After humanity's victory in war against the Sirens, Azur Lane is no longer needed. As time passed, humans realized that Azur Lane is much stronger than them... and poses a threat to humanity... -> The government has ordered all ships to return to port, and those who resist will be taken by force

A war between humans and Azur Lane is next huh? Luckily, we've got plans ready...

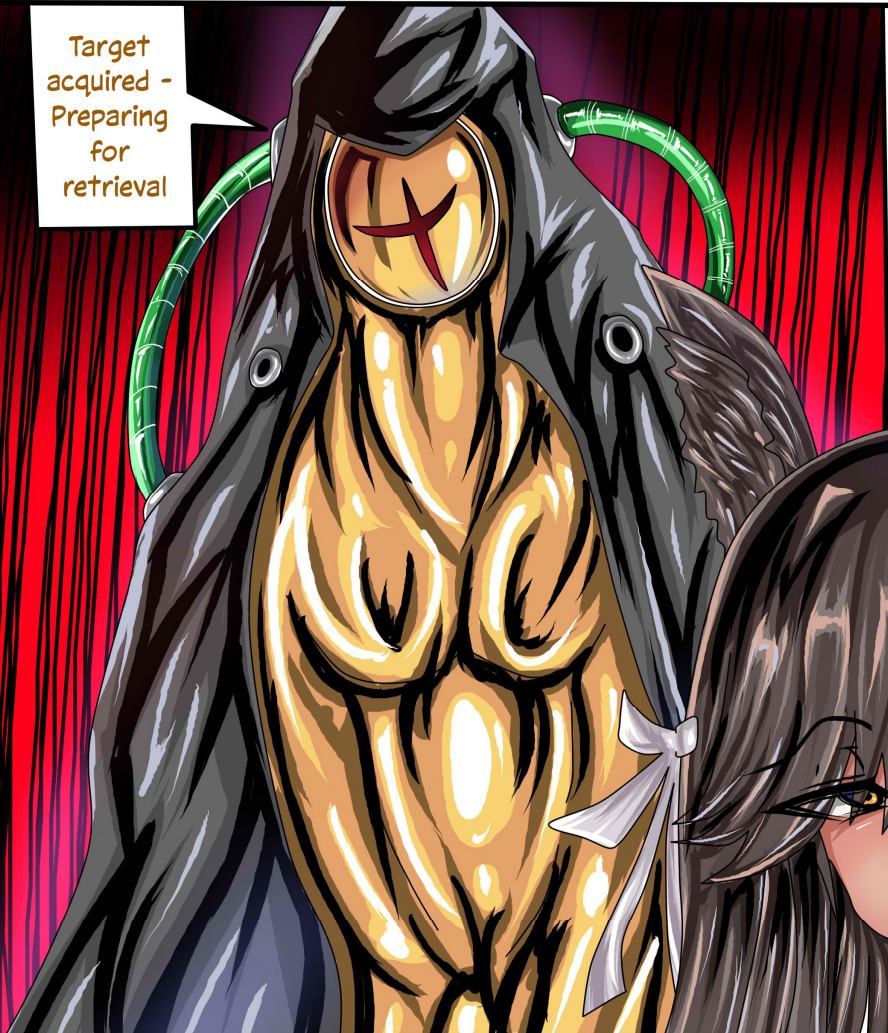

It's time to promote the anti-human government plan

As expected ... we should become independent

The law humans passed to prevent us from joining normal society and working

Target acquired - Preparing for retrieval

What are you? Siren?

The special weapons made by the Sirens were very effective, and quite successful as weapons against Azur Lane.

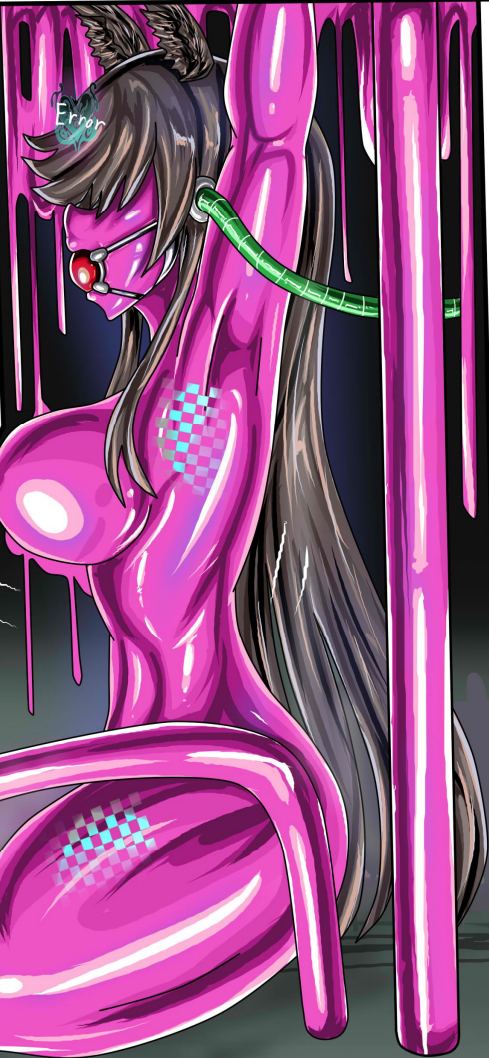

Anti-government Azur Lane retrieval plan - 7 days later

The nano-corrosive coating can block the host's consciousness

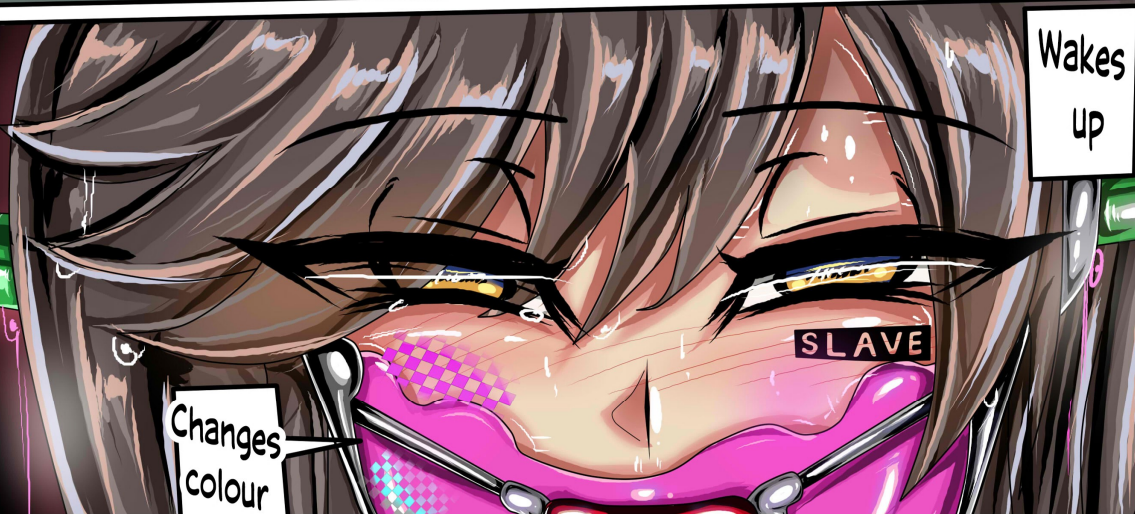

I've spent this entire week just watching her get modified, it's driving me crazy. When can I use her?

The 17th layer of nano-corrosive coating has been applied. Let's continue modifying Atago for our navy's personal use

The facial coating became transparent. We can see the expression changes, a lot more lewd now. Haha
