You never know where life's going to take you.

I'm just a happy girl from a small town with a simple job and a cute boyfriend.

Very little to complain about, save for maybe one more recent fact.

We live in a world of giants.

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

Well, not that it truly matters.

Genetic research took a fascinating turn in the last five years, opening up a plethora of options specifically for women.

They sold it as "The untapped potential of the female body" or some goofy, over the top adage.

At first you started seeing celebrities and influencers taking advantage, but it became so easily accessible that more often than not you saw every girl down the block towering over you.

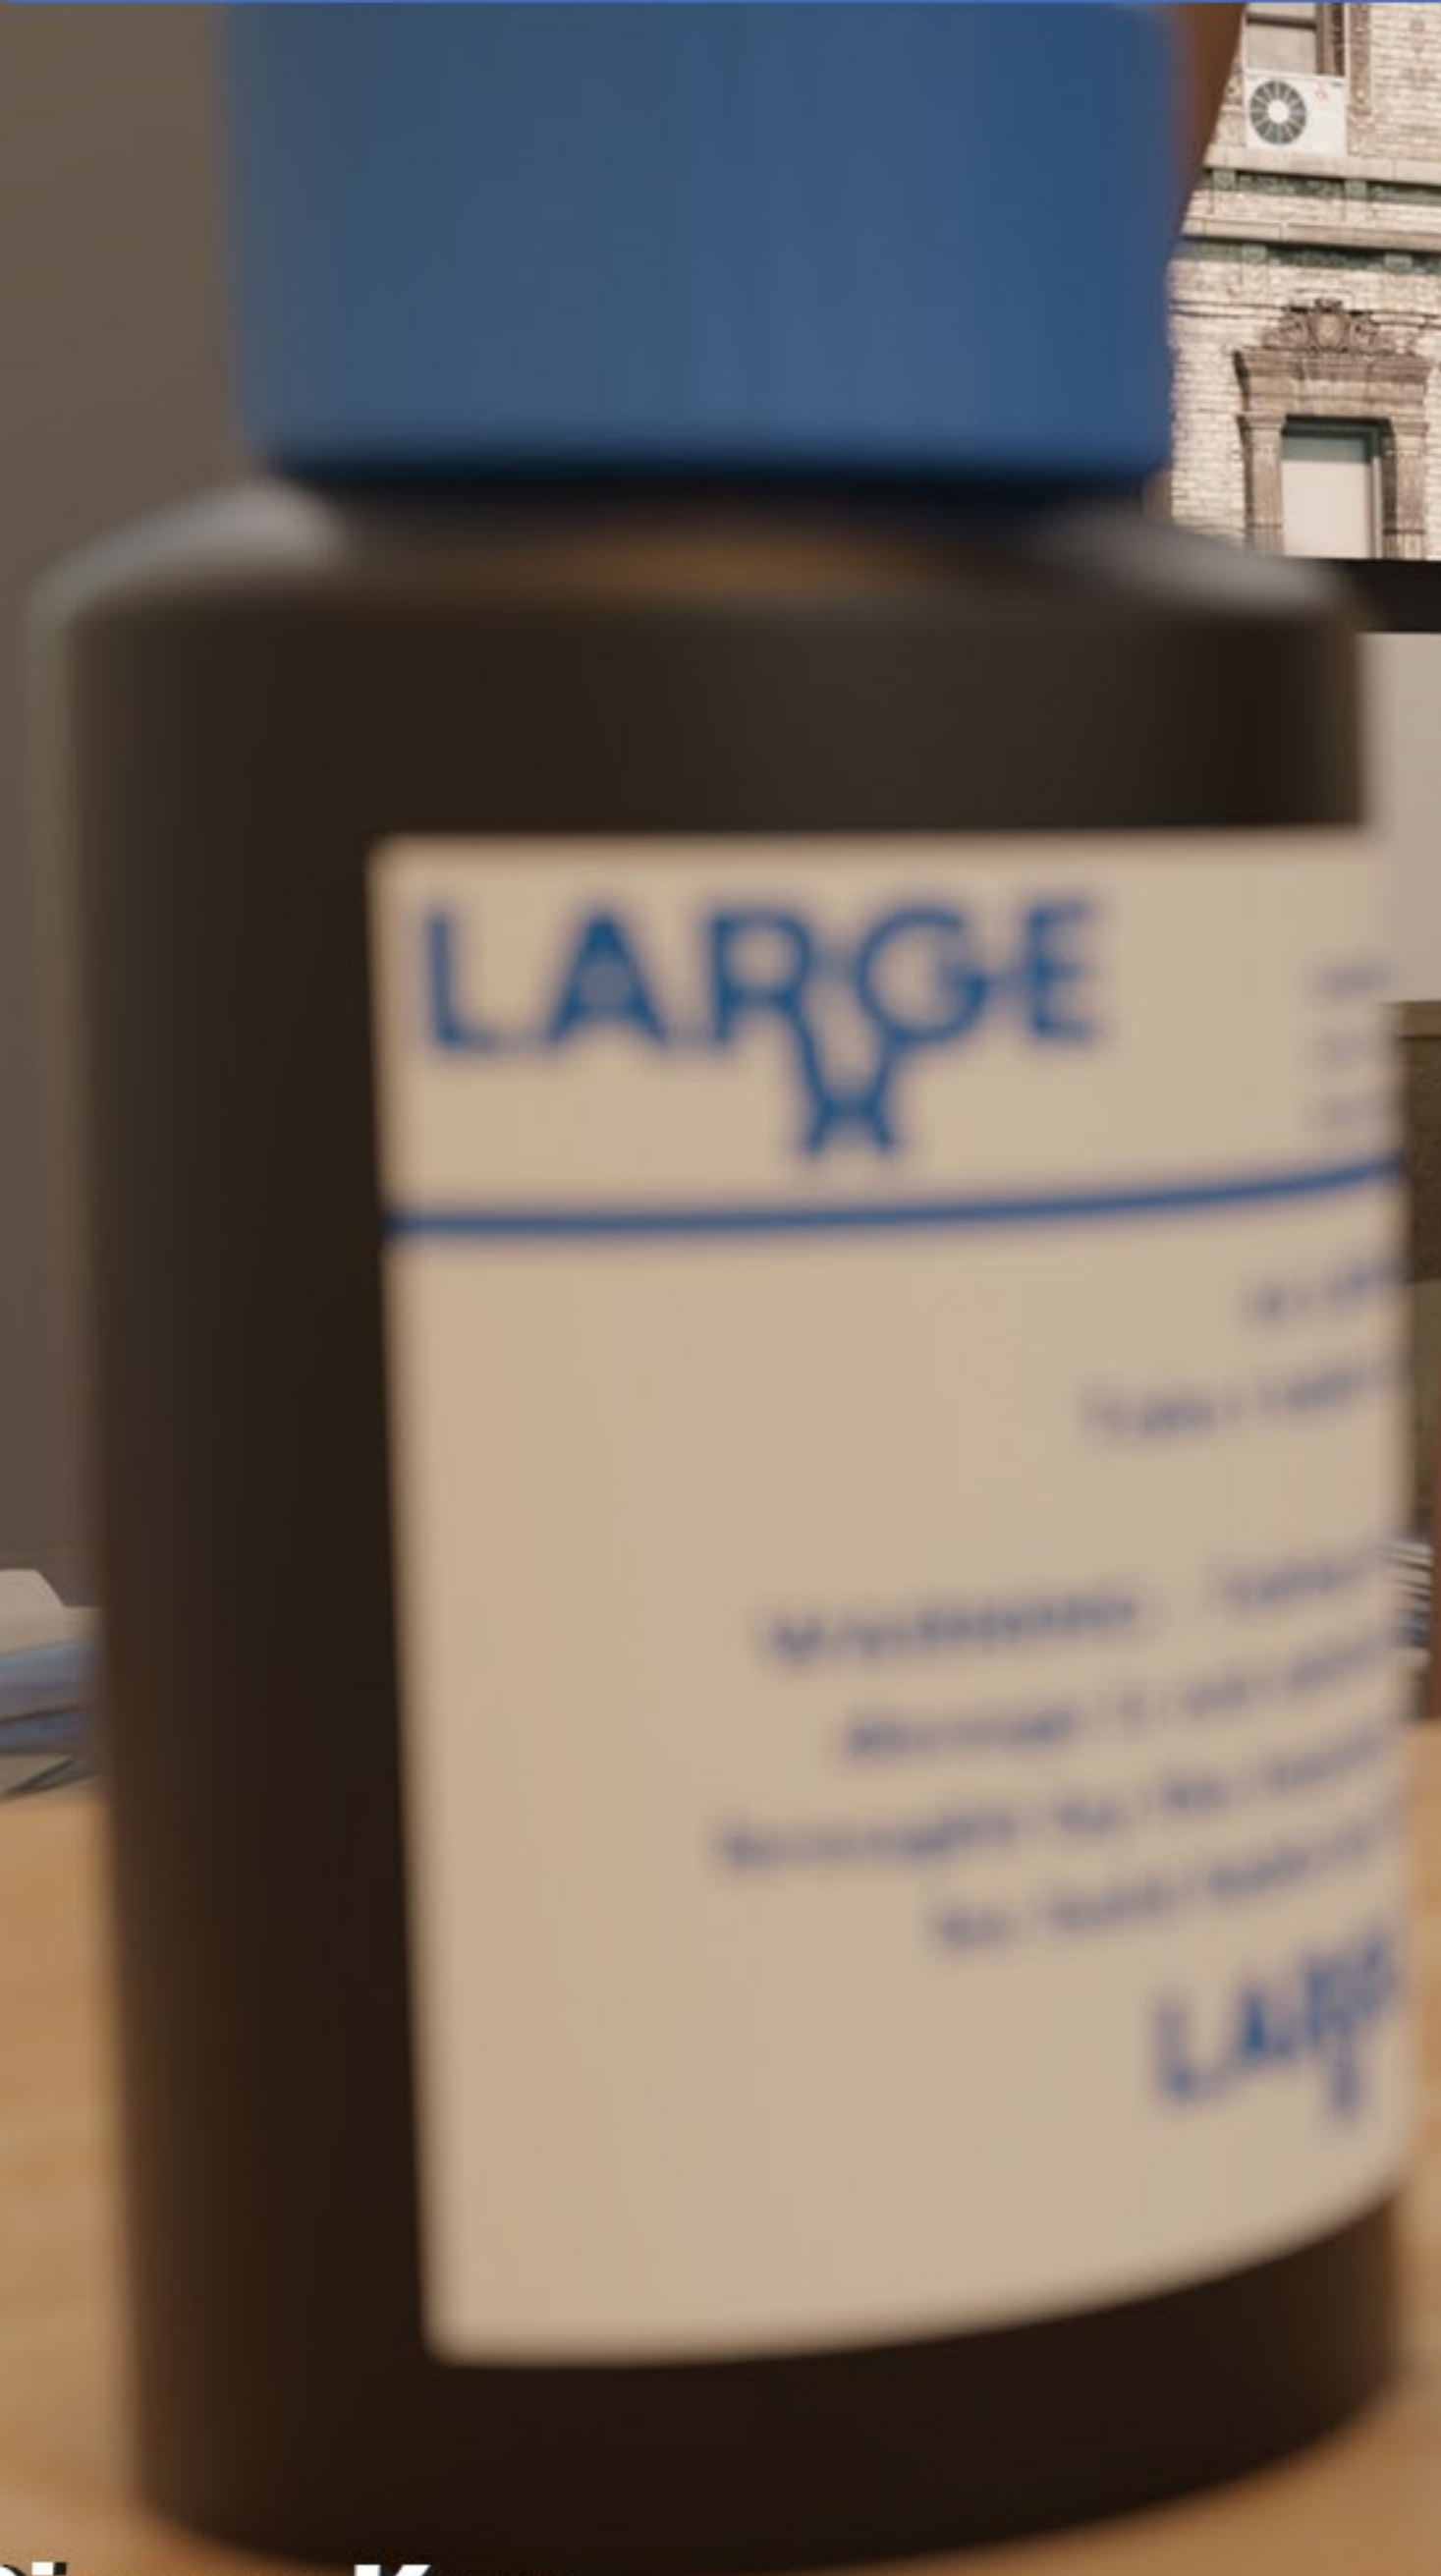

Well, every girl except for me. I was perfectly fine with myself and Ryan loved me for who I was as well.

But, a good girlfriend likes to sneak some surprises in their love life!

Twenty five dollars plus tax, that's all it cost to change my life forever.

Hope it'll be worth it.

Just a single, solitary pill.

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

Hmm, don't take more than one? Then why do they give you a whole bottle full of them?

Sure that won't come back to bite me!

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

Well, better now than never!

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

I guess all there is left is to wait.

Not that I'll be doing that part alone either.

Gotta have my man around when the show starts.

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

Whenever that's supposed to-

Be...

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

Wow, that really did start fast!

Guess it's all upwards from here!

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

We were always close in height as it was.

But now, I was the taller one in the relationship!

By a good few inches already, even with that hair of his.

But I was quickly widening the gap.

Now he had a new pair of eyes to match up with.

Or perhaps just a new pair of pillows.

I always loved the way he stared at me, but now I could tell looking down at him how badly he always wanted to look up at me like this.

He's going to have to look up even higher.

Then, I had a fun idea!

Dinner-Kun
Captain Xero

It didn't seem so difficult all of a sudden, it was if he were weightless.

There! We were eye to eye again!

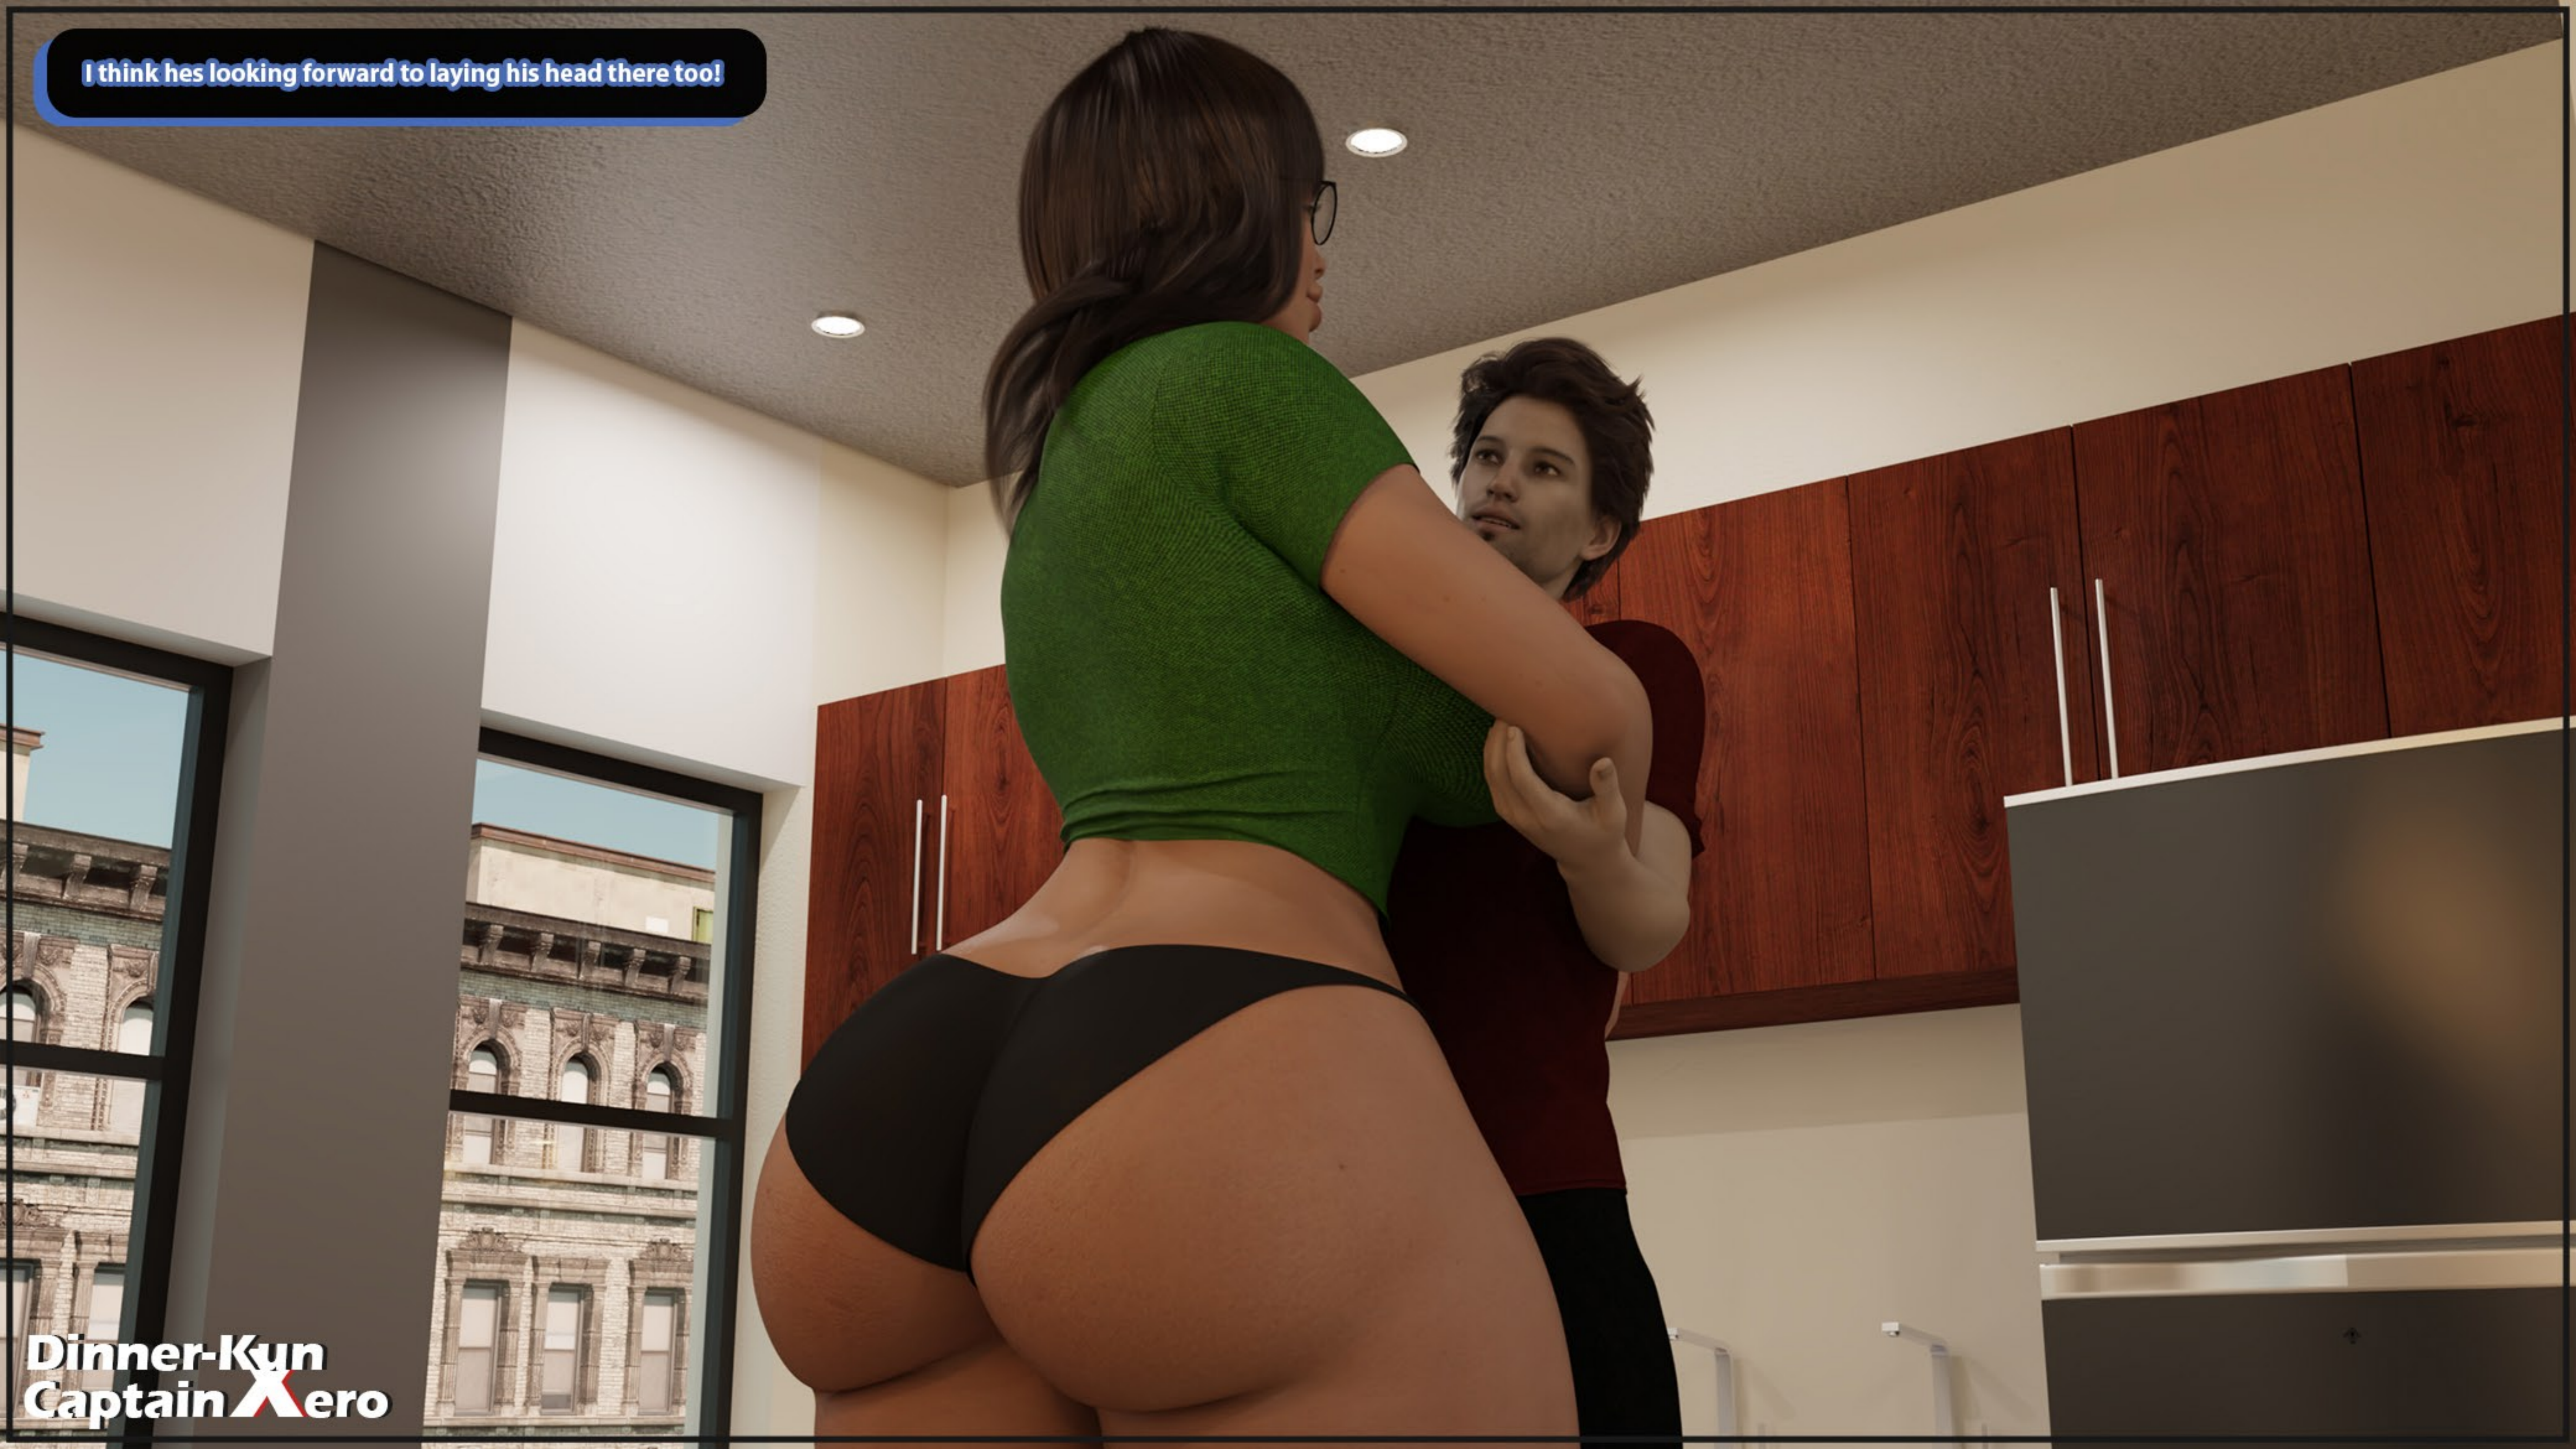

Looks like I've been cultivating a few extra pillows in the back too!

I think hes looking forward to laying his head there too!

It feels like our relationship will be even stronger than it was before now.

I guess you can call me a VERY satisfied customer!
