

THE PINK ORB

Alex couldn't remember how many days she'd been at the strangers house for.

Every time she tried leave he'd show her the glowing pink orb and her mind would fill with cotton candy and horniness.

Each time she came to, she was a little bit different.

Longer nails.

Blonder hair.

Brazillian wax.

Emptier head.

This time, as she gazed at the pink orb, she could feel her tits starting to swell as her pussy throbbed with need.

When Vanessa finally tracked Alex down, she was shocked at what she found.

Her timid and sensible friend was barely recognisable and had become a big titted slut in a matter of days!

But when Alex showed her the special pink orb, Vanessa's worries quickly evaporated and she found herself naked in bed, slowly stroking her clit and massaging her breasts.

It almost felt like her breasts, her tits, were swelling up in her hands.

She should've been worried, but all that mattered right now was staring at the orb and getting lost in the pleasure.

Nessie had lost track.

She'd lost track of how long she'd been in this house.

How long she'd tried to convince her friend Alex to leave with her.

How many times Alex had flashed the pink orb in front of her eyes.

She couldn't remember how many times she'd been convinced to stay.

To pleasure herself.

To let all her worries evaporate.

To submit.

Nessie had stopped counting a long time ago.

All that mattered now was the countdown to the next time she came.

DON'T THINK.
