

Ashley ran naked through the darkness, scanning to see any sign of the beast that chased her. From the moment the prison doors swung open, her and the other prisoners had scattered to the winds. She didn't know what was chasing her, or where she was. All she knew was that outrunning the beast was her only chance to survive.

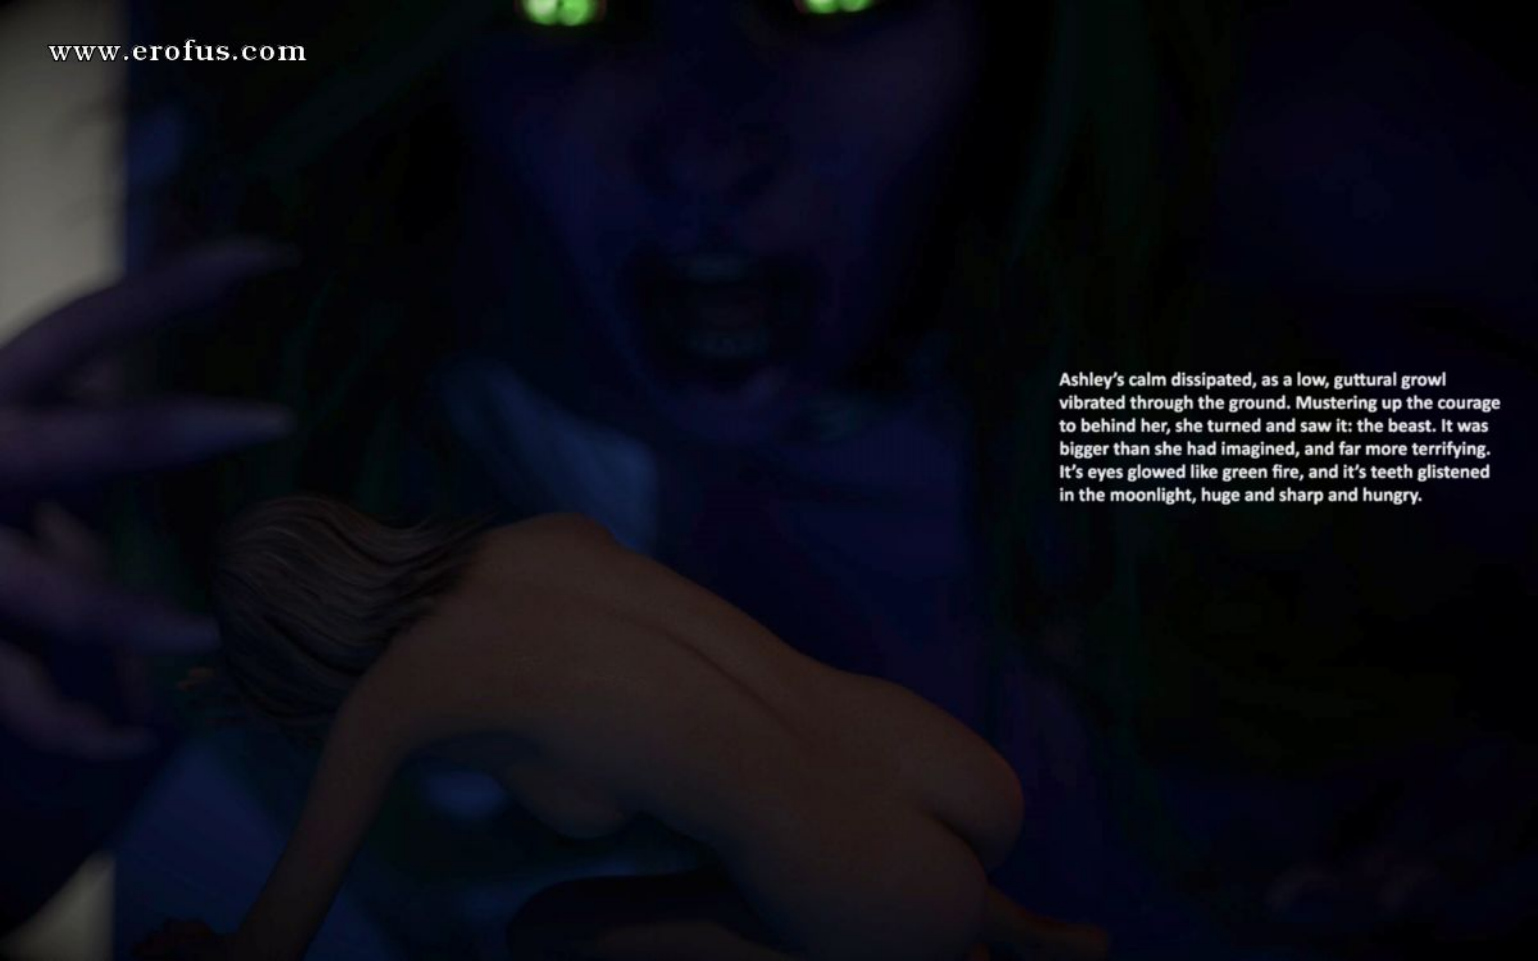

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

She ran for minutes through the vast expanse, with no sign of the others, or the beast. Finally, Ashley reached a dead end. The huge wall before her ran upward as far as she could see. Exhausted, and with nowhere else to go, she sat against the wall and cowered in fear. At least she seemed to be alone for now.

www.erofus.com

Ashley's calm dissipated, as a low, guttural growl vibrated through the ground. Mustering up the courage to behind her, she turned and saw it: the beast. It was bigger than she had imagined, and far more terrifying. It's eyes glowed like green fire, and it's teeth glistened in the moonlight, huge and sharp and hungry.

www.erofus.com

The beast's maw opened ever-wider and ever-closer, until soon it was all that Ashley could see before her. It's tongue coiled around her waist and squeezed her like a boa constrictor. Ashley was powerless before its pull. Soon the jaws closed behind her. As the tongue finally let go, she was still for a moment, alone save the warmth and wetness of the beast's mouth. Ashley shivered in fear as the tongue once again toyed with her, rubbing teasingly against her sides. A vibration reverberated through the Beast's body, and through Ashley, one that was almost like a purr.

Ashley felt herself sliding to the back of the beast's mouth. Finally, the beast swallowed, and powerful muscles pulled back on her feet. Ashley let out one last scream before she was dragged down into the abyss, towards the churning acids that would be her final destination.

Pet
Story and art by RedfiredOg
www.erofus.com

Kathi had been driving on the owner's property for what felt like hours, and she still hadn't seen anything resembling a house. Mile after mile, minute after minute, the road winded through the same endless forest. Had she taken a wrong turn somewhere? Could this whole forest really all be the owner's property?

Kathi's friend was supposed to meet her at the house. She worried that her friend might get lost, but Kathi had lost her cell reception hours ago. Google Maps was useless, the Bluetooth connection was malfunctioning, and her radio couldn't pick up anything except static and garbled AM radio. She hadn't planned on driving this long; she wasn't even sure if she had enough gas to get back at this point. Still, given what she was promised, she hoped this gig would be worth the extra difficulty.

www.erofus.com

Several days earlier, Kathi had taken an online job as a pet sitter. It was a type of gig she'd taken before, although this particular offer was anything but ordinary. The applicant contacted her directly, through a career networking site. Why the woman contacted her in particular, Kathi didn't know.. She knew little about the woman, who didn't even mention what kind of pet she had. The only things Kathi could claim to know about her was that she was a woman, and that she was wealthy. She knew the former because her username was Miss A., and because of the voice message that she later left on Kathi's answering machine. She knew the latter because the woman had given her an absurdly generous deposit within minutes of Kathi accepting the job.

The deposit had been far more than she would have expected for such a job, and the woman promised to give her even more once the job was over. Even though it was just the deposit, it was far more than any reasonable person would have asked for a simple pet-sitting job. Kathi was also told that she was free to invite a friend to stay over, and that they were free to eat as much food as they could. All this for a job that consisted of sleeping over in a stranger's house and watching a pet. However much of a pain it was getting out here, it was worth it, assuming she could find the damn place.

www.erofus.com

Kathi drove down the winding forest road, weaving her way through the rain and fog. Nothing but the road, the night, and a forest of fir trees that stretched on for miles. Without anything to occupy her mind, she second-guessed herself. Is this the right place? Why does this job seem so weird? Why didn't she know the owner's name, or anything else about her, for that matter? And why didn't she ever mention what kind of pet I'm supposed to take care of?

www.erofus.com

Finally, the road neared its end. Kathi had been driving so long through the forest, it took her some time to realize what was right in front of her, and even then she couldn't believe it. Some kind of huge gate? It was hundreds of feet tall, and it was slowly opening up before her, beckoning her in.

www.erofus.com

She drove slowly through the massive gates, awed by their sheer size. What was this place? She wondered, before promptly slammed on her brakes.The ground in front of her car was paved, but uneven. It was broken up into large tiles, each a different height, like gigantic cobblestones. She'd never seen anything like it before. How was someone supposed to drive on such a surface?

www.erofus.com

Kathi searched around. There was no sign of her friend. That meant that Kathi was on her own, at least for now. She stepped out of her car to search the area, into the pounding rain. Before she had taken more than a few steps, a horrible screeching sound shot through her ears. The enormous gate was closing behind her, locking her and her car inside. She raced back towards her car, but before she could get in she realized it was too late; the gate was closing quickly. Then, with one final crash, it slammed to a close.

www.erofus.com

Kathi could have squeezed through the gaps in the gate, but her car certainly couldn't, and there was no way she could walk all the way back home. Instead, Kathi looked ahead and surveyed the place where she would be spending the next few days.

www.erofus.com

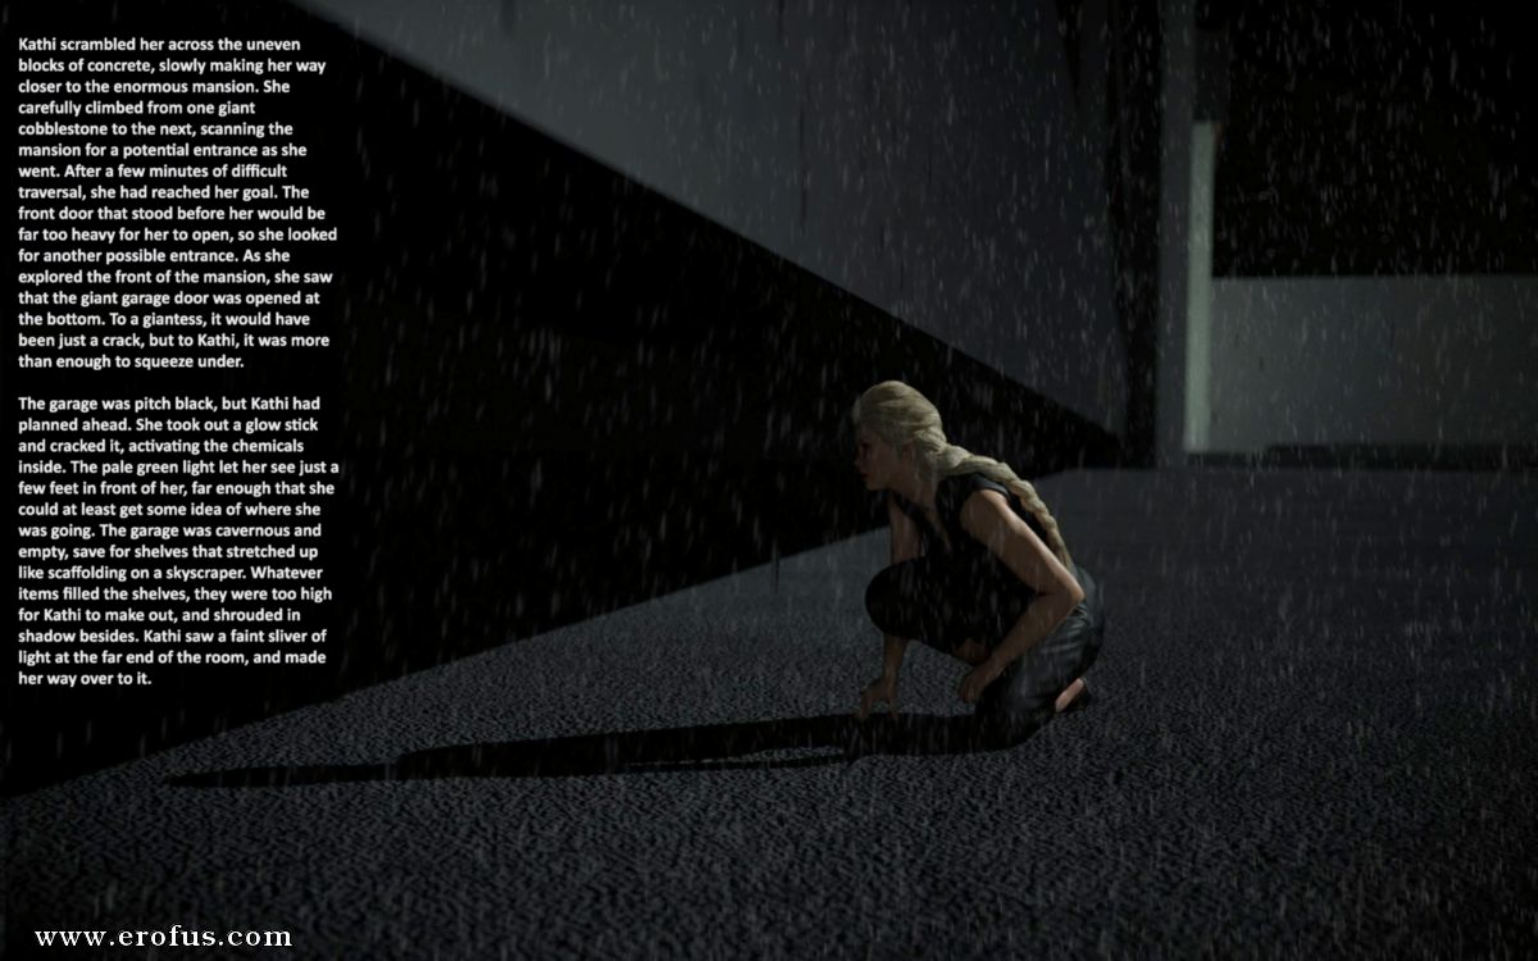

It was bigger than any place she had ever seen. Not only that, it was bigger than any place she thought could have existed. It looked like a modern, upscale house, except everything was hundreds of times larger than it should have been. From what she could of the front room through the windows, the mansion seemed to be only two stories, and yet the top floor reached as high as a skyscraper. The owner, Kathi realized, wasn't just a wealthy woman. She was a giantess. A Jotun.

Kathi had heard about the Jotun, though she knew little. An all-female race of giantesses, they were beings that preferred to operate outside the view of society. As Kathi had heard, even apart from their immense size they were different than normal humans. There were stories about the Jotun, stories Kathi had told herself were nothing more than tales meant to scare children. They no longer seemed so absurd, however, considering the sheer size of her host's lodgings. What kind of pet, Kathi wondered, could such a being have? Something told her that it wasn't a common housecat.

Kathi stared at the impossible mansion that loomed over her. The place was imposing, monolithic, and she had little idea what awaited her inside. There could be danger in the mansion, but there could also danger in leaving. Kathi had no way out save to flee on foot, in the cold and rain. She had no idea what could await her in those woods. And "Miss A.," this apparent giantess, would not be happy if Kathi abandoned her duties. Would it truly be wise to displease a being who could be capable of knocking down a city block?

After a moment of thought, Kathi had made up her mind: she was going through with the job. A wolf's howl coming from the woods removed any doubt. Kathi had no desire to spend any longer standing outside in the darkness and the rain. She grabbed a few things and locked up her car, making sure to grab a glow stick from the back seat. If the house was truly built for a giantess, she wouldn't be able to reach any light switches. She just hoped that there was a way inside, one that didn't involve trying to push open a 10,000-pound door.

Kathi scrambled her across the uneven blocks of concrete, slowly making her way closer to the enormous mansion. She carefully climbed from one giant cobblestone to the next, scanning the mansion for a potential entrance as she went. After a few minutes of difficult traversal, she had reached her goal. The front door that stood before her would be far too heavy for her to open, so she looked for another possible entrance. As she explored the front of the mansion, she saw that the giant garage door was opened at the bottom. To a giantess, it would have been just a crack, but to Kathi, it was more than enough to squeeze under.

The garage was pitch black, but Kathi had planned ahead. She took out a glow stick and cracked it, activating the chemicals inside. The pale green light let her see just a few feet in front of her, far enough that she could at least get some idea of where she was going. The garage was cavernous and empty, save for shelves that stretched up like scaffolding on a skyscraper. Whatever items filled the shelves, they were too high for Kathi to make out, and shrouded in shadow besides. Kathi saw a faint sliver of light at the far end of the room, and made her way over to it.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

As Kathi approached the sliver of light she realized it was a doorway, one that stretched hundreds of feet into the air. The door would have been far too heavy for Kathi to push open, but thankfully it was already opened just wide enough for Kathi to squeeze through. She rounded the corner and found herself in an even more expansive room than before. It was the front room, the same one she had seen from outside, although the sheer size of it was far more apparent now. The hallway was bigger than an aircraft hanger, and stretched on for what seemed like forever.

"Hello?" Kathi called out into the darkness. "Hello? Is anyone there?"

There was no response. Not even an echo replied to her; as cavernous as the place was, it was like the mansion swallowed her voice, making her feel even smaller than she already did. The place was strangely quiet, save for the sound of her own footsteps. She continued trepidatiously through the vast hall, until a faint noise made her jolt back. It sounded almost like scuttling, the sound of a mouse's clawed feet tap-tap-tapping on the hardwood floors... only this was something much larger. Kathi listened and looked for the source of the noise, but she was met with more silence, and the faint light of her glowstick only illuminated so far. Beyond that, everything was bathed in inky black shadow.

www.erofus.com

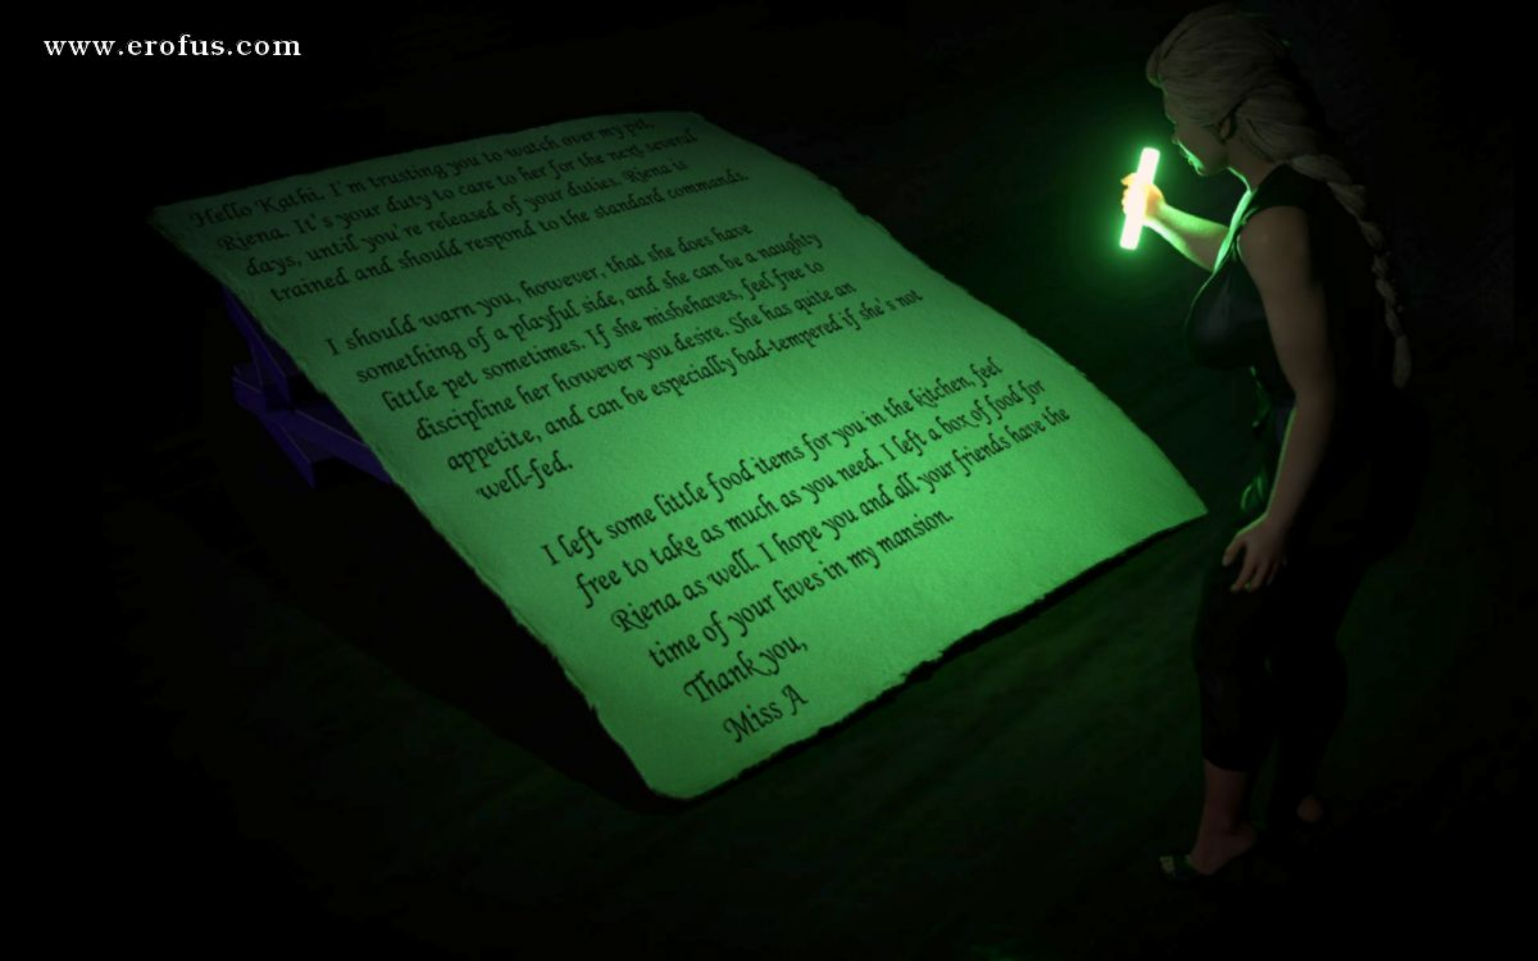

www.erofus.com

Kathi made her way forward, careful to make sure nothing was following her. She was unsure of where to go, until she saw something in the distance. It looked like a table at first, wide and short and flat, but as she got closer she realized what it was: a note.

It was far larger than any normal piece of paper, but so was everything else in this place. It was written by Miss A. herself, by a hand far larger than any human's.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

The letter answered few of Kathi's questions. She had no idea what kind of creature the pet was, or where she would find it. Or perhaps the pet would find her?

Wandering in the darkness, Kathi made her way into another cavernous room. Judging by the towering counters, this one seemed like it may have been some kind of kitchen. It was strange, but aside from the sheer size it looked much like any modern kitchen. There was even a colossal fridge, with doors so big and heavy that Kathi could never hope to open them. She saw no sign of any food that was meant for her, or anything that was remotely her size. There was something else in the kitchen, however, something that drew Kathi's interest.

It looked like a simple cardboard box, but like everything else in this place it was too large by far, the size of a small living room, and it had been overturned. "Food," the box was simply labeled, in the same handwriting as the note. What kind of food? Kathi asked herself. As she hesitantly approached the box, she saw nothing inside, save for shadows. A faint odor, musky and unpleasant, clung to the inside of the box.

An unexpected noise curdled Kathi's blood. Across the hall, distant footsteps. To Kathi, they sounded like they could be human; someone else, she suspected, might be with her in the mansion. Kathi wanted to believe it was her friend, but her gut said otherwise.

Kathi suddenly felt watched. She wondered if it was foolish to use a glow stick, which made her presence obvious and dulled her eyes to the shadows. What if the stranger wasn't friendly? Kathi had nothing to defend herself with, and the hall was conspicuously bare of anything she might use to improvise a weapon. She was alone and unarmed, in a place that wasn't meant for her kind, with a strange beast lurking about. She was hesitant to explore further, and yet she was as vulnerable here as she would be anywhere else. Standing still, Kathi decided, wouldn't make her any safer, and she nervously trodded ahead.

www.erofus.com

There were more skitterings in the shadows. Strange noises from behind her propelled Kathi forward, though she was unsure of her destination. A shock ran down her spine. There was something odd about this place, a darkness that her little green light could scarcely penetrate. The air became warmer, more humid, and once again Kathi felt like some unseen presence was watching her.

The dread turned to white-hot panic, when she felt something brush against her back. By the time she turned around, there was nothing behind her, save the dark expanse of the room. Then she looked ahead, and knew at last that she was truly not alone. Two slits of light, each as bright and green as her glowstick, stared back at her.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

The glowing slits in front of Kathi opened slowly, becoming two gleaming orbs. Her primal brain knew what they were: a predator's eyes, huge and hungry. The gaze of a predator is a fear more ancient than any other. The huge penetrated her, making Kathi freeze with fear.

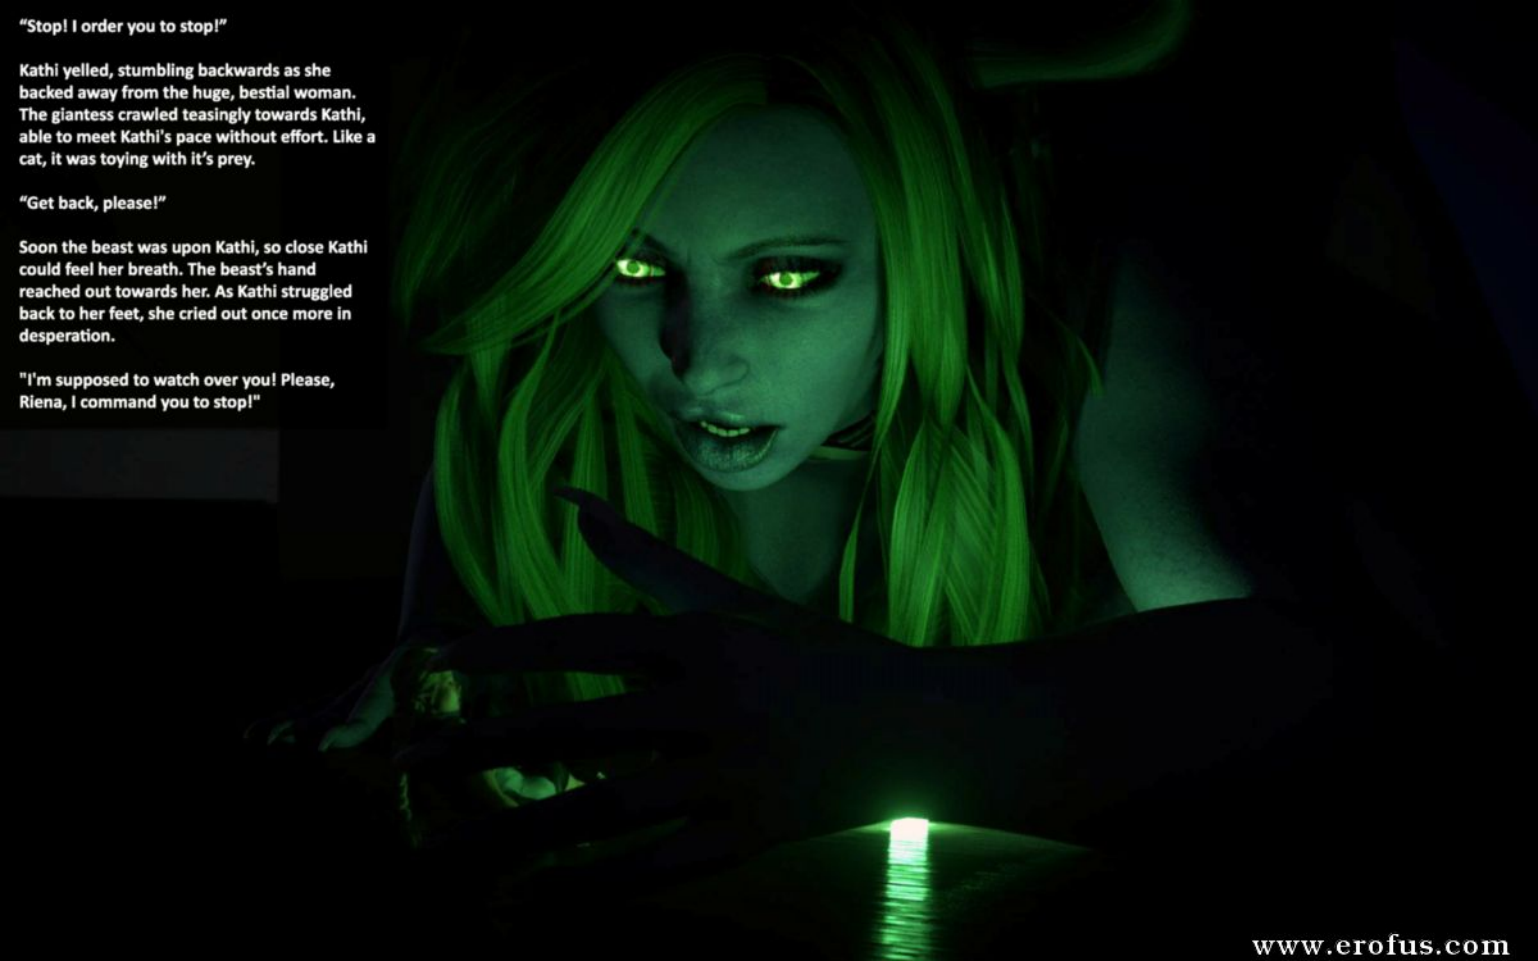

For a minute, it simply stared down at her, a curious expression on its face. Kathi froze, and stared back up at the beast in fear and awe. This beast was not a Jotun, nor was she anything Kathi had ever heard of. It was a creature from some other realm, humanoid and feminine, yet utterly unlike anything Kathi had seen before. Her skin was a deep violet, her hair a pale green. She had a devil's tail, one that flitted impatiently through the air, and the horns to match. Her face, however, was undeniably human. That enormous face, which loomed above her, drew closer to the ground, and her paw-like hands stretched forward towards Kathi.
www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

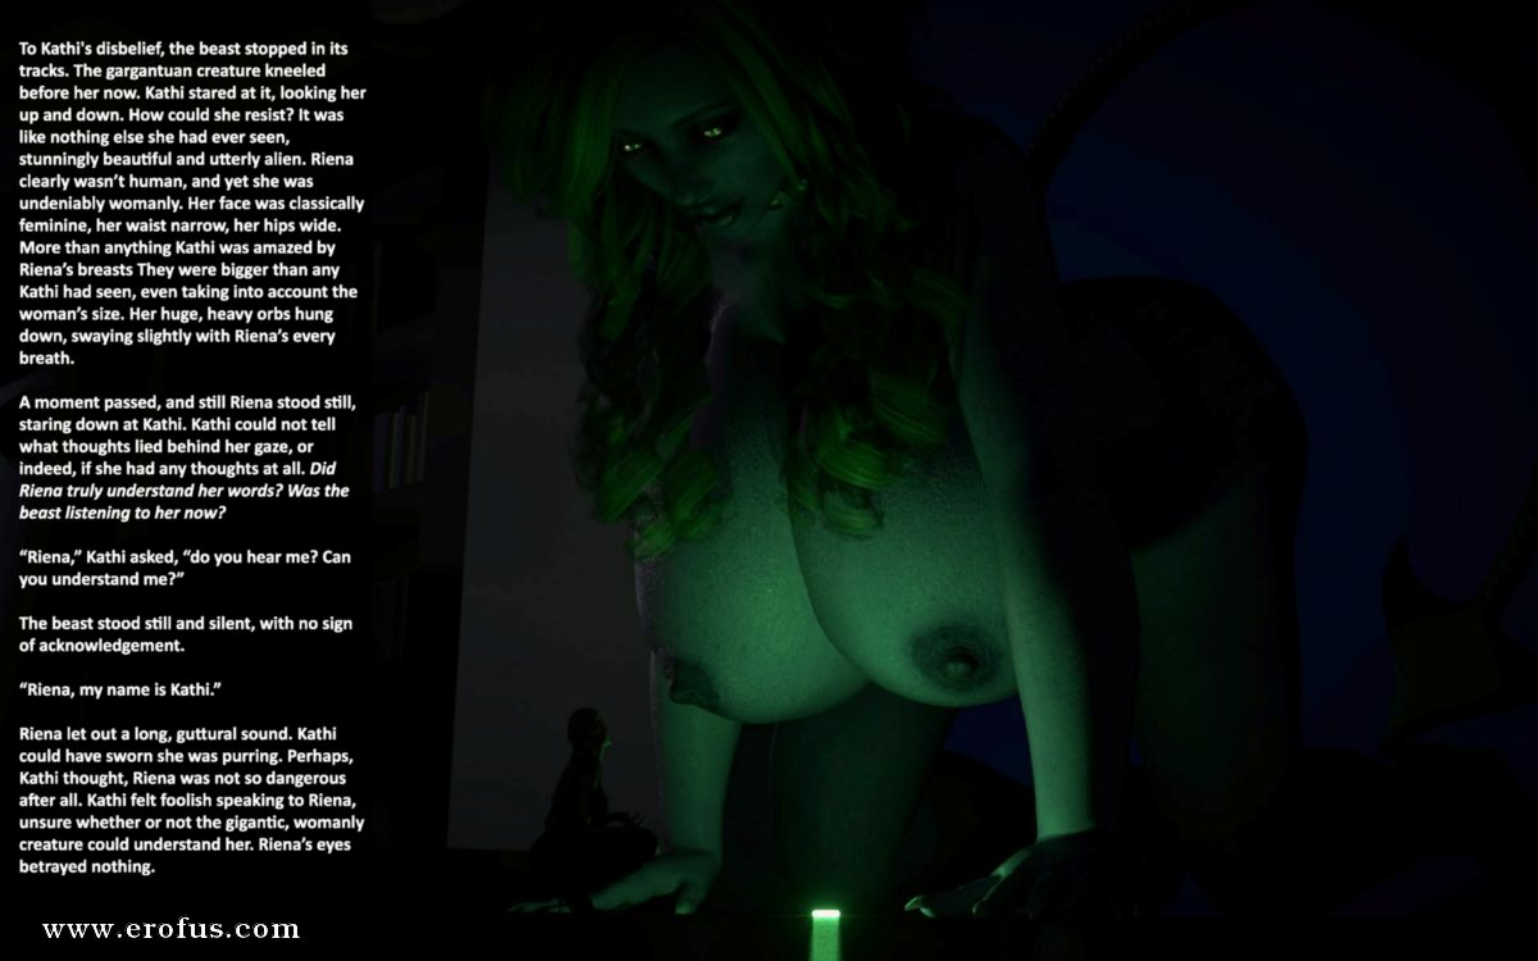

Kathi twisted back, clumsily falling onto her side as she tried to escape. The beast crawled towards her, planting one hand on the floor, then the other, each step greatly closing the distance between her and Kathi. "Please, don't come any closer! Stop! Get away!"

Kathi's mind was blank. She tried to think back to the note, though in the haze of fear she struggled to recall a single word. Had there been anything in the letter that could help her control this beast? Nothing came to mind, not even the beast's name.

www.erofus.com

To Kathi's disbelief, the beast stopped in its tracks. The gargantuan creature kneeled before her now. Kathi stared at it, looking her up and down. How could she resist? It was like nothing else she had ever seen, stunningly beautiful and utterly alien. Riena clearly wasn't human, and yet she was undeniably womanly. Her face was classically feminine, her waist narrow, her hips wide. More than anything Kathi was amazed by Riena's breasts They were bigger than any Kathi had seen, even taking into account the woman's size. Her huge, heavy orbs hung down, swaying slightly with Riena's every breath.

A moment passed, and still Riena stood still, staring down at Kathi. Kathi could not tell what thoughts lied behind her gaze, or indeed, if she had any thoughts at all. Did Riena truly understand her words? Was the beast listening to her now?

"Riena," Kathi asked, "do you hear me? Can you understand me?"

The beast stood still and silent, with no sign of acknowledgement.

"Riena, my name is Kathi."

Riena let out a long, guttural sound. Kathi could have sworn she was purring. Perhaps, Kathi thought, Riena was not so dangerous after all. Kathi felt foolish speaking to Riena, unsure whether or not the gigantic, womanly creature could understand her. Riena's eyes betrayed nothing.

www.erofus.com

"I'm here to take care of you, Riena. Your... your owner, she put me in charge of you. Do you follow commands?"

Riena did not respond.

"Okay, let me think..."

Kathi tried to think of something, anything she could command Riena to do, to test if she truly followed orders.

"Riena," Kathi said, "I command you to bow!"

Without the slightest hesitation, Riena promptly bowed down before Kathi, assuming a submissive posture.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

"Okay," Kathi said, "raise your head."

After a moment, Riena slowly lifted her enormous head up to Kathi, staring down at the tiny blond woman with her glowing green eyes. In spite of her earlier behavior, she seemed friendly now, even obedient. The giantess was following Kathi's orders, doing exactly as Kathi told her to. It was strange for Kathi, to have control over such a huge and powerful creature. Her mind raced with different potential orders for Riena, different little games she could play with the beast. Then a funny idea came to Kathi, one she was almost too embarrassed to say out loud, but she did it anyway.

"Okay," Kathi commanded, "now kiss me!"

www.erofus.com

It wasn't until right after leaving that Kathi realized what an impulsive request that was. Instead of huge lips meeting Kathi's, her tongue came down to greet Kathi. The giant woman tongue stuck her long tongue out and licked Kathi across her face. The woman's tongue was big enough to coat all of Kathi's face and chest in a layer of warm, wet saliva.

Kathi laughed as she wiped it off of herself. She should have foreseen as much. Riena seemed to be a beast as much as a woman, what did she expect? Kathi reflected on her duties to Riena, and realized she had forgotten one of the most essential.

"Okay," Kathi said, "do you want me to get you something to eat? Where's your food?"

Kathi realized the absurdity of the question immediately after asking it. This giant woman seemed more than capable of getting her own food. How could Kathi help to feed something so massive anyway? She didn't even know where to start looking. As far as she knew, whatever may have once been in that empty box was the only source of food that had been left for her.

As would turn out, though, Riena did need her help. To Kathi's surprise, the room suddenly lit up with a warm orange glow.

www.erofus.com

An iron brazier, nearly two stories tall, promptly flickered on behind Riena. How the fire started, Kathi didn't know. Had Riena willed it somehow? Kathi could now see restraints behind Riena. The giant woman turned, motioning towards the huge iron chains that were fastening her foot to the wall. Kathi did not hesitate to help her, and made her way to the giant woman's feet.

As she got closer, Kathi saw that a leather belt was tied around Riena's foot, imprisoning her to the chain. It was fastened tight around Riena's leg, and there was a locking mechanism that held it in place. The leather had a strangely soft texture that felt utterly unlike any leather Kathi had touched before. That was an oddity that she did not dwell on; what mattered to her was the lock itself. The mechanism that kept the belt attached was relatively simple, and large enough that Kathi wondered if Riena could have simply unfastened it herself.

Kathi begun feeling her way around the inside of the lock. She knew nothing about lockpicking, and yet she quickly deduced that the mechanism consisted of only a few simple parts. As she blindly groped at the mechanism, Kathi observed Riena's footwear. They were heels of some sort, though unlike any Kathi had seen before. They made Riena's feet look strange, almost hoof-like. The footwear, however, was not what dominated Kathi's attention.

Riena may have acted like a beast, but her body was uncannily similar to that of a woman. Kathi had been struck by the sheer size of her enormous chest earlier, and now she couldn't help but admire Riena's supple backside. It was perfectly formed, full and round. Then Riena spread her legs, putting her womanhood on full display. Like an animal, Riena seemed utterly unaware of her nudity, or the effect it could have on others. Kathi was far from immune to such effects, but she felt improprietous staring at the woman. She turned away, but not before taking one last look.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

"There!"

The mechanism finally came undone, and Riena lumbered up onto all fours. She turned and looked back towards Kathi, and for a moment Kathi feared that she might be Riena's next meal.

To her relief, though, Riena turned back around, and instead turned towards another food source. There was a huge food bowl on the floor, like a dog's dish in every way aside from its size. Riena dug into it, this food bowl that was fit for a giant. The rim of the bowl stood higher than Kathi, and she thought better than to get too close to the dish. After all, she thought, it was unwise to get between a beast and its food, especially when the beast is so much bigger than you. Instead she stood at a safe distance behind Riena, and once again enjoyed the view. What would such a beast eat anyway? Giant kibble? Kathi mused, before her view of Riena's behind turned her mind to other matters.

www.erofus.com

Riena loomed over her food. It was no kibble. Unbeknownst to Kathi, there were two women inside of Riena's dish. Nude, bound and gagged, they struggled desperately to free themselves as Riena drew closer.

The blonde prisoner stared in horror as Riena's mouth neared her. She could see the hunger in her giant green eyes, and the size of her teeth. She knew her end was near.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

The blonde woman shook in fear as Riena's mouth widened. The gaping maw was right above her, warm saliva dripping onto her chest. She froze in terror, even as the giant's face slowly turned away from her. It gave her faint relief when she realized that the giantess was not about to devour her, but her friend.

www.erofus.com

The blonde woman watched in terror as Riena's lips closed down around her friend. Tight restrains kept her friend from squirming, even as she slid deeper into Riena's hungry jaws. Her muffled screams dissipated within Riena's cavernous mouth.

Just out of Kathi's view, Riena slurped down her human prey. The woman filled Riena's mouth almost entirely, but the giantess was accustomed to swallowing prey whole. She leaned her neck back, straightening her esophagus to more easily swallow the woman.
www.erofus.com

As the restraints around her legs finally loosened, the brunette kicked her legs in the air, but did little more than massage Riena's lips. The giant woman's mouth was cramped, wet and dark. Saliva covered her now, and she felt herself moving slowly downward, driven by gravity along the slippery slide that was Riena's tongue. Riena's tongue swung back and forth along the edge of her mouth. The tip of her powerful tongue pushed playfully against the woman, twisting and writhing against the contours of her body. Finally, the giantess grew impatient, and used her tongue to push the tiny woman down to the back of her mouth. Riena swallowed, and the woman was no more.
www.erofus.com

The blonde prisoner was overcome with horror when Riena turned towards her. Those bright green eyes, glowing like wildlife, stared at her. Neira's gaze was playful, but it was the playfulness of a cat; the look of a predator who felt an abiding joy at the sight of helpless prey. Riena's playful lips wrapped their way around the woman's feet, and her playful tongue helped lift the woman into her mouth.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

This girl slid more easily down Riena's mouth, which was now wet with saliva. The tiny blonde's chest, then her face, quickly disappeared between Riena's lips. Riena let the girl pop in and out of her mouth for a bit, bobbing back and forth like she was a popsicle.

Kathi hadn't heard the muffled screams that came from Riena's meal. She wasn't concerned with Riena's food, enveloped as she was with the giant woman's perfect body. Her eyes followed every contour of the giant woman's curves. Then Riena's gaze turned towards hers, and she suddenly felt embarrassment.
www.erofus.com

Riena turned around towards Kathi, the
www.erotus.com
Still on all fours, Riena reared up so that her head towered over Kathi. Her immense breast swung like pendulums. Her face was far above Kathi, and cast in shadow. Kathi could just make out was something in her mouth, a bit of food that Riena was toying with. It bobbed back and forth teasingly in Riena's mouth.

"What's that in your mouth?" Kathi asked, "Riena, bring your face down here."

Riena leaned down, but she closed her mouth at the same time. She hadn't swallowed yet, and Kathi could see something pushing against the walls of Riena's cheek from inside.

"Hey, open your mouth!"

Riena continued to play with her food. Kathi squinted, but she couldn't quite make out just what Riena was playing with in her mouth.

"Open your mouth right now!"

Riena looked down at Kathi defiantly. She swirled her prey around in her mouth for a minute, feeling the little woman squirming against her cheeks, before she finally swallowed the little woman.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

Riena opened her empty mouth, revealing little to Kathi besides her sharp teeth. Bending lower, she moved closer to Kathi, sizing up the little blonde. Kathi no longer feared Riena, but she was upset by her disobedience.

"That was very naughty of you to ignore me, Riena. Your master put me in charge of you, that means you have to do as I command. Now bow, Riena!"

Riena obeyed her command, bowing low before Kathi.

"Good girl, good girl," Kathi said to Riena. In some ways this was almost like a normal pet-sitting job, but in so many other ways, it was unlike anything she could have imagined. She looked the giantess up and down one last time, taking in the sheer size of the beautiful creature. Here was something far larger than any great beast, and it stood now before her, ready to obey her commands.

"Kiss me," Riena ordered.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

Before, Riena had responded to this command by licking Kathi's face like an animal. This time, however, she puckered her lips and kissed Kathi's face in a way that was distinctly human. Riena's upper lip made contact with Kathi's forehead, but her lower lip kissed Kathi right on her tiny mouth. It was a strange but pleasant sensation, to feel Riena's warm, soft, all-enveloping lips against her own.

The kiss ended. Kathi stepped back, and stroked Riena's cheek gently.

"So why did you actually kiss me that time? Or really, why did you lick me before? Are you warming up to me? Or are you really smarter than you're letting on?"

Kathi expected no response, but to her surprise Riena opened her mouth wide and stuck out her tongue.

"What is it, girl?" Kathi said, sticking her hand in the giant's mouth and stroking her long tongue. She felt no fear putting her arm in Riena's maw. Riena stood still, staring down at her tiny master. "Do you want to show me something?"

www.erofus.com

Then, to Kathi's surprise, Riena's tongue shot out at her. Like a frog's tongue, it grasped for Kathi. The tip twirled around Kathi's waist and pulled her back.
www.erofus.com

"Stop right now!" Kathi commanded, as Riena's powerful tongue reeled her in. Kathi thrashed around in an attempt to free herself, but found that Riena's tongue was wrapped too tightly around her waist.
www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

But Riena's mouth never closed on her. Instead, Kathi felt a strange sensation, like she was floating in the air. Kathi opened her eyes, and saw that the only thing Riena had bitten was the back of her dress. She was carrying Kathi around by her back, like a mother cat with its young.

www.erofus.com

"Oh... thanks Riena," Kathi said, feeling sorry that she had doubted her pet. "I should have known I could trust you. But where are you taking me?" Riena rounded the corner, then crawled on all fours down a hallway. She carried Kathi into another room, taking care to be gentle with her tiny caretaker.

www.erofus.com

Kathi knew Riena meant well, but she was still afraid of heights. It was over twenty feet to the ground from where Kathi hung, and she could feel herself rocking back and forth with Riena's every step.

"Put me down now."

Then Kathi heard a ripping noise. The fabric of her shirt, the only thing holding her up, was starting to tear.

Kathi looked back nervously at Riena, "Put me down, now!"

www.erofus.com

To her surprise, Kathi did fall onto hard ground. Instead, she fell onto a bed, one that was big enough for a giantess. Riena crouched over her. Standing on two legs, she looked almost human now. Her tail danced around mischievously.
www.erotus.com

Riena's tail proved more agile than Kathi could have imagined. Riena's tail made its way to Kathi. The tip of her tail caressed her back before wedging its way under her pants. Riena's tail tugged Kathi's pants down, slowly undressing her.
www.erofus.com

With impressive dexterity, the tail slipped off Kathi's pants and playfully tossed them aside.
"You know," Kathi giggled, "if you wanted to see me naked, you could have just... oh, right."
Kathi laughed again, as the tip of the giant woman's beastly tail slipped under her bra. The tail pried the back of her bra back. The tail jerked up, snapping the bra open and leaving Kathi fully topless.
www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

"I'll spare you the trouble of taking these off," Kathi joked, as she slipped her black panties slowly down her hips. She slid them slowly down, shifting her hips to the sides as she did so. Her panties fell down to her feet, and she kicked them off the side of the mesa-sized bed.

Riena shifted impatiently towards Kathi, who was now fully nude.

"I won't command you to anything right now," Kathi said, "but if you'd like to... I invite you to lick me."

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

"I've never been with a giantess before," Kathi teased. "Or a demoness... is that what you are? I thought they were just legends until tonight. I don't know what else you could be, with the horns and the tail, and the, ooh, tongue..."
www.erofus.com

Kathi found herself at a loss for words, as Riena's tongue slid between her legs. The long, glistening tongue writhed between Kathi's hips, subtly brushing against her labia. Riena teased her, grazing her tongue against Kathi's womanhood just long enough to send a shiver down her spine.

www.erofus.com

Foreplay quickly ended, as the tip of Riena's tongue forcefully parted Kathi's labia. A shudder of pleasure rocked Kathi, taking control of her. Riena was talented, and her tongue was unlike anything Kathi had felt before. Every millimeter of Kathi's being was utterly stimulated.
www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

Riena may have been beast, but she made love like a woman. Gentle and tender, yet completely devoted to Kathi's pleasure, her wet tongue lapped away at Kathi's dripping pussy. She relished the flavor, enjoying each droplet as she pleasured the tiny woman.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

The mistress's red lips twisted upwards with pleasure, as she watched the live feed on the screen. Her pet was proving to be quite amusing, and the guest was taking to it well. Her preparation had been worth the effort. Kathi was quite the interesting subject so far.

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

Wicked thoughts went through her head, as she watched her pet orally pleasure the little woman.

"Riena is being a good pet for now. Of course, those tables will turn. We'll see if Kathi figures out the rules before it's too late..."

"Miss A., Can I put my clothes on now?" the tiny woman in her hand said abruptly.

Flattening her immense breast with her arm, she brought the little woman closer to her face.
"How rude of you to ask such a thing. You're a concierge, aren't you? It's your duty to see to my needs, and my needs... you haven't even started to fulfill them yet."
www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

She lifted her now-empty hand into her mouth, tasting a drop of her own juices from the tip of her finger. The concierge, whatever her name had been, was fully inside her now. The little thing was struggling inside her. It ticked, and the sensation pleased her. Her hand went down once more, to push the little woman deeper inside her.

Her eyes went back to the TV, as her hand once again slipped down between her legs. Riena was putting on a good show for now, but it was a tad slow-moving. Of course, these things had a way of escalating...

End of Part One

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

DELECED AND ALCERNACE RENDERS

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com

www.erofus.com