

Outercourse

There's an exciting new trend among mothers and sons called outercourse.

Outercourse is the act of grinding and cumming to completion without ever entering the body. Sue, a married mother of three, recently raved about this new practice.

"A friend of mine introduced me to the idea, because it was something she heard about and was trying with her son. When my son Brandon and I tried it the first time it was absolutely magical. We can actually be sexual and have orgasms together, without technically cheating on my husband."

Some mothers describe outercourse as, fucking without penetration. Not to be confused with dry humping, where both parties leave their clothes on, outercourse requires only one item of clothing to be left on, typically a mother's panties. With only one thin layer of fabric remaining, a mom-son couple can then feel their genitals pressed together in wonderful detail. It enables a mother to experience the true size and hardness of her son's erection. As they grind in a hot outer fuck, it allows a mom's clitoris and vulva to be highly stimulated, resulting in powerful orgasm.

Stacy, a married mom with two children recently described her experience with outercourse.

"With just the thin layer of silk from my panties between us, I can feel every incredible detail of my son Charlie's hard penis. I never imagine it got that hard, and I've never cum so hard in my life grinding against that thing, and we're not fucking, so I don't feel a drop of guilt."

Boys too are having their minds blown by the experience of outercourse. This is because they're able to grind their boners and experience the true sensation of being against a mother's vagina.

Riley, an 18-year-old from Texas, recently shared why he enjoys this new method of sexual contact.

"I never knew that a woman's vagina puts off that much heat, until I started doing outercourse with my mom. When we do it, it's like my boner is a hotdog, and that outer split of her vagina is like a really warm hotdog bun, and just rubs against me and feels so good."

Just as with the moms, the boys can experience tremendous orgasm through vigorous genital grinding.

The reason outcourse is gaining in popularity among moms across American, is because it allows them the thrill of sexual pleasure with their sons, without breaking their marital vows. This peace of mind, allows a mother and her boy to experience endless hours of pleasure, as they explore the different speeds and techniques of genital grinding that makes outercourse a very addictive experience.
