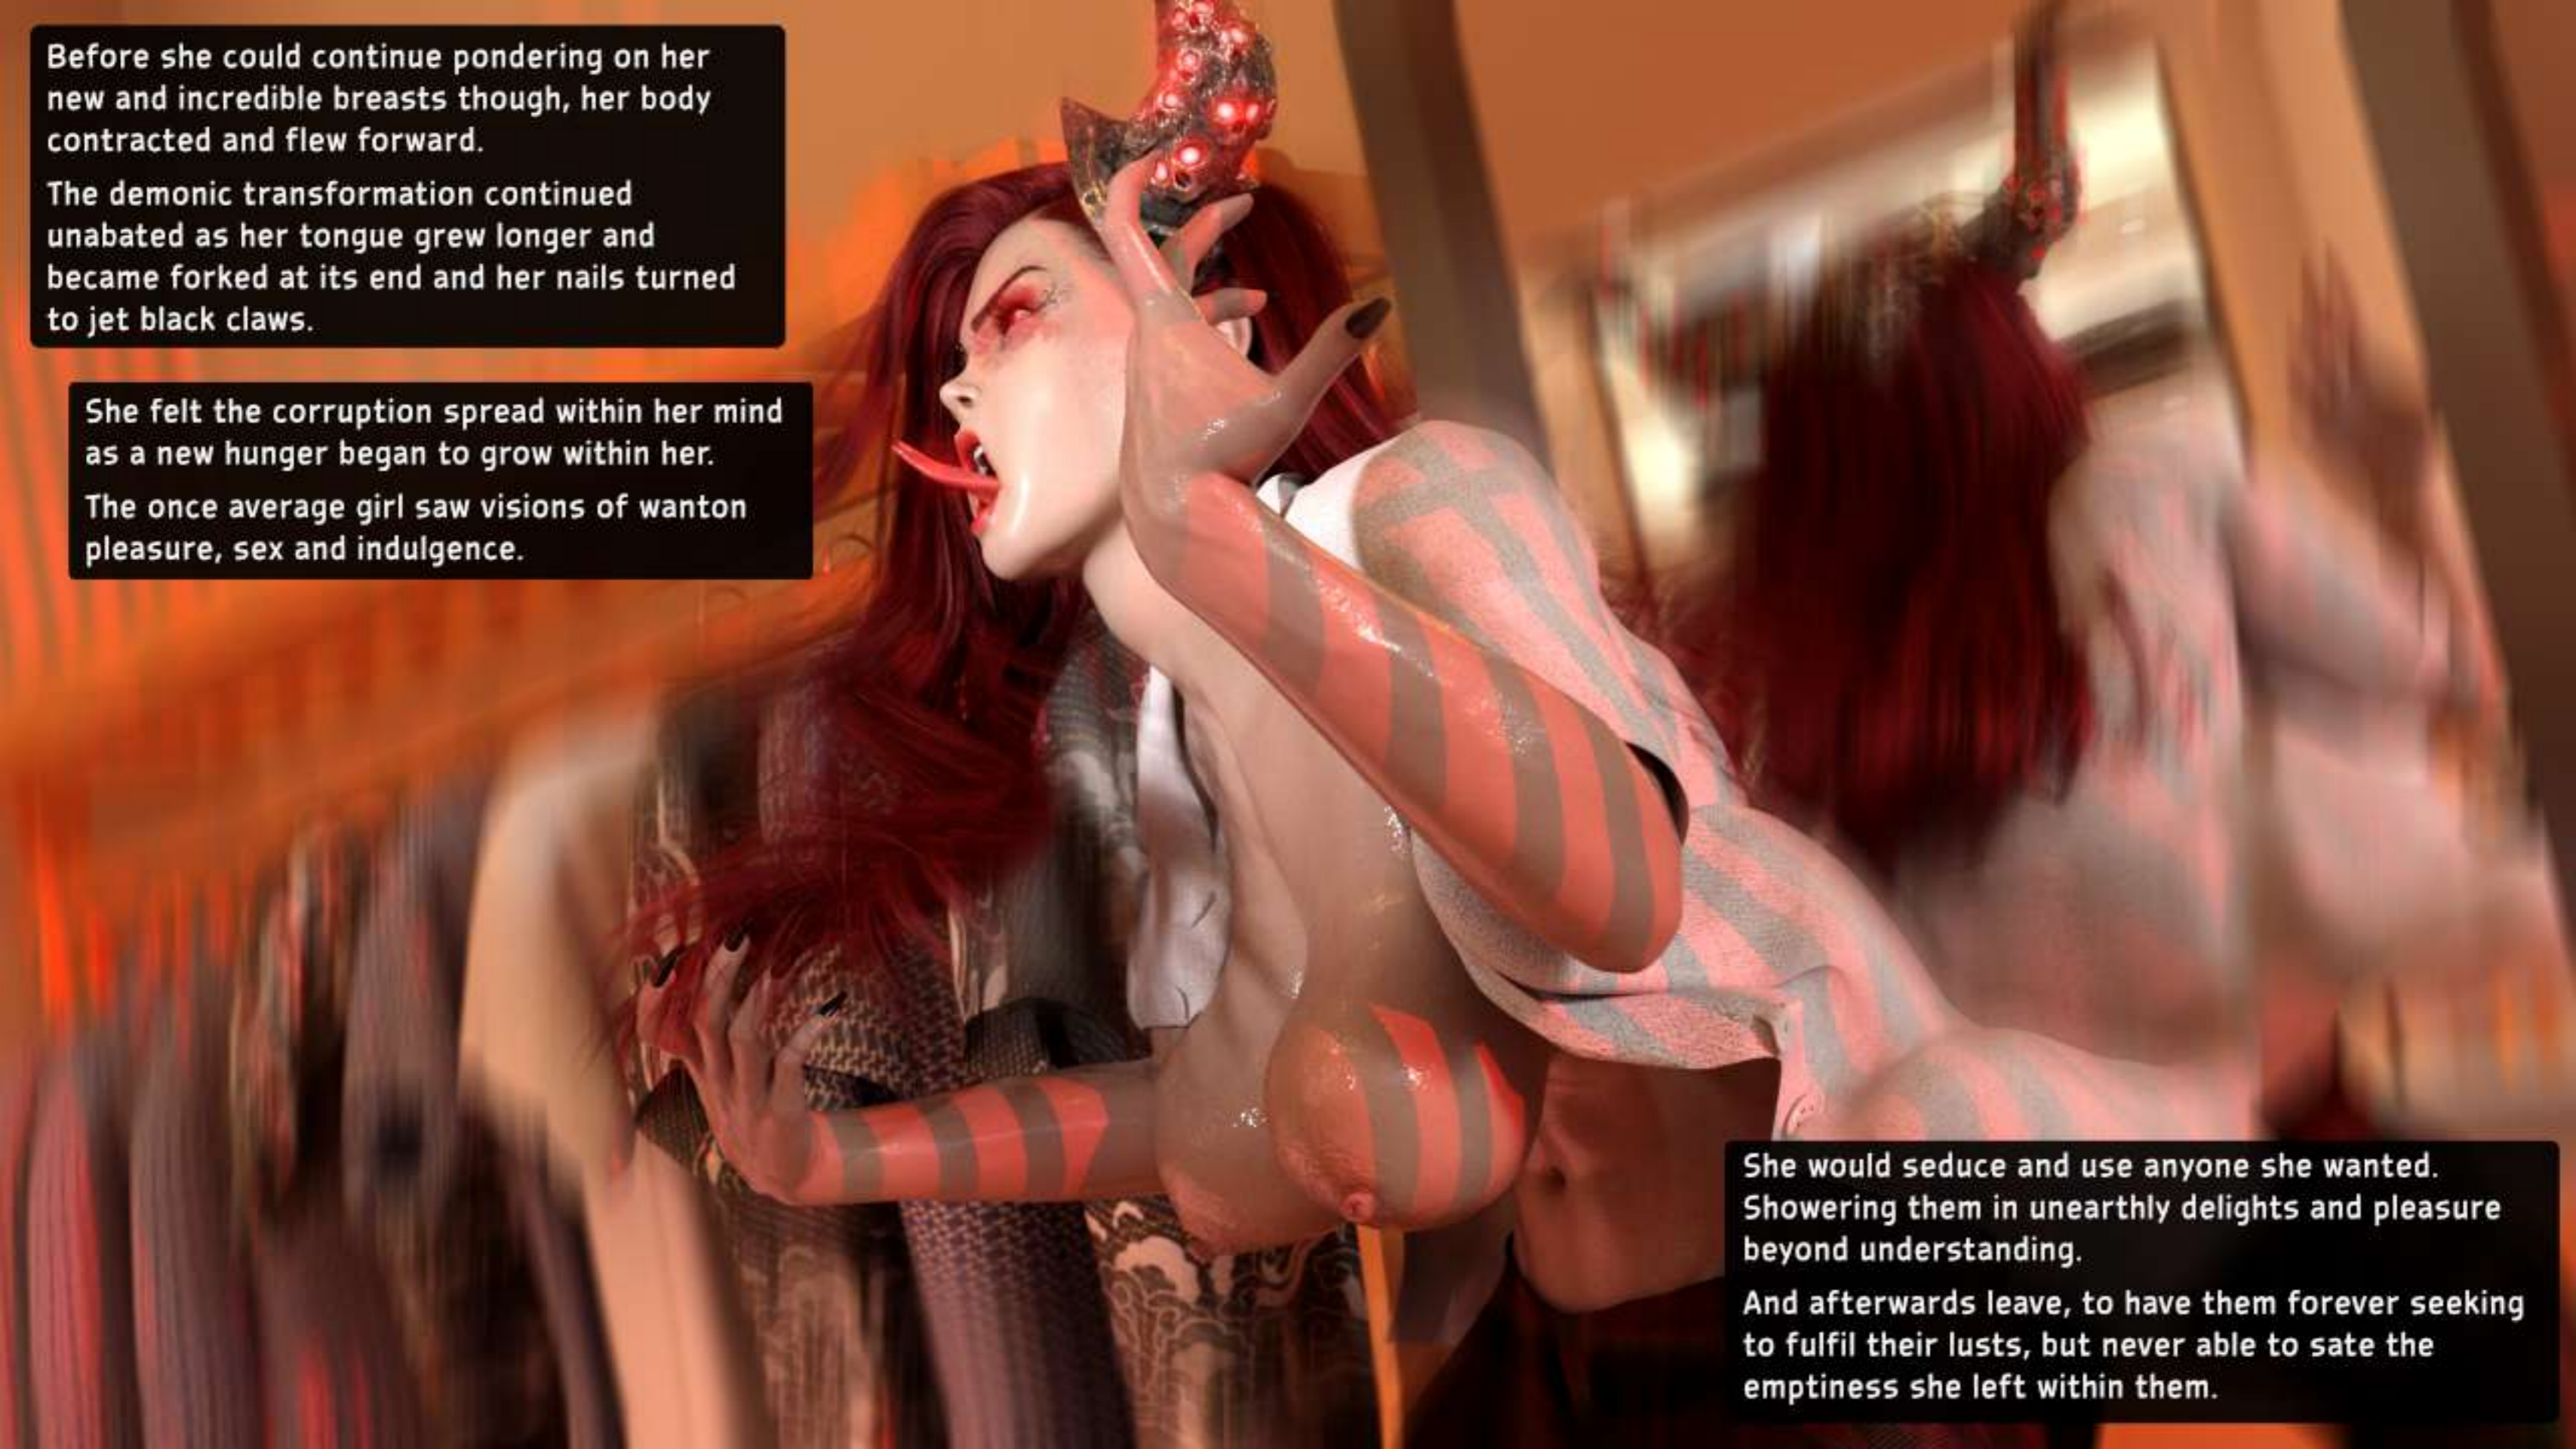

The demonic transformation continued unabated as her tongue grew longer and became forked at its end and her nails turned to jet black claws.

She felt the corruption spread within her mind as a new hunger began to grow within her.

The once average girl saw visions of wanton pleasure, sex and indulgence.

She would seduce and use anyone she wanted. Showering them in unearthly delights and pleasure beyond understanding.

And afterwards leave, to have them forever seeking to fulfil their lusts, but never able to sate the emptiness she left within them.

She would feed off these people like a parasite. Sucking them dry until they were just husks of the people they once were.

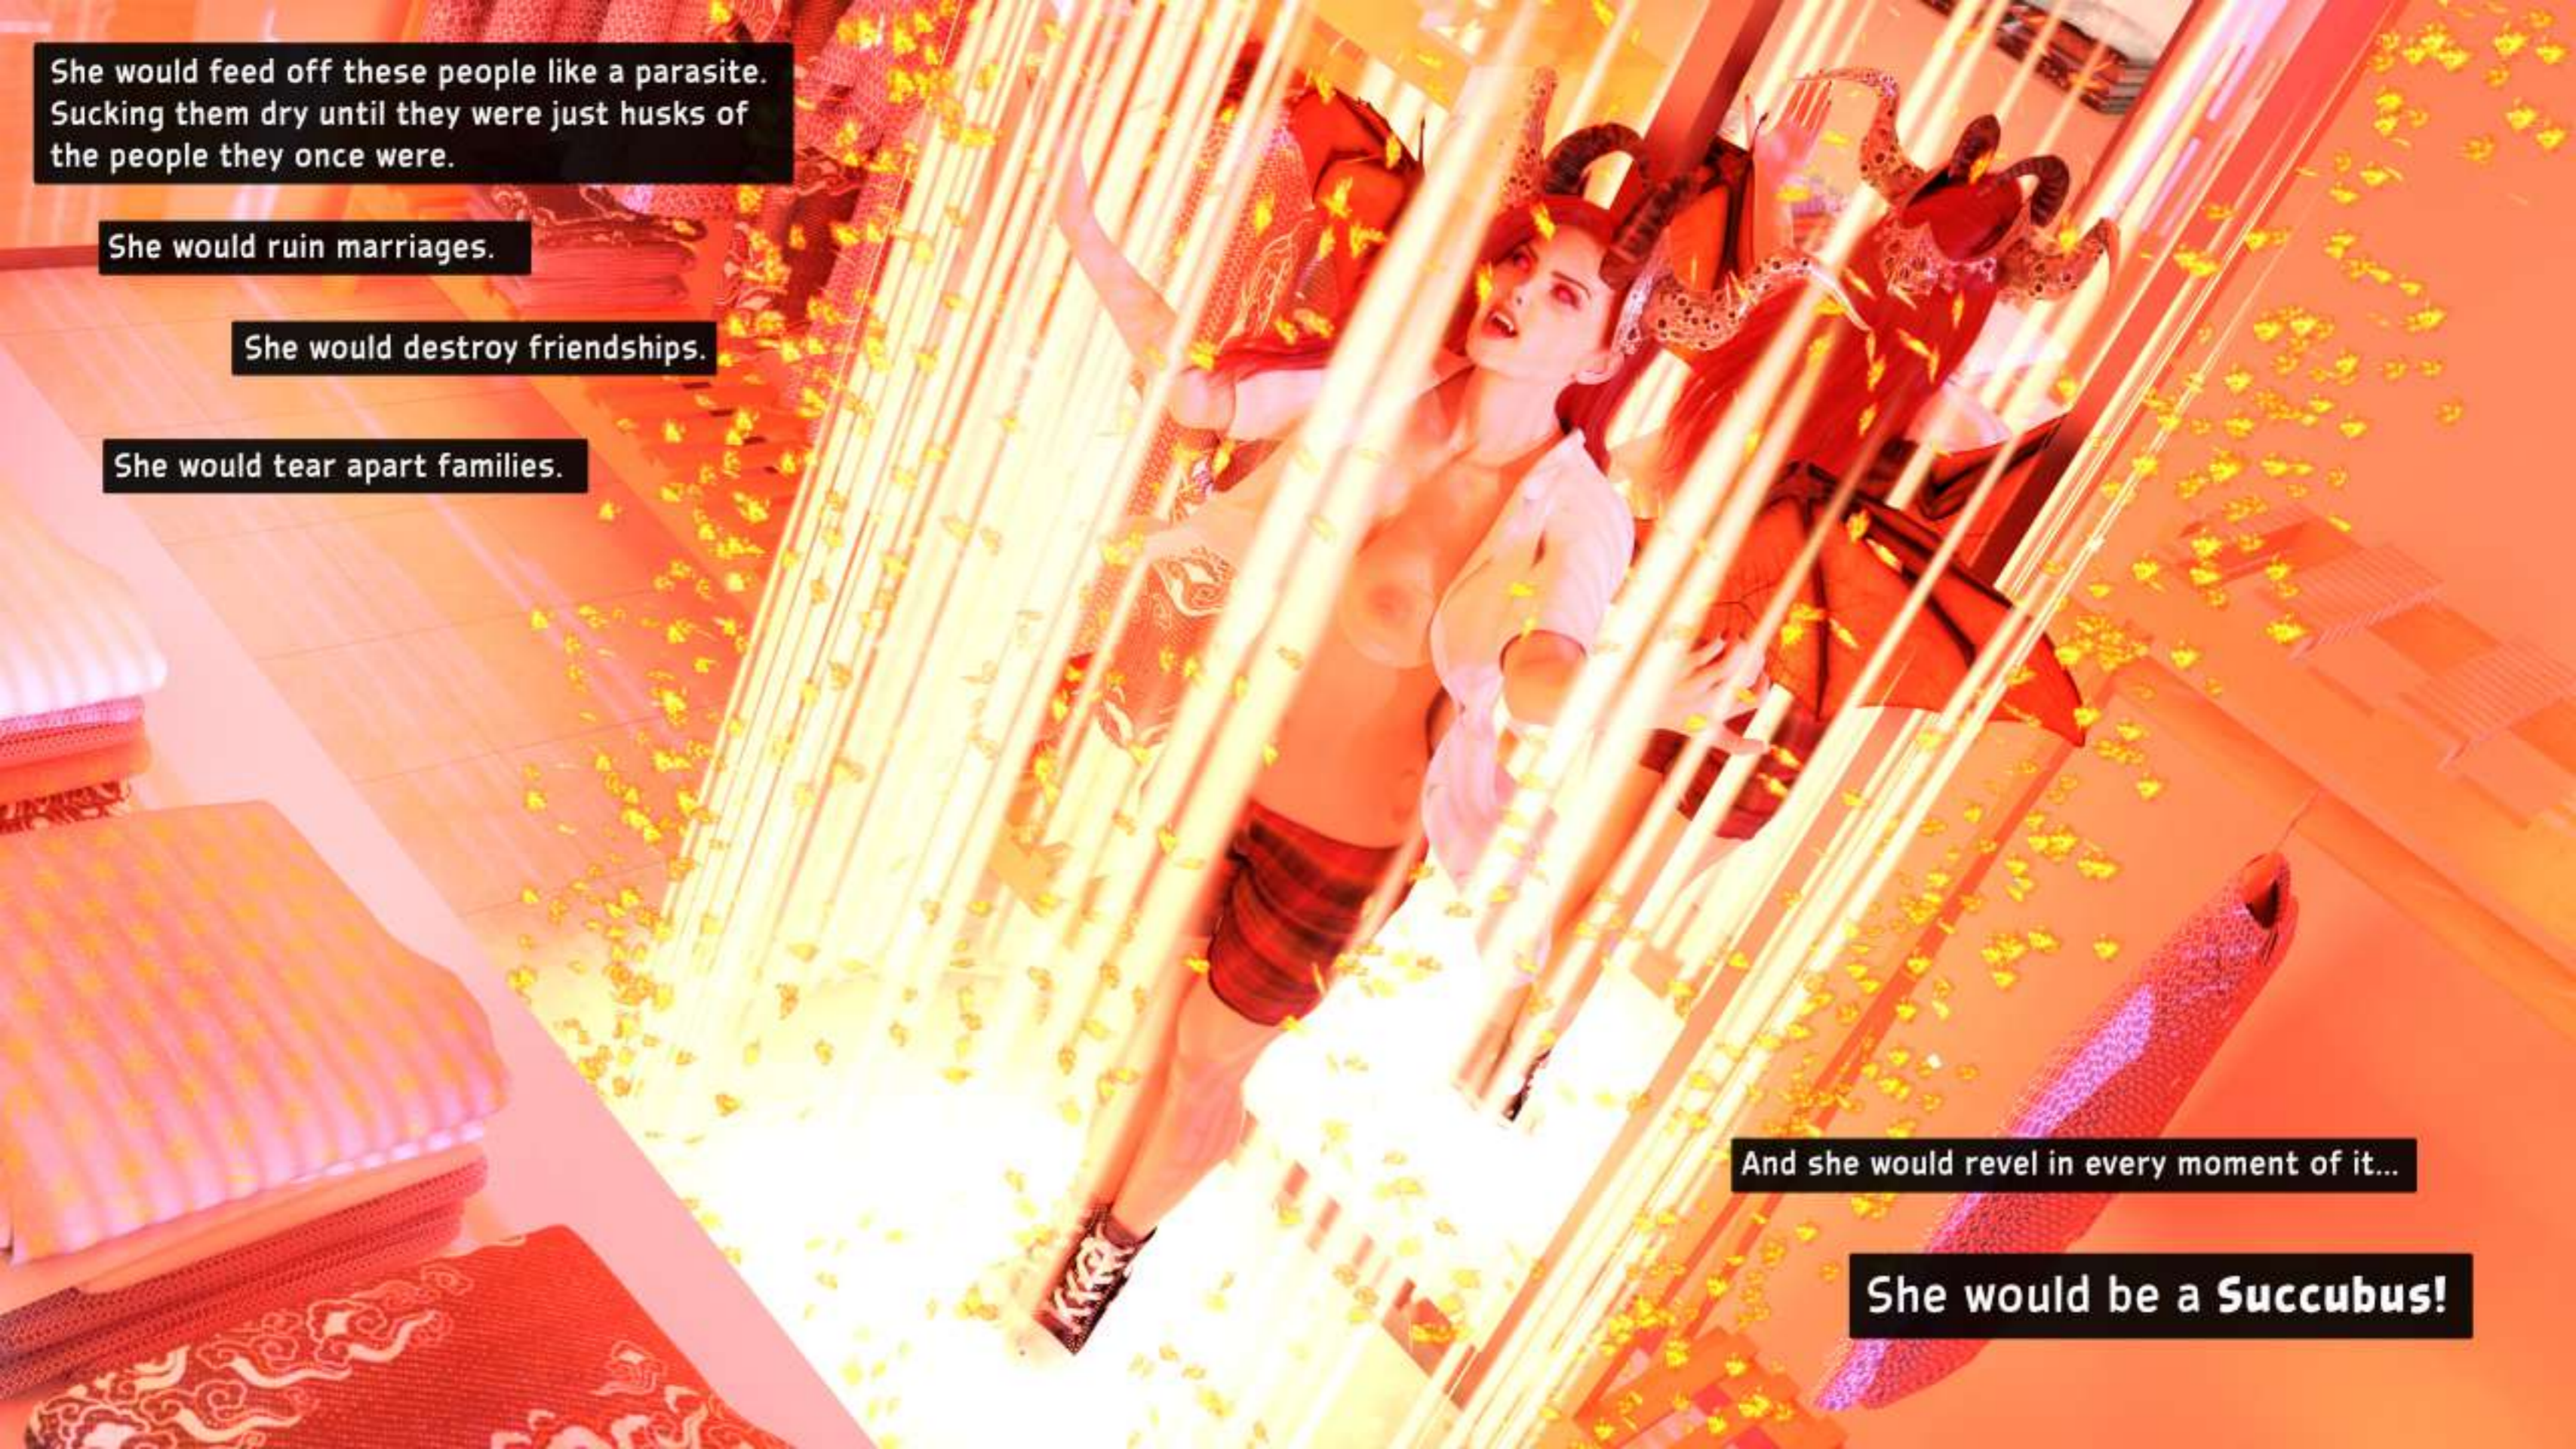

She would ruin marriages.

She would destroy friendships.

She would tear apart families.

And she would revel in every moment of it...

She would be a Succubus!

And as quickly as it had began, the demonic event ended... and something new awoke.

Mmm/Mmm. That felt incredible!
After all that work, I think...
I'm hungry...

Hmmm, I can't go out looking like this though. These clothes are torn, soaked through and so boring...

There we go! Much better!

Time to go
Trick or treating
