“It’s just some dumb thing Lester wanted. Something about him not being able to do it now and wanting to live out the experience. It’s just sex talk, Dan. It’s not real, you know that. He’s fixed, and besides, I’m not an idiot, okay? I’m not just going to have sex with someone and not take precautions.” Sarah added.

“I hope it was good,” Dan said. He wanted to dig more into the precautions she mentioned but wanted to jab at her first, “Did you enjoy yourself?”

“Dan, that’s not..” Sarah started.

“No. I want to know. How many times did that bastard make you cum, huh?” Dan said, “It must have been pretty good for you to fuck him so much that you were late picking up our daughter and late for work. Jesus Christ, Sarah, you even fucked him in your office! What if someone caught you and you got fired, huh? We would be fucked right now.”

“I can handle my own career, Dan,” Sarah spat, her eyes full of rage.

“What’s that supposed to mean?” Dan challenged.

“Me fucking Lester in my office is the only interest you’ve shown in my work life these past few weeks. You know how hard I was working for that promotion and yet you never followed up. Never cared to ask about it. Sure, you thought I would be good for it, but that was that!”

Sarah said, “When you got laid off, I figured out a place for you to stay while you got settled in Chicago, hell I even came with you on work trips to Minnesota of all places.”

“Okay, don’t try to make this into something it isn’t to shift the blame, okay?” Dan said.

“I’m not...” Sarah balled her hands into fists at her side and let out a long exhale, “That’s not what I wanted to do. Okay? What I’m trying to say is don’t try to use my work as leverage in this fight.”

“Why not? It seems like a perfectly reasonable conclusion!” Dan continued “If you got caught we’d be fucked, we’d lose the house if you got fired. Can you not see that?”

“I see it fine, Dan. What pisses me off is that somehow this is all on me to figure out and resolve,” she gestured to the room around her, “What about your job? What about all the shit you’ve been doing in Chicago? Going on trips without even telling me, none of it has gotten us more money, but somehow my job choices are the ones putting us in jeopardy.”

“It’s not even the fucking same thing, and you know it!” Dan said, “I’m not out fucking people at my workplaces and risking getting fired.”

“No, but you’ve made choices that have fucked us just the same.” Sarah said, “Remember you got Jesse fired and then they cut everyone’s pay? Did you forget that? You are also choosing to stay in Chicago and stay in your profession instead of being here with us?”

“He was trying to blackmail me to get to you, or did you forget that?” Dan said.

“And there were a million other ways you could have handled it. We could have handled it, but you unilaterally decided what was best for us!” Sarah steamed and started pacing. Making a quick decision, she grabbed a bottle of wine off the shelf and poured herself a glass.

Dan stood there silently, leaning against the counter, his brow furrowed. Eventually he broke the silence, “Look. This- all of this has spun out far more than I wanted it to okay? I know recently I’ve chosen work over you and the girls? But I’ve really been trying to build a better future for us.”

Sarah opened her mouth to reply but Dan held up his hand silencing her, “Just please let me finish. I heard you loud and clear the last time we talked on the phone. I forced my new client to wrap things up sooner so I could get done there. I got on the first plane and drove straight here, and I'm calling out with work even though Walt is up my ass about starting on a new project with Jesse again."

"Jesse?" Sarah raised her eyebrows.

"It's not important, right now," Dan said, "The point is I'm ignoring all of that and I came home to you. Literally with flowers in my hand and then I walked in on..."

Sarah stayed silent, thinking about what Dan had said. She hadn't told him about Lester. Not that they'd much of a chance to talk about the Eugene stuff, but then he'd left for Washington.

Be calm, Sarah.

Dan was here. Dan was trying. Her husband had listened to her and had pushed everything aside for her. The Lester stuff had blindsided him, and she got it. And she shouldn't have let herself go so far with him, either. She knew that she was spinning out at work. Maybe Lester took advantage, or maybe she just wanted a convenient distraction. Maybe both.

She looked up at her husband, "You are here. I know it probably wasn't easy, isn't easy pushing all the stuff aside to get home. It probably really hurt for you to walk in on me being with Lester. I'm sorry that you found out about it like that. I wanted to tell you on the phone but I was just so mad and I didn't know where to turn with everything else going on."

Sarah felt tears welling up in the corners of her eyes, "I've just felt like I've been spinning. Like my life is spinning out of control, and I had nothing to anchor me down and there was Lester. I don't know Dan. Lester was just constantly present, and I think to me he kind of blurs the lines on things because we, you and I, started this together, and Lester seems like a safe extension of our fantasy or maybe just like a regular part of it. I know it was fucked up and wrong to do all the things I did with him. Part of me knew that, but another part of me felt like it was almost normal, given how things have gone lately. Almost like the wrong was right. And when I wanted that out, that distraction, he was just here. I know that doesn't excuse it, and it's stupid and shitty and immature."

"I feel like we've both been lost lately," Dan sighed, "I knew that this fantasy was getting to me. Overpowering me in a lot of ways. So, I tried cutting it out cold turkey. Cutting myself off from the lure of it. I knew something like this might be a possibility or just that you might be affected in the same way I am but I always told myself I could pull us back, I just needed to get a handle on it first but I should have paid more attention to what was going on with you.”

“No, no, you shouldn’t have to, Dan, I should have been able to keep my shit together,” Sarah said.

“Yeah you should’ve but I should’ve too,” Dan stepped closer to his wife, “Even looking at the whole Eugene peephole thing. It’s like my body just had a mind of its own and just moved me aside. I can kind of get how your body betrayed you in those moments, too. And then I lied. I lied right to you about it. You didn’t tell me what was going on but I didn’t really give us much of a chance to hash things out, either. Lies of omission I guess.”

“I don’t like that feeling,” Sarah whispered as Dan got closer. “Losing control like that. I mean, there is a thrill to it, but now it feels like we are on shaky ground, and I’m scared to take a step, not knowing if the ground is going to fall apart under me.”

“It’s fucked up. Even part of my brain is screaming at me, dying to know what happened between you and Lester, wanting to see it. But I need to get control over it. That’s why I brought us out to that parking lot that one night when that guy watched us. Trying and failing, I guess, to detox my brain from this and separate Lester from the fantasy before he takes it, takes us over, you know?”

“Yeah,” Sarah said, “Before it was just about these sexy situations, ‘what if’ scenarios with other strangers, characters, or other guys, but now it’s all about Lester.”

“Yeah,” Dan agreed, encircling his arms around his wife, holding her head against his chest.

Her wet cheeks dampened his shirt, “I don’t know where we go from here. But we’ll figure it out together.”

“Maybe we need to take a break from Lester,” Sarah’s head was pressed against Dan’s chest, her eyes open, staring out into her kitchen.

“We do,” Dan replied, “Maybe we can change the deal or look for a different apartment.”

“That’s probably a good idea.” Sarah said, “And I want to help you with your side work.

However I can. I don’t want you to have to carry that burden all by yourself.”

“You don’t have to do that,” Dan kissed the top of her head, “You have enough on your plate right now. I should be helping you figure out your work stuff.”

“Maybe we can help each other,” Sarah said, “We’re a good team...when we work together.”

“We are,” Dan felt a tear roll down his cheek. “We are,” he whispered.

Monday morning, Sarah arrived at work early, feeling refreshed and on track to conquer her day. Dan had thankfully spent the entire weekend at home reconnecting with her and the girls. Sarah’s heart felt full. She’d desperately needed that time with him.

He was her rock, keeping her grounded, and being without him made her feel untethered.

Things were good between them—not great, but she felt that they were in a good spot now.

Both of them still felt the bruises from their recent fights, and certain subjects were still very tender. But the corner had been turned. Healing could begin.

Sarah checked her watch. It was time to head down to the morning meeting. Gathering her things and locking the door behind her, Sarah made her way to the elevator. While reconnecting with Dan, she’d completely disconnected from work. They’d both had. She had no idea what she was about to walk into, but she knew that she could handle whatever it was.

Talking over her recent work issues with Dan had given her some perspective. She was still smart and capable, even if she hadn’t felt that way lately. Dan believed this of her so she could too. He had been pissed about how John had treated her, not even interviewing her for the position. Almost as pissed as he had been about Lester fucking her all over their house.

It hadn’t been easy, but after the girls went to bed on Friday, Sarah and Dan drank a couple of bottles of wine and went over everything that happened in detail. He needed to hear it, not just from some fantasy perspective but from a place that needed to heal and rebuild things between them.

She wasn't sure how he was processing it. Frankly, she expected him to be more upset by what had happened in their home without him. But she suspected he felt just as intertwined in this weird fantasy life they had created with Lester, even though he was taking strides to free himself of it. Sarah knew she should do the same, but part of her still wanted to revel in it for a little longer. When she'd told her husband that his roommate had stuck his tongue up her ass, Dan's eyes nearly bugged out of his head. She knew the whole situation still pushed buttons for him as well.

Dan and the girls were her world, but Lester was like this dark cloud hovering over her, obscuring everything else from view. She couldn't stand him, couldn't stand his shitty attitude or his gross body, but even just thinking about him made her body wake up with attention.

Sarah stepped off the elevator and headed down the hall towards the meeting room. It was time to get her head in the game. She pushed thoughts of Dan and Lester aside for now. She'd chew on those later. She needed to be the kickass administrator she was and handle her shit.

Otherwise, she would spiral and get lost again.

You got this!

Sarah pushed open the door to the conference room. She was five minutes early, but it looked like she was the last to show up. She cringed inwardly but held her head up high as she walked towards her seat, her heels clicking conspicuously on the floor. Jerry and Marcie were seated in their respective seats. At the head of the table sat the hospital's new CEO, Richard Thornhill.

It looked like he had gotten a haircut and a new suit since Sarah had seen him last. He looked more respectable, but Sarah still felt an underlying slovenly impression about him.

"Nice of you to join us," Richard said. John was nowhere in sight. Maybe he was running late, too. She wasn't going to show Richard the satisfaction of getting upset.

Sarah feigned, checking her watch, and then looked at the new CEO. His eyes roamed up her body until he met her eyes, realizing he had been caught. A sly smile spread across his face like a boy caught with his hand in the cookie jar. Sarah didn't let him see her squirm. "Sorry, am I the last one? I could have sworn I was five minutes early."

Richard eyed her like a lion eyeing a gazelle while she took her seat. He made his fingers into a steeple as he rocked back in his chair. "You weren't here on Friday, and you missed it, so I'll give you a pass." He added extra emphasis on her not being here on Friday, "As I told your colleagues, if you're not early, you're late."

"Well, I am early," Sarah said, "It just looks like you all were earlier."

A flat smile spread across Richard's face, "Fair enough. Next time, let's all try to get here ten minutes early so that we can start on schedule."

He flipped through the paper in front of him before sighing and settling back into his chair.

Richard's eyes looked around the room at everyone seated before him, "I could use a coffee.

Anyone else want one?"

A few people murmured in agreement.

"Great," Richard said, clasping his hands together. "Sarah, would you mind getting us a pot of coffee from the cafeteria?"

Really? Sarah wanted to say. But she still didn't have a good read on her new CEO. Her first impression wasn't positive, but she didn't want to judge him too quickly. Everyone had a different style, and Drew had been a pushover and pretty incompetent in a pinch. She steeled herself and stood up, not wanting to refuse her boss' first request.

"Sure," Sarah said, moving back towards the door. As she left the conference room, she heard Richard say, "Okay, first order of business: I want to do a top-to-bottom review of every department and how it operates."

Sarah balled her hands into fists and sighed as she walked down the hallway towards the elevators again. She should be in there, helping to facilitate his transition and getting him up to speed on how everything ran. Each department would present itself, but none of them would aptly explain how different things are tied together. They were focused on their own operations, not the greater operations of the hospital.

A few minutes later, Sarah returned to the conference room, pushing a cart filled with a couple of pots of the cafeteria's shitty coffee and paper cups for the group. She added upgrading their coffee machine to her long list of nice-to-haves for the hospital. Everyone except for Richard looked her way as she entered the room with the cart. He was still animatedly making a speech.

Sarah briefly thought about pouring individual coffee for everyone in the room but decided against it. She slid back into her seat and tried to catch up on the conversation. Richard was talking about improving synergies between departments.

“Uh, Sarah,” Richard interrupted his speech and looked at her. He motioned towards the coffee sitting on the side of the room, “Would you mind?” He turned back to the rest of the group and continued his speech.

Seething but with a neutral expression, Sarah got up and poured him a cup of coffee. She set it down in front of him and returned to her seat.

His eyes met hers, and he said, “Thanks for the coffee, honey,” before continuing. Sarah bit her lip and stayed quiet.

When the meeting ended, Sarah was the first one out of the room. She had managed to survive the hour without taking on any other humiliating tasks. Back in her office, she was stewing because Richard had asked her to get coffee and had called her ‘honey.’ He hadn’t asked any of the men to go and do it. Her impression of him was souring. Now she thought he was simply a misogynistic prick.

Her phone buzzed. It was another message from Lester. Her finger hovered over the button to check it but she thought better of it. She had been ignoring his messages all weekend. Dan had been there with her so it was easier, but she couldn’t break now. She was stronger than that. At least she hoped she was.

Lester sat in his command center, staring at his phone. Waiting for those three little dots to appear, showing that Sarah was typing a message back.

He snarled and pushed his phone across his desk. Just like the last messages he’d sent, she hadn’t responded.

Fucking Dan.

Things were going so well, why did that motherfucker have to come back and ruin everything.

Everything had been going to plan and had been moving along so well. Sarah had been his, begging for his seed. It had been glorious.

It was glorious. IS glorious. No need for past tense. Who the fuck did Dan think he was interrupting them? Even having the nerve to put his bloody hands on Lester's throat.

Lester should have crushed Dan. Beat him to a pulp, but then Sarah would have cowered over him. Trying to protect her weak husband. He wished he could go back and change how things had happened.

Lester pushed himself up from his desk, sending his chair flying back and hitting the bed. He couldn't just sit there anymore, ignored and feeling small. He wanted to shout, wanted to hit something. Stomping into the hallway, he punched the center of Dan's door.

Pain shot through his knuckles and his wrist making him wince. He checked the door for a dent but it looked unscathed. Lester marched back to his room and grabbed a pair of shorts and a ratty old t-shirt from the floor.

Collecting his cell phone and wallet, he headed towards the door. Lester couldn't sit in the apartment anymore. He needed to get out and push someone around. Ned's store seemed like a good destination for what he needed.

Dan gritted his teeth as he rode the immaculate elevator to the twelfth floor. The elevator was full of people; it stopped at almost every floor, with people getting on and off. This building was bustling with activity; Dan could feel the buzz, the momentum of the place. It was such a stark contrast to his office and its dour mood.

Walt had given him shit about taking a Friday off. Dan handled it, but he wasn't fond of the extra pressure. Still, he wouldn't change a thing. He needed to get his house in order and settle things with Sarah. Too much had gone on without him being aware of it, being blissfully ignorant while he tried to figure his own shit out.

The elevator dinged, and the screen read twelve. Dan politely pushed his way past the throngs of people in front of him and lowered his shoulders a bit as a group tried to get on the elevator before he got off. He wedged through them and scanned the floor he had just stepped onto.

The office was busy. People flowed through the reception area into waiting offices beyond numerous glass walls. Polished marble covered the floor, and a very attractive brunette sat behind a large, imposing wooden desk. Dan couldn't help but feel immense envy toward Jessie for landing this plum position. It seemed like the little shit had somehow leapfrogged over Dan in his career progress.

As impressive as the office was, Dan didn't want to be there. It felt humiliating to walk into a place like this and sit across a desk from Jesse. Dan had so much other shit to do for Sentinel Security and Elevate Engagement in addition to his other clients. He really didn't have time for this.

Dan squared his jaw and exhaled, closing his eyes for a second to compose himself. He crossed the polished marble floor to the receptionist and, with a smile, introduced himself. She greeted him warmly and told him to take a seat.

After half an hour of waiting, the receptionist finally led Dan to Jessie's office. Interns and other young professionals were seated in a farm of cubicles while intimidating men and women sat in their offices and conference rooms. Dan started to guess at each person's salary, slowly calculating this company's human resource costs.

The receptionist led Dan to a corner office, where Jesse was seated behind a wide desk, looking intently at something on his laptop screen. His eyes flashed up at Dan, and a wicked smile swiftly spread across his face.

"Thanks, Trisha," he said, flicking his wrist to dismiss the receptionist. Dan, how are you? You look better than the last time I saw you."

Dan quieted his rage at the memory of getting thrown out of that nightclub. And the memory of Jesse grinding himself up against Sarah and dancing with her, "Jesse."

Jesse stood up and walked around his desk, his hand extended, expecting Dan to shake it. Dan looked at it briefly before reluctantly reaching out and shaking it. Jesse seemed pleased at the handshake and gestured for Dan to sit at one of the chairs in front of the desk. The chairs looked notably lower than Jesse's.

With a roll of his eyes, Dan sat down and waited for this humiliating experience to be over.

Jesse walked behind his desk with a stupid smile and sat down, "How's Sarah doing?"

He knew Jesse was trying to get a rise out of him, but Dan wasn't about to take the bait. "She's fine. Can we please get down to business now, Jesse?"

"Hey, I'm just being polite," Jesse said, holding his hands up defensively. Jesse seemed different somehow—odd, pretending to be more confident. Dan wouldn't have minded the delay tactics, but he wasn't getting paid extra to sit here making nice. While Walt's firm could charge hourly, Dan still made the same reduced pittance of a salary.

“So, how are things back at the old stomping ground?” Jesse leaned back in his chair, clearly eager to discuss the situation. “I hear things have gotten a little rough over there. It was funny.

After firing me, Walt seemed so desperate when I called him to offer him this project.”

“Is that right?” Dan sat back in his chair, trying to keep his face neutral.

Jesse stared at him for several seconds as if he was waiting for Dan to say something else.

“You’ll have to treat me with respect now, Dan. I’m your client. Understand?” Jesse gestured to his office. “I’m here while you’re still stuck at the dump under Walt.”

“Jesse,” Dan said looking around at the impressive office, “You have a knack for stating the obvious. We’re both professionals and we both know how respect works. Now tell me about this project and this client you are out of your depth with.”

Dan swore he could see a vein throbbing on the side of Jesse’s forehead. Jesse looked pissed, but Dan kept his composure, trying not to smile and betray his joy. Jesse seemed to deflate a bit in his chair as he said, “It’s a large, complex project. A state-of-the-art subdivision. We don’t know where it’s located, but our client wants help ensuring it’s sustainable and self-sufficient once online.”

“A subdivision?” Dan said skeptically. It didn’t sound all that impressive or like something that would warrant his skillset, or frankly, that of the firm Jessie worked for, “Why do they need us?”

“Because they need help, obviously,” Jesse said. He was the same old Jessie, out of his depth and not understanding even the basics of the project he was working on.

“How exactly do they need our help?” Dan asked flatly, wanting to be done with this conversation and done with Jessie overall.

“Well,” Jesse said, fidgeting with his keyboard, “I think our client wants to speak with you about it directly,” Jesse smirked as he grabbed the side of his laptop and turned it around on his desk. A man’s face was on the screen, sitting in an office in a Zoom window.

Dan felt himself falter. He recognized the face.

“Hey there, Danny boy,” Byron said, grinning, “Long time no see.”

Fuck.

“What’s wrong, Danny?” Byron was leaning back in his chair, both hands behind his head. He was clearly enjoying this moment. “It looks like you’ve seen a ghost.”

“Byron,” Dan said, hoping he nodded when speaking.

“That’s it? That’s all I get? After all those drinks we’d shared, I thought you would have a warmer greeting for me than that.” Byron chuckled.

This wasn’t what Dan needed. He felt his momentum slipping away. All that he was working toward and now this. Lester was enough of a distraction, and now he’d have to deal with this shit too?

“Nice to see you again, Byron,” Dan lied through his clenched teeth.

“That’s more like it,” Byron said, leaning forward into the camera. “Now, let’s get down to brass tacks. We’re working on a subdivision, but beyond that, I can’t tell you much. Don’t ask where it is because that’s above your pay grade. We need your help to make sure it’s sustainable. As in ‘efficient’ and ‘self-sustaining.’ We want to run it off the grid, treat our own wastewater, make sure the buildings are energy efficient, and do the whole she-bang. Our own little slice of paradise away from prying eyes. You got me?”

“Sounds interesting,” Dan said. It definitely sounded more interesting than a simple subdivision. If they were building this from the ground up, it would be an opportunity to not just construct a building but getting a say in how an entire community operated. A self-sustaining community. That was interesting, but to Dan it sounded weird coming out of Byron’s mouth, almost like they were going out into the woods to start a cult. “Well, what’s next here? Can I see the project specs and look at where things stand?”

“Great question!” Byron said sarcastically, “Well, as it happens we are at the beginning stages of planning this project. We have people on site clear cutting the land but before we really break ground we need to firm up our plans here. That’s where you come in, Dan. I need you to come out here to Minnesota and look over our plans and identify the gaps in where we are versus what we want and make your expert recommendations. Got it?”

“I can do that from here, Byron,” Dan said, “Just send me over the plans, and I’ll review them this week.”

“Not gonna happen,” Byron said, “This project is a top priority for the Lincoln Group. There is a lot involved that we don’t want to get out there. There are some things you and Jesse can work out from there but at some point soon I’m going to need you to come out for a friendly little visit.”

“Fine,” Dan said. At least this time Walt couldn’t make him share a room with a coworker.

“Great bud,” Byron said, “And just one more thing. When you do come out, make sure to bring that pretty little wife of yours, too.”

“What?” Dan said, looking between Jesse and Byron. Both of them were smirking, “Why?”

Byron didn’t answer at first, taking his time to turn the screws with Dan. He lazily leaned back in his chair and propped his feet up on his desk. “Because. A little birdie has told me a lot about what you and the missus get up to. That you guys get kind of freaky, and I like that shit and want a front row to it.”

“Fuck that,” Dan said, “I don’t have to do shit for you.”

“Mmm-hmmm,” Byron wiggled his finger at the screen. I wouldn’t be so quick to decline my offer, Danny boy. Jessie, if Dan doesn’t play nice, what are you going to do?”

“I’m going to have to file a complaint with Walt about his behavior and insist he be removed from the project and fired,” Jesse said smartly.

“And then I’m going to reach out to Walt and dangle a nice little lucrative project in front of him to ensure it happens,” Byron said, “And before you start thinking about all those nice little freelance clients and trying to do the math and see whether you can swing going solo, just know that the Lincoln Group has a deep network and we can fuck up things for you real fast.

So just nod and say yes.”

Dan felt himself stewing. His face was going red. Now it was him who had a throbbing vein in the middle of his forehead. He slowly nodded once.

“You’re trapped, Dan,” Byron said. “You played yourself and lost. Suck it up, buttercup.”

The screen went black, and Dan felt his shoulders slump forward.

“Oh, and Dan?” Jesse said, grinning from ear to ear, “As far as my office here is concerned, you’re just an old colleague looking for a reference. I’m taking full credit for this work, and Byron is going to give us a nice bonus that will give me a promotion. So keep your mouth shut.”

Dan felt numb as he left Jesse’s office and rode the elevator down. The crowd of bodies jostling about the elevator pressed him into the back corner, his mind still trying to process what was happening.

Dan hunkered down in a comfortable chair in the apartment’s living room. He made sure to pick the one that would face the hallway so Lester couldn’t sneak up behind him. The meeting with Jessie completely blindsided him, and he wasn’t sure what to do next.

He felt like a trapped animal in a cage. Dan wanted to call Sarah and talk it through, but he felt that he needed to develop a functioning plan first. Working with Jessie had been bad enough, but now, Byron had returned, and he knew more about Sarah than Dan was comfortable with.

That guy was bad news. And he liked to hold grudges. This is according to that Peter guy who’d propositioned him at Starbucks a few weeks back.

The plodding of footsteps dashed Dan’s thoughts—more bad news. Lester’s fat feet were smacking against the hardwood floor. Dan hoped Lester was just going to the bathroom, but his stomach dropped when the footsteps got closer.

Dan’s eyes stayed focused on the laptop screen in front of him. He tried to ignore Lester’s gelatinous blob-like body out of the corner of his eye, hovering in the doorway to the hallway.

Finally, Dan raised his eyes to look at him.

“God, man, put on some clothes,” Dan said, averting his eyes away from Lester’s obese naked body. He had seen the man naked way more often than he was comfortable with. Lester smirked and strolled into the living room.

“Just getting a coke,” Lester said, “Need to quench my thirst here. Battling a legion of orcs will do that to a guy. No need to try and choke me out again.”

“You deserved it after the shit you pulled. Get your coke and go.” Dan kept his eyes focused on his laptop, browsing other apartment listings. He was procrastinating in coming up with a plan to deal with Byron. A few apartments looked good, but rent had gone way up since the last time he’d looked. It seemed like every landlord had just decided to get greedy. Dan didn’t like the monthly rents he was looking at, but he needed to get out of here and away from Lester.

For his marriage’s sake. But how the hell was he going to swing this?

“Whose laptop is that?” Lester asked. Dan looked up at him. Lester’s eyes were trained on Dan’s other laptop sitting on the coffee table. It looked sharp in a black pelican case. It was the one Sentinel Securities had given him, the only one he was supposed to use for their project or for communicating with them. Dan had been working on it before switching gears and looking at apartments.

“It’s mine,” Dan said, “For work.”

“Huh,” Lester said, not taking his eyes from it. “Can I take a look at it?”

Lester moved around the couch, his flaccid cock slapping against his thighs as he did. He made a move to bend over and grab the laptop. Dan was quicker, sitting up and, putting his personal laptop to the side and grabbing his work one right before Lester could grasp it.

“No, it’s just for work, my eyes only,” Dan said. Lester scowled like Dan had taken away a new toy he could play with. Lester gave him a dirty look, “And what about that?”

He was pointing to Dan’s other laptop, with the screen displaying the different apartment listings Dan was looking at, “Are you planning on moving out?”

Dan really didn’t want to have this conversation. He wanted to just slink out in the night, never to talk to Lester again, “Look. This isn’t working, Lester. You crossed a line. Too many of our lines lately. I, we, Sarah and I think it’s time for a change. We’ve had some fun and all but it’s probably best if we move on.”

Rage seemed to flash across Lester’s features; his brow furrowed, and his cheeks darkened,

“What about our deal? We have a deal, Dan.”

“Well, Lester,” Dan said patiently in a condescending voice, “Once I find a new place, we won’t need that deal anymore, will we?”

Dan picked up his laptop and sat it back up on his lap. He went back to scrolling through listings as Lester just stood there gawking at him, dumbfounded. “You mind putting that thing away, Lester?”

Lester snapped out of his trance and stomped to the kitchen. The fridge door opened and quickly slammed shut. The sounds of fat plodding feet hit the hardwood floor, and Dan could see Lester’s quivering mass shamble through the living room out of the corner of his eye. It disappeared down the hallway before he slammed his door shut.

Dan smirked. It felt good getting a small win over that asshole. He needed any win today after what had happened with Jesse and Byron. Scrolling through the listings was getting depressing. For an activity that he was using to procrastinate, it sure wasn’t helping him. It was making him feel like he had yet another thing to put on the backburner. How the hell was he going to get them off his back without blowing things up with Walt? Maybe he could get a new job and just extricate himself from this mess. That would be awesome. Get a new place and a new job. A completely fresh start.

He closed the laptop and mulled the situation around in his head. Finding a way out of this mess wasn’t getting any clearer. It was late, and he couldn’t think. He needed to get up early in the morning and get a call in with Bill at Starbucks before he headed into the office.

Starbucks. That’s where that Peter guy approached him about spying on the Lincoln Group. At the time, that wouldn’t fly. He thought he had burned that bridge, but now....Dan grabbed his laptops and carried them to his bedroom. He shut the door and locked it behind him. That guy had given him a card. It was here in his room somewhere. If he found it, maybe it could help him get out of this.

Lester slammed his bedroom door shut and kicked a stack of dirty clothes lying on the floor.

They couldn’t leave. Not like that. No. No. Lester wouldn’t let that happen. He wouldn’t allow it.

The two of them thought they were just playing a game. That they could use him for their own fantasies and cast him aside when they were done, but they didn’t know anything.

They didn't know who Lester truly was or what he was capable of. He still had an ace up his sleeve that they weren't even aware of.

But it wasn't time for that. Not just yet. He knew he still had a hold on Sarah.

Lester sat down at his command center and exited his game. Several pings came through his speaker, the familiar sound of a discord notification. Probably, Ned and the others wondered where he had gone.

He muted them and opened up his browser, navigating to Facebook. He opened up all of the landlord groups he was a part of and posted a warning about Dan Williams, including some basic information and a picture of Dan he had grabbed from Facebook. Then, he did the same on other private landlord websites. He'd joined a hub of these sites for the Chicago region, and they kept an extensive database of problem tenants.

It was a familiar tactic that Lester had deployed countless times in the past to help isolate his roommates and cut down their options. Lester opened the page for his router and went through the Wi-Fi's traffic, copying each listing Dan had shown interest in. Nothing jumped out at him. Most were more expensive than this place.

He'd keep an eye on Dan's traffic and see if any worrisome listings were catching his attention.

Lester navigated over to another tab to monitor the devices connected to the network. Sure enough, Dan's new laptop was listed there.

Lester frowned. It wasn't showing traffic the same way that Dan's other laptop did. All of the traffic seemed to be encrypted, and he suspected the laptop used some kind of VPN or tunneling software. What the hell is Dan doing with that?

Dan wasn't that technical. He could barely navigate his phone. Where the hell did he get a laptop like that? Lester pulled up the camera feeds from earlier in the living room and looked at the laptop better. That wasn't an off-the-shelf computer. It was an unknown variable. Lester did not like unknown variables. He'd have to get a crack at opening that laptop and see what was on there.

Dan hadn't gotten a new job and as far as Lester knew, his current employer wasn't doing too well. What was Dan up to now?

The laptop is just a distraction. Focus. Lester reached out for his phone and dialed the building's manager.

“Uh, hello, Lester,” Frank, the building manager, said.

“Tsk. Tsk. Frank. Is that how you are supposed to greet me?” Lester smiled at the silence, knowing the power he had over this man.

“I’m sorry. Mr Marshall,” Frank corrected himself, “What can I do for you today?”

“Why, thank you for asking, Franklin,” Lester said while opening up his TOR browser and navigating to the internet’s underbelly. “I need you to contact Dan Williams, my roommate.”

“What for sir?” Frank even sounded like he was sweating from this brief conversation.

“Come by and put us on notice for a rent increase. Market correction or something. Leave a note in our mailbox or come by the apartment. I don’t care. Just do it.” Lester snapped as his eyes searched the screen for the right board.

“But Les...Mr. Marshall,” Frank stammered, “You’re not paying any rent right now. Not after our agreement.”

“I know that, Franklin, I’m not an idiot. But Dan doesn’t need to know that. See, he doesn’t find out.” Lester rolled his eyes. “And just make it happen. Got it?”

“Yeah, sure Mr. Marshall, I understand, I’ll —”

“Good,” Lester hung up the phone, “Idiot.”

It felt good to put someone in their place like that. Now he just needed to do the same to Dan.

Lester scrolled through the listings, looking for someone who could help him take Dan down a few notches. Maybe he would even get lucky and find someone willing to take those two brats out of the equation as well.

Lester heard Dan shuffling into his room. He pulled up the camera feed to see Dan rummaging around in his bag. Finding someone to help him could wait. Right now, he wanted to look at something else.

He pulled up the video he’d made of the other night at the Williams’ home. With his headphones on, he started the video and shuffled out of his sweatpants. Lester started stroking his fat cock, ready to listen and watch as Sarah Williams repeatedly begged him to cum inside of her, to knock her up. He grinned and opened the camera feed of Dan in his room, oblivious to his wife's cries of pleasure and her growing corruption.

"Oh god, god, please, please, PLEASE," Sarah moaned as the video started. The camera was shaky at first as Lester started recording. His dumb face appeared for half a second before the angle flipped, showing Sarah face down in her marital bed, Lester's hand gripping the back of her neck. This was just after he had dragged her out of the bathtub, but before her idiot husband came home and ruined things.

The camera shifted down and showed her luscious bubbly ass cheeks bouncing back against his cock.

"Please, what?" Lester grinned.

"Uhhhh, justttt, right there Lester. Keep it up. Keep going," Sarah moaned into the bed. She was like a bitch in heat, and Lester didn't have any intentions of stopping. He reveled in the feeling of his swollen cock embedded deep, deep inside the young mother.

"Mhmm you know I love it when you beg," Lester said.

"Please, Lester. Please....daddy, just don't stop baby," Sarah moaned into the mattress.

"I'm not stopping until I fill you with my cum Sarah," Lester upped his pace and kept continuing to stuff his cock into her. Sarah's tight body continued to squirm under him, pushing back against the mattress to angle her hips and take more and more of his cock into her. Lester's fingers slid up her body and pushed their way into her mouth.

"Gaaahmhmhm," Sarah moaned around his fingers before she quickly started to suck them.

She continued to moan around them as the bucking back of her hips grew wilder and wilder.

"That's it, Sarah," Lester said through clenched teeth. "Suck it. Those aren't fingers in your mouth. That's a cock."

"Mhmm-hmmmm," Sarah moaned in agreement, her tongue running up and down the underside of his fingers. With her eyes shut, she could picture a real cock actually in her mouth. Lester's other hand mauled her ass cheeks.

Finally, Sarah needed to come up for breath, so she pulled her head back slightly. With his fingers partially in her mouth, she sucked in a breath and turned her head back to him.

“You like the way I suck your cock, Lester?” She moaned and started licking his fingers again.

“That ain’t my cock Sarah,” Lester moaned, feeling her tongue dance over his fingerpads, “If it was my cock, you’d be choking on it.”

“Then whose cock is it?” Sarah moaned, “Dan’s? Do you want to take turns with Dan?”

Lester laughed at the thought. It was actually a good idea—to force Dan to confront all of his inadequacies in bed up close and personal. Maybe he’d do that. But for now, he wanted to continue to plant another seed in her mind.

“Not Dan’s,” Lester felt Sarah’s pussy contracting around his cock. It felt like heaven. After their sloppy fuck in the bathtub, he already felt extra sensitive.

“Whose?” Sarah moaned, “Whose cock am I sucking?”

Lester grinned, “Whoever I want. Anyone, I say.”

Sarah grabbed the back of Lester’s hand and brought her mouth deep around it, sucking him, picturing a real cock. Lester’s other hand left her ass and pushed down on her shoulder blades, pinning her to the bed.

“Maybe I’ll find someone, some random guy, and share you with him,” Lester leaned forward, pressing his weight down onto her, whispering in her ear, “We’ll take turns with you all night, filling you up with both of our cum.”

“Gaaamhmmmm,” Sarah just moaned around his fingers. Her body rhythmically thrusting back against him with abandon now. Her other hand reached under herself, playing with her clit as Lester hammered her G-spot from on top of her.

“Would you like that? Like being shared and passed around like a cheap whore?” Lester sneered.

Sarah tried to pull his fingers out of her mouth to answer but he held them in. Letting more of his weight drop onto her, pinning her other hand underneath, leaving it nothing to do but play with herself.

“Uhhh-Hmmmm,” Sarah nodded in agreement, trying to articulate meaningful sounds with his dirty fingers in her mouth.

“What about the guy from the car that one night? What if I want you to suck him while I fuck you?” Lester said as he upped his pace, eliciting more uncontrollable moans from the young mother, “Uh, Ah, Uh, Uh, UHHHH, GAAHMMM.”

Sarah nodded in agreement. She'd do whatever he wanted. Accede to anything in this moment.

Lester smiled at how far he had corrupted his once proud wife and mother, “Maybe I’ll have my D&D friends over again and let them take turns with you. Let each of them fill your mouth up while I fuck you from behind.”

“AHHGGMMNNFFFFGMM,” Sarah’s body went rigid as she came. Lester could feel her snug pussy squeezing his cock tightly. Every nerve in her body seemed to light on fire as cascading pleasure washed over her. It had happened so fast. So fast she couldn’t even process what had happened. Just the idea of being degraded and used like a slut by people so beneath her.

More than just Lester. Letting others have her like that.

Lester grinned. That idea seemed to push her over the edge. He pulled his fingers out of her mouth, her teeth scraping against his skin as Sarah's body clenched up from that orgasm.

“Uhhhhh, mhmhmmmmmm Lester,” She moaned between breaths. She felt winded, only surviving on short breaths through her nose while Lester’s fingers had been tickling the back of her throat.

Lester stayed silent, letting her ride out the rest of her orgasm, withering below him. He felt his balls tightening and knew he would cum soon. As she milked his cock with her pussy he was afraid that he might cum early.

Sarah's breathing seemed to normalize, and Lester pressed his weight back down onto her back. He licked his lips and then her ears as he said, "What about that fucking homeless man, huh? I bet he'd like to get you alone without that fence between us. Would you suck him?"

“Fuck Lester,” Sarah pushed up onto her elbows for leverage as she felt another orgasm quickly approaching. “Whatever you want. Whoever you want. Uhhh, fuck as long as they feel good like this. Oh my god, oh my god, oh my fuck, fuck, fuck.”

“Mhmm, and let him fuck you?” Lester whispered. He lunged forward just as she forced her body back, his cock bottoming out in the crazed wife.

Sarah’s body started thrashing, throwing itself back at Lester repeatedly, seemingly eager at the thought of degrading herself so low, “Uhhhhhhmhmmtttt YES. YES. FUCKING YES.

Whatever. I’ll do it. I WANT IT.”

“That’s my girl,” Lester sneered, “Cum for me. Cum on my cock. I’m going to fill you up. Picture that homeless guy taking you like this, filling you with his dirty fucking come, you whore.”

“AH FUCK,” Sarah breathed as her whole world lit on fire. All her other senses dimmed. The only one that was heightened was the one connected to her pussy as another orgasm exploded out of her. The muscles in her pussy wrapped themselves around Lester’s cock, desperate for his cum, “AHHHYEESSSS, YESSSS, MHMHHMHHM, Ah, UH, Uhhhhhh.”

“Here it comes slut,” Lester roared, “Take it. Take all my cum, Sarah.”

A hoarse groan left his throat as Lester’s balls twitched ominously as he emptied all the cum he had built up deep into Sarah’s womb. She shuddered as his cum spattered inside of her, covering every inch of her insides. Sarah just moaned into the bed, her hair a mess. She felt Lester’s hot cum spurting inside of her, dancing on top of the orgasm that had already wracked her body.

She lay there unmoving, catching her breath as Lester’s sweat dripped off his brow onto her back. Lester felt red in the face, panting, on his elbows. With another groan, he pulled his hips back, sliding his cock out of Sarah. She didn’t move, just lay there, reveling in the aftershocks of their fucking.

Lester quickly grabbed his phone and held the camera up to Sarah’s ass and pussy, some of his cum already leaking out in a steady stream. The video went to black.

Lester still hadn’t cum yet. Watching the video hadn’t been enough. He glanced at his monitor and saw Dan typing on his cell phone. It would have been good to check and see what Dan was doing, but Lester needed to finish right now.

He loaded up another video he had taken later that night: The video started in vertical view. Part of the screen was obscured by something but the room was easy to identify. It was Dan's home office, just down the hallway from their bedroom.

Lester's big head filled the rest of the screen as he positioned the camera.

Lester moved out of frame. For almost five minutes, the video just showed an empty room.

Then Lester's naked body appeared as he plopped himself down on Dan's computer chair, twirling around to face the camera.

"Come here, sexy," He said, gesturing with his hands. Sarah's naked back came into the frame, and then her naked bubble butt. She was clutching their bed sheets to herself as she stepped forward.

Lester grabbed his cock and waved it at her, "He needs some attention, don't you think?"

"Already?" Sarah said, "We just had sex."

"That was almost an hour ago." Lester grinned, "Little Lester is ready for more."

Sarah dropped the bedsheets, presenting her naked body to Lester, "How dare you. He is anything but little." Watching the video, Lester gasped, marveling at how shapely Sarah's nude body looked. She could still get to him every time.

Sarah dropped to her knees and ran her hands up and down Lester's thighs. Her eyes alternated between looking at his cock and looking at Lester's ugly lust filled face.

"Tell me what you want me to do," Sarah breathed, "I want to hear you say it."

"I want you to suck my cock like you did earlier," Lester said.

"Mhmmmmmm," Sarah rocked back and forth, looking at his cock, "You mean like when you were supposed to leave?"

"You knew that wasn't going to be the end of it," Lester said, "You knew I'd come back in and take some more."

"I did. I know you want more. That's why I made sure to lock the door," Sarah stared into his eyes as her hands took his cock in her hands. She sat there kneeling in front of him, cock in her hand. Waiting for Lester to say something. Something to confirm what she thought.

“What can I say?” Lester said, “I found a spare key. With Dan out of the picture here, I figure you wouldn’t mind having a man around the house.”

“You don’t just do that. That’s fucked up, Lester,” Sarah said as she started to stroke Lester’s cock, “This is my home, you can’t just come in anytime you like.”

Lester reached forward and gripped the back of Sarah’s head, his fat stomach pressing against his thighs, “That’s what you said about your pussy, too, but here I am taking whatever I want.”

Then he pulled her face down onto his cock. Her lips spread, and she took him into her mouth.

Sarah moaned around his fat cock. Lester put his leg between her legs, pushing his shin against her pussy. Like they’d done back in the Chicago apartment. Lester held her head with both hands, his fingers lacing through her hair. He guided her head up and down on his cock.

After a few minutes he slouched back in the chair as Sarah sucked his cock as hard as she could making gagging sounds as she did, “Gagrrr, gagrrr, garrgg, mhmhm gggmmmmmm, gmmmm gmmmmmm.”

“That’s it, Sarah. Suck my cock,” Lester put both his hands behind his head and ran his shin up and down Sarah’s pussy. She started to move her hips, rubbing herself against him, “You suck my dick with your entire body. Jesus.”

Sarah came up for breath, looking into Lester’s beady eyes but never took her hands off his cock. Both hands continued to stroke him. “You think you can just come into my house whenever you want and fuck me? Is that what you think?”

“Yeah, I own you. You’re mine now,” Lester sneered.

“I don’t think Dan would agree with that,” Sarah breathed, her breasts rising and falling as she stroked Lester’s cock.

“Who gives a shit what Dan thinks?” Lester fired back, “He’s never here, and I fucked his wife’s brains out, and now she’s sucking my cock.”

“You’re such an asshole sometimes,” Sarah said, “Ughhh, but this cock is too good.”

“I know you love it,” Lester said, “How much bigger is it than Dan’s?”

Sarah bit her lip and looked up at Lester, “Much bigger.”

“Mhmmm, I knew you’d say that,” Lester chuckled. Sarah leaned forward and licked the underside of his cock before working herself back to the top and licking around his cock head.

Her tongue explored every inch of his shaft before dropping down and finding his hairy balls.

Lester held her head in place as she twirled her tongue around his nutsack, her face pressing against the wrinkled tender skin, causing it to splay out across her face.

“Who’s a better fuck?” Lester asked.

“Ughhh, you are,” Sarah moaned from underneath his balls. “You fuck me better. You fuck me best.”

An ugly grin spread across Lester’s features, “You get wet just thinking about me. I know your body craves me now. Have you ever felt like that about your husband?”

“No...not like this,” Sarah moaned, her tongue traveling around his sagging scrotum back up to his shaft. She wanted to have all of him in her mouth, feel her mouth full of his beautiful cock.

Sarah lowered her face down onto his cock, opening her mouth and taking in as much as she could.

Sarah’s body was withering against his shin. His hairy leg stimulated her clit. She could work herself up like this. It was only a matter of time until she built up another fiery orgasm. God, this disgusting man had complete control of her body. Of her.

“You’re my good little slut now, aren’t you?” Lester moaned.

She thought back to the blowjob she had given him earlier. The way she had tried to take control. The power she felt in those moments. It had felt good, intoxicating. The control she’d had over him. Over his big cock. It made her feel powerful. She knew her looks always gave her an edge over men, but until this moment, she didn’t realize the degree of control she had.

Sarah pulled her mouth off of Lester and stared up defiantly into his eyes.

“Mhmmm,” She chuckled, “I’ll admit. You’ve unlocked something in me. Something that might, mhmmm, have always been there but that I kept hidden.” She planted kisses alongside the bottom of his cock girthy shaft before continuing, “Now I know just how fun it is to be a little slut.”

“My slut,” Lester corrected her.

“Mhmmmmhmmm,” Sarah kissed the head of his cock lovingly, “I didn’t say that.”

“Now you are talking about sharing me. Sharing me with other men we’ve encountered. I don’t know Lester....” Sarah trailed off, biting her lip. She continued to rub her pussy against his shin. It felt good. It was feeling really good, but she couldn’t get enough of it. Couldn’t stop herself from talking like this.

“The idea of being bad,” She ran her manicured fingers up and down his shaft, “Just turns me on. So much. Whether it’s with you or someone else, I think you might have created a monster.”

“Ughhhh,” Lester groaned, her words twisting inside his head. He had corrupted her, but what if he lost control of her? Lost control of the little monster he had created.

“You wouldn’t,” Lester breathed, feeling his cock twitching in her grasp, “You wouldn’t fuck those guys. What would your husband say seeing you behave like that?”

“Mhmmhmmm,” Sarah purred, her lips vibrating against his cock, “I thought we weren’t supposed to care what Dan thinks?”

She smiled devilishly, her hips continuing to grind against his shin. She could feel an orgasm starting to build as her clit rubbed up and down his hairy leg, “Besides,” she whispered, “I think he’d like to watch.”

With that, Sarah dived back down and brought Lester’s cock back into her mouth. She lowered herself down as far as she could, her mouth opening wide to take as much of Lester in as she could. She felt his cockhead nudge against the back of her throat. Her gag reflex kicked in but she held still, pushing past it as the tip of his cock touched the top of her throat. Tears leaked from her eyes, streaming down her face. Then she pulled off and did it again. And again, “

Aaaggghck, ggmhmmmmmm, ghughhck, ghmmmm, hhh, gaaaggckggmgmmmm, oogghhggmhmggmm, gaamgggmm”

Lester's body shuddered as Sarah repeatedly devoured his cock. Wet slurping and gurgled moaning sounds filled the room as Lester's cock bottomed out in the back of Sarah's throat again and again. Finally, with a flourish, she pulled her mouth off his cock, a long strand of saliva connecting her lips and his trembling cock.

Precum oozed out of his cockslit, and Sarah leaned forward and licked it off.

"Are you going to cum for me, daddy?" Sarah said.

Lester groaned, "Would you really do that? Fuck those guys?"

"I'm not a liar," Sarah said, keeping eye contact with Lester as she lowered herself back down to his balls. Her eyes closed as she started to tongue his nuts, swirling her tongue around the bumps of his ballsack. His unkempt, wild public hair pushed into her nose and tickled her eyelids.

Lester's hands came up to the back of her head and ground her against him. Craving more of this feeling of her worshiping his cock and balls. Sarah slid her tongue down the underside of his balls until she found the top of the area under them, between his thighs. She started to twirl and lick his taint, causing his body to shudder.

Lester grabbed her head and pulled her against him, lifting his hips and pushing her head down. The movement caught Sarah off guard, and her tongue brushed against something with a coppery taste.

Lester held her head still, trying and demanding more of it, but Sarah pushed the desk chair back with her hands. It collided with Dan's desk, and Lester almost toppled out of his chair, losing his balance.

Earlier, he had taken over her blowjob, and she didn't want that. Not right now.

She stared at him hard, challenging his stare. She had been so close to another orgasm just then, and he had tried to take advantage. Give himself what he wanted. But what about her?

She needed to cum.

His disgusting body sat before her, covered in hair, lacking any definition. His beady eyes peered back at her, shocked by her sudden movement. Her eyes locked with his cock, and she knew what she wanted.

Sarah stood up and quickly closed the distance between them.

“What the fuck Sarah?” Lester said before she shoved his chair back against the desk again and slid her legs over him, the balls of her feet touching the floor, and she lined up his dick with her pussy.

“I’m going to fuck you,” Sarah said as she lowered herself down onto Lester’s cock, her mouth hanging agape, and she felt his wonderful cock spreading her apart. Lester seemed shocked by her actions, which made it all the sweeter for her.

Inch after inch of Lester’s spit-soaked cock disappeared inside the young mother until it was fully embedded inside of her. She looked down at Lester’s ugly face with contempt in her eyes and then kissed him. Hard. As she started to work her hips back and forth around his dick.

Lester just moaned into her mouth as Sarah fucked him in Dan’s office chair.

His hands found her ass and gripped her cheeks hard. He bit her lip and pulled on her ass while thrusting up, trying to set the pace. Sarah pushed down on his shoulder and ground her hips down, trying to set her own pace.

They struggled back and forth, keeping each other’s stares as each jostled for dominance.

Sarah pushed her body up and then slammed it down, taking his cock inside of her. Lester thrust up off the chair, pulling her down with his hands.

Lester felt a full loss of control. His mouth started slobbering all over her breasts as he tried to grip her shoulders and get better leverage to fuck her. Sarah grabbed the back of his head and guided his mouth to her nipple as she bent her back forward, ensuring her hips were in control.

They battled back and forth as they fucked. Suddenly they were fucking in unison. Lester gasped up at Sarah, who looked down at him with lust-filled eyes.

“Fuck Lester,” She moaned. “I’m gonna cum.”

“Uhhghhhh,” Lester groaned in response.

“Aren’t you going to cum for me too, daddy?” Sarah bit her lip, “Knock me up? Fill me? Isn’t that what you want? To claim me from Dan? Well, do it, Lester. Cum for me.”

“Fuck,” Lester growled, “I’m going to fill you up until it leaks out of you.”

“Do it,” Sarah said as she ground her hips down onto Lester. His hands were running all over her body. The chair dropped two inches, the gasket blowing out from their combined weight.

Neither of them stopped as both felt their rapidly approaching orgasms on the cusp of explosion.

“Arghghh fuckk, I’m gonna blow,” Lester grunted through his teeth as he felt his balls beginning to swell.

“Cum for me daddy,” Sarah groaned. His words were sweet in her ear. Knowing he was going to cum. Him trying to knock her up. His bare cock inside of her. She felt his cock begin to swell and knew any moment Lester was going to unleash a torrent of cum into her. Feel his hot, sticky cum, covering her insides. “I, I love your cock.”

The thought was too much and sent her over the edge. She clamped her eyes shut and saw stars as she felt an explosion inside of her. It washed over her body, causing her to clench her jaw and drive her hips down, taking all of Lester’s cock. The balls of her feet dug into the ground as she let out a primal screaming moan, “AMMGMHMMMFUUUUUCCCKCKKK.”

“Fuck, fuck —UHHHHHH,” Lester grunted as he unloaded deep inside Sarah for the fourth time that day. She was so utterly full of his cum now.

Both of them slowly fucked the other as they continued to experience lust-filled orgasms.

Sarah breathed and kissed Lester as he slumped back into the chair. They stayed connected, lightly kissing, each feeling lightheaded from the powerful orgasms that just wracked their bodies.

Slowly, Sarah tried to stand, disengaging herself from Lester. With a ‘plop,’ she was off his cock, and it slapped back down on his thigh. Cum started to leak out of her, running down her leg. Sarah rushed out of the room, and Lester heard the bathroom door shut.

He sat there, some cum covering his thighs, mixed with Sarah’s juices covering his crotch. Still trying to process what had just happened. Eventually, he lifted his head and checked the time.

It was getting late, but it wasn't that late. He thought if he had a few more minutes to recover, he could still fuck her one more time. Maybe after a quick nap. He wanted to fuck her prone again where she was stuck under him, milking his cock with her pussy.

Lester stumbled to his feet, gripping the arm of the chair for support. It spun around as he pushed off it, grabbed his phone from the bookcase, and shut off the recording.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 21

Sarah exhaled and looked around the board room. After her rough first impression with her new boss, Richard Thornhill, a few weeks ago, Sarah had made it her mission to rectify things. She was determined to put her best foot forward and show him and everyone else at the hospital how much of an asset she could be.

She had arrived early to every group meeting since that last week when Lester had visited, and today was no exception. Dan had given her the wake-up call she needed, reminding her how capable and driven she was.

Having him back in her corner helped ground her and put her back on the right path. She still felt embarrassed and somewhat disgusted about how she had just fallen to pieces and run into Lester's arms. The things she'd done with him at the hospital and in their home mortified her.

Sarah realized her thighs were pressing together at the thought. It wasn't that she regretted what happened with Lester. She'd enjoyed it all immensely. She just didn't like or recognize the person she became around him. Like some buried part of herself had been unearthed and had taken control. But now she had to put that part of herself away again, at least for a while. Work demanded her focus, especially given how difficult things were going for Dan.

Her colleagues started to filter into the room, taking their respective seats. Sarah smiled and greeted them while rearranging her laptop, pen, and notepad in front of her. She tried to place everything just right, demonstrating her professionalism and readiness to dig in and get to work.

The best strategy she could think of was to put her thoughts of Lester and her fantasy play with her husband on hold for the time being, at least until she left the hospital. She needed to focus on the here and now and get back to dominating the work day like she used to.

Most of her colleagues had taken their places around the table. All, like her, were early as Richard had demanded punctuality. A lesson she'd awkwardly learned after he'd criticized her in front of her colleagues.

Sarah let out a breath. She hadn't realized she had been holding it in, so she relaxed her legs. They'd been clamped together since her mind had drifted to Lester.

She moved the touchpad on her computer to wake it up and checked the time. The meeting should have started already. So much for Mr. Punctual.

Hypocrite.

Everyone else in the room was busy doing work on their laptops or checking their phones, though Sarah had caught a few glancing around, likely to see if anyone else noticed their boss's lateness. Usually, Sarah had a five-minute rule. She would wait five minutes for a meeting, and if the other person didn't show up within that time, she'd leave.

Easier said than done at the moment, though. She couldn't leave in front of all her peers and the new boss, who seemed extra critical of her.

She'd stay planted in this seat until someone else made the call.

Besides, she had her laptop, and she needed to catch up on dozens of emails.

After ten minutes of striving towards inbox zero, the door to the room flung open, and Richard sauntered in. He didn't seem to care that he was late. Sarah had done the math and roughly calculated how much his delay had cost the company in lost productivity.

"Hello everyone," Richard said, taking his seat, "How's everyone doing, anyone watch the game last night?"

Sarah smiled but wanted to roll her eyes. For the last few meetings, the first twenty minutes always seemed to be occupied by a subject that didn't matter to the running of the hospital. It irked her to no end, whether it was sports or some movie that he had just seen. Much of her anger was still directed at the board, who hadn't even interviewed her for the role.

Sarah looked around the room to see if anyone had an expression of disdain on their face. That's when she noticed two of her colleagues were missing. Marcie from HR and Jerry from IT. Both were usually just as punctual as she was, if not more so.

"Alright," Richard said, holding his hands up after a lengthy discussion about the Chicago Blackhawks. Let's get down to business. We need to go over some housekeeping. This morning, we made some personnel changes." He gestured towards the table.

"As you all know, we had that embarrassing IT breach before I came on board. Terrible and really preventable if you ask me," Richard said.

Sarah felt a tingling feeling at the base of her neck. “We rely on our IT team to prevent such things. It should never have happened. That’s why this morning we let Jerry go. I have someone in mind that could fill the role. We’d be lucky to have him join us.”

Sarah felt her stomach drop. Jerry was one of her closest allies and he was not at all responsible for what had happened. That had been the old CEO, Drew who had made some corrupt deal with Swan Systems. Jerry had been shut out of that decision entirely.

Her colleagues shifted nervously in their chairs. They all knew the truth, but they were keeping quiet. No one was going to stand up for Jerry now that he was gone, and no one wanted to be in Richard’s crosshairs.

“So we’re going to replace Jerry and overhaul the IT team, get a new head who’s going to rebuild the department from the ground up and bring it into this century,” Richard said. “Another strategic move is looking at our HR department. We need to be more nimble, hire faster, fire faster, and be willing to examine old, outdated policies to make this hospital run like a tech company. Marcie wasn’t cut out for that and was unwilling to make these hard changes, so we decided to part ways.”

His use of the word ‘we’ made Sarah’s stomach twist into knots. As if the rest of the group had any kind of input on the decision. Like they were also responsible for the dismissal. That was the heads of two departments gone. Both Jerry and Marcie had worked at the hospital for years. She was witnessing a paradigm shift happening right before her eyes.

Richard stood up and walked around the table. Like a lion stalking a group of zebras, trying to figure out which one would be his next prey.

His next victim.

“I expect,” he said as he moved behind Sarah’s colleagues on the other side of the table, “That we won’t need to make any more personnel changes at this level. Sure, we’re going to figure out where the fat is in each department and trim it. That’s just good business, ensuring each role gives this place a positive ROI. We can’t let leeches suck off our teats anymore.”

He rounded the table in Sarah’s direction, “But we also need to transform the hospital and how we do business. We need to look at slashing down how long we keep patients in our beds, look for better alignment with our drug partners to see new paths of revenue and honestly, really examine what sort of things we admit patients for.”

“But that’s going to start at the top,” He was just a few chairs away from her. Sarah steeled herself for him to disappear from her peripheral vision. “So we need new eyes and blood to help guide us there. That’s why we are going to have a new IT leader, who will be a direct report to me.

And for the time being, we’re going to streamline the HR team. We won’t have a head of HR but more of a managerial role who also reports to my team. It’ll just streamline things and ensure I have a much better idea of everything that goes on in this hospital.”

So he was consolidating power and eliminating any potential challengers.

Sarah was impressed and horrified at how easily and quickly he’d done it.

Richard disappeared from her view and she held her breath as he walked behind her.

“By this time next year, you won’t even recognize this hospital,” Richard said. Sarah slowly exhaled, realizing that Richard had stopped behind her. Her chair swiveled as she felt his hands come to rest on the top of her chair.

“We’re going to make this place into an extremely profitable business and erase the memories of the IT nightmare you’ve all just endured.” His hands dropped down her chair until they came to rest on Sarah’s shoulders. His fingers started to push into the material of her blouse.

“Why so tense, Sarah?” Richard chuckled from behind her, eliciting similar nervous chuckles from around the room, “I swear I can feel the knots in your shoulders. You need to relax. This is all good news.”

Richard’s fingers started massaging her shoulders through her blouse. His unwanted fingers exploring her shoulders as he feigned kneading them.

Sarah had never felt so uncomfortable in front of her peers. And she had no one to turn to. Normally she would have gone to Marcie in HR but she was gone and it seemed like Richard was getting ready to stack the hospital with yes men who reported only to him.

“You’re so tense, Sarah,” Richard said, his hands leaving her shoulders as he continued walking around the table. “You don’t need to worry about anything anymore. All of our problems are in the past, and we’re on a bright new course here. I’m sure you’ll enjoy it just as much as I will.”

“Now, let’s dig into this week’s priorities,” Richard said, taking his chair at the head of the table. Hmmm, let’s start with cardiology. Go.”

The head of cardiology began to speak, but Sarah didn’t listen. All she wanted to do was get out of there. She couldn’t wait to go back to Chicago and visit Dan.

Dan couldn’t help but admire Jesse’s office’s well-put-together appearance. His company clearly didn’t pull any punches when decorating its offices. He loved the wood desk and small couch, along with a tasteful coffee table and wall art. But it was the view from the windows that made the office. The sprawling view of downtown Chicago was impressive.

It was everything Dan had wanted when he moved to the city, but now it was beginning to feel like a pipedream.

“Are we boring you, Dan?” Byron’s voice said from the computer monitor.

Dan turned his attention back to the screen. Jesse sat beside him, looking at the monitor.

“Just admiring Jesse’s office,” Dan shrugged, “Sorry, what did I miss?”

Byron rolled his eyes, “You know how I threatened to get you fired and burn you with my network if you refused to help? Well, I’ll do the same thing if you just phone this in Dan. Got it?”

“Understood,” Dan said, “It won’t happen again.”

“Sir,” Byron grinned, “Say ‘it won’t happen again, sir.’”

“It won’t happen again...sir,” Dan clenched his fist.

“Good,” Byron said, “I’ve sent over some specs for you to look at.

Nothing sensitive, more of a laundry list of things we’ll need. Get on sourcing them at competitive bids.”

Dan opened up Byron’s email on his phone and looked over the list, “This is great and all Byron but it’s like pieces of the puzzle without seeing the entire picture. I won’t know how everything works together unless I get the full context.”

“Later,” Byron said, “For now, this is what I need you to do. When you come to Minneapolis, we’ll go over things in more detail.”

“Let me ask one question,” Dan said.

“Shoot,” Byron said, checking his watch. He grabbed a glass from off-screen containing a dark liquid and took a savoring sip. It wasn’t even lunch yet.

“So this suburb that you have planned. You want self-generating power, its own water reclamation, and for it to be self sustaining? Is it going to be near a water source or hooked up to a municipal line? Do you want some kind of redundant backup power or will you have it switch over to the grid in case something goes wrong? Besides building it, what about things like waste collection and –”

“That wasn’t one question, Dan,” Byron held up a hand, “Just do your job.”

“This is me doing my job,” Dan said, “These are things you are going to need to think through and figure out before you can build this new subdivision.”

“Obviously. What I’m telling you is to focus on the work I give you.

Right now, it’s to look over the specs. Save the questions for later. I have to run to another meeting,” Byron said.

Dan felt his face flush with anger. He didn’t like the way Byron was talking to him, and he sure as hell didn’t like being kept in the dark.

An amused look spread across Byron’s face.

“Dan,” he started, “Clearly, you’re upset. And I get it. You’re boxed in and trapped. You got outplayed. I would hate to be you right now. But that’s just it, isn’t it? I’m not you. I’m on the other side of this mess you’ve found yourself in. So, a word of advice.”

Byron took another long drink from his glass, making Dan wait.

“Ah, that’s good,” He said, looking at the glass before putting it down,

“Now here’s the thing. And I’ve seen it a hundred times before with people shit out of luck like yourself. This is the part where you’re going to try to find a way out of this arrangement and do something stupid. Maybe it’s that you quit your job and try to move back home.

Maybe this is where you try to change industries and start over. I'm sure there are plenty of dumb ideas cooking in, your busy brain, but here's the advice."

"Don't," Bryon said, "Just sit back and take it. It'll be easier that way. You don't want to try to get out of this and fuck with us."

Byron leaned back in his chair, "For example, this next meeting I'm going to. We're there to discuss a hostile takeover of a leading accounting software company. They have a better product, better team and are all around better than what this arm of our business offers. But we've been attacking them and dismembering them for months, slowly bleeding them dry. My colleague found a really interesting opportunity and took full advantage of it. Now we're going to take them over, integrate their operations, fire some of their employees and the ones we want to keep, and they won't be going anywhere anytime soon."

"Sounds pretty cutthroat," Dan said.

"We are," Byron said, "Which is why you should be careful. Get on our bad side again, and you may just find that the real estate division here buys up all the homes around yours, and we'll rent them out to crackheads.

We'll tank your neighborhood and then buy out the rest of the homes for pennies on the dollar. It wouldn't be the first time."

"But," Bryon said, "I'm sure it won't come to that. You're a smart guy.

You'll do what's best for your family. Ta-ta."

Byron pressed a button, and the video call ended.

"You can see yourself out, right?" Jesse moved around the desk and took his normal seat.

Dan left Jesse's office and made a beeline for the elevator. It was time to do something that Byron would consider dumb. Dan wasn't sure how much of what Byron said was true and how much of it was just him trying to be intimidating. Either way, Dan wasn't just about to roll over and take it.

Not when this asshole threatened his family and already had alluded to his interest in Sarah.

As the elevator doors opened in the building's lobby, Dan checked his watch. He was still early.

"Hello Dan," a non-descript man wearing a sharp suit took the seat across from Dan. The Starbucks was busy and no one looked in their direction.

Even though there were plenty of business types sitting around them or getting their orders, he couldn't help but think that the man across from him looked out of place. It wasn't the way he dressed but rather his mannerisms and the way he carried himself.

"Peter," Dan extended his hand, and the man shook it. Peter had been the man who approached Dan with an offer to spy on Byron and the Lincoln Group. An offer that Dan had turned down at the time, thinking that the Lincoln Group was behind him. But now that Byron had re-entered his life, Dan needed to see what options Peter might present.

"So, you said something had changed in your email?" Peter said, getting right down to business. He hadn't even ordered a coffee.

"I'm back in with the Lincoln Group," Dan said, "Working with Byron. Just talked to him less than an hour ago. Working on a secret project of theirs."

"Secret project, huh?" Peter leaned back, looking disinterested, "Sounds interesting."

"It is," Dan looked at him. Peter was looking around the coffee shop, seemingly uninterested in Dan.

"What's going on, Peter?" Dan said, "Last time, you seemed quite eager to get me to work with you, but now you're acting like you aren't interested. What gives?"

Peter chuckled. Dan guessed that most people didn't talk to him so bluntly. Either the guy wasn't interested, or he was putting on a ruse.

The fact that he even took the meeting meant he was interested.

"Well, after our last chat, I was disappointed that you couldn't see your way to work with me," Peter said, "So I found someone else who could help me accomplish my goal with the Lincoln Group. Quite frankly, I don't need you anymore, Dan."

Dan felt his plan falling apart below him. He thought that this Peter guy might be able to offer him the lifeline he needed to get out of this mess with Byron. But if Peter had already found somebody else, that meant he wasn't needed at all. He was alone and stuck doing whatever Byron and Jesse wanted....

Dan could feel himself smiling. Peter noticed and shifted uncomfortably in his seat. Then Dan laughed hard. Peter looked around, clearly not happy that Dan was attracting the attention of others around him.

"You recruited Jesse, didn't you?" Dan said as he tried to stifle his laughter. "You have Jesse as your spy."

"Quiet," Peter hushed, "When you said no, I had to look at other options."

"Alright," Dan calmed himself, "Well, I want back in on the deal we discussed last time."

"Like I said, Dan, I don't need you anymore," Peter leaned in and said quietly.

Dan leaned in and said, "I think you do. I think you have started to realize just how unintellectual Jesse is. And you wouldn't have even taken this meeting if you weren't looking for other options."

Peter's shoulders slumped before he recomposed himself and spread his hands open on the table, "I'm always open to taking meetings, Dan."

"Well, how about this then?" Dan said, "I don't think you give a shit that you have Jesse in play. The only thing you care about is results. If I get you what you're looking for, you pay me. Simple as that."

"And why do you think you'll get results over Jesse?" Peter said.

"Because Jesse doesn't know his ass from his nose. You need someone to understand what they are building over there." Dan said.

"Actually, I don't," Peter said. "I have much greater ambitions than just one project of theirs."

"So what is it you want then?" Dan asked.

"I need you to plant something in Byron's office. That's all." Peter said.

"Plant what?" Dan asked.

"That depends," Peter said, "Are you committing to this path?"

“For two hundred thousand dollars, I am,” Dan said.

“Two hundred thousand?” Peter said.

“Yes, I thought corporate espionage was supposed to pay well. Besides, I know that two hundred K is a drop in the bucket of the Lincoln Group’s operation. I heard a little about all the verticals they are in today. If you’re going up against them, your backers must have some serious cash, too.”

“Fine,” Peter said, sighing, “Well played.”

The man reached into the breast pocket of his jacket and pulled out a small envelope. He slid it across the table to Dan.

“Don’t open it here,” Peter said. “Just put it away.”

Dan put the envelope in his briefcase, “What is it?”

“It’s a simple keylogger. Looks like a normal USB with Lincoln Group branding. I need you to stick it in Byron’s computer in his office. The back of his computer so that he doesn’t see it. I’ll get someone else to retrieve it after a few weeks.”

“So this keylogger,” Dan said, “It’ll record Byron’s passwords and stuff?

I would’ve thought it was a virus or something.”

“It’ll record everything he types. So I’ll know not only his passwords but everything he writes. All those secret projects and beyond will be ours. The Lincoln Group’s IT team would likely catch a virus like that.

We’ve tried in the past. This USB is much less nefarious and shouldn’t raise any alarms.”

“Besides,” Peter continued, “As much fun as it would be to cripple them with a virus, it will be just as much fun doing the other things we have planned for them.”

“Like what?” Dan asked.

“That’s not for you to know, Dan,” Peter said, standing up, “Just do your job and get it installed.”

“You know,” Dan said, “That’s the second time someone has said that to me today, and I’m getting tired of it.”

“Oh well,” Peter said, turning to leave.

“Just one more thing,” Dan said. Peter, looking tired of the conversation, turned around.

“What do you have Jesse doing? Is he supposed to do the same thing?” Dan asked.

Peter let out a long breath. “Yes, that was what Jesse was supposed to do, as well as report on Byron. Unfortunately, your colleague has yet to visit Byron’s offices despite his pleading to do so. I hope you have better results.”

With that, Peter turned and walked out of the coffee shop, leaving Dan to mull over his next course of action. As much as he hated the idea, he may have to travel back to Minnesota and meet with Bryon sooner rather than later.

Dan slung his backpack over his shoulder and locked his bedroom door behind him. He didn’t want Lester looking through his things while he was gone. He hadn’t seen Lester since his roommate had caught him looking at apartments. But he still heard him shuffling around in his bedroom and noted that the dishes were steadily piling up in the sink.

Dan was heading home for a few days before returning to Chicago with Sarah. He still wasn’t sure what to expect having her back in the apartment. Lester had been suspiciously quiet since their last interaction. Sarah had even said that Lester had stopped messaging her.

Still, parts of Dan’s mind stirred at the possibilities. While he had forced Lester off Sarah and threatened him, he couldn’t help but still picture them together. This fantasy felt like a drug that Dan’s body still wanted, even though he was trying to cold-turkey his way out of it.

He wondered how hard Lester would try to fuck Sarah after Dan had put him in his place. If he were Lester, that would make it all the more rewarding to get with her. He shook his head, trying to dislodge the thoughts of them moving together as he went to open the apartment door.

A knock from the other side stopped him in his tracks. Dan gripped the doorknob and opened the door, “Hello?”

“Hey there, is Lester around?” An older man was standing at the door. Dan couldn’t place his age but ballparked it at somewhere above fifty and somewhere below sixty five. He had a slim build with a small pouch of a gut. His wispy salt and pepper beard connected with slim sideburns into his hair of the same shade. Dark glasses covered his brown eyes and he was a head shorter than Dan. There was a nervous energy about the man.

“Uh, I don’t know,” Dan said, “Can I help you?”

“I’m Frank, the building manager. Just here to deliver this,” Frank held out an envelope. His hand was shaking slightly. Maybe nerves or some kind of condition. Dan eyed him suspiciously but took the envelope.

“I’ll make sure it gets to him,” Dan said.

“Good. Rent’s going up a bit. Not my fault. Building owners said it’s a market correction,” Frank turned, seemingly in a hurry to depart. Dan noticed that he wasn’t carrying any other envelopes and wondered why he hadn’t just left them in the mailbox.

Dan shut the door behind him and opened the envelope. His eyes bulged when he saw the rent increase. It went up by much more than he had expected. Even though he only paid half the rent, it was still a steep surprise. Then he remembered Lester was still covering his portion of the rent. They hadn’t discussed whether the deal was fully off or not. After their last encounter, it seemed kind of up in the air.

This letter will likely prompt Lester to broach the conversation. Dan left the letter open on the kitchen table before leaving the apartment and heading home to Middleton.

Lester scoffed from his command center, watching on the camera as Dan shut the door on their building manager. An evil grin spread across his face as he watched Dan’s eyes bulge at the letter’s contents.

He reached out and grabbed a new bag of Cheetos and pulled it open. With a look of lust, he lowered his nose into the bag and inhaled. The artificial cheese scent filled his nostrils. Lester leaned back and exhaled, sticking his fingers into the bag, retrieving a handful of the delicious snack, and shoveling it into his waiting mouth.

Lester groaned as his teeth munched the Cheetos, and their heavenly cheesy flavor danced over his taste buds. From a video feed on his screen, Dan left the apartment. He was on his way back home to his nice little family. From the calls Lester had overheard, Dan would return in a couple of days with Sarah in tow. It had been too long since Lester had taken her in his bed.

He itched his hardening cock through his basketball shorts, spreading Cheeto dust onto them. Dan was becoming an increasing pain in the ass.

Lester thought back to the way that Dan had grabbed him by the throat and thrown him out of the house. The disrespect of it. Lester shoveled another handful of Cheetos into his mouth as his mind went back to the pathetic way that he had acted afterward in his car.

He didn't want to think about that. He leaned forward, grabbed the mouse, and navigated to his browser. He had reacted like a child. The same way he did back when he was in school. How could he come so far only to regress to that state? To that weakling, he'd left behind? No. That wasn't who he was anymore. And he would show Dan just what he was capable of.

Lester navigated to the fake email account he had set up. After months of searching, he finally found someone who checked all the boxes he was looking for: pliable, motivated by money, in a desperate position, easily manipulated, rough around the edges, and not as well endowed as Lester.

Initially, Lester had considered bringing in one of the members of his DND guild to assist him. Ultimately, the others lacked what he was looking for. They would all crumble under Sarah. The only one that might work was Eugene, but he wasn't about to let him near his prize. He had already beaten the man and put him in his place—no need to give him false confidence or anything else, for that matter.

If Dan was still going to put up a fight, it was time for Lester to advance his plans. Sarah and Dan both had their pressure points, and Lester planned to exploit them—Sarah's weakness about being exposed to others and Dan's desire to see his wife exposed. While Sarah seemed under his thumb, Dan appeared to have grown acclimated to Lester's presence. It was time to change the variables.

Lester smiled when he saw that his new friend had answered his email. He clicked on Vernon's unread email.

It read: Hell yeah, I'm in. I want half up front. She looks sexy as fuck.

When?

Lester suppressed a smile. It was almost too easy. Having attached a few pictures of Sarah sealed the deal. Nothing too risqué, just a couple of pictures Sarah had left behind for Dan when he moved into the apartment.

The ones that Lester rightfully made copies of. The juicier ones were for him alone. But Dan wouldn't have approved, which made it all the better for Lester. He typed a response.

You'll get paid when the job is done. She'll be back in the next few days. I want to meet tomorrow and go over a few things. And just remember. No touching. Your job is just to watch.

He fired off the response. The pawns were moving into place. They would collide upon Sarah's return to the apartment.

"Anything?" Dan asked as he sat on the couch looking at his laptop.

"Not in your price range," Sarah said from the loveseat, scrolling through her phone, "Everything is so much more expensive than it was the last time we looked for apartments."

"I know," Dan said, scrolling through more listings. "I'm just so tired of looking through these same places, hoping for a unicorn apartment to pop up."

"There are some that fit the price range, but they aren't in the city center like you are now. They are out far and look a little sketchy."

Sarah said.

Dan looked over at his wife. Even in her sweatpants and a hoodie, she looked sexy as hell. The loose-fitted clothing didn't do anything to hide the tantalizing curves of her body. His eyes trailed up her legs, which were propped up on the arm of the couch. He looked at her fingers scrolling on the phone and then her lips. It had been some time since he had relieved himself, and he was having difficulty concentrating on anything but his wife.

The kids were tucked into bed after a fantastic dinner Sarah had put together. Tomorrow, they'd be dropped off at their grandparents' house before Sarah joined him on a drive back up to Chicago.

“What?” Sarah asked, catching him looking at her.

“Just appreciating how sexy of a wife I have,” Dan smiled.

“Pshhh I’m in sweatpants and my hair is a mess,” Sarah said.

“Sexy is sexy,” Dan replied.

“Well, maybe if you play your cards right, we can go upstairs for some alone time after we find you a place.” Sarah smiled mischievously at him before returning her attention to her phone.

“It’s pointless,” Dan said, “I’ve been looking for days. There just isn’t anything available. We should just give up and go upstairs I think.”

“Nice try, Romeo,” Sarah said, “Give me a few more minutes. If we can’t find anything, maybe we can at least reach out and try a lower offer. You never know.”

“Doubt it,” Dan replied, “I think a lot of these landlords are just bumping up their rates to match everyone else. Market correction.”

“That’s what your building manager said, right?” Sarah asked, “The bastard.”

“He’s just doing his job,” Dan said, “But it was weird. He seemed to have a jittery kind of energy.”

“Maybe he just hates delivering bad news or he’s bad with people. Who knows?” Sarah continued focusing on her phone.

That could be the case. Just a socially anxious guy. But Dan couldn’t help shake the feeling the timing seemed too convenient. He’d never met the building manager before. Sure, maybe they never crossed paths and Lester usually dealt with him. But having him just come by like that so soon after Dan had spoken to Lester about moving. It could be a coincidence or could be something else.

It didn’t make sense that Lester would try to get rent increased would it?

“Sarah, what about Lester? Do you think he could have had anything to do with the rent increase?” Dan asked.

“Lester?” Sarah said, “I don’t think so. I mean, he’s paying all the rent now. Why would he want to pay more? He’s definitely manipulative but I don’t see what he gains from it. Why?”

“The timing seems awfully convenient,” Dan said.

“Well, maybe he is trying to get rid of you so some hot young blonde could move in instead.” Sarah suppressed a smile from behind her phone.

“Oh yeah?” Dan laughed, “And where would he find one of those? If only he knew one.”

“Dick,” Sarah said, finally looking up from her phone.

“I win,” Dan pumped a fist into the air. “If only I could win at finding an apartment. Maybe we should think about a different approach.”

“What do you mean?” Sarah asked.

“I’m tired,” Dan said, “Tired of hustling at work for peanuts. Tired of this new bullshit with Jesse and Byron. Just tired of living in Chicago and being away from you guys. What if we just forget about Chicago, and I move back home? See if I can find something else here or a remote job.”

Sarah set down her phone, “Dan, you know that is all I want, right? To have you back? Me and the girls would love that. It’s just that... I don’t know about right now. Things at work feel so, delicate right now for me I don’t know, I’d be worried about you moving back and trying to find something only for me to get fired.”

“It’s that bad right now?” Dan asked.

“It’s looking pretty bleak,” Sarah said, “Not only did they fire Jerry and Marcie but they’ve been releasing lower-level people across all departments. Asking every department head to find deeper cost savings.

I’m worried administrative staff will be next. I haven’t really been able to show my value to the new CEO.”

“You will though,” Dan said, “I know you will. That place wouldn’t run without you.”

“I’m just worried I won’t have time to show that. I’m just trying to keep my head down right now,” Sarah sighed and put her phone down.

“Are you that worried?” Dan asked.

“I am. I don’t know. I don’t know what’s going to happen.” Sarah said.

“Well maybe it’s time you start looking around. At least see what’s out there.” Dan said, “Maybe we both should be.”

“You may be right.” Sarah said, “As much as I want one of us to have a secure job, it is kind of nice knowing I’m not in this alone – you know?”

A slight grin lit up her face.

“I get it,” Dan said, “No matter what, we’re both in this together. That goes for everything we face. Whether it’s shitty bosses or shitty roommates like Lester, we’ll figure it out together.”

“You seem to keep working Lester into the conversation,” Sarah was staring at him intensely.

“Not on purpose. Just some of the frustrations and stress that keeps rolling around in my mind.” Dan said.

“Mhmmmm really?” Sarah put her phone on the couch and swung her legs onto the floor. She stood up and slowly walked towards Dan until she stood just before him. “Tell me what’s frustrating you.”

She took his laptop and placed it on the table next to her. Then she moved onto the couch with him, straddling his legs. She pushed herself down onto his crotch and her sweatshirt-clad breasts were dangerously close to Dan’s face, “What’s stressing you out?”

“God,” Dan said, his hands running up to her ass, kneading it, “You feel so good on me.”

Sarah grabbed his hands and removed them from her ass, “Not yet. Tell me what it is that has you so stressed out.”

Dan sighed, and he rested his head back on the couch. Sarah’s body started to move back and forth over his crotch slowly. He could feel himself getting hard, “Work.”

“Mhmm, come on Dan, tell me,” Sarah leaned forward and whispered in his ear. Her hot breath caused goosebumps to raise across his neck, “What about work is stressing you out? Or should I say, who is causing my baby stress?”

God, she felt good, and he loved when she teased him like this. Her voice sounded so sultry and dripping with sex. He mumbled, “Jesse and Byron, I need to figure a way out of that.”

“Mhmmm, yes, you do,” Sarah said, “Do you remember what you said a second ago?”

“No, what?” Dan asked, his eyes closed.

“That we’re in this together. No matter what. We’ll tackle our problems together?” Sarah asked.

“Yesss,” Dan breathed. He had an idea of where Sarah’s mind was going.

“Mhmmm, well, what if I help you with your work problem? Maybe I’ll fly to Minnesota and help pacify them for you? Do you think that would work?

Do you think there is anything I could do to make them back off?” Sarah asked and then glanced down at her own body, her suggestion clear.

“Uhhhhhh,” Dan’s mind wasn’t working correctly.

She leaned forward and licked his ear, “I’ve seen how they look at me, Dan. I know what they want. And I know you do, too. Do you want me to solve your problems for you?” She let her weight fully press down on her husband, grinding herself against him.

“Fuck,” Dan moaned as his cock grew rock hard, pressing against Sarah.

“I can feel your dick under me, I’ll take that as a ‘yes.’” Sarah said,

“What else is stressing my baby out? What else can I help you take care of?”

“Lester....” Dan breathed, “We need to figure out the Lester situation.”

“Mhmmm, I’m surprised you brought him up. Especially after how things went last time. I didn’t think you’d want me playing with him again.”

Sarah breathed and gave him a light peck on the cheek.

“I don’t. I – don’t,” Dan leaned back, trying to push his hardening cock against his wife. “Fuck Sarah, I’ve been trying to be good with this, but you’re not making it easy.”

Sarah smiled mischievously, “I’m sorry it’s so hard. I know, I’m being a bad girl.”

“I don’t like losing control. The way I do when you’re with Lester. It’s like I just freeze up and watch you getting...” Dan groaned, feeling his wife grind herself on his cock.

His mind was reeling with memories, unable to focus on a specific moment of his wife and roommate enjoying each other.

“Is that just with Lester, or do you think it would be that way with someone else?” Sarah asked.

“I don’t know,” Dan said, “I want to explore other things besides stuff with Lester. I feel like our fantasy is starting to center only around him.”

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned, her eyes closed. She seemed lost in the feeling of rubbing herself up against Dan’s dick. “Well, he has been the only one you’ve let me play with. And he has done a very good job at it. A very thorough job.”

Dan groaned at her admission. The way she talked about this fantasy and toyed with him always got his heart beating faster as more and more blood needed to be directed to his dick. “Well, what should we do about Lester?”

Dan pushed his hips up again, his dick pressing against his wife’s sweatpant-covered pussy. She drew in a sharp breath in response.

“Mhmmmm, no,” Sarah purred, “You tell me, what does my husband want me to do? I’ll do whatever you want.”

Dan just sat there staring at his wife. Unsure how to respond. He didn’t know what he wanted. His brain was a mixture of guilt, arousal, anger, and a deep desire to see his wife with someone else. Someone so below her, like Lester. Someone he couldn’t stand. That combination made it all the sweeter.

“I can’t move home yet. Your job is precarious,” Dan breathed.

“Uh-huh,” Sarah said, reaching down to grab the bottom of her sweatshirt and peeling it off over her head. Dan sucked in a breath. A lacy purple bra came into view. He hadn’t realized that was all she was wearing under it. His eyes danced over her exposed skin, watching her magnificent breasts rise and fall in time with her breathing.

“I can’t find a new place. Rent anywhere else is too high, and my rent is about to go up. I’m stuck with Lester,” Dan said. “And we have our deal.”

“What deal is that?” Sarah breathed, staring down at her husband. The way her lips were slightly parted as she waited for Dan’s response was incredibly sexy. He didn’t know how she did it. How she made her face look so sexy. Her ‘fuck me’ eyes bore into his soul, lust painted across her features.

“You know the deal,” Dan breathed.

“Tell me,” Sarah said.

“Lester pays my half of the rent,” Dan finally managed to say, “And, uh, fuck.” Sarah had increased the pace of her grinding on his lap.

“And what?” Sarah said.

“In return,” Dan said, “He gets to take you out on dates.”

“Is that all?” Sarah said, “Just dates?”

“That’s all we agreed to,” Dan said. “But it usually ends up with him between your legs.”

“Mhmm, he does manage to find a way to get me every time,” Sarah bit her lip, “And for all his faults, he does a really, really good job.”

Sarah abruptly got off her husband. Her hands found the waistband of his pants and yanked them down to his ankles. His cock was making a tent in his boxers. Sarah pulled off her pants and panties in one swift motion.

Dan awkwardly pulled off his boxers just in time for Sarah to climb on top of him.

She grabbed his cock and positioned it at her opening as she slowly lowered herself down on it.

“Ahhhhhh mhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned as Dan’s cock disappeared inside of her.

When his cock was fully embedded inside of her, she said, “What do you want, Dan? Do you want to keep going with Lester’s deal? Do you think he’ll still honor it after how you treated him last time?”

“Fuck, I don’t know what I want,” Dan breathed, “But I know he’d still honor it.”

“Why? Why should he after the way my husband manhandled him and threw him out on his ass?” Sarah breathed, staring deep into Dan’s eyes.

“Because,” Dan said, bucking his hips up in time to meet Sarah’s, “Any man would be an idiot to turn down a woman like you.”

“Damn right,” Sarah’s hands felt herself up, moving over her stomach, grabbing her breasts until she found her head. Her manicured nails pushed into her hair, cradling the back of her head. She pushed her breasts forward towards Dan. He leaned forward and licked at her exposed skin, his tongue dancing over the swell of her breasts. Whatever wasn’t covered by her bra.

“So what’s your final decision? Do we keep going with Lester?” Sarah said. “Maybe now that you threw him on his ass, he’ll know who’s in charge.”

“Fuck,” Dan breathed, “Maybe.”

“Maybe?” Sarah said as she moved up and down Dan’s cock. Her pussy was gripping his cock hard.

“I.I....fuck Sarah, you feel good,” Dan’s hand grabbed her hips and pulled her down onto his cock.

“Mhmmaahhhhh Dan!” Sarah moaned.

“Fucking Lester,” Dan said, “I don’t know what I want. Fuck. I hate seeing his stupid face, but I feel addicted to seeing you with him. I don’t know if it would be different with someone else. Maybe it would be the same. Maybe it isn’t about him. I don’t know.”

“Even when I saw you in our bedroom. And what you told me from before.

All those times I didn’t know about. Fuck, it’s dirty to say, but all of that still got to me, as much as I’m still pissed over it.” Dan said as he started to fuck Sarah faster.

“Mhmm fuck baby, don’t stop. Keep going. Punish me for being a bad wife.”

Sarah said, “I deserve it. I’ve been so bad.”

“God,” Dan said, “I love it when you’re bad.”

“Mhmm I don’t want to be bad without you. Not again,” Sarah said, “This is all for you. For us. Lester is just a toy.”

“Fuck that’s hot,” Dan moved his hands to her ass and gripped both of her ass cheeks, pulling her towards him. Sarah fell forward, dropping her hands onto the top of the couch on either side of Dan’s head. Her hair fell forward onto him. Sarah opened her eyes and looked at her husband.

“I love you so much,” Sarah said.

“I love you too,” Dan breathed, “Fuck Sarah, I’m getting close.”

“God Dan,” Sarah moaned as she started to buck her hips, faster and faster, “Cum for me baby. I want to feel it. Cum for me, Dan.”

“Are you close?” Dan said breathlessly.

“Just don’t stop. I’m almost there,” Sarah was bucking her hips wildly on Dan’s cock. He thought his hips might be bruised tomorrow because of how hard she was slamming down onto him,” Mhmmm, Dan, fuck me. Fuck you feel so good. Almost there. So close. Don’t stop.”

“Say it again,” Dan said, “What is Lester to you?”

“Just a toy. A stupid fucking toy.” Sarah said, “He’s my fuck toy.”

“Ah fuck,” Dan felt his balls tighten, “I’m gonna cum.”

“Cum for me, daddy!” Sarah roared as her nails dug into the couch.

“FUCK DAN!” Sarah wailed as her body tensed on top of him. Her pussy had his dick in an iron grip as he felt himself explode inside of her.

“MHMM FUCK,” Sarah moaned as Dan emptied his balls inside of her. Her legs had his body in a vise grip as she came on top of him. Dan closed his eyes and disconnected from all his senses, except for the feeling of his cock buried deep inside of his wife, feeling her body tense up as she came with him.

They didn’t move for a long time. Finally, Sarah rolled off of him, cupping her pussy so that his cum wouldn’t spill out. She grabbed a handful of Kleenex from the living room table and held it to herself, hoping to prevent his cum from staining the rug.

“Jesus,” Dan muttered to himself.

“I’ve missed you too,” Sarah said, leaning back down to kiss him. Dan pulled her back down to the couch and kissed her gently for a few minutes, both enjoying being in each other’s arms.

Sarah broke the kiss and nestled against his chest. They stayed like that for some time. Just listening to the other breathe, feeling each other’s body against their own. Finally, Dan broke the silence.

“I think,” he started, “For right now, we still need Lester. Just for a short time.”

“Are you saying we should continue with him?” Sarah asked, “Even after everything that happened here and at the hospital?”

“I’m still not happy about that, even though it did turn me on,” Dan said, “I think Lester got a wake-up call when I threw him out. And you and I are in a better place. I’ll be there to stop you from spinning, whether it’s work or other stuff. I know you won’t play with the fantasy without me.”

“I won’t,” Sarah said. “You know I won’t. Not after everything we’ve been through.”

“We need to stay in control of what’s happening,” Dan said, “We call the shots. I know you enjoy what Lester does to you. I love watching you go wild with it too. But like you said, he’s just a toy.”

“We should keep working,” Sarah said, “On looking for a new apartment for you and figuring out your work situation. Fixing it. Lester should only be a temporary thing until we get the rest of our life back in order.”

“Yeah,” Dan said, “He’ll keep paying the rent in exchange for dates, which fuels our fantasy, and we will control. Then we figure out the next steps to get out of there and put this all behind us.”

“And get you back home.” Sarah said, “Or me and the girls come and live with you. Either way, I just want us all to be together.”

“That’s all I want, too,” Dan said.

Sarah turned her head to Dan and kissed him again, “I love you, Dan Williams.”

“I love you too, baby,” Dan said, closing his eyes. He felt himself starting to drift off.

“We’re in this together,” Sarah said, “You’ll help me figure out my work stuff, and I’ll help you figure out yours.”

“Yeah,” Dan said, trying to stay awake, “We just need to buy some time.”

Part of Dan’s brain tickled him awake, “Did you call me Daddy?”

“Maybe,” Sarah snorted, “I think so. Did you like it?”

“I did,” Dan said as he started to drift off to sleep.

“I mean, it sounds like something from a spy movie, Dan,” Sarah said as she stretched her arms and legs in the passenger seat. “Who does this Peter guy work for?”

Sarah curled up in the passenger seat of their car as Dan drove them up the 80 into Chicago. The kids were staying with her parents again. Sarah was nervous. Her nerves weren’t a result of their conversation but of what might lie ahead for them in Chicago. She felt like she was walking into the lion’s den, but she couldn’t figure out whether that excited her or not.

“I have no idea. He’s been pretty cagey about it. But it doesn’t seem too difficult. Just need to plug something into the back of Byron’s computer.”

“And he’s gonna pay you two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for that?”

Sarah said, “It seems almost too good to be true.”

“I don’t want to put all my eggs in one basket here,” Dan said, “But we should at least consider it.”

“Is corporate espionage illegal?” Sarah asked, “Can you get in real trouble for this?”

“That’s...,” Dan started, “Probably a smart thing for us to look into.”

“Okay well let’s at least explore it a bit,” Sarah said, “Have you ever been in Byron’s office before?”

“Never,” Dan said.

“Okay so if you don’t get invited in, you need to do some kind of spy moves or something to get in there unnoticed and plant the bug. It sounds risky.” Sarah said.

“It might be,” Dan said, “I just haven’t been able to think of another way out of this. I keep applying to new jobs but I’m not hearing anything back.”

“How are your freelance clients?” Sarah asked.

“All of them are doing good, actually,” Dan said, “I’m just so fricking exhausted. I wake up early and work on freelance stuff, then head to work and put in a few more hours each night for the freelance clients. I try to get some time during the day, too, but I don’t like to do it at the office.”

“That makes sense. Probably good not to,” Sarah looked over at her husband. He looked incredibly sexy, the way the muscles in his arms were tight as he gripped the steering wheel. “Do you think you’re getting to a point with that work where you can quit working for Walt?”

“Maybe,” Dan said, “Sentinel is paying well. I think I would be more comfortable making that leap if I had a couple more like that.”

“Well, let’s see if we can get you some more clients. Maybe this weekend I can look on LinkedIn and find companies that might be a good fit?”

Sarah asked, watching the traffic stream into the city ahead of them.

“I’d like that,” Dan said, turning his head to look at her. It’s nice not being in this alone, having you watching my back, helping me out.”

“I like being part of it too,” Sarah said, “Just seeing another industry and how other companies operate.”

“What about you then?” Dan asked, “What will we do about your creepy boss?”

“Pfft,” Sarah laughed, “Don’t pretend that him creeping on me doesn’t turn you on. But thank you. I don’t know. I really don’t. I underestimated him at first, but he quickly took power and pushed out people who might possibly be obstacles to him. No one can question him now”

“Hey, it’s one thing to creep on my wife with my permission. It’s an entirely different thing if he tries to do it on his own,” Dan said.

Sarah laughed and shook her head.

“But seriously,” Dan’s tone became somber, “We’ll figure out how to fix it. Even if that means looking elsewhere.”

“I know,” Sarah said, “I just put so much of myself into that place. I’d hate to leave it. But it is changing into something else.”

They drove in silence for the next few minutes, both of them staring out the windshield. The busy highway was filled with vehicles and healthy traffic in both directions. It was a warm day, and it seemed like plenty of tourists were heading into the city, while the urban dwellers were heading in the opposite direction.

“When do you think you’ll have to go to Minnesota?” Sarah asked.

“Not sure. Probably soonish,” Dan said.

“Want me to come with you?” Sarah asked.

Dan sighed, “Well, your presence has been requested.”

“Oh yeah,” Sarah said, “Speaking of creeps. Well maybe while you’re busy dazzling them with your business stuff I’ll sneak in and plant the bug.”

“Just don’t let Byron catch you,” Dan said, looking at the road.

“Oh, don’t worry,” Sarah’s voice grew mischievous, “If he does, I’m sure I can handle him.”

Dan turned his head to look at his wife and saw her staring at him. She looked like she was ready to pounce on him and straddle him while he was driving.

“I’m sure you could,” he finally said.

He looked back at her one more time before turning his attention back to the road. “We’re almost there,” he said.

Dan turned on his blinker and took an exit off the highway. The couple drew closer to Dan’s apartment building with every passing second.

“What do you think Lester will say when we get there?” Sarah said quietly, “Do you think he’s still going to push to continue the deal?”

“100%,” Dan said, “You’re smoking hot, and you’re the best thing that ever happened to his sad little life. I wouldn’t be surprised if he pushes for a date tonight.”

Sarah squeezed her thighs together, hoping Dan wouldn’t notice—the thought of Lester taking her tonight. The thought had crossed her mind many times today, but hearing Dan say it out loud made it feel much more real.

“We’ll figure this out too, Dan,” Sarah said, “It’s just temporary.”

“I know,” Dan said as he turned into the apartment’s parking lot. He found an empty spot and turned off the engine, “I’ll grab our bags.”

The elevator doors opened, and they walked out into the hallway, heading toward Dan's apartment. Sarah felt her breath grow short and her heart felt like it was beating out of her chest. They both knew what they were walking into when they crossed the threshold of that apartment.

Dan pulled the carry-on suitcases behind him, trailing slightly behind Sarah. He couldn't help but stare at her gorgeous ass as it swayed back and forth, pushing against the material of her tight jeans as she moved.

There was no way Lester wouldn't try to pounce on her the second they got into the apartment. And Dan wasn't entirely sure how he felt about that.

He talked through a lot of things with Sarah. He felt that they were in a good, secure place to move forward confidently with their fantasies, but part of him still felt uneasy about everything. It was a constant tug of war inside himself. The last time, he felt like he had finally slain the dragon by taking control. Was he just deluding himself into thinking he still had control if it happened again?

Sarah unlocked the door to the apartment and stepped through, holding the door open for Dan. Once more unto the breach. Dan stepped into the dimly lit apartment. He switched on the light, and the familiar furniture and decor came into view.

"Let's get unpacked," Sarah said, taking her carry-on suitcase from Dan and heading towards his bedroom.

After the couple finished settling in, they both took seats on the living room couch. Both had their phones out while talking, and they looked up different restaurants and activities they could do while Sarah was visiting.

As much as the apartment represented her wanton fantasies coming to life, Sarah was more interested in just getting away from her job for a bit. A different location with new things to keep her busy was just what she needed.

"What about Chinese?" Dan said.

"We always pick that same place," Sarah said, "I want to try something new that I can't get back home."

"Alright," Dan said, "Let's keep looking."

"Have you had a Chicago deep-dish pizza yet?" A male voice said from behind them.

Sarah and Dan's heads turned around towards the hallway where Lester was standing. He was wearing his oversized basketball shorts with orange stains on them. He had no socks, but his oversized shirt hung off his body, tightening around his stomach. There was a picture of a vintage joystick from the 80s with text that read 'Come play with my joystick.'

The rest of Lester didn't look much better. His face was unshaven and mangy. Coarse pube-like hair covered his neck and face. It met his thinning, greasy hair. Dan could only guess how many days it had been since he washed it. His beady eyes looked over the couple.

"Lester," Dan said flatly, then shifted his attention to his wife. You know, I don't know if Sarah ever had that."

"I can't remember ever having it," Sarah said, "It always sounded kind of gross, to be honest. Way too much dough."

"Don't knock it 'til you've tried it," Lester said with a wry smile,

"There's plenty of things I'm sure you didn't think twice about, but once you had a taste, you couldn't stop."

Dan rolled his eyes, and Sarah blushed. Sarah turned back to Lester, "Is there something specific you're referring to?"

"I think you both know what I'm talking about," Lester said.

"Well, then say it," Sarah challenged.

Lester narrowed his eyes at Sarah and walked into the room. He moved around the side of the couch, past Sarah, until he stood before them.

"This," he said gesturing to the three of them, "I'll admit, at first even I wasn't sure about it. I was happy to bed you Sarah but I was worried Dan was going to try some of that gay shit."

"What the fuck," Dan scoffed. "At no point did I ever say anything about that."

"Well, when I read online about it, that's what I thought it was about."

Lester said, "But I think we've all gotten something out of this that we enjoy. Me getting to fuck a beauty like Sarah. Bonus points that it's your wife, Dan."

“And you like seeing her have sex,” he said, looking at Dan, “Seeing her pleased beyond anything you could possibly give her.”

“That’s a little much buddy,” Dan stood up to meet Lester’s eyes, “Don’t push your luck. The only reason you’re involved in this at all is because we allow you to be. After the shit you pulled last time, you’re lucky I didn’t push you out of the house harder.”

“I may have gotten carried away, but can you blame me,” Lester said, gesturing to Sarah, “How could I pass up the opportunity to crawl up between those legs.”

“That’s enough,” Sarah said, standing up to join the posturing men, “I’m right here, okay? I don’t need you talking about me like I’m some kind of object. Lester, I wasn’t in the best headspace the last few times, okay?”

What we did shouldn’t have happened. Those times were a mistake.”

“Were they?” Lester said, “You had a need and I was there to fulfill it.

Simple as that. You can dress it up however you want but that’s what happened.”

“It was a mistake,” Dan said, “Leave it alone. We’re moving past it. I suggest you do, too.”

Lester chuckled, “It’ll be hard to forget. But I’ll try my best.”

The three of them stood there awkwardly, not knowing what to say to one another. Dan could feel the sexual tension in the air. Sarah tried not to look directly at Lester, but it was hard not to. She felt her nipples pressing against the material of her bra, her body responding to just being in his presence. Once, he was just Dan’s awkward roommate, but somehow, now she just associated him with sex.

“So,” Lester finally broke the silence, “I saw the letter from the landlord. Rent’s going up. You find a new place to live yet?”

“Not yet,” Dan said, “And yeah, that rent’s going up by a bit.”

“More than a bit,” Lester’s eyes looked Sarah over.

“Are you still good with the deal, Lester?” Sarah asked.

Lester raised an eyebrow and looked at both of them, “Maybe. I’m surprised you’re still interested.”

“For now,” Dan said, “It’ll still work for now.”

“I don’t know,” Lester said, “I was worried you would change your mind,”

Lester said, looking at Dan. He added, “That you would get upset at seeing me tangled up with your wife and get violent. You just did that the last time. I don’t want it happening again.”

“That’s because you went behind my back,” Dan said, “If we continue down this road I need to be there and be in control.”

“I don’t know,” Lester looked at Sarah, “I’m always going to be waiting for a punch to the back of the head. I’m not sure I’ll be able to give you what you need if Dan’s always hovering over our shoulders.”

“This is what we want,” Sarah said, “We need to be in control of this. It isn’t negotiable.”

“Everything is negotiable,” Lester said, “You’re also forgetting the fact that rent has gone up. The deal has changed. I need to pay more out of my pocket now. You’re getting a free place to live in exchange for a few dates. I don’t think it’s fair anymore.”

“What are you getting at Lester?” Sarah asked.

“I want us to drop the illusion,” Lester said, “Let’s put our cards out on the table and call it like it is. It’s not just dates. It’s sex. Mind-blowing orgasms for Sarah and you want to watch it. So where I’m sitting, you’re getting a bonus from the deal.”

“Have you seen Sarah?” Dan said, “The fact that you’re even negotiating terms is absurd.”

“Sarah doesn’t help my bank account,” Lester said. Not yet at least.

“If we keep going with this deal, I want to spice things up a bit,”

Lester said.

“What do you mean by spice things up?” Sarah asked. She could already feel herself growing wet at the idea of an unknown element Lester was talking about.

“I haven’t thought it all through,” Lester lied, “But I want to make suggestions about how the ‘date’ nights could go. Maybe you agree to do a dare while we are out.”

“I can’t promise I’ll agree to everything,” Sarah said. She looked at Dan, “But we can at least consider them. What do you think?”

“Sure,” Dan said, “But we still get veto rights to anything we don’t like.”

“Fine,” Lester said, holding out his palm to Dan. Dan looked at it with disgust but reluctantly reached out and shook it. Lester’s palm felt sweaty and Dan winced in disgust. Lester let go of Dan’s hand and turned to Sarah. He extended his hand out to her.

Sarah’s manicured hand reached out and met his. She felt an electric jolt run through her body as their skin touched. Lester gave her hand a couple of pumps before a grin spread over his face. He pulled her arm forward.

Sarah stumbled as her body crashed into his. While she was still getting her bearings, Lester’s mouth pressed against hers, his tongue sliding in.

Sarah felt her body melt against his, and she opened her mouth up wider, accepting his tongue as it danced with hers. It was only when she heard herself moaning into his mouth that her brain seemed to catch up with her body. She pushed herself off of Lester and spun to look at Dan. He was standing there, clearly shocked.

“What the hell?” Dan said.

“Didn’t I make that clear?” Lester said, “That we drop all the pretense.

We all know this is about sex. From now on, I’m not going to rein myself in.”

“That’s not what we agreed to,” Sarah said, “We said more spice, that’s what we said.”

“Well nobody told me to stop,” Lester grinned, “So is tonight or tomorrow going to be our date night? I could really go for some pizza after all of this. I’ll order it.”

Dan and Sarah exchanged a look.

“Tonight,” Dan said, “Let’s get this over with.”

“Alrighty,” Lester smiled wide, “I’ll order a pizza in a bit. One thing, though, is that I do have a friend stopping over later on. We can continue our date night after he leaves, okay?”

“I didn’t think you had any friends,” Dan said.

“I do,” Lester, “Don’t you remember? You let one of them watch me fuck your wife.”

“Okay,” Sarah interrupted, “There’s enough testosterone in here. Sure Lester. Whatever. Later works.”

“Great, what do you want on your pizza?” Lester said.

Sarah resisted touching her lips where Lester had kissed her. Lester had left them alone, retreating back to his bedroom. She wondered what he did by himself in there all the time. She knew he played video games, but there must be more. She thought of his bed and shook her head, trying not to let her mind go down that path.

“Did we just make a big mistake?” Dan said looking at where she was sitting on the couch. He was across from her in one of the large comfy, leather side chairs. “I still can’t believe we’re doing this. With him. I don’t like how vague that word ‘spice’ is.”

“We can handle him,” Sarah said. She wasn’t sure if she believed it, but it felt right to say. “Whatever the spice is, we’ll figure it out.”

She licked her lips, tasting where Lester’s lips had been, “Besides...”

Sarah started, her eyes shifting to give her husband that sexual expression she knew drove him wild, “We might just have fun with whatever this spice is.”

Dan shifted uncomfortably in his seat, clearly struggling with a growing erection. Sarah scooted down the couch until she was close to him. She leaned forward and looked at him, “Didn’t you say you wanted us to keep exploring this together?”

“I do,” Dan breathed, “I just don’t want Lester trying to push us towards our limits.”

Sarah eyed him mischievously, “Who said I have any limits?”

“Fuck,” Dan said, “Stop, you’re too bad. I can’t handle it.”

Sarah laughed and leaned back, clasping her hands together, “You’re too easy!”

“I know,” Dan said.

“We’re in this together, honey,” Sarah said, “We’re in control, remember?”

We can always stop things from happening.”

“You’re right,” Dan said, “I guess we should figure out what we’re going to be doing tomorrow. I don’t want to think about what’s going to happen the rest of tonight.”

“Mhmm, I do,” Sarah smiled, leaving Dan breathing hard.

“I don’t want to lose control again,” Dan said to Sarah as he poured himself a coffee. Sarah was leaning against the counter next to him. “I just don’t want to feel that way.”

“I know. I get it,” Sarah said, “But that doesn’t mean you should stop yourself from enjoying this part of yourself. You just need to get a better handle on it.”

“Maybe...” Dan started before he trailed off, hearing Lester’s door close.

His fat, unkempt roommate’s plodding feet smacked against the wood floor.

Dan peeked out into the living room, and sure enough, Lester was heading in their direction.

“Ordered the pizza a while ago,” Lester said, his hungry eyes locking on Sarah’s body, “App says it’ll be here in fifteen minutes.”

“Good,” Dan said, “I’m starving.”

“Me too,” Sarah said.

“I made sure to order you extra sausage,” Lester raised his eyebrows at Sarah.

“Smooth,” Sarah rolled her eyes. Lester just shrugged his shoulders and walked into the kitchen. He opened the fridge and pulled out a can of Coke.

Cracking the lid open, he took a long sip before turning to the couple,

“Time for the spice.”

“What do you mean?” Dan put his coffee on the counter and crossed his arms, “You said the date wasn’t starting until after your friend leaves.”

“Oh, Dan,” Lester shook his head, “You have so much to learn about women.

This is all part of the foreplay. You should really learn about it sometime if you ever want to satisfy your wife.”

“I know what foreplay is,” Dan said, turning his body towards Lester.

“Well, clearly you don’t – ” Lester started before Sarah interrupted them.

“What spice are you talking about for tonight?” Sarah said.

Lester turned his gaze towards her, “I bought you something. I want you to put it on.”

“See,” he said, looking back at Dan, “Nothing too spicy.”

As Dan opened his mouth to speak, Sarah said, “What is it?”

“It’s a surprise,” Lester said, “I left it for you on my bed. Come on, I’ll show you.”

He gestured towards the hallway and started walking. Sarah began to follow him before Dan said, “Wait.”

Lester and Sarah both turned to look at him. Dan stepped into the living room and sipped his coffee, “Sarah can get changed on her own, Lester.

You stay here with me. Let’s sit down.”

“You really don’t trust me?” Lester feigned hurt.

“Nope,” Dan said. “I’m sure Sarah can find whatever you left for her.”

“Whatever,” Lester dismissed as he took a seat on the couch. Sarah turned and headed towards the hallway. As she passed the threshold, Lester added, “Oh, and put on what I left there. Nothing else.”

“Nothing else?” Sarah asked, “What about my –”

“Nothing else,” Lester looked at Dan, raising an eyebrow, “Take it all off and put on my gift.”

Sarah closed Lester’s door behind her. It had been some time since she had been here, and it looked like Lester had been letting himself go. The room smelt musty as she tip-toed in to look around. The room was a mess.

Dirty clothes covered the floor, plates piled on Lester’s desk, and even an open family-sized bag of Cheetos.

She cast a gaze around the room and shook her head. How could I let someone who lives like this fuck me?

Everything about the room screamed nerd. From the posters about video games to the miniature painted figures that seemed to decorate his desk and dressers. How someone like this managed to fuck so good, she had no idea.

The more she looked around, the more the room matched Lester's troll-like appearance. Her gaze finally landed on the messy, unmade bed, and Sarah found herself glued in place, staring at it. Lester might have a lot of nerdy hobbies, but there was one hobby he was exceptional at. The one single thing that he and Sarah shared in common.

Her eyes scanned the pillows and sheets, memories flooding into her brain, bending over the side of the bed or Lester crawling over her, putting on a performance for Eugene in front of the peephole.

Sarah's gaze finally settled on the present Lester had left for her. She stepped over a pile of dirty clothes to the bed and ran her hand over the lacy material. Dan was going to lose her mind when he saw her in this.

She shook her head at the lack of resistance she seemed to have to Lester's commands. Before, this would have been something she considered; now, though, she just agreed without a second.

Sarah peeled off her top before unclasping her bra. Her nipples already felt hard, knowing she was doing exactly what Lester had commanded. Sarah let her bra drop onto the floor alongside Lester's dirty clothes. Then, she lowered her pants and panties in one fluid motion, stepping out of them.

Once again, she was naked in Lester's room. Her body heated up at the thought. Sarah held up the clothing Lester had left for her and looked it over. Dan really was going to drop dead when he saw her in this.

The two men sat in silence, neither looking at the other. Lester sat on the couch, staring at the ceiling impatiently. Dan sat on a nearby chair, scrolling through his phone while sipping coffee. After a few minutes, they both perked up when they heard the door to Lester's bedroom open.

Dan could hear her soft footsteps on the floor as she approached. He first noticed purple when she stepped into the living room. A deep, sexy purple covered her figure. Purple and her tan skin. He felt his heartbeat pick up as he looked over the sexual goddess in front of him.

Sarah was draped in a purple babydoll-style robe. It hung loosely at the wrists, running up her shoulder before dropping into a deep v down between her breasts. Thicker lace trim adorned the edges. The two sides are connected with the flimsiest pieces of purple lace string in a knot.

From there, the robe flared out to the sides, running down to her hips and exposing matching purple lace panties that only had thin pieces of material running between the front and back. The rest of the robe ran down to just about her ankles.

But the most captivating part of it was that it was made of sheer lacey purple material. It left nothing to the imagination. Dan could see her skin underneath the robe, and his eyes felt like they were going to pop out of his sockets when he saw her naked breasts on display through the translucent material.

“Jesus Christ,” Dan muttered, not taking his eyes off his wife.

“What do you think?” Sarah walked into the room, ignoring Lester, and approached her husband. She turned to the side, flashing him her ass. The panties were more of a thong, and he had a great view of the sides of her breasts. “Too much?”

“Too much?” Dan said, “There’s barely anything to it.”

“That’s the point,” Lester said from the other end of the couch, “I knew you’d look great in it.”

“It feels sexy,” Sarah said, looking at herself in the mirror, “Do you like it, Dan?”

“I do,” Dan finally said, “I’m just wondering why Lester had it on hand.”

“Oh, I spend a lot of time thinking about your wife,” Lester grinned, “I couldn’t help but buy it for her.”

“It’s a little cold in here,” Sarah said, crossing her arms over her chest. “I’m gonna go change back into my sweats.”

“No, you aren’t,” Lester said, “You’re going to wear that all night.”

“No way,” Sarah said. “It’s too cold, and besides, your friend is coming over.”

“Yeah, Lester,” Dan added, “Not going to happen. Remember who’s in control, right?”

Lester looked at his phone and grinned, “This is the spice I was talking about. That you agreed to.”

Dan opened his mouth to say something, but a knock at the door stopped him.

“Pizza’s here,” Lester smiled, “Sarah, why don’t you get it? Here’s some cash.” He handed her a few bills, “You choose what kind of tip he gets.”

A shocked expression passed over Dan and Sarah’s faces. Both of them stayed frozen in place, Dan in the chair and Sarah standing there with her arms crossed.

“Don’t keep the guy waiting,” Lester said.

Sarah and Dan exchanged a look. Another series of impatient knocks hit the door.

“I’ll get it,” Dan said, pushing on the arms of the chair to stand up.

“No,” Sarah said, shooting Lester a look. Like she had accepted his challenge, “I’ll get it.”

“Are you sure?” Dan said as he was bent over awkwardly, somewhere between getting up and sitting back down.

“I got this,” Sarah said to Dan, “You just sit back down and enjoy.”

Sarah met Lester’s gaze again before turning her attention to the door.

She sauntered over to it as the person on the other side knocked again.

She ran her hand up the door frame above her head until she was leaning against it seductively. Then she slowly unlocked the door and opened it.

A man who had to be in his fifties stood on the other side, looking impatient. His expression quickly changed when he caught sight of Sarah.

They locked eyes, and then his gaze immediately dropped, slowly scanning over her body. He let out a long, appreciative whistle.

Sarah had never felt so exposed. The sheer material of the robe let this strange man see everything. Any neighbors passing by would get quite the look too. The man looked exactly like someone who would creep her out.

He had a disheveled and dirty appearance. Bags under his eyes immediately said ‘heavy drinker’ in her mind. His frame was thin, and he had gray shoulder-length greasy hair with bushy eyebrows. His piercing blue eyes were also bloodshot.

“Heya,” he said leaning against the same door frame as Sarah, “Name’s Vernon. Has anyone ever told you how sexy you look?”

His eyes stayed glued to her breasts like there was some magic spell preventing him from looking anywhere else. He bit his lower lip, raised his eyebrows, and nodded to himself, “Uhmhmhmhmhm.”

“Where’s the pizza?” Sarah asked, confused.

Vernon’s gaze finally broke from her breasts, and he looked up at her face, “Pizza?”

Sarah could smell alcohol on his breath, “Aren’t you the pizza delivery guy?”

Vernon leaned back and looked over Sarah’s body again, his gaze trailing up her legs, to her panty-clad crotch before settling again on her naked breasts under the sheer material, “Honey, I can be whatever you want me to be.”

Sarah heard Lester’s fat feet on the wood floor behind her, getting closer.

He smiled, “Is this the part where you say you don’t have any money and have another way to pay me? Cause I’m ready.”

“Vernon,” Lester said, looking over her shoulder, “You’re early.”

Lester stepped up behind Sarah, and she felt his gut pushing into her back. She barely resisted wiggling her ass back onto his crotch.

“Well, you know what they say,” Vernon threw up his hands in a shrug.

Sarah and Lester both waited for him to finish his thought, but he never did. Lester grabbed the door and opened it wider.

“Come in,” Lester gestured towards the open room. Vernon stepped inside and looked the place over. He turned and looked hungrily at Sarah, his eyes feasting on her nudity beneath the robe.

His eyes continued to dart around the room, and he finally noticed Dan sitting in the chair, “Heh, some kind of party going on, huh?” He nodded to Dan in a knowing way.

“We thought you were the pizza guy,” Lester said as he closed the door,

“He should be here any minute.”

“I could eat,” Vernon said before beelining into the kitchen, “You got anything to drink?”

“Help yourself,” Lester said.

“I thought your friend was coming after!” Sarah said, crossing her arms over her chest and leaning against the wall by the door.

Lester shrugged, “Early, I guess.” He rechecked his phone, “The pizza guy should be here any minute now.”

Dan stood up and moved into the kitchen to keep an eye on this new guy.

Vernon was on his knees looking through one of the lower cupboards. The doors to the upper cabinets were all ajar.

“Ah,” Vernon said, “Tequila!”

He stood back up, holding a full bottle of tequila and several shot glasses. He turned around and saw Dan staring at him. Vernon flashed him a smile and walked past him, making himself at home on the couch. He started pouring tequila in all the shot glasses before throwing one back.

Dan turned to look at Lester, “This guy’s your friend? He doesn’t seem like the guys we met before.”

“Vernon and I -” Lester started.

“Oh yeah,” Vernon interrupted, “Lester and I go way, way back. Don’t we, buddy? Before all of this...” Vernon gestured to the apartment around them before settling in for another drink.

Lester shot Vernon a piercing glare, “Right.”

Vernon continued to kick back like he owned the place, quickly downing another shot of tequila. He noticed Dan looking at him. Vernon grinned, leaned forward and poured another shot before sliding it down the coffee table towards Dan.

The shot glass slid right off the table. It clattered to the floor and splattered tequila everywhere. Vernon didn't notice as he grabbed the remote control off the coffee table and turned on the TV. Dan just stared at him before getting up and going into the kitchen to find some paper towels.

"Lester," Sarah said quietly, "I'm not doing anything with your friend here."

Lester turned to her and licked his lips. He stepped up to her, pinning her against the wall as his hand started to play with her panty line,

"But you've already started. You answered the door, and he's already seen so much of you. You played nice when my D&D group was here."

"That was different," Sarah said quietly, "I wasn't dressed like this."

"That doesn't matter," Lester said.

"It does," Sarah disagreed. "Don't forget, Dan and I are in control of this. I'm going to my room to change."

Sarah made to move past Lester, but he held her in place, his fingers dipping into her panties. "It's cute that you are pretending to be such a good girl for your husband," Lester whispered, "But we both know it's just an act. I've seen how you looked at me today. I know you've been craving me. You haven't forgotten what we've done together, how we fit together. We both know who's really in charge here. I let Dan think it's him, but you and I both know that your body belongs to me. So I'll play along nicely but when it comes down to it, you'll do what I want."

Nodding slowly, Lester stepped away from Sarah, moving over to the couch.

Sarah stood frozen in place. She felt the wetness between her legs. The way that Lester talked to her. Commanded her. It was like he took her arousal and dialed it up to a level unreached before. She couldn't help how turned on she was and felt herself falling back into the familiar hazy sexual euphoria that came when dealing with Lester. She licked her lips, feeling like the game had started, and she couldn't help but embrace it and play her part.

Dan returned to the room with a beer and a roll of paper towels under his arm. He mouthed "Are you okay?" to Sarah. She nodded languidly and smiled at him reassuringly. Dan gave her a second look, as if to ask "are you sure?" Sarah winked back. Dan nodded, went to the floor, and quickly cleaned up the spilled tequila.

He turned back into the kitchen to throw out the soiled paper towel and Sarah followed him. Dan could see her nipples were erect underneath her sheer robe.

“You okay?” Dan said.

“Yeah, I’m fine. Just a little caught off guard.” Sarah shook her head.

Her breasts swayed under the material as she did. “I didn’t expect his friend to see me like this.”

“His friend’s a fucking loser,” Dan said, “Let’s call this off. Do it on a different day. Let’s go to the bedroom, and you can get changed.”

“No,” Sarah said, touching Dan’s chest. She lowered her voice, and a sultry look appeared on her face, “I thought you liked seeing me exposed.

Especially to men who aren’t worthy of me.” Dan looked down and saw his wife’s thighs pressing together.

“You know I do,” Dan hissed back, “But this...”

Sarah’s hand ran down his chest to his crotch. She rubbed it and could feel her husband’s hardening cock beneath. “Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned softly,

“I like what I feel, baby. Is that for me?”

“There’s no one else here,” Dan said.

“Do you like seeing me dressed this way? Letting the other men see everything?” Sarah leaned in and whispered, “I thought you wanted to expand this fantasy beyond Lester. Get around him. That’s what we can experiment with tonight. I’ll tease Lester and his friend for you. You can show off your sexy wife. This’ll be like dipping our a toe into other waters. What do you think?”

“I think you’re sexy as hell and I can’t believe I’m married to you,” Dan breathed, leaning against the table and pushing his cock into his wife’s teasing hands. “We’re still in control,” Dan added.

“Oh, baby, not quite,” Sarah whispered, her green eyes meeting his gaze, “I’m in control.” She squeezed him for emphasis.

Another knock came from the front door. Sarah went up on her tippy toes and kissed Dan hard before pulling away, her teeth gently biting and pulling his bottom lip before she released it. She turned around and walked out of the kitchen, with an exaggerated sway to her hips.

Dan followed, watching her perfect ass under the purple sheer material of her robe as it moved back and forth. Back and forth. He walked back into the living room as Sarah made a beeline for the door.

Lester was sitting casually in one of the living room chairs, but watching her intently. Even Vernon stopped drinking for a second and turned to watch Sarah move through the room. The wife put a hand on the doorknob and turned to look at her husband. She flashed him a sexy smile before returning to the door and pulling it open.

“Hey there,” Sarah said in a sensual voice. She looked the pizza delivery driver up and down, “What do you have for me?”

“Uhhh, your pizza,” the perplexed delivery guy said. He was somewhere in his twenties, dark-skinned, and couldn’t meet Sarah’s eyes. He kept staring down at the pizza box while occasionally darting his eyes to look at Sarah through his peripheral vision.

“Are you sure it’s mine?” Sarah asked, “What’s on it? Did I order extra sausage?”

The delivery guy gulped. ‘Uhhh,’ he fumbled to look at the accompanying piece of paper, “Sausage, green onions, bacon, mushroom.”

“That sounds right,” Sarah leaned against the door and bit her lip.

Seeing how nervous she was making this poor delivery driver excited her.

She had always enjoyed the effect she had on men, but lately, she’d grown to like it more. Using the voice she usually reserved for Dan or Lester, putting herself on display like this and seeing him squirm. There was something powerful about it. She was beginning to want to explore it more. The eyes of the three men in the living room were completely focused on her ass, which Sarah pushed out seductively, seemingly aware of the attention.

The pizza delivery guy stood there, clutching the box, trying to keep his gaze from Sarah’s body.

“I have a question,” Sarah said stepping off the door frame and sliding her hands onto the pizza box to grasp it. As she did the guy’s hands retracted to the edge of the box, as if he was afraid of her.

Sarah looked over the man’s dark skin. “If I order chicken on my pizza next time,” she was staring at his face, while he stared down at the box,

“Do you use white meat or dark meat?”

“I, uh, I don’t know,” the man said.

“That’s a shame,” Sarah said, “Because I only want dark meat. Do you think that’s possible? To deliver me some dark meat?” She kept a questioning look on her face - as if she expected nothing but an answer to her question.

The man’s knees seemed to buckle at her comment, and Sarah’s smile widened, breaking the ruse. “This is the part where you give me the pizza.”

He let go of his grip on the box, and Sarah smiled, turned around with her back to the door, and bent over, placing the pizza down on the floor inside the apartment. The man’s eyes feasted on her thong-clad ass through the sheer material. As Sarah stood back up, he averted his gaze, searching for something else to stare out. Without the pizza box in his hand, he didn’t know where to look.

Sarah turned around with a predatory smile, “What do I owe you?”

“Thirty-five, seventy-five,” he mumbled.

“Okay,” Sarah said, counting out the bills Lester had given her. “And how do you want your tip?”

The man stayed silent, paralyzed at speaking out a response. Sarah waited patiently, but the man couldn’t respond. Sarah stepped up to him, just inches away from his body. He had been staring down at the ground around the bottom of the door, but Sarah had stepped into his gaze. His eyes had no choice but to look at her body in front of him.

Sarah looked left and right, feeling excitement course through her body.

She was standing, exposed in the hallway, wearing nothing but a sheer robe. Any neighbors that poked their heads out would be able to see her practically naked body.

Opening her hand she took out the bills Lester had given her. She slowly counted them, “Ten, twenty, forty, sixty. Sixty. Is that enough?”

The man didn’t move, he was staring at her chest through the robe, mesmerized.

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah faked a little moan, “I’ll take that as a yes.”

She folded the bills up neatly and then reached down to the guy’s jeans.

She found one of his front pockets and slowly tucked the bills into it.

The delivery driver shuddered at her touch, and Sarah smiled at the outline of his cock jutting against his pants.

Sarah stepped back and turned to go into the apartment. As she did, she looked over her shoulder at the stunned delivery driver whose eyes were glued to her ass. “Have a great night,” she said, “I know I will.”

Then she disappeared behind the door, leaving the driver standing there alone with an arching boner, wondering if what had just happened had really occurred.

“I shoulda been a pizza guy,” Vernon was staring over the couch at Sarah, who was bending over to grab the pizza. She looked at her husband standing just outside the kitchen, clearly turned on by her flirtation with the delivery driver. But Sarah wasn’t done teasing, far from it.

Holding the pizza box, she walked over to the couch area where Vernon and Lester were sitting. “And why’s that?” Sarah said to Vernon.

“To fuck hot girls like you who ask what I want for a tip,” Vernon said, looking her up and down.

Sarah chuckled, “That’s all just part of the game, dear. I wouldn’t have touched him. He was cute, though...” She shot Dan a wide-eyed, lustful look. Sarah then strolled around the couch, passing Lester whose eyes were glued to her, and Vernon who, while staring, seemed to adjust himself. She placed the pizza down on the table and opened it up, saying, “Dan,” Sarah looked at her husband, “Could you please grab us some plates, honey?” Dan gulped and nodded his head, turning back to the kitchen.

“Dinner is served, boys.”

“No need,” Vernon said, driving into the pizza with his hands and pulling out a slice. A stream of orange oil dripped from it and landed on his shirt as he took a bite. Lester followed suit, grabbing his own slice.

Sarah waited as the two men ate, pretending not to notice their eyes on her.

Dan returned with some plates. Sarah took them and set them down on the table. She put a pizza wedge on one and gave it to Dan before getting one for herself. The four of them ate in silence. Dan felt like the apartment was filled with tension under the sound of Lester and Vernon’s chewing.

Even though no one spoke, he knew exactly what the men were thinking.

He hadn’t expected this. Any of this. When he and Sarah were driving up, he’d expected something might happen with Lester, but the whole thing with the delivery driver and with this random friend of Lester’s was not something he’d imagined. The way Vernon was looking at Sarah and that she seemed to be playing into it. Dan really wanted to see what she might do next. It reminded him of the Dungeons and Dragons night when his wife was on display to other men. She seemed to be enjoying herself and Dan couldn’t help but get turned on when she acted like this.

He was still in control, he told himself. He could indulge this desire without letting it get out of hand.

“I like your outfit,” Vernon said to Sarah, looking her up and down.

Sarah pretended to miss a lot of subtext to that comment.

“Oh, thank you,” Sarah gestured to her robe, “Lester bought it for me.

What do you like about it?”

“I like the color purple,” Vernon said, “And I like the way your breasts look under it. They’re perfect.”

“Why thank you?” Sarah beamed at him and set down her plate, finishing her pizza. She turned and looked at Dan, ‘What about you, Dan? Do you like the way my breasts look in this robe? Didn’t Lester choose well?’

She smoothed the garment with both hands and pushed her chest out.

Dan gulped and looked his wife over, “They look great.”

Lester was still hungry, but he didn't go back for another slice. He dirtily smeared his hands on his shirt and watched what was unfolding in front of him.

"So Lester did good?" Sarah asked.

"He did," Dan said.

"Maybe he needs to be rewarded," Sarah said, shifting her gaze to Lester.

She looked back at her husband for any objection but saw none. Just the silent look of extreme arousal painted on his face. She knew he enjoyed this. They'd had their bumps in the road lately, but she wanted to find a way forward and have everything she wanted.

Sarah slowly stood up, not breaking eye contact with Dan. Then she turned and slowly started to move towards Lester. She wanted to dial up the tension in the room even more and slowly pass by Lester's friend. Then she intended to grab Lester by the hand and take him back to his bedroom where Dan could watch through his peephole.

Sarah made her way past the table with the open pizza box on it. She ignored Vernon and kept her focus on Lester. As she moved past Vernon and was just about to round the corner of the table, she felt rough hands on her hips, pulling her backward.

Sarah landed on Vernon's lap. Her succulent naked ass pressed into the thin, flimsy material of her robe as her weight settled on Vernon's crotch. Sarah was momentarily caught off guard, squirming against the man's calloused hands and lap. Then she felt it.

All of her squirming had awakened something within the man's pants. Sarah stopped moving as she felt his bulge press directly against the opening of her pussy. Vernon quickly capitalized on Sarah staying still, his hands running up her body until he grabbed both of her sizable breasts through the wispy robe. Then he used his right hand to find the edge of the robe's sheer material. His furtive paw dug beneath the see-through screen, snaking around to cup Sarah's bare breast.

Sarah's breath sounded a sharp intake at the unexpected intimate touch.

Her hard nipples pressed themselves into the man's calloused hand. She turned her head to look at Dan, a startled and aroused expression on her face. Her husband shot to his feet.

"Vernon," Lester hissed.

“Oops,” Vernon said, pulling his hand out of Sarah’s robe and holding it up innocently, “Be more careful whose lap you fall into, dear.” He patted her shoulders gingerly as if he hadn’t just groped the gorgeous young mother.

Sarah watched the arousal spread over Dan’s features. She’d momentarily lost her bearings but had now regained them. Dan was still hesitant about all of what was occurring, even though she knew he wanted to keep exploring it. It was her job to walk the tightrope and make sure everyone got what they wanted.

Without breaking eye contact with her husband, Sarah shifted her ass on Vernon’s lap and sensually leaned forward, rising up so that her ass was on perfect display for the grungy older man. As he was just about to reach out and grab a handful of her luscious ass, Sarah stood up completely straight and moved around the corner of the table out of his grasp.

She moved behind Lester’s chair and put his arms around the fat man’s shoulders. She stared at Dan, “Hmmm, now, just how should Lester be rewarded, I wonder,” Sarah mused, “This robe is beautiful. And I haven’t received a gift like this from my husband in a long time. What do you think Dan? How should I reward your roommate?” She gently rested her chin on Lester’s head, betraying her deepening need to be in contact with his ugly body.

Dan just sat still, watching the scene unfold in front of him. His hand was in a fist, trying to stay in control like he had the last time in his bedroom. But he felt his grip on his own control slipping. First seeing Sarah wearing the sheer robe his roommate had gotten her, basically walking around the apartment naked, had gotten his mind thinking in overdrive. Then she’d answered the door for this weird stranger who was now sitting on the couch. And then flirting with the pizza guy. Now she had just toyed with him, sitting on this stranger’s lap before moving behind Lester’s chair and putting her hands on him. It was like an arousal overload in his brain. He didn’t know how he wanted it to play out here but even more enticing was not knowing what his wife was about to do. He needed to see what she did and had no intention of stopping it.

“How about a kiss?” Sarah said, looking intently at Dan. She held his gaze until she lowered her head and kissed Lester on the cheek. Lester, too late, turned his head to kiss her on the lips, but she pulled away, standing back up and staring at Dan. Her hands moved down from Lester’s shoulder’s to his chest, stroking his coarse hair with a promise of more to come, and then she stood back up, her hands returning to his slumped shoulders.

“I think I know just how to reward you,” Sarah said, stepping beside the chair and taking Lester’s hand. She kept her eyes locked on Dan’s as she spoke to Lester, “Let’s go back to your room where I can reward you properly.”

Sarah tugged on Lester’s arm, expecting him to get up and follow her, but he continued to sit in the chair. Lester looked between Dan and Sarah and then slowly pulled himself up to stand. He grabbed Sarah by the hand and pulled her back towards his girth. Sarah’s body crashed into his and Lester held her there against him for several seconds while he looked at Dan, his massive gut pushing into her, her firm breasts pushing into him.

Then he turned his attention to Sarah, his hands grabbing the hair on the nape of her neck, causing her to open her mouth in protest.

Lester’s tongue rolled out of his mouth and he slowly lowered it towards Sarah’s, giving her ample time to not reciprocate it.

Dan watched in fascinated horror as Sarah’s taut body was pulled against Lester’s. His disgusting tongue slowly plunged towards his wife’s face.

Sarah seemed to have given up on keeping eye contact with him as Lester firmly tilted her head back. She was breathing hard, judging by how her crushed breasts were rising and falling.

He watched intently as Lester’s tongue drew closer and closer to her lips. With a mix of arousal and disgust, Dan watched as his wife’s perfect lips parted, letting Lester’s large tongue invade her mouth.

Immediately, her body seemed to react to the sloppy kiss. Her body came alive and turned more towards Lester, her hands reaching out to caress his upper body. Dan could hear her moan into Lester’s mouth, even as his roommate’s large mass turned and shielded her from his view.

He could only see his wife’s hands on Lester’s back as she struggled to stay upright. Then he watched as her leg inched up and curled around Lester’s thigh.

“I’m taking my reward,” Dan heard Lester’s gravelly whisper to Sarah, and then it sounded as if his tongue continued to maul her mouth. Sarah only moaned back in agreement, seemingly capitulating to whatever Lester wanted. Lester’s hands assumed free reign to roam all over Sarah’s tight body.

Vernon looked entranced at what was happening. Dan swore the man was drooling from the way his mouth hung open. Part of Dan wished that Sarah and Lester would return to his dingy room, away from this guy’s prying eyes. But the same part of him that had let Eugene watch through the peephole was excited by the prospect of the new guest seeing his wife on display like this. Becoming a wanton slut for someone like Lester.

Lester turned Sarah around, his lips still hungrily locked onto hers.

Sloppy, wet kissing sounds filled the room, and both men could see the wife actively thrusting her tongue back into the short man's mouth.

Lester had Sarah's robe undone, his hands squeezing her bared ass and breasts voraciously.

Vernon, eyebrows raised, looked over his shoulder at Dan, "That's your wife?"

Dan showed no hint that he'd heard the man, not wanting to take his eyes off the obscene coupling in front of him. Lester turned Sarah around so that her knees pressed uncomfortably into the comfy leather chair he had been occupying. He kissed the back of her exposed neck, an area Dan knew always got his wife going. He saw it working, and she briefly rubbed a hand across her breasts, showing him her fire again.

Then Lester applied pressure. As his lips descended down her robe-covered body, he pushed her shoulders down until Sarah's hands were pressing into the seat of the couch. Lester kept kissing, and Sarah's breathing got ragged. Dan knew from experience that this meant she badly wanted to be fucked.

Lester hiked up the bottom of her robe over her waist, exposing her naked legs and ass to the room. Everything had been visible under the robe, but seeing her unobstructed skin made Vernon gasp and reach down to touch himself through his pants.

"Lester?" Sarah asked as she felt his thumbs hook into her panties and slowly begin to lower them. This hadn't been her plan at all. Now, she felt her dampened panties sliding down her thighs. She gulped, knowing she was about to be exposed to some complete stranger and her husband, sitting there watching her. She felt so fucking wet. She didn't know what was turning her on more: the fact that Dan was watching and completely aroused by what was happening or that some unknown stranger was in the room with them, watching as Lester stripped her and readied her for whatever he was going to do next.

She couldn't lie to herself. She knew that was turning her on the most.

It was these two men about to watch Lester do whatever the fuck he wanted with her. Take her however he pleased.

Sarah felt her breasts heaving as her panties dropped to her ankles. She waited, knowing that Lester was about to shove himself into her and fuck her right here in front of her husband and a stranger. She felt movement behind her and a hand on her ass but couldn't tell what else Lester was doing.

Dan watched as Lester dropped to his knees, his fat gut spilling out of the bottom of his shirt, his face level with his wife's crotch. The ogre turned to both of them and flashed an ugly, lopsided grin. Then Lester turned back and licked his lips pressing his face in between Sarah's waiting legs, his tongue snaking into the trembling wife, his audible slurping filling the room.

Butterflies filled Sarah's stomach, and her whole body lurched in response. First from shock and then a full push backward towards Lester's tongue. She seemed to ground herself into the couch, knees rubbing raw against the fabric, her hands firmly pressing into the cushion as she suddenly received the full delivery of Lester's tongue.

Something was different, Dan couldn't tell what but he wasn't sure he could ever remember Lester's head ever having been in that particular spot on his wife. His mouth was too high. Higher than where her pussy would be bent over in this position but then....he was licking her asshole. Devouring it, really.

Dan was floored as his wife energetically wiggled her ass back and forth on Lester's tongue. Seemingly enjoying having his troll-like roommate's tongue tickle the place that Dan had never dreamed of touching, much less tasting. It was just... it seemed like such a disgusting thing to do, to want to do. Sarah had said the same thing in the past, agreeing with him, but here she was, her body withering and shaking as Lester's tongue danced around the rim of her asshole.

"Mhmmmmmmmmmm," Sarah moaned, dropping her head onto the seat of the couch and using the leverage to press herself back. Her ass was still high in the air, bent over the arm of the chair as Lester feasted on her ass. His tongue swirling around her asshole. The taste was driving him mad. He stopped and licked her up and down her crevice, his stubble chafing her buttcheeks.

"Tell Dan what I'm doing," Lester breathed hot air on her ass that cooled against the slickness of his saliva.

"Uhhhhh," Sarah bit her lip while her brain processed what Lester had just said. Finally, Sarah found her voice and said, "Dan, he, he's got his tongue in my ass—"

Lester stuck his full tongue inside of her quivering ass. His fat sinewy tongue pried her asshole open as his tongue darted in, wiggling deeply inside. With an unrelenting fury, he began twirling his tongue around inside of her, alternating to quickly dart in and out like he was fucking her ass with his swollen tongue.

The effect was immediate. Sarah's eyes shot wide open, and she lost the ability to speak for several seconds, writhing and shuddering as if having had an electric current surge through her body. All she could hope to do was moan loudly at Lester's oral manipulation,

"Mhmmmmmmmmmgaaaaammmmmmmmm." Sarah's back arched as her weight pressed down on her hands, trying to force herself back onto Lester's face, trying desperately to take more of his agile tongue inside of her opened ass.

Dan felt shell-shocked. He had never seen Sarah like this, nor anyone else. That she was responding to someone doing something so unspeakably vile to her. His hands were no longer in fists at his side. His right hand was conspicuously touching himself over his pants. It felt like one of the first times he had exposed his wife to Lester. Just rolling the dice and seeing how Sarah responded. He felt himself falling backward, ceding control to the debauchery. A small part of him whispered insistently, trying to get him to regain some semblance of control, but the ecstatic sounds coming from Sarah and the mask of blissful pleasure on her face silenced the inner voice. Nothing about this, his roommate consuming his demure wife's asshole, had ever turned him on before, but seeing her react to something he hadn't done or really even considered....

knowing she enjoyed it... and that Lester had done it before he could....

"Ah fuck," Sarah breathed deeply, "God, Lester." It was clear to the room that she'd been holding her breath for some time.

Unwilling to cease his dining, Lester smugly mumbled something behind her, the vibration of his lips on her asshole tickling her and furthering her excitement. She turned her head and saw Dan sitting there in the other chair, staring at her, mouth open, mesmerized by what was happening before him. She saw his hand gingerly touching his crotch over his pants.

Her husband's eyes bore into her body, and she knew he was beginning to get lost in this. Losing control. Sarah knew she should do something. She should stop Lester and help keep Dan from losing his grip. Another wave of pleasure buffeted her body as Lester affixed his mouth to her anus and inhaled. Maybe, maybe she would stop him after Lester finished with her ass. Just a bit more of this, and she would stop what was happening.

There was a movement just out of the corner of her eye. Sarah glanced over and saw Vernon on the couch. His pants and ratty boxers were around his ankles, and he was stroking a fat, veiny-looking cock poking from a nest of graying pubic hairs. Sarah gulped at the sight.

Lester's slick fingers pushed themselves into her wet pussy from behind as he continued tonguing her ass. Palm facing down, two of Lester's fat fingers were able to rake across her sensitive g-spot, teasing it as his tongue continued to flick and pound away at her stimulated asshole.

Sarah's head swam in pleasure, forgetting everything else, including any thought of stopping this. Lester's massive fingers were causing her pussy to feel as if it were lit on fire as his tongue swirled and fucked her asshole. His wife-fucking tongue, spreading her tight little hole apart.

Her heavy-lidded eyes were still locked on Vernon's vile erect cock as he continued to stroke it. He was watching her. Watching her with Lester and his athletic tongue. Watching her body enjoy something so unthinkably depraved. She licked her lips as she stared at Vernon's thick unkempt cock. Her body was responding to him, knowing that he was hard for her.

Getting off to what she was doing.

She shifted her eyes to look up at his face and found him staring back intently at her. With a lazy, knowing smile. Sarah was entranced by his beady brown eyes. The crow's feet at the corners narrowed as he stared back at her. She felt so exposed, some random stranger seeing her for who she truly was, what she really wanted. Beyond the shield of professionalism she usually wore.

"MHMMM FUCK," Sarah groaned as an orgasm hit her body out of nowhere. The usual build-up nowhere to be found, just an explosion of pure pleasure radiating out from the most intimate part of her body, "YEEEEESS. YESSS.

OH, OHHHH, FFFUH, FFFUH, FUUUUCK YEEESSS."

Sarah's asshole clamped down on Lester's tongue as her pussy did the same on his fingers. Lester championed his way through her clenching, continuing to work his tongue inside of the young mother's imploding asshole while his fingers continued to toy with her sensitive G-spot.

Sarah dropped her head and just moaned in response, her trembling body still tense as waves of electric pleasure washed over her senses.

“Uhhmmmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned, “God.”

The round man pulled his face from her backside for the first time in a while, smacking and licking his lips, “Heh.” Lester chuckled, “God has nothing to do with this.”

As Sarah’s body came down from her first orgasm of the night, Lester felt her pussy relax and saw her asshole unclench. Grinning, he took the opportunity to pull his fingers out of Sarah’s body and quickly removed his unwashed shorts. His large, intimidating cock stretched out before him for a moment as he lined himself up with his target. From across the room, her husband and a stranger watched as her body wantonly moved back again towards the fat man as he effortlessly pushed the head of his cock into Sarah’s wet and waiting pussy.

“Ah fuck, fuck,” Sarah breathed, her body easing back, trying to take more of Lester’s cock, “Mhmmmmmmgrmmmmmm.”

“Fuck,” she moaned throatily, “Give it to me, Lester.”

Lester took off his shirt, his large stomach dropping on Sarah’s ass with a thud. The rest of his pasty, white, and hairy body came into view. Dan grimaced, seeing the contrast between his lovely, fit wife and the sloth-like beast behind her, once again driving her into a lust-fueled panic.

“Not so fast,” Lester sneered as he directed the head of his cock back and forth inside of her. “Look at Vernon over there and tell him you want him to watch you get fucked.” Lester had always punctuated his orders with a deep rattling thrust while fucking her, this time was no different.

Sarah brushed the hair from her face and turned to Vernon, her eyes pleading, “I, I want you to watch me get fucked. I want you to see it.”

Vernon’s mouth hung agape, and he started to pump his cock harder. He kicked off his pants and boxers and put his feet up on the table. He was naked except for white tube socks and his shirt. His right big toe poked through a hole.

“Now look at Dan,” Lester said. Sarah’s eyes shifted to her husband.

“Ask his permission. Ask if you can fuck the guy who he threw out of his own house,” Lester said. Lester repeated his final thrust, training her to know when he’d finished speaking.

“Dan....” Sarah started, “Can I fuck the guy –”

Lester suddenly grabbed her asscheeks and roughly slid his entire length into Sarah.

“OHHMGFUUCK!” Sarah screamed, her fingernails digging into the leather couch, “OHGOD, OHMYFUCKINGGOD!”

Lester didn’t give a shit about Dan’s permission. In fact, he wanted to demonstrate to his roommate that he had no power here and Lester could simply fuck Dan’s wife whenever he wanted to. The dumb, gawking look on Dan’s face told Lester his plans were working. Just like foreplay with a woman, he knew that the skimpy robe, the pizza guy, and even having this stranger from the internet here would act as an elixir to overpower his lightweight defenses. Sarah’s white knight was no match for Lester, the barbarian tonight.

“Squeeze me,” Lester spat, “Show Dan what he missed on his business trip.” Sarah flexed the muscles in her pussy, and grabbed hard on the base of Lester’s cock where it was widest.

“Mhmmmm that’s right,” Lester said, taking a deep breath, “Keep it up.”

Vernon got to his feet and shuffled towards where Sarah and Lester were coupled together.

“Sit back down, Vernon,” Lester said impatiently, gesturing to the couch with his finger. The scraggly looking older man sat back down. Still laser-focused on Sarah’s body. Vernon was just a pawn to dial up Dan’s fantasy and make him more pliable. He needed Dan to see him take Sarah fully again and have her beg for him to do it. Her husband needed to be put in his place like a good little dog and forget these delusions of grandeur that he seemed to have been having lately.

“Dan,” Lester said, “Your wife feels so good around my cock. So tight.

I’ve been missing this.”

Lester slapped Sarah’s ass cheek leaving a bright red hand-shaped imprint. He slapped the other cheek even harder. Sarah grunted from the force yet kept pushing back onto Lester’s cock.

“Uhh, yes, ah, mhmmmm, uh, uh, uh, uh, uh, yes, yes, fuck me,” Sarah said.

“How good does it feel, Sarah?” Lester gripped her hips tightly and started to Move his cock within her faster, fucking her harder. “Tell me how my cock feels inside of you.”

“GOOD,” Sarah moaned loudly, “So, oh, so so fucking good, Lester. Don’t stop. Don’t.”

“Did you like it when I fucked you in your office, and we broke the desk?” Lester said, “What about when we fucked in your living room? Tell me. Tell us.”

“Yes,” Sarah said, lost in the feeling of Lester between her legs. “I loved it.”

“You’re my good little slut aren’t you?” Lester said, “How about in your tub? That was fun, wasn’t it? And the times in your bed? Dan’s office.

You loved it then, too, right?”

“GOD, YES!” Sarah panted, turning her head and meeting his stare, “I love it whenever you fuck me, Daddy.”

Lester smiled, “Good girl.” Dan, deep in his lust-induced haze, wasn’t entirely sure of what he’d just heard, but he knew it made his cock harder. He was only touching himself every few seconds now, the show before him repeatedly bringing him dangerously close to shooting.

It was then that Lester grabbed Sarah by the back of her hair and pulled her up off the chair as his cock kept sliding in and out of her, fucking her relentlessly, her breasts flopping in time with his vicious thrusts.

Sarah gasped, barely able to touch the chair with her hands. The pain in the back of her neck hurt but it was a good hurt. A dominating, necessary kind of hurt.

“Do you regret it?” Lester asked. Each word was punctuated with a rhythmic thrust of his cock. The head bottomed out inside of her, touching places no one else ever had, places that only Lester could reach. “Do you, you regret all the times we’ve, UNGGG, fucked recently?”

“NO,” Sarah said quickly, “No, no. Just keep fucking me, Lester.”

“Moan my name for me,” Lester said, “I want to hear those sweet lips say my name.” He stroked the skin down her back as his other hand clutched her hair in a fist.

“Lester,” Sarah moaned, “Oh, Lester, baby. Lester. Fuck. Lester. Lester.”

“Keep saying it,” Lester said looking at Dan.

Dan just sat there watching the sordid scene unfold before him. It felt like he was drowning. There was a weight on his chest that was pinning him in place. His breath was shallow, and he could hear his own heartbeat. A distant part of him remembered once angrily throwing Lester off his wife but that seemed like a faraway dream of a different person.

All he could do now was watch and listen as Sarah moaned for his vile roommate.

“Lester,” Sarah moaned, “Oh, fuck. Lester.”

“Who fucks you the best?” Lester asked

“Lester,” Sarah said, still moaning his name, “Lester.”

“Whose cock do you crave?” Lester said.

“Lester,” Sarah moaned, “Uhhh, mhhmm, ohhh, ah, ah, ah, Lester!”

“Sit back down, Vernon,” Lester said. Without looking back, he removed a hand from Sarah to point at the chair again, having heard the stranger shuffling forward towards them. Without taking his hand off his leaking cock, the older man sat back down on the couch. Lester then turned and glared at him, trying to make the man remember the rules. No touching. He had already violated that rule once today.

“Cum for me, Sarah,” Lester encouraged, “Cum again on my cock. I want to feel your body tense up around me. I want to feel you cumming for me.

It’ll help me cum too.”

Like hearing a magic spell, hearing Lester say the word “cum” began a process in her brain, and Sarah’s body started to heat up. She could feel herself building to another explosive orgasm, even judged by her Lester standards. Lester’s words seemed to unlock something deep within her. A desire to earnestly please him. Do whatever it was he wanted. Submit to him. If Lester wanted her to cum, her body wanted to give it to him. It was a great idea.

“Ah, fuck,” Sarah moaned, her head dropping to the couch. “I’m gonna- OH, OH, yeah, I’m gonna cum. Daddy, don’t stop. Lester. Please. Don’t.

FFFFucking. Stop.”

Dan was spellbound, watching Sarah moan huskily for Lester, seeing her body thrust back and impact against his roommate's oddly proportioned body. He hated himself for being so aroused at what he was seeing, but he couldn't look away. He had tried to cold turkey quit this, but was that what he really wanted?

Sarah felt like a storm of fireworks started exploding inside her as she came. Her body tensed and pulled everything in, her hands balled into fists and her feet bent curving her arches. Her creaming pussy gripped Lester's cock tightly as he continued to thrust his massive tool wholly inside of her, his cock dragging across all her sensitive areas, continuing to fan the intense fire of her orgasm.

"MHMMMMMMMMMM," Sarah's moaned, echoing off the walls of the room,

"FUUUUUUUCCKKKK!"

Lester gritted his teeth, his hands holding tight onto Sarah's hips as her body squeezed his cock, "Nobody, NNNG, nobody makes you cum like I do." His cock bottomed out inside the writhing wife again, her tight slit squeezing every inch of him.

"Uhhhhhhhhhhfuuuuucckkkk," Sarah's intense orgasm continued to wash over her entire body. She needed to breathe but couldn't bring herself to do it. She didn't want to do anything to ruin this feeling. To put an end to this orgasm, this stream of incredible heights. She needed it. As it rippled across her body, it seemed to wash away all the stress that Sarah had been holding on to for days. This was her therapy. "OhFUCKLESTER,"

Sarah finally breathed as her orgasm started to subside, replaced with the intense feeling of Lester's cock inside of her.

Lester felt a lone bead of sweat drip down the center of his back. He was sweating profusely from the extended exertion of fucking Sarah standing up like this. He felt partway hunched over her. He needed to switch things up.

WHAP.

He slapped her ass hard and grasped her cheek roughly before pulling his cock out of her. Sarah groaned in disappointment.

"Stand up," Lester said.

Sarah's back felt tight, and she noticed that her knees were sore from repeatedly banging them onto the bottom of the couch. She was still reeling from her last orgasm but lazily found her way to her feet, suddenly feeling exhausted. Lester's hands were on her shoulders, abruptly turning her around to face him.

"Look at Vernon," Lester whispered to her, "he's our guest. Take off your robe for him."

A shudder ran through Sarah's body at Lester's commands. Never would she have put herself on display for a man like this but amazingly she felt herself get even wetter, at Lester's words. She hadn't thought she could get any more aroused. She felt so exposed already. It was intoxicating.

To this stranger. This older, unkempt man who shouldn't even be in the same room with her. Exposing himself.

Sarah's eyes scanned the room, briefly stopping on Dan. He looked like he had succumbed to his vices and Sarah loved the deranged and aroused look on her husband's face. He looked like a man possessed and ready to fuck her brains out. Sarah's gaze continued around the room until it landed on the ugly, bedraggled face of this stranger, Vernon.

Was he really a friend of Lester's? Besides his Dungeons and Dragons group and Lizzie, she had never seen another one of his friends. She shuddered, seeing the way this man was looking at her. Maybe it didn't matter. The way his eyes roamed over her body as she stroked his thick cock for her. The deviant things he was probably thinking about as he looked at her.

"Take it off," Lester whispered behind her, his hot, fetid breath on her neck. He was breathing hard, and Sarah heard the wheeze in his chest.

Sarah's hands were shaking as she lightly grabbed the edges of her robe near her breasts and pulled them further apart. Vernon's eyes traveled between her naked breasts across her taut midsection to her trimmed exposed sex. Sarah felt herself growing more and more aroused at what was happening, at what Lester told her to do. Letting herself be seen by a man like this. She pulled the robe's opening to her shoulders and let go; it slid silently down her body until it was in a pile by her feet.

"What's he doing, Sarah?" Lester spoke in a low whisper in her ear.

"He's jerking off," Sarah said, feeling Lester's hard breath on her now naked shoulder.

"What's he jerking off to?" Lester said, moving up behind her, his enlarged and hardened cock pressing up against her perfect ass. His fat stomach resting on the top of her buttocks.

“Me,” Sarah closed her eyes as Lester’s hands came up to her breasts, fondling them hard, groping at them without any love. His lips were again on her neck.

“Have you ever seen a woman like this before,” Lester said to Vernon loud enough for everyone to hear.

“Never,” he said, not taking his eyes off her body.

“What do you want to do to her?” Lester said.

Vernon went to stand up, but Lester shook his head. The stranger sat back down. “I want those juicy lips wrapped around my cock. I’d fuck those nice tits until I blew all over them. Then I’d fuck her all night and make her moan my name, forgetting about you and her husband. Then I’d turn her over and fuck her ass. Then I’d do it all over again and again and again.”

“Do you hear that, Sarah?” Lester whispered, “He wants you. He wants to fuck you.”

Dan couldn’t hear what Lester was whispering but he watched as Sarah’s body was swaying back and forth against his roommate, seemingly responding to whatever it was. She padded her feet in place, eager to do whatever came next. He didn’t know what the hell was happening, but he wouldn’t just sit by and let this random stranger fuck his wife, would he? Is that where Lester was going with this?

“Remember what you said last time?” Lester whispered. “That you’d fuck anyone I told you to?”

Sarah’s body shuddered visibly at Lester’s words. She remembered alright.

And in the moment that she’d said them, she had meant them. But now it seemed too real like it could actually happen. Right now. But she also didn’t want to disappoint Lester. She wanted to please him. She opened her eyes and looked over Vernon again. He wasn’t her type at all. Or maybe....he was. In her fucked up beauty and the beast fantasy, he was exactly the kind of guy that would never, should never be able to get with the princess.

“Yes,” Sarah whispered back, closing her eyes again.

“You weren’t lying, were you?” Lester planted soft kisses on her neck.

After what felt like an eternity, Sarah finally breathed, “No.”

Lester's mouth curved into a wicked smile. His plan was working perfectly. Dan was hindered by his feeble weaknesses, and Sarah had just admitted how far she'd fallen, how she would do anything for him. He wasn't going to let Vernon touch Sarah. He was just a tool to engineer results in this situation. Maybe he'd share her with someone else if it benefitted him.

"What are you whispering!?" Vernon stood up, stroking cock in hand as he approached Sarah. Dan watched wide-eyed as it looked like Sarah was about to be sandwiched between the two men. He wanted to intervene, but his body didn't move.

"Shut up and sit back down," Lester said to Vernon. Vernon gave Lester a look of disdain but moved back onto the couch.

Lester held Sarah's hand as he sat down in the comfy leather chair. Sarah stopped a moment, radiant in the afterglow of what the odd man continued to do to her. She stared at the prize cock attached to his slovenly body.

Her attention shifted when he pulled her roughly on top of him, and then Sarah wasted no time, straddling his lap. She gripped his heated cock in her hands and directed it to her supple entrance, and began to impale herself on his outsized cock.

"Fffffffuuuuuuu," Sarah moaned, throwing her head back, her blonde hair cascading down her back. Lester poked his head out from behind her and looked at Dan.

"See how well-trained your wife is now?" Lester sneered. His eyes danced with illicit pleasure.

Dan felt trapped in his own body. Immobile. Horrified that he was slipping back into his old behavior but enjoying every second of it. The toned muscles in Sarah's back tensed as she lowered herself onto Lester's engorged cock. Dan watched as her beautiful bubble butt lowered and Lester's cock gradually disappeared inside of her. Finally, Sarah was sitting firmly on Lester's lap, breathing hard, just staring down at his disgusting roommate.

Dan was thankful that Lester hadn't let Vernon get involved. He wasn't sure how the hell he would react to seeing that. Sure, he'd thought about it in the past. Even fantasized about it. But he wasn't sure he was ready for it.

"Uhhhhhhhhhh," Sarah moaned, feeling the full length of Lester fully inside of her again. Her body had been craving him since he'd pulled out a few minutes ago. His heavy hand clutched the back of her head, pulling her face to his. Their two tongues met and wrapped around each other in a savage primal kiss, sucking and flicking between them, their mouths pressed tightly in their passion. Lester broke the enthusiastic kiss, peering into his lover's eyes. He nodded wordlessly, flexing his cock inside the young mother gazing back at him. He leaned back, knowing she was his. Sarah started to ride Lester's cock. The fat man just leaned further back into the chair, his hands languidly going up behind his head as he watched Sarah athletically ride him.

Sarah kept her eyes closed, focusing on the sensation of Lester's girthy cock moving inside of her. Feeling it trace urgently across the extremely sensitive nerve endings of her pussy. Pushing against her, expanding her insides, making room for more. Making her feel complete.

"Touch your tits," Lester said, the sound piercing her haze. Sarah's delicate hands ran up her body until they found her breasts bathed in a sheen of sweat. She began lewdly massaging them and tweaking her own erect nipples. Lester's hands seized her ass in a firm grip, harshly kneading her ass cheeks.

"How's it feel?" Lester croaked.

"Good. So good. Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned.

"Tell Dan. Tell your husband how much you like fucking his roommate,"

Lester breathlessly commanded.

"Uhhhhhhhhfuuuu. Dan.....it's so good. Lester. Feels," Sarah's breathing was getting ragged and erratic, "So, so good. His cock ffeels so good inside me, inside my pussy. So fffuuucking good. OH, oh fuck"

"Tell him who fucks you the best," Lester said.

"You do," Sarah moaned in ecstasy, "You fuck me the best Lester. No question. I love your cock. It's so fucking good."

"Who owns your pussy, nnngg, this pussy?" Lester said, accentuating his thrusts.

"You do!" Sarah erupted, the verbal admission pushing her closer and closer towards another massive orgasm. A new wave was starting to creep up, but she didn't want to rush it. She wanted to tease it out, enjoy every single fucking second of it building up inside of her.

"Who owns you?" Lester said as he forcibly started pushing his hips up off the couch. Sarah quickly adjusted to accommodate his action, not letting it ruin her rhythm and take her off course.

“Ugghhhhhh, you do, Daddy,” Sarah moaned, her hands grabbing desperately at her breasts, touching herself with abandon as Lester mauled her ass.

“You do. You fucking own me. Do whatever you want with me. I’m yours, Lester.”

“God, your pussy feels so good wrapped around my cock,” Lester said, closing his eyes as Sarah’s pussy contracted around his shaft. He’d been inside this woman and had made her cum countless times, but he’d never felt pussy as tight as hers was clutching him now.

“Your cock feels so fucking good,” Sarah moaned, “Mhmmmm, ah, uh, I, uh, fucking, ahhhh, love it. Fuck me, Daddy, fuck me.”

The quick motion didn’t register right away in Dan’s brain. It was in his peripheral vision. His eyes were locked on the sordid affair unfolding in front of him. Watching the mother of his children bounce herself up and down on Lester’s cock, taking it into her body and admitting, maybe celebrating was closer, how much she enjoyed it. It was like a dagger to his heart, and heroin shot into his veins simultaneously. He couldn’t get enough, and he hated that he wanted more.

The movement came from the stranger, Vernon, a flicker in the corner of his eye. He’d stood up and removed his shirt, revealing wrinkly, skinny arms and a slightly round stomach. He looked out of shape but wiry, with some noticeable gnarly scars running across his chest and back.

Dan couldn’t see Lester’s face from this angle or Sarah’s. Neither of them likely saw that Vernon had gotten up. With a quick furtive, practiced movement, Vernon headed towards the chair where Sarah and Lester were joined. Reminding the seated husband of a spider monkey, Vernon was suddenly balanced atop the large chair. One foot was on the arm of the chair, while another was balanced on the top of the chair over Lester’s head.

Sarah’s eyes were closed serenely. She was too busy touching herself and reveling in the feeling of Lester’s large cock bulging inside of her.

Even if they’d been open, her bliss made her only aware of a white glow as she focused on the feeling inside of her. Of her orgasm slowly building up. There was a hand on the back of her head, but something was off about it. Distantly, it occurred to her that the grip was coming from a weird angle.

The hand pulled her head forward. Sarah's eyes snapped open, and she saw herself being pulled towards a thick, foreign cock she didn't recognize.

On instinct, her mouth opened, and the cock was shoved deep into her mouth. Her tongue ran along the underside of it, tasting the unknown cock. It tasted and felt so different in her mouth than either Dan's or Lester's. The wide cock hit the back of her throat, and the hips attached to it started to face fuck her.

Sarah dropped a hand from her breasts and reached out, finding a wrinkly, hairy thigh. She steadied herself on it, continuing to suck on this new cock, while her other hand grabbed onto Lester's shoulders, regaining her balance. She was worried that the eager face fucking she was now receiving might knock her off Lester and his magnificent cock.

Sarah tasted sweet and salty pre-cum on her tongue. She looked up and saw Lester's unkempt friend standing over her, bouncing in her vision, his eyes boring down onto hers with wild intensity.

"Glaack, gluckkk, glaaack, glluuuuck," emanated from Sarah's throat as this rough-looking older man fucked his wife's open mouth. Dan's eyes grew wide as this stranger's cock repeatedly disappeared into Sarah's drooling mouth. He'd never felt so hard, his dick straining against his tented pants. He passed his hand over his dick, and he already felt ready to burst.

"Ahhh glaack, mmmgluuckckk, mpph, nng" the gurgling sounds continued bubbling from Sarah's throat. Lester's eyes shot open at the new presence with them. Vernon had quickly scaled the side of the chair and was energetically face fucking Sarah. His prize.

"Vernon!" Nearly out of breath, Lester chastised the stranger. The asshole was breaking the rules Lester had specifically set out. He definitely wasn't going to pay him for this. He knew he couldn't threaten him with consequences right now. He didn't want his machinations revealed to Sarah and Dan. "Fuck off and sit down. Get back to the couch."

"No, no, fucking, UH, way," Vernon chuckled, "Not until I, mm, bust down her throat. Oh, that's good." To punctuate his intentions, he grabbed Sarah's head with both hands and started thrusting his sizable cock into her mouth even faster.

"Glaaacch, glaaach, glaaacch, gluutch, mhmhmmhmmhmm," Sarah couldn't believe the sounds her mouth was making. Vernon was fucking her mouth like a pussy, and he was unrelenting, uncaring and dominating. Like he was just using her for his own pleasure. He wasn't loving and sweet like Dan. And he wasn't trying to corrupt her and dangle her in front of her husband like Lester was. This was pure unrelenting, pent-up sexual desire expressed in raw physical action. She doubted that he cared if she even enjoyed it. He just wanted her to make him cum. Something about that, just being used as a sexual object, turned her on and seemed to open a door inside her.

Sarah took her hand off Vernon's thigh and gently grabbed the base of his cock, squeezing the section of it that wasn't disappearing down her throat. Sarah started riding Lester harder, his dick sliding back and forth inside of her as Sarah's body was setting its own new speed, her desire cranked past all previous levels.

Lester tried to raise his hips off the chair, but Sarah's intensity kept him pinned. Her body was now in charge of the pleasure. It wanted to get off and didn't need Lester trying to impress her. She didn't want him ruining her orgasm by trying to push into her on his own. All she needed was the two cocks inside her. One in her pussy and the other in her mouth.

The new strange cock was like gasoline to the conflagration beginning to flash inside Sarah. She'd never had two cocks in her body at once before.

She'd played with the fantasy, with both Lester and Dan sucking on their fingers as they'd fucked, but having the real thing, the desire of two men's big cocks, was sending her body into overdrive.

Sarah's hand was stroking the base of Vernon's shaft. The older man slowed his face fucking, wanting to see what this slutty wife could possibly do next. Sarah didn't slow down. She kept pace, working her neck and sucking the new cock as she continued to skillfully take Lester's pole in her pussy. Sarah kept her mouth snugly wrapped around Vernon's shaft. Her mouth spread open inside as she took as much of his thick member into her face as she could.

"Mhmmhmmmmmm," She moaned around his cock, feeling it hit the back of her throat as more precum oozed out of it. She felt the beginnings of a deep, new sensation within herself. Welcoming it, she sucked the cock harder, seeking the prize inside.

"Sarah..." Lester said, completely bewildered at what he was witnessing.

He'd hired Vernon to simply help him dial up the tension in the room. He hadn't wanted Sarah to suck the guy off in front of them. "Sarah," he said again, louder.

But Sarah didn't turn to look at him. She stroked the cock in her hand as her pussy firmly gripped Lester's cock. Sarah's hand could barely fit around Vernon's ample shaft as she furiously stroked him. She took him out of her mouth, and her face disappeared into his hairy pubic jungle.

“Uhhhhhhh,” Vernon groaned as Sarah’s tongue swirled around his hanging nutsack. She licked over matted-down hair, finding the raised follicles on his balls, licking and sucking every inch of the puckered skin.

Tasting his sweat. Vernon almost lost his balance and fell off the couch but quickly steadied himself. Sarah didn’t seem to notice.

“Tell me who your daddy is Sarah,” Lester said.

Sarah ignored him and licked up the length of Vernon’s broad shaft before sucking his full length back into her mouth again. “Mhmmhmmmmmmhmmmm,” her gurgled moans escaped from the sides of her mouth as it stretched to accommodate Vernon’s pistoning member.

“Tell me who owns you,” Lester said, feeling more uncomfortable with Vernon standing above him with his cock inside Sarah.

Sarah’s nails dug into Lester’s shoulder, piercing his skin. She needed his support as she sucked Vernon off. Lester winced in pain, but Sarah didn’t seem to notice. Her hips were bucking wildly on top of Lester, pushing him down further into the leather chair.

Two driving cocks at once. Inside me. Right now.

Sarah’s mind couldn’t manage to hold any other thought. All she wanted, needed to do was hold onto the feeling building inside of her and never let the sensations go. She wanted more of it. Her body was counting down to a nuclear orgasm, and she was tightly holding onto both cocks for dear life, not wanting anything to stop the explosion.

“Suck my balls again,” Vernon said. Sarah’s body took the command and shuddered, knowing she wanted to please this man, too.

Sarah didn’t immediately look at him. Instead, she took him out of her mouth and moved her head forward, her face disappearing into the mess of public hair below his shaft. Vernon groaned his approval. Sarah’s hand kept pumping his trunkish shaft as her tongue licked Vernon’s heavy nuts.

The odd man grabbed the back of her head and pulled her closer into his saliva-slicked sack. Prickly pubic hair shot up Sarah’s nose, but she held on with her hand and mouth like a woman possessed with a need for cock, determined to make both of the organs inside her shoot their cum.

Vernon steered the back of her head around, his palm supporting it in the curve of her neck, directing which parts of his dangling ballsack to turn her tongue's attention to. Sarah eagerly obeyed, licking and sucking every inch of his crotch he directed her to.

Lester tried thrusting his hips up, but it was of no use. Every time he tried Sarah's body slammed down hard on him, over and over as her pussy clenched onto his cock inside of her. Lester felt her pussy milking his cock. Her wanton abandon taking over. The slutty wife's pussy was now so tight, Lester couldn't push his cock forward. Only Sarah's movement, her bouncing, allowed his cock to move inside her. No woman had ever been this tight. It was the most amazing pussy Lester had ever felt in his life. Lester, in amazement, looked up at Sarah, sucking off this stranger above him, saliva dripping off her lips onto the couch beside him. He really had created a monster.

Lester felt his balls start to tighten before he was ready. He awkwardly put his hands on Sarah's hips to slow her down and fuck her at his own pace. He didn't want to cum yet, it was way too soon. He wanted to fuck her all night in different positions in front of Dan. This wasn't how it was supposed to happen. Sarah's bouncing torso was too strong. His hands pulling her down onto him barely had any effect. Her hips rolled rapidly above him, coaxing his considerable load out of his overweight balls.

As her agile tongue danced around Vernon's balls and her one hand continued to stroke his shaft furiously, her other hand slapped at Lester's desperate hands. More out of annoyance than anything else, his hands couldn't stop the bomb inside her.

Vernon had handfuls of Sarah's hair in both of his hands as he moved her head all over his balls. "Mhmhmhgaaaamhmmm," Sarah moaned incoherently around his fragrant damp nutsack as she slicked and slurped wherever he put her.

Vernon pushed himself up on his tippy-toes, thrust forward, and guided Sarah's head up underneath where his balls hung down. His hairy scrotum mashed onto her closed eyes and lay partially on her forehead. Sarah never stopped licking and sucking. Her tongue grazed over the tops of his legs and the area under his balls, his taint. Vernon continued to pull her to him, and he pushed himself forward.

Sarah's tongue touched his asshole, but she was too lost to fully realize the enormity of what she was doing. Vernon held her head and swayed it back and forth as Sarah's pristine tongue began to eagerly lick the dirty asshole of his stranger, her tongue swirling around it, eliciting deep moans from the weirdo. She felt dirty, disgusting, and so, so, so fucking wet.

Dan couldn't believe what he was seeing. This guy's balls were on Sarah's face. There was only one thing she should be doing down there, and her body didn't seem to care. She didn't seem to hesitate for a second. She had never done that before with him, and he wasn't aware of her having done so to Lester. This cretin's butcrack was being polished by his wife, who was going to town on his open asshole.

Sarah pulled her tongue back. Despite the forcefulness of the man's hands on her head, she pulled herself back up to see him. Her view was of this grinning strange creep, his thick cock right in her face and his asshole, dripping with her spit, all of this right in front of her. She was riding the greatest cock she'd ever known, and everything that had led to this night was about to combust inside of the horny wife. Sarah looked at Vernon's face, deciding if she wanted to continue with his ass, suck his cock, or kiss him. A moment later the fat cock entered her mouth, and her decision was made. She sucked his whole thick shaft into her throat, once, and then a second time. The firm cock she rode flexed, and she knew she was close. She popped Vernon's cock out along her cheek and told the room, "Fuck. Mhmmmm, fuck, I'm gonna cum."

Her body started to tense, her bouncing slowed down, and she felt a huge, all-encompassing feeling of her body about to unleash an unnatural force of pleasure across her.

"Ughhhh, me too," Lester grunted from somewhere below her. The idea of his cum flooding into her was the straw that broke the camel's back, that detonated the nuke, rushing her orgasm forward throughout her body, flooding her senses with absolute bliss.

Vernon turned and quickly stuck his thick cock down her waiting throat.

The bulbous head surged past her tongue and her tonsils, pushing into her throat.

"MhmmmmGllllaacck," Sarah moaned and choked on his cock as she felt a tsunami explode inside of her. Her body was rocked dizzily as she came harder than she'd ever experienced. Her toes and feet curled, her nails dug into Lester's forearm. Her other hand gripped Vernon's cock so hard it would bruise, and he'd discover the dark ring the next morning.

"Glaaach, glaaaack, glaccck," Vernon continued to violently fuck her throat, making her orgasm tremble and reverberate inside of her like a symphony of music cascading off the marbled walls of a concerto theater.

Crescendoing into this next movement, with no intention of letting up.

“AH-FUCK,” Lester roared as his balls emptied and his cock exploded, cum shooting out like a geyser inside of Sarah. She felt his hot cum drenching her insides, soaking into every crevice inside of her. Sarah trembled as another orgasm rose up out of nowhere, dwarfing the last one and smothering it. She could hear the blood rushing in her ears and, below that, her heartbeat as her vision went completely white.

“Ahhhmhmmmglllaaack, mhmhm, glaaaack,” came slobbering noises from Sarah’s throat as Vernon ruthlessly fucked her face with his thick tool.

“Uhhhhh, here it comes, slut,” Vernon growled as he unleashed a torrent of viscous cum down Sarah’s opened throat. Sarah eagerly swallowed load after load of the sour and salty ooze. Lester’s and Vernon’s cocks were expanding inside of her, simultaneously shooting their virile cum into her.

Vernon let go of her head, his spent cock slipping out of her mouth as Sarah squeezed Lester’s cock with her taut pussy walls. All three of them were breathing hard. The adrenaline had left all of their bodies. Sarah sat on top of Lester as she came back to earth, his semi-hard cock still embedded inside of her.

Sarah opened her eyes and lazily leaned forward and kissed the head of Vernon’s cock. She tasted a bit of aftercum leaking out and eagerly licked it from the slit of his cock before releasing her grip.

Vernon stumbled back and almost fell onto the floor. He climbed down off the chair and flopped himself back onto the couch, weary and drained.

Sarah finally came back to reality and looked down at her exhausted lover below her. Lester looked like a scrunched-up frog stuck on the couch, unable to get up. Sarah smiled at him with pride, knowing she had just fucked him into submission.

Sarah licked her lips, catching a few rogue bits of Vernon’s cum. With an audible plop, she pulled herself free from Lester’s cock, got off the chair, and stood on weak and shaky legs. Sarah turned and looked at her husband, who still had his pants on, but she could see the massive tent he was sporting. She wasn’t sure if he had already cum yet, but she hoped he hadn’t. She still wanted more.

Dan looked at his wife incredulously, a weak, approving smile appearing on his face. Sarah returned his smile and blew him a kiss before an alarmed look appeared on her face. She looked down and saw a steady stream of Lester’s cum running down her leg.

Flashing Dan a panicked smile, she hurried left the room and headed to the bathroom to clean up.

The three exhausted men just sat there in silence. Dan was the first to get up quietly, and after a last look at the room, he somberly walked to his bedroom.

Lester looked over at Vernon, “Get out.” Both men’s naked bodies were still on display.

“Not gonna pay me?” Vernon said, putting on his pants and pulling his shirt over his head.

“You broke the deal.” Lester sneered.

A knowing smile spread across Vernon’s face, “It was fucking worth it.”

Lester shut his eyes, trying to process everything that happened. He didn’t notice that Vernon had palmed his wallet from the coffee table before hurrying out the door of the apartment.

Exhausted, Lester stood up, trying to appraise what had happened. He had succeeded in minimizing Dan, but he may have pushed Sarah’s buttons too hard or the wrong ones. He hadn’t known she had this in her. He didn’t know how far Sarah would go if the conditions were right. Was this always there, or had he pushed it along, nurturing it until this version of her bloomed?

Lester shuffled back to his bedroom with his fat feet plodding on the wood floors.

Sarah finished cleaning herself up after receiving both Vernon and Lester’s loads inside her. She looked at herself in the bathroom mirror and chuckled at the familiar yet unfamiliar women staring back at her.

Opening the bathroom door, the lights were out in the living room and she wondered if all of the men had gone to bed. She had heard the apartment door open and close while she was going pee and she assumed it had been Vernon leaving.

I guess he and Lester aren’t hanging out now that I’ve sapped them of their energy.

Tonight had made a few things crystal clear to her. Despite Lester’s protests, Vernon still found a way to get what he wanted. Not that she was complaining but if a situation like that ever arose again, Sarah would need to be the one to protect herself.

And after all the domination and control Lester had exerted over her, it felt good to finally put him in his place. Ignore his wishes and take what she wanted. Men were like putty in her hands. All the problems she was facing with Dan came down to men and their ideas of power. Byron, Richard – it didn't matter. They were all the same.

The lights were on in Dan's bedroom. Sarah eagerly turned the knob and opened the door to find Dan lying in the bed, stroking himself.

"Stop," Sarah said, staring at his cock, "That's mine."

She walked naked over to the bed and straddled her husband, handily taking her third cock of the night.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 22

Despite the light snoring from Dan's side of the bed, Sarah couldn't sleep. Even though her body felt utterly exhausted from the night's events, her mind was still racing, processing everything that had happened.

She still couldn't believe that she had actually taken two cocks into her body at the same time. It had been something she'd always fantasized about doing. It didn't happen exactly the way she'd thought it might have. She always assumed she and Dan would get wild on vacation somewhere and indulge both their fantasies with a stranger, preferably a good looking one. She certainly didn't think she would be riding Dan's ugly roommate while another weird stranger fucked her mouth.

The scenario wasn't exactly what she'd expected, but she'd still gotten lost in the moment and had given herself over to its pleasures. She was nervous about what Dan might say about what had happened in the morning, but it hadn't stopped him from eagerly fucking her at the end of the night. She and Dan kept shifting back and forth about embracing this adventure and then stepping back from it.

She wasn't sure where he would land, but Sarah didn't regret it. Not yet, anyway.

Sarah reached out into the dark and found her phone on the nightstand. Through squinting eyes, she checked the time. She guessed it was late or early, depending on how you looked at it. She glanced back over at Dan, who was sound asleep, and slid out of the bed. It looked like she'd fucked him into exhaustion with the contented look on his face. Still, nature called, and she needed to leave that bed.

Not only was she wired, but Dan's bed was also notably uncomfortable. Lumpy in a way that affected her ability to get a good night's sleep.

She tiptoed to the door, opening it before gently shutting it behind her. A small part of her mind warned her about moving about the apartment in just her panties, but that voice was growing more faint as time went on. Trying to keep quiet, Sarah slipped into the bathroom and used the facilities. While washing her hands, she looked at herself in the mirror and shook her head, smiling at herself.

The absurd events of the night before still played in her mind, and she couldn't help but laugh at herself and what her life had become. If Dan hadn't moved to Chicago, she couldn't have imagined doing the things she'd done, especially with someone other than her loving husband.

With one last discerning look at herself in the mirror, Sarah left the bathroom and headed to the kitchen to get a glass of water.

A familiar notification popped up in the corner of Lester's screen. If he'd been playing WoW he probably would have just ignored it. He wasn't sure what time it was but he knew it was late. Instead of World of Warcraft, Ichi the Killer, a cult Japanese film from the early 2000s was playing on his monitor.

Lester's sadly unfit body sat slumped over as he stared at the monitor; the only movement in the room was from his chest in its labored breathing and his hand disappearing into the bottom of a bag of Cheetos. His eyes darted up to the notification. With a groan, he pulled up the camera feed on his second monitor and saw Sarah quietly leaving Dan's bedroom. He could hear the soft sounds of her footsteps padding toward the kitchen from where he sat.

His cock twitched at the sight of her body. He was once again happy that he had sprung for the higher definition cameras as his eyes ran over her bare legs and jiggling naked breasts as she tiptoed into the bathroom. A predatory smile crossed his face as he marveled at Sarah's curves and gorgeous face. He could never get enough of her.

Sarah took a long sip of water from the glass before heading back towards the bedroom. She hoped that getting up for a bit would let her mind reset so she could fall asleep. Still, she wasn't eager to get back onto Dan's uncomfortable mattress. She wished they'd sprung for something similar to their bed at home when he had moved in, but money had been tight. It was still too tight for them to afford that kind of extravagance. She resigned herself to a few more hours on the misshapen bed.

As she moved down the hallway towards Dan's bedroom, a faint blue light spread through the hallway.

She felt the frightening thrill of being caught, stopping in her tracks. A dark figure momentarily dampened the bluish glow. Sarah recognized the shadowy silhouette. Lester. He stepped forward, the faint light emanating from a screen in his room behind him.

He stood there watching her, wearing nothing but a pair of ragged boxer shorts, his fat, hairy gut hanging over his fraying waistband. His peculiar face had the same hungry look to which she had grown so accustomed.

“Sarah,” he said, not taking his eyes off of her body, “Couldn’t sleep?”

“Just getting a glass of water,” Sarah said, casually covering her breasts with her right arm. She knew it was risky to walk out of the bedroom like this. There was a point at which it would have been mortifying for her to let a man like Lester see her like this. But now she didn’t feel at all uncomfortable around him.

Sarah moved towards Dan’s bedroom door. As she did, she saw Lester’s hefty foot begin to move, as if he were going to block her path. However, it returned to the floor, and instead, Lester leaned on his doorframe and spoke. She paused at his words.

“So you’re just gonna go back to bed?”

“Shhh,” Sarah said, still holding the glass of water in her other hand, “Dan’s still sleeping.”

“I bet,” Lester said, looking her up and down. He slowly reached out and smoothly put his hand around the wrist that was covering her breasts, gently pulling it away from her body, finding no resistance.

Sarah’s naked breasts came on full display for Lester, heaving up and down in time with her rapidly quickening breath.

“Lester.....” Sarah started.

“You’re right,” Lester licked his lips. “We don’t want to wake him up. Let’s go into my room and finish talking.” Sarah watched his large tongue disappear back into his mouth.

Lester hefted himself up off the doorframe and plodded back into his room, leaving the door ajar behind him. Indecisive, Sarah stood half-naked in front of Dan’s closed bedroom door. She knew that if she followed Lester into his bedroom, much more would happen besides just talking.

Still gripping the cold glass of water, Sarah opened the door to Dan’s bedroom. Her handsome husband was still asleep, snoring lightly. She stared at him for a moment. It would be so easy to just get back in bed with him, even though she hated sleeping in his bed.

“Dan?” Sarah whispered. He didn’t stir.

Sarah gently closed the door and returned to the hallway, where she walked a few feet to Lester’s bedroom door. She cringed as the floorboard creaked beneath her feet. With a deep breath, she pushed open the door and stepped into Lester's bedroom.

It was still just as dirty and dingy as it had been the previous night. The room had a slight stale stench, probably from the unwashed clothes and plates piled around randomly on the floor. Lester was leaning against his bed, arms crossed. The ethereal blue glow of his computer monitor illuminated the sweaty fat rolls on his oddly proportioned body.

Sarah gently closed the door behind her and stood there in her panties, unsure what to do next. Her body knew what it wanted, but her mind still needed some convincing.

"Come here," Lester said gruffly. At the command, Sarah stepped forward into the room, her uncertainty fading. Her daintily manicured toes delicately traversed the piles of refuse covering Lester's floor. She stepped between mounds of clothes and other remnants until she was standing right in front of Lester.

He didn't say anything. He just let his eyes roam over her body. Sarah felt her nipples grow hard under his silent gaze. Eventually, Lester arose and closed the distance between them. He stood just in front of her, staring into her eyes. Sarah could feel his warm breath on her face and smell the tinge of Cheetos wafting in his exhale. It didn't disgust her as much as she thought it would.

Lester reached out and took the glass of water from her hand and held it. They both knew what they were headed toward, yet Lester was tantalizingly slow and torturing her. He dipped two fingers into the glass and then held them up over Sarah's naked breasts. Water slowly dripped from his fingers, landing on her breasts before the beads trickled down her sloping curves. Lester made sure his fingers were placed just right so the water would stream down her breasts over her nipples. The cold water sent a jolt of electricity through her body each time she felt the chilly flow.

"Why are you here, Sarah?" Lester whispered as he continued dappling droplets of cold water onto her breasts.

"You know why, Lester," Sarah whispered back, seductively holding his gaze.

"I want you to say it. To admit it to me." Lester said. His brow furrowed slightly.

Instead, Sarah reached forward, and her hand found Lester's cock through his ragged boxers. She gripped the thickening shaft while running her hand up and down, stroking him through the material.

Lester smiled and shook his head.

“No. Not so fast,” He said, “Why are you here?” He put his hand on her wrist, stopping her strokes, but he was still in her grasp.

“For this,” Sarah whispered, “I need your cock.”

“You want to get fucked again? Didn’t get enough before?” Lester said. “I heard you and your husband going at it.”

“Did you peek?” Sarah asked, “Through the peephole?”

“No,” Lester said, “I couldn’t give a shit about seeing you with Dan.”

“That’s a shame,” Sarah said, “I like putting on a show for you.” Her nipple felt an icy spike, and her neck spasmed sexily in response.

“You certainly put on a show tonight,” Lester said. “That wasn’t what I wanted.”

“Sometimes you don’t get what you want,” Sarah said reproachfully, “Sometimes it’s about what I want.”

She squeezed him then, telling him the truth.

“I think,” Lester leaned forward and whispered into her ear, “That you need to be reminded just whose little slut you are.” Her perfect breasts mashed against his pale hairy chest as he closed in.

Sarah bit her lip, “Are you going to show me... daddy?” Her left leg bent back at the knee in gleeful anticipation, playing up her role as his slut.

Lester’s face was covered in an ugly smile. “First, I want you to tell me what you want.”

“I want you to fuck me, Lester,” Sarah whispered, staring into his eyes.

“And where’s your loving husband going to be?” Lester said.

“He’s in the next room. He’s asleep,” Sarah said.

“My good little slut,” Lester set the glass of water on his desk, then grabbed Sarah by the waist and pulled her towards him as he backed up to the bed. He pulled her hips forward until they were pressing against his cock. Sarah immediately started to grind her sex against his.

“Do you feel me?” Lester said, “I’m going to stick that into you until it explodes inside of you.”

“Ughhh,” Sarah moaned at the thought. She could feel the warmth of Lester’s cock pressing against her panty-clad sex. “We, we really shouldn’t be doing this.” Her body continued to get as much contact with the solid pole as she spoke.

“It’s too late for that,” Lester said as he deliberately ground his cock back against Sarah’s pussy. “You knew what was happening when you followed me into this room. You want to get fucked while your husband is sleeping in the room next door.”

Lester’s mouth was licking at her neck, tasting her. “You could have woken Dan up for another round, but you didn’t. You know only I can give you what you need.”

Sarah’s eyes were closed as Lester’s lips were leaving a wet trail of his drool cooling on her neck. Her body shuddered at his words, and the electricity of his sucking lips pressed into her flawless skin.

She still couldn’t believe that she was here, half naked in Lester’s room while his hands roamed her body and his lips were on her. It wouldn’t make any sense to an outside observer, but only she had experienced the incredible events that led to this moment.

“What is it I need?” Sarah huskily whispered. “Your big cock?”

Lester chuckled and turned both Sarah and him around so that her bubble butt was pressing against the bed. He gently pressed forward, lowering her onto her back. Sarah involuntarily moaned as Lester tugged at her panties, sliding them down her legs.

“It’s more than that,” Lester said, staring down at Sarah victoriously, watching her beauty sprawled out on the bed before him. Her knees were grinding together in anticipation of what was to come next.

“You like giving yourself up to a guy like me. You love it. Especially because you know your husband and I don’t get along. A beautiful princess like you with someone like me. I know how wet that makes you.”

Lester sneered.

“You don’t know the first thing about me, Les—” Sarah started, but she was cut off by Lester spreading her legs open and pressing two fingers against the entrance to her pussy. Lester’s digits easily slid inside, Sarah’s pussy already wet with anticipation.

Lester smirked as his fingers entered her, running wildly in and out of her, grazing against her sensitive g-spot with his manipulation. "That's what I thought," Lester said, "Soaking fucking wet. When are you going to give up this game, huh? We both know it's just a front. We both know what you really want. You can play the pretty wife and the capable office worker, but we both know you just want to be on your knees with me pounding away behind you."

"Uhhh," Sarah moaned as Lester's fat digits slid in and out of her rapidly, his thumb stuck out and frigging her clit,. He was expertly running the tips of his fingers over her G-spot, over and over, putting a delightful amount of tender pressure on the area, "Mhmmmmmmmm."

Sarah's eyes were dreamily shut as she lost herself in the moment. When they opened back up to look at Lester, he saw the lust now present in them. The desire. The hunger. He was happy to oblige as he lowered himself down until he was level with her glistening pussy. He inhaled deeply, her scent sending a steady flow of blood to his expanding cock. With a lick of his fat lips, his head leaned forward until his mouth clasped onto her sex, sucking her clit and its hood between his lips, flicking his tongue.

"Oh fuck," Sarah moaned as her thighs clamped tightly together around Lester's head, "Mhmmmmmmmm."

"I love it when you moan for me," Lester mumbled as he sucked and flicked at Sarah's clit with his huge tongue. His fingers continued to stroke inside of her, lightly dragging across her G-spot, simultaneously pleasuring two of her most sensitive erogenous zones.

Lester expertly sucked on Sarah's clit while his tongue slowly raked across it, over and over again, establishing the rhythm with which he'd take her. Sarah was writhing on the bed, hands clasping Lester's luxurious bed sheets, balling the fabric in her clenching hands. She squirmed, her hips thrust off the bed, trying to get more and more of the delicious pleasure Lester was delivering to her. Keeping herself wide open for the beastly man.

Lester's other hand snaked up her body until it grabbed a handful of Sarah's breasts, mauling each of them as he rolled a nipple between his thumb and index finger.

"Oh god, fuck, ohmmm" Sarah's eyes alternated between being shut and staring up at the ceiling of Lester's bedroom. The dark room felt eerily like the lair of some mythological cave troll, which heightened the exhilaration her body was experiencing.

Lester's suction cup-like mouth detached from her, "Sshhhh, you going to wake up your husband. I wonder what he would think seeing you like this."

"Uhhhhhhhh," Sarah moaned. The thought of Dan walking in on her with Lester like this. Catching them together after everything. It was a dangerously hot idea. One that was playing in the back of her head as she quivered and jumped around Lester's fingers. She looked down her body at Lester and saw half of his fat, balding head peering at her lecherously from between her tanned, toned legs. He was looking up at her with that ugly, sneering smile but she couldn't help but feel enamored by it. But he wasn't sucking her anymore.

Sarah let go of Lester's sheets and grabbed the back of his head, pulling his mouth back down onto her.

"More," she spoke this openly, not in a whisper. Lester obliged and quickly resumed his feast, sucking and licking her clit while his fingers ran rampant inside of her. Eagerly tasting her juices as they flowed copiously from the ecstatic young wife.

A welcome, familiar electrical buzz was building inside of her. Lester's fingers and mouth were quickly working her up to a climax that she didn't intend to let go of, "Fuck, fuuuuck, Lester, don't stop. Keep doing that. Oh my, fffuck."

Lester mumbled something, but his mouth was full of her clit. The bassy mumbling sent an electric vibration against her clit that ramped up her orgasm. She could feel it building so quickly it was about to crash down on her.

Sarah was already holding her breath, ready for it to wash over her. She still couldn't believe where she was but none of that mattered. All that mattered was letting Lester do whatever he wanted to her body and to give her the feeling that only he could.

"Oh fuck. Yes. Please. Pleeease," Sarah begged as she felt the orgasm rock her body, again forgetting to keep herself quiet. Sarah's thighs wrapped tighter around Lester's chubby head as she pushed her hips up off the bed, offering herself to him fully. Lester's nose pressed into her crotch, cutting off his only supply of air.

"OH GOD," Sarah moaned with wild abandon as her back arched off the bed. Her entire body felt like it was on fire as her explosive orgasm washed over her. Sarah's eyes were closed, reveling in the illicit pleasure. She couldn't see Lester's head turning a tomato shade of red as he struggled to breathe. His fingers stopped moving inside of her as her thighs held his head in a vise-like grip, not allowing him to move. Immobilizing him to keep him from potentially ruining her orgasm.

Lester struggled against her, trying desperately to free himself from her grip. With his other hand, he rubbed a finger stroking up the wife's immaculate taint until his middle finger's tip pressed against the clenched wife's asshole. He slowly pushed his finger in, up to the first knuckle.

"OH SHIT! SHIIT! OHGODOHHH!" the sensation of Lester's sausage digit violating her asshole as the dynamite went off again, heightening her ongoing string of climaxes. The warm, full feeling coming from her ass was amazing, but she needed to catch her breath.

Sarah's body finally came down from her powerful climax; her muscles relaxed, and she laid back into the bed, luxuriating in the pleasure she'd gotten from Lester's mouth. Her thighs let go of Lester's head, and he pulled back, heaving and gulping a deep breath. Sarah opened her eyes at the noise, looking down at Lester and chuckling at his beet-red face.

"Sorry," she said, closing her eyes again, "You just do that too good." Her mouth curved in a contented smile.

Lester awkwardly and unflatteringly shuffled out of his ragged boxers, revealing his hard cock already dripping. Hearing the fabric move, Sarah's eyes opened to catch the reveal of Lester's giant cock. Sarah eyed it and licked her lips, "Put that in me, big boy."

Lester stood there, his forehead sweaty and his lower face soaked with her juices. His beady eyes roamed over her body, and his tongue rested on his bottom lip as he stood there ogling her. Lester squeezed his large cock in his hand and smiled, then shook his head."

"C'mon, Lester, I need you to fuck me."

Lester's smile widened, but the only move he made was to continue shaking his head and denying her what she wanted.

Sarah was now up on her elbows, her shapely breasts more apparent at this angle, "Doesn't my Chicago boyfriend want me? I need that big dick of yours."

Lester's grin widened, and he looked a little crazy, but again, he stood there, waiting. The shaft and purple head of his cock still held against his gut, trembling slightly with the room's tension.

Sarah smiled, and her green eyes seemed plaintive in the blue glow of the PC monitor. She took her right hand and slowly caressed her breast. She licked her lips and said, “My husband is asleep in the next room. Please fuck a baby into me... Daddy.”

Lester’s smile broke wide, and he didn’t waste any more time, roughly crawling on top of Sarah as her legs opened to welcome the ugly trollish man between them. Lester’s gut pressed down onto Sarah as he settled his weight on top of her, pushing the air from her lungs. His bare cock, slick with precum, quickly found the drenched entrance to her pussy and began pushing himself in.

Sarah moaned at the feeling of being stretched to accommodate Lester’s girth. Her legs instinctively wrapped around his hips as her hands gripped onto his flabby biceps.

“Uhhhhhhhhhhhh,” Sarah groaned as she felt Lester’s turgid member push deeper into her. Every single time, she was surprised by just how good it felt inside her body. Not only to be stretched by a large cock like his but to feel so utterly submissive under the weight of his massive frame. To completely give herself over to an ugly bastard so far below her.

“I’m gonna fuck you slow and hard while Dan sleeps next door,” Lester said as his lips pressed hard against hers. “I want you to fucking explode while I dump my cum into you while that idiot snores away, not knowing I’m claiming his wife. Breeding you.”

Sarah didn’t respond, but she opened her lips, letting Lester’s fat tongue slide into her mouth. She tasted the Cheetos he had been eating as her tongue danced over his, her mouth resonating with every taste bud she had.

Lester pushed his monster cock fully into Sarah’s tight pussy.

“Ohhhhhhhgod,” Sarah moaned at how full she felt. Lester’s hairy balls were pressing up against her asshole as his swollen cock was fully embedded in her. “So fucking good, baby.”

“That’s what I like to hear,” Lester said as he gently bit at her lip. As he lowered his lips back to hers, he tilted his head slightly and pushed his sizable tongue deep into her mouth. At the same time, he pulled his hips back until only the tip of his cock was nestled in the folds of her pussy, then pushed his cock fully back inside of her til their hips slapped together.

Sarah moaned into his mouth, trying and failing to battle him with her tongue. Each time she made any progress, Lester's cock pulled out and thrust back in, causing her to moan and lose the ability to focus on anything else. Lester clasped Sarah's hands and interlaced his fat fingers with hers, holding them gently over her head, pinned to the bed.

Lester kept up his slow routine, slowly pulling his cock out of Sarah before just as slowly pushing it back in. Sarah's hips started thrusting off the bed as the couple made out. Eagerly wanting him to go faster, urging him to fuck her harder.

After what had transpired earlier in the night in the living room, Lester didn't want Sarah taking control again. He needed to reassert that he was the one in charge. He rammed his cock hard into her, pinning her hips to the bed under the weight of his immense frame.

"No," Lester pulled his head back and looked deep into her eyes, "We're making love tonight. It's been too long."

"Uhhhhh," Sarah moaned in disappointment but kept bucking her hips up off the bed. Lester adjusted his hips' angle and sank his knees into the bed. He pulled all the way out of Sarah until just the top of his cock was still inside of her and slowly worked it back in, dragging across her G-Spot. "Mhmmmmmm fuck."

Lester repeated the action again, then again. Sarah's hips pushed up to meet his thrusts, the two of them quickly moving their motions into sync with one another. Lester grabbed the back of Sarah's neck and pulled her head up towards his mouth. His lips met with hers as his cock sunk deep into her.

Sarah moaned into his lips as Lester changed tactics with his lips. Instead of pushing his tongue deep inside her mouth, he focused on his lips on hers, sucking and gently kissing them in a slow, sensual manner. His plan was to entice some of those love hormones in her brain to be released by his slow, methodical pace.

Lester kept up his steady tempo, pulling out and pushing his entire length into the married woman. He wanted her to feel every inch of his veiny cock, over and over again. He let go of her hands and dropped more of his weight on top of her.

Sarah felt Lester slightly crushing her petite frame. Thankfully, he kept himself on his elbows. Still, her heavy breasts mashed against Lester's flabby chest. She could feel the wiry hairs on his chest chafing her pristine skin, but that wasn't at the forefront of her mind. She was focused on the marvelous sensations between her legs.

Lester shocked her by suddenly altering his cadence, thrusting himself quickly in and out of her twice in rapid succession. Sarah gripped his arms in response, tugging on them for leverage. Urging him to give more more. He went back to his slow, methodical thrusts making Sarah squirm.

“Fuck Lester, that feels so good,” Sarah moaned into his shoulder. Her tongue instinctively reached out, licking circles into his bitter, sweaty skin.

“It’s gonna feel even better when I cum inside you,” Lester whispered. “I can’t fucking wait.”

“Uhmhmnnnnnn,” Sarah moaned at the thought of Lester’s hot cum exploding inside of her. “I can’t wait, Lester. I can’t wait for you to cum inside me again. It ffffeels so good.”

“That’s my girl,” Lester grunted, still sliding his cock slowly and steadily. Sarah’s body was responding to him in real-time. He could read her like a sheet of music, the effect of each thrust. Every grunt and moan.

Her body was telling him that she wouldn’t be able to hold out long before cumming again herself.

He knew from experience that her mind played a critical part in pushing her over the edge. He chose his words carefully to tug on the strings that he knew would turn her on. Lester wanted to run on a knife’s edge between pushing her buttons and trying to deepen her connection to him.

“You feel so good, Sarah. I love being with you,” Lester whispered. “I love that you followed me into my room. God, you’re so fucking tight. My cock is throbbing. I love this.”

“Fuck Lester. You feel so good,” Sarah moaned, her hands flung around his sweaty back, pulling him down on top of her. She felt more of his weight on her frame. It was intoxicating, feeling like she was trapped under him, needing to give in to whatever he wanted to do to her. “Don’t stop, baby. Please.”

Sarah groaned, thrusting her shapely hips up off the bed to meet him.

“Why?” Lester whispered into her ear, “Are you getting close? Are you going to cum on my fat cock while your husband sleeps in the next room? Poor Dan. Doesn’t even know his wife is making love to me right this second.”

Sarah felt her body start to tingle. Lester's words laced through her ears like a seductive serpent focused on enhancing her pleasure. Sarah closed her eyes and tried to focus on her orgasm, but it was difficult.

Everything was stimulating her body. Lester's words had put her body into overdrive, his warm Cheeto breath on her face, his disgustingly sweaty back, and the way she felt pinned under him. Everything was adding up to make Sarah want to scream and just let loose.

Lester felt Sarah pushing against him erratically; her breathing grew shallower, and he could hear a tell-tale sighing whine at the back of her throat. He knew she was close to cumming. He just needed to tip the scales in his favor.

"Do it," Lester whispered as his tongue danced wetly on her earlobe, "Cum for me. I want to feel your body squeeze me. Come for Daddy, Sarah. Be my good little slut."

"Uh fuck," Sarah grunted. "Oh my God, Lester, your cock. It's, it's so fucking, fffuhh." Her body was wildly fucking Lester back. Lester had abandoned his slow and methodical pace, responding to the changes in Sarah. Wanting to stoke the fire within her. He kept the same angle but was now thrusting into her faster, ensuring he punctuated each thrust hard to get Sarah to cum for him.

"Do it," Lester growled into her ear. "Cum on my cock, you good little slut. Your husband is sleeping next door while you're pinned under me. Cum for me."

"Uhhmmmmmm fuck. Lester. I – I — Fuuucccmhhhhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned into Lester's shoulder as her body spasmed and her orgasm took hold. She squeezed Lester's cock with her pussy, trying to hold it in place, not wanting anything to stop the onslaught of her chain explosion. Sarah's muscles tightened, and her breath stopped as she came erratically on Lester's cock. It felt like a tsunami engulfing her as electric sensations ran across her body. Every one of her nerves seemed to be on fire and were extra sensitive, sending her to the very edge of consciousness.

"Good girl," Lester grunted, pulling his cock out. It was not an easy feat, as Sarah's pussy had it in a death grip. Lester slammed it back into her. His cock rocked her orgasm, pushing it to yet even higher levels.

Lester kept slamming into her, ignoring the iron grip her pussy tried to have on his cock. He wanted to push her into another brain-melting orgasm.

In the next moment, Sarah felt that promised explosion rock through her body as Lester started to fuck her harder and faster than he had been doing. She felt him slide long strokes so deep into her. So quickly and so hard, confidently claiming her. All her muscles seemed to tense up again as she felt another, even larger orgasm start to unleash inside of her.

“Ah fuck. Uhhh. God. MHMMHMMM. FUCK. YES. PLEASE. YOUR COCK. PLEASE. YES. FUCK ME LESTER!”

Sarah’s body was out of control. Nails dug into Lester’s back as she clenched her teeth. Her face grew red as she focused so much energy on fucking back on Lester’s raw battering ram of a cock. Her ankles were locked behind his fat ass, and she pulled herself further onto his impaling pole.

“I’m gonna cum in you,” Lester declared quietly into her ear. Both of them started bucking against each other in a sexual frenzy.

“Do it. Oh my god. Oh GOD, DO IT LESTER. DO IT! I LOVE YOUR FUCKING COCK!” Sarah screamed, not worried about anything else at that moment. Consequences be damned. She knew her next orgasm was about to crash down on her body. The thought of Lester’s hot cum pumping into her was driving her insane. “FUCK ME LESTER. I LOVE IT! I FUCKING LOVE YOUR COCK! GOD, Don’t stop. I, I LOVE YOU!

FUCKKKK. FFFFUUUUHHHCK!”

Lester roared like a lion attacking a fresh kill in the savannah as he came, his eyes fluttering as he pushed into the gorgeous woman. Even though he had cum hours earlier, a torrent of white, hot sticky cum sprayed like a firehose from his cock. It drenched every inch of Sarah’s insides, exploring every corner and crevice of her body.

“OH GOD,” Sarah shouted as she felt Lester’s cock explode inside of her. His hot cum drenching her, filling her up completely in an instant. Rope after rope of cum kept exploding into her in a never-ending loop.

Sarah grunted loudly as her body came again. Another orgasm washed down on Sarah, dwarfing the previous one as it overtook it and took over her entire body.

“MHMMHMMMMMMMMMOHH,” Sarah wailed as her body enveloped Lester’s, holding him tightly to her. Lester’s cock continued to pulsate and throb inside of her as more of his illicit seed was emptied into her.

Sarah's pussy continued to clench down on Lester's cock as she came, her body trying to milk every last drop of pleasure out of it. Lester pushed his head down, his lips mauling Sarah's as the contradictory lovers came together. Sarah's tongue pushed into Lester's mouth, barely registering the taste of Cheetos as she found his tongue with hers. They kissed each other hard as both of their bodies continued to go through the bliss of their orgasms, Sarah's arms still clutching Lester's sweaty, hairy, pasty back.

Their bodies continued to press against one another, Lester crushing Sarah's as the sweat on their bodies combined. Finally, the pace of Lester's thrusts slowed in time with Sarah's hips. They lay intertwined, still kissing one another for several more minutes. The kisses changed from oral exploration with their tongues to soft, gentle kisses with just their lips.

Lester broke their kiss. His cock still embedded in Sarah, he pulled back to look at her. She opened her eyes to look back at him. His hand caressed her face, brushing a stray strand of hair away. With his labored breathing, he stared into her eyes. She looked back up at him affectionately as her breasts were still crushed under his chest. After staring at each other for several seconds, Lester leaned down one last time. Sarah raised her head off the bed to meet his lips with one last lingering kiss.

Slowly, Lester pulled himself out of Sarah and flopped onto the bed next to her. Sarah felt even more exhausted than before, but now that her itch had been scratched, she knew she could finally fall asleep.

She looked over at Lester, whose eyes were closed, his breathing growing deeper as sleep overtook him.

Her mind wasn't thinking clearly, but she had thoroughly enjoyed that session. The way Lester had tenderly held her while still driving deep inside of her had been overwhelming.

Sarah knew she had to get up and slide back into Dan's bed. She would do that in a minute. Lester's bed just felt so nice and comfortable. She just needed another minute or two, and she would get up and quickly clean herself up before returning to her husband. With the heat of Lester's body off of her, Sarah could feel the air conditioning run over her body, giving her a slight chill. She pulled the thin covers up over herself, enjoying how soft and luxurious they felt.

A yawn escaped her lips and her eyes started getting heavy. The room suddenly went dark as Lester's computer monitor shut off. Sarah still had her eyes closed, unable to see the darkened silhouette of Lester's form with hers in the monitor.

Just one more minute, then I'll get up.

Dan groggily rubbed the sleep from his eyes as he tried to wake himself up. Sunlight was already streaming in from the window, and he knew he needed to get moving. He reached out for Sarah next to him, but his hand felt the empty spot where she was supposed to be.

His eyes snapped open, and he looked around the empty room for any sign of his wife. The door was closed, and her duffel bag was still in the corner of the room, the nightshirt she'd pulled out laid over it.

Dan sat up and quickly threw on a pair of shorts and a T-shirt. Sarah had likely woken up earlier and left the room to shower or get coffee. Being considerate, she shut the door behind her so she wouldn't wake him.

Dan quickly opened the door and stepped out into the hallway. The bathroom door was open, and the light was off. He turned and walked down to the living room, worried when he didn't see Sarah anywhere. He checked his phone, but there was no message saying that she'd run out.

"Sarah?" He said as he walked into the kitchen and looked at the small table in the corner. She wasn't in here either.

The noise of a bedroom door opening came from behind him. Dan whirled around, walked back into the living room, and looked down the hallway. His eyes went wide at what he saw.

Sarah was gently closing the door to Lester's bedroom. Her long, naked legs on display. Dan couldn't tell if she was wearing panties or not. The oversized ugly t-shirt with the Death Star from Star Wars emblazoned on it hung down to her upper thighs. Even from where Dan was standing, the shirt looked wrinkly and unwashed.

She paused and bit her lip as she saw Dan standing in the living room watching her. He tilted his head, and she silently nodded, spreading an impish smile across her face. An understanding seemed to pass between them in that moment.

Sarah walked down the hallway and stopped in front of the bathroom. She gave Dan a sexy look that could cause a lesser man's heart to stop and smiled at him again before disappearing behind the door.

Dan stood there, his mind going into overdrive, putting the pieces into place. At some point in the night, Sarah had somehow ended up in Lester's bedroom. His mind raced while his body reacted, and he felt himself grow stiff. He wasn't sure what he wanted at that moment, and conflicted emotions were clear on his face.

All he knew was that Sarah had gone to see Lester after Dan had fallen asleep. And Dan's cock was rock hard at the thought. He stepped up to the bathroom door and tried the handle. She had left it unlocked.

He couldn't deny that the look she gave him turned him on. And the fact that she had spent the night with Lester....while conflicted, he couldn't deny that his lust for his wife was at an all-time high.

Dan turned the knob and stepped into the bathroom to join his wife in the shower.

With Sarah headed back home, Lester sat in his command center, staring at the monitor in front of him.

His hands were clasped together in a steeple before his face as he contemplated his next move.

Things had taken some unexpected turns lately. Even though he'd accounted for all the variables, things had still gone awry with Vernon. He hadn't wanted to share Sarah like that. Not yet. Not unless he was fully in control of making her capitulate to his demands and having her willingly give in to him.

Vernon was just supposed to be an added spice, turning Sarah on at being exposed while further reducing Dan's agency in the heightened situation. Lester would need to improve his vetting process or find some way to better control how he exposed Sarah.

Putting her on display to his D&D friends and strangers behind the windows of his car was one level.

Vernon was quite another. Even fucking her against her office window overlooking the hospital's parking lot had been a tactic he'd used to push her into obedience, succumbing to her own desires.

He wanted to continue down that path, pulling Sarah deeper and deeper into his web. But the events with Vernon gave him pause. He didn't like a plan not going the way he liked, introducing too many outside variables was proving too chaotic.

Still, some variables were worth the gamble. Lester still needed to punish Dan severely for his transgressions, and he had just the idea of how to do that. Lester reached out, grabbed his phone off the desk, and dialed the number for Jesse.

The phone continued to ring as Lester thought through his plans. Dan's reaction to seeing Jesse at the club had been volatile. He wondered just how far he could exploit that. Perhaps push Dan into doing something else stupid, this time falling into a trap with more consequences.

"Hello?" Jesse's voice answered from the phone.

"Jesse. It's Lester," Lester said, "I think it's time we talk. I have an idea that I need your assistance with."

"Oh yeah?" Jesse fired back in words dripping with venom, "Now you want my help? After shutting me out and ignoring me? Sorry, but I have my own plan now that doesn't include you."

Lester frowned. This was not what he had been expecting. A pliable variable like Jesse should be known, waiting and eager for Lester to call on it, "Excuse me?"

"Yeah. I don't need you anymore, Lester. My friend from The Lincoln Group and I already have things in motion. He promised I'll get my time alone with Sarah in Minnesota real soon." Jesse was talking in rapid-fire bursts, "You're not going to dick me around anymore. I have her all to myself and take her away from you and Dan."

"Listen here, you little shit," Lester started, "You don't know the first thing about me and the lengths I'll go to ruin your pathetic little life."

"Whatever," Jesse said and hung up the phone.

Lester stared at the phone in anger as his fingers clenched it tightly. What the hell was that?

Jesse suddenly growing a backbone was not a factor he had anticipated. Lester scooted his chair forward and opened up a search engine on his computer. He typed in The Lincoln Group while opening another tab to look at Jesse's LinkedIn page. He needed to assess and figure out what events were in play that he didn't know about. These guys thought they could take Sarah from Dan for themselves or something?

After his months of scheming and subtle manipulations, they just wanted to reap the fruits of his labor.

No fucking way.

Lester's phone rang. Expecting Jesse, and answered but didn't recognize the number.

"Hello?" He said coldly as his eyes ran over the information on the screen. He opened a word document and began collating information about Jesse, his company and this Lincoln Group he mentioned.

"Hi, Mr. Marshall? This is Jenny with Chase Bank's fraud department. I'm reaching out because several recent transactions were flagged as suspicious. Can you confirm whether you purchased over one thousand dollars of liquor this morning at a convenience store? Or an AirBNB rental?"

"No," Lester fired back, his eyes scanning his desk for his wallet. Holding the phone to his head, he stomped out to the living room to look for it. The last thing he remembered was giving Sarah money for the pizza.

Vernon. "No, I didn't do that. Cancel all my cards and reissue new ones."

"Okay, Mr. Marshall. First, I need to ask you a few questions to confirm your identity."

Lester balled his free hand into a fist, feeling the rage boiling inside of him. Vernon. Dan. The Lincoln Group. Jesse. It was time to burn them all to the ground.

"Fuck," Dan muttered, looking down at his phone.

"What is it?" Sarah asked, looking concerned. They were riding in the back of a Uber on the way to their hotel in Minnesota. Their early morning flight ensured Dan could get into his client's office by mid-morning.

"My client at Sentinel Securities is complaining about my responsiveness," Dan breathed. "I've been stretched between them, my other clients, and actual work. I try to respond to them right away, and I'm ahead on our agreed timeline, but they seem to want me to act like a full-time employee. I have to figure out what to do with this. They're my biggest client and the linchpin for my future plans."

Dan put his head back on the seat and closed his eyes, "It just never stops."

Sarah held his arm and leaned in towards him, "We're going to figure it out together, remember hon?"

She smiled at him and gently bumped him with her shoulder, “This trip isn’t just about work. It’s about getting you out from under these guys, remember? One less thing for you to have to worry about. We plant that USB, and then you can get out from under them and deal with everything else, one thing at a time.”

“You make it sound so easy,” Dan opened his eyes and looked at Sarah, who was smiling back at him.

“It isn’t, but we just need to focus on what’s in front of us and not get overwhelmed by the bigger picture,” she said. “You’re smart. I know we’ll get through this. Figure out a good response when we get to the hotel room, and then let’s focus on burying these other guys.”

“I’m still not sure how we’ll get that USB into Byron’s office,” Dan said.

“You go there and work like you normally would. See if you can find an opportunity to do it or just scope the place out. Then, we’ll talk and figure out the best way to approach it. Okay?” Sarah said reassuringly.

“Alright,” Dan looked at his wife, smiling back at him. A weird expression crossed his face.

“What?” Sarah asked.

“It’s nothing,” Dan looked out the window.

“No, tell me,” Sarah said, “What is it?”

“Your smile just now. It reminded me of the last time you visited in Chicago. You know when I caught you doing the walk of shame in the morning?” Dan said tentatively, “from, ah, the other bedroom.”

“Oh did it?” Sarah asked.

“I know,” Dan said, “You just do something to me. I love when you behave badly but I feel like I shouldn’t.

Shouldn’t love it.”

“Don’t be embarrassed about anything like that with me,” Sarah checked the rearview mirror to see if their Uber driver was listening. He had headphones in but she was sure from his reaction faces that he was eavesdropping. “We’re in this together and I’m happy to indulge in both our fantasies.”

She ran her hand up his thigh, her eyes still on the rearview mirror. The driver looked back and locked eyes with her for a split second before quickly refocusing on the road. Sarah ran her hand over Dan’s crotch before pulling back and giving him a wicked smile, “I think we’re here.”

The Uber pulled up in front of the same hotel they stayed in last time. After grabbing their luggage, they quickly checked in and settled into their room. Dan got dressed in his work attire and kissed Sarah on the lips before departing for The Lincoln Group’s office.

It didn’t take long for Dan to get to The Lincoln Group’s office. He checked in at the security desk before riding the elevator up and spoke with their receptionist. After a few minutes, she led Dan through their hallways to a discreet corner office with large windows looking out over the city. Byron was lounging behind his large desk in the middle of a call while Jesse was perched on a couch, looking like he had nothing to do.

Byron ushered Dan in and dismissed the receptionist while he finished his call. Dan wasn’t about to sit like a patsy on the couch, instead opting to stand until Byron was done his call. Jesse smirked at him from the couch, but Dan pretended to ignore it. Byron didn’t so much as glance his way as he lowered his voice and spoke into the phone.

Finally, his call ended and Byron got to his feet, walking over to where Dan was with a hand outstretched. Dan noticed the slight receding hairline and deep bags under Byron’s bloodshot reddened eyes. Reluctantly, Dan shook Byron’s hand who squeezed extra hard and gave him a few extra pumps before disengaging.

Byron looked behind Dan and then around the office, “Where’s that lovely wife of yours?”

“Shopping,” Dan said, “Ready to start?” He looked over at Jesse who hadn’t even opened his laptop yet.

“You brought her along, though, right? Maybe I should have been clearer that she was required to come in today,” Byron said, putting his hands in his pants pockets. He narrowed his eyes at Dan.

“Well, she’s not getting paid to be here, so, no, she won’t be,” Dan said coldly.

Byron just stared at Dan for several seconds, sizing him up. A predatory smile broke across his face,

“Fine. Let’s get started.”

Byron gestured to the couch where Jesse was sitting, with his laptop on the table in front of him. Dan sat down next to his former subordinate while Byron sat in a chair opposite. Byron leaned back in this chair, stretching his arms above his head, “You know, I would gladly compensate your wife for her.....services.

She’s going to join us for drinks later. I’m not asking.”

“Sure,” Dan said while opening his bag, ignoring the grins on both the men’s faces.

The trio got down to business, discussing some of the finer points of The Lincoln Group’s projects that Byron had been unwilling to discuss over the phone. The project was very ambitious and somewhat sketchy. From the sounds of it, it seemed like the company was establishing some off-the-grid community that had energy requirements far exceeding those of a normal subdivision. It made Dan think that they were building some kind of secret commune.

Byron wouldn’t reveal any details of the location, but he did say that all of the housing unit’s energy, internet, and other services would run through a central monitoring hub. What might occur in that hub still remained a mystery.

Dan led the group through the project’s finer requirements, not wanting to waste any time or be required to stay in Minnesota longer than necessary. He also hoped not to have to come back here. He wanted to knock out what he needed to do to complete his part of the project and then try to get off the project entirely.

At lunchtime, Byron escorted Jesse and Dan out of his office so he could make some other calls. Dan had the USB with the keylogger in his pocket. He couldn’t see Byron’s computer tower, but it must be somewhere under his bulky wooden desk.

When Dan and Jesse were alone, riding the elevator down, Jesse opened his mouth to say something smarmy, but Dan cut him off. He very intentionally hid his mouth in his hand as he spoke, “So what do you think Byron is going to do when he finds out you’re spying on him?”

Jesse’s face was fearful as he sputtered to respond, “W-what?”

“I know the deal you made,” Dan said. “You’re getting paid to spy on Byron and The Lincoln Group’s project and give regular reports to Peter. Don’t play dumb. He told me. He’s getting impatient with you.”

“It’s not like...I don’t know what you’re talking about,” Jesse said.

“Suit yourself,” Dan said, “I’ll just talk with Byron after lunch about it and show him what I have. We’ll see what he says.”

“No, don’t,” Jesse said too quickly, “Don’t.”

Dan smiled at Jesse, “Why shouldn’t I?”

“I’ll split the money with you. How did you even find out? Fuck!” Jesse said.

“It doesn’t matter. Call Peter a mutual friend. He told me a lot, particularly that you haven’t been giving him the reports he asked for.” Dan turned back to the elevator doors as they opened and then walked out.

“Because I don’t have anything yet!” Jesse spoke in hushed tones as he followed Dan out into the building’s lobby. “Today was the most we’ve seen. They’ve been all secretive before this.”

Jesse continued to trail Dan as he walked outside. When they were away from the building, Dan turned and said, “So what’s the plan tonight with Sarah? What are you guys planning?”

“I, uh, I don’t know. Honest,” Jess said, “I just know that Byron said at some point I’ll have some alone time with her. Without him and without you.”

“Well, that isn’t happening anymore,” Dan said. “Or I’ll tell Byron everything, and you’ll get fired again.”

“Okay,” Jesse looked deflated. Dan kept walking, and Jesse was still on his heels. Dan turned around and stared at him, “Why are you still following me? I’m getting lunch. Alone.” Dan walked off, leaving Jesse standing by himself on the busy street corner.

After lunch, the trio resumed their work hashing out details of the project. Dan continued to keep them on point, quickly trying to get through all of the items on his checklist so he could go back to Chicago and hammer out the project. Jesse constantly looked uncomfortable but Byron never mentioned it.

“Alright,” Byron said, standing up and looking at Dan and Jesse, “It’s time to get out of here. Quitting time. I’m going to grab dinner, and then we’ll meet up for drinks across the street. Say nine o’clock. He pointed a finger at Dan. Don’t forget to bring that sweet wife of yours.”

Dan just nodded. Byron gestured to the door and went back behind his desk, where he propped up his feet and dialed a number on his phone. Dan and Jesse left, each going their separate ways.

When Dan got back into the hotel room, Sarah was there waiting for him.

“How’d it go?” She asked anxiously.

“He never left us alone in his office. But I know where it is. I think his computer tower must be under his desk somewhere. He looked like he was getting comfortable but he wants to meet us at the bar across the street at nine.”

“Is his office private? Would it be easy to get in there without anyone seeing?” Sarah asked.

“It’s tucked away. Yeah, I think so.” Dan said, “I still don’t know how we’re going to get in there, though.

Maybe tomorrow, we can bait him out of his office while I’m in there, and I can attach it.” Dan was pacing back and forth now, anxiously visualizing the office.

Sarah walked up to him, stopping his stride. She put her hands on his chest and looked up at him,

“Honey, relax. Okay? We’ll figure it out.”

She patted his muscular chest, smoothing out the wrinkles on his dress shirt, “For right now. Let’s just worry about dinner, okay? I’m starving.”

“Alright, baby,” Dan said, “Let’s go find some grub.”

Just after nine, Dan and Sarah entered the loud bar across the street from The Lincoln Group offices.

Several heads turned their way as they made their way across the crowded bar to the lounge area at the back.

Sarah pretended to ignore all the glances she was getting, but she secretly loved the attention. She knew exactly what she'd been doing when she put her outfit together. Long flowing black dress pants that tapered at her midsection. A very low-cut tank top in faux silver alligator skin with black straps. The top exposed a lot of her chest, sitting low enough that she didn't wear a bra with it. She knew that eye contact would be a problem with any man she talked to tonight.

Her silver heels matched the small silver clutch she carried that contained the USB drive Dan needed to plant in Byron's office. As the couple navigated the bar, they quickly approached a booth with Byron and Jesse.

Byron stood up to greet her while Jesse remained sullen in the booth, his expression blank.

"Dan," Byron said cheerfully, clasping his hand before quickly turning to give Sarah a very obvious up and down ogle. "My, my, my. Sarah, I forgot how sexy you looked. It's been too long. He stepped up and gave Sarah a lingering hug, which she reciprocated before pulling away and gesturing to the booth.

"Dan, why don't you sit on that side next to Jesse," Byron smiled, "I want to catch up with this lovely creature." Byron gestured to the booth, letting Sarah in first before quickly sitting next to her, cutting off any opportunity Dan had to sit next to his wife. He reluctantly slid into the side of the booth next to Jesse.

Sarah was well aware that Byron had purposely pinned her between the wall and himself, with no easy way out of the booth. A server came by and took their drink orders, quickly returning with a wine for Sarah, a light beer for Dan and Jesse, and an 18-year-old scotch for Byron.

"Keep 'em coming," Byron winked at the server. As she walked away, he pointedly checked out her ass before turning to Dan, "You're covering drinks tonight, right?"

"Actually," Dan said, "I'm just the contractor. You're Jesse's client." Dan gently slapped Jesse on the back and nodded his head, "Drinks are on you."

"Yeah, sure," Jesse said, trying not to stare at Sarah's distractingly low-cut top across from him.

"So...." Byron said, turning towards Sarah, "Where have you been all this time? Dan's been keeping you from us. You should have come in today so I could show you my office."

Sarah caught Dan rolling his eyes. Byron turned his body to focus on her, physically blocking Dan and Jesse from engaging in the conversation.

“Well, a girl has to keep her secrets, Byron, you know that,” Sarah said, “Besides, I was too busy to come to your little boys’ club.”

“Ha!” Byron laughed, shaking his head, “Little boy, huh? Is that what you think of me?”

“I haven’t seen any evidence to the contrary,” Sarah kept eye contact but flicked her eyes down to his crotch. With a smooth smile, she turned her body away from him and grabbed her wine glass to take a drink. She leaned forward, out of Byron’s grasp, and looked at Jesse.

“Jesse, I haven’t seen you since that night in Chicago,” Sarah said. Jesse looked at her and then her breasts before his eyes darted to the bar. “How are you?”

“I’m doing good. Yeah, I got a new job. Things are going well,” Jesse squirmed.

“I heard,” Sarah smiled, “That’s really great. Dan said it’s an awesome and really prominent company. I wish that Dan would be able to land something like that.” Sarah eyed her husband and gave him a wicked smile. Dan hadn’t realized it until just that moment, but Sarah was playing her game the second she walked into the bar.

Sarah swirled her wine glass. All the men waited with bated breath to hear what she’d say next. She turned to Byron, “Did you know that Jesse is a really, really good dancer?”

Byron shrugged, “Had no idea.”

Sarah cast her gaze to Jesse again, “It’s true. Jesse, do you know what they say about men who dance really well?”

Jesse looked like a deer in the headlights, “No...”

“Hmmm,” Sarah said, gazing Jesse up and down, “Too bad.”

Despite the unfortunate circumstances, Sarah was enjoying herself, teasing Jesse and Byron in front of Dan and making them think lustful thoughts about her. She loved the power and attention it gave her. All three of them were like putty in her hands. She couldn’t wait to get Dan alone later and see his reaction to all of this.

Byron took a large sip and finished his scotch. Sarah eyed it and took another gulp of her wine. The small size pours weren't nearly enough, "Byron, can you get me another?"

"Sure thing," Byron said, raising his hand to catch the server's attention. When he did, he motioned to their drinks and gave her a thumbs up. Sarah was staring at him.

"Is there a wife at home, Byron?" Sarah asked.

Byron chuckled and knocked back his drink, "Not anymore."

"I'm sorry," Sarah said.

"Don't be," Byron eyed her, "It's better this way. I was too much for her to handle."

"What does that mean?" Sarah asked, leaning in."

"I kept her satisfied and more. But she couldn't quite ever keep up with me. Which is why I find you so intriguing."

"How's that?" Dan asked, cutting in.

Byron eyed him, and a sly smile spread across his face. He looked at Jesse and then back to the loving couple at the booth. "I know all about your arrangement with your roommate. Now, I'm not one to judge, but it sounds like Sarah here has the same insatiable appetite as I do. That their spouse can't quite keep up with them. Don't get me wrong, I'm not sure I would marry you, Sarah, but I do love knowing an insatiable minx like yourself is out there, waiting to pounce."

Sarah almost choked on her drink.

"Let's change gears here," Dan said, coming to the rescue, "We don't really want to talk about that."

"Why not?" Byron said, "It's fucking fascinating. Letting a woman like this get with your schlubby roommate. What are you thinking?"

Dan stared daggers at him. Recognizing the rising tension, Sarah moved to change the conversation's course and proceed with her plan.

"So, Dan tells me you have him working on some exciting project," Sarah said, "Something about a subdivision?"

“It’s way more than a subdivision,” Byron said dismissively to Dan. It’s a whole new community designed and controlled from the ground up.”

“Really?” Sarah said, feigning interest. The server returned with their drinks, and Sarah immediately asked for another. “Tell me about it. What makes it so special?”

Byron began talking about the project his company was working on. He kept the details vague but kept overstating how cutting-edge and important it would be. As he talked, Sarah slid her foot out of one of her heels and extended her leg, letting her calf run up and down against Jesse’s leg. Sarah had to stifle a laugh at his reaction. It looked like he was ready to cum right in his seat.

She shared a conspiratorial look with Dan. Despite his anger at the situation, his face betrayed his aroused emotions. Byron continued to talk about his secret project. Sarah nodded along but didn’t really listen to what he was saying. She knew the type of guy Byron was. He loved to hear himself talk so he would feel important and powerful.

“Isn’t that right, Dan?” Byron said, turning to her husband. As he did, his hand disappeared below the table and rested firmly on Sarah’s thigh.

“Sure,” Dan agreed, “We’ll get it all done on the right timetable.”

“That’s what I like to hear,” Byron finished off his scotch, signaling for another. “Sarah, your husband is great at what he does. I’m sorry, but I’m going to keep him very busy over the next few months.”

“Oh,” Sarah said with a disappointed look, “If my husband is so busy, what ever am I going to do with myself?”

Byron chuckled and turned back to face her, “I can think of a few things.” He ran his hand further up her thigh and smiled at her. Sarah leaned forward and whispered, “You know, I’m disappointed I didn’t get that tour of your office earlier.”

“Really?” He said slyly as his hand massaged her thigh.

“Is it too late for one now?” She asked, “I’d want a private one, without your coworkers hanging around.

Also,” she craned forward to speak into the older man’s ear, “can you dance?”

“Oh. Oh! Yeah. Yes, I can.” Byron sat up and checked his watch. Sarah could tell he was already well on his way to being sloshed. She took another long sip of her wine, finishing it off. “It’s late,” Bryon said,

“Everyone should be gone by now.”

Byron smiled, “You want to go now?” Sarah nodded her head, smiling at him.

Byron turned to Jesse and Dan, “Hey boys, uh, Sarah didn’t get the office tour earlier. I’m just gonna take her across the street and show it to her. You guys stay here, we’ll be right back.”

Byron got out of the booth and held his hand to Sarah, helping her out while his eyes ran up and down her body. She shared a quick, knowing look with Dan, who simply nodded back to her. Sarah hadn’t realized just how much the alcohol had hit her until she stood up. Jesse looked heartbroken as Bryon led Sarah out of the bar.

“Are you really just going to let her go with him?” Jesse said pleadingly to Dan.

“She’s a big girl. She can handle herself,” Dan said, taking a long sip of his drink, “Besides, you didn’t try to stop them.”

Jesse just shook his head, “I...I don’t...”

“So here’s what’s going to happen,” Dan said, turning an angry gaze to Jesse. He gestured a finger back and forth between them, “You and me, we’re going to find a way to get me out of this whole thing.

You’re going to help me, or I’m going to have a nice long chat with Byron about what I know.”

“There is no way out,” Jesse said, “Besides, I’m not scared of him.”

“Oh yeah? He’ll forget all about me and burn your world to the ground. You heard him back in your office, and you heard the threats he made against me. What do you think he’ll come after you with?”

A thought occurred to Dan at that moment. Maybe he should just contact Byron and burn Jesse again.

But there were no guarantees that Byron would let Dan walk or that Jesse’s company wouldn’t still work with him. He needed a cleaner break.

“What do you want me to do?” Jesse was staring down at his drink.

“We’re gonna get your company to fire me,” Dan said.

“They won’t do it,” Jesse muttered, still staring at his beer, “Hiring you is a clause in our contract with The Lincoln Group. They’d have to get that approved by Byron, which, after tonight, I don’t think he is going to do.”

Dan sat back against the booth, trying to think of a way out of this. He still felt trapped, but at least now he had something of an accomplice in Jesse that he could take advantage of. He knew he still couldn’t trust Jesse fully, though.

“We’ll figure something out,” Dan finally said, finishing off his drink. He eyed Jesse, “Tab’s on you, right?”

Jesse nodded as Dan left him alone at the booth and headed out onto the street.

Across the street from the bar, Byron and Sarah rode up the elevator. Byron had his arm draped around Sarah’s shoulders as his eyes feasted on her cleavage. When the elevator doors opened, the dark floor of The Lincoln Group’s Minnesota office appeared before them. Byron led Sarah into the open atrium before a glass wall obstructed their path. He reached into his pocket and retrieved a set of keys, quickly unlocking a glass door. He held it open for Sarah, who walked through. Byron’s eyes were glued to her ass as he followed, it swayed hypnotically as he walked behind her.

“Which way to your office?” Sarah asked.

“This way,” Byron said, sliding up next to her and placing a gentle, guiding hand on her supple ass, leading her further into the depths of the office suite.

“Here it is,” Byron said as they walked to the end of a hallway to his corner office. He opened the door and let Sarah inside. She looked around at the decor as Byron started to take off his suit jacket and openly eye fucked Sarah.

“Byron,” Sarah turned to face him. The alcohol was starting to take effect as she saw the lust-filled expression on Byron’s face. “Do you have a kitchen here? Or, like a pantry?”

“Yeah,” Byron said, closing the distance between them, “There’s one across the office.”

“Could you run and get me a bottle of water so I can get more comfortable?” Sarah smiled as she looked Byron up and down. A shit-eating grin appeared on Byron’s face, and he raised his eyebrows.

“Sure thing,” He said as he walked over to the door, “I’ll be right back. Don’t go anywhere.”

“Oh, I won’t,” Sarah said, “I’ll be here waiting for you.” A smile played at the corners of her lips.

Byron flung open the door harder than he probably meant to do and disappeared into the hallway. Sarah quickly opened her purse, grabbed the USB, and hurried around the desk, her steps unsteady from the alcohol.

She quickly got on her knees, looking under the desk for Byron’s computer tower. All she needed to do was plug the USB in. To her growing horror, she couldn’t find the tower anywhere. It wasn’t under the desk, not even suspended under it. The cabinets were full of papers. She ran her hands along the monitor, looking for any kind of USB slot, but both were already filled. Sarah’s eyes darted around the room, looking for any wires running from the desk to a hidden tower somewhere, but she couldn’t find anything. Nothing behind the couch, nothing on the bookshelf. The only wire she could find was the cord to a power strip that powered the monitor.

Her body swayed on dramatically as she looked around, feeling like she was completely out of ideas.

There wasn’t anything to plug the USB into. She hurried back over to the desk to peek under it one last time.

“I’m back,” Byron sauntered back in with a freshwater bottle in his hand. Sarah quickly put her sexy face back on, replacing the worried and frustrated one formed a moment earlier.

“It took you long enough,” Sarah said, standing up straight. “I was starting to get bored.”

Byron set the water bottle down on the desk, “What are you doing down there?”

“Oh,” Sarah stalled for time, trying to think up an excuse that wouldn’t get her caught, “Just wondering if there was room for me down there.”

“And?” Bryon asked as he slumped himself down into his chair, “Is there?”

“I’m not sure,” Sarah said.

“Why don’t you get down on your knees and see?” Byron suggested. Sarah stood staring down at him before slowly lowering herself to her knees. Byron unbuckled his belt and pulled it out of the hoops on his dress pants before unzipping his fly.

Sarah froze, watching as Byron slid off his pants. She was about to do this for no reason. No USB, no corporate espionage. Her entire plan just went out the window.

“What do you think of this,” Byron said as a semi-hard cock sprang into view as he lowered his boxers. It was girthy, longer, and thicker than Dan’s but still not as impressive as Lester’s amazing cock. Still, she couldn’t take her eyes off it as she realized kneeling before this piece of shit man was making her wet.

“Still think I’m a little boy?” Byron asked.

“No,” Sarah breathed, her eyes still focused on his cock.

“You know, it’s rude to stare,” Byron said as his hand looped behind Sarah’s head. His fingers ran through her blonde hair as he pulled her head towards his angry-looking cock. “Put that pretty little mouth on it.”

Sarah’s brain was still trying to think of a way to make the most of this situation. A way to get what Dan needed and somehow get access to Byron’s computer. But her body was already responding, her lips opening up, taking Byron’s cock into her wet, warm mouth.

Byron moaned as his cock disappeared into Sarah’s eager mouth. Sarah couldn’t believe how easily she had just obeyed his request and accepted her fate. She should have maneuvered into something else, going to another office. Looking in a conference room. Instead, her body just gave in to the path of least resistance. What was wrong with her? And why was she enjoying this so much? She felt like her body was running on different programming than her brain.

“Ah, yeah,” Byron moaned, “That’s it, Sarah. I knew from the moment I saw you that I’d have my cock inside of you. It was only a matter of time.”

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Byron’s cock. She couldn’t help but compare it to Lester’s in her mind. Byron’s cockhead was unusually large, and he seemed to know what he was doing. Byron’s dick was pretty hot, but Lester’s amazing cock just did something to her that she couldn’t quite express in words. Sarah licked up Byron’s shaft and kissed its enormous head, “I’m surprised there’s room for me down here. I expected the space to be taken up by a computer.”

Byron chuckled, "Thank god for the IT nerds then. My computer is just the monitor and the Bluetooth keyboard and mouse. If I need to do any heavy lifting, I just remote into a more powerful workstation.

I'm sure we would have figured out someplace else to get you on your knees."

So, this whole thing was pointless. There was no computer to plug the USB into. She could still just get up and walk away. Get out of the office, saying she changed her mind. The wet cock in her hand throbbed, and Sarah looked down at it, unable to take her eyes off of it. It wasn't Lester's by any means, but she still felt powerful holding it in her hand.

"I would have managed. I'm very skilled," Sarah whispered.

"Show me your skills then. I knew you'd be a good cocksucker," Byron thrust his hips up, running his cock up Sarah's hands.

Sarah looked up at him while lowering her tongue to his bulbous throbbing head, "You have no idea."

Then his cock disappeared into her mouth as Sarah lowered her face onto it. Sarah expertly stroked the shaft of Byron's cock as she sucked as much of it into her mouth as she could manage.

"Mhhmmmmmm," She moaned around his cock. Sarah had grown addicted to feeling her mouth stuffed full of cock, the sensation in itself turning her on immensely. All of this seemed so out of character, but it felt so fucking good to give in to the craving.

"Damn," Byron breathed, staring down into Sarah's green eyes, "I should have invited Dan up here so he could see this. I bet that little cuck would be hard as a rock seeing you on your knees for me. After all the shit he's caused, I'd love to see the look on his face. Is this how you dance?"

Sarah slowly licked up Byron's shaft, causing his body to shudder in response. Her tongue swirled around the head of his cock, licking a drop of precum that had formed there. Byron's cum tasted different than either Lester's or Dan's. It was the most bitter of the three.

"Slow down," Byron breathed, "Take your top off."

Sarah begrudgingly let go of Byron's cock and reached down to pull her form-fitting shirt off. The faux-alligator skin shirt held her breasts up so well that she hadn't worn a bra. Byron's eyes lit up as Sarah's naked breasts were exposed to his sleazy gaze in the dim office.

"Fucking A," Byron leaned forward and grabbed one of Sarah's heavy breasts in his hand. He roughly pawed it as Sarah lowered her mouth back down onto his broad cockhead.

Part of her mind was still battling against the suppressive nature of her new instincts and urges. It still wanted her to get out of the office and go back and find Dan. This entire thing was now pointless because there was nothing to install the USB stick onto. Her grip tightened on Byron's shaft, not willing to give full consideration to those thoughts. Maybe she could just suck his dick clean and then make her exit.

"Dan's really been holding out on me," Byron said, "We should have done this the last time you were here."

"Well," Sarah said as she kissed down his shaft and started licking his balls. She alternated between licking, kissing, and sucking on them despite the patchy matted pubic hair. "Before, I was just a happily married woman. But now that you're making Dan work for you, I finally have the excuse I needed to get what I wanted."

"And what's that? What do you want?" Byron was breathing hard as he stared down at Sarah while mauling her naked breasts.

"This," Sarah said, licking over his ballsack and up his shaft, twirling her tongue over the towering head of his cock and then sucking it with abandon, her tongue flicking its oversized ridge. If she sucked hard enough and stroked him off, she knew she could make him cum quickly.

"Uhhhhh, fuck Sarah," Byron moaned, "You're so fucking dirty. I love it. You kiss your children with that mouth too?"

Sarah didn't respond. She didn't want to think about her kids right now. All she was focused on was Byron's hot sleazy cock in her mouth. Byron let go of her tits and slumped down in the chair. Hands behind his head, he just watched Sarah go to town on his cock, amazed at the sensations she was eliciting from his body.

"Goddamn," Byron muttered to himself as he watched Sarah work. He could feel her expert attention already starting to make his balls begin to tingle and get ready to explode in her. He was torn between letting her suck the life out of him or throwing her off and fucking her.

“Stop,” Byron said. Sarah pretended not to hear and continued to suck his cock with abandon. She knew he was getting close by the rate of his breathing and the shifting of his body. She just wanted to finish sucking his cock and drink his bitter cum.

“Stop it,” Byron said, gripping her hand, stopping it from running up and down his shaft. Sarah gripped his dick harder, making him jump. She kept her mouth firmly attached to his cock, creating a perfect suction-like seal. “Fuck. Sarah, stop,” Byron said loudly. Sarah finally broke her sucking trance and looked up at him.

“What?” Sarah said.

“Stand up,” Byron said, pushing his chair back with his legs. “Take off those pants.”

“You want me to take these off?” Sarah asked as she stood, playing with the hem of her pants.

“Now,” Byron ordered as he marched over to the couch area of the office. He grabbed one of the plush chairs he’d sat in earlier and pulled it over to the window. He turned and watched as Sarah undid the button on her high-waisted pants and seductively lowered them to the floor. His eyes grew wide like saucers as she revealed the black thong she was wearing and her long, tanned and toned legs.

“Jesus, they really broke the mold when they made you,” Byron said, “Come here.”

Sarah slowly closed the distance between them with swaying steps. She felt completely exposed to this scumbag of a man, wearing nothing but her heels and black thong. But she had to admit to herself that she felt so fucking wet being on display like this, for someone like that, in front of a view of the city.

Byron had irked her the first time they met. Made her skin crawl, and now she was offering herself up to this creep on a platter.

Byron glanced out the window and chuckled before turning his attention back to Sarah. He bit his lip, grabbed her by the back of the neck, and pulled her in for a sloppy kiss, his tongue immediately pushing its way into her mouth. His other hand grabbed her shapely ass and pulled her body towards him, his cock pressing hard against her thong-covered sex.

At some point, he had ditched his pants, standing naked except for his sloppy shirt and high black socks.

His hand kept roughly massaging her ass as his cock ground up and down her. Sarah couldn't help but feel her body moving in time with cock, reciprocating its insistent attention.

Was she really about to have sex with this sleazeball? This hadn't been their plan. None of her plans had worked out the way it was supposed to. Maybe she could just drop to her knees and finish him off with her mouth. Before Sarah could formulate a concrete plan, Byron pulled back from her and twirled her around. His hand was still on the back of her neck. He pushed her forward. Her knees bumped into the edge of the chair he had placed by the window. He pushed her neck down until she gripped the back of the low chair to brace herself.

His hands were on the sides of her thong, pulling it down faster than her brain could compute. Byron roughly pushed her ass forward with his hands until Sarah put her knees up on the seat of the chair while her hands rested on the top of it.

"Fuck, I'm going to enjoy this," Byron said as he quickly shuffled behind Sarah and ran his cock between the tops of her thighs.

Sarah breathed hard and hung her head in anticipation. She could have walked out of there at any time, but she knew that her body was in the driver's seat, and it got what it wanted. Byron was running his cock up and down her slit, coating it in her wetness. Then he pulled his hips back and put his cock right up to her opening.

"Byron," Sarah breathed, a thought suddenly dawning on her, "Do you have a condo – ughhhhh."

Byron pushed the thick pole of his cock into Sarah's wet entrance. Sarah's hands braced themselves against the chair as she ground her knees into the seat.

"Fuck you're, nrrggn, so tight," Byron grunted from behind her. Sarah froze in place, encapsulated by the feeling of Byron's swollen member pushing into her. "God, that feels fffucking good. Oh yeah."

"Uhhhhhhgmmmmmm," Sarah groaned as inch after inch of Byron's cock pushed into the young wife.

Her mouth contorted in pleasure, and her eyes rolled back as more and more of Byron's large cock pushed into her. The low chair provided the perfect angle for Byron to fuck her, his cock pressing right up to all the perfect places inside of her. "Ohhhhhhhhhhhh," she moaned as Byron's cock was finally fully embedded inside of her. His balls slapped against the bottom of her asscheeks.

“Holy fuck,” Byron said loudly as he grabbed her shapely hips, “I’m finally inside of you. I’ve been waiting for this. Fuck.”

“Open your eyes and look out the window,” Byron said. Without hesitating, Sarah did as she was commanded. She opened her eyes and saw the Minnesota skyline outside.

“Lower,” Byron sneered, “Look down across the street.”

Sarah did as he said, her eyes shifting from the dark night sky to the dimly lit street below. She scanned the street, her eyes stopping on the illuminated sign for the bar they had just been sitting at. Standing outside the door was Dan, leaning against the wall, watching the entrance to Byron’s building.

“What do you see?” Byron asked.

“Dan,” Sarah breathed back. Byron pulled his cock slowly out of Sarah before quickly ramming it back in.

“Ughhhhh,” Sarah grunted as she was rocked against the chair.

“Do you think he knows what’s happening up here?” Byron said. Sarah closed her eyes and turned her attention back to what was happening behind her, “Maybe.”

“No,” Byron said, “Keep looking at your pathetic husband out the window.”

Sarah opened her eyes again and looked down at Dan, who was standing vigilant on the street below, waiting for her return.

“Watch Danny boy while I make his wife my bitch,” Byron grunted as he started jackhammering Sarah’s pussy. He held her hips in place with an iron grip as he fucked her relentlessly on the office chair. Again, Sarah appreciated how smooth Byron’s strokes were. He was more measured in his fucking than, say, her husband Dan was. But Lester was on her mind. The brute wasn’t smooth, he set a violent tempo when he fucked her, and whatever speed he set, she knew she’d explode on his glorious organ.

Sarah stared at Dan, several floors below her, as the man who had been stressing him out hammered into her. Sarah wanted to keep looking at Dan and maintain that connection to her husband, but Byron’s pistoning cock just felt too fucking good. She closed her eyes and focused on his cock, running back and forth inside of her. Sliding in and out like a machine, hammering into all her most sensitive places, bouncing her off him. The hot, throbbing feeling of his cock buried inside of her.

“Mhmmmmhmmfuuck,” Sarah moaned.

“That’s right, Sarah,” Byron hissed from behind her, “Moan for me. Nobody’s here. Moan as loud as you want. Moan loud enough for Danny boy to hear you down there. Moan for me. Moan as I fuck you!”

“MHMHMMMHMHMHMMMMMM,” Sarah let out a guttural moan in response. His words made her feel completely unbridled as she dug her knees into the seat and thrust back against his cock, “UUGH, AH, Ah, ah, Fffuuuuu, mhmhmhm, Yeah.”

“Fuck yeah, baby,” Byron grunted, his death grip leaving handmarks on her hips, “Moan my name, bitch.”

“Byron,” Sarah said loudly into the office, “BYRON. OH FUCK. BYRON. DON’T STOP.”

“That’s right,” Byron chuckled as his hips kept rhythmically thrusting forward, his naked cock sliding in and out of Sarah’s unprotected pussy with abandon, “Shit.”

“Uh god,” Byron said. He leaned forward and licked his tongue up Sarah’s back over her spine, making her shiver at the chill. One of his hands stayed gripped to her hip while his other hand grabbed roughly onto her shoulder. Each time he thrust into her, he grabbed her shoulder hard and pulled her back onto his ramming cock.

“Look at your stupid husband down there,” Byron said. “He didn’t even try to stop me tonight. He just let you come up here and get fucked. Well, while you’re in Minnesota, you’re my bitch, got it?”

“Mhmmhm, oh, uh hh, ah, ah, ah uh hh, ohh, ooomygod,” Sarah whined.

“Whose bitch are you?” Byron demanded.

“Uhhhh, yours. Yours.” Sarah moaned back.

“Whose bitch?” Byron said.

“YOURS,” Sarah shouted, “I’m Byron’s bitch!”

“Heh, that’s right,” Byron laughed. “Look down at your husband. Do you see him?”

“Mhmm, uh, ya – yes,” Sarah said, her eyes having trouble staying focused on Dan on the street as Byron’s hammering cock made her body jump with each thrust.

“Tell him,” Byron said, “Tell him whose bitch you are.”

“Dan...,” Sarah started as she felt this new level of humiliation and degradation of Dan start to blossom into an orgasmic flower inside of her. She knew that her next admission was going to send her over the edge. “Dan,” Sarah breathed, “I’m Byron’s bitch now. He fucks me so fucking good. I’m all his. All Byron’s.

All Byron’s bitch.”

Sarah felt her body start to quake as the heat from Byron’s cock seemed to wash over her entire body.

Her nails dug into the fabric of the chair as she ground her teeth together, “Uhhhhh. Oh. Fuck. Please.

Please. Give it to me. Don’t stop. Uhhh, I’m gonna. I’m gonna.”

Byron shouted to the empty office, “Cum for me, Sarah. Cum on my cock. Let your husband see.”

“OHGOD,” Sarah’s body convulsed as she felt Byron’s cock inside of her. Each thrust into her was like another rapid domino that pushed her orgasm higher, searing it into existence, “FUUUCKKKKKKK.”

Her muscles grew tense, and her toes flexed out, pointing. Her fingers dug into the couch. She arched her back and thrust her breasts out as she loudly screamed, “AHHHHUHHHHHHHHHHHHMMMHMMMMMFFUUUAA”

“MMMMHMMHMMHMMHMMMMM,” Sarah groaned as her orgasmic fireworks continued to explode inside of her. She was gasping for air as she came down hard, her body continuing to feel little tremors of pleasure on Byron’s cock.

“Fuck,” Byron grunted, “I’m gonna cum.”

Sarah pushed herself off Byron’s cock, not wanting to let him cum inside of her. She twirled around and sat down on the chair as Byron thrust his cock towards her face. She eagerly opened her mouth and took his cock into it.

“Uh Fuck,” Byron grunted. The first rope of hot cum blasted against the back of her throat, causing her body to jerk. She thought his cum was going to blast her off the chair.

“Oh yeah,” Byron said, still pumping his spewing cock into her, feeling his balls completely emptying into Dan’s wife. “FUCK THAT FEELS GREAT. TAKE IT ALL SARAH. TAKE ALL MY CUM.”

Byron looked down at Dan’s pretty wife, worshiping his cock. Her throat swallowed his load. Byron looked out the window at Dan standing alone on the street corner, and he chuckled, shifting his attention back to Sarah. Eventually, he stopped ejaculating inside her, his last rope erupting out, accompanied by a long groan.

Byron was breathing hard. His hands still gripped the back of her head. Sarah opened her eyes and looked down at the street where Dan was still waiting patiently for her, checking his phone.

Slowly and with a groan, Byron pulled his cock out of Sarah as he stood up. He stumbled back and just admired the scene before him. Sarah Williams propped back on a chair, thong dangling around one of her silver heels as her heaving chest slumped forward, trying to catch her breath.

Sarah slowly caught her breath and shuffled off the chair. The alcohol in her system was making her dizzy as she fumbled around, looking for her thong. After finding it, she weakly pulled it back up.

Byron had flopped himself onto his office couch. His eyes were shut, and he wore just his dress shirt and socks. Sarah quickly put her pants and shirt back on. Without bothering to say anything to Byron, she left his office. Although she wanted to make a beeline for the stairs, she opened a few doors, hoping to see the glimmer of a computer tower – anything she could plug the USB into. Then, she noticed that some of the hallways had discreet security cameras.

Her face was red from being caught on camera, and she played the part of a drunk woman looking for a bathroom. Playing up her dizziness as she navigated the office halls until she found the bank of elevators.

As powerful as her orgasm had just been, she couldn’t help but find herself craving something more.

Someone more. Her mind immediately thought of Lester. He never left her like this. She felt humiliated.

On uneasy feet, she rode the elevators back down to her waiting husband on the street below.

Lester felt the rage boiling inside of him. This wasn't how things were supposed to go. Sarah and Dan had briefly dropped some things off in the apartment in the morning before heading to the airport to fly to Minnesota for his work.

Was Sarah actually going to fall to such a weak boy like Jesse? What kind of leverage did this company have? Since his call with Jesse, Lester had been extensively researching and digging up dirt on Jesse and his company.

From what he could tell, Jesse's company had The Lincoln Group as their client. And those guys seemed shady as hell, a typical multinational corporation that said all the right things to Congress but had their fingers in all kinds of different pies. Completely vertically integrated, with very little information available about them. For such a large and powerful corporation, they mysteriously weren't publicly traded, which meant there was very little information he could dig up.

He didn't want to get too distracted digging into them, but he had trouble suppressing the urge. They were an unknown variable that he hadn't realized was part of this equation. He couldn't have that. He didn't like the feeling of not being in control. The unknown entity was a black hole full of baseless ideas that Lester's brain generated.

Fortunately, he would have more answers soon. Then, he would figure out what he was up against and how it would impact his hold on Sarah.

He opened his computer console again and rechecked the validation he had reviewed a few minutes earlier. Jesse's company had been easy to breach access to. They used a common suite of tools with known vulnerabilities. He began downloading all of their communications that mentioned Jesse or The Lincoln Group, and he would soon find out exactly what was going on.

Lester uploaded a package to Jesse's work computer. Once Jesse unknowingly accessed it, the file would worm its way into his computer, allowing Jesse's machine to be a slave to his. Lester could use Jesse's work computer as a relay to push into The Lincoln Group's network without it being traced back to him.

Lester took a calming breath. Patience.

It would all work out in the end. All of these were just momentary setbacks that he would swiftly bring to heel.

Dan was exhausted. He pulled their carry-on suitcases down the hall of his apartment building. Sarah was ahead of him with her keys out already. He had managed to escape Minnesota early, leaving the morning after the night of the bar and Sarah running off with Byron.

They hadn't talked much about it, but Sarah had confirmed that Byron had fucked her in his office. He knew she needed time to process everything despite his need to know all the details about what had happened. Byron had sent him some passive-aggressive emails that morning on their way to the airport about how skilled his wife was, but he ignored them, having shut off all of his devices.

While Sarah had crashed early last night, Dan had tossed and turned all night. He couldn't stop thinking about what had happened. His cock had been rock hard until dawn just thinking about Sarah with Byron and the look she'd given him when he caught her leaving Lester's room the last time she'd visited.

The unknown was plaguing his mind. He desperately wanted to see Sarah in action. He gritted his teeth as they grew closer to his apartment door. He knew he shouldn't want to see Sarah with another man. At least, he knew it was bad for him to lose control like that again. But with the events around them lately, the denial of being party to them and his blue balls from the previous evening had his head swimming with images of Sarah being bad.

Fuck, that look she gave me in the hallway. It implied so many things to him. They really should have talked about it afterwards to ensure they were on the same page but eyes took in the scene. Lester had Sarah's pert ass pinned up against the counter as his hands mauled her body while his large illicit tongue was running up the side of her mouth, leaving a wet trail.

Sarah's perfect behind was pushing against the counter, one of Lester's legs between hers, prying them apart. His hand was roughly grabbing the bottom of her ass cheek while the other held her by the back of her neck.

Dan watched in horrified fascination as Lester turned Sarah's head towards him and pressed his ugly, fat lips against hers.

To his growing horror and reluctant arousal, Sarah's surprised features seemed to relax at the urgent kiss. He watched as she closed her eyes, seemingly giving in to Lester's aggressive pursuit. After a moment, he could see that Sarah had become a full participant in the kiss, moaning back into the undressed man's mouth.

Lester ardently ground his crotch against Dan's wife. This was all so sudden and not something Dan had expected. He recalled the power of marching into his home and holding Lester by the throat, but that power was out of his grasp now.

Maybe it was the past day or so of living in a constant state of denial and arousal, finally bubbling up to overwhelm his carefully managed semblance of control. Whatever it was, in this fleeting moment, Dan felt like he was rapidly regressing to his impotent state of letting Lester do whatever he wanted with his wife.

Dan managed to ball a hand into a fist, and as he did, he noticed his dick bulging against the material of his pants. Lester kept up his savagely aggressive mauling, Sarah's body seemingly capitulating to Lester's desires.

Lester broke their kiss with a snarl, both hands coming up to Sarah's shoulders and throwing off her oversized cardigan. Sarah gasped at the boldness, her arousal going from zero to one hundred within the few seconds of being in Lester's presence. With Dan, she was like a dial that needed to be finely tuned and gradually turned on over time, cranking up until she was ready to go. With Lester, it was just a push of a single button, and she was uncontrollably turned on.

Lester licked his lips, and his head darted forward, licking her neck again while pinning her against the counter. His tongue trailed down her chest, licking all over every inch of exposed skin.

Sarah's eyes locked with Dan's, both of them standing there staring at each other. They'd been here before. She noticed the bulge in her husband's pants, and Dan couldn't help but notice the way Sarah's body seemed to be grinding itself on Lester's thigh.

Sarah bit her lip and looked at Dan, waiting for some sense of direction, asking with her eyes. What did he want her to do? Would he let her continue with this, or did he want her to stop? Dan didn't say their safeword 'pineapple,' nor did he say anything else. He just stood there staring at his troll-like roommate roughly having his way with his wife.

Sarah watched Dan's features for several more seconds, trying to discern what he wanted her to do. In the end, she took his lack of response and clear arousal on his face for consent to give in to his roommate. Something she was more than happy to comply with. Lester's tongue worked down her chest until it met with the fabric of her cream-white tube top. He didn't like his access to her breasts being impeded, and he roughly pulled it up her body awkwardly.

Sarah tried to comply, moving her arms up to allow it to be pulled up over her head. Once Sarah's pendulous breasts were free, Lester abandoned pulling the top off her, letting it pin her arms in the air as his mouth found a breast and sucked it in. Lester twisted the top in his fist, pinning Sarah's hands against the cupboard.

"Ohh," Sarah's hips shot out against Lester's body, her crotch wedged against his pressing thigh as she struggled to free herself from her top. Lester didn't relent, continuing to press himself against Sarah as he held her hands firmly in place over her head.

"Lester..." Dan finally managed to say, his voice wavering. Lester just ignored him and continued mauling Sarah's naked breasts. Lester took Dan's weak tone as almost a green light for him to proceed.

Sarah looked at her husband, her face wanting to communicate, 'It's okay,' but her eyes closed as her head fell back in abject pleasure.

Eventually, she freed her arms, letting her top drop to the floor. It lay next to the discarded Cardigan, the pristine white in sharp contrast to the dirty laminate floor of the kitchen.

Sarah's now freed hands went to the back of Lester's head, pulling him to her chest as he continued to lick and suckle on her breasts, his fat tongue swirling over her exposed nipples. Sarah's body shuddered, and Dan watched as the lower half of his wife's body seemed ready to be exposed by the way it was gyrating and humping against his slobbish roommate.

Lester seemed to notice her signal as well. With a loud grunt, he bent over and picked Sarah up with his arms, catching her completely off guard. On unsteady feet, Lester held Sarah up, her arms encircling his neck, holding on as he plodded out of the kitchen past a stricken Dan.

Lester either couldn't wait to get to his bedroom or just couldn't physically carry Sarah that far. He brought her over to the couch where Dan had just been sitting and yanked off her sweatpants, revealing Sarah's white lace panties. Sarah sat up and quickly tugged on the waistband of Lester's once-white underwear. The briefs dropped to his ankles as Lester's turgid cock sprang out, smacking Sarah in the face. She didn't waste any time, grabbing it eagerly with both hands and dropping her drooling mouth onto its length.

Lester just stood there, hands on his hips, watching Dan's wife devour his cock. He looked over at Dan, who seemed to be paralyzed by what was clearly happening in front of him. Lester now felt he had the cheat code to override Dan's control. He needed to be gradually introduced to arousing elements to loosen his control. When he discovered Sarah and Lester at his home, it was a sharp introduction, letting him retain his control. Lester wouldn't make that mistake again.

A shit-eating grin spread onto Lester's face as he looked at Dan, now understanding the best way to make him compliant. His gaze shifted to Sarah sitting on the couch before him, eagerly worshiping his cock. It was time to teach Dan another lesson and see how far he could warp his image of his perfect wife and the mother of his children.

Lester made sure to keep Sarah connected to his cock as he moved beside her and laid down on the couch. Sarah followed him, never taking her mouth or hands off his cock. She was on her knees on the couch, bent over licking and sucking Lester's cock with hearty abandon.

From the doorway to the kitchen, Dan watched as Sarah's bouncing head disappeared below the back of the couch. He could still hear her light, muffled moans and the wet, unmistakable slurping sounds of his wife's mouth on another man's cock.

This was the do-or-die moment for Dan. The back of the couch blocked his view of what was happening, but the sounds left no doubt in his mind. Dan usually missed out on the full view of what was happening, whether through the peephole or just being denied. Dan stood there, staring at the back of the couch and listening.

Dan's uncontrollable arousal propelled him forward. First, one step, then another as he made his way to the side of the couch. Sarah's white panties and her fantastic bubbly ass were pointed out towards him as her head bobbed up and down on Lester's crotch. Dan couldn't take his eyes off the illicit affair, his hand absently reaching out to find the plush leather chair as he tried to sit down. Lester saw Dan sitting down out of the corner of his eye and smiled.

Time to twist the fucking knife.

"You miss this?" Lester said to Sarah. She looked up at him with her piercing green eyes and nodded before licking up his shaft.

"Mhmmm, I did. I missed it. I missed this cock. I missed you," Sarah's mouth returned to Lester's thick cock, and he watched as she went lower and lower down onto it.

"Good girl," Lester said as his hand went to the back of her head, guiding her up and down on his cock. "Uhhhhh, oh that feels great, Sarah baby, suck my cock. Yeah, just like that - you know how I like it," Lester said. Sarah continued to wantonly bob her head up and down with abandon on Lester's cock. She already felt her panties getting wet. She loved sucking cock, especially one like Lester's. She had been craving Lester ever since the night before with her encounter with Byron. No one made her cum as hard as Lester could. Her mind was racing at everything that was happening, but she pushed it all aside to just focus on her favorite cock in the world.

“Ughh, lower. Suck on my balls,” Lester commanded.

Sarah took her mouth off Lester’s cock with an audible ‘pop’ and quickly descended down to his thickly matted public hair, her face disappearing into it as her tongue trailed down his colossal ballsack.

Lester’s frizzy salt and pepper pubic hair pushed into her closed eyes and up her nose, but it didn’t bother her as she sucked on his balls and inhaled his primal scent deeply. Her tongue darted out and traced circles on his hefty, wrinkled nuts.

Dan just sat there watching the love of his life devour Lester’s scrotum. A small voice inside of him was screaming, begging for him to listen and take some action, any action, but he felt the same way he did whenever he took an edible. Couch-locked, unable to move or react. It was like he was watching a particularly engrossing porn clip. Unable to affect the outcome of what he watched.

“Lower,” Lester said, causing Sarah to move down the couch onto her stomach so she could lick the underside of his balls. She kept stroking his massive cock as her mouth slobbered over every inch of Lester’s massive gonads.

“Lower,” Lester said again. Sarah didn’t disobey. She obliged by licking down below his balls to the musky area between his legs. Lester squirmed at the sensation, enjoying every swab of her tongue across his taint. But he wasn’t done yet. Not now that Dan was sitting here watching. He needed to show him just how much Sarah belonged to him now.

“Lower,” Lester said again. Sarah stopped licking and looked up at Lester, who stared back at her. The fat man reached down and grabbed his own knees, pulling his body into a crunch, the rolls of fat quivering with tension.

Dan thought he looked ridiculous, somewhat like an overfed hedgehog on its back. His quick, disparaging smile disappeared as he suddenly realized what Lester was doing.

Sarah dropped her head again, her tongue licking between his open cheeks before going further in.

“Yeaah,” Lester chuckled as he felt Sarah’s tongue graze his asshole, “Nice little circles like that.” Sarah knew she should be repulsed. Repulsed by what she was doing, she could feel Lester's cock throb in her hand and knew the effect she was having on his cramped body. She loved that feeling. Being in control of it, his cock. The power of making someone like Lester shudder. She lapped her tongue out more, licking and circling it around Lester's hairy unclean asshole, finding herself getting more and more turned on at her illicit and depraved actions.

"She ever cleaned your asshole before?" Lester said offhandedly to Dan. "No? Your wife gives one hell of a rim job. I guess she saves it just for her lover."

"Keep doing that, baby. Yeah, yeeeaahh, right there. Daddy like. Keep going. Fuck yeah," Lester groaned, his hand removed from one knee and on the back of Sarah's head, holding her firmly in place as she thoroughly tossed his salad. Her body was writhing on the couch, clearly enjoying Lester's firm hand and encouraging words.

Dan couldn't believe what he was seeing. Sarah's perfect mouth. The one he kissed on their wedding day. The one that kissed his daughters on the forehead every night before bed was firmly attached to his disgusting roommate's puckered asshole. He felt himself getting lightheaded watching.

A memory popped into his head, where Sarah had vehemently expressed her disgust at the idea of any sexual act relating to anyone's asshole. And now she was here, feasting on his ugly roommate's.

"Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned as her tongue lashed out at Lester's asshole. The coppery, bitter taste was just a pleasant afterthought as she enjoyed this much more than she ever thought she would. The simple act of licking Lester here was like pouring jet fuel on a fire, making her body crave more and more. She pushed herself up off the couch, despite Lester's strong hand on her head, and pulled her panties off.

"I need you inside me," Sarah said, urgently climbing up atop Lester's grotesque body. Lester just watched as the beautiful mother climbed his mass and straddled him - her wet pussy pressed against his cock. She held it there for a second, eyes closed, just feeling his hard cock against her wet slit and clit. Then she slowly moved up, letting his cockhead brush against her clit. Then back down. She did this a few times before she went all the way up and positioned her entrance on top of his cock. She drew in a sharp breath as she began to lower herself onto Lester's massive cock, letting him inside her.

Her breath quivered as she took more and more of Lester's pulsing cock into her.

"That's it," Lester growled, "Take it all, baby."

“Ohhhh fffuuck,” Sarah groaned. She lowered herself fully on Lester’s cock, “God, I feel so fucking full.”

“That’s because you are,” Lester said. They both stayed still for a moment looking at each other as Sarah adjusted to Lester’s cock inside of her, feeling his quickened heartbeat deep within her. Tentatively, Sarah began rolling her hips on top of Lester. His hands came up and grabbed a handful of each ass cheek in them, kneading them as Sarah started to ride him.

Lester was just bucking his hips off the couch enough to spur Sarah on. He didn’t want to ruin her pacing but ensured his cock was hitting all the sensitive areas inside of her. Sarah’s hands were resting on Lester’s flabby chest, pushing her breasts together for him to salivate over.

“I’ll never get tired of fucking you,” Lester groaned.

“You’d better not,” Sarah breathed, eyes half closed while looking down at Lester.

“Did you see that Dan?” Lester said, “She didn’t even think about putting a condom on me. Isn’t that right, Sarah?”

Dan just stayed silent despite Lester’s taunting. The image of his wife’s beautiful body riding this ogre was transfixing.

“No....no condom,” Sarah moaned, throwing her head back as she picked up the pace with her hips. “Never again.”

“Why not?” Lester urged her on.

“They fucking suck,” Sarah said, “It’s so much better without one. My Daddy’s cock is too good to be covered.”

“It’s better raw,” Lester corrected her. “Tell Dan you like it raw. Tell him.”

Sarah didn’t turn to look at Dan. With her eyes clamped shut, she was focused on riding Lester’s huge cock, “I love it raw, Dan. I only want Lester to fuck me raw from now on.”

“Heh,” Lester said, tightening his grip on her ass, pulling her tightly back down on top of him in time with Sarah’s movements. She moaned at the strength of his hands and the way he expertly manipulated her body at the right moments. Lester could tell if he kept pushing things verbally, he'd have Sarah cumming in no time. He knew Dan's presence could be a lever he could exploit with her.

"Where do you want me to cum?" Lester urged, "Where's Daddy allowed to cum, Sarah?"

Sarah's pace picked up. Lester's words were pushing her to her orgasm faster than she anticipated.

Talking like this. Admitting these things in front of her husband was driving her wild. Her 'betrayal' and submission to someone her husband detested only served to make her wetter than she'd ever expected. Her leaking fluids covered the belly of the fat man beneath her.

"Fuck," Sarah moaned as she felt an orgasm fast approaching. She could feel it hanging over her body, ready to crash down and consume her. "You can come anywhere. Any fucking where you want. I don't care. I just want your cum."

"What do you think, Dan?" Lester said, "Should I cum in that pretty mouth of hers? What do you think, Sarah? Can I cum in your mouth?"

"Ugh, yes," Sarah moaned, each word spoken further stoking the fire inside of her, "I want your cum pouring down my throat. Into my belly. It tastes so fucking good."

"Or I should cum all over her chest? Maybe spray on her face," Lester said. Sarah's body seemed to shiver at the sound of his words, imagining what that would feel like. Lester just grinned, "Or maybe I'll cum in this tight pussy of hers like this and see if we can get you that boy Dan failed to give you."

"Oh fuck, fuck, fuck," Sarah moaned as she started to ride Lester like a woman possessed, her orgasm just barely out of reach. If she kept up this pace, it would be hers to have it in seconds. "Don't stop. God, please fuck. Ohmygod. OH, OOOH, mmmm, Jesus. Yes. Yes."

"Or," Lester said through gritted teeth as he braced himself for Sarah's insistent fucking. He let go of her ass, and both of his meaty hands planted themselves on her swaying breasts, tweaking her nipples, "I could cum in your ass."

"FUUCK," Sarah screamed as she threw her head back and thrust her breasts into Lester's lecherous hands. "Whatever you want, Lester. Cum wherever you want."

The patiently waiting orgasm came crashing down on Sarah, igniting the nerves in her body on fire. “Ahh, oh fuck. Fuck YEEESSS,” Sarah screamed, arching her back, nails digging into Lester’s flesh. Sarah was panting hard, trying to catch her breath as waves of pleasure washed over her body.

Lester had a shit-eating grin plastered on his face, staring up at Sarah. He looked over at Dan, who was sitting immobile in a catatonic state in the chair. “Did you hear that?” Lester grinned, “Your wife wants me to stick my cock in her ass and fill it with cum. I’m gonna save that for a private date when you’re not around.”

“Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah was still catching her breath, frozen in place, still enjoying the after-effects of cumming on Lester’s cock.

“Get off me,” Lester said, “I’m going to fuck you doggy style so Dan can watch your face.”

With a groan, Sarah pulled herself up off of Lester’s cock. She stared down at the massive appendage covered in her juices. Its absence from inside her created a deep need she knew just how to fill. She swung her leg off the seat as Lester shimmied up the couch awkwardly. Without waiting for his command, Sarah put herself on all fours on the cushions, waiting for Lester to get behind her.

Lester got onto his knees behind Sarah and rubbed his cock up and down her wet and waiting slit. She pushed back on his cock, trying to get it inside of her, but he chuckled and continued to play with her. “Mhmmm, Lester,” Sarah moaned in frustration, “Put it in me.”

“I will,” Lester said, “I want you to look at Dan and tell him what you want.”

Sarah lifted her head off the couch, the sweat on her face causing her hair to stay matted to her skin, “I want Lester’s cock inside me, baby. I want him to fuck me. Is that okay?”

Before Dan could speak, Lester abruptly pushed his entire length into Sarah, causing her to squeal delightedly. “It doesn’t matter what Dan wants, do you understand?”

“Yes,” Sarah breathed as she tried to get a grip on the couch as Lester fucked her from behind. He held her hips in place and slapped one of her ass cheeks as he increased the pace of his violent thrusts. Not wanting to give Sarah a minute to breathe.

Dan felt like he was having an out-of-body experience as he watched the coupling before him. His mind was watching, but his body was somehow disconnected.

“Look at your husband,” Lester said through gritted teeth. His face was getting red and flushed as he fucked Sarah with gusto, sweat dripping down his back and chest, running through the coarse dark hair matting his skin. Sarah raised her head to look at Dan, sitting there with arousal on his face. He looked like he was in agony. “Look how pathetic he is watching his wife get fucked. He won’t even lift a finger to do it himself. Who do you want to fuck and fill you tonight? Me or your husband?”

Sarah dropped her head to the couch, “You Lester. I want you.”

“But you fucked someone else on your trip, didn’t you? DIDN’T YOU!?” Lester said.

“Yesss,” Sarah breathed.

“Who?” Lester said.

“Byron,” Sarah squealed, “Dan’s client.”

“Not Jesse, huh?” Lester grunted as he pounded Sarah from behind.

“No,” Sarah dropped her entire torso to the couch, her ass still high in the air for Lester to fuck. She reached her hands out over the leather, looking for anything to grab onto. Something about what Lester just said scratched a part of Dan’s mind, but he couldn’t put the puzzle pieces together at that moment. All he could do was watch in horrified arousal at the scene in front of him. All cognitive function was devoted to absorbing every moan, groan, and twitch of Sarah’s body.

“So Dan just sat there like he is right now and, rrrgh, watched you get fucked?” Lester said.

“No, he let me go with him. Dan stayed at the bar,” Sarah grunted.

“Was he good?” Lester said angrily as he power fucked Sarah ruthlessly. Each thrust caused her body to jolt forward, her hair jostling to and fro with the movement. His unrelenting pace and the angle of his cock was pushing Sarah closer to yet another powerful orgasmic detonation.

“He, he was okay,” She moaned into the leather, feeling her eyes rolling back in her head. Lester’s cock just felt so good. Everything about it was amazing, his hands on her hips. His balls smacking against her ass. The fact that Dan was watching and hearing everything they were saying. “I kept thinking of you,” Sarah admitted, “Afterwards, I just wanted you... Daddy.”

“Heh, hear that, Dan?” Lester said, “Your wife’s been craving me after she got fucked. She probably does the same thing after you leave her wanting more, too.”

“But,” Lester said, grabbing her hips tightly and pulling Sarah’s ass back onto him. He pushed forward quickly into her pussy before pulling out almost all the way and slamming it back in again. Each thrust a punctuation, “You. Don’t. Fuck. Anyone. Else. Unless. I. Say. So. NNNNng. Got it? Not even him.” Lester nodded in Dan’s direction.

"Uhhhmhmhmhmhm yes, Lester," Sarah groaned, "I'll fuck whoever you want."

“It’s going to be your punishment,” Lester growled, “For fucking someone behind my back. I’m going to make you fuck somebody you hate to teach you a fucking lesson.”

“Mmmhmmhmmmmmmmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned. She’d agree to anything Lester wanted at this moment as long as he didn’t stop fucking her. It felt way too fucking good right now. Nothing else in the world mattered. Consequences be damned. It didn’t even scare her that she felt like this was about to get so much better. Lester wanted to complete his carefully constructed circle of humiliation tonight. He was eager to keep pushing Sarah while making Dan feel like the true cuck he knew him to be. It was time to finally put him in his place, at least for tonight.

“Tell your husband to take out his little thing and start stroking it. He’s not going to ‘reclaim’ you tonight. He’s going to cum watching you get taken by a real man.” Lester grunted.

Sarah raised her head to look at Dan. He looked like his mind was a million miles away, “Take it out, Dan. I want to see you stroking for me. I want to – OW”

WHAP

Lester slapped her ass harder than he ever had before, leaving an angry red handprint on her perfect butt cheek, “No. No improv. Just tell him to take it out and stroke that pathetic stiffy. You’re focused on me tonight.”

“Ughhhh,” Sarah groaned as Lester’s mammoth cock ground against her insides, in and out, in and out, over and over, unrelenting. “Take out your dick, Dan.”

As if in a trance, Dan lowered his pants and boxers in one slow motion, his erection sprang out over the elastic band. His hand immediately went to it, mouth hanging agape as he started to actively stroke himself.

“Yeah,” Sarah said, eyeing it, “Stroke it for me. Stroke that pathetic thing while Lester fucks the shit out of me.”

Perfect. Lester thought.

He let go of Sarah’s hips and watched as her body continued to rigorously fuck itself back onto his iron-hard cock. Now he could keep turning the screws on Dan and cut him down at the knees. Lester needed to take whatever momentum Dan thought he had and crush it.

“Who owns you, Sarah?” Lester snarled, “Who owns you - mind, body, and heart? Tell me.”

“Mhmmm fuckkk,” Sarah moaned, sweaty, her head pressing down into the couch, eyes barely open, staring at her husband stroking himself. She wasn’t sure what to say. She didn’t know what would be crossing the line for Dan, but at that moment, all she wanted to do was make Lester happy. Make him cum. “You do, Lester,” Sarah moaned loudly, “You, you fucking own me. You can fuck me whenever, wherever you want. I’m yours.”

“Damn fucking right,” Lester growled violently, slapping her ass again. This time, a low moan escaped her lips at Lester’s brutal handling of her. “What about at the hospital? I can fuck you there again?”

“Yes!” Sarah screamed as Lester’s cock was hammering against her G-Spot, “You can fuck me wherever you want!”

“What about your bedroom at home,” Lester breathed hard, almost wheezing now. Sweat was dripping off his forehead, falling onto Sarah’s back. She pushed back against him, her ass cheeks jiggling flawlessly each time. Lester held her by the base of her neck and held her down on the couch, “Answer!”

“FUCK LESTER! YOU CAN FUCK ME ANYWHERE!” Sarah screamed at the top of her lungs. Dan was now stroking himself faster and faster, not being able to control himself at all. “YOU CAN FUCK ME IN MY BED! ON MY FFF-FRONT FUCKING LAWN! I DON’T CARE WHAT DAN SAID! DO WHATEVER YOU FUCKING WANT TO ME! FFFFUUFFFUUCKK!”

“Do you get it now, Dan?” Lester snarled with venom at his roommate, “Sarah is mine. I’ll do whatever the fuck I want to her. She’s mine, not yours. She’ll fuck whoever I want, where ever I want. Your wife is mine.”

“OH FUCK. FUCK. FUCK. UHHHHHH. FUCK. LESTER,” Sarah said as her vision blurred and she got light-headed. All of the nerves in her body started to light up at once, ready for a massive orgasm to explode inside of her. Lester talking this much evil shit directly to Dan was oddly intensely turning her on. “I’m gonna. I’m going to, to. Ohmygod, Lester! LESTER!”

“Cum for me, Sarah,” Lester grunted, “Show your husband what it’s really like when you cum and aren’t just pretending for him.”

“AHHHHHHHHMHMMMMMHMMMMMM,” Sarah’s toned back spasmed upwards uncontrollably as her hips quivered on Lester’s cock. An avalanche of an orgasm crushed down her nerves, and she lost the ability to see for several moments. Her face contorted into a near-demented mask of pure pleasure that only Dan could see.

Dan couldn’t help but stroke himself harder at the unprecedented sight in front of him. Watching Sarah cum this explosively was too much for him to handle.

Lester never stopped his energetic thrusting into Sarah. Her pussy tightened around his cock as she came but he dug his heels into the arm of the couch and quickly pushed forward into the fist-like grip of her imploding pussy. He firmly held the back of her neck, pinning her to the couch as he relentlessly fucked her to make a point to both members of the married couple. Sarah’s orgasm was still rocking her body. A dribble of drool seeped out of her mouth as it hung open in a perpetual moan. Lester’s large stomach rested on her ass, placing extra weight on it as he deliberately and repeatedly drove his cock home.

As Sarah’s orgasm began to wane, Lester immediately pulled out of her and flipped her onto her back. Before she could comprehend what was happening, he was back between her legs, burying his cock into her wet and waiting clenched pussy, “Mhmmhmmmm, Ahhhhhh. Oh, fuck yes. I love your cock!”

“Ugh, you feel so fucking good,” Lester growled, staring down at her. His overweight stomach was now pressing against her taut abdomen. Dan was rapidly stroking himself with abandon. His mind still felt disconnected from his body, but it registered the tingle in his balls, and he knew he was going to cum soon.

“You’re going cum again for me, Sarah. I’m going to explode and dump my entire load of cum into you when you do,” Lester said.

“Do it, Lester!” Sarah screamed, “I WANT IT.”

“What do you want!?” Lester said, holding her thighs in each hand as he pumped his massive cock in and out of her.

“Your cum. I want your cum. Give it to me,” Sarah pleaded, her hands going to Lester’s biceps, urging him to keep fucking her, “God, I want it. I need it.”

“You’re gonna get it. All of it. I’m going to fill you up,” Lester said, then he turned towards Dan and sneered, “Maybe I’ll even knock her up. Who knows?”

“Ohgod,” Sarah’s head rolled to the side and saw her husband furiously stroking his pole, watching them. There was no way he was going to last much longer. The familiar sensation inside of her suddenly burst to the surface again.

She was about to explode again with all the sensory input at full stimulation. “Don’t stop. Please. Please. Please. Lester. Ohmygodrighttherelester. Baby fuck me! Oh, OH, Please!” “I ain’t stopping,” Lester said firmly. He had waited until this moment to launch another attack at Dan’s heart. “The last time we fucked in my bed, do you remember what you said?”

Sarah shook her head as she closed her eyes and waited with bated breath to cum. She felt her muscles tighten, her pussy gripping Lester’s cock as her painted nails dug into his biceps.

The short man smiled and spoke slowly, relishing this truth. “You said-”

“I love you.” Sarah told him and opened her eyes, looking up at Lester’s ugly, grinning face. She couldn’t help herself. She was at the edge of a steep cliff. “I love you, Lester.”

“Again!” Lester growled. He looked between Dan’s face and Sarah’s. “Look at me and say it to me again. I want to cum to it.”

She felt like she was drowning in his commands, but she wanted his cum. She needed to feel that heat from him. She would do anything it took in that moment to make herself cum. “I love you,” she moaned while staring up at Lester’s ugly features, “I love you.”

Dan’s eyes blinked in a rapid sequence as his brain tried unsuccessfully to process what his ears were telling him his wife had just said. His hand slowed to a stop as he knew he was about to shoot.

The dagger to the heart felt like heroin to the veins of his cock. It was probably just sex talk, he told himself. But he couldn’t help but feel the need to see this through to the end. He leaned in to watch.

Sarah grabbed Lester by the back of the neck and pulled him down on top of her for a deep kiss. Their tongues clashed as Lester continued to vigorously hump his gargantuan cock into her.

The horny wife continued to moan the three words unintelligibly as their mouths connected. Sarah's body repeatedly threw itself off the couch onto his cock as they sucked onto each other's mouths, teeth, tongue and lips, crashing into one another. She'd never kissed another person so intimately and completely. She'd never wanted someone as badly as she needed Lester right then.

"Ffffffffff," Sarah moaned into Lester's mouth as every bit of her body exploded to fiery life. Her eyes rolled back in their sockets as her hips and torso twitched around Lester's gigantic cock. Every fiber of her being seemed to come alive and transcend to a higher state of existence. Lester's body and his swollen cock felt like the only things that mattered in the entire universe as she quivered below his thrusting mass.

Her legs kicked out upward, and her toes curled inward. Every muscle in her body had tensed in anticipation. It was as if Lester was fucking the very core of her existence.

Cum shot out of Dan's crotch in long ropes and landed on him, pattering his thighs and feet. As his balls emptied, his mind finally seemed to come back down to his body, and he began to process the illicit scene in front of him. A look of genuine horror spread across his face.

His ogre of a roommate had a huge load sloshing around in his balls. At the sound of Sarah's words, the troll's nutsack expanded, its wrinkles disappearing as it filled with his boiling fetid spunk. On his next downstroke into the lust-crazed wife, this a particularly vigorous one, his cock became wedged completely into Sarah's quivering pussy. It was as deep as he'd ever been inside of her, cramming her full of his solid club of a cock. He felt the immediate ecstasy of his shaft expanding with the volume of the foaming fluids.

Lester roared hoarsely and unleashed a tidal wave of cum into Sarah's waiting pussy, her labia red and swollen, stretched around his girthy, pistoning shaft. Her body was still experiencing her own extended orgasm and instinctively tightened its grip on his cock, milking load after load of his hot, sticky seed into her canal.

Lester came way more than either Dan or Byron ever could by an order of magnitude. The sticky flood of cum completely filled her to overflowing. The sensations of the spewing jet brought her orgasm to another level, quickly crescendoing like a rocket past all limits previously known to her.

“UH-UHHHH-UHHHHHHMHMMMMMMMMMMMMMAAAAAHHHHHHHHH,” Sarah screamed louder than she ever had before in her life, the piercing sound almost inhuman in its raw expression.

Somewhere distant, a floor below them, a dog started barking in response to the noise. Lester continued to thrust into Sarah, sending each rope of cum he deposited deep into the young mother. Their lips still mashed together, slowing as they both needed to catch their breaths.

“You taste like my ass,” Lester mumbled to the thoroughly violated wife.

Dan was sitting there, covered in his own cum, watching as Lester and Sarah’s bodies came to a complete stop. The only parts moving were their lips.

Sarah’s voice saying ‘I love you’ to Lester played over and over in his head. He wasn’t entirely sure she wasn’t now whispering it to the monster on top of her.

His brain felt like it had been shattered into a million pieces and was desperately trying to put itself back together. He had no idea how to chart these unknown waters or how to react to any of this. He had no map for what came next. He just sat and stared at the taboo coupling in front of him.

Eventually, Lester pulled himself free of Sarah. Dan saw his roommate’s dripping horse-length cock emerge from his wife and dangle impressively between his legs, coated in Sarah’s copious juices. Lester chuckled derisively, catching Dan staring at his swinging cock, and he shuffled off to his bedroom.

“She’ll find her way to my bedroom again tonight,” Lester chortled as he disappeared into the darkened hallway.

Dan looked at his wife who had rolled onto her side, light snores coming from her. It looked like Lester had fucked her into complete submission.

Dan finally got to his feet, grabbed a box of Kleenex, and began cleaning himself off. The tissues kept sticking to his hands and ripping on his legs. He’d made an absolute mess of himself. Satisfied that he was mostly clean, he threw the tissues in the kitchen garbage and retrieved a blanket to put over Sarah’s naked well fucked form.

As he laid the blanket over his wife, he saw a thick trail of cum leaking out from her pussy. His brain still didn’t know how to process all of this. He put the blanket down on her and flopped himself back into the chair.

He didn't want to go to bed and leave Sarah here by herself. He sat in the chair as his eyes got heavy. He told himself he was staying out here to guard Sarah, but he wasn't sure he could stop Lester and Sarah if he wanted to.

If I wanted to. He wasn't sure of that either.

His mind was in turmoil as he drifted off to sleep. All he wanted to do was talk to Sarah, but she was already ensconced in post-orgasmic bliss.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 23

Lester's eyes were glued to the screen as he sifted through the treasure trove of information on Jesse's employers. He'd downloaded terabytes of data from Jesse's work network that he would dive into later. But his real target was the shady Lincoln Group that Jesse seemed to work with. It was one of these fuckers that had fucked Sarah after all the groundwork that Lester had spent time laying down.

He wasn't just going to sit there and let that happen. He needed them to experience a reckoning, and Lester knew just how. He'd use his Bad Rabbit malware to take control of their systems and ransom them. Download whatever data he could find on them and figure out how to fuck this Byron guy over.

Lester used Jesse's workstation to relay his attack on the Lincoln Group's network. It wasn't difficult, and Lester had already identified a backdoor.

Lester typed furiously on his keyboard simultaneously as coded text lines appeared on his screen. His second monitor showed his progress as he pushed past their security.

A bead of sweat trickled down Lester's furrowed forehead. Every time he bypassed one security wall, two more seemed to pop up, slowing him down considerably. He gritted his teeth, not expecting this level of resistance. Still, he pressed on, throwing off whatever this company tried to muster.

It wasn't long before he punched through the last layer of security and gained full access to Byron's files. Lester began downloading them and grimaced when he realized that most of the files had a high-grade level of encryption.

Fuck. He'd download them and then crack them later. His eyes narrowed as he scanned the remaining unencrypted files that he could access. This was weird. Files and text cascaded down his screen with secret projects related to cognitive restructuring, memory implantation, and subliminal persuasion.

There was even something about neural hacking.

Just as his interest was getting piqued, a significant red exclamation mark flashed onto his monitor. Someone was actively suppressing his access and trying to track him. The download wasn't even five percent complete, but if he didn't pull out soon, he might compromise himself.

Lester shut down his link to the Lincoln Group's network. Using Jesse's computer as a relay had been one barrier to insulating himself. The best they probably could have done is track him to that machine. Lester still had access to Jesse's company network and decided to clear his trail. He uploaded his Bad Rabbit malware to it and locked them out.

He was still shaken by how quickly countermeasures were put in place after his hack. That had never happened before. As an extra precaution, he liquified Jesse's employer's network. Even if they paid the ransom, their files and any possible trace back to him were gone.

Lester closed down his sandbox environment and wiped the remote server he had used to access Jesse's computer. He sighed and pushed himself out of his chair, plodding to the kitchen to grab a coke. His naked body shambled towards the humming refrigerator.

He wished he could have gotten more information from his hack, but it looked like their security was stronger than he was used to. He'd have to find another angle of attack. At the very least, he should probably focus his efforts on breaking Sarah and Dan.

He'd been dumping thick loads into Sarah for months, and she wasn't pregnant yet. There was some variable he wasn't seeing. The most obvious would be that Sarah had taken some precautions he wasn't aware of.

Well, precautions could be destroyed. Moving back into the kitchen doorway, the odd round man looked out into the living room, the site of his latest triumph over Dan. Lester watched the pathetic husband sleep, snoring in the chair he'd been sitting in when Lester had defiled his gorgeous wife in front of him hours earlier. His ugly grin grew wide; at least this part of his plan was bearing fruit.

Lester left the kitchen doorway and quietly slunk around the couch so that he now stood between his roommate and his sleeping wife. For a few minutes, he just stood there, staring down at Sarah's nude body as she slept, following the curves of her delectable ass and her toned back as they moved in time with her breathing. Being anywhere near Sarah had always given him a massive erection, and standing before her, his cock expanded until it pointed up and away from his body, directly at the beautiful mother's head. Lester's toothy shit-eating grin grew more expansive, and he scooped up his firm length in his hand. He slowly stroked himself with the vague idea that he'd cover Sarah with a fresh load and then head to his room. She might think it was from her husband if she didn't wake up. The thought made him even firmer than when he'd begun. He increased the speed of his strokes, visualizing her shocked and confused reaction.

Sarah's eyes opened, and her surroundings immediately disoriented her. A leather couch cushion was in front of her, and she wasn't immediately sure of her location or what time it was, but she knew what had awoken her.

Lester. The combined smell of primal lust and mustiness that was unique to Lester's crotch had hit her nose and ended her sleep. She got herself reoriented and began to rise off the couch to turn around. She was almost shocked that Lester was there, masturbating over her nude body. Now that their eyes had met, she could make out the man's creepy grin and how he shook as he played with himself. She looked down and saw his perfectly huge cock in his meaty paw. Her eyes followed his other hand as it rose to his lips, and then he stepped slightly aside, revealing her sitting husband asleep in the chair behind him.

Lester slowed his strokes, simply touching himself to remain rock solid. Then he stopped, keeping his huge cock directly in front of the young wife's gorgeous staring face. Sarah's eyes moved between his face and his twitching mammoth cock. The desire she'd felt for him in Minnesota and earlier on this very couch rekindled into a fire. Just as she'd decided to begin sucking him off again -her head had already started to lean in towards him -Lester moved further aside. Returning her gaze to his face, Lester nodded his head down the hallway and proceeded to creep in that direction, his firm upright pole bobbing with each of his steps. The fire rose in her. Sarah watched her husband in his sitting sleep, head nodded forward, chin lodged in his muscular chest. After a moment, she decided and followed Lester down the hallway.

The restaurant was one of his favorites, and why shouldn't it be? It was his birthday, after all. The old-fashioned lamps and decorations reminded him of the diner he'd grown up near, but this one somehow had a long table, so long that he couldn't see the other end from where he sat at the head. His daughters, his parents, and Sarah's parents were seated to his left and right. Beyond them on both sides were extended family, but after a few cousins and aunts, he could no longer make out anyone's faces. One person was missing. Sarah. As soon as he thought her name, his family members began getting up and leaving his birthday table. His daughters left first, exiting through a doorway he hadn't considered was there a minute ago. His parents and in-laws followed immediately after. Now slightly worried, Dan noticed that the table in front of him was shrinking. Someone was at the other end, and they got closer as more people left the table.

Time jumped ahead. Dan was sure he was dreaming then, but, as in his waking life, he needed to see what happened next. Now, it was only him and his homely roommate facing each other at a regular diner's floor table. He'd eaten at one just like it throughout his youth. A cake was between them, and one slice of a candle had been cut from it. It seemed like they'd been facing each other for hours when Dan became aware of a familiar sound...

Sarah entered the pigsty of a room set on the one thing she wanted. Lester, ahead of her, walked over to his desk chair and sat, his froggy folds offset by the thick column of flesh that jutted from his crotch. Before he could break the silence with his commands, the hot wife rushed to him and began to stuff his enormous cock into her throat. She first bent over, fully savoring the meaty flavor and wafting aroma of its tip, then went to her knees to properly worship Lester's admirable cock. Sarah's gag reflex began to kick in, but she had experienced this before and fought it back down. Lester's giant cock interrupted her air supply, causing her to gag loudly in the otherwise silent apartment.

“ccaaggr, ggaachmmmmaawwmm, chu-cchck, mmmm, hhhuu...”

“-huh, gaaggckggmgmmm, oogghh, gguumhmggoomm, hhgaamgggmm”

Dan sat still, watching his roommate's grin grow to its typical shit-eating dimensions. The cake was gone now, but the slice cut from it sat before Lester.

Dan knew his wife was here in the room. He could hear the sounds of her enthusiastically fellating his roommate, and he somehow knew that was why Lester was smiling as they watched each other. After a few moments or maybe hours, his wife, looking gorgeous in her business clothes, got out from under the table. As Dan watched her rise, he saw her look at Lester, seeking his approval for what she'd just been doing.

Then Sarah turned to her husband, and on her face was the same sexy look she'd fixed him with when she came out of Lester's bedroom that morning. Dan could hear his heartbeat as he searched her face, looking for any sign of regret or negativity, finding none. Sarah offered her hand to Lester, and the fat man got up from his seat, the fly of his wrinkled pants open, and left the room with her exiting the same way the others had.

Dan stayed in his seat, still reeling from the envy, the horniness, and the anxiety the look from his wife had dredged up in him. The times he had seen his wife with his roommate began flashing in front of him. Her chest painted with his cum, then her hand encircling his big thing, the two of them kissing as he removed her bra. More and more of these visions flooded his mind. Underneath them, he began hearing the familiar sounds of his wife, further enjoying his monstrous roommate's company. He got up from his seat at the table, looking for where Sarah had gone.

Sarah, a sheen of sweat on her forehead and fresh tears on her cheeks, was taking a break from throating Lester's monstrous shaft. She was on her knees before the ogreish man as he sat in his dingy office chair, making lustful eyes at him as she swirled her tongue around the tip of his cock, lazily enjoying the taste of him.

In the computer's blue glow of his filthy command center, he watched her and breathed deeply, his heavy-lidded eyes not blinking. Just as she was readying herself to swallow his cock again, Lester croaked a suggestion:

"Let's fuck, slut."

With a smirk, he watched as she kissed his cock and got to her feet, turning to his bed. He grabbed both of her hips in his hands and pulled her backward so that she would fall back onto him. By now, Sarah was somewhat used to Lester's manhandling; she giggled as she lost her balance and tumbled back. His hands maneuvered her expertly so that his cock speared right into her flooded pussy as she fell back onto him. He pushed her hips down firmly as he thrust himself up, his full length entirely inside her.

"Uhh, OH! Jesus Christ! How, how are you always so huge?" Sarah had forgotten herself and said the words louder than she intended. Even so, it hadn't even occurred that she might wake her sleeping husband.

The dining room behind him, Dan searched the place for Sarah and Lester, still hearing them somewhere.

"... always so huge?" he caught a phrase of his wife speaking. Just then, Dan turned a corner and saw the restroom hallway much further away than he had ever remembered.

"Unngh, fucking tight, so tight," Lester grunted near the other end of the hallway. Dan tried to hurry down the hall, but the restrooms didn't get closer.

He tried running and focused on his destination. The men's room sign stayed in place as the sounds of their illicit coupling grew louder.

“Ooooh. Oh, Oh my God, Lester. Never, never ever stop fucking me!” Sarah again threw herself down onto the odd man and shuddered silently, relishing the feeling of getting fuck raw by this monster. Using the armrests for leverage, Sarah pushed her creaming pussy back onto Lester’s cock as he held her hips and thrust forward. She found this new position immediately mind-altering and vowed to herself that she would repeatedly have him again this way. “Uhh. Uh uh-huh, baby. Oh, oh, my sweet Daddy, you-you’re going to make me cum again.”

“Me t-too.” Lester was sweating profusely, and he knew he was close. He clasped the hot mother’s hips tightly and increased the tempo of his fucking, sending the wife into a series of spasms and contortions as she came spectacularly.

“OOOOH OO-oh. OH FUCK! FUCKING FUCK! LESTER!”

“UHHHHGH, fuuuuck!

Lester rested his sweat-soaked head against her gorgeous twitching back and moaned as her clutching pussy drew a massive churning load from his balls, filling Sarah with his potent seed again. Sarah ground herself into him again, the explosion of his cock sending her into a sexual supernova.

“OH, OH SHIT! FUCK! I, I LOVE YOU! I LOVE YOU! FUCK ME LESTER, FUCK ME!”

He knew that was the sound of Sarah cumming hard. He also recognized the sound of his roommate finishing inside of her. He looked at the men’s room sign and then down at the door beneath it. It was right in front of him now, and he pushed it open, still hearing the sounds of his wife atop the strange man.

There were three stalls in the room, each painted black. He went to the first one and checked it. Empty.

“So much cum, Lester. So much.” His wife’s voice was so close now. He went to the next door down and pushed it open. An empty, unclean toilet was the stall’s only occupant.

He then heard the unmistakable sound of Sarah making out with Lester. The desperate, hungry collision of mouths unique to them accompanied whatever else their bodies did to enjoy each other. Dan knew exactly what he’d see when he opened the third stall.

He moved to the third door and waited, girding himself against the shock of actually seeing his wife sucking on his roommate's tongue. He opened the door to a third empty stall, and as he watched, the toilet's automatic flush engaged.

Dan snapped awake. The flush of the toilet had broken his slumber. Realizing he had fallen asleep in the living room made him question if what he'd seen earlier had all been a dream. His roommate Lester had fucked his wife in front of him, and she'd told him she loved him. Lester. The Cheeto-loving, World of Warcraft, Dungeons and Dragons nerd of a roommate. Dan shook his head. Clearly, the dream had been influenced by last night's events. Then he heard Lester's footsteps plodding from the bathroom back to his bedroom. Dan waited for the glow in the hallway to disappear. When it didn't, Dan carefully got up from his chair and noticed Sarah was no longer in the living room.

Dan entered the hallway and saw Lester standing in his doorway, wearing a grin and nothing else. Dan's eyes flicked down, and he noticed that his roommate's flagging erection was slicken and dripping as if newly dipped in oil or something. Again, Lester noticed what Dan's eyes had seen. He closed his door with a smirk. Dan stood in the hallway momentarily, wondering if Sarah was in the room with Lester. The comforting sound of Sarah's light, halting snore came from his room behind him, and he relaxed, not realizing how tense his muscles had become.

Ugh. Maybe he was just jerking off. Opening his door, Dan winced at the sudden glare of the overhead light. Letting his eyes adjust, he now saw his wife was on his bed, also fully nude. She lay on her side with her back to him, her skin flushed and sweat cooling as her breathing deepened in slumber. He looked further down her body and saw a fresh stream of cum, oozing out from her crotch, staining his bed sheets. With a full understanding of what he'd slept through, Dan turned off the light and got into the other side of the bed, his cock straining. He was careful to avoid lying anywhere near the puddle he'd seen beginning to form on the sheets.

"Can we talk about last night?" Dan said from the passenger seat of their car, which was idling in the parking lot as Sarah was ready to head back home, her luggage packed up behind them. "I didn't want to talk up there, not with Lester listening."

"You think Lester eavesdrops on our conversations?" Sarah smiled and shook her head as she looked at her husband, "Like with a glass against the wall or something?"

“I don’t know, I just know that he seems a little too, uh, well informed,” Dan shrugged his shoulders, “There’s been a few things that... aren’t important right now. I can’t stop thinking about what happened last night. It’s just replaying over and over in my head, and I think I will go crazy if you leave right now without us talking about it.”

“Okay,” Sarah bit her lip in thought as she looked out the windshield. She turned off the car, sat back in her seat, and looked at her husband, “Last night was... intense. I didn’t know it would happen or go the way it did. I’m still processing most of it myself. Did you hate it?”

“No,” Dan started, “Yes. I don’t know. I feel like I should, but part of me just got off on a lot of it. You know how messed up my head is about all of this stuff. Ever since the bar in Minnesota, it’s like I was just super turned on and needed a release, but then last night happened, and again, it felt like I couldn’t control myself.”

“I know the feeling,” Sarah said, “Lately, it’s like a switch gets flipped in my head, and I just give in to whatever. It’s kind of like how last night went. Lester pushed for things, and I couldn’t say no.”

“Isn’t that a problem?” Dan asked.

“I don’t know,” Sarah closed her eyes, “I know that logically I could have said no. But in the moment I didn’t want to. I want to do it. It’s not like he’s forcing me to do things I don’t want to do or don’t turn me on somehow. And I want to do things to get him off. To get both of you off. The look in your eyes last night was intense and probably turned me on more than anything else.”

“I felt like I was a comatose zombie... ” Dan said.

“Maybe that’s part of it? You’re so Type A that being able to do something and see you lose that. To lose that control. Knowing something I’m doing could turn you on that much and that it affects you like that. It’s hot.”

“Believe me, it does feel like a loss of control. It feels like my hands slip off the steering wheel, and Lester just takes control of it. Seeing you let go, I don’t know, it just drives me wild. Knowing how prim and proper you usually are. Just seeing you act kind of slutty just unlocks this part of my brain that just wants to shut everything else down and watch.”

“Hey!” Sarah said, slapping him playfully on the arm. “I’m not a slut. Maybe I can act a little slutty sometimes, but you put us on this path, mister.”

“You’re enjoying yourself just as much as I am,” Dan said.

“Maybe more,” Sarah said, focusing on another car pulling out. You’re still wrapped up in angst and guilt.”

“I know,” Dan shook his head, “I know what we are doing isn’t right. At least not from what society tells us. But I can’t help it. I mean, I don’t like Lester. At all. He’s been a really shitty roommate. And I want to wring his neck most of the time. Knowing someone like that is getting you off... “

Dan exhaled, letting out a long, calming breath, trying not to get himself worked up again.

“I realized you went off to his room in the middle of the night again this time,” Dan said. “Last time, I couldn’t believe it, and I knew I just had to have you right there in the shower. But last night was something else.”

“What part are you stuck on?” Sarah asked.

“Uh, god, I don’t know. All of it? Even just like how it started, him pinning you against the counter, seeing you just melt into his advances so easily,” Dan said.

“Well, what do you want me to do? Kick and scream the entire time while letting him do whatever he wants? That isn’t really something that I’d be into. I do like giving in, part of just giving control over to someone like that to do what they want with me. Especially when I know you’re watching. That I find extremely hot.” Sarah said.

“No, no, I don’t want you to feel like you need to put up some kind of fight,” Dan said, “I guess it’s more just like, it turned me on but tugged at my heartstrings at the same time.” Dan ran a hand through his hair. “It’s all these emotions at once inside me. It’s like an intoxicating cocktail of guilt, shame, jealousy, and arousal that I just can’t help but take a big drink of.”

Sarah stayed quiet, waiting for Dan to continue.

“That’s how it felt when you told him you loved him. It was like a dagger to the chest but an adrenaline needle to my dick. I can’t remember the last time I came that hard. And ever since, I can’t stop thinking about the look on your face as you said it. You don’t really love him, do you?”

“Dan, that’s just sex talk,” Sarah smiled at him, “I knew it would push you both over the edge, and that’s what I wanted to do.”

Dan nodded along, processing her words. He was ready to follow up with another question, but Sarah spoke first.

“I’m surprised the rimming wasn’t the first thing you asked about,” Sarah chuckled and put her hands over her face.

Dan shook his head, losing his prior thought, “That was... I don’t even know Sarah. I can’t believe you did that.”

“Me neither,” Sarah said from behind her hands. Finally, she put them back into her lap and rested her head against the seat. “That wasn’t something I’d ever thought about. Lester had done it to me, and I knew how good it could feel. At that moment last night, I just wanted to deliver that kind of pleasure back to him, too. I got caught up and was lost in the moment.”

“So you didn’t enjoy that?” Dan asked.

“The idea of it, admittedly, is disgusting,” Sarah said, “But in the heat of the moment, and seeing how his body responded to it, and your face... I don’t know. I don’t think I want to do it again.”

Dan nodded, keeping his thoughts to himself. In the heat of the moment, what else could Lester make his wife do?

“Are you okay with some of the things Lester made me say, especially at the end?” Sarah asked, “And the things he said?”

“The shit talking?” Dan asked.

“Yes,” Sarah whispered.

“When we are there, where I am watching. I don’t always want to be brought into it like that. I’d rather be a fly on the wall, just watching it happen. But I love seeing the complete desire on your face when you look at me in those moments. It’s really fucking hot. The shit talking... I don’t know. It’s always hit me kind of weirdly. It’s sort of the same feeling as the ‘I love you’ stuff. That mix of deep jealousy and rage. Hearing those things come from your lips. Even at that moment, Lester was taking you away from me. Winning. Logically, I don’t like it, and I know I should hate it, but...” Dan chuckled and shook his head, “Like you said, at that moment, somehow it worked.”

“That’s good to know. I was afraid we might have crossed the line. Just know it’s all just sex talk. All of it.” Sarah said.

“What about when you said you only want Lester to fuck you raw from now on. Did that mean you want me to wear a condom or something now? What was that?”

Dan asked.

“That just meant no condom for him. I didn’t mean that you needed to wear one,” Sarah said with a small smile.

“Would you ever consider going back to making him wear one?” Dan asked.

“I..uh... don’t think so,” Sarah said, “I’ve always really hated them. They always take me out of it. It’s just better for me without them.”

“What about Lester saying he’s going to pimp you out to some randos? Is that just sex talk, too?” Dan challenged.

“That... I don’t know about. I never know with Lester. I don’t know what’s sex talk to him and what’s real life,” Sarah said.

“Well, if that situation happened. In the heat of the moment, what would you do?” Dan asked.

“I’m not sure,” Sarah said.

That wasn’t a ‘no,’ Dan realized and felt his cock swelling in his pants.

“What would you think?” Sarah asked, “If I did something like that.”

“Like you did with Byron?” Dan asked.

“That was different. I was on a mission. A shitty mission that failed, but it was still different,” Sarah blushed. “But what would you think? Is that hot to you, or does that cross the line.”

Dan pinched the bridge of his nose, “Honestly? I don’t know. It’s like all of this. I know I shouldn’t like it, but if it were happening... in the moment, I don’t know how I would react to it. I guess it’s like all these games and scenarios we used to play with before Lester. But I never would have thought that someone like Lester would be pulling the strings. I would have thought it would be like you and me at a bar picking up a stranger. Not like this.”

“So where do we go from here? With Lester, I mean. If I arrive at the apartment one day and you’re still at work. I know things weren’t great when he was at our house without you knowing before. So, should I make sure you are in the room? Do we talk about this beforehand? How do we move forward here?”

“Honestly,” Dan breathed, “I don’t know if I always want to be there, up close and personal. Sometimes, yeah, I think it’s hot to watch what unfolds. Other times, knowing you’re doing something naughty could be enough for me. Last night was intense; I don’t know if I need that again for a while. I would definitely want to hear about anything afterward. Maybe even if you record it for me. Sometimes, the surprise and unknown element could be interesting.”

“We’ll see about recording. I don’t know about that. The unknown is kind of hot, though,” Sarah said, “Just giving up the control like that.”

“I still think we need to be careful who we are giving up that control to. Something doesn’t sit right with me regarding Lester,” Dan said.

“Oh yeah? What tipped you off about that? Was it the disgusting room and his lack of personal hygiene? His Cheeto addiction or his general incel-like behavior?” Sarah asked.

Dan put up his hands in self defense, “Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, my wife’s lover.”

Sarah shook her head and rolled her eyes, “You’re a dick.”

“But you love me,” Dan smiled, “Well, me and that troll of man now, I guess.”

Sarah playfully stared daggers at her husband, “Well, he does fuck me so, so very good.”

“Ouch,” Dan said, “Cutting me deep, Sarah. You better get out of here before I get riled up again and take you in the backseat.”

Sarah raised an eyebrow at him, “Isn’t that Lester’s domain now?”

“Another low blow,” Dan narrowed his eyebrows and stared at her.

After a few seconds, they both cracked up laughing.

“I love you,” Dan leaned in for a parting kiss. “I love you too,” Sarah said before planting a soft, wet kiss on her husband’s lips. They pulled apart, and Dan glanced at the clock. “You had better hit the road. I’m sure your parents are eager to get rid of the kids.”

“They’d keep them full-time if I asked. They love having them there. But you’re right, I should probably get going.”

Dan opened the car door and stepped out, “Drive safe, baby. Text me when you get home.”

“I will baby, don’t miss me too much,” Sarah blew him a kiss as he closed the door. Sarah’s car pulled out of the parking lot, leaving Dan standing there by himself. He already missed her. As he walked back towards his apartment building the events of the previous night were still gnawing at him.

His conversation with Sarah had gone better than he’d hoped. He didn’t want to push too hard or make drama out of nothing, but it still irked him that Sarah hadn’t definitively said that she didn’t love Lester. He could have pushed for it but what else would she have said? Something else Lester said last night was bugging him. It wasn’t just all the shit-talking and trying to put him in his place. Lester had said something about Jesse being in Minnesota.

How did he know that? Maybe Lester had overheard something Dan had said to Sarah on the phone leading up to their trip. Or there could be more to it. Something else that Dan wasn’t seeing. Either way, he needed to figure it out.

“It’s done. Break all ties with them,” Byron’s boss, Marcus said as he peered out the expansive window behind his desk. Byron was sitting uncomfortably in one of the plush leather armchairs in front of Marcus’ desk.

“But Marcus,” Byron said, trying to figure out a way out of this. Shit had gotten bad overnight, with news of their network having been breached, making the rounds. Byron suddenly felt his neck unexpectedly on the chopping block. “I need his expertise to push this project forward and get —”

“No, you don’t,” Marcus said, turning around. His dark skin highlighted his piercing eyes as they bore into Byron. “I’ve let you play out your little game but it’s done now. We suffered a major security breach last night from one of your contractor pets. Now you have my attention, which I assure you is something you don’t want, not like this. I know all about how complicated you’ve made all of these plans. And for what? Just so you can get revenge and fuck some poor stiff’s wife? Pull your head out of your ass.

Look at Archer; his operation was clean and simple, and now he is reaping the rewards. You've cocked this up. So I say again. Cut ties completely. We need to shore up any weaknesses we can find, and right now, I'm looking at you. Are you weak, Byron?"

"No," Byron said assertively, "I'm not."

"Yes. Yes, you are. You've let yourself become weak by focusing on this guy who upset you and overcomplicated everything. You need to get your shit together. That includes the drinking. Fortunately, I don't think you're completely hopeless. You still have potential but need to cut out the cancer and focus on your project. It's already behind schedule." Marcus spat.

"I'll need to find another sustainability expert then. To keep this off the authorities' radar." Byron ran his hands through his hair. He didn't like being talked to like this. He knew Marcus held a lot more power internally at the moment. But he wouldn't forever. Byron had to grit his teeth and put up with his condescending attitude.

"You'll have it," Marcus said, "I'm retasking other resources to you. Now make it happen."

Byron got up, "I'll fire them now and get everything else in place by this afternoon. We're gonna have to pay out the stipulation in the contract though.

It'll probably be a couple hundred grand."

"Pennies on the dollar," Marcus waved his hand dismissively and turned back to the window, "Pay them out or kick it to legal to fight it. You need to be laser-focused from here on out."

"What are we going to do about whoever hacked us?" Byron stood up, getting ready to leave.

"I have people on it. We'll find them."

Byron took that as his cue to leave. He walked towards the door, ready to crack open another bottle of bourbon when he returned to his office.

"And Byron?" Marcus said without turning around.

"Yeah?"

“Don’t fuck up again. If you want to fuck someone, make sure it doesn’t fuck with our business, or you’ll be the one getting fucked.”

“You got it,” Byron tried to keep the contempt from his face as he closed the door behind him.

It had been a crazy couple of weeks for Dan. Work was picking up, both at his day job and with his side clients. While things were still touch and go with his company, new clients seemed to be trickling in, and cash flow was still tight, so his boss, Walt, was still running things with a skeleton crew. More people had left, leaving more responsibility on Dan’s shoulders. One notable bright spot was that The Lincoln Group had canceled its project with Jesse’s company. It was probably due to that company getting hit with a ransomware attack and The Lincoln Group not wanting to be tied up with any place that had issues like that. Dan kept waiting for the other shoe to drop and get a call from Jesse or Byron but so far nothing had happened.

Walt was happy, getting paid while freeing up Dan’s time to work with other clients, so it was a win-win situation. Dan didn’t want to look a gift horse in the mouth but still felt uneasy about the whole thing.

It seemed like these cyberattacks were becoming more frequent—first Sarah’s hospital, now Jesse’s company. He wondered how many firms in the Chicago area were experiencing the same thing.

He didn’t have a ton of time to dwell on it, though, as his side clients were cutting into his free time. Dan had spent many nights, early mornings, and lunch breaks working on projects for Sentinel Securities. They were happy that Dan seemed more responsive and timely than in the past, but they were still quite demanding of his time. It was like they failed to realize that he wasn’t their full-time employee. If the Lincoln Group hadn’t freed him up, he would have been seriously worried about them dropping him.

Despite his busy schedule, Dan managed to stay afloat, even with his smaller clients like Elevate Entertainment. Sitting at the small table in his apartment’s kitchen, Dan even broke his ideal working environment.

He was discussing a new project in California while talking to his counterpart at the company, Bill. He liked Bill well enough, even going out for the occasional after-work drink or business lunch. Dan considered their relationship friendly, and they could have been close friends in another life.

Dan sat at the table talking to Bill while looking over documents and some web pages Bill had linked him to. He didn't like working at the apartment, still wary of Lester listening in, but tonight, it was just something that he had to do. The rain outside made the journey to Starbucks very unappealing.

Lester listened intently in Dan's conversation in the darkened bedroom at the end of the hall. Lester was packing a bag while the boring conversation played out. This is really what he does for a living? No wonder Sarah's bored. Lester took out his phone and texted the young wife.

L: Daddy's cumming to town.

He zipped his duffel bag shut and left it on the floor. He turned his attention fully back to the one-sided conversation he could hear while watching the web pages Dan was visiting. It quickly became apparent Dan was talking to someone named Bill from a company called Elevate Entertainment. While he would normally disregard listening to conversations that didn't include Sarah, Lester was hoping his diligence would pay off with an opportunity he could exploit and turn the gears on Dan. So far, this conversation hasn't been bearing fruit, but Lester decided to be thorough and investigate the man on the other end of the phone.

Hello there. Bill should have increased his Facebook page's privacy filters. Lester quickly deduced that Bill was a fellow Chicago native and had a smoking hot wife who, like Sarah, worked in health care. He documented some of their details in case he found himself needing a new project in the future.

After a few more minutes, Dan wrapped up the call. Lester didn't believe in god but thanked him anyway for his mercy. He grabbed his bag and keys and headed for the door.

Dan scooped up his things from the kitchen table with his laptop under his arm and moved towards his bedroom. As he crossed the living room, Lester stepped out of the hallway, holding a duffel bag. Dan narrowed his eyes, unsure how to react to Lester's presence.

They'd barely engaged in any words since Lester's dominating performance on the couch with Sarah. Dan hated feeling like the runner-up in some fucked up sex contest. Much to his dismay, he felt his breath growing shallow and his body temperature rising at the thought of his ugly roommate with his wife. It was almost a Pavlovian response at this point.

“Heading out?” Dan feigned interest in Lester’s affairs while wondering how suspicious he should be. “Yep,” Lester didn’t look Dan’s way while slipping on his shoes, “Heading to Middleton.”

“What? Why?” Dan gripped his laptop tighter, and suddenly, images of Sarah being pinned to the bed under Lester took over his mind.

“The new boss at the hospital wants to see me tomorrow,” Lester said nonchalantly.

“Why would he want to see you?” Dan put his laptop and other items on the couch and crossed his arms.

“I don’t know, Dan, he didn’t say. I’m guessing I’m getting fired like Jerry, or I’m getting a promotion. Who knows? Maybe I’ll be working in Middleton full time.” He grinned as he looked at Dan.

“Does Sarah know?” Dan asked.

“I just texted her to let her know,” the grin still plastered onto Lester’s face, “I wonder what she’ll think.”

“Listen, Lester, you need to –” Dan started.

“Not everything is about the sweet sounds Sarah makes when I’m inside her, Dan,” Lester chuckled, “You need to get your head out of the gutter. Some things are strictly professional.”

“I don’t think you believe that,” Dan said.

Lester chuckled, “Maybe. Maybe not. I guess that’s part of what makes this fun.”

“You know,” Dan exhaled, “This would be much easier if you weren’t such an asshole.”

“It’s plenty easy for me as it is, Dan,” Lester said, “You’re the one who seems to have a problem with all of this.”

“Yeah? What exactly is my problem?” Dan said, squaring his shoulders.

Lester shook his head, “You can’t just sit back and enjoy how things are going. Even though you really want to. You think you have to get all upset with yourself, even though we both know you enjoy watching what I do to your wife. What she does to me.”

Dan was about to respond, but Lester’s statement hit too close to home. To something he had been struggling with for a while. Lester took Dan’s silence as acceptance and headed towards the apartment door.

“I’ll tell Sarah you say ’hi,’” Lester said, opening the door.

“I had an interesting chat today,” Dan blurted out. This wasn’t how he wanted to bring this up, but now the horse was out of the barn. Dan squared his jaw and raised his most confident front to cover his bluff. He wanted to see how Lester would react to his gamble.

“Oh yeah?” Lester said, holding the door open impatiently, “Is that something I’m supposed to care about?”

“It was with my old coworker Jesse,” Dan said, “He had a lot of very interesting things to say.”

“Fascinating,” Lester said, stepping into the hallway and closing the door behind him.

Dan gritted his teeth and kicked the side of the couch. His big confrontation had fizzled out. He ran a hand through his hair. Letting out a long breath, he grabbed his phone and called Sarah. Maybe he should have interrogated Jesse before throwing this at Lester, but he didn’t want to show his cards. And sometimes, it was better to let sleeping dogs lie. If he was actually free of Jesse and The Lincoln Group, Dan wasn’t about to initiate contact.

“Hey,” Dan said when she answered, “Apparently, Lester is heading to Middleton to meet with your boss.”

“I know. I just read his text,” Sarah said. Dan’s cock stiffened at the thought of Sarah and Lester being in contact behind his back. I’m so fucked up.

The couple both stayed silent for several seconds. The idea of Sarah rendezvousing with Lester without him hung over the conversation.

“Do you think Lester will try to –” Dan started.

“Yes,” Sarah said quickly, “I don’t see how he wouldn’t try something.”

“He better not go anywhere near the house,” Dan said.

“He won’t. I won’t let that happen,” Sarah said.

“Are you sure? After last time... ” Dan trailed off.

“He won’t get in the house, Dan. I promise.” Sarah said sternly, “But that doesn’t mean he won’t try something else.”

“What if he does?” Dan said.

“What do you want to happen, Dan?” Sarah asked.

“I don’t know,” Dan said quietly.

“I think you do,” Sarah said with a new authority in her voice, “I have a feeling it’s all you’re going to think about while you’re there by yourself.”

“Uh, fuck,” Dan breathed into the phone, “I don’t, uh... “

“I’ll make this easy, Dan. If Lester approaches me... if you want me to say no to him. Just say something right now. If you keep quiet, I’ll know your decision. I can’t promise anything will happen, but I want to know where you stand.”

Words churned in Dan’s head. The different responses he could utter. He searched for the perfect phrasing to encapsulate his complicated emotions, but nothing came out. Dan heard Sarah opening a drawer and rummaging around before closing it. He wondered what she was doing but never found his voice.

Lester hid the smirk threatening to appear on his face. He was in the new CEO, Richard’s office. The pathetic excuse for a man was trying to pull a typical powerplay, making Lester sit there obediently while he finished a phone call.

Lester almost respected the blatant manipulation tactic, even if it was basic. Within a few minutes, he had this guy pegged for what he knew him to be—a corporate asshole who likes power and control. Lester couldn’t begrudge him for that. After all, those goals were exactly in line with his own. He didn’t care for the ramifications of this meeting and what that would entail for his Sarah project.

The excuse of ‘working’ in the hospital was quite convenient to being in Sarah’s proximity. And if Lester could be so humble, quite the masterstroke of his planning. Now this jackass might threaten to bring his ruse crashing to the ground. Lester should have looked further into the changes at the hospital but they had previously seemed irrelevant to him. He assumed things would just go on as they had. Now, this Richard was another unknown variable he hadn't accounted for.

"Sorry about that," Richard said as he hung up the phone. "You know how it is."

Lester nodded his head, "Of course."

The plan was to be docile and pliable. Appear as a tool for Richard to take advantage of and feel good about doing so like he had one over on Lester, at least one. After all, that kind of seemed to be this guy's thing.

"So listen, ummm," Richard looked down at his notebook, "Mr. Matthews."

"Lester," Lester said, "Please call me Lester."

Richard gave him a flat smile that didn't quite reach his eyes, "Right. Sure, Lester. As I'm sure you're aware, we've been making some staffing changes. We are in the middle of restructuring our IT department. Unfortunately, that means that we need to eliminate some positions. While we all recognize the importance of your contributions, particularly during our recent ransomware crisis, the decision has been made to eliminate your position. So, as of today, your contract with us is ending. We know that you'll land on your feet and do well in your next position. Our new head of HR will be waiting for you to discuss any lingering issues pertaining to your contract."

Lester watched Richard closely while feigning panic and disappointment. This guy could have easily had someone else fire him. Judging by the predatory look in his eyes, Lester suspected he probably enjoyed firing people.

"But, but," Lester stuttered, playing into the bumbling IT nerd trope, "I've done everything I can. I got the entire hospital back up and running. I saved the hospital hundreds of thousands of dollars for all the systems and networks."

"Yes," Richard waved his hand dismissively, "Like I said, we're very thankful for your contributions, talk to HR, they might have a gift card or something they can give you."

"But I won't be able to afford my mortgage," Lester lied. He knew this came down to control and probably the expensive price tag Lester had negotiated for himself. "Please, I'll do anything. You can cut my salary by twenty-five percent, no, fifty! Whatever you need, I can do. I can do more than just keep your network safe; I've seen a ton of inefficiencies in that department. There are plenty of synergies just waiting to be exploited. I can help you streamline their operations without negatively impacting your bottom line. Please, sir, my fate is in your hands.”

Richard raised an eyebrow at him, clearly enjoying that he held so much power over Lester. Lester chose each word deliberately to play into this man’s fantasies for control over people and the corporate language he was sure this guy probably threw around.

Richard leaned back in his chair, his fingers making a steeple before his face, “Tell me more about how you could streamline things.”

Sarah closed her eyes tight and let out a long, quiet breath. She hated this time of the day. It was just after lunch, and the new head of HR was getting back from her lunch with Richard. While she’d only had a few conversations with the woman, she didn’t like her. Sarah had adored Marcie, the previous head of HR, and didn’t like Richard’s new pick. She was a suck-up and Sarah could see she’d been hand-picked to do Richard’s bidding.

The reason Sarah hated this time of the day is that the head of HR would walk past Sarah on the way to her new office. Sarah’s old office. Richard’s new appointments were being given the choice of offices while everyone else from the old guard was being relegated to small cubicles. Sarah had been politely told to vacate her office and settle down in the line of cubicles alongside the coordinators and other administrative staff.

While Sarah had no problem working more closely with others, the way it had been done left a sour taste in her mouth, she felt like she’d been cast aside yet again. Richard had disbanded their daily meetings, citing the end of the ransomware crisis. He’d started a new series of meetings with his department heads, excluding Sarah entirely. While she technically still had her title and the respect of her legacy colleagues, she couldn’t help but feel at some point that she would be let go as well.

The new head of HR walked by, trailing a couple of her new staff members. They disappeared into Sarah’s old office, closing the door behind them. Sarah sighed and stood up. She couldn’t just sit at her desk anymore and needed to walk and clear her head. She grabbed her purse, walked to the elevators, and rode them down a few floors.

As the elevator doors opened, Sarah began to feel angry and marginalized. She used to love her job and the sense of fulfillment it gave her. Now, she regularly felt worthless and overlooked. Logically, she knew it wasn’t entirely her fault. Sure, maybe she could have made a better first impression, but since then, she had worked her ass off to no avail. It was just Richard consolidating power and removing the old guard. Even though she knew that was the case, it didn't help her self-esteem. Sarah felt like she was spiraling again.

Sarah got off the elevators and found herself in front of a wall of vending machines. Chocolate might help. She looked over her options, contemplating which delicious morsel of goodness would be hers. Looking over the selection in front of her, she noticed movement in the corner of her eye. Glancing towards it, she noticed Otis, the janitor, peering at her from down the hallway.

Otis leered at her for several seconds, seemingly running his eyes up and down the curves of her body. When he noticed that her piercing green eyes were staring back at him, he quickly shuffled away, pushing his squeaking cart down an adjoining hallway.

She had periodically caught Otis looking at her over the last few weeks. It happened frequently enough that she'd noticed that he wasn't always doing his job, coincidentally turning up in places she just happened to be. She shook her head and looked back at the vending machines. Just another thing she needed: a creepy older stalker at work. Otis seemed relatively harmless, but that might not always be the case. Otis was older than her, probably even older than Lester was. His gray disheveled hair and his permanent five o'clock scruff didn't do him any favors. The concerns of hospital staff had been raised at more than one of the weekly meetings she no longer attended. At one point, Sarah had been in contact with the now-fired head of HR, Marcie, about complaints of Otis's breath reeking like alcohol while on the job. Sarah didn't want to get anyone in trouble but was also concerned that the hospital shouldn't be exposed to issues like that either. But now that problem was in the hands of the new head of HR, and she could just stay out of it.

The way Otis always seemed to appear around her and the way he stared at her reminded her a lot of her early days in the apartment with Dan, with Lester seemingly lurking around every corner. She couldn't believe just how far things had come since then. Sarah had no intention of walking a similar path with Otis as she had with Lester.

Sarah pressed the buttons on the vending machine, and a Mars bar dropped out. Chocolate sounded exquisite right now. Sarah unwrapped the bar and bit into the candy, closing her eyes and savoring it. People always said good chocolate had the same effect as sex on the senses. While Sarah understood what they meant, she couldn't help but think about how fucking good Lester could make her feel. This chocolate bar paled in comparison to the feelings her obese lover awoke inside her.

As if on cue, her phone chimed. There was a text message waiting for her. Her eyes widened, and she felt her knees grow weak when she checked it. There on her screen, in the middle of the hallway, was Lester's delicious juicy cock. It was hard and veiny, sitting fully erect on a tabletop surface that Sarah knew was a standard issue cubicle desk in the hospital. A message quickly followed up the photo.

L: Miss me?

Sarah stood transfixed in the middle of the hallway, staring at the mammoth cock on her screen as her pupils dilated. The chocolate bar was half sticking out of her mouth as she'd stopped biting it. Her lips closed around it as she stared at Lester's cock, her tongue flicking out to lap up the caramel from it. Sarah rolled her tongue around the tip of the snack before coming to her senses and looking around. Thankfully, no one had noticed her lost in thought with the bar in her mouth.

Sarah, her face flushed, typed up a quick response.

S: Where are you?

L: At your desk, looking for you. Someone else is in your office. Do you miss me?

S: Yes. I miss what I saw in that pic L: Let's meet up somewhere.

Sarah bit her lip. That cock sure did look more appetizing than the half-eaten chocolate bar in her mouth. All she wanted to do was attack it and let it distract her from all the bullshit going on in her workplace. Taking hold of Lester's cock would let her regain her sense of control and power that she desperately felt slipping through her fingers at work. She had no doubt that making that big cock cum would make her day better.

Plus, it would mean getting out of the building, away from Otis's prying eyes. The way he looked at her unnerved her. She knew what thoughts lay behind the intense gaze.

Sarah texted Dan, telling him about Lester and letting him know she wanted to play, giving him the chance to tell her not to. She stared at the screen, waiting for Dan to respond. In the meantime, Lester kept messaging her. Asking her for a discreet meeting place, sending more shots of his cock.

Sarah was getting impatient, waiting for Dan to respond. She was leaning against the side of the hallway and felt the need to remove some layers. Her body was already heating up from the idea of being around Lester. Without her office for privacy, her mind raced to try and think up places in the hospital where she could potentially sneak away with him.

All of the places she imagined carried a level of risk that sent a jolt of excitement up her spine. The feasibility of an empty patient room, utility closet, or even nap rooms for doctors and nurses would all depend on timing -something she didn't have the best handle on. In the end, the best place Sarah could think of was a secluded part of the parking lot, around the side of a building that didn't get a lot of traffic, near some rarely used access doors, away from the windows of hospital staff.

She stared down at the conversation with Dan on her phone, waiting for him to respond. If she said no, could she really just ignore Lester? He was what she needed right now. Her eyes waited for the three little dots to appear, indicating her husband was typing a response, but they never appeared. With trembling fingers, she switched to her conversation with Lester.

S: Meet me at my car in ten minutes. Lot A, area 2.

L: Tell me what you want.

S: Your cock.

Sarah felt giddy as she rode the elevator down to the main floor. She was tempted to check her phone but left it in her purse. Lester could have sent another dirty picture, or Dan might have sent a message telling her to stay away from his roommate. If she didn't check her phone, she could feign ignorance. If she didn't read it, the message didn't exist.

She knew this was what her husband wanted anyway, which, she reasoned, was why she was so eager to do it. The elevator doors opened, and Sarah stepped out, walking across the atrium towards the back of the building where the exit to the staff parking lot was.

At least this time, she wasn't going to sleep with a slimy alcoholic for nothing like she had with Byron. Even though she had gotten off on that experience, she had done it for no reason other than her own orgasm since she hadn't been able to find anywhere to plug in the USB. No, she had just let that brazen alcoholic fuck her and cum in her mouth for his own enjoyment. At least today, she knew what she was getting into and could enjoy herself with Lester. Sarah couldn't wait to wrap her mouth around Lester's hefty cock. Saliva flooded around her tongue at the mere thought.

Sarah rounded a corner, walking towards the exit. She felt eyes on her, and a quick glance at her side showed her that Otis was leering at her again. The pot-bellied man was mopping the floor while failing to hide his constant awkward gaze.

The idea of this man catching her on her way to a discreet rendezvous sent a thrill through her. The act of getting caught. Walking through a hospital hallway to the parking lot wasn't a reportable offense, but Sarah still knew she was heading somewhere she shouldn't.

Sarah hurried, exiting the hospital and walking across the parking lot to find her car. She stopped in her tracks a few feet away from her vehicle, her pussy growing slick with expectation. Leaning against her car with Lester with a shit-eating grin on his face. His arms were crossed, and he was wearing his same schlubby, business-casual outfit that looked entirely out of place on his body. He didn't look attractive, but Sarah couldn't help but feel intensely drawn to him.

She walked past Lester, only giving him a quick glance as she unlocked her door with her key fob and entered the driver's seat. Lester followed suit, pushing his frame off the car's hood and squeezing himself into the passenger seat.

"Couldn't resist a little afternoon delight, huh?" Lester said.

"Shut up," Sarah said, turning on the engine and pulling the car out of her designated spot, "Don't ruin a good thing by talking."

"Heh, either way, we both know you're not kicking me out of this car," Lester chuckled, "Did you tell Dan that you were meeting me."

"Yes," Sarah said, hoping Lester wouldn't press for more details and learn that Dan hadn't given his consent yet.

"I bet he's already creaming in his pants," Lester said, "Did you see how fast he came last time? Especially after you revealed how you love me? Quite a mess he had to clean up."

"Don't get excited," Sarah said, navigating her car through the parking lot. The further away they went from the main entrance, the less populated the parking lot became. "You know that was just sex talk."

"Sure it was," Lester said, "Maybe it was, maybe it wasn't. But I think it was real."

Sarah rolled her eyes as she drove the car around the hospital's annex. This building was connected to the main hospital, but no patient areas were found there. It was part of the original hospital and was used before the newer parts of the building were constructed. The patchwork of brick didn't match that of the newer wings. The rooms here were mostly used for storing old equipment and paper records. It was a place the current staff rarely visited to the point that Sarah was confident they wouldn't be discovered. The grass around this part of the building appeared recently cut, so she hoped no one from building maintenance would disturb them. Since it was far enough away from the entrance, she doubted any smokers would wander over here. She was on the lookout for anyone, but thankfully, everything looked clear.

"You sure are full of it," Sarah said.

Lester grinned and raised his eyebrows, "You're going to be full of it. I love your 'hard to get' banter. It makes taking you all the sweeter. I don't think you love me the way you love Dan. Not completely romantically. But a part of you loves the way I make you feel, loves how shitty I am to your husband. Loves that I can unlock this side of you that you bury under Missus Little Goody two shoes. I think the real Sarah under that perfect little mask you wear, that's the one who loves me."

Sarah pulled the car to a stop in a shaded area next to the building. They were far enough away from the bend in the road that they would see another vehicle coming. It wasn't a dead end, so she could still drive off quickly if she had to. She turned to face her rotund passenger, looking at her like a lion looks at a fresh kill.

"You sure have thought a lot about this," Sarah said, "It's a nice story you've created for yourself. Now, will you keep talking or shut up and get in the back seat?"

Lester looked into the backseat of her car. "You know, my SUV would have been roomier," she said.

"That's a 'you' problem," Sarah said, sliding awkwardly to the side so she could move into the back seat. Her breasts brushed up against Lester, and he let his hand linger on her ass as she moved. Sarah turned back towards the front seat, bent over, and grabbed the adjustable bar under it as she pushed on the back of the chair, sliding it forward. This gave her more room in the back.

"Do my side," Lester said as he exited the car. The passenger seat slid forward as Lester opened the backdoor and got into it. The car's frame sank a couple of inches as Lester's weight settled into the backseat.

Much to Lester's delight, Sarah's hands were immediately on his belt, quickly undoing it, "Eager, I see."

"I just don't want to waste any time," Sarah breathed, her eyes growing wide as she freed Lester's belt and started tugging on his pants.

“Take off your top,” Lester said, “Show me my girls.”

Lester started to awkwardly shimmy himself out of his pants in the cramped confines of the car’s backseat. Sarah folded her blazer over the headrest of her seat and pulled her emerald shirt over her head, revealing a white lacy bra.

“Did you choose that bra before or after I texted you that I’d be here today?” Lester asked.

“After,” Sarah breathed huskily and met his eyes as she tugged Lester’s raggedy boxers. Lester didn’t bother taking his wrinkled shirt off. He pushed his hips off the seat as Sarah pulled his stained boxers down to his ankles. Lester’s thick cock sprang into view, causing Sarah to stop and stare at it momentarily, the hungry lust evident on her face.

Lester smirked, “Told you. You love me.”

“Maybe. Parts of you,” Sarah looked up at Lester’s ugly face with a playful smile.

“Good thing we’re a package deal,” Lester chuckled. Lester shifted his hips up and pressed his cock against Sarah’s face. It ran down the length of her cheek, Sarah turned her head instinctively, and her tongue licked the bottom of his cock as it slid down its length. She was about to open her mouth when Lester stopped her.

“Today, you’re going to suck my cock until I cum down your throat,” Lester said, “The next time you’re in Chicago, I have something special planned for you.”

Sarah was surprised that she didn’t feel more disappointed. As much as she wanted Lester’s thick cock shoved inside of her, she loved the idea of stroking and sucking on it to bring him off. The idea of just pleasing the disgusting man in front of her seemed to push all the right buttons for her.

“And what’s that? What do you have planned for me?” Sarah forcibly gripped Lester’s cock at the base and began to stroke him intently. Lester took a sharp inhale of breath at the sudden action. “What does daddy have planned for me?”

“Whatever I want,” Lester breathed, staring into Sarah’s green eyes. “You’ll do whatever I want, won’t you?”

“Have I ever said ‘no’ to you before?” Sarah asked as her hand pumped rigorously up and down Lester’s shaft.

A predatory grin spread onto Lester's face, "That's my girl."

Sarah smiled back and lowered her head towards Lester's cock.

"No," Lester breathed, "Not yet. Get up here and give me some sugar."

Lester licked his lips as Sarah moved over his body until her lips met his. He grabbed the back of her head and pulled her hard into him. Sarah's hand never left his cock as she opened her mouth and let Lester's large tongue invade her mouth.

Sarah's tongue ran across Lester's, tasting the odors in his fetid mouth. She ground herself against Lester as the pressure of his tongue on hers caused her to moan into his mouth. Part of her mind registered some of the foul tastes of whatever he ate earlier, but her body was far past that as cause for her to stop.

"Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned as Lester held her head in place, ramming his tongue into hers. He pulled her head to the side, switching positions as their lips smacked together, opening and closing as their tongues clashed and pressed together.

Lester's hands were on her ass, each one grabbing one of her ass cheeks, pulling her against his overweight body. Sarah stroked his cock faster, not worried about how dry it still felt. She knew it might hurt him without some saliva, but for now, she was captivated by the dirty, sloppy kissing they were both engaged in. It was more a carnal expression of how intense the sex between them was than making out with each other. She sucked on his lower lip as his fingertips traveled closer to her ass crack.

"Fuck," Lester moaned between kisses. His hands started working on the zipper on the back of her skirt. He groaned inwardly as he began to unzip it down, releasing it. Sarah didn't seem to notice, never breaking her lips from Lester's, but she shimmed her hips, allowing the form-fitting material to drop down to her ankles. Sarah felt an electric surge run through her body. She didn't have time to stop and analyze it. It was part Lester and part being naked in the back of a car so close to where she was supposed to be a consummate professional.

Right now, in the backseat of her car, she was anything but professional.

Sarah broke the kiss and stared deep into Lester's beady eyes. She couldn't help but feel an intense longing for the troll-like man. She caught her breath and looked down at his cock, jutting up towards her. Lester hadn't said anything, but she knew her dry hand was probably causing him discomfort. She licked her lips the same way Lester would and started to lower herself down towards his cock.

“I, I love... your huge cock.” she moaned as the eager wife moved downward.

Lester didn't stop her. Instead, he put his arms behind his head and leaned back into the seat to enjoy himself. He wished that Sarah still had her office; he loved debasing her in there. For now, this car would work fine. Perhaps one day soon, he'd have an office of his own for Sarah to visit.

His body shuddered as he felt Sarah's lips press and spread over the tip of his cock. Her warm eager mouth engulfed his cock, tongue running and whipping along the underside of his cock. Sarah's head swam in a fog of sexual hunger as Lester's cock stretched out her mouth.

“Mhmmmm,” She moaned at how stuffed her mouth felt. She was loving every minute of devouring Lester's bulging cock. With his pole now well coated with her saliva, Sarah could stroke his shaft with frictionless abandon.

“That's a good girl,” Lester sneered, “You're such a good cock sucker.”

Sarah tried to respond, but Lester held her head in place. He pushed his hips up off the seat, driving more of his cock into Sarah's mouth. She kept moaning, so Lester pushed harder. Sarah tried to breathe out of her nose as more of Lester's cock pushed into her mouth. Soon, it pressed against the back of her throat, as Sarah found her nose firmly embedded in Lester's messy, fragrant public hair.

“Gllllluuuuck,” Sarah's throat made an involuntary sound as the head of Lester's cock pushed into it. Sarah pushed down on her choking relief and started to deep-throat Lester. The ogre-like man grabbed both sides of Sarah's face and pulled her down onto him, pistoning his cock into her.

“Gllllluuuccckk, glllackkkk, mhmmmmmm, uuuullllllchhhhhh,” Sarah's moans were muffled by Lester's throat fucking. Sarah's hands were bracing themselves against Lester's thighs. The more he forcibly fucked her throat, the more wet and aroused Sarah became. She was growing lightheaded from being face fucked so hard, not being able to breathe regularly.

Finally, Lester let go of the back of her head, allowing Sarah to push herself up and off him. Sarah breathed hard, a long string of Saliva connecting Lester's pulsing cock to her lips. Sarah panted, catching her breath.

Lester just looked down at her with amusement, “Did I ever tell you how good you look with a cock in your mouth?”

“I’m sure it’s come up,” Sarah smiled, “Don’t you mean your cock in my mouth?”

“You heard what I said,” Lester said, “Even when you had Vernon’s cock in your mouth, you still looked damn good. Like it belonged there.”

“I thought you didn’t like that.”

“I didn’t like him doing it, but I’m not an idiot,” Lester said, “You still looked hot as fuck doing it.”

“I didn’t think you liked to share,” Sarah bit her lips, her right hand finding Lester’s shaft, and began stroking it again. Soon, it was followed by her left hand, and they each took a section of the overgrown shaft. Sarah lowered her mouth to the organ and licked some precum forming at the slit of Lester’s cock.

“I don’t,” Lester said. You’re mine, and you know it. But I do like making you do things you normally wouldn’t. I love seeing how far you’ll bend for me.”

“You sound like Dan,” Sarah suppressed a smile.

“Your husband’s a dumbass who’s letting his precious wife run around with someone like me,” Lester jeered, “I’m more interested in making you my slut and teaching you to do what you’re told.”

“I like that,” Sarah whispered, “I like being a good girl.”

“You are,” Lester said, “I knew when you first walked into the apartment that I would break you, and now here you are sucking my cock while you should be working.”

Sarah shook her head, “I still can’t believe it. It’s like, I don’t know. Like, I’ve always wanted this, but you just managed to unlock it. I still know it’s wrong and can get in serious trouble, but I can’t help myself.”

“That’s what I like,” Lester narrowed his eyes and smiled, “Making the good girl go bad. That’s what I’m planning for you next time in Chicago.”

“What do you mean?” Sarah whispered.

“I had to make your husband and your fantasies come true. Neither of you would have crossed that line without me. But now I’m going to take that fantasy further. I’m booking us a hotel room, and you’re going to fuck someone else in front of me. And then I’m going to fuck you all night. I will make Dan's fantasy come true again, but he won't be invited. It'll be me and you exploring it alone, letting Dan's mind run wild."

"You're bad," Sarah looked down at Lester's cock, "I could say 'no.'"

"Like you said earlier, when have you ever said no to me," Lester chortled.

Sarah gave him a flat look, pausing to lick up the underside of his cock until her tongue flicked over his balls. "I could say no this time. I don't even know who this guy could be. And it's just outright mean doing that to my husband," Sarah said.

"You love it. I know you enjoy torturing Dan, and this plays right into that," Lester said, "And the guy, the cock, it doesn't matter. You're there for me."

Instead of replying, Sarah lowered her head and gently took Lester's cock in her mouth again. "Mhhmmmmmm," she savored the slightly sour taste of his cock. Her hands gripped his shaft tightly, stroking him with two hands while she sucked it hard. Lester put his hand gently on the back of her head, enjoying how little resistance Sarah put up these days. She was so eager to take it now. Dan and Sarah may have only seen gradual progress in their fantasy, but Lester saw it as a wrecking ball that was demolishing the protective barriers of their marriage and Sarah's virtue.

"Tell me you're going to do it for me," Lester said. "I'm going to make you fuck someone else, and you're going to love every second of it."

Sarah took her mouth off his cock and looked up at his ugly face. She let her tongue dangle out of her mouth and licked the underside of his cock, lowering herself down until her tongue reached the messy patch of public hair.

"Yes," she whispered, closing her eyes as her tongue started to lap at his hairy nutsack. "Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned as her tongue swirled around his balls, flicking over skin as his pubic hair caught on her tongue. Lester shifted his weight, pushing his balls into her mouth, eliciting louder groans from Sarah.

His thick shaft rested heavily on her face, blocking her left eye.

"God, that feels good," Lester grunted, "Such a good little slut wife."

Sarah chuckled from deep under Lester's balls, "You made me this way."

"I know," Lester said, "And you've enjoyed every minute of it. Whose fucked you more the past couple of months, me or Dan?"

“You’ve both have had me –”

“Not who had sex with you, who fucked you more, me or him?” Lester demanded.

Sarah didn’t even need to think. There was no reason to lie. She knew the truth, “You’ve fucked me more, Lester.” She sat up and answered, seeing him.

“Who’s made you cum more?”

“You have,” Sarah breathed, not breaking eye contact with Lester, “you.”

“Who has put more cum inside that pretty little pussy of yours?” Lester chided.

“You. Your cum has filled me up more than Dan’s,” Sarah said.

“Whose slut are you?” Lester asked, his grin appearing evilly.

“Yours, I’m your good little slut, Lester,” Sarah said slowly, accentuating each word.

“You’ll do whatever I want, right?” Lester asked. He nodded to her.

“Anything,” Sarah said. “Fuck. Anything.”

“My SUV would have been better than your car with the tinted windows.” Lester said, “You have an admirer.”

Sarah’s eyes grew like saucers, darting to the window next to Lester. Nothing there but a brick wall. Her head snapped over her shoulder to look out the other window. Her heart sunk in her chest as she saw Otis, the pudgy, older janitor, staring at them from a few feet away.

Sarah and Otis locked eyes. A million thoughts were going through her head simultaneously. What would he do? Was her career over? Was her life over? Otis seemed to be watching her, unsure of what to do next. He wasn’t stroking himself, but Sarah could see the unmistakable lust painted on his plain face.

Lester’s hands were on the back of her head, turning her back towards the tip of his cock, jutting up towards her.

“Lester, wait,” Sarah said, but he didn’t listen. He pulled her head back down at the same time he thrust his hips up towards her. His beefy cock disappeared between her lips as he thrust up off the seat. Sarah slapped his thighs in protest, but those slaps slowed as another sound escaped her throat, “Mhhmmmmmm.”

Lester knew she liked being exposed. Both being naked and in the midst of a sexual act. Someone wandering into their rendezvous was an opportunity he was more than happy to exploit. Lester didn't know the guy, but he looked like some kind of janitor. He didn't really care what the consequences might be at the moment.

Soon, Lester didn't have to put much pressure on the back of Sarah's head. She was rapidly bobbing up and down on his cock again with little resistance.

Lester glanced at the older man, who stepped towards the car, taking Sarah's continued actions as a green light to proceed further.

That's good. Lester thought. The man wasn't about to run away and report them, but also, Lester had turned the hot mother into an amazing cocksucker. Lester gestured to the man to come forward. Emboldened, the man stepped up to the car window, peering in. His eyes seemed wild, staring down, feasting on Sarah's near-naked body. It was clear to Lester that this man had been lusting after Sarah from afar and was now eager to take advantage of this opportunity.

"He's at the window. Watching you perform," Lester said. He kept a gentle hand on the back of her head, encouraging her to keep doing what she was doing instead of stopping to look. Lester kept his eyes on the man, watching as he unzipped his coveralls. Lester couldn't tell for sure but knew that the man had found his cock and was stroking it. The arms of the coveralls flopped down around his waist as the man struggled to get his torso out of it. Beneath was a battered white t-shirt with old sweat stains visible around the armpits, neck, and stomach.

"Touch yourself," Lester said, "Play with your breasts and your pussy. I want to watch you cum today."

"Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned, her left hand running over her breasts while the other dropped down to her panties. Her fingers went underneath the lacy white material until her fingertips touched her sensitive clit, slick with moisture. Sarah groaned at the sensation. Jolts of electricity coursed through her body at her knowing touch.

Sarah was lost in the sensations, her fingers pleasuring herself as the turmoil in her mind over Otis watching her raged. She knew it was a bad idea but was already so turned on. Being exposed to someone she knew she shouldn't have just upped the ante for her. Lester continued to fuck her mouth, causing her lips to stretch around his thick cock. Sarah loved every minute of this. Her body was in heaven. With each sensation of her fingers on her pussy and clit, Sarah's internal arguments grew weaker and weaker.

She didn't know how long it would take for Lester to cum, but she immediately felt herself well on her way to one. Even though she had only been touching herself for a few moments, her body already felt like it was on fire. The situation quickly spiraled out of control, and she couldn't help herself.

Part of her brain faintly registered the notification sound of her cell, but she quickly filtered it out as background noise, unimportant to the task of making Lester cum in her mouth.

The door clicked, and Sarah felt a rush of cold air dance across her body and the side of her face. Goosebumps rose on her otherwise perfect forearms as the humid heat that had been contained in the car rushed out. The door opening surprised Lester. His jowls shook as his head snapped to the door. Sarah tried to raise her head to look over her shoulder, but Lester held her head down, her mouth full and stretched out by his girthy pistoning cock.

"Like what you see?" Lester said to the janitor behind Sarah. She knew that her bubble butt would be on display for him as she knelt on the car floor.

Sarah felt at once humiliated and turned on that someone from her work life was seeing her in just her bra and panties, let alone this janitor who creepily lusted after her from afar.

"Yeah," a guff, hoarse voice croaked out. Sarah's fingers started stroking her clit faster. Sarah felt so out of control but was reveling in the sensation of her body and her impending sense-frying orgasm. She knew deep down that there would be unintended consequences over this wild tryst, but she couldn't dwell on them. At the moment, the mere idea only added fuel to the burning fire of lust ready to boil over inside of her. She pushed down on her clit, sensing the edge of the inevitable.

"Do you know her?" Lester asked Otis.

"Yep," Otis grumbled. Sarah could hear the sounds of his clothes rustling and the flesh of his hand stroking his cock. "She's one of the hospital's bigshots. I always thought she probably liked getting dirty. Now I know for sure. Damn that ass." His last few words sounded like a condemnation. The older man's bloodshot eyes were wide open.

Otis started stroking his cock with more urgency. His eyes glued to Sarah's ass, rocking back and forth as she sucked on Lester's cock. Lester alternated between watching Sarah bob her head up and down on his cock and the man with his eyes glued to her.

“Ugh, you’re such a good little cocksucker, Sarah,” Lester groaned, holding a fist full of Sarah’s hair in one hand. “And now your coworker knows it, too.”

“Mhmmmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned from around Lester’s cock. Part of her wanted to close the car door and drive away. That was why she had chosen this spot, in case someone she knew came by. But Lester seemed to have other plans, and Sarah loved being exposed like this, even if it wasn’t an ideal situation.

“Fuck,” Otis mumbled from somewhere behind Sarah. She could just picture what she looked like right now from his viewpoint, bent over, ass sticking out as she sucked on Lester’s cock.

“Put on a show, Sarah,” Lester said, “I want that tongue on my balls again.”

Lester roughly grabbed Sarah’s hair and pulled her off his cock. She quickly caught her breath and glanced over her shoulder. Her stomach twisted seeing Otis so close to her, his calloused hands stroking a long uncut cock. Sarah gulped, staring at it. Lester turned her head back towards him and guided her face back down to his balls. Sarah shifted her position to get better access as her tongue started lapping again all over Lester’s nutsack. She realized that her ass was probably sticking out further for Otis to see. She took one of Lester’s balls in her mouth and massaged it with her tongue.

“Hey buddy,” Lester said as he opened the car door next to him. Why don’t you come over on this side and get a better view?”

Otis didn’t need to be asked twice. Leaving the door on his side open, he quickly moved around the back of the car until he stood at Lester’s open door. He stared angrily down at Sarah, watching her pretty blonde hair fall on Lester’s crotch, her face obscured by Lester’s thick cock.

Sarah was still stroking it with one hand as her tongue ran over Lester’s balls, twirling around in circles, “Mhmmmmmmmm.”

“I’ve trained her really well,” Lester said, “Now I get her more often than her husband does.”

“Ain’t that somthin’,” Otis sucked in a bit of drool that had formed at the corner of his mouth. “She sure does look like she knows what she’s doin’.”

“She’s a pro now,” Lester chuckled.

“Were you two in her office awhile back?” Otis asked, “I cleaned up in there, and it looked like there were sex stains on the window.”

“Guilty,” Lester chuckled. Uhhh, that’s good, Sarah. Why don’t you say hi to our new friend?”

Lester loosed his grip on Sarah’s head, allowing her to pull her head up. Sarah bit her lip and opened her eyes. Otis’ uncut cock was way closer now. Her eyes lingered on it briefly before roaming up his pudgy body to look at his weathered face. Her body shuddered involuntarily at the hunger in the man’s eyes. She recognized it. This was the kind of man a girl would cross the street to avoid after noticing that intense gaze.

Otis’s scent was quite strong, and her nose was free of Lester’s public hair. He smelled like an old gym bag, ancient.

“Hi, Otis,” Sarah squirmed at the fact that Lester was making her acknowledge this man.

“Hey there, darlin’,” Otis croaked, “Never thought I’d see you like this.”

“Well, today’s your lucky day,” Lester grunted. Sarah’s hand was still stroking his cock, running it up and down his shaft. “I’d shake your hand, Otis, but it looks like it’s full at the moment,” Lester chuckled.

“Sarah, do you want Otis to keep stroking his cock for you,” Lester said. Sarah looked down at Lester’s cock and then back up to his face. This all felt so wrong, so dirty, but so, so right. Sarah nodded.

“Good girl,” Lester said, “Now let’s show your coworker how you suck a cock.” He guided her head back down onto his cock. Lester just groaned at the sensation. “Fuck Sarah, that’s my girl. Yeah. Yesss.”

Sarah bobbed her head up and down on Lester’s cock, taking several inches into her mouth while both her hands clasped onto his shaft, stroking him. Sarah could hear the fleshy sounds of Otis beating his meat in her ear. She was worried and excited about what Lester might make her do in front of this man she hardly knew.

Sarah sucked determinedly on Lester’s cock, running her tongue deftly around his shaft. Lester was in ecstasy at the professional blowjob Sarah was giving him. It had been too long since she had blown him to completion. He made a mental note to make her do this more often.

“Put your hand back on yourself, don’t stop, I want you to cum to this,” Lester commanded.

Sarah dropped one hand off his cock and put it back into her panties. She moaned around the cock filling her mouth, and she resumed massaging her clit.

Sarah’s hips swayed back and forth as her body gently ground itself against her probing fingers.

“You fuck her a lot?” Otis asked breathlessly.

“All the time,” Lester chuckled, “More than her husband does at this point.”

“Lucky fucker,” Otis growled.

“She’s a great fuck. Moans like crazy. She loves my cock. I mean, just look at her.” Lester sneered.

“Does her husband... know? Does he know she...” Otis stared hungrily as he stroked himself with abandon.

Lester chuckled, “Oh, he knows.” Lester wanted to brag more but bit his tongue. Information is power, after all.

“He doesn’t stop you? He knows?” Otis stared at Sarah’s beautiful face as her lips stretched tightly to accommodate Lester’s girthy cock. Her eyes were closed, and she was quietly moaning in her throat.

“He knows his place,” Lester said sternly. “His wife is my slut now.”

“Damn,” Otis said flatly, “I always knew she was a hot little bitch, but this is wild.”

“Don’t go getting any ideas,” Lester said, “Like I said, she’s mine. She does what I say.”

Otis didn’t respond. He just continued staring intently at Sarah. Her moans were getting louder even with Lester’s cock in her mouth. She was gyrating her hips against her hand in her panties.

Sarah’s cell phone started ringing from the front seat.

“Don’t you dare stop,” Lester said.

“Mhmm-hmmm,” Sarah moaned in agreement, Lester’s cock still buried in her mouth.

“Sarah,” Lester said, pulling her up by the hair on the back of her neck. “Tell me, who is this guy? You know him?”

“He works in the h-hospital,” Sarah breathed, “He’s uh –”

“Don’t stop touching yourself. Keep going,” Lester interjected.

Sarah closed her eyes as she kept rubbing her clit. Doing this in front of Lester and a relative stranger like Otis was feeling intense. Someone she knew little about but knew enough to know that it was far from a good idea.

“He’s a janitor. I don’t really know him. But I’ve ssseen him watching mhm-me,” Sarah said.

“I bet he has,” Lester said, “How does he watch you?”

Sarah’s eyes darted to Otis’s uncut cock sticking in through the door, less than a foot away from her face. “He watches me like he’s checking me out. More than that. Like he’s waiting for an opportunity,” Sarah breathed hard, closing her eyes as her fingers danced with her clit.

“What do you think about him? Be honest. We’re all friends here,” Lester said.

“I doh-don’t really know him,” Sarah said, “But the way he, uhh, is, oh, a-always watching. It’s creepy.”

“You don’t think he’s attractive?” Lester asked.

Sarah tried to lower her mouth back to Lester’s cock, but he stopped her. “Answer the question,” Lester commanded.

“No,” Sarah whispered, closing her eyes as she stifled back a moan. It felt so fucking good touching herself like that.

“Open your eyes. Let us hear you moan. Let Otis hear those sweet moans of yours,” Lester said.

“Uhhhmhmhmhmhm,” Sarah moaned louder than she had wanted to. Anyone nearby would hear it, but now she couldn’t stop herself. She kept rubbing her pussy while his other hand resumed stroking Lester.

“Take off your bra,” Lester said, “Let the janitor see you naked.”

“Leh-Lester...,” Sarah bit her lip. She knew it wasn’t a good idea and was crossing the line. But she was already well over where that line was supposed to be.

“Do it,” Lester said.

Sarah let go of Lester’s cock and took her hand out of her panties. She reached behind her back and undid the clasp on her bra. She was about to take it completely off when Lester stopped her.

“Uh-uh, wait. Wait one second,” Lester sneered.

The bra was unclasped, the straps still sitting on her shoulders.

“Otis,” Lester said conspiratorially, “Do you want to do the honors?”

A shocked expression appeared on Sarah’s face, but before she could react, Otis stopped stroking his cock. With the same calloused hand that had been sliding up and down his shaft, he reached out and slowly hooked a pudgy finger under one of her bra straps.

Sarah shuddered, feeling his skin touch hers, knowing it had just been on his cock.

“Touch yourself,” Lester commanded again.

Sarah lowered one of her hands back down into her panties, her fingertips sending an electric jolt into her clit as she started massaging herself there again. Otis slowly lowered the white bra strap over her shoulder until it fell loosely by her bicep. His dirty finger lingered against the flawless skin of her shoulder.

Otis slowly ran his finger across her collarbone, lingering around her neck before slowly moving onto the other shoulder. He took his time, running his calloused fingertips over her bare skin until he finally found her other bra strap. With a sharp intake of breath, he slowly lowered this one down to her shoulder. Her lacy white bra hung there loosely as Sarah closed her eyes, enveloped in the pleasure of touching herself.

Otis’ fingers ran down her chest, leaving goosebumps in their wake. He grabbed the lacy material of her bra and yanked it off. Sarah shuddered at finally being exposed to her creepy coworker. Her breasts heaved up and down in time with her rapid breathing.

“Open your eyes,” Lester said.

Sarah did as Lester commanded. She watched as Otis' gnarled and dirty fingers held her pristine white bra. He brought it up to his nose and took a long sniff. The older man groaned in pleasure while he inhaled her scent.

Something about that made Sarah shudder. Her fingers never stopped working her clit, and somehow she found herself pleasuring herself while staring at Otis' ugly, weathered face. It was such an illicit experience. Sarah barely recognized the woman she was at that moment.

Otis opened his eyes, his face looking wild, like he had gotten high from inhaling Sarah's scent. He lowered Sarah's white bra and started running his long uncut cock all over it. Sarah watched in horror and fascination as his cock dragged across her lacy white bra, the uncut cock head rubbing against the inside and outside of her lace cups.

Otis smiled at her, but it didn't quite reach his eyes. They looked cold and unfeeling like they had earlier when he leered at her by the vending machine.

"Mhmmhmmmm," Sarah moaned despite herself.

"What do you think of Otis' cock?" Lester asked.

"It's nice," Sarah breathed, one eye lazily open, looking at the strange man's cock as she continued to touch herself, "I've never seen an uncircumcised one before."

"Tell Otis that you like it," Lester said, "Look at him."

Sarah felt her body quiver at Lester's commands. Her thighs tightened around her hand as she looked up at Otis' hard eyes, "I like your cock, Otis. It's long."

"Heh, it likes you too," Otis snarled, "Maybe you should come a little closer and get to know it better."

Sarah's eyes darted to Lester's, wondering what she should do next.

"She's occupied with mine," Lester said sternly. "Speaking of, get back down there and do what you do best."

Sarah licked her lips and eagerly licked up and down Lester's shaft. Her tongue swirled over the head of his cock. Sarah furiously stroked Lester's cock.

He never seemed to complain, no matter how hard she tightened her grip.

"God, that feels good, Sarah," Lester grunted. "Just like that."

“Mhmmmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Lester’s cock. Despite the cool breeze and lack of clothing, she could feel her body heating up. She knew it was only a matter of time before she would come for Lester and Otis to watch.

“Those tits are amazing,” Otis mumbled. He stared at the tops of her breasts, swaying as Sarah’s hand was rapidly pumping Lester’s shaft. Otis’ face was making a scowl as he pumped his cock, desperate to cum to this woman. He had dropped Sarah’s bra onto the floor of the car as he focused on jerking himself off.

Lester felt his balls begin to tingle. He loved that he’d put Sarah on display like this, stoking the fire of her kinks, bending her to his will, and pushing her well past whatever barriers her idiot husband wanted to put in their way.

As if on cue, Sarah’s phone started ringing again, but Lester wasn’t about to let that deter him. His balls felt full and were ready to unleash the torrent of cum he had built up in them, and he had the perfect place to put it.

“Fuck Sarah, I’m gonna cum,” Lester growled, holding onto the back of her head, “Get ready,”

“Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned in response. She opened her mouth and spoke around his shaft with a desperate plea, “Cum for me.” Neither man in the car understood her words, but they knew what she meant.

“Ughhhhhh,” Lester groaned as his testicles spasmed, cum exploded out of them, rushing up his shaft. Sarah could feel Lester’s cock pulsating in her hand.

She locked her lips onto his cock as she felt his cock head expand in her mouth. Thick ropes of hot hot cum blasted into her mouth. Each frothy rope filled her mouth up, and Sarah struggled to swallow one down before another filled her mouth. Lester held onto the back of her head, groaning with delight as he emptied himself into Sarah’s waiting mouth.

Sarah stopped stroking him, holding on tightly. She even stopped playing with herself, even though she was on the cusp of cumming herself. She didn’t want to miss a drop of Lester’s delicious cum.

“Uhhhhhhh,” Lester groaned as his balls wholly emptied. The only sounds in the car were Sarah’s wet slurping sounds and Otis’ beating his meat next to them.

As the torrent of cum stopped spraying into her mouth, Sarah’s finger started touching herself in a frenzy. She could feel her orgasm just out of reach, and she needed to get it, especially now that Lester had cum.

Sarah let go of Lester's shaft and did one long final lick up the entire thing, opening her eyes as her tongue reached the tip of his cock.

"God, you're beautiful," Lester grumbled. Sarah bit her lip, her face flush. She was so close to cumming, quivering as she smiled at him. Lester read her like a book.

"You're close," Lester said, "You gonna cum for daddy soon?"

Sarah just nodded her head, not wanting to speak. She just wanted to focus on making herself cum. It would be soon. It would be considerable. She was breathing hard, her body getting ready for it. Otis was now beating his meat with abandon. His arm was bracing himself against the car, and his hips were pumping his cock into his hand like he was air fucking himself. It wouldn't be long before the dirty janitor blew his load.

With a sick smile, Lester grabbed Sarah's hair in one fist, pulling it back into a makeshift ponytail. Sarah winced in pain but didn't stop touching herself. Rubbing her clit. This situation was like kerosine, and her body was a bonfire, ready to explode.

Lester pulled her up roughly by her hair and pulled him over his crotch toward Otis' cock.

"Tell him you want his uncut cum," Lester snarled. "He's going to paint your face."

"Mhmmmmmmmm," Sarah moaned, "Fuck... uhhhhh, mhmmmm, I want it... god. Fuck. Uhhhhh Otis... I want your cummm..." Sarah moaned, "Oh fuckk.. FUUUCK."

Saying those illicit words pushed Sarah over the edge. She opened her eyes to see Otis' uncut cock staring back at her. He was jerking it with abandon while Sarah's orgasm exploded out inside of her. All her muscles went taut, her face contorting uncontrollably with orgasmic bliss. Sarah felt like her insides were on fire, running all over her body, each new nerve touched by the fire exploding into pleasure sensors for her brain.

Sarah watched as Otis' body shuddered and his cockslit expanded. Lester held her hair firmly in place, keeping her face positioned right in front of Otis' cock. Cum exploded out of it, shooting straight at her. Globbs of the janitor's sticky cum blasted Sarah right across the forehead. Another huge strand painted her eyes closed.

"Uhhhmhmmmmmmaaaahmmmmmm," Sarah moaned in ecstasy as she came hard, her body continuing to ride the wave of unfiltered pleasure. Her jaw went limp, and she opened her mouth to moan. At the same time, Otis shot another massive load of cum, and it blasted across her lips, shooting into her waiting mouth.

Sarah swallowed instinctively, tasting the sour cum. Without thinking, she licked her lips, cleaning her face and getting another taste of the janitor's cum. Another rope of cum landed squarely on her exposed tongue, sending a jolt of electric pleasure right to her brainstem. Sarah's pussy throbbed as Otis painted her face with his cum.

Eventually, Otis staggered back, leaning against the brick wall to catch his breath. Sarah just stayed there, frozen in time, her fingers gently playing with her pussy as cum dripped down her face.

Sarah kept lapping up the cum. She wasn't thinking straight, still just running on autopilot as her body came down from its intense orgasm. She stayed like that for several seconds, basking in the warm glow, partially hunched over with her hand still in her panties.

Sarah's senses started to come back to her. She withdrew her hand from her panties and wiped at the cum, holding her left eye shut. The taste of his cum in her mouth lingered, and only then did Sarah realize how sourly bitter it truly tasted.

Sarah reached around with her other hand and found Lester's pants on the floor. She grabbed them and began cleaning her face with them.

"Uh fuck Sarah," Lester complained, "Not my pants."

"Deal with it," Sarah said as she tried to open her eyes. Otis' cum was still embedded into her eyelashes, holding them together.

Lester turned to look at Otis, "Alright, time to get out of here."

Otis just stood there, staring at Sarah's heaving breasts and her cum covered face. He slowly got back to his senses and tucked his cock into his coveralls, and pulled them back on. Lester could tell the man wanted to stay. The men nodded knowingly at each other, and the janitor reluctantly shuffled off, disappearing behind the corner of the building. Sarah was leaning over the seat, getting something from the glove compartment, her gorgeous ass near his face. He kept his eyes on her as she leaned back with some wet naps and thoroughly cleaned Otis off her face and chest.

Lester closed his eyes, leaning his head back against the seat. His shit-eating grin appeared on his face. He was thrilled with how far he could push Sarah now. He hadn't expected her to keep going, not when she recognized the janitor from work. She might have stopped the whole thing if he hadn't held her head down. But now she had just taken a facial from the guy, forever altering her work-life.

"Come here," Sarah said, grabbing Lester's fat hands in hers. Lester opened one eye as Sarah pulled on his hands, urging him out of the car.

"What?" he snapped.

"We're not done yet," Sarah said sternly. "You're going to fuck me."

"What? We just –"

"Shut up, Lester, and get out here. I need this," Sarah let go of Lester's hairy knuckles as she exited the car. She slipped off her lacy white panties and threw them over Lester's shoulder into the car.

Lester hefted his heavy body out of the car. The car's frame rose up an inch as he got to his feet. Sarah was bent over the hood of the car, looking at him.

"How am I supposed to get hard again? You just swallowed everything in my balls." Lester was grinning. His cock hung down between his legs. It was semi erect and rising, watching the beautiful wife's ass.

Sarah pushed herself off the car and moved back toward him. "You? With that thing? You're kidding, right?"

The loving wife hugged Lester close when she reached him, their bare crotches rubbing against each other. She whispered in his ear, "Does my Daddy need help getting hard?" Sarah could already feel that Lester was growing, well on the way to fucking her. She was soaking wet. "Lester, I've thought about what you said earlier, and I guess you're right. I love your perfect fucking cock." Her hand had found his cock and was stroking him harder as she spoke. "And I love how my Daddy treats me..." her face had moved to face him. She looked directly into his eyes. "I-I lo-." Her tongue went directly into his mouth, cutting off her sentence as she stroked him desperately. Sarah looked down to see Lester at full size and length. Her eyes went wide.

"Great! Now please fuck me, Lester," Sarah backed off and returned to the car, where she bent over the hood again, offering herself to the odd fat man.

Lester felt his cock getting rock hard a second time. His eyes ran up Sarah's long legs to her perfect bubble butt. The sexy arch in her back as she bent over, her hands on the hood of the car as her breasts swayed, waiting for him. She didn't care that her bare feet were touching the asphalt. Or that she was naked in broad daylight for anyone to see.

Lester smirked, thinking back to how worried she'd been a few months ago when he fucked her in her office on display at the window. Now here she was, bent over, waiting for him to slide his cock into her almost in public.

"What if someone sees?" Lester said as he waddled up behind her. He ran a hand over her flawless bare ass. Sarah swayed her hips, pushing her shapely cheeks back into Lester's waiting hands, clearly hoping for more.

"It's a little late for that," Sarah said.

"Someone else might come and catch us," Lester held his freakishly large cock in his hand. It was already hard as a rock again, the purple veins pulsating in his palm.

"I don't care. Just shut up and fuck me," Sarah growled.

Lester licked his lips and reveled in the sight before him. The shit-eating grin was plastered on his face and probably would be for the rest of the day.

He stepped forward and ran his cock up and down Sarah's already drenched, dripping slit.

Sarah pushed her ass back at the perfect time, taking the fat head of Lester's cock into her pussy. It occurred to her that the timing was something she'd learned from Lester, but the thought was fleeting. "Ohhhhhfuuuckk," Sarah moaned as Lester's surging cock started to spread her pussy lips further open.

Lester slowly shoved more of his throbbing cock into Sarah's pussy. "Uhhhhhhhhhhhh," Sarah groaned, dropping her head below her shoulders as she felt another of his inches disappear inside of her. "Jeessuuuusss," Sarah wailed.

"Fuck! How are you still so tight?" Lester grunted, pushing more of his reddened pole into her. "So fucking tight."

"Uhhhh god, Lester. Feels so fucking good, baby," Sarah moaned. She could feel Lester's cock expanding and stretching her pussy. His cock already felt so deep, pressuring and sliding across the walls of her pussy. "Mhmmmmhmmmm."

Lester's cock already felt extra sensitive from just cumming. He was turning Sarah into an insatiable sex fiend and loved corrupting her.

“Fuck me, Lester. Shove it in. PLEASE,” Sarah groaned.

“You got it,” Lester sneered, pulling his cock all the way out to his head before ramming it back in fully to the hilt. His balls bounced raucously off her pussy lips as he fully buried himself into her at a rapid tempo.

“OHHHHGOD! FUUUUUUCKKKKKK,” Sarah screamed.

“Someones. Gonna. Hear. You,” Lester punctuated each word with a large thrust juddering into the young mother.

“I DON’T CARE,” Sarah moaned loudly, her fingers splayed out on the hood of the car as she thrust her ass back onto Lester’s cock, receiving his thrusts ecstatically. “GOD, Lester fuck me.”

“With pleasure,” Lester said. He grabbed her hips with both hands and started pumping into the young wife. His gut sat on top of her perfect ass. With every thrust, her ass cheeks slapped against his fat hips.

“MHMMHMMMMMHHUHHHHHHMMMMMM,” Sarah moaned. Sweat was already running down her back, and her face flushed. Lester gritted his teeth and kept jackhammering his mammoth cock into Sarah. Her pussy squeezed him like an iron fist, not willing to let him go.

Sarah’s mind raced with every person from the hospital who could come around the corner and possibly see them. While it was a low-traffic area and well out of the way, she knew others could still discover them. Hell, even Otis could even come back and see them. Who knows what he would do then? Of all the people that crossed Sarah’s mind, not one of them would prompt her to stop fucking Lester. She just imagined a group of her coworkers standing around her car, watching her get fucked.

“Oh Fuck,” Sarah breathed, “Don’t stop, baby.”

Lester ran one meaty ham hand over her ass, up her back, and gripped the back of her neck. On his next thrust forward, he pulled her back by the neck, impaling his cock deep inside her pussy. Sarah drew in a sharp breath, loving the way Lester was manhandling her.

“OHFUCK. OHGOD,” Sarah moaned like a wolf howling at the moon. Lester grinned and did it again. And then again. Fucking Sarah. Pulled her back onto his cock while he thrust his hips up and forward, plowing his iron rod cock into her.

“Oh shit. Oh yes. Please, Lester,” Sarah moaned. His cock was hitting her at the perfect angle, and she could feel another orgasm quickly rising up inside of her. Her thighs pushed against the warm steel body of the car, but nothing else mattered besides Lester’s cock inside of her. “Please don’t stop.

Please.”

“You gonna cum for me?” Lester chuckled, “Cum on my cock? Maybe we should stop and see who it was that had been calling you.” The car rocked on its suspension in time with the rutting couple.

“Don’t stop. Don’t you fucking dare,” Sarah moaned as Lester continued to piston in and out of her.

“Who do you think it was?” Lester teased, “Who was calling you while you had my cock down your throat.”

“Dan,” Sarah said through gritted teeth, “It was Dan.”

“Heh, so you ignored your husband so you could taste my cock?” Lester sneered, “How do you know?”

“Uhhhh. I... ,uhhhhfuck, I text him before... asking if it was okay... god,” Sarah moaned.

“What did he say?” Lester asked.

“H-he didn’t answer in time,” Sarah moaned her confession.

“What if he was calling you telling you not to? Trying to stop it from happening. Now he’s alone in Chicago, worried while you’re getting your brains fucked out behind a building at your work.” Lester chuckled.

“Just shut up and fuck me,” Sarah said.

Lester slowed his pace. Sarah tried thrusting her hips back onto his cock, but he held her at bay, pulling his cock back so just the immense head stayed inside of her. Sarah whined her disappointment, cajoling him to fuck her silly.

“You have a choice to make,” Lester said, breathing heavily. “Stop and go call Dan back. Be a good wife and mother.” Lester then shot his hips forward in a series of short thrusts into Sarah, causing her to moan pathetically.

“Or keep fucking me on your car and be my slut instead. Which would you rather be? The good wife or my personal little slut?” Lester growled deeply.

Unsure, Sarah looked back at Lester over her shoulder. The lust apparent on her face told Lester her answer. He stood still, waiting for her to say it.

“I want to be your slut, Lester. Now fuck me,” Sarah demanded, turning back and presenting her ass to the man inside her.

Lester grinned, grabbing her neck in a firm grip and pushing her body down onto the dirty hood of her car. Sarah’s bare breasts mashed against the hood.

Lester pushed his cock rigidly into her, her hips mashing against the steel frame of the car.

“OHHHFUCK,” Sarah moaned, her blond hair splayed out in all directions over the hood, “GOD.”

“God, rrrgh, God has nothing to fucking do with this,” Lester grunted, thrusting into her. Beads of sweat dripped copiously down from his forehead, pattering onto her lower back. “Say my fffucking name slut.”

“Lester,” Sarah purred, “Lester! Fuck me, Lester. Oh, oh, OOOH. Fuck me. Please, Lester. Don’t fucking stop. I’m so close. So fucking close, Lester.”

“Uhh yeah,” Lester groaned, his huge cock sliding rhythmically in and out of Sarah’s clasp pussy. He had her pinned against the hood of the car as he sunk into her, and Sarah loved every minute of it, her body thrusting back, trying to take more and more of his hammering cock into her. “You gonna cum for me? Huh?”

“Yes,” Sarah wheezed, having trouble catching her breath. “I’m close. So fucking close.”

“Me too,” Lester said. “I can feel another load ready to blow.”

Sarah’s body started thrusting back with abandon at his words, ready for the flow of his cum, Needing his sticky seed. Lester pushed down on her body hard, wedging her against the side of the car. She didn’t have any leverage as he pulled his cock almost all the way out of her. She tried in vain to push back into him.

“Why?” She squealed, “Give it to me. I need it.”

“Tell me you love me first,” Lester said, “I, I want you to admit you love me.”

Sarah didn’t say anything. She pushed into the ground with the balls of her feet and tried in vain to thrust back onto his inflexible cock. But he held her still, not letting her move. “Please, Lester! I’m, I’m so close.”

“Then say it. Tell me what I want to hear,” Lester said. She knew he was grinning.

“Ughhhhhhh,” Sarah moaned as she squeezed her pussy around the bit of Lester’s cock inside of her. “I love you. Okay? I fucking love you. Now, fuck me.”

“Keep saying it,” Lester said as he slid his entire length back into her quickly. He pulled out and repeated the same thing, “Like you mean it now. I want to cum again, hearing you scream it.”

“OH FUCK,” Sarah moaned. Lester was pounding into her now, and it felt like he was getting deep enough to split her in two. She was in heaven. “FUCK LESTER. I, I FUCKING LOVE YOU. DON’T STOP. I LOVE YOUR HUGE COCK. MAKE ME YOUR SLUT.”

“UHHHRRGH, AGAIN,” Lester croaked. He could feel his balls begin to tingle and knew he was going to cum again. This time, he was going to plant his load deep into Sarah Williams as she professed her love for him.

“I LOVE YOU, LESTER, I LOVE YOU,” Sarah screamed, her pussy clenching down onto Lester’s cock.

Lester felt his balls tighten as Sarah squeezed around him.

“OH FUCK, OH FUCK, DON’T STOP,” Sarah screamed, causing birds in a nearby tree to take flight.

“HERE IT CUMS,” Lester bellowed as his whole body shook.

Sarah was on the cusp of cumming explosively when Lester’s cock expanded inside of her pushing her over the edge. Sarah’s orgasm crashed down onto her like an unexpected tidal wave. A surge of cum blasted into her, spraying across all of her sensitive nerves. Each rope that hit her insides was like a crescendo, shooting her orgasm up to another level.

“FUCKKKKKK,” Sarah screamed, “I FUCKING LOVE YOU LESTER. YES. GOD FUCK YES.”

“FUCK YEAH,” Lester came triumphantly, “That’s right.”

Sarah’s entire pussy felt full of Lester’s cum, but somehow he kept adding more volume to it. Sarah’s body was still going through the throes of her orgasm as Lester collapsed down onto her. His warm breath on her neck, his sweat-slick chest melding with the sheen on her back.

“Mhmmhmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah mewed, her body tingling all over from the fireworks that had just rattled her insides.

Lester kissed her on the back of her neck and then pushed himself off of her and her car. He pulled his cock back out of her with an audible plop they both heard. Sarah immediately missed the comfort of the feeling of Lester’s cock inside of her. His vicious cum started oozing down her leg.

Lester looked around for any voyeurs but didn’t see any. He glanced at Sarah, still bent over the hood, his cum bubbling out of her used pussy. I do great work. Tired and exhausted, Sarah eventually collected herself and managed to stand up straight on unsteady bare legs. This had not been how she thought her afternoon would go, to say the least.

“We’d better hurry up before someone else finds us,” Lester said, still admiring her nude figure.

Sarah just nodded as she found her clothes in the backseat and started to put them on. Based on her previous experiences with Lester, her white panties were going to be soaked with fragrant cum by the time she got home. She grimaced at the new yellow stains on her previously pristine bra. It looked like Otis left some pre-cum stains on it that she knew would never wash out. Her stomach churned at the realization that someone from her work had seen her and, more than that, had actually cum on her. On her face. She didn’t know if Otis would try anything in the future, but she needed to be ready for anything if he did.

Lester got himself dressed and plopped into the passenger seat. As Sarah got behind the car’s wheel, she heard Lester chuckling.

“What?” Sarah asked.

Lester held up her phone for her to see. The notifications on the screen said she had a few texts and two missed calls from Dan.

“I wonder whether Dan would give you permission or not?” Lester put the phone down in the cupholder. “You’re a mess, by the way.”

Sarah looked at herself in the rearview mirror. Her hair looked like she just had sex, and her makeup was smeared. She sighed, unsure how she would go back to work looking like that.

“Thank you, officer,” Lester said into the receiver, “I’ll swing by the station and pick it up as soon as I can.”

Lester smiled and hung up the phone, leaning back in his chair. Vernon had been dealt with and arrested on theft and fraud charges. Now, it was time to knock Dan down a few pegs. It felt fitting to do that next. Lester swiveled in his chair and looked around at his new office. It was plain and bland, just as Sarah’s had been.

The view out the window overlooked the roof of another section of the hospital. All in all, it was fine. It had been relatively easy talking Richard into giving him a temporary trial run as the interim head of the hospital’s IT department. Lester knew it wouldn’t last, though.

While he could no doubt do the job, he didn’t care to. Sitting through boring meetings and making comments on quarterly strategic reviews sounded like a death sentence. But he had what he wanted for now—another foothold into Sarah’s William’s life and a private room at her job.

There were a lot of logistic considerations he needed to figure out, namely the expectation for him to be in this office when his command center was in his Chicago apartment. Richard begrudgingly had only given him a few weeks to settle his affairs with his ‘previous employer.’ The idiot had seen it as a power move to try and make Lester start right away with little consideration for anything else. Richard probably felt great about his business acumen in pitching him the lowball offer Lester had accepted. Perhaps he would return to Chicago and dig up more dirt on the man to extort him.

Lester got up and walked around his desk to the door. Before he wrapped up here for the day, he needed to take care of a few pieces of business. The first was to track down the facilities department location and talk with Otis. The second was to inquire with HR about the possibility of reallocating a particular administrative resource from the top floor to work under him.

Sarah swore that the head of radiology knew that she had just received a facial. She pushed down the urge to touch her face, instead plastering on a trademark smile as the meeting went on. It felt like everyone else in the room was staring at her.

She shifted uncomfortably in her seat as she felt a thick glob of Lester's cum leak out into her panties. While her colleagues discussed department key performance indicators, Sarah's mind was reeling with the thought that Otis knew her secret and that he and Lester had used her just an hour before.

Sarah had done her best to clean herself up. She knew there wasn't any cum on her face or hair. She had already washed her face and reapplied her makeup but could still feel it, likely deep in her pores.

There were messages and a voicemail from Dan that she would check once she was done with work.

As one meeting rolled into the next and Sarah was treated to more PowerPoint slides, she felt herself growing turned on at the fact that she had been so thoroughly used and no one knew about it. The meetings were mostly filled with colleagues who respected her; if only they knew what she had been up to.

Sarah bit her lip as someone showed a series of bar graphs. She didn't know which was hotter to think about. The fact that no one knew about her tryst or the idea that some of them knew but didn't say anything. She felt herself growing flush. Suddenly, the meeting room felt too small and hot as her brain struggled with her fantasies.

The rest of the day went by quickly. Thankfully, she didn't run into Lester or Otis. She half expected one of them to intercept her in the parking lot, but thankfully, she picked up her daughters and got home without issue.

After dinner and tucking the girls in, she was finally about to turn off mommy mode, but the day's events replayed in her head. It was only then that Sarah realized she was still wearing her soiled clothes from earlier. Shaking her head, Sarah stripped out of her clothes and underwear, leaving them in a clump on her bedroom floor. Then, she turned on the water in the bathroom to draw herself a bath.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 24

“What? How the hell is that possible?” Dan sighed and leaned his head back against the brick wall. He pulled his jacket tighter; the cool breeze ruffled his hair. “I thought your new boss was cleaning house. Why the hell did he hire Lester?”

He heard Sarah’s exhale through the phone, “I...I don’t know. He’s cut me out of any important decisions. I didn’t even know he was considering something like this. His email does say that Lester is only the interim head of IT so who knows what that means. I don’t know how that’ll work with Lester being in Chicago or if he’s moving here....”

The idea of Dan being trapped in Chicago while Lester was running around living in Middleton made his stomach churn. If Lester did that, what would happen to their agreement about the apartment and rent? Dan was potentially looking down the barrel of a bleak future. He knew he’d figure something out but still didn’t love the idea of so much of his life in upheaval.

If things really turned sour, Dan would really need to look for a new apartment and land a new job that paid way better than his current one. He didn’t feel confident in either option. Rentals seemed to have skyrocketed and he still wasn’t getting called back for interviews as much as he’d hoped. At least he had income from his side-consulting business. If he could bolster that part a bit more, his options would increase. Landing a new job seemed out of reach at the moment. He wasn’t hearing anything back from the application he had put out. Maybe he could convince Walt to bring his salary back to where it was, especially now that they were taking some new clients from Jesse’s company. “I don’t like it. It doesn’t seem like something Lester would be interested in. Why would he want to move and work there? I assume he’s doing well for himself based on what he charged your hospital to get rid of their hacking issue. That should at least float him for a while. Plus he is covering my rent right now. He must be doing okay.” Dan peered at the building across the street. It was a beautiful tall steel structure with large panes of glass that stretched towards the sky. He’d only been in the building a handful of times but still felt the power of its presence. His eyes watched the front doors as people came and went. “I doubt the hospital pays more than he’d make doing whatever it is he does now,” Sarah said, “It’s not like he has a passion for healthcare. I’m not sure what Richard said to him to get him to sign on.”

“It might not be anything that Richard said. Who knows, maybe Lester angled himself into it. When he was leaving Chicago he made it sound like he was being fired or promoted. Maybe he made a case for himself that went over well.” Dan said.

“Well, it probably won’t impact me too much,” Sarah sighed. “It’s not like I’m being invited to the bigwig meetings anymore.”

“I wouldn’t be so sure,” the wheels in Dan’s head spinning. “I don’t think Lester is just going to forget about you.”

“Oh I’m aware,” Sarah said, “I’m pretty unforgettable.”

“That you are,” Dan squinted as he thought he recognized someone exiting the building but relaxed when he realized he was wrong. “I don’t like that Lester is going to be around you more often. He’s going to try something.”

“I can handle Lester. Enough about this stupid hospital,” Sarah said, “What about you? Things still quiet over there? No more Lincoln Group?”

The muscles in Dan’s shoulders tightened at the mention of the slimy company. “No, nothing yet. I’m still waiting for the other shoe to drop but we haven’t heard from them. Not since Jesse’s company got hacked. Actually, some of their clients have lost faith in them and have come over to us.”

“That’s great,” Sarah said.

“We’ll see. It’s not like it’s a ton of business. It sucks for them that they got hacked but Walt’s happy. It seems like everyone’s getting hacked nowadays.” Dan said. As he spoke, something itched at the edge of his mind. He couldn’t quite place what it was.

“Yeah, it seems like someone new is getting hacked every day. Maybe I should quit and start a company with Lester and make us rich,” Sarah laughed.

“Don’t even joke about that.” Dan shivered at the thought, “It’s bad enough he’ll be in Middleton more often.” With you.

“Are you worried about me and Lester being so close?” Sarah said sultrily, “Worried what might happen?”

“After what you told me happened in the car while you were at work? Yeah. Obviously,” Dan said. “I tried texting you, but you didn’t answer in time,” Sarah said innocently. “The next time,” Dan got up off the wall as the person he was waiting for emerged from the building across the street. “You’ll have to wait for me.”

“Yes, Dad, God!” Sarah laughed at her husband.

“Hey, I gotta go. We’ll talk more about this later, okay? I love you.” Dan moved off the wall and hurried across the street.

“I love you too,” Sarah said and then hung up.

The cardboard bankers box sat at the man’s feet as he stared down at his phone. Dan quickly closed the distance between them.

“Jesse,” Dan said, marching up to his former protégé.

“Fuck,” Jesse said, almost dropping his phone, “Dan, what the hell are you doing here?” Dan looked down at the box at Jesse’s feet, “Got let go?”

“Yeah,” Jesse looked crestfallen. They laid a bunch of us off. The hack caused us to lose a lot of business, and apparently, I’m not worth keeping around.”

Dan tried to look sympathetic, but he internally knew that Jesse would be the first on his list to let go due to his sheer lack of competence.

“Why are you here?” Jesse snapped.

“I want to know what you’re doing with Lester.” Dan demanded, “What have you told him? How are you two working together?”

Jesse’s eyes widened in shock, “I don’t know what you mean, who’s Lester?”

“Don’t bullshit me Jesse. I already know you know who Lester is, remember? I know you didn’t just show up at that club. And Lester seemed to know an awful lot about what happened in Minnesota,” Dan said. With the mention of Minnesota, Jesse’s face regained its composure. “You mean how your wife fucked another guy?” He said loudly, drawing the eyes of people around them. Dan cringed at so many people hearing his outburst. Jesse glanced down at his phone. “My ride’s here,” Jesse said as he bent down and picked up his banker box as a car pulled up to the curb. Before Dan could say anything, Jesse got into the back of the car, and it took off. Dan looked around and saw a few people looking in his direction. He felt his face grow red and quickly walked away. He didn’t want to be around all these people who’d heard what Jesse’d said. Who knew, maybe he would work here one day and these people would recognize him from this little scene. His confrontation with Jesse hadn’t gone the way he’d hoped. He’d come in too hot and put Jesse on his backfoot, making him lash out. A subtler approach would have been better in hindsight. Still, Jesse looked like a deer in the headlights when he mentioned Lester and the two of them being in communication with one another. He just knew something was going on there. Dan opened the public transit app on his phone and looked at the schedule. The bus he needed to catch would be arriving soon. Dan hurried his pace to get to the bus stop in time.

He couldn't stop running through things in his head as he waited for it. Why would Lester and Jesse even know each other? There was no way they ran in the same circles unless Jesse was a D&D nerd, too. Did Jesse know that Dan had been behind him getting fired in the first place? He couldn't imagine him holding a grudge like that, given he'd gotten an even better job. But Dan, knowing himself, would still be holding that grudge. Or was Lester fucking with him somehow? Maybe using Jesse to dig up dirt on him. Maybe Lester had let it slip that he was taking Sarah to that club, which is why Jesse showed up. Dan's bus pulled up to the stop just as he got there. Dan swiped his pass and he got in. There was something to this. His brain felt so close to solving it, but he just couldn't quite get there. Music from another passenger and the smell of stale cigarettes seemed to pull him out of his contemplation. The bus started to drive, and Dan's thoughts shifted.

He wished he was home with Sarah right now. He hated being so far away. The homesickness was even worse now that he knew Lester would be spending more time in Middletown. That still didn't sit at all right with him. He didn't like Lester being anywhere near his home and his family. Images of the last time he caught Lester in his bedroom with Sarah flooded into his brain. The way she'd moaned and the dirty things she'd said. He shifted uncomfortably on the leather seats of the car. He already had half an erection just thinking back to that memory. With Lester in town, there was no way he wouldn't try something at their home again. He knew he could trust Sarah but lately, he didn't like how much of a hold Lester seemed to have on her. He was blown away when she told him about her tryst with Lester in the car and how they had sex again at her workplace. She never would have done that before, not even with him. Maybe it was all the stress she was under, letting things slip to justify her actions. But Lester always seemed to push her beyond what her husband understood to be her limits. Dan took out his phone and opened his internet browser.

There was no way Lester wouldn't try something at his house. Dan typed in home security and started looking through a series of security cameras. Most were obvious and bulky, but he wanted to see what discrete options were out there. He didn't love the idea of a big security camera in his home bedroom. He spent the rest of the ride looking at different security cameras and stumbled onto a pinhole camera and a variety of them that mimicked real devices like picture frames, power outlets, and even smoke detectors. He planned on buying a couple and putting them around his house the next time he was home. They looked really impressive; you could hardly even notice the cameras embedded into them. They looked just like the ones around his apartment.

There was no way Lester would ever know. He'd get them shipped to his office. Even looking at these, he felt icky as it signaled that he didn't fully trust Sarah. At least, that's how she would see it. But he had to do this for his peace of mind. He couldn't protect her if he didn't know what was going on. Being in Chicago, he felt like there was a huge fog between him and Middleton, obscuring his view. Anything could happen.

The imperial march blared out from the center console of Lester's SUV. Lester rolled his eyes, unwrapped the hamburger, and took a bite. Sauce dripped out onto his cheeks, but it didn't bother Lester. He reveled in the taste.

His phone started ringing again. Lester's face contorted with anger at being distracted from his foot. He took a large swig of his soda and answered the phone.

"What?" He said bluntly. He took another bite of the burger.

"Dan knows," Jesse sounded out of breath, "He knows."

"What does he know?" Lester chuckled and shook his head. "There's nothing to know after you blew me off for that limp dick in Minnesota. How'd that work out for you?"

"He just came up to me at work. He talked about me being at that club with you guys and you knowing all about what was going on in Minnesota. He knows about us," Jesse said. "There's no 'us,'" Lester scoffed. If Jesse thought he was a co-conspirator, he was sorely mistaken. At most, he was a useful idiot that Lester strung along, "So you happened to be at a nightclub, so what? There's no proof or anything else. You didn't tell him anything, did you?"

"No...No, I didn't," Jesse stammered, "My Uber came and I left. You must have messed up somewhere because he said you knew all about Minnesota and Byron."

Lester stayed silent for a few seconds. He didn't remember revealing his hand, but Dan tried to accuse him of talking with Jesse before he left for Middleton. Perhaps he had let something slip. Dan was throwing darts blindly in the dark. He didn't know what he was aiming for, but he could still hit the target.

"Just keep your mouth shut and don't talk to Dan," Lester said, "I'll be in touch."

"Hey, what are -"

Lester hung up the phone and finished his burger. The gears turned in his head. He had hoped Dan would be pacified after seeing his wife become his wanton slut, but it seemed like he wanted to keep being a thorn in his side.

Dan reminded Lester a bit of Lizzie's boyfriend, Issac, who always put his nose in places it didn't belong. It was probably only a matter of time before Dan did something stupid that jeopardized Lester's plans. The snare had been set around Dan for a long time now. It was time to tighten the rope. Sooner or later, Lester's machinations would be revealed.

He would rather do it on his own terms instead of Dan exposing him. Jesse's calling had amused Lester. Now that his relationship with the Lincoln Group was severed it seemed like all the little man's false bravado had wilted. He was like a leaf in the wind,, whichever way Lester blew, Jesse would be pushed along in that direction. Other than his tenuous connection to Dan, Jesse didn't have much value. But another lackey like his guild-mate Ned could always be useful. Lester threw all the trash from his lunch into the backseat of his SUV, grabbed the small pill bottle from the center console, and then got out of the car. He strolled down the sidewalk, keeping an eye over his shoulder to nosy neighbors. Lester chuckled as he looked at all the houses adorning the perfect street. All these fucking rubes think they got it all with their little houses and white picket fences. They don't know what life is really like. How dangerous the world really is. He slowed his pace as he approached the Williams' house. Dan was in Chicago, and Sarah would still be at work. Their daughters would still be at school, and the house would be empty. Satisfied that he wasn't being watched, he walked up to the front door. He fished out his keys from his pocket and quickly found the copy of Sarah's key he had made weeks earlier. Lester grinned as he slid it into the keyhole.

He couldn't turn it. His nostrils flared as he gripped the key tighter, trying to turn it. It didn't budge. With a huff, he looked over his shoulder again for any neighbors. The street was quiet. Most people were still probably at work.

Lester shuffled around to the back of the Williams' house and tried to open the backdoor with his key. This lock didn't budge either.

"Mother fucker," Lester mumbled under his breath and kicked the door hard. He left the house and waddled back to his car. Fucking Dan. That mother fucker really needed to be put in his place. It couldn't happen soon enough.

His key had worked the last time when he interrupted Sarah in her bath. She must have said something to Dan, and that fucker changed the locks. Lester slammed the car door shut as he got behind the steering wheel. His phone chimed softly in his pocket.

Another work email. This hospital was incessant. All these stupid fucking internal emails about bullshit that didn't matter. These people really had nothing better to do than just email each other all day. With a snarl, Lester opened his phone and looked over the hospital emails. He stopped on one that made him raise an eyebrow. Then, a wicked grin crept onto his face. It looks like an opportunity to get past the Williams' locked doors just presented itself. The universe truly was on his side.

"Hello? Earth to Dan?" Sarah said.

"Huh?" Dan's mind snapped back to the present, putting his thoughts about Jesse and Lester on the back burner. He had tried to figure out how they could know each other. Unfortunately, Jesse wasn't answering his calls or emails. Part of him reasoned that maybe they didn't know each other, that it was all just a coincidence, but Dan couldn't let it go. That look on Jesse's face had been telling. There was something there that he had to figure out.

"Just lost in thought. Sorry, what were you saying?" Dan asked. Sarah gave him a flat look from the other side of the elevator and uncrossed her arms. They were riding up to his apartment. "I was just saying how Lester has been letting go of people in the IT department," Sarah sighed, "People who had been there longer than I have. I don't know how he will run his department without all these people. But Richard and the board seem quite happy with the lower headcount, and so far, nothing catastrophic has happened."

"I still don't get how Lester is able to split his time between here and there," Dan watched the numbers on the elevator tick up until they reached their floor and the doors opened. "Apparently, HR negotiated some hybrid deal where he splits his time between here and there. At least for now." Sarah walked out of the elevator as Dan held the doors for her. "Has he bothered you at all? I mean, since the car incident," Dan asked. "The car incident?" Sarah raised an eyebrow at him as they walked down the hall. "You know when you fooled around with Lester in our car without my permission?" Dan said. Sarah looked straight ahead. There might be something there that she wasn't telling him. "No. He's seemed pretty swamped with his work lately. I have barely seen him," Sarah said. "You sure? You can tell me, you know. That's part of the deal here." Dan said carefully. "I know, Dan, there isn't anything. He hasn't come by my cubicle at all. It's actually kind of weird. I was expecting he would be all over me every day, but he's kept his distance." Dan furrowed his brow thinking her words over. It didn't make sense. Lester seemed obsessed with his wife. Why would he just give up? Especially when he had her so close now, "That's weird."

“Yeah,” Sarah said. Was it just his mind imagining things, or did she sound slightly disappointed? “Anyways, what do you want to do this weekend? I thought it would be fun to play tourist. Maybe do a little shopping and get some dinner.” Sarah looked over at him and smiled as they turned the corner, his apartment door coming into view.

“I’d like that. But we do need to save right now. We should try to find something not too expensive to do.” Dan hated being the pragmatic one but things were shaky with both of their jobs at the moment. “That’s no fun, but you make a good point,” Sarah sighed. A mischievous glint appeared in her eyes as she looked over at him, “Maybe I should get Lester to take me out. That way, I can pick up a few things, and it doesn’t hit our wallet.”

“You’re mean,” Dan scolded her playfully, “Besides, you know Lester will want a different kind of payment.”

“It’s not like I haven’t paid it before,” Sarah bit her lip and gave Dan her best fuck me eyes. “I think in the end, I’ll be the one who comes out on top either way.”

Her meaning wasn’t lost on Dan. She’d get her mindblowing sex and whatever else she gained from the shopping trip. Or she meant she would be the one riding Lester. Sarah’s innuendo had layers that Dan had yet to unravel.

“Besides, it’s been a few weeks since Lester and I have had anything that could be considered a date. I’m sure he’ll want to try something this weekend. We might as well make the most of it.” Sarah said, taking her keys out of her purse as she slid them into the lock of his apartment. Dan had considered the same thing, but it was strange that they weren’t even in the apartment yet, and Sarah was already planning to ditch him. She was doing it in a flirty, playful way, but he couldn’t help but take her suggestion seriously. His wife didn’t seem nearly as perturbed about their continuing arrangement with Lester as he did. While it was true he did get off on it, Sarah seemed almost eager about this weekend. Was it because Lester had ignored her at work when she had expected him to be all over her?

During an earlier phone call, when he mentioned Lester and Jesse talking on the sly, she thought he was reading too much into things. Dan had bit his tongue since he didn’t have a silver bullet to prove anything. Even though he knew in his gut something was going on, he decided not to confront Lester again or bring it up with Sarah until he had solid proof.

Once he found proof, how would Lester react? He wasn’t sure it would change anything with their status quo but he was obsessed with figuring it out anyway.

The apartment door swung open and Dan's eyes immediately saw the back of Lester's fat head over the back of the couch. It turned in their direction and Lester's beady eyes came into view as he leered at Dan's wife. Dan's stomach twisted at the manic stare from the odd man. "Hey there," Lester said smugly, his eyes roaming over Sarah's body as he pushed himself up off the couch. Dan couldn't help but grimace at Lester's faded clothes with unknown stains on them. "I was wondering when you would get here."

Dan closed the door silently behind them.

"Hey Lester," Sarah said, resting her suitcase on the wall. Dan's eyes darted back and forth between Lester and his wife, analyzing how they interacted with each other. Lester plodded out from behind the couch. Sarah caught Dan looking at her. She tried to suppress a smirk and shook her head, likely thinking that he was already getting himself worked up over the situation. "You're show's on," Lester gestured with a thumb behind him at the TV. "Love is Blind, I just started the new season."

Dan gave Lester a flat stare. There was no way his nerdy ass was into that show. It was one of Sarah's trash TV guilty pleasures.

"Oh I haven't had time to start it yet," Sarah said "How far into it are you?"

"Just started it," Lester smiled, "I picked up some of that wine you like too. I'll pour you a glass."

"You know, that sounds nice," Sarah stretched her hands over her head, still stiff from the car. Her t-shirt rode up and exposed her midsection. Dan caught Lester's eyes as they roamed over her exposed skin. "It was a long ride, I could use a little wine."

"Okay," Lester cast a glance towards Dan. "I just need my kiss first."

"Kiss?" Sarah chuckled, eyeing Lester suspiciously, "What do you mean?"

"You just came home. Don't you normally kiss Dan when you haven't seen him for a while?" Lester asked. "Get over here and give me some sugar."

Dan took a step forward and was about to say something to his lecherous roommate. Sarah looked over at him and it was like she could read the tension on his face and taut muscles on his neck. She gave him a mischievous smile and suddenly Dan found himself staring into her bedroom eyes. Dan was powerless to stop her when she looked at him like that.

“Okay,” Sarah breathed, still locking eyes with her husband as she stepped toward Lester. Dan watched in horror as his wife quickly closed the distance to his slobbish roommate. She was still staring into his soul with her lust-filled eyes as Lester’s arms encircled her body. She turned her head at the last moment to look up at Lester’s face before her eyes closed and their lips met. Dan braced himself for an ugly and hungry kiss but felt even more revolted as the kiss turned out to be far more sensual with a profound tenderness. Seeing his beautiful wife engage with Lester’s ugly features like that made his stomach do a flip. He gripped the handle of Sarah’s suitcase as he watched the two of them slowly kiss each other.

It felt like it went on for an eternity, but eventually, their lips parted, with Sarah biting her bottom lip and staring up at Lester like she wanted more. After a few seconds, a shit-eating grin appeared on Lester’s face, and Sarah came back to reality.

She looked at Dan, and a flustered expression appeared on her face. Like she’d lost herself in that kiss with Lester for a moment, forgetting her husband was even there. Lester seemed to notice, and a big grin appeared on his face as he sauntered off to the kitchen.

“I’ll bring your bag to the bedroom,” Dan said, his hand still gripping the handle of her suitcase tightly as he rolled it down the hallway. When he returned to the living room, Lester was handing Sarah a glass of wine while he took a sip for himself. There wasn’t a third one.

“You know,” Lester said as he gestured for Sarah to sit on the couch, “When you visit Chicago, we should really start carpooling back to Middleton. What’s the point of us both paying for gas and sitting in cars by ourselves? I could sure use the company on that drive.”

Sarah turned towards Dan as she sat down on the couch, “Dan, can I get you something to drink?”

“I’ll get it, don’t worry,” he said with a knowing look as he went to the kitchen to get himself a beer. “What do you think?” Lester said to Sarah, “Should we carpool back after the weekend?”

“I don’t know Lester, I think its best if we drive seperate. I like the freedom to come and go as I want,” Sarah said.

“Your house is even on the way from my hotel,” Lester said. I could pick you up and drop you off. It’s door-to-door service.”

The mention of his house irked Dan. He didn't realize how sore of a subject it still was for him. "She said 'no' Lester, drop it," Dan said as he dropped down into the chair across from the couch. The chair where he had now sat several times as he watched this brute of a roommate defile his wife. "Whatever," Lester grumbled as he gave Dan a flat stare. A creepy smile spread onto his face, "I guess we should focus on tonight anyways. I've got a very romantic evening planned."

"Oh?" Sarah asked, surprised.

"Yeah, Lester," Dan said, "Who said anything about a date tonight?"

"I did," Lester looked back at them, "It's part of the deal. And its been weeks since I've taken Sarah out properly. I don't count trysts at work as dates."

"Then what the hell would you count them as? It seems like you're getting exactly what you want," Dan said.

"Perks," Lester grinned, "For all my hard work. You know, its not easy supporting myself and you Dan. Being a provider is hard."

"You piece of –"

"What I think Dan is saying Lester," Sarah cut her husband off, "Is that some heads up would be nice. Usually when you ask someone on a date, you confirm the time and place before hand."

"Well, I did let you know. Remember last time in the car behind the hospital?" Lester raised his hands innocently in front of himself. "I told you I was taking you out. Let me guess you forgot about it when –"

"That's it," Sarah quickly cut him off, "I'm sorry, I think I forgot about it." Seeming a bit flustered, Sarah turned towards Dan, "Lester did mention someting about it, I just forgot." A sly smile spread across Lester's face like he knew something that Dan didn't. Before Dan could dig into it, Lester started talking again. "Besides, I have some plans for tomorrow night, so I was hoping we could do this tonight."

"Better plans than taking me out?" Sarah said saliciously, giving Lester a look. "I'd be more than happy to take you out both nights, but I don't think Dan would let me, even though I'm sure he would enjoy watching," Lester smirked. "I have everything planned for tonight, including what you'll wear."

"Oh really?" Sarah eyed him. "Am I your Barbie doll now?"

“You know exactly what you are,” Lester said.

Sarah shifted uncomfortably in her seat, cast a quick glance towards Dan, and crossed her arms over her chest. “Uh, so what are our plans tonight?”

“Well I have reservations at the Lockwood restaurant at the Palmer House and then I booked us a room for after,” Lester leaned back in his seat.

“Whats the Palmer house?” She shot Dan a glance, “I haven’t heard of it.” Lester waved a hand dismissively, “It’s just one of the best hotels in town. Old and iconic. And the Lockwood is their restaurant and lounge. It’s nice. You have to dress up. You’re going to love it.”

“That does sound nice,” Sarah said and then looked at Dan, “What about Dan? He has to come too.”

“I booked another reservation for the lounge attached to the restaurant. He can safely observe us and get food from there. If he wants to move to the restaurant, he can.” Lester said. Dan took out his phone and quickly found the restaurant’s website. It didn’t take him long to find the phone number for the Lockwood restaurant. He dialed it, and soon after, a warm female voice answered. “Hi, I just want to confirm my reservation tonight,” Dan said. It felt good to get ahead of Lester and see if he was really telling the truth. Sarah and Lester watched him from the couch in silence. “Certainly, sir,” the woman said, “What is your name?”

“Dan, Williams.”

“Just a second.”

After a few moments, the woman spoke again, “I’m sorry, sir. There aren’t any reservations under that name.”

Dan flashed Lester a triumphant smile, having caught Lester lying in front of Sarah. It felt good to show her that his little man couldn’t be trusted.

“It’s under Dekuk,” Lester said, smiling. D, E, K, U, K, Dekuk. Dan Dekuk.” Dan felt his face grow red, knowing full well that Dekuk sounded an awful lot like DeCuck or Da Cuck. Finally, he spoke into the phone, “Sorry, what about Dan...Dekuk?”

“Oh yes sir here it is, I see your reservation for one tonight. Are you still able to join us at 8pm?”

“Yes. Thank you. I’ll be there,” Dan said through gritted teeth. His moment of triumph had been turned on its head into a moment of embarrassment in front of his wife and the hostess. Dan hung up the phone and tried to keep a calm composure, not wanting Lester to see him squirm. But Lester’s stupid smirk made it apparent he caused Dan some embarrassment. It was better than discovering the stupid name in person in front of the hostess, though. Sensing Dan’s embarrassment, Sarah jumped in to change the conversation, “So what was it you wanted me to wear? I still can veto it if it’s too slutty.”

“I said we had to dress up nicely,” Lester said. It’s on my bed. Come with me, and I’ll show it to you.”

“She’s a big girl,” Dan said, “She can get dressed herself.”

“Fine,” Lester chuckled. Whatever. It’s on my bed. Go take a look, Sarah.” ***

Sarah moved down the hallway towards Lester’s room with a mix of nervousness and excitement. The duelling comments between her husband and Lester were affecting her. As much as she hated to admit it, having the two of them compete against each other around her got her off. Knowing that she might give herself to Lester later and let him win was an intoxicating thought. Her mind wrestled with whether letting Dan watch or not would be the hotter scenario. Her thoughts drifted back towards the outfit as she opened Lester’s door.

Before her eyes could adjust to the darkness, her sense of smell was assaulted by the body odor in Lester’s room. She couldn’t remember it ever smelling this bad. It was almost like Lester hadn’t left the room in weeks, but she knew that wasn’t true.

As her nose itched, another part of her body seemed to come to life. Maybe it was just the lingering thoughts of Dan and Lester’s encounter in the living room, but she felt more turned on in here than she had in the other room. It was almost like Lester’s scent was acting as an aphrodisiac and turning her on. But that didn’t make any sense, and she quickly dismissed the idea. Her eyes finally adjusted to the dim light of Lester’s room as she waddled through the mess on the floor. If she didn’t know better, she wouldn’t think there was a hardwood floor in the room at all, with the entire surface covered in dirty clothes or other discarded items. She finally made her way to the bed and found the clothing that Lester had left for her. She ran her hands over the soft fabric. There were three items on the bed: a flowing dress, a pair of panties, and a silk blindfold. Sarah involuntarily shuddered as she ran her hand over the last item. Clearly, Lester had something in mind for tonight that he had excluded from his earlier explanation of the night in front of her husband. Sarah debated whether or not to go back out and ask about the blindfold in front of Dan. In the end, she decided the night would be more exciting for both of them if she didn't. Instead she turned to the black lacy panties as she looked around for a matching bra. But she couldn't find one. Only when she looked closer at dress did she realize why the bra was missing. A bra wouldn't go with the top of the dress. The way the cut was, the torso of the dress split in two to cover each breast with a plunging neckline that went down past her sternum. The split went up behind where her neck would be, where it was connected with a gold clasp. The sides of her torso and her back would be completely exposed, along with her bare arms, showing off ample amounts of skin. The rest of the dress billowed down and flowed freely, looking like it would end around her calves or ankles, except for a wide slit on the left leg that ran up high on her thigh before tapering off, exposing a slight amount of the side of her hip.

Sarah would need to be very careful in the dress. Moving in the wrong direction and she might just expose her panty-clad crotch or ass. The dress was a combination of elegance and raw sex. Whoever wore it would be someone confident in their body and open to showing it off while wanting to maintain a semblance of class. Sarah was surprised that Lester had picked something like this for her. The material felt expensive and luxurious, and the cut was sophisticated.

Based on how Lester carried himself, she didn't think he had such a discerning eye. Perhaps he had some help picking it out. Sarah held the dress up on top of her body, wanting to see how it would fall on her. The material felt great on her skin, and she couldn't wait to put it on. Without hesitation, Sarah rested the dress on the bed and quickly stripped out of her clothes and bra before putting it on. Even though she hadn't done her hair yet, Sarah couldn't help but feel excited by the new dress. It had been a long time since she had splurged on something that made her feel this way. She couldn't help but feel like Julia Roberts in pretty woman, being showered in gifts and taken care of. It was an odd feeling that she didn't quite know how to categorize in her mind. The only clear thing to her was that she attributed the feeling towards Lester. Despite his numerous flaws and abrasive attitude, she couldn't help but feel a certain fondness for him. And there was a physical longing that she couldn't deny either.

She shook her head and twirled in place, letting the silhouette of the dress spin around her. Sarah's suspicions about the long slit in the dress potentially exposing her ass confirmed as she quickly moved around. She'd have to be exceptionally careful even when sitting at the restaurant. The idea of a room full of eyes on her body heated her up. Sarah knew it was inevitable tonight. Her heart rate picked up as she thought about all the men openly staring at her or casting covert glances. Her anticipation about tonight was steadily rising.

A bemused smile appeared on her face as she realized how worked up she was getting over the events of that evening. Here she was, alone in Lester's room, getting worked up over her thoughts. Neither Dan nor Lester would realize it. But perhaps Lester would. He had chosen the dress to show her off, and he knew that being exposed riled her up. Would he have known that she would begin fantasizing about the night ahead? Lester was smart, but he wasn't a psychic. Still, she couldn't help but feel that her reaction to the dress was exactly what Lester wanted.

Sarah grabbed her clothes and the black lace panties and returned to the living room to show off her dress.

Dan sat there with his mouth hanging open, "Jesus, Sarah."

Lester looked pleased with himself at the wide grin on Sarah's face. It was almost like she was playing right into his hands.

"You like it? It's not too much?" Sarah asked her husband. Dan couldn't take his eyes off of her. He clearly was thinking impure thoughts as his eyes scanned over her body. "It's perfect. You look like a bombshell," Dan said. "You're going to attract a lot of attention tonight." Sarah felt herself heat up some more at her husband's comment. Her husband's face scrunched up, "I don't think I have anything that can match with that outfit. I'm going to be underdressed."

"I picked up an outfit for you too," Lester said, "Want to see it?"

"No, I'm good," Dan shot Lester a glance, "Thanks, though."

"You sure?" Lester said, "I grabbed it at a thrift shop. It seems up your alley. It screams, 'I've given up.'"

"Play nice, boys," Sarah interjected, "I want to enjoy my night. Constant bickering doesn't make good company. If you keep it up, I won't be going home with either of you." Dan groaned silently, but Lester shot her a sharp look of defiance. Both men were like putty in her hands. She had learned how to expertly get to Dan over their years together. Lester was still a bit of an enigma, but she'd figured out enough to know how to push some of his buttons. Threatening to take away something he felt was a forgone conclusion seemed to spur him to action. "We'll see about that," Lester muttered. He shifted his gaze towards Dan, "So you approve of the dress?"

"I'm speechless. Yeah, you look incredible, baby," Dan said, not taking his eyes off her. "I figured you'd like it. Every man in the restaurant is going to be eye-fucking your wife all night. That's kind of your thing." Lester chortled as he got up off the couch. "Lester. I said play nice," Sarah warned.

"Fine. Whatever. That just means you and me are gonna play nasty later on." Lester grunted. Sarah rolled her eyes, "I know it's early, but I need to get ready. I didn't know we'd be going to such a high-end restaurant. But please don't murder each other while I'm in the bathroom."

"I'm going back to my room anyway," Lester said, moving toward the hallway. Dan still couldn't keep his eyes off Sarah. Lester ambled past Sarah but pivoted at the last second, spinning around. WHACK

Lester's hand slapped Sarah so hard on the ass that she stumbled. Lester's fat paw roughly squeezed one of her ass cheeks as he grunted to himself. Sarah threw an angry glance over her shoulder only to be met with a hungry gaze from Lester.

"You're mine," Lester mouthed before letting go of her ass and heading towards his room. Sarah quickly composed herself and gave Dan an exasperated smile.

"I'm gonna go get ready," Sarah sultrily walked over to her husband, bending over at the hips to kiss him. Dan got an eyeful of Sarah's chest before her lips met his. She broke their kiss and whispered in his ear, "Do you want me to be bad or good tonight?"

She could see the turmoil on her husband's face, and she knew she had him. "Bad," the word escaped as a whisper from her tired spouse. Sarah could barely hear Dan's response, but a smile spread on her face.

"If that's what my husband wants, that's what he'll get," Sarah turned around and walked towards the bathroom. Her mind drifted to the blindfold that Lester had put on the bed next to her dress and panties. She had no idea what Lester intended, but her body was quite eager to find out. ***

Dan's eyes stayed glued to Sarah's ass as she left the room. His heart felt like it was going to jump out of his chest. His mouth was dry, and his breaths were shallow. It seemed like, once again, his night had been railroaded, and he was on a collision course with his fantasy. He knew that things could go wrong – that he would be paralyzed with arousal. He knew that if he really wanted to, he could resist this and shut it down. But he needed to see more. He could always stop things later if things got out of control. For now, he would go to dinner and see what had happened.

Alone in the living room, Dan got up and headed to the kitchen to pour himself a drink. He needed to calm his frayed nerves.

“One last thing,” Lester said as the trio were heading out the door of the apartment. “Leave your wedding ring here tonight.”

“Why would I do that?” Dan asked. He looked Lester over, trying to size him up. He couldn’t help but laugh inwardly at Lester’s outdated and ill-fitting suit.

“I meant Sarah. You can do whatever you want,” Lester shrugged, “But tonight Sarah isn’t your wife. She’s my date. We can’t have the waiters thinking a married woman is cheating on her husband can we?”

Dan leveled a flat gaze at his obscene roommate.

“It’s fine,” Sarah said sultrily as she put a hand on Dan’s chest to calm him down. She lowered her voice so that only he would hear, “I guess it won’t be my husband making me bad tonight.” She bit her lip and slid her rings off her finger. “I’ll go tuck them in my suitcase,” she said in her normal voice.

Sarah left, leaving Dan and Lester awkwardly loitering by the door. When she returned Lester put out his arm for her to grab. With one final look at her husband, Sarah linked arms with his roommate and stepped out the door and headed towards the elevator, Dan following behind. As the trio emerged onto the parking lot, Lester said, “We’ll meet you there.” Sarah gave him an encouraging smile as she walked away with Lester to his SUV. Dan felt a pit in his stomach, watching Sarah get into Lester’s car. But he couldn’t just stand around gawking. Dan hurried to Sarah’s car and got into the driver’s seat. He wanted to stay close to Lester as they drove to the hotel in case he tried to pull a fast one on him.

Thankfully, it seemed that Lester wouldn’t play any games this time. Dan trailed the SUV through Chicago until they pulled up to the valet parking at the front of the hotel. Dan reluctantly handed his keys over to the valet, hurrying to catch up with Lester and Sarah, who had already disappeared through the rotating doors of the hotel.

Dan stepped through the doors into the lobby and was awestruck by how elegant and regal the hotel was. Several large columns flanked the walls, stretching up to the large murals intricately painted on the ceiling. The lobby was huge, with people lounging around and professional-looking staff waiting patiently behind a massive wooden desk. It was like a grand European hotel from a movie. Dan felt the buzz of his earlier drinks make themselves known in his body. What would the hotel rooms look like if the lobby looked like this? Sarah and Lester probably weren’t heading back to the apartment tonight, so maybe Dan would also spend the night, especially if Lester was already paying for the room. The idea of sleeping in a queen bed next to Lester and Sarah was really fucked up. Maybe he would get his own room instead, though he wasn't sure he could afford the price tag here.

Sarah. He had gotten so lost in the grandeur of the lobby that he had completely forgotten about Sarah and Lester. His eyes scanned the lobby, but he didn't see any sign of them. Her hurried in, eyes darting around until he saw a sign for the Lockwood restaurant. Dan made a beeline for an escalator at the back of the lobby and quickly ascended to the second floor. It only took a couple of minutes, but Dan strolled into the entrance of the restaurant.

"Excuse me, sir," an elderly man in a white tuxedo said, stepping into his path. We are at capacity for tonight. Do you have a reservation?"

Dan stopped in his tracks and then slumped his shoulders, "Yes. Dan Decuck."

"Very good sir," the man said, "One moment. Ah, yes, here it is. Reservation for one. DeCuck. Right this way."

The elderly man lead Dan through the restaurant, past a large glass enclosed wine room, through to an intimate dinning lounge. The restaurant looked packed with every table taken up. The lighting was low and romantic, just what Lester was probably aiming for. The man lead Dan to a small table in the corner. Dan sat down and was handed a menu. Luckily from his vantage point, he could just see Sarah from across the restaurant.

The elderly man stepped in front of Dan's line of sight, "You waiter will be with you shortly sir. We'll ensure your night meets your specifications."

"Sure. Thank you very much," Dan said as he craned his neck to the side to get a better look at Sarah. Lester and his wife were in a booth tucked back into a secluded corner of the restaurant. A bottle of wine and two filled glasses already on the table. Dan tapped his fingers, anxious for the waiter to come so he could order a drink to nurse his buzz.

"My friend just arrived. I wanted to double-check that we'll be taken care of," Lester said to the waiter. Lester had intercepted the man on his way to the bathroom.

"Yes, sir. Mr. DeCuck called ahead and let us know he would be covering your table tonight. It's his gift for the special occasion," the waiter said happily. Congratulations again."

“Thank you, but I don’t want to jinx anything,” Lester feigned a laugh. He opened his wallet and pulled out five crisp one-hundred dollar bills. After tucking them into the waiter’s suit jacket, Lester said, “This is for you and the bartender. Please make sure my friend is well taken care of.”

“Of course, sir,” the waiter said eagerly.

“Compliments from the bar,” Dan’s waiter said, setting down a dark-looking drink in front of him. “Oh? Really? That’s unexpected. Why me?” Dan asked.

“No reason, we just wanted to ensure you enjoyed your night. Do you know what you want to order?” Dan gave the waiter his order and took a sip of the drink. It tasted delicious, but Dan didn’t taste any of the alcohol. A free watered-down drink. At least it didn’t have a ton of ice like other restaurants used to make their glasses seem fuller.

“Could I order a beer too? Bud light if you have it?” Dan asked. “Certainly, sir, I’ll be right back with it.”

Dan sipped his drink, trying not to overtly stare at Sarah and Lester. As they all thought, many eyes in the restaurant kept glancing in his wife’s direction. How could they not? The way Sarah was sitting, the slit in her dress was exposing a lot of her tanned leg. His wife looked so sexy, so classy, so out of reach. And Lester just looked like a bumbling buffon, completely out of place. Dan could only imagine what was going through everyone in the restaurant’s minds as they scrutinized the odd couple. Sarah seemed to be engrossed in whatever Lester was talking about it, while taking sips of her wine. It didn’t make sense. Lester wasn’t much of a conversationalist. What the hell could be so interesting? Sarah looked over at Dan and shot him a warm, knowing smile. It was only for a second before she turned her attention back to the ogre sitting across from her.

Dan’s food arrived, along with his beer and a second dark drink. “The drinks are on the house,” the waiter added before departing. Well, if I’m about to watch my wife get fucked by that asshole again I might as well get a little drunk. He thanked the universe for the free drinks. Maybe tonight wouldn’t be so bad after all.

Dan dug into the steak he had ordered. It tasted amazing and the dark drink paired really well with it. Halfway through his steak and he already was feeling the effects of the alcohol. It was surprising given that the dark drink didn’t seem to contain much alcohol but maybe Dan had misjudged it. He looked down at the two empty glasses and reached for his half empty beer before taking another bite of the salad that came with his steak.

A surprised sound from a woman across the restaurant caught his attention. She was smiling, profusing, and holding her hands over her mouth in excitement. It took Dan's hazy brain a second to register that she was looking at something a few tables over from her.

Dan's eyes followed the woman's gaze before they went wide in disbelief. "Oh, what the fuck?" Dan couldn't believe his eyes.

Lester was kneeling down on one knee next to Sarah who was seated at the table. She looked genuinely shocked. Murmured gasps filled the restaurant as Lester withdrew a small black box and opened it. The little fucker was doing a fake public proposal. Sarah's eyes were as wide as saucers, clearly not expecting this turn of events. She stared down at the box in front of her. Lester was saying something, likely professing his pretend love for her as the entire restaurant and waitstaff were gawking at them. Her eyes flicked up and met Dan's gaze momentarily. Her expression told him that she wanted to reassure him she hadn't known about this. Then it morphed as a mischievous smile formed on her face, likely because Dan's jaw gaped open at the display. Her eyes turned back to Lester kneeling in front of her.

Sharp knives felt like they stabbed into his heart as Sarah nodded and mouthed a 'Yes' to Lester. Dan's roommate slipped the ring onto her finger, and a chorus of clapping erupted from the restaurant. Lester stood up and kissed Sarah hard.

Even from where Dan was seated, the kiss looked much more intimate than one would typically use for a public display of affection. His hand slipped to Sarah's ass, and Lester's head pivoted as he stuck his tongue into her mouth.

Several people slowed their claps as their heads swiveled to look at their table mates with raised eyebrows and knowing expressions. Eventually, Lester let go of Sarah. She waved to the people still clapping and gestured to the ring on her finger with the oversized diamond on it. Soon enough, Lester and Sarah were seated again, and the clapping around them died down. Most people turned back to their respective tables, and a waiter brought out two flutes of champagne for them.

Dan felt his stomach twist again. It looked like Lester's reservation for him as 'Dan DeCuck' wasn't the end of his humiliation. Dan had felt so smart earlier checking the reservation, but he had sorely underestimated the depths of Lester's machinations.

Dan shoved another bite of steak into his mouth and followed it up with a large gulp of his beer. There was too much going on in Dan's life right now. He should have seen something like this coming, but unfortunately, he couldn't devote all of his time to Lester.

Sarah stared down at the glimmering ring on her finger. It felt so much heavier than her other one. Her real one she quickly thought. Sarah shook her head at the odd mistake. She could still feel the eyes of some of the restaurant's patrons on her as she sat there.

Lester looked at her from across the table with his trademark shit-eating grin on his face. The ogre-like man seemed very pleased with himself, no doubt at her husband's expense.

"So, was your plan to give me this ring, or was it more to upset my husband?" Sarah asked as she took a long sip of her wine.

Lester was mid-chew while he spoke, "Is that any way to speak to your fiancée?"

"Lester...." Sarah started, "You know that we're not really engaged, right?"

"Everyone around us seems to think so. We wouldn't want to disappoint them now, would we?" Lester threw his food back into his gullet and followed it up with a small sip of wine. "Dan didn't look too happy," Sarah muttered.

"I know," Lester chuckled, "And I know that turns you on too."

"That's not true, Lester. I love my husband," Sarah said.

"That may be true, but I know you also love it when I talk shit to him and steal your attention. You both like it. You're both fucked in the head like that," Lester said.

"You're a real charmer, you know that?" Sarah said.

"You know what I mean. I'm just saying, I know you guys get off on all this shit, so don't be too serious. No, what do you think of the ring?" Lester asked.

Sarah looked down at the large rock on her ringer adorned with an beautiful and intricate white gold band, "It's stunning. Did you pick this out yourself? Is it crystal?"

"That's a real diamond baby. Nothing but the best for my woman. You should wear it to work."

"I'm not sure about that. People will notice."

"That's what makes it so hot. People will see it, and you'll know that I own you."

“That’s not what wedding rings symbolize, Lester.”

“Sure they do. Maybe not in this PG bullshit era we live in now where everything is Disneyfied. But back in the day, yeah, it was. It meant you’re my property.”

Sarah didn’t dignify that with a response. That conversation wasn’t an avenue she wanted to go down. Sarah stared at Lester over the rim of her wine glass. When she didn’t respond, a self-satisfied smirk appeared on the ugly man’s face.

When Dan looked back up at the newly engaged happy couple, Sarah was walking away from the table towards the washrooms. He almost got out of his chair to intercept her but his plan died as many people stopped to congratulate her. He worried that he would look like some kind of hapless maniac harassing the newly engaged woman. But his wife hadn’t forgotten about him. When she finally disappeared into the bathroom, he received a text. S: I had no idea Lester was planning that. Asshole. The ring is nice, though. S: By the way, the room number is 326.

D: He’s a sneaky fucker. Everyone seemed very happy for you guys. S: Jealous?

D: Always.

S: Heading back. Talk to you up in the room.

Dan put his phone down and watched as heads turned, following Sarah back to her table. Dan decided it was a good time to sneak off to the bathroom himself and take a leak. As he stood up from the table, the accumulated drinks finally reared their heads, and he needed to put a hand on the table briefly to steady himself. He shook his head and laughed at himself before navigating through the restaurant to the men’s bathroom.

Standing there, peeing at the urinal, Dan couldn’t help but feel himself swaying from side to side. He hadn’t drank that much. What the hell was going on? Maybe those dark complimentary drinks were stronger than he originally thought.

Dan washed up and went back to his table. His steak and his beer sat waiting for him. The waiter must have been by as a new dark drink sat alongside the beer. Dan eyed it as he sat down. He sniffed it again but couldn’t smell any alcohol. Instead, Dan took a large sip of his beer and cut off another piece of steak.

Her looked over at Sarah’s table. Something wasn’t right. His eyes scanned over the area again looking at the other booths. Another couple were seated at the booth Sarah and Lester had occupied. Dan quickly swigged back the rest of his beer, finished off his steak, and caught the waiter's attention, indicating with a hand gesture that he wanted the bill. Nervousness spread through his body as he hadn't planned on losing track of his wife.

When the waiter came by with the bill, Dan asked, "Did the happy couple just leave?"

"They left a few minutes ago. It seemed like they wanted to get a hard start on their celebrations," the waiter chuckled. Dan didn't respond and went to pay the bill.

"Uh, I think this is the wrong bill. I didn't order any of this stuff," Dan said, looking up at the man. The waiter grabbed the bill and looked it over.

"Excuse me, sir, I'll be right back."

It only took the waiter a few minutes to return but every second felt like Sarah was slipping out of Dan's fingers. Flashes of what could be going on upstairs incessantly popped into his head. He tried to suppress the images when the waiter returned, handing him back the same bill. "Excuse me, sir, this bill is correct. It contains your order here and that of the happy couple. I just confirmed with the team that all the extra items here were what they ordered."

"The happy couple? Why am I getting their bill?" Dan said, trying his best not to slur his speech. The waiter looked slightly off-kilter, "Sir, when you booked this reservation and that of the happy couple, you gave us explicit instructions that you would take care of both bills." Another unexpected 'fuck you' from Lester. Dan groaned and shook his head. It seemed Lester making peace with Dan's presence on his dates with Sarah didn't come without a hidden price tag. His fucking roommate would always keep trying to stick it to him. Dan's eyes locked onto the total of both bills, and he grimaced at the total. This place was expensive enough just for him, and it appeared Sarah and Lester had been quite liberal with their orders.

Dan took out his credit card and quickly paid the bill, eager to get up to the room. As he got up to leave, his phone buzzed in his pocket. Dan blinked a few times to focus his vision on his phone. It was a text message from Jesse. It was surprising since Jesse had been ghosting him for so long. Dan's eyes bulged out of his head when he saw the picture Jesse had sent. It was a smirking Jesse standing in front of a door with the number 326 on it.

Lester pressed the button to close the elevator doors and handed Sarah the lush satin blindfold. “Here, put this on,” Lester said.

“I can’t. What if someone sees me?” Sarah said, feeling her heart beat in her chest. Even though her mind was buzzing from the wine downstairs, she was still capable of rational thought. “Who cares? You’ll never see these people again. And they’ll know you are about to do some kinky shit. I know you like that. Feeling everyone’s eyes on you. Just like you did in the restaurant with your new fiancée,” Lester pressed Sarah against the side of the elevator, causing her to sigh involuntarily. She felt her breathing grow more rapid as Lester snatched the blindfold out of her hands. With a steely gaze, Lester slowly started putting it on her head. Sarah felt her chest grow warm in anticipation. The possibility of someone seeing her in this position. The thought of stopping Lester was restrained by an overwhelming desire to just let it happen. Maybe it was the wine delaying her actions but she didn’t stop him.

Soon, her world descended into darkness as the snug blindfold covered her eyes. Goosebumps spread over her bare arms. Her breathing was shallow as her arousal was notched up a degree. “Good girl,” Lester slapped her bum gently before moving away from her. She heard him press the button to their floor, and the elevator started ascending. Sarah fiddled with the new ring on her left hand. It was heavier than her old engagement ring. The size of the diamond was at least a carat larger than the one Dan had given her. She desperately wished her blindfold was off so she could look at it again. The clarity was immaculate when she gazed at it at the dinner table. Had Lester really brought her a real diamond ring, or was it some kind of crystal?

Sarah felt completely alone and on display in the elevator. Lester wasn’t near her. What was he doing? Where was he? Was his eyes on her? Running over her body? A shiver ran over her skin at the thought of being unknowingly exposed like that. How did Lester know just how to get to her? She bit her lip in anticipation.

The whole night had been wild. Wearing a dress like that to such a fancy restaurant, Sarah had played it cool the entire night, but she felt every man’s eyes on her and many women casting nasty glances all night. All of those men staring at her – desiring her.

And then publically seeing her with someone like Lester. The beauty and the beast. Liking connecting the dots that someone like Sarah would sleep with a man like Lester. Just these strangers knowing that about her. It had all been almost too much to bare throughout dinner and she couldn’t help but keep her thighs squeezed together tightly. It didn’t help that her dress exposed too much of her leg. She was sure Lester had chosen his seat to display her leg and thigh for the entire restaurant. And then he capped it off with a public proposal, guaranteeing all eyes were on her and her body. One set of eyes, in particular, flashed into Sarah's mind – that of her husband's. The arousal and impotent anger on them just served to make her even more wet. Lester and her husband had been jabbing at each other in the apartment, competing over her, and now it looked like the other guy won. Just how taboo of an idea that was....

She was just lucky Lester hadn't followed her to the bathroom because she wasn't sure she could say no to him anymore.

The elevator suddenly stopped after what seemed like an eternity. An unexpected gentle hand on her back caused her to jump.

"Relax, it's time to get out," Lester said from right next to her.

She shivered, not realizing Lester had been standing so close this entire time. His hand on her lower back guided her out of the elevator and onto the carpeted floor of the hallway. Her buzzed brain was worried about walking into something, but Lester expertly guided her, holding her close to him. She appreciated his closeness and felt protected by him. She knew he wouldn't let her walk into something.

"Evening," Lester said as Sarah heard two footsteps pass them by. Someone had seen her blindfolded. Sarah's body felt flush at the display. She couldn't control her breathing any longer and could feel her bare breasts rising and falling against the sheer material of her dress. Thankfully, there was some small padding in the dress; otherwise, everyone at the restaurant and in the hallway would have seen how hard her nipples were.

"We're here," Lester whispered in her ear as he turned her to one side. She heard a small electronic buzz and a lock turning over. "Let's step inside," Lester said in a low voice and gently pushed on her lower back.

Sarah's heels clicked on the floor of the room. It was probably laminated, but she couldn't be sure. She heard the lock engage after Lester shut the door, and he led her further into the room. Sarah felt heat rising in her chest, but she didn't know if it was from the alcohol or from being more turned on than she ever had been before.

Being blindfolded and paraded around in such a sexual way was a thrilling new experience. It was like a new kink had been unlocked or at least upgraded. Who knew what else Lester would help her discover about herself?

"Stand right here," Lester commanded. The gentle hand on the small of her back disappeared and she recognized the plodding cadence of Lester's steps moving away from her.

“Say hi to Dan, Sarah,” Lester said, “He’s sitting in the corner in this room’s cuck chair.”

“Dan?” Sarah asked.

“He might be a little shy right now. He has that dumb look on his face right now. You know, the one where he’s too turned on to say anything and just nods along?” Lester said. When they had left the restaurant, Dan wasn’t at his table. Maybe he had come up here earlier somehow. Had Lester given him a keycard while she was in the bathroom, or maybe he had been waiting in the hall? But she didn’t hear his footsteps.

“Besides, I think he is a little tongue-tied because someone else is in the room,” Lester continued. The hair on the back of Sarah’s neck stood up at the idea of another person in the room seeing her. Watching her with hungry eyes in such an enclosed space. Watching her in front of her husband. Knowing the secret of her and Lester’s relationship.

Sarah wanted to ask who it was. She instinctively knew it was a man. But what if it was a woman? What if Lester wanted to see her with another woman? It wasn’t something she had ever considered or desired before. But in her current state and with Dan and Lester’s eyes on her, she wouldn’t say no. “Who is it?” Sarah finally managed to say.

She felt Lester’s presence right in front of her. He whispered softly, “It doesn’t matter who he is. Does it?” It was a man, after all.

Lester ran a grazing finger up her bare arm, making her shudder. “You’ve already told me that you’ll do whatever I want. Fuck whoever I want. You’re husband clearly wants it. Wants to see you be touched by someone else. And I think you want that, too.”

“I...uh..mhmm,” Sarah had trouble mustering words. Her brain couldn’t think up a succinct response, not wanting to ruin the moment. Arousal and desire had their hands on the steering wheel, and they weren’t letting go.

“Do you want this tonight, Sarah? I’m not going to lie. I’m interested to see what Dan finds so appealing about sharing you. But our stranger is going to have to wait his turn because I’m going to fuck you first tonight.” Lester whispered in her ear before licking her earlobe. Sarah shuddered at his words and his wet, oversized tongue. Her knees were getting weak, and her mind was working on overdrive, hyper-analyzing every sound and touch on her body, trying to make sense of what was happening around her.

“Tell me you want it,” Lester breathed again, his tongue trailing down her neck. “I want to hear you say it.”

“I want it,” Sarah whispered. Her admission made her pussy slick with anticipation. “Good girl,” Lester said, his voice baking away from her. He was somewhere in front of her. She desperately wanted him back. Closer to her. She turned her head to the side, trying to hear where he went. Then, the other side trying to hear Dan’s labored breathing from the corner of the room. She fidgeted with her arms nervously, knowing that all eyes were on her. “Uh,” a soft moan escaped Sarah’s lips, and someone pressed into her ass from behind. Hands were on her hips, an already hard cock pressing into her ass. Sarah turned her head towards her shoulder towards the mysterious man next to her. The unfamiliar cologne ticked her nose. The man’s hot breath on her bare shoulders sent a jolt of electricity right to her brain. He pushed on her hips, making her sway back and forth against his cock.

Sarah started to sway to the music of their two intertwined bodies. Her breasts rose and fell in time with her labored breathing, unable to comprehend what was happening. All she knew was that she was in the arms of a stranger as her husband and Lester watched on. The arms left her hips, but his cock kept pushing into her.

Sarah’s hips swayed, pushing her perfect bubble butt out into the man’s crotch. His fingertips ran up the skin of her arms, caressing her gently. He emitted a groan that felt like an aphrodisiac to Sarah. She pushed her ass back further into him.

Soon, wet lips were on her shoulder as the man interlaced one of his hands with hers. His other hand played with the exposed area above her navel before his fingers started to run up the neckline of her dress, toying with the skin exposed by the dress’s deep cut. Sarah’s head lolled back as the man began to kiss her neck. His fingers ran up her chest until he was clutching her neck as he kissed the other side. He moved next to her, and his cock dragged across her hip. His hand and lips never left her neck. He was in front of her, his leg between hers parting them. He stepped forward, making her step back. Her ass thudded against a piece of furniture behind her. It was low like a set of cabinets. Both of the man’s hands grabbed either side of her face. He held her there for a second, mesmerized by the shallow breaths coming out of her lips. The hands holding her face pulled her forward. Sarah parted her lips, and soon the man’s wet lips were pressed hungrily into hers. She welcomed the unknown tongue into her mouth and let hers dance across it—savoring his taste. He kissed her passionately with some kind of unknown longing that put Sarah on her back foot. He didn’t kiss her like a one-night stand would. It was more like some long-lost soldier returning home, desperate for his wife’s touch. Sarah melted into the kiss.

Soon, she was kissing him back with the same passionate furor. His hands left her face and began running all over her body. Sarah held tightly onto his back, urging him closer. Pulling his hard cock further onto her body.

The man's hands ran up her bare back until they found the clasp behind her neck. He fumbled with the clasp for several seconds, unable to undo it. Sarah pushed back on his chest, letting her catch her breath from his lips' onslaught. She gently pushed his hands away and reached behind her neck, effortlessly undoing the clasp and letting the sheer material of her dress straps fall down in front of her, exposing her large naked breasts to her unknown Paramore.

She heard a sharp intake of breath from the man, almost like he was moved to tears from seeing a beautiful work of art. Then he was on her again, but his lips and tongue were lapping at her breasts. Sarah could only hold on to the back of his head as his hands and lips mauled her breasts. She opened her legs wider, letting him press himself against her.

The pressure of his cock pushing against her pussy was intoxicating. She had never felt such an overwhelming, desperate desire for her as she did with this man. It was so different from either Dan or Lester. Lester had a deep, confident touch, while Dan's was tender and loving. This man's touch was desperate and passionate, like a man lost in the desert for weeks, and she was the first glass of water he came across. It was a completely new feeling, and she was lost in being the sole focus of this desperate embrace.

The elevator to the third floor was excruciatingly slow. Dan stumbled out of it like a drunk bullet as he scanned the plaque on the wall to see which way to go. Room 326 was down the left hall. He steadied his hand on the wall and tried to walk straight. The drinks had been way stronger than he thought. He shook his head, trying in vain to regain some sobriety. He really should have ordered some water while he was at the restaurant. Dan kept trying to hurry as his brain ran wild with thoughts of Jesse in the hotel room with his wife. He fucking knew it. Lester and Jesse knew each other, but he might have been too late to do anything about it.

Dan opened his eyes wide, trying to read the numbers on the doors. His brain was fuzzy, and there was a delay before it could process what his eyes were seeing. After a few minutes of navigating the hallway and trying to ascertain the room numbers, Dan finally found himself standing in front of room 326. Dan banged on the door loudly with his fist. He had used more strength than he intended but didn't care.

"Lester, open up!" Dan said as he leaned his forehead against the door for support. I know you're in there. I know what you're doing with Jesse. Let me in!" Dan tried the handle on the door, but it was locked.

“Lester!” Dan said and kicked the door to accentuate his point. The door opened and Dan tried to push his way in but the latch was still on the door, holding it open just an inch and half.

“There’s no Lester here,” a man quietly said, “Go away.”

Dan blinked and looked at a short man he didn’t recognize.

“Let me in. My wife’s in there,” Dan said.

“There’s no one here but me. Leave now before I call the cops, ” the man said as he pushed the door close. Dan pushed against the door, trying to prevent the man from closing it. Unfortunately, the shorter man got it closed, and he heard the lock click.

“Sarah!” Dan shouted as he stumbled back from the door. He was sure Sarah was in there. But what if she wasn’t? Maybe he got the room number wrong. He took out his cell phone to check his message from her but dropped it on the floor.

Dan almost fell over, trying to grab it. He opened it and looked at his wife’s message, squinting to see which room number she said. He looked at the number on the door and back at his phone, trying to compare them to see if they were the same. Even though his brain was fuzzy, he was pretty sure they both said 326. This was even the same door in Jesse’s picture.

Dan knocked on the door again, “Lester!”

“Holy shit,” Sarah breathed as her nails dug into Jesse’s head. He was eagerly thrusting against her like a teenager while his mouth lapped at her breasts.

Lester stood a few feet away, watching Sarah’s depraved fall from grace. He had already brought her down into the mud, and now he was determined to cover her in it thoroughly. Making sure she never got clean again.

Watching this cretin maul Sarah was turning Lester on. It wasn’t the same way that Dan got turned on, though. Seeing his wife in the hands of someone else was Dan’s Achilles heel that had allowed Lester’s charade to go on as far as it had. No, Lester was enjoying this on a different level. The power and control of someone like Sarah Williams, making her give in to her base instincts. That powerful, untouchable professional beauty that had walked into his apartment so long ago was almost completely gone, replaced by what Lester had conditioned and built her into. Seeing her give in to someone like Jesse, given his complicated history with her husband, got Lester off. Knowing that his dominance over the young mother was almost complete. A soft moan escaped Sarah's lips as Jesse lowered her dress down her body. He was kissing every inch of exposed flesh as the dress dropped lower and lower. Sarah's hands were embedded in Jesse's hair. Soon, Sarah's illustrious dress dropped to the floor, exposing her panty-clad body to her husband's former protege.

Jesse looked like a man possessed, finally on the verge of achieving his dream. But nights go by quickly, and he would be a junkie looking for another hit. An easy pawn to control and move around the board as Lester saw fit.

Sarah's body shuddered at Jesse's touch. He was ravenous, like a starved man devouring a steak. His hands streaked across her body, exploring every inch of it. A hand grabbed a handful of her ass, eliciting a powerful deep moan from Sarah's throat. His lips were on hers again as they moaned together. Lester winced at the sight of their intertwined tongues.

But there were still some wrinkles that needed to be ironed out. Sarah was still far more willful than Lester's other conquests. Which made her fall all the more sweet. She had disobeyed him the night in the apartment with Vernon, sucking his cock even though Lester had told her not to. And then she had gone rogue in Minnesota with Byron, thinking she was the one in control of her body. That wasn't the case any longer. She needed a reminder of that fact. And tonight was her punishment. In a way, she would only receive pleasure, but Lester had found that pain was never a good motivator. Sure, people would become compliant in the short run, but he was after deeper, lasting change. And that was more easily achieved through pleasure, something Sarah would be longing to experience again rather than simply avoiding pain. She would be a moth to his flame.

Lester also wouldn't have considered this route a few weeks ago. But since Sarah had kept her use of contraceptives secret, it did open up a new avenue for him. He didn't need to worry about Jesse taking away his ultimate prize, at least not for the time being. Soon, Lester would eliminate Sarah's pills, and then her precious fertility would be his to claim.

Tonight being fucked by someone so beneath her would be her punishment. She had already debased herself with Vernon and Byron. She set herself on this path. The knowledge that she orgasmed with someone like him and took his seed would unlock new discoveries about herself that Lester would exploit. He just hoped that Jesse was up to the task.

Sarah's hands grasped the belt of Jesse's pants and undid the trousers with expert precision. Her hand disappeared into the material, and a grunt from Jesse let Lester know that she had found her intended target.

"Oh, hey," Sarah breathed between kisses. Jesse's pants fell to the floor, and his shirt quickly followed suit. The awkward young man was standing there in his boxers while the delectable Sarah stroked his cock. The sight of Jesse's cock did nothing for Lester, but he rested easy, knowing that the man didn't give Lester anything to worry about in that department. Dan, on the other hand, wouldn't be so happy. Lester the time to put an end to Jesse rabid assault was soon closing in but his phone buzzed in his pocket. He quickly checked the message and smirked. He backed away from Sarah and Jesse and tip toed into the bathroom, shutting the door behind him. Lester turned a facet on and reread the message from Ned, his World of Warcraft guildmate and lapdog.

N: There's a guy shouting in the hall, just like you said. What should I do? L: Call the front desk and report it.

Oh Dan, you simple schmuck. It's too easy.

Lester did the same and dialed the front desk, "Hey, there is some deranged lunatic on the third floor running up and down screaming. He's kicking and pounding on all the doors. My kids are terrified. I think he is drunk, and he was waving something around that might even be a gun. I don't know. I couldn't see it from our peephole and wouldn't open the door. Please call the police or security. The front desk seemed to panic, so they quickly apologized before hanging up on him to take care of the issue. Lester called 911 and told them a similar message, playing up Dan's violent, drunken, lunatic nature.

It sucked to be whoever was in room 326, but that wasn't Lester's problem. Thankfully, he had been able to keep Sarah occupied with the blindfold and buzzed enough that she hadn't even called him out when they got off on the sixth floor. Getting a room for Ned on the third floor hadn't been a problem either. Dan made his own bed when he decided not to play along with Lester's plans. He had to be a white knight and insisted on being a pain in the ass. He's just lucky that Lester couldn't find a trustworthy person on the dark web to cause him bodily harm. Most of the ones Lester had looked at were likely undercover police trying to entrap people.

But now Dan had fallen into Lester's trap. It was too easy. Jesse had elicited quite an angry response when he had danced with Sarah in the nightclub. That was when Lester saw how irrational Dan could become. Dangling Jesse and Sarah in front of him tonight was almost too easy. And Dan was just as predictable as ever. Now, the police would take care of him.

It was ironic that Dan's own tax dollars would take him down when they should have been there to protect him from someone like Lester. He couldn't help but chuckle to himself since he had never paid any taxes, but the system was helping him carry out his plan tonight.

Sure, he hadn't wanted to bring Jesse into things earlier. But Dan was sniffing around and was getting too close. It would only be a matter of time before he figured that side of things out, and Lester would lose a handy tool. So he had decided to strike with him early.

He knew the status quo was about to change dramatically, but he would be in control.

Lester opened the bathroom door and decided things had progressed enough. Sarah was stroking Jesse's cock against her panty-clad pussy, moaning with abandon. She was ready to be fucked. "Lay her down on the bed," Lester said, stepping closer.

Sarah couldn't believe what was happening. She was in a stranger's illicit embrace, and she couldn't even see what they looked like. Not that she cared. Not at that moment, at least. All she knew was that she needed to be fucked, and tonight, there was no shortage of cocks for her to experience. The man holding her turned her around, walking her backward toward what she thought was a bed. His lips never left hers. Not until the back of her knees touched the soft bed. The man broke the kiss and pushed her down by her shoulders.

Sarah's legs snaked around his, beckoning him on top of her.

"Take off her panties," Lester said from beside her. The other man started to tug down the lacy black panties Lester had bought for her. Reluctantly, Sarah relaxed her legs and allowed the garment to be pulled off of her.

"Give her a taste," Lester commanded, and Sarah's body tensed. For a few seconds, nothing happened, but then a wet tongue probed at her entrance. Her legs shot up at the contact and quickly came to rest on her unknown lover's shoulders. His tongue began lapping up and down her slit, tasting her juices. The man moaned, sending lovely vibrations up into her pussy. His tongue licked down her slit and disappeared inside of her, forcing her open.

"Ohhh fuuck," Sarah moaned as the foreign tongue lapped at her juices and spun around inside of her, dancing across all the sensitive nerve endings inside of her. She bit her lip, and her hands came up to her breasts, massaging and tweaking her nipples as the man ate her out. She felt movement on the bed next to her. She turned her head towards the movement, and her nose realized what was happening. Lester's musky aroma hit her nose, and she knew he must be naked, and his cock was close by.

Something pressed against her lips, and all doubts were gone. She opened her mouth, and her lips stretched to accommodate Lester's girthy tool. It felt perfect in her mouth, and she couldn't help but moan around it.

"Mhmmhmmhmmhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned. A cock in her mouth and a tongue inside of her was a completely new sensation, and Sarah couldn't help but feel she was discovering a new level of pleasure. How had she not known it could feel like this?

Sarah wrapped her hand around Lester's cock and stroked him with abandon as she took as much of his cock into her mouth as she could. Her tongue quickly went to work, coating his shaft with her spit and eagerly licking him. The head of his cock pushed to the back of her throat, but Sarah wasn't worried. She kept stroking and sucking his cock like she owned it.

A sharp flick of the other man's tongue made her pull back and inhale sharply. His tongue grazed against her g-spot, and her hips lifted off the bed, trying to get more and more of that tongue into her. This guy wasn't as skilled as Lester, but the sheer amount of input between his tongue and Lester's cock was more than the pleasure centers of her brain were used to handling. "God. Feels so fucking good," Sarah moaned. Lester's hands snaked around the back of her head, pulling her back onto his cock. Sarah didn't waste any time and got back to sucking his massive tool. Her hips were thrashing off the bed as she ground herself against the face of the man. He was holding onto her thighs for dear life. She hadn't heard him breathe at all, but she couldn't stop herself. His tongue was still flicking around inside of her, driving her wild. Both of his hands had a full ass cheek in each of them as he ate her out.

Lester pulled his cock out of her mouth with a pop, and Sarah desperately tried to find it again with her mouth. This fucking blindfold was in her way, but her hands were too occupied to take it off. His girthy cock slid across her cheek, and Sarah eagerly licked up and down his shaft. Lester kept pushing forward until his pubic hair-covered balls pressed against her face. She knew what her man wanted. Sarah renewed her grip on Lester's shaft, stroking it up and down at a furious pace as her tongue and lips ventured into Lester's pubic jungle and found his balls. She twirled her tongue around them, lapping at any skin.

She couldn't help herself as she moaned into them. The tongue inside of her kept dragging over her G-Spot. Sarah's body felt like it was on fire, and if she didn't cum soon, she was going to explode. Her body writhed against the tongue inside of her, and she gripped Lester's cock harder than she ever had before. Every little bump on Lester's ballsack felt amazing on her tongue. She had no idea that her tongue could give her so much pleasure.

"Mhmmhmmhmfuck," Sarah moaned as she lapped on Lester's balls. Strands of pubic hair matted her tongue, but she didn't dare stop. She could feel Lester's heartbeat in her hands as the veins on his powerful cock pulsed. Her hips thrashed against the other man's face, but she never relented. "Stop," Lester said, and the man's tongue slowly left her. "Go sit on the other bed and watch." She felt the man's hand leave her ass, and soon she was alone on the bed. Something moved beside her. Weight pushed down on the bed, and she felt someone step up between her legs. "Are you ready for me, Sarah?" Lester asked.

"God, Lester. Yes. Fuck me. I need your cock," Sarah moaned, her legs running up and down the sides of Lester's hips, beckoning him closer.

Lester chuckled before he pushed himself forward. Sarah felt the weight of Lester's large frame push down on her at the same time the head of his cock pushed against her lips. Sarah's legs slammed open wide to accommodate Lester's wide body, and she sharply inhaled as his cock plunged into her dripping-wet pussy.

"Ohfuck," Sarah groaned, her nails digging into Lester's back. She racked her fingers over his skin, knotting themselves with the dense hair on Lester's body.

"Ughhhhh," Sarah wailed as her pussy finally had what it wanted. Lester's large cock firmly embedded inside of it. But Lester wasn't satisfied yet and pulled his cock almost all the way out before dropping all of his weight onto her again, his cock pushing all the way to the hilt. Lester fucked her slow and hard, exactly the way she had come to crave. He pinned her wrists down, immobilizing her as he fucked her. Sarah's hips rose off the bed in time, matching his thrusts. Each one delayed a second or two, making Sarah's body ripe with anticipation of when the next thrust would come.

Sarah managed to get one of her hands-free, grabbed the back of Lester's fat head, and pulled him down to her. Her lips mashed with his as his girthy torso crushed her breasts. Her tongue pushed into Lester's mouth as he groaned back at her assault. Her legs wrapped around his ass, and she held him in place as he fucked her, and she kissed him. She was his and wasn't letting him go until she got what she wanted. The fire started to burn deep inside Sarah's pussy again, and she held Lester tighter. His tongue pushed inside her mouth, and she sucked and licked on it furiously. His hips slammed up to meet his thrusts. She was close. So fucking close.

"AHHFUCK," Sarah wailed into Lester's ear as her orgasm exploded inside of her. It came so fast. The setting and all the teasing combined with Lester's hot cock made her whole body shudder as Lester made her cum. All the muscles in her body tensed, but Lester pushed through the iron-like vice gripe of her pussy on his cock. Each thrust ramped up her orgasm, unleashing it to new levels over and over again.

Finally, Sarah came back down to earth, and the fog of the orgasm in her mind slowly started to clear. Lester's thrusts were slower, but each one felt divine. Slowly he pulled his cock out of her, and the weight of his frame left hers. She hated the feeling and just wanted him back on top of her. "Turn around," Lester commanded, "I'm going to fuck you from behind." Sarah eagerly turned over onto her stomach. She pushed up with her hands and pushed her ass out to Lester. His cock rubbed up and down her slit, making her body quiver. Frustratingly, he didn't push in. He just kept using his cock to tease her entrance. Sarah couldn't take it anymore. Her nails dug into the mattress, and she pushed as ass back as far as she could.

Her pussy gripped onto Lester's cock as she slid her ass back. Inch after inch of Lester's cock disappeared inside of her.

“Uhhhhhhfuck,” Sarah groaned, feeling full with Lester’s cock, “God I love your cock.”

“I know, baby,” Lester chuckled as Lester spread her ass cheeks and slammed his cock into her. She lost her grip on the bed, and her chest fell onto the mattress. Lester held her ass up by her hips and kept slowly thrusting in and out of her.

She couldn't imagine what she looked like. Even if the blindfold was off, her eyes would be tightly shut, just enjoying the immense pleasure of Lester's cock inside of her. "Tell Dan how it feels," Lester grunted from behind her.

“God, Dan. It feels so fucking good. So good. Lester fucks me so good,” Sarah moaned, “I fucking love his cock. I can’t get enough of it. Ugh, Lester, make me cum baby. Feels so good.”

“What else?” Lester punctuated his question with another sharp thrust, making Sarah squeal. “I’m his. I’m Lester’s fucking slut. I’ll do whatever he wants. Whoever he wants. God, Lester, fuck me, baby. I fucking love it. Love your cock. Fuck me.” Sarah moaned. She loved talking dirty. She knew it turned on Dan, but she knew Lester loved hearing her private sexual admissions. At some point, she forgot who she cared more about pleasing.

Sarah felt like a pretzel, but Lester's cock was hitting the perfect spot. She didn't dare move. "Uhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh," Sarah moaned into the mattress. "I'm gonna cum soon," Lester grunted, "Gonna soak you in my cum. Where do you want it?"

“Oh fuck,” Sarah’s body lit up again like a Christmas tree in anticipation of Lester’s cum. “Inside me. Cum inside me. Fuck Lester, give it to me. Give me your cum. I want it. Fuck. Fuck. Fuck. Cum for me, Lester. Cum for me, Baby.”

“You got it,” Lester grunted. His sweaty hands gripped her hips hard. “I’m gonna drop my load inside of you. Take it, Sarah. Take it all.”

“Fucking give it to me.”

“It’s all yours bitch.”

“Uhhhhhhhhh FUCKK LESTER,” Sarah’s orgasm exploded inside of her. Her pussy clenched down on his cock. Her nails dug into the fabric of the sheets. His strong hands gripped her hips, and she felt Lester’s cock begin to throb inside of her.

“FUCKINGTAKEIT,” Lester roared behind her. Sarah was dizzy from holding her breath, but Lester’s cock started to expand inside of her. The first shot of hot cum drenching her pussy threw her orgasm into a tailspin, and another orgasm exploded inside of her, washing away the last one. Rope after rope of Lester’s hot, sticky, virile cum drenched her insides. Sarah bit her lip as the pleasure washed over her body, “UHHHHMYFUCKINGGODLESTER.”

Lester kept hammering her pussy as his cock shot out more and more cum. Her body responded in kind by squeezing his cock harder, trying to milk out every last drop of Lester’s potent cum. Each rope of cum sent her body into a new state of orgasmic bliss. This orgasm didn’t let up and kept washing over her body, dancing across every nerve, making Sarah go crazy.

Eventually, her orgasm slowly dissipated, and Sarah’s senses slowly returned to normal. She remembered she needed to breathe and let out a long breath as her body slumped onto the bed. Lester grunted from behind her as he pulled his cock out. His strong hands left her hips, and Sarah rolled onto her side. Lester’s cum was already leaking out of her.

“That’s how it’s done,” Lester said. “Your turn.”

Sarah had completely forgotten that her husband and another man were in the room. Part of her thought Lester was talking to Dan but she knew that was wrong in an instant. The other man was getting into the bed with her.

A strong hand with an iron-like grip held Dan's shoulder as two police officers led him through the lobby. Dan could feel the eyes of the hotel patrons on him as he walked and stumbled his way forward. The police officers didn't seem to have any patience for Dan as they roughly pulled him through the lobby. The handcuffs pinning his arms behind his back dug tightly into his wrists. "But my wife!" Dan slurred as the cops led him through a side door next to the rotating glass door. "Yeah, yeah, buddy. It sucks that you're wife's stepping out on ya, but you acting like a drunk maniac isn't gonna fix anything. You're lucky you didn't get shot," one of the officers said. The other officer opened the back of the squad car door. Dan was roughly thrown into the back seat. "She's still in the hotel. With him...."

The officers slammed the backdoor shut, cutting Dan off. They walked away from the car. Dan tried to track where they were going. One went up and talked to the valet, but the other disappeared back inside the hospital. Maybe he was going to look for Sarah.

Dan slumped into his seat as the world spun around him.

The other man was gently kissing her chest. Lovingly, leaving a trail of tender kisses across her body. But that wasn't what Sarah needed right now. She reached down between her legs and found his warm cock waiting for her.

Without warning, she gripped it tightly and pulled it towards her waiting pussy. Her body was still reveling in the afterglow of her orgasm with Lester, and if she played her cards right, she might be able to quickly get another one.

The man sharply inhaled as Sarah guided his cock to her pussy. She pulled on the head and lined it up with her entrance. Her legs wrapped around the man's waist and pulled him forward onto her. "Uhhhhhhmmmmmm yes," Sarah moaned as the man's cock delved into her pussy. She tightened her pussy around him and didn't let him go.

"Uhhhhhhmmmmmm," the man moaned above her. If she didn't know better he was enjoying this more than she was.

"Fuck me," Sarah moaned, "I want you to fuck me."

Sarah was loving every second of this. The blindfold seemed to increase her other senses and helped trigger the powerful orgasms she had experienced. The man's breathing was ragged already. Her hands ran up his back, and he was sweating profusely.

The man's hips lurched, and he started to thrust in and out of her. He wasn't as good as Lester, but he fucked her desperately like he had touched her earlier. Like he was quenching an incurable craving. His cock felt amazing inside of her. There was a slight curve to it, making it drag across her G-Spot. "Mhmmhmmmm fuck" Sarah moaned as she wrapped her arms around the man's back. Sweat covered her arms in seconds. The man lurched forward, and his weight pressed down on her chest. She could feel his sweat pressing against her naked breasts.

He was kissing her neck again until Sarah turned her head and pressed her lips hard against his. Their tongues swirled around each other as the man desperately thrust into her. He was like a man possessed by a demon, with nothing stopping him from achieving his goal. "Uh, fuck. Right there," Sarah breathed between kisses, "Right fucking there." The man just grunted in response.

"Keep fucking me. Right there. So fucking good. Please don't stop. Don't stop for me." Sarah moaned into his ear.

"How is it?" Lester's voice came from somewhere close by.

"Ughh it's good. So fucking good." Sarah moaned, turning her head towards Lester. "Do you like your surprise?" Lester asked.

"Yes. I fucking love it," Sarah moaned.

"Are you going to cum on a stranger's cock tonight?" Lester asked. "Uhhh yes. So good. I want to. Please don't stop."

The man grunted atop her, and his pace began more erratic. It was like her words were pushing him into overdrive. She wondered what he looked like and what he sounded like, but none of that really mattered. All she cared about was his cock and what it could do to her. "You're really going to let this stranger cum inside of you?" Lester said. "Ugh. No. I don't know," Sarah moaned. The man's lips were on her neck. He was breathing hard like he had just run a marathon. His thrust kept rocking her on the bed. Her pussy throbbed from his curved cock and the nerves it was hitting. Sarah wrapped her thighs tighter around his hips, not giving him a chance to pull out of her.

A foreign sound broke the sounds of mating in the room. Sarah's cell phone was ringing from somewhere. The curved cock rubbed against her G-Spot the perfect way, and a loud moan escaped Sarah's lips.

"Who fucks you better?" Lester said, "This stranger of your husband?" Sarah gritted her teeth. She could feel another orgasm about to rip through her, and she didn't want to lose it. She didn't want to keep talking to Lester. She just wanted to fuck. "He does!" Sarah shouted, "He's way better than Dan. I'm so fucking close, don't fucking stop."

"Don't cum yet," Lester said. Sarah wasn't about to listen to Lester. Not right now. She kept thrusting her hips up to meet her mystery lover's rapid thrusts. She was so fucking close. "Take off the blindfold," Lester said. "Do it."

Sarah's head lolled to the side, and she reluctantly listened to Lester. Her hands left the man's sweaty back, and she pulled the blindfold off her head. Her eyes immediately locked onto Lester's cock. It was still mostly hard even though he had just cum inside of her. Dan's roommate, with a frog-like body, was sitting on the bed a few feet from her, staring intently at her. Her eyes saw an empty chair behind him. She scanned the room but didn't see Dan anywhere.

"Where's Dan?" Sarah said huskily.

"It doesn't fucking matter," Lester chuckled, his stare boring into her soul. Her thoughts slid away as the curved cock inside of her kept pounding into her. She locked her heels behind his ass and grabbed onto his biceps, holding on as he dragged her whole body up and down the bed as he fucked her. The guy's face was buried in her neck, but she could at least tell he was white by his skin.

"God," Sarah moaned, "I fucking love this. Please don't stop. I'm so fucking close."

"I won't," the man said, rising on his elbows. Sarah blinked a few times as her mind tried to place his face through her brain fog.

"Jesse," Sarah whispered, staring up at him. Before she had a chance to say anything else, his lips pressed onto her, and his tongue snaked into her mouth. She knew it wasn't right, but it felt too fucking good to care.

Sarah moaned as she felt her body press into the bed. Her arms instinctively came up and wrapped around the back of Jesse's head. Her eyes closed, focused on the feeling of his cock inside of her and his lips on hers.

"Did-did Dan leave?" She looked up at Jesse. His face looked like he was in pure bliss.

"Dan hasn't been here this whole time," Jesse moaned as his lips smashed into hers again. Sarah's mind was embroiled in pleasure and thoughts. She hadn't expected Jesse to actually ever feel this good inside of her. Part of her brain made the connection that Dan had been right. Jesse and Lester clearly knew each other somehow. That sparked another train of thought that flashed rapidly through her mind. Dan had got Jesse fired and was now taking out his revenge. By fucking her. It was such a wild, wicked thought, but her body loved it. Her hips bucked off the bed to meet Jesse's thrusts. Lester sat by the side, smiling and watching as Sarah gave in completely. "You feel so fucking good," Jesse moaned into her mouth, "I've been waiting for this for so long." Sarah's mind raced, trying to do the math on how Jesse had ended up here and what the ramifications would be. The one consistent her mind landed on was that he needed to keep fucking her so she could cum. Her orgasm wouldn't be held back any longer. Sarah could feel the dam holding back her orgasm start to crack.

"Don't stop Jesse," Sarah moaned into his shoulder. "Don't fucking stop."

"I'll never stop," Jesse grunted, his lips descended on her cheeks. Kissing her tenderly. He continued planting kisses lovingly along Sarah face and then onto her neck. The nerves in her body were lighting up like a Christmas tree as his lips danced along the sensitive areas of her neck. "Mmmhmmhmmuhhhhhh fuck," Sarah moaned, "Jesse, keep fucking me. Fuck me, Jesse."

"Feels good?" Jesse asked.

"So fucking good," Sarah whispered back. Speaking to him in that low tone felt so conspiratorial. Like they were star-crossed lovers doing something they shouldn't be.

"Uhhh I fucking love you," Jesse mumbled into her neck. Sarah knew that in some fucked up way that he meant it. The way he was fucking her felt like the way a man on death row would. Like it was the last thing he'd ever do. He was so desperate for her.

Desperate men usually were such a turn off but there was something about this. Something about the way he was fucking her like she meant everything in the world to him. Like a starving man sitting down in front of a Thanksgiving dinner or someone suffering from dehydration getting a glass of water. Like Sarah was nourishing Jesse's very soul. Like she was the only thing in the world that could quench his thirst. "Fuck I like hearing you say my name," Jesse finally said when Sarah didn't respond to him. "Say it again."

"Jesse," Sarah moaned into his ear in a sultry voice, "Oh fuck Jesse. You feel so fucking good Jesse."

"I can't believe I'm in a hotel bed with you again," Jesse moaned, "I knew it would be magical but I never knew it would be so fucking good."

Sarah didn't know what he meant by that but she didn't really care, "You should have known better. I'm fucking amazing."

"God you're so fucking amazing. You feel so fucking good."

"Mhmmmmm you like that? What about this?" Sarah flexed the muscles in her busy around his cock, holding him tight inside of her.

"Ohhhhhh FUUUUUCK Sarah," Jesse moaned into her neck, "Holy shit you're so tight. I can't believe it. I never knew it could feel so good."

Jesse's hips starting thrusting into her with desperate abandon. Sarah knew it wouldn't be long before he would need to cum. She needed to cum first though, she couldn't be left high and dry. She needed another mind blowing orgasm. But she wanted to Jesse to pull out. Despite her brain still being foggy she knew that he should do that. She needed to make herself cum soon. Sarah's hips were slamming back against Jesse's cock, unconcerned with anything other than cumming. She tightened her ankles around his ass and gripped his back with her nails, pulling him down completely on top of her. The dam inside of her shattered.

"I'm so close. So fucking close. Jesse, please. Please don't stop. Give it to me," Sarah groaned. "I can't – I'm gonna cum," Jesse grunted.

"You need – need to pull out," Sarah wailed as her orgasm was quickly approaching, "Jesse."

"Does he, though?" Lester was suddenly next to her, peering down at her. "Does he really need to pull out? You're on birth control, aren't you?"

"Uhhh—what?" Sarah's mind was foggy from her impending orgasm, and she didn't want to think. Didn't need a conversation.

"All this time, you've been on birth control. Teasing me and letting me think you weren't. You can take his load, can't you?" Lester said.

Sarah could take his load. Jesse could cum in her, and she wouldn't get pregnant. But that didn't mean it was right, "I can't. He can't. We shouldn't."

"But you can," Lester pressed, "Can't you? I know you want to feel it explode inside of you. Admit it. It would feel good."

“It’s not right, Lester. He’s Dan’s old coworker, and it would break Dan if it happened,” Sarah moaned, conflict spreading over her face. Just the fucking idea of it was ramping up her impending orgasm. Such a fucking dirty idea. Jesse cumming inside Dan’s wife, taking his revenge that way. It was too fucking hot. Sarah’s hips started thrashing against Jesse’s cock.

“But you’re protected. Right?” Lester pressed again, clearly pushing for her acceptance.
 “Yes, but—uhhhhhh mhmhmhmhmfmfuucck,” Sarah moaned, “We.....still...shouldn’t. Fuck.”

“It’s so fucking wrong, Lester,” Sarah groaned again as her legs tightened around Jesse’s hips. “But I bet it feels so fucking right, doesn’t it? When has it being wrong stopped you before?” Lester sneered at her.

“Uhhhmhmmmmm fuck Lester, you’re so fucked up. Mhmhmhmhmhm god. Jesse.” Sarah’s brain was going haywire. Not wanting to stop but not wanting to cross this line. But wanting to cross it at the same time. She didn’t have time to think about the consequences. Her body was on fire, and it wanted to cum. Her hands crawled across Jesse’s back until her nails dug into his ass cheeks. “We shouldn’t. We can’t. He needs to – I need to — OH FUCK,” Sarah’s eyes snapped open, and looked up at Jesse.

“UHHHHHHH,” Jesse grunted, and Sarah felt hot, warm, sticky cum explode inside of her for the second time that night. A tsunami of an orgasm washed over her body. A wave of heat washed over her, drowning any objections to her coupling with Jesse. Her nerves frayed as each one lit on fire and throbbed in time with the wave washing over her.

“F-FUCK,” Sarah screamed at the top of her lungs as her muscles contracted. In that moment, she and Jesse were one being connected by his cock, completely unconcerned with the outside world. The only thing that mattered to them was their mutual orgasms.

More of Jesse's cum blasted into her, mixing with the spunk Lester had already unleashed inside of her. She felt so fucking dirty having taken cum from two men, but she was reveling in that feeling. That she could make two guys cum back to back.

Jesse's lips met hers, and their tongues danced together as Sarah continued to ride the wave of her orgasm, and more of his cum spurted into her. Slowly Sarah started to come back down to earth as Jesse's cock stopped erupting, but it stayed firmly embedded inside of her. He continued to kiss her longingly. Sarah was still awash in her post-orgasmic bliss, drunk from the sex, and kissed him back without reservation. Sarah's tongue slipped into his mouth, and his tongue met hers. They lazily tasted each other as Sarah felt the energy drain out of her body. Jesse might have stayed like that all night, with his cock inside of her. But Lester had other ideas. “Get off,” Lester said and touched Jesse’s shoulder. Jesse flashed him a defiant look, but it crumpled under Lester’s harsh gaze.

Sarah was utterly spent. Her body was exhausted from two back-to-back fuck sessions. She looked up at Lester and saw him towering over her. His cock was hard as a rock, standing out at attention about her. Jesse crawled off of her, and she lost track of where he went. Lester leered down at her with a domineering smile.

“Time for round two. You’re going to be busy all night.” Lester sneered. He moved down the bed, grabbed Sarah’s legs in his meaty hands, and pulled her body down the bed towards him. ***

“Hi this is Sarah Williams I can’t come to the phone right now so please leave a message and I’ll get back to you.” Sarah’s angelic voice said.

“Sarah, it’s me. I’m in jail. Call me back,” Dan said and hung up the receiver on the payphone. He rested his head against it before a police officer roughly grabbed his shoulder and pushed him back into the cell. Dan stumbled but managed to catch himself on a bench and sat down. A dozen or so other guys were in the large cell with him, most minding their own business. Dan laid down, hoping the room would stop spinning.

He never should have drank at the restaurant. He couldn’t remember the last time he felt like this. The guard who took his picture said something about having to sit in here until at least morning when the cashier and bond office reopened, but Dan didn’t really understand it. All he knew was that Sarah was still at the hotel with Lester and Jesse. He could only imagine what was happening and felt range pouring over his body. He felt immensely ashamed as well since he could feel his dick hardening just at the thought.

This was a new low for him. Thrown in the drunk tank while his wife is probably cumming on other guy’s dicks. His brain was still foggy as he tried to piece together just what had happened tonight and how he ended up here.

He knew his brain wasn’t working properly, throwing out one dumb idea after the next. But one thing was crystal clear. He had been right. Jesse and Lester had known each other. He didn’t know how, but they did. Maybe it was because Jesse’s company needed help with the hack that just happened? But that didn’t make sense. Jesse had been there at that club. That was way before. Unless they just met after somehow? Dan wasn’t sure about the timeline. And it was a leap that they’d work together after such a short time since the hack had just happened. Even Sarah’s hack had happened months and months ago, and the hospital wouldn’t have been able to fix it without Sarah because she knew Lester. There was something there. His brain was itching at something. Like he was fumbling in the dark, trying to peel back the corners of it. But he wasn't sure just yet.

His mind kept going back to that club with him, Lester, Sarah, and Jesse. Was it weird that two of those people had workplaces that got hacked? That seemed like a weird coincidence. Dan was aware that more and more companies were getting hit with ransomware, but it happening to two people he knew just seemed...off somehow.

Those hackers probably make a killing. Just look at how much money the hospital paid Lester to help fix it for them. Dan's stomach turned, partly from the alcohol but mostly from the thought of Lester now working for the hospital. He'd be around Sarah all the time. He knew that Lester would just try something at their house sooner or later. But Dan had ordered the hidden cameras that would come in soon. He'd put them in the house to be able to see everything that happened. They got them sent to his office, not wanting Lester to see them. He didn't want Lester to know about them. They would trick anybody; the cameras disguised as outlets looked exactly the same as the regular outlets in the apartment. No one would be able to tell the difference.

He wished he hadn't had to buy them, but he couldn't trust Lester—not at his home. If the hospital had never been hit with ransomware, Lester would never have been so involved in Sarah's work life. Dan burped and turned onto his side. Something in his brain clicked, and his heavy eyes shot open. What would things be like if Lester never got involved at the hospital? They'd probably still just be doing the dates with him. It's like he wormed his way into their life. Could Lester have something to do with the hack at the hospital?

Sarah and Jesse's workplaces both got hacked. These were two people that Lester knew. Lester was some kind of cyber security wizard. Could he have something to do with it? Would Lester do that? Without a shadow of a doubt, Dan realized that if Lester had the power to do something like that, he probably would. If Lester was willing to go to those lengths, what else would he do? Dominos seemed to fall in Dan's drunken mind, so he sat up. Dan had already been wary of talking with clients in the apartment, not wanting Lester to overhear. But what if Lester had some way to circumvent Dan's efforts? Dan's mind snapped to the fact that all his devices were connected to the apartment's WiFi, which had been set up before he moved in.

Could Lester monitor what Dan did on his computer and phone? The memory of Dan's rejection from a job application and the weird resume with his name on it popped back into his mind. He knew it wasn't his resume and hadn't submitted it. Could Lester have been sabotaging his job hunt all along? "Fuck," Dan exhaled as his mind started racing.

Was Lester really monitoring him? Reading his emails, watching what websites he visited, what jobs he applied for, the clients he worked with, maybe even listening in on conversations.... Had Lester been spying on him this entire time? Sabotaging him? And did Lester hack Sarah's workplace and Jesse's? Why would he do that? The more his drunk brain thought about it, the more it felt like a veil had been uncovered, and Dan was seeing reality for the first time. Dan kept going over it over and over, trying to keep his drunk brain on track.

Lester was manipulative and slimy, but would he actually do that? Dan wasn't entirely sure, but he didn't know where Lester's moral scruples started or stopped. Could he do those things? It seemed possible for someone in cyber security to do so.

Just who the hell was Lester Marshall? And what the hell was happening in that hotel room?

Toxic Attraction Ch. 25

“Uh,” Sarah groaned as the bed shifted next to her. Someone was lying next to her in the bed. It wasn’t clear whether the man was awake or still fast asleep. She had never felt more exhausted in all her life. She wasn’t sure if she had slept for a few minutes or hours; all she knew was that her body felt like there wasn’t an ounce of energy inside it. Sarah could probably sleep for a week and wouldn’t feel recuperated entirely.

The covers on top of her shifted, dragging across her bare skin. Part of Sarah’s brain registered that she was naked from the sheet up against her left nipple, but her body didn’t move. She knew she was in a hotel room somewhere, but the details were blurry. All she could remember was that she had lost track of how many times she had been fucked over the last few hours.

Just that stray recollection of the night’s events gave her goosebumps. The sheet shifted again, and she felt the body next to her move. Then she felt hot breath on her neck, sending a shiver down her spine. Wet lips soon followed, grazing the nape of her neck. Sarah’s mind was still drifting between consciousness and unconsciousness, but her body was waking up. There was an unfamiliar heaviness to her left hand. Something different. It was her ring finger....her wedding ring felt different. Then it dawned on her. She lifted it to her face and considered the ornate diamond engagement ring Lester had given her the night before in the restaurant.

Her thighs clamped together as a strange hand came to rest on her bare hip. She was suddenly very aware of how naked she was aside from the new piece of jewelry. She wasn’t sure who was behind her or whether he was clothed or not. But she could feel the body heat emanating from him, making her guess the man wasn’t dressed either.

The hand started caressing her hip, gently running down to her thigh, making small circles with his fingertips. More kisses began to adorn her neck, eliciting a soft moan from Sarah’s lips. That slight sound seemed to act as a green light for whoever was behind her as the hand left her hip and landed on her shoulder. It turned her onto her back as his body slid up against her.

Sarah turned her head towards the man beside her. As she was about to pry open her groggy eyes, thin lips pressed hard against hers. They were eager and seemingly reverent about kissing her thoroughly. The hand left her shoulder and cupped her cheek. Sarah instinctively returned the kiss. Her lips parted as his tongue touched her lower lip. She pressed her tongue against his before the kiss deepened, and their tongues began to explore each other's mouths.

"Mhmmmm," Sarah moaned into the man's mouth. Even in her groggy, half-asleep state, she knew who it was. He didn't have Lester's dominating presence. He was much more worshipful with her, like he was grasping sand and didn't want any to slip through his fingers.

It was Jesse. Her husband's unwanted former protege turned a constant thorn in his side. She'd never felt anything for him but pity and then anger, but she couldn't deny that the way he touched her just did something for her. Like she was his everything and he couldn't breathe without her. It was arousing how much control he was ceding to her. He was the antithesis of Lester. She was used to losing control with Dan's roommate through submission. But she hadn't been able to maintain order everywhere else in her life over the past few months. Having control again, even just a sliver of it, was something she needed now.

Jesse's cock started to harden against her thigh as the illicit couple continued to explore each other's mouths. Sarah could practically feel his eager pole throb against her, making her thighs rub against each other.

Jesse's hand left her face and slowly trailed down her body. Sarah gasped against Jesse's mouth as his warm hand cupped her breast, gently squeezing it as his thumb came in contact with her nipple. She could feel his lips curve up in a smile at the reaction he'd gotten out of her. Sarah grabbed the back of his head, pulled his lips back firmly against hers, and kissed him hungrily.

Her pussy was sore from getting fucked repeatedly so often over the last several hours. She had no idea how much cum had been shot into her or the exact number of times each man had taken her, but she knew she wanted more. It was like Lester had ignited an unquenchable desire within her that she was trying now to desperately fill.

Sarah pushed her chest into Jesse's gentle caress as her hand slid down his back, exploring his body. It wasn't strong like her husband's, and it wasn't fat like Lester's. It felt a bit scrawny, but she didn't care at the moment. His body shivered under her touch. Sarah's hand kept descending down his body until it found what she wanted. His cock seemed to strengthen to full firmness as she wrapped her fingers around it. His body lurched, and he groaned against her lips, his body and mind seemingly disconnecting from her touch. But his mind-body disconnect was short-lived as his hips intrinsically thrust his cock forward into her hand.

"Oh my god," Jesse groaned as Sarah tightened her grip around his cock, "I still can't believe we're doing this."

"We've barely started doing anything," Sarah laughed as her mind finally started to wake up. Rational thought of the consequences wasn't the part of her brain waking up. It was a part of her that was far more primal. She gave his enlarged shaft another squeeze, making Jesse groan again.

"Uhhhh, like all night. Together. I just wish Lester wasn't here," Jesse said.

"My hand is wrapped around your dick, and your hands are on my tits, and you're really thinking about Lester right now?" Sarah said.

“No – that’s not what I meant –”

Sarah kissed him hard, pressing her lips firmly against his to reset his brain, “Shhhhhhhhhh”

“Just that I wish we did this months ago,” Jesse mumbled, “Like on our first trip to Minnesota.”

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah said, “I don’t know. I don’t think you would’ve made a move back then. Even now, it took Lester arranging things to make this happen.”

“That’s not true,” Jesse said quickly. I bet you didn’t know I was in your bed that night.”

“What? I don’t remember that,” Sarah trailed off as Jesse’s hips started thrusting faster into her palm.

“You may have been a little out of it,” Jesse said.

“Tell me,” Sarah whispered, “Tell me how sneaky you were. What did you do?”

“I, uh, I...Dan left to do something for Byron,” Jesse said, “And I waited until he was gone, and I, um, I got into your bed.”

“Is that all?” Sarah breathed.

“No....” Jese hesitated, “You were on your side. I got behind you and touched you.”

“Really?” Sarah raised an eyebrow, “I didn’t think you would have it in you. Bad boy. Show me.”

“What?”

Sarah let go of Jesse’s cock and brushed his hand off her breast, “Show me.”

She turned away from him onto her side, pressing her ass back towards him, “Show me what you did that night.”

Sarah grabbed his hand and brought it to her hip, “Did you touch me here?”

“Yes,” Jesse breathed, his warm breath making the hair on the back of her neck stand up.

“Show me where else, touch me,” Sarah said.

Hesitantly, Jesse brought his hand up to her naked breasts and started to play with them gently.

“Mhmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned at his touch, “You were such a bad boy. I had no idea. Is that all you did?”

“No,” Jesse breathed, “I did this too.”

Jesse shifted his body and pressed himself up against Sarah’s magnificent ass. He gripped his cock and positioned it between her thighs like he had all those months ago. He thrust forward, pushing his cock between the upper areas of Sarah’s thighs.

“I did this,” Jesse groaned into her ear, “And you seemed to like it.”

“Did i?” Sarah playfully rolled her hips back and forth as she pushed her ass backward before inching it forwards, fucking Jesse’s cock with her thighs. She bit her lip and let her head drift into the pillow as she clamped her thighs tightly around his thrusting cock.

“Uhhhhhhhh,” Jesse groaned, “You were moaning.”

“I can see why now,” Sarah said, “You should have woken me up, big boy.”

“Really?” Jesse said excitedly.

“Mhmmm-hmmmm,” Sarah said back over her shoulder. She could just make out Jesse’s flabbergasted expression. He was too easy to toy with. She loved it.

“If Dan wanted to leave me alone in a hotel room with you, he should have expected the consequences,” As Sarah finished her sentence, she shifted her body forward, Jesse’s dick pressing against the back of her thighs. She bent her waist forward, held her hips tight, and pushed back against Jesse until his cock pushed past her thighs and the head of his cock slid into her pussy.

“Uhhhhhhhhhhfuuuuuuucccckkkk,” Jesse groaned as Sarah’s pussy lips parted for his curved cock to enter her warm embrace.

“Mmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned as she pushed her ass back, taking more of Jesse’s cock into her. She winced at the soreness between her legs, but for the moment, she didn’t want to stop.

“Ohmygod,” Jesse groaned.

“God has nothing to do with it,” Sarah said, remembering Lester’s line with her, “Say my name.”

“Oh god, Sarah,” Jesse breathed, “You’re amazing.”

“I know. Now shut up and fuck me,” Sarah lightly scolded as she grabbed his hand off her breasts and held it to her waist, urging him to hold her tightly and fuck her. She rolled her hips back and forth as more and more of Jesse’s cock disappeared inside of her.

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned, closing her eyes and letting her body run away with the sensation of Jesse’s curved cock inside of her. From this angle, it was pressing right up against her G-Spot before delving deeper into her.

“Feels so good,” Sarah moaned into the pillow. She gripped the edge of the bed for leverage as she pushed her ass back to meet Jesse’s shallow thrusts.

“You’re so fucking beautiful,” Jesse groaned into her ear as he finally started to pick up his pace and fuck her properly. Sarah fucked him back, not caring about anything else at that moment. Sarah’s pussy was aching, but she loved every minute of this. She had loved every moment of the previous night. Having two men take turns with her, having her repeatedly. The desire of more than one man in a cramped space, with cocks as hard as a rock because of her. Again, she was distracted by the diamond ring on her finger. Remembering the circumstances under which she’d received it and how twisted and public they had been aroused her even further.

She realized she could have experienced this new level of pleasure years ago. She and Dan could have taken this leap and done it, but they never did. Both had been happy to leave things in fantasy land, but if Sarah had known how amazing it would feel, she would have pushed for more a long time ago. It was Lester who was the catalyst that led to Sarah experiencing new orgasmic heights she’d never dreamed possible.

It was Lester who was constantly pushing and expanding her sexual horizons and introducing her to new carnal pleasures. She opened her eyes in search of Lester, hoping that he would be there. All she saw was the darkness of the room. Even though the two men had taken turns with her, she hadn’t experienced them both simultaneously, something she desperately wanted to try now.

As she opened her mouth to call for her lover, Jesse’s hands gripped her hips hard, and he finally picked up his pace, fucking her more urgently. Lester was momentarily forgotten. Jesse whispered something behind her head, some sweet nothings that didn’t even register in her brain. Her mind was elsewhere while Jesse kept thrusting into her.

The image of Lester and that shit-eating grin as he stared down at her in his domineering satisfaction. The way her hands ran through the coarse, dense hair that covered his back. His fat gut weighing down on her ass as he fucked her from behind. The memory of the way Lester talked shit about Dan right in front of him while he fucked her. The humiliation, the degradation. How fucking hot, no, infernal it all was.

She couldn’t believe how much her life had changed. It was like Lester had pulled back the curtain, showing her what reality was actually like. Like her entire life, she’d lived in a safe, walled garden that was protected from the real world.

Jesse kept thrusting against her G-Spot, and Sarah bit her lip, trying to block out whatever Jesse was saying as her mind focused on Lester and the magnificent tool that dangled between his legs. Her latest orgasm was brewing inside of her. She had lost track of how many times her body had cum in this room, but she needed another.

Despite how sore her pussy was, she needed another fucking orgasm.

“Don’t stop,” Sarah moaned, “Keep fucking going. I’m getting close. So fucking close.”

“Uhhhh, okay. God, you feel amazing, Sarah.” Jesse groaned, but Sarah couldn’t hear it.

“Fuckme,” Sarah moaned as her hips started slamming back against Jesse with abandon. He tightened his grip on her hips, trying desperately to hold on and keep pace. Every time Jesse thrust into her, Sarah thrust her ass back onto his cock harder. Soon, she was thrusting back faster and stronger than Jesse could muster, her pace frantic and erratic.

“Holy fucking shit,” Jesse gritted his teeth holding on for dear life.

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned, throwing her head back, “Don’t fucking stop. I’m right there.”

“Fuck, Fuck. Please. Please. Yes. Yes. Fuck. God fuck,” Sarah shouted. Her orgasm started to bubble up inside of her. Warmth began spreading throughout her body, igniting her nerves and injecting pleasure straight to her brain.

“OH GOD FUCK!” Sarah screamed as every muscle in her body tightened, and her orgasm rattled through her body, shaking her to her very soul. One of her legs kicked out while her fingers dug into the mattress.

“MHMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMYYES.”

The muscles in her neck flexed as she held her breath. Her tongue lolled out of her mouth. Her body felt on fire as she came, her orgasm ravaging her body like a wildfire spreading out of control.

“Holyfuck me,” Sarah groaned, her pussy tightening around Jesse’s cock. Her body went deathly, still reveling in the spasms of bliss it was experiencing.

As she finally came back down to earth, she could hear the labored breathing coming from behind her. Somehow Jesse was winded even though she had been the one enthusiastically fucking back on him. The image of Lester and all the indignities she’d experienced at his hands had been too much for her to control herself.

As the pleasure slowly receded, she noticed just how painful her pussy felt. Jesse finally seemed to catch his breath and pushed his cock forward again, eager to cum himself.

“Stop,” Sarah said, making Jesse freeze in his tracks, “Pull it out.”

“What?” Jesse asked.

“Just take it out,” Sarah said as she shifted her hips forward away from Jesse’s cock. Her pussy was incredibly sore. With her orgasm slowly deflating from her body she felt wrung out. All of that exhaustion threatened to crash down on her and knock her out.

Jesse's cock made an audible pop when it came out of her pussy. Sarah groaned and turned around to face Jesse.

"I have a surprise for you," She smiled mischievously. She really didn't think that her pussy could physically handle any more activity. She would probably be recuperating for weeks. But she knew that someone like Jesse wouldn't be able to last long if she put her mouth to work on him.

Sarah pushed Jesse onto his back and slowly began lowering herself down, closer and closer to his throbbing erection.

"Fuck," Jesse groaned as the tip of Sarah's tongue flicked tantalizingly across the head of his hardened cock. Sarah twirled her tongue around the meaty helmet, dancing across his cockslit. Sarah could feel Jesse's body writhe underneath her touch, and she smiled at how quickly she knew she would be able to make short work of him.

"I'm going to take good care of you," Sarah said huskily, lowering her head.

Jesse's hips were practically bucking off the bed by the time Sarah's mouth engulfed his quivering cock. She bathed him up and down with her tongue along the strange curve of his shaft. His veins pulsated in her hands as she moaned around his reddened cock, "Mhmmmmmm."

"I love you, Sarah. Holy crap, you feel so fucking good."

"Mmmm-hmmm," Sarah agreed back while his youthful cock was stuffed in her sucking mouth. He was a lot easier to handle than Lester, but the curved shaft made her adjust her technique to accommodate his length. She took her mouth entirely off of him and kissed and licked up and down his shaft. Making little moans with each one of her kisses.

“You’re way bigger than I ever thought you’d be, Jesse,” Sarah mused to herself as her fingertips danced around the skin of his balls. Her other hand was firmly gripping his shaft, tightly tugging it up and down where she wasn’t kissing.

“Is my cock bigger than your husband’s? Bigger than Dan’s?” Jesse’s eyes were heavy-lidded as he watched her every move, committing the entire experience to memory.

“Mmmm. Mmm-hmmm. Yours is definitely bigger, and he doesn’t have this nice curve that hits me just right. I bet you have a ton of girlfriends.” She fixed her mouth onto where his shaft bent and whipped her tongue back and forth over the bowed area.

“No,” Jesse managed to say as his body seemingly convulsed under Sarah’s touch, “You’re all the woman I need.”

“Well, aren’t you a charmer,” Sarah smiled before licking up the base of his shaft all the way to the head of his cock and back down again. Then she dramatically dived down, swirling her tongue around his balls.

Jesse just groaned in response, “Fuck. Slow down. It feels too fucking good.”

“You want me to stop?” Sarah asked as she extended her tongue and licked around his balls some more. Her hand constantly jerking his twitching cock. Jesse grabbed her wrist, trying to stop her from stroking him, but Sarah switched hands.

“No...No..I just, uh, want it to last. I could lay like this forever.” Jesse croaked.

He's talking to me like I'm some precious flower. Sarah kept up her aggressive licking of Jesse's balls as her hands alternated, stroking his shaft. Jesse was squirming under her touch, trying to grab her wrists, preventing her from stroking him.

"Slow down. Slow down. Let's make this last," Jesse said.

"No," Sarah said, breaking free from his grasp and sitting up. She stared down at where he was, her hand going back to his cock shaft. She gripped it hard, squeezing it as she stroked it up and down.

"I want your cum Jesse. I need it," Sarah breathed, lowering herself back down to his cock, "Don't stop me. Keep your hands to yourself, got it? I want to taste you. I want what's in here" Her hand caressed his ballsack lovingly.

Hearing herself say those words to Jesse reignited the fire burning inside her, stooping to that level, giving herself to someone like Jesse. Someone her husband hated and had tried to fuck over in the past. And who had fucked her husband over a few times. It was so humiliating to both her and Dan. She pictured the conflicted look on Dan's face, the mix of arousal with guilt and shame. She fucking loved it. She couldn't control herself with this at all anymore.

"Oh fuck," Jesse groaned, "I'm gonna cum."

"Give it to me, Jesse. Give it all to me," Sarah lowered her head to the top of his cock just in time as it spluttered and exploded. She greedily let his cum wash over her mouth, blasting to the back of her throat. She swallowed his first immense load and hungrily lapped up the rest.

Jesse groaned, and his body seemingly went stiff as his cock kept oozing out more and more cum. Finally, Sarah swallowed the last load and affectionately kissed the head of his spent cock.

“Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned. She licked up some after cum that was dripping out of his cock. “Just what I wanted for breakfast.”

“I can’t, I can’t even. You’re fucking amazing.” Jesse groaned.

“You said that already,” Sarah laughed as she flopped herself back onto the pillow beside Jesse and closed her eyes. “I know how amazing I am, but thank you for saying it again. You’re too sweet.” She licked her lips to underline the double entendre.

With a fresh load of warm cum in her belly, Sarah’s eyes closed instantly. The pillow was too comfortable, and every fiber of her being was exhausted. She planned to sleep for a week.

Lester stopped the recording and slunk back behind the wall towards the bathroom. He tiptoed into the bathroom and gently closed the door, ensuring the handle didn’t make any audible click.

When he returned home, the surreptitious video would be a great addition to his Sarah folder. Sure, he didn’t plan on frequently watching these videos like all the others he had amassed. After all, it didn’t feature him, but he was enthralled at how slutty Sarah had been. Lester smiled inwardly at how far he had caused the young mother to fall.

Her evolution into his little slut was complete. She couldn't deny herself anymore. What was once a well-manicured front of sophistication and elegance had cracked. Lester had turned her into what she was now, and she was his. She would do whatever he wanted.

Lester saved the video and chuckled, wondering where Dan was at that moment.

Dan felt a little man with a pickaxe chipping away at the inside of his skull. He groaned as he turned over on the cold bench, praying to all the deities he knew to make the pain in his head go away.

Reluctantly, he sat up and wiped the cold drool from his face. His eyes steadily blinked as they adjusted to the light, and he tried to retain his bearings.

The details of the previous night were fuzzy, but he knew he was sitting in a jail cell for the first time in his life. "Jail cell," the words reverberated through his aching head. Now that he was upright, the night's events slowly started to click into place, and his brain started to fire up despite the pounding headache.

Just what the hell was in those drinks? Dan ran his hands over his face before looking around at the other men in the cell. His watch told him it was just past 10 am. How long were they going to keep him in here? And more importantly, where the hell was Sarah?

He couldn't remember anything with crystal-clear clarity, but what he did know made his stomach turn and threatened to spill his expensive meal all over the dirty floor. Lester had taken Sarah upstairs, leaving Dan with their hefty bill. Somehow, Jesse was involved and had likely found his way into the hotel room with Sarah. Then there were flashes of a hallway and him banging on doors before being manhandled by a pair of large cops.

There was something else important he had to remember, but it was just out of reach. He tried to focus on it, trying to bring the blurry idea into focus.

“Williams, Dan, time to go,” a guard barked from the cell door. Dan hadn’t noticed him standing there a second ago.

Dan stood up and walked to the opened cell door, following the officer into an administrative area. He felt tense, waiting for whatever life-changing verdict would be handed down to him. The officer led him down a long corridor before stopping in front of a desk behind a plexiglass window marred with many scratches.

Another officer was sitting behind the desk. He looked bored.

“Dan Williams,” the first guard said to the one behind the desk. When the other guard nodded, the first officer abruptly walked away. Dan looked around at his surroundings. The guard hadn’t put handcuffs on him, making Dan hope there might be a light at the end of this long, dark tunnel.

The officer behind the desk slid a clipboard out of a rectangular hole in the glass towards Dan. “Sign at the bottom.”

Then he slid a small plastic tub filled with items through as well. Dan recognized his wallet, wedding ring, and cell phone inside of it.

“What’s this?” Dan asked as his eyes scanned the paper attached to the clipboard. At the top, there were some words about personal effects.

“You’re free to go. Just sign the form confirming we handed back all your possessions, and then you can leave, ” the officer said without looking up.

“That’s it? Do I have to go to court or something later?” Dan asked.

The officer let out a long, weary sigh before begrudgingly turning his chair to look at the computer screen next to him. After a few seconds, he finally looked up at Dan impatiently, “The hotel where you were found zonked out of your mind declined pressing charges. You’re free to go. Just don’t be an idiot. Learn how to control your liquor. Now sign the form and get out of here.”

Dan quickly signed the form and grabbed his stuff. The officer took back the clipboard and didn’t spare Dan another look. Dan glanced around the room, waiting for someone to escort him out or to tell him that he was being put back into a cell.

After a few seconds, when no one came, Dan hesitantly walked along a marked pathway until he reached the police station’s lobby. Feeling like a criminal fleeing the crime scene, he tried to walk casually across the lobby and through the double doors leading to the outside. His body tensed as he pushed open the door. He was just waiting for someone to call his name from behind the moment he opened the door fully, just like in the movies.

But no shout came. Instead, Dan opened the door, and a cool Chicago breeze hit his face, waking him up and snapping him out of his dark thoughts. His jailbreak was complete. Dan quickly put as much distance between himself and the police station as possible before stopping to get his phone out of his pocket to call Sarah.

The screen was black and unresponsive. He held the power button down for several seconds but nothing happened. It was dead. Nothing more useful than a fancy glass brick.

Dan sighed and stared at the sky, letting the cool wind tickle his skin, refreshing him and helping combat the lingering pounding in his head. It still fucking hurt. A lot. He didn't plan on ever drinking like that again. When he got back to the apartment, he'd pop a Tylenol and take a long nap.

Dan looked down the street at the buildings around him. They were all entirely unfamiliar. He had no idea what part of Chicago he was in, and he couldn't check his phone. He'd have to figure things out the old-fashioned way, talk to someone, and grab a bus or taxi home.

As Dan pondered his next move, his brain began churning through the night before and the revelation he nearly had in the drunk tank. The wacky idea that Lester was somehow responsible for the networks of Sarah and Jesse's employers being compromised. In the cold light of day, the idea seemed much more far-fetched than it had during his drunken stupor.

He almost dismissed it entirely as the fancies of a humiliated man drunk off his ass, but the more he thought about it, the harder it was for him to shake it. The idea may have made sense last night, but it didn't seem plausible. But there were a lot of coincidences surrounding Lester that were looking suspicious.

The more he thought about it, the stranger it seemed. If Jesse had been in that hotel room last night, then two of the three people there would have had their companies hacked. That seemed statistically off. Way off.

Fucking Jesse. Had he really been there in that hotel last night, or was someone fucking with Dan? Lester. He wanted to check his phone and look at Jesse's message with sober eyes, but his phone was still dead. The idea of that little fucking creep even coming close to his wife.....

Dan shook his head, trying to get his thoughts back on track as he walked, looking around for a coffee shop or deli. If Lester really had hacked both companies, what was his goal? What was his end game? Money?

Dan had no idea what game Lester was playing. But if Lester had arranged for Jesse to be in that room, whatever the game was, it would have been personal, and Lester would have been playing on a different level than Dan had even conceived.

It was time to fix that.

Even though Dan was overwhelmed by work and his fledgling side consultancies, he needed to figure this out. It was time to do some digging into Lester and find out just who the hell he was.

It was time to go to war and give Lester the attention he deserved.

"Wake up, we're home," Lester said, snapping Sarah awake. She barely remembered leaving the hotel and getting into the passenger seat of his SUV. Lester pulled into his parking spot at the apartment and turned off the engine. "Let's get you upstairs and into my bed."

“I honestly don’t think I can,” Sarah said. She wore the dark blue dress from the night before with the extremely sexy cut. “I’m sore all over. I might need some time.”

“You can still suck on this,” Lester grabbed his crotch and chuckled, “Come on, you can’t leave me high and dry here.”

“Seriously? I can’t even count the number of times you fucked me last night,” Sarah put her face in her hands, “You’ve had more than your fill.”

Lester just smirked, “I’ll never get enough of you. Besides, you blew Jesse this morning, and now you’ll leave me hanging like this? That’s just not nice. You owe me.”

“Hey, Jesse was part of your plan. I didn’t know he was going to be there. You get what you get.” Sarah said as she climbed out of the car. It briefly crossed her mind that she often said the same thing to her children. Lester followed suit, and the two walked towards the back entrance of the building.

“Have you heard from Dan?” Sarah asked, “He hasn’t responded to any of my texts. Are you sure he didn’t get a room at the hotel?”

“I have no idea where he is,” Lester shrugged, holding out his phone to Sarah, “Look, here, I texted him our room number a few times last night, but he never came. I don’t know what happened. He’s probably upstairs sleeping it off.”

“It’s just not like him to bail on me like that,” Sarah muttered. “I hope everything’s okay.”

“I’m sure he’ll be fine. He’s a big boy. That’s why you should blow me upstairs. Dan has to come home and watch to see that happening. It’s like the logic of the universe.

Right?”

“Maybe,” Sarah looked at Lester and shook her head, “You’re going to keep pushing for a blowjob, aren’t you?”

“Can you really blame me? You’re an amazing cocksucker,” Lester chuckled.

“Shhhhhh,” Sarah chided as they reached the doors and went inside to the elevator, “Shut up, will you?”

“Come on, you should be proud of how good you are. Wear it like a badge of honor.” Lester chuckled.

“I know how good I am, I just don’t need the whole world to know about it,” Sarah said.

“You love the attention,” Lester chuckled, pressing the button for his floor. The doors closed behind them. “You sure enjoyed the attention you got last night. Now, in the cold light of day, you want to pretend to be a goody two shoes.”

“Oh shut up, Lester,” Sarah rolled her eyes.

Lester just smirked and reached down to grab a handful of her ass, “Mhm-hmm, that ass.”

“You’re such a fucking pig.”

“You love it,” Lester yanked her ass hard, pulling her to him. Sarah gasped as Lester’s other hand grabbed her waist and pulled her to him. Lester licked his lips and bent his head. Sarah slapped his chest, pushing him off.

“Get off. Not right now, Lester. I need to find Dan,” Sarah scolded him. “Oh and take this,” Sarah said as she slid the beautiful ring Lester had given to her off her finger. She handed it to him as the elevator reached their floor.

“Don’t want Dan feeling inadequate?” Lester accepted the ring with a raised eyebrow.

“I don’t want to rub salt in the wound when I see him. I have no idea what’s going on in his head right now. I hope he turns up soon,” Sarah breathed. The elevator doors opened on their floor, and Sarah stepped up, with Lester following her right behind her.

“I told you, let’s get in there. Jump in my bed and get naked. We’ll get a little wild, and the boy scout will show up to watch,” Lester laughed.

Sarah ignored Lester and kept walking down the hallway towards his apartment. With each step, she could feel the soreness in her pussy and in her thighs. She couldn’t wait to take a hot shower or even a long hot bath to recuperate. Still, the idea of going another round with Lester was beginning to make her body heat up. What was wrong with her?

Sarah made it to the apartment door first and stood patiently waiting for Lester to unlock it.

“Been a while since we were here alone together,” Lester said.

“Whatever, Lester, just open the door,” Sarah said.

“All sex and no romance lately. Way to make a guy feel wanted,” Lester mock huffed, opening the door. Sarah groaned once inside as she took off her heels as Lester shut the door behind her.

“You really should get out of that dress,” Lester eyed her hungrily.

“Just give me a second,” Sarah said, “You really don’t let up, do you?”

“Not when I get you alone. Besides, you have some making up to do after lying to me.” Lester said.

“Lying? What are you talking about,” Sarah asked.

“About...” Lester trailed off as Dan appeared in the hallway.

“Dan!” Sarah said, “Where were you? I was calling you. You didn’t answer any of my texts. What’s going on?”

“It’s a long story. I just got in myself,” Dan looked her over from head to toe and then gave Lester a death stare, “Come on, we have a lot to talk about.”

“Where’d you go last night?” Lester asked, “We were waiting for you. Well, we didn’t really wait too long but you were missed.”

“I’m going to go talk to my wife, Lester,” Dan took Sarah by the arm and led her down the hallway into his bedroom.

“Dan, what happened to you?” Sarah asked.

“Not here,” Dan said, “Get changed. We’re going to take a walk.”

“I just got back in, babe., I want to shower and relax,” Sarah said.

“Get dressed,” Dan repeated, “Now.”

Sarah was confused by how serious Dan was being. She just wanted to veg out on the couch after the previous night’s events. But she could tell something was really bothering her husband, so she quickly stripped out of her dress and found some clean clothes and underwear in her suitcase. Not long after, Dan and Sarah walked out of the apartment past a seemingly confused Lester, still expecting her to join him in his room.

“What’s going on, Dan?” Sarah was starting to get worried. “Is this about last night? We should probably talk about it.”

“Let’s wait until we get downstairs,” Dan said, guiding her into the elevator. Dan watched the descending numbers on the two elevator screens. He was oddly tense, and Sarah knew something was seriously bothering him. It had to be Jesse.

She hadn’t expected or wanted Jesse to be in the hotel room last night. Things had quickly gotten out of hand. Sarah didn’t exactly regret what happened. It had been an exhilarating experience for her. But Dan was pissed, and she understood why.

Lester could have picked anyone else, but he roped in Jesse, someone he must have known Dan didn't like. And to top that off, Dan's suspicions were correct this entire time. Lester had been in contact with Jesse. But they still didn't know what that meant. Could Lester be involved with the Lincoln Group somehow?

When the elevator doors opened, Dan led Sarah back out of the building, across the parking lot, and into their car. Dan let out a long sigh as he rested his head back against the driver's seat. He closed his eyes and pinched the bridge of his nose.

Sarah sat patiently, waiting for her husband to speak. The seconds ticked by, and finally, she decided to start things off.

"Look about last night. I don't know what happened to you, but there is something you need to know—something that happened in the hotel room," Sarah said.

"I got arrested last night," Dan blurted out.

"What?" Sarah was shocked. She hadn't expected him to say that at all. "Arrested? For what? When? Why didn't you call me?"

"I did call you," Dan opened his eyes and glared at her hard, "You didn't answer. I think you were probably busy."

Sarah felt her stomach drop. While she had been having sex with either of the two men last night, her husband had needed her, and she hadn't been there for him.

“Dan, I’m so sorry. I didn’t know. I would have been there, coming and getting you. I’m so sorry. But what happened? What were you arrested for?” Sarah asked.

“First, when I was paying for dinner,” Dan started. “Oh, by the way, Lester stuck me with your bill, too. Then I got a text message from Jesse. It was a picture of him standing in front of room 326. I went up there and started looking for you, and before I knew it, the cops showed up and dragged me away.”

“That sneaky little shit,” Sarah said, “But how did you get arrested? Did you knock? I don’t understand how the cops were involved.”

“Because you weren’t in that room. Some old guy was. You guys must have been in another room. So I went looking for you, and I guess maybe I had a couple more drinks than I should’ve, and someone must’ve reported me for making a disturbance.”

“Did you? Y’know, make a disturbance?”

“Of course I did! Maybe a little more than I should have, but it was fucking Jesse. Jesse! Showing up like that he must’ve known about our plans. I went nuts!” Dan’s face was getting red, and suddenly, any arousal Sarah had been feeling toward her husband was washed away by immense pangs of shame and guilt.

“Dan, I know things didn’t work out the way we wanted last night, but I’m pretty positive we were in room 326.”

“You weren’t. Trust me.” Dan said.

Sarah thought back to the previous night. Lester had put the blindfold on her in the elevator, so she didn’t see the room number they’d entered. And this morning, she hadn’t paid any attention to them on their way out. Lester was practically holding her up as they rode down the elevator. Just one glance and she would have known what floor she was on.

Lester showed her his phone and his texts to Dan. He told him that they were in room 326 a couple of times.

“Didn’t Lester text you?” Sarah asked.

“I don’t know. My phone is dead and charging upstairs.”

“Okay, so maybe let’s just say that we weren’t in room 326,” Sarah said as she slowly tried to put some puzzle pieces together in her head, “Do you think Lester was lying to us to fuck with you? He couldn’t have gotten you arrested. It’s not like he has a bunch of police officer friends.”

“Who knows! He COULD have a bunch of cop friends. We don’t know a fucking thing about him. Besides his little Dungeons and Dragons group, what do we really know about the guy?” Dan said.

Sarah felt like she had a good handle on Lester. She had spent a lot of time with him, after all. But she had to admit she really didn’t know anything about him other than surface details he’d provided and the way his giant cock felt inside of her.

“I guess we don’t really know much about him. He’s private, I guess.” Sarah said.

“Private? More like he’s fucking hiding things.” Dan muttered.

“Hiding what?” Sarah asked.

“I’m not sure yet. But I’m going to figure it out. Don’t you think it’s just a little weird that your workplace got hacked, and Jesse’s did as well? That’s a little too much of a coincidence, don’t you think?” Dan asked.

“I don’t know. I mean, I guess so? It could just mean that hackers are getting better and better at hacking people, though.” Sarah didn’t really see where Dan was going with this. It was a little odd, but she’d heard of plenty of cases of other hospitals and countless other companies being hacked. Unfortunately, it was becoming more and more commonplace these days.

“Was Jesse in that room last night?” Dan said quietly.

Sarah paused for a few seconds before answering, “Yes, I didn’t know that he was —”

“I know. I know you didn’t know Sarah. And I need to ask about that, but just look at it. Two out of the three people in the room have had their workplaces hacked. Don’t you think that ratio just happens to be too high?”

“Okay, Dan, just spit it out. What are you getting at?” Sarah asked.

“What if it was Lester?” Dan asked, “What if Lester hacked both of your companies?”

Sarah stared at Dan for several seconds as the idea rattled around in her brain. She could see how Dan made the connection, but it still felt like he was jumping to conclusions. Connecting disparate dots and seeing a picture that didn’t reflect reality.

“I don’t know Dan. Don’t you think that’s a bit of a reach?” Sarah tried carefully to keep her tone neutral.

“I don’t think so. He works in cyber security, doesn’t he? He probably has the skills to pull those hacks off. It just seems like too much of a coincidence that two people connected to him have had this happen to them, to their companies,” Dan seemed like a dog with a bone, determined to follow this line of thinking wherever it led.

“Okay, I can see that. But you could also say that two people you know have been hacked, too. That doesn’t make you the hacker, right?” Sarah said.

Dan shook his head, his brain clearly going a mile a minute. He gestured dismissively at the idea, “But I don’t have those skills, Sarah, I couldn’t. He fits.”

“Maybe. I guess I can kind of see it but we don’t really know what kind of skills Lester has. I feel like we have a general idea of what he does. I feel like its defensive, like he know how to fix and unlock the hospital’s network, not attack it. But we’re just ascribing all these computer skills to him because it’s convenient, you know?” Sarah said tepidly.

“But we don’t know what his skills are, Sarah. He could be capable of this,” Dan added.

“Yeah,” Sarah admitted, “Maybe he could. But what’s the point? What was his end goal in hacking two people he knows?”

“I don’t know that yet. Maybe he used the information he knew about your workplaces to get a foot in the door. I don’t have all the answers just yet, but it definitely fits.”

“Maybe. I can see how you can see that it matches up, Dan, but I’m not exactly sure it’s a perfect fit,” Sarah said.

Dan furrowed his brow, “Okay, how about this? Statistically, what is the likelihood of two people being in the same hotel room last night and having their workplaces hacked?”

Sarah braced herself for the gut punch. The discussion about Jesse was about to happen, “I mean, I guess the two people could be coworkers who work for the same company....”

Dan pinched the bridge of his nose, “That’s not — uh, Sarah, why do you always have to have a smart answer for everything —”

“I know, I’m sorry,” Sarah said innocently, raising her hands. “To your point, I guess it’s probably unlikely.”

“Really fricking unlikely,” Dan exclaimed, “The fact that you and Jesse were in the room with Lester.....”

Dan trailed off. Sarah watched his face as his mind shifted gears to realizing that she was alone in a hotel room with Lester and Jesse last night. Her husband looked at her with uncertain eyes before staring out the windshield.

“So last night...,” Dan started. Sarah waited patiently for her husband to find the words. She didn’t want to rush into this. She knew how difficult this conversation was likely to be. The events of last night had surprised her. More surprising was her reaction to indulging in it. How easy it was for her to justify and embrace the situation. How much pleasure she had derived from being shared between the two men all night long...

She hated the idea of admitting all of that to Dan, but she wanted to be as truthful as possible.

“So you left the restaurant.....” the gears shifting in Dan’s head, “then what happened?”

“Lester brought us up to our hotel room. I thought you would follow right behind us.”

“I got stuck paying my bill and yours. You guys left abruptly, and I had to settle up. I wasn’t expecting that.”

“Wait, you mentioned that. Why did you pay for our bill again?”

“Something about me arranging it when I made my reservation. In support of the happy couple,” Dan said.

“Oh, so Lester....that sneaky asshole,” Sarah could only shake her head. Lester was always trying to pull stupid shit like this with Dan.

“See what I mean? Sneaky. Like a hacker. Between sticking me with the bill and that whole Dan DeCuck thing.....such a fucking asshole.”

“Lester being an asshole is not something I’m disputing,” Sarah said, “He is a gigantic asshole.” With an amazing cock. Who knows how to fuck. Who can make me...

“So you get to the hotel room...” Dan continued.

“Right, well, I put on a blindfold in the elevator,” Sarah said, seeing Dan’s eyes, “So, yes, I guess I could’ve gone to a different room. I can’t remember, baby. Anyway, I get in there, and Lester tells me we’re not alone. That you’re in the corner watching us and that there’s another man in the room.”

“Jesse.....” Dan growls.

“Jesse. Yes, but I didn’t know that at the time. I just thought it was some guy, and because you were there, it was okay. That you were okay with it. I didn’t even think to question Lester. Maybe I didn’t want to question him. The situation, being blindfolded. Knowing eyes were on me. It was all intoxicating. I wanted to see what would happen. How far you’d let things go.”

Dan stayed silent, his hands tight on the steering wheel even though the car wasn’t moving. His eyes roamed distantly out the windshield.

“So what happened next?” Dan asked.

“The man....Jesse came up to me and got me out of my dress,” Sarah said, noticing a vein throbbing on Dan’s temple, “Then, when he got more aggressive, Lester stepped in and fucked me on the bed while Jesse and, well, in my mind - you, were watching.”

“After,” Sarah continued, “Jesse climbed on top of me and put himself inside me. Lester told me I could take off my blindfold. When I did, I looked around for you but didn’t see you anywhere.”

Dan turned to look at Sarah, “And what did you do then?”

Sarah hung her head, “I let Jesse continue fucking me. Then Lester again. Dan, I’m sorry, but they took turns with me all night.”

“Jesus fucking Christ, Sarah! How many times? How many times did you fuck each of them!?”

Sarah hung her head, “I honestly don’t know. I wasn’t exactly keeping track.”

“How many times did you cum then? Did you cum with Lester? Did Jesse make you cum?” Dan demanded.

“Dan – don’t, don’t make this harder than it has to be, okay? It’s not important –”

“It’s important to me, Sarah. Did Jesse make you cum?” Dan asked again.

“Yes!” Sarah said, “Yes, he made me cum. And he fucked me again this morning, if you need to know that too. Do you think I invited this scenario? I thought you were there, maybe that was naive, but I believed it. I believed Lester. Maybe that was my fault, but I thought you’d be there instead of getting arrested somewhere.”

“That’s not fair at all,” Dan replied.

“Did you try calling my phone? Maybe I could have heard it and put a stop to things. Instead, you went on a drunken rant through the hallways and left me there alone with them,” Sarah said.

“That’s not fair, and you know it. I didn’t realize how strong those drinks were and it’s Lester who manipulated the situation. He invited Jesse to this whole thing just to fuck with me. He told me the wrong room on purpose. This isn’t on me,” Dan declared.

“You’re right. Lester did set this up, and we both walked into it. I should have known better, and maybe you should have had less to drink, which kept me protected,” Sarah said.

As angry as she wanted to be with Lester for pitting her against her husband like this, there was a dark thrill inside her that was tickled by the situation he’d put her in. Being fucked all night by more than one man had been frankly amazing. Lester had opened up new worlds for her. He was unpredictable and delivered her new experiences that she was beginning to crave. These are experiences that Dan hadn’t come close to giving her in all their years of marriage. Maybe that was why Lester had kept Dan at bay. He knew that Dan would end things and deny Sarah these new adventures.

But that didn’t make what he did right. He shouldn’t come between a committed husband and wife like this. But Lester never really did give a shit about that. He just did what he wanted. An attitude that Sarah continued to find herself seductively drawn to.

“Part of the thrill for me was thinking you were there. Knowing you were watching,” Sarah continued, “I don’t know why I didn’t stop when I realized you weren’t in the room. I’m sure part of me wanted to. To stop. But by then, I was lost in it all. In that situation. In the pleasure. The abandon. The attention. I couldn’t control myself, Dan.”

“Lester seems to have that effect on you,” Dan muttered, “And now it seems like Jesse does, too.”

Sarah scoffed and shook her head, “Jesse doesn’t impact me like that. It could have been anyone else last night, and I would have reacted the same way. I mean, there is something appealing because you dislike him so much, but no, he doesn't have a hold on me."

"It honestly makes me sick to my stomach knowing that....thinking about him on top of you like that. I know you came but did you enjoy it? Is he.....I don't even want to know...is he better than me?"

Sarah looked at her husband and chuckled. She could see the uneasiness in his eyes. Sarah knew that Jesse joining the prestigious firm had thrown him for a loop and made him question his own abilities. But he had nothing to worry about, "No, Dan, he wasn't better than you. He was different, sure, but you are on another entirely different level. It was more the situation than anything that was working for me last night."

"What do you mean, different? Different good? Different bad?" Dan asked.

"It was just different," Sarah said. It was like he was desperate—hungry for it. For me. In the moment, it worked for me, but now that I think more about it, it just comes off as kind of needy—like he was trying too hard—not the most attractive trait."

"Besides," Sarah said, turning her body towards her husband, her cleavage on display as she pushed her arms together, "Minus the whole Jesse thing, what would you have done if you were in the room with us? Would you have put a stop to things?"

Sarah's voice grew sultry as she ran her hand up Dan's leg, "Would you have carried me out of that room, or would you have sat and watched as two guys took turns with your helpless wife?"

"I...um....fuck...Sarah...thats not...."

“Close your eyes and picture it. Me with two strangers. Taking turns with me. Would you tell me to stop,” Sarah’s hand caressed Dan’s growing erection through his pants. Sarah whispered, “I noticed this earlier. Your cock getting hard talking about me in that hotel room. I think part of you is upset you didn’t see what happened.”

“That’s not just it, Sarah, not all of it,” Dan breathed as Sarah continued to stroke his cock, “It’s being jerked around and feeling like some kind of pawn in a game I don’t even realize I’m playing. Lester doing underhanded shit to try to win.”

“So beat him,” Sarah whispered, “Beat that fucking creep at his own game Dan. Don’t let him win.”

Sarah sat back in her seat and bit her lip, steeling her gaze at Dan. She ran her hands gently over the outline of her breasts, “You don’t want him stealing your precious prize, do you?”

Dan audibly groaned from his seat, “Jesus, Sarah...I.....fuck.”

Sarah let her sexy facade drop and laughed, “You’re seriously too easy, Dan. I love it.”

“That’s not fair at all,” Dan complained, “You can’t just turn the sexy act on and try to sweep all of this under the rug. I’m still pissed about –”

“Baby, you know me better than that. Being sexy isn’t an act,” Sarah leveled her eyes at Dan, making him gulp, “I only choose whether to turn the dial up or down, given the situation.”

Dan pinched the bridge of his nose, “That still doesn’t just wash this all away.”

“You’re right. Last night still happened” and this morning. “I won’t say that I didn’t enjoy things because I did like parts of it...” Sarah chose her words carefully, “But you being in the dark and not a part of it wasn’t what we wanted. We need to address that with Lester.”

“It’s so fucking weird that we’re still talking about that creep having more time with you in the future, but fuck it, no more Jesse. He has to get that through his thick skull of his, too, that at some point, I’m going to reach my breaking point with him. He can’t keep pulling this shit and fucking with me.”

“I agree, baby. You’re right,” Sarah put her hand comfortingly on her husband’s arm. “I think we’re overdue to have a sitdown. Come to Jesus and chat with Lester. Let’s go back up there and –”

“No,” Dan said.

“No?” Sarah leaned forward, confused. It seemed like they’d had a direction that they could move forward with and lay new ground rules for Lester to follow. And break.

“No. You’re not going back up there now. If you are good to drive, I think it’s best that you just head out now. I don’t want Lester anywhere near you today. That bastard had enough of you last night. I’m not going to let him manipulate things any further. I need to get my head straight first.”

“But my suitcase....I just need to grab it,” Sarah said. Her suitcase was in Dan’s bedroom, next to Lester’s, where he was probably naked on his bed stroking his cock, expecting her back up there any second to spit and lick his mesmerizing cock.

“I’ll go get it,” Dan said, opening the door, “Just wait here. I’ll be back in a second.”

Sarah moved into the driver’s seat and watched Dan stalk back into the building. God, that man can be sexy when he’s serious.

Dan returned and loaded her suitcase into the backseat a few minutes later.

“Are you sure you’re okay to drive?” Dan asked, “You had a long night.”

“I’ll be fine baby,” Sarah said, “Unless you want me to go back upstairs with Lester?”

“Don’t you start with that,” Dan said, “We still need to talk more about what happened last night. But I just want you to get out of Chicago.”

“Not without a kiss, baby,” Sarah purred.

Dan’s hard facade seemed to momentarily break as he leaned into the car and kissed his wife tenderly. Their lips lingered together, both of them wanting more from the other.

Sarah was disappointed to be leaving Chicago a day earlier than planned, but it was probably for the best. She didn’t know what might happen if she spent another night in close confines with Lester. She wasn’t sure Dan or her marriage could take another hit like that so soon after the previous night’s events.

“I love you,” Sarah said, rolling down her window and putting the car into drive.

“I love you too,” Dan stood there with crossed arms. He said the right words, but his body language was still tense. This issue wasn’t settled, and it would take time to get back to where they had been just the day before. Maybe it was time to indulge in his fantasies without Lester again. Show Dan he was still the one in control.

Sarah waved goodbye to her husband as her car pulled out onto the street and headed toward home. The idea of control rattled in her mind. Had Dan ever really been in control? For as long as she could remember, she was the one who’d been in the driver’s seat. That was until Lester had come around. The way he took charge and put her into situations that unleashed her dark side. As she drove, she wondered who was more familiar with the dark impulses within her. Lester or her husband?

“Excuse me, I think you’re in my seat.” Sarah had just arrived at work to find someone else sitting at her desk—well, at least in the cubicle to which she was currently assigned. Her real desk, at least the one she still thought of as hers, was in the office that the head of HR had taken over. She was trying to be a bigger person and not let that eat at her, but it still felt humiliating.

It was like her value was being gradually diminished. Things she had worked hard for over the years were just being stripped away from her. Her new colleagues at the hospital were basically telling her she wasn’t good enough for what she had strived to achieve. That they all knew better, and that voice deep down in her soul that told her she wasn’t good enough had been right all along.

“Um, Sorry?” The pretty young woman said, looking up to face her. The girl clearly looked flustered at being confronted. Sarah didn’t recognize her. She was probably new. Not long ago, Sarah was looped in on all new hires. Now, she wasn’t even consulted. Another part of her responsibilities slowly being shunted away from her. “My boss told me to sit here and get set up. I just started,” the girl continued, “she said that this desk was vacant.”

Sarah felt the tension returning to her shoulders, “Who’s your boss?”

“Mary,” the young girl said, pointing towards Sarah’s old office, where the new head of HR resided. “Oh, and, uh, nice ring.”

Sarah had been about to angrily march into the office she’d once occupied but stopped, realizing she’d forgotten she was wearing the ring Lester had given her at The Lockwood. She wasn’t sure how it had gotten into her suitcase. Probably Lester. She couldn’t imagine Dan packing it away for her or how he would even get it. She’d admired it as it sat on her bureau that morning and had slipped it on. Clearly, she had never slipped it back off.

“Thank you,” Sarah breathed, trying to keep an even tone. It was almost a laughable moment, her Chicago adventures again crashing into her Middleton work life. The girl seemed to pick up on Sarah’s shift in tone and curtly swiveled back around to focus on her computer. Sarah took a moment to remove the ring quickly and slipped it into her pocket. Then she squared her shoulders and walked over to her old office.

“Mary?” Sarah asked, sticking her head in the doorway, “Got a second?”

The older woman sitting behind the desk looked up at Sarah with impatience in her eyes. She scanned Sarah’s body for several seconds and a disgruntled look appeared on her face, “Sarah. What can I help you with? I’m about to step out to a meeting.”

“I’ll be quick,” Sarah stepped into the room. The further she moved into the new occupant’s office the deeper the frown on Mary’s face grew. Sarah gestured over her shoulder, “There’s a young lady at my desk. I was just wondering whether —”

Mary scoffed and rolled her eyes, “Don’t you read your email? You’ve been reassigned.”

“Reassigned?” Sarah stammered, “I’m up to date with my emails. There’s nothing there about it. What do you mean ‘reassigned?’”

“The hospital administrator position has been eliminated,” Mary said coldly.

Sarah stood there shocked, waiting for the scornful woman to elaborate. She didn’t. The older woman seemed to take some perverse pleasure in seeing Sarah wither in front of her.

“What does that mean?” Sarah asked, “You can’t just –”

“It was a board decision,” Mary waved her hand dismissively. The executive team and the board are restructuring things. We’re making this place run like an actual functioning hospital should.” She leveled a flat gaze at Sarah, implying that Sarah had been part of what had previously made the hospital run poorly.

“While, of course, we appreciate all of your hard work, the board felt it made more sense for many of those responsibilities to sit within their respective departments. Since everyone reports in to Richard now anyway, they found the role somewhat redundant. The decision was unanimous.” Mary flashed some teeth with that last phrase.

Sarah felt like the walls were closing in on her. Her heart felt like it was going to leap out of her chest. What the fuck was happening?

“So what does...” Sarah started but couldn’t quite find the words, her brain still shocked from the bombshell this nasty woman had just dropped on her.

“Oh, get it out,” Mary spat, “I’m not a mind reader.”

“You said I was reassigned. What does that mean?” Sarah asked.

Mary grumbled, “You should’ve received an email about it.”

“Anyway,” the older woman continued, “A role recently opened up. The hiring manager thought you would be a good fit for it. I’ll send you the job description, but ultimately, it’s up to you if you decide to take it.”

Sarah groaned as her mind raced. She had been on the other side of this situation enough times to know that Illinois was an at-will employment state and that she could be let go for just about any reason. Eliminating her role was perfectly justifiable. She momentarily wondered whether or not the hospital would pay out any severance if she didn’t take the new position.

“If I don’t take it, is there some sort of package or...?” Sarah started before Mary huffed and bounced in her seat.

“Let me be frank, dear. Your position no longer exists at this facility. No, we aren’t in a position to offer any severance. It’s only through sheer luck that this position in IT opened up, and you were considered for it. If you don’t want it, the door is behind you.”

IT? “Who’s the hiring manager?” Sarah breathed, trying not to tear up.

“Lester Marshall, the new interim head of IT Services.” Mary smiled, but it didn’t quite reach her eyes, “Now, if you don’t mind, I need to head to that meeting. Please speak with him to let him know and to figure out where you'll be sitting if you stay. And check your damn email. If you don't want the position, just let Mr. Marshall know, and we'll get the process started on our end."

Sarah walked out of her former office in stunned silence. She heard Mary scoff at her again as the older woman closed the door and walked past her, heading to whatever meeting she was expected to attend. Just like that, Sarah's professional career had taken a massive hit, and she was still reeling from it. Did Lester vouch for her and create this position to save her from being let go?

It didn't fit in with the narrative she had talked about with Dan, but she was having a hard time putting the pieces together any other way. Lester was on the executive team, which was almost comical to think of. He would be privy to those high-level discussions. Maybe he had actually saved her.

Sarah took the elevator down to the floor where IT resided. She tried to hold her head high, not wanting her true feelings to betray her professional demeanor. It was such a demotion. Even though she was apparently staying at the same salary, she no longer held as much sway and responsibilities as she had just a few months ago.

Sarah took a deep breath, pushed open the IT Services door, and strode across the floor towards Lester's new office. She remembered coming here many times to strategize with his predecessor, Jerry, who had been unjustly fired by the new CEO, Richard. Her eyes locked onto the form of her husband's fat roommate, who had his feet up on the desk as he ate a large bag of Cheetos. He didn't give off the appearance of the head of IT, or anything else for that matter, but Sarah knew he was highly competent with computers and had proven himself an expert in everything the hospital required.

As she walked toward him, she realized she was still relatively ignorant about Lester's level of expertise. Yes he must have some skills to counter ransomware and hackers but she really didn't understand what those were. It must be enough for the CEO to hire him. But in his position he needed to have some level of people skills right? Sarah looked around at all the empty cubicles and shook her head. Not that there was that many people left. Her thoughts turned to Dan's suspicions about Lester and whether there was any truth to them.

Could he have done it? She honestly didn't know. He was much more skilled with computers than she was. She knew enough about how expansive a field like IT was and how often people assumed any IT person could pull off feats of technological wizardry. But Sarah at least knew enough to recognize there were many specializations and disciplines within the field. But she didn't know how to gauge whether Lester's skillset involved the ability to hack and take over networks.

She knew he was skilled at cyber security, at the very least. He convinced them to dish out over $250k for his services and solved an IT crisis that no other security firm wanted to help with. Lester wasn't the most stand-up guy, but she still couldn't imagine him hacking the hospital, threatening the livelihoods of her coworkers, and, worse, impacting the health of their patients. Why would he do that? It didn't make sense as much as Dan wanted it to. What? So that he could fuck her? He had already been doing that. And she had called him and asked for his help. It wasn't like Lester rode up to the hospital like a white knight.

"Sarah," Lester smiled as she approached. He stood up and wiped the Cheeto dust from his fingers on his shirt, leaving visible stains behind, "What's wrong?"

Sarah stopped at the door to his office, taken aback by his ability to read her emotions. She was sure she had buried them deep under her business exterior and was hiding them better than this.

"It's nothing...it's just..." Sarah didn't know what to say. She was still processing the complex emotions from her rollercoaster of a morning. She needed to sit down and take stock, but life wouldn't let her do that just yet. Here she was in Lester's office, on the verge of breaking down again, her professional persona about to crumble in front of her. Tears formed in the corners of her eyes.

“Hey,” Lester scooted his large body around the desk and quickly closed the door behind Sarah. As the door clicked shut, Sarah felt a flood of emotions break from her: anger, frustration, and all of these feelings about the life she had spent years building that was now coming crashing down.

“It’s everything, Lester,” Sarah started. Surprised she was confiding in him of all people, but she needed to talk about this. Needed to talk to someone who understood the situation. She just needed to vent, and he was here for her. “All the new management in the hospital. They simply don’t give a single shit about any of us. I just found out that my position was eliminated and how I’ve been demoted to come and work down here.” Her shuddering could be heard in her exhale.

“No offense,” she added, looking back at Lester.

“I’m sorry,” Lester said as he put his arms around her, gently holding her, “That sounds like a really fucking rough morning.”

Sarah breathed out a sigh of relief and some tension released from her shoulders. She felt validated. Maybe it was this place that was crazy, not her.

“Don’t be sorry, Lester,” Sarah breathed into his chest, “This isn’t your fault.”

“Maybe it is, just a little bit,” Lester said quietly.

“What?” Anger flashed in Sarah’s eyes as she stepped back from him, “What do you mean?”

Lester held up his hands defensively, “When I heard they were going to eliminate your position. I just blurted out that I needed help in my department. Because of all the cutbacks that have been made, I need a right hand to help me run things. They weren’t sure at first, but I convinced them you’d be a great fit. I’m sorry if I overstepped at all.”

Sarah stared back at Lester, speechless for several seconds, as things clicked into place in her head. She hated the fact that she was demoted and now working in IT, a department that didn’t interest her at all. But the alternative would have been worse. Just having her position eliminated and being out on her ass. At least this way, she had some amount of runway to figure things out for herself.

“I..uh..thank you, Lester,” Sarah said, meeting his eyes. If it hadn’t been for his quick thinking, she’d be out on the street right now. He had given her a lifeline, and she fully intended to embrace it. Sarah put her hand on Lester’s arm, “Truly, thank you. I’m sorry if I came in here like a hot mess.”

Lester just chuckled, “I’ve seen you as a hot mess, and this ain’t it, believe me.”

Sarah just grinned and shook her head, slapping him playfully on the arm, “Ass.”

“I know this arrangement isn’t what you want —”

“It’s fine,” Sarah cut in. “For now. I mean, is it what I spent the last several years of my life building towards? Definitely not. But now, I can still keep a roof over my kid’s head. Thanks to you, Lester.”

“Oh, and here,” Sarah took the large engagement ring from her pocket and put it on Lester’s desk. “I think maybe this is just for playtime, yes? I mean, I have a husband, you know that. But again, thanks so much for everything, really.”

“I was just in the right place at the right time,” Lester shrugged, “You know, I think my newest employee has had a rough day.” Lester scooped the ring up off the desk without looking at it and dropped it in a drawer. “Maybe you should take the rest of the day to get your head straight.”

“It’s okay, I’m fine –”

“I insist,” Lester tapped a book on his desk that had been part of the new employee welcome package from HR, “Besides HR says mental health is important right?”

Sarah just shook her head, “I guess. Thanks, Lester. I think taking a few hours to get my mind wrapped around this new reality would be great.”

“Perfect,” Lester said as he led her to his office door and opened it. He gestured for her to step out, and he slyly took a long lingering gaze at her shapely ass as she moved past him. He cleared his throat and followed her out into the cubicle farm.

“One thing before you go,” Lester said, suddenly leading her towards another door on the same wall. “When you come back tomorrow, this is your office.”

The door swung open, and Sarah’s eyes opened wide. She had expected to be relegated to another cubicle, not to be given her own office. The room was well-lit and spare, with only a desk and a single chair. A small filing cabinet sat in the corner. There wasn’t a window, but she had an office once again.

“An office? Are you sure? I don’t want to jump the line. I’m new here, Lester. I mean, in IT.” Sarah looked around for angry stares from her new coworkers.

Lester just chuckled, “The hospital let go of half the department, Sarah. We have plenty of room.”

“Besides,” Lester eyed her playfully, “I want my girl close by me.”

Sarah slapped him on the arm again, gesturing for him to keep quiet. “You seriously need to keep quiet.”

Lester whispered back, “Who gives a fuck? You hate all these new people here. What has being the most attractive, competent person at this place done for you? Landed you down here with me. It’s not fair, Sarah.”

Sarah shook her head while Lester’s words took root. The fact that someone recognized how good she was at her job and that what she was going through was, in fact, unfair and not just in her head. It felt good to be seen like that.

“Regardless,” Sarah started, “I still have my own professional code I’m going to follow. I can’t let a few bad apples bring me down to their level.”

“Good,” Lester leaned in conspiratorially, “I much rather you come down to my level and get down and dirty.”

“Okay!” Sarah said, rapidly backing away from Lester, “I’m going to do as you asked and go take the rest of the day. See you tomorrow, Mr. Marshall.”

Lester just smirked at her as she walked out of the IT department. She was relieved that Lester allowed her to leave early. Her mind was still a mess even though Lester had helped her to feel better about everything. He was the sole person at the hospital who’d offered her any kind of comfort. It was a relief to know that she wasn’t alone there anymore. Sarah chuckled to herself at her earlier conversation with Dan that Lester was some kind of hacker. Despite being his roommate, Dan didn't know Lester like she did.

Sarah walked through the hospital halls as quickly as her feet would take her. She just wanted to get out of this building. As her heels clicked through the atrium, she saw the familiar janitor's cart up against the wall. Her head turned as she saw Otis mopping the floor of the men's bathroom. His eyes locked with hers, and a toothy grin spread onto his face.

Sarah immediately broke eye contact and turned back towards the building's rear doors. The last thing she needed was some horned-up janitor following her with expectations of another sexual encounter. She still couldn't believe that she had let him watch her and came on her face like that. It was humiliating, but she couldn't deny the dark thrill it had given her.

She pushed open the door and quickly found her car. A few hours passed before she had to pick up the girls from school. Sarah pulled out of the parking lot, and the thought of just driving off to Chicago to see Dan crossed her mind. She would try to go back up there next week, but the city still called to her.

Despite all the issues at work, Chicago's pull wasn't as strong as it used to be.

'Beat Lester at his own game.' Sarah's words kept echoing in his head. Every time he had gone head to head against Lester Dan had lost. Or been rebuffed. Or celebrated his victory too early only to suffer defeat later. Dan DeCuck, the hostess, saying into the phone.

He needed to be smarter about it if he was going after Lester. Much smarter. Dan couldn't get lost in his emotions and react and let Lester see his hand. No, the best way to attack Lester was a sneak attack. He couldn't let Lester know he was coming for him before he was ready to reveal his cards and shut that asshole down once and for all.

Sarah hadn't entirely believed Dan when he'd mentioned Lester being the one to hack the hospital. Dan still didn't know the 'why' or the details on the 'how' but he sure as hell knew the 'who.' Lester fucking Marshall. His incel-like roommate. Dan just needed a silver bullet to prove to Sarah that the monster was behind all this. And maybe even prove it to the authorities.

The insidious way Lester manipulates situations. The way he sidetracked Dan that night and brought someone like Jesse into the hotel room with Sarah. He was a planner. And he was calculating. Lester was driving forward an agenda that neither Dan nor Sarah was aware of.

Unfortunately, it seemed like Sarah still didn't buy into all of this. But she had to have seen the signs. Now, Dan just needed to find some harder proof.

Operation No More Lester was about to begin.

Dan's cell phone rang, snapping him back to reality. He looked around the office for his cell phone. He shuffled a few stacks of papers to the side as it kept ringing incessantly. There was so much piling up lately. Fuck, I just want to focus on Lester.

But reality seemed to have other plans for him. He found his phone and sighed at its display. It was Sentinel Securities again. He answered the call tentatively and went over their current project with them. The voice on the other end of the phone seemed to have an undercurrent of disappointment.

“Dan, while we’re hitting all our timelines, we just expected or hoped for a bit more dedication from you on this.”

Dan winced but didn’t let it deter him. “We are still well within our agreement and what we initially set out to achieve. I do have other clients and obligations I’m balancing here. If you want more focus on your project, we could explore that, but we would need to come to a new arrangement.”

Dan steadied himself. He was already working himself like a dog to keep them happy while building his roster of other clients and staying on top of his current job’s demands. From the response he got, it seemed like Sentinel might consider upping his hours, but they wanted to discuss it more internally first. Dan wasn’t entirely sure how he would manage it.

After the call ended, Dan tried to get his mind back on track to deal with Lester. The mountain of paperwork and requests made it difficult. He’d asked his boss Walt to restore his pay to what it was before, even arguing that he deserved more because of his increased workload.

But the old man flatly denied it. Being on the brink of financial ruin seemed to make him nervous, and now he was like Scrooge, pinching every penny.

Dan stood up and paced methodically around his office, trying to think up what he needed to do to take Lester down. What information he needed. What leverage he could gain on him. Dan glanced at the box of hidden cameras he’d purchased sitting under his desk.

He winced at them. He could not get home to Middleton anytime soon to install them. With Lester spending so much time in his town, he knew he needed to be able to monitor his house somehow.

Dan sat back in his chair, thinking about all he knew about Lester. There wasn't much to go on. He had a company that dealt with cyber security. That was at least one angle Dan could look into. Maybe see what information he could find out about it: past clients, that sort of thing. Try to talk to anyone who has dealt with Lester's business.

The only other aspects of Lester's life that he could think of were his smokeshow of an ex-girlfriend, Lizzie, and his group of nerdy friends. Lizzie was a puzzle piece that didn't make any sense. Maybe there was something there. But how the hell would he track her down? Dan opened Instagram and started looking up Lizzies or Elizabeths, scrolling fruitlessly, looking for a familiar face.

Dan wasted half an hour scrolling through his phone looking for a match but came up empty-handed. He just knew there was something there, though. Lizzie was important. Maybe she wouldn't reveal anything to him, but she had to know a lot about Lester if they really had been in a relationship at some point. Who knew? Maybe she was just a prostitute Lester had hired to trick them? That seemed extreme, but he wanted to keep all possibilities open here. All ideas needed to be considered.

The other avenue he had to explore was Lester's Dungeons and Dragons group. He remembered the one short guy who said something about having a board game store or something. Dan couldn't remember his name or any of the pertinent details. Turning on his monitor, he quickly opened Google Maps and looked up board game stores in Chicago. There were over a dozen. Dan started to meticulously go through their listings, looking for anything that might tie them to Lester's peculiar friend.

Dan scanned through the images on Google Maps, looking for someone who looked familiar. He pored through their websites until he landed on one where he saw a picture that appeared to be that Eugene guy in the background.

This must be it.....

Dan checked the time. There was still a lot of work he needed to tend to, but he felt like this couldn't wait. He had to dive in and follow this lead while it was hot. If only he had the money to hire a private investigator to do all the legwork.

Dan left his office and took a bus to the store he'd found. He wasn't sure what exactly he was looking to learn, but right now, it was the only lead he had. Still, he needed to be careful. He couldn't just come out asking questions, or he might tip Lester off somehow.

It didn't take too long for Dan to reach the store. It seemed kind of nice from the outside in a weird way. He could see racks of board games and other fanboy paraphernalia adorning the store's walls from the window.

As Dan entered the store, the short man behind the counter squinted at him before smiling.

"You're..." the short man began, "Lester's roommate, right?"

"Yep, that's me. Sorry, I forgot your name."

"Ned," the short, pudgy man stuck out his hand for Dan to shake. Dan smiled and shook it. Ned continued, "Nice to meet you, uh, again, I guess."

"So Dan, did Lester send you?" Ned's eyes darted to the store's windows as if expecting to see Lester lurking outside.

"No, I didn't even know you worked here," Dan said. I just wanted to grab a gift for my nieces. I'm looking for a good kid's board game."

“This is my store. I own it,” Ned beamed, “We definitely have something for you. Let’s go see what we got.”

Dan let Ned lead him to a section of the store with games for younger children. He made some small talk, discreetly asking some questions about Lester. Much to Dan’s dismay, it seemed like Ned didn’t know much about Lester, either. He had joined their group a few years ago but kept most of his details to himself. Ned would help Lester with odd jobs here and there, but he didn’t know much about him. Besides that Lester had recently gotten a smoking hot girlfriend named Sarah.

“What sort of odd jobs do you do?” Dan asked casually while feigning interest in the colorful board game box in front of him.

“It varies. Sometimes replacing drywall. Or driving Lester somewhere. Or.....” Ned trailed off.

“Or?” Dan asked.

“Nothing,” Ned corrected himself, quickly changing topics. “Yeah, so we do raids a few nights a week. I’m surprised you’ve never joined us,” Ned said.

“Oh, I’m usually busy most nights. Work, you know. That must be hard to coordinate getting everybody together,” Dan said while looking at a board game box absently.

“It’s easy. We all just jump on Discord, and when there are enough of us, we jump on,” Ned said absently.

“Discord?” Dan asked.

“It’s an online community. Kind of like old school message boards but with more features and stuff.”

“Huh.” Dan understood that Ned was the kind of guy who liked validation from people. “Sounds cool.”

“It is cool!” Ned exclaimed. You should join us there sometime. I could invite you.”

Dan didn’t know if this was a lead worth pursuing, but it didn’t seem like Ned had anything else to offer. He did wonder what other odd jobs Ned did for Lester. There might be something worth exploring there.

“Sure, I guess. Could be cool,” Dan shrugged.

“Here,” Ned fumbled with his phone until a QR code was displayed on it. Scan this with your camera. It’s an invite to one of our servers. I’m Surgebinder on there—feel free to shoot me a message, and I’ll help you out.”

A group of young teenagers entered the store, and Ned’s gaze shifted to them. He looked at them hungrily, like pools of disposable income. Dan quickly scanned the code on his phone and said, “Ring me up for this game, and I’ll take it.”

Ned quickly checked him out, and Dan paid. Ned’s attention shifted to the kids looking at Pokemon cards, “Don’t be a stranger, okay Dan? If your nieces like that one, we have plenty of other games appropriate for their age group.”

“Thanks for everything, Ned. I’ll be back,” Dan walked out of the store, unsure if he’d made any progress. Still, he had a new avenue of investigation, whatever this Discord thing was. Dan just hoped he would be an unremarkable blip on Ned’s radar for the day, and the peculiar man wouldn’t mention anything to Lester.

“I’m sorry, hun. We won’t be able to take the girls this weekend,” Sarah’s father said over the phone. Your aunt isn’t doing too well health-wise, and your mother and I are heading up to see her.”

“That’s okay, Dad,” Sarah said, “Give Aunt Tabby my best, okay? I love you.”

“Love you too, sweetheart. Take care now,” her father said.

Sarah hung up the phone and buried her face in her hands. She’d already asked Dan’s parents, who weren’t available, to watch the girls. And now her parents were going away for the weekend as well. Sarah sighed, trying to figure this one out.

Dan had seemed distant on the phone, preoccupied with something. Or at least not willing to speak about what he was working on. It almost felt like he was doing something he didn’t want to reveal to her fully. She needed to get him alone to discuss whatever it might be. There was something there, but she didn’t know what. It couldn’t be what had happened the last time she had been in Chicago, could it?

While they had started to work past that, she could see where the knowledge of that night and not having been there could still haunt him, forcing him to confront the same feelings alone.

But now it looked like she wouldn't be able to reassure her husband. She took out her phone to text him.

S: Hey baby, I talked to my parents. They can't watch the girls this weekend, either. Can you come down?

D: I can't hon, not this weekend at least. I'm sorry.

Sarah sighed. With everything going on at work, she wanted to get away from here. The last few days hadn't been too bad. Lester had kept her fairly insulated from other events in the hospital while giving her details on the executive team's decisions.

She knew he shouldn't be sharing such sensitive information with her, but she loved finally getting an inside track on the new executive team's decision-making. Lester would often ask for advice on approaching situations and dealing with other team members, something she was more than capable of providing.

While it wasn't exactly what she wanted, she couldn't help but feel a semblance of the importance she'd once held. Lester was at least providing her with that lifeline.

But she still yearned for Dan's presence. Just to be consoled by the man she had chosen to share her life with. She knew she'd have to wait a bit longer before feeling that sense of security again. Sarah rested her head back on her chair. She was stronger than this. She shouldn't let these things eat at her, but they did. But Dan's sensitive touch would certainly take her mind off things.

With a sigh, she got up and went on with her day.

When the end of the week came, Sarah picked up her daughters from work with a smile. Despite everything going on with her, her daughters were still a bright point in her life, and she loved being a mother and caring for the two of them. She watched them interact with the world and grow up right before her eyes. She could only smile as she drove them home, listening to the girls talk about the elementary school drama going on in their lives.

It seemed so normal for the short drive back to their house. If Sarah couldn't be with Dan this weekend, she'd double down on the time with her daughters. She cooked them a simple meal, bathed them, and then settled in to watch the newest Disney movie with them. By nine p.m., both girls were nearly asleep on the couch, so Sarah helped them brush their teeth, change into their pajamas, and tuck them into their beds.

When she returned downstairs, she tidied up the room and decided it was mommy time. Sarah opened a bottle of wine and poured herself a glass, letting the Bordeaux pour down her throat.

Her phone chimed from the kitchen counter. Sarah opened it expecting a text from Dan, but instead, it was from Lester. Sarah smiled and shook her head at his stupid message.

L: What are you wearing

Sarah just shook her head. She was a mess. Sweatpants, hair pulled up in a bun. Makeup washed off from the day with a loose t-shirt. Her half-zipped-up hoodie hid her lack of a bra.

S: Nothing sexy. I'm a mess right now.

L: Liar. Show me.

Sarah just rolled her eyes. Lester had behaved himself so well all week, actually playing the role of an okay boss and IT department head. But she knew Lester too well. She knew what lay beneath the surface. She'd still caught a few of his inappropriate glances.

Sarah shook her head, held the phone up above her head, and snapped a picture. The high angle clearly showed her messy appearance. After all the sexy outfits and lingerie she had worn in Lester's presence, she knew it would be a letdown. She sent the picture and went back to drinking her wine, moving from the kitchen to the couch in the living room.

L: Yummy

S: Now who's the liar?

L: I'd hit it

Sarah just chuckled. The thought that it was now her boss texting her like this crossed her mind. These messages would definitely be viewed as wholly inappropriate and an abuse of power dynamic. Would Richard and Mary from HR even give a shit? She doubted it, but it wasn't like she had planned to burn Lester by exposing their conversations. Who knew what else would come out of that discussion, but also....this was Lester. This is just what their relationship was like.

S: Uh huh. Well thank you, I guess

L: Serious, you still look drop-dead gorgeous

L: Your messy is still sexy. Way more attractive than 99% of women.

Even though she didn't believe him, it was still nice to hear. His compliments stroked a part of her ego that needed attention.

S: Yeah right, you're just saying that

L: Send me another pic then

Sarah snapped another pic from a different angle, less flattering than before, and sent it to him,

L: I'm already hard

Sarah paused. This was a bit of an escalation. She checked the other thread in her messaging app again to see if Dan had messaged her back. Netflix was open on the TV in front of her, but her chat with Lester seemed more interesting than anything streaming.

With a wicked smirk she replied to him.

S: Show me. I don't believe you.

Less than a minute later, a pic of Lester's hard, angry, intimidating cock appeared on her screen. As she was trying to figure out how to respond to it, another pic of his cock from a different angle popped up, followed by a second one.

Sarah just started at her screen, looking over every bump and crevice on Lester's king-sized cock. She knew she was playing with fire but couldn't help but take in every part of him. Her pussy pulsed, knowing how that big cock felt inside of her. It was almost like her vagina had muscle memory from gripping his immense cock so often. As her eyes traced up his shaft and the thick veins running up it, she could almost feel it. Or at least the lingering memory of it.

L: Speechless?

S: I just wasn't expecting so many pictures.....

L: I can't help what you do to me

S: This is not a workplace-appropriate conversation

L: That never stopped you before. Remember our time in your office?

Sarah started responding, but a flurry of messages from Lester stopped her in her tracks.

L: Fucking up against the window

L: Breaking your fucking desk

L: Taking you doggy style on the fucking floor of your office

L: Fuck that felt so good

S: You weren't my boss then...

L: I've always been your boss. You do whatever I ask.

S: I'm not some obedient slave, Lester. I choose to do the things we do.

L: You're my perfect little slut, aren't you? You've said it before

S: That's all sex talk. Now you're my boss for real as fucked up as that is.

Another picture of Lester's large cock popped onto her screen.

L: Take a pic of those tits for me. I want to rub one out to you right now.

S: I don't think HR would approve.

L: I don't give a fuck

Lester's last message lingered there, clearly awaiting a response. She knew he'd meant it - that was Lester to a tee. Sarah bit her lip, lifted up her shirt, and snapped a quick picture of her breasts without her face in it. As she hit send, she felt a dark desire twist and unspool inside of her.

L: That's my girl.

L: God I want to taste those right now

S: Are you touching yourself?

Lester sent her a short video clip of him stroking his cock in slow motion. The house suddenly seemed exceptionally warm. As she watched the looping video, Sarah's eyes felt like they were glazing over. She noted how far his hand had to travel to cover the distance when stroking himself.

L: What would you do if you had this right now?

S: I wouldn't be texting

L: What would you be doing?

Sarah paused, thinking what to say, knowing that she might escalate the conversation.

S: I don't know

L: Would you be riding it or want to suck it?

S: Neither

L: ???

S: I'd have my legs wrapped around you as you thrust into me, pinning me to the bed.

S: Moaning your name over and over

L: God that sounds fucking good. I would grab the back of your head and stick my tongue down your throat.

S: My pussy would clench around your cock, milking it. Not letting you go, not letting you move an inch.

L: Condom or no?

S: No. Never. Fuck.

L: You're making me stroke so hard right now

S: Mhmmmm cum for me big boy. Make a mess.

Sarah waited with bated breath for a picture of Lester's signature large load. Her hand absently caressed her breast through her tee shirt. She pictured Lester leaning back on his bed, furiously stroking his large cock as he moaned, looking at the picture of her tits. Maybe he needed something else to push him over the edge.

Sarah snapped another picture of her holding one of her bare breasts and sent it to him. This time, she included her mouth with her tongue out for him. No response.

S: I want to see it. Show me the mess you make for me.

Sarah lay her head back on the couch, her hand drifting into her panties. She was already so wet from their sexting. She snapped a picture of her face contorted in pleasure and sent it to him.

S: Come on big boy. I want to see it. Please.

Still nothing. Was it that hard to jerk off and send her a message at the same time? She now needed to see that cock explode for her. Because of her. As the minutes ticked by, she got frustrated, wanting to see that picture and touch herself to give herself her own release.

S: Hello?

S: Lester?

Finally, three little dots appeared on her screen. Lester was typing up a message. She held her breath as she waited. Eager to see what he was going to say. She still wished just for a picture. Each millisecond seemed to stretch on for eternity as she waited for his response.

L: I'm outside

S: What?

Sarah got up and looked out the living room window. The darkened shape of Lester's SUV was in her driveway.

S: Lester what are you doing here? You should go. You can't be here.

L: You said you wanted to see me cum.

Sarah's mind flashed to her daughters sleeping peacefully upstairs. If they weren't here she knew she'd be tempted to let Lester in. Even though she knew she shouldn't. Maybe she could go out to his car and.....Fuck. A neighbor would see that for sure.

S: You shouldn't have come here.

L: I haven't yet. I'm still stroking though.

Oh god. It's not like anything had to happen. She just needed to see Lester's cock explode for her. Then he could leave. Maybe he could just do that from his car and send her the picture.....

L: Go to your backdoor What? Sarah's heart was beating out of her chest as she hurried to the sliding door off the back of her kitchen. Sure enough, Lester was standing there pressing himself up against the glass, stroking his cock through his pants like some kind of pervert well on his way to a felony conviction.

It was dark out, but one of her neighbors in the back might still catch sight of him. Any number of neighbors might have seen him park and lurk in her backyard. Embarrassed, angry, and turned on, she slid the door open a crack.

"Lester," She hissed, "What the fuck are you doing here?"

"Jerking off," Lester smiled, "I thought that was obvious."

"That's not what I'm asking! Why are you here!?" Sarah chided him.

"You wanted to see me cum, so here I am."

"That's not what I meant, and you know it."

"I am not stopping now. I'm getting so close."

"Someone is going to see you and think you're a pervert."

“They’re welcome to watch. You know I don’t give a shit. And besides, I am a pervert,” he said the word ‘pervert’ with a sick, self-satisfied look, nearly spitting the word out.

Sarah wanted to turn away from him. Mortified about the possibility of a neighbor discovering her secret. What if one of them called the cops, and Lester had to explain why he was there? They might question her, too. Would she lie to the police? She pictured herself standing on her porch in the cold, explaining her relationship with Lester to the police as her worried girls huddled behind her.

Against her better judgment or perhaps just giving in, she unlocked and slid open the sliding door, “Get in. Now.”

With a triumphant smirk, Lester stepped into the kitchen as Sarah quickly shut the sliding door behind him.

“Lester, you’re crossing another line. You know you shouldn’t be here,” Sarah said. Then, turning around to face her husband’s roommate, she locked the door again.

Lester was leaning against her marble counter, pants around his ankles. He was stroking his massive cock while his eyes had been glued to Sarah’s ass, being hugged by her sweatpants. Sarah froze like a deer in the headlights, her eyes locked onto the cock that seemed to be staring angrily back at her.

“I couldn’t help it. I’m powerless against you,” Lester grunted.

Sarah didn’t respond; her brain was still processing what to do. She knew what she should do. And she definitely knew what she absolutely shouldn’t do.

“Someone’s going to see you by the window,” Lester said.

His comment made its way into her brain, and slowly, she stepped forward away from the window, closer to him.

“You shouldn’t be here,” She whispered, her eyes still looking at what he had in his hand.

“But I am.”

“It’s not right.”

“A lot of what you and I do isn’t right yet here we are. Again.”

Sarah was ready to say that her daughters were sleeping upstairs but she didn’t want to draw his attention to them.

“You should go.”

“Right after I cum for you - like I promised.”

Sarah’s eyes finally broke contact with Lester’s cock. The slapping sounds of his strokes echoed off the hard surfaces of her kitchen walls and cabinets. Her eyes roamed up his hefty body, drinking him in. His arrogant face looked defiant against her protests while clearly enjoying his own masturbation.

“Come here,” Lester said loudly.

“Shhhh,” Sarah crossed the kitchen, getting close to him, “Quiet.”

Lester looked up at the ceiling and chuckled, “They upstairs?”

“Sleeping, yes, so keep it down.”

“You know, I’d finish faster and be out of your hair with some help. Maybe just a hand?” Lester held out his free hand, offering her to take it.

The attractive wife and mother approached the piggish man, pleasuring himself in her kitchen. She placed her hand in his, looking into his eyes expectantly. Lester grinned, and his hand left his cock, reaching behind him. As they stood under the room’s overhead light, Lester slipped the ring with the oversized diamond back onto her ring finger, noting that she hadn’t been wearing any rings when he came in. He smirked as Sarah was once again drawn to the size of the stone he’d just put on her finger. His hand dropped back down to his crotch, resuming the steady pace he’d been stroking himself with.

Sarah looked down at the sparkling ring and at Lester’s cock again. She was close enough to feel the warmth radiate off of it. Lester turned his body and pressed his thick cock against her right hand. Sarah’s wrist reflexively turned into his motion, and his cock slid against the inside of her palm.

Sarah’s fingers tightened around Lester’s shaft. She closed her eyes, her mind focusing on the sensation of his warm cock in her hand.

“Uhh, fuck that feels good. It’s hard-working next to you all week and not doing this more often,” Lester groaned, “You have no idea how many times I wanted to call you into my office and bend you over my desk.”

“Why didn’t you?” Sarah’s voice was just above a whisper.

“I knew how hard of a time you were having this week. I didn’t want to complicate things for you,” Lester said, his eyes closed, clearly focusing on her moving against him.

Sarah didn’t respond, but her grip tightened on Lester’s cock, and she began earnestly stroking him. Lester sighed and removed his hand as Sarah’s hand kept massaging his shaft. Sarah opened her eyes and looked at Lester’s ugly face, which was contorting with pleasure. She had a hard time reconciling how great he had been this week with how he had treated Dan during the hotel trip to Chicago. She should just ask him about it and see what he said —

Lester opened his eyes, looking directly at her. Sarah could see the hunger behind his eyes, and her voice caught in her throat. They stared at each other for several seconds, both trying to read what the other was thinking. Sarah’s eyes flicked to Lester’s tongue as he licked his lips. Instinctively, she did the same thing.

Without speaking, Lester’s hand snaked around Sarah’s body and grabbed a full ass cheek in his meaty paw and pulled her towards him. Sarah gasped as her body melted into Lester’s, her hand never ceasing its stroking of his rigid cock. His heartbeat pulsed in her palm, and her braless breasts pushed into his flabby chest. Sarah saw the hunger in his eyes and knew the inevitable was about to occur. There was no fighting this. No denying what was between them.

Lester pulled her tighter as his tongue descended towards her. Sarah closed her eyes again as his fat tongue pushed past her lips only to meet her slender one. Their tongues ran across each other tenderly, tasting one another until they tilted their heads, their mouths forming a tight airlock as they desperately made out with one another.

Sarah felt her knees weaken as she shifted more weight into the kiss. She was leaning on Lester, leaning into him, not wanting to let this physical connection go. The outside world slowly faded away as this perfect kiss consumed her.

“Mmmhmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned into Lester’s mouth. He groaned back, the vibrations tickling her tongue, pushing her hips against him. Sarah started stroking him faster as she swayed her hips against his body, reveling in the feeling of pressing her weight onto his.

Lester pulled harder on her curving behind as he kneaded her ass cheeks. Sarah moaned again, feeling herself grinding hungrily against Lester’s body. Her sweatpants felt so unnecessary. She wanted to rub against him skin on skin. Her nipples were hard, pressing against the material of her t-shirt.

Lester smiled inwardly at her unconstrained breasts pressing against him. He’d had Sarah in almost every way. The roommate’s wife, the professional at the hospital, his little sex puppet in public. Even claiming him as his own ‘wife’ both publicly and privately. But tonight, he was getting something he never had before. The mother.

Sarah wore typical overworked, underappreciated mother attire with two sleeping offspring upstairs. The ‘mess’, as she called her appearance, put herself after all others. She was neglected by her husband. She was vulnerable and ripe for the picking.

Lester shifted his body so that his cock was pressing into her sweatpant-covered pussy. Making her stroke him against her slit.

“Mmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah groaned again, feeling the warmth and hardness of Lester’s cock. The sweatpants were in the way. Without letting go of his throbbing cock, Sarah used her other hand to pull down her pants, pressing Lester's lovely warm length against the thin material of her underwear.

"Ohhhhhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned. It felt so much better. Sarah swayed her hips back and forth, pressing herself against the shape of Lester's pole as her tongue swirled around Lester's. Lester's hands went to her hips, gently pressing them as she swayed side to side. Soon, it felt like a dance, with Lester leading the direction of her hip movements as they swayed back and forth in the kitchen.

Lester hooked his thumbs under the sides of Sarah's panties, pulling them down her thighs. Sarah gasped and gripped Lester's cock in anticipation of contact. As he lowered her panties and exposed her slit to the kitchen, Sarah pulled his cock right to her opening, letting it run up and down her. She shivered from the feeling of the cool air with Lester's warmth pressing against her.

Sarah broke the kiss, her mouth agape as she tried to breathe in as much air as possible. Her head swam with a thousand different thoughts, but all of them were drowned out by the sensation of Lester's cock pressing against her. His cock slid easily up and down her slit. It was already slick with her juices.

"Let's go upstairs," Lester growled as he pulled his dirty shirt off and let it fall to the floor. Sarah couldn't help but run her eyes over his squat body. It didn't make any sense. She shouldn't have found his body alluring, but she did. Her mind warped against society's norms of attraction. Months of Lester spraying his seed into her mixed with the potent chemical cocktails of dopamine, endorphins, and oxytocin that her brain had released from their couplings.

Sarah let go of his cock as Lester grabbed her hand and began to pull her towards the stairs up to the bedrooms, her diamond ring sparkling from the dim lights in the living room. Her only clothing left was her t-shirt and ankle socks, and everything else lay scattered on the kitchen floor. In any other setting, Lester would look comical in only his tube socks, but Sarah wanted to jump his fucking bones.

Lester began to pull Sarah up the stairs towards her bedroom.

“Wait,” Sarah stood frozen in place. She thought of her two sleeping angels, the potential for being caught, and the possibility of exposing them to her illicit life with Lester. “Not up there.”

Sarah’s mind whirled as they stood frozen on the staircase.

“This way,” Sarah said, pulling Lester back down the stairs. She led him to another door leading down to the basement. They descended the wooden steps in darkness until part way down, Sarah reached up and pulled the string light, illuminating the small unfinished room. Musty and dark shadows from the boxes and other assorted items long forgotten by the couple were cast on the walls. The perfect lair for a troll.

Sarah led Lester down to the bottom and into one corner where Dan’s old futon sat open. Sarah moved a few boxes from the couch. She bent over to place the last box on the ground, and Lester pressed himself up against her bare ass, his cock pressing into her crack and pussy from behind.

“Uhhhh,” Sarah moaned from the sudden thrust. Her hand caught the edge of the futon bracing herself.

“Damn, you look good from this angle,” Lester grunted. He pushed her t-shirt up towards her shoulders. “Let’s take that shirt off. I want you naked for me.”

Sarah pulled her shirt all the way off and thrust her ass back towards Lester’s cock. He just smiled down at her. Her ass jiggling as it slapped back against his thighs, “If only the guys at work could see you now. I bet Richard would’ve kept you around if he knew you’d be willing to play nicely.”

“Fuck him,” Sarah spat.

“My my. Testy,” Lester teased, “I’d love to see you use your mouth like that in the hospital.”

“I bet you would,” Sarah spun around, a challenge in her eyes, “You seem like to show me off lately. Even share me....”

“No,” Lester stepped towards her. Sarah took a step back, the back of her knees bumping against the edge of the futon. Lester pressed himself right up against her, his flabby chest pressing into her heavy breasts, his cock jutting into her waiting pussy, “You’re mine. I don’t like sharing.”

“Then what about the last few times,” Sarah breathed quietly, “With Otis and then... Jesse at the hotel?”

“I didn’t plan on Otis showing up. But I loved seeing how far you’d bend. To do what I wanted. I love seeing how much fucked up stuff you’ll do with me. To see the perfect wife being my perfect little slut. THAT is what gets me off.”

WHAP

Lester’s hand came down hard and grabbed a handful of Sarah’s ass. She winced at the pain and groaned as her body pressed hard into Lester’s cock.

“Fuck, Lester,” Sarah grunted.

“I love knowing you’ll take shit like that and like it. Knowing that once upon a time, you would have slapped me in the face, but now you’re going to lay down and spread those long, gorgeous legs for me.”

“Are you sure about that?”

“Yes,” Lester breathed and stepped forward again, forcing Sarah onto the futon. His hands were on her shoulder, pushing her onto her back. He moved onto the futon with her. Sarah looked up at him defiantly.

“Open,” Lester commanded.

Hesitantly, Sarah’s legs spread open before Lester. A shit-eating grin spread across his face, “Good girl.”

“What about...,” Sarah breathed, “Jesse in the hotel room. Letting him have me like that. The both of you. Why him?”

Lester shuffled forward and rubbed his cock up and down Sarah’s wet slit. She bucked her hips against him, seeking contact with him.

“Who gives a shit about him?” Lester croaked. Jesse didn’t matter, and Lester couldn’t see why she was so hung up on this.

“Tell me,” Sarah breathed, reaching out to grab the shaft of Lester’s cock, trying to pull it into her.

Lester stared down at Sarah, his gaze feasting on her breasts and the mask of pure lust on her face. She was tugging on his cock, trying to get it inside of her, but Lester held firm, letting her squirm under him.

“I wanted to see how big of a slut you’ve become for me. I wanted you to not say no and give in to what I wanted. And that’s exactly what you did, Sarah,” Lester said as he thrust his cock fully to its hilt into Sarah. Sarah took a sharp intake of breath as Lester reveled in the way her breasts jiggled at his initial thrust.

“Ohhmmhmmmfuck Lester,” Sarah groaned, her mind losing its track of thought. Lester’s cock thrusting in and out of her was driving her insane. She hadn’t realized how badly she needed to feel him.

“You should have just asked me,” Sarah moaned, “I, uh, I would have –”

“Your boss doesn’t need to ask anything,” Lester said, punctuating his sentence with a hard thrust, making Sarah yelp. “Ggng, you just do as you’re told, understand?”

“Ohhh fuck,” Sarah grunted in time with each of Lester’s thrusts. Her fingers gripped the old sheets that adorned Don’s old college futon. The first time she slept with Dan was years ago, when she was on this very couch. Lester’s greedy, fat hands were gripping both of her thighs, using them as leverage to piston in and out of her.

“Uhhh....mhmmmmm....fffffffff,,,,,god....Lessster,” Sarah put a hand to her lip to try and muffle her moans, not wanting anyone in the house to hear her. It was too easy for sound to travel in the vents.

“You’ll do as you’re told, won’t you? Fucking say it,” Lester spat.

“I’ll do whatever you fucking want,” Sarah whined as Lester slowed his pace, ensuring he pulled almost all the way out and pushed back in all the way to the hilt, “Fffuuuuuucuk LESTER!”

“But...Uhhhhhh...wwhyyyy Jesse?” Sarah moaned, thinking back to her illicit night of sex. “Why did you lie to Dan like that?”

“Do you really want to know?” Lester peered down at her, moving one hand to her beautiful bouncing breasts as he pinched a nipple in his thumb and forefinger. Sarah groaned in response, her eyes rolling back in her head.

“Yes,” she finally breathed, surprised her brain could muster up a coherent thought and form words.

“Because I like fucking with him,” Lester chuckled, “I like pissing him off. It’s not enough that I get to fuck you. It’s fun humiliating him. Don’t you think?”

Lester’s words were like gasoline on a fire. The sheer malice of him wanting to hurt someone she loved and cared for. Her dear husband. Dan experiencing such utter defeat. Knowing that not just Lester but someone Dan detested had experienced his once faithful wife. Her dark impulses crept over her body, giving power to the thought of Lester dominating her husband so thoroughly. It was so fucking wrong. Just sick.

“OHMYFUCK, mmmmmmm” Sarah screamed into her hand as an orgasm rocked her body out of nowhere. Lester’s huge cock stretching her out and pushing into all her sensitive spots, combined with the sheer idea of her husband being so outmaneuvered and humiliated by Lester. It was like a surprise cluster bomb went off inside of her, and her body was not ready to handle it.

Her limbs shook, and her head thrashed back as all her muscles contracted inward. Her ankles slapped together behind Lester's ass as she went rigid around his driving cock.

At the same time, Lester dropped his weight on top of her, crushing her into the old mattress. He began rutting into her like a barnyard animal in heat. Wild and with abandon, stopping for nothing. Sarah's hips slammed up back into him as her pussy tightened from her orgasm, trying to milk every drop of cum out of his cock.

"Holy shit," Sarah finally breathed out, getting a head rush.

Lester, sensing an opening, decided to add fuel to the fire, "Mhm I see you like that. Like seeing your husband lose to someone else, huh?" Lester teased.

"Nuu," was the only coherent word Sarah could form in response. As her last orgasm slowly receded and the fog in her brain lifted, Lester's words danced around in her head, "Maybe."

Lester just grinned his trademark shit-eating grin, "You fucking love it. You're not even mad I picked someone your husband hated. You loved every fucking second of it, didn't you?"

"YES!" Sarah screamed at him, "I fucking love it you bastard! Is that what you want to hear? Getting fucked all night....I, I couldn't walk properly for days."

"We were on the eighth floor. I never gave Dan the right room number," Lester chuckled. "I can't believe he went and got himself arrested. What an idiot."

“Don’t....mmmmmmmmmm....fuck.....don’t call him—”

“Running around the hotel like a drunk while me and that weasel Jesse took turns fucking his wife. Who else other than an idiot would find himself in that situation?”

“But you....ohfuck.....god.....you....”

“I fucking won,” Lester sneered, “Dan lost before he even knew there was a game to be played. Pathetic.”

Sarah couldn’t believe how fucked up she had become. Lester’s harsh words just turned up the dial on how fucking aroused she was, and each syllable was inching her closer to yet another supernova orgasm.

“I saw that,” Lester said as he licked the side of her face, “Your mouth made a sexy ‘O’ when I called your pitiful excuse of a husband ‘pathetic.’”

Sarah turned her head away from Lester and bit her lip, wondering if she’d really done that. It was hard to think straight as Lester kept thrusting his powerful slab of a cock into her. He scooped up his hips and changed his angle so his cock was slamming against Sarah’s G-Spot. His cock was so big, so huge, it was stretching her little pussy and running over every fucking inch of her insides.

“Look at me,” Lester said, holding her chin and turning her head towards him as he pressed himself into her.

“Look at me,” Lester repeated.

Sarah opened her eyes and looked up at Lester's ugly face. It was beet red and unshaven. Sweat was beading at his fading hairline. She honestly thought he might have a cardiac episode. She knew the signs well.

"Say it," Lester panted.

Sarah's hands latched onto Lester's sweaty back, fingers digging into the wet hair there. She could see the sparkle of the diamond reflected on the basement ceiling.

"What, Lester? What do you want me to say?"

"Pathetic," Lester said, "Say it."

"I don't... —"

"Just say it," Lester repeated. "You already told him, unnggh, when I fucked you in the apartment in front of Dan. You told him his dick was pathetic. And he heard you. And then he made a mess with it."

Sarah looked up into Lester's eyes, unable to hold back the impending tsunami of an orgasm building within her. She knew that verbally saying the word would throw her world into another maelstrom of pleasure.

"Pathetic," Sarah whispered, betraying her husband during this illicit coupling. As the words left her lips, she felt like someone ripped off a band-aid as her orgasm rapidly bubbled to the surface, boiling over and scorching every nerve in her body.

Being part of Lester's game and domination over her husband made what felt like millions of fireworks blow off inside of her at once. Her pussy seized Lester's cock tight in an unyielding death grip, her knees pressing into his sides as her ankles locked with each other and dug into his hairy ass. Sarah's nails raked deeply into his back, and she stifled a fucking scream by biting Lester's bicep.

Lester rode Sarah through her orgasm, gradually pushing past the tightness of her pussy to keep thrusting into her. It was a magical sensation for Sarah, the naked cock inside of her continuing to strongly stimulate more needles of fire and flutters of orgasmic bliss throughout her entire body.

"Weak and pathetic. He's a fucking idiot. He should never have given you to me. Call him 'weak,'" Lester demanded.

"Weak, so fucking weak," Sarah moaned, thinking how many times Dan just stood there and watched her get fucked by Lester. The stupidly feckless way he would pinch the bridge of his nose because he couldn't handle something. Just a slave to his own fantasies.

Lester sneered down at her, an ugly expression she found overwhelmingly attractive. She pulled Lester's head down and kissed him firmly. Lester never let up rutting Sarah with his dirty cock between model-like legs. Sarah kissed Lester hard, mashing her face against his uncomfortably. She knew he could take it. He was strong.

So fucking strong. The pace she was getting fucked with was so fucking strong and durable. Her tongue danced with Lester's. They traded saliva. The lingering Cheeto taste in his mouth was like an aphrodisiac for Sarah, making her hips slam up off the futon to meet Lester's relentless thrusts.

Her brain was a mess of truths and overwhelming pleasure. She should be mad that Lester manipulated the situation with Dan and Jesse, but he did it all to give her that experience. Dan would have stopped it for sure. Not letting her experience that. So weak.

Lester took charge of each situation just the same way he was fucking her right now. Never giving an inch. Lester was grunting with each thrust, and she knew it was only a matter of time until he came. Came deep inside of her. Lester made things happen.

Sarah ran her hands down Lester's body until her nails dug into his asscheeks, and she pulled him in deeper.

"Fuck Lester. I want you. I need to feel you. Need to feel your cum. Please, Lester. Give it....fuck...fucking give it to me."

"I want you to cum thinking about how weak and pathetic your husband is," Lester growled, hoping through their coupling, he could implant and reinforce some of these concepts into her psyche.

"God Lester y-you're such a fucking bastard," Sarah moaned, her breathing getting short as she felt another glorious conflagration of an orgasm on the horizon, "Such a fffucking bastard."

"Did Dan cry once he found out you didn't leave the room to go look for him? That you'd rather fuck Jesse than go find out where he was? Boo- arrghhh, nnngh, boo fucking hoo. He knew that I was talking to Jesse but was too much of a spineless bitch to call me out on it. He could have stopped the whole thing if he wasn't so weak-willed."

So weak. Sarah's hand slapped Lester on the back of her neck as she pulled him into her and stuck her tongue into his mouth, trying to smother him, the ring there catching her eye again briefly. Her other hand reached behind Lester and found his ballsack. She grazed it with her nails, rubbing it in her palm, trying to coax out his cum.

"Fuck Lester I need it. Give it to me. Fucking....fuck give it to me," Sarah moaned.

"My cum?"

Sarah just nodded, biting her lip. Nothing had ever looked sexier.

"Not Dan's cum? You're sure?"

"No Lester," Sarah moaned as another orgasm began rocking over her body, "I need YOUR cum. Lester's cum. Please....fuckk....fill me up Lester.....God give it to me.....give to me.....give it to me.....ohmy.....ohmygod.....OHMYGOD LESTER!"

Sarah bellowed at the top of her lungs as her latest orgasm rocked through her body.

"FFFUCK. FUCK FFUUUUUUUCK TAKE IT. ALL. OF. IT! AGGGGGRRHRG!" Lester roared as his balls contracted in Sarah's palms and started spurting load after load of bitter, illicit hot cum into Sarah's waiting pussy. Sarah moaned into Lester's shoulder as his seed flooded into her, pouring over every secret area of her body.

Sarah's pussy gripped Lester's monstrous cock in a vise as it milked load after load of his viscous cum, pulling as much of it into her as possible. She wasn't going to waste a single drop of the nourishing nectar.

Their mouths hung agape as their bodies started to slow. They lay there entwined, mixing each other's juices together. Both bodies were drenched in each other's sweat.

Lester rolled off to the side, panting as Sarah recovered. Her eyes were closed, and she could feel the strong pull of sleep calling to her. Lester was up, maybe putting his clothes on. It was a distant thought in the back of her head as her exhausted body finally began to rest.

Something pressed against her lips. Sarah's eyes flew open, and she saw Lester's ugly cock head pressing against her. It was like looking down the barrel of a gun. Before Sarah could react, Lester roughly grabbed her hair in a fist and pushed his cock between her lovely lips. The same lips she had used to kiss her daughters goodnight.

"Clean it," Lester demanded. "Don't be surprised that it's hard again. You do that. You make it strong and hard for you."

Sarah opened her jaw, and more of Lester's inflexible cock drove into her pretty little mouth. Lester's hand roughly gripped her hair, and he started thrusting his considerable length firmly into her mouth. She could taste his cum and her own juices on its shaft, mixing together in some kind of primal illicit cocktail. Being so close, she could smell their combined sex efforts and found herself incredibly turned on. If she could have her choice, she'd want this monster in her pussy again, but the fact that she had no say in the matter made her wetter still.

Sarah couldn't even respond to Lester. She just wanted to do what she was told. Her tongue ran over the length of his cock. She tried gripping his shaft to stroke him, but Lester was intent on using her mouth as his fuck hole.

And that's exactly what he did for the next several minutes. All Sarah could do was hold on as Lester ruthlessly and completely fucked her opened mouth.

“Gllalach,.....glaach....mhmhmhmmmm...glaaacckkkk.”

The rough face fucking was so demeaning yet so fucking hot. To be used by some bastard like Lester.....to be used by her boss like this. It sent a thrill up her spine. To be dominated by someone so strong, to give in to their will. Fuck.

“Mhmhmhmmmm...gllluucckk...gllalack....gluulck....

Her hands were roaming her body. One hand massaged her clit while the other groped one of her breasts. Lester never relented, never thought of stopping to check on how she was doing. He gave no quarter as he viciously fucked her offered mouth.

Lester pressed in deeper, pinning the back of her head to the futon. Tears formed at the corners of her eyes, and the head of his cock pushed into her throat. Her throat bulged, full of Lester’s pistoning meat. Her nose filled with his monstrous, messy pubic hair as the fat, slovenly man roared.

“TAKE IT SARAH!”

A salty battering ram of cum blasted into her throat. The first rope sprayed her uvula, hanging in the back of her mouth, causing her to reflexively gag around his cock. Lester didn’t care and just pushed deeper in response. She could feel his heart beating in the press of his obese belly on her forehead and in the veins of his cock as it pulsed on her tongue. Salty, bitter loads of cum blasted down her throat.

As Lester came again, he stiffened, allowing Sarah to inch her head back a little. That was a mistake as her mouth started to fill up with his impressive seed immediately. Sarah choked, and Lester pulled his cock out. His cum poured from her lips as she tried to catch it with a free hand.

Lester looked on, enjoying his pet as she swallowed all the cum she could. His copious load spilled over her lips and dappled her massive heaving breasts. His smile deepened as she licked her fingers clean of his cum without a second thought.

Sarah laid back on the futon, feeling the afterglow of her previous orgasm while she licked her lips and scooped up drops of the sticky white fluid from the slopes of her breasts, making sure not to lose a drop of Lester's tasty cum. Lester watched her carefully as her eyes closed and her breathing became more regulated.

Thirty minutes later, Lester was sure Sarah had fallen asleep on the futon. He crept up the two sets of stairs heading towards the Williams' master bedroom. He passed the closed door where Sarah's daughters slept and quietly slipped into Sarah's bedroom.

In their walk-in bathroom, Lester hunched over, looking under the sink and opening all the cabinets until he found what he was looking for. His nemesis for the past several months was in front of him.

A package of birth control pills.

Lester took out his phone and snapped several pictures of the packaging, ensuring he got the brand and other information he would need for his plans. Satisfied, he set everything in the bathroom back the way it was and slipped out.

Even though he had just come inside Sarah twice within the last hour, he was as hard as a fucking rock. Lester lumbered down the hallway, his large body projecting an ominous shadow on the walls from the night light plugged into the wall.

As Lester stepped onto the first set of stairs, he heard the unmistakable sound of a door creaking open behind him.

“Dad?” a child’s voice called out.

Lester paused for a second with a deep, satisfied smile on his lips. Then he went back downstairs to his sleeping conquest.

Sarah awoke at some point in the night and realized Lester was next to her on the cramped old futon. She swung her long, slender legs onto the side of the futon and sat up. It was freezing in the basement. She must have just passed out without a blanket or anything. Her nipples felt like snow peas. They were so fucking hard from the cold air.

She had no idea how long they had been down there. She should go check on the girl.....

“Lester,” she said, pushing into Lester’s flabby body. He began to stir.

“What?”

“You need to go. Now.”

“What?”

“You need to get out. I can’t have you here when my girls wake up. I can’t...”

“Are you sure? We could all have a nice breakfast together.”

“Lester,” she fixed him with a glare, “I’m serious. You need to leave. Please, Lester.”

Lester grunted and got up, “Okay, but you owe me one.”

The fat man lumbered up the stairs, found his clothes in the kitchen, and left through the front door. Sarah stood at the window watching as his car backed out of the driveway. Once he was out of her sight, she went up to check on her girls.

She knew a major line had just been crossed. She just didn’t know how she was going to deal with it.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 26

Dan's work email inbox was getting close to full. Soon, he'd have to email IT to ask for more storage added to his account or seriously sit down and go over the ever-increasing amount of email. They just came in so fast, and he was cc'd on dozens of irrelevant email threads and back-and-forth discussions. It was difficult for him to filter out which emails needed immediate attention. The increase in clientele was proving more difficult than he'd expected.

His side ventures made it almost impossible for him to catch up with the work in the evenings. At some point, things would shift, and he could pivot to going fully independent, but for now, he was stuck being overworked, overwhelmed, and underappreciated.

It didn't help that every time, he started to dig in and work on something. His mind kept drifting to the state of his marriage. More accurately, Sarah's last visit to Chicago was in the hotel room with Lester and Jesse.

Dan's eyes glazed over as he stared at the computer screen in front of him. His mind had drifted away from another multi-paragraph email to images of Sarah pinned to the bed under Jesse. At the same time, Lester looked on menacingly from some corner of the hotel room, waiting to take his turn with Dan's bride.

A thought kept occurring over and over to Dan - the fact that Sarah had been blindfolded and apparently didn't know it was Jesse with her at first. He believed her recounting of the night even if it pained him to do so. The fact that she would just submit to a stranger like that.....

But one thought kept popping up in his brain. Whispering to him, refusing to be dismissed. Dan adjusted himself at his desk, his cock hard as a rock just thinking about it.

Sarah had been blindfolded, and she knew Lester had invited some random man into the room with them. Even though she thought Dan was present, she had still willingly gone along with letting that man touch her.....put himself inside of her.....

If she'd known Dan wasn't there, would she still have gone along with it? His beautiful wife had been okay with fucking some random man she had never even seen. The idea was intoxicating but frustrating. Frustrating in that he hadn't actually known what Sarah would do in that situation, how it might've played out. His mind kept coming up with scenarios, but almost all of them ended up with his wife on her back and legs spread for some horny stranger.

Dan closed his eyes and let out a long breath, trying to calm himself down and willing his erection to disappear. Before he'd moved in with Lester, he'd been completely in control of himself. And now it felt like some horny little demon had one hand on the steering wheel and was constantly yanking it toward Share Sarah-ville.

He took out his phone and his finger hovered over the call button next to his wife's name. Her picture looked back at him, her piercing green eyes looked so loving yet there was something else there. Always a promise of something more intriguing beneath the surface.

Dan clicked his phone off and sat back in his chair, pinching the bridge of his nose. He wanted to talk to her. Needed to talk to her. But his mind was still fucked up from everything that had happened in that hotel room. They'd talked since then, but the conversations had felt strained. They both knew something was hanging over them, a weight they were avoiding. Besides work, Dan didn't have much to talk about. He still didn't want to let Sarah know he was looking so deeply into just who Lester was. Not that he'd come up with much anyway.

Dan's mind was still trying to process how fucked up it was that Jesse and Lester had taken multiple turns with Sarah. Even more so that she'd let them do it. Every time he closed his eyes, he pictured her face contorted in pleasure or the soft moans of climax that used to be reserved just for his ears. If he'd never lost his job and moved to Chicago, neither of these men would have entered their lives.

But did he really want to go back to how things were? Not ever actually having lived out this fantasy? He didn't know. And because he didn't, he couldn't dive deeper into a chat with Sarah about it until he had an answer to the question and got his head on straight.

She'd probably have a ton of ideas how to improve his current situation and get his work life under control. She had always been so much better at organization than he was.

Even though their conversation in the parking lot had helped, her absence and Lester's constant presence in the apartment kept his brain going into overdrive. These weren't quiet moments of self-reflection for him. Any downtime was consumed with thoughts of Sarah with those two men and his fucked up feelings about it. He was torn between wanting to punch his computer screen or jerk off to the thoughts in the hope that they would go away afterward.

Dan's phone vibrated on his desk in front of him. Another email from Sentinel Securities appeared urgent. He glanced back at his computer screen, dismayed to see another three new emails waiting for him. It just never ended. He'd have to spend all night, yet again working on it.

He decided to do what any smart, adult man would. Ignore them both. Instead he logged onto Discord on his computer.

Lester looked up at the ceiling of his hotel room and smiled. He remembered the thrill of barging in on Sarah Williams' life and making her drain his balls into her pussy and her mouth in her own home the night before. He smirked, recalling that one of her daughters had mistaken him for her father before he'd left the house. Lester's large appendage began to swell and form a rising sheet tepee in the center of the bed as he gloated at the success of his plans.

Focus

The odd little man's smirk disappeared as he arose from the bed and immediately began putting on the clothes that were draped over the chair by the room's bathroom. He only kept two sets of clothes with him in Middleton. Every day, he alternated the shirt and pants he wore, not really caring if anyone realized how often he wore the same thing. Just another pain in the ass they cared about - as if someone like him, someone who mattered, had the time to pick out clothes when people always looked at him the same way regardless of what he wore.

Lester caught himself. Just as he was about to allow his mind to enumerate all the ways the people at the hospital annoyed him and didn't merit his attention, he saw something that did. He noticed that the chair his pants still rested on was the same height and had the same backing angle as the furniture he'd ordered for the apartment's living room back in Chicago. The kind that he'd ordered to specifications that guaranteed a perfect fucking area for him and Sarah. At this point, those measurements have been proven effective repeatedly. He wasn't positive that he'd take ever Sarah in this room, it seemed like a retreat from taking her in the places that were her domain, but the thought of fucking his roommate's wife anywhere immediately sent streams of blood back to his cock.

Lester's smile turned to a grimace as he stuffed his bulging pole into his dirty pants. He knew he would take Sarah again soon. Today, if chance allowed. The short troll went over to the mini fridge and pulled a Red Bull from the half-empty six-pack he'd stored there. He cracked the can's tab open as he left the modest room, leaving less of a mess than usual. His SUV was parked just outside the hallway's exit door. Lester got in and reached into the passenger seat. A medium-sized bag of Cheetos, one of several in the car, was opened by his free hand. He consumed what had become his standard breakfast on the five-minute drive to the hospital.

It had taken Dan a bit but he finally felt like he was kind of understanding how this whole thing worked. It was a gaming server that Lester and his friends and others used to meet up and play games. Luckily it seemed like Ned, Lester's friend, had completely forgotten about inviting him the other day when he'd visited his shop.

Dan watched the conversations on various topics and channels until he had a good idea of which person Lester was. He wasn't a hundred percent sure, but based on how the people treated one another and how Ned seemed to suck up to one user in particular, he figured that this Darkspire guy must be Lester. Sometimes, it showed this Darkspire playing video games, the names of which Dan didn't recognize. At the same time, Lester was in his room, with faint computer game noises filtering out into the hallway. However, Lester was always in his room, so Dan's connection wasn't conclusive.

Unfortunately, that's where things kind of stopped. There wasn't anything interesting being talked about on the server besides a bunch of middle-aged men coordinating meet-ups for their in-person games and complaining about nerfs. He hadn't known Nerf guns were a thing with older nerds, but to each their own. There hadn't been anything that would help Dan learn more about Lester. He couldn't even see what other servers or discussions he might be a part of.

Still, it was a lead, even if it was a weak one. He'd keep watching this Discord thing, hoping they would eventually talk about something useful. Dan had done some Google searches using Lester's handle, Darkspire, but the results were all over the place. There were too many results, and he couldn't reasonably figure out ways to filter them easily. The closest he came to seeing something useful were some old message board posts by someone under the same name that sounded arrogant and condescending like Lester, but again, he couldn't be completely sure they'd been written by him.

Maybe there was something more to be gained, but Dan didn't feel confident about it. Still, he'd keep searching and monitoring Darkspires' conversations for now. Dan tapped his finger to his lip, thinking of other avenues he might go down. He didn't know much about Lester. Ever since he moved in.....

Lester had been looking for a new roommate when they'd answered his ad. He'd probably had another roommate before. Maybe there was some way to see who else had lived at that address. Granted, whoever had lived there probably left fast with the way Lester behaved and left shit all over the apartment.

Even though Lester wasn't in town at the moment, it felt like he never left with the amount of dishes and mess left in the bathroom. Dan refused to clean up after him but that only meant that Lester's mess persisted. Even with Lester gone and Dan buried each night with work, he still felt like his roommate was lurking.

Dan did some quick searches. As he scrolled through the results, it seemed like this might be a good prospect to chase down. Maybe there was a way to look at public records or the department of motor vehicles to see who'd been registered living there before. There were even a few sites that did reverse address lookups of public records but the results didn't seem entirely accurate. Dan kept scrolling through different websites trying to dig up what he could.

A knock on his office door snapped him out of his investigation. "Come in," Dan quickly said as he glanced at the clock in the corner of the screen. Shit, where did the time go?

Without realizing it a couple hours had already passed. The door opened and Dan's boss, Walt stuck his head in, "Dan, I sent you an email asking for an update on the project for the Worsha guys. We're meeting with them in five minutes, I need that update."

"Yeah," Dan said, standing up and trying to get his mind back on work. "Sorry, Walt. I've got a lot on the go right now. Let's walk and talk. I'll update you on the way."

Lester entered the IT suite in the morning before anyone else arrived. It wasn't that he was diligent or trying to make a good impression. He just wanted to walk through when no one else was in the office - fewer people to interact with. This particular morning, when he opened the door, he saw a cubicle lamp on. Not sure if anyone was in that cubicle, Lester took a longer route, walking along the outer wall of the suite. The offices along the wall now stood empty after Richard and Lester had cut many of the department's senior positions. As Lester peered into each of the abandoned rooms, he noted that much of the decor and furniture wasn't the standard issue of the hospital, the kind that he had in his own office.

He was about to pass by the third office when he stopped, seeing something he could use.

This just keeps getting better...

Unlocking the door to his modest office, Lester walked in, picked up the phone, and hit "0." A man's voice responded, "This is administration. How may I direct your call?"

“I need a janitor down here in IT. This is the department head.”

Lester was quickly transferred to the facilities department. A man answered after four rings. “Facilities.”

The grin returned to Lester’s face. “Yeah. Could you send, uh, Otis down to IT as soon as you can? I think he dropped his gloves down here.”

“Uh, gloves? Ok, sure, I’ll send him down when he gets in.”

Lester grunted and hung up the phone. Now that he’d planned for some fun, it was time to get the annoyance of work out of the way. He entered his password and logged in.

The keyboard rhythmically clacked as Lester’s fat fingers expertly ran across it. Running a hospital’s IT department was as easy as he’d expected for the most part. Most positions related to security and maintaining their network had been eliminated entirely. Lester easily took care of most things himself - running his pre-programmed scripts that his former employees were either too stupid to figure out or too wary of in trying to keep their precious job security. In the end, it hadn’t mattered as Lester had fired the half dozen or so individuals.

Sure, there were probably some nuances he wasn’t aware of but he’d figure those out in time. Or, to be more concise, he didn’t care. This job was just a temporary means to an end anyway. All of the annoying crap he was responsible for, like setting up printers and troubleshooting computer issues in the hospital, was done by two or three individuals he’d kept on board. All of the other annoying tasks he had outsourced to other companies gave him quiet but substantive kickbacks.

“Fuck off,” Lester murmured under his breath as he read an incoming email. The only issue he had yet to find a solution to were all of these damn meetings. It seemed like every non-medical functionary in the hospital filled their day with useless meetings to justify their own positions and often required his attendance. These meetings were pointless, filled to the brim with sycophants who couldn’t make any decisions to save their lives but somehow believed the meetings were important enough for him to attend.

Just reading these emails inviting him to meetings was a colossal waste of time, let alone actually attending them. Their dumb agendas, politicking, and inane issues were something he had no patience for. He was tempted just to say ‘fuck it’ and leave. This position squandered his talents and was quite frankly beneath him. He’d much rather be at home in his lair, sitting at his command center, diving into a new game, or looking for new soft targets to exploit.

Lester frowned and shifted his weight in the uncomfortable office chair. The chair in his room in Chicago was far superior for his comfort.

But just as Lester's resolve was beginning to falter, his eyes flicked up from the monitor to the window, and he looked out at the newly empty cubicle farm of the IT department. Sarah Williams was walking down one of the aisles towards his office. Lester licked his lips as he watched her. That woman knew how to dress. Today, she had on a professional-looking black blazer and long, skinny white pants with a high waist. A small, delicate black belt adorned the pants, and a black shirt was tucked into them. The shirt wasn't low cut, but Lester could see her collarbone and the top of her chest beneath her delicate neck. It was a conservative look but still sexy in a way that communicated that she knew what she was doing. A rose gold watch with a matching necklace was on her wrist. Her blonde hair fell down past her shoulders, and her black heels clicked across the floor.

Patience. It was commonly called a virtue. Lester didn't necessarily agree with that assessment as he viewed it more as a tool for him to utilize. A tool to help him reign in his baser instincts and allow his plans to come to full fruition.

He watched as Sarah approached his office. His bloodshot eyes were drawn to the slight bounce of her breasts and the mesmerizing sway of her hips. Those long legs and the rest of her incredibly tight body spoke volumes to him. Lester felt his cock waking up, completely forgetting about his frustrations. Instead, his mind focused on her angelic face and pictured the many times he had seen it contort in pleasure from his actions. Lester had to suppress the smile from forming on his lips as he began humming the imperial march from Star Wars while his eyes stayed glued to Sarah's breasts. Despite all the turmoil she was experiencing at work and at home, that woman still looked like a sex goddess.

He stopped humming as Sarah knocked on his closed door.

"Come in," Lester said loudly.

Sarah opened the door, and her eyes locked onto his. An impish smile appeared on her face. Lester felt his cock stir at the look she gave him, the subtle undercurrents it expressed. Both of them, the only ones in on a secret of their numerous prior rendezvous.

"Hey Lester, got a second?" Sarah asked.

Always so professional. "Of course, come on in. Close the door behind you." Lester said.

“What do you need?” Lester smiled inwardly at his deliberate choice of words. There are many different meanings behind them. He knew it wasn’t lost on Sarah.

“Can I sit?” Sarah gestured to one of the chairs in front of his desk, having closed the door.

“Of course. Now, what’s going on?” Lester’s hands formed a steeple as he eyed the young mother from across his desk.

“Well, I’m still getting my head wrapped around this new position. I’m trying to figure out how I can make myself useful and remain effective. One of the gaps in my experience is that I’m not really well-versed in the IT world. I mean, I know a bit, enough to help make executive decisions but not really enough to be useful in the department.” Sarah sighed, “I just want to carve out a place for myself.”

This was music to Lester’s ears. Sarah’s demeanor had become more fragile once the door had closed. And now she was almost confiding in him, seeking reassurance, comfort, and guidance on how her world had changed since Lester had stepped into it. And he wasn’t done yet. Not by a long shot.

“I don’t think that’s going to be a problem. Yes, there are things that would be helpful for you to know, but we can help you fill in those gaps. Plus, your strength lies in the administration of the hospital, something that will no doubt be very valuable to me.” Lester chose his words carefully. He didn’t want to use the word ‘department.’ He wanted to ensure that at least subconsciously, she understood that she was tying herself to him.

“That’s good to hear.” Sarah breathed, “Can I ask you a couple of questions?” She crossed her legs and leaned forward.

“Sure,” Lester said, enjoying how subservient she’d become in the workplace power dynamics.

“I know we went over this at a high level when the breach in our network occurred. But I’m sure you went into more depth with Jerry, but how exactly did you stop it? How did you manage to fix it when others wouldn’t help us?”

Lester’s eyes stayed on Sarah, trying to discern where this was going. Why was she asking about ancient history at this point?

“Well, things were bad, normally you isolate the infected machines first, but by the time I got here, the ransomware had already spread throughout the whole network. So, I cut off all external connections, disconnected the compromised devices from the server, and blocked any suspicious IP addresses trying to contact the network. You'd be surprised how many attackers don't even bother hiding their tracks."

Sarah nodded along attentively while Lester watched her like a hawk.

"Next, I dove into the network's traffic logs. It took some time, but I tracked down the initial point of infection. There happened to be a backup of some of our servers at that Swan Systems place, but they were very out of date. It wasn't just about restoring from backup. The ransomware was a new variant—it looked like a modified version of Bad Rabbit but with a couple of custom tweaks. So, I ran a deep scan with some custom decryption scripts I've written—the thing is, I'd already reverse-engineered a similar strain last year. It turns out that these guys used the same encryption algorithm but with slightly different key distribution methods. Long story short, I had the decryption key on hand."

Something changed on Sarah's face, almost like he'd confirmed something she was looking for. Lester's brain shifted into a higher gear as he continued his explanation.

"Once I decrypted the critical files, I started patching the vulnerabilities the ransomware was exploiting. I mean, they used an old RDP exploit. Simple stuff, but you'd be surprised how many systems don't have basic security updates. That was the door they walked through. I fixed it."

Was she beginning to suspect him? The look on her face was enthusiastic, but Lester saw the familiar calculating nature in her eyes behind the smile on her face. He'd need to adjust his approach going forward with her.

"Honestly, we just got lucky that this is one I've run into before. Otherwise, I'm not sure I would have been able to fix it. Luckily, I'm part of some cyber security groups that share resources and tools like the ones I used; otherwise, we would probably have had to pay the ransom."

"Wow. I mean, I knew there was more to it but that does sound impressive. Difficult and impressive. It got me thinking, can you track down who hacked us and do, like, a reverse hack or something like that?" Sarah asked, leaning forward.

There it was. Asking if he could do the hacking himself. She was digging for information, maybe, probably, at the behest of Dan. Fuck, he needed to sever that connection immediately.

“No, unfortunately, that kind of thing isn’t in my skill set,” Lester adjusted his story on the fly, “I could probably track the IP address they used to get into our network, but they likely bounced their attack around the internet so it wouldn’t do us any good. Even if I could find them, I can’t ‘hack’ them. What I do is more like building and maintaining a castle’s walls. Sometimes things get in and need to get pushed out, and then we make the wall stronger. Hacking is like laying siege to the castle or infiltrating it somehow. I’m more of a defensive player if that makes sense.”

“Hmmm, interesting,” Sarah sat back up straight as she mulled things over. “Well, I’m glad you’re on our side.”

For whatever reason, she had been probing it. Perhaps he had slipped up somewhere and made her suspicious. He would need to adjust his strategy going forward.

“Sarah, can I ask you something while you’re here?” Lester said, “I’m looking for shared files on our new strategic direction, but I can’t find them. Mary said they were on the shared server, but I honestly can’t find anything there. Do you know where I should look?”

Sarah’s eyes seemed to flare at the mention of Mary, the woman who was now the head of HR and had pushed Sarah out of her office. That’s something I can use.

“Let’s see,” Sarah said as she came around the back of Lester’s desk and looked at his monitor, “You should look in the HR folder. I bet Mary saved them in her own personal folder there. That one,” she pointed to a folder. “There’s been an issue with past employees working on shared documents. I had a policy in place that addressed it, but with all of the turnover recently, I’m sure it’s fallen by the wayside.”

“That makes sense,” Lester started clicking into the HR folder. “Ah, there it is. Thank you, Sarah. I would’ve been looking for this for hours without you.”

A new strategy for approaching Sarah, at least at work, was forming in his head. He had to admit that his plan was still evolving. He hadn’t expected to work at the hospital, but it did present some exciting opportunities he wouldn’t have had in Chicago. He needed to lower Sarah’s perception of his technical skills, and he needed to keep her busy so that she wouldn’t have the opportunity to read into what he could do too deeply. And there was a very convenient way for him to do that while handling another problem - killing two birds with one stone.

“So,” Lester said, swiveling his chair towards Sarah. Much to his dismay, she was moving back to the other side of the desk. “I need to get you up to speed on new things happening in the hospital. I’m a little overwhelmed, to be honest. I’m going to forward a bunch of meeting invitations to you. We'll go together today, but I'll want you to go without me and represent the department soon. Are you up for it?"

"That's...yeah, I think so. But, like I said before, I don't really know what I'll be talking about." Sarah said.

"That's fine. Neither will anyone we'll be meeting with. It's more of an administrative role in these meetings anyway. I'm sure you'll be able to handle that."

"I'll do my best," Sarah smiled as she rose from her chair, getting ready to leave. Lester let his eyes deliberately roam over her body.

"Now that we've talked about all that. Maybe we should move on to a topic that is more personal in nature...."

"I...um...I don't know Lester. Maybe we can talk about this after? I need to dig in and get my head around my new role."

"You don't want to talk about how you just kicked me out last night? It was cold out," Lester complained.

"Look, you know that things are complicated, okay? You shouldn't have come over in the first place." Sarah crossed her arms over her breasts.

"You let me in," Lester challenged.

"I was afraid someone was going to see you, and then they'd find out about us!" Sarah said. "You aren't supposed to come to the house anymore."

"You didn't complain at all last night. I'm pretty sure you didn't complain several times last night," Lester smirked, enjoying the conflicted look on Sarah's face. His cock was stirring as he watched the young wife squirm.

"That's not....look, there are just some personal lines I don't want to cross. This is important to Dan and I. Our house is off-limits, especially when the kids are home, okay? You can't just show up unannounced like that. It's not fair to put me in that position."

Lester chuckled, thinking about how one of the girls had thought he was her father last night, "This is the first time you've complained about any position I've put you in."

“Stop. Stop deflecting, Lester. Stop trying to make this into something else. And yes, last night was good....great even, but we can’t do it like that again, okay? I need you to hear me. You can’t just show up like that anymore. Please?”

“Fine.” Lester grumbled, “I’ll be good. It’s just that I couldn’t control myself. I just needed you, and I couldn’t stay away.”

Sarah’s stance softened. Lester knew she was lonely with Dan being so far away in Chicago. Expressing his desire for her would help wear down her defenses further.

“Well, just don’t do it again, okay? We can figure something else out next time.”

Lester smiled, “Okay.”

Sarah sighed like a weight had been lifted off her shoulders, “Alright, well, if there isn’t anything else, I want to go do some work.”

“There’s just that meeting in a bit,” Lester said as he pulled open a drawer on his desk, “And one last thing. I want you to go home and get the ring I gave you. Come back with it on your finger.”

The ring he had proposed to her with in front of a restaurant full of strangers and Dan helplessly looking on.

“Lester....I can’t do that.”

“Sure you can. Just slide that tiny ring Dan got you off and put mine on your finger,” Lester said.

“That ring is fine when we are... playing around, but we’re both at work right now. It’s not appropriate. Besides,” she whispered, even though only the two of them could hear, “people will notice.”

“That’s kind of the point. I want you walking around marked as mine.” His dead-eyed stare left no question that he was completely serious.

Sarah visibly shivered at Lester’s words. Lester’s eyes tracked some other coworkers walking by the window. Watching Sarah squirm in such a public setting was always delightful. If he squinted, he was sure he would be able to see her nipples poking through her shirt.

“Don’t pretend you don’t like the idea,” Lester said. “I know you. I know what you like.”

“It’s just - “

“It’ll only be here at the office. And during our dates. You don’t have to wear it around Dan or your family or anything.”

“Lester, it’s just...that ring is really... conspicuous. People will see it and know that it’s new. The diamond looks really expensive. It stands out, and I –”

“It was and that’s the point, isn’t it? When you buy someone a ring, you should buy a good one, otherwise what’s the point? It’s supposed to show how much they mean to you and how well you can take care of them, right? I guess a small little one is romantic in an impoverished way, but it’s also kind of pathetic.” Lester emphasized that last word as he watched Sarah’s face closely.

“A- and,” Sarah stammered, “I don’t really want that kind of attention.”

“Sarah,” Lester chuckled, “Have you looked in a mirror? You’re going to get attention whether you like it or not. Sure, it won’t always be good. That’s probably why that bitch Mary has it out for you. But why not flaunt what you have? Rub her face in it. That ring is yours, and you should wear it.”

“I don’t know, Lester, this just feels wrong.”

“Wrong? That’s never stopped you before. In fact I would argue that you very much enjoy doing things you used to think were ‘wrong’. So why not try this? If it makes you feel better, consider it a direct order from your boss. Now you have to do it. Got it?”

“Besides,” Lester leaned back in the chair, “We both know how wet the ring and this conversation are making you. So why don’t you just take an early lunch break and go get it, hmm? Bosses orders.” He nodded his head in the direction of his door. Sarah tracked the shiver in his jowls as his head moved.

She stood there a little stunned, staring back at him, looking like she was unsure how to proceed. He could see the conflict in her eyes. She was torn between giving in to his demands and the last shreds of her professional stature. Another thing that Lester planned on completely stripping away from her.

“Lester, we need to talk about how we interact in the office. This is still my workplace. Things were okay before but today, it’s like you’ve flipped a switch.”

“You’re right. Maybe I am letting a bit too much of my, uh, Chicago self creep into my role here. I’ll try to be more respectful like I have been. But seriously, go home and get the ring. Now turn around and go so I can watch that sweet ass sway on your way out. I know you enjoy this, and I know you know how much I love when you put up a fight, so thank you for that.”

Sarah’s sly smile spread across her face as she shook her head slowly. “You are just unbelievable.”

Lester raised an eyebrow at her and smirked, “Now turn around and get out of here so I can check out that ass.”

With a sigh, Sarah turned on heels and opened the door to the office. Lester licked his lips as he saw Sarah’s hips subtly rock back and forth, obviously putting on a little show for him. Soon, she disappeared from view and reappeared, walking past his window, where she rolled her eyes at him.

Lester’s smirk darkened as he turned back to his computer. Yes, Sarah would be perfect to alleviate him of all these time-sucking meetings so he could focus on more productive endeavors. It was clear that a regular nine-to-five, forcing people to interact regularly with weak people, probably curbed a lot of great men’s ambitions. Too much time spent keeping the plebs happy. If Sarah could shield him from all of that, he could focus on what really mattered.

Further weaken the Williamses financially and impregnate the mother. The idea of walking into their home and taking Sarah upstairs while Dan attended to his daughters and his progeny played in his mind. Lester had graduated from pursuing single women who fell for being his roommate. The challenge of a married woman and manipulating things to this degree was so much sweeter.

He fired up his VPN on the computer in front of him and opened his TOR browser. Lester quickly navigated to his virtual server and accessed the dark web. He didn’t bother checking any of the many communications he’d more than likely received about accessing his private videos or those trying to set up some kind of personal encounter. No, today, it was all about the mission.

It was time to find someone who could help him produce the tablets and manufacture the blister packaging to mimic Sarah’s birth control pills.

It had been too fucking long. Jesse was supposed to be on his computer looking for a new job. He had been unemployed for a little bit now, but it wasn’t his job search that was frustrating him. He hadn’t heard anything from her.

What the hell was going on? He knew there was something there. They definitely shared a connection during that night at the hotel. It was undeniable. When they were together, it was as if the world had just clicked. It finally made sense.

He knew she felt it, too. She had to.

Even though she had still let that disgusting bastard of a man touch her, Jesse knew the truth. When Sarah had opened up for him, he knew there was something more than just sex happening. More than just the physical connection. The way her sensuous lips kissed his back and lovingly accepted his tongue, the way her nails raked down his back. It was as if they were the only two people in the entire world, even though Lester had always been somewhere close by.

If only he hadn't been there. It would've been perfect. He still didn't understand what had happened or why Lester had been at that hotel with her. All he knew was he'd had to send Dan some dumb picture, and Lester finally gave Jesse what he longed for.

But he still hadn't heard anything from her. She should have called right after he'd last been with her. To tell him she was done with Dan and that she loved him. But that call had never come. Jesse racked his brain, trying to think of what was keeping her away.

It had to be Dan or Lester. Somehow they were controlling her, keeping her away from him.

Jesse pushed himself away from the desk in his bedroom, and he flopped onto the bed. On his phone, he opened up Instagram and looked at Sarah's profile. It was still set to private, but he checked again anyway. His request to follow her was still pending.

Did Dan or Lester control her Instagram account, too? Jesse tossed his phone onto the floor. He had to figure out how to save her.

The more he thought about Sarah Williams, the more frustrated he became. He kept replaying the events in the hotel room repeatedly in his head as he lay there. Soon his hand trailed down to his dick, and he closed his eyes tight, trying to remember every moment vividly. Echoes of her voice kept repeating in his ears.

I'm going to take good care of you...

This pattern had repeated itself for several days but Jesse didn't care. He needed her. He needed her because she needed him.

Sarah tapped her pen anxiously against the table as she waited alone in the well-lit meeting room. She was early, but she still felt nervous about the next meeting. Lester had forwarded the invitation to her. It wasn't his meeting; it was Mary's, which meant that Sarah was kind of crashing it, even though her boss had asked her to be there.

Lester as my boss.....what a sentence.

As preposterous as that fact was, she needed to get over it and put her head down, and do her job. She'd come extremely close to losing her career at the hospital. She didn't even want to contemplate what that would have meant for her family. Dan still hadn't found stable footing in Chicago, and they absolutely needed her income. More than that, they'd be better off severely cutting down on some of their expenses and adjusting their lifestyle.

If it hadn't been for Lester's intervention, things might have become really bleak. She put down the pen and played with the unfamiliar ring on her finger. It was beautiful, and she loved the way it caught the light. It still felt strange wearing it. It was heavier than the ring Dan had given her, and it tended to catch on her clothes and doorways if she wasn't careful. But more than that, she felt it was inappropriate to wear it. Like she was broadcasting her secret sexual lifestyle to the world. Almost like she was advertising that Lester was her lover.

Sarah shook her head, trying to pull herself together. None of this mattered if she couldn't do her job. Lester would get a kick out of seeing her wear his ring in the meeting, and then she could say she did as he'd requested.

Sarah slid open her phone to distract herself before anyone else arrived. There was a new Instagram notification that made her frown: a follow-up request from Jesse. Whether it was the algorithm suggesting her to him or him deliberating seeking her out, she wasn't sure, but either way, she declined it.

She didn't need any additional complications in her life, and she sure as hell didn't want Jesse to see her Instagram page. She used to leave it open before but had recently learned the benefits of making it private. Besides, what would Dan say? Sarah sighed as she thought about her husband. She still hadn't told him about all the turmoil at her workplace recently. It would only worry him, and Lester had taken care of things – something she was sure would unnecessarily upset Dan. It was better to protect him from all that was playing out here, at least for now. Let him focus on establishing their foothold in Chicago. Something that seemed like it was never going to happen. She didn't even know if that's what she wanted anymore.

The door to the meeting room opened, and Lester's fat frame appeared in the doorway before he stepped inside.

"Hey, good looking," Lester said.

"Lester!" Sarah spoke in a hushed tone, "You can't say shit like that."

"Relax, no one's around," He stood at the table with his laptop under his arm. He looked down at the table with a confused look, "Hey, uh, do you know how I can connect to the screen? It's like every meeting room is different."

Choosing to ignore his earlier comment, Sarah helped Lester connect his laptop to the room's conference system so that he could project his computer's video onto the big white screen affixed to one wall. She had been in this meeting room hundreds of times before, so she knew it was pretty straightforward. The irony of her helping the head of IT with a computer issue was not lost on her.

While Lester seemed to know what he was doing when it came to securing their network, he didn't seem particularly adept at other aspects of the department. Perhaps it was premature to put him in a position that showed his weaknesses, but Sarah didn't want to say anything. Her success was partly tied to his now, for better or worse.

"Nice ring," Lester chuckled. His chair squealed and buckled as he sat down in it across from her.

"Thanks," Sarah said quietly, hoping Lester wouldn't escalate his comments and someone would overhear. To her surprise, he busied himself on his laptop, ignoring her completely. Sarah stared at him, waiting for him to break and look at her, but he never did. She tried to think up some witty comment to get his attention but found herself coming up short. Was she...disappointed? Yes, she definitely wanted him to keep his mouth shut about them, but that didn't mean she liked him ignoring her.

She heard the sound of approaching footsteps and voices and quickly focused on the meeting at hand. She still felt unqualified to be part of this discussion from the IT side of things but she put on her best poker face. Soon a few people filtered in followed by Mary whose face seemed to frown at seeing Sarah there.

Sarah just smiled politely as she felt the older woman's gaze run over her, judging her appearance. Then her eyes locked onto the ring on Sarah's finger.

"Are congratulations in order?" Mary asked, sitting down, "I thought you were already married, though."

“I am,” Sarah said, already having come up with a practiced excuse about the ring, “We just celebrated a milestone anniversary, and he surprised me with it.”

“How lovely,” Mary said keeping her eyes on Sarah, “It must be nice to have such a well off husband. Sort of makes me wonder why you work at all.”

Sarah stared daggers at the woman, her carefully maintained professional facade cracking. She inhaled through her nose to calm herself and stuffed her anger down. She would kill Mary with kindness. “We are doing fine. This was something out of the ordinary that he saved up for, for a very long time.”

Sarah had a hunch that Mary was single in an old spinster kind of way. “He’s great, honestly. It was such a surprise, and he even did the whole proposal thing again, which I loved. It’s amazing to be married to such a caring, thoughtful man who wants to take care of me—even though he knows I don’t need him to. I just love him so much.”

Sarah caught herself, realizing in a way she wasn’t talking about Dan, but Lester. Yes, she was supposed to be talking about her husband but the ring was from Lester. Granted, most of what she said was kind of true for Lester in a way. But it felt weird to have gushed over him like that. Still, she saw that her kindness strategy was irking Mary so she decided to add the cherry on top.

“Sure. Sure. Anyways, Sarah, I’m glad to see you here. I didn’t know whether you would take this position with Lester or not—it’s definitely not something everyone would be comfortable signing on for. But I’m sure you’ve got it covered, even if it’s a bit outside of your usual lane.”

Sarah just gritted her teeth, “Thanks, Mary, that means a lot coming from you.”

The meeting got underway, but Sarah had a hard time focusing. She would have loved to reach across the table and slam Mary’s head down, but she tried to keep herself under control. The discussion going around the table was getting different departments on the same page and streamlining communications. Something Sarah had already done, but it appeared her efforts had already been abandoned. Lots of different ideas were being thrown out, all of which seemed like too much work for too little benefit. Lester wasn’t engaged at all. Instead, he was glued to his computer. She suspected he was projecting one screen on the board while doing something else entirely.

“Can I offer a suggestion?” Sarah said, feeling confident enough about the topic to jump in. She explained some ideas and simple ways to streamline communications and reduce the volume of email traffic. Without going too far, she basically outlined some of the responsibilities of her now-defunct role.

There were a few approving nods amongst the new hires, but Mary was the first to speak, “I admire how you’re able to get through so many things with such a... minimal amount of effort. Some of us prefer to really dig deep, but it’s nice to see a more... streamlined approach. Sometimes the simple approach isn’t the best one, though, honey.”

The meeting continued like that for the next hour. Any time Sarah spoke up with an idea, Mary shot her down each time.

“It’s always so fascinating to hear your perspective. You really bring a... different angle to things. I know it can be tough to get everyone on the same page when your viewpoint is so... distinct.”

“Oh, that’s an interesting approach. I would never have thought of doing it that way—it’s definitely unique. I’m sure it’ll work out, though. We all have our own methods, don’t we?”

“I have to admire how you manage to stay so confident, even when you’re completely off the mark. I wish I could be so sure of myself, even when I know I’m wrong.”

“I never would have thought of doing it that way, but I can see how you’d think it would work. I mean, it’s... not the way I would approach it, but it’s good to see someone else try, you know?”

Sarah gritted her teeth each time, feeling herself getting worked up. Maybe this is what Mary was trying to do, undermine her and provoke her in front of a room full of witnesses. Sarah did her best to keep her cool.

As the meeting was winding down, Mary made one last suggestion to the group.

“You know, I think it might be best that the next time we meet, we cut down the number of participants. There was a lot of cross-talk and some ideas that just didn’t land. We could get more done with fewer people. Don’t you agree, Lester?”

“Who would you want to keep around?” Lester asked.

“Well, for starters, I don’t think we really need more than one person from each department. So maybe next time, don’t forward the invitation. We only requested your presence...not anyone else’s.”

Sarah saw Lester suppress a smirk as he closed his laptop.

“Are you trying to tell me how to run my department, Mary?”

“No, it’s just that –”

“I get what it’s about,” Lester scoffed, “You don’t like Sarah. You’re jealous of her, and it’s obvious why.”

“I’m not, that is completely out –”

Sarah winced. Lester clearly wasn’t adept at office politics, which wasn’t surprising considering he spent all day playing video games in his room.

“Listen,” Lester interrupted, “Sarah is my right hand now. She will attend many meetings in my place so you’d better get used to it. She’ll be running point on projects for me, so I don’t have to get dragged down into the weeds like this again.”

“This meeting was important, it –”

“Was a complete waste of time for everyone involved. This meeting could have been more efficient if it had been via email. Do you know the salaries of all the people in this room? I don’t know, but if I had to guess, the hour this meeting took would cost our hospital over a thousand dollars. And quite frankly, I don’t think the hospital got anywhere near one thousand dollars of value out of it.”

“Lester, let’s talk about this after.”

“No, I don’t want to attend yet another of these meetings. You need to bite your tongue and work with Sarah. Richard hired me to streamline my department, which I did, and he has asked me to find other areas to cut expenses. Frankly, meetings like this are one of them. So, I think you need to think long and hard about your approach going forward. Human Resources is a support function of the hospital. You add no value and don’t contribute to any of the key metrics that Richard is measuring. IT, on the other hand, is critical to the operation of the hospital, and Richard knows that. So unless you want me to bring up this pettiness with him, you better come with an improved attitude towards my team next time.”

Mary and the other remaining individuals sat there in stunned silence. Lester nodded his head once, looking like he thought his point had sunk in. Then he gestured towards Sarah, “Alright, let’s go to our next meeting, where there are actually pertinent issues to discuss.”

Sarah stood up and followed Lester to the door, trying her best not to smile.

“Where’s our next meeting?” Sarah said when she was confident they were far enough away from the meeting room not to be overheard. The tension of the meeting still lingered in the air between them, “You didn’t forward me any others.”

“My office,” Lester said as he strode down the hallway, Sarah keeping pace next to him. It was strange. After that verbal smackdown on Mary, Lester somehow seemed more....confident? Maybe powerful? She couldn’t put her finger on it, but she hadn’t ever seen him like this before. Yes, sometimes he would get into it with Dan, but he was more of a schemer. Here, he had confronted someone to their face. It kind of reminded her of the way he talked to his group of friends he played D&D with. Whatever it was, it suited him. Maybe he could do this job after all.

Lester didn’t say anything else as they walked down the hallway to the IT department. Sarah’s stomach still turned at some of Mary’s passive aggressive comments but she held her head high, enjoying the feeling of witnessing her get verbally berated by Lester. Maybe her earlier gushing over the strange man weren’t so weird after all. Maybe she could truly appreciate Lester for who he was and how he treated her.

She didn’t know if it would actually change anything. She knew women like Mary. Lester had probably caught her off guard, but once she slinked back to her office, so she would start to stew and scheme. How the hell that woman had been hired was beyond Sarah. Morale would tank under an HR leader like that, but maybe that was the point.

By the time they reached Lester’s office, Sarah’s heart was still racing. Each beat was a jagged pulse of frustration and twisted satisfaction. Anger still bubbled beneath her skin at Mary’s comments in the meeting. A sharp, bitter ache that made her jaw tighten and fists clench.

She could feel her face flush, her eyes burning with the heat of every word she wanted to shout, every accusation that still lingered in the air. She kept her mouth shut and breathed deeply through her nose.

But there was something else, something that made her stomach flutter in a way she didn’t expect—almost like a secret thrill. She wasn’t sure whether it was the relief of seeing someone finally get what they deserved or the strange, unbidden pleasure of knowing she’d had a front-row seat to their comeuppance. The fact that it was Lester, someone who had such a....personal connection to her, defended her like that. She couldn’t deny how attractive his assertiveness had been.

Her chest tightened with the kind of tension you feel when on the edge of an explosion, but also the kind of tension you get when you know things are about to change irrevocably—for better or worse. She just needed to find a release for that tension.

Sarah stepped into Lester's office and couldn't help but pace around a bit. There was too much conflicting energy in her body for her to sit still. Lester shut the door behind him and walked to the window overlooking the cubicles outside. He grasped the plastic rod dangling next to it and started to turn it, slowly closing the blinds and cutting off their view. As Lester fidgeted with the blinds, Sarah noticed a new piece of furniture in Lester's office. The small sofa reminded her a little of the seats in the Chicago living room. It had roughly the same dimensions, but this one was imitation leather with a garish greenish-yellow hue. It wasn't anything she'd have picked out for herself.

"Redecorating?" Sarah asked, nodding to the seat.

"Stole it from one of the cubicles out there. From one of the people we fired. It was the right dimensions for what I need. But what about you? You okay?" Lester asked, "I'm sorry if I overstepped there at the end."

"Yes. No. I don't know," Sarah shook her head, her arms crossed over her breasts as she leaned against the wall. "I wanted to reach across the table and slap her. No one has ever talked to me like that here. Nobody. So petty and condescending."

Sarah shook her head, "There's no way that would have flown a few months ago before all the changes around here. But now I don't even know where I stand anymore. I feel like I don't have any power to stand up for myself. Maybe I never did. But at least I had the respect of my colleagues. Now, now I don't know."

Lester was watching her closely. Sarah continued, "But the way you put her in her place. To see the look on her face. That was amazing. I loved every second of it." Her eyes lit up, savoring the memory.

"She needed to be taken down a peg," Lester said walking over to Sarah, "She's been annoying me since I started. It was time for her to understand the new pecking order. Maybe we should take her down another peg or two."

"What do you mean?" Sarah looked at Lester, wide-eyed.

"I don't know. Let's see how much she keeps pissing you off. I have a stack of requests from her department. Why don't we start by purposely delaying those until she comes down here personally asking for them? Then you can toy with her a bit. Maybe make her beg. Who knows, maybe we could tape over the bottom of her phone so it doesn't work or change her autocorrect in Word to mess with her... unless you want to get creative and let the air out of her tires or something like that. I haven't thought too far ahead."

“She’s a bitch, but messing with her car might be crossing a line.” Sarah gave him a sidelong look. “The other things though, it might be fun seeing her squirm a bit.” Sarah shook her head, suppressing a smile. It was nice to have someone to share her frustrations with. Someone who wanted to back her up. She eyed Lester as he got closer. She recognized the look in his eyes, and her heart kept beating in her chest. There was one great and obvious way to release the tension that had become pent up inside of her.

“I enjoyed the attention your ring got,” Lester said, stepping up to her, “So many people in the room’s eyes on it. Seeing the ring represents how bad you can be. How... how tied to me you are.”

Sarah didn’t respond. Her arms were still wrapped around herself. Her shallow breaths made her chest rise and fall. As Lester stepped closer, she felt the hair on the back of her neck standing on end. Her earlier arguments in this very room about keeping things professional seemed so far away. Maybe even the dreams of a naive girl who didn’t understand how the world really worked. Lester’s intense gaze was locked onto her eyes. She stared back, trying in vain to appear like she didn’t want this.

Didn’t want him. But she could already feel her nipples pressing insistently against the cups of her bra. It took every ounce of willpower she had not to bite her lip as he hungrily stared at her. Her arms slowly dropped from her chest as she turned to fully face him. Lester broke eye contact and let his stare start to roam over her body deliberately noting that he could tell she was excited, even with her bra still on.

Lester reached out and grabbed her right hand, the one with the ring on it. He pretended to look at the ring as his fingers gently stroked the back of her hand. While staring at the ring, he continued to move forward until his gut was pressing up against her taut belly. His eyes never left the ring as he leaned into her ear and whispered, “How you belong to me now.”

A shiver ran through Sarah’s body at his word, and she breathed out. Lester’s breath was hot on her neck, and she had to do everything in her power not to moan. She closed her eyes, focusing on his heavy breathing and how warm his body was up against hers. She waited for him to do something else. To touch her somewhere intimate. But other than his fat stomach pressing up against her, nothing happened.

Sarah opened her eyes. Lester’s face was right in front of hers, his eyes boring into her soul. Sarah’s breath was getting caught in her throat as she stared back at him. His eyes flicked down to look at her parted lips and then back up to her eyes. Slowly, he leaned forward as Sarah’s back was pinned against the wall.

His fat lips gently pressed against hers. Slow and delicate. A soft moan escaped her lips as Lester's hands gripped her wrists and held them, keeping them down at her hips. His body pressed into hers, pinning her further to the wall. The sounds of phones ringing and other office activities could be heard through the window, but the only sound from within was the wet smacking of lips.

Sarah's tongue was the first of the two to dart out of her mouth. Even with her eyes closed she could feel Lester's mouth smile as her tongue ran over his lips. His fat tongue slowly pushed back against hers until their kiss deepened and their tongues entwined in a wrestling match. Sarah leaned forward and melted into the kiss with her husband's roommate as Lester's crotch began to grind against her white pants.

She could feel his large organ jutting into her and the immense heat coming from it. She needed to feel it. Lester released her arms as his mouth continued to voraciously devour hers. His hands ran up her body, brazenly groping and squeezing her chest until they reached her shoulders, where he began peeling off her blazer. As the garment hit the floor, Lester's palms moved to Sarah's bare biceps. He forcefully pulled her towards him as his gut immobilized her against the wall, driving his cock between her legs.

"Fuck," Sarah moaned, breaking their kiss. Lester didn't let up, his tongue and lips ravaging her neck. Slobbering all over her perfect skin. Sarah's arms braced themselves against Lester's body. Sarah moaned into Lester's face, "We shouldn't....shouldn't be doing this."

"Mhmm, fuck ya," Lester's tongue danced tantalizingly along Sarah's collarbone, making her squirm under him. His lips descended to the top of her chest that her shirt left exposed. "I like when you play hard to get, but we both know you're going to be moaning for my cock as I fuck you in here."

"Uhhh, Lester. S-slow down. Things have been going too fast lately," Sarah groaned as he pushed his tongue past the top of her shirt and licked her perfect breasts while his hands indiscriminately mauled them over the blouse's material. He was actively dry-humping her as she was pinned to the wall. "We should pump the breaks...."

"I'll be sure to keep fucking pumping," Lester growled into her chest, frustration evident in his voice. While his hips kept indiscriminately thrusting against his roommate's wife, he roughly tugged at her tucked-in top, freeing it from the confines of her tight pants. He continued to grind his hard cock against her body setting the rhythm for what they both knew was about to occur.

With her shirt free, Lester wasted no time pulling it up her body until the dark emerald bra was exposed. Lester didn't even wait to pull her shirt off. Instead, his face dove down between her large breasts, his hands roughly grabbing at them, his eyes covered by her jiggling skin. His tongue and lips went to town on her soft flesh, sucking, biting, tasting. Sarah instinctively arched her back into his face, her hands automatically flying up to grasp the back of his head and neck, pulling him into her, maximizing the contact. Her black shirt sat awkwardly above her breasts, but neither dared move to fix it. Both were getting lost in each other's bodies.

Further protest died on Sarah's lips. Her eyes were closed as her hands ran through Lester's thinning hair. Lester growled into her chest, and soon, his hands were no longer satisfied. They dropped down to her delicate belt and started undoing the clasp. In one fluid motion he pulled the entire length of the belt out and threw it behind him. It clattered against the wall, neither of them pausing to care about the noise it made.

"Did-did you lock the door?" Sarah breathed as Lester's tongue trailed down her stomach and dipped into her navel, making her body writhe. His hands unsnapped, unzipped and lowered her tight white pants, exposing a matching dark emerald pair of panties that rode high on her hips.

It had been so important the last time she'd fooled around with Lester at the hospital to leave the building. To get away from prying eyes, only for them to be discovered by Otis, one of the lowly janitors. Now, it seemed all her protests were contained in a quiet part of her brain while being drowned out by the intense need to feel Lester between her legs. Her mind silently acknowledged the points of the arguments. The dangers of being caught were enumerated, but her mind decided it simply didn't care.

Lester's tongue continued to descend as her pants went lower and lower until they were pooled around her black heels. Sarah groaned as Lester's nose pressed against her panty-covered pussy, and she could feel his hot breath against her sex. He growled as the smell of her heat fueled his frenzy.

Before Sarah realized what was happening, Lester swiftly tugged down her panties in one swift motion and dove his face into her sex. She grabbed onto his thinning hair as her panties dangled between her knees. Lester's tongue was already exploring up and down her slit until it found her clit. Once discovered, his oversized tongue began drawing circles around it, and his mouth gently sucked on it as he expertly hummed deep bass notes. The humming's vibrations on his lips sent electric shivers through her body.

The gorgeous wife was hunched over awkwardly as her unlikely lover consumed her in a standing position. Sarah's knees grew weak, and she desperately wished there was a bed for her to lay down on so Lester could properly eat her out with his skilled tongue. Lester's hands fumbled with one of her pant legs, freeing it before lowering her panties down the entire way. Then he lifted one of her legs up at the same time. His tongue ran down her slit until it found the entrance to her body. Sarah threw her head back, bumping it into the wall as Lester's large tongue pushed its way past her pussy lips inside of her body. The slick juices already coating her entrance mixed with his saliva as his tongue burrowed deep inside of her.

"Mhmmmmmmmmfuuuckkk," Sarah moaned, pinned to the wall and off balance. The strength in her one leg was under fire as Lester's probing tongue lapped and explored her sensitive insides. His tongue felt large, like an expanding water balloon, licking over every slick crevice of her insides. "Uh, ooh, uhhh, oooh."

Lester moaned into her pussy in approval at her taste. Sarah opened her eyes and started at the closed office door, knowing that someone could come through at any moment. That she needed to be quiet, or else their illicit affair would be discovered. But when had she ever been quiet with Lester? Her worry disappeared as she realized the wrongness was driving her lust.

"You're so fucking wet. I bet you were wet during that meeting, weren't you?" Lester said as he took a breath before diving back into her pussy. Sarah groaned. The squelching sounds of his tongue in her pussy filled the room. "MmmmmHHMMMmmmm. You're such a good little slut."

Lester's hand moved to cup one of her ass cheeks. "You know how many guys I've caught staring at your ass?" Lester asked as his tongue withdrew behind that shit-eating grin. "I've lost track. You think you need job security? This ass, this ass is it." He shook her cheek roughly, his large fingers dangerously close to her asshole.

She knew her ass looked incredible. She worked on making sure it did. And she knew the attention that she received. Her body shuddered as she thought about the eyes that would follow her. The leering gaze of that grubby janitor Otis who looked at her like he knew who she was behind her corporate facade.

"You're so gross," Sarah said. Lester gripped her by the hip and spun her around, pushing her back towards a low table and the new sofa that sat off to the side of the room. The back of Sarah's knees connected with the cool pleather and Lester pushed her down into it. A shiver ran up her spine at the cold material pressing against her body.

"Open them up for me," Lester commanded. Sarah's knees were together as she sat there looking down at Lester's ugly face kneeling before her. She was missing one heel and her pristine white pants were dragged across the floor, one pant leg still dangling around her ankle.

With a deep, calculated breath, Sarah's knees spread open for Lester as she watched his face. His gaze was focused on her clean-shaven pussy in front of him. In a quick motion, much like a practiced predator, Lester shot forward with Sarah's knees hooked over his elbows. His hands grabbed a mound of flesh on each thigh as his head disappeared between her legs.

Sarah's head rested on the back of the imitation leather chair as Lester's tongue swirled around madly inside of her. He was touching what felt like every single inch of her, his tongue spinning in erratic circles like a tornado. One of Sarah's hands lay on the back of his head while the other gripped the arm of the chair tightly.

Lester came up for a breath and stared up at her wickedly, "I fucking knew I'd get you naked in my office before the end of—"

Sarah's hand cut him off by pulling his head back to her soaking wet pussy. His lips smashed against her pussy lips while he was still talking. He quickly got the hint, and his tongue dove back into her. Sarah's heel rested on Lester's shoulder, pressing into the flabby flesh under his work shirt.

"Uh, fuckk. Lester. Don't stop," Sarah moaned. Her hand left the arm of the sofa and was gently teasing the upper area of her breasts, running up and down against the lacy material of her bra. Lester pushed his tongue further into her, making her gasp. This new seated angle gave Lester more access to consume her precious privates.

One of Lester's hands started to roam over her body, stopping to compete with her own hands, mauling and groping at her breasts. Then it continued upwards, briefly clasping her neck. As Sarah moaned, Lester stuck two of his fingers into her mouth. Instinctively she began sucking on them, her tongue wrapping and lapping at the underside of them like sucking on a cock. Faint Cheetos flavor could be tasted on his fingers, but Sarah quickly sucked off whatever remnants remained as she took his fingers further into her mouth.

Lester's tongue continued to swirl around inside of her, pushing as deep as he could get it. Sarah's hips rose off the chair to meet his plunging tongue. The heel of her shoe dug into the flesh of his shoulder, causing a dark bruise he'd find later. Lester tried to withdraw his finger from Sarah's mouth, but her free hand snapped up and gripped the back of his hand, holding it in place. She lapped at it, imagining she was simultaneously being eaten out and sucking Lester's cock, a new fantasy she wished he could fulfill for her.

"Mhmm fuck Lester, right," Sarah moaned around the digits in her mouth. She pulled his hand hard, forcing his fingers deeper into her mouth as she moaned and sucked on them.

Imagining Lester's large cock head filling her mouth.

Two of Lester's fingers pushed inside of her pussy as Lester's tongue pulled out. He started finger fucking her, his fingers making a 'come here' motion inside of her, the tips of his fingers running across her sensitive G-Spot. Lester's tongue descended back onto Sarah's exposed clit as he finger fucked her and sucked on her. The fingers in Sarah's mouth were relentless. The tension in her body from everything that had happened today was ratcheting up until Sarah could feel her orgasm ready to burst open inside of her.

Sarah's heel dug down harder into Lester's shoulder, ripping a hole in his shirt. Her hand held his head in place between her legs while the other gripped the hand with the fingers in her mouth like a hard cock.

"Fuck, don't stop. I'm gonna, gonna – FUCK" Sarah moaned loudly as a wave of pleasure crashed down on her. The nerves in her body all lit up at once as her leg kicked out straight, and her body writhed with pleasure. Her orgasm had been dialed up expertly by Lester. Sarah's muscles tensed, and her hips lifted off the seat, her pussy pressed hard into Lester's ugly face as she came. Lester continued to hum around her clit, ensuring that her orgasm kept rocking her body.

Sarah finally gasped for air, feeling a sudden headrush. She quickly reminded herself that she needed to stop holding her breath when she came. Her body slumped down in the chair as Lester continued to finger fuck and lick her clit. Sarah could sit here all afternoon and enjoy this treatment. Maybe things were starting to look up at work. This could become a regularly scheduled meeting between the two of them.

Lester's fingers kept making the 'come here' gesture, and as electric as it felt inside of her, Sarah wanted to try something.

"Lester," she whispered, realizing that she might have been moaning too loud. "Stop."

Lester didn't stop but his eyes snapped open as he looked up at her. At one time Sarah would have been disgusted with the troll-like man's head buried between her legs, his fat face red from exertion and his eyes seemingly bulging out of his head. But now all she saw was one thing.

"L-Lester, Lester get up, I want... to, to." Lester paused his assault and stared into her eyes. He pulled back and Sarah could see her moisture covering his mouth and cheeks.

"Let's try this." Sarah's hand ganly coaxed him to stand up. The short ogre stood, his eyes never leaving Sarah's perfect breasts. She got up off the couch and stood next to him, pointing at one end of the couch. "Lay down. There. Yeah, yes."

With a grin on his face, Lester did as he was asked. He lay down on the couch, the cushions hissing as the air was forced out of them. Before he could ask what was next, he saw Sarah's leg rising and stretch across his vision until her ass was directly over his head.

"Heennhh, heh-heh, yum-" the fevrish wife once again cut off his words as she unceremoniously pressed her slit down on Lester's face. She could feel his lips and stubble against her lips as Lester got used to the new situation. A moment later, his entire tongue erupted from his mouth into her drooling opening.

"Haaggh-" Sarah quickly bit the palm of her hand to keep her from screaming in the office, now much warmer than it had been. Her eyelids fluttered as she relished in the sensation of Lester's tongue coming from this new angle. She exhaled loudly through her nose as Lester slowly worked her back up to her previous level of excitement.

Catching her breath, the flustered mother looked around the room dazedly before her eyes settled on what she now needed. Sarah leaned forward, inadvertently opening herself up more to her ugly lover. As his tongue threatened to steal her sanity and his lips sucked on her pussy, the unfaithful wife's hands began to undo his belt and fly. Lester's semi-clean pants were tented and bulging. She impatiently tugged the fat man's briefs down until his trembling monster shook in the fluorescent light of the office.

Saliva filled her mouth as she saw his swelling cock, and as she leaned down to kiss it, Lester drilled his tongue into the rough patch of her G-spot. The resultant full body tremor nearly made her yelp, but she was focused on her prize. As the maelstrom tensed up across her entire being, Sarah concentrated on planting deep kisses up and down Lester's monster shaft. Finally, when the primal aroma of him had filled her nose, she sucked as much of the large flesh pole into her mouth as she could, the spongy dome of its head pushing at her throat. For a few minutes in the room it sounded as if a delicious meal was being consumed by two ferocious animals, the two of them in 69, each of their genitals being feasted on by the other. Sarah was nearly nude, her bra still on, pushing her own head down on the short man's cock. Lester wasn't able to keep his tongue as deeply inside her as he had and jammed his two fingers inside her while moving his tongue up to her taint. Lester let his tongue run wild, the taste of her was exquisite.

"MMmmhhmmm-Grrckll" Sarah looked as if she was trying to inhale his entire cock into her face. Lester felt the two fingers still inside the young wife press together tightly as she squeezed them from inside. Deep moans came from her throat as Lester added a third finger and pushed it into her drooling pussy.

"Suck me how I like it. Do it." Lester pushed his hips off the bed forcing the head of his meaty column against her the opening of her throat.

Sarah's head pulled off the towering appendage and she took a gulping deep breath. After a moment, she seemed to have caught her breath. Lester still had her on the verge of the kind of explosion only he could ignite. Sarah looked behind her and smiled. "Yes, boss." Then she dropped her head down the massive cock below her and repeatedly took him into her throat, throwing her head down on it, fucking her mouth on it. Using her memory of the night before, she opened her throat but still managed to gag repeatedly on the mammoth, hoping that this would make him give her his cum.

"GhhchcccLL-agglh." The sound was music to Lester's ears. It was the sound of a complete departure of her professional facade within the walls of this building. His plan kept delivering beyond what he'd initially imagined. While gloating, his large tongue probed out of his mouth and first prodded, then swirled against Sarah Williams' clenched butthole. He savored the sensation, breathing in deeply, then pushed the tip of his long tongue past her anal ring and into her ass.

"MMMMMhhHHHHMMMM!" Sarah was finally feeling what she had sensed earlier, that having Lester in her pussy and in her mouth would be beyond amazing with him, and, being Lester he knew what to do with his mouth. He continued to tease and poke at her asshole with his agile snake of a tongue, his fingers roughly pistoning in her dripping pussy. Suddenly the tension shot to a higher level and a freight train of an orgasm blew through her as she slammed her head down on Lester's cock. Tears dripped from her eyes and strands of spit and drool ran down the massive cock, her unseeing eyes rolled back in her head. Nothing else felt half as good as this, nobody else could do this to her.

"GLLMMMMMGGLLCHH!" Sarah's ecstasy felt endless, but she wanted more. She took her mouth off of Lester's unflagging erection. Her stomach felt the butterflies that signaled another impending explosion. She fought the urge to go for it and pulled herself forward.

"Stop. I need you inside of me. Lester, fuck me. Please." Sarah begged.

Lester pulled back from her ass, and his fingers plopped out of her. He made a show of licking them clean as she scooted off him. He stood up and pulled his shirt off over his head, exposing his flabby torso to Sarah. He was taking too fucking long.

Sarah sat up and leaned forward, quickly undoing Lester's belt as he dropped his shirt to the floor. Sarah pulled down his boxers and pants in one fluid motion, grasped his girthy cock by its base, and pulled it towards her.

She laid back in the love seat, and Lester kicked off his pants and shoes before quickly kneeling between her legs. The sofa was a little small for two people, but Lester had judged the dimensions correctly. Lester slowly thrust forward, his big cock splitting Sarah open.

“Holy fuck....me,” Sarah groaned as her head lolled to the side as inch after inch of Lester’s behemoth cock pushed deeper and deeper into her. Sarah’s hands came up to grab Lester’s back and shoulders as he crawled on top of her. Sarah’s fingers were slick with Lester’s sweat, her fingers knotting the hair on Lester’s back.

“Ugh,” Lester grunted breathily as he buried his entire length inside of her, “Squeeze me.”

Sarah didn’t even think about objecting as she squeezed and flexed the muscles in her pussy around Lester’s fat cock. God, it felt so fucking good. Long gone were the thoughts of Mary and anyone else putting stress on her. All there was now was Lester and his magnificent cock buried fully inside of her.

“Fuck Lester. It hurts so good,” Sarah moaned into his shoulder. Lester pulled back and thrust back into her. The wooden legs of the sofa squealed against the floor. “Fuck, I could do this all fucking day with you.”

“Don’t forget all fucking night,” Lester chuckled. He hadn’t even waited to strip her naked. The only thing left on was her dark emerald bra. And one heel. “You feel so fucking good. Lick my chest.”

Sarah’s tongue was out of her mouth before Lester finished his sentence. It danced across the flabby skin of Lester’s chest, ignoring the curly hairs. Lester shuddered at the delicate, wet touch and renewed his thrusts into her.

Soon, the pleather sofa rocked across the floor, and Lester pushed off with each thrust. Sarah was licking Lester faster, almost as if it would help her cum soon, she found his nipple and took it into her mouth “Mhmmhmmmmmmmmmmmm.”

Lester steadied himself, grasping the back of the sofa with one hand, gaining leverage to keep fucking Sarah at the pace he’d established. His cock felt so deep inside of her. She wasn’t sure if it was the angle or maybe it had grown larger somehow, but she felt so incredibly fucking full. Lester’s cock was making her delirious as it pulled and pushed against her insides, tantalizing, touching, and exploring every inch of her. Sarah whimpered as she licked his chest and tasted his sweaty, pasty skin. It felt so fucking good.

No one had the ability to make her forget about everything else like Lester did. His cock was meant for her. She wished this feeling could be with her, inside of her all the time.

That they never had to stop fucking each other.

“God,” Lester groaned, “I’ll never get enough of you.”

“I want all of you, I love you,” Sarah moaned into his chest, “I wish I could have you in my mouth while you fucked me. God, I want you to stuff me. I want your cum to explode inside of me, to fill my mouth and drip down my chin. I want it everywhere.”

“That can be arranged,” Lester grunted. “Next time I get you at night, I’ll fuck you every way possible and cover you in my fucking cum. Maybe I’ll invite a friend or two to just blast their cum all over you too.”

Sarah’s hips started bucking off the leather chair faster with each depraved syllable Lester spoke. Her mind raced at the possibilities. At the idea of laying on a bed surrounded by men stroking their cocks until they came all over her. All of them hard for her. Just the idea of that much cum...

Sarah’s legs wrapped around Lester’s waist, pulling him into her and holding him there. Her nails dug into his back, trying to will him closer and closer to her, trying desperately to take more of his cock in her stuffed opening.

“Fuck don’t stop, Lester,” Sarah moaned, “I love fucking you.”

“Mmmhmm, that’s music to my ears. I love fucking you too. Especially now that I’ve broken you so much.” Lester grunted as he thrust into her hard with a firm push.

“B-broken?” The words didn’t make sense to Sarah, but the way Lester said them was fucking hot.

“Fucking you here at work. Again. Doing whatever I fucking want to you, and you begging for it. Broken. You’re not a professional, and you’re just my professional fucking whore. Whenever you’re not under me or on your knees, you’re just a slut playing dress up, nothing more.”

“Fuck you’re so right,” Sarah moaned as her tongue made a circle on Lester’s chest. “I’m just you’re good fucking little slut aren’t I?”

Lester’s hand snaked around one of Sarah’s knees and lifted it up to hit her pussy from a different angle.

“OOh! Ohfuck,” Sarah moaned.

“Like that?”

“Uh-huh...mhmhmmhmmmmmfuck.”

“You feel so fucking good. Cum for me. I can feel you’re close. Do it. Cum on my cock my dirty little slut,” Lester grunted.

Sarah clenched her jaw and closed her eyes, focusing on the feeling of Lester’s cock dragging up and down inside of her. How full of him she felt. The electric jolt every time his cock dragged across her G-Spot and outer lips. The way it was going to feel when his cock expanded and unleashed a torrent of cum inside of her.

“Fuck. Lester. Fuck. Don’t. Fucking. Stop. OHMYGODFUCK,” Sarah’s knees pressed into Lester’s chest as she suppressed a violent scream. Her body shuddered as another orgasm ripped across and through her entire body. Everything tensed up, her nails dug further into Lester’s back flesh, and her thin ankles pressed into his flabby ass refusing to let him loose. Lester pushed through her clenched ecstasy and didn’t stop fucking her. Despite the iron-like vise grip of her pussy around his cock, he wanted to keep pushing her over the edge. He kept thrusting into her violently. The sofa’s legs scraped and dragged against the floor as it shifted closer to the closed window.

“LESSSTTEEEERR,” Sarah groaned into his chest, reveling in the feeling of his cock jammed inside of her as her nerves danced with another orgasm. Sarah never got a chance to catch her breath as Lester just kept fucking her senseless.

Her hands left his shoulders, grabbed the back of his fat head, and pulled him in for a deep, sloppy kiss. Their bodies kept pushing into and against each other as their mouths met. Tongues and teeth collided as they both fucked forcefully on the couch. Lester turned his head to the side, and his tongue dove all the way into Sarah’s mouth, smothering her own. Sarah just moaned back into his mouth and sucked on him as her tongue was utterly suppressed by his.

Lester slowed his thrusts and focused on kissing her. Sarah’s hips still pushed up off the love seat, fucking Lester’s unmoving cock. She didn’t care if he’d stopped. She still needed more. Her body continued to thrust itself up off the seat onto his cock, over and over. Lester knelt there stoically as Sarah fucked herself on his thick meaty pole as she lay before him.

Lester broke the kiss first. His hands reached behind him, and unclasped Sarah’s ankles, and he slowly pulled his cock out of her. Sarah moaned in disappointment as his cock left her. She felt so empty and unfulfilled. Why did he do that? She needed more of him.

“Turn around,” Lester uttered, “I’m going to fuck you from behind.”

Sarah quickly complied, swiftly turning herself over on the ugly piece of furniture. Her knees knelt on the seat while her arms and upper body pressed against its back, “Just hurry up and put it back in me.”

“Sure thing,” Lester chuckled from behind her. Sarah felt his wet tongue lick across her slit from behind, up her taint, and up her asshole and butt crack. Her body shuddered at the detestable sensation, and she moaned into the dead air of the office. Lester’s cock pressed up against her opening for a second before thrusting all the way in. The large seat lurched forward again, and Sarah’s head hit the wall of the office, next to the window.

“Fuck Lester,” Sarah moaned, not at all upset with him. She just wanted more.

“Shhhhh,” Lester said from behind her. Sarah stopped and heard voices nearby, likely from some of the remaining coworkers of the IT department. Sarah bit her lip, trying not to moan but it was difficult because Lester was still doing shallow thrusts into her and he continued to play with her butthole. He gripped her hip tightly, holding her in place.

Sarah’s mind was torn between wanting to keep fucking Lester and the utter humiliation of being discovered. The voices were getting close. They must be walking down the hallway, near the window. It had to be two men who were walking —

WHAP

Sarah bit into the leather chair to stop herself from screaming. The pain from Lester’s slap on her ass was overwhelming, but now he started to pick up the pace of his shallow thrusts. He’d removed the hand in her ass to slap her. Sarah moaned into the leather, hoping, praying that it wasn’t as loud as it had sounded.

The voices must have stopped because she didn’t hear them anymore. All she heard was the slapping of their skin colliding and Lester’s big balls hitting against her clit. One of Lester’s hands gripped her hips tightly while the other dug into her shoulders, pulling her back onto his swollen cock. Sarah held on for dear life as Lester started fucking her in earnest.

She had to change her angle so her head wouldn’t keep pounding into the wall. Her ass and shoulder hurt from how hard Lester was gripping onto her, but she didn’t want to fucking stop. Sarah could faintly hear the voices outside the window somewhere. She didn’t know if they had heard anything, but they seemed to have gotten further away from —

WHAP

“FUCK,” Sarah grunted, feeling a hard handprint on her ass.

“You better be careful, or someone is going to hear you,” Lester chuckled from behind her. She could feel his fat stomach resting on her perfect ass, “Don’t forget that door isn’t locked.”

Sarah momentarily glanced at the door next to them and saw the lock. The turnpiece was completely vertical, which meant Lester was telling the truth. She reached out to lock the door, but Lester pulled her arm and pinned it behind her back.

“Here, I thought we were supposed to have an open-door policy,” Lester chuckled again as he rammed his cock unyieldingly into Sarah. He stopped for a beat and pulled it all the way out so only the head was embedded inside of her before thrusting all the way back in, completely bottoming out inside of her.

“Did you ever think you’d be one of those women that fucked their boss in the office?” Lester grunted.

Sarah’s eyes shot open wide at the realization. It didn’t feel like it, but he was right. The hospital hierarchy was clear. She was fucking her boss.

“No,” Sarah muttered, shaking her head, “Never. Fuck. I am fucking my boss, aren’t I? God, that’s so fucked up.”

“You seem like you’re enjoying yourself. Such a little corporate slut using sex to climb the ladder. I bet you used to look down on those women, didn’t you?” Lester chuckled behind her as his girthy cock slid in and out of her making her moan.

“I think you should thank me,” Lester whispered.

“Thank you? For that meeting again?” Sarah breathed, “Or for the sex?”

“For saving your fucking job,” Lester punctuated the sentence with a hard thrust into her, causing Sarah’s whole body to lurch in response. “And you could even look at it as a promotion. Now you don’t have to do any work besides getting fucked by me. Isn’t that great? Getting paid to get fucked?”

Sarah wanted to shake her head, but every word he said was true. He did save her job, and here she was getting fucked while she hadn’t really even done any work yet.

“Thank you,” she groaned as his cock hit a particularly sensitive spot inside of her.
“Thank you, Mr. Marshall.”

“Oh, I knew you were into it,” Lester grunted again, not slowing his pace as his cock continued to swell inside the young mother.

“Mhhmmhmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned into the pleather. If she opened her mouth again, she knew she would just fucking scream in pleasure, and everyone would know what was happening behind the closed window.

“That’s it,” Lester said, letting go of her arm. “My good little slut. Squeeze me if you’re enjoying yourself. We need to be quiet, after all. Squeeze me down there.”

Sarah’s already tight pussy squeezed Lester’s cock.

“Squeeze me again if I’m fucking you deeper than your husband ever has,” Lester grunted.

Sarah’s pussy squeezed Lester’s monstrous cock again.

“Wait, I meant to say squeeze me again if I’m fucking you deeper than your pathetic husband ever has,” Lester said.

Sarah delayed for half a second before her pussy squeezed Lester’s cock again, this time more firmly. She focused on holding him as long as she could.

“That’s what I fucking thought,” Lester grunted, pushing his cock deep into her.

“Here, let’s see who’s around,” Lester whispered. Sarah could feel his body shift and more of his stomach press into her back. His shadow ran across her vision, and Sarah looked up in horror. Lester was twisting the metal rod next to the window.

“Hey. What? Lester, don’t,” Sarah whispered.

“Relax,” Lester chided her. He twisted the metal rod just a bit, allowing the smallest sliver of a gap in the blinds, “Take a look, tell me what you see.”

Sarah felt mortified at the prospect of being discovered, but a dark surge ran through her body too. Biting her bottom lip to try and prevent any sound from escaping her, Sarah raised her head from the back of the leather chair and peeked up, looking through the slit in the window. The office was mostly empty, but there were a few people walking around or talking to each other. Sarah recognized several people from outside of the IT department who had stopped by to visit or to have someone troubleshoot a technical issue.

“Keep watching them while I fuck you.” Lester grunted as he began picking up his pace again, “I want you to watch them do their boring fucking jobs as I cum deep in fucking side of you.”

“Lester....” Sarah breathed. This was too fucked up and way too big of a fucking risk. Her eyes were locked on one of her colleagues, but her mind was focusing on the feeling of Lester’s giant cock inside of her, “Oh fuck. Fuck.”

“You going to cum for them? Put on a show? What do you think?” Lester grunted with both hands on her slim hips, gripping them tightly as he plowed into her from behind. The base of his cock spread her open and the shaft dragged across all her sensitive areas. Her pussy was on fire. Her arms pushed back against the faux leather seat so she could push her ass back against him to meet each thrust.

"Uh fuck Lester, I don't. Fuck this isn't, fuck I don't know. Oh god, just don't fucking stop. Please Lester. Uh...mhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhm feels so fucking good. I can't —" “UHHHHHHHHHH,” Sarah grunted way louder than she expected. Her eyes turned to saucers as she saw several people’s heads turn, looking for the source of the sound. A few glanced towards Lester’s office, but their heads continued to swivel, unsure where the source had come from.

WHAP

"Fuck Lester," Sarah scolded, "We almost got....uuuhhhhhh...mhmooooooooooooofuuck," Lester decided instead of arguing with her. He would just make her stop complaining by thrusting his cock into her some more. He increased his pace, and Sarah felt another orgasm swiftly building inside of her. She lowered her head down to the leather chair, bracing for it.

“No. Uh-uh, look back up at them,” Lester ordered. Sarah kept her forehead pressed against the leather chair, focusing on herself. Lester reached forward and grabbed the hair at the base of her neck, balling it into a fist, and yanked her head up. Sarah yelped as the knotted pile of hair on the nape of her neck was roughly pulled. Lester held her head up to the sliver in the window.

“Keep looking at them, Sarah,” Lester said, “They’re so fucking close to you right now. While you’re stuffed full of my cock.”

Sarah's eyes were wide, looking out the window at the coworkers on the other side. It was like how Dan used to put her on display for Lester. Igniting one of her hidden kinks that always pushed her over the edge. Now, Lester was in the driver's seat, pushing her further than ever before and indulging in her wanton desires, giving her exactly what her body craved. Dangling her in front of her coworkers, sending a shooting thrill through her body.

"Fuck Lester, please," Sarah moaned. Another of his hands came up and roughly mauled her breasts as her hips fucked back into him.

"Please, what?" Lester growled.

"Please....don't stop. Fuck. Please. I'm so close. I want to cum. Please."

Lester chuckled again from behind her, "I'm getting close too. But there's one more thing."

"What?" Sarah moaned against the blinds, "What?"

"You kicked me out of your house in the middle of a cold night," Lester sneered, "I told you, you owe me one."

"Fuck, then keep fucking me. Cum for me, Lester. I want it," Sarah's hips started fucking back against him in a pistoning frenzy.

"I want something else after this," Lester grunted. Sarah's pussy was clenched around his cock, squeezing him hard. Desperate to make him cum so she could feel his hot cum pour inside of her.

"Whatever you fucking want," Sarah moaned, her head hitting the blinds, mashing against them. She was watching her coworkers go about their day. A shadow flashed across her visions as one of them even walked right past the window, unaware she was getting the life fucked out of her on the other side of it, "I'll do whatever you want, Lester."

"That's my good little slut. Now hold on because I'm going to drop a fucking gallon inside of you," Lester was breathing hard. He was slamming into her relentlessly, without a care in the world. It was like he didn't even give a shit if they got caught.

"Oh fuck. Oh FUCK," Sarah moaned against the blinds as she felt Lester's intensity pick up, "Lester...."

“I love how you say my name, Sarah,” Lester grunted, “Fuck I’m going to cum.”

“LESTER,” Sarah moaned for him. She felt his cock twitch and expand. A giant spurt of hot, sticky cum blasted into her rocking her body forward, “OH FUCK.”

Sarah’s head snapped backward as she dug her knees into the seat. The pleather sofa hit the wall again. Sarah’s body convulsed as a massive orgasm descended onto and through it, shattering her mind. It was like every nerve just lit up at once and burned with the power of a thousand suns.

“MHMMHMMMMGODFUCK,” Sarah whimpered as Lester emptied more and more cum inside of her. Sarah’s pussy had already felt so fucking full with just the mass of Lester’s cock inside of it, but somehow she managed to take in all of his cum. Lester’s cock kept spurting more frothing jets of cum inside of her. Over and over again, creating ripples of pleasure that continuously kept washing over her trembling body. It was like she couldn’t stop cumming. Any thought of looking out of the blinds had been abandoned. Sarah was slumped over the back of the sofa as her body automatically continued to milk Lester’s enormous cock for more of his illicit cum.

“Uhhhhh—FUCK,” Lester grunted as his cock finally stopped spasming inside of her. He stood there behind her as her body finally came down from cloud nine, the aftershocks of her orgasm slowly subsiding.

WHAP

Lester slapped her ass again hard, making her body jump. She hadn’t been expecting another one of those, and her ass was already so fucking sore, “Asshole.”

Lester just chuckled, and his cock made an audible ‘plop’ as he pulled it out of her. Within seconds his potent cum started to drip out of her and pool on the seat of the couch. Sarah was still slumped over the back, trying to catch her breath. She finally moved so that her ass wouldn’t be on display for Lester to spank again, but one of her knees pushed into the cum on the seat. Sighing, she eventually freed herself from the chair and grabbed a tissue to wipe off her knee and catch some of the cum streaming out of her pussy.

Sarah closed one eye and looked out through the sliver in the blinds. Everything looked normal. It didn’t appear that anyone had noticed anything, but she was positive that she had been loud at the end. She took a moment to lock the door.

Better late than never.

When she finally looked back over her shoulder, Lester was sitting naked in his office chair. His stomach jutted out, making him look like a fat frog sitting on its ass.

“So, about what you owe me,” he said with an evil look on his face.

Sarah’s heels clicked against the cold concrete. She rounded another corner and found yet another hallway lined with all sorts of pallets and boxes, among other things. She steadied her nerves and kept walking down the dark, dingy basement corridor. Several lights must have burnt out, casting long, eerie shadows everywhere.

She was an anxious mess about doing what Lester had asked of her. But the dark thrill she’d felt earlier continued its journey through her body. Just the idea of it was so....wicked. She still couldn’t believe this is what Lester had wanted from her. But on some level she understood it. In his own way, he was doing this for her. Helping her to realize another fantasy, as he said. He always seemed to have his finger on the pulse of her desires unlike anyone before. She would have never have considered doing this on her own. She felt safer doing so knowing he was with her in it.

Sarah slowed her pace as she turned another darkened corner. She was getting close now, and she knew he wasn’t far behind her. There wasn’t even a doubt in her mind that he was following her. She could hear him trying to follow her discreetly. Even with the resounding clicks of her stilettos echoing off the walls, she could still hear him. Still hear that –

She had finally reached her destination: the boiler room in the hospital’s basement. This area had always unnerved her. While she’d been working as the hospital’s administrator, she’d only been down here a handful of times. It had never been an area of the hospital that was critical to her job, but it was one of the best places she had thought to grant Lester’s request.

Sarah slipped inside the room and left the door open a crack so he would know where she’d gone. The room was dark, with two large boilers against the wall. Pipes affixed to several dials ran to it and up into other parts of the hospital. As Sarah looked around, part of her wanted to jot down all the improvements that could be made in here, strictly from a health and safety perspective, and a few others that occurred to her on the fly. But that wasn’t her job anymore. Now, she had to focus on what her boss had asked of her.

She spotted the ratty-looking chair in the corner and quickly removed her clothing, dropping it over the back of the chair. Next, she gently removed her heels. She winced at the cold concrete against her bare feet.

Sarah took another deep breath and stood there in her dark emerald bra and panties. Her heart felt like it was beating out of her chest, and soon, it started beating even faster. The door opened a crack wider.

Sarah put her hand on her hip and pushed her chest out in front of her. Even if she felt nervous, she knew how to present confidence. She still couldn't believe she was actually doing this. It was definitely crossing a line—an ethical one and a professional one. But since she wasn't the hospital's administrator anymore, maybe it was okay. Besides, Lester had told her to do this. Just thinking about him got her excited again.

A familiar head looked in from the door, his eyes wide as saucers at the sight before him.

Otis had seen that stuck-up, unapproachable woman as she was crossing the lobby. He had followed her like he usually did, letting his eyes feast on her curves. He still couldn't believe his luck that he'd caught her in her car that one time, but he needed to have her again.

For some reason, she had gone to the basement alone, somewhere no one but the maintenance staff usually needed to be. He'd kept his distance, following her down the dark corridors. He'd had to leave his cart behind, he knew the squeaking wheels would be too much of a giveaway in the deserted hallways.

He was going to be in a lot of fucking trouble if he got caught by her. There wouldn't be any good excuse for why he had followed her all the way down here. Maybe he'd be fired, but his cock was doing the thinking right now. There was a possibility he could at least cop another feel before they fired him. When she'd gone into the boiler room, he didn't know what to think.

So he inched closer to the door and peeked in. He felt like his heart was going to beat out of his chest right then and then. That sexy woman, Mrs. Williams, was standing there in nothing but dark green lacy underwear, her hand on her hips like she was posing for something.

"Took you long enough," she said, staring at him with an intense gaze as he stepped into the warmth of the room. Otis felt like he could cum right then and there just by the way she was looking at him. No one had ever looked at him like that before. The dark desire behind her eyes was making his heart beat in his chest faster and faster.

“You going to stay out there, or are you coming all the way in?” she asked him, shifting her stance.

A grin spread across his face, and he stepped fully into the room, pulling the door shut behind him.

“Looking real good there, blondie,” Otis said. There was no way he was walking out of here without a piece of that. Otis walked across the dirty room directly to where she was standing. She took one step back, and Otis just stood there, letting his eyes roam over her body. Damn, she knows how to fucking dress. Those tits....

“Otis, right?” Mrs. Williams asked him.

“Uh-huh,” He murmured as his eyes couldn’t stop running over her body.

“Eyes up here, big boy,” she said, “just for a minute.”

Otis just let out a chuckle and finally met her gaze.

Sarah shuddered at the intense, hungry look in the old janitor’s eyes. He was so different from either Dan or Lester. Old crow’s feet marked the corners of his eyes. The rest of the skin on his face and what she could see of his arms was weathered from a lifetime of manual labor.

Sarah was about to speak when the old man said, “Turn around. I want to see all of you.”

Sarah shuddered at the command. Before her brain had processed what it was doing, Sarah was already slowly spinning around to give the old man a view of her body. Before she had completely turned all the way around, she yelped as his rough hand grabbed a handful of her succulent ass.

“Wha -?” Sarah turned around but found Otis right there next to her, his hand still firmly gripping her ass. This wasn’t how this was supposed to go.

His lips were pressed against her before she knew it. His tongue penetrating her mouth as the rancid flood of cigarettes and cheap whiskey filled her mouth. His hand continued to maul her ass while his other calloused hand crept up and was roughly kneading both her breasts over her bra.

Sarah sloppily kissed him back before pushing back on his chest to give herself some breathing room. She needed to take back control before someone she hadn't planned happened.

"Sit down," Sarah said, gesturing to the chair. Otis just stood there. His lanky body and paunch around his stomach seemed filled with anxious energy—like someone had just put a plate of food in front of a starving man and told him to wait.

"Otis, sit down. Please," Sarah said once again. His eyes were still desperate and hungry, but he seemed to get the message. With his eyes still glued to her, he backed up and sat down in the ratty chair.

"What's going on here?" He asked as he brazenly stroked his cock through his coveralls. Sarah's eyes momentarily stayed glued to the bulging shape of it before she quickly regained her composure.

"I've seen you. Watching me. Following me," Sarah whispered as she stepped up closer to him. She steadied her nerves. She still couldn't believe this was what Lester had asked for. Asked her to do. She knew she could have said no. Kicking him out into the cold hadn't been so bad. But still, she found herself agreeing to his instructions quickly. She'd even kissed him deeply in his office when she'd agreed to it. It was like a dark persona had taken over and led her down here into the bowels of the hospital.

"I thought that maybe," she said as her leg brushed against his knee, "Maybe you'd gotten tired of watching."

Sarah lowered herself onto her knees in front of him. Her manicured finger nailed running up the thighs of his dirty overalls, "Maybe you'd like to get a taste?"

Her hands ran over his protruding stomach and up his undefined chest. They slid over to the zipper at the top of his coveralls, and she slowly lowered it down, "Or, to be more specific, maybe I'll be the one getting a taste."

She lowered the zipper all the way to the bottom around his stomach, exposing the faded white t-shirt underneath. Otis just leered down at her with a stupid grin on his face. Was she really going to fucking do this?

Sarah glanced at the closed door. She could still leave. She didn't have to follow through with Lester's orders. She had plenty of other things she could be doing. How had she even gotten herself into this situation? Kneeling in front of a dirty old janitor in the hospital's basement?

Otis eagerly shuffled out of his coveralls, plopping back down in the chair in just his shirt and boxers. Sarah caught the movement out of the corner of her eyes and turned back, the tent in his boxers as evident as the hungry desire in his eyes.

“Oh, I got something you can taste already,” Otis grunted as he grabbed his crotch, “Why don’t you take it out and get a better look at it.”

Before Sarah could protest, Otis was lowering his boxers, and his hard cock flopped out and pointed right at her. With a delighted sigh, Otis flopped back down in the chair and looked at Sarah expectantly. She momentarily froze as she stared at Otis’ angry member in front of her. Part of her was still ready to walk out that door and get back upstairs. But she didn’t want to disappoint Lester. And the cock in front of her seemed to call to her, demanding her attention.

Sarah tentatively reached out and lightly touched it. Her fingertips brushed and pressed over the shaft, exploring it.

“Take off your bra, let me see those tits,” Otis grunted. Sarah retracted her hand and it moved to unclasp her bra. Why am I just doing whatever he says?

Sarah lowered her bra straps until the cups fell away from her breasts.

“Fuck,” Otis breathed, his gaze stuck on her breasts. He’d watched these things sway seductively in the hallways for years and now had an up-close and personal view of them, “Give it here.”

He held out his hand, gesturing for the bra. Sarah bit her lip and handed it over before meeting his gaze. It was so similar to the look that first Dan, and then later Lester would give her. She felt herself growing wet just by his proximity and the hungry look on his face. Fuck, I’m going to do this, Aren’t I?

Otis kept his eyes trained on her but raised the emerald bra to his nose and took a long sniff. He groaned as he did, one hand going to his cock and waving it at her.

Sarah steeled her nerves and wrapped one hand around his shaft, eliciting another groan from the old man.

“Oh fuck yeah,” he said, smiling down at her like a fat kid in front of a birthday cake, “Fuck me, I must have a concussion or something because this can’t be happening.”

Sarah’s eyes turned mischievous. “Believe it, big boy. Now sit back and let me taste you.”

Before he could say anything else, Sarah gripped his shaft and lowered her mouth to his straining cock. Her nostrils flared at the smell of dried sweat on his untuned body. She probably shouldn't have waited until close to the end of his shift to do this, but she wouldn't let his bitter, sweaty aroma deter her.

The head of his angry cock pressed against her tongue as her mouth descended further and further down his cock. Sarah licked the undersides of his pole, whipping her tongue from side to side until it was nice and wet so her hand could effortlessly slide up and down the old man's shaft.

Otis put his hands behind his head and marveled at the young beauty eagerly sucking his cock. Never in his wildest dreams did he expect anything like this to happen. Sure, he'd jerked off and spilled plenty of cum to thoughts of Mrs. Williams, but this was something else entirely. Who knew what the future would hold for the old boy now?

And then, he heard music to his ears. Sarah moaned around his shaft as she serviced him. Otis lowered a hand to rest on the back of her head. His dirty fingers intertwined with strands of her beautiful blonde hair. He gathered his strength and stood up, pressing Sarah backwards. He angled her as she sucked him and soon her upper body was wedged between the old man and one of the hissing boilers.

Never would he have been able to approach someone like her, let alone lay a hand on her. But now he was running his hands through her hair while he stuffed his cock into her mouth. When he let his hand rest on the back of her head, he noticed she moaned again.

Otis balled her hair up into a fist and thrust his hips forwards, eliciting another lusty moan from her. He could only grin, knowing it was he himself who was making her react like this, turning her on. He didn't give a fuck where that other guy was or what her deal was with him, but he sure as hell knew he'd be following her around the hospital much more often from now on.

Sarah continued to moan around Otis' spit soaked cock so he decided to see just how far he could push her. He tightened the grip on her hair and held the side of her face with his other hand. Then he leaned forward on the boiler, thrusting his cock deep into her mouth.

The head of his cock hit the back of Sarah's throat as he pulled her onto it. Otis didn't stop thrusting, he used Sarah's head like a fuckdoll, roughly fucking her mouth with his cock. To his amazement, Sarah gripped his shaft tightly and held onto the base as he power fucked her mouth.

“Ah, yeah,” Otis groaned as Sarah’s sloppy sucking and choking sounds echoed off the walls of the boiler room. Slowly, Otis let go of Sarah’s head, but she still kept up at the same pace he had set. Sarah was going buck wild, relentlessly sucking on Otis’s cock and taking it as deep into her mouth as she could as her skin was warmed by the metal behind her. Her hand rejoined the party and started stroking him in time with her mouth.

“Fucking hell,” Otis groaned as Sarah worshipped and drooled on his cock. The old guy was leaning against the old boiler, letting Sarah do whatever she wanted to him, “Ugh yeah, that’s it. Suck my cock, baby.”

“Mmmmm-hmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Otis’ cock. Sarah pulled her mouth off Otis’s cock and looked up at him, staring him in the eyes. She stuck out her tongue and licked all the way down his shaft until she reached the jungle of white pubic hair at the base.

“Jesus Christ,” Otis muttered, watching Sarah keep eye contact with him while her tongue licked up and down his shaft, “Give my balls some love.” He sat back down to let her work.

A wicked smile spread onto Sarah’s face, and she raised her eyebrows at him, “I’m not done with my new toy yet.” Sarah licked up to the top of Otis’ shaft and swirled her tongue around the tip of his cock, licking up the bitter, salty pre-cum that had just oozed out. Otis just groaned as Sarah’s mouth hungrily descended again on his shaft. The tip pressed against the back of her throat, momentarily making her gag. Sarah looked up at Otis as his cock was in her mouth. The old man was just gazing down at her in astonishment, the hunger on his face replaced by unexpected pleasure.

Sarah smiled inwardly at the results of her actions. How Otis just seemed to melt into his seat, her words putting him back in his place. She reveled in that feeling. In the power she held over him. The level of control she had in bringing him off or continuing to torture him. Fuck, its addicting.

“Mmmmmmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Otis’ hard cock. She was acting just like the slut Lester said she was. At no point in her professional career would she have planned to be on her knees in a dirty boiler room blowing the fucking janitor of all people. But here she was, loving every minute of it.

Otis just sat there and groaned. He’d never had a blowjob this fucking good before. He knew that Sarah had to know how to use her lips, but this was oral sex on another fucking level. That uptight woman sure knew what she was doing, and he thanked his blessings to the man who had taught her so well.

Sarah's mouth plopped off Otis' cock, and she took a deep breath. A single line of saliva connected her cock and his mouth for a second before Sarah bit her lip and looked at Otis. She licked her lips and slowly lowered her mouth to his balls, her tongue parting the dense foliage of his public hair as she found the dappled skin of his nutsack to tease.

Otis groaned deeply as Sarah's tongue danced across his balls, and her lips kissed and sucked on both of them. Sarah's hand never left his engorged shaft. She continued to stroke it. Up and down, her wrist twisted and pumped him for everything he had. "Mmmhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned breathily into Otis' fetid balls, his thick public hair pushing against her nose and eyes. Sarah continued to lap and slurp all over Otis's dangling nuts, completely covering them in her spit. She slid down, lowering, making sure she didn't miss a single spot on the underside of his balls either.

Sarah's worship of Otis' balls, combined with her expert stroking of his shaft, was beginning to be too much for him. He could feel his balls beginning to tighten and knew it wouldn't be long before he blew his fucking load. But he didn't want it to stop yet. He wanted to relish every fucking second of the time he had with Mrs. Williams.

"Stop," He grunted. Sarah slowed her eager licks and strokes and looked up at him with pleading eyes, not wanting to stop at all. "I want to slide my cock between those massive glands. Your tits. Fuck, they look amazing."

A dark chuckle escaped Sarah's lips as she pulled back from him.

"Like this?" Sarah asked as she scooted forward. She held his cock in one hand and placed them between her bare breasts. Otis groaned as Sarah held the sides of her warm accommodating breasts together, fully encapsulating Otis's cock between them. Then she started to rock up and down, letting his slick pole run up and down, fucking her breasts.

"Ah fuck yeah, just like that," Otis groaned. It felt like what he imagined it was like titty-fucking a Playboy bunny. The kind of perfect tits that didn't exist in real life, only in a magazine or on the internet, yet here they were in all their magnificence, wrapped around his dirty old cock.

"Uuhhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned at the prickly sensations. Otis' large thick cock was sliding up and down her between her breasts, her nipples pressing against his legs each time she came back down. She licked her lips and closed her eyes, letting herself get lost in the stimulation.

Over and over, Otis' blood-filled cock slid between her breasts, titty fucking the young mother. Both of them were lost in the licentious rapture of the moment. Neither noticed that the door to the room had slightly opened at some point.

"Mhmmmm fuck," Sarah groaned as the head of Otis' thrusting cock disappeared into her cleavage.

"Ah yeah, you like that?" Otis grunted, "You like my ol' cock between your big tits?"

"Fuck. Yes." Sarah moaned, eyes shut, "Feels good."

Otis just grunted in response, unsure exactly how to deal with this firecracker of a woman. All he knew was that he needed more of her, and he was getting dangerously close to exploding all over her face.

"Fuck it," he grunted as he pushed himself up off the chair to tower over her. Sarah tried to keep her tits wrapped around his cock, but the angle was too awkward. She stared up at Otis's ugly face staring down at her in the dark, grungy boiler room.

"Mm-hmm," Otis groaned as he grabbed the base of his cock, pushing her back against the boiler again. "Close your eyes."

Sarah knelt there and closed her eyes. She was losing control but didn't want to stop herself. Her large breasts heaved as she breathed, waiting for whatever Otis was going to do. Then she felt his cock slap down against her face, the head of the cock hitting her eyebrow. Then Otis did it again, slapping her on the cheek.

Then, the other cheek. He dragged his dirty cock all over her face, pre-cum leaking out and trailing behind it. He slapped it down over her eye and nose again, taking twisted pleasure in her just sitting there and letting it happen.

Over and over, he slapped his cock around her face. To Sarah's surprise, a soft moan escaped her own lips as he dragged his cock once more all over her face. She didn't know why, but she was loving this.

"Stick out your tongue," Otis commanded. Sarah opened her eyes and looked up at the old man. Then, she opened both eyes and stuck her tongue out. Otis grinned as his cock head slapped against her outstretched tongue. He did this over and over, beating his cock against her warm, wet tongue. Sarah had to restrain herself not to take his cock into her mouth and devour it. Her rate of breathing increased with her excitement.

"Fuck I'm so close. Beg for. Say my name and beg for it," Otis grumbled.

“Please. Otis. Give it to me,” Sarah moaned as her hands came up and started fondling her shapely breasts. Otis kept beating his iron hard cock on her tongue. Sarah roughly grabbed her breasts, punching one of her nipples. “I need it. I want your cum, Otis. Give it to me. Please. Please fucking give it to me, Otis.”

“Ugh, fuck,” Otis grunted. He was rapidly stroking his cock while he beat the head of it against Sarah’s waiting silky tongue. “I’m gonna cum, girl. Where do you want it? Where do you fucking want it?”

“Everywhere,” Sarah moaned as she tweaked her left nipple, “I fucking want it everywhere. All over my chest, down my throat, on my face. Just fucking give it to me, Otis.”

“Open wide,” Otis grunted.

Sarah didn’t need any more encouragement. One of her hands quickly wrapped around his shaft and gripped it hard, running it up and down his length. Her mouth opened wide, and she took his cock on her tongue in her mouth. Sarah felt the veins in his cock pulsate in her hands and knew he was about to cum.

“FUUUCK. SHIT,” Otis grunted, “Here it fucking comes!”

He grabbed the back of Sarah’s head and thrust his cock forward violently. His cock hit the back of her throat as her lips mashed down against the base of his cock. Otis grabbed two handfuls of Sarah’s hair and used her mouth as a fuckhole until his balls tightened and his cock slit spread open menacingly, unleashing a torrent of hot and sticky cum into Sarah’s mouth. Sarah swallowed the first bitter load. And the second. But the third came too fast, filling her mouth with his seed. The fourth shot did the same as Otis was reveling in unleashing his cum into the young mother’s mouth. He’d never cum harder in his life.

Cum spilled out of Sarah’s mouth and dripped down her chin and onto her heaving breasts. Sarah was still massaging her nipples and areola. She didn’t stop as drops of cum began peppering them. She massaged them into her skin without a second thought.

“Holy shit,” Otis grunted, pulling his cock free of Sarah’s sucking mouth. Another long rope of cum blasted her in the face, landing across her nose and one eye that winked shut. More cum leaked out of her mouth as Sarah swallowed yet another of his prodigious loads. She meticulously licked her lips of any cum still there while wiping the slimy sperm off her chin.

Otis fell back into the folding chair, exhausted. He stared at Sarah in disbelief, watching this blonde beauty swallow and eat his cum while still playing with her tits. Her perfect knees were marred with dust from the concrete floor, and her bra was nowhere in sight.

Sarah finished cleaning her face with her fingers. For a moment, she thought about cleaning her fingers with her mouth, but instead, she flicked the gooey substance off her fingers onto the floor. Otis just sat there with the dumbest smile on his face, watching her as she stepped beside him and retrieved her bra from the floor and the rest of her clothes from the back of the chair. He had to lean forward to free her pants and top.

The way he stared at her while watching her get dressed just felt awkward. She would have preferred that he just left instead of leering at her like a piece of perfectly cooked filet mignon.

“Can I help –” Sarah caught herself, not wanting to give him an opening for more, “Like what you see?”

“Just admiring the view. Fucking perfection,” Otis grumbled. He fished his phone out of his coveralls, “Say, let me get your number, and maybe we can meet up again.”

“We’ll see,” Sarah said, taking her own phone out. She opened the camera app and looked at herself. Well, my makeup is fucked. She’d have to find the nearest bathroom and wash her face. There were makeup remover wipes in her purse so she could look at least halfway presentable instead of the hot mess she was at the moment.

Sarah finished adjusting her clothes and looked back at Otis, “I hope you enjoyed yourself. I know I did.” She waved at him, the large diamond on her finger flashed sparks of color on the ceiling from the dim lights in the room.

Before the old man could respond, Sarah left through the open boiler room door.

“Yeah, don’t worry sweetheart. I know how to find you” Otis grinned as he leaned back in the chair. He absently stroked his cock as he lazily spun himself around in the chair.

Both Otis and Sarah were too enthralled with her face fucking to have noticed Lester prop the door open. He’d peered into the room and watched Sarah do just as he’d demanded. To debase herself with the janitor. And from what he’d seen, she’d loved every moment of it.

Otis was the perfect pawn to push in the next phase of Lester's plan. Sarah had already let herself go with Jesse. Now, with Otis in her workplace, his financial stranglehold on the couple could truly begin.

Sarah's eyes suddenly locked with Lester's for a moment. She gave him a knowingly look which Lester returned with a smile. Her eyes seemed to go wide seeing the phone in his hand, so he tried his best to appear reassuring. He hadn't planned on her noticing him but she seemed to like it. Still, she might raise questions he otherwise wouldn't want to answer.

Lester stopped recording the video on his phone as Sarah began looking for her clothes. He quickly thumbed his phone, sending a copy of the recording off to his secure cloud drive. Lester retreated silently back the way he'd come, eager to see if Sarah would come to find him in his office to report back or if she would just sneak out of the hospital and head home.

Either way, Lester had won another important battle: the deconstruction of Sarah Williams as a professional and the destruction of Dan's marriage. Lester had never had so much fucking fun.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 27

Jesse's face was flush, and he was breathing hard. He had lost track of how many times he had done this since his encounter with Sarah that night. His sweet Sarah. If only she were there with him at this moment. It would be so much better.

Jesse shifted in his bed, trying to find the right angle to make this work. One sweaty hand on his dick while the other precariously held his cell in front of him. Sarah's angelic face filled his phone's screen. He'd finally managed to find a picture of her online from her inactive LinkedIn page.

It was like she was staring right back at him, smiling at him. He could almost smell her perfume and the scent of her body under it from that night at the hotel. She hadn't agreed to let him follow her on Instagram. Nor accepted his friend request on Facebook. He couldn't find her on TikTok or Snapchat. He'd even looked on Pinterest, but that had been a longshot that turned out to be a dead end.

Now he lay there, jerking off to her pixelated, enlarged LinkedIn picture. But he just couldn't get there. He had busted his nut to this photo countless times over the past few days, but today, no matter how long or hard he jerked it, it just wasn't happening. Maybe if he got one of those fake pussy things to jerk off into but that felt like he'd cheating on her. He wasn't going to fuck anything but his hand since he'd had her.

Those fucking bastards must have all her accounts locked down. There wasn't any other explanation for why she wouldn't be responding to him. They must be afraid that he and Sarah would run away together. Especially now that he'd spent the night with her. Now that she'd discovered how much she loved him.

Baring his teeth, Jesse let go of his dick and swiped Sarah's picture off the screen. He opened this phone app and scrolled down until he saw Lester's name. Her gatekeeper.

Jesse didn't understand what kind of hold Lester had over the love of his life. Dan he got, he was her husband so maybe there was some loyalty there but Lester? Why was he able to control her?

His finger hesitated over the call button, memories of that night in the hotel flooding his brain. Watching, heartbroken as Sarah wailed while Lester impaled her with his cock. Fucking her senseless. He really wished that ugly bastard hadn't been there at all.

Jesse knew that Lester couldn't hold a candle to him. That Sarah and Jesse had really connected that night on a level that neither of them had ever experienced before. But Lester had still been there and managed to bring her off so many times. Maybe that had been a show for his benefit. Yeah, Sarah probably couldn't reach those highs without Jesse being there. That had to be it.

It had still been awkward having someone else there, let alone someone like Lester. Watching them make love. Judging his movements. It had been difficult at first for Jesse to perform properly, but that was quickly overcome by having Sarah right there in front of him. He knew she probably felt the same. But he had still managed to make her cum, even with that asshole there. That just showed how strong Sarah's desire was for him.

While Jesse had, at first, made love to Sarah, he had to watch on in horror as afterwards, Lester had just fucked her like a caged animal. And she'd loved it. At least, her body had, judging by how many times she seemed to have come with him.

So then Jesse had tried to have sex with her like that. Roughly and uncaringly, like Lester did. Maybe it was because they had already had sex or maybe it was because it was so anathetical to the way Jesse was but Sarah didn't cum as much or as loudly or as intensely as she had with Lester. And then the fucking guy had made love to her the next time, making her cum just as many times, and even more explosively.

The only thing that made sense was that she was performing. Faking it all those times just to satisfy that asshole. Because he had some kind of control over her, maybe she was afraid of him, of what he might have on her. Either way, Jesse knew he had to get Sarah out of Lester and Dan's clutches.

Jesse gritted his teeth and found the resolve deep within him. He had to do this for her. He pressed the dial button and steeled his nerves, waiting for Lester to answer. While the line rang, it abruptly cut off, going straight to the gruff man's voicemail.

Lester had screened his call. Jesse called back again with the same result. On the fifth consecutive call, Lester finally answered.

"What?" Lester barked. Jesse felt his blood begin to boil at Lester's impatient tone. Jesse must have intimidated him; that's why he hadn't called him since that night. Lester had recognized him as a threat.

Jesse stood up. Sitting down felt like a weak position to speak to his competition from. He paced around his room, purposely avoiding the overdue rent and other bills on his desk.

"You're going to let me talk to Sarah. Now," Jesse said.

Lester chuckled, “Why would I do that?”

“Because I know what you’re doing. You’re controlling her. You and Dan. Trying to keep her away from me. I know you guys have locked her social accounts, so she can’t talk to me. So, back off and let me talk to her.”

Lester was silent. Jesse knew he had struck a nerve. Finally, he spoke.

“It’s not me,” Lester said, “I don’t have any control over her.”

“It’s Dan then? He’s the one controlling her?” Jesse asked.

“He is her husband. She has to do what he says, I guess,” Lester said.

“That’s fucked up, she’s her own person. She can think for herself. She doesn’t have to stay with him.” Jesse said.

“They have kids together,” Lester sighed, seeming sad he couldn’t help, like he had given up on her. Well, Jesse was still ready to fight for Sarah.

“I can take care of them. She can leave Dan. I’ll take care of her and her girls. You can tell her that,” Jesse said.

“I’m not sure when I’ll see her again,” Lester whispered.

Jesse gritted his teeth. This wasn’t going anywhere. He’d need to talk to Dan and fix this.

“Fine,” Jesse said, “I’ll call Dan then.”

“Wait,” Lester said, “Are you sure you want to do that? It’ll give him a heads-up and let him know you’re coming. He’ll be able to get ready for you.”

Lester was right. He didn’t want Dan to just be able to hang up on him. He needed to confront him in person. Dan had ambushed Jesse outside of his workplace. Maybe it was time for Jesse to return the favor.

“Bye Lester,” Jesse said and hung up the call. He opened LinkedIn and searched up Dan, confirming he still worked at the same place. It was time to go visit his old colleague.

Sarah's heels clicked on the floor of the hospital's lobby. With her head down, Sarah crossed to the elevator bank. Yesterday's events felt much heavier in the cool sunlight of the morning. What had she been thinking going along with Lester's request? In the moment, right after Lester had fucked her in his office, the request had sent a dark, thrill through her. She hadn't wanted to say no. The idea of lowering herself to touch someone like Otis, let alone doing it in her workplace, touched a part of her that she usually suppressed in this building, in this town. And the fact she had an eager audience watching her just added fuel to the fire that had been burning within her.

But now, the cold reality of the situation was washing over her. She had fooled around with a coworker in her workplace. Lester....she didn't count him as a colleague. His was a unique circumstance, and someone she'd already had an existing relationship with. No, Otis was.....different. She didn't know him well, which made her stomach turn into knots as she couldn't anticipate what he might do or how he would react the next time he saw her. And the fact that he was....she hated to admit, even to herself, because it sounded so classist and elitist....on a lower social rung than she was. Though, her own status seemed to be slipping lately.

She'd felt confident last night walking out to her car with her head held high. Almost proud. She hadn't been able to find Lester but she had to quickly switch into mommy mode anyways and go pick up her kids. But today, she just felt nervous.

Sarah got into the elevator, her eyes flicking between other colleagues inside. She steeled herself, waiting for one of them to fix her with a look that said 'I know what you did last night.' Thankfully, none of them did.

When the elevator doors opened, Sarah squared her shoulders and walked out, trying to project an air of confidence that clashed with how she was feeling inside. She tried to channel how she'd felt months ago before the hospital takeover had started.

Sarah walked into the IT Department and froze in her tracks, eyes going wide. Through the rows of cubicles Sarah saw Otis' cart parked outside her office. The portly janitor was loitering in the area, far earlier in the day than he normally did. Sarah wanted to make a dash for Lester's office to talk to her boss. Instead she spun on her heels and marched back out into the hallway.

She needed to talk to Lester. If what she'd seen was right, he'd recorded her time in the basement with Otis on his phone yesterday. While it sent a strange thrill down her spine, the cold reality of a video like that existing shook her to her core. As much as she needed to talk to him, she desperately wanted to avoid interacting with Otis today.

Otis would eventually have to leave the IT suite. He couldn't loiter there forever. He was probably trying to catch her as she got to work that day. Who knows what he would say or try to do. So, the best bet was to avoid him entirely. Sarah headed back to the elevator to go downstairs and get a fresh cup of coffee.

Half an hour later, Sarah was pulling open the doors to the IT department once again. She peeked her head in and felt the tension drop from her shoulders. Otis and his cart were nowhere to be found.

She strode across the room to her office, wishing it didn't look like she was arriving to work just now. After putting her things away, she walked over to Lester's office to talk to him about the video recording. Unfortunately, he wasn't there.

Sarah wanted to ask if anyone had seen Lester, but she didn't know any of the handful of IT people left, and she was supposed to be the man's right hand. It would look bad if she revealed she didn't know where he was. Sarah returned to her office, closed the door behind her, and logged onto her computer. She could see in her calendar that Lester wasn't available, but she couldn't see where he was.

She spent the next few minutes catching up on emails while trying to figure out more about how the department ran. Eventually, she had to run to a meeting, one she hoped Lester would attend as well. Unfortunately, he didn't. Nor did he turn up at the next one. Sarah texted him asking where he was but didn't receive a reply. This went on for the entire morning, Sarah seemingly unable to locate Dan's roommate, now her boss. It was almost like he was avoiding her on purpose. Sarah shook her head. Grasping at straws wouldn't help and almost made her feel like a high school girl wondering why the boy she liked wasn't giving her any attention. It was stupid and useless.

Between meetings and returning to her office, Sarah had to avoid Otis who seemed to keep poking around wherever she was. Lester's office had sat empty the entire time. On her way to the cafeteria to pick up lunch, she saw Lester waddling across the atrium towards the parking lot at the rear of the building.

Sarah hurried her steps, restraining herself from breaking into a full run. Lester was exiting the building as she closed the gap between them. She could see Otis wheeling his cart in her direction from the corner of her eye. Sarah hurried the last few steps, opening the exit door and catching up with Lester.

"Lester," Sarah said in a low voice, "Where have you been all morning?"

"Hmm? Oh, just, you know, working. Why?" Lester asked, not breaking his stride towards his car.

Sarah looked over her shoulder and saw Otis standing at the window, watching them.

“We need to talk about yesterday. About what you made me do,” Sarah said.

Lester looked around the parking lot. Other people were heading to their cars, and more staff were streaming out the exit doors behind them. It was lunch, after all. “Are you sure you want to talk about this right now? Here?”

Sarah looked around. “No. I guess not. I just haven’t been able to find you all day. I hoped we could chat about it in your office this morning.”

“Yeah, got called out for a dumb meeting,” Lester shrugged, “I’m grabbing lunch and picking some stuff up from my hotel. We can chat when I get back, right?”

Sarah looked over her shoulder. Otis was still standing at the window, glaring at her. If she turned around and went back inside now, he would no doubt intercept her, for who knows what. And she had left her purse locked up in her office, grabbing only some cash to buy lunch. She didn’t have the keys to go to her car.

“Could I tag along? I could use a break from this place,” Sarah said. “Please?”

“Sure, I guess,” Lester said as they navigated the parking lot to his black SUV. As they pulled out of the parking lot, Sarah glanced back at the hospital and saw Otis hurrying away from the window. He probably imagined that Sarah and Lester were heading to their prior meeting spot behind the old annex of the building.

Sarah looked out the window of the SUV, watching the buildings and streets pass by. Finally, she worked up the nerve to start the conversation with Lester.

“About yesterday,” Sarah started.

“Hold on,” Lester cut her off as he swung the SUV into another parking lot, navigating into the drive through of a Burger King, “Let me just order real quick. Did you want something?”

“Umm,” Sarah started, “I need to read the menu. I don’t come here often.”

“Alright, you read while I order,” Lester said, pulling up to the microphone. Sarah’s eyes scanned the unfamiliar menu as she sought out the healthiest options. Unfortunately, it looked like that wasn’t a thing here.

“Welcome to BK where you rule, what can I get for you today?” a young voice squawked from the speaker near the car.

“Yeah, give me a triple Whopper and add bacon to it. Super size the Coke and fries. On the side, can I get a Carolina barbecue chicken sandwich, eight nuggets, and a slice of some of that Hershey’s sundae pie? What do you want, Sarah?”

“Quite the appetite there,” Sarah murmured before adding, “I’ll just have the veggie burger, no fries or soda, though.”

“And a veggie burger combo with a coke,” Lester said before receiving his total and driving up to the window. Sarah gave him a glare, and soon they pulled back onto the road towards Lester’s hotel.

As Lester drove, he stuffed his hand into one of the bags and pulled out a fistful of fries that he thoughtlessly shoved into his mouth. Sarah just shook her head and reluctantly took a sip from the Coke.

“Let’s talk upstairs,” Lester said as they pulled into a parking lot. With their Burger King orders in hand, the couple entered the hotel and quickly found Lester’s room on the second floor.

“Let’s eat first. I’m starving,” Lester said as he opened the door. Sarah followed him into his hotel room and wasn’t surprised to see the state of disarray it was in. The garbage and recycling bins were overflowing with garbage. The lights to the bathroom had been left on, along with the TV, now blaring an endless narration of the weather. Various items were strewn all over the bathroom counter. Both of the queen beds hadn’t been made, and there were empty and half-empty bags of Cheetos and other refuse on both beds.

“Lester....” Sarah started, “Why don’t you get the maids in here to clean this place up?”

“I don’t want them going through my shit,” Lester said, “Besides, I’ll be heading back to Chicago in a couple days - they can clean it then.”

“It’s just...how, how can you live like this?” Sarah asked.

Lester just shrugged. “It’s not that bad. We can’t all have our perfect little houses. Why do you think I always come over to your place?”

Sarah looked around at the room, crossing her arms in front of her considering the utter disorder. Lester sat down on the bed, unwrapping the greasy food and quickly devouring it. Sarah sighed and did the same, opting for the small chair next to a table where she cleared a space and then neatly unwrapped her veggie burger and immediately took a ravenous bite of it. As much as she hadn't wanted them, the fries and Coke hit the spot.

Lester's eyes were transfixed on the TV in front of him as he scarfed down his food. There was now some kind of video game tournament playing on the screen. Something to do with the initials DOTA, but Sarah wasn't really paying close attention. She just eyed Lester as fresh grease ran down his chins. It was disgusting but impressive how he'd quickly finished the triple Whopper before moving onto the nuggets without her noticing. The wrappers for both were now discarded on the bed. Then, he started in on his other sandwich, taking swigs of his extra large Coke between his massive bites..

"Fuckers didn't give me a fucking fork," Lester complained when he opened the Herseys sundae pie. Sarah's eyes went wide as Lester used his hands to shove it into his mouth. Sarah could barely get through half of her burger before her stomach felt full.

Lester wiped his hands on his pants and shuffled himself back to the bed to rest against the headboard, his fingers diving into one of the open bags of Cheetos already there,

"How are you still hungry?" Sarah asked. "I can't even finish this."

"I have immense energy reserves that I need to fill," Lester said without taking his eyes off the screen in front of him.

"Energy for what?" Sarah shook her head. He was going to eat his way to an early heart attack.

"I think you know," Lester said, turning away from the TV to look at her with that shit eating while he stuffed a handful of Cheetos into his mouth.

"You're gross," Sarah rolled her eyes, leaned back in her chair, and crossed her legs. She wanted to finally talk to him about what happened last night.

"We need to talk about what happened yesterday. In the basement," Sarah said. Lester just shrugged and grabbed another handful of Cheetos. Orange dust had formed a light powdery layer on his shirt.

"What about it? The way you blew the janitor's world?" Lester asked, turning his attention back to the TV.

Sarah cringed at his choice of wording but pressed on, "Yes. Specifically, I wanted to _"

“Did you enjoy it?” Lester asked.

“Lester, I don’t think –”

“It sure sounded like you enjoyed the hell out of it. With the way you were moaning and sucking on his cock like that. Otherwise, you probably deserve an Oscar. But what would you have done if someone other than the janitor followed you down there? I wonder...” he trailed off as he shoved another copious handful of Cheetos into his mouth.

Sarah honestly didn’t know how she would have reacted. If someone else at the hospital had stumbled upon her posing like that in her underwear. The idea was absurd. She knew she would freak out and get dressed. In fact the entire idea of being down there in the first place was completely ridiculous. She knew that. Logically it made sense. But what would she have done in reality?

You wouldn’t want to disappoint Lester. She had owed Lester one and knew he was watching. She probably would have done exactly what she did.

“I guess we’ll never know,” Sarah answered, “But I want to talk about you and the video you took. That you took of me...”

“Oh. That.” Lester said, grabbing the remote with his greasy hands and muting it, “I was wondering if you were gonna bring that up.”

“Lester....,” Sarah started, “You know how much damage a video like that could do, right? I get that, in the moment it can be hot but in reality it’s scary knowing that something like that is out there, that it exists. How damaging it could be. For me, for Otis and even the hospital. Please, Lester, I need you to delete it.”

Sarah stood up and put her hands on her hips, trying to recapture some of her lost confidence. She stepped between Lester and his view of the TV. Lester moved his head to the side to keep watching, but Sarah side-stepped into his view, insistently.

“I never said I wouldn’t delete it,” Lester shrugged, giving up on trying to view the TV. “I just thought, ya know, you might like to see it.”

“Lester, I was there,” Sarah inhaled deeply, “I lived it.”

“No, I mean, like, see yourself from the perspective of Dan or from my view. See how you perform from our eyes. See how the fantasy is fulfilled. That’s why I took it. So you could see how sexy and powerful you looked doing what you did.” Lester met her gaze and held it.

Sarah shivered at his intense stare, not knowing how to respond to his words. Just as she was about to say something, Lester spoke again.

“Come here. Look.” Lester pulled his hand out of the Cheeto bag and held up his phone. He thumbed it open and motioned for her to sit next to him. Hesitantly, Sarah cautiously edged up next to the bed where he was sitting.

“Don’t be shy.” Lester was being conciliatory, he moved the Cheeto bag and patted the bed. “Sit down. C’mere.”

Sarah sighed. She wiped Cheeto crumbs off the bedspread and shuffled onto it, scooting up next to Lester, “You’re still going to delete it after. Tell me.”

“I promise,” Lester said as he leaned towards her. Their shoulders brushed against each other, and Sarah was close enough to see the greasy fingerprints covering his phone’s screen. The phone was paused on a frozen image of she herself on her knees before Otis.

Lester tapped the screen, and the video began to play. Sarah, clad only in her sexy underwear locked eyes with the lowly janitor as Sarah passionately sucked his cock. Sarah, in the hotel room, felt her eyes go wide, seeing everything from this new angle. Seeing how slutty she looked. Seeing Otis’s new body language from his perspective, How dank and dirty that room had been.

“Opps, sorry, I had it on mute from a meeting before,” Lester said and thumbed a button on the side of the device.

Sucking sounds emanated from the phone, followed by an unmistakable, “Mmmhmmmmmm,” from her working lips.

Sarah watched in fascination and horror as the phone version of her was loving every second of sucking the older man’s twitching cock.

“See how sexy you look? See?” Lester asked. Sarah didn’t answer. She couldn’t pry her eyes from the act she saw herself performing on the phone. Sarah felt the heat rising in her chest as she watched herself perform on the screen. Part of her brain registered that her breathing was growing shallow as her eyes fixated on the firm dick on the screen, the way it slid in and out of her mouth.

“See how sexy you look? Do you?” Lester repeated, whispering in her ear. When had his lips gotten so close to her? She could feel the heat from his breath running against her neck, causing a line of goosebumps to appear. Lester put the phone in Sarah’s hand. She gripped it tightly as the video continued to play.

Lester’s wet lips caressed her neck, and his fingertips kneaded into the upper thighs of her pants. Sarah clamped her thighs together, but Lester’s fingers somehow found a way. First he wiggled them between her clamped thighs. She relented and her legs parted, allowing his hands free reign to touch her wherever he wanted.

“What are you watching?” Lester whispered as his kisses trailed down her neck. Her own head bobbed to the side, jutting her neck out ever so slightly to expectantly meet his lips. “Tell me what you see.”

“Me,” Sarah whispered, “It’s me. I-I’m being... bad.”

“Doing what?”

“Worshipping a cock,” Sarah whispered.

“That’s what you’re good at. You know that. Whose cock is it? Is it Dan’s?” Lester asked.

“You know it’s not,” Sarah said.

“Whose?”

“Otis,” Sarah breathed, “The creepy janitor at the hospital.”

“And you’re on your knees, worshipping his cock.” Lester tugged on her hips, pulled her down from a sitting position onto her back. Sarah almost lost her grip on the phone, but she righted herself in time, before she lost it. Lester eased her onto her side and slid in behind her.

A soft moan escaped Sarah’s lips as she felt Lester’s hard, hot cock press into her ass, between their respective pants. This hadn’t been how she had planned this conversation to go. She really should put a stop to this. She really should....

Lester’s tongue swirled on the back of her neck, making her mouth automatically droop open. She bit her bottom lip. “Lester....” Sarah moaned softly, “We should really get back to the....”

“Shh, just keep watching,” Lester said as his tongue continued swirling around one of her most sensitive nerve clusters. “Keep watching how your hips just want to grind on something. Something nice and hard.”

Lester punctuated his sentence with a thrust of his cock into her ass, holding it there so she had to feel how fully hard and long he was for her. Sarah gasped and her hips instinctively pushed back into Lester’s cock as a soft moan escaped her lips.

“Lester....” Sarah groaned, her hips rocking side to side against Lester’s pressing cock. As if sensing her attempts to disengage, his arm encircled her, his hand massaging her breast, hefting its weight.

“Uhhhhmmmm,” Sarah wanted to protest, but her body just responded to Lester’s touch, almost like it was conditioned to do so.

“Open your eyes,” Lester whispered, his speaking tongue no longer on the back of her neck, “Watch the video.”

Sarah hadn’t realized she’d shut her eyes to revel in Lester’s touch. She now opened them and looked at the phone in her hand. Otis was dragging his engorged cock all over her face. Sarah felt a heat in her abdomen as she watched the rough treatment from the cleaner. For someone so much further below her on the corporate ladder to degrade her like that with his bared cock. Fucckk.

“We don’t need these, do we?” Lester’s hand dropped from her breast and started to tug down her pants. Part of Sarah knew she shouldn’t allow this. Knew she should get back to work. But a louder part of her wondered why. Why go back to work at all? What was she working for, anyway? They had shunted her off into IT, her past contributions now meaningless. Besides, the person she answered to was right here....

Sarah lifted her hip off the bed, letting Lester pull her pants down to her feet. She kicked them off onto the floor as Lester shuffled awkwardly behind her, his large gut pressing into the small of her back.

“Ah, yeah I love this ass,” Lester roughly pawed and slapped her bubble butt cheeks before pushing his now freed cock against them. In his awkward movements, he had lowered his own pants and boxers. Sarah could feel his hot, hard, naked cock pressing into her ass cheeks, his rough tangle of public hair tickling her skin.

Lester’s hand gripped her slim hips, pulling her bubble butt back against his engorged cock as he thrust against her. Rubbing his cock all over her perfectly flawless ass.

“Fucking perfection,” Lester murmured behind her. Sarah’s body immediately responded to Lester, like it always did. She couldn’t help it. She knew things were complicated and it was smarter to just walk away, but her rationality was drowned out by the newfound fascination of watching herself performing a lewd act on Lester’s phone. Otis was slapping his bulging cock against her cheeks. She hadn’t realized how fucking horny and desperate she had looked in that moment. What would she have done if Otis had tried to fuck her?

Sarah shivered at the thought. At the same time, Lester’s grubby hand pulled at her shirt, snaking under it to fondle her lacy bra-clad breasts. Her shirt kept rising on the back of his forearm as he roughly grabbed, squeezed, and massaged her breasts. Soft moans escaped Sarah’s lips as she continued to be transfixed by the action of the video.

“You looked so fucking hot yesterday,” Lester voice rumbled in her ear as he nibbled on her earlobe. He shifted behind her, his cock dragging down one of her ass cheeks, leaving a sticky trail of his freely seeping precum behind. Sarah’s eyes fluttered closed again feeling Lester’s cock press between the bottom of her ass cheeks. Lester’s hips suddenly pushed forward, parting her skin, pressing between her upper thighs.

Sarah’s breath caught in her throat. Her body was warm and tense with anticipation. Lester’s cock continued to rub against her skin until it pushed against the sensitive area at the outer lips of Sarah’s vagina. Sarah dropped a hand down between her legs and felt Lester’s bulbous cock head prodding her there. He pulled back and pushed forward again, grazing Sarah’s sensitive skin. The tip of his gargantuan cock pressing into Sarah’s palm.

He held still while Sarah’s delicate fingers began massaging the broad head of his cock. She held it against her pussy, rubbing it back and forth. It felt amazing, and she wasn’t surprised to feel how wet she already was. Lester just did that to her, for her.

“You looked so fucking hot, being my obedient little slut. I loved that you went down into that dirty basement and did exactly what I told you to do.” Lester’s fat tongue snaked out of his mouth and sloppily licked her ear, covering it.

Lester’s hand continued to maul both of Sarah’s breasts. His thumb got hooked in the fabric of her shirt, and he hastily pulled it up and over her head. It dawned on Sarah that she was now lying in Lester’s hotel bed in just her lacy underwear. A weird thought popped into her head with an image of Princess Leia being fondled by that green wormy guy.

With her shirt free, Lester began mauling her harder. Tugging down the straps of her bra and licking all over her exposed shoulders. His hips started bucking, fucking her thighs while Sarah guided his cockhead against her pussy.

“What would you do with Otis if he was here right now, huh?” Sarah’s eyes snapped open at Lester’s softly uttered words. She looked at the phone and saw that the video had restarted. She was back on her knees on the screen, just beginning to take the older man’s length into her mouth. Lester was so unpredictable, it was hard for her to know how to answer his question. For all she knew, Lester had arranged for Otis to be waiting for a signal or something from the bathroom, and then he would appear, cock out, expecting her to satisfy him. She had been avoiding him all day, she couldn’t imagine what would happen if he were here.

“Would you do the same thing as yesterday? Like on the screen right now?” Lester’s hot breath was on her neck. She tore her eyes from the screen and turned her head, looking over her shoulder at Lester. This wasn’t a flattering angle for him. Laying like this, his chins pressed together made him look like a large earthworm. But the intense lust in his beady eyes made her knees weak and butterflies erupted in her stomach.

“I...” Sarah started, as a wicked idea formed in her mind. She let the phone drop to the bed and grabbed Lester’s hand that was groping her breasts. “I’d do whatever my Chicago boyfriend wanted.”

Then she curled all of his fingers into a fist but his index finger. Without breaking eye contact with Lester, she raised it to her mouth. Her lips parted, and her tongue stuck out slightly as she brought Lester’s finger into her mouth.

Sarah never broke eye contact with Dan’s obese roommate. Her mouth closed around his dirty finger and she moaned, imagining it was a cock. Not Lester’s, not Otis’, not even Dan’s. Just a random cock that had found its way into her mouth.

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned at the sensation. Her taste buds ignited, registering the fine, stale Cheeto dust on Lester’s finger. It wasn’t a snack she particularly enjoyed, but in this moment...it was entirely Lester. So very, very Lester. Her tongue swirled around his finger, cleaning it, sucking off all remnants of Lester’s favored orange snack.

Lester let out a groan, watching Sarah fellate his finger. She kept staring at him, watching him delight under her touch. She pulled the finger out her mouth and uncurled his middle finger. She saw more orange dust on this one. Holding the two fingers together, she licked the length of them before taking both of them into her mouth.

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned again. Lester pushed his fingers deeper into Sarah’s mouth, eliciting another primal moan. Lester began fucking Sarah’s mouth with his fingers, pulling them out and pushing them back in deeper, and deeper each time. Sarah finally broke eye contact, closing her eyes and revelling in the sensation of his digits pushing into her mouth. He kept thrusting them faster and faster, not letting Sarah clean the newly added finger properly. Denying her the satisfaction.

At the same time, Sarah's hips began bucking back against Lester's thrusting cock, her slit wet and ready for him. Lester's body shifted behind her, and she knew it was coming. The angle of Lester's shaft changed in the particular way she'd come to expect and she felt the meaty head of his cock pressing against her entrance. She wanted to take a breath and brace herself for what was about to happen, but she had lost control of the fingers in her mouth. Lester was pushing the fingertips all the way to the back of her throat before retracting them and then doing it all over again. It was like her body was just there for his pleasure, stuck between his two ends as he fucked her with his fingers.

Lester grunted and the head of his cock jutted forwardly, pushing open the folds of Sarah's pussy. "Uhhmmhmmmmmmmm," she moaned around his fingers as his fat cock began invading between her inviting pussy lips. Sarah could feel his well familiar cock, stretching her open like nothing else could do so well. Long gone were the thoughts of condoms or of even preventing Lester from being this close to her. She had probably fucked Lester more times these past few months than she had her own husband.

More of the extreme length of Lester's cock entered her slowly, like it was never ending. Sarah's body quivered as he continued to push himself firmly into her. His fat, hairy balls pressing against her soft thighs. Lester's other hand reached around her head and grabbed the phone on the bed.

The fingers in her mouth moved to the side, Sarah's head following as they kept pumping in and out of her mouth.

"Open your eyes," Lester breathed into her ear. Sarah did and saw the phone open in front of her again. Her past self on her knees before the old janitor as she vigorously sucked him off. Immediately Sarah pictured Lester's fingers as Otis' cock, "Mhmmhggmmhggmmmmmm."

Lester's hips pushed forward and he was fully embedded inside the young mother. "Ahhhmhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned as she took in a quick breath from around Lester's fingers. Her eyes were glued to the screen, watching herself put on a show for them.

Lester didn't waste any time. His hips began rocking back and forth as his oversized cock slid fluidly in and out of Sarah. The fat head of his cock pounding into her sensitive inner flesh. Sarah wanted to shut her eyes and revel in the sensations Lester's cock was giving her but she did as she was told and kept staring at the phone.

Her lips clamped around Lester's hairy knuckles as she sucked his fingers aggressively, picturing Otis's cock from last night. Any evidence of Cheeto dust on them was long since removed.

"Fuck, you're so tight," Lester grunted, his monster cock sliding out of her, slick with her juices before sliding right back in.

"Mmm-hmmmm," Sarah moaned around Lester's fingers. They fucked like that on their sides for what felt like forever. Lester inserted his fingers, pushing them deep into her mouth while his giant cock battered and plundered her pussy. Having his cock in her and his fingers fucking her mouth while watching the video of herself was quickly pushing Sarah past her point of no return. Her growing orgasm was quickly threatening to descend onto her and fry her consciousness.

"Mmmmmffffff," Sarah held onto the back of Lester's hand as his fingers pushed in and out of her wet and waiting mouth. Her eyes open, staring at the screen before her as Otis dragged his cock all over her face.

"Here comes my favorite part," Lester grunted. He pulled his fingers from Sarah's mouth, much to her disappointment, as he roughly gripped her slim hips, giving his cock extra leverage. "Keep watching."

Lester kept lustily pounding Sarah's pussy as she watched the events unfold before her on the screen. Her body was on fire, feeling the next level ecstasy of Lester's fat thrusting cock sliding in and out of her. Tantalizingly touching her insides and setting every single one of her nerves on fire. She gripped his cock with the taut muscles in her pussy, enveloping him, not wanting to ever let him go. Not when she was so fucking close to cumming this phenomenally.

She wanted to clamp her eyes shut and focus on the burning sensation inside of her. But Lester had told her to keep watching. So she watched, even as her body was being dialled up for an explosive climax.

"Ohfuck," Sarah moaned, watching the illicit scene play out on Lester's phone screen. Otis was eagerly slapping his cock against her outstretched tongue. Her body gyrating on the dirty ground of the boiler room like a common whore. Her mind a fucked up cocktail of exhibitionism and voyeurism. Knowing Lester was watching, putting on a show for him. And now, seeing her in the act from Lester's viewpoint. Seeing herself perform. It created a heavy cocktail of endorphins in her brain that she wanted to drink from forever. It was all too much.

Sarah's body tensed at the same time Otis did on the screen. As the first rope of his cum splattered across her face on the video, Sarah could almost feel the warmth of it on her again. Her body shuddered and her pussy clamped down on Lester's cock as she came from the fire he'd created inside her.

Her orgasm ripped through her body, rocking her to her very core. Despite Lester's order's Sarah closed her eyes, the image of Otis's cock exploding seared into her memory. She held her breath as her entire body was enveloped in a warm embrace, as her intense orgasm radiated from her very core. Her hands knotted the bedsheets, and her legs went taut. It was like she could actually feel the ropes of cum landing on her face again. Her mind shifting from Lester's perspective and her own from last night as the janitor fucked her face.

"Ohhhhhmmmmmyygoodddfuucck," Sarah moaned, her brain on fire from all the stimuli. This was something new, like pouring gasoline onto a raging fire. All of it touched her in a new way and shattered her to her core, her orgasm rocking her. Watching herself. Seeing herself. Seeing herself in such a fucked up situation with such a fucked up person.

"Ohhhhhhhhhhh," Sarah wailed as her climax crescendoed and another, larger one, out of nowhere, took over and crashed down onto her. Her pussy clamped down on Lester's cock like an unyielding vise. He was hot and strong inside of her, and she could feel his heartbeat thrumming from inside her. Pulsating from his cock. Her body quivered, and her face went red as she held her breath, her eyes closed tightly as her climaxes exploded repeatedly inside of her.

"Jeeessus," Sarah finally exhaled, her body slumping. Taut muscles relaxed for a second as her mind cleared. She released her lips' grip on Lester's cock. She had been holding him so tightly that he hadn't been able to continue thrusting inside of her.

"Stay like that," Lester grunted, pulling his cock free. Sarah felt empty, a pang of disappointment at his cock disappearing from her. She wished she could just feel it in her all the time. The mattress dipped behind her as Lester repositioned himself. From the corner of her eye, she saw the blobby outline of Lester's body push itself off the bed and shimmy itself down towards her legs. Lester's large stomach stuck out, his pasty white skin covered in hair, contrasting with her tanned and toned legs. His flabby chest was almost as imposing as her own considerable bust. He licked his lips and stared down at her, one hand on his cock as he ran it sideways against her leaking slit. He put one of his legs in between hers to give him better access to her pussy and then pushed himself forward with a satisfied grunt.

“Uhhh,” Sarah moaned, staring at her husband’s roommate. Her boss, as he mounted her. She lay on her side, her legs bent in a sitting position, with Lester kneeling up against her ass and thighs. Suddenly he jabbed his cock deep into her hard and fast without warning.

“Ughgghhhhhh,” Sarah grunted in surprise. A sharp intake of breath, her jaw hung open from the continued shock of his immense girth.

“I love doing that,” Lester chuckled, “Love seeing that look on your face. The aroused surprise. Love seeing those tits bounce as I fuck you.”

“Then don’t stop,” Sarah moaned, “Keep fucking me. Fuck me hard Lester. Make my… tits bounce for you.”

That ugly shit-eating grin appeared on Lester’s face and he started to rapidly pound his cock into her. Sarah gasped as Lester wasted no time fucking her frenetically with a driven energy in just the way she craved. Her body immediately responded to him. She pushed her butt back against him with each thrust. It felt like Lester was splitting her in two with his pumping hardness, and it felt so fucking good.

“Uh, Uh, mmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned at each hard thrust. Her breasts were bouncing wildly, flailing away, Lester’s eyes devouring the sight of them. Feasting on them. The way he stared at her made it seem like she was the only thing in the world he wanted to look at. That intense mask of lust on his face, those eyes almost glowing with desire. Desire for her.

“Don’t stop fucking me Lester,” Sarah whined. She bit her lip and held onto the pillow beneath her head with one hand. The other needed to touch him. She touched his stomach, fingers running through the hair there as he thrust into her. Lester smacked her hand away. He gripped her wrist and held it against her thigh, not wanting anything to slow his thrusts.

Lester just gritted his teeth and kept pounding into her, his forehead glistening with sweat. In another life, seeing Lester’s grotesque body connected to hers like this would have been a nightmare. But now, strangely, Sarah felt herself strongly attracted to his form, to how he looked when he moved like this. Logically, she knew it wasn’t something she should desire, but she couldn’t help herself. On a primal level, she knew that his form was associated with massive amounts of her pleasure.

“Now this is how to spend a fucking work day,” Lester grunted, finger nails digging into her thigh flesh. “If only everyone at work knew that Sarah Williams was getting fucked on her lunch break.”

The idea sent shivers of terror down her spine but her pussy clenched tightly around Lester's cock.

"Here," Lester said, one of his hands trailing up her body, "You need to clean these ones too."

Two of Lester's fingers pushed their way into her mouth. Just like the last ones, she tasted whatever he had been eating. Without so much as a thought of disobeying, Sarah lapped at them. Her tongue dragged across them, licking them clean as Lester pushed them into her mouth.

"Mhmmmmm," Sarah moaned around his fingers. Again her mind flashed to the video of Otis with his cock thrusting into her mouth.

"Good girl," Lester grunted between thrusts, "Lick'em clean. Get it all."

Lester's other hand roughly pulled down the cups of her bra, letting her bare breasts tumble out. He didn't bother undoing the clasps, just exposing her flopping breasts. He wasted no time roughly mauling them and tweaking each nipple. After playing with her breasts and nipples, his hand gripped her shoulder and pulled her towards him while he thrust into her,

"Ahhh-uuuhhhhh," Sarah gasped around Lester's digits at the hard movement. Lester repeated it again and again. He pulled his fingers from her mouth, now glistening with her saliva and grabbed his phone again, sticking it in front of Sarah's face and making her watch the video of her sucking on Otis' cock.

Sarah just groaned softly as her eyes were glued to the video. Lester continued to ceaselessly slide his large, hot cock in and out of her. It was like she was watching porn while a massive dildo was fucking her. Except instead of a dildo it was Lester's living monster cock and the pornstar was her, acting like a wanton slut for some random older man.

"How do you like watching yourself?" Lester asked, with no break in his constant pace.

"Uh, ah, mmhmmmm, uhhhh," Sarah just grunted, forcing her eyes to keep watching. Even though Lester was doing a thorough job of trying to distract her.

"Tell me," Lester smirked, "How do you like watching yourself perform for me? Sucking Otis' cock at my command? How wet does it make you, watching yourself act like such a slut. Tell me how you like it. Tell me."

“It’s.....” Sarah started, “Different.”

“Different how? Say more.”

“Uhhh, it’s almost like an out-of-body experience, mhmhm, but I know it’s myself, it’s me. I never, mhmhmhm, knew I looked so....slutty. I keep, uhh, expecting, ah, Otis to pull out and try to.. Bend me over, to fff-fuck me, but I know that’s not how the video ends.”

“Do you see how sexy you look doing it? Now you know why Dan likes to watch you. But the sexiest thing is watching you, knowing you’re doing it because I told you to.”

“Oh god,” Sarah groaned, “Doing it...because you want me to.”

“No,” Lester corrected, thrusting forward sharply to make a point, “Because your boss commanded it. And you’ll do whatever your boss demands, right?”

Fuck. Lester knew just how to talk to her to rile her up to a new level of sexual imagination. “Yes,” she breathed between thrusts, her face completely flushed, “Whatever my boss wants. Whatever you want, Lester.”

“I’m going to make you do the nastiest things you’ve ever done in your life,” Lester barked, “And you’re going to love each and every one of them.”

“Whatever you want,” Sarah closed her eyes and focused on Lester’s drilling cock, sliding in and out of her at a rapid clip. Even though she wasn’t currently watching the video, it was still playing back in her mind, over and over. The desperate look on Otis’s face as he stared down at her.....

“Remember that homeless guy? From that one night in Chicago? Maybe I should track him down and give you over to him.” Lester sneered, bending over and licking her skin by her neck. “And you’d love every second of it, wouldn’t you?”

“Yessss,” Sarah moaned, imagining that rough-looking man standing in front of her in the boiler room while she serviced him too. The dirty things he’d say while he used her mouth. While he....fucked her. Her delicate hands hot against the boiler getting fucked from behind.

“Stopp,” Sarah mewled, opening her eyes to look at Lester, “Take me from behind. Please.”

Lester just smirked and slowly, slid his oversized cock out of her. Sarah moaned as it slid out of her, eyes going wide at the sensation of his massiveness moving inside her. After it plopped out, her mind seemed to clear for a brief moment, taking in misshapen Lester's form. The sweat trickled down his neck and ran down his chest.

He slapped her thigh, and Sarah snapped out of her reverie. She turned her body towards the center of the bed, moving her hips to –

Rough hands grabbed her hips from behind and Lester shoved his cock into her all the way to the hilt, pulling her back towards him.

“UHFUUUUU,” Sarah screamed into the mattress. She hadn't been ready. Her knees jerked forward, the sharp thrust pushing her off balance. Sarah's chest fell to the mattress with a weird crunching sound.

Lester thrust again, not giving her time to push herself up. Her entire torso collapsed onto the bed while he held her hips up to meet his cock. Another forceful thrust followed by another strange crunching sound.

“Uhhh, mmhmm, ah, uh, uh, uh, uh, yes, yes, uh, please, Lester,” Sarah moaned, fingers splayed out, trying to grasp something, anything for leverage. Her fingers curled around the bedsheets, giving up on pushing herself up onto her hands, content to just take the aggressively pleasurable fucking from her fucked up lover.

“What's your favorite part in the video? Getting blasted with his cum?” Lester said mockingly behind her.

“Uhhmmhmmmm. All.....all of it...” Sarah moaned, “I fucking love all of it. Every single fucking second.”

“Heh,” Lester grunted and with a heavy breath pulled his cock all the way back until just the cockhead was inside of her and then slowly pushed it all the way back in. Sarah's toes curled, and she let out a long plaintive whine.

“I bet Dan would love the video, too,” Lester chuckled, “He'd love jerking his wittle cock to it, don't you think?”

“Yes,” Sarah admitted, “He'd love it.”

“Too bad he is never going to fucking see it.” Lester chortled, “It's all mine. Just like you are.”

Lester picked up his pace and started fucking her with a renewed vigor. Sarah finally found her hands underneath herself and was able to push herself up off the bed. Now on all fours, she ground her palms and knees into the bed while Lester relentlessly fucked her from behind. His meaty hand grabbed the back of her neck and forced her head down as he used her neck for leverage in his fucking.

Sarah's eyes lazily opened and saw a crushed bag of Cheetos below her on the bed. That was what had made the crunch sound earlier. Its contents were now exploded out all under her. Neither of them caring about the mess. Not wanting to stop. The maids would have to deal with it.

"Poor Dan," Lester chuckled, "Probably would fucking die to watch this video. Probably jerked off right away when you told him about yesterday."

Sarah just hung her head, focusing on Lester's cock presently hitting her G-Spot and driving her well on her way to another orgasm. She knew it was close. So fucking close. She just had to focus on it, and she was going to explode again.

Lester chuckled menacingly behind her, his leg coming up next to her hip as he chose a new angle to fuck her from, "You didn't fucking tell him did you?"

"No...", Sarah started, "Not yet....I was —"

"Fuck him," Lester grunted, squeezing one ass cheek hard enough that Sarah held back a shriek, "He can't give you what you need. Not like I can. You know it."

Sarah didn't respond, clamping her eyes shut as she held onto the bed sheets. As his body persistently delivered the need he'd mentioned.

Lester's hand on her neck snaked up to grab the hair at the base of her skull. The lustful mother knew what was coming and leaned her head back, offering him a place to clutch. He clenched his hand into a fist, roughly grabbing a handful of her hair, and he yanked her head up. Sarah winced and grinned at the familiar pain, Lester using her hair to pull her body back as he fucked her.

"Your boss asked you a question," Lester commanded.

"NO," Sarah screamed into the room, "He can't. Not like you can. No one can. Not like you."

"Not like your Chicago Husband can do it, huh?" Lester growled as he pumped more and more of his cock into her. His fat, hairy balls, slapping against her clit. He looked over at the mirror and saw the two of them in a side view; his quivering mass with one foot up on the bed, plunging into a writhing woman whose body was like a work of fine art.

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned, “Uhhmhmm. Ah, I think....you’re just, uhh, my....Chicago Fiancee, uhhhh.” He’d done the fake proposal and all of that. And yes, she had talked up her husband’s ring to Mary, but there hadn’t technically been a ceremony or something that would –

WHAP

Sarah shrieked as Lester slapped her ass hard with his grimy open hand.

WHAP

He did it again, leaving a massive welt of a handprint on her left ass cheek.

“Don’t give me that smart ass shit,” Lester grunted.

Despite Lester’s strong grip on her hair, Sarah turned her head to look over her shoulder. Her eyes blazed with defiance. She looked back at Dan’s roommate. Her boss and the man who gave her more intense orgasms than she had ever experienced before.

Sarah didn’t know where the phone was, but she could hear Otis’ voice, “Stick out your tongue.”

“Y-you want to be my Chicago Husband?” Sarah said with a raw edge to her voice, “Then you’re going to have to fuh-fucking work for it.”

Sarah readjusted where her hands were placed, crushing a few Cheetos under her palms. She slammed her hips back firmly against Lester’s cock, catching him off guard. Lester tried thrusting his cock into her but Sarah preemptively slammed her ass back against him before he could set the pace. Then slammed her ass back again, groaning at the feeling of Lester’s cock hitting her the way she wanted. The way she needed.

Lester grabbed her hips with both hands, holding on while she fucked back against his cock. Each time she slammed back, her ass cheeks rippled, as did the fat stomach connected to her.

Sweat was pouring off of Lester, causing a squelching sound where their bodies connected. Sarah could feel her own sweat pooling on her lower back, right above her ass cheeks. Lester's chest was heaving with each breath. Despite his aggressive thrusts, the internal tank he'd claimed to have filled earlier seemed to be running out.

"Come on, big boy. Give me what I need. You want me to be all yours than you're going to have to show me what you got," Sarah's fingers spread out on the bed and she pushed her ass back further than before, trying to take more and more of Lester's cock inside of her.

A familiar fire was quickly igniting inside of her. She didn't care if Lester didn't like what she was doing. If she stopped she knew she'd lose this orgasm and that wasn't fucking happening. Not with this man.

"Fuck," Sarah grunted as she slammed back into Lester, "Fucking give it to me Lester!"

Otis' voice again from the phone, "Fuck I'm so close. Beg for it. Say my name and beg for it."

"Don't fucking stop. PLEASE. GOD. I NEED IT. I NEED YOUR COCK," Sarah moaned, each word ramping up the fire she felt inside. "Fuck I want to feel you fill me. Fuck Lester. Please fill me up. Fill me Lester. PLEASE."

Lester was breathing hoarsely and heavily behind her, unable or unwilling to respond to her. It didn't matter. She was so close. It was right there. Right there. "Right there. Right there. Lester. Lester. LESTER! FUCK! GIVE IT TO ME LESTER!"

The phone sounded more muffled than before but Sarah could still hear Otis say, "Ugh, fuck. 'I'm gonna cum, girl. Where do you want it? Where do you fucking want it?'"

Sarah's building orgasm started to ripple inside of her, bending her mind, about to explode.

"Agh. Fuck I'm gonna cum. Take it, Sarah," Lester breathily grunted weakly from behind the thrashing bride.

His words danced into her ear and seemed to pierce through her body, right towards her budding orgasm, setting it ablaze.

"Open wide," Otis said from the phone.

"OH FUCK," Sarah screamed, nails digging into the mattress below. Lester's cock felt like it was heating up inside of her. It expanded, and she felt it. The pulse of his cock as the first rope of cum exploded out of his shaft and drenched her waiting pussy.

Sarah's pussy clenched down on his cock, milking it, refusing to let it go. Rope after hot, sticky rope exploded inside of her. The wall inside of her holding back her orgasm crumbled completely, and it washed over her body. Every inch of her felt a soothing warmth, and the neurons in her brain fired at a rapid speed as every nerve in her body seemed to alight all at once. Her toes curled and she thrust her ass back against him while she moaned, "JEESSUUSLEEEESSTERRRRR. FILL MEE."

With the last of his energy Lester let out an animalistic roar as the last of his cum flooded her pussy. His fat stomach collapsed on top of her, and she felt the crushing weight of his frame pushing her down onto the bed. She heard that familiar crunching sound of the orange snack food somewhere distant as her body still rocked, coursing with pleasure. Her body was pinned to the bed under Lester's massive frame, her eyes rolled back in her head as the last remaining strands of intoxicating pleasure rippled through her body.

"Holy shit," Otis' voice said from the nearby phone.

Soon, she was a heavy, sweating mess, breathing hard on the bed under the mass of Lester. She couldn't seem to breathe. His weight was too much for her. Lester slid his cock out of her and rolled off onto the side. Sarah did the same, rolling onto her back the other way. The sound of the plastic bag under her ruffling as she did.

Trying to catch her breath, Sarah could feel Lester's illicit cum begin to leak out of her well used pussy. She was too tired to care and well used to it by now.

"Here," Lester grunted, holding out his phone to her.

"Just admiring the view. Fucking perfection. Say, let me get your number, and maybe we can meet up again," Otis said in the recording.

Confused, she looked at him for an explanation.

"You wanted the video deleted," Lester said wearily, he was still breathing hard from the way she had taken over and set an olympic pace at the end. "Do it."

Sarah took the phone and looked at the video one last time. Then she pressed the delete button, erasing it from Lester's phone. The next picture in the camera roll appeared, and Sarah recognized it. It was one of the dirty pictures Lester had sent her recently. She swiped right and saw more of them. A bemused smile played on her lips as she realized that Lester must take several pictures before selecting the best one to send her. She hadn't realized he was so careful in choosing the best pictures of his cock for her. It was almost...sweet in a way.

“I told you, Dan was never going to see that video,” Lester chuckled, eyes closed.

Sarah just shook her head and tossed the phone back to him. “I guess not.”

Pushing through exhaustion, Sarah raised herself up onto her elbows and surveyed the state of the bed. The sheets were crinkled up everywhere. Lester was a hot, sweaty mess lying like a beached whale on the bed. Cheetos and their gross, over processed dust was everywhere.

I fucked him on a bed of Cheetos....

“Maybe we should make our own video,” Lester cracked an eye open and smiled at her, “Then we can do that while we watch ourselves.”

Sarah stared at him. She had just deleted a video, and now he was talking about making another. Though, he hadn’t put up a fight with her when he wanted to delete it.

“Maybe for my birthday,” Lester said.

“Didn’t you just have a birthday?” Sarah remembered his birthday request from a few months ago.

“Oh...yeah,” Lester said, then quickly added, “Maybe an early present for the next one.”

“You’re ridiculous,” Sarah shook her head and sat up completely, “Come on. You need to shower, and quickly. We need to get back to the office.”

Maria rolled her eyes as she tugged and tucked in the bed sheets. Another hooker?

She heard the wailing scream of a woman orgasming through the wall to the next room. A few seconds later, the shower started.

Maria’s youngest daughter was almost through college, and then Maria could look for something else—something else to do with her life other than cleaning hotel rooms after these entitled people left her with their mess.

But what was a hooker doing here in the middle of the day? Usually, Maria only had to clean up after them in the mornings. She always felt bad for those women but also looked down on them for how they made their living. This woman next door probably made more than Maria did.

Maria finished tucking in the bed, the last thing she needed to do for this room. She put the pillows on and made sure everything looked as corporate demanded. Maria returned to her cart in the hallway and froze as she saw the couple exit the room.

A disgusting-looking middle-aged man who looked like the trolls her grandmother would describe in stories when she was but a girl. And a gorgeous blonde woman with piercing emerald eyes was dressed professionally, but her body looked made of sin. Maria clutched the cross at her neck and silently prayed for the young woman. The woman flashed Maria an embarrassed smile as she passed. The man had an amused look on his face.

Maria sighed and pushed her cart to the door they had just left. The small sign hanging on the door handle said 'Service Please.'

Maria held her breath and swiped her badge, opening the door. She tentatively stepped in, and her eyes went wide. Garbage everywhere: food, plastic, and orange crumbs all over the bed. Where had the couple had sex? Surely, they didn't have sex amongst all this garbage.

Maria adamantly shook her head and turned on her heel, leaving the room. She closed the door behind her and flipped the sign to 'Do Not Disturb.'

Sarah peeked her head around the corner and saw Otis's cart parked outside one of the washrooms. She counted to five, and not seeing any movement, she quickly sped down the hallway, past the cart and washrooms, and rounded the next corner to the elevators.

She pushed the button, calling the elevator, and looked up at the digital display above it. The elevator car was a few levels up. Sarah's breath caught in her throat as the numbers slowly descended. She looked over her shoulder; the janitor's cart was still unmoving. She just prayed that Otis was a diligent worker who took his time doing his job so she wouldn't be discovered by him.

As the seconds ticked by, Sarah felt her nerves begin to fray at the potential confrontation with the man. Would he make a scene in front of her coworkers? Worse, would he try to maneuver her for a repeat performance? Or more? She had very little exposure to the man...well, maybe a lot of exposure, but she didn't know his personality or how he would behave.

Finally, the elevator dinged, and the doors opened. A handful of people got out before Sarah could step in and push herself against the back wall. A few others milled in behind her. All the while, Sarah was internally screaming for the doors to shut so the elevator could rise to her floor.

Over the sounds of talking coworkers, Sarah heard it. The door to the washroom opening and the sound of someone fiddling with the cart. Sarah tried to melt into the elevator wall and hide behind one of the other people. The cart's wheels squeaked as it grew closer.

Thankfully, the doors shut. Or they were about to. A hand stopped them, and Otis's form appeared. The rest of the people in the elevator moved to the side, allowing Otis's cart access.

He wheeled his cart into the elevator, scanning the crowd. His eyes settled on Sarah, who shifted uncomfortably in the corner.

Sarah's breath caught in her throat, terrified that Otis was about to make a scene. Her eyes stared at the digital display, and she finally breathed out a sigh of relief when it moved up a floor. But was this really what her days would be like going forward? Peeking around corners, timing things perfectly to avoid him? She'd need to find some way to get him to back down. Maybe Lester could help her with him.

She could feel Otis' eyes on her but he didn't say anything. She felt like a gazelle being watched by a lion. One who seemed to be biding his time, waiting for the right moment to pounce.

"Excuse me," a feminine voice snapped her out of her thoughts.

"Yes?" Sarah said, turning to the young nurse. She was a pretty brunette who looked like she had just graduated from high school.

"I just wanted to let you know," the young girl whispered. Her eyes darted down to Sarah's chest and then her pants. With a muted smile, she said, "I think you must have brushed up against something. There a're some orange stains on your blouse and pants."

Sarah looked down at herself. Orange Cheeto stains marked her breasts and pants where Lester had groped her. Thankfully, the girl didn't seem to recognize that the marks somewhat resembled fingers.

Sarah futilelyfutilly attempted to dust herself off, but the stains were embedded in her clothing, marring her professional image for the rest of the day.

"Thank you," Sarah whispered back. "I'm not sure where they came from."

The elevator stopped on Sarah's floor, and she darted out at the last moment. The doors shut behind her, and the digital display over it showed it changed floors. Sarah felt her adrenaline pumping at being in a confined space with Otis. She had expected him to say something. To try something. Maybe he would have if she had been alone in there. Still, for now, she was free of him.

She walked quickly, knowing that Otis wasn't around. Lester's office was vacant when she got into the IT department. He had waited in his car so they wouldn't be seen walking in together but told her he had some items to attend to. What those were, she had no idea.

When she reached the safety of her office, Sarah closed the blinds and locked the door. She sat down and sighed, closing her eyes, finally letting the stress and tension she had felt since returning to the hospital escape her.

When she opened her eyes, she first saw the still cracked picture frame with a family photo in it. A prominent crack in the glass running through Dan's face, obscuring him. She really needed to fix that but so far hadn't had the time or willingness to do so. There was always something else and so much had been happening lately.

With another sigh, she reached out and grabbed her cell phone. She couldn't put it off any longer. She needed to call Dan, so that she could....she didn't really know what she wanted to do. She needed to tell him about everything that happened. She knew he wasn't going to take it well. Admittedly she had done a lot of things she hadn't expected lately. Gone further than she ever intended.

She knew things were strained already, and this would only add to it. Despite what she told herself about her embracing and running with Dan's fantasies, she knew she had gone further than either of them had ever expected. Further, without his knowledge or consent. But at the same time, she felt like she had discovered something new, and she wanted to hold onto it. Continue exploring it. Needing to find out just who she was.

She dialed Dan's number, and within a couple of rings, he picked up.

"Hey," Dan said warily from the other end of the phone, "You okay honey?"

"Yeah, yeah, I'm fine," Sarah said. "I don't know. No? Maybe? Dan, things have... they've gotten a little out of hand here lately."

"What do you mean?" Dan asked. She heard a door shutting and other shuffling sounds on his end. "Sarah, what's going on? Are the girls okay?"

“They’re fine,” Sarah said. “It’s not them, it’s...”

“Lester,” Dan breathed, “I knew he couldn’t keep his hands to himself. Sarah, what happened? What did he do?”

“Dan...I...I don’t know...I just...I can’t...” Sarah should have gotten her thoughts straight before making this call. To figure out how she wanted to tell Dan everything that had happened. Was happening. To figure out the best way to tell him. Maybe figure out a way to get him turned on by it. Maybe that could work.

“I’ve been so lonely,” Sarah shifted her voice, pushing past her unsteady nerves, morphing her voice into a low sultry sound, “I’ve been bad Dan. Real bad.”

Silence from Dan’s end of the phone. She knew her sexy voice would catch him off guard and hopefully turn the conversation in a better direction.

“What, uh, what did you do, Sarah?” Dan stuttered.

A smile teased at the corner of her lips. “I tried to be good, Dan. I did. But Lester... well, you know how he is. Being so close to him every day at work has been hard....”

Dan didn’t respond. She could hear him breathing into the phone.

“And things have been getting real tough at work, and I needed a little distraction. Well...maybe a big distraction.” Sarah purred into the phone.

She almost heard Dan gulp from the other end of the line, “Sarah, hun, it’s only been a few days....”

“I know. I know. You’re right, it’s just....”

Dan exhaled. “Just what?”

“That Lester knows exactly how to get me going,” Sarah let it hang there, wondering if Dan would speak first.

“What did he do?”

“I think you mean, what didn’t he do?” Sarah said, “He took me in his office, Dan. And I went with him at lunch to his hotel room today.”

“Jesus Christ, Sarah,” Dan breathed into the phone. She had omitted one very intense encounter but had admitted to fucking Lester more than once.

“You know I still don’t trust him,” Dan’s voice had grown weary. “Sarah, you, we really shouldn’t be doing this anymore.”

“I know. But it’s hard to stop Dan,” Sarah said. “Really hard when I’m alone here.”

“I think he’s been fucking with us. With me,” Dan said, “This...this is too much, Sarah. You need to pull it back. He needs to be cut off. We need to take a breather from all of this.”

“I don’t know if I can,” Sarah deepened her sultry tone. Like always, Dan seemed on the fence, not wanting to surrender completely to his fantasy. She knew he just needed a little push, so she decided to drop a bomb on him.

“But Lester isn’t the only one I’ve been playing with.”

“What? Sarah, what on Earth are you talking about? Who are you talking about? What did you do?”

“Well, there’s this guy at work. A janitor, actually,” Sarah said, drawing out her explanation to torture her husband. “I’ve seen him staring at me, Dan. Always staring at me.”

“What happened?” Dan asked softly.

“Well, I was just doing some work things, and we ended up alone in the basement together....” she trailed off.

Dan didn’t respond, but she could feel the tension of his need from the other end of the phone.

“One thing kind of led to another,” Sarah breathed huskily, “But I ended up on my knees, covered in his cum, baby. I hope you aren’t mad.”

“Babe, are you for real?” Dan asked, “Did this really happen?”

“Yes,” Sarah said, “I told you, I’ve been a really, really bad girl, baby. Without you here, I’ve been going kind of crazy.”

“This is crazy, Sarah. It’s like you can’t even control yourself. You just let go.”

“I know. It is crazy, Dan,” Sarah said. “I still can’t believe what I’ve done. Just thinking about it makes my stomach do a flip. But at the same time....at the same time, it gets me going, really going. I wish you could have been here to watch me.”

“I don’t know. I think I would have shut it down, Sarah.”

That wasn’t what she expected. “What do you mean?”

“I feel like you’re slipping. Slipping away from me, towards something bad. I mean, with a janitor from work? Sarah, who is this guy? Can you even trust him? I don’t think we can even trust Lester and you’re still fucking around with him. You’re supposed to talk to me about this shit before you do anything. It feels like you’re going off on your own and just cheating instead of us doing this together for each other.

Cheating? After all of this, he drops that on her? Yes, she had done some of this without his knowledge, but isn’t that part of what he wanted? Wasn’t the surprise what he found hot about all of this?

“Dan, I’m not cheating. I’m not. All of this is part of our fantasy. We even said last time that we’d continue things with Lester for now. So don’t try to make me into the bad guy saying I’m still fucking around with him.”

“But you are, I’m not there and you’re still –”

Sarah sighed, “Okay. We should stop then. But what about your rent? Lester is still paying for it, well actually I’m paying for it with my body, aren’t I?”

“That’s not fair, Sarah.”

“No, maybe it isn’t, but that’s the reality of things. So I’m doing my part to get us through, and I don’t think it’s fair that you make me feel guilty about it when you’re not even here.”

“The deal is rent for a date. I don’t see how fucking Lester in his office and then in his hotel in just a couple of days counts towards that. Even if our rent just went up, it still doesn’t make sense.”

“That’s not fair, Dan,” Sarah said. All this time, she had been indulging in Dan’s fantasy play. And now, she was beginning to explore new things. Things that she was just discovering she liked, he was lashing out at her and trying to put her in a corner right at the beginning of her journey.

“How is it not fair, Sarah?”

“Because! We do all this fantasy stuff, all this fantasy play, and it’s always on me, centered around me. It was your fantasy to start with, but now when I find some parts about it that I like and want to explore, you push back, and suddenly it has to stop when you say.”

“I’m not pushing back on anything. I’m pushing back on you doing these things without my knowledge. I can’t protect you if I don’t know what’s happening, Sarah.”

“I’m a big girl, Dan, I don’t need a man’s protection all the time.”

“Lester is a manipulative fuck Sarah, I don’t think you’re seeing things clearly. You’re not seeing him clearly.”

“Oh my god,” Sarah rolled her eyes, “Dan, I know you’re still pissed about the hotel thing with Jesse. And I’m not going to let Lester off the hook for that, but he isn’t some grand master mind here. He isn’t some hacker. I’ve seen him at work. There’s no way he did the things you put on him. Besides, he’s had my back, and you know what? He even saved my job. Without him, we wouldn’t have my income and we’d be really fucked. So yeah, maybe I have given him a little extra slack lately, but he’s earned it.”

“Yeah, okay, and what about this random janitor? Have you even thought through what he might do? What if he goes to HR? What if he tries something again? Who is going to be there to help you?”

Lester will she thought but knew saying that out loud wouldn’t help her argument. “Like I said, I’m not some delicate flower, Dan. I can handle myself. You’re not the only who’s managed to build a career, okay?”

“But we never even talked about this janitor. I’m in the dark on the whole thing, just like I was when you got fucked in that hotel room by Lester and Jesse,” Dan said.

“Fine, what do you want me to do? Text you every time I’m about to do something?” Sarah asked.

“N-no, uh, look, when it comes to the fantasy stuff, yes, I don’t want to be left in the dark on it,” Dan said. “That stuff, we need to talk about beforehand. Before you do anything with anyone else.”

“That sounds really hot and spontaneous,” Sarah said, shaking her head. Then she sighed, “But I get it. I get you not wanting to find out out of nowhere. Things just kind of happened. They weren’t what I’d intended to do, but in the moment, they just sort of happened. I didn’t plan on them, on any of it. I’m sorry. I’m sorry you’re finding out on the phone.”

Sarah felt like a weight had just been put on her shoulders. She thought back to the days when Dan still lived at home. Things were simpler. Things were easier with their family back then; neither of them was exposed to all of this. The stress and the excitement about all these new situations they found themselves in. She longed for those days but also wondered whether going back to that would put an end to these new wild experiences she was finally having. Would it kill that side of her while she was just discovering it?

“I get it,” Dan said. “In the moment, things can just kind of happen, but Sarah, there have been so many of these moments lately. That’s why I think we need to take a pause and figure all of this out. Even with the whole rent thing, we should have time before the next date. “We need to talk through all of this.”

“Do you hate me?” Sarah asked, defeated.

“No, I don’t hate you. It’s complicated,” Dan said, “Not that it’s complicated like my love for you or anything like that. It’s just a fucked up situation. Like on the one hand, the whole janitor thing.....the idea of it is hot and in any other situation it would turn me on to watch it. To be there with you. Even to just know it happened. But it’s all of these things together. All this unknown territory. The Lester stuff. Even knowing you are out there doing things without me knowing is kind of hot, but right now it’s just.....I don’t know. I’m worried and scared, and that’s not turning me on.”

“You really think Lester is pulling strings or something?” Sarah asked.

“I think so. I don’t have any proof, but I feel it in my gut,” Dan sighed.

“Dan, I’ve seen him at work. He can barely navigate our shared drive. I think he is more of a security person than someone who is a mastermind hacker. Sure he is an asshole and yes he liked to control things. And maybe even try to put you down at times, which weirdly turns me on, but I’m still not sure.”

“Well, I’m still going to keep looking into it, but don’t tell him, Sarah,” Dan said.

“I won’t,” Sarah paused for a second. “Dan, where do we go from here? With you in Chicago and me here. With the fantasy stuff?”

“I don’t know, Sarah. But I think we need to put a pause on it for now.”

“I don’t think Lester will like that,” Sarah said.

“Too bad. It’s just you and me in this marriage. He doesn’t get a say. If he wants us to play nice and we let him be a part of things, at least until I can prove he is involved, then he needs to play by our rules. And if it wasn’t for this whole rent thing, then I’d stop it all together.”

“You mean we’d stop it. Together. We’d make that choice, right?” Sarah challenged.

“Yeah, that’s what I meant,” Dan said.

Neither spoke for close to a minute, each of them wrapped up in their own thoughts.

“Look,” Dan said, “I don’t want to fight. We’ll talk through all of this like we always do, okay? We’ll figure it out together. I do want to hear more about it. Hear more about some of the things that have turned you on about it so we can explore them together.”

“I’d like that too,” Sarah said.

“I know we’re both at work....so I don’t want to get into it now and cut it short. We need to talk through this. But we’ll have that chat. For now, though, how are the girls?”

They talked for another few minutes about normal life things. The conversation almost seemed normal, but Sarah felt they were ignoring the elephant in the room hanging over the entire conversation. Eventually, Dan had to go because of a client call.

“I love you,” Dan said softly.

“I love you too, Dan. I can’t wait to see you and make sense of all this.” Sarah said.

“We’ll figure it out together, baby,” Dan responded.

After hanging up, Sarah found many emails waiting for her, while her thoughts drifted back to their conversation and Lester.

Dan rested his head on the back of his office chair, resisting the urge to pinch the bridge of his nose. It had been a couple of hours since his call with Sarah, yet his mind constantly drifted back to her words.

That she had been pursuing her adventures both aroused and scared him. Before all of this started, he had fantasized about something like this. About Sarah going off on her own and being bad, only to slide into their bed later and seductively tell him all the details. But now....

He didn't know how to feel. His dick was hard at the idea but he couldn't help but feel a pit in his stomach. Was she really doing this on her own? Or was it because Lester was manipulating her, just like he manipulated everything else?

Sarah's words rang in his ear, and he still didn't have proof of Lester's misdeeds. But his gut feeling should be enough, shouldn't it? He still felt trapped by his bargain with Lester, exchanging time with his wife for help with the rent. It felt like he was losing control over his life, and he and Sarah were dancing to the tune of Lester's machinations.

His wife was crossing lines he didn't think she would normally. Not only had she played around at work - something she would never have been brave enough to do before. She had actually included a coworker, albeit a janitor, in it. That sent Dan's whole mind on fire, not knowing who this person was or what Sarah had done with them, how it had all come together. What had they said to each other? How had Sarah looked at him?

He shifted uncomfortably in his seat, adjusting himself. He cursed his arousal and the entire situation his family found themselves in. He just wished they were together, experiencing these things together.

Now it felt like his fantasy was out of control. Before, he felt like he was out of control, unable to reign it in. Now it felt like it was running away without him, taking on a life of its own with Sarah along for the ride. She had clearly begun to adopt the fantasy as her own, and he had seen a wild side to his wife that he always knew was there. Alive, but restrained. Now? Now, he wasn't sure what was going on.

He realized that he and Sarah had never actually finished their conversation about pausing the fantasy and stopping all of this. Had she let that conversation thread naturally wither? Or had Dan said the words and not entirely meant them?

He wasn't sure. It would be easy to blame her. But he knew part of him wanted this. Wanted more. But things still didn't sit right with him as they were. Not with Lester involved. Dan felt impotent, unable to extract Lester from their lives. How the hell had he managed to ingrain himself so far into the hospital to be able to be there with Sarah when Dan couldn't?

Dan felt like an outsider looking in on his own life as things spiralled out of control.

He shook his head and had his hands over his face as he sat up in his chair. Speaking of out of control, he eyed his inbox and the blistering amount of unread emails on the screen. He knew a similar amount awaited him on his cellphone from his side consulting business.

It was like everything was happening at once, conspiring to overwhelm him. Even his investigation into Lester was beginning to bear fruit, threatening to distract him entirely. He had finally uncovered a thread that might lead him to Lester's ex-girlfriend.

He just needed to....someone was shouting out on the office floor. Usually, things were quiet. Especially with the low staff levels, most of his colleagues were keeping their heads down.

Dan rose and opened his office door. Loud voices were coming from the other side of the office. Cautiously, Dan stepped out and walked to where the noise was coming from. He locked eyes with someone, and he stopped in his tracks, his blood going cold.

Jesse.

Why was Jesse back here? Was he trying to get his old job back? No. Dan could see it in his eyes and the dark expression on his face that this was something much more threatening. Something personal.

"There he is," Jesse motioned to the small crowd of nervous co-workers standing around him.

"What's going on?" Walt stepped forward, trying to cut in. He looked back and forth between Jesse and Dan, confused.

Jesse ignored the old man's question and marched right up to Dan, drawing the eyes of everyone in the office.

"You need to let her go," Jesse said with gritted teeth.

"Jesse," Dan said, holding his hands out, palms down placatingly. His eyes looked around at his coworkers, trying to show he was just as confused at Jesse's appearance here as they were. "What are you doing here?"

"I know what you're doing, Dan. I didn't think you were such a bastard," Jesse said loud enough for everyone to hear him. Dan didn't like this. Didn't like Jesse's tone and making a spectacle in front of everyone. Maybe it was the remaining tension from his call with Sarah, but Dan felt his hands form fists at his sides.

“Jesse,” Dan said through gritted teeth, trying to keep his voice calm, “Let’s go talk in my office.”

“No way,” Jesse said, looking around at everyone. “I’m not going anywhere with you. You’re a gaslighting, controlling bastard. Keeping your wife locked up when she wants to leave you. Making her fuck other men because of your sick fantasies. That’s done.”

Dan saw the confused expressions appear on his coworkers’ faces as they digested Jesse’s words. Dan felt a rising heat of anger in his stomach as those confused expressions turned into ones of horrified concern.

“I have no idea what he’s talking about,” Dan said, looking at his coworkers. “Jesse, are you off your meds or something? What are you doing here?”

“I told you. You need to let her go,” Jesse said, his hands coming up quickly and pushing Dan back. Murmurs spread through the assembled coworkers.

“Dan, Jesse. Let’s go talk in my office,” Walt said, trying to deescalate the situation.

“No fucking way,” Jesse murmured, “I’m not going. He needs to let his wife leave him so she can be with me like she wants. We’re in love.”

“What the fuck are you talking about? You’re delusional. Get out of here.” Dan squared his shoulders and stepped back to where he had been. His anger was boiling. First Lester’s manipulations and now Jesse here, talking about private matters in front of his coworkers. Dan had always been careful to keep his personal and work life separate and now this little shit was fucking it up in the worst way possible.

“You can’t keep her locked up and away from everyone anymore, Dan. She loves me. And I love her and will do anything for her. I knew for sure that night in the hotel room when I made love to her.” Jesse spat and pushed Dan again, trying to corner him. Where had this massive set of balls developed from? Jesse had never acted like this before.

“Jesse,” Dan said firmly. Anger seething. “Shut the fuck up, you need to leave.”

What the fuck was he doing here? This reeked of Lester. Everywhere he looked, Lester was there pulling this shit with him. When the fuck would he be free of all of this? Free of Lester. Dan clenched his fists, the nails digging into his palms.

“I’m not going anywhere until you let her go,” Jesse barked back, “The way she looked at me while I was inside of her. The way she touched me. She didn’t need to say anything, Dan. She loves me and –”

Dan's right fist connected with Jesse's eye socket. Jesse stumbled back, his jaw limp-looking. He looked confused, not understanding what had happened. His brain was not processing the sudden jolt of pain while he was talking.

Then his eyes fluttered, and his body slumped to the floor.

Dan winced at the pain in his knuckles and wrist. For a second, he worried he had killed Jesse, but thankfully, he saw him breathing. A few people quickly knelt beside Jesse to check on him.

"Dan!" Walt pleaded with a horrified expression, "What the hell is going on?"

Dan just stood there silently as he felt his life unravelling.

The TV was on, but Sarah was only partially paying attention to it. Her mind kept going back to the events of the day. Between her call with Dan and her rendezvous with Lester in his hotel room. The two men in her life.

She shook her head disbelieving her last thought and took a long sip of her red wine. She looked at the TV, eyes unfocused as the conversation with Dan played back in her head. It still felt unresolved, like her and Dan were dancing around the different issues they had.

Dan brought up stopping this, all of this. This fantasy of theirs. Originally his but now hers as well, though it was intertwined now with other things Sarah hadn't realized she needed. The need to be seen, to be told what to do. To submit to someone. Those triggers had always been there but now it felt like they had been uncovered for the very first time, like a live wire just waiting for someone to touch them. Use them.

Could she really stop? Now, when was she just learning about this side of herself? Yes. She could. She could if that is what Dan and she decided. At least, that's what she told herself.

Was she really slipping like Dan had said? She downed the last gulp of wine and walked to the kitchen to refill her glass. Thankfully her daughters had gone down easy. They'd been asleep for around an hour now and Sarah was ready to relax.

As she refilled her glass, she decided she wasn't slipping. She was just experimenting. Experimenting with Dan's fantasies while embracing some of her own. She could stop. She could stop this when she wanted to. When did things get to that point?

But what was that point? Where was that line that she shouldn't cross? She didn't know. And she hadn't ever talked with Dan about it. Not really. Was it blowing a janitor in the basement of the hospital? Apparently not.

While she didn't think Dan was right about Lester being a master manipulator. The idea was appealing. If he was, then all of this wasn't her fault. She could absolve herself of what had happened. She wasn't slipping. At least, that is what she clung to. Deep down, she knew the truth if she was honest with herself. Knew that....

Sarah clicked a button on the remote to change the show. She needed to find something better to distract her. With a deep breath, she thumbed her phone and dialled Dan's number. They needed to talk again. To talk through everything. She needed to talk to him about what she was feeling and how all of this was impacting her. So they could find a path forward together, even if it meant stopping all of this. She didn't know how Lester would react, but Dan was the one who mattered. Right?

The call rang and rang until she heard his familiar voicemail message. This wasn't a conversation she wanted to have with an answering machine. Sarah hung up the phone and took another sip of wine before noticing an unread text. It was from Lester.

L: What are you wearing

Sarah rolled her eyes and put her phone on the couch beside her. For the next half an hour, she tried to focus on the trashy reality show on the screen. Her mind kept drifting back to the message from Lester then to the way the way he fucked her today. So deep, and hard while making her watch the video of herself sucking off Otis.

As a beautiful couple fought on screen, Sarah felt herself getting wet at the memory of that afternoon in the hotel room. All of that stimulation. At seeing herself from another's point of view. At being on display like that.

Sarah's mind was at war with itself. Trying to focus on the show while the other part of her. The darker part of her kept trying to pull her focus back to those memories and back to that phone with the unanswered text message. It felt like it was burning a hole in her subconscious, just waiting for a response from her.

Sarah moved her hand to grab her glass of wine off the table and was surprised to find her phone already in it. When had she grabbed it? Sarah slid her phone open as if on auto-pilot and stared at Lester's message.

L: What are you wearing

She vowed to herself that no matter what, she couldn't meet Lester. She wouldn't let him into her home. Not again. Though, with the girls gone, it wouldn't be as bad as last time. They could be as loud as they wanted, not needing to use the old futon in the basement. Lester could fuck her on her bed, maybe even tomorrow before work in the morning...No. No. No. She couldn't do that. Wouldn't do that. Was she slipping? No, Sarah was in control like she always had been. So, maybe she could just indulge herself – just a little bit.

S: Just some frumpy pajamas

Sarah felt a light sense of self-condemnation when responding to Lester. At the same time, a sharp thrill ran through her. Maybe it was just the idea of being bad, of doing the wrong thing that made her feel so wet...

L: I bet you make those frumpy pajamas sexy. Nothing can change how fucking hot you are. Sarah's breath caught in her throat. As she tried to figure out a response. Denial? No, that would just open herself up to more flattery. Maybe something quick and then cut off the exchange.

S: Thank you. Heading to bed. See you at the hospital in the morning.

There. That was good. She made sure to include 'hospital' in the message so he wouldn't show up on her door when the sun rose.

Just then Sarah's phone rang. It was Lester. She put the phone face down on the couch and ignored the call. The phone went silent before ringing again shortly after. Sarah waited until this one went quiet too. The episode on the TV ended and another began playing.

Sarah stared at the screen, forcing herself to think of nothing else but the show. Fifteen minutes later, she sighed and grabbed her phone. A message from Lester waited for her.

L: Do you always ignore your boss's calls?

Sarah's thumb hovered over the screen. She knew it was just him playing a game. She knew, though, that she shouldn't ignore a call from her boss, even though it was Lester. There could be an emergency at the hospital. Something she was needed for.

But was that true anymore? Now that she was cast out of that role? What kind of emergency would require her any longer? She decided the best thing she could do was send a quick message back to him saying she was tired and was going to sleep.

She started typing out the message when her phone began to ring, and Lester's name appeared on it. Shit he must have seen her typing a reply. With some reluctance, Sarah swiped to answer the call.

"Hello?" Sarah said softly into the phone.

"Hey there, beautiful," Lester's lecherous voice whispered into her ear.

"You know," Sarah breathed, "That is not an appropriate way to speak to your subordinates."

"If you don't think that's appropriate, just wait until you hear the dirty shit I'm going to say to you when I come over," Lester chuckled.

"Don't," Sarah mustered the determination to say, "You can't come over tonight."

"Get those girls to bed. Tell them Uncle Lester needs some time alone with Mommy," Lester said. A shiver ran up Sarah's back at his words. Those dangerous, disgusting, and arousing words.

"Lester. Tonight isn't going to happen." Sarah said firmly.

"Oh? You got enough of me earlier, and now you're cutting me off?" Lester asked with a tone of mock hurt.

"Something like that." Sarah wasn't paying attention to the TV anymore. She was fully engrossed in the phone call.

"So," Lester's tone turned more jovial, "Tell me about these pajamas."

Sarah chuckled softly to herself, "They aren't sexy. Like I said. Just a pair of plain black pajamas. Pants go to my ankles, and the top goes down to my wrists."

"How tight are they?" Lester whispered into the phone.

"Baggy," Sarah said flatly.

"Come on, don't be like that," Lester grumbled.

"I'm about to go to bed. I'm tired. We'll talk tomorrow," Sarah steeled herself, knowing this was the right choice. Some time away from Lester might be good. It would let her get her head on straight again.

“You’re no fun. You must have been talking to Dan.” Lester said.

“What the hell did that mean?” Sarah immediately said. She could almost hear Lester smile at her outburst, finally making her break from her script.

“Oh, you know. Just how he makes you feel bad about doing things you enjoy. Like you’re making a mistake. Judging you. He doesn’t like not being able to control you. Possessive husband stuff,” Lester said nonchalantly.

“That’s not how he is at all,” Sarah said. “He’s my husband, and he cares about me. He wants to make sure I’m okay. We talked earlier, and we are good.”

“Oh? And how did he react today when you told him all the things we’ve been doing?” Lester asked. “Did you tell him how much you enjoyed moaning my name today? Screaming for me on my bed while watching yourself suck the janitor’s cock?”

“It’s honestly none of your business.” Sarah felt herself heating up as Lester recounted today’s events. She wondered what it would be like to watch a video of herself and Lester together while getting fucked.

“So you didn’t tell him, did you?” Lester challenged.

“Like I said, it’s none of your business. But he knows about all of it,” Sarah snapped back.

“Even about when I fucked you while your daughters slept upstairs?” Lester said seriously.

Sarah opened her mouth to respond, but no words came out. She had held back on telling Dan that, knowing he wouldn’t react well.

“It’s okay,” Lester said quietly. “We can have our secrets too.”

“You’re such a bastard sometimes, you know that?” Sarah said.

“I never said otherwise,” Lester chuckled. “Now are you going to show me those pajamas or what?”

“No, I’m going to bed, Lester. Goodnight. Don’t call me again,” Sarah said, and she hung up the phone. Lester immediately tried calling back, but she ignored it. Her phone rang again and Sarah set it face down on the couch. It rang several more times before going silent.

A few minutes later, she finally opened her phone again and found Lester's message.

L: Just one pic, then I'll let you go to bed. Show me those PJs.

Sarah rolled her eyes then held out the phone in front of her and snapped a quick pic and sent it to him.

L: I told you it was sexy. I can even see your nips through it.

Sarah looked down at herself and cursed. She wasn't wearing a bra under her pajamas and totally forgot about that when she took the picture.

L: I'm so hard right now. Just looking at this pic. Take another one for me.

S: No

L: Please. You have me all worked up over here. It hurts.

Sarah chewed her lip, picturing Lester staring at his phone, looking at her, watching her—the same phone she had watched herself on earlier in the day. He had been fine with letting her delete the video, touching himself. Touching his....

L: Are you playing with yourself, too?

S: No, Lester I'm trying to go to bed. Stop texting me.

L: Fuck I got blue balls. I need something more to finish.

The image of Lester's face painted with lust staring down at her face in the palm of his hand while he furiously stroked himself.

S: My face in that pic isn't enough?

L: Are you thinking about me jerking off to your pic?

She was. The stupid show on the TV was just background noise to her now.

S: Obviously, that's all you keep texting me about

L: I wish I still had that video to use right now.

Sarah's thumb hovered over the keyboard, unsure how to answer his message. How should she respond to him? What did she want to happen? Did she really want him to stop so she could go to bed?

Before she could think up a response, Lester called her again. Without thinking she answered her, determined to tell him off one more time.

“Lester, I’m seriously leave me alone so I can go to bed –”

It hadn’t been a phone call.

Lester’s thick, veiny, juicy, hard cock was on her screen. His hairy knuckles gripped it, and he was stroking it. Up and down. Up and down. Sarah gulped. It had caught her off guard. She was too shocked to formulate a cohesive thought. Lester’s ugly face could be seen in the corner of the screen, past where his giant cock took up most of the screen.

“Please,” Lester’s hoarse voice said. Pleasure and desperation laced his words, “Don’t hang up. I need this. Let me keep looking at you. I’m so close.”

“No. Lester, I can’t....”

Sarah’s chest felt flush as she watched Lester pleasure himself, staring at her live while he did. Before all this had started, Sarah would have found this abhorrent. Some disgusting troll of a man jerking off to her, watching her over a video call. The ugly look on his face as he did so. But now, she couldn’t take her eyes off the screen. Horrified and fascinated by it. And its control over her.

Sarah didn’t hang up. She just watched. marvelled at Lester’s rough treatment of his cock. Her mouth began to water, and her thighs rubbed together. She should hang up. Dan wanted her to stay away from Lester.....but technically, she wasn’t with him. This was just her.....taking a work call.....

Sarah didn’t respond to Lester but let him keep watching. Let him pleasure himself to her. The sounds of Lester’s fist stroking his cock filled the room. Sarah eyes went wide as she saw a dribble of precum leak out of the tip of Lester’s cock.

“I need to go to bed...” Sarah trailed off.

Her eyes darted to her own picture in the corner of the screen, and she was surprised to find her mouth hanging open and her face painted with desire. This was only the second time she had seen herself so aroused. Just like she had been in the video with Otis.....

“Just say my name,” Lester groaned. “I want to hear you say my name.”

Sarah hesitated, her bare breasts rising and falling with her breath. Nipples brushing against the thin fabric of her pajama top.

“Lester,” she whispered, staring into the phone. Her hand found the remote and muted the TV.

“Again.”

“Lester,” Sarah said louder. She could hear the sex dripping off her voice.

“Fuck, you’re so sexy,” Lester grumbled as he beat his cock faster. Sarah’s breath hitched in her throat.

“Tell me what you’re looking at,” Lester said again.

“You’re cock,” Sarah breathed.

“Show me those pajamas again,” Lester said.

Sarah breathed deep and extended her arm, letting Lester see her form, from her head down to her waist.

“I can see how hard your nipples are for me,” Lester grunted again. “Open up one button.”

“Lester...” Sarah questioned.

“Just one. Please. I need it,” Lester said.

Hearing him beg like that pushed buttons inside of her. Knowing how desperate he was for relief. Sarah bit her bottom lip softly and deftly undid the top button on her pajama top with one hand.

“Just for a second, I need to go,” Sarah said softly.

“Ugh, yeah,” Lester licked his lips, “That’s it. Show me that skin.”

Sarah hesitated before undoing another button. Part of her protested, knowing this wasn’t what she had wanted a few minutes ago. Knowing that it was part of a pattern that she was helplessly falling into.

Her fingers trembled on the third button before an overwhelming desire to expose herself for Lester drowned out any dissenting voices in her mind.

“That’s it,” Lester breathed. “Show ‘em to me. I want to stroke to you. Come on, Sarah, give me what I want.”

Sarah undid the rest of the buttons on her top, letting the material hang limply from her shoulders. She stared into the phone, seeing Lester squeeze himself while looking at her. It was too fucking hot.

She teased Lester, playing with her open shirt. Slowly and deliberately, she finally pulled both sides of her shirt apart, letting Lester’s beady eyes feast on her naked chest.

“Jesus Christ,” Lester groaned, staring at her, “I want to gobble those up.”

“Its too bad you can’t,” Sarah breathed, “I think we need some time apart. Dan does too.”

“Fuck him,” Lester growled, “I think we need more time together. Me and my cock, connected to you. Fuck apart, I need to be inside you.”

Sarah shuddered at his words.

“If I can’t touch ‘em tonight, you need to.” Lester commanded, “Play with them. I want to stroke to it.”

It was such a bad idea. Up until now, she could consider herself just a participant in this. Half-heartedly invested in the call. But if she touched herself, well...she’d be performing Lester. Kind of like the performance she watched herself give earlier.

Tentatively, one of her hands came up to the breasts. Sarah moaned at her own touch, closing her eyes. Her fingertips danced around her sensitive skin before touching the sides of her nipples. She heard Lester groan in appreciation as her took her nipple between her finger and thumb and gently played with it.

“Mmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned at her own touch. She hadn’t realized how on fire her body had been until she gave it the slightest bit of relief. Her legs shifted together, enjoying the subtle touch of her panties pressing against her sex.

“Fuck,” Lester grunted, “My cock is so hard for you Sarah. So fucking hard it hurts.”

Sarah’s eyes fluttered open, looking at the bright screen in front of her. Lester’s throbbing member was staring back at her. “Then we need to do something about that big boy.”

“I want to watch you cum for me,” Lester growled. “I want to explode while I watch your face when you cum.”

“I thought you were the one who was supposed to cum? That’s what this call is for.” Sarah said slowly.

“When have I ever let that happen? I’m not that selfish. I always make sure you finish,” Lester said, licking his lips again, “Because it’s so much better when you do.”

“What do you want me to do?” Sarah said breathlessly.

“Lay down on your side,” Lester said.

Sarah slowly lowered herself down onto the couch, holding the phone in front of her. Her hand was still slowly, teasingly massaging her breasts, causing her bottom lip to hang open.

“Take your hand off your tit and lower it. Touch yourself,” Lester said. Sarah’s body responded to his words. It was heating up, and she was craving her release. She didn’t need much convincing.

“I shouldn’t,” Sarah breathed, her eyes darting to Lester’s face. From the angle with is cock taking up so much of the screen, all of his chins were pushed together making him look like an obese frog. He glared down at her, not saying anything, watching to see what she would do.

Sarah let go of her breast, and her hand slowly trailed down her stomach. Goosebumps appeared under her fingertips as her hand ran over her sensitive skin. She saw her hand disappear off-camera. She doubted Lester would ask to see where she touched, wanting instead to see her face. She could have just played along, but as her fingertips grazed the waistband of her pants, the sensation was too hard to resist.

“Mom?” one of her daughters said from somewhere upstairs. Sarah’s eyes went wide, and she held her breath. The sound of light footsteps moved around, and then a door closed. She motioned for Lester to stay quiet.

The toilet flushed, and she heard the footsteps again. Thankfully, they didn’t come down the stairs. It sounded like one of the girls just had to use the washroom. Another door closed, and thankfully, Sarah didn’t hear any more footsteps.

Sarah’s hand disappeared beneath the fabric of her pajama pants. Slowly, savoring the sensations her fingers travelled further down until she found her clit and the lips of her pussy.

“Uhhmm,” Sarah moaned as her fingertips gently explored herself. She closed her eyes, focusing on the feelings of her fingers dancing over herself.

“Open your eyes,” Lester said over the sound of his hand jerking his cock off. She opened her eyes and saw him squeezing lotion into his palm before gripping his cock again and stroking it slowly. “I want to see your eyes staring at me.”

“Fuck. Lester,” Sarah moaned his name. Each syllable tasting delicious and forbidden on her tongue. She had never done this with Dan. Touching each themselves, getting each other off over a video call. After all the time he had spent in Chicago alone, they’d never done it. Yet here she was doing it with Lester, even though he was in the same town, less than two miles away.

Sarah stared into Lester’s beady eyes. His intense gaze and the mask of arousal on his face, spurred her on, moving her fingers faster over her clit. Maybe that was what had turned her on all this time. It wasn’t just that look both Dan and Lester got when they saw her in these situations. It wasn’t just the act of being watched. It was the desperate, hungry look of desire when she was exposing herself. Affecting someone on that level, prompting them to do something about it. Do something to her.

“That’s it, Sarah,” Lester nodded, “Keep doing that. Put on a show for me. Don’t fucking stop. I love watching you while you get off. So fucking sexy.”

“I love it that you’re watching,” Sarah purred. The words were out of her mouth faster than her brain could comprehend if she really meant them. But she did love being watched. And...and she loved being bad. Doing something taboo like this,...it just.....felt so fucking good. Like eating the forbidden fruit. Doing something she wasn’t supposed to. Skinny dipping at night.

“I know,” Lester said with a gleam in his eyes. “Speaking of the show....what do you think of this one?” Lester slapped his cock against the camera and kept stroking it.

“It’s.....” Sarah tried and failed to find the right words to describe how she felt. She was mesmerized watching Lester’s thick, meaty shaft on her screen. How hard it was for her. She knew how fucking good it could feel. She also felt pangs of disappointment that she had to settle for watching it over a screen. The size of her phone screen didn’t do the real thing justice.

“It’s fucking hot,” Sarah finally breathed. “Seeing how hard you are for me. Stroking yourself while looking at me. Knowing how much you want me. It’s wild.”

“My cock only has eyes for you Sarah,” Lester said, “I could watch you all day. But I’m starting to think that you’d enjoy anyone watching you like this. Stroking themselves to you.”

“What do you mean?” Sarah said breathlessly.

“Watching you with Otis and seeing how you reacted watching yourself today. I think you’d get off on any guy stroking it for you. Hell, I bet half the guys at the hospital jerk off thinking about you,” Lester said.

“I don’t think so, that’s a bit —”

“I know it. Close your eyes,” Lester said. Sarah licked her lips and closed them.

“I want you to picture all the men you see at work. From the moment you walk in to the building until you leave. Think of all their faces and bodies.”

“Okay.” Sarah said as her mind started to run through all the men. From the families of patients to the doctors, nurses and other staff.

“Now picture yourself lying on your bed, with all these men standing around stroking themselves for you. All of them eager to see your naked body.”

Sarah’s breathing grew more erratic as she pictured it. Naked men standing around her. All of them staring at her with that intense, semi-crazed look while stroking their cocks. She knew it should scare her. Or she should find it comical. But at that moment, just the simple idea of it made her soaking wet.

Sarah’s thighs clenched around her hand, her hips slowly pushing into it.

“Picture Otis there, right next to you, stroking his cock. Leering at you like he does.”

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned as her fingers started working herself up faster than expected. The mental image Lester was painting for her was adding fuel to her already burning fire.

“I’m not there. And neither is your husband,” Lester whispered, “And you don’t stop do you?”

“No,” Sarah whispered, “No, I don’t.”

“Because you love it, don’t you? You love being exposed and for men to see you. To want you. To want to fuck you and bury themselves inside of you. You love the attention.”

“Mhmmm fuck,” Sarah moaned, “I do. I love it. Fuck Lester. I never knew how much I fucking loved it until you. Until you pushed me to it.”

“We’re just getting started,” Lester said, furiously stroking his cock.

“But you know what I love more?” Sarah opened her eyes. Her expression darkened, and her eyes mirrored Lester’s—filled with lust.

“What?” Lester said.

“That big fucking cock of yours,” Sarah said, her voice dripping with sex. “The way it fills me. Fills me up so fucking good.”

“You like how deep I can get?” Lester snarled.

A call notification appeared on her screen, but Sarah quickly dismissed it. She didn’t even read who it was. She just didn’t want anything to take away from her impending release.

“God. Lester, you go so deep. So fucking deep. At first, I didn’t think it could actually fit inside me. You fill me completely,” Sarah moaned, her lips forming a small ‘O’ as the words escaped her lips. Her fingers started picking up in speed and intensity as she spoke.

“You gonna cum for me Sarah?” Lester asked.

“Soon,” Sarah breathed, “God Lester I love watching that cock of yours.”

“It loves you too,” Lester chuckled, “But you know what it really wants?”

“What?” Sarah breathed, desperate to know the answer.

“It was jealous of the video of you and Otis. It wants to make a new video with you.” Lester said.

“Oh fuck. Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah bit her lip, her face blush. Breasts rising and falling alongside her shallow breaths. The idea of watching herself on video with Lester. Fucking him. Fucking him knowing she was being recorded. That moment could be seen by her in the future. Or Lester. Or even someone else. She licked her lips, her dark streak putting a hand on the steering wheel inside of her.

“Fuck. Thats such a bad, fucking hot idea Lester,” Sarah moaned. “Mhmmmmmmffuck.”

A sinister smile spread across Lester’s fat face. “That’s it then. We’re going to do it. We’ll film ourselves. Me fucking you until you forget your own name, begging for my cum. Then you can watch it again anytime so you can touch it yourself. Got it?”

Sarah’s mouth went dry. Her brain screaming what a bad idea it was. The screams were just whimpers in her mind, her impending climax dosing them like a blanket over a smoldering fire. She just nodded to Lester, intensifying his lecherous smile.

“Yeah, Sarah. I’m going to record you. Film you. Capture every fucking second of you,” Lester’s hands beating off his cock, faster and faster. “I’m getting close, baby.”

“Uhhhhh cum for me. Cum for me Lester,” Sarah’s own hand frantically moving, touching herself, playing with her own sex. Exploring the depths of herself while always, always making sure her clit wasn’t neglected. “Mhmmmm, I’m close too Lester. So fucking close.”

“Then cum for me Sarah. Keep staring at my cock. I want you to see how much cum I have stored up for you.”

“Mhmmmfuck Lester,” Sarah moaned, eyes wide staring as Lester’s fist clenched around his cock, pumping it for all it was worth. “Cum for me baby, show me. Show me all of it. I want it, Lester. I want you’re cum. Give it to me. Give to me, baby.”

Lester smirked at her comments, “Fuck. It’s coming. Open your mouth and stick out your tongue. Show me where you want me to shoot it.”

Sarah’s body felt like it was on fire. Her thighs clenched around her hand, hips bucking against herself. She did her best to hold the phone steady with her other hand, but her back arched, and her heavy breasts swayed, making the phone shake. Her orgasm was about to descend onto her.

“Oh. Ahmmmm...Lester...Fuck. FUCK. LESTER,” Sarah moaned, closing her eyes as her climax started to rip through her.

“Open your eyes, Sarah! Look at my cock. Stick that tongue out,” Lester grunted, hunched over like a bridge troll.

“FUCK,” Sarah screamed as her body shuddered, “GIVE IT TO ME LESTER. SHOOT IT ALL OVER ME. I WANT IT EVERYWHERE.” Then she stuck her tongue out as her body began to convulse.

“UGHH,” Lester grunted. Sarah’s eyes went wide as she saw a geyser of cum blast out of Lester’s cock. She watched it shoot straight up into the air before gravity took hold and brought it back down, streaming over his cock’s shaft and encircled fist. Seeing that much, hot sticky cum made Sarah’s body shudder as her climax ripped through her, all her nerves bursting like fireworks. She clenched her legs around her hand and, through sheer force of will, kept her tongue out stretched, even though her body wanted to grit its teeth.

Rope after sticky rope of Lester’s overwhelming viscous cum shot out of his cock, Sarah’s eyes trained on it until her orgasm was too much. Her tongue disappeared into her mouth, and her eyes snapped shut as fields of stars exploded behind her eyelids, her body and mind rocking from her powerful orgasm. The mental image of all of Lester’s illicit cum shooting out of his cock was seared into her memory.

Finally, her orgasm began to wane. All the tight muscles in her body went limp, including the hand that was holding the phone. It clattered to the floor as Sarah turned on her side, catching her breath and letting her mind make its way back to her body.

It was a few minutes before Sarah remembered about the phone. Reluctantly, she rolled onto her side and reached around blindly on the floor until she grasped the device. Her mind and body were exhausted, and she could feel sleep ready to claim her.

She pulled the phone up to her face and saw Lester wiping his crotch down with Kleenex. Cleaning all the cum from himself. What a waste Sarah thought. All that cum just going into kleenex that would be thrown in the trash. She lightly chuckled internally to herself, her own thoughts surprising her.

“Lester...” Sarah said softly, “There’s no way I can stay awake. I’m going to fall asleep.”

“I gotta clean this shit up anyways,” Lester said, still cleaning off the massive amount of cum covering his crotch, “Go sleep. I’ll see you in the office tomorrow.”

“Okay,” Sarah said, her thumb hovering over the hang up button, “Goodnight.”

“Night,” Lester said absently, “I love you.”

“Love you too,” Sarah said automatically before hitting the red hang up button. Her frown deepened as she realized what she had said. Love you too? It was such a knee-jerk response. Probably conditioned into her by her relationship with Dan. She hadn’t actually meant to say that to Lester. She didn’t actually love him. Not like that...

Her phone clattered to the floor as she rolled back over. Her mind drifted to sleep as she thought about the last few minutes. Surely Lester hadn't meant that he loved her. She wasn't sure he actually knew what love was. And she....obviously didn't mean that. Hopefully, he didn't take that the wrong way. Still....she had just said it, blurted it out like it had been natural.

Sarah forced herself to her feet and dragged herself up the stairs to her bedroom. That last orgasm had taken the wind out of her sails. She felt exhausted. As she climbed into bed, there was a strange form in the darkness. Sarah's heart beat in her chest for a second, and then she realized what it was.

Her daughter, who called out to her earlier, must have gotten into her bed after using the bathroom. Sarah smiled and immediately felt guilty at her exchange with Lester. Sarah settled into her side of the bed, not wanting to disturb her child. And as much as she wanted to cuddle with her, she didn't, not after what she had just done. She closed her eyes and let sleep take her.

The wild torrent of cum spewing out of his cock flashed back into her mind. Her dreamy brain focusing on it and seemingly playing with it. Her thoughts and dreams began to fuse as she drifted off. Thoughts of all of that cum. Cum that she loved and was disappointed she didn't get that night. Thoughts of her and Lester making a video together....

Toxic Attraction Ch. 28

Dan looked out the window of Walt's office as the sun sank below the Chicago skyline. It was late, way past when he usually stayed at the office. But today had been a fucked up day. After Jesse's weird and embarrassing declaration to the office, claiming that Dan was abusing his wife and whoring her out to people, Dan had punched him straight in the face.

It felt great for a few seconds—the satisfying connection of his fist meeting Jesse's eye. Even the pain in his knuckles and wrist felt cathartic. The recoil of Jesse's head snapping back was deeply satisfying. He felt more powerful than he had felt since he had been forced to move to Chicago.

But then the gasps brought him back to reality. The audible sounds of surprise and, for some strange reason, outright fear from some of his coworkers. Several of the women took steps back, afraid they would be the next to be hit. That pissed Dan off. It didn't make sense for them to react that way. But still, they did.

And then Jesse slumped to the floor like a rag doll. Suddenly, a few men were between them, some checking on their old coworker and others standing between him and Dan. It was like the entire office had turned on its head. Now, people that he had worked side by side with were suddenly looking at him in a new way, as if the things Jesse said could be the truth. And that punch had somehow been the confirming proof.

Thinking back on it, Dan knew that the smarter play would have been to rein himself in and walk away from the situation. Or find some diplomatic way to diffuse it. But it was the result of months of frustration that had built up, and the only place for it to go was in his fist and Jesse's face.

Dan's shoulders slumped as he looked out the window. How the hell had he found himself here? His life wasn't supposed to be like this. Not at all. Everything since the punch was a blur. His coworkers hadn't been able to revive Jesse, so an ambulance had been called. The EMTs took him away, but Dan hadn't been there for that.

Dan had been told to wait in Walt's office, so that's where he was—still waiting. Dan checked the time on his phone again. It was so fucking late. The girls had probably gone down almost an hour ago, yet Dan was still in the office.

Most of his coworkers had left for the night, but Dan knew that Walt was convening an emergency meeting with HR and some other important people in the office. It wasn't good. He didn't know where things were going to go from here, and that rightfully terrified him.

He had barely been holding things together before this. But now, things seem to be spiraling out of control again.

His phone began to ring in his hand. He glanced at it, seeing Sarah's beautiful face on his display. How the hell was he going to tell her about this? This fucking mess. Maybe Dan should just get the hell out of the office. The police hadn't shown up yet, but he didn't know if they would. Maybe that's why Walt had been stalling for so long.

Just as Dan was about to answer Sarah's phone call, Walt entered the office. Dan silenced his phone and braced himself for whatever the old man was going to say. The head woman from HR stepped in behind him and stayed near the door.

"Some day, huh?" Walt said, crossing the room and sitting down behind his desk. He looked older than usual. More frail. The last few months had taken their toll on him, and today, things must have been considerably exacerbated. Dan looked at the woman and then turned back to Walt.

"Not how I envisioned my day going when I woke up," Dan said. Walt had a flat smile on his face and couldn't meet Dan's eye. The old man opened a drawer in his desk and took out a bottle of whiskey and two glasses. He poured both and offered one to Dan.

Without hesitating, Dan took the glass and sipped it. It was smooth and burned his throat. It was exactly what he needed just then.

"We need to talk about what happened," Walt said.

"Sure," Dan said, bracing himself.

"Where the hell did all of that come from?" Walt asked, "Did you know he was coming in?"

"Of course not. I had no idea," Dan said. "I don't know what prompted it. He seemed unhinged. It was scary."

Dan was trying, perhaps in vain, to position himself more favorably here. But the expression on Walt's face told him all he needed to know.

"It was certainly something," Walt said diplomatically. "Regardless, you shouldn't have struck him. He's just a kid, Dan."

“No, Walt. He’s an adult. An adult that chose to storm into his old employer’s office and harrass one of its employees.” Dan corrected. Fuck it, if he was being thrown under the bus he wasn’t going to just sit there and take this shit.

Walt sighed, “I suppose you’re right. When you put it like that. But it doesn’t change the fact that you hit someone in the workplace. We have a zero-tolerance policy when it comes to workplace violence.”

“Does that still apply when a crazy person barges into the workplace and threatens someone both verbally and physically?” Dan said, louder than he’d intended to.

Walt held up his hands placatingly, “I know it’s a messy situation. Believe me, I don’t want to deal with this either, but here we are.”

Dan sat back in his chair. He didn’t want to stress Walt out, but he also wasn’t going to allow himself to be painted as the villain here.

“Mmm. Here we are,” Dan repeated.

“Can I ask you something, Dan?” Walt said. Dan braced for it. He knew this was coming.

“Sure,” Dan replied.

“What was all that talk about your wife, uh, Sarah, right?” Walt asked, “Something about, well, private matters. Jesse made it sound quite worrying.”

“I can assure you that there is no truth to whatever Jesse was ranting about. Frankly, I don’t even know where it came from or why Jesse decided to come here with it. My wife and I have a great relationship built on mutual trust and love. I don’t know what the hell Jesse is on, but it seems to have messed with his brain quite a bit.” Dan said flatly.

“Yes. Yeah. That’s what I thought,” Walt said with a look that said he was still unsure about Dan’s response. The older man took a long sip of his whiskey. Great. Now the entire office, including his boss, thinks he is some weird cuckold forcing his helpless wife to do nasty shit against her will. How the hell was he ever going to recover from this? He imagined the walk down the hall outside picturing the looks he would get in the office from now on.

“So, what’s happening here Walt? What are we doing? I know you were probably meeting with HR and higher ups. Tell me what’s going on.” Dan said, not wanting to beat around the bush any longer.

“It’s, ah... it’s delicate,” Walt said. “As you know, we are still in a precious place financially, first and foremost. I recognize that you are quite central to several of our key accounts and I truly appreciate that. But we also have to look at things objectively. Incidents like this, here in the workplace, are... difficult for staff to overcome. It’s like a raw wound. We are going to hold an all-hands meeting tomorrow to talk about it and have managers individually talk with their team members to gauge how they feel. Maybe we’ll have a counselor available, if we can afford it.”

“That being said,” Walt continued, “We think it’s best if you keep a low profile for a while, until we work everything out. Dan, for the time being we are temporarily laying you off while we figure out the best way to approach the situation and everything gets back to normal.”

Lay off. Dan hated hearing those words. He felt himself shrink inside.

“So, you should go to your office and grab whatever you need to take with you—”

Dan held up a hand, silencing his boss, “One question. How many people have you called back from the last round of temporary layoffs?”

Walt’s eyes flicked to the woman behind Dan before answering, “None. None yet.”

“And on what timeline do you expect to settle things here before calling me back?” Dan asked.

“We don’t have a timeline yet,” the woman said from behind him. Dan didn’t even give her the courtesy of turning to look at her. “This is all still so raw. The team will need time to process and come to grips with it. You have to understand that most of the staff have never experienced violence like that in their lives. Our first priority is to ensure they have a safe working environment and are completely comfortable being employed here.”

“And what about me, huh? What about my safe working environment? Whatever security you have in place failed to protect me from some deranged ex-employee coming in here,” Dan snapped back angrily.

The woman didn’t respond. Walt rose and looked at him with a grim expression. “As I was saying, Dan, let’s go to your office. Grab some of your things in case it’s a while before we can call you back.”

“One last thing,” Dan said, not standing up, “Tell me how Jesse’s father factors into all of this. He’s your friend, right? Have you already called him and told him about this?”

Walt didn't meet his eye. "That's personal and none of your business." He continued after a moment in a lower register." But of course I called him and told him that his son was hurt."

"And what did he say? Did he tell you to fire me?" Dan asked.

"We're not firing you," the woman behind him spoke up in a distinctly legalistic tone, "This is a temporary lay off."

"Sure," Dan said, rising to his feet, "I'll go get my stuff."

Without waiting for another word, Dan stepped past the woman and left Walt's office. As he did, two large men who apparently had been waiting stepped up from the wall on either side of the doorway to follow him. They didn't have a security squad in their office, but the building did. Walt had probably called them up while Dan had been sequestered in Walt's office. Great.

The two men escorted Dan to his office, where an empty bankers box was waiting for him. He quickly filled it with all of his personal items before picking it up and carrying it out with him. There were other coworkers still milling around; he recognized the women from HR and a few department heads. They were all in one of the meeting rooms, making it a point not to look up and acknowledge him as he passed.

The two security guards escorted Dan into the elevator and out into the cold Chicago night. They stood by the door, watching as Dan walked up the sidewalk. He didn't stop walking until he came to a bus stop. He sat down, dropping the box on the bench next to him.

Dan opened his phone and dialed his wife's number. It rang a few times before going to voicemail. He didn't want to text her. He needed to talk to her. Walt made it sound like a temporary thing, but Dan knew better. What the fuck was he going to do now?

While waiting for the bus, he sent Sentinel Securities a quick email letting them know he was now able to increase his workload with them. Hopefully, that could help keep his family afloat.

The pale light from the laptop illuminated the rolls of fat that covered Lester's short, squat body. He strongly disliked using this laptop. It was a poor imitation of his beast of a gaming PC back in his Chicago apartment. Sitting on the hotel bed in this room was getting tiresome. He would much rather be back in his apartment gaming right now.

He scrolled through Discord and saw that his Dungeons and Dragons buddies were all playing together in World of Warcraft. Lester sighed. Sometimes, all this planning and scheming really took him away from what he should've been doing.

The whole hospital ruse was a waste of time. Hearing all of these useless morons drone on and on about useless stuff made him want to burn the entire place to the ground. It was ridiculous. How anyone voluntarily signed up for a role like that for that pittance of a salary was beyond him.

He knew that he couldn't last much longer, or he would have to commit seppuku on himself - ritual suicide. Still, he could cause chaos on his way out the door. This was all because of Sarah Williams, his greatest conquest ever. She was well on her way to sliding down a new path of deprivation that was new even to Lester. His usual procedure was to find a target, be it a roommate or someone other woman, and bend her to his will. Reaping all the benefits that came from the arrangement.

But Sarah was the first mother and the first wife he had broken. Sure, Lester imagined he had made several of the women whom he had claimed mothers, but Sarah was the first woman who'd already given birth that he had corrupted. It was immensely intoxicating seeing her do the things he asked and told her to do. Her husband's subjugation and the fraying of their marriage were just icing on the cake. Her sweet 'I love you' admission that escaped her lips when he fucked her the last time was music to his ears. She was his now, mind, body, and heart.

Still, was she worth all of this? Was it worth upending his life for her? He could be gaming at his command centre this very minute, but instead, he was sitting on a hotel bed like some pathetic traveling salesman wasting his energy on bullshit. He needed to wrap this up soon. There was just one more thread to sever, and he knew he could do so very soon. Then he could be back in Chicago with Sarah warming his bed more often. Taking his seed.

There were several unread message notifications next to one chat in particular. It was one of his old VIP clients, the rich guy who went by the name of Cronos. Lester had been ignoring him lately. The guy seemed to be obsessed with the idea of Sarah, even though he knew nothing about her. Just knowing that Lester was holding out on him seemed to drive the guy into an envious rage..

Some of Lester's other clients were growing impatient, too. It had been a long time since he had delivered any new content. Ever since Sarah had come into the picture, he was enjoying himself, not wanting to share his trophy with them. Not yet, at least. He was still holding that card to himself, close to the vest.

Out of curiosity, he opened the first message and scanned its contents. Cronos had left half a dozen messages, growing more and more irate at the fact that Lester was ignoring him. The last message caught Lester's eye.

Cronos: Fine. Ignore me all you want but you can't ignore cold hard cash. Here's what I'm offering.

The message was followed by a link that Lester didn't recognize. Lester frowned and clicked on it. A website opened up with a document on the screen. Lester began reading Cronos' lengthy proposal. His eyes widened as several notifications from the software he had developed appeared on his screen. The proprietary software Lester had created to protect himself online and prevent anyone from tracking or hacking him was signalling an imminent breach.

Mother fucker. Cronos had something embedded in that page to try to hack Lester's systems and track down his location. Just who the hell was this guy, and how connected was he? Lester had never gotten the impression that he was particularly tech-savvy. With the amount of money he threw Lester's way, he'd probably hired someone to do this.

A bead of sweat trickled down Lester's forehead as he quickly countered the intrusive actions. Whoever had helped Cronos had been good, but Lester was better. He quickly shut the nascent hack down, though he would have been faster in front of his home command center. Another reason to get back there.

Lester opened Discord back up and replied.

Darkspire: Nice try asshole.

Then he blocked Cronos. The money was great, but compromising Lester's security wasn't going to happen. Lester would need to look further into who was behind the Cronos handle. They were far more dangerous than Lester had initially realized.

Lester spent the next hour ensuring his hardware and network at the apartment were completely secure. He did the same locally with his laptop. The hotel Wi-Fi was a weak spot in his security profile that someone could exploit to get to him. This wasn't ideal. He really needed to get back to Chicago. That thought triggered a reminder concerning that punk Jesse and the time he tried to strong-arm Lester. He made a mental note to circle back and see what'd happened with Jesse and whether or not he had taken the bait and gone to confront Dan.

After he was confident that all of his defensive measures had been secured, he switched gears.

He opened a browser to the dark web and checked on his manufactured order. The custom-made blister packaging and sugar tablets that mimicked Sarah's birth control pills was almost ready to be shipped out to him. He'd ordered extra to test them initially. The last thing he wanted was Sarah to take arsenic or something besides the placebo accidentally. He didn't need another accident like with that other girl a while back. Lester just needed her to take them for a short time so that her body would reset to its natural state, all the while he made sure she was full of his potent virile cum.

It shouldn't be long before he had his hands on the product. And he had everything he needed to switch them out. He'd made a new copy of her latest house key. Working in such close proximity to her did have its benefits.

Lester sighed. She should be over here right now with her sucking mouth around his growing cock but instead she'd decided to play mother again. Lester was growing restless. He opened up the new database he had recently created and began scrolling through it.

One of his favorite things about all of this was the hunt – the planning ahead of time, imagining how sweet his final victory would be. Sarah was already well on her way to becoming his personal full-time slut. Perhaps he would even go so far as to label her his girlfriend. Lester had never had a long-term relationship before, and Sarah certainly fit into that mold. He didn't like the idea of a wife but would happily steal the wife of another.

In many ways, Sarah had challenged Lester. She had pushed him to be more ambitious in his goals, and he had risen to the occasion. Before her, his conquests had been so simple. Now, he was stretching his skills with long-term planning, extended manipulation, and a hint of psychological warfare. Perhaps he could even pull Sarah into his future plans. Maybe she would even be an asset to help him.

His eyes scanned the database. It was full of women. Women Lester had come across in real life or those he had discovered online. Inside of each file was all of the information he'd gathered about them, along with areas for potential exploitation. He scanned his list, feeling his cock grow in his pants as his eyes swept over the dozens of names and pictures.

Many of them would be too difficult to obtain. But he liked the challenge. Avenues of attack were limited, but a few held promise. His eyes kept going back to two in particular. The first was a young woman named Emily in his apartment building. Poor, naive Emily. She lived with her boyfriend and the two of them kept their router set to the factory default password. The cute couple had just gotten engaged, but it seemed like Emily had a secret. A good one, one Lester could use. One she didn't want her fiancée to know anything about. That kind of leverage was exactly what Lester wanted.

The other prey was someone, funnily enough, Dan had helped Lester track down—the wife of a business associate of his. Lester had overheard Dan's meeting with this guy from some marketing company. Lester scanned the file. Bill was the man's name. But the most important thing about Bill was that his wife was drop-dead sexy. Lester had downloaded the best pictures of her he could find online. He didn't know much more than the details of their social accounts, but the couple lived in a suburb close to Chicago. His eyes roamed her picture and rested on the ample cleavage on display. She was in a bathing suit at some pool party held at what he deduced was their house. She had very similar portions to Sarah. This Amber woman would be quite the delicious treat. The bulge in Lester's crotch would've been obscene in public.

Before, Lester felt like he had been coasting through life. It had all become so routine. Posting the classified ads, preying on his roommate, finding the leverage, and exploiting them. Like a spider sitting in the corner of a room, waiting for a fly to land on its web. It wasn't until Sarah that he had felt truly challenged – that he had to grow.

And now, thanks to her, Lester was looking into the far future. He was setting long-term goals for himself. With Sarah at his side, Lester wanted to spread his seed into as many fertile fields across the country as possible. He couldn't suppress a calculating grin from spreading onto his face. How many lives could he permanently alter? How many futures could he change the trajectory of? How many men could he break while their women moaned in ecstasy for Lester? He was no longer content to be satisfied with the prey that wandered into his web. He wanted to hunt – to fill a trophy case full of conquests. The possibilities were endless. The doting housewife, the virgin bride, the pastor's wife, a Hollywood starlet? Each would bear the fruit of their coupling. And Sarah would help him do it.

Lester closed the database. All of this was just a mere distraction. He knew he'd been getting off-target. He needed to do something productive tonight to further his short-term goals. He logged back onto the dark web and navigated to the shadow marketplace, where he purchased the blister packaging and placebos and sold most of the content he'd created. A moment before he logged off he remembered there'd been one thing he'd almost forgotten about.

He created a brief listing and uploaded the information on the encrypted data packets he had stolen from The Lincoln Group's network. While that company was a big multinational clearly into some shady stuff, it had plenty of competitors who would gladly pay for their information.

Sarah rechecked the Find My app on her phone. Dan's Uber was just around the corner. It felt like a twisted déjà vu of the last time he'd come home after having been laid off. When he'd called and given her the news, her stomach dropped and twisted into a tight knot. They were set back again to this same shitty situation.

If only she'd gotten that CEO position at the hospital. It would've afforded them some much-needed breathing room. Now, her position was even more precarious than before, with the entire administration at the hospital completely different from what it had been. She'd barely be able to cover the mortgage payments with her salary alone.

Lester assuming care of Dan's portion of the rent had been like a fuel injection into their savings account. But without Dan's income, their financial cushion provided by this arrangement was all but wiped out. Dan would need to find another job quickly. Sarah didn't hold out much hope for that. All the news talked about these days was how tight the job market was, and Dan had been tirelessly trying to find one for months now. At least he had his side income from his other clients. She was proud that he had managed to build that up for himself. Maybe that was the way forward for them and their family.

The Uber pulled into the driveway, and Sarah braced herself for a difficult conversation. Not only did they need to figure out a plan for income, but there was also the elephant in the room from their last conversation—her escapades with Lester. But now might not be the right time to broach that.

Thankfully, the girls were in school. When Sarah told Lester she needed the day off, he didn't hesitate. After she'd told him about Dan's position, he approved her request immediately. It had been a long time since she'd felt so supported by a superior at the hospital. It was still strange that it was Lester in that role, but she was beginning to appreciate his position more and more.

Sarah watched through the blinds as Dan stepped out of the Uber, carrying only a backpack. The rest of his possessions were still back at the apartment. While they figured out their next move, keeping up the Chicago apartment arrangement made sense for the time being, giving them a base of operations in the city. At least that was the rationale she gave to herself.

The moment Dan stepped through the door, Sarah was in his arms. They held each other for over a minute without saying a word. Finally, Dan shut the front door behind him. "I missed you. So, so much. Just having you in my arms...it just makes things easier, better.”

“I know,” Sarah said, “The past couple months have been tough. Well, things are still tough. But I’m glad you’re home. I wish you were here under better circumstances but the girls are going to be so happy when we pick them up from school together.”

“I can’t wait to see them. I know things are going to be tight from now on but we should have a nice dinner tonight. Together. As a family,” Dan said.

“I’d love that. I’ll figure out something for dinner. But right now, I just want to know how you’re feeling. About everything that happened today at work,” Sarah said.

“Fuck. I really, I don’t know,” Dan muttered, “I’m still processing it all. I didn’t expect Jesse to come in like that. Sarah, it was so embarrassing hearing him talk about all that stuff so loudly in front of everyone. Now it’s like everyone in the office thinks I’m some controlling guy who gets off on whoring you out. I could see the judgement in their eyes. And also they think that I’m violent now. Even Walt’s eyes. I don’t know how I can even begin to come back from that. If I’m fortunate enough to get another job in Chicago, this incident could still follow me around for years.”

“It’s bad. Right now it seems like the world is ending but it’ll eventually fade and all of this will be just a sour memory. A blip in your career. I don’t think it’ll follow you around as much as you’re worried it will,” Sarah led him to the couch and they sat. She rubbed his shoulders. “We’ll get through this like we always do.”

“Will we?” Dan looked at her, frustration evident on his face. “We do everything right. We’re good people. We follow the law and do what we are supposed to but we keep getting fucked over again and again.”

“I know.” Sarah sighed as she massaged his back. “Sometimes, it takes hard work to get where we want to be. There will always be setbacks, but that’s life. I mean, neither of us predicted that this particular setback would happen. It’s not like we could have planned for Jesse to just show up at your work and throw around crazy allegations,” Sarah said.

“No, but I should’ve seen it coming,” Dan said, “After everything that happened at the hotel. I didn’t know how delusional Jesse had gotten.”

“I probably should’ve told you this earlier but Jesse kept requesting to follow me on Instagram. He even tried to connect with me on LinkedIn. I just ignored his requests at the time. I didn’t think much of it,” Sarah confessed.

“You had no way of knowing he’d react like this.” Dan said, “I wonder if Lester had something to do with it.”

“Dan,” Sarah started, “I know you think Lester is behind many things, but I don’t think he could make Jesse as irrational as you told me he was. He isn’t a master hacker or an evil psychologist. The kid might just be messed up in the head.”

“Maybe,” Dan said. “My gut still tells me something isn’t right about all of this. I just haven’t figured it out yet.”

“And normally I’d say, you should trust your gut. But, honey, the past few months have been so hard. So much has happened. I don’t know if either of us has properly processed any of it. We just keep facing crisis after crisis. Do you think it’s possible this is coming from the constant stress of that? I know you might not want to hear this, but do you think it’s possible that you’re subconsciously conflating Lester with all the problems we’re facing? Like making connections that aren’t there?”

From the little Dan had shared about his investigation into Lester, it didn’t seem like he’d uncovered anything nefarious.”

“I don’t know. I honestly don’t,” Dan said.

“Let’s just take a second to think about it. We’re having income troubles. Lester stepped in to help. Obviously, he’s well off. So there’s some envy there – from both of us. When I faced a crisis at work, I know you wanted to help solve it for me. But then Lester worked it out, which I’m sure didn’t make you feel so great. And then there’s all the sex stuff that we’ve gone through. All of our boundaries were pushed, and even though I know you enjoyed most of it I’m sure part of you feels insecure about things too. Almost like it’s too much. Too much to handle all at once. I can totally see how you’d want Lester to be the bad guy puppet master here.”

Dan just sighed. “When you say it like that, it does kind of make sense. And it all makes me seem crazy.”

Dan groaned and pinched the bridge of his nose before running his hands over his face. “I don’t want to change the subject. I don’t. I want to talk about work, what we are going to do next, and what I am going to do next. But what are we doing with Lester? He’s your boss now, for god’s sake. It’s getting too messy. And I feel like he has this control over you, making you do things so out of the ordinary –”

Sarah cut her husband off, “Dan. I think you know me better than that. No one controls me. No one.”

She gave him a teasing smile and rested a hand on her thigh. "Lester may be my boss on paper, but it really doesn't feel like that. And he doesn't ever force me to do things. If I had to describe it, it's more that he presents me with situations, and I make the choice to embrace them. There has always been a part of me that really got off on the taboo side of things. On being bad. You know about this. We dove into this together when you first moved into the apartment. But it's like now I'm discovering a new side to myself."

"What does that mean? I mean, it's exciting and hot to hear you talk like that, but I just feel like I'm not at all a part of it. Not part of this discovery you're experiencing. Believe me, it sounds hot as hell. But you're always doing this with Lester. I'm not involved in it. But I should be. We're the ones that are married. It should be you and I exploring this together. Not you and Lester."

He was right. He was so right. At the same time, she knew the truth. That Dan wouldn't push her into these new experiences like Lester would. Dan would get so caught up with his own problems and focus on them while Lester seemed to be entirely focused on her. She knew it wasn't a fair comparison between the two of them. But she was still his wife after all. They had been through so much together. Craving Lester the way she did was wrong, even if it felt so right. She needed to steer this conversation and Dan's feelings to the right place. The place that would let her keep exploring this.

"You're right," Sarah said. "We should be doing this together. It should always be you and me. And I want that, Dan. I really do. It always turns me on seeing your face twist into that mix of jealousy and arousal when you see me in these situations. I've missed that."

"What about Lester?" Dan asked. "I want this too. To explore these things with you. Hell, it's probably a great distraction from all the shit happening right now. But I feel like he's an unwanted passenger in all of this."

"He's an asshole," Sarah said carefully, "But at least we know him and how he operates. He could be someone safe that we experiment with. I like that he isn't connected to us in any other way. And he's kept his mouth shut about all of this. At least we can trust that."

"Maybe. But does he always have to be involved? Can't we try some things without him?" Dan asked.

"Yes, of course. And we should too," Sarah said slowly, an idea forming in her mind. A great way to distract Dan from being so anti-Lester while also fulfilling one of his fantasies. She knew dangling that fantasy in front of her husband would be hard for him to resist. “We should definitely try things without him. We should use Lester when we want to. Maybe to help push us out of our comfort zones.”

“Can I ask you something?” Dan said.

Sarah nodded and held his gaze. “Anything.”

“Last time we talked you said...I can’t remember exactly what you said but I got the impression that you get off when Lester doesn’t treat me right. Like some of the shit he says or does that’s disrespectful. Is that really a thing? Do you like that?”

Now it was time for Sarah to put her face in her hands. “God, you must think I’m a horrible wife,” Sarah said into her palms. She lowered them to look at Dan and see his reaction. He was leaning in, just slightly. His breathing was growing shallow. Did that admission turn him on too? “I don’t know why, but... yes, yes it does. Maybe it’s the whole beauty and the beast fantasy I have, and maybe there’s another layer to it. Like the beast taking the princess from the prince. Winning. Flipping the narrative and story on its head. I don’t know why, Dan. I know it’s wrong. I know it’s not proper and it’s the antithesis of how a married couple should act but there’s just something about it that really does turn me on. Does - does that make me a horrible wife?”

“No...I don’t know,” Dan said. “I know that no matter what, you’re still my wife, and that you love me. But in the heat of the moment, just the possibility of that not being the case. That you somehow would prefer Lester to me...it makes my blood boil. But that blood also pumps to my dick and I get hard from it. Maybe you’re right and my mind is fucked up and conflating things. Maybe it’s my own insecurity about money and sex that makes me hate Lester. But there is a part of me that really gets off on seeing you choose his side and act like that.”

“Act like what?” Sarah said, feeling her own body beginning to heat up from the topic of discussion. “Give me an example.”

“All of it. From that first time he saw you, saw us... and you didn’t stop riding me. The time you went into his room to go get him in that robe I got you and brought him out to watch us... have sex. Just seeing you act like that. And even now when I see you moan his name or even when he talks shit to me in the heat of the moment. And when you agree with him and add to it while he’s inside of you. It pisses me off so much but I can’t help but get turned on by it at the exact same time. Maybe you’re right. Maybe we are both messed up in the head.”

“At least we’re messed up together.” Sarah smiled at him.

“The worst...the worst one was that time in the apartment on the couch when you said you loved him while you were having sex. Those little tender moments. That’s when I felt like an outsider looking in. Like I was watching myself lose you in that moment. I don’t know why, but sometimes I rub one out to the memory of that moment. And every time I do, I just feel so ashamed after. Like I’m such a piece of shit for getting off to it. It makes me feel like more of a loser and I hate Lester so fucking much more after that.”

Dan’s head hung low as the words escaped his lips. His shoulders slumped. He sat there waiting for her response. She knew that whatever she said would impact him deeply and potentially change the course of their relationship. He was vulnerable, admitting something that embarrassed him and scared him. Something that he hadn’t fully processed. Thoughts and responses ran through her head trying to express the best possible way to support him in this moment – and to make sure she could have her fun too. Ultimately, she settled on one option.

Sarah ran her hands from Dan’s thigh to his crotch, feeling his already hardened cock. He had gotten hard just admitting this to her. He looked up at her, and she smiled back, “Want to go upstairs?”

The diamond stud earring shone briefly in the square of moonlight. Otis quickly scooped it off the floor and put it in his pocket. He went into another cubicle and emptied the waste basket into the bin on his cart. He took a few seconds to scan the desk’s contents, looking for anything of value that wouldn’t be missed. Nothing.

Otis wasn’t an idiot. He knew better than to go on a spree snatching up things off these uptight asshole’s desks. One person missing an earring would go unnoticed. A bunch of people complaining about missing things would be a pattern. And Otis didn’t want that kind of heat. Not again. Not when this job was pretty easy and had so many other perks.

He took a swig of the beer can hidden propped up in the bin on his cart. There was one good thing about all these people who just sat behind desks all day. They didn’t have many cameras on their floors. Unlike the rest of the hospital, these folks thought they were above being monitored. Or they didn’t want any kind of record of misbehavior. That sat just fine with Otis. It let him drink freely on the nights he was cleaning up here.

He pushed his cart down the hallway, beer in hand, as he entered the big room. This one used to be the office of that hot piece of ass Sarah Williams but now it was some old crone who worked in HR. Otis still remembered cleaning up that broken desk and the body sweat stains on the window. That Sarah woman acted all prim and proper, but Otis knew for sure that she was one of the nasty ones. The ones who liked getting down and dirty in the filth. Filth like him.

Otis made his way around the desk, carefully appraising its contents. That old crone was just the kind of person who would lay a trap for Otis, so he didn't snatch anything up. Movement in the parking lot below caught his eye. A car was pulling into a spot. That wasn't that odd. The hospital still had overnight staff, but the shift change had been hours ago.

Otis adjusted his cock in his pants when he saw whose car it was. Two figures got out and began making their way into the hospital.

"Are you sure about this?" Dan asked, walking across the parking lot next to Sarah.

"Getting cold feet? I thought this was a fantasy of yours?" Sarah raised an eyebrow at her husband, a teasing smile growing on her face. Dan had been back in Middleton for a couple of days and Sarah had been very giving with her attention. And now, she was apparently determined to make one of Dan's longest-standing fantasies come true. Sex in the hospital.

"It's just dangerous. Now that we're here. It's getting real." He could feel his heart beating in his chest as they approached the door. He still wasn't sure about this. Sarah had never been open to risking this before, but now...she seemed determined to do it. It still worried him. Not so much the act of having sex in the hospital. But how willing she was to do it. Eager almost – like she craved doing things like this. He didn't know how to bring this up with her, or even if he should. Everything still felt so raw between them. There were so many things they hadn't talked through yet, but he was afraid to put too fine a point on anything, afraid that the patchwork fix to their relationship would collapse under too much pressure.

"There won't be anyone in the IT department until morning. The entire floor will be empty. The only people in the building are the doctors, nurses on shift, and maybe a handful of others." Sarah waved him off as they entered the back atrium of the hospital.

"Still....if you want us to stop, we can. We can turn around, go pick up the kids, and head home," Sarah teased.

Dan stayed silent for a moment as they walked towards the employee elevators. This is what he had wanted. To reinsert himself into all of this craziness so that Sarah wasn't on her own anymore. To support her but also to keep her safe. They'd do these things together from now on. To explore this side of them together and find out where their line was. He had to be here. He didn't want to cede any more of his relationship to Lester. It still fucked with his head but this is what they decided to do as a couple.

Besides, this had been his fantasy. Having sex at work. Whether it was his office or her workplace, just taking that risk and doing it. It had always lingered in that back of his head. And just like so many other things, Lester had done it with his wife before he had. Multiple times now. He couldn't back down. His pride wouldn't let him.

"Let's keep going," Dan said, pressing the button to call the elevator.

The doors opened immediately, and Sarah stepped inside. "Good boy." Dan followed her in, and they rode the elevator up to Sarah's new floor. He needed to take control, assert himself like Lester did regardless of what his wife wanted, and play that role—the role that Sarah responded to so strongly. He needed to be the leading man again, not a background actor.

Dan was the first to step out when the doors opened to Sarah's floor. The floor was surprisingly dark. He looked left and then right, realizing he wasn't sure which way to go. Sarah took his hand and led him left down the bright hallway. "This way."

He let Sarah guide him down the corridor. She'd been right; there was no one around. The overhead lights snapped on as they walked down the hallway. He remembered Sarah having pitched the idea for motion sensor activated lights at night to save energy and money for the hospital. It had been a huge cost-saving success. That had been about a month before he'd moved into the Chicago apartment.

"Here we are," Sarah smiled back at Dan as she pulled open a door with a flourish. Dan followed her through. It took a few seconds, but the interior lights turned on as they took a few steps into the suite. Rows of empty cubicles greeted them. Against the far wall was a bay of windows. Anyone outside would notice the lights. Would a nurse or doctor taking a smoke break find it odd that the floor was lit up? They probably wouldn't care.

Sarah led Dan to one of the few offices tucked away beyond the cubicles, "In here, big boy."

The sign on the door read 'Sarah Williams.' Dan was proud of seeing her name there but couldn't help but feel a pang of guilt. He too used to have his name on an office door. Both times it had been taken away from him. At that moment, he felt envious of his wife and then almost immediately felt immense guilt about that notion. It was dumb. Her success was his success.

Sarah pulled him into the room and flipped on the lights. This office was a lot smaller than her old one, and his envy seemed even more idiotic. His wife had been through so much recently at work but was still keeping her head high. It was no wonder she'd found a new way to blow off steam.

"Close the door," Sarah said huskily as she moved to the window looking out at the cubicles. She slowly closed the blinds while staring at Dan with that fiery intensity she was known to display before she got what she wanted. Without hesitating, Dan shut the door and immediately crossed the room, pulling Sarah into an embrace. His lips met hers and he felt her melt into the kiss. He couldn't help himself. He needed to have her.

The past few days at home had been a great return to form. When the girls went to sleep each night, Sarah and Dan would mess around in their bed. But now they were somewhere new, and this was Dan's chance to supplant Lester in her mind.

Their tongues intertwined, and Sarah moaned hungrily into his mouth. Dan's hands roamed Sarah's body, grabbing a handful of her supple curvy ass through her dress pants. Without hesitating, his hands found the bottom of her blouse and started to move up and over the bare skin underneath.

Sarah's hands had a vise grip on his shirt collar and she wasn't letting go. She held him in place as she kissed him, pulling his toned body against hers. They fumbled their way back towards her desk, their lips never leaving each others.

"Mhmmm," Sarah moan vibrated into Dan's mouth. She could feel how hard he was for her through the expanding bulge at the front of his pants. She didn't want to wait for it any longer. Her hands were on his belt that instant, surprising Dan. Sarah expertly undid the buckle and, in one fluid motion, pulled the leather belt entirely out of the pants' loops, tossing it to the floor.

"I can't believe we're really doing this," Dan groaned as Sarah bit his bottom lip and tugged back on it. He didn't waste any time. He roughly tugged at her black blouse, pulling it up over her head, breaking their deep kiss. He dropped it onto the floor, and his eyes went wide, staring at Sarah's heaving shapely breasts clad only in a white lacy bra. His body reacted before his brain did, her mouth diving down to kiss and lick the creamy white exposed flesh of both her breasts. Sarah moaned and arched her back, her fingers fiddling with the button on his pants.

Dan held onto Sarah's back, pulling her breasts to his face. His pants fell to his ankles, and he awkwardly kicked off his shoes and stepped out of them. Sarah had one hand caressing the back of his head, the other reaching down and stroking his fully hard dick through his boxer briefs.

“Maybe I should call Lester first,” Sarah said in a sultry voice. “To make sure he’s okay with this.”

“What?” Dan said, snapping his eyes up at her. Sarah’s hand didn’t leave Dan’s dick. She stroked it as she stared at him with her piercing green eyes.

“Well, y’know, he’s my Chicago boyfriend,” Sarah bit her lip playfully, “You’ve let him claim me so many times in so many ways. Let him cum in me so many times.....” She let the words hang in the air. “Maybe he really does own me now. You need his permission.”

“Fuck that,” Dan drowled and thrusting his dick against her palm, his head diving forward and kissing her neck hard. Lester wasn’t here. This night was theirs, they didn’t need someone like him to set the pace. Dan would step into the role and show Sarah he could make her fantasies come true just as well.

“Fuck, take these pants off,” Sarah moaned her command. Both of their hands went to her dress pants. Sarah undid the clasp, and Dan pulled them off her body. He paused and looked down at his wife, clad only in her white lacy bra and panties leaning against her desk. Her chest was heaving with her shallow breaths, her face flush and red with lust. He was going to fuck his wife at work and take back an experience from Lester.

A grin spread on his face, “I have an idea.”

His wife regarded him with a smoldering stare, “Let’s hear it, big guy.”

He took Sarah’s hand and pulled her off the desk.

“Dan, what?” Sarah asked, clearly surprised by his actions. He pulled her across the room to the door. “Dan, stop. What are you doing?”

He looked back at her and grinned, “Let’s go fuck on Lester’s desk.”

“Oh. Oh, you’re bad,” Sarah said with a glint of excitement in her eyes. This was exactly the kind of thing Lester would probably do. Dan wanted to up the ante with Sarah and push those boundaries.

Dan opened the door and the LED light right outside the office switched to full brightness at their movement. Dan steeled himself and walked out into the empty office in just his briefs and pulled his almost-naked wife out into the light. He felt her grip tighten on his hand but she came willingly. It was probably one thing to mess around at work behind closed doors, but being in her underwear where normally anyone could see was entirely different.

He had spotted Lester's name on the office beside Sarah's earlier. Another light turned on as he moved to it. Dan grasped the handle and opened the door. He flicked the light switch on the wall, illuminating a messy office. Dan shook his head, not surprised in the least. Papers were piled high on a table against the wall, along with an assortment of empty containers and bits of other filth. How the hell could someone work like this? The hospital staff should say something. Even the couch and table by the window looked messy. Dan adjusted the dimmer on the switch, setting the light down low.

The door clicked behind him, and Sarah stood there expectantly, in just her bra and panties, looking like she was ready to pounce on him. This wasn't the Sarah he'd been with for the past few nights. Her eyes were intense, and she looked like she was dripping with uninhibited sex. Being at the hospital like this had unlocked something needful in her, and Dan intended to embrace it. He didn't think she'd locked the door when she closed it.

"Get over here," Dan moved behind Lester's desk and cleared a space for them. Sarah didn't move. She looked hard at him and then slowly bent over at the waist, until Dan had an exceptional view of the tops of her breasts hanging as an offering for him. She slid her fingers into her white, high-waisted panties and lowered them down her flawless thighs before gravity took them and brought them to the floor. Dan marvelled at her shaved pussy and how perfect it looked. His wife stood back up and sauntered over to him behind the desk.

As she walked, the lights outside the office went out. Sarah didn't seem to notice, still walking towards him with purpose. Dan almost didn't recognize her. That lust-filled gaze almost made her look like someone else.

She went up onto her tippy toes and kissed him deeply, her tongue snaking into his mouth before pulling back and biting lightly at his lip again. His wife gave him a wicked grin and turned away from him, planting her elbows on the desk and pushing her ass back out, as if inviting him in. Its perfect contours swayed back and forth, nearly mesmerizing Dan. He quickly snapped out of his stupor and hastily pulled down his briefs, his hard dick flopping out.

"I'm ready for you," Sarah whispered as he stepped up behind her. He lined his dick up with her pussy and was amazed to find it already soaking wet. The past few nights, he'd had to engage in a lot of foreplay to get her to this point. Not that he minded tasting his wife's pussy again. It had been too long. He took a moment to study her bare lips from behind.

Before he could react, Sarah reached down between her legs and grabbed his dick. She pulled him forward by it and put the head of his cock right at her entrance, parting her pussy lips. Sarah groaned, letting go of his cock and pushed her ass back onto him, taking him part way inside of her.

“Uhhhh,” Sarah moaned, both elbows back on the desk. She hung her head, her blonde locks falling all over Lester’s messy desk. Dan gripped her hips and pushed forward until his shaft was fully lodged inside of her. Sarah’s pussy gripped him tightly. Her ass rocked forward and then slammed back against Dan, setting the tempo. He was surprised how fast and hard his wife was fucking him. He widened his stance and planted his feet, thrusting forward, trying to keep up with her.

Sarah fucked him relentlessly like that for several minutes. She was thrusting back so hard and fast that he almost lost his balance a couple of times. All he could do was hold fast onto her hips and try to keep up with her pistoning frenzy. But even as he struggled to maintain the same rhythm, her drooling pussy never stopped clenching his cock. It felt good. Too good. Dan could already feel himself getting to that ultimate point of no return. But he didn’t want to cum before Sarah did.

“Are you close?” Dan asked, “Are you going to cum for me baby?”

“Fuck. Fuck don’t stop Dan,” Sarah whined against the desk, “I-I’m almost there.”

“Fuck me too, nng” Dan growled.

“Don’t. Not yet. Just a bit more,” Sarah moaned. Dan hoped she was right because he didn’t know how much longer he could hold himself back. As Dan gritted his teeth and contemplated how the hell he was going to stop himself from cumming when one of the automatic lights out in the cubicle farm turned on.

“Shhh,” Dan hushed Sarah with a hand on the middle of her back. She looked back at him, confusion in her eyes. She followed her husband’s gaze and saw the light streaming between the window blinds. Another light came on, and this one was brighter and closer.

Fuck Dan thought. It wasn’t just a one-off. Someone was out there. Another close light came to life again, followed by another even closer to the room.

“Did you lock the door?” Sarah whispered. Her body was rigid and her pussy was still torturously tight around his dick. She had been the last one through the door.

“No, did you?” Dan whispered back.

Without looking away from the window, Sarah shook her head. Dan's heart beat loudly in his chest as the light right outside Lester's office kicked on. Could whoever was out there hear the pounding in his chest? Was it that loud? It felt like it was.

Fuck Fuck Fuck Dan thought. All the clothing they'd shed was in the other room. Either that person would go in there and see it all, or they might come in here and see them undressed like this. Maybe, just maybe, they would bypass this office altogether. It could just be someone getting some light night work done or maybe...

The handle to the door turned.

Light shone into the office as the door opened, momentarily blinding Sarah and Dan. The silhouette of a large figure stood in the doorway.

"My, my, my, what do we have here?" A man's voice said. The figure stepped into the room, pulling some kind of cart behind him. "I went down into the boiler room first. Then I figured I'd check up here."

Dan felt like he was stuck, frozen in place. It took him a few seconds to compose himself before the questions occurred to him, "Who the fuck are you? What do you want?"

Sarah's face had a strange expression on it, like she had been caught with her hand in the cookie jar. But he didn't know why.

"Otis," the older man said, tapping a name tag on the chest of his dirty coveralls. Dan's eyes finally adjusted to the light. "And I'm just here for the show. And maybe to repay a favor to that sweet wife of yours."

"I don't know what you're talking about, but you need to leave," Dan said. As the words left his lips, he felt Sarah's pussy clench around his dick tighter than before and she slowly pushed her ass back against him.

"Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned, her eyes still locked onto the intruder's. A shit eating grin spread across the old man's face, crows feet spreading in a network of wrinkles around his dark eyes. He stuck his arm into what Dan could now see was a large garbage bin. He pulled out a beer and cracked it open before taking a healthy drink.

"That's right," Otis said, stepping closer. "Put on a show for me, girl. We both know you love it. Come on."

Sarah looked over her shoulder at Dan with a pleading look on her face. Her mouth hung languidly agape, and Dan saw the desperate look of lusty abandon in her eyes. Her pussy clenched tightly around his cock again.

“Hey. Hey!” Otis barked, “Look at me. I wanna watch you cum.”

Dan watched as Sarah turned back to the janitor and sexily held his gaze. The man smiled wickedly and stroked his beer can. Dan had no idea what to do. In one swift moment, this man had barged into the room, and their entire scenario had been flipped on its head. Sarah was clearly responding to his imposing presence. Dan wanted the guy to leave, but he was torn—torn between embracing this side of his wife or trying to reel themselves back in and get control of the situation. He wanted to support her exploration and discovery.

“Sneaking around at work. Tsk,” the janitor knocked his fist against the center of his chest and let out a loud burp. “Uhh. I’ve been watching your wife. Waiting for her to sneak away and try something like this. I’m glad I was on the night shift. I woulda hated to miss the show.”

Dan opened his mouth to say something, but what the hell was he supposed to say about that? Stop stalking my wife? Stop watching us? Sarah was going wild, slamming into Dan. He could feel his balls tighten and knew it wouldn’t be long before they both came. Both cumming to this fucked up situation. It wasn’t like it had been with Lester so long ago when they’d wanted him to watch the two of them have sex. Dan didn’t know this guy, even though part of him was thrilled seeing Sarah on display for another rough-looking creep like this.

“Fuck, just watching you has me all hard,” Otis chuckled and started to stroke himself through his coveralls. Sarah’s pussy clenched around Dan’s cock again.

“Fuck, Sarah?” Dan asked. He needed to make sure she was okay with what was happening, to make sure that —

“UHHHHMHMMMMM,” Sarah’s pussy clenched down hard around his cock locking him in place and he felt her body spasm. She dropped her head onto the desk, her arms splaying out, knocking papers and a generic desk clock onto the floor.

“Uhhhhhh. Ahhhhhhh,” Sarah moaned as she came effusively.

“There it is,” Otis grinned, stroking his growing cock through his coveralls.

“Fffffff,” Sarah grunted as her sweat covered body shuddered. Her torso collapsed onto the desk, “Uhhmmmm.”

“Oh fuck,” Dan grunted, “I’m gonna cum too.”

Despite seeming exhausted, Sarah quickly pulled herself off of Dan and turned around. Their plan had been for him to cum in her mouth. She didn’t want to walk through the hospital full of cum. She made it seem like that was an unpleasant experience, something she had already suffered the consequences of.

Before Sarah could lower herself to her knees, Dan came, his eyes blinking rapidly. His cum shot out onto the floor as Sarah grasped for his cock. Dan grunted and shot another load onto the floor. Sarah stared down at his twitching cock as the last bit of cum dribbled out. Dan sat back into Lester’s chair and tried to catch his breath.

“Okay, Otis,” Sarah said, “Show’s over.”

Otis grinned at Dan, “Sure looks like it. But I just got here. Have a beer with me, and I’ll leave.”

He pulled three more cans out of his garbage can. He set two on the desk for Dan and Sarah before cracking the third open for himself. The janitor glanced between Sarah and Dan like he was quickly trying to understand the dynamic at play here. Dan felt the wind being sucked out of his own sails, not knowing where this was going.

“Garbage beer?” Sarah asked, her hands covering her crotch and bra clad breasts.

Otis just shrugged, “It’s not dirty. No one’s gonna check my garbage for beer.”

Sarah straightened, even though she was still half naked, “You shouldn’t be drinking on the job.”

“And you shouldn’t be fucking on your boss’ desk but this is where we find ourselves,” Otis chuckled and took another generous swig of his beer. Sarah looked back warily at Dan. She wasn’t sure how to proceed. This guy had something on her now. Sure, Sarah could also hold this over Otish, but Dan would bet janitor jobs were a dime a dozen. She handed Dan the beer before cracking open her own. Dan took a sip and grimaced. It was warm.

“Alright,” Dan started holding up his hands, “We’ve all had our fun, now I think we should —”

“I’m feeling overdressed,” Otis said. He reached up and grabbed the coveralls zipper by his neck and started lowering it. His bare chest began being exposed followed by the loose wrinkled skin covering his stomach. Soon enough, the older man had lowered the zipper to just above his crotch. He was clearly completely naked underneath. He was staring right at Sarah. He wasn’t looking back and forth between the husband and wife any more, almost like he was dismissing Dan’s presence entirely.

“Otis, what are you doing?” Sarah asked. Otis just shrugged, pulled down the top of the coveralls, and lowered them past his waist. His long, hard cock sprang out and the wiry man got naked. Dan felt disgusted at the sight of the wild ungroomed salt and pepper pubic hair. He looked up at Sarah and saw that she was still looking at the man. She held the beer can in her fist but hadn’t had any of it. Her breasts were rising and falling like they had earlier, almost in anticipation of what was to come.

“Just making sure everybody’s comfortable,” Otis replied.

“Comfortable?” Sarah challenged. She finally sipped the beer and found it equally unappealing.

“Y’all are naked,” Otis gestured towards them, “Seems right that now I am too.”

“Otis,” Dan said, not drinking his beer. “We’re done here.”

“Oh?” Otis said, stepping further towards them, his lecherous gaze not leaving Sarah, “I think we’re just getting started.”

Dan watched as the naked older man stepped towards his wife. She held her ground, not wanting to back down from his challenge. Her hands still feebly tried to cover nakedness. It took Dan a second to realize that Sarah was probably still thinking of herself in the role of the hospital administration or at least of herself in her current position. She wouldn’t be pushed around by someone in such a subordinate role.

“Otis,” Sarah said coolly as the man circled around to her side. Sarah turned to face him, her bubble butt pressing against the side of Lester’s desk. Hands still over her breasts and pussy. “You should leave.”

“Not before I pay my debt.” Otis bent, put his beer can on the ground, and wiped his lips with the back of his hand. His hard cock jutting at Sarah. Before either Dan or Sarah could react, the wiry older man quickly crossed the distance to Dan’s wife.

Sarah went to step back by instinct but her naked bubble butt was already pressed against Lester’s desk. Dan gripped his beer as Otis with his dangling cock pushed up against Sarah, his weathered hands roughly grabbed her thighs and he hefted her up onto the table with strength Dan didn't realize the older man had.

Sarah gasped. Dan got to his feet to intervene, but Otis quickly dropped to his knees between Sarah's legs. He moved the hand covering her pussy to the side.

Otis looked up at her, his mouth open, dark eyes shining. Otis' head dove forward. Dan couldn't see what was happening from his angle, but he knew.

"Uhhmmmmmm," a guttural moan escaped Sarah's lips. She braced her hand against the desk as her head tilted back. Her other hand left her breasts, pushing back on Otis's head. The old man's tongue was now inside Dan's young wife. Dan hadn't been ready for this. He couldn't be. This wasn't what tonight's plans were supposed to be. He felt paralyzed by the familiar out-of-body sensation that he'd felt before. She could push his head away more firmly Dan thought.

Fuck Dan thought as he watched Sarah's back arch and another soft moan escape her lips. He felt like he was frozen in place again. He was stronger than this now, though. He couldn't just, like some stranger walk in here and do this to his wife. Have her in front of him. Sarah's hand feebly pushed against Otis' forehead. Dan watched her face contort and her hand seemed to relax. The finger's splayed out and it moved across his head, caressing him.

Dan willed his body to move. He stepped forward and watched, as if in slow motion, as Sarah's hand went to press the back of the man's head into her. Half a second had passed, and Sarah wasn't showing any effort in trying to push him off anymore. Her fingers ran into his thin greying hair. Her fingers actually arched as she gripped his head and pulled him in even closer.

"Oh fuck," Sarah said breathlessly. Her beautiful blonde tresses fell down her back as her hips pushed forward to meet Otis's probing tongue. She hadn't expected him to be any good at doing this. She hadn't thought about him this way at all. After all this time that she'd tried to avoid him, she hadn't expected anything like this to happen.

Her mind was on fire as Otis's weathered tongue swirled around inside of her. Part of her wanted to glance at Dan and see his reaction, but all she could do was focus on this heavenly feeling. Otis' tongue felt huge inside of her, just like Lester's. But he was lapping at places she'd never been touched by a tongue before. Lester's tongue was fat and thick, but Otis's seemed longer and skinnier. More agile, he was incredible.

One of Otis's wrinkled hands reached up and grabbed a handful of Sarah's supple ass cheek. She moaned at the rough treatment. His fingers kneaded her ass and Sarah shuddered, imagining all the dirt trapped under his ragged fingernails.

Fuck, was this what he meant by paying his debts? How the old man knew Sarah was in the hospital was still a mystery to her. It was surreal that he was on his knees between her legs on Lester's filthy desk. Sarah looked down and watched Otis skillfully lapping at her pussy. He twirled his tongue like a sexual whirlwind inside of her, not giving her a single second to catch her breath.

The office was filled with long wet slurping sounds and other graphic noises Dan didn't think he'd ever heard before. Dan looked on, and a light turned off somewhere out in the cubicle farm. Only then did he realize that the janitor's cart was propping the door open. Anyone could walk in and hear that noise— see his wife, catch the three of them.

Otis brought his thumb up to her clit and started gently massaging it while his tongue continued to spear deftly in and out of her of her sopping pussy. Fucking her with his tongue. Sarah adjusted herself on the desk, her shoulder pushing Lester's monitor to the side.

Sarah glanced at Dan, who was standing there with his mouth and eyes wide open. Sarah flashed him one of her trademark sexy smiles. He had the same look on his face that she was so used to seeing. That mix of lust, jealousy, and a hint of befuddled confusion. She knew he was enjoying this, even though he had just shot his cum all over the floor.

Otis' thumb circled around her clit, forcing Sarah's eyes to flutter closed. Her breasts heaved and her whole body shook as Otis' tongue swirled inside of her. She couldn't believe she was here, with this man. The problematic near stalker she had been avoiding ever since their illicit encounter in the basement. And that he was making her feel so fucking good.

"Mhmmmm," Sarah mewed as she felt it. The embers deep inside of her being stoked by Otis' tongue. If he kept this up at this rate she was going to cum. Hard.

"Sarah?" Dan said, "Are you good?"

"Uh. More, ah, more than good. Ff-ffFuck baby he's going to make me c-cum if he keeps going like this," Sarah moaned.

Dan felt his cock instantly stiffen at her words. He was now hard as a rock, even though he was impotently standing there just watching. He didn't know what to do. Finally, he took a step. He moved to the door, pulling the cart fully into the room and shutting the door. This time, he made sure it was locked. At least making sure no one else knew there was anything to see in here.

He turned back and bore witness to the scene before him. Sarah arching her back on the desk as this wiry old janitor knelt between her legs, feasting on her open pussy. His wife's hips were thrusting back onto the man's face, and he recognized the familiar frenzy of her motion. She was about to cum.

"Ah, ah ff-fuck," Sarah's hand grabbed the back of Otis' greasy head. She was so close. So fucking close. "Don't stop, Otis," Sarah moaned. The saying of his name tasted bitter on her tongue, but that only added fuel to the fire burning uncontrollably inside her.

"Ummhmmmm," Sarah moaned loudly. Otis continued to loudly lap and suck at Sarah's pussy while his thumb expertly manipulated her clit. "Nnnghhhh," Sarah moaned wickedly as she threw her head back. Dan had never heard her make these sounds before.

"Oh fuck," Sarah's thighs clenched around Otis' head. Despite the intense pressure, Otis didn't stop. His head kept nodding forward as his tongue folded and twisted inside of Sarah. All the muscles in Sarah's body locked tight as she came in a volatile burst. Warmth exploded from her abdomen and its tendrils rapidly spread all across her body. Her eyes rolled back in her head, her lashes flickering rapidly, her jaw hung open. One of her legs kicked out on its own, arching in the air, her muscles taut.

Sarah tried to catch her breath, her breasts rapidly rising and falling. She was just beginning to come down from her orgasm, which Otis clearly recognized. There was a big slurp sound and Otis took his thumb off her clit.

"Fuck I knew you'd taste sweet," Otis said from between her legs before resuming.

"Uhh, ahhh, ohhhh," Sarah squealed as Otis' tongue slurped up her slit and began licking her clit. He flicked his tongue over and over against it while two of his bony fingers went into her pussy. He immediately began dragging the tips over her sensitive G-Spot. His other hand shot up and began to roughly maul her breasts through her lacy bra.

"Uhhghhhh," Sarah moaned involuntarily, her body hunching over on its own at Otis' manipulations. His mouth closed over her clit and he began sucking on it while his tongue somehow continued to flick back and forth across it. His fingers were ramming fast and hard inside of her, trying to set her off again. The hand on her chest pulled at one of the bra's cups, freeing one heaping breast from its confines. He grabbed onto her naked flesh and roughly pinched at her nipple.

Dan watched as Otis played his wife like an instrument. The foreign guttural sounds coming from her throat were like a symphony of erotic music. Except Dan couldn't follow the tune. He was transfixed all over again, watching the sordidly graphic display in front of him. He just stood there, his cock twitching as he watched the performance get fully underway.

"Mhmmhmmffuuu," Sarah grunted, her hips softly rocking on the desk against Otis's face. Otis' head continued to bob up and down as he lapped at Sarah's clit. Licking it aggressively, sucking on it. His elbow pumped up and down as his two fingers rammed into Sarah over and over again, fingertips pressing hard against the rough patch of her G-Spot while his other hand mauled both her breasts. His expert manipulation was too much for Sarah to handle.

"Holy fuck. Holy Fuck. Fuck! Shit, Oh god. God. Oh my fuck, I'm gonna. I'm gonna..." Sarah said through clenched teeth before her body dramatically lurched once again. Fireworks exploded inside of her, setting her nerves on fire. Her eyes blanked and her vision went white. Her brain felt like it was melting as it was inundated with sensory overload from her quivering body. Sarah clenched her thighs around Otis's head again as another intense orgasm rocked her body.

Otis didn't stop. Not when Sarah's thighs were crushing his head like a tomato. Not when her pussy was forced so hard into his face that it blocked his nostrils. The man just kept digging and probing his fingers into the willing flesh of Dan's wife and licked and sucked on her clit, trying to draw out every second, every movement of her orgasm.

Dan was taken aback by the fact that Otis didn't stop. Not even once. The guy didn't even come up for a solitary breath.

"Ohhh, mmmmm, ohh yess," Sarah said breathlessly. Somehow, a glint of sweat was running down her back already. Her eyes were closed as she revelled in her post orgasmic bliss. "Fuck that was intense," Sarah murmured to no one in particular.

A wet splashing sound filled the office. Sarah gasped as Otis withdrew his fingers from her. Sarah's juices coated his hand and dripped to the floor from his wrist. The hand on her breasts dropped to one thigh, and the other hand snaked up and grabbed the other. In one quick, fluid motion, Otis pulled her legs apart and pushed himself to his feet between her open legs.

"Wha? Otis.." Sarah said in a momentary daze. She thought about trying to clench her thighs, but Otis held them. He was stronger than he looked. There was another moment where he paused. The tip of his large cock was pushing against her. Again, a look passed between the two hospital employees. Of course she shouldn't fuck the janitor. Of course this was absolutely something she shouldn't do. Not here. Not with her husband watching. Not in her boss' office. No way. No fucking way.

She propped herself up on the desk, her hands behind her and offered her chest to the lowly office worker.

Dan watched as Otis bent forward and powerfully thrust his hips into his wife.

"Argghhhhuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuu," Sarah grunted in surprise as Otis impaled himself inside of her. His large cock buried completely to the hilt, hairy balls slapping against her underside. Sarah opened her mouth to say something, and Otis kissed her, his tongue mashing desperately against hers. He held the back of her head while his other hand hugged her back, smashing her breasts against his chest.

"Mhmm! Mhmm!" Sarah tried to say through the kiss. Her arms flailed against the lewd man. Dan stepped forward at the same time that Otis' ass dipped back as he pulled part of his cock free before thrusting back into Sarah who was still propped up on the desk. He did it again. Then again. Sarah pushed on the older man's shoulders.

"Buddy, buddy, hey! What the fuck?" Dan quickly crossed the distance to pull this old man off Sarah as he rapidly thrust into her.

"Mhmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmm," a noise came from Sarah's throat, making Dan stop at just a few feet away. Her hands decisively gripped Otis' biceps. She turned her head to the side and was returning the janitor's eager kiss. The sounds of their lips smacking against each other and their tongues battling and surrendering filled Dan's eardrums. Dan's eyes went wide as Sarah's legs wrapped around Otis' hips, locking him in place. Her ass squirmed on the desk as she tried to thrust back against Otis's cock.

The older man stood there making out with Dan's wife while he humped away, thrusting his bare length of cock in and out of the sex crazed woman. In and out, repeatedly. He wasn't wearing a condom. Dan hadn't thought to bring one as the plan had been for him to finish in Sarah's mouth. Not that he usually bought condoms anyways since that was taken care of.

But now some fucking random janitor was fucking Sarah raw and unprotected.

That thought hadn't even occurred to Sarah. All her brain could comprehend was how fucking good the big cock inside of her felt. She tasted the stale beer on Otis' tongue and somehow found that the flavor excited her. Her brain wasn't thinking straight. All that it registered was how different the forceful cock felt inside of her. It curved different than Dan's or Lester's and just fit so fucking well inside of her accommodating pussy.

“Mhhmmmgodddd,” Sarah moaned as Otis’ tongue twirled around in her mouth. Her tongue did the same, her taste buds running over the bumps of his as they swapped saliva and made out. Otis broke the kiss first with a self-satisfied smile on his face. His pockmarked face displayed a grunted as he continued to thrust his engorged member into Sarah.

Her jaw hung limp, looking at him in reverent astonishment, her eyes still not believing what was happening to her.

The hand on her back fumbled but finally undid the clasp on her white lacy bra. He peeled the garment off of her, releasing her immaculate naked breasts. He stared down at her nude flesh in triumph as he pounded away triumphantly in the young mother.

“I knew I’d get inside of you sooner or later,” Otis grunted “But I didn’t know you’d be so fucking tight. Jesus Christ, amng.”

“So fucking tight,” Otis muttered looking at Sarah’s angelic face, “Feels like I’m fucking a virgin.”

“I’m not a virgin,” Sarah breathed heavily. Otis smirked and looked over his shoulder at Dan, who stood rooted in place a few feet away.

“He likes to watch,” Sarah teased, catching Dan’s eye.

“No gay stuff, it’s not like that” Otis said to Dan. “I’m just gonna borrow your wife for a while.”

Sarah stared at Dan, waiting for a reaction. Dan was about to say something, but Otis grabbed her by the chin and turned her face towards him. He kissed her intimately again, his tongue diving back in to dance with hers. Sarah moaned into the kiss, and just like that, Dan was standing there alone, an outsider watching the pornographic scene unfold in front of him.

Otis grunted and with his cock still fully inside her, picked Sarah up and walked her over to a wall. This older man was way stronger than Dan or Sarah had been able to tell. Otis slammed Sarah into the wall violently as he thrust his entire organ into her.

His cock pistoning in and out of her as he held her pinned to the wall. Sarah’s hips bucked back against him, trying to match his frantic pace. Otis’s hands never left Sarah’s legs and ass as he held her in place. Her ankles locked behind his old, saggy ass, eagerly accepting this unusual coupling.

Dan just gawped at the sight before him—the contrast between his perfect, young wife with her flawless skin and this old near retiree whose skin looked like the leather in a worn-out baseball glove. Yet here he was, inside his wife, making her moan enthusiastically. His wife and the janitor.

“Mhmmhmm,” Sarah moaned around Otis’ tongue. Tasting it. Sucking on its disgusting spit. It spun in her mouth before Sarah battled it back, pushing her tongue into his. Their tongues slid against and around each other, seeking urgently to get more and more of each other. They kissed openly. Lips smacking, teeth colliding as their heads moved, both trying to show devotion to the other more flagrantly.

Otis pounded Sarah into the wall. A generic picture that hung near them shook as Otis slammed his massive length into Sarah. If there was anyone in the office next door, they would no doubt hear the constant sexual pounding.

“Oh fuck. God. Fuck,” Sarah moaned breaking the kiss. She was breathing hard, trying to catch her breath. Otis’ tongue wasn’t done. Descending to her craned neck, licking along its length, twirling across its most sensitive areas. Sarah’s hips bucked against the thrusting invader, slamming herself against him. She pushed her bubble butt off the wall to meet each of his near perfect cock’s thrusts.

Otis’ leg shook unsteadily for a second before he repositioned himself. Sarah was bucking herself down against his cock like a woman possessed by a lustful demon.

“Ugh. Fuck that felt good,” Otis snarled into her chest. Sarah squeezed her pussy around his cock again making the older man groan as he pulled out of her and pushed back in.

Otis thrust into Sarah hard, stopping her hips. His fingers gripped the bottom of her thighs, and he slowly pulled her off the wall and spun her around. With her legs still wrapped around his waist, Otis walked Sarah past Dan to Lester’s couch by the window. He unceremoniously dumped her back onto the couch and knelt between her spread legs. He held each one of her armpits and thrust back into Sarah, his large cock spreading her open for him.

“Goddd,” Sarah moaned, lolling her head to the side to look at her husband. Dan still stood where he had been, staring at them. Otis followed her eyes.

“Go sit down in that chair. Now. I don’t like you hovering over there,” Otis grunted. Dan snapped out of his trance and moved towards the chair. Suddenly, he felt utterly exposed and uncomfortable being naked in front of this random stranger. He didn’t sit. Not yet. He wanted to but didn’t want to follow this guy’s insistent directions. It was already bad enough he was urgently fucking Sarah right in front of him.

“Stop looking at him,” Otis barked to Sarah, “Look at me. Me. Got it?”

Sarah did. She focused on the man’s face. The intense gaze in his eyes. The way she could feel the pulse of his heartbeat through the veins in his cock inside of her. How the hell had she gotten here? She was on her back, legs spread for yet another ugly man and she was enjoying the hell out of every fucking second of it.

Her hips bounced off the couch to meet Otis’ pointed thrusts. His eyes seemed to glaze over as he stared down at Sarah’s perky bouncing breasts that jiggled invitingly with each powerful push forward.

“I knew you’d be a good fuck but Jesus Christ. Jesus fucking Christ this is something else.” Otis breathed, “Your body...”

“Just shut up and fuck me,” Sarah said sternly. She reached down and grabbed onto the man’s biceps, beckoning him to come down fully on top of her.

Otis grinned at Dan, “Sorry bud, but I’m gonna ruin her for ya.”

He spread her legs open and fully laid down on top of Sarah. She wrapped her legs around him, taking him even deeper inside her than before, giving him complete access to her. “Uh. Ah. Uh. Uh. Uh. Uh.”

“Squeeze me like that again,” Otis grunted. Sarah’s pussy clenched around him like she was milking his cock. “Fuck. Feels so fucking good. I knew you’d be a hot fuck.”

“Oh yeah?” Sarah said in a more slutty voice than she intended, “Why’s that? Huh?”

“You’re the drop-dead sexiest woman in this fucking place,” Otis spat. “And all you stuck-up women are the same. Once you get the right cock in you, you’ll light up like a goddamn Christmas tree.”

“That’s so charming,” Sarah said sarcastically. “You should really consider keeping your mouth shut. Everyone would be better off.”

“Heh, whatever you say princess, as long as you keep yours open,” Otis stuck the two fingers that he’d had in Sarah’s pussy into her mouth. He slid them in and out mimicking face fucking her. Sarah gagged as the fingers hit the back of her throat but she quickly closed her lips around his pushing fingers and began sucking on them.

“Mhmmm,” Sarah moaned, her tongue running down the underside of his pointer and ring fingers. Dan watched as her cheeks moved in and out as she sucked on the two digits. Her moans filled the room. Dan knew Sarah had a fantasy of being taken by two men at once. It hadn't happened with Jesse and Lester in the hotel room, but it was close. He knew that one of those men should've been him.

This could be his chance to step into that role in her fantasy. He could walk up and stick his cock right into her face and make it all come true. But he didn't move. He didn't want to....interrupt. God, what a stupid useless thought.

As Dan's mind reeled, their two naked bodies slapped against each other on the couch in front of him. Sarah was still squeezing her pussy around Otis' driving cock eliciting satisfied grunts from the wiry man. Sarah continued to suck and tongue Otis' dirty fingers as they plunged in and out of her mouth. A small part of her brain knew how fucked up it was that she was doing this. Licking and sucking a janitor's fingers while he was supposed to be working but the taboo nature of it just continued to stoke the fire building in her belly. A fire that she soon hoped would utterly consume her.

Otis pulled his fingers back out of her mouth and set his fists steadfastly onto the couch as he excitedly drove his hips into Sarah. Sarah wasn't done, though. She needed more. Her tongue snaked out of her mouth and licked his wrist, one of her hands holding it still as she licked it. Otis shuddered, and a satisfied smile spread across her lips.

Sarah turned her head and began licking the weathered skin of Otis' chest. Her tongue danced across his skin, swirling through the tiny grey hairs dotting it. She caught his nipple and tasted the bitter flavor of his sweat, triggering a soft sighing moan from the back of her throat. It was like she couldn't get enough and needed to taste him. Her wet tongue sent shivers across Otis' body, like his chest was directly connected to his cock.

Otis dropped his entire weight onto Sarah, his arms diving beneath her to pull her ass up for more access. He dipped his hips in low and his cock shot up into her open pussy, dragging over Sarah's precious G-Spot. She moaned into his chest but never stopped licking it. Dan watched as Sarah seemed to work herself up with each lick of his foul torso into an erotic frenzy. Her hips rapidly rising off the couch to meet his thrusts.

"Cum for me again girl. I wanna feel that pussy explode around my cock," Otis barked.

Sarah didn't say anything but Otis' words seemed to set off a fire inside of her. She thrust back against him in a fevered hysteria as he constantly pounded into her pussy.

"Urrnnnhnnn." Sarah's tongue stuck out her mouth against Otis' chest. His hands grabbed both of her ass cheeks holding her in place as his cock firmly pounded and mashed against her G-Spot.

“You l-like that?” Otis grunted.

“Mmm-hmmmm, uhmmm,” Sarah agreed, her whipping tongue still connected to his skin. She couldn’t find the words to express her ecstasy. Otis was rapidly pushing her towards another uninhibited orgasm, and that’s all her brain was able to focus on. Each time he spoke, his words were like a fuel injector, driving her up to a height from which she could blow.

“Cum on my cock, give it to me,” Otis grunted into her ear. “Fucking give it to me Mrs. Williams. Show your man how old Otis gets it done.”

“Arrhhhh,” an uncharacteristic guttural moan escaped Sarah’s throat as she clenched her teeth. The fire burning in her stomach erupted again, drenching her entire body in an unholy orgasmic bliss.

“AHFUCK,” Sarah screamed as her back arched off the couch, bare breasts pushing into Otis’ coarse chest hair. It felt like a bomb had gone off inside of her, bathing her in nothing but pure pleasure. Her body rocked and convulsed from her second orgasm, and her legs held Otis tightly in place like a vise.

Dan shuddered as he watched Sarah orgasm and writhe in animal heat under the ugly janitor. He still couldn’t believe what he was watching. How was this even his life?

Without thinking, Sarah reached up and grabbed the back of Otis’s head and pulled him down for a sloppy deep kiss. Otis never stopped thrusting, even though Sarah’s pussy held him in a fist-like grip around his cock. The odd couple kept thrusting against each other as they sloppily kissed and licked at one another. Dan watched their tongues sliding in and out of each other’s mouth and across their faces and his cock twitched. A fresh load of cum dribbled out onto the office chair.

Otis’ thrusts slowed, and he focused on just kissing Sarah. It was fucked up for Dan to watch. His mind broke in two when he saw Sarah kiss this guy. All the dues he’d paid and dates he’d taken her on before he’d even attempted to kiss Sarah for the first time, and now this random lowly creep already had his tongue buried down her throat as he fucked her raw. A lowly fucking janitor like Otis making out with someone who used to be second only to the CEO, not to mention the mother of Dan’s children.

Otis broke the kiss and pulled back up to a kneeling position. “Turn over.”

Sarah unwrapped her legs from Otis’s ass and turned herself over onto her knees. She shot Dan a glance before Otis roughly grabbed her hips. He lined his cock up with her slit and said, “You know how much I look at this ass? Wanting to bend you over and just fuck you in the hallway?”

“I’ve caught you watching me,” Sarah said, breathless.

“Only some of the times,” Otis chuckled, “Fuck what a perfect ass.”

He continued to slide the glistening head of his cock up and down her slit. Sarah, lost in a horny dementia, pushed her ass back, looking for connection. Otis looked over at Dan, “I dunno why the fuck you’d ever wanna share her like this but I appreciate it.” The older man spit into his hand and smeared saliva all over his cock. “Thanks.”

Sarah whined as she kept pushing her pristine ass back, desperately searching for Otis’ cock. Otis gave Dan a toothy grin and raised his eyebrows several times. He held onto the wide shaft of his cock and lined it up with Sarah’s drooling pussy. She pushed back and the janitor’s cockhead started to disappear inside. Otis held the rest of his cock in place and set one foot down on the floor next to the couch.

“Mrs. Williams?” Otis said, still holding his cock from full penetration as Sarah whimpered, her pussy looking for it.

“Yes?” Sarah said softly, turning over her shoulder to look at him. She was on her hands and knees, ready to be taken by the custodian.

“I’m about to breed you in front of your stupid husband,” Otis snarled and all at once thrust his entire length into Sarah. She wasn’t ready for it. Her body lurched forward, losing her position on the couch. Her arms jerked, bending. Her face hit the leather couch, but Otis was holding her hips up in the air.

The words snapped Dan back to reality. Was that what this asshole wanted to do? He knew that he couldn’t. Sarah had taken precautions. But still, that primal desire of this man to claim Sarah in that way....Dan’s cock throbbed insistently.

He wasted no time and started to mercilessly pound his cock into Sarah’s wet entrance. Sarah screamed in ecstasy, “OHHFUCKMEYESJESUS!”

Otis’ weathered hands tightly gripped Sarah’s hips as he pistoned his cock in and out of her, drilling her thoroughly. Sarah’s entire body was jostled back and forth on the couch with each forceful thrust from Otis. Sarah couldn’t control the moans escaping her lips, “Uhh, ahh, fuuuu, goddd, my, fuck, uh, ah, ah, yes. Yes. Fuck. FUCK. FUCK!”

Finally Sarah pushed herself up onto her hands, giving her more leverage to thrust back onto Otis' cock. He let go of her hips with one hand and grabbed one of her hanging breasts, roughly pawing it.

"Eiee," Sarah squealed as he roughly pinched and pulled on her nipple. He did it again and again. Otis's leg on the floor returned to the couch, planted firmly next to her hip. He released her hip and breast, shifting both of his hands to grip her shoulders and pull her whole upper body back onto his cock. He roughly pulled her back each time he thrust forward, making sure she took all of his raging cock. His heavy, saggy balls slapped violently against her clit.

"OH FUCK," Sarah screamed. Otis bunched up her beautiful blonde mane into a fist and yanked back on it as he fucked her decisively. He was fucking her fast and rough in the light of Lester's office. Rougher than Dan could ever remember fucking her. And she was loving every fucking second of the brutal ordeal.

"You like that? Like my cock in ya? Huh?" Otis demanded.

"YESSSS-SS," Sarah moaned, her face a mix of pain and pleasure as Otis continued pulling her hair and jamming himself inside her.

"Uhhuh, then, you fffucking scream it. Tell us, tell us how much you're lovin' my fat cock," Otis spat onto the floor.

"ITFEELS SO FUCKING GOOD!" Sarah whined, her bare breasts rocking freely, swaying as Otis fucked her into oblivion, "YOUR COCK..."

"IT'S SO GOOD. SO FUCKING GOOD!" Sarah screamed. Even with the door shut, Dan was worried someone was going to hear her joyous outburst, "YOUR COCK FEELS SO FUCKING GOOD!"

"Say my name, Mrs. Williams. Say it," Otis grunted.

"OH, OOOOTIS!" Sarah whined, thrusting her unblemished ass back hard against the wiry, older lowlife. Her perfect rear end clapping back with each powerful thrust.

"FUCKING MOAN IT FOR ME, WHO'S FUCKING YOU?" Otis bellowed.

"OTIS," Sarah moaned loudly, "OTIS. OTIS. FUCK YES OTIS! OTIS! GIVE IT TO ME, OTIS. FUCK!"

“Heh,” Otis shot Dan a dark look and chuckled. He pulled Sarah’s hair back even further until her fingers barely touched the leather couch. He licked up her spine and swirled his tongue at the base of her neck. “I didn’t hear ya moaning like this with your husband before.”

Sarah just gritted her teeth as her eyes fluttered. Otis let go of her hair, and her blonde locks fell down over her face.

“I SAID, I DIDN’T HEAR YOU MOANING LIKE THIS BEFORE!” Otis barked.

“No,” Sarah panted, “No. N-not like this.”

Otis chuckled again to himself, “I thought not.

Hubby don’t fuck you like I do, does he? ” Otis asked.

“N-no,” Sarah moaned, “No. No, he doesn’t.”

“Hah. I bet you wouldn’t have even cum with him if I hadn’t walked in when I did,” Otis grunted, thrusting his cock hard back into Sarah. She yelped and had to reposition her hands on the couch for leverage.

Sarah looked at Dan, and he couldn’t read the expression on her face. Guilt, maybe, mixed with animalistic lust. He barely recognized his own wife.

“But you’re gonna cum again for me aren’t you? Yeah?” Otis said.

Sarah didn’t break eye contact with Dan, “As long as you don’t stop fucking me like this I definitely will.”

“Squeeze me like you did before. Make that pussy work for me,” Otis groaned. Sarah’s pussy clenched unyieldingly around his cock, making it harder for Otis to slam into her as quickly. The older man groaned in near ecstasy as her pussy compacted around the length of his shaft..

Otis pulled his cock almost all the way out and slowly pushed it all the way back in. Driving himself determinedly to the hilt through her near airtight pussy walls.

“Unhhnnnnnmhmmmmhmmmm,” a throaty moan rattled from Sarah’s throat. Otis did it again, giving Sarah long, slow, methodical strokes. Sarah dropped her head and another moan escaped her lips, “Gmmhmmmm.”

“Fuck yeah. Feels good, don’t it?” Otis said, “Fuck you feel so fucking tight. Like you’re milking my cock.”

“Ffffuck,” Sarah moaned, her fingers splayed out onto the couch. Her wedding ring was visible in the low light.

“Cum for me again baby,” Otis said, “Cum the way you couldn’t with your husband over there. Show him what it’s like when a real man fills you all the way up.”

“Ah fuckkk,” Sarah moaned as her hips started rocking back faster than Otis wanted.

“Oho, you like that shit huh? You like hearing how much better I can fuck you than your husband?” Otis said. Sarah didn’t respond but she kept thrusting back on his cock. Otis stopped thrusting forward altogether and just knelt there enjoying her efforts.

“Slam that ass back onto me,” Otis said. Sarah picked up her pace. Otis stayed still as Sarah eagerly fucked back on his cock. She was going crazy, her body frenetically thrusting back onto his thick cock, over and over. Her perfect unblemished ass rippled each time she fully embedded herself on his rampant cock.

“That’s it. Yeah, like that. Slam that ass back onto my cock. Cum on it like you’ve never cum with your husband. For Christ’s sake, he’s just sitting there watching you take all of this,” Otis howled.

Dan felt like he was having an out-of-body experience – like he was watching someone else get shit talked to like this. He knew he should react, should say something. Respond somehow. To save face with Sarah and not be put down in front of her like this. But it was like he’d become a passenger, along for the ride. Just watching as the scene unfolded in front of him.

“Mhmm. Mhmmmm. Mhmmmm,” Sarah started mewling intensely, “Mhmmmm. Mhmmmm. Mhmmmm. Ahmmhmmmm.”

“Ah, ah ffffuck, don’t hold back. Cum for me. Who are you going to cum for?” Otis barked.

“Uhhh. Mhmm. You. You. YOU. OTIS. FUCK. OTIS. FUCK I WANNA CUM FOR YOU. FUCK. OH. OH. OH GOD. OH. GOD. OH MY GOD. FUCK. YES. OH MY FUCKING GOD! FUCK! OTIS. YES. YES. YES. YES!” Sarah’s back arched, and she screamed like a howling demon as another powerful orgasm rocked her body

“AAMHMMHMHMHMMMMHMHMMMNFFFUCCMHMMMMMM.”

Otis' face twisted in a euphoric grin as Sarah's pussy clenched extremely hard around his cock, holding him unmoving in place. Her ass pressed against his crotch, his full length buried deep, deep inside of her body. On her hands and knees like this, Sarah looked like a wolf howling at the moon as she came in repeated bursts. Explosion after explosion went off inside of her, rocking her from the inside out. She couldn't quite feel her toes, and her head felt light. It felt like she was having an out-of-body experience. She's been sent to another place.

Sweat dripped off her forehead and fell onto the couch in dappled droplets. Another bead ran down her back and disappeared into her ass crack, mixing with her own juices and coating Otis' cock.

Dan's cock twitched again and cum just shot out onto the floor. He couldn't believe the sight before him. Earlier, when he'd watched his wife kiss their daughters on the head and say goodbye when they dropped them off, how the hell could he have known this was where the night would take him?

As her orgasms finally finished washing over Sarah, she finally took a breath. Her arms collapsed from the strain, and her torso crashed onto the couch. Otis let go of her hips and withdrew his cock. Sarah's hair stuck to the sweat on the nape of her neck and her face, she looked utterly spent.

Sarah groaned as Otis flipped her over onto her back and crawled on top of her.

"My turn now," Otis said as he spread her legs and pushed his ugly cock back into her. Sarah moaned again, her eyes going up and back into her head. Otis grunted and buried himself fully inside of her in one frictionless push. Sarah's body jolted at the sensation, her breasts jumping on her chest.

"Who fucked you best tonight?" Otis said loud enough for Dan to hear.

"Uhm, you," Sarah said without hesitation, her eyes still closed as she revelled in post orgasmic bliss, "You did. Fuck. Your cock....so good."

"Mm-hmm," Otis confidently licked a bead of sweat from Sarah's neck. She visibly shuddered as his tongue ran up the length of her neck and flicked at her earlobe.

"Fuck, I can't wait to get my, nnrrgg, my nut," Otis grunted as he grabbed Sarah's wrists and pinned them down onto the couch above her head. Sarah's ass pushed off the couch to meet his thrusting cock. "Tell me again how good it is, tell me." Otis said.

“Oh fuck, it feels so good,” Sarah moaned, “Fuck don’t stop. Ugh, I don’t want this to stop. I love it.”

“Shit, I’m gonna be dragging you down into the basement everyday and fucking you down there in the boiler room from now on you hear?” Otis’ thrusts started growing more frenzied. He held both of Sarah’s wrists down with one hand. The other cupped her face, “You hear me?”

“YYess,” Sarah moaned.

“I’m gonna bend you over and fuck the shit of you whenever I want down there,” Otis grunted.

“Fuck. Do it. Do it. God. Please...,” Sarah begged. Otis held Sarah’s face and planted another kiss on her lips. Dan could hear her moan at the forceful kiss, her head tilting to give Otis’ tongue better access to her own.

Otis broke the kiss, a string of beaded saliva connecting their lips. Both of them were breathing hard, working themselves up to the inevitable. The hand cupping Sarah’s face lowered to her neck. Otis gave it a squeeze. Sarah felt her airway constrict slightly and her hips began thrashing wildly up at Otis’s working cock.

“Try to get up,” Otis said. “Move your arms. Force me off.”

Sarah raised her hip to try to dislodge him. She pushed her hands up against his but they stayed rooted in place. Sarah tried to lift her head but Otis’ other hand kept her pinned to the couch.

Otis leaned in and whispered in her ear. Dan leaned in, trying to hear what he said, but couldn’t make it out.

“You can’t stop me. I can do whatever I want with you. You might act strong during the day but at night you’re mine to do whatever the fuck I want with. And your husband can’t do a thing about it,” Otis whispered. Sarah felt out of control. In trying to free herself she’d opened her legs even wider to accommodate his massive pole. Her pussy was clenching Otis’ cock in response to his words, her hips bucking to meet his cock. Being taken like this. Held like this. Fuck, it was so hot.

“Just my little plaything,” Otis whispered and licked the side of her face as he squeezed around her neck. Sarah managed to wiggle one arm free of Otis’s grasp. She grabbed the back of his head and pulled him down for another kiss.

The couch was rocked, slightly shifting on the floor as Otis pounded devastatingly into Sarah's pussy. Their kiss broke, both of them panting hard. Otis let go of her wrist and neck. He rested his forehead on hers, and they just stared unfocussed into each other's eyes. Her hands went to his back and bicep, bracing herself against him.

Dan knew that if he didn't intervene this cretin was going to cum inside his wife. That notion filled him with both excitement and jealousy. The plan had not been for that to happen tonight. Sarah hadn't wanted the consequences of that, so Dan had pulled out earlier. But now it seemed like that plan was completely out the window. Like it didn't matter what she'd wanted.

He still felt embarrassed by his nakedness, but he balled his hands into fists, letting his nails dig into his palms. He finally mustered the willpower to force himself to his feet, feeling wholly out of place watching the depraved coupling taking place just a few feet from him. Otis noticed the motion and looked up at Dan with a smile. Then he leaned back down and whispered something into Sarah's ear that Dan couldn't hear.

"Fuck, I'm close. I'm going to nut inside of you," Otis whispered. Sarah turned her head and kissed his neck, her tongue venturing out and licking his bitter flesh. It tasted dirty and sweaty, but it sent a thrill through her body.

"Otis." Dan said shakily, "You need to pull out. You can't cum in her."

"I'm going to breed you," Otis whispered, "Breed you right here in front of your moron husband while he stands there with his limp little dick in his hand."

"Mhmmm. Fuck," Sarah whispered back dazed. She was planting slow kisses on the side of his face. "Do it. Give it to me. I want it. I want to feel you. Please. I'm gonna..."

The couch creaked as Otis kept slamming into Sarah relentlessly. Her hips were flying off the couch to meet his thrusts. Both of their bodies were slick with sweat, mixing together. Her pussy was holding his cock tightly as his cock slid in and out of her like a pistoning machine. His old, hairy balls slapping a rhythm against her asshole and alluring cheeks.

"Otis!" Dan stepped forward and put a hand on Otis' shoulder. He grimaced as his palm was greased in the older man's sweat. "Pull out or —"

The words got stuck in his throat. Sarah's legs wrapped more tightly around Otis' ass somehow pulling him even deeper into her. Her ankles locked together. She wasn't going to let him go.

Part of Sarah knew Dan was standing there. His words registered with part of her brain but they were drowned out by the insatiable need to cum on this cock again. Cum again with this dirty man between her legs.

“Oh fuck,” Otis whispered to her, “I’m gonna cum. Fuck I’m going to fill you all the way up.”

“Mmmhmmffuuck,” Sarah moaned. His words stuck her body like lightning, electricity coursing through her veins, lighting her on fire. The ball of fire in her stomach was subsumed by the feeling, magnifying it in anticipation. His sweet, sweet, degenerate whispers struck a primal cord deep inside of her. Sarah screamed, “MHMMFUCK, GG-GIVE IT TO ME. FILL ME. FUCK I WANT IT. FILL ME. OTIS. OTIS. FUCK. BREED ME, YOU FFFUCKING BASTARD!”

Otis grunted and his cock twitched menacingly inside of her. She felt his balls heave up against her asshole. His thick shaft swelled inside the walls of her clasp pussy. She held her breath as her orgasm teetered on the brink of arrival. The first shot of boiling cum blasted into her, drenching her insides in its scalding heat. That first rope pushed Sarah over the edge, and her largest orgasm of the night exploded inside of her body. All the muscles in her body went taut, her legs locking Otis further into place – her body not wanting to let a single drop of the man’s illicit seed go to waste.

“OHHMYGODOTIS!!” Sarah screamed at the top of her lungs, her nails digging into Otis’s flesh. Her body rocked as each thick, sticky rope after rope of Otis’s cum load drenched her insides, flowing into her, nestling into every little crevice of her canal. She felt completely soaked as his sperm mixed with her own juices in some fucked up chemistry experiment. Her body shuddered, her mind on fire as the only thing she could focus on was the feeling of his cum completely filling her to the brim. Her nerves lit up all over her body as the power of her orgasm washed over her, overriding all logic and sense. Sarah’s eyes fluttered back into her skull as the orgasm tore through her. A stream of cum pulsed out from between where they were joined and ran down the back of her thigh.

Otis grunted hard. Dan watched the unholy scene in front of him as Sarah had just taken this guy’s load. Otis’ ass cheeks clenched again before relaxing as he collapsed on top of the mother of Dan’s children. Dan stood there, naked; his hand still on Otis’ sweat damp shoulder. He pulled his arm back and didn’t know what to do. It felt like many of the earlier times Lester had fucked his wife to exhaustion.

Otis and Sarah lay there, a sweaty mess of tangled limbs. Both extremely winded, both trying to catch each of their breaths. Sarah opened her eyes first and looked up at Dan. She gave him a weak smile when she saw his conflicted expression. She reached out her hand and grasped his, still wet with the janitor's sweat, trying to give her husband a sense of reassurance that everything was going to be okay.

Dan took a deep breath, her touch calming him down. It would be alright. This was just a strange bump on their journey that they would get through together –

Otis sighed, turned Sarah's head towards him, and planted a wet, sloppy kiss on her lips. Dan saw his tongue snake into her mouth and then hers do the same to Otis. Her fingers went limp in his hand, but he still held on.

After a couple of minutes a shit eating grin spread on Otis's face and he pushed himself up off the couch. His cock made an audible slurp as he pulled it from Sarah's pussy. Dan's eyes widened like saucers when he saw a viscous dollop of cum pour out of his wife and onto Lester's leather couch. The flow continued to become an intermittent trickle of the janitor's seed.

Sarah seemed to come back to reality. She sat up, blinking and putting her face in her hands.

"Dan," Sarah said, "Can you get me my clothes, hmm?"

Dan gathered up Sarah's lingerie and gave the set back to her. Otis grabbed his beer can off the floor and finished it before crushing the can and throwing it in his garbage bin.

"Jesus H Christ girl," Otis said shaking his head, "I knew you'd be a hot fuck but I had no fucking idea. I should take you to my cousin Burt's hunting camp this summer for some more fun."

Dan glanced at Sarah as they crossed the hospital's atrium towards the back parking lot. She had a strange look on her face.

"What's wrong?" Dan asked.

Sarah gave him a flat smile. "Nothing."

"Come on. I know things got a little crazier than we wanted. But you can talk to me," Dan said.

Sarah sighed and looked at him. "I'm leaking."

"Leaking?" Dan said before it dawned on him, "Oh."

“Yeah. I think these panties are ruined,” Sarah said. Dan, for the first time noticed his wife’s awkward gait.

“I’m sure you can get the stains out,” Dan started.

Sarah gave him a pointed look. “I’m just going to throw them out. Unless you want to look at a nice yellow stain on the crotch the next time we’re about to have sex.”

“Uhh, no, you’re right. Throw them out,” Dan said.

“I don’t really want to put them in the same washing machine as the rest of our clothes either.” Sarah moved to the back door and pushed it open. The cold night air rushed over them, pulling them back to reality.

“Did you know he was going to be there?” Dan asked.

Sarah shook her head, holding herself, “I’m not responsible for the janitor’s schedules Dan.”

That, Dan noted, was a non-answer. She had clearly been surprised at the moment when Otis opened the door, but Dan couldn’t get that look she’d had on her face out of his mind. Like she had been caught with her hand in the cookie jar. He’d thought it was because they’d been caught having sex, but what if that look had been guilt? Like she was waiting to see Dan’s reaction to Otis’ presence. Had she expected something like this to happen?

They hadn’t stuck around long after the deed was done. Sarah got dressed, and Otis asked for a kiss goodbye, which she hadn’t given him. The older man took that as the end and sat in Lester’s chair and drank another beer before he started to clean up the office. He’d said something about always cleaning up after a party, or he might get in trouble.

It irked Dan to know that this guy had probably crept around Sarah’s office at night. He must have. That’s probably how he knew Dan was Sarah’s husband. He’d seen the broken picture on her desk.

“Breed me, you bastard?” Dan chuckled and shook his head.

“Just...don’t, okay?” Sarah said, opening the passenger door of their car. “I still can’t believe we did that. With him. Of all people. This is going to make my life so much more complicated.”

“Ugh, I hate this song,” Sarah reached over to the car’s radio and switched the channel. She sat back in the passenger seat and looked at Dan, “Penny for your thoughts.”

Her husband was driving, but she could tell his mind was elsewhere. He looked over at her and sighed, “I still don’t think this is a good idea.”

“Come on, it’ll be fun,” Sarah said. It had been several days since their encounter with Otis in the hospital. She didn’t know things would happen the way they had. But she also hadn’t told Dan that Otis hadn’t been on shift that day – that he was probably working the night shift. She had known but quieted that part of her mind, not letting the truth surface.

Despite the man’s claims during sex, he had yet to successfully drag Sarah down to the basement and do what he said he was going to. She had been able to avoid putting herself in any compromising positions. She had worried that when Lester wasn’t in the office for a few days, Otis would have tried something, but she had been able to handle his presence without issue.

“We just need to grab some of my things from the apartment. We don’t need to make this into a whole thing,” Dan said. Since Dan didn’t need to be in Chicago for work anymore, he was planning on spending most of his time at their home in Middleton. There were still clients he’d need to take care of in the city, but there was a real possibility that they could let go of the apartment altogether.

“Look,” Sarah said, “My parents have watched the kids so often for us this past year. We at least owe them a night out on the town. Besides, when they brought it up, how was I going to say no?”

“I know. I get it, and I agree. It’s just...I’m not really loving Chicago lately. I just want to grab my shit and get back home, not hang around and play tourist with your parents.” Dan said.

“Dan, let’s just give them this one thing, okay? We owe them that much,” Sarah said.

Dan grunted in the affirmative, but she knew he still didn’t like this. “What about Lester?” Dan asked. Sarah hadn’t heard from Dan’s roommate at all, but she assumed he was back in the apartment. He had been working remotely for the past few days. It was either the apartment, his hotel room, or some other area Sarah wasn’t aware of. Aside from the usual work functions, he hadn’t tried to contact her. She felt like he was giving her the cold shoulder.

But if he were in Chicago, she would see him soon and know for sure where they stood.

“What about him?” Sarah said, watching as a car passed them. “My parents have their hotel room. They might want to see where you’ve been living, but I’m sure we can distract them with something else in the city.”

“It still feels weird,” Dan muttered.

“He’s going to be over the moon when I tell him you got fired,” Sarah said with a playful glint in her eye.

“He doesn’t need to know,” Dan said, shaking his head, not wanting to engage in her light flirting, which made it all the more delicious. “He doesn’t need any more ammunition.”

A ringing came through the car’s speakers. Sarah glanced at Dan’s phone affixed to the dash and saw the name ‘Martin - Sentinel Securities’.

“Sorry,” Dan said to her before pressing the button on the steering wheel, answering the call.

“Hey, Martin, how’s it going?” Dan said.

“Hey Dan, it’s all good here. Listen, I’m going to cut to the chase. I apologize that this is last minute, but we’re hoping you can fly in tomorrow. I know it’s a Saturday, but we’ve hit a snag and need to move this project along before our funding review comes up. With all the government cuts lately, we need to get this across the finish line yesterday.”

Sarah’s heart sank as she knew what Dan was about to say. He gave her an apologetic look and looked deflated.

“I’ll be on the first flight out,” Dan sighed with what he hoped sounded like enthusiasm.

Irving clutched the green folder tightly as he walked down the hallway. All he wanted to do was turn around and go back to his desk, hoping no one noticed his existence. But he had been given a special assignment and had to go see the boss. Well, his boss’ boss, the big man.

He tightened his grip on the green folder and walked up to the pretty woman sitting at the desk outside the boss’ office.

“Is he in?” Irving said, trying not to stare at the woman. He’d seen her before, from afar. She had piercing blue eyes and smelled really good. He wasn’t sure if it was perfume or if that was just her natural aroma.

“He’s busy at the moment.” She gave him a polite smile, demurely dismissing him.

Irving wanted to turn and go back to his cubicle. Having a woman who was so beautiful, even looking at him made him want to jump out of his skin. But if the boss found out that he’d had an update to provide and didn’t say anything right away...

Irving shuddered at the thought. There were some fates worse than being fired.

“I need to update Marcus on something. It’s urgent. He told me to come right to him with it the second I got any news. I have to go in there,” Irving blathered.

“Okay,” the woman looked back at her computer, “Go on in.”

Irving approached the dark oak doors, placing a hand on them. He breathed, steadying himself, and pushed them open.

The head of this division of the Lincoln Group, Marcus Direst, looked up at him with an unpleasant glower.

“Irving,” he said, “What is it?”

Irving stood rooted in place, surprised that Marcus remembered his name.

“I, uh, you put me onto that assignment. Do you remember? To monitor the data breach from a couple months ago? Well, it appears that —”

“Spit it out already,” Marcus said. “What did you find?”

“Someone, uh, put up files for sale on the dark web. I saw it on one of those shady auction sites. One of the ones we’ve used in the past. The listing says the files are ours, and we think they are legitimate based on what little metadata we can see. It’s probably connected to the breach.”

Marcus reached out and picked up the phone on his desk. He dialed a number and stared daggers at Irving, “Buy the files. Find out who this seller is. We’re going to nail them. Tell your boss to bring the whole team in on this.”

Toxic Attraction Ch. 29

As the elevator doors opened, Dan felt a familiar nervous anxiety run through his body. It had been quite a while since Sarah had been to the apartment in Chicago. A lot had happened between the three of them since then, much of which he was still trying to process. He wasn't sure which direction things were progressing in; all he was sure of was that this apartment had been the catalyst to all of this—the apartment and the beast who lay within.

He exhaled and tried to steady his increased rate of breathing. The anticipation of the unknown made his mind race, and he started sweating. He knew that Lester was definitely going to try something. And he knew that Sarah would almost certainly be open to it. That both horrified and aroused him in equal measure. When they'd first come to this apartment, there was no way in hell she would've ever given someone like Lester the time of day. But now, over the course of months, he had somehow wormed his way into their lives, and Sarah was okay with it. More than okay with it. She wanted to keep exploring this side of herself.

He still didn't know how to reconcile that. He just knew that he needed to embrace it and try to be a part of that. That way, he could keep one hand on the steering wheel. Would she stop if he asked her to? He knew that she would. But deep down, he was afraid she wouldn't want to. And he was afraid to confront that. So he didn't ask. Not yet. Part of Dan didn't want her to claw back on this completely. It had been such an injection of adrenaline into their relationship. But Dan wasn't always in control. That was both exhilarating and terrifying.

Sarah's fingers interlaced with her husband's as they stepped out of the elevator and walked down the hallway towards his apartment. He couldn't shake the image of her trembling under the janitor at the hospital. The way her body thrashed under him as she came, her eyes rolling back as he emptied himself inside of her. How the fuck did we get here? Some creep like Otis, emptying himself inside Sarah. Unprotected, risky sex like that. Thank god she's on the pill.

"You okay?" she smiled at him. Dan couldn't help but smile back. Her smile reminded him of all of their shared memories, the loving relationship they'd grown into, and the life they built together. It stung his heart seeing her smile like that at anyone else. His dick involuntary stirred at the suggestion.

"Yeah," Dan said, "I'm fine."

“You’ve been quiet. Ever since we got into Chicago,” Sarah’s grip tightened around his fingers.

“Just got a lot on my mind. Work stuff. I’m wondering what’s going to happen when I go to Washington,” Dan said, cherishing his wife’s touch. The warmth of her fingers interlaced with his. Dan didn’t want to go to D.C., not now. Not when they were supposed to be packing up his life in Chicago. Not when he would be leaving Sarah alone here. He wished her parents weren’t coming, so she could just drive home and leave this behind. But now they wanted to make a weekend out of this. And Dan needed to keep what was now his main client happy. Fuck.

“Are you wondering what’s going to happen in Washington or what’s going to happen in Chicago?” Sarah said. Dan let out a long breath and saw Sarah’s mischievous smile gracing her face. She was teasing him, but she also seemed to be testing the waters. With her parents in town, hopefully that might put a damper on any raunchy escapades with Lester.

He decided to sidestep the question: “I think I’ll survive missing dinner with your folks.”

Sarah slapped him on the arm, “You know that’s not what I was talking about.”

“I know,” Dan said as they turned a corner. The doorway to the apartment came into view. He tried to think up something to say, some way to talk about what she did with Lester without putting his own heart on the line. He knew he wanted to watch it happen, to see her in that situation again, but he was so afraid to lose control. The more he looked into Lester and treated him like an adversary instead of just his gross roommate, the more intense all of this had become. The more intense his feelings towards their grotesque coupling. It was wholly fucked and he felt fucked in the head and he could feel himself slipping. It was more than just the whole Beauty and the Beast fantasy thing. Now it felt like he was actively participating in letting an enemy steal away his most precious possession. Dan’s heart was beating out of his fucking chest, he felt his face flush as they stepped up to the apartment door.

He opened his mouth to say something. Anything. But no words came out. His throat was dry, and he didn’t know what he wanted to say.

Sarah slid the key out of her purse and put it into the lock. She gave him a painfully sexy, teasing smile and said, “Don’t worry, I’ll be good this whole weekend. Even with your little trip, I’ll make sure you know what’s happening.”

“And,” she added as she turned the key, “I want to try something tonight. Something for me. I hope you like it and that you’ll go along with it.”

Dan didn’t move for several seconds as his brain had a flash meltdown. What was she talking about? Sarah smiled at his reaction and pushed open the door to the apartment. She was already taking off her shoes by the time Dan’s brain finally seemed to wake up. He quickly followed her into the apartment, shutting the door behind him.

Dan stood and looked around the living room. It looked like it always did, the same new furniture and decorations that had mysteriously just appeared one day. But now Dan was seeing it for what it really was – a facade hiding the creature at the end of the hall. How intentional had all of this been? Maybe Sarah was right, that Dan was spiraling, looking at everything as some complex Machiavellian plan. He tried to shove that instinct down. After their last big conversation back home, he wanted to support Sarah and be here for her, with her. But he couldn’t help it. His gut instinct was screaming at him that this was all wrong.

Dan tried to suppress his feelings for the moment. He took his suitcase and Sarah’s into the bedroom while she settled into the living room. When Dan returned to his wife, he was surprised to see that she already had a glass of red wine in her hand.

“Where’d that come from?” Dan asked.

“Lester must have picked it up,” Sarah said. “He doesn’t usually drink wine, so I’m guessing it’s for me, for us.”

“He...knew you were coming?” Dan asked.

“It came up while we were at work,” Sarah said. “Nothing like that,” she was responding to the look of concern that marked Dan’s face. “Just weekend plans sort of thing. But I’m sure he would be clever enough to have a bottle on hand regardless.”

Dan felt his skin begin to crawl. He hadn’t known that Lester was expecting them. That would’ve given him time to plan. Dan suddenly felt at a disadvantage again. He took a deep breath and tried to center himself, trying to will these anxious feelings away. All this suspicion and doubt couldn’t be good for his relationship.

“It’s okay,” Sarah shook her head and smiled at him, “Pour yourself a glass and come sit with me. I can already see the gears turning in your head. You need to relax.”

“It’s hard to relax,” Dan said as he walked to the kitchen, “With all the shit going on work wise.”

Dan poured himself a healthy glass of wine before joining Sarah back in the living room. He sat down next to her on the couch.

“Talk to me,” Sarah said.

“It just feels like it did the last time I got laid off. I know Walt said it was just a temporary thing and I want to believe him but I know that it’s bullshit. So I need to double down on working for my clients, but I hate traveling so much.” Dan said, looking down at the floor.

“The fact that you already have your own book of clients is impressive,” Sarah said, “You’re doing good. Things will grow there. It might seem bleak now, but maybe all of this is for the best. You’ll have more time now to dedicate to your clients and spare time to attract new ones.”

“Yeah. I know. It makes sense on paper, but I won’t feel good about it until it translates into money in the bank,” Dan sighed.

Sarah gave him a sad smile, scrunched her eyebrows in sympathy, and put her hand on his thigh. “Maybe we should go talk to an employment lawyer and sue the pants off them.”

“Illinois is an at-will state,” Dan shook his head, “They can let us go whenever they want.”

“Still, it can’t hurt to talk to someone,” Sarah said, “When you lay it out on the table, it sounds promising. An ex-employee who was fired comes back in and harasses a current employee in good standing? Then they fire the good employee because the other guy is a friend’s son?”

“Sure, but then Jesse gets his day in court to talk about you and us, and it just gets messier and messier and messier. Things are already messy as they are,” Dan said, gesturing to the apartment around him.

“Things are messy, they are,” Sarah said, taking a large gulp of her wine and stroking his thigh. “But we should try to make the most of these messy moments. At some point, life will be back to neat and normal for us, and all of this will just be a distant memory.”

Dan eyed her suspiciously. “What exactly are you planning?”

Sarah gave him a wicked smile and raised her eyebrows, “You’ll see.”

Dan felt his cock stir. She spoke in her sultry voice and looked at him with those wild eyes. Those eyes that were unpredictable. Maybe he should just give in and embrace whatever it was she wanted to do. Just enjoy it like she said. But he was still uneasy. He couldn't shake the feeling that he was being boxed in.

"You scare me sometimes, you know that?" Dan said. He wasn't lying. He truly was beginning to wonder where the line was for his wife. He thought he'd known, back before all this shit started but now he wasn't as sure. The sneaking around and spontaneous sessions with Lester were gradually driving him crazy. "It's like this wild side of you has been unleashed."

Sarah gave him a predatory smile, "Maybe it has." Her hand rose up his thigh and began running up the length of his cock through his pants, "Mhmm, but it feels like you enjoy me like this."

"My dick might," Dan said, exhaling, "But the rest of me still isn't so sure."

"Well," Sarah said, biting her lip and leaning into Dan's ear. With a whisper she continued, "Maybe for tonight it would be best if you thought with your dick." She squeezed his crotch firmly.

Sarah pulled back and gave Dan a deep kiss on the lips. Dan kissed her back, but his mind was pulled out of the moment by the plodding of fat footsteps on the floor. Dan broke the kiss and turned to look over his shoulder from his seat on the couch.

Dan's eyes narrowed, and he felt his jaw clench. Lester, his short, overweight roommate, was standing in the hallway watching the two of them. The only item of clothing he had on was a ratty pair of previously white boxers, his large stomach hanging over the waistband. Dan subtly shook his head, taking in the sight of Lester's disheveled form. Dark hair covered most of his body. He was unshaven, and his hair shone with a greasy sheen.

"Am I interrupting something?" Lester chuckled before stepping into the living room with them.

Dan stared daggers at his unkempt roommate. Sarah patted him on the chest, "Now, let's play nice, okay? For me, hmmm? Lester, why don't you grab another glass of cab and come join us?"

Dan shot Sarah a look as Lester chuckled and walked behind them to the kitchen.

"What?" Sarah asked sheepishly.

“Join us?” Dan whispered back.

Sarah leaned in and bit Dan’s earlobe, “Please Dan, I want you guys to try and get along.”

“Really?” Dan whispered back, “Why?”

“Would that be so bad? With everything else going on, do you really want more conflict? Besides, it could spill over to me at work; you know how Lester is. It’s better to try and clear the air and have him on our side.”

“The only side Lester will ever be on is his own,” Dan said.

Before Sarah could respond, Lester emerged from the kitchen holding a full glass of wine along with another bottle. He looked so out of place nearly naked holding the wine glass but nothing seemed to bother him.

“So what are we talking about?” Lester moved around the couch and sat down in one of the chairs opposite Dan and Sarah. The same chair Dan had sat in so many times, and watched them together.

Sarah didn’t pull her hand from Dan’s crotch, but she turned to face Lester before taking a sip of her wine.

“Oh, this and that,” Sarah said, “How have you been, Lester? It was a quiet week at work.”

“I’m getting better by the second,” Lester took a sip of his wine, and his face briefly twisted in revulsion. He looked between the glass and Sarah a few times, then took a large gulp before belching.

Sarah shook her head, “Always the gentleman.”

“I’m no gentleman. That’s what you like so much about me,” Lester quipped.

Sarah scoffed and looked at Dan, shaking her head, “I guess it does hold a certain appeal.”

Lester sat in the chair with his legs splayed wide open. The air in the room was thick with tension. Beneath the small talk, all of them were on edge, trying to discern what was going to happen next. Dan didn’t know what Sarah had planned, but he felt his heart beating out of his chest with anticipation. His dick was already hard as a rock but the sight of Lester across from him repulsed him. It was a strange, heady cocktail of emotions that Dan was just beginning to understand – revulsion and arousal playing together in his mind.

“What are we doing here, Sarah?” Dan heard himself breathe in. Sarah bit her lip and tentatively looked between the two men.

“There’s something I want to talk to both of you about,” Sarah said. She looked at Lester, “Lester you’ve been kind of an asshole. And I know you like messing with Dan. I want that to stop.”

Lester sighed heavily and raised his chin indignantly, “I don’t know what you mean.”

Sarah looked at Lester flatly. “Please, Lester, don’t insult my intelligence. How about the whole hotel room thing with Jesse, for starters?”

Dan felt a pang in his chest at Jesse’s name on Sarah’s lips. A stupid smirk spread across Lester’s face, and he held up his hands, palms out in front of him, “Okay. Guilty. But I’m not seeing where this is going.”

“My... our life is getting complicated and messy,” Sarah said, “And I don’t like messy. Neither does Dan. This is all supposed to be fun, and I want to keep it that way. That’s why I’m asking that you two stop being so hard on each other.”

Dan wanted to ask why any of this mattered. They were here to grab the last of their things from the apartment. But he knew better than to say that out loud. There was no point in giving Lester more information freely. Besides, a courtesy place to sleep could be convenient to take advantage of after late meetings with clients in the city. Unless... Sarah intended to continue things with Lester regardless.

“And start getting hard for me,” Sarah breathed as she stroked Dan over his pants in full view of Lester. She turned her head back towards Dan and planted a wet, sloppy kiss on his lips. Dan’s mind froze as it was overwhelmed with the sensation of her lips, tongue, and touch. Dan kissed Sarah back hard, even though it was weirdly uncomfortable doing this under Lester’s watch again.

Before his mind could focus on one thought, Sarah broke the kiss and gave him a sly smile. Her hand slowly pulled away from his aching dick and she turned her body towards Lester. Dan’s eyes widened as Sarah stood up, and her hips swayed back and forth. She slowly and seductively walked towards the slovenly creep in the chair. She threw Dan a sexy look over her shoulders, perhaps looking at him for reassurance or perhaps just gauging his reaction to what she was about to do.

Dan's dick throbbed in his pants and he felt himself stop breathing as Sarah sat on Lester's leg and planted her immaculate lips on his. Her beautiful, flawless face against his ugly features. Her blonde hair cascaded over his slumped shoulders.

"Mhmmm," Sarah moaned loudly as Lester eagerly began kissing her back. Dan's ogre-like roommate didn't waste any time, his fat hands grabbing the flesh of Sarah's ass, pulling her further into him. As if on instinct, Sarah's hand dropped to Lester's boxer-clad crotch and started massaging it. Lester's cock quickly sprang to life as Sarah stroked him through the flimsy fraying material. She let out another muffled moan as her fingers wrapped around the boxer-covered shaft of Lester's impressive outline.

The taboo coupling across from him continued for several minutes. Dan watched in disgusted arousal as his loving wife, mother of his children, made out with this degraded pervert of a man, freely moaning into his mouth and stroking him between his legs. He had been here so many fucking times. Witnessing this, powerless to stop it. He had tried to cut himself off, but somehow he always found himself right back here, witnessing and thereby participating in the degradation of his life partner and their marriage.

It was such an incongruent, bizarre display that he couldn't look away. Her tight, toned body against his flabby, hairy one. How the hell had they gotten to this place? After what felt like an eternity, Sarah finally broke her kiss with Lester. She tried to push herself off of him, but Lester held her tightly. She wiggled out of his grip and forced herself to her feet.

She flashed Dan a guilty look before composing herself, taking a few deep breaths.

"Okay, boys. I've been doing some thinking," Sarah said, looking between them, "Dan, I've embraced this fantasy of yours, going further than I ever thought possible. Lester, you've pushed me to do things that I know get you off. Things that I never would have dreamed of on my own. Frankly, I'm discovering a new side of myself that is equal parts exciting and terrifying. But the point is, I've done a lot for both of you."

Sarah unzipped her hoodie and threw it at Lester's chest.

"It's time that both of you do something for me," Sarah walked past Dan, brushing her hand against his chest. "It's time you make one of my fantasies come true and learn how to cooperate."

Sarah walked towards the hallway and turned to look back at both men, who were still seated, staring at her. She pulled her shirt over her head exposing her flawless, white skin and a lacy, blood red bra that emphasized her impressive bust. Dan felt his jaw drop open as Sarah bent at the waist, pulling her pants down her long, toned legs. The top of her breasts was purposely on display for both of them. When she stood back up, Dan's eyes finally noticed the matching blood red lacy panties his wife was wearing.

He did the mental math. She would have had to put that on before they left home. She had been planning this all this time. Sarah ran her hand tantalizingly slowly up the door frame and licked her lips, a gesture Dan associated with Lester as she stared back at them with a dangerous glint in her eyes.

"Coming, boys?" Sarah said in a sultry tone before turning around and walking down the dark hallway. Dan watched her perfect bubble butt disappear into the darkness. Before Dan could process exactly where Sarah was leading things, Lester was on his feet.

They locked eyes. Dan sat uncomfortably on the couch while Lester's grotesque body towered over him. The shorter man's frame seemed to fill the room. Dan wanted to stand, to square his shoulders and push past Lester, but he didn't. He flinched.

Lester stared hard at Dan for several seconds, as if trying to read Dan's mind. Those intense beady eyes made Dan shift in his seat and break eye contact.

"Listen, Lester..." Dan started.

"It doesn't matter." Lester glanced down the hallway. "We're not friends. This is all for her. You should just stay at the peephole where you belong. You're not going to be able to keep up with me."

Dan opened his mouth to speak before his brain could come up with something to say. Without caring what Dan wanted to say, Lester pushed past him. His boxer clad cock eye to eye with Dan as Lester shuffled past the couch and plodded into the hallway.

Dan sat, transfixed, watching the darkness for several seconds by himself. He felt the familiar immobilization, his mind detaching from his body. Preferring to be a spectator. Maybe it was some kind of mental defense mechanism, he wasn't sure. Dan balled his fists and powered through the blanket of helpless feeling.

He stood and marched down the hallway after them, forcing one foot after the other. Dan felt his heart beating in his chest. His face felt flush and warm. He tried to steady his breathing as he walked down the dark hallway into the unknown. Sounds came from ahead of him, but he didn't know where they were. He knew what the sounds were, but his mind was disassociating again, demanding he confirm the event with his own eyes.

He pushed open the door to his room. It was dark in here too. He didn't know why he opened this door. He knew they wouldn't be in here. That Sarah wouldn't be in here. She had bypassed this room and gone to Lester's. Dan tried not to read too much into that.

With tentative steps, he stood in front of Lester's closed door. That bastard had obviously closed it behind him. Dan reached out and grasped the doorknob, bracing himself for the inevitable resistance of it being locked. To his surprise the knob turned all the way.

The door pushed open, and the room was dark, except for the pale glow of the computer monitor. Even in the low light, Dan's eyes widened at the sight before him. Lester's massive, unclothed frame had his wife's lithe body pinned against the foot of his bed. She was still slightly taller than him, but his obese girth threatened to overwhelm her. It was hard to see Sarah, but her bra straps were already hanging limply around her biceps. His roommate's hands gripped her ass roughly, pulling her against him.

Dan stepped into the room, and his foot touched something. He managed to break his gaze away from the unholy sight in front of him to Lester's pair of discarded boxes in front of him. Only then did Dan realize that the floor was littered with all sorts of dirty clothes, boxes and other assorted trash. And in the middle of it all, his prim and proper wife was being groped and slobbered on by this cretin of a man. She seemed to be loving every moment of it.

Dan steeled his nerves and walked further into the room, scanning his surroundings. He saw the taped-over hole in the wall where Dan had watched several of their couplings before. The computer seemed very high-end and possibly custom-made. The bed was large and looked impressively expensive, even though it was unmade, and crumbs and other filth could be seen on the sheets. It didn't quite fit with the rest of the room.

"Dan," Sarah's throaty voice snapped his attention back to the scene in front of him. She had a hand on Lester's hairy chest, temporarily holding him at bay. The obese man didn't look happy about it, but Sarah held her hand out towards her husband. Dan stepped towards her to take her hand, but she grabbed his shirt and tugged it up.

Holy shit. This is what she wants. Both of us. At once. Together. Dan shuddered at the thought. His arousal for his wife, battling with the abhorrence of being so close to Lester's naked body.

Dan pulled his shirt over his head. Before he'd even pulled it all the way off, Sarah's hand was already expertly loosening his belt and tugging on it. Dan dropped his shirt to the floor, where it landed amongst the disparate piles of Lester's refuse. There was some kind of symbolism to that, but his mind didn't want to work through it. Sarah had his belt off and undid the button. Dan gritted his teeth and pulled his pants and boxers down in one fluid motion.

He was naked, standing in Lester's room, next to Lester's naked body. The comparison was uncanny. Dan's above-average build stood out against Lester's obese body. But his moment of confidence turned to a dread of inferiority when Sarah grasped both of their cocks. Her fist wrapped around Dan's entire shaft while several inches of Lester's prodded out from her other hand. The distinction was evident to everyone present.

"I've wanted this for so long," Sarah breathed, "To have both of you. At the same time."

Dan glanced at Lester, who had a stupid, smirking grin on his face as Sarah lowered herself onto her knees in front of them. She licked her lips and stared at the two cocks in front of her. To Dan's relief, his wife leaned towards him first and pulled his pole into her mouth.

"Mmmmm," Sarah moaned around Dan's shaft. Her grip tightened around his shaft, and Dan suppressed a groan as her tongue ran under his organ's head. Her wet, warm mouth felt amazing around his dick. Sarah had always given him excellent blowjobs but seeing her kneeling here amongst all this filth holding....no stroking Lester's cock at the same time was nearly overwhelming.

Dan's eyes kept shifting between Sarah's angelic face, eyes closed, concentrating on pleasuring him, and her other hand, stroking up and down Lester's thick, veiny shaft.

"Mmmmm," Sarah moaned again, lost in what she was doing. Sarah was slurping up and down Dan's dick while her other hand furiously stroked Lester. Dan steadied himself at the sight. It had been a long time since he was in a room in a vulnerable state like this with Lester. Seeing his wife moan like this and act like such a wanton slut was staggering to an incredible degree. He knew he should be processing this moment in some manageable way but all rational thought seemed overridden by his lust.

Sarah pulled her mouth off Dan's dick and dropped her head low, licking his balls while stroking his engorged shaft. Her soft tongue running over his clean shaven balls before slurping up and down his shaft. Sarah couldn't help but moan to herself as she licked her husband.

That's when Lester grew impatient, no longer satisfied with merely being jacked off by Sarah's hand. He stepped forward, Sarah's hand still stroking his cock, and he butted its head against her cheek. Sarah didn't waste any time, her tongue left Dan's dick and planted itself against Lester's hulking shaft, licking up his length before taking the enormous head into her mouth.

"Mhmmhmmmm," Sarah groaned as Lester's cock pushed into her mouth. She still stroked Dan's dick but now seemed less enthusiastic than a second ago. Wet slurping sounds filled the room as Sarah's head eagerly bobbed up and down on Lester's massive cock. But Lester wasn't content to just stand there and let her worship him. His fat fingers gripped her hair into a ponytail and he pulled her head down onto his cock.

Sarah's grip tightened around Dan's shaft and her stroking slowed. Her hand held still onto him for support as more and more of Lester's thick meat pushed into her mouth. Dan's eyes widened as Sarah's nose pushed into the thick patch of pubic hair at the base of Lester's cock. How had she taken so much of his cock into her mouth? There was no way that was possible...

Lester roughly pulled on Sarah's pony tail, the elongated shaft of his cock slid out of her mouth for a few seconds before the brute pulled her head all the way down onto his cock again. A gag escaped Sarah's lips quickly followed by a soft plaintive moan.

Sarah's hand still held Dan's cock but she wasn't stroking him.

"Gllucckk, gluucckk, glaaaack!" strange noises erupted from Sarah's throat as Lester's cock pistoned in and out of her mouth like a wild runaway freight train. Sarah's hand desperately stroked Lester's thrusting shaft each time in the brief moments it was exposed from between her lips, before the rest of his cock quickly buried itself again in her mouth.

"Mhmmhmmhmm,.. Glaucck, mmmm, glucckk. Mhmmmm," Sarah was making wild moans and noises, her hips seemingly humping the air around her. Her body was thrusting in time with Lester's cock pistoning into her mouth, deftly pushing into her throat. And she was loving every second of it. Her bra clad breasts were bouncing up and down in time with her cock-sucking face, while several lines of drooling spit dribbled onto her quivering tits.

Dan wondered whether he himself could manage pushing his cock all the way to the back of Sarah's mouth and into her throat like Lester was doing effortlessly. Sarah seemed to be losing herself to his actions. Was this thorough drilling something Dan could ever possibly give her? His cock twitched at the mere thought.

Sarah pulled her face off Lester's unyielding cock and took a huge breath, fresh teardrops dotted the corners of her eyes. Her hand never stopped stroking his ugly cock right in front of her reddened face. Sarah turned back to look at Dan's dick and grabbing it, pulled him towards her. Dan obliged, stepping forward as she yanked on his tumescent dick. Her lips parted, and she took it into her mouth for several seconds, bobbing up and down on it, making sure his shaft was properly coated in her copious saliva so her hand could move up and down it freely.

Then she turned and her mouth was back on Lester's enormous cock. He wasn't gripping her by the hair anymore, allowing her to bob her head up and down on his cock in a near manic frenzy.

"Mhmmhmm," Sarah moaned around Lester's cock as it shot over her tongue. Lester let out a groan and placed both hands on his hips, staring down at Dan's beautiful wife worshipping his fat slimy cock.

Sarah's hand was still lazily stroking Dan's shaft but her full attention seemed devoted to the oversized cock in her mouth.

"Lick... lick, nng, lick my nuts," Lester croaked. With the words not even out of his mouth for a full second, Sarah gasped as she pulled Lester's cock out of her mouth, a single drooping line of saliva running between his cock and her lips. Sarah flashed Lester a devilish smile before dropping her nose down below his girthy shaft. Her face disappeared into the fetid jungle of his knotted and unkempt, neglected pubic hair around his balls.

"Mhmmhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned into Lester's nuts, her tongue pushing past the matted public hair to dance across the sensitive skin.

"That's it, Sarah," Lester grunted, "Just like that. That feels good, baby."

Sarah just moaned in response. Sarah's perfect blonde hair draped over Lester's coarse, dark pubic hair, creating such a strange contrast to Dan. He couldn't quite put his finger on why it was so succinctly odd. Maybe it was because of Sarah's dedication and care in her hair, or the length of time she spent on it before going out. But now to be intermingling with hair that might not have been touched by water or soap this week, if not the one before, was such a wild, insane contradiction.

Sarah lapped at Lester's nuts with extreme dedication, dragging her tongue across each different part of his colossal ball sack while her hand never stopped furiously stroking Lester's equally huge cock. Her other hand around Dan's shaft was still by comparison.

Sarah licked up Lester's shaft and flicked her tongue across the bottom of his flared pulsing cock head. As she was about to dive back down onto his cock, she looked back over at Dan. It was almost like she'd forgotten he was there for a second. Her hand resumed stroking him in time, and her other hand stroked Lester. She turned her head to move back to Dan's cock.

"No. Not yet," Lester grunted while grabbing the back of her head and pulling her back to his cock. His fat cock head split open her lips and pushed into her mouth again. The unexpected force of the action caused Sarah to involuntarily moan again, "Mhmmhmmmmmmmmmm."

"That's right," Lester licked his lips, "Suck my fat cock in front of your husband. You like showing him what a slut you are, don't you? You're not done yet."

"Mhmmm-hmmmm," Sarah moaned in agreement. Her eyes flicked to Dan's. Her stare bore deep into his soul, and he felt a deep, involuntary shudder. She looked wild. "I'm not. And I do," Sarah said, addressing Lester after pulling her mouth off his. "I love showing off for him."

Lester frowned, "Stop it. Stop for a second."

Sarah looked up at him confused, as he'd just interrupted her from putting her mouth back on his cock.

"Put both your hands at the bases of our cocks," Lester said. Sarah slid her fists down both of their shafts until the bottoms of her two pinkies rested against each man's pubic skin. Sarah looked up at her lover expectantly.

"Ok, now bring each of your hands up at the same time." Lester had fixed Sarah with his glare, and they stared into each other's eyes. The short man blinked slowly, enjoying Sarah's lingering caress. "Ah, yeah, that's good." Dan was enjoying his wife's touch as well when her hand slipped off the end of his dick. Sarah and Dan both looked down at the loss of contact. The hand she had on Lester's cock had not yet reached its swollen head.

"Oops. Sorry hon. Let's try that again." Dan blushed slightly with embarrassment. Yet he could tell he'd gotten even harder than before in the last few moments.

The young mother sensuously returned her hands to their starting positions on the two men's organs. She leaned over and gently kissed the tip of her husband's dick as her hands began to move up again. Seeing the gesture, Lester put his hand on the back of Sarah's head and pulled her in, away from Dan, inserting his meaty cockhead into her welcoming mouth. Sarah began delightedly sucking so intently that, once again, Dan's dick had slipped out of his wife's hand before Lester's could. Lester abruptly pulled himself out of her mouth, and all three looked at the results.

Sarah's hand was now just below Dan's dick, not touching him, the organ still hard as an iron bar. Her other hand remained on his roommate's bigger veiny cock, which inexplicably seemed larger than it had moments earlier. Lester coughed and cleared his throat. "Aw man, it happened again. Alright, Sarah, let's try this one more time. Put your hands back... ah, ah yeah, right there." Sarah's hands went back around the bases of both men. She encouragingly squeezed each of them, a playful grin on her lips.

"Now slowly, very slowly, bring them up at the same time." Lester said. Sarah's grip felt amazing on Dan's dick as she deliberately, teasingly slid her hand up his shaft. Dan watched as Sarah did the same to Lester. Dan felt desperate for Sarah to put her mouth back on him.

"Stop. Right there," Lester coughed. Dan looked down, Sarah's hand was sitting firmly beneath the head of his cock.

"Notice a difference?" Lester asked Sarah. Dan's wife looked between both dicks, her mouth hanging open with anticipation.

"I..." Sarah started. Dan could read the conflicted emotions on her face.

"Say it," Lester barked.

"It's bigger," Sarah said looking at Lester's cock. Sarah's hand was only part of the way up Lester's shaft. More of his shaft and his ugly cock head was still sticking past her enclosed fist. The length left sticking out was almost as long as Dan at his hardest.

"See that Dan? See all of that thick cock not in her hand? That's how deep I can get into your wife, how full she gets of me. My cock touches places you've never even been to. I've touched sensitive parts inside your wife you've never known and never will. Unexplored fertile, married ground that only my cock can have." Lester said, "Isn't that right Sarah? When we fuck, my cock goes deeper and makes you cum harder because of it."

"Okay, okay, enough Lester. Sarah and I aren't stupid. We've read about this. What you're saying is all a myth." It felt weird to make this point while Sarah still held both of their manhoods in her hands, and Dan wilted a little while he explained. "Size doesn't really matter in whether or not a woman has a good time in bed with a man. That's just a porn trope, it's not real." He'd been speaking directly to his roommate, and he turned to his wife for confirmation.

It wasn't quite clear that Sarah had heard him, silently still looking with fascination at what she held in her hands.

“Sure bud, size doesn’t matter. I guess I’d say the same thing if I were you.” Lester replied with a withering look.

Dan didn’t say anything. Couldn’t say anything. Lester was right. As much as his brain desperately tried to think of a face-saving rebuttal, it came up completely blank.

“Lester please –” Sarah started.

“Do you believe that horseshit?” Lester was talking to Sarah. He’d gotten through to her, breaking her reverie.

“You are supposed to be civil,” Sarah admonished Lester, “And cooperate. Get along.”

“This is me getting along,” Lester’s ugly face smiled at her. “You know he likes this shit and gets off on it. I’m just giving him what he wants,” he shrugged.

“It’s just...you’re so mean sometimes. It makes me feel like I’m ...” Sarah trailed off as she looked at Dan and then back to Lester, uncertain. She seemed to be waiting for some kind of reaction from Dan, but he felt his hand slip from the steering wheel.

“What’s it like?” Lester asked.

“What’s ‘what’ like?” Sarah said.

“Having a real cock in your hand,” Lester said. “Squeeze me. Look at it. You can see the difference. For so long, you had to be satisfied with something less than. Inadequate. But now you know what a real cock is like, how it feels. You’ll never have to be stuck wondering if you’re even going to cum ever again.”

Sarah let out a long, haughty breath and stared at Lester’s gigantic cock. The hand on his shaft started stroking it again while her eyes stared at the cock head as if she were being hypnotized.

“It’s, it’s absolutely amazing,” Sarah whispered, “Before all of this, I never knew....never understood how much difference size actually makes. Never knew how wonderful it could be.”

It felt like a cold jab to Dan’s heart.

“Look at your husband, tell him what you want tonight.” Lester breathed.

Sarah parted her lips and took Lester’s cock into her mouth. She moaned around the shaft and closed her eyes. Her hand on Dan’s cock slowly began stroking it again, while the one on Lester's pumped him in time with her mouth. Sarah thoroughly tongued Lester's cock, licking up the vein crossed shaft before swirling her tongue all around his bulbous cock head. Then she looked up at Dan.

"Dan, my love. Tonight in this room, I want a real cock to fuck me," Sarah trembled as the words escaped her lips. She breathed hard and looked down at Dan's cock. She gripped it tightly in her fist as she pumped his shaft, "I'm sorry, honey, I really, really am..."

"...but I don't think your dick is going to cut it tonight," Sarah's eyes snapped up to Dan's, "I know it's not fair. Don't hate me, but I need a real cock."

The combination of Sarah's sultry, traitorous words, her firm grip on his shaft, and every erotic second leading up to this moment proved to be too much for Dan. He didn't even know he was so close to cumming.

His body tensed and he grunted as a long rope of cum shot out of his dick. Sarah moved to intercept it with her mouth, but Lester's hand was already there waiting, gripping the back of her hair, holding her in place. Dan's cum shot onto the floor between them as Sarah slowly pumped his pulsing shaft.

Dan let out an exasperated breath as the last drops of his spent seed hit the floor, disappearing into the scattered refuse below.

"Heh," Lester chuckled, "And you know that I last longer than that."

Sarah kept stroking both of their cocks for a few more seconds. Her hand on Dan's shaft slowed and stopped. She removed it, reached down and wiped the dripping cum off on a random article of clothing on the floor. She turned back to Lester's throbbing cock in her other hand and bit her bottom lip. Her eyes turned up to look at Lester's ugly face.

"Fuck," Sarah breathed, each pump of her fist on his shaft seemingly arousing them both further and further, "I need it inside me."

Lester smirked, "Give it a nice kiss then. You know how."

Sarah puckered her lips and leaned forward. The lips that kissed Dan's daughters' foreheads goodnight touched the slit of Lester's cockhead and pressed against it. This was a tender, loving kiss, but deep, urgent moans still escaped from Sarah's throat. Her tongue tentatively licked at his cock slit while she continued to plant small affectionate kisses against the head of his expanding cock. Sarah's eyes opened, and she looked up at Lester expectantly.

“Now tell me how much you want it. Ask it nicely and don’t forget to say please,” Lester breathed.

Dan felt disgusted at himself and the lewd display in front of him. How could he have let this happen? His post-nut clarity was beginning to unfreeze his brain, and the scene unfolding before him was just beginning to fully register for him. It was so extremely depraved, there was no way a strong, independent woman like Sarah would just bow down and say the shit that Lester want—

“Please,” Sarah said, staring at Lester’s cock like it was alive with a mind of its own, as if it would answer back. Her manicured fingers ran up and down its shaft. The hand that had previously been stroking Dan had joined the other on Lester’s cock. “God, I want you so badly. I want you inside of me. Please. Please, I want you inside of me. I want to feel you inside of me. Filling me all the way up. God, I need it. Please, please fuck me.”

Sarah licked her lips and leaned in, planting more kisses on the head of Lester’s cock, whispering to it now, “Please. Please. Give me what I need. Please.” Sarah planted more ardent kisses. Each one seemed more desperate than the last. Her pleas grew louder and more anguished, “Please! I want to feel you inside of me. God, I want all of you in me. The whole fucking thing. Fuck, please. Please! I’m begging you!”

A familiar shit eating grin spread across Lester’s face. He put a hand to her chin and pulled her to her feet.

“Take it off,” Lester growled. He flicked his wrist indicating he meant her scandalous red lingerie panties.

Dan’s wife didn’t even bother to look at him. She shrugged out of her unclasped bra and let it drop to the floor, fully revealing her perfect, heaving breasts. She was breathing hard, causing them to rise and fall. Without breaking eye contact with Lester, Sarah quickly dropped her panties to the ground.

“God, I’m gonna enjoy this,” Lester spat the words out as he stepped forward. Sarah held her ground and soon Lester’s portly body was pushed up against hers. His hard cock jutting into her thigh as his hand grabbed her ass and the other pushed on her back, smushing her flawless breasts against his flabby ones. Lester’s lips pressed into hers and they hungrily devoured each other. The sounds of wet, smacking mouths filled the room. Silence only heard in the brief moments that their lips momentarily parted for their tongues to entwine and play against one another.

Lester continued stepping forward until Sarah's ass pressed against the high foot of his bed. Lester let out an animalistic growl and broke the kiss, using his hands on her hips to impetuously turn Sarah around to face the bed. One of his meaty hands gripped the back of her neck and bent her over as his other hand grasped his fully erect cock.

"Uhhmmmmmm," Sarah grunted at the sudden imposition. Her hands braced themselves on the bed, her neck bent as Lester held it in an iron grip. Then the fat man ran his solid heated cock up and down her copiously dripping slit from behind.

"Say it again, tell us all what you want," Lester snarled as Sarah's ass wiggled and pushed back, seeking more connection to his cock.

"Fuck me. I want your cock. I need it. Please Lester. Please fuck me," Sarah whined.

"Now tell Dan," Lester said.

"Umm," Sarah hesitated. "Uhhh...Dan. I need it. I need a real cock. Lester's real cock. I'm sorry baby but I, I can't help it. I can't help it at all. I need it. I need it – oh god Lester just shove it into me. Fuck." Sarah cried out.

"That's my good girl," Lester smiled and gave her ass a hard slap.

WHAP

Sarah lunged forward in pain. At the same instant Lester forcefully rammed the full length of his cock into Dan's wife, giving her the feeling of nearly being split in two.

"Ahmmmmhmmhahhmm," Sarah shrieked, her feet going onto the balls of her toes. Her fingers splayed out on the bed, then tightly gripped the bed sheets.

"Oh God," Sarah moaned, Lester's meaty hand still holding her down at the neck. He gripped it tightly and with his next thrust, pulled back on her neck, impaling his cock as far into her as possible.

Lester stayed connected but didn't pull back. He had her thighs pinned between himself and the bed. He swayed from side to side, still buried deep inside of her.

"Do you feel how deep my cock is?" Lester sneered.

"YESSS," Sarah said out of breath.

"Yeah? Dan has never touched you here, has he?" Lester said.

“No.....never,” Sarah cried.

Dan felt his cock stir back to life at her response. The disgust he felt was combined with his sudden arousal. He was experiencing too many emotions at once, and all of them were now being colored by the erotic scene in front of him. He worried about the long-term ramifications to his psyche. But in this moment, here, tonight, nothing else mattered.

Lester let go of Sarah’s neck, and both of his hands gripped her hips. He leaned down and licked up her spine before standing upright and pulling his cock almost all the way out of her before recklessly slamming it completely back in.

“Ahh,” Sarah cried, “Uh! Mhmmfuckmee, uhh!”

Dan couldn’t see Sarah’s face. Her luscious blonde locks hung all around her head, obscuring her expression. He desperately wanted to see her face.

“God, so fucking big,” Sarah panted. She was already out of breath, “Oh my god! Oh. Mhmm. Yess! Oh god YES!”

Lester licked his lips and bucked his hips back and forth at a relentless tempo. The skin on Sarah’s bubble butt rippled pliantly with each thrust. She desperately grabbed the bed sheets for leverage, anything to hold onto to keep herself upright.

Dan’s eye caught sight of Sarah’s wedding band sparkling in the low light from the computer monitor.

“Fucking hell,” Lester muttered, “You feel so fucking good. So goddamn tight. I’ll never get tired of this. Never.”

“Fuck I want this all day, everyday,” Sarah grunted, “God Lester you fill me up so fucking good.”

“I don’t think Dan can hear you; you need to get louder,” Lester barked, a bead of sweat traveling down his cheek.

“FUCK ME!” Sarah wailed, throwing her head back. She looked over her shoulder, her eyes briefly connecting with Dan’s before shitting back to Lester, “Fuck me Lester. Jesus, please give it to me. Give me every fucking thing you have.”

“I love your cock,” Sarah whined, “I fucking love it. I love your huge cock Lester. Don’t stop! Don’t fucking stop! I’m close. Oh god, please.”

“I’m not stopping, no fucking way,” Lester grunted, “I want to feel you cum for me. Cum on my fat cock. Is that what you want?”

Fff-fffuck,” Sarah moaned, rolling her head lazily, “I want it. I want to cum on your fat cock. God, I want to feel you explode inside of me.”

“Do you remember when Dan tried to make us wear condoms again?” Lester chuckled.

Sarah let out a breathy laugh and looked at Dan, “I’m sorry, baby, but that isn’t ever happening again.”

Lester picked up his pace and started rapidly pistoning his cock in and out of Sarah. “Oh fuck. Lester. Please! Don’t. Don’t stop! I need it. I’m so close. So close. Oh god! Yes! Yes! Lester. Lester!”

“Give it to me, baby. Cream on my cock, really let go,” Lester blurted.

“LESTER! OH GOD! OH MY FUCKING GOOOOOOD! LESTER!” Sarah screamed again. Her back arched, breasts swaying freely as all the muscles in her body went tight, locking up all at once. It felt as if a dam burst inside of her as she came. Her pussy clenched airtight around Lester’s cock as her fingers splayed out on the bed. A low, dangerous moan escaped her lips as her eyes squinched shut. Fireworks exploded throughout her body and colors flashed behind her eyelids as Lester groaned in her ear, feeling her sweet pussy grip him so incredibly tightly as she came. Wave after wave of bedazzling pleasure washed over her.

Both Sarah and Lester were panting as if in a heated competition. Their frenzied fucking slowed as they caught their breaths. Sweat dripped down Lester’s fat body and ran onto the rounded cheeks of Sarah’s perfect ass. Her gorgeous face was flush from holding her breast as she came. She felt deliriously light headed.

Dan watched all of this, watched every single debauched second, his breath matching theirs as he took in the scene. Lester and Sarah were breathing entirely in unison. Their bodies seemingly connected on some unseen deeper level. A stray thought occurred to him wondering whether their brain frequencies were in sync as well. It was like Dan was witnessing some primal fateful affair. Both of them operating on their most basic levels.

This was his moment. Dan’s dick was now hard as a rock again. He could sit back like he always did or he could change the game and step up and take action. He shook off his earlier failures and his premature ejaculation from only a few minutes ago. He took a step forward, “Move. My turn.”

Both Sarah and Lester looked at him slightly surprised. Neither saying anything for a moment. Dan was worried that he was about to be rejected. That his wife wouldn't let him in on the fun. That her fantasy of a threesome had gone out the window the moment Lester's thick cock had entered her.

"Take a break Lester," Sarah breathed. Anger flashed on Lester's face and he didn't pull out.

"Lester," Sarah said more sternly. Lester grunted and stepped back, his large cock plopping out Dan's wife, coated and dripping with her juices. Dan didn't hesitate. He stepped up behind his wife and pushed his firm dick into her.

"Uhh," Sarah moaned. Dan gripped her hips just like Lester had and began fucking his wife. He needed to show both of them that he could do just as good a job as his fat fuck of a roommate. Dan didn't waste any time, pumping fully into Sarah, trying to mimic the same thrusting tempo that Lester had been delivering.

Dan's thighs slapped loudly against Sarah's ass, making her perfect ass jiggle. Soft moans escaped Sarah's lips but Dan couldn't see her face. Her head hung low between her shoulders as she thrust back into him.

Dan felt uneasy about Lester being somewhere behind him, out of his view. He didn't think Lester would hurt him but his roommate had proven to be unpredictable. He looked over his shoulder and saw Lester sitting in his computer chair, arms crossed with a scowl on his face. This is what Dan needed to start doing. Putting Lester in his place. Properly showing Lester who was in charge of all of this. And showing Sarah that she didn't need someone like Lester, that Dan could fulfill all her fantasies and desires.

"Mhm," Sarah moaned encouragingly. Her pussy squeezed his dick and Dan felt his face contort in pleasure. God, she was amazing. Dan kept up his momentum, hoping to bring his wife to an orgasm soon. He was thrusting hard and fast into her just like Lester had. The way she liked it. He grabbed the back of her neck tightly and held her in place before pulling her back further onto his pole, making sure to slam every inch of himself into her.

Dan heard a sound from behind him. Turning, he saw his roommate's disgusting naked backside. Lester had gotten up and was facing away from them over by the wall. Dan tried not to let it bother him that Lester wasn't seeing this. He redoubled his effort to make it clear who was doing the fucking now.

He was grunting deeply as he pounded her.

“Mhm,” Sarah moaned again softly. Her hands were still on the bed, but they weren’t bunching up the sheets fiercely like they had been a few minutes ago. Sarah was eagerly pushing her ass back against him but it didn’t seem as intensely frenetic as before. Maybe she needed a few minutes to work herself back up into that frenzied pre-orgasm state.

“You’re doing it wrong,” Lester’s voice chuckled from behind him. He’d returned to his chair, watching the married couple together.

Dan ignored his roommate and kept fucking into his wife. His wife. Not Lester’s. He knew her better than anyone else. Knew what she needed and how she needed it.

“That’s not how she likes it,” Lester said in a low voice.

“Whatever,” Dan said over his shoulder, “I, I didn’t say anything when you were doing this.”

“Lester he’s my husband and it’s –”

“Hey, Sarah wants us to cooperate. I’m just giving you some pointers,” Lester said.

“I don’t need your pointers, Lester. I know how to fuck my own wife,” Dan said rolling his eyes. His thrusting had slowed from the distraction and now it looked like Sarah was just standing there bent over, not passionately thrusting back onto his cock as she had before.

“Sure,” Lester said quietly. He didn’t say anything else, but the echo of his words hung in the air all around them. The words wormed their way into Dan’s head, and the seeds of self-doubt began to creep in.

“Sarah, let’s, ah, let’s change it up,” Dan said, “Let’s get onto the bed.”

“Okay,” Sarah said as Dan pulled himself out of her. Sarah crawled up onto the bed and laid down, “Which way do you want me?”

“On your back,” Dan said as Sarah complied, nodding.

“Tsk,” Lester made the sound from his chair, but Dan ignored his chiding.

Dan was going to fuck his wife on Lester’s bed the same way that that asshole had done in their marital bed. He climbed up and joined his wife, who calmly opened her legs up to him. Dan slid himself inside of her.

“Ohh,” Sarah moaned softly as Dan buried his dick in Sarah’s welcoming pussy. He bent over her and kissed and licked her neck in the areas he knew usually set her off. He kept a slow and deliberate pace with his thrusts. Sarah’s eyes were closed, and her mouth hung slightly open.

Lester’s words were still rattling around in his head. Everything was being colored by the tone of his comments. Was she not breathing fast enough? Did that mean she wasn’t enjoying it? Her face looked almost blank, not ecstatically contorted in pleasure. Her hips were pushing up off the bed to meet his thrusts, but he felt like she was just making a token effort.

“You’re being too gentle,” Lester said from his chair.

“Lester please,” Sarah said looking at the rotund man.

“Shut up, man,” Dan said.

“I’m just trying to help,” Lester said.

“It’s not helping,” Dan said, “Just be quiet.”

“Hey, Sarah wants us both involved here tonight,” Lester said, “I’m just trying to make her fantasy come true and the best that it can be.”

Dan gritted his teeth and ignored his obese roommate. The chair squeaked, and Lester stood up. Dan saw him standing there in the low light out of the corner of his eyes.

“What are you doing?” Dan said.

“Sarah wants us both at once,” Lester said, walking towards the bed.

Dan didn’t slow his pace but kept a wary eye on the fat man as he approached the bed. Sarah’s eyes opened, and his wife silently watched Lester’s approach. Lester was absently stroking his raging hard cock staring down at Sarah.

“I know what she needs,” Lester said, “What she craves.”

“Lester –” Dan started as Lester got onto the bed, kneeling next to Sarah’s head. His cock was pointing right at her face. Before Dan could utter another word, Sarah’s hand left his bicep and grasped Lester’s thick cock and brought it to her mouth.

“Mmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Lester’s cock. Her hips started bucking up off the bed against Dan. Sarah’s fist wrapped around Lester’s shaft as she sucked on him, bathing his cock with her tongue.

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned again as her head bobbed on Lester’s cock. Sarah’s hips continued to increase their delicious tempo. Almost like her body was coming alive for the first time since Dan put himself inside of her.

“That’s a good girl Sarah, goood girl. Suck my cock, suck on it. Yeah just like that baby,” Lester said as he stroked Sarah’s hair. “Now fuck her deeper Dan, give our girl what she needs.”

Dan started pushing as hard into Sarah as he could. Her hips were bucking off the bed at an incredible speed and Dan was trying to keep up with the pace.

“Use your hips to drive into her, don’t just push up with your legs like some kind of clumsy teenager,” Lester said as he stroked Sarah’s cheek. His hips were rocking forward, effortlessly pushing his cock deeper into Sarah’s mouth. Her unseeing eyes rolled back in her head, she seemed to be revelling in the two men’s attentions.

“Mhmmmmhmm,” she moaned like a wanton slut around Lester’s glistening cock.

“Lester just shut the fuck up, I know what I’m doing,” Dan said as he moved up into a kneeling position, trying to get his face away from the spectacle of Lester’s fat thrusting cock.

“We’re in this together,” Lester said, “Giving Sarah what she wants. Yeah girl, suck my cock, take it deep. Don’t be so sensitive. I’m just trying to make sure she gets what she needs.”

“I know what I’m doing,” Dan said, “I’ve been with her for years, remember?”

“Ah yeah,” Lester shook his head balefully, “Years of one orgasm a week, maybe, if she was lucky. Come on, really work your hips, I’m just trying to help.”

Sarah’s torso fully turned to face Lester, her hand and mouth wrapped around his cock, eyes closed as she focused on pleasing Dan’s fat roommate. Her other hand reached down between her legs and was stroking and flicking her clit as Dan pounded into her.

“Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned again, louder than before. Louder than earlier when Dan had just been fucking her solo. This, here and now, this is what she wanted right? Both of their cocks inside her together at the same time. That had to be why she was moaning so loudly. It wasn’t only because of Lester here. Right?? Every reaction from his wife was magnified now, bigger. With each thrust Dan made, he could tell he was overanalyzing her every reaction. He tried to push deeper into her, but she didn't react to it. Her hips were grinding up against him, and his thrusts were matching the same tempo.

Lester was looking at him out of the corner of his eye and grinning. What the hell was that about?

"That's it, give her what she wants, Dan," Lester said dryly. Sarah pulled her mouth off Lester's cock and started licking up and down his shaft. From Dan's angle, it looked like she was cleaning a particularly large ear of succulent corn. Trying to lick all the spread butter off of it. She looked like a woman possessed by need. Could she even remember he was here?

Sarah's face disappeared into the gelatinous heft of Lester's nutsack, this jungle of black public hair obscuring her beautiful face. She never stopped constantly stroking Lester's cock. Her plunging fingers on her clit were massaging herself quickly, like she was trying to get herself off. Like her husband's cock inside her wasn't enough.

Dan couldn't help but feel like a third-party observer again. Just a passenger watching as someone else drove the car to their destination. Dan grunted perfunctorily and slowly pulled his dick out of Sarah.

Fuck. Dan's dick was presently only semi-hard. No wonder Sarah wasn't getting anything out of it. What the actual fuck was going on with him? Lester's earlier words kept playing in his head, and his self-confidence was entirely shot. Can I really not give my wife what she needs?

"Mhmmmmhmmmm," Sarah moaned again and lapped at Lester's sagging nuts with her tongue. She stroked Lester's giant cock and turned her face back to Dan. She looked slightly confused at why he wasn't still inside of her and then she looked down and saw his soft dick lying in his open hands. A conflicted display of emotions played rapidly across her face.

"That's not on you, baby," Lester said to her, then to Dan "It happens to a lot of guys. Don't worry, buddy, it happens to the best of us."

"Honestly, just shut up, Lester, really," Dan said.

"Come on now. Don't be like that. This is supposed to be a special night for Sarah." Lester said. It was awkward. They were both looking at him and his increasingly flaccid cock.

“Dan, it’s okay, really,” Sarah said.

“Yeah, just give it a second, we’ll wait for you to catch up,” Lester said with what Dan heard as fake encouragement. Dan tried tugging on his own cock but their stares and the mental soundtrack of total inadequacy was blaring on a loop in his head.

“It was feeling good with Danny, right, Sarah? It sure looked like it.” Lester asked her.

“Y-Yes, yeah, it was, baby. You felt great inside of me. Amazing. I need it again. When you’re ready.” Sarah said to Dan. She let go of Lester’s cock and turned her body fully towards her husband. She reached out and grabbed his dick. She tugged on it, trying to will it back to life. But Dan knew it wouldn’t work. Seeing her try to coax it back up made him feel more impotent. Sarah bent down and her warm mouth took in his cock. She was so singularly beautiful, and she was trying so fervently to get him hard again. But the more she tried to revive his erection, the more flaccid he became. It felt humiliating, and he didn’t know why it wasn’t working. It looked like Sarah was sucking on a soft piece of noodle from his vantage point, a snapshot of the mental image played on a billboard in his brain. No matter what he did to try and dislodge his thoughts and power through this, he found it wasn’t enough.

“You already came once,” Lester said, “Maybe that’s why.”

Dan shook his head, trying not to focus on Lester’s words, but his mind echoed them repeatedly. A deep sense of inadequacy ran coldly through his veins.

Sarah stopped sucking Dan’s cock and looked up at him. Defeat was apparent on her face, and sadness had crept into her eyes. “It’s okay, baby. Lester’s right. You already came. Usually one’s enough for you.”

The words stung. They were the absolute last thing he needed to hear. She was trying to be sweet and reassuring but the unsaid meaning of the words fucking harshly stung. The look of disappointment and vulnerability on her face was now burned into his brain. The idea that she might feel that she wasn’t turning him on fucking sucked and made any chance of his getting another erection less than zero.

“Don’t worry, buddy, I’ll tag in,” Lester said. Lester brutishly grabbed at Sarah’s legs and flipped her over onto her back.

Sarah grunted delightedly at being manhandled, but Lester’s obese form was already crawling over her with purpose. He spread her legs with his fat hips, “I’ll give Sarah what she really needs.”

Dan wanted to say something, but he didn't know what would be right—something that could act as a silver bullet to solve this entire situation. But before his brain could figure out what that might be, Lester shifted forward decisively, causing Sarah to moan in coital bliss.

“Ughnnnn,” Sarah moaned as her legs splayed out to the sides and Lester's familiar weight pressed down onto her hips and chest. His fat frame looked like it was crushing her. Unlike Dan, Lester's knees were bent at the sides, up next to Sarah's ass as he pumped his enormous cock into her. Her long white legs wrapped around Lester's hairy ass. She hooked her ankles together and held Lester in place.

With a wicked smile, Lester turned his attention down on Sarah. He lasciviously licked his lips then grabbed both of her wrists and pinned them to the bed.

“Let's show Danny how it's done,” Lester chuckled, then his hips started to rapidly piston forward and back, thrusting his immense meaty cock into Sarah's drenched pussy. The sodden wife's breasts bounced up and down with each thrust. Her hips rising off the bed to meet Lester's cock.

“Mhmmmmgod,” Sarah moaned, her head lolling from side to side. She opened her eyes and looked up at Lester dreamily. “Fuck, Lester you feel so, sooo fucking good.”

“That's what a real cock feels like,” Lester chuckled back before dipping his head down and kissing her. Sarah moaned and returned the sloppy kiss. Lester let go of one of her wrists and grabbed the back of her head, holding her in place, dictating how they would feast on each other. They both broke the slobbery kiss and took a breath as they continued to fuck enthusiastically. Lester licked his lips and stuck his tongue out as it slowly descended down into Sarah's mouth.

Her lips parted in anticipation as Lester's fat tongue disappeared inside her waiting mouth.

“Mhmmm,” A throaty moan escaped Dan's wife's lips as Lester's tongue swirled around her mouth, running over her tongue. Both of their tongues danced together, battling one another, each savoring the other.

“Tell me how much you like having a real cock inside of you,” Lester muttered.

“Lester, I...” Sarah glanced at Dan, “It's not right —”

“Shut up and fucking tell me,” Lester grunted and slobbered on her face, sloppily kissing and licking her.

Sarah continued to kiss Lester's ugly face, licking his lips as she said, "I fucking love it. It feels so big inside of me. I feel so full. Lester. Your cock. Your real one. Your big fucking cock. God. I need it. I want that thing all the time."

"Were you craving it just now? A second ago when your husband Danny was inside of you?" Lester asked.

Sarah bit her lip and gave the smallest imperceptible nod as Lester loomed over her. A shit eating grin spread across Lester's face, "I knew it baby. I could tell. I knew what you needed. Now, you tell me what you need."

"A real cock," Sarah whined as her hips thrust up off the bed again, "I needed a real cock inside of me."

"That's my girl," Lester grunted. Sarah's large, perfect breasts were smooshed against Lester's flabby, hairy chest. Her arms held Lester's biceps, her carefully manicured nails digging into his pasty skin.

Lester held her chin and licked up her face, "Now let's get you to cum again."

With that, Lester dropped his full weight onto Sarah and buried himself inside of her. Sarah's arms grabbed onto Lester's sweaty, hairy back as he power fucked his cock into the wanton bride. Their faces were buried into each other's sweat sheened necks, Lester's unrelenting hips expertly dipping forward as he slowly and powerfully thrust his meaty cock into Sarah's drenched pussy.

His hefty balls slapped an uneven beat against her asshole. She could feel his hairy pubic hair tickling parts of her backside but it was all just a distant secondary sensation to the feeling of being stretched and filled by his expanding degenerate cock.

Dan watched, not knowing what to do as this troll of a man rutted epically into his precious wife. The mother of his children was being thoroughly consumed with lust by someone so far, far beneath her. A stray thought of protest drifted into his mind. Don't cum for him Sarah, don't do it. If you cum for him again you're his...

"Oh god. Yes. Lester," Sarah whined. Her knees pinned to Lester's side as she held them up with her hands, trying to allow as much of Lester's cock into her as possible. "Fuck me baby. Lester. My god, fuck me!"

"We're just getting started," Lester chuckled and bit her earlobe, making Sarah quake to her core. This is just the warm-up."

“God, I want it all night,” Sarah moaned as she licked the bitter, salty sweat off Lester’s neck. Her tongue swirled around his coarse skin.

“It’s been too long since I had you in my bed. I plan on taking fucking advantage of you,” Lester grunted. Dan could barely see his wife. He could only see her legs, arms, and the top of her head. Everything else was buried beneath the mass of Lester’s body.

“Fucking god.” Sarah mewed, “I need to come to Chicago more often.”

“I could make you cum in Chicago more often,” Lester snorted, “You should be the one to live in the apartment,” Lester said, “We could do this all day, every day.”

“Fuck,” Sarah breathed, just thinking about it.

“Damn Sarah, you feel so fucking good,” Lester groaned.

“Yeah?” Sarah asked.

“Fuck, too good. It’s like you’re milking me for whatever cum I have left,” Lester said.

“That’s. Because. I am,” Sarah teased, tightening her lips on his shaft with each word, “I want it. I want it all. I want all of your cum. I want to feel it inside me. Flood into me. Fill me up completely. Lester. I need it. I need you. Fuck I love how your cock feels inside of me. Your very real cock.”

“You’re such a slut now. I love it,” Lester grunted.

“Fuck,” Sarah’s head rolled to the side before her tongue went back to Lester’s neck, “Lester don’t stop. I’m so close. I can feel it. Baby. Keep – don’t stop.”

“Mhmm, do it, Sarah. Cum for me. Cum on my cock. Clench me and let it go,” Lester grunted.

“Fuck. Lester,” Sarah whined, her nails digging into Lester’s flesh. Sarah’s ankles had a vise-like grip around his fat ass.

“Sarah,” Lester’s voice was hoarse in her ear.

“Lester. Lester,” Sarah moaned into his neck, “Lester. Lester, I lo-”

“Fuck Sarah. Cum for me baby,” Lester grunted, “Cum Sarah.”

“Fuck, I’m– I’m going to,” Sarah moaned, ”Lester. Oh, god, Lester. Oh my FUCKINGGOOOD! LESTER. LESTER.”

“Give it to me,” Lester growled.

One of Sarah’s legs kicked out in a spasm and went completely straight as she screamed blissfully into Lester’s neck. A ferocious shockwave detonated in Sarah’s stuffed pussy as she came. It washed over her body but didn’t dissipate. It just kept thumping throughout her insides, setting each one of her nerves on fire. Her toes curled sharply, and all the muscles in her body went rigidly tight. Her nails dug deeper into Lester’s skin, and she held whatever breath was left in her lungs.

Lester never stopped pumping his massive cock into the screaming wife of his roommate. Even as her pussy clenched down around his cock, his battering cock pushed through her resistance easily and he kept hammering his incredible tool into her.

“Ffff–ffffuck. Oh. OOOOHH! Oh shit. I’m....again? Holy, holy fuuuuuck, I’m gonna-Jeessssussss,” Sarah screamed as another life-altering orgasm rose up from the depths inside of her and smothered every nerve in her body with intense warmth and boundless pleasure. Tears ran down Sarah’s cheeks as her brain was flooded with endorphins from back to back, powerful and connected orgasms.

Lester kept rutting his cock into her like a pig, eager to wrack her body with more and more pleasurable sensations. Sarah finally gasped for breath, filling her lungs with fresh oxygen. Holding her breath had made her dizzy and she tried to center herself. It was hard as Lester had never stopped fucking her.

“Holy shit that was intense,” Sarah finally murmured.

“Never had anything like that with Dickless, huh?” Lester licked her ear lobe.

Dan heard the vicious barb. It didn’t even register.

“No...never,” Sarah said with her eyes closed, just focusing on the feeling of Lester’s powerful manhood inside of her, “Wait, wh-what? Dickless?”

“Heh,” Lester chuckled, “Dickless Danny.” He nodded to her husband.

“That’s not...” Sarah started as her hips involuntarily bucked off the bed to meet Lester’s thrusts with a new, faster pace. “It’s not...Lester that’s mean.”

“Calling it like I see it,” Lester said, “Look at him. Look how soft it is. How can any man not get it up for a sexy gorgeous woman like you?”

Sarah’s head turned to see Dan still on the edge of the bed, his soft dick had somehow receded even further. She could see the hurt and confusion in Dan’s eyes.

“If you were my wife I wouldn’t let you go to work. You’d be tied to the bed,” Lester said.

“Dan?” Sarah asked with real concern, looking at her husband.

“I...I don’t know what’s wrong,” Dan muttered. Everything. Everything here is wrong

“And something else,” Lester said, ending their ongoing discussion. He grabbed Sarah’s face, “If you were my wife, I’d have fucked more than just two kids into you.”

Sarah’s hands gripped Lester’s shoulders tighter at his words. Her body responded on its own, her pussy clenching greedily around his rock hard column of a cock and she bucked her hips up frantically to meet his cock. Her breasts rose and fell faster, nipples brushing against the hair on Lester’s chest.

“And my dick would never be soft like that,” Lester said, “How did Danny’s dick look just now?”

Sarah bit her lip. She knew she shouldn’t say anything. Lester slowed his thrusts at her silence. Her hips continued to push up to meet him eagerly, but he wasn’t giving it to her the way she needed. He was holding back, waiting for her to answer.

“It’s okay,” Lester said, nodding, “Little Danny gets off on this shit.”

“Soft,” Sarah finally said, looking up at Lester, “Really soft.”

“Like a little guy, small,” Lester said. He flexed his cock inside of her.

“Uhh,” Sarah moaned. Lester did it again, “Uhfff.”

Dan felt like he’d been punched in the gut again. It was worse this time than any and all of the times before. Even at his worst, when he’d just stood there with that out-of-body experience and watched, he was still hard. He could at least have that. But today, all of his dignity was gone.

“You feel that?” Lester said as he flexed his cock inside Sarah again, “That’s what you really need, isn’t it?”

Sarah closed her eyes to steady herself and nodded to Lester. He just sneered.

“You should have always known a threesome with you, me, and Danny was going to end up like this. You should have known that. He can’t do THIS!” Lester said as he resumed thrusting into her. The head of his cock reached deeper inside of her than Dan had ever experienced before. Touching parts of her that her husband would never know.

“Mhmmmm well....” Sarah started, “Maybe I should invite Otis to join us next time.”

“What?” Lester stopped, pushing up off the bed to look down at her, confused. His body went completely still, ceasing all thrusts. Sarah gripped his forearms in her hands and unlocked her legs around his waist. She impatiently pushed her feet into the bed and thrust herself up onto his cock anyways. She kept dropping her hips and then thrusting back onto his cock, each time she gripped onto it with the muscles in her pussy, not wanting to stop.

“Well, y-you were gone the past few days. I needed to find some way to get my fix,” Sarah said.

The rage in Lester’s eyes grew to an all-consuming fire. Seemingly with a mind of its own, his right arm cocked back with his open hand at its end. Right then it occurred to Dan that if he didn’t move, his roommate was going to slap his wife across her angelic, passion-reddened face, showing more of a response to her fucking Otis than he had himself. While he truly wanted to get up and end this madness, he found himself fixed to his spot on the bed, leaving the two lovers to settle this unexpectedly violent development. Leaving Lester to vent his anger at both of his wife’s bedmates.

A moment later, Sarah noticed Lester’s extended arm as well, and what it meant for her. Her eyes widened, and they moved from his open hand to face him with a look of complete submission on her face. Then she moved her head, looking away slightly, offering her cheek up to him as a target. Lester felt a new clenching tightness on him from Sarah’s pussy as she turned away. A moment ticked by as they all stayed still, waiting to see who would move first and break the tension.

Eventually, after a few seconds, the slap having not landed, Sarah turned back to Lester, still holding his hardness firmly within her. She slowly reached out and pulled his open hand toward her face. She placed her cheek in his palm, offering herself completely. The sensuous young mother looked up, facing her overweight creep of a boyfriend, and she slowly sucked on the tip of his middle finger, and then took it to the second knuckle.

She’d also started moving her hips again, but she’d clasped Lester so powerfully that they couldn’t achieve the full range of her lover’s monolithic shaft.

Pulling Lester's finger from her mouth, her green eyes met his again. She said, "Otis ate me out in your office. He made me cum hard on your couch."

Lester's nostrils flared, and a storm of anger flashed again behind his eyes. As Sarah was attempting to thrust upwards, the fat man dropped all of his weight down onto her, running through her snaring, contracted pussy lips with his incensed cock. Otis wasn't in Lester's plan. She couldn't do this. She was going to ruin everything.

"You're mine," Lester snarled, "Stop fucking around. You. Are. MINE!!"

"Well, a girl has to –" Sarah started to say. But Lester abruptly thrust into her again. Hard. He picked up his pace, unrelenting.

"YOU ARE MINE," Lester snarled viciously, "FUCK!"

"Uhhhhhmhmhhh," Sarah moaned, her body thrashing under Lester's wildly unconstrained fucking.

"Uh, uuh, uh, uh, mmmm, uh, uh, uh, fuck, uh," Sarah moaned with each juddering thrust from Lester's dynamic cock. The monstrous ogre grabbed her hands off of him and pinned them to the bed again. His fingers were tightly interlaced with hers.

Seeing their fingers locked together like that reminded Dan of the way he and Sarah had held hands just a bit earlier in the hallway, fuck.

"Fuck Otis. Fuck Byron. Fuck Jesse, Fuck Dan, Fuck. Them. All. You are mine. Do you understand!?" Lester spat with venom. Some of his saliva hit her face. She had never seen Lester so enraged. So forceful. So absolutely primal. His face was red. It radiated waves of heat. Lust, anger and frustration seethed potently behind his eyes. She couldn't help but find it incredibly arousing. Like he was actually laying claim to her in front of her husband.

"Then fuck me Lester. Fuck me like only you can. Show me why you are the only one who should matter. FUCKING BREAK ME," Sarah screamed into Lester's face. She tried to pull her hands free. To grab his face and kiss him but Lester held her firmly in place. She couldn't stop him if she wanted to. Lester could just take whatever he wanted. Take her over and over again.

Sarah's pussy shuddered at the thought and it gripped down on his cock even tighter.

"I'm gonna fucking break you," Lester snarled, "FUCK. FUUUUUUCK!"

“Do it!” Sarah screamed in ecstasy, her body squirming under him as she felt another orgasm quickly ramping up inside of her, “Fucking do it. Break me. Own all of me. Claim me, claim me now Lester!”

“Arghhhh,” Lester grunted in frustration and let go of her fingers. His mouth hung open and he was breathing hard on top of her. Saliva dropped out of his mouth and landed on her lips. Sarah instinctively licked it up in a frenzy. One of his hands grabbed her by the neck and pushed her down onto the bed. Sarah gasped at the slight pain but it only served to embolden her as she feverishly thrashed and bucked her hips up to meet his increasingly erratic thrusts. Lester’s grip tightened around her throat and Sarah gasped for breath. Their foreheads touched as their enraged furrowed brows met, each angrily glaring at each other in a sexual fury.

Dan’s eyes widened at the frenzied, anger filled fucking happening in front of him. It was surreal. His loving wife was lashing out at Lester with such venom and he was fucking it right back into her. It only seemed to add fuel to the fire to both of them and their tempo somehow increased again. He had never seen either of them like this. Never seen Sarah like this. It was like she was a strange woman possessed and Lester was performing some kind of fucked up exorcism by fucking the demon out of her and back to hell. Maybe Lester was right. Maybe this is something I couldn’t ever give to her.

“F-ffuck,” Lester snarled, “I’m going to fucking fill you with my seed and knock you up. I’m going to fuck a baby into you and there isn’t a damn thing anyone can do about it. You are mine!”

Sarah’s hips were bucking off the bed wildly, “Fucking do it! Fucking do it already then. Fucking fill me with your disgusting cum.”

Dan felt his cock grow at Sarah’s illicit words. What the actual fucking fuck? Why? Why now? What the hell?

“Arghhhh,” Lester snarled as he angrily pressure fucked Sarah. Sarah gripped the side of Lester’s fat head and pulled him down into a scalding hot kiss. It was all tongue and teeth, neither of them letting the other gain an inch of submitted ground. The room was filled with the mad, wet smacking sounds of their coupling and their lips and the clicking of their teeth smashing into one another.

Finally, Sarah broke the kiss and stared up hard into Lester’s eyes, “Do it. Fuck me. Impregnate me. Breed me. Do it before I find someone else who can.”

Lester seethed. He bared his yellowed teeth at her like an animal ready to strike. Lester pushed up from the bed into a kneeling position and grabbed onto Sarah’s legs. He hooked his arms under each knee and held her legs in place as he rapidly fucked her with a relentless pace. Sarah's naked breasts bounced up and down, faster and faster, as Lester didn't let up and drove her to new orgasmic plateaus.

"You want it? You want my cum?" Lester barked. Dan couldn't look away. Surely all the neighbors could hear this. They were way too loud and were basically shouting and having an argument with each other while they powerfully hate fucked each other.

"FUCK. YES. I WANT IT. GIVE IT TO ME LESTER. FILL ME," Sarah screamed, out of breath. Her arms splayed out to the side, grabbing fistfuls of the white, luxurious satin bed sheets.

"FUCKFUCK," Lester spat, "I'M GOING TO FILL YOU WITH ALL OF IT."

"EMPTY YOUR BALLS INTO ME, DO IT!" Sarah screamed. "GIVE IT ALL TO ME."

"F-FUCK," LESTER shouted at the ceiling as he felt his balls begin to swell. Sarah's feet were kicking into the air, desperate to try and wrap themselves around Lester or push off the bed into him. But he held her legs still, not letting her dictate anything as he fucked her. Sarah could feel a mind-shattering orgasm on the brink. It was so close. So fucking close.

"GOD." Lester grunted, "SARAH. TAKE IT. I'M GOING TO CUM. I'M GOING TO FUCKING CUM. GOING TO FUCKING FILL YOU."

"YES!" Sarah screamed back at him, "FILL ME. FILL ME LESTER. KNOCK ME UP."

As the words left Sarah's lips, it happened. Her body tensed yet again, and her breath was knocked out of her by the eruption of a blisteringly exquisite orgasm inside of her.

"FFUCKYES," Lester shouted as his balls slammed against Sarah's asshole. He buried himself to the hilt as his cock hugely expanded and unending streams of cum exploded out into Sarah's pussy. Her left leg kicked into the air, going out in a straight line as her entire, sweat-covered body went rigid.

Sarah wailed, "AHUUHUAHHHH." She needed air, but her body wouldn't, couldn't seem to gasp for it. Concentrated pleasure filled every square inch of her body, making her feel as light as a cloud. Her green eyes rolled back into her head, and her brain was so overwhelmed by the sheer input of accentuated pleasure coursing through her body that it short-circuited.

Streams of cum exploded inside of her as Lester emptied his humongous balls into her snatch. His cock swelled and pumped more and more of his illicit seed deep into the sobbing young mother. Each rope of cum blasting into her, showering her insides was like a line of pure cocaine delivered right to Sarah's pleasure receptors. Her lids shuttered closed as her eyes continued to roll back in their sockets, her body actually shaking from how hard Lester was making her cum repeatedly.

This chain of orgasm felt never-ending, and Sarah was riding the enhanced high that came with it, uncaring where it led her to. Lester let out a last primal roar as his final blasts of cum shot into Sarah. The fat man slouched and tried to catch his breath as more cum dribbled out of his thick cock inside of her.

Sarah's eyelids finally stopped fluttering and closed completely. Her head slumped to the side, and all the muscles in her body relaxed, unclenching. She was finally able to take a deep breath of air as her mind shut off and she passed out.

Lester groaned and pulled himself from Sarah. Her legs fell limply to the side as he rolled onto his back. His thick cock, soaked with Sarah's juices and his copious cum. He was breathing hard, unable to catch his own breath. Both of their bodies were slick with sweat and other fluid evidence of their fiercely hard fucking.

The only sound in the room was both of their deep breathing as they tried to catch their breath. The scent of sex and Lester's musk filled Dan's nostrils. He sat back on the bed, his mind reeling from the intense battle of a fucking he had just witnessed. Despite his cock, still rock hard from Sarah's taboo words, he still felt as weak as he had earlier.

He watched his wife's naked form, seemingly comfortable remaining nude in Lester's bed. The naked curves of her body didn't look out of place in the low light of the computer monitor. Somehow, they even looked more erotic here than anywhere else in the apartment.

He couldn't remember the last time Sarah had just passed out from sex like that. Usually she would get up and go to the bathroom and try to clean out some of Dan's cum. So either she was fine with leaving Lester's in, or she really had passed out immediately and entirely. Her deep breathing suggested the latter.

Now that the festivities were over and everyone had entirely forgotten about his presence in this threesome in name only, Dan needed to get some space from it all. Sighing, he got up and navigated the minefield of clothes and refuse on the floor. He tried to find his clothes in the low light, but they just blended into the rest of the neglected refuse swathing the room's floor. After a quick scan, he gave up and walked into the hallway before heading to the bathroom and closing the door behind him.

He stayed there for a few minutes, just staring at himself in the mirror, trying to process the unholy violent union he had just witnessed. The sounds that Sarah made and the way her body responded to Lester and his horse cock were completely foreign to Dan. Was he really what she needed?

Dan shook his head and splashed some water on his face. Lester's words had acted like poison, infecting his mind and softening his dick. Dan should have been able to perform better, but in the moment it was like his body had just given up and forfeited the argument. Just given in to allowing Lester to step over him and mount his Sarah. Is this what it felt like to be replaced? Not only had Dan been laid off from his job but had his position as Sarah's number one also been usurped?

Dan splashed more cool water on his face. He used the facilities, cleaning up carefully and then crossed the hall to his room where he quickly found some pajamas to wear. He was thankful that he could finally hide his dick and end the acute shame he'd felt over the last hour's events. He glanced at the clock and was surprised to see how late it was.

Just how long had they been going at it? It was all a raucous blur.

Finally, Dan steadied himself and walked back to Lester's room. His nose scrunched as it was hit with the renewed scents of his wife's complete defilement. As he stood at the threshold to Lester's room, which in his mind now was more like a cave, Dan could see his sweet, resting wife lying on the bed. The computer monitor coldly illuminating her slumbering form. Like a princess in a story surrounded by trash and garbage but sleeping innocently like an angel. She even had a blanket draped over her now and looked to be sleeping soundly. Lester was sleeping in the bed as well but thankfully wasn't cuddling up behind her. He seemed content to snooze on his own.

Dan tiptoed his way through all the crap on the floor accidentally crushing a Red Bull can, continuing to scan for any of his or Sarah's clothing and again failing to find any of it. He came up next to Sarah and in a low voice said, "Sarah."

"Mm-hmm," Sarah responded dreamily.

Dan nudged her shoulder, "Sarah, let's go back to our room."

"Mm-hm," Sarah said without opening her eyes or her mouth. Dan tried again to nudge her. He gently shook her shoulder but Sarah's eyes stayed closed and she didn't stir. She was still deep asleep.

"Sarah?" Dan said softly, "Can you hear me? Can you just get up for a second, and we can go to our room?"

“Mhm,” was the noncommittal sound Sarah made in response.

The only way Dan could wake her would be to shake her awake physically. But he didn't want to do that. He hadn't realized how hard she'd passed out after Lester was done with her. He sighed and weighed his options. Leave her here or try to wake her physically.

In the end, with a deep sigh, he decided to head back to his bedroom alone. But before he left, he crouched down next to Sarah and in a low whisper so Lester couldn't hear asked, “Do you like having sex with Lester more than me?”

“Mm-hm,” Sarah dreamily agreed, managing to nod her head slightly. He was reasonably sure she didn't mean it. She wouldn't ever agree to something like that out loud if she were fully awake. Her mind was barely cognizant that he was even speaking to her. But the agreement stung anyway, how easily it came. Dan felt his dick stir.

He stared down at his wife's sleeping form, her angelic face, and the curves of her body underneath the blanket. He dick ached and he absently stroked it, the events of the last few hours playing back in his head. Dan kept staring at Sarah as he rubbed his dick, slowly increasing the temp. Watching her chest rise and fall as she breathed, how her lips parted, the soft sounds escaping her mouth.

Dan felt himself getting close to the point of no return. To blowing his load in his now hard dick – the dick that couldn't get it up for her earlier and allowed Lester to have his way with her. Dan let go of his dick and stepped back from the bed. What was he doing?

Was he really about to just jerk off and cum staring down at his sleeping wife like some kind of pervert? What the hell was he becoming? He needed to leave the room. He was afraid of the depths he would sink to if he stayed. Still...leaving Sarah here with Lester...it felt wrong.

The computer monitor turned off, bathing the room in complete darkness. With a sigh and slumped shoulders, he turned away from his precious wife's sleeping form and returned to his bedroom alone.

For the next half hour, Dan tossed and turned in bed, wrestling with his thoughts and profound insecurities while he tried to find a comfortable sleeping position. A position that made him forget about his hard dick that now wouldn't deflate.

The room was dark when Lester began to stir. He blinked lazily. He intuitively knew it was sometime in the middle of the night, even though his blackout curtains concealed the outside from view. The memories of his coupling with Sarah slowly entered his mind, and a smile crept onto his face.

He licked his lips and stretched his body. He froze. Something was off. Then his smile widened. Nestled against his chest was the naked sleeping form of Sarah Williams. He didn't remember her nuzzling up next to him. The last he knew, she had been passed out on the other side of the bed. But it looked like, even in her deep slumber, her subconsciousness had sought out the superior male whose potent seed would soon make her stomach swell with child. With Lester's offspring.

His cock stirred to life. Lester raised his head and glanced around the room. Where had Dan gone? It didn't really matter either way, but he would have liked to have watched him slink back, defeated, to his bedroom, leaving his naked wife here with his replacement. No, not his replacement. That wasn't nearly accurate. Lester was superior to Dan. So, his... upgrade then. Yes, that made more sense, but it still didn't encapsulate how utterly outclassed Dan was, how outmanned.

Sarah sighed in her sleep, snapping Lester back to the bedroom. He reached up, stroked her hair, and planted a soft kiss on her forehead.

"Mhm," Sarah lightly moaned. Even asleep, her body instinctively knew how to respond to him. Knew he was there. Capitulated to him. His hand lazily stroked the naked flesh of her arm, running down from her shoulder until he grasped her hand. He pulled her hand to his now hard cock and wrapped her sleepy fingers around his shaft and began using her hand to begin stroking himself.

Sarah was having the time of her life. She sipped on a fruity drink that warmed her stomach and swayed to the music. She could barely get her hand around the glass. Dan twirled her, and she laughed as the music picked up. The dance floor was packed, and she could feel the beat of the music in her soul. Light flashed across the ceiling, and somehow, the club was shooting fireworks indoors. It seemed normal, no one else cared, so neither did Sarah.

Dan dipped her and pulled her back up. She was sweating. They both were, their bodies rocked together, and were somehow making the music that beat through the entire club. Sarah kissed her husband, and the music changed. When she pulled back, the face staring back at her wasn't her husband's. It was uglier and fatter with beady eyes. It was Lester.

He twirled her and ground with her. She was impressed he knew how to move like that. She laughed and pressed her body against his. Her ass against his crotch. When she looked back over her shoulder at him, it was now Jesse staring back at her.

She wanted to move away, but also felt his hardness pressing against her. Against her better judgement, she grinded herself fervently against it, revelling in the feeling of its heat against her. Jesse grabbed her hand and led her across the dance floor. Bodies were packed tight around them. She couldn't see Jesse anymore, too many people crowded between them, but she followed, still holding his hand.

Finally, the bodies parted, and she saw she was holding Otis' hand. His janitor uniform looked so, so very out of place in the nightclub. But maybe he worked here part-time? It didn't matter. The older man led her further and further into the club, off the dance floor, and into the employees' only area.

It was dark in here. So dark that she lost track of Otis as his hand slipped away. She turned around, looking for him. Looking for any sign of which way to go. She passed by a door with Byron's name on it. She could hear him speaking inside. No, it wasn't speaking. She cracked the door open and saw herself kneeling in front of the smarmy man sitting back in his office chair. His cock was out and Sarah's mouth was lovingly wrapped around it as he spoke angrily to someone on the phone.

Sarah closed that door and stepped back into the hallway looking for someplace else to go. She was somehow back on the dance floor she'd left, dancing with someone new. His hands roamed over her body, and she knew she wanted more than to dance with him. She looked down and saw his hands cupping both of her breasts through her sheer shirt. She was taken aback by the color of his skin. The hands were a black man's. She had never been this close to a black man before. It just hadn't happened. She bit her lip not hating the juxtaposition of their skin colors and looked over her shoulder. He was large and she couldn't quite make out the details of his face..

She looked around the club and saw all the men were staring at her, scanning every part of her body. She was the only woman present here. She knew that they were all waiting their turn with her. Waiting for their dance. Waiting for their turn to take her. She could feel someone from the crowd watching her. His desire far outweighing everyone else's. But his desire wasn't just to dance with her. It was far more possessive. Far more menacing, far more confident. She couldn't explain it but his presence deeply frightened her.

The large black man dancing with her led her over to a couch. He laid her down on it and she realized for the first time that he was completely naked. The imposing outline of his large black cock swinging freely between his stout legs. Sarah bit her lip and spread her legs, scanning the crowd for Dan or anyone else she knew. The crowd of men seemed to press in on her. Circling her. Enveloping her.

She moaned as the dark man pushed himself inside of her, his cock head pushing deep. So unbelievably deep. Deeper than she had ever experienced before. His cock seemed to go on for infinity into the very core of her. Then Lester was there, his cock filling her mouth. Another cock appeared in her hand. Jesse's. Otis' slick organ was in her other hand. The crowd pressed against her body a needy soup of male desire. Hard cocks dragging over her naked flesh leaving slimy trails of cum on her perfect skin.

Something changed and the music stopped. The hardened cocks all left her at once. The club was empty but the menacing presence was closing in on her. Sarah closed her legs as the man approached. She couldn't see him. He was entirely wrapped in shadows. He stepped up to her and her legs spread open on their own, as if in the thrall of this shadowy man. And then he was over her, pressing his weight down on top of her. His cock spearing her open, threatening to wholly shatter her reality.

Sarah's eyes opened and the ceiling was dark. She was rocking back and forth. She blinked her eyes trying to figure out where she was. The memory of the attempted threesome with Dan and Lester came back to her. But where was she now? This wasn't Dan's room and what was it that was happening to her?

"Mhmmhmmmm," Sarah moaned involuntarily. Only then did she realize why she was rocking back and forth. Her legs were spread open and someone was between them, was entirely inside of her. At first she thought it was Dan but her brain instinctively dismissed that. It couldn't be Dan. It didn't feel like his size. The body over hers was too thick, too odd. The cock inside of her was much, much bigger than her husband's.

"Lester?" Sarah moaned.

"Yes, my love?" Lester whispered softly in her ear. Sarah touched the back of his head and felt his thinning hair and the excess skin there. It was him. His tongue grazed the side of her neck, sending small jolts of electricity throughout her body. Sarah deliberately blinked her eyes again, trying to hold onto her single shred of fleeting consciousness.

She looked around the room for Dan but didn't see her husband anywhere. How long had she been asleep? Where had he gone?

Lester's cock pushed all the way into her, embedded itself deep inside her body. He pulled it back, and it ran across her G-spot, snapping her back to reality. Lester was fucking her. No, he was going much, much slower than previously. He was making sweet love to her.

It was such an odd sensation compared to their ravenous, almost violent fucking from before. Their fucking that she couldn't remember the end of.

"Sarah?" Lester whispered into her ear.

"Mhmm?" Sarah said softly, turning her attention back to the troll of a man on top of her. Waking to him inside of her would have once sent her into a righteous rage, but now, she didn't mind at all. Now she almost welcomed it. She let her mind fully wake up and focus on the amazing sensations that accompanied his actions.

"Mhmmmm, that feels good," Sarah moaned. Lester grunted into her ear. The primal male sound touched something deep inside of her, and her hips slowly began rocking off the bed in time to meet her mate's insistent thrusts.

"You feel good," Lester murmured. Sarah felt her body waking up faster than her still fog-enshrouded mind. Her breasts felt slick already, but the room felt comfortably cool. It wasn't sweat...had Lester been licking her chest before she woke up? That seemed so wrong, but her body didn't care. Her hips were already rolling off the bed, eagerly pulling Lester's lengthy meat pole into her. She could feel his hairy body all over her. His large hairy balls slapping gently against her ass, his hirsute legs garishly splaying her thighs open. His thick, unfit gut pressed down on her soft, toned skin. She loved the feelings.

"Fuck," Sarah moaned into Lester's neck. Her tongue lazily darted out and licked the side of Lester's neck. She could taste him. Stale sweat and the other flavors of his slob-like nature danced on her tongue as it swiped around the strands of his hair. It should have been objectively revolting, but it was somehow deeply arousing. She would probably do well to see a therapist at some point to unpack this deviance, but for now, she was content to let it drag her down to this aberration and consume her. Corrupt her. God, he could do whatever the fuck he wanted to her.

"I woke up and saw you here. Naked in my bed. I couldn't resist," Lester bit her earlobe before sucking it into his mouth. Sarah took a sharp intake of breath, her back arching off the bed and pushing her slick naked breasts into Lester's chest.

"Mhmmmm, you're bad," Sarah whispered as she ran her hands through Lester's thinning hair.

“I just love being inside of you, is that so bad?” Lester pulled back and turned her face to his. They looked deeply into each other’s eyes before Lester’s fat lips kissed hers. Sarah moaned as Lester planted a soft series of kisses against her lips. He didn’t stick his tongue into her mouth. This was more....loving. More respectful. More cherishing. Sarah’s mind raced with the feeling. How Lester could make her feel so loved and safe yet he could also be so fucking dirty and degrading. She never knew which version of Lester she was going to get. That unpredictability excited her and made her want to spread her legs open further for him. God, it was so wrong and so fucked up but Sarah couldn’t stop herself. She needed to have him.

“God,” Sarah groaned, “I wish I could wake up like this every day.”

“Stay here with me and you can,” Lester stared into her eyes as his cock took strong, slow, deliberate strokes into her. Sarah felt her face instinctively contort into an ‘O’ shape as Lester’s cock teased and pleased her most sensitive nerve endings.

“You can. Dan can stay in Middleton. You come here. Live with me.” Lester continued to stare into her eyes.

God. That idea was so depraved. Just leaving her life behind and committing to degrade herself over and over here in the apartment with Lester. She knew it was the antithesis of what a good wife and mother would ever consider. What a good person would do. But the more taboo the idea was, the more and more it sent an electric thrill through her body. It was tantalizing and the inherent guilt she felt at even mulling the idea over somehow only served to amplify her strange and fucked up desire for this awful man. Just the idea of losing herself and her identity to him. Maybe it could be fun – just to indulge in it once. Or perhaps twice.

She knew it would be playing with fire if she gave in and responded to Lester. Instead, she said, “Where’s Dan?”

“Dickless? I have no idea. Wasn’t here when I woke up. Probably in the other room, now that he knows his place.” Lester muttered absently.

“You’re too mean,” Sarah said, “You’re bad.” She kissed her boyfriend lovingly.

“He left you with me,” Lester chuckled, “He left his wife with a man like me. What do you think that says about him?”

“I don’t know,” Sarah said through shortened breaths. She didn’t want to think about it anymore. She just wanted to focus on Lester’s shallow strokes with his massive dong into her tight pussy. He felt so insanely large inside of her. So incredibly, impossibly gigantic. Even though it was probably only a few hours since he'd been inside her, he still felt so unbelievably immense. She couldn't believe how fucking full she felt.

Lester's cock was gently massaging her G-Spot and every other sensitive nerve inside of her pussy. Her hands grasped onto Lester's back, pulling him further down on top of her. Smothering her entirely under the weight of his slowly driving frame.

Slow, deep thrusts into Sarah's pussy were driving her crazy. Occasionally he would switch to a shallow thrust that drove Sarah insane, craving the whole fullness of his monster cock.

"Mhmmm," Sarah moaned as Lester looked down at her. She stared up into his eyes and licked her lips, a smile spreading across Lester's face. He extended his tongue and dipped his head, licking her lips as well. Sarah repeated the motion, her tongue running over her lips again. Lester's tongue followed hers until her lips were coated with a mix of both of their saliva. When Lester finally let his tongue sink back into his mouth, Sarah's tongue darted forward and adoringly licked Lester's own lips. His body shuddered for a moment on top of her.

Lester's tongue flickered out of his mouth and ran across Sarah's waiting tongue. She moaned and let her tongue massage his in turn. Their taste buds running over each other's. They tasted one another, savoring each other, delighting in their varied flavors. It was such a raw and intimate feeling. Sarah couldn't help but squeeze her filled pussy around his powerful cock.

Lester pulled back and looked into her eyes, "Did you really sleep with Otis?"

Sarah saw something in his eyes she hadn't seen before. Concern. She didn't have a good read on Lester's emotions, other than when he was being a complete dick. Was he hurt by her actions? Suddenly she felt incredibly guilty. It didn't make sense. She didn't owe Lester anything. Logically she knew that. But she still felt it.

"Yes," She finally breathed. "I'm sorry." She hated herself for saying that. It still didn't make sense but she said it anyway.

"Dan and I were playing in the hospital. And he surprised us. And one thing led to another," Sarah felt her face growing warm. Like she was a child admitting to doing something bad. Her cheeks and chest suddenly felt warm. She waited with bated breath for Lester to punitively fuck her like he had earlier.

Silence hung in the air between them. Lester didn't respond. Sarah waited, her mind racing, wondering what Lester was going to say. Finally, he spoke in a soft voice Sarah hadn't heard him use before.

"I'm sorry," He breathed, "It just caught me off guard. You know I support you. And I love seeing you try new things. I didn't expect to feel so jealous but I do."

He stroked her cheek, "I was surprised how upset it made me."

"I know. I'm sorry," Sarah said. "I lov-"

"Shhhh. Hush now, babe." Lester shook his head and straightened his face. He cleared his throat, and his face morphed back to his usual intense expression. Just for a second, Sarah felt like he had shown her the real Lester. The one behind the mask he usually wore. How many people had seen that side of him? She felt her heart beating loudly in her chest.

But now that door had swung closed as Lester said, "We're going on a date tomorrow, and you're going to do the things I want."

"Mhhmmm, I—we—Dan's going away for work tomorrow," Sarah said, suppressing a moan.

"I thought you said he was let go from his job?" Lester asked, dipping his head down and planting soft kisses along her jawline. Sarah closed her eyes, focusing on the feeling of Lester's wet lips igniting her skin.

"He was," she eventually said. If her eyes were open, she would have seen the calculating smile spread across his face for a split second before it disappeared. "It's for his side clients. Not tied to his old company."

"It's okay. We can still play without Dan there. I know how important it is for you to keep him involved. We can get him on the phone or via video chat. You'll love it. I promise," Lester kissed up her jawline again, "I'll know you'll enjoy every. Second. Of it."

"I—," Sarah started as the tempo of Lester's thrusts increased, catching her off guard. She bit her lip as her G-spot was being hit over and over again, in much shorter intervals by Lester's large organ. "We, we can't. My parents are in town. Dan and I - I'm going out with them tomorrow night."

"I'm not shy," Lester muttered, "I'll fuck you right in front of your parents."

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned as her hips began thrashing off the bed. Desperately trying to seek more and more of Lester’s cock despite his deliberate, controlled pace. “We can’t – that’s just so – god that’s so wrong.”

“I bet you got a real thrill as a teenager. Sneaking around. Being a bad girl. You were probably the perfect daughter to them but they didn’t know what a slut you really were. What if I show them? Show them what a slut their daughter has become for my cock?” Lester’s breath was on the base of her neck, and she could feel goosebumps readily forming.

“Just shut up and fuck me Lester,” Sarah said, trying, desperately to side step his latest comment.

“I’m going to fuck you now and tonight,” Lester growled, “I’ll bend you over right when your parents get here so they can hear you wail as you cum on my cock.”

“F-fuck,” Sarah groaned, grinding her hips up into Lester at her frenzied pace. Lester just smiled and picked up his own cadence. He pressed his forehead against hers as they rutted into one another freely. Sarah was fully awake now, even if her body and mind were exhausted. She needed Lester just as badly as Lester needed her. Her body was on the verge of a cataclysmic orgasm. Just there, out of reach, ready to possess her body and discard her mind.

“They’ll see their precious princess for what she really is,” Lester grunted.

Sarah gritted her teeth and focused on the growing feeling inside of her. Her bubble butt bouncing off Lester’s mattress as the odd man made love to her in the embrace of missionary position. It was such a strange sensation, being aroused at Lester threatening to expose their illicit affair to her parents. For her worlds to collide in such a spectacular fashion. For her life to be torn down and rebuilt by him.

“God, Lester,” Sarah groaned. Her body still weak from the effects of their last fuck session. She couldn’t think straight. All she could picture in her mind was getting railed in the nude in front of her startled parents, the looks of abject horror on their faces as she came hard with Lester plowing unyieldingly into her from behind.

“Oh fuck. Lester, don’t stop, please!” Sarah whined, her fingers digging into the disparate tufts of hair on Lester’s moistened back. His skin was slick with sweat, and Sarah knew she herself was covered in it. Lester’s sweaty musk was filling her nostrils and seeping deep into the pores of her skin. He was marking her inside and out.

“I should never have gotten that stupid operation,” Lester cursed. “If only I had waited. Waited until I got between these sweet open legs of yours.”

“Operation? What?” Sarah said, confused, Lester’s words distracting her from the rampantly building orgasm inside of her. She refocused on the growing bud of heat inside her body, ready to embrace it like an old friend.

“You know, sometimes vasectomies don’t take. Accidents still happen. Life still finds a way. Especially when unavoidable fate is involved,” Lester bit her earlobe hard as his hands dug under her, aggressively grabbing each of her ass cheeks. He pulled her lower half up off the bed, the head of his cock hammering directly into her sensitive G-Spot now.

“Oh fuck. Uh. Uh. Uh. Ah. Uh. Uh, My god. God. Fuck. Lester. Shit. Shit! Holy Shit! Holy FUCKING SHIT! Yes!. God Yes! Give it to me. Oh Fuck me,” Sarah moaned as she thrashed wildly under Dan’s roommate.

“Look at me,” Lester growled.

Sarah turned her head and focused on Lester’s beady eyes.

“Say it. Say ‘Accidents Happen’,” Lester grunted.

“Accident-,” Sarah started. Her mind ablaze at the implications. At the idea that Lester’s vasectomy may have been a failure and that he could accidentally impregnate her with his lewd sperm. Fill her with his illicit seed. His DNA explosively flooding into her womb - seeking out one of her eggs. Trying to wriggle in and claim it as his own. Who knew, maybe even some of Otis’ cum was even still alive inside of her. They’d be competing against each other for the right to claim her outright.

“Accidents h-happen,” Sarah breathed the phrase haltingly. As the words left her lips her orgasm reared its head, threatening to suffocate her entirely .

“Oh god. Accidents fucking happen,” Sarah cried.

“If you don’t want it to fucking happen, leave the room and go to back Danny,” Lester said. “Go to your little husband or stay and get knocked up by someone else.”

Sarah couldn’t leave now. Not when she was so close. Lester’s cock kept pumping into her pussy, slamming against her G-Spot with unyielding vigor.

“I’m not fucking leaving,” Sarah cried again. Her body rocked against Lester. Skin slick with Lester’s sweat. Her pussy clenched around Lester’s cock not willing to give it up. Not willing to stop what was about to happen.

“If you don’t leave I’m going to flood your pussy with my cum,” Lester taunted in her ear, “And I will absolutely put a baby inside of you. My baby. Lester junior.”

“Ugh, oh god Lester. Fuck. Fuck it! Just do it! Give it to me,” Sarah panted into his ear. “I want it. I want it all. Give it to me. I want your cum. I want it all – inside me. Jesus Christ, I want it. Your entire load. Fuck!”

Lester let out a guttural growl, his smooth, controlled tempo going out the window. His thrusts become erratic as the head of his cock pounded, jack hammering into Sarah’s pussy.

“O-oh, ooooooh god Lester, Lester I want it in me. I want it splashed on me. I want it in my mouth. I want it everywhere. I want your fucking cum Lester. I need it.” Sarah said.

“I’m gonna give it to you,” Lester croaked, “I’m gonna empty my balls inside of you. They’re full, you did that.”

A primal whine escaped Sarah’s throat, “Ugghhhhhhhhhhh!”

Lester’s cock pounding into her G-Spot was too much. Her body rocked and she could feel Lester’s balls contract against her puckered asshole. She knew he was about to cum ridiculously. The veins coursing through his plus sized cock pulsed in an ominous beat. The way he was talking to her, the roleplay about her parents, the heat of his cock and the knowledge of his impending explosion inside of her was too much for stunning wife to handle. She couldn’t hold back her next orgasm if she tried.

“Hmhmhmhmffffffffff-uuuuccccckkkk!,” Sarah wailed as her abdomen tightened in pleasure. Her chest seemed to burst open like a doomed hot air balloon, and a pleasing sticky warmth flooded every inch of her body. Her pussy clamped down on Lester’s throbbing, driving cock, despite its being nearly frictionless, coated with her overflowing juices. Every inch of her skin became hypersensitive. She could also feel all of Lester’s plunging. Sagging mass on top of her – the sensation driving her to the edge of complete madness.

“Ahhhhh-FUCK!,” Lester roared as his cock exploded inside of his greatest conquest. Blasts of his vile cum flooded into the hot young mother coating her insides. The warm, sticky substance seemed to pour into Sarah. Her orgasm hit another previously unaccessed level of intensity, and the resultant warmth rushed throughout her body, coming in distinct waves, each one hotter and stronger than the last. Her heartbeat pounded in her ears and she held her breath as she felt absolutely full of Lester's potent living cum.

Lester grunted and pulled out of her. His hand went to his cock and he aimed it over her alluring curves. Ropes of cum blasted out coating Sarah's delectable body. The first blasted across her ample, heaving chest. Sarah's naked body quaked, her sensitive skin pulsed under the patter of Lester's ubiquitous cum. A random new rope hit her square in the chin making Sarah quiver again as a mini-orgasm seemed to explode up from the depths to slap her across the face from the ocean of pleasure in which she'd submerged her body. Rope after rope of hot, sticky, fetid, foul, glue-like cum blasted across Sarah's heaving masterpiece of a chest.

Her hands instinctively grabbed her model-perfect breasts, massaging them. His sticky white smegma ran between her delicate fingers as she massaged it into her skin. Sarah's hands were coated in Lester's sticky off-white, life-carrying baby batter.

Without thinking, and as the last ropes of Lesters foul seed fell across her naked flesh, Sarah raised her finger to her mouth and sucked Lester's heavenly cum off of each of them.

"Mhmmmm," Sarah moaned, tasting the salty bitterness of Lester's abundance of cum. Her body was slowly coming down from another earth-shattering orgasm, and her taste buds revelled in epicurean bliss as they tasted his latest vintage.

Lester collapsed onto the bed next to her as Sarah licked her fingers clean of his essence. She cleaned all the cum off her breasts and stomach and didn't waste a single drop of his tasty gift. She licked each of her fingers clean again, moaning every time a drop of Lester's foul seed touched her tongue.

Sarah closed her eyes as her body felt lighter than it ever had. Her breath slowed, and the sweat on her skin – hers and Lester's – began to cool in the stale air of his lair.

The final, perfect note of her orgasm played throughout her body, and Sarah let it wash over her. She turned to the side as Lester's arm draped over her shoulder. She nuzzled into his hairy, sweaty chest and fell deep asleep.

The noises from the next room had stirred Dan awake. At first, he thought it was just a dream, but the earlier events in Lester's bedroom replayed in his mind. But Sarah's shrieks of pleasure in the night woke him in a cold sweat.

Dan squinted and peered into the peephole on the wall. It was uncovered on Lester's side. He hadn't known when the fat man had done that. Maybe Sarah had when she'd walked into Lester's room earlier. Either way, the implications rattled his brain. Was he just destined to end up here, on this side of the wall, watching his wife be ravaged by Lester?

His roommate's room was pitch dark. He couldn't make out anything happening besides the moans, whispers, and ruffling of sheets. But the movie of his wife's submission to Lester played in his mind. He could see her face twisted with pleasure, of Lester's ugly face and grotesque body rutting into his perfect wife.

He knew he could go to the door. Walk into Lester's room and be in there with them. But it felt wrong. Like, he wouldn't be welcomed. Like he was intruding on something private. That thought fucked up his exhausted brain more than he wanted to admit.

Dan left out a soft groan as he stroked his hard dick. With his forehead resting on the wall, one eye closed while the other squinted to see anything. He stroked himself, each small sound emanating from Sarah's lips threatened to make him explode right then and there.

And then a rasping primal whine from his wife broke the silence, "Ugghhhhhhhhhh!"

Dan's breath caught in his throat as he pictured the lewd scene on the other side of the wall. He desperately wished he could see something, anything from his makeshift vantage point. His balls swelled and he knew he couldn't hold back any longer.

"Ahhhhh-FUCK!" Lester roared from the other side of the wall. Like a conquering lion, mating with one of the females of the pride. Dan knew that Lester was emptying himself into his wife again. Dan's hips bucked involuntarily as cum blasted out onto the drywall in front of him. It splattered against it and dribbled down.

Dan breathed hard, leaning against the wall as more oozing cum splattered onto his boxers around his ankles. His hand was covered in his own glistening spunk. Why? Why couldn't I get hard like this earlier? Why now?

Something was seriously fucked in Dan's brain. Here he was, jerking off and cumming into his own hand while his ugly, fat piece of shit roommate was unloading into his wife, bathing her in long ropes of his cum. Maybe Lester really is able to give Sarah what she needs.

He always thought they'd been solid in the sex department. But now, maybe things have changed. Maybe Sarah had discovered something she didn't know she had been missing out on. But would she ever just be satisfied with him again?

Files

Toxic Attraction Ch. 30

The plane shuddered around him as it taxied down the runway. Dan had his eyes closed and was focusing on his breathing, keeping it under control. He clutched the arms of the uncomfortable seat as if he were someone with a fear of flying. But the plane in which he sat and everyone on board were the furthest things from his mind.

He was vaguely aware that the plane was about to take off and that the lady sitting next to him was already asleep. But it was all background noise to the war of images being waged in his head. Dan's stomach was in knots as he tried to process what had happened the night before and the scene seared into his head from this morning.

He had finally manned up and stepped into the abyss of Lester's room. He'd done it. He had pushed past that constant immobilization he'd felt so often when Sarah was... with Lester. And it had all been for nothing.

Dan had managed to get Lester out of his way, to put himself inside his own wife and feel her tightness around him. But then – then he'd lost hold of it. Maybe it was Lester's constant nattering or maybe it was just the fucked up-edness of the situation but his erection had gone soft. While he was inside his wife. Sarah.

She'd been sweet and supportive but was unable to mask all of her disappointment in the moment. All of it was like a wrecking ball to his ego and a knife to his heart. And Lester capitalized on it and took his wife from him. Took her right in front of him, making her moan and thrash on the bed like a demon possessed woman.

And somehow, after all of that. After all of that embarrassment Dan had managed to get hard watching them. Staring down at Sarah's sleeping form he'd almost stroked himself to completion again. Despite Sarah's saying that he usually could only get off once in a night, he had been ready to go again.

Would he have gone soft again? Or was he only hard because he was standing there watching? What the fuck was he turning into? And then later at the peephole....

Dan mentally pushed that memory aside, his face burning with shame. He knew the deck was stacked against him. He'd been hard as a rock and unable to sleep and then the noises started.

His nostrils flared as he breathed out hard enough to briefly rouse the woman next to him. Dan opened his eyes and looked around the plane, hoping to see the stewardess pushing the cart so he could get something with alcohol in it. It was still early by most people's standards but Dan still felt like he was riding last night. And he needed to quiet things down.

But the plane was still just there, on the runway waiting for its turn to take off. A kid was crying from somewhere behind him and Dan could already feel the annoyed tension rising in the other passengers.

When he'd woken up this morning, the door to Lester's room had been closed. He wasn't able to see anything from the peephole. It was just darkness on the other side. He'd hoped to have woken up to Sarah in his bed, but she'd spent the night with Lester. Probably tired and exhausted from the marathon fuck sessions his obese roommate had put her through.

Dan had tried to clean his cum from the wall. During the night, he had just passed out. In the morning, he was greeted to the sight of the cumstained white and yellow streak running down the wall. He'd gotten some of it off, but the humiliating evidence would be apparent to anyone who looked for it.

Evidence of his shame. Evidence of giving his wife to Lester and enjoying watching it.

He'd made a lot of noise on purpose as he'd prepared to leave. Between the long shower, flushing the toilet, brushing his teeth with the door open, and closing the bedroom door loudly as he'd gotten dressed. He'd hoped something would wake Sarah up, but his mind buzzed with her being otherwise occupied.

When he couldn't deliberately waste any more time, Dan found himself in the apartment's hallway. The handle of his carry-on suitcase was held tightly in his hand as he stared at Lester's closed door. He'd wanted to say goodbye. As much as it pained him to leave Sarah alone in the apartment, he had to go.

Would she even miss him? She couldn't even see him off. Did she even care? He knew these were the thoughts of a weak man. Perhaps a broken man. He knew deep down that the reason was that she was exhausted and had no sense of the time, but his brain was throwing every other possibility at him. Intrusive thoughts had become his constant companion.

But then she came out. Not soon enough to reassure him as he stood there meekly in the hallway. It was only as he had one foot out the apartment door and his Uber was under a minute away, just around the corner – that's when she'd come out of his roommate's pigsty. His stunning wife hurried into the living room with nothing but a formerly white, now sickly beige bed sheet, draped around her lithe body. The skin of her exposed, naked shoulders sent a shiver down his spine. Her hair was a mess, and she looked tired but still radiated that overwhelming natural beauty that only a few choice women possessed.

Before he could even react to her presence, she had closed the distance between them, and her lips were on his, kissing him goodbye. The same lips that had been wrapped around Lester's cock the night before as she went wild on it. She had stared up at him with those piercing green eyes and told him not to worry, assuring him that she loved him. To have a safe trip and to return to her soon.

His heart felt like it was going to jump out of his chest. He wanted nothing more than to stay there with her. She had come to him. She hadn't forgotten about him at all. Despite everything, she was still his wife, his Sarah, and she loved him.

As Dan reluctantly stepped into the hallway, he looked back at Sarah one last time to capture this perfect memory of her. Something to keep him going while he was gone. But then the pear-shaped form of Lester slid up behind her and wrapped his hair-covered arms around her, his big head with thinning, greasy hair nuzzled into her neck, and his wife's lips parted involuntarily.

"Ohhh," His wife's eyes were still pointed at him, but he could see they had lost focus for a moment.

She gave Dan one last clear look before her eyes closed as Lester's lips danced across her neck. A soft moan escaped her lips and echoed into the hallway. Dan felt the familiar paralysis spread across his body as Lester groped his wife through the bedsheet she wore. Any other tenant could have heard that moan. Hell, they'd probably heard all the moans from the previous night. But here they were on full display to the rest of the building with the door completely open.

Sarah moaned again, and that was when Dan realized that Lester was completely naked. His intimidatingly large cock was probably pressed into Sarah's perfect backside. Dan's throat went dry as Sarah's grip on the bedsheet had loosened, and it inched down, exposing more of the slope of her heaving breasts. His wife moaned again, sounding like she was ready for more of what the disgusting man was doing.

And without even looking at Dan, the door closed, and he'd heard the lock click. He knew it had been Lester, but part of him whispered traitorous doubts that it had been Sarah who'd shut him out. Dan just stood there, again alone in the outer hallway. His mind raced, but no coherent thoughts formulated. His body was still, waiting for some kind of command from its brain telling it what it should do in this wholly novel situation.

He'd heard shuffling on the other side of the door and the familiar plodding of Lester's fat feet on the other side, moving away. Dan had taken a step towards the door, reaching out towards the knob when his pants vibrated.

He'd grabbed his phone and read the notification. The Uber waiting to take him to the airport had arrived and was waiting for him downstairs. Dan tried desperately to push the thoughts of Sarah and Lester out of his mind as he turned and walked towards the elevator, dragging his carry-on behind him.

When they were in the air and the stewardess finally stopped the drink cart at his row, Dan ordered a double rye and Coke. The stewardess and the woman next to him shared a quick, concerned look, but Dan pretended not to notice. No one knew what was going on with him, and they had no right to judge him for what they didn't know.

He downed his drink and tried to focus on the upcoming days in D.C with his client Sentinel Securities. There was going to be a lot to do, and he desperately needed to focus. He needed to nail this and try to expand his business with them. His family needed it. His marriage needed it. He needed it.

Lester was awake now but he didn't open his eyes. Dan was being obviously, obnoxiously loud, like a toddler trying to get his busy mother's attention. But Sarah was still sound asleep next to Lester in the bed, sleeping softly with her face nuzzled cozily into his flabby chest.

The night had almost been perfect. Sarah had tried to fulfill her fantasy, not yet fucking understanding that she had progressed past that moronic fantasy of a threesome. Now that she had Lester, she needed to grow up and put these childish fantasies to bed. Maybe she had believed she wanted it, back when she just had Dan and his pathetic cock to satisfy her.

She had to have known deep down she always needed more, craved more. But now she had him. And Lester would be enough to fulfill all of her fantasies.

He felt the indignant anger boil up inside of him again. That same anger that rippled throughout his body when she told him she had fucked Otis, Otis(!) in his office at the hospital. His lip twitched as he looked down at Sarah. She. Was. His. Yet for some reason, she still was going off the script and doing things on her own. She had some idiotic notion that all of this they'd built between them was still something for her to share with Dan. Some vomit-inducing fantasy fulfillment. Maybe she was delusional. But she needed to stop kidding herself.

He couldn't have her doing things behind his back. Not when he'd gone through all of this effort to mold and condition her into his perfect little wanton slut. Not when he was so close to getting his orders arriving from the dark web and completing his goal. She was ripe and ready for plucking. That goody two-shoes wife of yesterday was long gone, replaced by a woman molded by Lester's desires. He sure as hell wasn't about to let anyone else ruin that.

But first he needed to teach them a lesson. If she wanted to fuck around, so be it. He'd force her into something overwhelming. She needed to be punished. Then he would put the final parts of his plan into action.

Lester carefully slid himself out of bed, careful not to disturb Sarah. His naked body rolled off the bed until he pushed himself up into a sitting position. His gut spilling out across his thighs. He itched his hairy ass cheek and looked over his shoulders at the angelic face laying next to him in his bed.

Soon.

Lester stepped deftly through the piles of crap all over his floor until he reached his command chair. Hefting himself into it, the pistons squealed as his weight settled down into it. He touched the mouse to turn on the computer. It fired up quickly, the fans on the PC tower coming to life.

Lester looked back at Sarah again, making sure she hadn't stirred. She continued to breathe softly, fully naked, covered only by the stained thin bed sheet. Lester couldn't remember the last time he'd washed it.

He strategically positioned the window on the monitor between himself and Sarah. If she opened her eyes she wouldn't be able to see what he was looking at. He opened World of Warcraft but kept it silent. He could quickly use a keyboard shortcut to minimize the other window so Sarah would never see it. She'd just think he was playing some WoW.

Lester pulled up the camera feeds from last night. He quickly cut and spliced all of the ones from both of their fuck sessions last night. Starting from Sarah in the living room to being on her knees in front of Lester, Dan's dick soft, then all the way to the end of the night.

He cocked his head as he watched Dan stroking himself on screen, staring down at Sarah as she slept.

That's fucking creepy.

Lester smiled, realizing how far he had wormed himself into Dan's head.

He moved on to the next clipping, with Sarah in the middle of the night. He made sure the audio on this one was crisp based on the levels on the screen. He wanted to hear all the things she said to him last night. As the scene played on, he saw Dan at the peephole, vigorously stroking himself again. So he couldn't get it up for Sarah in the moment, but it was ready for action after? Interesting. That'd be something to plant in Sarah's ear, the complete emasculation of her husband in her eyes. She was still trying to fulfill erotic fantasies with this weirdo. She needed to view Dan in a completely non-sexual way.

The door from the other side of the wall slammed shut. Lester quickly switched to the live camera feed and saw Dan standing there in the hallway, facing Lester's door. He just stood there, staring at the closed door. Lester held his breath, wondering what his roommate was going to do. Had he finally grown some balls and was about to burst in and say something? Sarah stirred behind Lester, and he worriedly gritted his teeth.

He couldn't remember if the door was locked or not. With a few quick mouse movements, he quickly closed out the surveillance screens and waited for it to open. But it never did.

He heard the familiar sound of suitcase wheels rolling away.

"Ugh," Sarah said, sitting up with her hand over her face. She held the sheets around her shifting chest., "What time is it?"

Lester snorted and kept his attention on the screen. "Morning."

He eyed the corner of his screen where he knew the window with his cameras was minimized. World of Warcraft was still in full-screen mode, but he'd never had someone in his room while those windows were open. She was so very close to seeing the enormity of his future control over her. Too close to discovering his illicit 'business' practices.

She didn't respond. They both sat in silence as the server fired up and Lester's avatar appeared on screen.

The unmistakable sound of the front door creaking open came from behind the bedroom door.

“Dan,” Sarah breathed, “Shit, shit, shit, Dan.”

She pulled the bedsheet free and draped it around herself as she rushed out of the room. Lester kicked himself. He should have made the bed and tucked that sheet in tightly. And once Dan had rolled his suitcase away, he should have turned the sound on his computer to muffle that door shutting. He’d wanted Sarah to keep sleeping, to miss her husband’s departure, but that man-child was slamming doors and making a ruckus.

Oh well. Lester heaved himself up out of his chair and plodded towards the open door. Already, this day wasn’t going his way. Sure, Dan was leaving, and Sarah was staying, but her parents wanted to see her later. Lester didn’t need that distraction. He needed her to focus on him. Submitting to him fully.

Lester felt his jowls jiggle as he marched down the hallway, his cock dangling free and proud.

“Don’t worry about me, baby,” Sarah said in a low voice from the living room. Lester paused for a moment at the threshold of the room, listening. “I love you. You’re going to do great. I’ll be fine. In a few hours, I’ll be with my parents. Get there safely and come back to me soon.”

Disgusting. Lester didn’t wait any longer. It was time for Dan to leave. Lester walked across the living room and slid up behind Sarah, ignoring Dan’s presence completely. He knew the open door, the potential exposure to the rest of the building’s residents, would already be on her mind. He wrapped his arms around her slim form and nuzzled his unshaven face into her neck.

Lester suppressed a smile as he heard a small, unexpected “ohhh” escape Sarah’s lips. He knew Dan was just standing there, watching them. His tongue snaked out of his mouth and licked her neck, making her moan even louder this time.

He pushed his naked cock against her bare ass and wedged it between her taut cheeks. He felt the bedsheet slip from her, just as her control over the situation slipped from her grasp as well. Her love for Dan faded into the background as her lust for Lester took over. It was time.

Lester raised his arm and put one fat hand on the door pushing it closed, eliminating Dan from the equation entirely. He quickly engaged the lock and pushed Sarah flat up against the door. Her breasts smashed against it as Lester’s gut pressed into her back.

Sarah's ass arched off the door and grinded itself back against Lester's solid cock. He grunted in her ear, running his hands down her arms until he gripped her hands and pinned them against the door. She moaned and her body shuddered expectantly.

Lester pushed Sarah firmly against the door, wedging his cock between her ass cheeks. He impatiently pushed her head to the side and squinted, looking through the door's peephole. Dan was just standing there staring, frozen in place with that dumb look on his face. Just like the previous night, Lester had managed to effortlessly short-circuit the idiot's brain. This was too easy. Now it was time for Lester to reap the rewards of his hard work.

Lester backed off from Sarah, a soft moan of disappointment in disconnecting whined from her throat. He tugged on her arm insistently, pulling her away from the closed door. Her other hand still fruitlessly clutched the dirty bedsheet to her chest. Lester's lip snarled, and he yanked the cloth from her, tearing it away from her perfect body.

Sarah's hands automatically went up to cover her large, heavy breasts. Lester grabbed her wrists and pulled them apart, revealing her rising and falling globes to him. He took his time, running his eyes over every inch of her tits, watching her nipples harden, , making sure Sarah knew she belonged to him. He felt the resistance in her arms weaken as the rising and falling of her chest increased. Her arousal grew as he stared at her.

Lester felt his cock growing. He continued to stare at her breasts until Sarah made a sound.

"Ohh," Sarah softly moaned. Lester smirked and looked up at her. She was staring down at his cock. Its massive head was prodding into her bare thigh.

"See something you like?" Lester asked.

"Jesus," Sarah said, "I haven't even had a coffee yet." Her gaze stayed on his imposing cock as she spoke.

"A slut like you needs cock in the morning to really wake her up," Lester growled, releasing her hands and seizing both sides of her head. He pulled her face towards him and kissed her, mashing his lips firmly against hers. Her body tensed against him. He could feel it. He knew her body now. And she could feel his fat cock pressing ever harder against her.

"Mhnnmm," Sarah softly protested against the kiss. Lester turned her face to the side and stuck his tongue out. It aggressively pried open her lips. She squealed as he held her face in place, forcing his tongue past her lips until it entered her mouth. As his tongue ran over hers, he felt her resolve weaken – her knees bent and her soft hands fell onto his biceps.

Lester's rough hands mauled Sarah's body while his immense tongue invaded her mouth. He grabbed two handfuls of her ass, her breasts, anything his hands could maul. He needed to be unrelenting and entirely overwhelm her senses.

With a growl, Lester broke their violent lip lock, happy to see Sarah's eyes still closed and that she was nearly hyperventilating.

"Come on," He grumbled and pulled her by her wrist back down the hallway towards his lair.

"Lester," Sarah started as she followed. He held her wrist and pulled her into his bedroom. "I just said goodbye to Dan. I need a second to wake up and check my phone."

Lester didn't answer. He wordlessly pulled her to his desk and sat down with a plop. His naked gut squished between the arms of his tattered chair. He didn't let go of her supple forearm as he stared up at her.

"What you need to do is get on those knees, pucker up those sweet little lips and clean up my cock," Lester said.

He could see the conflict playing on her face. He knew she was obsessed with sucking his cock. Her phone was still out in the living room from last night. She hadn't checked it yet. Her parents were supposed to be meeting her in the city today.

"On your knees," Lester said with finality. He pulled her wrist forward until her hand landed on his bulging cock. She took in a deep breath, her eyes now glued to his growing cock as her fingers attempted to wrap around it. A sly grin spread across Lester's homely face as he watched the once proud young wife and mother slowly slink to her knees in front of him, her eyes never straying from his towering cock.

He'd trained her well. She knew her place now. Right here. Sarah's knees sank into the filth covering Lester's floor, brushing against the dirty clothes and other garbage Lester had long forgotten.

"That's a goood girl," Lester chuckled lightly with Sarah kneeling in front of him.

"Time for you to get to work," Lester said as he scooted forward. Sarah immediately shuffled in reverse until the back of her head touched the edge of Lester's desk.

“Wh-what are you doing?” Sarah asked, finally breaking her eyes from Lester’s cock to look up at him.

“Me? I’m going to game for a little bit,” Lester said.

“Really?” Sarah asked as her hand slid up and down his shaft, “Right now?”

“Why shouldn’t I enjoy the things I like all at once?” Lester glared down at her, feeling the rolls of fat on his neck swell against his chin. He tapped her on the back of the head as he returned to his character on Warcraft.

“Fucking asshole,” Sarah said shaking her head. But Lester didn’t need to give her any further prompting. The young mother obediently leaned forward and ran her tongue up the length of Lester’s shaft. Lester shuddered with delight at the sensation. He’d never had one of his conquests so willingly lower themselves onto their knees at his command center. “You. Are such. A complete. Bastard.” Her pursed lips kissed back down his shaft, her words underlining each point of erotic contact.

Sarah’s free-flowing saliva coated his shaft as her hand began stroking him. She used her fist expertly, twisting the meaty shaft within it as she stroked his large cock up and down. Her warm mouth finally descended onto the head of his cock. She instantly moaned in satisfaction, “Mhmmhmmmm.”

Lester patted her on the head, “Good girl.”

Sarah moaned in response as she took more of Lester’s expanding length into her mouth. Her tongue whipped against the underside of his girth, her mouth buttery wet and soft.

Lester groaned and tried to focus on the screen in front of him. He made a concentrated effort and pressed some keys. On the monitor, the image of his avatar, Darkspire, was running across the town to meet with his guildmates. The other guys were all in voice chat on Discord, but Lester didn’t want to reach out and grab his headphones; the live audio in his lair was more compelling. Sarah’s blond locks tickled his thighs as they bounced up and down with her bobbing head.

She was going to town sucking on his cock. Lester suppressed a chuckle, wondering if Dan was still standing out there like a lost puppy dog in the hallway. Hoping that its master would open the door and let him back into the warm apartment. But Dan had better get used to being left out in the cold.

Lester followed his guildmates toward a dungeon. In the chat interface, Ned was asking him why he wasn’t on mic. Lester ignored him, not giving a shit what Ned or Eugene or any of the others thought about his silence.

“Mhmmmmffff,” Sarah moaned as she pulled herself free from Lester’s cock. She dived back down, lips and tongue on his shaft, one hand pumping him while the other steadied herself on his hair-covered thigh.

“F-fuck,” Sarah moaned at the base of Lester’s cock as she rested her head against him. Her hand stroking the shaft above her face. Lester pulled her hair back so he could see her face. Her soft little tongue was darting out, gently and lovingly lapping at the base of his cock, occasionally tasting the dappled skin of his nutsack.

His matted pubic hair threatened to envelope her angelic face. Lester never got tired of looking at her. Those stunning green eyes, that beautiful earnest face lapping at his cock. Worshipping him. She’d fallen so far, now he barely had to apply pressure for her to do whatever he wanted. His cock controlled her, whether she wanted to admit it or not. She wasn’t Dan’s wife anymore, she wasn’t a mother – she was his wanton, eager slut who would do whatever her master desired.

It was exhilarating.

She moaned softly as her tongue continued to dart out and lick the base of his cock, dancing between his tufts of dirty pubic hair. Her hand kept pumping his pulsing shaft, slick with her saliva and still coated with their juices from the night before.

“Mhmmhm,” Sarah moaned wantonly, getting lost in what she was doing for him. Lester took his hand off the keyboard and ran it through her hair. She moaned again, enjoying the way he caressed her. His fingers dug into the back of her head, pulling her closer to his cock. Her lips pressed against his shaft in a pucker. Soft moans continued to escape her lips as Lester held her head and directed her. He moved her head back and forth making her tongue look like it was licking an unwrapped popsicle. He pulled her head down to his nutsack and buried her face in his scrotum.

Lester wasn’t sure if she’d be able to breathe but he could hear her moans grow ever more desperate. His balls tingled as her moans vibrated from the back of her throat to her lips on his testicles. Her face was completely covered by his cock and bushy pubic hair. Her tongue continued to lick and slather over his nuts as she moaned. It pushed through the matted hair and found the skin of his ballsack, sucking and licking its leathery texture. Bringing one of his balls into her mouth as her hand continued to stroke his shaft, up and down, up and down.

Lester let out a groan and closed his eyes. Sarah had gotten way too good at this. She’d really missed her calling. Soon he’d see to it that she was unemployed and could do this for him full time. He reveled in the sensation of his balls rolling on Sarah's tongue, her fist continued to pump his cock, her second hand joining the first on his massive shaft.

On screen, the chat was going crazy as Lester's avatar just stood there. His guild mates were being beaten back by a group of high level orcs. Ned was calling for Lester's help as they tried in vain to defend themselves. Lester peered at the screen through squinted eyes. He suddenly didn't give a shit anymore.

With a grunt, he sat forward, the weight of his gut pressing down on Sarah's head. His cock wedged between his gut and her face. He exited WoW and opened his 'Sarah' folder. His heart beat heavily in his chest, and he felt a thrill run through his body. Putting her in a position where she was so close to knowing the truth aroused his perversion. Situating her next to discovering the web of lies and deception she was at the center of.

He made sure his computer was muted and then sat back. Sarah took in a large, deep breath as Lester's gut left her face. She sat up on her knees and looked up at Lester, then down to his cock. She was stroking it with both hands. Sarah licked her lips as she stared down at it with a satisfied smirk.

Behind her, the screen showed a scene from months ago. Sarah had timidly walked up to Lester's door in the middle of the night to have sex with him for the first time. It was one of Lester's most played videos, especially because she had come to him, stepped into his lair with the intent of sleeping with him when he'd had no expectation it would happen that night. If it had been a VHS tape, it would have been well worn out by now.

Lester couldn't help but smirk as Sarah lowered her head back down onto his cock. Her wet mouth enveloped him again. As Sarah sucked his cock, he watched the Sarah on-screen being penetrated by him for the first time. Watching, as he had dozens of times as her face contorted in pleasure and pain as he pushed his latex clad cock into her pussy. The way her body reacted to him for the first time. The storm raged outside as the first barrier of Sarah's resistance fell and her retraining began.

"Mhmmm fuck, your cock, Jesus," Sarah muttered as she took another deep breath before descending back onto his cock.

"God, it's... it's just... everything," Sarah moaned as she licked up his shaft and swirled her tongue slowly around the head of his cock. She didn't even look up at him, her entire attention was focused on his iron hard cock. Lester put his forearms on the arms of his chair and let Sarah worship his tool as he watched the illicit amateur porn of the two of them. Watched as, under false pretences, she finally gave in to him, changing her life forever. Knowing what his amazing cock felt like inside of her stunning body.

Sarah moaned around his cock as the Sarah on screen's mouth opened, wailing as she came on his cock the first time. Lester licked his lips watching his favorite conquest on screen as the present incarnation knelt before him, taking his cock into the back of her throat.

She hummed around his plunging meat. He felt it, the moment the head of his cock broke a barrier and disappeared into her throat. The reflexive gag that Sarah had learned to ignore a thing of the past. She'd become a requisite pro at cock sucking. Her head bobbed up and down on his fat phallus as her hands worked his shaft. It was glorious, watching their secret porn tape, unknowingly performing for him while she stroked and sucked his cock. One of her hands dropped down and began softly massaging his dangling balls.

The Sarah kneeling before him had her eyes closed, focused on milking his cock. Lester wanted to take her, throw her on the bed and make her watch herself get fucked on screen while he slid his massive tool into her from behind. He wanted her to see all the vile videos he'd secretly collected since her husband moved in.

But not yet, the time was not quite right. No, he needed her aching for it. To make sure she didn't go back out of the city with her parents tonight. That she was so worked up that she was desperate for him to fill her flooded pussy.

Lester balled Sarah's hair into a fist and thrust his cock up into her face. It hit the back of her throat. Sarah's hand squeezed Lester's cock reflexively as she steadied herself. Lester didn't give her a second to compose herself. With her hair gripped forcibly in his hand, he tugged it up then pushed her head back down roughly onto his cock.

"Ummffff," Sarah sputtered around his cock but Lester didn't let up. He used her mouth as a fuck hole. He thrust up as he pulled her head down. Sarah's hands left his shaft and went to his thigh, bracing herself, trying to slow his pace. But Lester didn't relent. Not at all. He grabbed her head and brought it up and down his unyielding cock.

Sarah grabbed onto Lester's shaft with one hand, squeezing it tightly. Lester slammed her mouth down again, this time it hit her hand. She was trying to control the pace by putting a roadblock in Lester's way. He held her hair even more tightly with one hand, and with the other grabbed her wrist and turned it, making her wince and release his cock.

Lester held her wrist to the side while he held her hair in a pony tail and fucked her face again. Sarah kept moaning, and her throat noises filled the room.

“Gllllluck. Gllaack, Glllaaack,” the saliva in the back of Sarah’s throat splashed against Lester’s cock as he recklessly fucked her open mouth.

“I, I’m gonna cum right down your throat,” Lester grunted, lifting his sweaty, hairy ass off his chair. His skin stuck to the leather seat before peeling away as he repeatedly shoved his cock into Sarah’s pretty mouth.

On screen, Sarah was in the throes of ecstasy, cumming all over Lester’s cock again. Lester watched as the dam of resistance broke inside of her. He held Sarah’s head and hair in a death grip as he fucked the young mother’s pretty little mouth. Spit and saliva ran uncontrollably out of Sarah’s mouth, dripping down Lester’s shaft and covering her hand, soaking his balls.

Lester heaved his body up into a standing position. His fat gut pressed into Sarah’s forehead, forcing her to change position. Sarah didn’t so much as miss a beat. Her hand still pumped Lester’s shaft as best she could while he held her hair into a ponytail and power fucked her mouth. The entire length of his cock disappeared between her sweet lips and down the back of her throat. She was having difficulty breathing but he could hear the sharp intakes of breath through her nose when he pulled his cock back.

She was too busy with her mouth and throat full of Lester’s pistoning cock that she couldn’t see what was on the monitor behind her. The way the Sarah on the screen’s body tensed and gripped Lester hard as he continued to rigorously fuck her and bring her to yet another life changing orgasm.

Lester let go of Sarah’s hair and grabbed her other wrist, pulling her stroking hand off his cock. He held both of them in his hands as his hips continued thrusting forward into Sarah’s waiting mouth. Without the grip on the back of her head, she had more control. He couldn’t slam his cock into her mouth like before but it didn’t stop the young mother from taking almost his entire length into her mouth and just down the back of her throat, pushing herself to swallow him whole.

He roughly pinned both her wrists over her head, against the desk using only one of his hands. She whimpered as he used his weight to pin them there. Her blonde hair cascaded back and forth over her shoulders as her head bobbed. Sarah’s hands were just inches away from the keyboard. Less distance than the length of the cock in her mouth from the unmute button on the keyboard that would fill the room with the sounds of her experiencing orgasmic bliss.

Sarah kept bobbing her head forward onto his cock. She had to back up and reposition herself but now her head was between the edge of the desk and Lester's hefty gut. Lester groaned as his massive hips bucked back and forward again, sliding his cock in and out of Sarah's waiting, drooling mouth.

She tried to stop. To talk to him. To take back control of what was happening and reason with him but Lester wasn't interested. Not this time. He was too far past the point of negotiation. He needed to cum. He wanted to blow his load and fill her stomach. And she was going to take all of it.

He held her wrists firmly against the desk with one hand. The other grabbed the back of her head as he stood there. He roughly grabbed her hair and again balled it into a knot with his fist and force fed her his cock.

He grinned as he felt the head of his cock push down and pop into her throat. Sarah tried to twist her shoulders, to free herself from his grip on her wrists but it was useless. Lester held her in place as he fucked her mouth as if she were a cheap common slut.

"Mhmhmmhmm," Sarah moaned around his cock. She liked it rough like this, Lester knew that. She loved aggression. His aggression.

"Fuck Sarah," Lester chuckled, "I have so much pent up cum ready for you. I'm going to flood your throat with it."

"Ughmphmm," Sarah continued to moan as she struggled to breathe. Lester couldn't help but smirk as he stared down. He rammed his cock into her mouth and down her throat making her gag. Tears welled in the corners of her eyes. Lester's face felt hot and appeared beet red as his hairy balls slammed against her chin over and over.

"Mhmhmmhmm," Sarah moaned, followed by the wet squelching sounds of her deep throating Lester's fat cock. He was still impressed she managed to take so much of him into her.

"Look at me," Lester barked down at Sarah.

She opened her eyes and looked up at him. He pushed, thrusting his cock forward, causing her eyes to shut involuntarily for a split second but she obediently opened them up again. He could feel his jowls quivering against his jaw. He knew she didn't have the best view of him, but he didn't care. All he wanted was those sexy green eyes, staring up at him, begging for more.

“Do you want it? Do you want my cum Sarah? I can’t wait any longer. You’re going to get it all.” Lester murmured.

“Mhmm-hmmhmmmm,” Sarah hummed from around his cock. That was all Lester needed to hear to be sent over the edge.

Lester’s balls clenched.

“Get ready,” Lester gritted his yellowing teeth. His grip tightened on Sarah’s wrists, and his fist knotted in her hair. Sarah yelped around his cock as he pulled her hair tighter than he’d ever done before.

“Ffffucking take it Sarah,” Lester bellowed as his balls released his pent up boiling cum. The milky load rushed down his expanding, throbbing cock shaft sending a distinct shiver up his spine. Lester licked his lips and looked down at Sarah, whose eyes were closed tight, bracing for it. His cock swelled as he rammed it through a barrier into the back of Sarah’s throat and the first blast of hot, sticky cum blasted out of his glistening cock. Sarah somehow gulped, even with Lester’s cock embedded in her throat – taking his acrid load into her.

Lester’s cock didn’t let up. It spurted load after load of his hot oozing cum deep into Sarah’s stomach. Sarah struggled against Lester’s grip on her wrists, wanting to be free. Lester didn’t relent. He held her firm and in place, pinned to the desk as he buried his cock into her throat and continued to unleash the torrent of cum from his balls.

“Ugh,” Lester wheezed, half bent over as the last fetid ropes of cum dribbled out of his cock. His fat sweaty gut was sitting on Sarah’s face, obscuring her. He let go of her wrists and pushed off the desk to stand up straight. Cum dribbled out of Sarah’s mouth as she gasped for breath. Lester squeezed his cock and a last dollap of cum splurged out landing directly on Sarah’s wedding ring. Cum oozed around the diamond, forever embedding itself into the piece of jewellery.

Then he collapsed back in his chair, dragging his cock out of Sarah’s mouth.

She took a deep breath and started coughing, her throat lined with his foul, sticky substance. As her coughing fit subsided, she held her hand to her throat and gave Lester an annoyed look, “What the hell, Lester?”

Lester’s fat legs spun him side to side in the chair. He had an amused smirk on his face. “Shut up, I know you liked that.”

Sarah just sighed and stood up on unsteady feet, “I’m going to go shower. I need to get ready to meet my parents.”

She didn’t even bother getting dressed. Her hair was a mess, and her skin was coated with dried sweat and other bodily fluids from the night before. Sarah turned to leave the room, giving Lester a great look at her naked ass, causing him to stare and his breath caught for a split second. It was fucking perfect.

As Sarah got to the door, Lester said, “Want a coffee?”

She looked back at him with tired eyes. Despite the exhaustion evident in them, the framing of her naked body in the doorway could have been on the cover of Penthouse.

“Sure. That would be nice, Lester,” Sarah disappeared from sight. “Thank you,” she said from the hallway, and a few moments later, he heard the shower start. An idea formed in his head. Perhaps a regression to simpler times, but it was the cleanest solution to achieve his goal for today.

He went to the peephole in his closet. He told himself it was to make sure Sarah was truly taking a shower. He closed one eye as he watched Sarah just standing there, naked, letting the warm water hit her body. Satisfied that he had a small window of opportunity, Lester left the closet and opened the locked drawer in his desk.

The drawer was filled with his most prized possessions. Rows of hard drives, each meticulously labelled with a different woman’s name. There were even a few VHS tapes from his younger days. It had been some time since he had watched those. Most of them were filled with his amateur filming of voyeuristic opportunities, but there were a couple of gems in there. He made a mental note to transfer those old tapes to digital media sometime soon.

It was a mistake to horde all of this in his room. If he ever slipped up, these files could serve to put him away for a long time. That is why he didn’t make mistakes. Lester reached into the back of the drawer. He ran his fingers along several small brown tincture bottles. He settled on one and pulled it out. He held it up to the light and saw it was still half full. More than enough for what he needed today.

He tightened his grip around the bottle, closed and double locked the drawer and plodded into the kitchen. He quickly made Sarah a coffee with the Kureig. He knew from his notes she only took it with a bit of fat free milk, which he dutifully added. Lester untwisted the top of the tincture bottle and used the attached dropper to withdraw one milliliter of the viscous liquid within.

He squeezed it into Sarah's coffee and stirred it around with a spoon. The heat of the coffee wouldn't break the liquid down. It was completely tasteless, he'd tried it himself when he'd first received it. The milk should cover any texture issues. Lester went through the procedure to put the bottle back into his locked drawer before joining Sarah in the bathroom.

She opened the shower to look at him. He eyed her body up and down and then just smiled back and put the coffee down on the counter and then, uncharacteristically, let her enjoy the rest of her shower in peace.

Back in front of his command center, he dismissed the discord notifications of Ned and the others in his guild asking what he was doing and if he was alright. He'd have to answer eventually or mother hen Ned might show up at his door. But for now, he pulled up the camera feeds and watched Sarah finish her shower. As she dried herself off, she took her first sip of the coffee. Lester started a timer on his phone and waited for the drug to do its work.

"Have you seen my clothes?" Sarah asked as she peered around the disarray of Lester's room. She was wearing just a white towel, her bare shoulders and legs on full display.

Lester didn't even bother to look up from his computer, "Nope."

Sarah sighed and rolled her eyes at him. He could be such an unforgivable prick for no reason sometimes. She'd always had trouble reading him when he was like this. There were times when she genuinely felt affection for him in some kind of fucked up way. But not at the moment. It's like he'd gotten what he wanted and was now more interested in his computer games than her. At least he'd made her that coffee though, that was something. He was being nice for a change.

Sarah stepped further into the dirty room, eyes scanning the cluttered floor looking for her bra and panties from the night before. She blinked, forcing her eyes open. They were feeling so heavy. The shower was supposed to have helped to wake her up. Her late session with Lester and the other one in the middle of the night meant she hadn't gotten much sleep.

She continued battling against her exhausted eyelids as she neared Lester's bed. Her bra and panties seemed like a distant thought now. They were here, somewhere in the mess that obscured Lester's floor. Maybe she did need just a bit more sleep.

With a quiet yawn, she let the towel drop to the floor and laid down in Lester's bed. She pulled the covers over herself and wanted to tell Lester to only let her sleep for another hour, but the words never left her lips as she drifted off to sleep.

The screen read 'Unlocked by Face.'

He'd jostled her awake for a moment, testing to see if she was completely out. She'd briefly opened her eyes as Lester held her phone in front of her. The phone opened as she faded back into unconsciousness. He was surprised that it had worked while she was nearly asleep. Lester stared down at Sarah's sleeping form before turning his attention to her phone in his hand. It was kind of funny that he hadn't done this before now. He should probably be proud of himself or something. Or disappointed at his lack of thoroughness.

There were a few missed messages from Sarah's parents, checking in and asking when and where to meet her. He didn't open the messaging app but read the notifications without dismissing them. The next thing he did was silence all calls and notifications before opening her gallery and flipping through her latest photos. He frowned at all the pictures of her children doing idiotic things. He'd been hoping for something a little more racy.

He could go through her phone, app by app, and see what he could find to exploit. Looking through all of her emails and messages, but that seemed like such a futile waste of his time. Besides, he was already setting his grand snare - he doubted there would be much on the phone that he could leverage above and beyond what he was already planning.

Still, being thorough had paid off for him in the past. He plopped back down at his command center and quickly found a phone cloning utility tool on the internet, downloaded it, and then proceeded. He plugged her phone in and, within minutes, had downloaded the entire contents of the device. It wasn't perfect by any means, but every photo, file, and message on it was now his. He'd search through them later.

Lester tossed the phone on the bed and turned back to the dwindling bag of Cheetos next to him as he fired up Steam and found something distracting to play.

"Uhhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned. Her head was still densely groggy as she turned side to side. All she knew was that she was feeling very, very good. Really goooooood. Her hands ran over the luxurious sheets and she balled the expensive material up in her fists. Her back arched off the bed, her naked sweat sheened breasts exposed to the trash-filled room. Her hips rose to meet something wet, her thighs were clamped around what felt like a shape the size of a watermelon.

Something angry growled from between her legs, focusing its anger on vibrating her clit.

“Mhmmmfuck,” Sarah groaned, forcing her head up and her eyes open. She was in Lester’s room. A familiar, fat, bulbous head was nestled between her long, toned legs. The greasy, thinning hair looked wholly out of place between the smooth, flawless skin of her legs.

Ughhhfuck, Lester?” Sarah dropped her head to the pillow and put her hand on the back of his head. His sparse hair felt slick with grease, but she ran her fingers through it anyway – her nails digging into his sweat-dampened scalp.

“Mhmm-hmmm?” His lips vibrated against her swollen clit.

“Uhgod,” Sarah moaned, “What’s...ah...what...time....isit? Fuckkk.”

She felt his shoulders shrug against the bottoms of her thighs. She felt around for her phone, but it didn’t seem to be anywhere nearby. If it were late, her parents would’ve called already. She let herself relax as Lester’s fat, agile tongue swirled and prodded inside of her. She didn’t know how long he had been down there but she already felt so fucking incredibly wet.

So fucking wet.

Lester’s tongue did a slow twirl inside of her, grazing across all of her inner walls. One of her legs kicked up at the intimate sensation. His fat tongue felt so large inside of her pussy. She suppressed a soft moan. His thumb found her clit and began gently massaging it as the entire length of his colossal tongue plunged into her vagina.

“Ugh fuck,” Sarah groaned again, “Jesus Lester. I’m so fucking wet.”

“Mhm-Hmm,” Lester nodded his head as the vibrations from his lips made her groan again.

Lester lapped at Sarah’s pussy. His fat tongue slithering deeper and deeper into her. Her body roiled on the bed as he expertly flicked his tongue up over her G-spot. Again and Again. His thumb gently caressing her clit, drawing precise, exquisite circles on it.

Lester stopped twirling his tongue inside of her. He slowly kissed and sucked around her pussy lips before shoving his entire oversized tongue inside of her. Sarah gasped. Lester withdrew his tongue and then pushed it all the way back in. Out and then in. Out and in. He was fucking her with his tongue.

Sarah knew she could cum like this. It would be easy. 10, 15 more licks and she would be seeing stars. But she also knew her boyfriend's cock was hard. She knew what she wanted.

"Oh fuck Lester, FUCK!" Sarah moaned, "I need you. I need your huge cock inside of me. Please. Please. Just fuck me."

"Nnnn-uhhhh," Lester grunted from between her thighs. Sarah needed him inside of her. She needed to feel that big cock really stretch her out. Touch her in places that only he could reach. His places. She wanted her body connected to his. To feel him pushing inside of her.

"Please," Sarah whined, "Lester please fuck me."

Lester just shook his head and sunk his forearms into the bed, planting himself between her legs. His tongue darting in and out of her, fucking her at an athletically rapid speed.

Sarah dug her nails into the back of his head. Her other hand pulling the sheets free from the bed. She was loving every second with Lester's unstoppable tongue but this was all just a tease. She needed his cock. She needed him inside of her. Now.

"Lester," Sarah whined, "Give it to me. I need your cock. Fuck me! FUCK ME!"

His fat head just shook between her thighs. His thumb increasing its pace with the distinct circles it was drawing over her clit. His fat tongue pushed deep into her and flicked up, dragging itself across the upper wall of her pussy.

Sarah shuddered. She was certain she was going to cum. The sudden bodily explosion had come out of nowhere.

"Ohhhgodfuckk Lester," Sarah shouted, "Don't stop I'm...I'm..."

Lester's tongue darted in and out of her at rapid speed. His driving tongue swirling as it bottomed out and dragged back across the roof of her pussy, her G-Spot throbbing as his rough tongue passed over it, tasting it.

Her thighs clamped down around Lester's watermelon-shaped head. Her nails dug into the bed and into the back of his scalp as she pulled him against her saturated pussy. His tongue and finger never stopped moving, stimulating, pleasing her.

"FFFFFFFFFFFFuuuuccccckkkkk," Sarah threw her head back and arched her torso off the bed. Her naked breasts thrusting up towards the ceiling. Her body shuddered and she gritted her teeth, holding her breath as her orgasm ripped through her like a wildfire. But everything this fire touched burned with an intense, deep, pounding pleasure like a shot of cocaine right to her brainstem. Everything was warm. So fucking hot. She could feel the heat burning within her, scorching her body, threatening to consume all of her.

"Mhmmuhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned as Lester's tongue continued to push deep inside of her. Even with her pussy clenching and seizing around it, it still managed to slither past her outer lips into her. Like a worm or some kind of burrowing parasite. But Jesus Christ it felt amazing.

Sarah's legs involuntarily kicked out as she came again. Lester's tongue slowed its swirling motion, but he still gave her powerful, intimate licks. Her orgasm was slowly dissipating, her body still warm and extra sensitive to the touch of his tongue.

Sarah whined as Lester pulled his tongue out of her. He wiped his mouth on the back of his forearm and knelt in front of her. Sarah pushed her hips up in search of his cock. He held it in one hand and lazily stroked it.

"Fuck Lester," Sarah whined, hips moving on the bed, desperate for his cock. "Fuck me baby."

Lester just stared at her, still stroking his erect cock. He moved away from her open legs and got off the bed.

"Please," Sarah said. Lester didn't say a word. He moved close to her face as he stood next to her. Sarah stuck out her tongue to take him into her mouth, but Lester didn't lean forward. She looked up at him, confused, and saw an angry, intense, lust-filled gaze on his face. She couldn't read it. The only thing she understood was that he was going to do whatever he wanted to her. She bit her lip and ran her thighs against each other.

"Close your eyes and take it," Lester said.

Sarah did as Lester commanded. The last thing Sarah saw before she did was his balls pull up and the slit at the tip of his ugly cock expand ominously. Sarah licked her lips in anticipation. She didn't have to wait long.

Warm, hot, sticky, glue-like cum blasted out onto her face. The first rope landed across the bridge of her nose, sealing one of her eyes shut. Another flying rope hit her cheek. Then another tagged her chin. She licked her lips as Lester's flowing cum ran across her face. She tasted his bitter, salty load and swallowed it before licking up more of the precious fluid.

She couldn't help herself. Her hands ran across her face, dripping with his off-white cum as more and more semen landed on her, covering her face.

"Massage it in, lick it clean," Lester growled from beside her.

Sarah barely heard him. Her hands ran over her face. Lester's warm sperm felt so fucking good on her skin. She still needed his cock inside of her. Her fingertips massaged the sour smelling cum into the pores of her face. And there was so much more of it. Her fingers dragged gobs of his illicit cum into her mouth. Sarah licked her fingers clean and went back for more. Cum ran down her face, oozing onto her neck. She ran her hands over it, not wanting to waste a single drop of it.

Her thighs pressed together tightly, her pussy burning with unfulfilled desire. She still needed Lester's cock deep inside her.

"Fuck Lester how much cum do you have in those giant balls?" Sarah said as she reached out trying to find Lester's cock. Her eyelids were still caked shut from the weight of his cum. She couldn't find his cock. Something landed beside her, hitting the bed. She reached for it, her hands finding a Kleenex box. She pulled one out and wiped her eyes clean of Lester's issue.

When she opened her eyes and looked around the room, she saw her phone just out of reach near the foot of the bed. Lester was back in his computer chair, still completely naked. His fat, girthy stomach sat atop his thighs.

"You know, you really shouldn't sit so much, Lester. Sitting is the new smoking," Sarah said as she reached out for her phone.

"What else am I supposed to do?" Lester said without turning to acknowledge her. She hated it when he did that. Like, he was so dismissive of her. Like what had just happened between them meant nothing to him.

"I just think that you need to take care of yourself a bit more. Maybe get up and go for a walk...SHIT," Sarah panicked as she saw the time on her phone. She unlocked it, and there were several missed calls and messages from her parents, as well as a few from Dan.

“Why didn’t you tell me my phone went off!?” Sarah said, jumping out of bed while clutching her phone. She looked frantically through the room for her bra and panties but couldn’t find anything in the mess.

“I’m not your babysitter,” Lester scoffed without turning to look at her. “Besides, I didn’t hear it.”

Sarah checked her settings, and everything was set to mute. Fuck.

It was almost dinner time. How the hell had she slept all day? She hadn’t been that tired in the shower. Now she needed to get ready. The last message from her parents said they would be coming here to pick her up shortly.

Crap. Crap. Crap. She sent back a quick message apologizing and saying that she would meet them downstairs. Sarah rushed into Dan’s bedroom and threw open her suitcase to find something to wear.

The knock at the door seemed to startle Sarah as she finished applying her makeup. Lester watched from the monitor as she cursed under her breath and stood up, looking at herself in the mirror.

Once Sarah realized how late it was, she’d completely forgotten about him and hurried to get ready. So Lester had done the same. He’d looked through his closet earlier for something reasonably nice enough to put on to meet Sarah’s parents. There was a whole section of the closet full of clothes he’d purchased to soften up his image for Sarah. Back before he’d stopped giving a shit. He’d realized he didn’t need to play dress up for her, she liked him how he was. Otherwise she wouldn’t keep spreading her perfect legs for him.

Still, Lester sat at his command centre in his previously unworn dark blue jeans with a crisp white polo. He kept it untucked so it didn’t emphasize his gut or show off the belt holding his pants up. He put on an upscale watch and sprayed a bit of cologne on. He watched at the monitor as Sarah nervously opened the door.

As always she looked incredible, wearing a tight, hip hugging black dress with a tasteful v-neck that lied ‘I’m sophisticated and sexy but not a slut.’ The dress ran tightly down her arms to her mid-forearm and the skirt went down to her knees.

She smiled at her parents who were waiting on the other side of the door. Lester felt his cock twitch as Sarah hugged her mother, pressing her cheek next to the older woman’s face. In her haste, she hadn't washed completely. Lester's cum was still embedded in her facial pores that had just brushed against her mother.

"Huh," Lester muttered as he took in the image of Sarah's mom. For a woman in her late fifties or early sixties she was well put together. She looked more like she could be Sarah's older sister. Her loose white shirt and tight jeans did little to hide the supple curves of her body. It was very evident where Sarah had gained her perfect proportions from. Her blonde hair was just as striking as Sarah's and may have framed her face better than her daughter's did.

"My, my, my..." Lester licked his lips. This was an unexpected development. Sarah greeted her father but Lester's eyes never left the mother's body. Lester had always been attracted to younger women but here was a more experienced specimen he wouldn't mind sampling.

He tore his eyes away from the screen and uneasily hefted himself out of his chair. He didn't want to miss his window of opportunity. He plodded out of his room and reveled in the wide eyes staring in his direction as he entered the living room.

"Hello," Lester said, his practiced smile on his face as he walked across the floor with his hand extended. He shook Sarah's father's hand.

"Lester, Dan's roommate," Lester said, grinning.

"James," Sarah's father said with a smile, "And this is my wife Renee."

"Wife?" Lester's smile widened as he shook Sarah's mother's hand. "I thought you were the sister."

"Oh," Renee wagged a finger at him, "You're good."

She turned to Sarah, "You didn't tell us Dan's roommate was such a charmer."

"Actually, you haven't told us much about him at all," James said, looking between Sarah and Lester.

"Oh well, Lester is usually quite busy with work, so we don't see a lot of him," Sarah said. She was giving Lester a confused, pleading look. She clearly hadn't expected him to come out and talk to her parents.

"She's right," Lester said, holding up his hands, "I'm usually not here at home. My clients are pretty demanding. I actually got off a long call just now and was going to step out and see if I could grab dinner somewhere.”

“That’s what we’re doing,” Renee said with a smile. She looked at Sarah and her husband before turning her attention back to Lester.

“You should join us. We have a table for four, but I understand Dan had to leave for work,” Renee said in a somewhat insincere way. The way that people do just to be polite in social situations. The expectation was that one would politely decline, and then those with plans wouldn’t feel bad about the person they’d left behind. It was a perfect opening for some social engineering.

“I heard that’s really awful. On a weekend no less.” Lester smiled, “Are you sure? I wouldn’t want to impose.”

“No, not at all,” Renee said, the smile on her face momentarily faltering before she turned to her daughter, “Right, Sarah?”

“Yeah,” Sarah said flatly, giving Lester a sharp look, “Why not.” She didn’t make it a question.

“Great. Where are we going?” Lester said, clasping his hands. He pretended not to notice the look of annoyance that passed between James and Renee or the icy glare coming from Sarah.

The drive to the Italian restaurant didn’t take long. It was just on the other side of the city. James drove them, and he insisted on Lester riding in the passenger seat. Lester had hoped to get Sarah alone in the backseat, but he was already pressing his luck, forcing his way into their dinner plans. There was a little small talk in the car, but it was clear Sarah’s father was annoyed by Lester’s presence. Sarah and her mom quietly caught up in the backseat.

The restaurant was dimly lit inside. The ceilings were low and discreet candles on tables provided most of the illumination. Sarah’s mom had wanted to try this place for months. It had a reputation for great food and a romantic ambience. The hostess sat them at a half-circle booth tucked back in a cozy corner. Lester was last in, sitting in Dan’s place next to Sarah.

They all sat in silence as they looked over the menu. Lester pretended to be reviewing the entrees while his hand crept to Sarah’s knee. She quickly batted it away under the tablecloth.

“What’s so funny, Lester?” James’ eyes peered over his menu. Lester had been amused by Sarah’s rejection, given what he planned for her later that evening. The additional discerning eyes of Sarah’s parents were a variable he would need to quickly adapt to. Challenge accepted.

“Ah, it’s nothing,” Lester said, meeting the man’s eye. He pointed to the linguini Alfredo on the menu, “It’s just that the last time Dan and I got takeout from an Italian place. He got the linguini Alfredo. It didn’t sit right with him. He was in the bathroom all night.”

“Well, that’s quite the image before dinner,” Renee muttered as she took a large sip of wine while keeping her eyes trained on the menu. Lester couldn’t help but widen his smile as the woman drank. He recognized the similarity in reaction to how Sarah coped with uncomfortable situations. Even at her age, Sarah’s mom was quite a beauty. Her face had some minor wrinkles around the eyes, but otherwise, she still looked youthful. Not a strand of grey hair, and her body was still nice and tight. That white blouse really clung to her big breasts, Lester undressed her with his eyes, approximating that Renee had the same incredible tits her daughter had..

Lester felt James’ glare as he looked over the man’s wife. Maybe he was being too obvious about it, but sometimes he lost himself drinking in the shape of a woman. Besides, since meeting Dan and Sarah, Lester had learned that he really, really enjoyed taking a woman from another man. It was his primal nature to conquer. He wouldn’t apologize for that. Without looking at James, Lester innocently returned his eyes to the menu to select his dinner.

After the waiter had taken their orders, Lester ordered a bottle of wine for the table, earning him another glare from James. Sarah just shook her head.

“So tell me, Lester. What is it you do for a living?” James held the bottom of his glass of beer on the table.

“I work in IT,” Lester said, mirroring James, holding his plastic cup of Coke.

James sighed, “What exactly in IT? It’s a broad field.”

“My Dad used to be a management consultant, Lester,” Sarah chimed in next to him, “He knows his stuff pretty well.”

“Used to be? I assume you’re retired now?” Lester said, letting the slight hang there. The implication of James being old. Clearly, he was young enough that he could still be working.

James scoffed and gave Sarah a look before taking a drink of his beer. “Not retired, no. I still work and keep busy. But back to you. What field of IT do you work in?”

“Penetration,” Lester said without elaborating.

Renee coughed on her wine, her eyes going wide.

“What he means,” Sarah interjected, “Is doing things like penetration testing of a company’s network. He does IT security. Making sure that bad actors can’t get into and exploit our computer system.”

“Yes, that’s what I meant,” Lester said. Sarah gave him another sharp look.

“That’s important work,” James said, “It must be hard. Keeping up with all the new changes in the field. Especially the emerging threat of AI and how that will impact things.”

“It’s always hard,” Lester said, putting his hand back on Sarah’s thigh and squeezing it beneath the table. “We’ll see how AI impacts it. The only thing we can do is to keep up with what the latest is in the industry and try to safely adapt it into our systems.”

“Aren’t you worried about some new artificial intelligence that can exploit your networks without you noticing?” James asked. “It seems like everyone is worried about the potential of AI.”

“Sure, I can see that. But at the same time, we’ll probably have our own defensive AI by that point that can monitor our network for attacks.” Lester said trailing off. AI was something he hadn’t played with too much. But the idea of training his own AI model on his hacking and network exploits could be an interesting tool that would allow him to scale up the number of companies he went after. There were other possibilities he would need to ruminate over when it came to AI and his true passion.

“AI is just the latest in a constant stream of new innovations,” Lester waved his hand, tiring of James’ line of questioning. “We’ll figure out the best way to use it as a tool and move on to the next thing. I’d be more worried about those in consulting roles. When AI has the entire knowledge of the internet at its disposal there won’t be much need for consultants. Companies can just ask AI for the answers they need.”

“Huh,” James said contemplatively, “So where exactly do you work?”

Lester gave Sarah a look, “Well I have my own clients but recently I started working somewhere interesting in the healthcare sector. Actually it’s –”

“It’s boring. All this shop talk,” Sarah cut in, “Dad I don’t think Lester wants to talk about work and besides its all just computer stuff right?” Sarah squeezed her thighs around Lester’s hand trying to implore him to change subjects. Lester hid his smirk and looked up at Sarah’s radiant mother.

“What about you, Renee?” Lester turned his predatory gaze to Sarah’s mother. “What do you do?”

“I teach the first grade,” Renee said with a warm smile. “I know it’s not as glamorous as James’ job or even yours or Sarah’s but I just love seeing their little faces and –”

Lester wasn’t listening. A schoolteacher. Lester’s cock stirred awake and his hand subtly trailed up Sarah’s bare thigh. She softly held his hand under the table, stopping his perverse advance. He’d never had a school teacher before. There was some immature, juvenile part of him that told him he needed to claim one.

Renee was still talking. Lester took a long drink of his Coke, his hand trying to push past Sarah’s grip on it. She shot him a look that her parents seemed to miss. A warning. Who cared? She was his to do with as he wanted.

Her hand tried to pry his fingers off, but he dug them firmly into her pliant thigh.

“It’s too bad Dan isn’t here,” Renee said, snapping Lester back to the present conversation. “I don’t like how much his work makes him travel so much. It’s not fair to do that to someone with a family.”

“It’s part of the job,” James said, “When you have clients around the country, you have to take care of them.”

“Well, he has a family to take care of, too,” Renee added.

“We’re doing fine, Mom,” Sarah chimed in, her hand still tight on Lester’s fingers.

The waiter came by, carrying plates of food. He put plates of pasta down in front of Sarah and Renee first, and another server behind him brought James and Lester’s food.

“I know, dear,” Renee said, “It’s just... I know how hard it’s been. With him in Chicago and all. All I’m saying is he needs to get his priorities straight.”

“That’s what he’s doing, Mom,” Sarah said.

“He’s doing what he needs to do to put food on the table,” James said.

“Yeah,” Lester said with a mouthful of spaghetti, “He works so hard. Always working. Nothing can stop the guy. Look at him now, even though he just got laid off again, he’s still burying himself in work with one of his clients.”

“What?” James said, putting his fork down on the plate. “Laid off, again?”

Sarah shot Lester another in a series of pissed off looks.

“Sarah?” Renee said, “Dan got laid off again?”

“It’s not like that, Mom,” Sarah said, tearing her eyes from Lester, “His company lost a few big clients and they had to reduce staff.”

“That’s twice in such a short time, Sarah,” James said, sitting back in the booth. “Are you sure it’s not actually a Dan problem?”

“No,” Sarah said, “No, it’s really not. He’s great at what he does. That’s why he has all these clients wanting to work with him. It’s just... how his last company was run. Dad, you’ve always said Dan should go off on his own, and now he’s doing just that.”

“Still,” James said, “When you have a wife and kids at home. That’s risky to up and bet everything on going it alone.”

“I don’t know, Sarah. I don’t like it. Perhaps Dan should consider doing something else. I might be able to get him onto the school board or in administration. They have to build and update schools sometimes.” Renee added.

Lester just sat there. Slurping his pasta, minding his own business as Sarah and her parents argued about what was best for her family’s future and talked at length about Dan’s shortcomings.

“Can we just eat?” Sarah finally said.

“Alright, alright,” James said, “But we aren’t done with this conversation, Sarah. When Dan gets back, I’m going to talk to him about all of this. Let him know.”

“Okay, Dad,” Sarah sighed. James and Renee started eating their pasta. Renee’s wine was in need of a refill. Lester continued to absently devour his pasta.

“Is everything okay, dear?” Renee asked, looking at Sarah.

“Yeah, Mom, everything is fine,” Sarah said.

“Then why aren’t you eating?” Renee asked.

Sarah’s right hand was firmly in place, holding Lester’s left hand from progressing up her thigh.

“Are you feeling okay?” James asked his daughter.

“I’m fine, Dad,” Sarah said.

James’ eyes widened. “Look, I know we came on a little strong about Dan’s situation, but we’re just worried about you both and our grandkids.”

“I said I was fine, Dad, don’t worry about it,” Sarah said.

“Then let’s eat,” James said, holding his fork up waiting for Sarah to dig into her food. She dug her nails into the back of Lester’s hand and then, reluctantly, let go of his hand and grabbed her fork. She tried to casually move her left hand below the table.

But Lester didn’t waste any time. His fingertips began drawing light circles on Sarah’s inner thigh. He was a great multitasker. Sucking down his spaghetti with one hand, while the other fondled Sarah in front of her parents. He saw Renee and James exchange a look, clearly concerned about the sloppy way he was eating. Sarah’s left hand gripped his wrist, trying to stop him but it was too late.

Sarah pretended nothing was wrong and began neatly twirling her fork into her pasta in the same way her parents were doing. Her face went deadly still as Lester inched his hand up her thigh, now groping under the hem of her dress.

“Are you sure everything is okay dear?” Renee asked Sarah.

“Yes mom,” Sarah said too quickly, “Everything is fine.”

“You know,” James said as Lester’s fingers arrived at Sarah’s panty covered pussy. His index and middle finger began tracing up and down her slit. “When your mom says she’s fine,” James continued, nodding, “She never really is.”

Sarah sighed but Lester could hear the subtle, almost imperceptible whine of aching desire in her throat.

“Dad, everything is good.” Sarah finally said, shovelling another piling forkful of pasta into her mouth with finality, like the period of a sentence. She clearly wanted the conversation to move on and for Lester to stop what he was doing.

Lester wasn't going to miss an opportunity like this. He'd never been on a double date before. Much less one with in-laws. With two of his fingers he pulled Sarah's panties to the side and ran his middle finger up her naked slit, quickly finding her clit.

Sarah closed her eyes, steadying herself and let out a long breath.

"Dear, sweetie, you can talk to us," Renee said. "I know it's been hard. You've basically been a single parent these past few months. And there are other factors at play too."

"Huh? What other factors?" James said, looking at his wife.

Lester's finger played lightly with Sarah's engorged clit. It was an awkward angle for Lester but he was determined to make it work. His fat fingers held her pussy lips open as he continued to massage one of Sarah's most sensitive spots.

"Intimacy," Renee said in a hushed voice to her husband, who just rolled his eyes and went back to eating his pasta.

"I know it's not really something we've ever talked about," Renee put down her fork, "But it's really important for a healthy, lasting relationship."

"Mom. Please. Don't," Sarah said, eyes wide, staring down at her plate. Lester pushed one finger entirely inside of Sarah, making her bite her lip.

Renee nudged her husband and gestured to Sarah. From their perspective, it looked like Renee had hit on a particularly sensitive topic. Lester curled his finger inside Sarah's narrow canal running against the inside roof of her pussy. She was doing all she could to try to keep her breathing under control. Lester pretended to be completely oblivious to their conversation, opting to look like he was nonchalantly focusing entirely on his plate of food.

He slurped up a noodle while he moved his grubby hand back and forth inside Sarah's panties. His palm ran over her clit while his delving fingertip pulled across her G-Spot. Sarah's thighs clamped down around his hand, trying to stop him from touching her any further. But his finger was already inside of her. There was no stopping him. No denying him.

"Renee. I don't want us to talk about this. Especially while we're eating," James said.

"I know you don't," Renee said, "But look at her. She's obviously having a hard time right now. Dan lives in a different city, and then when they are together, he just leaves her for a business trip?”

With a shaky hand, Sarah drank her wine. “It’s a wonder she hasn’t found a paramour.”

Sarah coughed on her wine and spit some back into the glass.

“Okay, that’s quite enough. Let’s just leave this alone. You can talk to her about it later. Not at dinner.” James said, emphasizing his last sentence and tilting his head towards Lester.

“Oh, right,” Renee gave her daughter an apologetic smile. Sarah twirled pasta onto her fork. As she raised it to her mouth, Lester abruptly stuck another of his fingers into her. Sarah suppressed a moan and just stared down at her plate while she chewed her food. Lester’s fingers slid in and out of Sarah as far as they could go while she tried to immobilize him between her clenched thighs.

Both fingertips pushed and dragged across the familiar patch of her G-spot. Sarah was ever so subtly shaking, trying to hold herself back from exploding at the table. Her breasts were rising and falling as she breathed hard, no longer concerned with the pasta on her plate.

“Sarah,” Renee said again, “Are you sure you’re okay?”

“I’m fine,” Sarah said.

“What happened to your wrists, Sarah? They’re all bruised up.” Renee said, noticing the new marks from Lester having pinned her to the desk earlier in the day.

“It’s nothing,” Sarah breathed.

Renee and James exchanged a concerned look. James put his hand on Sarah’s shoulder, “You sure, honey?”

“Just,” Sarah breathed, pushing her father’s hand off her shoulder, “Please don’t touch me right now. I’m okay. Really.”

“Actually,” Sarah said, looking at Lester, “I need to use the washroom. Could you move, please?”

Lester levelled a look of mild annoyance at his roommate’s wife and reluctantly pulled his fingers from her before stepping out of the booth. Sarah slid across and got out.

“I need to use the ladies’ room too,” Renee said, following behind Sarah as they disappeared into the back of the restaurant.

James stared after them as Lester sat back down. He took the two fingers that had been inside of Sarah and stuck them both into his open mouth, sucking off her tangy juices. James looked at him in disgust. Lester indicated the sauce on his plate.

“What? It’s absolutely delicious,” Lester chuckled to himself.

James crossed his arms and stared at the ceiling, shaking his head.

When the women returned to the table, Renee politely asked the waiter for takeout boxes to put their food in. She whispered something to her husband, who just nodded back.

“May I ask, is it one bill or will you be splitting?” The waiter asked. As James was about to speak, Lester made a show of opening his wallet and handing the waiter three crisp hundred-dollar bills.

“That should be enough,” Lester said. He noticed James make a tacit note of all the bills left in his wallet.

“I’ll be right back with your change, sir,” The waiter said, bowing slightly.

“No need, thank you for tonight,” Lester said.

“Thank you, sir,” The waiter beamed before smiling at everyone seated at the table and then departed.

“You didn’t have to do that Lester,” James said, “But thank you for dinner.”

“Yes thank you,” Renee said to him, something having changed in her eyes.

“Thanks Lester,” Sarah said with a fake smile as she stared at him.

“It’s the least I could do for crashing your family dinner. Besides, work is going well, and I like to treat my friends,” Lester said. Renee gave James a look while finishing the rest of her wine. Soon they were all outside the restaurant heading back to the car.

“You know, it’s late,” Lester said as they crossed the parking lot. “I can call an Uber to take Sarah and I back to the apartment so you two can make your way back to your hotel.”

“It’s fine,” James said, not breaking his stride. “I’ll drive you.”

“It’s no trouble. There’s an Uber waiting around the corner,” Lester said, holding up his phone to show James the open app.

“I’m going to drive my daughter back so I know she’s safe and sound. I don’t trust Ubers and I want to make sure my little girl is safe. Chicago can be a dangerous town after dark.” James clicked the ignition button on his keys and the car turned on.

“Dad,” Sarah said, “It’s not that bad. But I’d love for you to drive me back.”

She looked at Lester, telling him to drop it. Lester just shrugged his shoulders and followed the group to the car. The drive back to the apartment was uneasily quiet. Lester could feel the tension in the car. He knew Sarah’s parents wanted to talk to their daughter about Dan, his job and the state of their relationship but neither were going to do that in front of him.

When the car pulled up in front of the apartment building, everyone got out.

“Lester,” James said, nodding to him. That wasn’t going to do.

Lester extended his hand to shake, “I’m a lefty. Great to meet you.”

Come on, shake it. This hand has been all over and inside of Sarah today.

James awkwardly used his own left hand to shake Lester’s. A shit eating grin spread across Lester’s face as they pumped hands. James had a strong grip, trying, subtly, to intimidate Lester. He didn’t let it bother him. Instead, as they pulled apart, Lester made sure to slide his index and middle fingers across James’ palm.

“Renee,” Lester said, turning to Lester’s mom, “I look forward to seeing you again.”

“Oh, well, you too,” Renee said, surprised as Lester went in for a hug. He didn’t do the polite, ass out hug that was expected. Instead, he pressed his entire torso and crotch against Sarah’s mother’s. She patted him on the back awkwardly, “Thank you for dinner, again. You didn’t have to do that.”

“It was my pleasure. Next time, I’ll make sure we get dessert,” Lester held the hug for a few seconds too long before pulling back.

“Lester, give us a minute with Sarah alone, would you?” James said, staring at him, clearly not amused by the overly familiar hug he’d given his wife.

“Sure thing,” Lester said, waving over his head as he walked into the building. He stood around the corner in the lobby. He was waiting to intercept Sarah before she headed upstairs, but he could still see the animated discussion from outside from his vantage point. He stood there impatiently, waiting for Sarah. After everything that happened with Otis, she needed to be brought down a peg. Especially before his package arrived.

Despite not wanting to leave Chicago, Dan had a great day in Washington. He’d been in several meetings with important figures at Sentinel Securities. When the meetings started, Dan hadn’t known many of the attendees’ names, but an interesting thing kept happening. At some point during the meeting, Dan’s subject matter expertise took center stage and became the focal point of the hour. Many pointed questions were directed at him.

He’d been able to answer them with ease, giving plenty of additional context and several times even going a step further by highlighting what the company would need to do down the road. He’d given them a lot to think about. Those important figures left the meeting knowing Dan’s name and expressing their profuse thanks for his time. It felt great. Satisfying. Especially after all of the shit he’d been through recently, just being able to be that guy again. The one everyone respected and sought out for advice.

He had even managed to land himself an invitation for after-work drinks with some of the team. Dan sipped his beer while the guy across from him, Carlos, went on and on about his job.

“It’s like finding a needle in the haystack sometimes. I’m like the digital Sherlock Holmes. If the company needs extra resources, it outsources to us. We’re better equipped than their internal teams, have more resources, and aren’t constrained by their bureaucracy,” Carlos said.

“What do you mean? And which company?” Dan drew him out.

Carlos started to explain, but before he could, another coworker, Tricia, cut in.

“The company,” she said, making air quotes with her fingers. She was an attractive brunette with pale skin, probably ten or so years younger than Dan. Despite his best efforts, he had noticed how generous her curves were and the indiscreet attention she received from her male colleagues. “That’s what we call them,” Tricia said, “We’re not supposed to talk about them, especially in public places like this. So we call them ‘the company’. They may or may not be one of the three-letter agencies you probably know from movies. Not the one that handles international stuff. The other main one.”

“Yeah, them,” Carlos cut in, “Anyways, they have all this red tape they need to follow. It can take weeks just for them to obtain permission to investigate something minor. Everything they do online is tracked, so they need to account for it. Say they want to look into some dark web edgelord, they need to fill out a form and run a request up the flagpole. Someone higher up needs to approve it, but with the current administration, everyone is afraid of making the wrong move, so they handle these by committee. And those committees can take weeks to convene sometimes, when the people aren’t playing golf or doing whatever else it is they do.”

“And we are very supportive of however they want to spend their time, because it means they’ll outsource more work to us,” Tricia said.

“Exactly,” Carlos said, “It’s faster for them to outsource some of their intel gathering to us. Things that aren’t top secret or critical. We package up all the information we can dig up on an organization or individuals and prepare a docket for them to review.”

“I don’t remember Sherlock Holmes making dockets,” Dan smiled.

Tricia laughed and took a sip of her whiskey, staring at Dan over the rim of her glass. Dan knew that look and what it meant. He focused his attention back on Carlos.

“Maybe not,” the man said, “But I’m not in the field arresting criminals either. What I’m saying is that I follow the clues. I gather the information and draw conclusions. I finish the puzzle, wrap it up, and put a bow on it for the company to do what it will.”

“So, how exactly do you track down a bad guy online? How do you even know who the bad guys are?” Dan asked as he felt someone’s leg brush against his own under the table.

“Depends,” Carlos said, “Sometimes we get tips and investigate. At other times, we are asked to monitor and observe specific groups or individuals. Other times someone in the company wants to look good and hit a certain quota on a certain type of criminal and has us monitoring the dark web, illicit message boards and other places where we these criminals lurk and do the degenerate shit they do.”

“Huh,” Dan nodded thoughtfully. Was there a way to get this guy to help him dig into Lester? “Does the company ever give you a real life individual and ask you to dig into their online activities?”

“It happens on occasion,” Tricia said, “We dig up what we can and prepare a docket on them.”

“That is really interesting,” Dan sat back in his chair, thinking. He wasn’t sure where his head was at. His gut told him to keep looking into Lester. But after his talk with Sarah, he’d put it on the back burner. But it still itched at him. There wouldn’t be any harm in this guy looking into Lester for him, but ethically it would be a strange ask. Especially from a fairly new outside contractor like Dan. He didn’t know the political climate well enough inside Sentinel, or how this guy would take his request.

“I’m going to hit the head,” Carlos said standing up. The other people at the table just nodded and went back to their discussions. The leg brushed against his under the table again. Tricia was sitting across from him, staring. Her eyes on his glass.

“You know what else is interesting,” she said in a low enough voice that none of her colleagues could hear. “Sentinel Securities has a very strict no fraternization policy. I checked it again just today. The interesting part is that there is nothing in there forbidding fraternizing with our subcontractors like yourself. That’s an interesting tidbit, don’t you think?”

Dan pretended to play it cool and took a sip of his beer. She was giving him subtle bedroom eyes and her finger danced around the rim of her whiskey glass. Dan leaned back in his chair, smiled, and held up his left hand and pointed to his wedding ring.

“You’re no fun,” Tricia fake pouted.

“Oh actually I’m a lot of fun,” Dan finished his beer and leaned forward towards Tricia conspiratorially, “You’ll just never get to find out just how much.”

Dan stood up to get another beer, not breaking eye contact with Tricia. She looked like she wanted to jump his bones right there. By the time Dan returned to the table, Carlos had returned and the workplace conversation continued while Dan tried to downplay Tricia’s flirtations.

Sarah put on a relaxed face as her parent’s car pulled away from the building. When they were out of sight she sighed and walked into the building. She quickly crossed the lobby towards the bank of elevators around the corner, only to find Lester waiting for her.

“You’re such an asshole,” Sarah said walking past him.

“What did I do?” Lester said innocently.

“Oh, I don’t know... just put your fingers inside me at dinner making my parents think I was on the verge of crying. Oh, and telling them all about Dan’s job.” Sarah said, “Now they want to stick their noses into my home life. You know that my mom is probably going to be asking all about my sex life now? Or that my Dad is probably going to have some kind of awkward sit-down conversation with Dan? You didn’t have to do that.”

“I’m sorry,” Lester said as Sarah pressed the up button on the elevator. She sighed and turned to look at Dan’s obese roommate.

“For not making you cum at the table,” Lester sneered.

“Un-believable,” Sarah said, “That’s what you took from that? Do you think I wanted you to do that in front of my parents? God, that was so fucking awkward Lester. Why the hell did you invite yourself to dinner like that?”

“Your mom invited me,” Lester said.

“No. She didn’t. It was just her being polite, you weren’t supposed to accept!” Sarah said, exasperated.

“Well, in this day and age, when everyone is on the spectrum, she should know better than to assume people pick up on every social cue. Some school teacher she is,” Lester said, leaning back against the wall.

“You are a real piece of work sometimes, you know that?” Sarah said, “Tonight was too much. Fucking with Dan and I is one thing, that’s our own creation. But my parents? My family? No, Lester. That’s too far.”

“Look,” Lester said, stepping up to her as the elevator doors opened, “I’m sorry, okay. I’ve never met a girlfriend’s parents before.”

He put his hands on her arms and gently rubbed them, “I have no idea what I’m doing. I’m sorry. Let me make it up to you.”

“It’s going to take years of therapy and a lot of wine to get past this,” Sarah shook her head, standing there as Lester continued to rub her arms.

“Then let’s go up and get you a glass or two. And then we’re going out,” Lester let go of her arms and walked past her into the elevator.

“Out? Out now? Where?” Sarah asked, following him into the elevator.

“Well, I was going to surprise you, but your Dad shot down my Uber idea,” Lester chuckled, “We’re going to go see a movie.”

Half an hour later, with a few more glasses of wine in her system, Lester drove Sarah to a seedier part of Chicago she hadn’t been to before. Sarah looked out the window of Lester’s SUV at the rundown buildings and deserted storefronts.

“Uh, the movie theatre is around here?” Sarah asked tentatively.

“Yup, we’re close,” Lester said.

“And you’re not going to tell me what movie we’re seeing?” Sarah looked at Lester. Despite sitting well back from the wheel, his portly gut still pressed up against it. Part of her still couldn’t reconcile how she kept finding herself in these positions, being driven through an area like this by a man like that. His schlubby appearance and complete lack of hygiene should be intolerable. Before all of this, just being alone in a car with another man besides her husband would’ve made her feel guilty. And now here she was, just a normal Saturday night being fingered at the dinner table and letting this troglodyte take her wherever he pleased.

“This better not be a Star Wars movie. I’ve never gotten into those,” Sarah said.

“How can you not like Star Wars?” Lester asked, “It has everything. Action, good versus evil, romance, space battles. Come on.”

“I don’t know. It’s just not my thing. Dan and I watched one of the new ones, and I guess it was okay.” Sarah said.

“Which one?” Lester asked, peering at her while he drove.

“I don’t know the name of it. But the girl fought some kind of zombie guy who shot lightning bolts out of his fingers at the end.” Sarah said.

“Really? Really? That one you like? That one sucks.” Lester scoffed.

“I thought you liked Star Wars?” Sarah asked.

“That’s not Star Wars,” Lester said dejectedly.

“Really? I could have sworn it was a Star Wars movie.” Sarah said. She honestly couldn’t remember. And the wine probably didn’t help. Not that she really cared either way.

“It’s corporate fascism,” Lester muttered under his breath as he pulled the car into a dark parking lot.

Sarah looked around for the lights of an AMC but didn’t see anything even resembling a movie theatre. The street was dark, but there were a few illuminated signs. A Pawn shop, cash and loan, a run-down pizza shop, but not a movie theatre.

“Come on, let’s go,” Lester said, getting out of the vehicle. Sarah suddenly felt very overdressed in her black dress with its deep v-neck. In this kind of neighborhood, she wouldn’t feel comfortable in jeans and a sweater.

Sarah hesitantly got out of the car and followed Lester onto the dimly lit street. She didn’t see another soul in sight. The city soundtrack of constant traffic seemed more distant here.

“Lester,” Sarah said, wrapping her arms around herself, “Are you sure about this? Where’s the theatre?”

Even if she was committed to following Lester’s plans, this area was really sketchy. If something happened, she doubted Lester would be able to protect her.

“Right here,” Lester said with a big grin on his face. He stopped in front of nondescript door that was painted black. It was just there, no number, no indication of what was behind it, set in the brick wall. She would have walked past it without even noticing it. She looked up above the door and there was some kind of sign there but it wasn’t illuminated. Lester grabbed the door and pulled it open revealing a well lit shop of some kind inside. Sarah leveled her green eyes at Lester look and stepped inside.

This was not a movie theatre. The hair on the back of Sarah’s neck immediately stood on end. This was... some kind of adult toy store. There were rows and rows of adult merchandise from books to dildos, sex swings, something called a cock cage to other strange objects whose purposes eluded Sarah.

She stood there at the entrance, transfixed, taking it all in. But it wasn’t like one of those sex shops that you see in strip malls in the suburban neighborhoods back home. This one looked like it was from some bygone era. Like a hardcore emporium you’d only hear about back before smartphones.

“Lester,” A man behind the counter barked warmly. Sarah looked up and the voice came from an older man with greying hair pulled back into a ponytail behind the counter. He nodded at Lester in that stupid perfunctory way men do. The guy was old, like Sarah's dad's age, he was white with one of those soul patches under his chin. He looked over his dark eye glasses at Sarah. His mouth made some kind of weird wet whooshing sound as his eyes ran up her body.

"Dale," Lester nodded back, stepping up beside Sarah and taking her hand in his. She felt her heartbeat slow just a tick as Lester held her, steadying her. She realized she'd unconsciously leaned into him.

"What's your pleasure tonight?" The man almost chuckled, both hands planted on the glass counter in front of him. His eyes still uncomfortably glued to Sarah's body.

"We're here to watch a movie," Lester said, leading Sarah towards the back of the store.

"It's a good one tonight," Dale said as they walked away from him around the corner.

"I haven't had a chance to mop up yet," he shouted after them as an afterthought.

They passed by a few rows of adult movies that were apparently for rent. Sarah even saw a few shrink-wrapped VHS tapes tucked against a far wall. There was a sign about some kind of loyalty punch card, but her attention turned to Lester, who led her through a black curtain over a doorway. On the other side was a dark hallway illuminated only by a few black lights. The walls were covered in some kind of abstract expressionist art that Sarah thought was out of place and dated. Along both sides of the hallways were a series of doors. Soft light, muffled moans, and music emanated from some of the closed doors. Sarah's flats momentarily stuck to the ground with each cautious step she took.

Sarah's mind was racing with the possibilities. Just where had Lester led them? As they walked down the hallway, one of the doors behind them opened. Sarah turned to the hallway, bathed in light, loud music now pumping into the hallway. A middle-aged black man with a thick, jutting gut stepped out while pulling his pants up. Sarah's eyes widened at the sight of his exposed semi-hard cock.

The man's eyes quickly met Sarah's, and he gave her a lecherous smile. Sarah turned around and renewed her grip on Lester's hand as she felt the piercing gaze of the black man on her ass in the tight dress.

"We really shouldn't be here," Sarah said in a low voice. "Besides, we said we wouldn't do anything without Dan."

“We did plenty last night without Danny,” Lester said, “And today. But I know. That’s why I think you should call him.”

“Call him? Here?” Sarah asked incredulously.

“Yeah. FaceTime him now. Show him what’s about to happen.” Lester said.

“What’s about to happen, Lester?” Sarah said.

Lester smirked. The hallway turned, and a pair of black double doors were abruptly now right in front of them. Lester let go of her hand and reached around to grab a handful of Sarah’s ass. “We’re going to watch a movie, just like I promised.”

He squeezed her ass hard and pushed open the doors, propelling Sarah inside. The room was dark with a bright light illuminating one blank wall. Sarah squinted as her eyes adjusted to the bright light. She stood at the doorway for a second before Lester grabbed her hand and led her into the room.

Sarah stifled a gasp as she realized that the bright light was a projector screen on the far wall.

“I told you I was taking you to a movie,” Lester smirked as he looked back at her. On the screen was a wide eyed woman with a bright red ball gag in her mouth, hands strapped behind her back as a large, hulking sweaty man fucked her vigorously from behind.

Sarah had heard of places like this but never expected one to exist so close to where she slept, never mind actually stepping foot in one. Lester tugged on her hand and pulled her forward, further into the dingy room. The floors here were sticky, just like the outside hallway before. Sarah could only imagine why. It wasn’t a large room. Much smaller than a typical multiplex movie theatre. Lester was leading them down a short central aisleway, with seven or so seats in rows on either side of them.

They weren’t alone in the room. There were several silhouettes of people, presumably men, each sitting alone, watching the movie. Sarah’s mouth dropped open as they passed a row and a man was openly stroking his stiff cock while staring at the screen. His hungry eyes shifted to Sarah’s body as she walked by. She was sure that the man’s eyes never returned to the screen.

Lester led them to an empty row, thankfully, well away from anyone else there. Someone coughed in the back of the theatre as Lester and Sarah took their seats. Sarah cringed as she sat down in the hard plastic seat. It wasn't comfortable, and it was probably easy for the staff to clean off. The thought revolted her deeply.

"Lester," Sarah hissed low enough so no one would hear, "What the hell are we doing here?"

"I told you, silly, seeing a movie," Lester said.

She squeezed his hand, "You didn't say this kind of movie! And this place? What the fuck?"

"You didn't ask. All you wanted to talk about was the Mickey mouse-ification of one of the greatest franchises of all time." Lester smirked. The muffled moans of the thrashing woman on the screen filled the small room.

"Besides," Lester let go of her hand and squeezed her thigh, making her dress ride up, "I know how you like being the center of attention. Everyone in here is looking at you now, not up at the screen." Sarah tentatively looked over her shoulder and immediately made eye contact with someone sitting a few rows back. A rough-looking older man who seemed to have lived a very hard life. She immediately snapped her head back to the screen in front of her.

"See?" Lester asked.

Sarah rolled her eyes, "Not hard to be the center of attention in a place like this. Women don't come in here. Ever."

"You'd be surprised," Lester said, "This place might not be the Ritz but it has a certain appeal."

"Oh? And what is that? Used VHS tapes that other guys have exploded on? Suspiciously sticky... everything? Let me guess, they do a good brunch buffet?" Sarah crossed her arms, "We should go. Now."

"Anonymity. The freedom to let go," Lester hand continued up Sarah's now bare thigh.

"Stop," Sarah said, putting her hand on his.

"This again? It didn't work at the restaurant," Lester chuckled under his breath as he dug his fingers into Sarah's thigh flesh.

"Lester...." Sarah said.

“Admit it, you liked what I did in front of your parents,” Lester said.

“No, I didn’t. Not at all. It was fucked up and –”

“You love fucked up. The only way it would have been better is if Dan and his parents were at the table too,” Lester chuckled.

“Fuck,” Sarah said as she imagined it. At the same time Lester’s hand wrestled free of hers and travelled up her dress until it found her panty covered pussy.

“This is so wrong Lester. All of this. We- I shouldn’t be here,” Sarah stifled a moan as Lester’s fat finger slid carefully up and down her pussy lips.

“I know how much you want to be bad. Just let go. Embrace it.” Lester whispered in her ear. He was looking over her shoulder at something behind them.

“Lester....”

“Just call Dan. Now.” Lester said quickly. He softened a bit and said, “That’s what you want right, to include him? To surprise him? How wild will it drive him to see you in a place like this?”

Sarah fumbled with her small purse and grabbed her cell phone. There was a message from Dan, saying he was out having drinks with some new colleagues at his client. Sarah would be mortified if they saw her in this state. Mortified and insanely turned on that strangers in Dan’s life would see her in such a position.

She stared at the phone, debating what to do. She knew that if she called Dan and saw that look on his face, there was a chance she would completely lose control. And that wasn’t good in a public setting like this with so many eyes on her. Eyes on her body. Watching her. Wanting her, desiring to be with her. Wanting to –

Lester’s fat thumb pressed the video call option. It left a greasy smear across her phone screen. Sarah’s eyes widened like saucers as she looked at Lester in disbelief.

“So what are you going to do with the new administration coming in and scrapping all these environmental initiatives tied to our buildings? Don’t you worry that Sentinel will just cancel your contract?” Tricia asked as she twirled her fingers around her necklace, drawing attention to the plunging neckline of her shirt.

Dan's gaze snapped down to the tops of her breasts for a second before making eye contact with her. She smiled knowingly, a self-satisfied smile growing on her face.

"It's not all save the trees here," Dan said, looking around the table at Carlos and the other people out with them from Sentinel Securities. He felt someone's foot brush against his calf.

"Sure, I can help you build and operate buildings that reduce your environmental footprint but we're also talking about being self-sustaining, still running when the power grid goes down, reducing operational costs for the life of the building, there are lots of other impacts to the bottom line other than just flashy powerpoint slides touting how environmentally friendly a building is."

That shut her up for a second. Maybe she would back off and stop trying to rub her leg against his now. But from the look on her face, it only seemed to have emboldened her.

Thankfully, his phone rang just at that moment. Sarah's beautiful face appeared on the screen, catching Tricia and a few others' attention. Her eyes locked onto Dan's phone screen and the picture of Sarah on it. It felt good, letting this woman know that Dan had such a beautiful woman waiting at home for him.

"Sorry, it's the wife, I need to take this," Dan said, grabbing his phone and stepping away from the table. Sarah must be done with dinner with her folks and checking back in at the apartment.

"No fun," Tricia fake pouted keeping her eyes on Dan.

He answered the video call and cocked his head. Sarah's face was on the screen, but it was super dark all around her. Like she had the lights off and was watching something on TV. She had a weird expression on her face. She said something, but Dan couldn't hear it over the noise of the bar. He held up a finger, then fished an AirPods case out of his pocket and slipped the left one in.

His ear was immediately filled by a weird slapping sound and muffled moaning noises from a woman offscreen.

"Sarah?" What's going on? Are you still at dinner with your parents?" Dan asked.

"No?" Sarah said, biting her lip. It was still hard to hear her. The TV was turned up too loud, but he could at least make it out. She typed something on the screen, and his chat notification opened.

S: I can't hear you. Too loud here

He typed back.

D: Where are you? Where's your parents?

S: They dropped us off a while ago. Lester took us to a movie.

D: Us? Lester went to dinner? A movie?

S: Lester invited himself. It was awkward, and everyone hated it except Lester. And ye,s a movie.

D: I don't like that he met your parents. That's too far. I wish I had been there.

S: Dan. Lester took me to a porn movie.

D: What!!?

Sarah turned the camera. Dan saw a screen in some shitty looking room where a woman was bound and getting double teamed by two large ugly men. How the fuck had she just happened to get to a porn theatre?

D: What the fuck?

S: I know. I'm sorry. I didn't know we were coming here

S:

S:

S:

Dan waited in frustrating agony as he waited for Sarah to finish typing. Her camera slanted, and he couldn't see the screen anymore. Just the back of some ugly, old-school-looking red theatre chair.

She was still typing.

D: Sarah? What the fuck? What the hell is going on!?

Lester had managed to get two fingers inside of her. Sarah was partially aware that Dan was still on the video call but her phone hung limply in her hand. Her head was resting on the back of the gross red plastic seat, breasts rising and falling rapidly as Lester's fat fingers resumed what they had started at the dinner table, plunging into the depths of her sex and tantalizing her sensitive nerves.

Lester's breath was warm on her neck making her body tingle. His fingers pumped in and out of her, making their patented 'come here' motion, finger tips dragging past her G-Spot. Repeatedly doing the same thing over and over. This wasn't as awkward a position as at the dinner table when he was trying to be covert in front of her parents. Now, here in this porn theatre in front of all these degenerates, his entire body was turned towards her, his wrist fully turned making it obvious what he was doing.

Wet, squelching sounds of her juices around Lester's fingers seemed to echo into the room, battling against the moans of the women on screen for audio supremacy. She knew that it couldn't be that loud. Couldn't beat whatever sound system was rigged up in this room. But she still let herself believe it. Let herself believe that everyone could hear what was happening. Her legs spread open, allowing her lover full access.

She heard shuffling behind her and pants unzipping. Someone was sitting right behind them.

Lester's fingers slowed down, pulling and dragging and pushing back in in some sort of twisted, ecstasy inducing torture. Part of her brain was telling her this was going too far, that she shouldn't lose herself in a place like this but her body quickly slammed the door shut on that voice and just gave in to the deep seated pleasure Lester was giving to her.

She'd been soo horny all day. She had been craving a cock inside of her. Lester's cock. But he hadn't given it to her yet. All fucking day she just wanted to fuck this man and feel some of what she felt from last night. His fingers felt amazing but she needed the real thing soon. She'd drag Lester out of this place by his ankles and fuck him in the empty street if she had to.

The phone in her hand vibrated and her ringtone filled the room, ensuring all eyes turned to her. Sarah snapped up, turning the phone towards her. Lester never stopped fingering her.

Dan was calling. The video call was still open but now he was calling her. She quickly dismissed the call and looked back at the video chat, sudden concern and something else written on Dan's face.

> S: Sorry. It's Lester he is touching me.

> D: Touching you? Like touching you touching you?

> S: Yess, his fingers are inside me.

> D: Jesus Christ, Sarah. In public like that?

> D: Fuck there is someone behind you watching this

Sarah wanted to turn her head and look, but couldn't bring herself to do it. She knew a look in a place like this might be seen as an invitation. She closed her eyes and imagined what he looked like, stroking his cock staring at the back of her head. Staring at her blonde hair.

> S: Fuck baby, I'm so wet.

> D: Jesus Sarah you shouldn't be there

> S: I know. I want to leave soon. Need to get back to the apartment.

> D: Need to?

> S: So I can have Lester. Fuck Dan I need it. Bad. Don't be mad, okay? I'll make sure to video call you so you can watch.

> D: Fuck I'm at dinner. I'll have to leave soon, then.

> S: I want you to. I want you to stroke your dick while you watch.

> D: You really are worked up

> S: you have no idea

> D: Tell Lester to bring you home now

"Lester," Sarah breathed, turning to look at the ugly face that was right next to hers. "We need to leave now. I want to fuck you," Sarah was amazed by how slutty her voice sounded.

"We're not going anywhere," Lester whispered in her ear, "I'm going to fuck you right here in front of everyone."

"Oh. Oh fuck," Sarah moaned as Lester's fingers dragged across her G-Spot again. His words. The idea of fucking here in this dirty place in front of all these people. Putting on a real life porn show for them. All while Dan was on the phone. It was too fucking much.

“Uhhhhmmmmmmmmmm,” Sarah came crazily on Lester’s hand, her thighs clenching around his wrist. Stars exploded behind her eyes as a wave of pleasure washed over her body. Everything felt super sensitive. Her hard nipples strained against the lacy material of her bra. The feeling of the plastic under her nails as she gripped the edge of the seat. The way Lester’s fingers filled her with rough-skinned smooth pushing inside of her. The burning in her chest as she held her breath threatened to consume her.

A shadow passed over her vision, and Sarah opened her lust-filled eyes to see a stranger towering over her. It was the older black man from the hallway who had been stuffing his dick back in his pants. He must have followed the two of them in here. He gave her a cartoonish grin, exposing a single lonely gold tooth.

He took the seat right next to Sarah, and his gut jiggled. Not for a second did he even pretend to look at the screen. Lester’s fat sausage fingers slid out of Sarah, and he took the phone that once again hung limply in her hand.

> S: Enjoy the show

Dan read the words over again. Enjoy the show. He doubted it referred to the porn movie on the screen.

Dan felt his eyes bulge out of his head as the phone turned, and some random older black man was on screen kissing Sarah’s lithe neck, his hands out of sight, but he was clearly fingering her; Dan could hear it. Who the hell was that, and where had he come from?

The man had a gut similar in size to Lester’s, but he was older. Maybe. It was hard to tell. His arm took up a lot of the screen as it moved back and forth. Sarah’s head was resting back on the seat as the man kissed and licked at her neck. Black men had been a staple of any of the cuckold porn videos he’d watched and now he watched as a strange old black man stuck his fingers inside of his wife.

Tricia was watching him from her seat across the bar. He needed to get out of here and go back to his hotel room. He hated blowing off new connections like this, ones he desperately wanted to win over and network with, but Jesus fucking Christ.

He looked back down at the screen. Someone else was standing behind Sarah, his fist was jerking back and forth as he masturbated, looking down his wife's top. His other hand gently grabbed some of Sarah's hair and he bent over and sniffed it while he pumped his cock.

Okay. Okay. What. The. Fuck.

Dan hurried back over to his group.

"Hey, sorry I, I have to go. It was really great meeting all of you tonight," Dan's words tumbled out.

"Is everything okay?" Tricia asked sweetly while staring at Dan with an insinuating intent, "Trouble with your wife?"

"Nothing I can't handle," Dan said.

"Well, let me know if you need any help handling it," Tricia raised her eyebrows at him.

"Damn Tricia," Carlos laughed, "Workplace harassment much?"

"What?" Tricia smiled knowingly at the rest of the group and coyly tucked a strand of her hair behind her ear.

"I'll see you all tomorrow," Dan said as the moans of the movie and wet sounds of the black man's fingers inside of Sarah filled the single airpod in his ear. He rushed to the bar to settle up and get the fuck out of there.

Sarah's mind was racing. Too much was happening too fast. Some strange man's fingers were inside of her. She didn't know him, didn't know where he came from or who he was, but his large black fingers were definitely inside of her. His lips and tongue danced in arcs across her neck. She was pretty sure someone was standing behind her, too, but she didn't care. She was aware that Lester was watching her intently from the side. She could feel his dark eyes on her, judging her, judging who she was with every breath she took.

"Mhmmmm," Sarah moaned. The black man pulled back his face from her as his fingers continued to explore her depths. She weakly opened her eyes and saw his homely face staring down at her with a grotesque smirk on it. With his other hand, he grabbed her chin and turned her fully towards him, and leaned forward pressing his fat lips against hers.

“Mhmmmmhmm,” Sarah moaned, her lips parting as the stranger’s tongue tasted her. His fat tongue slid into her mouth, gliding over her own. The muscles intertwined as they tasted one another. He didn’t taste good, but Sarah didn’t care. At that very moment, she craved him.

His long fingers weren’t as skilled as Lester’s, but she was still soaking through her panties for him. His digits rapidly thrust in and out of her, finger fucking her without any kind of finesse but roughly, with raw intensity.

He shuffled out of his pants and took Sarah’s hands and placed them on his hard cock. Sarah was taken aback by how girthy it was. She wanted to look, but her mouth was held in place by the man’s hand. Sarah broke the kiss. She had to see it. She twisted her head out of the black man’s hand and yelped as it felt like she caught her hair on something. She turned around and saw the rough looking man who she’d made eye contact with standing behind her, a few strands of her blonde hair still clutched in his hand as he stood there stroking his cock. His erect veiny cock that was just behind her head.

It was all happening too fast. Too much all at once. She didn’t know where her phone was or what Dan had seen or could see now. She looked around, and then her eyes landed on it. Not her phone. The big black cock jutting up from the seat next to her. It shot up from the messy tight curls of pubic hair, standing at full attention. It wasn’t as long as Lester’s, but it was really girthy. Sarah froze for a second as she stared at the dark organ.

The man chuckled and pulled his fingers out of her. Sarah gasped as he did. The black man reached back behind Sarah and swatted the other man away. He grabbed Sarah’s hair himself and pulled her face over to his cock.

Sarah instinctively opened her lips and took her first black cock of her life into her mouth.

“Uh fuck,” the man groaned as Sarah’s wet mouth engulfed him. His cock tasted unlike any Sarah had ever tasted before. She couldn’t quite place it, but she didn’t hate it. The taste was almost secondary to how big it felt in her mouth.

Sarah tried and failed to wrap her hand around the girthy cock. Her saliva already coated it as he pumped her fist up and down the shaft. “Mhmmmmhmm,” Sarah moaned. Lester was there, so was that other man. Watching her. She was their porn star. She was putting on the show for them. Her thighs squeezed together at the wickedness of the thought.

She pulled back and swirled her tongue around the man's cock head, pumping his shaft with her hands. He applied pressure to the back of her head and she let his cock slide all the way back into her mouth. His fist grabbed her hair roughly, and he started thrusting his hips off the seat into her mouth. His cock slapped the back of her throat eliciting more muffled moans from her throat.

"Mhmmhghmmm," Sarah moaned around the cock in her mouth as someone pushed a finger inside of her. It wasn't the black man, it couldn't be from where he was, his hand was wrapped in her air. She wanted to look over and see if it was Lester.

But it didn't feel like Lester's fat fingers.

"Ummhmmmmhmmmm," Sarah moaned as she pumped the cock in her mouth while another finger slid into her. Holy fuck. This was all way too much for her.

She pulled off the cock, a thick strand of saliva connecting her mouth to the stranger's dick. Sarah was breathing hard. Her tight black dress had ridden up to her waist, exposing her pink, juicy panties to the entire room. She looked over her shoulder and saw Lester sitting there with an amused look on his face as the rough-looking man was bent over the back of her seat, one hand disappearing between the back of her thighs while he jerked himself off with the other.

"Ohfuck," Sarah groaned at the sight. Two degenerates touching her at once, all under the watchful eye of Lester. She thrust her ass back onto the man's hand, taking more of his two bony fingers into her.

"Suck my balls," the old black man croaked as he pulled Sarah's hair down to his sagging nutsack. Her tongue lashed out and stuck into the wild, untamed bush of pubic hair. He pulled her face down roughly, his matted jungle of curls pressing into her face. She had to close her eyes and stifle a sneeze as the wiry hairs pushed into her nostrils. Her face was buried in his pubic hair, her tongue lashing out until it found warm skin and swirled around. She thoroughly coated this stranger's balls in her saliva, leaving a part of herself dripping from him.

The man was humping up, his hairy dangling balls pressing further into her face. Her manicured fingers never left his cock as she pumped his shaft. Up and down, over and over with increasing frenzy. Sarah was soaking wet. She felt her sense of control rapidly slipping away.

“Off,” Lester barked. She heard a slapping sound and the thin fingers inside of her disappeared, much to her short-lived disappointment

“What the fuck?” The black man said, reluctantly letting go of her hair.

“She’s my toy,” Lester said, “If you want to play, it’s by my rules.”

“Sarah, sit up,” Lester said.

Sarah slowly swirled her tongue around the black man’s nutsack, somewhat reluctant to stop. But she listened to Lester. She sat up and adjusted her dress, looking around. There was more than just the rough-looking man watching her. Others still seated in their chairs had seemed to have completely forgotten about the movie playing behind her.

“Stand up and take your dress off,” Lester said.

Sarah wanted to object. But she knew she was too horny and worked up to say anything to stop this. She wouldn’t deny him. She needed him. Sarah pulled up her panties that were now down at mid-thigh somehow and stood up, straightening out her wrinkled black dress.

“Look at the audience,” Lester said.

Sarah looked around and met several hungry gazes. The project was bright making it difficult to see clearly. The image of the woman being pounded danced across her skin as she stood there, obscuring the projector screen. But it didn’t matter now, all eyes were on her. She looked down and saw Lester still holding her phone. Dan’s face was there, eyes wide as he looked to be in the back of an Uber or something.

“Now, take off your dress,” Lester said. Sarah gave him a hard look, a momentary challenge to his authority. He held her look, and she felt her chest growing warm from his piercing gaze. He really was going to make her do this. And she really was going to go along with whatever he said. She felt the scene flickering from the project across her skin change and the woman’s moans started growing more intense. The light danced across her skin, illuminating her for all to see. It dawned on her that she was some kind of fucked up star in this bizarre room.

With a deep breath and slightly trembling hands, Sarah reached behind her and unzipped the back of her dress. If she was going to do this, she was going to do it right. She looked around at the darkened faces, meeting each of their eyes, and she slowly removed the stylish dress.

The rough looking man was standing just in front of her, like she was putting on a private show all for him as he spastically jerked his cock. The black man was still sitting next to her, slowly stroking his thick length as his eyes roamed lustily over her body.

Sarah took one arm out of the dress. Then, slowly, the other, letting the garment fall to her waist, exposing her pink lacy bra to the full theatre. She heard a sharp intake of breath as her heavy breasts came into view. Then she pushed the rest of the dress down, wriggling out of it until she was standing in just her bra and panties, in this room full of horny deviant strangers.

Lester smiled and stood up, "Good girl."

He pulled down his jeans and let his long, throbbing hard cock free, "Take off those panties and get on. I know you've been craving this all day."

"OH Shit!" One of the men, a few rows behind them, had caught a glimpse of what Lester was packing. The horny wife turned her head at the sound, but when she realized why he'd yelled, she turned back.

Sarah stared down at Lester's hard cock, just in front of her. He was right. She had wanted to ride his cock all day long and she wasn't about to let something like the threat of public exposure stop her. Sarah licked her lips and quickly dropped her panties to the sticky floor below and climbed onto Lester's lap. She took his hard cock in one hand and directed it to her entrance before sliding down on top of it.

"Ahhohhhfuuuckkk," Sarah moaned as she felt his massive appendage disappear inside of her with no resistance. He felt so fucking big. She loved how full he made her feel, how wet he made her. Like he took up every square inch of space inside of her, and her body wanted him to.

"Fuck, Lester," Sarah breathed, hands on Lester's fat shoulders as she looked down into his ugly face, "You're always taking me to the nicest places."

"Heh," Lester chuckled as he grabbed both of her ass cheeks and pulled her down on top of him, "That's what your boyfriend is for."

"Not just my Chicago boyfriend anymore?" Sarah stared hard at him.

"No, we're engaged now, remember? Drop 'Chicago,'" Lester grunted as his hips rose off the plastic chair and thrust up into Sarah.

“Mhmmmmmgod,” Sarah whined, “Fuck. Fuck me boyfriend. Fuck me fiancé, fuck me in front of this whole room full of perverts.”

“With pleasure,” Lester grinned. There was something more. Something else behind that smile other than just fucking her here in this disgusting place but she didn’t devote any mental resources to dwelling on what it might be. She pulled up and pushed back down onto Lester’s cock.

“Ohfuck,” the head of his cock seemed to hit up against her cervix, feeling impossibly large inside of her. Her entire pussy seemed to stretch around his growing cock. His balls slapped audibly against her asshole each time she dropped back down onto him.

“Here,” Lester grunted, shoving the phone with Dan’s increasingly aroused and concerned face into her hand. “If you want him to watch, you have to hold the camera.”

Sarah had forgotten all about the phone once Lester’s cock had gotten inside of her. She peered deliberately into it, making eye contact with Dan as her own breasts bounced back at her in the corner of the screen, where it showed her camera feed. A shadow passed behind her in the tiny window. Then Dan said something, but she couldn’t make out what it was. She looked over her shoulder and saw the black man had taken a position standing up beside her, his hard black cock jutting out towards her. Precum dripped from its angry slit, the meaty head slightly less dark than the beer-can shaped shaft.

“Jesus,” Sarah muttered as she stared at it. She was vaguely aware that the rough-looking guy was still in the next row stroking himself, to her.

The black man reached out with one hand and quickly undid the clasp of Sarah’s pink bra, shocking her. She used her free hand, the one not holding the camera, to try to hold the bra to her breasts, but he quickly pulled one strap off. Lester assisted, pulling the other one down.

“Let it go,” Lester commanded.

Sarah looked at Lester and nodded. Then glanced at the phone she was holding in front of her. She winked at Dan and let her bra fall, exposing her shapely breasts to the room. The projector light illuminated her perfectly to everyone present. The black man grabbed the pink garment and roughly pulled it the rest of the way off and chucked it into the next aisle. In the back of her mind, she cringed and decided it would definitely need to be dry cleaned after landing on any surface in this place.

The rough-looking guy quickly grabbed it off the ground and put his face into the cups, breathing in deeply and audibly. He threw his head back as if in ecstasy and kept stroking his hard cock while sniffing her bra. The black man gave Lester a look, and Lester nodded to him.

The man bit his bottom lip and flicked it out at Sarah as he stepped up onto the seat next to them. He held his big black cock in his hand and pointed it at her face. Sarah bounced up and down on Lester's cock while staring at it. It was right in her face. He nudged it into her cheek, smearing her with the fluid oozing from it. Sarah looked at Lester. She knew how possessive he had been in the past, with Vernon and the growing list of other men. But this time, it was as if he was encouraging her for some reason.

Lester looked up at her expectantly and ominously licked his lips. Sarah shuddered, feeling the weight of the mental control he had over her. He didn't need to nod or do anything else to indicate what he wanted. Sarah held the phone in her hand to make certain Dan would see everything then leaned forward and took the black man's entire cock in her mouth again.

"Fuck'n A," the man grunted as he ran his hand through Sarah's hair before cupping her cheek tenderly while he fucked her face. Sarah's hand left Lester's shoulder and wrapped around the black man's thick shaft as much as it possibly could. It was still wet with her saliva and she quickly added more to it, needing to taste its cum.

This had been what she wanted the other night with Dan. To feel completely full, with one cock drilling inside her pussy and another completely filling her mouth. It was good that her husband was kind of with her in spirit, at least. But now his spot had been taken by some stranger. A big black stranger. A stranger who was hard for her.

"Mhmmhmmhmm," Sarah moaned around the pounding cock in her mouth. Her hand left his shaft and tenderly cradled his massive hairy balls, teasing them while she expertly sucked him off. She wished she could let go of the phone and use both of her hands, but there wasn't anywhere clean to set it down.

"I told you I'd give you what you want," Lester growled, his hands still grabbing her perfect bubble butt as it bounced up and down on his lap. "You wanted more than one cock. Danny couldn't deliver, but Lester can."

"What's that, Danny? Huh? We can't hear you, you're going to have to speak up," Lester chuckled in the direction of her phone.

Lester's monster cock pounded into her, thrusting up off the sticky plastic seat as Sarah's mouth took as much of the black cock as she could possibly handle. She couldn't make herself hold her moans, even when muffled with the broad shafted cock. The girl on the screen behind her didn't hold a candle to the stuffed wife, the entire porn theatre's rapt attention was on the illicit scene unfolding in front of them.

Sarah pulled herself off the cock in her mouth and took a sharp breath. She opened her eyes, and the guy who'd been jerking off while sniffing her bra was now seated right behind Lester, staring at Sarah's breasts bouncing as he continued stroking himself. In a surreal display, her bra was dangling around his neck. Other silent, staring men were also closer now. Most of them had their pants down, openly stroking themselves.

The sound in the theater suddenly went silent. The movie had abruptly turned off, but the light from the projector continued to shine, enveloping Sarah in a white spotlight. Illuminating her as the sole attraction in this fucked up place. Sarah closed her eyes and embraced the stares.

She found herself literally putting on a sex show for a crowd of men. A thrill ran through her and she felt her pussy clench tightly around Lester's solid bat of a cock.

"That's it. Let it out for me, Sarah," Lester groaned. "Cum for me. Cum for all these dirty, horny men watching you."

"Ahfuck! close," Sarah moaned, throwing her head back and closing her eyes, picturing all their slackened faces rapt with desire.

"You know she's married, right? She's somebody's wife. And a devoted mom," Lester said, out loud, for everyone to hear, "instead of being with her husband or with her kids, she's here putting on a show for all of us." Lester thrust himself up off the seat, embedding himself deep into Sarah Williams.

"Fuck," Sarah moaned, drowning out the groaning of the pornstar on the screen behind her. The cock in hand pulsed, his heartbeat mirrored in the palm of her hand. Lester kept thrusting up, and she slammed down back onto him. She rocked her hips to and fro, using his cock as her personal plaything.

"Ahfuck. Mmmgodlester," Sarah whined. The phone in her hand slipped out of her grip, but she grabbed it at the last second. Nearly forgetting it was there again.

"Let it out, baby. Cum for them," Lester growled.

"Ahfuck. Mhmmhmmgodyes. Please don't stop," Sarah groaned. She turned her head and opened her mouth pulling the fat black cock back into her mouth. She couldn't even remember what this man's face looked like. Feeling two hard cocks inside of her, rigid with their desire for her, swollen with potent cum was much too much.

"Mhmmhghaamhmmm," Sarah moaned around the fat driving cock in her mouth as she came. Her body tensed and the room felt a million degrees warmer as her thighs slammed down onto Lester's, taking as much of his cock into her as she could. Her pussy clenched around his cock like a vise and she held him still, her fist tight around the cock in her hand. She came harder, breasts rising and falling rapidly as she thrust them forward and out. Her body thrashed, and she saw stars from the lack of oxygen.

She let the huge black cock fall out of her mouth as she took a deep breath, but she never let go of it.

"Uhhhhh," Sarah whined, opening her eyes. There were two more older grizzled men in the row behind Lester, one was sitting and the other was standing while stroking their cocks. There was another man in the row behind that. Sarah felt something touch her back. She looked over her shoulder and sure enough, there was yet another older, sad-looking bald man in the row behind her, reaching over and pawing at her bare skin.

"Holyshit," Sarah breathed as she gripped the cock tightly in her hand. She looked down at Lester and saw him smiling with a sinister look in his eyes. The man sitting behind him was still sniffing at her bra, it should have upset her but it only made her body begin rocking on Lester's ever-driving cock again.

Something wrenched the phone out of her hand. Sarah looked up and saw the guy from the front counter...Dale standing there. He looked down at the phone, likely seeing Dan's face there before putting it on the filthy armrest of the chair. The grey haired man dropped his pants and took out a long, skinny cock. Without asking for permission he stepped up to her other side, grabbed her now unoccupied fingers and wrapped them around his thickening cock.

Sarah couldn't believe it. Lester's big cock was filling her up and she had two more in her hands.

"Oh my god," Sarah breathed, eyes wild as she looked down at Lester.

"Oh, oh what the fuck," Dan said in disgust as he finally got into his hotel room. The video feed on the phone had shifted from Sarah to the ceiling. Now it was looking up at a pair of old hairy balls and some guy's unwashed taint.

“Sarah!” Dan said, trying to get her to focus back on him. He could see her hand, wrapped around this new guy’s cock. His mind was going a million miles a minute. His wife was riding Lester while she sucked off a black guy and was stroking another. Just how many guys were in this place and exactly what the fuck was going to happen next?

This new guy shifted his feet, and the video spun until it was entirely black. He could still hear the moans and wet slurping noises, but couldn’t distinguish which sounds were coming from Sarah and which were from the movie on the screen. It all sounded like his wife.

He couldn’t take not being able to see what was happening. He called his wife’s phone again.

Sarah heard something that sounded like her phone ringing but her brain put it on the backburner as she eagerly stroked the two cocks in her hands at once while her hips pumped back and forth as she tirelessly rode Lester. Dale’s hand was pressed against one of her heavy breasts as he roughly fondled her. She could feel his wrinkled palm drift across her flawless skin.

Dale’s other hand grabbed her head and pulled her towards his cock. Sarah opened her mouth and eagly let his pale elderly cock slide across her warm tongue.

“Mhmmmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned as she tighten her grip around both cocks in her hand. Lester pumped his hips up into her, his enormous cock making her bounce and groan around the new cock in her mouth.

The black man’s thick shaft pumped urgently in her other hand. Sarah pulled her mouth off Dale and turned to take the big black cock in her mouth, moaning again as she sucked him off. His cock was thrusting into her and Sarah pumped his cock at the same time.

She pulled her mouth off him and gasped for breath.

“Jeesuss,” Sarah moaned.

“Look at all of them,” Lester groaned from below her, “Tell them you want to watch them cum.”

“F-fuck Lester,” Sarah moaned and squeezed his cock with her pussy. Her eyes levelled with his before she bit her lip and looked up at her crowd of onlookers, “Cum for me. I want to watch all of you cum. Give me what I want. Cum for me boys. Show me what you got.”

“Are you really someone’s mother?” the rough guy sniffing her bra croaked.

“Fuck,” Sarah groaned, “Yes.”

“Fuckinghot,” the guy groaned and resumed stroking himself with a renewed fervor.

“Stop talking and get that pretty mouth back on my cock,” Dale urged and pulled her head back towards him. Sarah greedily opened her mouth and obliged, taking him back inside, all the way to his hilt.

Sarah rode Lester and pumped and alternated sucking both cocks, black and white, for what felt like hours. A couple of other guys in the crowd couldn’t take any more and busted right there, adding their spunk to the sticky, uncleaned floor of the theatre.

Lester started pumping his cock up faster and faster, urgently driving her excitement higher. His groping hands dug into her pristine ass as she dutifully rode him. Dale and the black guy were mauling her breasts and tweaking her nipples as she switched off between stroking and sucking both of them.

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned, taking her mouth off Dale with a ‘pop.’ She looked at Lester.

“Gonna cum for me big boy?” Sarah moaned, smiling.

“Gonna fucking fill you up,” Lester licked lips, “Squeeze me. Milk it out, Sarah. Be a good girl.”

“Ohgawd Lester! I want it. I need it. Fucking fill me! Give it to me. I want all of it!” Sarah moaned, not breaking eye contact with him.

“What about me?” The black guy said, “You want my black cum too?”

“Fuck yes,” Sarah cried, “I want it.”

“I’m gonna fuck you after he does and fill you up,” he sneered.

“No, she’s mine. You don’t get to fuck her, uh-uh,” Lester growled.

“Fuck! Come on, I can fuck you better than this fat piece of shit,” the black guy said.

“He’s my boyfriend,” Sarah said, “It’s his pussy.”

“Then I’m gonna bust in that pretty white mouth of yours,” the black man said and pulled Sarah’s face over to his cock. She opened her mouth and twirled her dancing tongue around the dark head of his cock.

“Tell me you want it. Tell me you want this BBC. I wanna hear you say it,” he growled down at her. “Fuck,” Sarah pulled her lips off the man’s cock and looked up into his ugly face, “I want it. I want your big black cock. I want it to cum inside my mouth. I want to swallow your big black load,” Sarah cried and enthusiastically pumped his cock rapidly.

“Ah shit, take it,” the man growled and pulled her head back down onto his twitching cock. Sarah had just wrapped her lips around its head as it exploded inside of her. A hot torrent of cum pumped out of his cock and into her waiting mouth. Her pussy clenched around Lester’s cock and she felt herself about to have another unprecedented orgasm. Her other fist tightened around Dale’s dick.

Sarah swallowed. Each hot, sticky warm load flooded into her stomach, adding more fuel to the fire that was building inside of her. When she pulled back up, cum dribbled down her lip. The black man slunk back into his seat, his energy spent.

“Fuck, I’m going to cum. Fuck me. Please. Please don’t fucking stop! Fuck,” Sarah cried. Her body was on autopilot, ready to explode again.

“I’m gonna cum,” Lester croaked under her. He was pumping his cock up into and slamming his ass back down onto the hard plastic seat, “Fucking cum for me Sarah.”

Sarah opened her eyes and looked at the men around her, “Cum for me boys. Cum for me.” The plea came out as an erotic cry, making clear to every man in the room that she was on the edge of her own impending massive explosion.

A couple of the men came right there at her urging.

“Fuck,” Lester growled, foisting his ass off the seat, thrusting his big cock into her tight pussy. She knew how close he was. It was less than a second away. She couldn’t hold back any longer and felt the crescendo build up inside of her, beginning to explode.

“Fuck, here I cum,” Dale thrust his cock into Sarah’s face, hitting her across the nose. She snapped her head to the side and opened her mouth wide as the first blast of his bitter cum shot onto her tongue. Sarah quickly swallowed and closed her mouth around Dale’s old musty cock.

“Ugh,” Lester grunted and she felt his balls tighten near her asshole, his immense cock pulsed and a sizable load of his cum blasted up and out of his cockhead into her. Feeling two men cum at the same time inside of her obliterated a dam inside of her. Sarah’s pussy clenched and her fists tightened increasingly around the cocks as she came. Every nerve ending in her body lit up like a Christmas tree as pure, unadulterated pleasure was pumped directly into them, coursing through her, overloading her system entirely. For a few seconds, Sarah forgot where and who she was or what her name might be as a mass of love chemicals flooded her brain, making everything go haywire.

“Fuck,” Dale grunted as the last of his seed spewed into Sarah’s mouth and slid down her throat as she swallowed. His body convulsed, and he staggered back, bracing himself against two of the chairs for support.

Lester’s nails dug into her ass as he emptied his voluminous balls inside of her. He roared triumphantly as he came and then fell back into the seat with a self-satisfied smile on his face, his breath rasping. Sarah slowed her riding of Lester’s incredible cock, feeling insanely full with both his cock and his illicit cum leaking into every crevice inside of her.

She slowed, trying to catch her breath, coming down from one of the most intense and powerful orgasms of her entire life.

“Agh, fuck, my turn!” came a voice. Sarah opened her eyes and saw the rough-looking man standing right behind Lester. His face contorted as he stroked his cock and cum shot out blasting across Sarah’s chest coating her bare tits. Load after load blasted out covered her naked breasts like the glaze on a demented gingerbread house.

He finished emptying his batter onto her and sat back in the chair, holding her lacy bra to his face. Sarah touched the sticky coating all over herself as she slowly came back to reality.

Holy shit, what did I just do?

She licked her teeth, tasting the different men as their cum mixed in her mouth. She had taken two loads into her stomach, one in her pussy and another all over her. Then she remembered the other men in the theater. She opened her eyes and saw several hungry-looking, grubby men staring at her. One was even tentatively making his way down the row towards them.

“Lester, I think we need to go. Now,” Sarah said, stepping off Lester, his cum plopping out of her and onto the floor between her legs. The rest of it ran in beaded streams down her thighs.

Lester chuckled, looking around, “Good idea. Let’s go.”

Sarah looked around for her panties but didn’t see them. Her dress was bunched up on the floor. She went to ask for her bra back, but the rough-looking man was gone, having stolen a reliable part of her wardrobe. Sarah sighed and quickly pulled her dress back on while Lester pulled his pants up.

“Show’s over, folks,” Dale said, putting a hand up like a crossing guard, blocking the man from coming down their row.

“Come back anytime sweetheart,” Dale grinned at her and grabbed a handful of her ass, “Next time maybe we can go in one of the private booths.” Then he did that silly nod again, “Lester.”

“Lester, let’s go,” Sarah said and pulled the fat man’s hand. She urged him down the aisle, past several men who had stepped up for their turn and were still openly stroking themselves at her, for her. As they passed, one reached out and grabbed a handful of Sarah’s ass. Another stood at the edge of the aisle and was staring at her intently while he stroked his cock, trying desperately to cum as Sarah passed by. She hurried her steps and heard the man grunt behind her.

The couple left the theater hand in hand and made their way down the dark hallway, and out into the storefront. The door was locked, but Sarah quickly unlatched it and stepped bra and pantyless into the cool night air.

The derelict storefronts eventually gave way to more attractive houses and respectable businesses. Sarah just stared out the window, watching the buildings pass by in the night. Part of her mind was replaying the events of the last hour as Lester drove.

Under the glow of the streetlights, Sarah’s mind was at war with itself. She was both horrified and extremely turned on by what had happened. All those men, all their cocks and cum ready, wanting her. Being on display like that. Being the actual show for all of them. But that wasn’t who she was. Was it? She was a mother. A wife. A professional. She shouldn’t be in a place like that, let alone doing things like that. Yet, some part of her felt like it was a natural culmination to everything that had happened since Dan moved to Chicago. Like a part of her had finally had one night to be free.

She bit her lip and continued staring out the window with her arms crossed. Her nipples were hard from the cold air, and she regretted not spending the extra few seconds to snatch her bra and panties back. They were expensive, and she loved that pair. Dan loved that pair. She hated leaving them there, but god, she didn't want to go back for them.

She still couldn't believe that she had done that. Let them do that to her. Participated in that. It must have been some kind of fugue state or something. It made sense. And it didn't. She wished she could say it was an out-of-body experience, but she felt every intense sense of pleasure that her body had experienced that night.

"Why did you take me there?" Sarah whispered, still staring out the window, arms crossed. She hadn't asked Lester where they were going. She just knew it was back to the apartment. He wouldn't try something else, not after that.

"You've been bad," Lester said from the driver's seat. "You let Otis play with you without my permission. So you needed to be punished. But I knew you'd like your punishment."

"Punishment?" Sarah said, "You're not my father, Lester."

"No, I'm not. Your father wouldn't take you to a place like that," Lester said in a low voice. "Neither would Dan. No one understands what you need like I do. You want to be bad and play with other men without my permission? I'll let you play with other men then."

Sarah didn't respond to that. She wasn't sure how to respond to it. This was all about Otis? Was Lester jealous or something? Jealous of her letting Otis fuck her? Did he think it was a betrayal because they did that in his office? Or was it more that she was doing something with Dan and not him?

"All this because you were jealous?" Sarah breathed.

"I don't get jealous," Lester said in her direction.

"Then what is all this? This punishment." Sarah finally turned to look at him. She felt exhausted. The adrenaline finally leaving her body, the events of the day and especially of the last hour catching up with her.

"Then what's with the punishment? I don't understand. You're not making any sense," Sarah looked at the man behind the steering wheel and felt a strange emotion. Worry.

Worry that she had done something to upset him. Worry that she had hurt him, somehow. He always seemed impervious to that sort of thing, but he was human just like her.

“You’re mine, Sarah,” Lester gave her a hard, dark look.

“Lester, I’m married, it’s not that simple. It’s not —”

“It is that simple. Marriage...” Lester gestured his hand in the air, “All of that is just cultural and societal bullshit. When it comes down to it. Basic human physiology. Primal human stuff. You are mine. You are my mate.”

Sarah didn’t respond. Lester just stared at her for several seconds, not turning back to the road. His face lightened up, and he turned his gaze back to the road.

“Besides,” Lester said in a normal tone, “I did put a ring on your finger. You did accept it. And I’ve fucked you in your wedding dress. You keep calling me your boyfriend. You need to wrap your head around that I’m not just some accessory that you and Dan get to play with. I fuck you more than Dan does. I fuck you better than Dan does. I take care of you financially more than Dan does. I provide for your children better than Dan does. You are mine.”

Sarah felt her heart racing. What he was saying, he had never laid it out like that before. It stung to hear all of that. She turned back to look out the window.

“And,” Lester continued, “You’ve said you loved me in the past. You love me, Sarah.”

Sarah felt her face flush. The hair on her neck stood up. She’d known she’d said that. It was usually in the heat of the moment. But even in those moments, she’d felt it. She’d meant it. She didn’t want to think about it. Not right now. She was too tired. She didn’t want to say something she’d regret saying later. She needed time and space to think through everything.

Sarah closed her eyes and let the seat of Lester’s car hold her. She felt the tugs of sleep pulling at her. She embraced the feeling and let herself begin to drift.

“We need to figure out our relationship going forward,” Lester said in a low voice. “Are you going to be my good girl? Or are you going to be my bad girl?”

Sarah didn’t turn back to Lester. She let the gentle motion of the vehicle rock her to sleep as she contemplated what both of those potential paths would look like.

Files

Toxic Attraction Ch. 31

Fog swirled around her as she walked through the forest on her bare feet. The ground was hard and cold under her skin, and she clutched her hands to herself, trying to keep warm. It was dark, and the large trees loomed over her. She felt them watching her, judging each and every step she took. The inscrutable gaze of the trees seemed to penetrate her soul, and Sarah could sense their approval and disapproval with each movement she made. If she went left, some would hate her while others would love her. If she went right, the same experience would occur. Only when she stood still did all of the trees hate her in unison. To their roots.

Sarah wrapped her arms around herself, trying to stay warm. The simple, light dress hugging her features was beautiful, but it didn't help against the cold. Sarah could see the mist of her own breath as she walked the path between the dark trees, passing small bushes. The forest was eerily silent, but Sarah knew she wasn't alone. The trees were there, staring. But she was also aware of other presences, trying to subtly influence the direction she took. She knew she had to get out of the forest, but didn't know which direction to take. Maybe she should just let the trees guide her to the right path.

After several more minutes of Sarah shivering as she walked, she stepped onto an emerging cobblestone path. It forked into two different directions, but no signposts were showing which path went where, nor which one led to a closer place. She needed to find someplace to rest soon. Somewhere, she could get warmth.

Sarah squinted and peered down each path. She could have sworn she saw a fire burning far off in one direction. It looked warm, inviting, somehow familiar. A feeling in the core of her heart tugged at her to go in that direction. Suddenly, the fire was closer, and Sarah could feel its warmth enveloping her. Dan sat the fire, poking at it, trying to keep it going with kindling. Trying to keep the flame alive. Her daughters were also there, basking in the heat. Her parents sat further back. She wanted to go and be with them, to help Dan tend to the fire and make it grow larger to keep everyone warm.

Heat on her back made her pause. Sarah locked eyes with Dan. He just sat there, staring at her, watching to see what she would do. Sarah broke eye contact and looked over her shoulder. Down at the end of the other path was a raging bonfire. She could feel its heat from here, radiating through the forest and warming everything it touched.

Lester stood there before the blaze completely naked, arms crossed, staring at her. He was in a deep cave that burrowed further into the earth. His cock large and orange in the fire light, swaying back and forth like it had a mind of its own. It was watching her, beckoning her closer. She could feel the all-consuming heat of Lester's fire, and her body took an involuntary step forward. Her simple dress burned off from the heat, leaving Sarah standing there naked, staring back at Lester. The fire danced on the dark cave walls around him, revealing lewd-looking paintings that had been obscured. She knew instinctively that the cave paintings were ancient, back to a time of something more primal than the refined life she was accustomed to. As the fire danced across them, they lured her towards them with promises of her being able to explore this ingrained part of herself.

There were other figures tucked in the shadows around Lester's bonfire. She couldn't make out who they were, but she knew that the path led to them, not just Lester. There was something sinister behind Lester's bonfire, a presence darker than the other shadows around it.

Sarah dropped her arms to her side and took another step towards the raging inferno in the cave. It threatened to consume her. She looked back over her shoulder and saw Dan and the girls standing there holding hands. Sarah's father had a hand on each of the girls' shoulders, and her mother leaned on him for support. Sarah paused, eyes locked on them as the heat from the bonfire tugged her forward.

Sarah closed her eyes and knew she had to make a decision. She took a step towards....

An incessant banging lulled Sarah out of her dream. She groaned and rolled over in bed. It was too early. She needed more sleep. The banging didn't stop. Sarah closed her eyes tighter, hoping that whatever it was would go away on its own.

The pillow and bed were too comfortable. She felt herself being pulled back to that dreamlike forest and the roaring fires that wanted to warm or consume her. She could almost feel the warmed cobblestones beneath her feet.

The banging started again. Someone was pounding on a wall somewhere. Sarah groaned and rubbed the sleep from her eyes, and sat up, clutching the bedsheets to her naked body. She blinked a few times, trying to get her brain to wake up without having had any coffee yet.

This isn't my room. Sarah looked around at the unfamiliar environment and held the sheet to her naked breasts tightly. Where was she, and why was she naked? The loud snore erupted from behind her. Sarah's head quickly turned, and she saw Lester's obese form, also nude, lying on the bed next to her. The pieces clicked in her mind, and she realized this was Lester's room. And she was naked. The events of the previous night started to come back to her.

Dinner with her parents. The adult store. Calling Dan. Riding Lester in front of a crowd full of strangers. Taking the black man's cock in her hand. And then her mouth. And then that other man. Her missing underwear. The awkward car ride home. Lester taking her to his room and making her feel great again and again.

The banging started up again, this time more urgently.

"Lester," Sarah whispered and poked Lester in the rib with two fingers. He just rolled over away from her, mumbling something in his sleep. With his back to her, he looked like a beached whale. She had no idea how someone like that could manage making her feel so fucking good but by now she didn't question it too much.

"Lester!" Sarah poked him harder, trying to urge him awake. To deal with whatever that banging was. Lester didn't stir.

"Fine," Sarah grumbled as the banging continued. She scanned the room looking for her dress from the previous night, but had no idea where it had gone. There was just crap, everywhere. How Lester found anything in his room was a mystery to her. He probably didn't find anything; he just left it there in the piles of stuff on the floor. She wrinkled her nose at the sight of old takeout containers on his floor. How could he live like this? Sarah shot back one more annoyed look at Lester, willing him to wake up, but the short man continued to snooze, unaware.

Sarah tiptoed through the refuse on the floor. Trying in vain not to step on anything gross. She had to leave the sheet behind; the other side of it was pinned underneath Lester's rotund body mass. As she stepped into the hallway, the banging was louder, followed by muffled voices. It sounded like it was coming from the living room.

She quickly went into Dan's room and grabbed a robe and pulled it around her naked body. The idea of confronting whoever was making this noise in such little clothing both thrilled and frightened her. Sarah walked into the living room. Someone was pounding on the front door.

Normally, Sarah would say something like 'just a minute' or 'I'm coming', but she was too nervous to let whoever was on the other side of the door know she was there. If only Lester weren't still asleep, he could deal with this. It was his apartment after all, not hers. Sarah tried to be as quiet as possible as she tiptoed up to the door, squinted, and peered through the peephole.

It wasn't lost on her all the times Dan had probably done this while watching her and Lester together. It felt oddly perverted. Sarah breathed a sigh of relief when she saw her parents standing there on the other side. Fear and guilt ran through her. What were they doing here? Lester's bedroom door was just wide open with his naked body inside.

Sarah ran back to the hallway and pulled Lester's door shut with a thud. Why were her parents here? Now? They should be on the way back to Middleton.

She didn't have time to think about it. Sarah rushed back to the apartment door and opened it, realizing that she was still naked except for the robe.

"Mom, Dad," Sarah said, plastering on an enthusiastic smile to hide her nerves, "Sorry I slept in. What are you doing here? Shouldn't you be back on your way to Middleton?"

Sarah gestured them into the apartment. Her mom and Dad stepped in, and Sarah shut the door behind them.

"What's going on, Sarah?" her father said in a hushed tone as he looked around the apartment. Was he looking for Lester?

"We've tried calling for a few hours now, Sarah. I sent you messages." Her mother cut in, "You weren't picking up."

So that's why they came. They wanted to say goodbye and got worried and decided to check on her. Sweet, but a little patronizing. "I'm fine, Mom. I just slept in, is all. My phone must be on mute or something. I'm sorry if I worried you."

Her dad leveled his gaze at her, "Your phone is on mute, huh?"

Why did Sarah suddenly feel like she was a teenager who'd broken curfew? She'd always tried to be respectful, but her dad's tone just triggered something sharp in her.

"Yes, Dad. They do that," Sarah said, crossing her arms.

"Honey, we just –" Sarah's mom started before her Dad cut in.

"We called you, I don't know how many times, and left you a dozen messages. Your mom was really worried –"

"What's going on here?" Sarah cut in, looking between her parents, "I just woke up, okay? I'm sorry. It's still early - I think you're really overreacting here."

"It's one in the afternoon, Sarah," her Dad said, "We've been calling all morning. We even asked Dan if he'd heard from you, but you haven't been answering his calls either."

“You called Dan? Jesus, Dad, my phone’s just off and charging in the bedroom,” Sarah sighed. What had Dan said to them? Is this why they were so worked up? She hadn’t talked to Dan since...

“No, Sarah, it isn’t,” her Dad said.

“What? What do you mean?” Sarah asked.

“Your phone, honey.” Her mother stepped forward with a disgusted yet sympathetic look on her face, “It’s not in your room. Now you’re lying to us.”

Lying? What the hell is this? “Mom, Dad, what the hell are you talking about?” Sarah said.

“Sarah, where were you last night?” Her father asked, “After we dropped you off. Where did you go?”

Sarah felt the blood in her veins run cold, and her heart started to beat faster. There was no way they could know.

“I didn’t go anywhere,” Sarah said, “I went to bed.”

“You know, after about a dozen calls, we finally got through to your phone. Only you didn’t pick up,” Her father said. “It was some random man. He said that you must have left your phone behind last night at his... establishment.”

Sarah felt her heart sink. Oh no. Oh no. Oh fuck no. Sarah braced herself for the inevitable. She could feel herself reverting back to her teenage self, caught expertly in a lie. She should have seen this coming.

“So your mother and I just went down there to pick it up for you. Hoping that you were okay. And do you know what kind of establishment that place is, Sarah?” Her dad narrowed his eyes.

“A sex shop!” Her mother said, “And not the kind like the one across from the Myers’ back home. This one was set up for degenerates and perverts. He even opened the store early just to give us the phone. And the way he looked at me.” Sarah’s mother visibly shuddered, “He even offered to give us a tour of the place. And a discount on certain items.”

Sarah felt her face turn a deep shade of crimson. Her instincts were to tell them that the details of her personal life were none of their business. To snap at them. But she felt the wind suddenly leave her sails. She had no idea how to respond to this unexpected and intimate line of questioning.

“What the hell is going on, Sarah? Since when do you go to a place like that? Dan seemed sketchy on the phone. Did he know you were going there? What is all of this?” her dad demanded. He was almost shaking with anger.

“What it is,” Sarah said, looking at the floor, “Is none of your business. Thank you for getting my phone. I’m sorry you had to go there. But I don’t want to talk about anything else.”

“Sarah, you have —” her dad started to say before her mother cut him off.

“I’m sorry, I just can’t,” Sarah’s mom said. “I need to shower after being in a place like that. I need to feel clean. I’m going to go use your shower if that’s okay.”

“Sure, Mom,” Sarah said, not wanting to be left alone with her father. Her mom, with a small bag under her arm, left for the bathroom. Sarah’s father didn’t even wait for her to leave before jumping back in, “You have two daughters! Do you know how dangerous a place like that is? Did you think about the kind of people who hang out there? I don’t even want to know about what happened.....”

Well, this is an unexpected development. Lester sat back in his command center, watching the scene play out in the living room. Sarah’s father was reading her the riot act for being at a sex club the night before.

Lester had completely forgotten about Sarah’s phone. Usually, he never overlooked details like that, but the last few minutes at the club had been a little hectic to say the least. He smiled, thinking of how long Dan might have stayed on the FaceTime call and all the things he heard or might have seen. That was a delicious thought.

While inwardly he didn’t like that he had forgotten about the phone, sometimes these little accidents presented glorious opportunities. Not only was Sarah’s life about to take a dramatic turn in the immediate future, but now her parents were a new variable he could exploit. Lester had already planted seeds about Dan’s shortcomings and his job at dinner last night that he knew would bear fruit in the future. But now this morning’s development was something else he could put to good use.

So far, he hadn’t been mentioned. He would have to thank Dale for keeping Lester’s name out of his mouth.

Lester scratched his naked bulging gut as he watched Sarah's mother enter the small bathroom. He was still listening to the argument in the living room, but his eyes grew wide as he watched the older woman disrobe. She really could pass for Sarah's older sister based on the way she took care of herself. Sure, some signs of aging were apparent, but as Lester watched Sarah's mom get naked and enter the shower, he was impressed by how tight and fit her body still was.

Lester licked his lips and heaved himself up off his chair and plodded lazily through the mess on his floor until he reached his closet. He slid open the door and stepped inside, peering through the peephole that allowed him an unobstructed view of the shower.

Hello there. Lester grinned as he watched Sarah's mother shower. He stared as she tried in vain to cleanse herself of the filth from the sex shop. If only she knew the extent of her daughter's depravity there during the night before. And the fact that Sarah still hadn't showered it off yet. Or had even expressed a desire to.

Lester watched as Sarah's mom cleaned her heavy, shapely breasts, feeling himself growing harder by the minute. Yes, there was something here he could exploit. Lester stood at the peephole stroking himself for the next several minutes until Sarah's mother had finished showering.

He checked the camera feed from the living room and saw Sarah and her father speaking in hushed, angry tones. Sarah still had her arms crossed and appeared combative. Lester grabbed the first pair of shorts he could find on the ground and a ratty T-shirt. He silently opened his door and waited.

It wasn't long before Sarah's mother exited the bathroom.

"Renee," Lester said in a whisper. Sarah's mother whirled around, startled, and seemed taken aback by Lester's unexpected presence.

"Lester," She said before adding, "I'm sorry about the disturbance in your apartment. We're just concerned for our daughter."

"It's okay," Lester said, "I understand. To be honest, I'm a little concerned too."

Renee seemed intrigued by that, her face inquisitive. Hook, line, and sinker. She stepped forward, still whispering, "You are? Do you know anything about," she gestured towards the living room, "...all of that?"

"Well, I was trying not to eavesdrop," Lester lied, "But I heard something about a sex store?"

“Yes, well, I probably shouldn’t say anything. It’s not my place,” Renee said, trying to cover for her daughter and preserve some of her modesty.

“Okay, it’s just... You know, you’re right. I really shouldn’t say anything either,” Lester said.

“No. No, please. I want to hear what you have to say. I need to. Please. I’m just looking out for my daughter,” Renee said, stepping forward. Lester could smell Sarah’s body wash on her. And it smelled delicious. Like a fruit ready to be plucked. He tried to focus on Renee’s drying hair so as not to stare at her chest.

“I don’t know where Sarah went last night,” Lester lied, gambling that his part in things wouldn’t be revealed. He doubted Sarah would want to share that much with her parents. “But I do know that Dan and Sarah are into some weird things. Not traditional married couple stuff. I don’t know if they are both into it or if one is pressuring the other, but these walls are thin if you catch my drift.”

More seeds being planted in Lester’s garden of debauchery. Deliberately putting Renee onto a specific line of thinking. This was becoming fun.

Renee’s face twisted into a disgusted expression, “What, uh, what kind of things, Lester?”

“I don’t know if I really want to get into it right now,” Lester shrugged, “Dan’s my roommate after all, and I’m supposed to respect his privacy.”

Renee put her hand on Lester’s arm, “Lester, that is my daughter out there. I need to protect her. Please, tell me what you’ve seen. Or heard.”

Too easy. Lester had to try his best not to break out in a grin, “I don’t know everything. I just know that sometimes they go out and don’t come back until really late. Like Sarah did last night. And when they come back, they are kind of messed up. I’m not sure if it’s alcohol or drugs or what. And sometimes they aren’t alone when they come back....”

Lester trailed off, leaving the implication clear.

“You mean?” Renee asked.

“Yes,” Lester nodded, not looking Renee in the eyes. Doing his best to look like the reluctant bearer of bad news. While his eyes were downcast, he took the opportunity to glance at her body, picturing her naked form.

“I don’t know what to say,” Renee said.

Lester met her eyes, trying to seem panicked, “Please don’t mention that you heard it from me. I don’t want to be involved. I don’t want to get in trouble or have Dan mad at me. He gets mad so easily sometimes.”

Renee patted Lester reassuringly on the arm. Lester subtly arched his hips back so his straining erection wouldn’t be as noticeable.

“Your secret’s safe with me, Lester. I promise I won’t bring you up. But thank you for sharing all of this with me.” Renee smiled warmly at the short man.

Now for the final masterstroke.

“If something else happens,” Lester started, purposely sounding unsure of himself, “I could always let you know. I-if it’s going to keep Sarah safe.” He took the opportunity to seem awkward, bending further forward. The obscene tenting of his pants would ruin his plan.

“I would appreciate that, Lester,” Renee said warmly. She reached into her bag and pulled out her phone. “Could you give me your phone number?”

When Sarah’s mom returned from her shower, Sarah felt even more exhausted than she’d been when she woke up to her parents banging on the apartment door. The conversation with her father had been going around and around in circles.

Sarah was trying to maintain her insistence on privacy and to deny the wild accusations of being an irresponsible mother. And then there was this fresh inquiry into Dan’s character. Her mom coming back into the room was almost a relief, but Sarah’s hopes were dashed by the look of confusion and disappointment on her mother’s face.

“Okay, good,” her Dad said, standing up, “We’re leaving.”

Sarah’s mother moved to the door along with her father. As they put their shoes on, Sarah’s dad turned to her, still seated on the couch. “You too, Sarah.”

“W-what? I’m not leaving,” Sarah said, “Dan’s coming home from Washington today.”

“Sarah,” her father said, “Dan told us on the phone that he needs to stay another day anyways. You need to come with us. This city isn’t good for you.” His eyes were flat.

His words were final.

“Sarah, think about it like this. The girls are probably dying to see you. Dan will be okay. He can drive back to Middleton whenever he wants now that he’s unemployed.”

That stung. A lot. It was still a fresh wound, and Sarah tried not to let the pain show. With a groan, she put her face into her hands. This wasn’t how this weekend was supposed to go.

“Sarah, come on. Get your things. Let’s go,” Sarah’s father said.

Sarah sighed. For the zillionth time that morning, she felt like a child again. She knew deep down that it was probably better for her to go home with them than stay. It was dangerous to embrace the thrill that Lester gave her. If she stayed, who knew what would happen? That idea excited her. She wanted to lean into it.

And Dan, well, she wasn’t sure when her husband was coming back. And she did need to get back home before work on Monday. She could always ask her boss to let her stay home sick....

Sarah stood up. That thought wasn’t like her. Sure, work sucked at the moment but she was better than this. Besides, if she took one sick day and stayed in Chicago with Lester, who knows how many more she would take. Her parents were right, a little space would be good.

“On one condition,” Sarah said, “We don’t talk about this the entire car ride home. I don’t want to hear it. Your concerns are noted. But I am done talking about it.”

Her father’s mouth formed a thin line. “Sure. Just get your stuff.”

Sarah went into Dan’s bedroom and hurriedly packed her carry-on suitcase. She just needed to take a breath for a second. To have some physical space between her and her parents. It had happened so fast that she wasn’t prepared for any of this. It felt like things were spiralling out of control.

Sarah didn’t bother to fold her clothes; she just jammed them into the suitcase. She sighed, remembering she was wearing nothing but a robe, and quickly found some clothes to wear. She took off the robe, just imagining the impatient look on her father’s face. Her heart was beating fast, like a caged animal that just wanted to escape and be free. How had things ended up like this? How had just found herself in such a fucking shitty position.

The lock on the door clicked behind her.

With her robe shoved halfway into the suitcase, Sara felt her face flush with embarrassment as her hands covered her naked breasts and pussy. She whirled around, mortified that her dad had just walked in on her naked.

‘Jesus, Dad, just give me a second....’ Sarah trailed off as she saw the person standing across the room from her. It wasn’t her father at all. It was Lester, standing there with his troll-like, hairy, fat body and ugly facial features.

‘I’m not you’re dad, but I am your daddy,’ Lester said slowly, much too loud for Sarah’s liking.

‘Lester,’ Sarah hissed quietly, ‘What the fuck are you doing in here? My parents are in the living room. I need to go.’

‘You were going to leave without a goodbye kiss?’ Lester mocked a hurt expression and quickly closed the distance between them. Sarah rolled her eyes and turned back to the carry-on, shoving the last bit of the robe inside. She zipped it shut, intending to put the clothes she had set aside on, but then she realized it had been a mistake to turn her back on Lester.

His hardening cock pressed against her perfect bubble butt and Sarah’s breath caught in her throat. She slowly stood back up, Lester’s fat gut pressing against the small of her back as she did. Sarah turned, shocked to look back at Lester behind her.

‘Leste,r this isn’t the time. I need to go,’ Sarah said quietly.

‘Not until I get my kiss,’ Lester said in his normal voice.

‘Quiet!’ Sarah hissed, just imagining her parents walking into this scene and her having to try to explain it. The idea of revealing her affair with Lester to them made her skin crawl, and she had no idea how she would face that.

‘Then shut me up,’ Lester said again.

Sarah breathed out of her nostrils and pulled Lester’s fat head to her. Her lips smashed against his. Lester’s hand went to her ass, pulling her pussy against his cock while the other was on her back, pulling her heavy breasts against his saggy chest. Her body melted into the kiss, and Lester’s tongue pryed her lips apart and invaded her mouth. Sarah moaned into Lester’s mouth. Then she stifled another moan, remembering where she was and who was just down the hall.

“Lester,” Sarah breathed, pushing on his chest to get some distance between them, “I can’t. Not again. My parents are here, if they hear us.”

“Hear you, you mean. Hear you scream for my cock,” Lester chuckled his face diving towards her neck, his tongue lapping at her exposed collar bone.

“Lester, I need to get dressed,” Sarah says, putting her arms up between their bodies and pushing against him. She managed to break free and grabbed her clothes off the bed.

Lester grabbed the clothes out of her hands and tossed them onto the floor.

“Seriously?” Sarah rolled her eyes and went to pick them up. As she did, Lester pressed against her again, this time with more force. Sarah stumbled but caught herself on the wall. Lester was right here, his cock pressing up against her ass, his hot breath on her ear.

“Just a quickie,” Lester breathed. He held his cock in his hand, running it down her ass until it poked between her thighs and was running up and down her slit.

“Oh god, Lester, we can’t,” Sarah whispered.

“Yes, we can,” Lester countered.

The sound of footsteps approaching made Sarah freeze. Lester took advantage of the moment, bent his knees and angled his cock up against her opening. The head of his cock finding her wet, waiting pussy as it started to slide in.

Sarah was about to moan, but Lester’s hand deftly covered her mouth. The doorknob turned, but the lock held. A series of quick knocks hit the door, followed by her father’s voice, “Sarah, come on. What’s taking so long? Let’s go.”

Lester bucked his hip and his entire cock pushed all the way into Sarah’s pussy.

“Ohfuck,” Sarah moaned into Lester’s hand.

“What?” Her dad said, “Sarah, open up.”

Sarah put a hand on Lester’s waist to slow him down. He removed his hand.

“Dad give me a second, I’m just getting changed, alright?” Sarah said. Lester didn’t wait for her permission to continue. He started driving his cock into her with short, shallow strokes. The angle felt amazing his cock pounding against her G-spot. Being immobile and pinned to the wall like this made her insides twist in delicious agony. She was loving this way more than she should. How Lester had managed to get her so worked up so fast, she didn't know, but she was already quickly building towards something. Something that she hoped wouldn't happen while her dad was just a few feet away, on the other side of the door.

Lester licked the back of her neck, twirling it in the little hairs on the base of her skull. Sarah felt her eyes rolling back in her head at the sensation. Lester had let go of her mouth, both hands on her hips as he fucked her slow and deep. Sarah's mind twisted as she clenched her pussy around his cock. She bit her lip to stifle the cries of pleasure that threatened to escape and expose her to her father.

"You've been in there for a while. You should be changed already. Come on, Sarah. Just come," her Dad said.

"J, Just a second," Sarah breathed. The knob turned again. And again, Sarah's heart felt like it was going to jump out of her chest.

"Ffuck," Sarah whimpered as she bit down on her fist.

"I'm gonna cum," Lester whispered in her ear. Oh fuck. Fuck Lester's going to fill me again. Oh god. Oh god. Oh fuck. Fuck. Fuck. Fuck. Holy shit fuck.

Sarah felt a fiery ball in the pit of her stomach. She couldn't hold it back anymore. She was about to cum. She was going to squeeze Lester's cock as he exploded inside of her. Sarah bit down on her fist. The nails on her other hand dug into the drywall. Lester's cock never let up as it pounded into her.

Her brain was on fire. Every inch of her felt as if it were hooked up to a car battery. Sarah was about to explode.

The knob turned again. "Come on, Sarah," her father's voice said through the door, "Come. Come on. Let's go."

"Let's fucking go," Lester whispered in her ear and bit her ear lobe. It was so fucked up. All of this. Hearing the both of their words combined into something so depraved and fucked up. Sarah couldn't stop it now, even if she wanted to.

"Mmmhmfhmfmfuckckaaaakckckfa," Sarah shoved more of her fist into her mouth as her body came. A torrent of pleasure ripped across her body at the same time she felt Lester unload his hot, sticky, illicit cum into her. It flooded into her pussy and made Sarah's eyes roll back into her head. Her body quivered, and she lost all sense of time and place for several seconds.

Lester was breathing hard against her neck as she finally took a breath and tried to steady herself. Her knees felt so weak. If it weren't for Lester's cock embedded inside of her, pinning her to the wall, she would have fallen over.

"I'm coming," Sarah said absently to the door as his body continued to come down from the powerful orgasm.

"Just hurry up," Her dad said before she heard his footsteps heading back towards the living room.

"Holy shit Lester," Sarah said out of breath, "That was close."

"Yup," Lester said as he pulled his cock out of her. Cum immediately started running down her leg. Some even splattered onto the floor like champagne shooting out of the bottle when the cork was removed.

Sarah held onto the wall and took a deep breath.

"You better get going," Lester said, throwing her clothes at her feet. "Your dad's kind of impatient."

"Well," Sarah said between breaths, "If someone hadn't delayed me, I would already be gone by now."

"Feel free to blame it on me. I don't care. Tell them the truth," Lester smirked.

Sarah shook her head at the ugly man and pulled on her panties. She grimaced as they immediately felt wet up against her as Lester's cum leaked into them. She needed to clean herself up, but there was no way she was hobbling, half-naked, over to the bathroom to do so. Reluctantly, she pulled on the rest of her clothes. She grabbed her suitcase and gave Lester a sharp look, "Stay in here until we leave."

"Sure."

"I'm serious. I better not fucking see you until we are gone."

"Okay."

"Promise me, Lester."

Lester sighed like a five-year-old child, "Fine. I promise. Whatever."

Sarah glared at him for several seconds before she left the room and wheeled her suitcase into the living room. She quickly made an excuse to use the washroom and cleaned up as best she could. Each second in there, she just waited for Lester to do something else. Thankfully, he didn't, and soon she was back in the living room with her suitcase in hand. She had everything in there, except her dress that was still somewhere in Lester's room and the pink bra and panty set lost to the cretins of the sex club. Her parents were ready to leave, and soon, Sarah was heading down in the elevator with them.

For what felt like the hundredth time that morning, Dan willed himself to still his bouncing knee under the desk. Despite his best outward projection of professionalism and confidence in Sentinel's office this morning, he couldn't help but feel an acidic ball of nerves bundled up in his gut.

He hadn't been able to reach Sarah since he'd seen her in that fucked up porn theatre last night. He knew that she was most likely okay, but a part of him wanted to throw caution to the wind and jump back on a plane to Chicago ASAP. The fact that her phone was still showing as being at the dirty theatre in the FindMy App was driving him nuts. Sarah couldn't really still be there, could she? Maybe she had just lost her phone. She'd seemed distracted, to say the least.

Dan had stayed on the FaceTime call, even when it devolved into nothing but muffled sounds and blackness. The last thing he saw was a blur of movement – the phone being picked up, followed by an unfocused, shadowed face before the call ended. Dan had tried getting back on the call a dozen times, but it never connected. His texts and calls went unanswered as well.

He'd even reluctantly called Lester a few times, but his fat roommate never answered. Dan didn't know whether that was because Lester didn't see the call, ignored the call, or because something was actually wrong.

Sarah's parents had called him, worried that they too couldn't get a hold of their daughter. He'd tried to keep the worry out of his voice, but he was pretty sure Sarah's father had picked up on it. He desperately wanted to give them her phone's location. He probably should've given it to them, but how the hell were they supposed to explain why she'd been there? If her parents ever found out about all of this, he wasn't sure he would ever be able to face them again. Still, if he didn't hear from Sarah soon, he wouldn't have a choice in the matter.

Dan stared at his laptop screen, scanning the various flight times available back to Chicago. He was going to fly home tomorrow, but he desperately wanted to bump up the time. It wouldn't be impossible to make an excuse to his client. It might not look the best, but he could very possibly swing it.

The stiletto clack of approaching heels made Dan switch tabs back to his email inbox. Waiting for him was a new email from Sentintel's team lead praising Dan's recent group presentation. The email was directed to internal colleagues, and the team lead was giving new directions on the project based on the details in Dan's work. It felt good to have this kind of impact again. After such a long time, it felt like he was getting his momentum back.

The heels clicked closer on the hardwood floor, and Dan knew who was about to pop into his cubicle. Without looking up, he saw Tricia's slender body and blonde hair appear in his peripheral vision.

"Well, there he is, our new golden boy." Tricia leaned against the entrance to the cubicle, causing her arm to press against her breasts further amplifying the subtle cleavage of her shirt, "What are you doing- hiding all the way back here?"

Dan swiveled in his chair to face her, deliberately making eye contact instead of running his eyes over the supple curves of her body.

"Well, this is where the lowly contractors like me sit," Dan smiled.

"I know. It's just..." she looked around at the other empty cubicles around Dan, "...so dead on this floor today. You should come upstairs where all the action is. Though, I'm sure being alone down here probably has its perks."

She flashed him her trademark predatory smile, her eyes boring into him with clear intent.

"It does have its benefits," Dan said slowly as Tricia's smile widened. Then he decided to pull back on the teasing, "I've gotten a lot done down here without all the distractions upstairs. Besides, it's probably just a skeleton crew up there anyway, right? It is still Sunday."

Tricia subtly rolled her eyes, growing impatient with Dan's aversion to flirting, "Yeah, but there are still a bunch of us. We need to get this project off the ground."

She shifted herself off the cubicle entrance and stood up, staring down at Dan, "So when are you heading back home?"

“Tomorrow. It was supposed to be today but the guys upstairs made some last minute changes,” Dan said, “Unless we can push a few things and I can take an earlier flight tonight.”

“That’s a shame,” Tricia crossed her arms, “It’s fun having you around.”

“Oh? Fun? Here I thought you found my work boring,” Dan said.

“It is boring, but you are interesting,” Tricia trailed off before adding, “And you’ve stirred things up around here. Not everyone likes pivoting at this point in the project, but we all realize we’ll get a better result. I honestly wouldn’t be surprised if we try and snatch you up for ourselves.”

Dan could take that a couple of ways, especially with Tricia’s unsubtle delivery.

“Yeah? Well, who knows? I never got the impression that this was anything more than a contractual assignment.” Dan said.

“Please,” Tricia waved her hand at him dismissively, “You’ve impressed a lot of important people. We’ve even had other departments and project managers asking for your input on their projects. We’ve kept them at bay for now so you can focus on ours, but it hasn’t gone unnoticed. If you were on the payroll, they’d be able to get your input on a dozen projects at once instead of just ours.”

“Well, maybe I am the golden boy then,” Dan smiled.

“Oh, I think you’re much more than just a boy,” Tricia said, leaning forward so that the top of her cleavage caught Dan’s eye. She smiled as his gaze faltered before snapping back up to her face.

“Anyways,” Tricia said, moving out of the cubicle, seemingly happy that she had broken a part of Dan’s resilience, “If you want to have something delicious for dinner tonight, let me know. My treat.”

“Sentinel comps my meals,” Dan said as Tricia walked away. He could no longer see her face from his chair.

“Then I’ll find some other way to satisfy your appetite,” Tricia teased as her clicking heels led her away from Dan’s cubicle. He sat there until he heard the sound of the far door open and close before he let out his breath.

She was clearly coming onto Dan hard, but he knew women like Tricia. Dan was like her new toy that she was currently enjoying playing with, but whether or not there was any serious intent behind her words was another thing. Not that Dan intended to find out. Despite everything happening in his marriage, he still loved Sarah and wasn't about to step out on her. It was an ironic principle given how much Sarah had been fucking other men lately but that was still part of what he loved. That she was embracing his fantasy, even if things had gotten out of control. It was almost hotter that things had gotten so out of control.

But Jesus, last night had been on another level. An insane, dangerous lack of control. And he still hadn't heard from Sarah, which both worried and aroused him. He flipped his phone over and saw several unread messages from Sarah and her mother.

R: We found Sarah's phone....heading to the apartment now.

R: Sarah is here at the apartment. She is okay.

S: I lost my phone last night. I'm heading back to Middleton with my parents now. I really wish you had covered for me. They went to the theater and now they're asking me a ton of fucking questions about all of this.

Dan breathed a sigh of relief at Sarah's last message. She was safe. But he was still annoyed at her tone. Why the hell was any of this his fault? He didn't lose her phone, he didn't make her go there, and he was worried about her.

Without thinking, he fired off a reply.

D: I had no idea where you were or if you were even safe. The last thing I saw was you about to get gang-banged in some scummy theatre. So yeah, I was worried. What if something bad had happened? I can't just lie to them.

S: But you were fine with lying to me about Eugene at the peephole. My parents are asking about our sex life, why I was there, and if you are forcing me to do things. I'm so fucking angry right now.

D: I didn't make you go there.

S: But you could've said anything. That you talked to me this morning, that everything was okay. Instead they went to that fucking sex shop and are questioning everything about us and what we do.

D: I didn't know what was happening. I couldn't get a hold of you or Lester. I was worried too.

S: Now they think you are a degenerate pervert who forces me to do things I don't want to do.

D: Jesus Christ. Well, tell them I'm not.

S: I thought we weren't supposed to lie to my parents?

D: That's not fair, and you know it. I never made you go there. You could have turned around and left. You're the one who was in Chicago. You were in control last night, not me.

S: I face timed you. I did it for you.

D: Is that what you tell yourself? Then tell me how you lost your phone if I was so important to you. It was on the floor pretty much the entire time.

S: I'm done talking about this right now. I'm stuck in this car with my parents who won't stop asking questions. I don't want to deal with any of this right now.

Dan stared at his phone. How the hell Sarah was trying to put this on him was mind boggling. He knew she was just worked up and overwhelmed from being surprised and interrogated by her parents, but it was still super frustrating. She needed space from them to cool off at home.

They'd been here before, in an argument where her side didn't always make sense. In time, she would come to realize that she was wrong and see his point of view. He just needed to give her space and time to collect herself.

Dan sighed and sat back in his chair. He needed to get out of this cubicle and get some air. He decided to go up to the next floor and see who else was around to talk to.

Sarah crossed the atrium with a warm cup of coffee from the cafeteria. Without even looking, she knew that Otis was watching her. She could feel his gaze on her ass clad in the black pencil skirt. The hair on the back of her neck stood up, adding to the sense that she was being watched. She just knew that sooner or later, he would try something again. She knew how men were. After their last encounter in Lester's office, Otis would only grow bolder.

But so far, he was still lurking around the corners of the hospital, not willing to come right out and approach her. That was fine with Sarah. She didn't want to deal with him at the moment. There was already so much on her mind that she had to contend with; she didn't need another complication.

Sarah rode the elevator up and tried to focus her thoughts. She stared back at her reflection in the elevator door, appraising the way her tight, sleeveless white blouse clung to her body's curves. Her blonde hair framed her face perfectly, falling down to her shoulders. She felt like a bundle of nerves inside, but at least to the few men in the elevator trying to take sneaky glances at her, she looked like a well put-together professional.

Sarah glanced at her phone, and there was a message from her mom.

R: Why don't you and the kids come stay with us for a while?

Sarah sighed and turned off her phone screen.

The elevator doors opened, and Sarah walked out. The men now glanced openly at her as she moved, not realizing she could still see them in their reflections. She navigated the winding hallway until she came to the small meeting room. Instead waiting for her was her nemesis from HR, Mary – the bitch who had somehow pushed Sarah out of her office and eliminated her position. Now, Sarah was stuck working in a lower position in IT for Lester.

Sarah steeled her nerves and walked into the meeting room.

“Close the door behind you,” Mary said without looking up. She was flanked by two other HR harpies.

Sarah bit her tongue, turned around, and closed the door before taking the seat directly across from Mary.

“So,” Sarah said in a steady voice, “Why are we here? The meeting invitation didn't give me any information.”

“Is Lester coming?” Mary cut in without giving any response.

“No. He isn't. And he said he won't come to meetings without a clear agenda so he can determine whether or not it's worth his time,” Sarah said in her friendliest bitch voice.

“I see,” Mary said, turning her attention back to the laptop in front of her. Sarah sat there, waiting for someone to say something, but it looked like Mary and her gaggle of HR women were happy to waste her time.

“Mary,” Sarah said, getting ready to stand up and leave the room, “Enough games, just tell me what I’m doing here.”

A small smile appeared at the corner of Mary’s lips, like she had won a victory over Sarah. The older woman’s face looked like a dried-up raisin, and she did a terrible job with her makeup. In this day and age, with YouTube tutorials, there was no excuse for that.

“We’re here because of a new initiative our team is putting together to help preserve the culture of the hospital, and protect it from future lawsuits and other cyber attacks like the one we just experienced,” Mary said slowly, her eyes on Sarah, gauging her reaction. Sarah suddenly felt very alone on this side of the table. Alarm bells were going off in her head. HR protecting against cyber attacks? That wasn’t their responsibility.

“Sounds interesting,” Sarah said coolly, “Tell me more.”

Mary went on to recount a recent human resources professional conference, where she spoke with a vendor about a new piece of software. One that would give HR reports of everything employees typed into a computer and record the screens of every computer in the hospital. From diagnostic machines to payroll staff. Everyone except the executive team, of course.

“Mary,” Sarah said, leaning in, eager to dash the hopes and dreams of this small woman, “That isn’t going to happen. Not only is it a violation of the hospital’s HIPAA compliance, but there is a huge potential for misuse and no oversight.”

“I’ll be overseeing it,” Mary said sternly.

“That’s exactly the problem. If anything, it should be an independent body that reports directly to the board,” Sarah said.

“I report to Mr. Thornhill, who is our CEO and sits on the board, Mrs. Williams,” Mary said, her eyes boring into Sarah’s. “Besides, you don’t have the authority here to say no. You are just the little messenger girl. Why don’t you take this and run it over to your boss so he can get working on it.”

Sarah wasn't about to take his condescending bitch's bait. She was just waiting for Sarah to step out of line, and she had two witnesses here to back her up. Instead, Sarah pivoted back to the professional side of things: "This software violates several of the hospital's IT security policies, there is a clear lack of consent from employees, and it'll open us up to a whole slew of legal issues."

"Aww, it's so cute that you think you're qualified to talk about any of that," Mary said with a grandmotherly smile on her face, "Why don't you just run along and let us worry about that grown-up stuff, okay? You can go paint your nails or whatever it is you're good at."

Fucking bitch. Sarah opened her mouth to respond, but Mary cut her off.

"Maybe you are so reluctant to adopt this because you're hiding something? What would this software find on your computer, Sarah?" Mary sneered.

Sarah froze, wondering if there was anything incriminating on there. She cycled through possibilities but realized that despite everything with Lester, Otis, and everything else, she had always been diligent about keeping her computer clean. Her phone might be another issue, but it wasn't company property.

Sarah stood up, "This meeting is over. I'll have Lester get in touch and tell you why this isn't going to happen."

Sarah turned and walked towards the door. As she gripped the handle, Mary spoke and Sarah could hear the self-satisfied smile on her lips, "You made a mistake, dear. This wasn't a request. It's already been approved. You just need to make it happen."

Sarah looked over her shoulder at the smug, ugly woman who was holding out a piece of paper for her. Sarah tentatively walked over and took it, much to Mary's delight. On it, she saw the proposal to acquire the software, and it was approved and signed by both Mary and their CEO, Richard Thornhill.

Sarah felt her face grow a deep shade of red. She'd been played. This entire thing could have been a simple email, yet Mary had arranged a meeting just to rub it in Sarah's face. To make Sarah think she had a leg to stand on to resist them.

"Okay," Sarah breathed, and her mouth formed a tight line. She turned and walked out of the room, away from the soft chuckles of Mary and her crew.

Sarah rode the elevator in silence, ignoring the stares of the men riding with her this time. She got off on the floor for IT and marched back to her office. As she passed Lester's office, he looked up from the window, and she shot him an icy glare. Fuck You.

Sarah slammed the door to her office shut and closed the blinds. She sat down in her chair and buried her face in her hands. That bitch had just railroaded her. Sarah didn't want that software implemented at the hospital; it was a gross violation of privacy, but that wasn't even what bothered her. It was just the blatant disrespect and antagonism of that bitch that drove her insane. And Sarah no longer had any pull nor authority to push back against her. Previously, she could have easily outmaneuvered this woman and had her fired for her attitude; after all, Sarah was once in the running to be the CEO of this hospital, and that woman wouldn't have even made it past the first interview.

But now she was stuck here in some lowly office in IT. If Lester weren't such a lazy fucker and actually attended his meetings, she wouldn't have been cornered like that. She wouldn't have been embarrassed and humiliated in that way. Sarah was at her wits' end. She hated working here now, but her family desperately needed the money to stay afloat. Lester had made her his liaison, but that didn't come with any actual authority. Mary was right; she was just a glorified messenger girl. Sarah didn't know what to do.

Are you going to be my good girl or my bad girl? Lester's words from the other night rang in her head. His smug, self-assured taunt to her. At the time she felt conflicted but here and now it just pissed her off. Lester thought he was some puppet master, directing her. Yes, he touched a deep part of her she was still just starting to learn about but fuck was she mad at him right now.

And that whole sex club thing that he brought her to. She should have just walked away. Now her parents thought she was into some fucked up perverted shit and were putting their noses into her sex life. Suddenly everything in her life was up for review with them, ready to be examined under a microscope. Her marriage, her job, her parenting, her husband, everything was now being questioned by them. It was as if one little fact snowballed with them, acting as if they had found a missing puzzle piece that made them question everything.

Sarah cautiously looked at her phone and saw several more messages from both her parents, as well as another from Dan. She silenced her phone and put it face down on her desk.

It was all too much at once. She wondered what Dan's message could possibly be; they hadn't left things great, and she was still upset with him for not covering for her. She knew it was asking a lot, but if he had just said anything to quell his parents' worries, they wouldn't have gone down to that gross sex theatre and opened this can of worms.

It was all just so overwhelming. Her parents were too close. Her life and work were too close. These were supposed to be separate, siloed parts of her life, but now everything was blurring together with unintended consequences. She just needed a break from all of this. From work, from her parents, from Dan, from Lester, just some space to be by herself to get her head on straight. She just needed to breathe.

She had to take back control of her life before she had a mental breakdown. It was too much stress. Too much pressure. Sarah just needed to make a decision that was hers and hers alone, not for her parents, not for Dan, and not for Lester.

Lester had always been the one pushing her to do things. Dan had too, but Lester pushed her boundaries like no one else. She wanted to do something different. To do something to piss him off and shove his condescending, controlling attitude up his ass. She wasn't his woman to control. She wasn't going to be the good girl or the bad girl. Fuck all of that.

Lester munched on a handful of Cheetos as he watched Sarah walk by his window. He suppressed a smirk, knowing the meeting she had just come back from. Of course, he'd received the email and request from Mary late last week while he was still in Chicago. But he didn't want to deal with it. And it would be so much more fun to give Sarah that extra little nudge and make her meet with that cranky old bitch.

From the death glare Sarah had just given him, the meeting went about as well as he had hoped for. She hadn't messaged him since she'd abruptly left Chicago with her parents. That had been disappointing, but from the way she was carrying herself, he knew she was under some personal stress. Playing back the recording of her interaction with her parents in the apartment had been both hilarious and cringeworthy. He could only imagine what the drive back to Middleton had been like.

But it all served a greater purpose. Winding Sarah up to the point where she was ready to pop. Where she would act emotionally, not rationally. Like all women do. Where she would slip and make a poor decision. A decision that Lester would ensure cascaded the dominoes of her life and made everything crumble.

Lester smirked. This was fun. Sure, he'd injected himself into women's lives before. But never on his scale. Never to the depth he had with Sarah. He had destroyed her work life with a few simple keystrokes, completely changing the staff and culture of the hospital. And now her personal life was up for grabs.

But there were so many new variables at play. Lester usually liked the control. In the apartment, he controlled all the variables. But here at the hospital, in Middletown – outside the apartment, there were just so many variables Lester couldn't account for. Couldn't exert control over. He could predict but couldn't account for how each individual would react. Or what their reaction would cause to happen. That lack of control made him nervous, but it was also thrilling. Throwing Sarah into that vacuum and seeing how his plan had to adapt on the fly made him even more confident in his manipulative abilities. What other scenarios and encounters could he engineer outside the confines of the apartment? What opportunities were there out there, just waiting for him to take hold of?

Still, he did miss his apartment. He hated being in an office and hated being in this stupid town even more. Perhaps he could use hospital funds to purchase a gaming laptop for his hotel room.

Lester licked the Cheeto dust off his lips as he opened the calendar on his computer. He felt like a maestro in front of an orchestra, conducting the symphony he had created. In many ways, this all was his masterpiece. His crowning achievement to date.

He sent out the meeting invitation, ensuring he had chosen the particularly secluded meeting room on the ninth floor. The one tucked back in the corner, away from the cubicles with low foot traffic. It was a weird spot for a meeting room, but it would serve his purpose perfectly. His mouse clicked, and he sent another meeting request.

Lester sat back in his chair, his fingers steepled in front of him. Mice in a maze. Variables at play. He knew something explosive would happen this afternoon. He hoped for one outcome above the rest, but whatever happened would be a treat. Manipulating people and putting them on a collision course, fucking with their lives – god, he lived for this.

He stayed there until several of the meeting participants accepted his request. Then Lester stood up and wiped his fingers off with a Kleenex before leaving his office to find the last piece of his puzzle.

Lester wasn't in his office. He hadn't been there all afternoon. She didn't want to go to the new meeting he put into her calendar, even though it sounded urgent. Sarah tried to find him and talk to him about it, but she'd failed at tracking him down. Why he booked a meeting room on the ninth floor when they shared a wall was beyond her. Maybe he was already up there.

It pained her, but she had asked her mom to pick up the girls from school for her, which opened up another whole barrage of new text message questions. Once she knew her mom would be there, she left her phone in a drawer in her office. She just couldn't deal with the judgement anymore.

Ever since she'd gotten back from Chicago, she felt like she was walking on the edge of a knife, just waiting to slip and cut herself. She balled her hands into tight fists as she walked down the hallway towards the meeting room on the ninth floor.

She knew she was getting more tense as the day went on and was doing an increasingly worse job of hiding it. She could feel the stress in her shoulders, just clinging to her, wearing on her. It had gotten steadily worse since her meeting with Mary and the subsequent deluge of emails that had followed. All tasks the head of HR was personally assigning directly to Sarah to take care of. She felt like a lap dog to this evil woman, and Lester wasn't doing anything to help.

There was a time that she walked these halls with her head held high, having earned the trust and respect of her peers. Now she felt like she was walking to the gallows, bracing herself for the hangman's noose. She hated being here. She knew she should look for another job, but at least she had an income. How would she and Dan be able to afford their house and pay their bills without it? Now that he was out of work, they were already struggling just to cover everything. They would have to renegotiate and try to cut back in almost every area if she left.

Sarah let out a long breath as the meeting room finally came into sight. She walked down the hallway and tried to push everything to the back of her mind. Her parents, Dan and that infuriating bitch from HR.

She was going to give Lester a piece of her mind in this meeting, once she finally had him cornered. How dare he just throw her to the wolves like that this morning. And that whole thing about punishing her if she misbehaved. Really? Sarah was a fucking adult. If anything, she should be the one punishing him. She just needed to figure out how to hit him where it hurt.

Just thinking that thought sent a thrill straight through her. Maybe she was going to be the bad girl after all.

Sarah steadied herself as she reached the meeting room door. This room was more private than the others, as it had no window to the hallway and no glass panels on the door. She took a deep breath and turned the knob, only to find the room completely empty.

Some of her stress slunk out of her shoulders as she closed the door behind herself and sat down at the farthest end of the table from the door. Sarah opened her laptop and began working through her emails, deliberately ignoring those from Mary or anyone else from HR. Movement outside the window easily drew her attention away from her computer. Honestly anything would have at this point, she welcomed the distraction. Down below her in the parking lot, people streamed out of the hospital towards their respective vehicles.

Sarah realized for the first time that this was a similar but slightly higher view to the one from her old office. The one that she was unceremoniously pushed out of. This room must be just a few floors up. Images flashed in Sarah's mind of the first time Lester had pinned her up against that window and fucked her while she watched people leaving like this. Just the thought of one of them looking back and being able to see her. She knew that wasn't likely given the style of windows, but she had been obsessed with it at the time. Her breath caught in her throat at the memory, and she licked her lips wickedly.

The building was emptying, and soon only a skeleton crew of administrators would remain, while the medical staff started the night shift. She shouldn't be here. She should be home with her girls, sipping a glass of red wine, helping her forget about all the stress and issues plaguing her life right now. Maybe after the girls went to bed, she would do something about all the pent-up impulses she was feeling. The more she thought about that encounter with Lester and the date with herself tonight, the more worked up she felt. It was a welcome relief from the intense pressure and frustration she had been carrying all day.

Sarah checked her watch. Lester was late. Of course he was. Sarah slunk back down in her chair and just stared at her laptop screen. Her eyes immediately unfocused; she couldn't bring herself to do any more work today. She just sat there and waited for Lester to inevitably walk in. She let the encounter from her old office play in her head as she gently spun the chair back and forth.

After a few minutes, she snapped out of her trance and her eyes focused on a new email at the top of her inbox. It was from Lester. It was just an auto-email notification letting her know that the meeting between them had been cancelled.

"What the fuck Lester?!" Sarah slammed her hand onto the desk and shut her laptop with too much force. She stayed late for this. Reluctantly made contact with her mom and had her kids picked up. And then he just cancels? Sometimes he was such an inconsiderate asshole. Actually, sometimes he was actually considerate, but most of the time he was just an asshole. He always confused her. Nothing he did ever made sense.

Well, fuck him. She was going to give him a piece of her mind. He must still be in the building somewhere. Sarah abruptly stood up, sending her chair backwards, hitting the wall. She scooped up her laptop and began marching towards the door when someone knocked on it.

Sarah froze in place. Was it Lester? She put her laptop back down on the table and got ready to throttle the obese man. The doorknob turned, and the door swung open. Sarah felt renewed tension in her shoulders as the pudgy form of Otis stood in the open doorway. His beady eyes immediately ran up Sarah's body, drinking in her exposed calves to the snug fit of her pencil skirt on her waist up to her tight blouse straining against the natural wonders of her breasts. His eyes danced over her bare arms until they landed on her face. The hungry smile spread across Otis's face as he stepped into the room.

"What are you doing here?" Sarah said with her hands on her hips, confidently standing her ground against this man. The last time she'd been in a room alone with him was with Dan in Lester's office. And that incident had enraged Lester enough to make him "punish" her by bringing her to that sex shop. An idea began forming in her mind. But she knew it needed to get out of here before she let herself give in to it.

"I'm here for you," Otis growled and closed the door behind him.

"Please move Otis, I'm leaving," Sarah said taking a step forward. Sarah felt his eyes on her and that bad part of her started to wake up. She tried to push it back down.

"You're not going anywhere," Otis said holding his ground. Sarah stopped in her tracks, her confidence wavering.

"I need to go pick up my kids," Sarah lied, "Get out of my way."

Sarah continued forward, trying not to look intimidated or as turned on as she was increasingly feeling. She tried to control her breathing and reached for the door knob. Otis moved in front of her hand, making her pull it back. He just grinned at her.

"I'll have to call HR about this Otis," Sarah said levelling her gaze at him. He held it and Sarah felt her heart thumping in her chest. The pull to do something she knew was bad was there. Urging her. To do something destructive. To seize back control of her life. To do something to hurt Lester and show him that she wasn't his thing to control. She looked at Otis and saw the tool to to just that.

The part of her that just wanted to be good tried to hold on but the war was already raging in her body.

“You wouldn’t,” Otis challenged.

“I would,” Sarah replied.

“Then I’d tell them all the other fucked up things I’ve seen you do here,” Otis growled.

“They wouldn’t believe you.” Sarah fired back.

“Sure they would,” Otis said.

“Really? They’d believe that the janitor that smells like old beer got into my pants. Yeah right. But they would believe that you’d corner someone alone in a meeting room like this. Wouldn’t they?” Sarah said, enjoying the pushing this man back. To see the flicker of doubt in his eyes. It felt good. Regaining a bit of that power she used to have, even though it felt wrong wielding it like this.

“Besides,” Sarah continued, “I’m sure it hasn’t gone unnoticed the way you creepily stare at me. There are probably dozens of witnesses to that.” Sarah eyed Otis hard and stepped up towards him. She felt that good girl in her lose its grip on the steering wheel.

“Uh, it, uh,” Otis stammered as Sarah closed the distance between them.

“I’ve seen you. Or felt you really. Felt your eyes on my body. Undressing me every time I walked by, just aching to get me alone again like you did in the basement. And now you have me. What are you going to do with me? Hmmm?” Sarah stepped into Otis’s personal space as he backed up into the door. Sarah smiled inwardly but didn’t let it show on her face. The mask she had on was one of pure lust and aggression. But she loved making men squirm. She hadn’t had that playful banter with Dan in weeks, but here Otis was, putty in her hands.

She planted her hand on Otis’s chest, touching his dirty coveralls next to the cursive ‘Otis’ name tag.

“What are you going to do, huh?” Sarah deliberately tilted her head and ran her eyes up and down Otis’ body. It wasn’t toned like Dan’s. It wasn’t nearly as large and rotund as Lester’s squat body, which she had come to crave. But his scraggly unfit frame would do just fine. She needed this. She just had to remember to let Dan know it was happening. That was their deal.

Sarah licked her lips and leaned in while she ran her hand over Otis’ chest.

“Can I tell you a secret?” Sarah whispered into his ear. She was so close she could feel Otis’ hot breath on her face. It danced across the skin of her neck. She could smell the cheap beer on his lips.

“You’re not going to do a damn thing to me,” Sarah said as her fingers pinched the zipper on the chest of his union suit. She slowly began lowering the zipper. Lower and lower, exposing a white, stained shirt underneath. Lower until it came to a stop at his crotch, Sarah’s manicured hands dove into the coveralls and found Otis’s tight white underwear. A smile danced across her lips as her fingertips found his hardening erection beneath the fabric.

“It’s what I’m going to do you,” Sarah breathed before pushing her hand past the waistband of Otis’s underwear and grasping his naked cock in her hand. Otis groaned in surprise and Sarah wasted no time beginning to stroke the janitor’s growing cock.

She quickly came to the conclusion that Otis was wearing too many layers. With her other hand, she pulled at the shoulder of his coveralls, yanking them down. Otis got the hint and squirmed his other shoulder out of the garment, so that it fell to his waist. Before Sarah even had to ask, the older man grasped the bottom of his stained t-shirt and pulled it off over his head, exposing his weathered leathery skin and pot belly. Sarah eyed him hungrily. At one point, this sight would have made her gag, but now it seemed to have the opposite effect on the young mother.

Sarah roughly pushed down Otis’ coveralls and in one fluid motion pulled his tight underwear down, letting his cock and balls dangle free. Sarah licked her lips again and dropped to her knees before the janitor, her black pencil skirt straining at the action.

“Come to mamma,” Sarah whispered as momentarily stopped to stare at Otis’ hardened cock with the strange bend to it. She knew what this thing could do as she continued to stroke it softly. Deciding enough was enough, Sarah parted her lips and leaned forward taking the old creepy janitor’s cock in her mouth once again.

It tasted just like she expected it to, exactly as she remembered it. The flavor of a man who’d spent all day doing manual labor. Marinating in his own sweat. And somehow that made her pussy soaking wet. Otis gasped as Sarah’s wet tongue slid under his cock. She twirled her flitting tongue around him, ensuring that she tasted every inch of him and that he was nice and wet. Then she began bobbing her head up and down his length, inhaling and tasting the sour flavor of his shaft while slurping and sucking him. Her fist closed around his thick cock and stroked him while the other started teasing his impressive balls.

“Uh fuck yeah,” Otis grumbled as he leaned back against the door. One of his dirty hands came up, and his grimy fingers ran through Sarah’s lush blonde locks. His fingers found the back of her head and he held on while she sucked him. Sarah was setting an aggressive pace today, no one else, she kept sucking him, taking more and more of his length into her mouth.

“Mhmhmmm,” Sarah moaned around Otis’ thick shaft, savoring his distinct taste. He was musky and sweaty, but it might as well have been candy to her taste buds. She knew in the back of her mind that this should repulse her. That somehow she had been conditioned to crave low, disgusting men like this one. But all of that didn’t matter. What mattered was that Sarah was in control, and she wasn’t going to let that go.

“You like baby?” Sarah cooed as she pulled back off Otis’s cock to look up at the older man. The angle wasn’t flattering for him. Otis’s weathered face looked down at her, giving him a set of double chins. It didn’t faze her, she still stared up at him with her trademark fuck me eyes.

“Fuck yeah. I knew I just had to get you alone,” Otis groaned as he bit his bottom lip and stroked her hair. He had lived his entire life hoping for a moment like this one.

“You caught me at a good time. I’m not always this easy,” Sarah planted a soft kiss on the tip of his cock. Then another. Then she lovingly frenched kissed the head of his cock making him stir before pivoting and planting soft kisses soft the length of his shaft while her other hand gently cradled his hairy dangling balls.

“I’m gonna catch you more often then. Corner you in that little office of yours and make you such Otis Junior every day,” Otis croaked.

Sarah chuckled, “Otis Junior, huh?” Otis’ face stayed flat. Otis Junior was no laughing matter.

Catching the hint. she pulled her lips off the shaft of Otis’ cock and looked right at the head of his cock, “It’s nice to meet you junior. Why don’t you let me give you another kiss?”

Then Sarah planted another slow, wet, sloppy, intimate kiss on the head of Otis’ cock. A stream of precum leaked out, and Sarah greedily lapped it up with her tongue in soft, darting little half-licks. She swirled her tongue around the large head of his cock again. As her tongue twirled, both of her hands worked on his shaft and balls.

Otis’s full weight was resting on the door as his hips jutted out towards Sarah’s wet, waiting, working mouth. He ran his hands through Sarah’s hair as she continued to lick and twirl around the head of his cock. Her little manicured nails delicately cradled his balls while the other hand gripped his shaft tightly as she eagerly stroked his shaft.

“Mhmhmmm,” Sarah moaned as she licked another growing bead of pre-cum from the slit of Otis’ firm cock. She gripped the shaft of his cock tightly with one hand and pointed it up towards the sky. Her tongue trailed down the bent, veiny straining shaft. Sarah moaned as her tongue ran down for inches until she reached the base of his cock and her soft tongue met the coarse hair and aromatic scent of Otis’ matted pubic region.

“Lick my balls, girl,” Otis said desperately, his fingers clinging to Sarah’s head, almost begging her to lick them.

Sarah chuckled under her breath and pulled back slightly, again looking up at Otis.

“Ahem. That’s Mrs. Williams to you, Otis,” Sarah said with lust-filled eyes, “Ask again.”

“Suck my balls Mrs. Williams,” Otis groaned. An evil smile flashed on Sarah’s face.

“Say please,” Sarah said, “This is a workplace after all. Our staff needs to demonstrate proper manners. Custodians included.”

“Please Mrs. Williams,” Otis said, his fingers tugging her head forward, “Suck my balls. Do it.”

“Good boy,” Sarah smiled, enjoying teasing this man. The way she wrapped him around her finger so easily, especially after how domineering he had been in their last encounter. But she had been taken off guard then. Now she was in charge, and she wasn’t going to relinquish that control. Not to Otis. Not to Lester. Not to anyone.

“How often,” Sarah started as she ran her eyes up the veins on the underside of Otis’ cock, “Have you thought about having me like this.”

“Since the first day that I started here. When I saw you in the cafeteria—AH” Otis grunted as Sarah’s tongue darted out and started lapping at his balls at the same time she gripped his shaft and resumed pumping his cock.

“Fffuck,” Otis grunted, “Shit that feels good. Goddamn. All the boys downstairs have fantasized about this.”

“Oh really? All the janitors?” Sarah said slowly while staring up from the forest of pubic hair.

“You’re one of- ohh, one of the main subjects of discussion,” Otis grunted.

“Well, maybe I’ll have to come down for a performance evaluation during one of these.....discussions,” Sarah said before closing her eyes and dropping lower down to begin licking the bottom of his balls, like heavy apples on a branch.

“Fuck, they’d never believe any of this,” Otis breathed, his dirty nails digging into Sarah’s scalp.

“Of course not,” Sarah said between soft, tentative licks to Otis’ nuts. “Who’d believe that I would ever do something like this to someone like you.”

With that, Sarah dropped even lower and extended her tongue entirely. She pulled back as far as she could on Otis’ cock bringing it to rest against his stomach. She licked down between his balls, letting her tongue tease and lick Otis’s taint between his thighs.

“Jesus, girl. Who woulda known how nasty a prim and proper bitch like you could get,” Otis grunted as his hands pulled on Sarah’s head, pulling her face into his groin. His balls rested on Sarah’s eyes, his bushy pubic hair pushing into her face, mixing with the strands of her blonde hair.

“Mhmmhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned into Otis’ underside as he forcefully pushed her face into his nether regions. She loved the forcefulness of the man’s hard won strength. Of submitting. But that wasn’t her role today, despite how much she craved it.

Sarah twirled her tongue around Otis’s underside, making his body shudder. Sarah squeezed Otis’s cock hard making him loosen his grip on her head. She pulled back from him and put an angry look on her face.

“That’s not how today is going to work,” Sarah said, slowly rising to Otis’ eye level.

“Listen, just like last time, you’re going to be a good little....” Otis didn’t finish his sentence before Sarah squeezed and pulled his cock hard again in her hand.

“You fucked me really good last time. I loved every second of it,” Sarah said, still squeezing. Still pulling. “But today, this is mine....”

Sarah squeezed Otis’ cock in an iron grip and took a step back, forcing him to stop leaning on the door. She took another step, tugging Otis forward.

“What are you...” Otis started.

“Over here,” Sarah licked her lips, her eyes locked onto Otis’s cock as she continued walking backwards, pulling him by his appendage. Otis swallowed hard. Sarah was clearly acting a lot differently than she had during their last encounter.

As Sarah backed up close to the window overlooking the parking lot, she released her grip on Otis’ cock. She smiled at the confused look on his face and reached behind her to unzip her pencil skirt.

Sarah tugged the tight black material off of her shapely hips and let it fall to the floor, where she stepped out of it, kicking off her shoes. In one swift motion, she pulled her white blouse over her head and stood in front of Otis in her matching, lacy black and blue bra and panties. She was excited, as evidenced by the heaving of her breasts as her breathing increased excitedly.

“You’re going to fuck me in front of the window,” Sarah turned to face the window, placing her hands on the glass and pushing her ass out invitingly towards Otis. She gently rocked it back and forth to tease and entice the lowly janitor.

Sarah bit her lip in anticipation. She didn’t have to wait long. Otis was behind by a few seconds, his dirty fingers eagerly hooking in on either side of her panties, pulling them down her toned legs in one fluid motion.

Sarah gasped at the action, knowing her pussy was on full display to Otis and the room. The cold air told her how wet she already was.

Otis didn’t waste any time. He grunted and shuffled his feet as he stepped up behind Sarah. With his cock in one hand, he lined himself with her soaking wet entrance. Sarah let out a low growl as she rocked her hips back and forth, teasing herself with the head of Otis’ cock on her outer lips.

“Don’t be shy,” Sarah whispered in a moan as she looked out at her coworkers getting in their cars, “Fuck me.”

“Fucking right,” Otis said. He held his cock still, with the other hand he roughly grabbed onto Sarah’s hip. Then he pushed his big cock forward, sending Sarah onto her tippy toes. Otis didn’t waste any time. Within a second his cock was fully embedded in the mother of two.

“Oh God,” Sarah grunted. Otis pulled his iron hard cock back and slammed it into Sarah, pushing her body up against the window. Sarah smiled as Otis did it again, her face against the cool glass. She closed her eyes and focused on the feeling of his above average cock filling her so deeply. She pictured her audience below, all turning their heads to see the once high and mighty Sarah Williams being fucked by a lowly janitor.

Sarah squeezed her pussy around Otis's cock. "Ugh yeah, just like that," Otis grunted, both hands now on Sarah's hips as he slid his cock in and out of her. Otis leaned forward and licked up Sarah's spine. She arched her back as an electrical current of pleasure ran up her body.

"Ohhh fuck," Sarah moaned as she lazily opened her eyes and stared down at the people below. None of them had a clue that she was getting fucked. She was almost disappointed, she craved to be watched.

"God your pussy is tight," Otis grunted, both of his unclean hands roaming Sarah's hips and grabbing at her perfect ass cheeks, "How's my cock feel?"

"Ughh, big. God, it bends in the best way possible. It's hitting me everywhere. I can't fucking get enough of it," Sarah rested her forehead against the glass as Otis kept relentlessly pounding into her. His thick, curved cock sliding in and out of Sarah's tight pussy as she squeezed him. She was squeezing him so tight she could feel the pulsing in the veins wrapped around the shaft of his cock.

"Don't stop," Sarah begged, "Don't you dare fucking stop."

"I ain't stopping, Mrs. Williams. I'ma fuck you until your legs don't work anymore," Otis said.

"Promise?" Sarah whined, thrusting her ass back in time with Otis' thrusts to take as much of him into her as she could handle. "You...you better....fuck. I need it."

"We're gonna be in here all night," Otis thrust his untuned pelvis forward as if emphasizing his point, "I'm not letting you leave. You're not going home to your husband tonight. You're going to be all mine."

"But..." Sarah said, feeling herself begin to wane. She wanted to play into this, "What about my children? They need their mother."

"I need their mother more; she isn't going fucking anywhere. Someone else can tuck them in while you stay here with my cock buried inside of you." Otis said through his gritted teeth.

"Oh god," Sarah's jaw hung open as she breathed rapidly. Her fingers splayed out on the glass in front of her, as she tried to find some leverage to thrust back against the brute pushing inside of her. It was such a twisted and fucked up thing for him to say. Child abandonment shouldn't turn Sarah on, but for some reason, it did. Just the thought of putting everything else in her life aside so she could be viciously fucked. Sabotaging her entire life all in the name of sexual bliss.

"Don't stop," Sarah moaned into the glass. The twisted thoughts served to amp up her desire, her body shifting up to a higher gear. She could feel it rapidly building inside of her. Her first of what she hoped were many orgasms of the night. The vulgar way this man talked to her and the way he felt inside of her were just pushing her perfectly to that point of no return, "Don't fucking stop. I'm so close. I need it. Please. Please. Please. God, please give it to me. Give it to me."

"God ain't giving you shit," Otis snarled, "Beg me for it."

"Fuck. God. Otis. Fuck. Otis, give it to me. I'm so close. So fucking close. Don't stop baby, don't stop." Sarah whined.

"Get there Mrs. Williams, cum on my cock. Forget about your husband and kids and cum for me. Cum." Otis put a hand on the base of Sarah's neck and held her tightly against the window while he pumped into her. His tight grasp around her neck made her knees almost buckle. Despite wanting to control the situation, she felt a sudden sense of submission in that split second.

"Oh-GODmmmmhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned as she pushed against the glass. Her entire upper body was wedged tightly against it as Otis pinned her to it with his cock. Sarah felt the ecstatic wave building up inside of her. Her teeth were clenched, and she was breathing hard. This was just like the time Lester had fucked her up against the window except she still had her black and blue bra on. She was loving every second of it. And every second she ticked closer and closer to exploding.

"Oh fuck. FUCK. PLEASE FUCK. OTIS GOD PLEEEAASE," Sarah's pussy clenched around Otis' cock, holding him in a vise grip as she finally came. Her eyes clenched tight, but she still saw colorful stars behind her eyelids. Her body shuddered as the orgasm ripped through her, rising like a tidal wave and crashing down, igniting all the nerves in her body at once.

Otis couldn't move his cock. Sarah was gripping him too tightly. All he could do was hold on and wait for her to finish cumming on his shaft. He held her pinned against the window as every muscle in Sarah's body suddenly slackened, and she let out a breath she'd been holding.

Sarah moved her head and felt her sweat streak across the window. She hadn't realized that she'd begun sweating. She looked back over her shoulder for the first time and saw the ugly face of Otis behind her. His twisted, unattractive features. She shouldn't let a man like this within twenty feet of her, let alone inside of her. She knew this was wrong, but so what? She knew it would piss off Lester and signal she wasn't his to control.

"Stop, one second," Sarah gasped, still trying to catch her breath from the orgasm that just rocked through her body. Otis obliged, staying still as Sarah pushed forward, his cock slipping out of her. She moved away from the glass on weak knees, almost stumbling as she went over to where her laptop and cell phone were.

"I'm just going to call my husband real quick. I forgot, I'm supposed to tell him every time something happens," Sarah said as she grabbed her phone and dialled Dan's number.

"Fuck that noise," Otis scoffed as he marched over towards her, his menacing, crooked cock swaying back and forth as he did. Sarah held the phone up to her ear as it rang. Otis walked right up to her and snatched the phone out of her hand as she turned to face him. Sarah's bubble butt pressed into the desk as she reached for her phone.

Otis held it out of her reach and pressed the speaker button as the phone said, "Hi, this is Dan Williams, I can't get to the phone right now, but please leave your name and a message and I'll get back to you promptly."

"Hey Dan," Otis chuckled as he set the phone down on the table. He turned his evil gaze back to Sarah. She saw the wicked intent in his eye as she placed her hands down on the meeting room table. Otis didn't waste any time as he stepped up towards her, stroking his throbbing cock. He pushed himself between Sarah's legs, and they just stood there facing each other. Otis kept stroking his cock and pressed the head against Sarah's clit.

"Uhhmmmm," Sarah softly moaned at the sensation. Otis just grinned before letting go of his cock and grabbing both of Sarah's thighs and hoisting her onto the table. Her bubble butt plopped down on the wood surface and Otis stood between her legs with his cock at her entrance.

"Buddy, I was just fucking your wife and I'm about to slip ol' junior into her again here," Otis ran his cock up and down Sarah's slit.

"I just wanted to let you know I'm being bad, Dan," Sarah said, not taking her eyes off Otis. He grinned back at her. Otis pulled his cock down Sarah's slit until he was lined up with her entrance. Just as he was about to push inside, Sarah put a hand on his weathered chest.

“Easy there, sailor,” She practically purred, as she ran her legs up and down the back of his calves. She leaned back on her elbows, staring up at the older man. She took in his body, with its pudgy stomach and greying hair. She didn’t find him attractive at all, but she still felt drawn to him. It was so unbelievably strange. In a professional setting, his behavior was creepy and problematic, yet here, in this room, it worked for her. Sarah licked her lips, “You need to ask my husband’s permission to fuck me. If he doesn’t say no, then you can have me.”

An annoyed look flashed across Otis’ face, but then it turned into a smirk. Otis ran his cock up and down Sarah’s slit, poking her entrance with his cock head. He leaned over to the phone and said, “Dan, if you don’t mind I’m gonna slip my cock into your pretty little wife here. Any objections?”

Sarah smiled as silence filled the room.

“Alrighty then,” Otis grabbed Sarah’s thighs and pulled her body down the table towards him, impaling his cock into her.

“Mhmmhmmhmmmmgod,” Sarah cried as Otis’ entire length slid into her, filling her. His cock went deep and the curved shaft pressed hard against her G-Spot at a new angle from this position.

“You’re so fucking wet,” Otis spat, his thin fingers running up Sarah’s back until he reached the clasp of her bra. He fumbled with it for a second but then managed to undo it. He didn’t waste any time as he pulled her bra clean off her shoulders, chucking it onto the floor. His eyes lit up like a Christmas tree as they devoured Sarah’s bare breasts.

Otis’ mouth was on them in seconds. His tongue licked all across Sarah’s exposed flesh. Over the tops of her breasts, between her tits, swirling around her nipples. Sarah’s back arched into his wet tongue, his attention to her breasts sending her body into overdrive. She bucked her hips off the table to meet his thrusts.

Sarah wrapped her legs around Otis’ ass, pulling him deeper inside of her. Otis continued slobbering on Sarah’s immaculate breasts, coating them in his saliva.

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned, loving every second, feeling Otis’s hard cock pumping in and out of her. The way his mouth was devouring her breasts, one of his hands roughly massaging them. God, it felt so fucking good. Sarah threw her head back, one hand on the table, the other holding the back of Otis’ greasy hair.

Otis pulled Sarah back to the edge of the table, thrusting his cock right up past the edge of it into the horny wife. He was rutting into her like an animal, her legs tight around him, not willing to let him go.

“Oh fuck that feels so good,” Sarah moaned, “God don’t stop Otis.”

“I ain’t stopping until I’ve busted my nut inside you,” Otis said between lapping her breasts, “Until I fill you up properly.”

“Jesussss,” Sarah moaned at the thought. Letting someone like Otis finish inside of her. Of his cum being in her, filling her completely until it was dripping out. God, that was so fucked up.

Otis’s hand gripped the small hairs on the back of Sarah’s skull, and he pulled her head to the side. Pain flashed in Sarah’s neck, quickly followed by intense pleasure as Otis ran his tongue up Sarah’s breasts, to her collarbone, and then trailed up her neck until he bit her ear lobe.

“Mhmhmhmmohhhmhmhm,” Sarah whined. Otis turned her head again, this time so that she was facing him. Sarah dreamily opened her eyes and looked up at the older man. He clearly didn’t have a skincare routine, as evidenced by the crow’s feet next to his eyes and the generally stony, weathered nature of his skin. In that moment, however, Sarah didn’t care. She grabbed the back of his head and pulled him to her.

His tongue parted her lips, and they kissed hard. She could taste the stale, cheap beer he’d had before coming here as her tongue swirled around his mouth. His chapped lips mashed against hers as they hungrily devoured each other.

“Mhmhmhmm,” Sarah moaned into the kiss as Otis’ curved cock plowed into her over and over. Sarah’s legs tightened around his hips as she held in place, desperate to keep him there inside of her. She squeezed his cock with her snug pussy walls, milking him as their tongues danced together.

His cock bent at the right angle to put additional pressure on her G-Spot, sending mini waves of pleasure coursing through her body with each thrust. She couldn’t get over how good this older man’s tool felt. She knew she was becoming addicted to cocks that weren’t her husband’s but she quickly pushed considering that idea to the back of her head.

Otis broke the kiss, and Sarah’s eyes dreamily fluttered open, looking at the man with a sense of surprise and disappointment. She bit her lip as he took a deep breath and held her tight to him. Her naked breasts mashed against his chest as he renewed his effort and fucked her raw on the meeting room table.

Lester leaned in to the door of the meeting room and heard the telltale sounds of Sarah being fucked behind the door. He sighed and balled one hand into an angry fist.

“My little slut. You just sealed your fate,” Lester shook his head.

Even though this had been the plan for a long time, he still didn’t enjoy that she’d gone behind his back with it. He’d set her up. He put all the variables in play to make this happen in his time at the hospital. But he was still disappointed that she had gone through with it.

Vernon had been his first test of whether he could push someone else onto Sarah. And Otis had been too good an opportunity to pass up.

Still, he wanted to go in there and punish her, but there would be enough grief coming her way soon. And all Lester had to do was subtly push people and situations together. Sarah’s life was about to undergo a dramatic change. Lester had minimized his culpability and would enjoy exploiting what was about to happen to the promiscuous mother.

He adjusted his hardening cock. Just the idea of the next phase of his plan coming to fruition got him going. It wasn’t the sounds of his beloved Sarah in the next room. No, he wasn’t Dan. He detested this part of his plan, but he needed to keep his hands clean so he could be the knight in shining armor with Sarah once again. Lester checked his watch.

He couldn’t stay here and keep listening to Sarah’s ongoing defilement. He needed to make himself scarce. Time to go back downstairs and send Sarah a message to strengthen his alibi.

Lester shook his head as Sarah cried out and he plodded away from the meeting room towards the staircase. No reason to chance getting caught on this floor by taking an elevator.

“You’ve reached the maximum time allowed for this message. Goodbye.”

The words barely registered in Sarah's head as Otis' fucked her relentlessly on the meeting room table.

"God. Mhmmhmm. I'm gonna cum again. Don't stop," Sarah whined in Otis' ear. He turned his head and kissed her deeply. Their lips clashed together, their tongues entwined with one another as their saliva mixed together. Both of them moaned into each other's mouths.

"I told you, I'm not stopping until I bust inside you," Otis grunted.

"Say it again," Sarah whined.

"I'm not stopping until I fill you up. Until I fill Dan's wife up with my spunk," Otis said.

"Holyfuck," Sarah squeezed him harder as she held him in an unyielding grip with her pussy and her tight body, "God you're so fucking disgusting."

"You're gonna take my disgusting cum inside of you. I'm going to explode in you and fill you."

"Ohmygod! Please don't stop. Mhmmhmm It's so fucked," Sarah whined, her nails digging into Otis' shoulders.

"I'm going to pump you full of my swimmers and make you a mommy again," Otis grunted as sweat dripped off his forehead onto Sarah's breasts.

"Ohgod.Ohfuck. Ohfuck. Oh fuck. Fuck. Fuck! Fuck! Fuck me! God! Otis! Jesus! Right fucking there! YES!" Sarah screamed as a pleasure bomb went off inside of her. It swept through her body, igniting everything and dousing it in a fiery ball of lust and pleasure. Sarah came had at Otis's fucked up words, her body loved it. She felt like she had injected heroin straight into her brain as her body almost convulsed around Otis. Her pussy clenched down on him hard, holding him in place but Otis thrust right through it, continuing to fuck her as she came energetically. Her body revelled in the sensation of his cock still pounding into her, extending and prolonging her orgasm as it continued to tear through her trembling body.

Otis flexed his cock inside of her and she felt some of his pre-cum enter her. Her mind was still on fire from her orgasm but the flexing of his oddly shaped cock made her eyes roll back in her head.

As Sarah came down from the mountain that was her orgasm; her arms and legs hung limply onto Otis' frame. Otis slowed his thrusts and was breathing hard as he pumped into Sarah. Sarah blinked as her mind seemed to reset. She thought about Lester, about how all of this was supposed to punish him for being such a shithead.

“Stop,” Sarah said, putting a hand on Otis’ chest. He gave her an annoyed look, probably worried she was going to try to call someone else.

She flashed him her trademark, wicked smile, “I want to ride your cock.”

A lazy, dumb smile spread onto Otis’ face. Sarah unlocked her legs and pressed on his chest until his cock fell out with an audible pop. She pushed him back and stepped onto the ground in her bare feet.

“Sit down,” Sarah said as she backed him up into one of the large rolling chairs around the table. Otis sat down, and Sarah leaned over and hit the wheel brake, locking the chair in place. She climbed up onto it and straddled his lap, reaching between her legs to grip his thick cock and guide it towards her entrance.

Otis’ hands ran up the back of Sarah’s thighs, grazing her skin as she slowly lowered herself down onto the older man.

“Uhhhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhm,” Sarah groaned as she slowly fed Otis’ length into herself. Sarah took a sharp intake of breath as she fully lowered herself down onto his cock. It jutted up so far inside of her, making her feel like her insides were being rearranged. The beautiful way it oddly bent touched the perfect spot inside of her.

“Whhoooo,” Sarah breathed out softly as she adjusted herself to the feeling of Otis’ cock at this angle. She licked her lips and put her hands on the back of the chair for leverage. The older janitor’s hands came up and roughly grabbed a handful of each of her ass cheeks.

“Ride me the way you did when you made those kids of yours,” Otis chuckled. Sarah looked down at his ugly face and that ugly smile plastered on it. The words were gross and this man was grosser but Sarah’s pussy instinctively clenched around his thrusting cock. “Oh, you liked that, huh?” Otis chuckled again.

“Shut,” Sarah whispered as she raised herself off Otis. Then she slammed herself back down onto his cock. “The,” Sarah raised herself off him, his hands glued to her ass. “Fuck,” Sarah slammed down again. The chair’s piston squealed in protest under their combined weight and motion. “Up,” Sarah said through gritted teeth and she began fucking Otis in earnest. She smoothly rode his cock up and down. She rolled her hips back and forth as she took his entire cock for herself.

Otis' hands stayed glued to her ass cheeks as Sarah rode him. Her perfect bubble butt jiggled in his hands as he kneaded her soft flesh.

"This ain't how a mom is supposed to behave, is it? All cock crazy?" Otis held onto Sarah, not willing to let her go as he looked up at her beautiful face, contorted in pleasure.

"Moms need cock too," Sarah slowed her pace, squeezing her pussy lips tightly and looking down at the ugly man's face.

"You're different from the other ones. You know what you're doing," Otis said.

"I do. And I know what I want and I take it," Sarah ran her hands down the back of the chair onto Otis' shoulders. "And do you know what I want right now?"

"What?" Otis said, biting his lower lip as his hips pushed up off the chair to meet Sarah slamming herself down onto him. The chair banged into the table behind it. The plastic wheel creaked against its manual brake.

"Uh, mhmhm, uh. I want...uh, uh, uh," Sarah panted. Sweat trickled down her back into her ass crack. "I want your cock to make me cream all over it again. I want another mind-blowing orgasm. I want to fuck you until I forget my own name."

"Fucking hell," Otis grunted as his fingers dug into Sarah's ass cheeks and he pulled her down onto his cock, "I can do that."

"No," Sarah gave him a wicked smile, "It's my turn now. I'm going to do it."

Sarah slammed herself down hard onto Otis' thighs, making him wince. Then she rose and slammed down again. She was sure she was going to bruise him, but she didn't care. His cock felt amazing in her as she dropped herself down onto it. The odd bend put pressure on her G-spot each time she dropped down. Each time it sent a jolt of pleasure right from her pussy to her brain. Her pussy tightened around Otis' cock, gripping him, feeling every inch, every vein, every strange bend of his cock in exactly the right place.

"Fuck," Otis grunted and tightened his grip on Sarah's ass, "What if your kids saw their mom in action like this, what would you do?"

Sarah stared daggers into Otis' eyes. She wanted to keep these parts of her life separate. That was the whole point of her frustration: the melding of her personal and secret life. This was why she was taking her frustration out on this man so far, far beneath her, "I'd tell them sometimes mommy has a craving and just can't help herself. Now shut the fuck up."

"I love how filthy your mouth is," Otis grunted, thrusting his cock up into Sarah.

"Is that why you became a janitor? Because you love the filth?" Sarah teased.

"This just pays the bills. I just fucking love seeing a hot prim and proper bitch like you learn how to be a filthy slut." Otis grinned.

Sarah licked her lips and bent down and whispered in Otis' ear, "I've always been a filthy slut. You just never knew it until I wanted you to."

"Fuck me," Otis groaned, "That's sexy as all hell."

Sarah just leaned back from him and smirked. She pulled her biceps slightly together, pushing her breasts together, "I know."

Sarah dug her nails into Otis's shoulders as she rose up and then slammed down hard onto his thighs. The chair squealed again. Sarah closed her eyes and focused on the feeling of his cock, rising into her. The way it hit the inside wall of her pussy. Sarah licked her lips as his veiny cock ran up against her G-Spot. Sarah threw her head back and let herself get lost in the feeling. Let herself go completely as she rode the filthy cretin underneath her.

Just like she let herself get lost in the movie theatre. Riding Lester. Performing for those men. Jerking two of them off. Touching her first black man. Taking him into her mouth. Being on display like that. For an audience. She craved those eyes on her. Watching her. Judging her. Wanting her.

Sarah licked her lips and breathed hard as she rode Otis. As much as that night had caused her so much heartache, she couldn't help but love going back to it, reliving it. Wanting to be back there in that incredibly degrading moment.

"God," Sarah moaned as she rode him. His cock thrusting into her as she slammed down on it. She could just imagine her audience standing around her. Watching her. Stroking themselves to her. Sarah opened her eyes and stared into Otis' pale eyes. The desperate need she saw in them. The way his soul stared back at her. She was the only thing that could satisfy that lust deep within him. She felt her pussy throb at the way he was looking at her. She craved that look.

Sarah bit her lip and let out a long, heavy breath. If she kept this pace, she knew it wouldn't be long before she exploded again. Otis' thrusts were getting more desperate. More urgent. She knew he wasn't going to last much longer. Her janitor was going to have his own messy explosion, and she needed it to happen.

Sarah rolled her hips on Otis' cock more urgently. They both knew where things were headed.

"Fuck babydoll," Otis gritted his teeth, "I'm about to blow. Gonna fill you up real good."

"Promise?" Sarah said, not breaking eye contact with him.

"I'm not gonna let you get off me," Otis stared at her, "I'm going to fill you."

"I wasn't going to get off," Sarah leaned towards him, "I want it. I want all of it. I want it in me. I want to feel you go off inside of me. I want that warmth to fill me. Fuck I need it. Give it to me, Otis. Fill me. Fucking fill me with your cum, asshole."

"Jesus Christ," Otis groaned as his balls tightened, "I want to put a baby in you so bad."

Sarah leaned back, digging her nails into his shoulder, pushing him into the back of the chair. Holding him there while she rode his cock. Not intending to let him up or let him change anything. She was about to cum on this cock and there wasn't anything he could do it about. Even if he wanted to stop now, she wasn't going to let him.

"I'm not getting off your cock," Sarah moaned. "Fuck. Fuck. Uhh. Mhmm. Give it to me then. Take your best shot, Otis. Try and knock me up. See if you're man enough to do it."

"FUCK," Otis cried as his thrusts started to become erratic.

Sarah knew he was going to cum in her soon. She started slamming herself down onto his now bruised thighs as she fucked him with complete abandon. The chair hit the table over and over, making a rhythmic thudding sound. The chair's piston squealed in desperation, begging to be heard.

"Do it," Sarah said, "DO IT. CUM FOR ME. CUM IN ME. FILL ME OTIS. FUCKING GIVE IT TO ME."

"Argghhhh," Otis growled as he pumped his cock into her, surprisingly pushing himself up off the chair with a strength Sarah didn't know he possessed. Sarah slammed herself down on him, sending Otis back down onto the chair. “GONNA FUCKING FILL YOU UP,” Otis shouted.

“DO IT. CUM FOR ME,” Sarah heard herself screaming, “I NEED IT. CUM FOR ME.”

Sarah felt Otis’ cock twitch inside of her. The veins running up and down its shaft throbbed. Sarah’s breathing quickened, and she felt her face go flush. Their bodies were slick with sweat as they fucked each other to orgasm.

“UH, UH, UH FUCK GIVE IT TO ME,” Sarah screamed as a hot rope of cum erupted like a geyser from Otis’ cock shooting straight up and plastering Sarah’s insides. Her pussy clamped down tightly around his erupting cock. Sarah’s whole body tensed. Her eyelids fluttered as her eyes rolled back in her head as his warm cum triggered the massive orgasm that had been building inside of her.

“OHFFFFFFFUFUUUU,” Sarah wailed as she slammed down onto Otis’ erupting cock and held him still inside of her. Colors flashed past her eyes that she couldn’t comprehend. Her entire body went up a degree as a consuming warmth enveloped her, spreading out from her pussy, extending to all of her extremities making Sarah hyper aware of every little inch of her body.

“GODDD,” Sarah continued as she threw her head back, her blonde hair flailing around her. Every part of her, from her toes to her chest, felt immediately hypersensitive, as if she had reached a new level of awareness of her own body. Her toes curled, and drops of sweat beaded down her breasts. She could feel every part of Otis’s cock inside of her as it continued to spurt out hot cum, blasting into Sarah. Showering her insides with his hot, sticky baby-making batter.

Sarah collapsed onto Otis as the last vestiges of her orgasm ran through her body. Her breasts mashed into his face as she buried her head into the top of the leather chair. Both of them were breathing hard, still connected by Otis’ cock.

Sarah knew the second she got off of him a deluge of cum would pour out of her. Their wet, sweaty bodies panted, each trying to catch their breath. Their skin was still melded together. Sarah knew she would need to get off soon, but that could wait. She just needed to wait and catch her breath. All she needed was a second to compose herself.

Reality didn’t give her that second. Sarah’s blood ran cold as she heard the door to the room open.

In that moment, Sarah didn’t know what to do, but instinctively she peeked around Otis over the back of the chair towards the door. Standing there with a surprised and mortified expression on her face was Mary from HR, flanked by a few other new hires that Sarah didn't recognize.

Otis had heard the door open and, knowing his fun was nearly over, shoved himself up into Sarah William's cum filled pussy one last time. His irregular cock pressed up against her g-spot and then pushed past it, angled into an area that hadn't been prodded in quite this way before. Sarah felt as if time had slowed down, she could hear her heartbeat in her hands. A surprise final explosion racked her body.

Mary and Sarah locked eyes for a long moment that seemed to stretch on for eternity. The assistant to her left ran from the room, her hand covering her mouth. The other one looked on in awe, still not accepting the vision before her own eyes. Mary's shocked expression morphed into a self-satisfied smirk that made Sarah's heart drop in her chest. This evil woman knew that she had finally beaten Sarah and held her fate in her hands.

Otis' cock twitched inside of her, spurting its last bit of cum into her. All Sarah could do was sit there and try not to react to the hot, sticky substance flooding into her as a group of her coworkers looked on.

"What?" Dan said, leaning forward in the back seat.

"Did you have a good trip?" The Uber driver shouted back. The packed street around them was filled with honking cars, making it difficult to hear anything. The driver's religious sermons playing on YouTube on his phone mounted to the windshield didn't help matters.

"Yeah, it was okay," Dan said as he gave a thumbs up, the driver could see in his rearview mirror. Dan slunk back in his seat, hoping for no more small talk with the guy. He just wanted to get to the airport and leave Washington. He'd stayed an extra day longer than he'd intended and desperately wanted to get back home.

He had been giving Sarah space, but he assumed she was still worked up over what had happened. He didn't blame her; things had gotten way out of hand, and her parents had found some things out. He knew he'd have to deal with the fallout of that eventually. He'd have to face her parents, and hopefully by then they'd have come up with a good excuse together.

He just hoped that Sarah wasn't spiralling too much and that once he saw her in person, he could at least help ground her a bit.

Dan sat there in the gridlocked traffic, trying to act on as many work emails as he could. Most of his inbox was full of stuff from Sentinel Securities, but there were a few junk mail-type emails he had to sort through.

He deleted one and immediately went into the trash folder looking for it. It hadn't registered with him at first until his brain had a second to process the subject line. He quickly located the deleted email and opened it.

Huh. I didn't expect this today.

It was an email from a service he had submitted a request to months ago. One of those online private detective sites. It had cost him a couple of hundred bucks, which was tight back then. He wished he still had that money now, given how things had gone down at his last job. He'd already promised Sarah he'd stop looking into Lester, so the service was a bit of a waste of money.

The email wasn't long, and it didn't contain a lot of information. The only thing that piqued Dan's interest was one line with the current address for Lizzie, Lester's supposed ex-girlfriend. She lived on the other side of Chicago. What he would do with this information, Dan wasn't sure.

A notification popped up on his screen about a new voicemail. He hadn't even seen a call come in. What the hell? He dialled into his voicemail inbox and held the phone up to his ear to listen to it. He could just hear a voice but couldn't quite make it out over the sounds of the street outside and the YouTube sermons in the front of the Uber.

Dan put it on speaker, just as the preacher on the video paused to take a sip of water.

"Oh fuck that feels so good." It was Sarah's voice. "God, don't stop Otis."

Dan locked eyes with the Uber driver, and it got really awkward in the small space of the car.

"I ain't stopping until I've busted my nut inside you," a male voice said. Dan didn't recognize it. He knew it wasn't Lester. Otis? The janitor? What the fuck was going on?

"Until I fill you up properly," the male voice continued.

Dan fumbled with his phone and hung up the call. The Uber driver broke eye contact and just shook his head, "Sir, not in my car with that stuff, please, okay? Wait until you get out."

“Uhhh yeah,” Dan felt his face grow red, “Sorry. I didn’t mean for that to happen.”

Dan knew that his 4.8-star Uber rating was about to take a dive.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 32

Sarah just stared down blankly at the desk in front of her. She felt almost comatose. Her mind was racing; each thought was more fleeting than the last. She couldn't hold onto a single one of them. She was aware of them individually, but it was as if her brain wouldn't let her go down any one pathway, like it was trying to protect her from herself.

Her mind was running through a list of everything that had gone wrong. Everywhere she had made a misstep. All of her mistakes. At the same time, it was trying to think of a way out of this. A way to save her ass, anything to find a way for her to fix her desperate situation. She was also mentally berating herself. How could she have been so stupid? Why had she so easily given in to her base desires? Her mind felt like it was spinning. She just wanted it to stop. She wanted to be out of this room, at home, curled up in bed with a glass of wine in her hand, numbing her brain until she could fall asleep and escape her turbulent life.

“Sarah?” a grating, condescending voice snapped her back to reality. Sarah felt tears in the corners of her eyes and berated herself again for being so weak. The last thing she wanted was to give this bitch the self-satisfaction of seeing her cry.

“Sarah,” Mary’s voice came to her again, further rousing Sarah from her thoughts.

Sarah let her gaze linger on the wooden desk in front of her. She stared at a knot beneath the lacquer for a few more seconds. Its shape burned into her memory. Finally, she mustered what little courage she had left to look up at the woman sitting across from her. Sarah was back in her old office, the one she had coveted so much. The one Lester had fucked in her in. But it was Mary sitting behind the desk – Sarah’s desk. Sarah was seated in one of the guest chairs. An HR flunkie was sitting in the other.

Sarah had been to enough meetings to recognize this setup. The HR flunkie was here as a witness. To support Mary’s account of events during her termination, in case Sarah sues them with wild accusations. It was all to cover the hospital’s ass. Sarah had been that witness for HR before. She’d even sat where Mary was. She wondered if that cruel old woman would take the same delicate care Sarah did when letting someone go.

Sarah met the older woman’s eyes and refused to wipe the tears from her own eyes. They were already there, evident to everyone in the room, but she didn’t want to acknowledge them.

“Sarah, I think we all know why we’re here right now,” Mary said, “Normally, we wouldn’t be here so late, but this matter had to be dealt with immediately.”

What could Sarah do? Should she beg? Would begging work with this woman? Could Sarah even bring herself to beg? She needed her job. Her family needed her job. They needed this money to stay afloat. Neither she nor Dan could be unemployed together. The job market sucked right now, and they had a mortgage and bills to pay. They have two little girls, and now they won't have any health insurance.

Sarah didn't say anything. She kept her lips in a flat line and just stared at the woman across from her.

"Do you know why we are here, Sarah?" Mary said in a condescending tone.

Sarah steeled her nerves, worried that if she made any sound, it would come out in a sob, "Yes."

"For the record," Mary started, barely succeeding in keeping the smile from her lips, "Can you tell us why we're having this meeting today?"

The bitch wanted Sarah to spell it out for her. Sarah was torn. She wanted to play along and give this woman what she wanted. To throw herself at her feet and pray for mercy. But she also knew that Mary was enjoying every second of this. There wouldn't be any mercy. And Sarah knew that her best bet was to keep her mouth shut and not incriminate herself any further. On the off chance that she ever needed a labor lawyer to deal with the hospital, a confession like this wouldn't help her case.

Sarah tried to focus her mind. Racing, distracting thoughts wouldn't help her here. "I assume," Sarah started, looking at the HR flunkie, "that you want to discipline me."

Mary looked disappointed in Sarah's response. The older woman with the terribly applied makeup leaned forward, "Not just discipline, Sarah. Today, you crossed several ethical boundaries that the hospital cannot possibly look away from."

Mary slid a printed-out stack of papers across her desk. Sarah recognized them and felt her heart drop.

"Do you know what this is, Sarah?" Mary asked.

"It's the hospital's policy manual," Sarah said softly. Of course, Sarah knew it. She had helped Mary's predecessor format the document and put it together.

"That it is. I'm sure you haven't read it lately, otherwise you'd know about the hospital's policy on fraternization. Especially when it comes to engaging in such activities while on hospital grounds,” Mary said. “You’ve broken those policies and, may I add, quite explicitly today.”

Sarah felt her shoulders slump. She hated this. Hated sitting here in her old office being talked down to by this cruel old woman. The only reason this woman had any power over Sarah was that Sarah was desperate to keep her job.

“Ha,” Mary sat back in her chair, “Oh, I can’t keep that act up anymore. God, this is hilarious.” Sarah’s eyes flicked up to the old woman whose face had a cruel smile on it.

“How long were you fucking one of the janitors? I don’t even know what his name was, but that old creepy one. Really? I thought your oh so impressive husband got you some big new wedding ring, yet here you are sneaking off to a meeting room to fuck that guy,” Mary shivered.

Mary didn’t stop, “I always knew Miss Goody Two-Shoes was hiding something. And to think you always acted like you were so much better than the rest of us, dressing up to get all the men’s attention and acting like you knew everything. How many other men have you been sleeping with here? Is it just the one janitor or all of them?”

Sarah stared blankly at Mary. This woman sitting behind Sarah’s rightful desk seemed happier than Sarah could ever recall seeing her.

“Months and months of you being a pain in my side, and now you make it so easy for me. I hope the sex was good because you’ve really fucked yourself too,” Mary chuckled, holding both of her hands out in front of her, palms facing up like she was holding two plates.

“And now your fate is in my hands,” Mary smiled widely, loving every second of this, “Right now, no one knows besides me and a few of my team.” Mary nodded her head to the HR flunkie sitting beside Sarah, “But what should we do? The policy manual clearly states that you should be fired, along with your janitor lover. But maybe there is a way we can let you keep your job. What do you think?”

Sarah blinked her eyes. She knew it was too good to be true, but she lunged at the opportunity, “How?”

“Beg,” Mary said, “I want the proud and untouchable Sarah Williams to beg me.”

Sarah’s mouth hung slightly agape at what she was being asked. Did Mary really want her to beg? Would she really let her keep her job? She knew that the compromising position she found herself in was an instant fireable offense, one that not even Lester could save her from this time.

“Really?” Mary scoffed at Sarah’s silence, “You’re too proud to beg? Don’t you have children to take care of? Or is that husband of yours so well off that you don’t really need this job? You always seemed to treat it more like a hobby than anything else.”

“No,” Sarah said softly, finally making up her mind. She felt the tears welling up in her eyes again. “I need this job. Please, Mary, I know what happened was wrong. Inexcusable. But I need this job. Please let me stay. It won’t happen again, and....I’ll even do whatever you need. I’m sorry for everything. Please, Mary.”

Mary sat back in her chair, a self-satisfied smile on her face. She didn’t say anything, just looked over Sarah, assessing her. All Sarah could do was sit there and let this woman gaze at her. Shame welled up inside her. Shame at having to beg, shame at being in this situation in the first place.

After a full minute of silence, there was a knock on the office door.

“Oops. Silly me,” Mary said to Sarah. Then raised her voice, “Come in.”

A security guard entered, one that Sarah had been on the interview panel for during his hiring process. He was young and handsome in a boyish way. Sarah had ignored his stares in the past and hadn’t talked to him much. There wasn’t much interaction in their day-to-day routines.

“I’m sorry, Mrs. Williams,” Mary said with a straight face and a glint in her eye, “But engaging in sexual activities with the janitorial staff is inexcusable. It’s right here in our policies that you agreed to when you started with us.”

Mary jabbed her finger down at the stack of papers in front of her, “I’m sorry, but you left us with no choice. Your employment with the hospital is terminated. This fine gentleman from security will escort you to your desk to collect your personal belongings. You will hand in your badge, keys, computer, and any other company property to him before exiting the building.”

Sarah just stared daggers at Mary, who stood up and moved to leave the office. Fucking bitch.

The HR flunkie had a banker’s box in her hand. Sarah didn’t know where it had come from. She handed it to Sarah and followed Mary out of the office. Sarah closed her eyes and bowed her head, trying not to cry.

Sarah's heels clicked as she crossed the parking lot. Thankfully, most people had already left for the day. She still felt like everyone in the building was staring at her from the windows. She could almost feel their gazes on her back, judging her as the rumors swirled about her firing and the shameful circumstances surrounding it. That the once proud hospital administrator had been caught fucking the sleazy, creepy janitor. She just prayed that the rumors wouldn't spread into the wider community and get back to anyone she knew.

She sighed as she passed by a parked car and saw the reflection of herself. She looked like a hot mess. Her hair looked like she'd just been through a tornado thanks to the fucking Otis had given her. Her makeup almost looked worse than Mary's, with her mascara running from her tears. Her eyes were red from all the crying, and she was pretty sure her shirt was on inside out.

Sarah unlocked her car and shoved the banker's box full of her personal possessions into the passenger seat. Then she slumped over the wheel and finally let herself cry. She ugly cried for several minutes, sobbing breathlessly into the steering wheel. She didn't know what to do. She felt like such a complete and utter failure. She was lost, without an anchor, and her mind started to drift into all the dark possibilities that life held in store for her.

She let herself wallow in self-pity for over twenty minutes before she finally regained a shred of dignity and started to compose herself. She had to go pick up her girls and hopefully evade any questions from her parents. She would spend the next day feeling bad about herself, then she needed to determine if she would still receive severance and how long her health insurance would last.

Sarah put her key in the ignition and turned it. Nothing happened. She let out a long, frustrated, pleading breath and tried it again. The engine didn't make a sound. It didn't turn over. She tried it repeatedly, but it wouldn't start.

"FUCK ME!" Sarah screamed at her car ceiling and smacked the steering wheel. She was breathing hard, and she felt her chest tighten and the tears of frustration well up again. She couldn't just sit here and cry. She had to do something. She popped the hood, got out of the car, and stood looking down at the complicated maze of machinery that was her car's engine.

She just started at all the parts. People did this in movies. They'd look under the hood and have some kind of A-Ha moment of clarity and figure out the problem. Sarah just looked down at the engine parts. The only thing she could discern was where the windshield washer fluid went. She looked at her phone and typed in ‘car engine won’t start’ and tried in vain to look for a quick solution. Every page she visited presented a myriad of possible issues, each sounding more and more complicated and expensive to fix. All of them being well out of the realm of her meager capabilities.

Sarah was about to call Dan, but reminded herself that he was probably flying home right now. She pulled up her father’s contact info. Her finger hovered over the call button. If she called him, her dad would come here. He’d come with more questions, and there was a possibility that they’d have to interact with someone from the hospital. Just the thought of her parents knowing she’d been fired and the reason why made her close her phone. They were already worried that Dan was unemployed, despite having a handful of clients. If they knew she was unemployed now, too, they’d have a full-on meltdown.

Movement across the parking lot snapped her out of her shame spiral. She’d recognized that slovenly body and its plodding footsteps. Lester was walking towards his black SUV. Anger seethed under her skin. She was mad at him. Furious. If he hadn’t ditched their meeting, this wouldn’t have happened.

She forced herself to breathe. He hadn’t forced her to fuck Otis. She’d done that all on her own. Sure, she’d done it as a way to get back at Lester. To hurt him. But she’d chosen how she did that. People often cancel meetings at the last moment. And right now, she needed him.

Sarah was about to shout his name across the parking lot, but the hospital looming over her stopped her. She imagined all the eyes watching her. She quickly dialled his number. Sarah watched as Lester answered it.

“Hey, gorgeous,” Lester said, “Are you okay?”

“Look to your right,” Sarah said.

Lester turned and saw her. He didn’t wave, just stood and stared at her.

“I heard you got fired,” Lester said.

Sarah’s heart sank. As her direct manager, he would have heard of her abrupt dismissal. She wasn’t sure if he knew the details that she had been caught fucking Otis. He’d be hurt. He probably wouldn’t help her.

“Yes, please, Lester, I don’t want to talk about it right now,” the words tumbled out of Sarah’s mouth, “My car won’t start. Can you help me?”

“I’m not a mechanic,” Lester said.

“I know. But can you give me a ride?” Sarah asked, “Please?”

She hated the way her voice sounded like she was begging, begging just like she had with Mary.

“Fine,” Lester said, and he hung up on her. His portly body got into his SUV, and he drove it over to her. Sarah retrieved her banker’s box and got into the passenger seat.

“You okay?” Lester asked a few minutes into their drive.

“No, not really,” Sarah said, just staring ahead at the road.

“It’s late. Don’t you have kids to pick up or something?” Lester asked.

“My mom got them. I was going to pick them up but...” Sarah trailed off, unsure of what to do. With everything that had happened, she’d completely forgotten about her girls.

“Want me to swing by your parents’ place? Pick them up?” Lester was acting surprisingly nice. She’d expected him to talk shit to her about Otis, but he appeared to show some actual empathy and was treating her with kid gloves.

Still, the idea of Lester’s SUV pulling into her parents’ driveway mortified her. Not only would she have to explain to her parents why Lester was in Middleton, but she’d have to explain why he picked her up from work instead of her calling her dad for help. And she couldn’t imagine the awkward glances her parents would share or them ever putting her girls into a car with Lester. “No, that’s okay,” Sarah said, pulling out her phone to text her mom. She’d see if her parents could drop the girls off. “Thank you, though. They need their booster seats anyway.”

Sarah glanced into the bench seat behind her, where the boosters could be installed. It was covered in fast-food wrappers and other filth. She couldn’t believe Lester had fucked her back there before, more than once.

“Just take me home, please, Lester,” Sarah said, defeated.

Lester tried his best to keep himself from humming the Imperial March theme while he drove down Sarah’s street. She was a mess of a woman, sitting in the passenger seat just staring blankly out the window.

Perfect. Sexy, vulnerable, and impressionable. Like putty in his hands. There was no way the hospital would ever take Sarah back, not after being caught fucking Otis by someone who wielded as much power as Mary did. Mary was a vindictive bitch, and she unknowingly played her part in Lester's plan to the letter. So did Otis. Did he get fired, too? Lester wasn't sure and frankly didn't really care. He served his purpose in Lester's designs and could now be put out to pasture.

Lester was ecstatic that he didn't have any reason to linger in the hospital any longer. No more frivolous meetings or dealing with inept sycophants. He'd achieved his goals and then some. He turned his head to look out the driver's side window, hiding the smile he was unable to keep from his face.

It had been almost too easy to manipulate the different variables and send Dan and Sarah spiralling onto this path. He'd engineered both of their professional downfalls. He just needed to apply pressure to the right areas, and Sarah had spun out of control. Lester had thrown Otis into the mix, changing a couple of calendar invites, and Mary was there to see it all. And the sad, desperate, and volatile Jesse had been so impressionable as to believe that Dan was hiding Sarah from him. Confronting him in Dan's office and causing a scene had been an unexpected yet oh so delicious surprise. It had worked out better than Lester could have planned.

Lester cleared his throat as he pulled his SUV into Sarah's driveway. He'd almost let himself hum the song again. He needed to play the supportive rock character, despite his internal excitement. This was too much fun. He'd never expected to have this much fun, pulling the blocks out of Sarah's life and watching that Jenga tower fall.

Hell, just a few YouTube videos and he'd easily figured out how to loosen the starter relay, unplug the crankshaft sensor, and loosen the negative battery terminal in Sarah's vehicle. Then he'd just had to wait for the right time to make an appearance in the parking lot when Sarah was at her lowest. All of which led him here, back to Sarah's home and the place for more opportunities to corrupt her.

It would take a mechanic a little while to identify the issues. Hopefully long enough to rack up a nice bill that Dan and Sarah wouldn't be able to afford. They were both so susceptible to financial manipulation that it was almost too easy.

Lester's mind raced with all the possible ways he could fuck with someone's life. Drugging his roommates seemed so juvenile and beneath him now. It was so, so much more satisfying when they willingly gave themselves to him, unaware of his machinations. That sweet first push into them. Their faces contorting from the unplanned pleasure. He hadn't ever had a desire to be watched by another man, but taking another man's mate in front of him fueled something deep in Lester. A desire to conquer.

“Thanks, Lester,” Sarah said softly as she opened the car door. Lester snapped out of his reverie, grabbed his black backpack, and quickly got out and followed Sarah. He held it in front of him; his straining erection was visible through his pants. He mentally tried to calm himself down.

“Lester...” Sarah said as he caught up with her on the walkway to her front door, “Not tonight. I just want to be alone.”

“I know,” Lester said in a comforting voice, the Imperial March still playing in the back of his head. “Let me just get you inside and settled and then I’ll go, okay?” He made his eyes wide with feigned innocence.

“It’s okay, you don’t have to do that. I’m okay,” Sarah said unconvincingly. Her hair was a tousled mess, and her eyes were almost bloodshot from crying. Complimentary seasonings to the perfect dish.

“You’re not,” Lester said as they stepped up to the door, “Believe it or not, I care about you. I want to make sure you’re okay.”

Sarah didn’t reply. She just opened the door and let them both in, “Five minutes. You can stay for five minutes, okay?”

“Okay,” Lester said. Sarah walked into the house, dropping her purse onto a table. Her white, sleeveless blouse was on inside out, the seams visible. Her tight pencil skirt accentuated her perfect ass impeccably. Lester narrowed his eyes, watching her body, and he felt his cock begin to stiffen again. He put his bag down against a wall, never once taking his eyes off her majestic form. He couldn’t stop the smile from spreading onto his face as he followed her deeper into her home.

Sarah collapsed onto the couch, burying her face in her hands. Lester couldn’t stop smirking and grinning. He went into the kitchen and lightly slapped himself on the cheek to regain some control. He didn’t like it when his body didn’t do what he needed it to do. He knew what he’d created was all too delicious and that he’d be fucking her soon. Sliding into her. Five minutes, maybe? Lester wasn’t leaving.

He took two wine glasses out of the cabinet and generously poured Sarah’s favorite red into one of them. He added a bit to the other for himself, mainly for appearances, then joined Sarah back in the living room.

“Here,” Lester said, holding out the glass by the stem. Sarah lowered her hands and looked at the wine appreciatively.

“Thanks,” she took it from him without a glance and took a long sip from it. Excellent.

“I didn’t get much detail from Mary. She said it was a sensitive matter and that she’d fill me in tomorrow. All I know is that you got fired and it seems permanent; there wasn’t anything I could do to change it. I tried, Sarah, I really tried to get her to change her mind. What happened?” Lester said, laying it on thick.

“I..I thought they would have told you. I don’t want to talk about it right now, Lester,” Sarah said, staring into her wine. Lester moved and sat down next to Sarah, forced his arm around her, and pulled her into him.

“It’s okay, Sarah, it’s going to be okay,” Lester said, putting his fat hand on her head and pulling her body to his shoulder. He stroked her hair comfortably while he sniffed and inhaled her sweet, sweet strawberry scent. He repositioned his legs as his cock was growing stiff with excitement again. He didn’t want her to notice it. Not yet.

“It’s not okay, Lester. Everything is completely fucked,” Sarah’s voice broke. Physical contact in highly emotional states tended to amplify emotions, especially in females. He needed to break down her barriers and move their night forward. When she was at her lowest, he would build her back up. Consciously or subconsciously, she would see him as her emotional pillar, holding up her rebuilt self, further entwining her to him.

“You don’t have to hold it in anymore. It’s just us,” Lester furtively licked his lips, “Let it out. I’m here. It’s okay.”

Sarah let out a strange noise he hadn’t heard come from her before. It took a second before his brain registered it as a sob. This new sound was followed by more sobs as she buried her head into his chest and wept openly. Lester could feel her tears on his shirt. None of this did anything to dampen his arousal. If anything, it only served to heighten it as he knew that soon he would be spreading those blemish-free legs open and wrapping them around himself as he again took the prize in between.

He gently stroked her hair, holding her tight to him. His other hand ran up and down her back. His turgid cock ached. He couldn’t wait to slip off his pants and free it.

“Shhhhh,” Lester said as reassuringly as possible, “It’s going to be okay. You’re okay.”

Sarah pushed up off his chest and looked at him. She wiped the tears from her eyes, “It’s not going to be okay. How is it going to be okay? I got fired, Lester. Fired. Dan doesn’t have a job. My family...” she gestured to the room around her, “all of this is at stake. We’re going to be out on the street.”

“I won’t let that happen,” Lester said as he cupped her cheek with his hand. He stared into her eyes. “I won’t let anything like that happen to you, okay? I’ll take care of you. You and your girls. Nothing bad will happen as long as I’m around.”

He saw the brief spark of hope behind her beautiful green eyes. He knew Sarah. He knew she’d run away from these feelings. Just like she ran away from her problems with her parents and work and into Otis’s orchestrated arms, she’d want to escape this feeling of helplessness. She hated feeling weak and powerless. She wouldn’t want to be a crying mess. She would be so desperate to run to feel anything else.

His hypothesis proved correct when Sarah leaned forward and kissed him. He held onto her face and kissed her, tenderly at first as he assumed the role of her lover and protector. He felt the rolling tears on Sarah’s cheeks press against his.

She was grabbing onto his shirt collar, pulling Lester’s lips against hers. He ran his chubby fingers through her hair as he gently held her head. Their lips met, softly, tenderly. Light, furtive touches of their two tongues as they tasted each other and got lost in the moment. She needed this. Her desire was abundantly clear to him. He decided to kiss her a little harder, sticking his tongue into her mouth further and holding the position longer. Sarah moaned into the loving kiss, responding in kind just as he had hoped. He wanted to escalate their kiss from soft reassurance to passionate, on the pathway toward copulation and insemination.

Sarah bit his bottom lip and pushed into him. Lester let himself fall back, Sarah’s lithe young body falling onto his. His hands began exploring the woman of the house. Running down her back and gently grabbing her supple bubble butt. Sarah moaned, so he grabbed her cheek harder, pulling her body against his. He slipped his hand underneath the cotton of her panties and kneaded her bare ass cheek.

“Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned into his mouth. Their tongues slid against one another as the young mother lost herself deeper into Lester’s firm embrace. Their lips never broke from one another. She was just as hungry as he was for more of each other. For connecting, for becoming one.

Sarah’s body shuddered as Lester held her pinned to himself. Her hips bucked up and down as she grinded her skirt-covered pussy against his flabby frame.

“Mhmm,” Sarah gently moaned as she rocked herself back and forth on his mass. Lester licked all around Sarah’s mouth, and her tongue licked up and down his. His hands were running all over her body. He couldn’t hold himself back anymore. He possessively grabbed her ass, and his hand cupped her supple breasts. Sarah pushed her chest into Lester’s hand so that she could feel the sensation of her shirt-covered nipples against his palms. He pushed into her nipple with his thumb, eliciting a moan from her throat, a sound not unlike her earlier sob.

Sarah's hand traced down Lester's body until they found her intended target. She expertly undid his pants and slipped her hand inside his old boxers and gripped the hot skin of his throbbing shaft. Sarah broke their kiss and let out a deep breath as she held his swollen cock in her hand. She was breathing hard, clearly very aroused, looking directly into his eyes.

Lester was pleased they had gotten past the crying portion of the evening and onto the main event. It had only taken just over three minutes, so much for five. Sarah was breathing hard, and her hand began running up and down Lester's cock. Her eyes were unfocused, but she kept flicking between Lester's gaze and his lips. She played her thumb over the jutting ridge of his cockhead.

A bright light shone across Sarah's face, and she froze. Headlights pulling into the driveway. Without letting go of his massive cock she sat up on the couch and peered out the window. Lester just lay there looking up at the angelic beauty above him, her blond locks dangling down and tickling his cheeks. Even when she was a hot mess who had been crying, she was still radiant. Radiant enough to fuck.

"Fuck," Sarah said and pulled her hand from his twitching cock.

"What?" Lester said, staying where he was.

"My parents. My fucking overbearing parents. They're here!" Sarah stood up and began straightening her clothes, "Fuck, they are going to see your SUV. Lester please. You need to go down to the basement and hide. Now."

"Hide?" Lester said. Fuck this. He was so close to fucking her, and now her parents showed up? Maybe he shouldn't have gotten them involved in the first place. Still, he kept the impatience from his face.

"Yes, please. Hurry. I'm sorry. It'll just be for a bit until I get them to leave. Or until I get the girls to bed. Please, Lester, I'm begging you!" Sarah said.

Car doors slammed shut outside. Lester wanted to protest. Wanted to open the door and wave his girthy cock at Renee and James and tell them that he was going to fuck their daughter and to come back later. But he needed to slip back into the supportive boyfriend role. He closed his eyes for a second and let out a breath, "Okay."

Lester got up, grabbed Sarah around the waist, and pulled her body to him. He gave her a deep kiss that she didn't immediately return.

"We'll continue this later," Lester said. It wasn't a question. Sarah's shoulders slumped, and she nodded. Then Lester moved quickly to the basement door and disappeared down the steps. Sarah grabbed the two wine glasses and quickly hid them in the kitchen cupboard.

Satisfied that Lester was tucked away in the basement and hopefully wouldn't make a surprise appearance, Sarah steeled her nerves once again and walked to her front door. Hopefully, it would just be a quick drop off, and she wouldn't be interrogated by her parents again. She'd been avoiding them, and they probably realized that. She really wished she hadn't asked them to pick up and babysit the girls, but she'd been in a pinch with the late meeting Lester had invited her to. The one that he'd cancelled, and then Sarah had ended up fucking Otis and getting caught by Mary and getting....

Sarah let out a long breath and closed her eyes. When she opened them, a warm smile was on her face, all traces of nervousness fading from her features. She opened the front door just as her daughters and parents were coming up the walkway.

"Mom!" Her daughters yelled and hurried up the front steps to Sarah. She bent down and threw her arms around both of them. Sarah held her daughters tightly, trying not to let herself be overwhelmed by the thoughts of losing their house and putting these girls through hard times. She pushed the thoughts down and squeezed them shut tight.

"I've missed you guys," Sarah whispered in each of their ears and gave them both a kiss on the cheek. Her parents had caught up to the girls and were standing on the porch watching the embrace. Sarah didn't want to raise any suspicions with them, so she let go of the girls and stood up, "Okay, girls, go on in and empty your lunch boxes and whatever's in your school bags."

The girls moved past Sarah into the house. She stood there looking at her parents, who seemed to be waiting for an invitation to come in.

"Thanks for dropping them off," Sarah said.

"It's not a problem, dear," Her mother said, "We're always here to help you and the girls out."

Sarah wondered whether her mom had intentionally omitted Dan.

“Whose car is that?” Her Dad asked, thumbing over her shoulder at Lester’s black SUV in the driveway, “Your mom said your car wouldn’t start.”

“A co-worker’s. She works at the hospital with her husband. When my car wouldn’t start, she let me borrow it and rode home with him,” Sarah said. It was the best excuse she could come up with on the spot.

“That’s really nice of them,” Renee said. “It’s always a plus having great coworkers,” her mother grinned sincerely.

“Kind of a slob, though,” James said. He looked skeptical, “The car’s full of junk food wrappers. It must stink in there.”

Of course, her dad had peeked in through the window.

“Well, I’m sure if they knew my car was going to break down and they were going to lend me theirs, they would have cleaned it, Dad,” Sarah said.

He just shrugged his shoulders, “Alright. Well, your mom is gonna stay here with the girls. Let’s go take a look at your car and see if we can’t get it started.”

“What? Dad, I just got home myself,” Sarah said. She worked to keep her eyes from looking hard.

“I told your mom I’d come out and grab you at work, but she said you were already on your way home. Well, this way your mom can get the girls in bed, and you and me can go take a look at your car.” Her father didn’t wait for a response; he turned and headed back to his car.

“Your father,” her mom shrugged and moved past Sarah into the house. Sarah bit her tongue. This is exactly what she didn’t want. She loved her parents, but she didn’t want to be told what to do. Behind her, her mom was helping the girls empty their bags. She trusted her mother to get the girls settled.

Fine. Just get it over with. Sarah thought to herself as she grabbed her purse and car keys. Locking the door behind her, she went out to join her father in his car. Just as she settled into the passenger seat, she realized that she had left Lester alone in the basement, alone with her girls and her mother. Sarah gulped and was about to make an excuse to go back inside when her Dad masterfully backed out of the driveway and took off towards the hospital.

Lester frowned from the stairway leading to the basement. He was crouched over, his chest tight as he breathed hard, squinting under the door. He'd been listening in on the conversation, and Sarah had just left.

Well, this isn't at all what he'd wanted. He should be buried inside of Sarah already, making her beg for his sackful of cum. He rolled his eyes as two pairs of feet ran past the door, followed by Renne's toned calves.

Now what the hell was he supposed to do? Did Sarah honestly just expect him to stay in her basement and wait for her? He turned and carefully made his way down the stairs. Turning on the light, he looked around the room. There was nothing down here besides the old futon he'd fucked Sarah on and a bunch of water-stained storage boxes. What the fuck was he supposed to do? Just sleep?

There wasn't even a computer down here. Lester stopped and looked up at the ceiling. His bag was still up there with his laptop in it. If he could get that, he could get into the Williams' network and get out onto the Internet.

Renee was supposed to get the girls to sleep soon. It was dark up there. Once she was up on the second story with them, Lester could sneak up and grab his bag. Lester slowly went up the wooden basement stairs, trying not to make any sounds. He wondered what would happen if Renee discovered him. This was an unpredictable predicament to be in. Would he still be able to follow through on his long-term plans with Sarah? How would they explain his presence there? It could be fun to test this and see what would happen.

But that scenario would wrest too much control out of Lester's grasp. It was better for him to control the reins a bit more tightly. He crept his way up to the top two steps and crouched over again, putting his eyes up to the crack beneath the door.

He couldn't see anything. He closed his eyes and listened. Water was running upstairs. It sounded like a bathtub was filling up. Renee must be bathing the girls. Now would be the perfect time to get his bag.

Lester waited a few more moments before cautiously turning the knob on the basement door. He edged it open slightly and turned his head to listen. Nothing. Lester pushed the door open more and spied his black backpack sitting by the wall where he'd left it. Most of the lights were off on this floor, except for the one outside the front door, which cast some light in. It was dark, further evidence that Renee was getting the girls ready for bed.

More confident now, Lester pushed the door open and crept out towards his bag. He grabbed it and turned back towards the basement when he heard small steps coming down the stairs. Lester lunged out of sight back towards the basement door.

But he hadn't been fast enough. A small scream filled the house as Lester pulled the basement door shut. His heart was beating fast as he rushed down the stairs. He pushed himself between some boxes and ducked underneath the unfinished wooden stairs. He was breathing hard, and he hated himself for it. Why was he running and scared just because a kid was screaming? The fear of being caught? He didn't know. He really shouldn't care, but he still sat there crouched in the darkness.

The water upstairs stopped, and he heard two more pairs of footsteps coming down the stairs.

"What's wrong?" he heard Renee's voice ask from somewhere above, "Why are you screaming?"

"There...I saw....There's a," the girl stammered pathetically before finally finding her voice, "There was a monster. It was fat and ugly with hair all over its body. It looked like one of those trolls in that movie you yelled at Grampa for letting us watch. It just ran into the basement!"

Lester felt his ears go red and his nostrils flare. He wasn't sure if he was more mad at the girl's description of him or the fact that she was trying to alert someone to his presence.

"Well, I'm going to talk to Grandpa about the kinds of movies he lets you girls watch again. They get your imaginations working in overdrive," Renee said.

"I wasn't imagining it, Grandma! I saw it! It went into the basement. I swear," the girl said.

"Well, let's forget about it for now and get you up into the bath," Renee said.

"No, grandma, you have to check the basement to make sure it's gone!" the girl demanded.

Lester could hear Renee sigh from his hidden spot in the basement before her footsteps grew closer. The basement door opened, and he heard Renee come down the steps. She stopped mid-way down and turned the light on, peering around the basement.

“I don’t see anything,” Renee said. Lester stared up at her toned calves through the open slots in the staircase. He inched closer and smelt Sarah’s mother. She had a light vanilla scent that smelled just as good as Sarah did. He wanted to lick the back of her legs, but held himself back from doing so.

“I think your scream must have scared the troll away. It’s all gone,” Renee said. Lester wished the older woman had been wearing a skirt so Lester could peer up it. But soon she had walked back up the stairs and shut the door behind her. The water to the bath started up again, and Lester left his hiding spot and moved onto the futon. He pulled his computer to his lap and fired it up.

Within a few minutes, he had brute-forced his way onto the Williams’ network and went out to the internet. He noted that Renee’s phone was currently connected to the network, and he jotted down some information about it. If she browsed anything later, he’d take a peek at it.

Once he was behind a firewall and logged in through a secure VPN, Lester was logged into his private Discord server. Not the one he used to coordinate WoW raids with Ned, Eugene, and the others. But the one that helped facilitate his private business dealings. Business was still good, but the lack of fresh content would soon be noticed by his customers.

Lester’s eyes bugged out of his head at the dozens of unanswered direct messages waiting for him. He’d never had that many messages. He read the first one and frowned. When he read the second, his frown deepened further. Each message was from someone on his server thanking him or alerting him to the fact that someone was releasing his entire catalog of videos. Each person claimed someone had sent them dozens of videos that Lester usually charged a premium for.

Someone was targeting him. He scrolled through his server’s forums and found groups of people avidly discussing the new videos. Users he personally knew had never paid, or a few who had only purchased a handful of his files, were eagerly discussing the new content. He immediately thought of Dan but quickly dismissed him as a possibility. That idiot had no idea about Lester’s private businesses, nor would he have the ability to do anything as proficient as this.

But each new person discussing the files Lester saw as a lost sale. Why would they buy any of them when they could have all of them for free? There were also several messages taunting Lester and mocking him, both as private direct messages and public messages for everyone to see. Lester checked his crypto wallets and ensured all his earned funds were still there. Nothing was missing. Even the new funds from his sale of the Lincoln Group Data were still there.

A few weeks ago, Cronos had tried to hack him. Lester knew Cronos had deep pockets and likely had a team of hackers on speed dial. Lester wanted to slam his laptop onto the concrete blocks of the basement. He shouldn't be down here. He shouldn't even be in Middleton at all. He should be back at his command center, where he felt more comfortable tracking this nuisance down and eradicating it, not stuck here on a shitty futon while someone sang lullabies to the whelps upstairs. He was under attack and felt impotent to do anything about it.

Lester decided the best course of action was to stop the bleeding. Reduce the number of ways he could be targeted. He shut down his Discord server and took it completely offline for the time being. There was only so much he could track through the private messaging client. Still, Cronos had been able to track him down before and try to infiltrate his network.

Lester clicked through his remote desktop monitoring software and saw that everything was secure and quiet in Chicago. The lack of Discord would be a hit to his business, but he could still sell directly through sites on the dark web; it would just be more annoying and require more legwork. He went into the admin panel of his cloud servers and found nothing amiss. He knew the encrypted external drives in his apartment with Sarah's content were secure.

He spent the next half hour locking down any avenue of attack he could think of. He'd need to go on the offense soon, but he couldn't do that until he was better situated. A window lit up on his laptop.

Lester eyed it. Renee was on her phone browsing the internet. Lester couldn't see her screen or which apps she was using. He could see the data packets in the transition and the URLs of the websites she was visiting. If Lester had to guess, she was scrolling through Facebook or Instagram and clicking on the occasional link.

It would have been better if Lester had spyware installed on her phone, then he could have seen what she was actually up to. Still, he needed a distraction from the issues surrounding his businesses. He uploaded one of Sarah's favorite pictures of his cock to the cache on the Williams' router. It was a great angle, showing off the entirety of his length and girth and the thick veins running down its shaft. Inside the router settings, he limited Renee's access to all websites and made any links she clicked direct to the picture.

He wasn't sure what was going on upstairs, but he guessed that the girls were probably asleep by now.

"Oh!" he heard Renee exclaim from above.

Lester smirked as she quickly closed the picture. She must be upstairs on the couch, just a short distance away from the basement door. A few minutes later, Renee opened another link, and Lester knew a picture of his erect cock appeared on her screen again. This time she didn't make any noise. He watched as this time she didn't try to browse away until almost a full minute later.

Sarah was finally back in her own house. All she wanted to do was shower the stench of Otis off her and crawl into bed with a bottle of wine. Her dad hadn't been able to figure out what was wrong with the car.

That didn't stop him from poking and prodding around under the hood for the better part of an hour. Sarah hated being back at the hospital, even if it was just in the parking lot. She never wanted to go back there. All she could feel was the judgment coming from the windows of the building, and her skin crawled with shame and regret.

Eventually, her dad had given up and had called a tow truck for her. With her car on the way to the mechanic, her dad drove her back to her house. He had tried, awkwardly, initiating conversation several times, but Sarah just couldn't find the mental energy to engage with him about her life.

Now back at her house, all she wanted was for her parents to leave.

"How did the girls go down?" Sarah asked her mom.

"Hmmm?" Her mother asked. She was sitting on the couch, engrossed in something on her phone.

"Mom, did the girls go down okay?" Sarah repeated.

"Uhhmmm," Sarah's mom's eyes finally broke from her phone, and she snapped out of whatever had her attention. "Yes. They were angels like usual. I gave them a short bath, brushed their teeth, and tucked them in with a bedtime story. They were easy."

"That's good," Sarah said, hiding her disappointment. She'd wanted to be here for that, just to spend some time with her daughters. But between what had happened at work and her dad insisting they look at her car, she'd barely seen them. Maybe she would keep them home tomorrow since she didn't have to work.

"So what was your late meeting about?" Her mother asked her, tucking her phone into her purse.

“Just some boring administrative stuff. The HR team wants lots of changes again, and they need us to support them,” Sarah said.

“Not more staffing changes, I hope,” Her dad chimed in, “They’ve already cut enough positions from what you’ve said. I’m just glad they know how valuable you are. I couldn’t imagine them axing you while Dan is still unemployed.”

That was the ‘in’ Sarah could use to tell them she had been let go hours earlier, that it hadn’t been her fault. That it was all due to staffing changes. As a former management consultant, her dad would understand that. He’d probably even recommended difficult staff reductions many times over his career. But Sarah couldn’t bring herself to say the words. She didn’t want to open that Pandora’s box of questions, especially not after what she had just gone through with them over the weekend. She wanted them to leave.

“I’m just glad you’re back at work, here at home,” her mother said, “After what happened in Chicago, I think it’s best just to stay here and focus on work for a while.”

Sarah felt like he had been backhand slapped. It was such a leap of topics for her mom to bring that up, to connect these two unrelated things. It was clear her parents didn’t consider the matter settled. Not one bit.

“That’s the plan, Mom,” Sarah tried to say in a calming voice. She could feel the presence of the wine bottle in the kitchen behind her and wished more than anything she could just grab and down it. She wanted to feel numb. She just needed something to distract her from this catastrophe. From all this stress. From her life. She just needed to escape for a little bit. She thought of Lester and wondered what he was doing if he was still down in the basement. If he still intended to finish their conversation from earlier.

“Mom. Dad. Thank you for everything today. I couldn’t have made it all work without you being here for me,” Sarah knew her parents liked having their egos stroked. So continued, “Not just picking up and feeding the girls, but for helping me look at the car and taking care of everything. It really means the world, and I couldn’t have done it without you.”

“Oh, no, it’s no problem, dear,” Sarah’s mom leaned forward and hugged her, “That’s what parents are for.”

Her Dad flashed her a warm smile, “I’ll call the mechanic tomorrow and we’ll figure out —”

“We’ll figure it out,” Sarah cut him off, “Tomorrow. I’m sorry I’m not being a better host, but I think I’m ready to go to bed and crash.”

“Alright, Renee,” Sarah’s Dad said, putting his hands on her mother’s shoulders, “Let’s get going.” Sarah couldn’t help but notice her mother’s cheeks flush at her father’s touch. A swell of pride went through her that her parents are still so in love.

Her parents said their goodbyes, and soon Sarah was alone again. Her daughters were upstairs, sound asleep, and she assumed Lester was somewhere beneath her, doing only god knows what. She knew she’d have to deal with him somehow. He had definitely stayed past his allotted five minutes. Still, the moment they’d shared on the couch earlier had been nice. With all the awful things going on today, it felt good just to be seen and held like that. She was still mad at Lester for the late meeting and his abrupt cancellation of it, but she felt her stance towards him softening. He was here for her, too.

Sarah went upstairs to check on her daughters. She opened their bedroom door, and the girls were sound asleep, little angels just like her mother had said. Sarah’s chest was tight as she looked them over. They had only ever known this house and a relatively struggle-free life. It had been an adjustment having their father live apart from them, but they seemed to have adapted well. How well would they adapt if they had to sell their house? What if the girls had to change schools and lose all their friends? Sarah’s mistake had the potential to flip their entire lives upside down. A sob caught in Sarah’s throat as she closed the door and fell against the hallway wall with her arms crossed.

She leaned her head back against the wall and closed her eyes, trying to push all the bitter feelings down. Her hands ran across her bare arms, and all she could feel was the sweat from the sex she’d had with Otis. She felt the immediate need to clean herself. She needed to get him off of her.

In the back of her mind, she knew Lester was still waiting for her in the basement, but she just couldn’t go down there yet. She’d shower, and then she’d ask him to leave. She just needed to feel clean. Wash off today from her body. Sarah went into the master bedroom and debated locking the door so Lester couldn’t enter. But she needed to be able to hear the girls if something was wrong, so she left it open.

It didn’t take her long to strip naked and toss her clothes into the laundry bin. She debated just throwing those soiled clothes out and being rid of them. Her body began to relax as the warm water poured out of the shower head. A bath would have been nice, but she could mentally detach more with a shower.

Sarah stepped into the stall and let the rest of the world melt away. The warm water ran through her hair and over her skin, washing away the day, washing away her tryst with Otis and the panic that she’d felt when she’d locked eyes with Mary. Sarah let the warm water envelop her and let her mind drift away. She methodically, slowly cleaned herself. She washed every inch of her body, leaving no trace of Otis or the hospital behind. Then she just stood there, letting the warm water hit her body with her eyes closed. She wasn't sure how long she'd been in the shower. It may have been ten more minutes, but it could have been as long as an hour. With their tankless hot water supply, they'd never run out of hot water.

It was only when Lester fully opened the door to the bathroom that her mind finally returned to the present. She stiffened, realizing that Lester had to have travelled up the stairs and through the hallway, past her sleeping daughters. Her two worlds colliding again.

"Lester. I'm sorry, I-I completely forgot..." Sarah said, wondering how long he had been down there in the basement waiting for her.

"It's okay. I know you needed this. I was going to leave, but I didn't want to without saying goodbye. And I can't lock your front door from the outside either," Lester said. He had a somber look on his face, like he was really feeling sorry for her. It felt nice. Just to have someone there for her. Unlike her parents, he was just here to support her.

"I'll be out in a second," Sarah said.

"No hurry. Take as long as you need. I'll be out in the bedroom waiting," Lester turned towards the door.

"Lester," Sarah said, her voice catching in her throat. The ugly, fat man turned to look at her, his uneven eyebrows raised. "Do you want to join me?" Sarah said in a low voice. She turned to face him, allowing him to see her entire nude body.

Lester stood at the doorway, seemingly thinking it over. Sarah held her breath waiting for the rejection to come. For today to serve up another fresh wave of shame to hit her. Sarah finally let out her breath when Lester began stripping.

The defeated wife watched him expose his hairy and flabby body. How the pale trembling rolls of his skin almost fell out as he disrobed. She couldn't look away. He was mesmerizing. She felt her skin heat up and felt herself grow even wetter between her newly cleaned legs. She still couldn't quite believe this oddly shaped man in front of her could make her react like this. When his large cock swung out of his tight age-yellowed underwear, followed by his sizable, weighty ballsack, Sarah unconsciously licked her lips. She'd just wanted him to hold her. To comfort her. But now she wanted something else. She knew it was wrong. Especially after having been with Otis earlier, but it would be the perfect distraction from her life. She needed it.

Lester opened the shower door and stepped in with her.

“Just hold me. Please,” Sarah whispered. Lester’s arms encircled her, and she closed her eyes and laid her blonde head on his shoulder. Neither of them said anything. Lester just held Sarah like that as the water washed over both of their bodies. They stayed like that for what felt like an eternity. Just the two of them in their own private bubble where the rest of the world couldn’t get to them.

After some time, Sarah opened her eyes and looked up at Lester. She hadn’t realized it, but he had been stroking her hair. His semi-hard cock was pressing into her thigh, but he hadn’t made any moves to initiate anything.

Sarah reached over and gently grabbed the back of his head and pulled his lips to hers. She didn’t want to think about what had happened at work, her parents, her financial situation, or any other stressor in her life. She just wanted to get lost in this kiss and let Lester make her feel better.

As her lips gently crashed into his, she felt his growing cock rub firmly against her thigh. She knew that she wanted it inside of her. For it to take her places, nothing else could.

“Mhmmm,” Sarah softly moaned into Lester’s lips. The fact that these large lips were attached to someone like Lester, to an ugly face and unattractive body, such as the one next to her, only deepened her arousal. It had all started as a beauty and the beast fantasy to her, but somewhere along the way, she began associating him with her intense sexual satisfaction. He was like a trigger to her. He just flipped a switch inside of her, and she was ready.

Her arms went around and behind his neck as their lips tasted each other. She loved how aggressive he could be. The dirty shit he would say to her, the insulting talk about Dan, and the way he would pin her down and take whatever he wanted. But she loved how tender and sweet he could be, too. Almost as if she were taming the raging beast that still existed inside of him.

Sarah’s tongue slid past Lester’s lips and found his tongue. She twirled her tongue around his larger one and explored, pushing deeper into his mouth. Lester turned his head, and their lips locked together as their tongues danced with one another. He pulled her tightly against him, her heavy breasts pushing against his chest. Another hand went to her perfect bubble butt and gently began massaging her cheeks.

Her naked pussy pressed against Lester. Even with the water streaming down on top of them, it still felt great just gently grinding herself against his hot, pasty skin. The stresses weighing her down slowly became background noise in her mind. All she wanted to focus on was Lester.

Sarah slid her hands through his thinning, greasy hair and ran them down his oddly proportioned body. At one point, she couldn't imagine someone built like this turning her on, but now she craved him. She couldn't get enough of him. She'd never wanted anyone else this badly.

Her hands ran over this flabby skin, and she felt an electricity surging through her nerves. She kept running her hands down, lower and lower until her finger tips found the base of his fully hard cock. Sarah couldn't help herself. She grabbed onto this thick shaft with one hand and moaned into Lester's mouth. Sarah started to stroke him slowly. Slowly running her hand up and down Lester's thick shaft.

"Mhmmmm fuck, Lester," Sarah moaned, breaking their kiss. Lester's lips didn't stop. He kept kissing her. Her cheek. Her ear. Down her neck, where his tongue swirled and darted around her skin. Sarah tugged on his cock harder as her lips pressed against his neck. Her tongue lashed out and swirled at the skin there, twisting around the hair that covered him. Their movements grew more frantic, both wanting to explore the other.

Sarah never stopped stroking his cock. She arched her shapely chest into his as his tongue on her neck drove her crazy with lust. She pulled his cock from between her thighs towards her pussy so that his massive cockhead could press against her clit. Sarah stroked him up and down on herself, causing her to bite her lip and lean into him for support.

Finally, she couldn't take it anymore. She needed him. "Lester," she whispered, "Make love to me tonight. I need you. I need to feel you. God, I really, really need you, Lester."

Out of the corner of her eye, she could see the smirk spread on Lester's face. That annoying, frustrating smirk. She loved it. Loved that cocky confidence on someone like him. It was intoxicating.

Lester didn't respond at first. He reached out and turned off the water. He pulled back from her and looked deep into her eyes, "I need you too. I've been aching for you all day." Sarah glanced down; Lester's gargantuan organ stood firm, pointing right at her.

"Then let's go," Sarah said, fluidly pushing the shower door open. The heat in the shower escaped into the bathroom beyond. The cool air of the rest of the house washed over Sarah's naked body, sending a chill through her, "I'll need you to warm me up, lover boy."

Sarah stepped out of the shower, but Lester grabbed her hand. With one foot on the cool tile floor of her bathroom, she looked back at Lester. He was standing there with lust painted on his face, staring at her. Sarah couldn't help but remember the dream of Lester in the cave. He was looking at her just the same way, the heat pouring out of the shower felt like the fire she had experienced, and the shower resembled the cave he had been standing in a little.

"Where do you want to make love?" Lester said, stepping his squat body out of the shower to join her. He pushed his waist against her, making her take a step back.

"My bed," Sarah breathed, looking straight at the man who would be inside of her soon.

"You mean your marital bed," Lester said, continuing forward. Sarah kept stepping back until her naked bubble butt was pressed firmly against her bathroom counter.

"Yes," Sarah breathed, "I want you in my marital bed."

"Condom? Or no condom?" Lester ground his cock against Sarah's pussy.

"No condom," Sarah said too quickly. They both knew he hadn't brought any, and she didn't have any either. Not that she'd use them, "I don't want anything between us."

"Good girl," Lester said and kissed her forehead, "You want to make unprotected love in your marital bed with someone other than your husband?"

Sarah put a hand on Lester's chest and gently eased him off her. She moved aside and went out into the bedroom, walking backwards, never taking her eye off Lester. She was dripping wet, soaking the carpet beneath her feet.

Lester stood in the doorway watching her. Sarah crawled, naked, onto her bed, never breaking eye contact with Lester, "I thought you were supposed to be my Chicago husband? You've given me a ring and fucked me in my wedding dress. Get over here and start doing your husbandly duties. In our marital bed."

That cocky, arrogant, sexy smirk spread onto Lester's face. His cock literally bobbed up its head, flaring, tremblingly punctuating the end of her sentence. The fat man didn't waste any time; he closed the distance to the bed quickly and clambered on his flabby rolls, shifting with his speed..

Water was still running off of him as he lowered himself onto Sarah. Their wet bodies molded together as his pursed lips gently pressed down onto hers. He didn't try to fuck her immediately, even if she wanted him inside of her. He kissed her like a lover would.

His hands gently caressed her bicep as they exchanged soft, loving kisses. He held her face and pulled back, staring deep into her eyes. He kissed her lips and pulled back, still looking at her. He held her like that, just staring at her.

Sarah gently rubbed his back as she stared up into his ugly face. It felt intensely intimate to Sarah, and her heart threatened to beat out of her chest. His gaze seemed to say that Lester saw her. For all her faults or graces, he saw her and accepted her completely. She felt safe in that moment, and another emotion came through his gaze. Love. She felt loved. Loved by this odd little man who was blessed with a fantastic, monstrous unit of a cock.

Their chests rose and fell in perfect sync, like their breathing was in complete harmony. She felt warm all over, the uncomfortably cool air of the house a distant memory, just like all the issues she was facing in her life. In that moment, nothing else seemed to exist. Lester leaned in, and Sarah closed her eyes. He kissed both of her eyelids, slowly, one after another, before his lips returned back to hers.

His fingers traced down her body, gently caressing her incredible breasts and teasing her hardened nipples. Sarah softly moaned into his mouth. He pulled back again and looked at her, "I love watching you. I love watching your face as I touch you."

Sarah didn't respond. She kept her eyes fixed on Lester as her breathing grew more frantic. As his hand trailed lower and lower. She loved the hungry way he was looking at her. The lust on his face. The lust for her. The way he watched her. She loved being watched, especially by him.

Lester's fingers found her clit, and she breathed in sharply. His middle finger expertly manipulated it. Teasing it. Drawing circles around it. Applying a discreet amount of pressure and then backing off, going back to teasing it with light, arousing touches.

Sarah's hips moved side to side on the bed, desperately seeking more of his touch. Her breasts were rising and falling on her chest. Lester's lips went to her collarbone as he touched her. His tongue snaking out, licking, leaving a glistening trail of his saliva on her body.

Lester's fingers plunged lower, leaving her clit. They stroked up and down her soaking wet slit. When they slid back up to the top, he'd apply a little bit of pressure to her clit again, drawing a circle around it. Sarah sharply inhaled, and she could feel Lester smile against her chest.

He kept this up, deftly stroking both of her pussy lips. Teasing her and then giving her just a bit of extra attention to one of her body's most sensitive areas. Sarah felt like she was being exquisitely tortured. Her hips were slightly lifting off the bed, trying desperately to feel more of Lester's thick fingers. She reached out desperately until her hand found his immense cock. She licked her lips and began to stroke him again; she needed to feel him in her hand.

All the while, Lester's eyes just bore into hers. Studying her, watching her. It was like he was seeing into her soul. He knew who she really was and wasn't looking away. He liked what he saw.

Lester's fingers went further down her slit until he touched her at her entrance. Sarah looked at him, her eyes revealing desperation. Her desire to be touched there by him. He agonizingly touched the outside of her vaginal entrance, just barely. He grazed it with a knuckle, sending tingling shivers of pleasure throughout her shaking body. He was simultaneously denying her while also gently just giving her a little bit of what she wanted. Her hips pushed off the bed, trying to find his fingers. But each time she did, Lester moved his hand away.

Her body was on fire. She wanted him. She needed him. She couldn't wait any longer.

"Lester, please," Sarah said breathlessly. When had she lost her breath? "I n-need you inside me. Put it in me. Now, please. I need to feel you. Please, Lester."

Lester smirked again and pulled his hand away from her pussy. He moved his awkward body on top of hers, crushing her torso with his fat gut. The fattest part of the shaft of his cock rested right on her slit, and Sarah's body was already writhing beneath him, grinding her pussy and clit against the iron bar of his shaft.

"Mhmmfuckk," Sarah moaned as she turned her head to the side and closed her eyes. His cock felt so humongous against her. She kept rubbing herself against him, working herself up further and further, higher and higher. God she needed him. She needed him more than she needed anything in her entire life.

"Fuck Lester," Sarah moaned as he started to pull his hips back and push them forward. He was sliding his girthy cock up and down her slit. "Stop teasing me," Sarah choked out, "I need you."

Sarah tried to push her hips up further. Lester's cock slid down her slit, but not enough for her to line it up with herself. She tried again, tried to get his cockhead to her entrance, but it was too long. She couldn't push herself up enough. She didn't have the leverage; Lester's large frame kept her pinned, denying her a better angle. He kept sliding his oversized cock up and down against her clit, up and down her slit, all the while looking at her with that shit eating grin.

“Lester, please,” Sarah whined.

“What do you want, hmm?” Lester said, staring down at her.

“You. I need you,” Sarah whined, “I need your cock. Give it to me, Lester. I need it inside me. I need to feel it deep inside me.”

“Oh. How bad do you want it?” Lester teased, stopping his hips.

“God just shut up and make love to me with that massive thing already,” Sarah gritted her teeth and grabbed onto Lester’s back with both hands. She tried to bring her knees up higher, contorting herself to embed herself on Lester’s engorged cock.

“You want it bad tonight.” Lester’s face held no expression as he peered into her eyes.

“So bad, Lester. I need it. I need you inside me so badly,” Sarah bit her bottom lip, “Please, Lester.”

Lester leaned down and gave Sarah a soft kiss on the lips, then moved his mouth to her right ear, “That’s my good girl, using her manners.”

He pulled back and looked into her eyes as he dipped his hips and pressed his amazing cock head at her soaked entrance. Sarah’s hips bucked, trying to connect with his fat appendage, but Lester held her at bay.

“I’m going to take care of you. Everything’s going to be okay,” Lester said. He grabbed his thick shaft at the base amid the thick pubic hair. “Now tell me, who’s my good girl?”

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned, her hips pushing off the bed just so she might get a glancing rub on Lester’s cock, “I am. I’m your good girl. Me.”

Lester narrowed his eyes and slightly dipped his hips, pushing her lips aside to accommodate the broad crown of his cock, and stopped himself. Finally getting a taste of what she needed, Sarah waited a full five seconds before she realized he wasn’t moving, still teasing the horny young wife. Seeing the grin on his face, she readied her hips to take him the rest of the way. Just as Sarah’s perfect hips rocketed off the bed, Lester lunged forward, plunging his massive cock into Sarah’s wet, warm waiting pussy. She felt herself stretching, amazed at how her body was fully open to him every time after first taking Lester. Pleasure rushed over every cell of her body as Lester’s girthy, veiny cock plunged into her waiting insides.

“OhgodLester,” Sarah moaned, holding him tightly to her as inch after inch of Lester’s pulsing cock pushed deep into her. Finally, after he’d pulled back his hips and slammed himself into her three more times, his massive organ was fully inside of her. It hurt. But it hurt so, so good. Sarah felt her body adjusting itself to Lester’s presence. She couldn’t believe how wet she was. The thought only served to drench her lover’s phenomenal tool further.

“It’s been too long since we’ve made love like this. Just you and me, here in our marital bed,” Lester whispered, biting her earlobe. Sarah just moaned in response as Lester slowly pulled back his cock half an inch out of her and pushed it back in. He kept repeating the move, slowly teasing Sarah and giving her just enough of what she was craving.

“Fuck,” Sarah breathed, “Make love to me, Lester. God, I love how you feel inside of me.”

“I love being inside of you. Deeper than anyone ever has been,” Lester grunted.

“So deep. So deep, baby. God, you’re so fucking deep inside me,” Sarah’s tongue lazily licked the side of Lester’s face. Lester snaked two fingers up to Sarah’s lips and pushed them inside her waiting mouth.

“Mhmmmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Lester’s index and middle finger. Lester stuck them deep into her mouth, and Sarah welcomed them with her tongue. She licked the underside of Lester’s fingers, tasting him. Lester fucked Sarah’s mouth with his fingers, relishing in the sensation.

He pulled back his hips and pushed his cock deep into her pussy again. Sarah moaned louder around Lester’s fingers.

“Suck it like you would my cock,” Lester whispered.

“Mmmm-hmmm,” Sarah nodded and grabbed the back of Lester’s hand, pulling his fingers deeper into his mouth. Her eyes were closed, and her hips were bucking off the bed as she sucked Lester’s fingers. She pulled them as far into her mouth as she could, until her lips were touching his knuckles.

Her body was on fire as she sucked and fucked back against all of Lester. Just imagining having two of his massive cocks to play with. One in her mouth and another in her pussy, fucking her from both ends.

She tore his fat fingers from her mouth, gasping, she said, “God, I want your cock in my pussy and mouth at the same time. I’d let you do this to me all night. Fuck Lester.”

“Heh,” Lester chuckled, “I only have one cock to give you.”

“I know, I just want it. Fuck it would feel amazing,” Sarah said.

“You had more than one cock the other night at the movies,” Lester teased.

“None of them had a cock like this,” Sarah said as she squeezed her pussy around Lester’s colossal cock, “None of them fit me this, hrng, well.”

“I don’t know. You didn’t get to experience every man there. Maybe another was just as blessed as I am. We really should’ve stayed to find out,” Lester teased.

Sarah shuddered and imagined herself taking all of those dirty men. Letting each of them use her one at a time. Doing whatever they wanted to her. Lester’s hips pulled back, and before he could slam back into her, Sarah’s ass lifted off the bed and around his cock. His words echoed in her ear as she felt that familiar tingling warming sensation building inside of her.

“Fuck Lester,” Sarah said. Her eyes were closed, and she could picture herself back there in the movie theatre. Performing for all the degenerate men. Being the center of attention as Lester slowly made love to her like this. The men all standing around her, staring down at her, stroking their cocks while devouring her with their eyes.

“How many cocks did you satisfy that night?” Lester asked.

“God,” Sarah moaned. She couldn’t even picture the men’s faces, but she could picture their cocks, “Three. Yours and those two others. The guy from the counter and that black guy.”

“No, you satisfied more than that,” Lester said, “Don’t forget the creep behind me and those other guys all stroking to you. I bet all of them came for you that night, Sarah.”

“Ohfuck Lester,” Sarah’s bubble butt was slamming off the bed, desperately trying to urge Lester to increase his frustratingly controlled pace.

“Say it. Say they all came for you,” Lester demanded.

“All for me. They came all for me,” Sarah breathed.

“How does that make you feel?” Lester asked.

“So fucking horny,” Sarah’s nails dug into the skin of his back, “God, I wish we were back there right now. I’d make sure all of them came for me.”

Sarah licked her lips and looked into Lester’s eyes, “And I wouldn’t miss a drop.”

“Heh. Now that’s my good girl,” Lester laughed and kissed her hard. Hearing Lester call her a good girl affected Sarah. She didn’t understand it, but that outside validation made her pussy completely soak around Lester’s cock. Their tongues slid across each other, and Lester’s fat face devoured her lips. They moaned into each other’s mouths.

“Say it again,” Sarah said between kisses.

“You’re my good girl. So good,” Lester murmured in her ear. His words tickled her earlobe and wormed their way into her body, sending an electric shiver from her brain to her pussy. The warmth in her stomach ignited, and Sarah was about to get what she’d been desperately craving. Her sweet escape from everything around her.

“Fuck. Don’t. Fucking. Stop. Please.” Sarah said through gritted teeth. Her ankles locked around Lester’s hairy ass, determined not to let him go. She pulled him as hard into her as she could, as her pussy held him in an iron grip. Lester’s arms came up, and he put his hands on her biceps, pinning her to the bed. She couldn’t move under his weight and the strength of his arms. Not that she wanted to. But the added pressure made her explode.

“FFFFFFFUUUUCCCCCKKKKKK,” Sarah screamed. Her throat felt raw, but she didn’t care. Nothing else mattered. Her eyes seemed to roll back in her head. White light flashed behind her eyelids as her mind and body spun. Her senses were overloaded by the way Lester’s cock made her combustively orgasm. The room felt like it was spinning, and her entire body had a pulsating warmth spreading throughout it. Every fiber of her being was warm, a threatening, all-consuming warmth that she never wanted to let go of. Sarah squeezed herself on Lester’s cock, her body shaping to it, molding to every vein and curve, like her body was memorizing its dimensions. Sarah’s jaw hung agape, and she felt her nails pierce the skin of Lester’s back as her body rocked from the deeply powerful feeling.

Sarah was still panting when her orgasm finally began to subside. She still felt its lingering after effects throughout her body. Everything felt warm, and her skin was so sensitive. Lester’s weight and his gut pressing into her felt so domineering. She finally opened her eyes and looked up at Lester’s fat face.

“You really are a good girl,” Lester whispered.

Sarah's body shivered, "I love it when you call me that. I don't know why."

"Heh, it must be those deep-seated daddy issues," Lester chuckled and kissed her. Sarah rolled her hips as Lester's cock dipped in and out of her at an agonizingly slow pace. He was focused on her lips, softly kissing them tenderly. Sarah returned the kisses passionately. It felt so intimate. She loved the way Lester would power fuck her and just dominate her, but there was something so tantalizing about the way he was slowly kissing her, focusing on her, like he was savoring being with her. It felt like the way she and Dan had tenderly made love on their honeymoon, both of them just solely focused on the other and not caring about the world outside.

"God, I love when you kiss me like that," Sarah said.

"Then I'll keep doing it," Lester said, looking deeply into her eyes. His thumb caressed her cheek as he dipped his head down again and pressed his lips to hers. Sarah felt butterflies in her stomach as he kissed her. She knew he was ugly. That his body was as repulsive as his personality could get to be, but the warmth she felt inside of her wasn't part of a pending orgasm. It was something else. Something she couldn't comprehend. Something she was scared even to acknowledge.

Lester held his cock still inside of her as they kissed. Sarah didn't know how long he kissed her for, but it felt like it went on for minutes. Maybe hours. She was lost in his deep embrace. Even though her body craved more of his cock, she was so taken with the way he was kissing her that she somehow put it all on hold.

When their lips finally parted, Lester rubbed his nose against hers, and they both gently laughed at the gesture.

"So this is what I get for being a good girl?" Sarah whispered.

"Yes," Lester said, "And you've seen what happens when you're bad."

"I...god," Sarah shook her head.

"What? Having trouble deciding which one you like better?" Lester chuckled.

"No. Yes. They are both so..I don't know. It's hard to explain it," Sarah whispered.

"You don't have to explain anything. Remember, I get you. Completely. More than anyone else. I know you. I know what you like and what you need. You don't need to choose either one. You can be both," Lester kissed her again, this time he parted her lips with his tongue as he ground his cock into her.

“Uhhhhmmm,” Sarah moaned at his invading tongue and huge cock pressing into her body. Lester’s hands ran down her body, and each grabbed one of her hips. He pinned them to the bed, exerting pressure. His lips never left hers as he held her in place. His hips rocked back and then dipped forward. Lester started giving her quick, shallow thrusts that made her body crave more of his cock.

Then he abruptly pushed himself in deep. So fucking deep inside of her. Just when she was about to go crazy on his cock, he switched back to the shallow thrusts, just giving her a couple of inches of himself. Sarah bit his bottom lip when he thrust his entire length into her again quickly. This thrust was followed by several others in quick succession before he gave her just a couple of inches slowly.

Sarah started to whimper, and a tear rolled down her cheek. It was glorious torture that she both needed to stop while also never wanting it to end. Lester knew how to play with her body better than anyone she had ever been with.

Lester teased and tortured her like this for the next five minutes, making Sarah’s body quake violently. Eventually, he slowly pushed his entire length into her waiting pussy and held his large cock still, firmly entombed inside of her.

“So you liked being my bad girl, too?” Lester asked. Part of Sarah’s mind rebelled at the notion, the same one that had acted out during her day at work. But that part didn’t have a hand on the steering wheel.

Sarah moaned and gripped Lester’s cock with her pussy and said in a low, sultry voice, “God. I’m such a slut, but yes. Yes. I loved it.”

“You liked me taking you to that dingy store?” Lester asked.

“It was such a dirty place. I was scared at first. Maybe...maybe nervous too, but yes, I did. I liked it. It was so raw,” Sarah was surprised as the words came out of her mouth. She hadn’t had a second to process that night, yet she felt the truth pouring out of her.

“How did you like being the star of the show? Everyone’s eyes were on you,” Lester said.

“I loved being watched by all those desperate, disgusting men. The hunger in their eyes was unreal. I knew how badly they wanted me,” Sarah breathed, feeling herself getting worked up again. She squeezed Lester’s cock and tried rocking her hips, desperate for more fucking, but he wasn’t moving.

“Some of them got you, too,” Lester said, “You were covered in cum, inside and out when we left.”

“Fuck,” Sarah’s body strained back, trying to get more of Lester’s cock.

“Maybe next time I’ll just leave you there,” Lester whispered as he playfully licked her earlobe. Sarah’s body shuddered. She knew if Lester wasn’t there, all of those men would have taken a turn with her. She’d only fucked Lester that night, but if he wasn’t there, she didn’t even know how many of the men would have experienced her body.

“Next time....” Sarah started, and she looked up into Lester’s eyes, “Next time I want to try those booths in the hallway.”

Lester’s ugly shit eating grin spread onto his face, “Now that’s my good girl.”

Sarah’s pussy pulsed at Lester’s words. God, he knew just what buttons to push.

“You’re going to have a lot more time on your hands now that you aren’t working at the hospital,” Lester said. Sarah’s heart stung at his words. The wound was still too fresh for him to casually bring it up, especially in a setting like this. She was about to say something, but Lester spoke first.

“Just think, instead of running around going to those dumb meetings, we can spend all day fucking and you can show me just how bad you can be,” Lester looked down at her completely seriously. A thrill ran through Sarah’s body at the idea of just giving herself to Lester all day, every day. As he guided her through these new experiences, she found herself craving more.

There were a million things she wanted to say, but the only thing that came out was, “But what about your job? At the hospital?”

“There’s no way I’m sticking around there. Not after they let you go. Not after how they treated you. Why would I want to be there without you?” Lester said.

Sarah’s heart started pounding faster. It was such a sweet and sincere sentiment. Lester only wanted to be there to be closer to her. She knew he probably needed the money. And with how she’d been treated, Lester was going to leave in solidarity. He was choosing her over them. The butterflies in her stomach started beating their wings harder and harder, faster and faster.

“Does Dan know? About what happened today?” Lester asked in a whispered tone.

Right. Dan. She hadn't had a chance to talk to him yet. She probably should've called him right away, but Lester had picked her up. She wondered how he'd react to everything that had happened.

"No," Sarah said, "Not yet."

She felt Lester's cock throb inside of her, and she closed her eyes. Sarah bit her lip as Lester's cock slowly dragged out of her before slowly pushing back inside. It felt so fucking good. Lester kept up his slow, deep pace, making her head spin. Her hips rocked back and forth, meeting his cock deliciously each time.

"Maybe he doesn't have to," Lester said. Sarah opened her eyes and looked up at him.

"What do you mean?" Sarah asked.

"You don't have to tell him. It can be our secret. Just you and me. I'll make sure you have enough money in your account every week. Instead of going to the hospital, we can just spend our days in this bed," Lester's eyes bore into hers. He was serious. Was this prostitution or just him wanting to take care of her? Her mind raced, but the cock inside of her clouded her judgment.

"God, Lester. I don't know....." Sarah trailed off, her mind not wanting to weigh the pros and cons right now. All she wanted was for him to fuck her so she could cum on his cock again.

"Just think about it. It can be our secret," Lester murmured as his tongue and lips danced down her neck. Sarah felt the goosebumps rise on her skin after Lester's lips passed down her body.

Sarah closed her eyes and pushed his proposition to the back of her mind, focusing instead on the feelings inside of her. The butterflies in her stomach, Lester's cock inside of her, the way her body was heating up again. Her heart threatened to beat out of her chest, and the rapid rising and falling of her chest as she tried to breathe.

The idea of keeping a secret like that from Dan felt like such a betrayal, but she couldn't help finding her body responding to it. Her ass pushed off the bed harder than before; she felt the tension wind up all across her body. Had she always been like this, or was this what Lester and Dan's fantasies had turned her into? She didn't know the answer, but she really didn't care as long as it made her feel this fucking good.

Lester reared up onto his knees. The weight that had been threatening to suffocate her lifted from her frame, and Sarah found it easier to breathe. Lester knelt on the bed, towering over her. He looked so much larger and domineering from this position. His cock was still fully engulfed inside of her. He pulled her legs up and rested her calves on his shoulders while looking down at her. Sarah's hip rolled back just slightly, and Lester's fat cock pressed against her G-Spot, and Sarah let out another whimper.

"How's that feel?" Lester asked, his dark eyes unwavering.

"So fucking good, Lester. So good," Sarah moaned.

"Good," Lester said before giving Sarah several deep, urgent thrusts inside of her. His thrusts were coming so much faster than before, but they were still slow and controlled, driving her to the fucking brink of insanity.

Sarah was going crazy. Everything inside and outside her body felt extremely warm, and she was finding it increasingly hard to breathe. Her head rolled to the side, eyes closed, focusing on Lester's cock and nothing else. The head of his cock pressed hard and raked against her G-Spot before pushing further down into her pussy. His cock pounded into it, and then the rest of his girthy, veiny shaft rubbed raw against it. Sarah knew it wouldn't be long before she came again. Her tight pussy stretched wide around Lester's pistoning cock, and she could feel every little bit of it as it dragged and pushed inside her.

"Fuck Lester. Don't stop. Mhmmhmm. Uh. Mhmm, Uh. Uh God," Sarah moaned. The ball of liquid heat in her stomach was getting hotter. She could feel the wall holding back her next orgasm quaking inside of her, the bricks coming loose as it was all about to come crashing down, "Uhhh, mhmmhmm, don't stop. God don't stop Uh, Uh, Uh, Uh I love it. Lester. God please. Please. Please please don't stop."

Lester slowed his pace. A desperate whine escaped Sarah's throat, she balled the bed sheets into her fists, and wanted to cry. Wanted to scream in frustration. She just wanted to cum on his beautiful, perfect cock.

"Don't stop, Lester. Please. Give it to me. I'm so close," Sarah moaned. She pushed her forearms into the bed, trying to rock back and forth on Lester's cock. But he was holding her calves over his shoulders, her ass was partly off the bed, and she didn't have a lot of leverage to do what she wanted, "LESTER!"

"Tell me how much you love fucking me," Lester said, his cock pulling back and poking her in the G-Spot with just enough pressure to keep her going crazy but not enough to push her over the edge.

"I FUCKING LOVE IT! I LOVE FUCKING YOU! God, you make me feel so fuckinggood. So fucking good. You make me cum so hard, Lester. Please, keep fucking me, I need it.” Sarah pleaded.

“How much do you love my cock?” Lester demanded.

“Your cock is the best fucking thing in the world. Nothing else fills me so good. Nothing. Uh, Mhmmm. So fucking good. I-I love your cock, uh. Okay? I fucking love your big, monster of a cock. Mhmmhmmm. I love it. I love every fucking massive inch of it. I want to worship every gorgeous inch of that cock. It feels so fucking good inside of me. I need to cum on your cock, Lester. PLEASE.” Sarah moaned, screamed, and whimpered.

“How much do you love me?” Lester growled.

“Oh fuck Lester,” Sarah whined. Lester had changed his pace; the head of his cock wasn’t hitting her G-spot as often. It came softer. Her impending orgasm was beginning to slip away. She couldn’t let that happen. She needed the explosion inside her. She couldn’t live without it. Sarah desperately wanted to cum. The butterflies she’d felt earlier in her stomach were going crazy, their wings beating harder than ever, threatening to overwhelm her. “FUCK!! Uh. Mhmmhmmm. I love.. I love you, Lester. I love everything about you. I love how you look at me. I love how you fuck me so good. So fucking good. I love how you fuck me with that big fucking cock of yours. God Lester, I love how you fuck with Dan. I hate you sometimes, but I fucking love it. I love you, Lester, now FUCK ME!!!”

Lester grinned and pulled Sarah’s calves off his shoulders and dropped them back down on the bed. Sarah was about to protest when he slammed her ass down onto the bed with his cock. The weight of his gut and frame was back on her, crushing her.

Lester thrust his giant cock into her quickly, giving her the entire length of him. He pulled it back all the way until just the head was still inside of her and slammed it back into her again. He was still making love to her, but he was fucking her at the same time. Sarah whimpered and felt the walls holding back her orgasm shaking again. She could feel her impending release, and she wasn’t going to let anything stop it. She’d do or say whatever Lester wanted as long as he made her cum.

“Oh god, Lester fuck. YES. GIVE IT ME. I’m so fucking close! LESTER!” Sarah moaned.

“You feel so good, baby,” Lester growled in her ear.

“Fuck your COCK FEELS AMAZING! IT’S going to make me CUM!” Sarah moaned, slamming her perfect bubble butt up off the bed to meet Lester’s domineering thrusts.

His body weight was crushing her; she couldn't breathe, but she couldn't stop either.

"I love you, Sarah. I love you," Lester whispered.

"Mhmmhmm, I love you too," Sarah moaned without thinking. It just came out as an automatic response to Lester's words. Her mind spun as she fucked him. Lester's lips landed on hers, and they kissed. Tender at first but their tongue quickly clashed as they tried to devour one another. Lips, tongues, teeth all colliding as they tasted and fucked and made love chaotically.

"I want to get my operation reversed. I want to cum inside of you and knock you up," Lester said, breaking their kiss. The mental image and feeling of Lester's warm, illicit sperm flooding into her made her squeeze her pussy onto Lester's cock. She was holding him in a vice grip, not willing to let him go. Desperate to milk every last drop of cum from him.

"Mhmmhmm. Jesus. God Lester. That's so fucked. So fucked up," Sarah mumbled.

"But you fucking love it, don't you? The idea is going to make you cum tonight," Lester said. It almost came out like a command. A command for her to cum to the idea of carrying this ugly bastard's child.

"Fuck Lester, please. PLEASE! DON'T STOP!" Sarah screamed. She was so close. So fucking close. Her body was ready to cum. Warmth was beginning to spread out from her stomach.

"Tell me you want it. Tell me how much you love me. Tell me how much you want me to cum in you and knock you up," Lester commanded again.

Sarah couldn't disobey. She'd do anything this man wanted. Anything for this cock. Anything to let that wall come down so she could explode and cum.

"FUCK!" Sarah screamed. The idea of Lester, someone not her husband cumming in her and getting her pregnant wormed its way into her brain. Her brain lit up on fire as she felt all the nerves in her body light up in response. She couldn't hold it back anymore. She was going to fucking explode. "YES. GOD YES. I WANT IT. I LOVE IT. I LOVE YOU. FUCK. MHMMM. GOD. FUCK. LESTER. GIVE IT TO ME. FILL ME. KNOCK ME UP. I NEED IT. I NEED TO FEEL YOUR CUM IN ME. FILL ME. LOVE ME. FUCK A BABY INTO ME! FUCK LESTER! FUCK I'M GOING TO CUM! DON'T STOP! DON'T YOU EVER FUCKING STOP!!"

“I’M NOT STOPPING!” Lester shouted back. Sarah ran her hands down Lester’s sweaty back and gripped his ass cheeks, nails digging into his flesh as she pulled him tightly into her. She wasn’t letting him go. “I’M GOING TO FILL YOU. YOU’RE GOING TO BE A MOMMY AGAIN.”

“YES,” Sarah shouted, her ass bouncing off the bed. “DO IT. KNOCK ME UP, LESTER. GIVE ME A BABY. FUCK. YES. I. WANT. IT. LESTER. FUCK!!”

“TAKE IT,” Lester roared. Sarah felt his dirty, filthy, fat cock begin to throb inside of her. The veins running along his shaft pumping extra blood into the immense organ. She felt the head of his cock open up and the first blast of his illicit seed shoot into her.

“OH FUCK. YES!” Sarah screamed at the top of her lungs as all the muscles in her body flexed tight. She pulled on Lester’s ass, trying to take more of his beautiful cock inside of her. The wall that had been holding back her orgasm crumbled and came crashing down. It exploded inside of her, igniting all of her nerves at once. She felt everything, from the tips of her toes to the top of her head - all on fire, goosebumps spread over every inch of her skin. Sarah closed her eyes tightly and screamed. Her eyes rolled back in her head. Her manicured nails dug into Lester’s pockmarked ass. Her bubble butt pushed up off the bed as rope, after rope of Lester’s hot, slimy cum blasted into her, filling her. He went off like a geyser inside of her, never stopping. Sarah’s pussy clutched his cock, milking every individual drop. Taking every ounce of his deliciously hot cum deeper into her. Desperate to hold onto all of it and not waste a single drop.

“GOD,” Sarah screamed as another orgasm ripped through her, almost knocking the wind out of her. She couldn’t breathe. She couldn’t catch her breath at all. All she could do was clutch more firmly onto Lester and his cock as the room started to spin.

Lester’s heavy frame collapsed onto hers as the last spurts of cum from his cock dribbled out inside of her. His sweaty frame pressed into her skin as she felt his balls finally finish emptying. He was breathing hard. Sarah couldn’t breathe with him on top of her and desperately tried to catch her breath.

Lester grunted and rolled to the side, the full length of his slick cock sliding out of her. Sarah inhaled a lungful of air and let her post orgasmic bliss wash over her. She shivered as the lingering effects of her explosions tingled all across her body. Everything still felt warm, and Sarah felt like she was floating. She never wanted to come down. She wanted to stay in this moment forever and let the rest of the world burn around her for all she cared.

Sarah felt the room spinning and let herself spin with it. That was one of the most intense orgasms she had ever felt in her entire life. She could only imagine what it would feel like if Lester hadn't had that operation. In the back of her mind, she always knew Lester couldn't actually impregnate her, which truly only took a little bit of the fun away. It took away the thrill and the risk that might actually make her go unconscious from an orgasm caused by him. Still, just the idea of Lester's cum full of deranged, swimming sperm seeking out her eggs and connecting them on a more primal level made her head swim. It was fucked up. It wasn't something that should turn her on. Logically, she knew it was stupid and something like that would truly fuck everything up for her. But the idea of Lester claiming her like that.....it was too much to think about right now. She'd have to get a therapist to even dig into that, and unlucky for her, she didn't have health insurance anymore. Maybe she did, she didn't know. It was another thing she would need to figure out in the coming days.

Sarah hated that thoughts of work and her firing had already wormed their way back into her head. Her body was still overheating and coming down from the spectacular orgasms Lester had given her, yet here she was again, already thinking about all of her problems.

"Come here," Lester yawned and snaked his arm behind her neck. He grabbed her shoulder and pulled her naked body towards him.

"One second," Sarah said, trying to get up. She needed to get into the bathroom before all of Lester's cum leaked out of her onto the bedsheets. "I just need to clean myself up."

"No," Lester said with a tired smile as he pulled her shoulders down towards him. Sarah landed on the bed next to him, and he quickly draped one arm around her, pulling her body into his misshapen one, cuddling her.

"Leave it in you," Lester said with some amusement in his voice, "Don't clean it up. Besides, isn't that what you're supposed to do when you want to get pregnant?"

Sarah shook her head and rolled her eyes, deciding to stay put for now. She could always clean the sheets if she had to. She rested her head on Lester's soft chest and closed her eyes, "Yes. Yes it is."

"Good, then just stay here with me then," Lester said through another yawn. Sarah tried to focus on Lester's heartbeat, but her mind kept going to the way that Mary had talked down to her. Of all the issues she'd have to deal with soon.

"Wonder what Danny would say if I really knocked you up," Lester chuckled.

“He’d probably shit a brick,” Sarah said, “So it’s good you’re fixed. In another life, who knows? maybe we would’ve milked you dry for child support payments.”

“I’d never leave you wanting. I meant what I said earlier about taking care of you,” Lester stroked her blonde hair.

“I know,” Sarah said quietly to herself. One thing had begun to nag at the back of her mind. The fact that Lester was still so normal with her after she had gotten fired for what happened with Otis.

“How much do you know about why Mary fired me?” Sarah asked.

“Not much, unfortunately,” Lester said, “It was weird. They wouldn’t say anything before I left, just that they’d give me more details tomorrow once they could ensure everything happened the right way when they let you go.”

“The right way?” Sarah scoffed, “That bitch Mary was terrible to me and made me beg for my job. When I did, she just laughed at me and had security kick me out.”

“Bitch,” Lester agreed, “She’ll get hers soon. I’ll make sure of it.” Then his expression changed to curiosity. “Why did you get fired?” Lester asked quietly, “Laid off, I would understand, but not fired. Not you. It doesn’t make sense.”

Sarah sighed and looked up at Lester’s face, “It’s bad.”

“It’s okay,” Lester said, “You can tell me anything. I won’t judge you.”

Sarah gave him a sad smile and let her shoulders slump. “You know that meeting you cancelled? I was already up in the conference room. Otis came in, and well,” Sarah paused, looking bashfully at Lester’s concerned face, “one thing led to another, and I, sort of... Fucked him. I know that it was wrong and stupid, but I wasn’t thinking straight. I’m still probably not thinking straight. But then that bitch came in and caught us.”

“She saw everything?” Lester said in a quiet voice.

“Yes,” Sarah said, squinting and furrowing her eyebrows as she looked at Lester, “Are you okay?”

Lester’s ugly face looked flushed, and his breathing had shifted and sounded strange somehow. It wasn’t like it had been a few seconds ago after sex.

“It’s just, I didn’t think you would do that with him again,” Lester said, “I thought we talked about this. I thought all these things we did were special between us. Something we just shared. It sucks hearing about you with someone else like that. I didn’t think it would, but it does. I’m not sure what I’m feeling. Jealousy? Sadness maybe. I don’t know Sarah...”

“Lester,” Sarah said, “What was with that whole ‘are you going to be a good girl or bad girl’ thing then?”

“That was just my way of trying to take back control of the situation. When you told me you did that stuff in my office with Otis, I just felt left out. That you were going to outgrow me. Maybe I was wrong. Maybe this is just a sex thing to you. Is that all it is? Am I just a puppet for Danny’s fantasies?”

Sarah’s heart was beating in her chest, and she leaned up to look at Lester, “Lester, I don’t know what this is, okay? But you aren’t just a puppet. I don’t know what we are. What to call it. Honestly, maybe there isn’t a word for it. It’s all kinds of fucked up sometimes, but I think we’re both loving it and want to keep going with this. I know I do. I’m not sure where Dan’s head is at these days. But you make me cum harder than anyone else, Otis included. And you don’t judge, and you know me so well. Taking me to that movie theater... As much as my parents finding out about that has kind of messed up my life, you still were there with me to give me that experience, to share it. And I loved every second of it.”

Sarah put her hand on Lester’s chest and looked into his eyes, “I’m sorry that I hurt you. I knew you wouldn’t be thrilled with me. But I didn’t think you’d feel...like this. Maybe I did it out of anger, but now I’m feeling like shit.”

Lester sighed and put his head back on the pillow. He didn’t say anything. Sarah didn’t want to leave his arms. She put her head down on his chest. After a minute, he started to stroke her hair, “I get it. This is all part of you taking control and exploring this side of you. I just don’t want to be left behind. I want to explore it with you. All of it.”

“I’m never leaving you behind,” Sarah caught herself drawing circles in Lester’s chest hairs with her finger, “Not as long as that cock is attached to you.”

Lester grunted in affirmation. Sarah’s mind was mulling over how hurt Lester had appeared. Was he really okay with everything she did? With her still doing her ‘exploration’ as he called it. He confused her. He could be such an asshole, so degrading and controlling. Just an entirely toxic person. But then he had fleeting moments like this one. It was almost like Sarah was seeing behind the curtain. She felt the butterflies in her stomach again and closed her eyes.

Her eyes weren't closed for long before she heard the doorknob to the bedroom jiggling insistently. Both Lester and Sarah shot up into a sitting position. The doorknob turned, but it didn't open.

"Mommy?" a small voice said from the other side of the door. Sarah winced.

"Yes baby?" Sarah said, getting off the bed and pulling on a pair of panties. They felt wet on her immediately, and she remembered she'd never cleaned herself up.

Sarah grabbed a t-shirt and hastily pulled it on as the voice said, "I need you. A-are you okay? I had a nightmare about the monster in the basement, and then I heard you screaming."

The voice came with little sobs in between the words. Sarah shot Lester a look, telling him to stay put. She unlocked the door and opened it just enough for her to step out into the hallway and pick up her little girl. Sarah pulled the door closed behind her and started back down the hallway towards her daughter's room.

"It's okay. Mommy is fine. Don't worry, it was just a dream," Sarah said, stroking her daughter's head. She needed comforting, but Sarah hadn't taken the time to wash the sweat or taste of Lester off of her skin. She winced but kept going until she got to the room.

"But I woke up from my dream. I couldn't move. I was too scared, and I was crying, and then I heard you screaming," her daughter said.

"Maybe I had a bad dream too," Sarah said, lying her daughter down and tucking her in.

"Stay with me, okay?" her daughter asked.

"Sure," Sarah said, lying down on the bed, "Just for a little bit until you fall asleep."

The bed shifted next to Sarah, stirring her awake. She was too tired to get up yet. Soft giggles and the door closing hard pulled her further out of her dreams, and she peeked open one eye. She wasn't where she expected to be.

Instead of her room, she was in her daughter's. She must have nodded off after coming in here last night. Memories of the previous night came back to her, how Lester had joined her in the shower and then the intense lovemaking she'd experienced. Then her daughter had come to the door due to a nightmare.

Sarah's eyes opened wide, and she shot up in bed. A terrible scenario filled her mind. She didn't remember shutting her bedroom door. What if the girls went down the hallway and saw Lester still in there? Worse, what if Lester was already up in another part of the house? If her daughters saw him, they'd be terrified, but who knows what they might say to their grandparents? She hadn't heard a scream yet, but her heart was already beating fast.

She rushed out of bed and into the hallway. She couldn't hear the girls upstairs, so she went down to the main floor. Sure enough, the girls were sitting in front of the TV watching an animated show of some kind about some kind of singers.

Sarah let out a breath as the tension left her body. She sighed and headed into the kitchen to make a coffee and prepare the girls' breakfast. A few minutes later, the girls were both seated at the countertop, munching away on a bowl of cereal.

"What show were you girls watching?" Sarah asked as she sipped her coffee and looked at her daughters. They were getting so big. They looked like angels just sitting there, not a worry in the world. She wanted to preserve this forever.

A pang of guilt tightened in her chest at the thought of making the girls move. If they were forced to sell the house, what kind of life would these girls grow up to have? How different would it be from the path that they would've been on if she hadn't gotten fired? If Dan hadn't lost his job a second time?

Sarah quietly contemplated this as she listened to the girls talk in animated fashion about K-pop Demon hunters, the movie they were apparently watching for the fifth time. Guilt hit her again as she realized that she had missed out on watching this movie with them. Not that she cared about it, but it hadn't even been on her radar that it was something the girls loved and were apparently watching non-stop. How much more would she miss if she and Dan had to make more sacrifices to keep a roof over their head?

Lester's offer during sex played back in her head. She knew it could just be sex talk with him. Just Lester trying to calm her down, but she knew there might be some truth to it. Lester seemed eager to jump at the opportunity to help her.

Sarah sighed and looked down at her empty coffee cup. She'd drunk it so fast she hadn't even realized what she was doing. Her mind was completely wandering off course, thinking about Lester's offer. Could she really take more money from him and not tell Dan? Could she really hide something that significant, like losing her job from Dan? Things between them weren't the best at the moment, but she still loved her husband.

Yes, she had made poor choices lately, in the heat of several moments, but she hadn't hidden anything from him in the long run.

Despite her complicated feelings towards Lester, she still loved her husband. That hadn't changed. Sure, things had been strained lately, but how could she just hide a huge part of her life from him? She couldn't just stay home all day and mess around with Lester, could she?

You could and you'd absolutely love it. Sarah shivered at how easy the thought came to her. Quitting the rat race and just spending her days with Lester, behind Dan's back. She had to admit the idea was sadistically erotic to her. She could feel it working her up and knew that she could enjoy it. But something ongoing like that felt more like an affair than their current situation.

Maybe it wasn't really any different than what she did with her husband's roommate, but she felt like it would be crossing a line and to lie like that for that long. Sure, she had omitted things with Dan, but she'd always ultimately been forthcoming with her husband.

Standing here, watching the girls, she didn't want to do something that could hurt her family. She thought back to the strange dream she'd had the other day, where she stepped into the dark cave with Lester, eager to let the flames engulf her. That path had meant leaving her kids and Dan behind, something she wouldn't ever do. Especially now that she was thinking clearly and her brain wasn't addled by incredible sex. In her dream, she knew that leaving the kids meant their fire would slowly die out, and the kids and Dan would be cold and alone in the woods. It was dumb, still thinking about that dream, but it had struck an emotional cord inside her.

"Mom," one of the girls said sheepishly, "I miss you."

"Baby," Sarah said, coming around the counter and putting an arm around her daughter, "I'm right here, my love."

"I know," the girl said as she fidgeted with her spoon in her cereal bowl, "But you've been gone so much. And then I have to go to school and leave you. I don't want to leave you. I don't want you to go again."

Guilt crept over Sarah again. Were the girls already beginning to notice her fraying at the edges? They certainly noticed her absence enough to mention it in the cold, hard light of the morning. Sarah knew what was important to her.

Yes, mind-blowing orgasms and riding Lester were something she craved. But her family was still the most important thing in the world to her. And she had done a lot of stupid things to put it in jeopardy. What the hell was she going to do?

She needed to keep her family together, and that meant telling Dan everything. She squeezed her daughter tighter. Maybe there would still be a way for Lester to help them, at least in the short term.

"I'm not going anywhere," Sarah said, kissing her daughter on the top of her head.

"Can we stay home with you today, Mom? I don't want to go to school," her daughter said. Sarah sighed, prepared to shut her daughter down. Her other daughter spoke up, "Yeah, Mom, please! We never get to see you. Can we just stay home with you?"

Sarah looked at her daughters while tears formed in the corners of her eyes. She didn't want to say no to them. Even if that meant she couldn't have another round with Lester later.

"Okay," Sarah said, causing grins to spread widely on her daughters' faces. She pulled the two empty cereal bowls from in front of the girls and loaded them into the dishwasher. "Go watch a show and give mom a few minutes to tidy up, and then we'll spend the day together, okay?"

The girls scampered around the counter, hugging her legs before running back to watch their Korean cartoon. Sarah felt the emotions threatening to overwhelm her as she held back tears. A sad smile formed on her face as she finished cleaning up.

"Mom," one of her daughters said, "there's a monster in the basement."

Sarah's frown deepened. Had her daughters seen Lester?

"What do you mean?" Sarah asked, walking into the living room and eyeing the basement door.

"I saw it yesterday. Grandma said it left, but I know it's still there," her daughter said without taking her eyes off the screen. Sarah quietly opened the basement door and descended the stairs. She half expected to see a naked Lester down here, but thankfully, all she found was his laptop and backpack. She packed it up for him and went upstairs to her bedroom.

She listened to the TV downstairs. She didn't hear any footsteps following her up, so she opened her bedroom door. There, lying wrapped in the tangled sheets, was Lester's hairy, pale body. She objectively knew he was overweight and his body wasn't something to write home about, but she felt herself drawn to it.

Sarah quietly closed the door behind her and went over to the bed.

"Lester," she whispered. Lester just continued to snore. She poked him with her finger, "Lester."

The big man didn't budge. Nor did his breathing change. It was like he was in a coma. Sarah tried a few more times to wake him, but nothing she did worked. She was ready to throw water on him, but held herself back.

She also didn't want to upset him. She needed him to leave if the girls were going to stay home, but she didn't want to just throw him out, especially not after their pillow talk last night. She didn't want to hurt him again. Those butterflies swirled in her stomach again, and she shoved down the realization that she felt something for the troll-like man in front of her. She didn't know exactly what it was she felt. She didn't want to give herself space to think about it, but she felt it deep in her core.

Sarah dropped his bag on the end of the bed and sent him a quick text message.

S: My daughters are staying home. You have to stay here in the bedroom until I come up to get you. Please stay in the bedroom, okay, Lester? Text me when you wake up.

She wrote him a note and put it on the bedside table. Then she did the same, sticking it to the back of the closed bedroom door so he would see it.

As Sarah went to leave the room, she looked back once more at the snoring fat man in her marital bed, and a stupid smile spread onto her face. She shook her head, and the smile disappeared just as fast as it had appeared.

Her life was spiraling out of control and it was getting more complicated by the minute.

Dan drove past the 'Welcome to Middleton' sign as his stomach turned to knots over the text he'd received from Sarah. It was cryptic. All it said was 'We need to talk.'

In the known history of relationships and marriages, nothing good ever came after those words. Dan would be home in a few minutes. He could get in and relax for a bit before anyone got home. It was just past noon, so Sarah would still be at work and his girls at school. He could run out and grab some stuff to make dinner as a surprise. Hopefully, it would soften Sarah up and help negate whatever was going to follow that text message.

Whatever it was, he didn't know how he was going to handle it. Everything had been so fucked up lately. Between him losing his job because of that asswipe Jesse, to the delicate balancing act of trying to balance his freelance clients with Sentinel Securities. And all the shit Lester was putting him through. There were just too many stressors going off at once, not to mention the fact that he now had Lester's ex-girlfriend, Lizzie's address.

When he'd first met her, he couldn't believe someone like Lizzie would ever date someone like Lester. But since then, he could maybe see why a girl would stick with Lester. Despite the gulf of outward attractiveness, Lester had certain assets a girl might like.

When he got back to Chicago, he was going to figure out just what the hell he was going to do with that address. He wanted to learn more about Lester. He'd told Sarah he'd stop, but he couldn't. There was something just itching at his brain that he couldn't look away from. Hopefully, Lizzie would have some answers. And hopefully she wouldn't let Lester know they'd talked.

His ringtone chimed out from the phone attached to the dashboard. Dan put Lizzie to the back of his mind and frowned at the screen. Sarah's Dad was calling him.

Dan pressed the answer button. "Hey James, what's up?"

"Just calling about Sarah's car," his father-in-law said with an edge to his voice that Dan wasn't accustomed to hearing. There was clearly something else he wanted to say to Dan, but he was audibly restraining himself. Probably something to do with what he'd learned in Chicago over the weekend.

"What about Sarah's car?" Dan asked.

"She didn't tell you?" James said, confused.

"No. We haven't had a chance to talk yet. James, what's going on with her car?" Dan asked.

"Uh, well, last night it wouldn't start. She got stuck at work. I couldn't get it going, so we got it towed to a mechanic who just took a quick look at it. He's not sure yet what's wrong with it and needs a few more hours to look into it."

“James, what’s that going to run me? Did he say?” Dan fought back the urge to pinch the bridge of his nose while he drove.

“Between the tow job and the inspection, it’s going to be at least six hundred. They still don’t know what the issue is and what labor is required to fix it. Not to mention the cost if it needs any parts,” James said.

Really? Fucking really? Another bill to pay.

Dan pulled onto his street and narrowed his eyes. He stopped, idling his car in the middle of the road, “James, I’m going to have to call you back.”

Without waiting for a response, Dan hung up the phone and stared at the black SUV in his driveway. He knew the vehicle. It was Lester’s. Lester’s car was parked in his fucking driveway. Lester was never supposed to be there unless Dan was, and even then, this asshole should just be banned from the property permanently.

Dan accelerated and swung his car into the driveway. He was up the walkway in seconds and opened the front door. He expected to hear the sounds of sex echoing throughout the house. What he heard instead surprised him.

“Daddy!” his two daughters yelled and ran up to him, throwing their arms around his waist. Dan was taken aback for a few seconds before returning the hug.

“Girls, why are you home? Where’s mom?” Dan said, confused.

“Mom said we could stay home today. She’s staying home too,” his younger daughter said.

“Okay,” Dan said, even more confused. He ruffled the girls’ hair, then looked around for Sarah. “I’m going to go find your mom and talk to her for a second. Then I’ll be right back.”

“No, Dad!” one of his daughters said, tugging on his arm. She was trying to pull him towards the basement door.

“What?” Dan asked.

“There’s a monster in the basement! Can you look? Please?” His daughter said.

“She had a dream the monster was hurting mommy,” his older daughter chimed in.

Dan eyed the door suspiciously and then stepped around his daughter, “Okay. I’ll go look. You two go turn on the TV, and I’ll be right back.”

The girls ran off, and Dan flung open the basement door. He pulled it shut behind him and flicked on the lights. Stomping down the stairs, he expected to see Sarah and Lester on the futon. But nobody was down there. It was just all their old junk, the futon and stuff in boxes.

Dan shook his head and went back upstairs. Sarah was waiting for him, her blonde hair falling just past her shoulders, those green eyes boring into him. She looked amazing, and he felt his heart skip a beat. But then he saw the expression on her face and felt his heart drop.

“Where’s Lester?” Dan hissed.

“Dan, it’s okay. Really. He’s upstairs,” Sarah whispered. Dan spun on his heel, ready to march up the stairs. No hug, no kiss, no warm embrace for his wife; he just wanted to put his hands around Lester’s fat throat.

“Dan, wait,” Sarah said, grabbing onto his wrist.

“Wait for what?” Dan said, “He’s upstairs, and our daughters are right here? Sarah, what the fuck?”

“I know. I know,” Sarah said, “the girls got up early and I kept Lester up in the bedroom so they wouldn’t see him leave.”

“He’s in our house when the girls are home, Sarah. That’s so completely fucked,”

“My parents dropped them off before I could get Lester out. I had to hide him,” Sarah said, pulling her husband into the kitchen.

“And did you have to fuck him? He could have left anytime. We agreed not to do —”

Sarah held up a hand to silence him, and tears began to stream down her face, “I know! Okay, I know! It’s just....it’s just that things have so fucked up. I didn’t know what to do. I just, I don’t know, Dan, I just fucked up.”

Sarah’s eyes were red as she cried in front of him, “I fucked up. I’m sorry. I’m so sorry. This isn’t me. I’m just, I can’t even. It’s like everything is out of control, and I just needed to grab onto something steady.”

She was shaking. Dan pulled out a chair and sat her down. He eyed the ceiling above him suspiciously, “Jesus fucking Christ. How? How does he just end up here, Sarah? Tell me that? Did he just trip, and his dick fell into you and magically stayed there all night? What happened?”

“Dan,” Sarah breathed, looking up at him, “I got fired. I got fucking fired yesterday.”

“What? No..What? How? Why? What the fuck happened?” Dan exclaimed louder than he intended to, “We can’t... Goddammit! What the fuck happened?”

Sarah held up a shaking finger to her lips. Thankfully, the sounds from the TV in the living room continued. Dan peeked his head out and saw both girls sitting on the couch watching the screen. Hopefully, they hadn’t heard his outburst. He went back to Sarah, and he motioned for her to join him in the kitchen, further away from their daughters.

“Okay. Alright. Fine. But seriously? What the fuck?” Dan whispered as his mind raced. He was torn between finding out just what the hell happened and doing quick calculations in his head about how they’d stay above water now. How tight would things be? What else could he do to make ends meet? “What happened? Did that new fucking CEO make more cuts? Isn’t your IT department running a skeleton crew as it is?”

He’d known things were shaky at the hospital. All the massive cuts and Sarah’s old position have been eliminated entirely. It was only because of Lester that she’d been able to stay on. That fact constantly made Dan’s blood boil. He hadn’t forgotten that this obese roommate was still upstairs, in his bed, fresh off of fucking his wife the night before. Behind his back. If he hadn’t come home today, would he even have found out about this?

“No,” Sarah said quietly, looking at her feet, “I fucked up.”

“What happened? How did you fuck up?” Dan said flatly. What could her fuck up have been? Did she make a mistake, or did she finally snap and tell someone off? She wouldn’t embezzle money.

“You know that new head of HR I told you about?” Sarah asked.

“Yeah. The bitch. The one that seems to hate you. Did she do something?” Dan leaned against the counter, crossing his arms. Sarah seemed broken; she was still staring at the ground. Where was his confident and outgoing wife? Her shoulders were slumped, and she was fidgeting with her hands.

“It’s been so fucked up, Dan,” Sarah held back a sob, “I just didn’t know what to do. Everything just seemed to come to a head yesterday. I couldn’t handle it anymore. I don’t want to make excuses. I don’t. I just want to explain it. Everything. Everything that’s been going on for months. How tight things have been. Y’know, financially. All the stress we’ve been under. Then all cuts and changes at work. All the new people are changing everything. The way they hate me and look at me like I don’t know anything, and always belittle me. Then my parents found out about things this weekend, and they’ve been constantly questioning me about it. My mom is still calling, wanting to talk about it.”

Sarah was breathing hard, her breasts rising and falling as she talked. She was still staring at the ground, “It’s all just. It’s just too much. And then Lester. He just pissed me off in Chicago the other night. Talking like he controlled me. I just. I needed something. Something I could control and just do, ignoring everything else about life for a little while. I’ve felt like I’ve been slipping. Like I’m just being dragged along through life and someone else is making all the decisions.”

Dan stayed silent, letting Sarah continue.

“Last night. Lester scheduled a late meeting. I couldn’t get a hold of him, so I had to stay late. My parents picked up the girls. God, I hated having to ask for that favor,” Sarah bit her lip.

Sarah was fiddling with her hand and swaying her one leg side to side. Her eyes were locked on her foot, like she was studying it. Dan waited; his wife was working up the courage to say something.

After almost a minute, she finally continued, “Then Lester cancelled the meeting. And I was pissed. And I wanted to hurt him. To piss him off. I didn’t want to be a puppet on a string for him. Then the janitor came in. I knew I was going to do something stupid, so I tried to leave. God, I wanted to leave, but I knew how much our last tryst with the janitor pissed off Lester.”

It clicked in his brain. He knew where this was going to end, but he didn’t know how it all fit together.

“You fucked him. The janitor. The same one from the other night,” Dan said. He didn’t ask. He already knew based on how she was holding herself. How the fuck could she do that? Again, she’d hidden another thing from him, making a stupid choice, and now here they were.

Sarah just nodded as another tear ran down her cheek.

“Sarah? Really? What the fuck? Are you just going around fucking everyone now? This is so fucked. How...How did you get fired?” Dan asked.

Sarah shook her head and looked up at him, a flat smile on her face. She closed her eyes and shook her head again, “Right at the end. That bitch Mary walked in. She saw us. And she was oh so fucking happy she did.”

“Then she fired you,” Dan asked.

“Not before making me beg for my job. I did. I shoved down my pride and ego, and I fucking begged her in my old office. But she still fired me anyway.” The tears were flowing freely now.

“And then the fucking car wouldn’t start!” Sarah put her face in her hands.

Dan didn’t say anything. He moved to one of the chairs under the barstop and took a seat. He just stared at the counter as he tried to process everything Sarah had just told him. It was quite a lot. His mind raced as conflicting emotions coursed through him. Anger, jealousy, betrayal, arousal. He was furious about Sarah’s treatment at her workplace.

He was mad at her, too. Furious. That she’d be so stupid to do something like that at the job the family was dependent on when people were around. Maybe she’d gotten cocky with it since the few times she’d done things at work lately. But still, how could she just so easily let someone like that dirty janitor fuck her? They were supposed to be in this as a team, together. Doing these sexual things together. He was still pissed about the theater performance. At least then she had facetimed him in a somewhat weak effort to include him in her adventure.

She’d fucked up. And she’d acted stupid. He got how it had happened, though. He knew how incredibly stressful things had been. He’d felt like that, too. The constant spinning. Being out of control. Feeling like he was on someone else’s leash, dragging him through life. Hell, if Tricia were more forward and they’d already established a relationship like Sarah had with Otis or Lester, who knew if Dan would be able to control himself. He liked to think he could be stronger than that, but Sarah was so far down the rabbit hole they’d dug.

Dan knew he hadn’t been a saint either. He’d been there right alongside Sarah for so long. Letting certain red flags slide and hoping other things might happen.

He wanted to scream at her. To scream at her for being so stupid. To scream at her for yet again doing something like this on her own and doing it without his knowledge. They both knew that it turned him on that she did these things, and he knew his head was fucked. He needed a shrink to fix him. He wanted to make her hurt as much as he did, just for a moment. But the thing that weighed heaviest on his mind was just what the hell they were going to do now?

Sarah's job had kept them afloat. It had helped cover the mortgage and some of the bills. He himself wasn't fully employed, even though the money from Sentinel was good. It wouldn't cover that newly widened gap.

"Dan," Sarah said, snapping him out of his dark thoughts. She was looking at him, finally able to make eye contact. She looked like a deer in the headlights, awaiting his judgment, "Say something. Please."

"I don't know what to say, Sarah," Dan shrugged, "it's, ah, it's really fucked up." He looked away for a moment, then met his wife's gaze again. "Why didn't you just call me while you were at work? We could have talked through it," Dan said.

"I was still mad at you. I know, I know, it's dumb, and it doesn't make complete sense. I think I was just angry because my parents kept hounding me about Chicago, and it was easy to blame it on you. You didn't forget my phone at that place. You didn't make me go there. I know all that. But I did hope you might have covered for me," Sarah said.

"I didn't even know if you were alive," Dan said.

"I know. I know you weren't in the loop. That's why I can see how dumb it is now. Have I mentioned how I am spinning out of control?" Sarah tried to weakly joke, "I didn't want to call. I just needed to be away from everything. To get my mind right. Who knew work wouldn't let that happen?"

"And you fucked that janitor again without me. We are supposed to be a team. That's what we keep saying, yet you keep doing things by yourself," Dan said, his voice rising, "And this time it came back to bite you in the ass, and we're all going to pay for it."

Sarah let out a long breath and visibly slumped, "I know."

"Sarah, I don't know what to be more pissed about. That fact that you fucked Otis again. Without me. Or that you lost your job because of it. I have no idea what we're going to do."

"Drink. A lot," Sarah mumbled.

"We aren't going to have any money to buy alcohol," Dan said.

“Do you still love me?” Sarah asked quietly.

Dan just gave her a look and sighed, “I do. Yes, Sarah. I do still love you. You make me crazy, and I know I’m partly responsible for a lot of the shit we’re in. I do still love you. But I’m also really fucking mad at you for putting us deeper into this position and for acting the way you’ve been. I don’t know where we go from here, how we move forward, and I’m not just talking about our finances. How do you keep doing this? Fucking around, without me. Well, now you’ve fucked around and found out.”

Sarah nodded, “I know. Dan, I know. I’m so sorry. We’ll fix it. I’ll fix it.” Sarah said hopefully, but without the conviction of an idea of how to do so.

“I don’t even know where to start,” Dan said, leaning back in the chair, “It’s like we’ve dug ourselves deep into a hole and can’t get out. And the vultures are swirling overhead.”

Dan imagined himself deep in a hole, looking up at a blue sky while the birds circled in the air, waiting to pick the flesh off their bodies. He looked up at the ceiling. Lester was still up there. Still in his house, his bedroom. Dan balled his hands into a fist and narrowed his eyes.

Yes, he didn’t know what to do. He didn’t know how to fix their situation, but he could at least solve a problem right in front of him.

“I don’t...I don’t know what to think. I’m so mad at you. I get you were stressed, but come on. Like- Jesus, how is the first idea you have to fuck a janitor? And then to do it without me. Without telling me. I feel like this isn’t about our fantasy anymore.” Dan said as his mind raced to process what he was feeling. He listened to the girls in the other room and let out a low sigh. No matter what, he needed to take care of them. He looked at Sarah standing in front of him with tears in her eyes. He loved her. He wouldn’t stop loving her, even if she’d fucked up, and quite a bit, lately. It was a sore wound, but he needed to fix it. To fix her. He’d caused this by pushing her at Lester in the first place.

“We’ll figure it out, Sarah. We have a lot of work to do. You have a lot of work to do,” Dan said, getting to his feet. “First thing we need to do today is get lardass out of here.”

“Dan, maybe we should go easy on him. He might be able to –”

Dan cut her off, raising his hand, “No. Not today. You just lost your fucking job. You may have had time to react to this, but you just dropped a bomb on me. I can’t do this. I can’t do this with him here.”

“Okay,” Sarah said, holding her hands up in a placating manner, “You’re right. You are totally right. But you’re angry. You’re pissed. I get it. Let me go upstairs. I’ll get Lester to leave. You just go take the girls outside. Cool off for a second, and then we’ll figure this out together.”

Dan pinched the bridge of his nose and let out a long breath, “Fine. Whatever. But don’t let him pull any shit. Okay? He just needs to leave. And we are so not done talking about it.”

Dan left Sarah standing there as he took the girls out in the back to play. The warm sun on his skin and the fresh air felt great. He tried to steady his thoughts, not wanting to think about his wife going back upstairs to Lester. To their bedroom.

He didn’t know what to think. His emotions were raw, and everything felt heightened and in sharp focus. He knew, objectively, that Lester was bad for them. He pushed their boundaries and didn’t really give a shit at all about Dan or their marriage. He just wanted to fuck Sarah and rub it in his face. But that was exactly what turned Dan on so much about everything. Lester just pushed the right buttons that drove both he and Sarah crazy. Letting Lester take control of things in the bedroom was intoxicating. The lack of control, giving up the reins like that, drove Dan wild. Seeing Sarah give up her inhibitions fueled his lust.

But lately, things had gotten even crazier. His lack of control had slipped even further. Sarah going behind his back to do things was, objectively, hot as fuck, but it was still fucking dangerous. She had just gotten fired for it, for God’s sake. She was out of control too, and making really bad decisions. She’d fucked a janitor at work and had gotten fired for it. Could he trust her decision-making at all anymore?

He knew they needed to stop. To just take a breather from things, but that other part of him needed to see. Needed to see Sarah with him. He hadn’t seen her with Otis that day; she’d barely told him about it. And he hadn’t seen her at the movie theatre. His mind kept going over what had happened that night, filling in the gaps in what he saw with Sarah in lust-filled throes of passion. He still needed her to tell him everything that happened.

He pushed the nails on his fingers into his palm. He couldn’t think about this right now, or he was going to work himself up. He’d give himself time later. Right now, his girls were playing in front of him, and his focus should be on them.

As he went over to his daughters, one last thought filtered into his mind. Lester was someone he couldn’t control and knew very little about. Even though Sarah wanted him to stop, Dan needed to keep digging. Even if things were fun and intense and both he and Sarah enjoyed it, he needed to know who he was really dealing with.

As Dan closed the patio door, Sarah breathed a sigh of relief and headed upstairs.

When she opened the bedroom door, Lester was sitting on his bed wearing just boxers. It annoyed her that Lester wasn't dressed. What if one of her daughters walked into the room and saw this troglodyte sitting here undressed like this? She'd sent him that text, hoping he'd get ready to leave at a moment's notice. But apparently, he'd decided to get comfortable.

Lester was munching on something while on his laptop. His black backpack was next to him, propped up on Dan's side of the bed.

"Lester," Sarah said softly as she slipped into the room. His eyes drank in her appearance and he smiled at her, shutting his laptop.

"Did I hear Dan's voice down there?" Lester asked.

"He's home. And he isn't happy," Sarah breathed, sitting on the bed.

"Not happy I'm here? I'm surprised he didn't storm up here in an impotent rage to throw me out," Lester chuckled.

"Oh, I think the idea crossed his mind," Sarah said, "But he's not happy about everything."

"Everything? Did you tell him about what happened at the hospital?" Lester said.

Sarah nodded her head, "I did" she said in a quiet voice.

Lester sighed, a disappointed expression spreading onto his face, "I wish you didn't. I loved the idea of keeping it a secret where I got to fuck you every day while you were supposed to be at work."

"I know," Sarah breathed, "I know you wanted that."

"You seemed to like it too. Last night you got off on it," Lester put his laptop in his bag and zipped it up.

“You know I liked it. It’s a hot idea. It’s cruel and deceptive, and it turns me on thinking about it, but....” Sarah trailed off as she tried to find the right words to say.

Lester reached out and grabbed her hand, giving it a gentle squeeze. Sarah flashed him a grateful smile. He didn’t say anything. He didn’t raise his voice. He was just being patient with her.

“It’s just,” Sarah breathed, “Things are already pretty fucked up. I feel like I don’t even know which way is up anymore. Right now, I probably shouldn’t be making any big decisions. And that idea, god, it would be so bad. So fucking bad. I’d be so bad. I know we’d enjoy it. A lot, I’m sure. But I don’t want to hurt anyone. I already hurt you with what I did with Otis and Dan’s pissed off down there. I don’t know how he’d react. I don’t want to hurt my girls, Lester. I just...we just need to figure this out differently.”

“Maybe I got caught up in the moment,” Lester sighed, “I was just trying to do something to turn you on.”

“You did,” Sarah said reassuringly, “I think you saw how turned on I got last night.”

“I may have noticed,” Lester grinned. A smile spread onto Sarah’s face, and she shook her head.

“Anyways,” Sarah continued, “With Dan and the girls here, I don’t want to complicate things today. Dan and I have some things to figure out. And I don’t want to expose the girls to all of this. Is it okay if you head out soon? Back to your hotel?”

“I get it,” Lester said, squeezing her hand, “I’ll get dressed.”

Sarah breathed a sigh of relief. The tension left her shoulders as Lester slowly pushed himself out of the bed and quietly got dressed.

“What are you going to do?” Lester asked as he pulled up his pants.

“What do you mean?” Sarah said, still sitting on the bed, just watching him get ready.

“About your job,” Lester said, “Financially.”

“I don’t know,” Sarah breathed, not wanting to think about it, “We’ll figure something out.”

“Well, maybe I can help,” Lester said, stepping up to her. He was fully dressed with his backpack swung over his shoulders.

“Lester, that’s not...you don’t have to....it’s not your problem,” Sarah said quietly as she looked down at her hands. They were anxiously fiddling with the bedsheets.

Lester put his hand under her chin and gently made her look up at him, “I said I wanted to take care of you and I meant it.”

“I just... It’s too much. I can’t ask you to do that,” Sarah said.

“You aren’t asking. I’m offering,” Lester said, “Besides, what kind of man would I be if I didn’t take care of my wifey?”

Sarah snorted and rolled her eyes.

“Come on, walk me out,” Lester said, pulling her to her feet, “I’ll think about things and let you know what kind of deal we can work out.”

“Deal?” Sarah asked as she led Lester down the hallway towards the stairs.

“Well, if I help out, I need to get something out of it,” Lester shrugged.

“What happened to doing it out of the goodness of your heart for your wifey?” Sarah said as they descended the stairs.

Lester walked to the front door and looked at the kitchen. Sarah could hear the sounds of the girls playing out there. Lester looked almost wistful for a moment, but his face changed a second later.

“It’s a lot of money,” Lester said.

“I know Lester, that’s why you don’t have to worry about —”

Lester put his finger to Sarah’s lip’s, silencing her.

“It’s not about the money,” Lester said, “It’s about all of this.”

He gestured to the house around them, “I’m always going to be on the outside of this. Even with our feelings for one another.”

Sarah’s skin suddenly felt very warm. Her heart was beating in her chest, and she could feel the butterflies in her stomach again. She didn’t know what to do. This wasn’t something they’d ever talked about this way before. It was something she just hoped to bury deep down and ignore.

“I just need to think about it. Think through what I want,” Lester said. Sarah’s mind raced, and she didn’t know what to do. She didn’t know what it was that she was feeling.

“I won’t take long. I am going to make sure you and the girls are okay,” Lester said as he turned the knob on the front door.

On instinct, before she could process what she was doing, Sarah’s lips were on Lester’s. It wasn’t a kiss full of tongue like the ones they’d shared the previous night. It was soft and gentle. Intimate. The way he kissed her back implied something more. Something that worried her. Sarah broke the kiss and just stood there. She couldn’t look Lester in his eyes.

“I’ll message you soon,” Lester said as he walked out the door. When he got to his car, Sarah was finally about to breathe again. She watched him back out of his driveway and disappear down the street.

What a mess. Sarah thought as she looked over the papers scattered over their dining room table. They were digging deep into their financial situation to determine how much runway they had.

The girls were upstairs, asleep. Dan was pacing in the living room, talking to their realtor to try to figure out if they should sell the house. Sarah wanted to wait and see what happened. Truthfully, she didn’t want another major stressor like selling the house on her mind. Just the idea of trying to keep it clean for each showing filled her with dread.

She looked at the open laptop in front of her, where she worked on a spreadsheet containing some of their financials. Her eyes glazed over, so she shifted to some of the paper bills piled in front of her. It was too late in the day. She knew they needed to do this, but she just couldn’t bring herself to dive into it yet. She tried to stay focused; if she didn’t, she knew her mind would wander back to how Lester had left things – how he said there was something else between them. How he implied it was more than just sex. She couldn’t think about that. Not now. Not with everything else going on. But by deliberately not thinking about it, she was thinking about it.

She heard Dan sigh from the other room, and his footsteps followed shortly after. Looking dejected, he sat down in the chair next to her.

After Lester had gone, the house had been a strange place. Dan had played with the girls while Sarah saw to making dinner for the four of them. Something as routine as preparing dinner had become a mental checklist of how much of each food and associated supplies they had in store. Dinner had been a nice moment; the girls didn't pick up on how frustrated Dan was with her.

Once they'd tucked the girls in, they'd come back down to the kitchen table and had sat across from each other. Dan said, "Tell me," and she had. She'd left out a lot of what was said, but she went through how she'd sucked and fucked Otis, and how that had led to Lester driving her home. She wasn't going to talk about how Lester had fucked her upstairs, but Dan didn't seem quite as angry as he had been. He gave her a nod, and she told him the rest. Dan had gotten up from the table at that point and disappeared upstairs for half an hour. He came back down with a clear-headed expression on his face, and then they launched into solving this. He'd called the realtor as his first step.

"What did he say?" Sarah asked, her heart quickening at Dan's sour expression.

"That the market is going through a correction right now," Dan sighed and pinched the bridge of his nose. "If we sell now, we are going to take a big loss on the house."

"How big of a loss?" Sarah asked.

"Enough that we still won't be able to cover the principal left on our mortgage."

"Really?" Sarah replied in shock, "What the hell are we supposed to do then?"

"I don't know. We could still try to sell it. We'd just have a smaller mortgage to pay off."

"I don't think the bank would let that happen," Sarah said.

"I don't know," Dan sighed, "What about you? What have you got there?"

"Honestly, my brain can't function right now. We need to cancel Netflix and a few other subscriptions," Sarah said.

"Okay. But still, that isn't a ton of money saved," Dan replied.

"No, but it adds up. Especially because we pay every month, it's hundreds of dollars every year. And I think we can find other ways to cut things down. Maybe we could reduce our life insurance or take faster, less hot showers. Maybe we can do a yard sale and sell some of our stuff. And there's Facebook marketplace," Sarah added, trying to sound like she had some useful ideas.

"When do you want to tell our parents?" Dan asked.

Sarah felt the ball of tension tighten in her chest. The last thing she wanted to do was bring this up to her parents. Especially when the first thing they would do would be to dig into why she lost her job, they'd think she and Dan were two failures, and she couldn't bear the shame of that.

"I don't want to tell mine," Sarah said.

Dan narrowed his eyes, "Mine won't be able to help. They can't even take us in. They don't have the space. And they don't have the money to help us. Your parents might be able to help us, Sarah."

"Not yet. If it comes to that, we will cross that bridge when we get there, but not yet. I can't," Sarah said.

"The sooner we ask, the less cash we burn through," Dan said.

"Dan, we can't live with them and I can't ask them for a loan. You know how my dad is about handouts. We're talking like neither of us will be able to get a new job. I haven't even started looking yet. I might even get something that pays better."

"True," Dan sighed, "I just haven't had any luck."

"Maybe look outside your field. We just need something to get us through the next little bit. Soon, your consulting business will take off, and you won't need that new job. Maybe I'll be working for you," Sarah smiled and squeezed his hand.

Dan pulled his hand back and winced, not realizing what he'd unintentionally done. Sarah held it together but felt something break inside of her. Dan gave her a flat smile and tried to change the subject, "So if we cut everything you've found, how good are we looking?"

"Still in the red. We can't touch our 401 (k) s yet because our previous employers set them up that way. So it's all savings of which we don't have a lot left."

"How did we get here?" Dan said, squeezing his eyes shut, "I wish we just had a magic wand to go back in time and fix things. I go back and keep my job, you go back and warn them about the hack at the hospital so Drew would still be the CEO, and you'd have things running smoothly."

Sarah hadn't thought about her old CEO in a long time. Not since he was replaced in disgrace because of his double dealings. The hospital's new CEO, Richard Thornhill, was such a sleazebag who clearly wasn't above kickbacks despite how he proselytized about cleaning up the hospital's operations. Ultimately, he was just there for himself, like all men in those positions.

"Come on," Dan said, getting to his feet. He reached out and grabbed her hand, "Let's go upstairs."

His hand felt warm around hers, and she eagerly stood and followed him. "Upstairs?" Sarah asked, "Do you mean?"

"Yes," Dan said, "It's been too damn long, and I sure as hell can't go to bed knowing some dirty janitor and Lester have had... relations with my wife. I can't just go to sleep like that. I'm still fucking pissed about it. About all of it, but I need to fuck you."

Sarah felt her chest flush and that butterfly feeling in her stomach, "I just thought that with everything.....you wouldn't want to."

"Our finances aren't the only thing we need to work on. And I'm a very jealous man. I need to feel you under me. I can't not have you tonight." Dan said and led her up the stairs. Sarah smiled and followed him.

Dan wasn't like other men. He was a good one. She wondered how he would fare as the hospital's CEO. He wasn't selfish like Richard Thornhill was. Her husband was a good man. She tried to push Thornhill out of her head as she followed Dan to the bedroom. The CEO was a selfish bastard. So sleazy and arrogant with too high an opinion of himself.

The idea struck her as she crossed into the bedroom and Dan removed his shirt. She knew how she could get her job back. She just had to go above Mary and talk to Richard. She visibly shook as a shiver ran through her. She knew that if she went to him, he would want something in return. Sarah was breathing hard, both at Dan in front of her and the idea beginning to form in her head. Mentally, she began putting an outfit together to suit this new project.

Dan would say no. He wouldn't want her to prostitute herself out like that. But Sarah needed to fix her mistake. She needed to course-correct and make sure her family was secure. She had to secure their future. She was going to do it. She had nothing to lose at this point.

Sarah took off her clothes and revelled in Dan's eyes, going over her body. Her excitement built as she pictured how she was going to save them all. She'd do it for Dan and the girls. But right then, she was all Dan's. Sarah walked over to her husband and pushed him down onto the bed and straddled him, his dick rising to the occasion.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 33

Sarah tapped the wheel of her car anxiously as she peered out the windshield. She didn't like being back here. She felt the eyes of every person and car that passed, as well as the judgment from the looming hospital building in front of her. Its windows seemed to watch her this morning, and she pictured a newly arrived person in each one, staring down at her, knowing what she'd done.

She tried not to think about things like that, but she couldn't help it. It had been a few days since everything had happened, and she knew the rumor mill would be working in overdrive within the hospital. News of her illicit affair with Otis, the janitor, would've spread like wildfire through the hospital. Any remaining colleagues she had respect for would never look at her the same way again. And all those petty new hires would likely smirk knowing the sexy former administrator had fallen so low.

People were like that. Happy to see others fall from grace. Just look at any celebrity tabloid magazine at the grocery checkout. And now it was Sarah's turn in the firing line. She could just picture herself on one of those covers, a paparazzi photo catching her and Otis together.

Her stomach turned in knots as she started to bite at her nails. Maybe this, being here, wasn't the best idea, but it was the only one she had. Still, how could she ever work at this place again with everyone knowing what she'd done? There was no way in hell that bitch Mary had kept her mouth shut. For a professional, the head of HR, she was probably the one fueling the rumors and cackling about it from Sarah's former office.

Sarah tried to suppress those feelings. She tried to ignore the anxiety she felt whenever someone walked by her car on the way in. The way her skin crawled made her just want to drive away. She remembered to breathe and inhaled deeply in the closed space of the car.

It had only been a few days, and she had only applied to a few jobs. She knew it took time to vet candidates and review resumes. Logically, she understood that. But she couldn't help but feel an overwhelming sense of shameful rejection already. It weighed on her like a heavy blanket that she needed to carry around. She didn't realize she could feel worse, but day after day, the feelings of rejection, guilt over what she had done, her parents' pestering, and the knowledge that she had put her life and her kids' lives into a tailspin were weighing more and more on her. She felt ready to break anytime. It was a small mercy that her father had been the one to deal with the mechanic to fix the car she now sat in. He hadn't mentioned how much it had cost, but she could hear the added weight of the repair debt in her father's voice.

Sarah stared at the empty parking spot just a little bit away. The hospital's new CEO, Richard Thornhill, had not arrived yet. Ever since he'd cancelled those daily early morning meetings, he never bothered to come in on time. There was always something important he was supposedly doing, but Sarah knew that he just didn't like working. He wasn't the savior the board had promised them. In the short time he'd been in the role, he'd probably looked great by cutting so many expenses and jobs across so many different areas. But the effect of those cuts would add up in the long run, probably well after he'd left the position, and then it was someone else's mess to clean up.

Her breath caught in her throat when he saw his old BMW pull into the empty spot. It was now or never. The moment where she'd throw herself at the mercy of the one person above Mary at the hospital and plead for her job. Her heart threatened to beat out of her chest, but she wasn't sure if it was because of the idea of going back to work at this place after everything or the thought of what might come next if she didn't.

Sarah wished she had a glass of wine to gulp down. She'd need to pick up more later. It was becoming too easy for her to reach for a glass when her stresses piled up like this.

With one last glance around the parking lot, Sarah exited her vehicle and walked towards Richard's car. Every time her heels clacked on the asphalt of the parking lot, she felt her anxiety rising. She wanted to wince at the sound, but she held her head high. She didn't want to seem too desperate or too weak.

"Mr. Thornhill, Richard," Sarah said as the older man was getting out of his car. The words seemed thick on her lips. She didn't know Richard as well as she would have liked for her present circumstances. He had moved quickly to consolidate power at the hospital, and subsequently, Sarah had been frozen out. It wasn't long after he started that Sarah was excluded from the top-level meetings.

When Richard Thornhill stood and looked at Sarah, her impression of the man hadn't changed since their initial meeting. The word smarmy came to mind immediately. His thinning gray and stark white hair desperately needed a trim. For the amount of money he made as the CEO, Sarah was sure the man could afford to go someplace that actually made it look like he cared. Instead, it seemed he was a regular customer of SuperCuts.

As always, his suit looked expensive and immaculate, but the shirt he wore underneath it was wrinkled, old, and discolored to a sepia tinge. She didn't know why he just wouldn't get it dry cleaned with the rest of the suit or replace it. It boggled her mind. It was old; she could see the collar fraying as she drew closer to them.

His steely, hard eyes looked her up and down, the crow's feet at the sides of his eyes noticeable alongside the other wrinkle lines adorning his face. He squinted before saying, "Mrs. Williams?"

As he spoke, his eyes ran up and down her body again, this time taking his time to drink in her curves.

"You aren't supposed to be here," he said tentatively as he closed his car door. "What do you want?"

"I was hoping to discuss the situation with you," Sarah said, smoothing out her pencil skirt. She was dressed as she would if she were going into work: sharp, professional, with an edge of sex appeal.

"Oh?" A sly smile spread onto Richard's face, "I thought Mary covered things quite thoroughly."

Sarah knew where this was heading. Part of her had hoped that it didn't need to go in this direction, but she had to lean into it after the appraising look he gave her. "Mary did quite a bit of talking but didn't quite get into the... meat of what was important. I know you would be much more thorough if you would hear me out."

"Well then," Richard said as he clicked the unlock button on his keyfob and opened his door again. He gestured to the passenger side door, "I'm all ears."

"So, tell me," Richard said from behind the wheel of his BMW as he drove Sarah through the mid-morning streets of Middleton, "What exactly is it that I'm missing here? Multiple people walked in on you and one of the janitors in a completely inappropriate compromising position. It seems pretty black and white to me."

Despite his probing question, the stupid, expectant smile on his face never faltered. Sarah looked at him while he stared out the windshield. From this angle, she got a better look at the teeth on the side of his mouth. They were yellowing from too much coffee or something else. She would bet he'd had the front ones whitened for a more professional look. Another veneer hiding who this man really was.

"If you look into the details," Sarah said tentatively in a low, sultry voice, "I think you'll find that it was all a simple misunderstanding."

“A misunderstanding that left you both in the room naked?” Richard shot her a knowing look.

“Well, maybe I was a bit naive, but the janitor spilled some cleaning chemicals on my clothes and his. He said it was toxic and we needed to remove them as quickly as possible before they got through to our skin.” Sarah crossed her legs, smiling as she watched Richard’s eyes land on them for a few seconds.

“Eyes on the road,” Sarah whispered.

“That’s...plausible in an old porno kind of way, Sarah.” Richard snorted, “But the facts just don’t add up. The janitor never mentioned anything about chemicals when we let him go. Try again.”

“You should review security footage of Otis over the past few weeks. You’ll see that he had been stalking me. Always watching. Following me through the hospital. I was afraid for my safety and gave in.”

“That’s better,” Richard clicked his tongue, “And you’re hoping I can speak with Mary and straighten all this out?”

“No,” Sarah said, “I want you to go to Mary and put her in her place and tell her what to do.”

Richard chuckled and looked at her again as if reevaluating her, “I like the fire. I didn’t know you had that in you. I like that. I like it a lot.”

“You’ll like it a lot more once I’m reinstated. You should really think about letting me help you more. I could run the hospital in my sleep, you wouldn’t have to lift a finger or worry about the day-to-day,” Sarah put her hand on the gear shift in between them on the center console and ran her fingers over it.

“That does sound beneficial,” Richard added, with a sinister chuckle. The reek of his cheap cologne filled the car. The interior of the vehicle wasn’t as messy as Lester’s, but the seats were fraying at the edges, and it needed extensive detailing. It honestly looked like the kind of car someone had picked up used and just never took care of.

“I think we should discuss this more inside,” Richard said as he turned off a road on the outskirts of town and pulled into a notorious pay-by-the-hour motel. Sarah gulped as she looked up at the dingy inn. She had driven past this place with her parents as a teenager and then later with Dan as an adult. She and Dan would joke about it. Her mom would always comment on the type of people who might frequent such a place. And now here she was, Sarah Williams, mother of two, about to check into a room. It didn't seem as funny anymore.

"Be right back," Richard grinned and got out of the car. It wasn't long before he was walking back to the parking spot, twirling one of those old school motel room keys in his fingers. The large plastic rectangle emblazoned with the room number was attached to a ring with a single key on it. Sarah felt her skin crawl at the pep in the man's step, but she forced a smile onto her face and stepped out of the vehicle.

"This is us," Richard said, motioning to a drab brown door and unlocking it. He held it open, and Sarah just stared at the open doorway for a moment. She was about to prostitute herself. She felt lower than she ever had before, but she needed to do this. Her family needed it. Her girls, Ava and Sophia, needed her to get this job back.

Sarah let out a long breath, straightened out her tight-fitted white blouse, and walked past Richard into the dingy, unlit motel room. She turned up her nose immediately at the outdated shag carpet and red wallpapered walls. This place hadn't been updated since before she was born, and she doubted it was ever cleaned properly. Who knew how many dead skin cells, how much dust, and other things she didn't want to think about lived in the carpet and on the walls. She didn't even want to consider the single queen-sized bed that took up most of the room. Like the carpet and the walls, its comforter looked just as old. It was a real romantic place to bring a woman.

The door closed behind her, and for a moment the room was dark. Then Richard flicked on the light switch behind her. Stuttering fluorescent bulbs lit the room, casting it in a pale yellow, the same shade as most of Richard's teeth.

"Now," Richard's voice came from behind her. The look of distaste dropped from Sarah's face as she turned around to the older man, pulling off his suit jacket, neatly folding it, and draping it over a chair. She could see the sweatstains on his wrinkled dress shirt. The suit looked good, but everything under his professional veneer made her think he was a charlatan. "I believe we were going to discuss the benefits of you coming back to the hospital."

Sarah steeled her nerves as Richard's hungry eyes roamed over her body. They paused at her face, then again at the curves of her breasts contained by her tight, white blouse. His eyes continued down to her hip-hugging pencil skirt. Richard turned the old wooden chair to the side and plopped down in it.

"There are two benefits I'd love to see right now," Richard said, the stupid grin plastered on his face as he stared at Sarah's chest, "Consider this your rehire interview."

Sarah let out a long, quiet breath and decided it was time to put away the stressed-out, manic Sarah of the past few days and slip into something more appropriate for the room. Something that she found comforting. Something she craved. She adopted what she'd come to think of as her Chicago Sarah persona, the one that embraced all of her own dark desires.

Sarah licked her lips and stepped forward towards the older man. She peered down at him with a look that screamed hot and sexy and began delicately unbuttoning her blouse.

"Many other employers want these particular benefits, Richard," Sarah said as the top of her blouse hung open. She smiled inwardly as she saw the CEO's eyes widen at the bits of exposed skin he could see. Sarah almost groaned from seeing the lustful hunger in his eyes. It used to be that she would only get wet if she saw Dan's eyes taking on that piercing gaze. Now, it felt like whenever she exposed herself like this, any male's wanton stares got her engine going. She didn't let herself dwell on the thought for long.

"Sarah," Richard said, taking on a stern tone of authority. The one he had used in the past to reprimand her in front of other members of the hospital's leadership. "It's Mr. Thornhill or 'sir' to you."

"Mhmm," Sarah moaned like a kitten as he slowly untucked her blouse. She'd hated him using that tone with her in front of everyone else. It had been so frustrating. So belittling. But here, in this dingy motel room, it worked to turn her on, "Yes, sir."

"That's better," Richard said, not taking his eyes off the young mother as she disrobed. Sarah finished untucking her smooth silk blouse and slowly teased the man in front of her as she took it off. Soon she was standing in front of the hospital's CEO in nothing more than her snug pencil skirt, heels and white lacy bra.

She carefully laid her white blouse down on the table before seductively running her hands over her bra cupped breasts, "Are these the benefits you wanted to see?"

"Yes, let's see 'em," Richard commanded. Sarah didn't respond; she just stared at him with her piercing green eyes and lowered one shoulder strap. Then she did the same to the other one. She stepped up right in front of Mr. Thornhill and slowly turned around, putting her bubble butt right in front of him, pressing it into his crotch.

"Can a girl get a little help?" she said coyly. She felt the older man's finger brush against the naked skin of her back, causing her to suppress a shudder. He took his time, running his fingers up her back until they found the clasp. With a couple of pulls and twists, it came free, and she felt the tension around her torso lessen. Sarah stepped away from Mr. Thornhill, letting him stare at her naked back. She held the bra cups against her chest, not yet allowing them to fall.

She looked back over her shoulder at him and saw that the hunger in his gaze had grown deeper and more desperate. She loved teasing men like him. Sarah slowly turned around to face him, still clasping her bra to her chest.

She waited until the older man took his gaze off her chest and looked up at her impatiently. Sarah's mind flashed back to when her old boss, Drew, had walked in on her undressed in her office. The look he'd had on his face was a mask of pure lust equal to the voracious look on Mr. Thornhill's. Sarah, daring him to keep eye contact, let go, and her bra dropped to the floor, exposing her naked chest to the man who used to be her boss. The man who came in and fucked up everything at the hospital. She heard a sharp intake of breath from him as his eyes dropped, and she subtly pushed her chest out.

Sarah didn't waste any time. She reached behind her back, pushing her heavy breasts together as she undid the zipper on her pencil skirt. It fell to the floor, leaving Sarah in nothing but a pair of black heels and her lacy white panties.

"How's this, Mr. Thornhill?" Sarah asked.

"Come here," The CEO said, unable to contain himself. Sarah walked over to him until she was standing right in front of the seated man. He stared up at her, unable to look at her face as his eyes were glued to her tremendous breasts at eye level.

Then a wry smirk spread across his face, "Get on your knees."

Sarah put her hands on the arms of the chair, her breasts swaying in front of the man. Then she slowly lowered herself onto her knees in front of him, making sure she brushed her body against his knees and shins.

Sarah felt a pit in her stomach as her knees touched and then settled into the motel room's shag carpet. She could almost feel the unseen dust mites crawling over her skin.

"What now, sir?" Sarah breathed, looking up at him. Her hands went to his knees and ran up and down the tops of his thighs.

"Undo my belt. Take it out," Mr. Thornhill said with a raspy breath.

"Mhmm, yes, sir," Sarah licked her lips, unbuckled his belt, and took down his zipper. She could see him tenting in his pants. Sarah's hands dug into the waistband of his slacks and tugged. Richard was caught off guard, but quickly raised his old ass off the chair, and Sarah pulled his pants completely off. Before he could grab them from her hands, she folded them carefully and put them on the table next to him.

“My, my,” Sarah mused as she looked at the shape in his boxer briefs. While her eyes were trained on what was underneath, she couldn’t help but notice that his boxer briefs had seen better days. Holes dotted the gotten material, and the waistband was frayed, almost as if it had been consistently stretched out over a period of years. “What do we have here? It looks like someone is happy with my assessment so far. Let me get a better look.”

Sarah’s hands went to the frayed waistband of the boxers and repeated the same move, peeling them off Mr. Thornhill’s pasty white legs until his cock sprang out. She stared at it for a second before pulling his boxers the rest of the way off.

His cock was big. Bigger than she had imagined and bigger than any man his age had any right to carry. It wasn’t Lester’s big, but she knew it was much bigger than her husband’s. Somehow, that felt unfair to both Dan and her.

Sarah just stared at his cock, purposely not doing anything. Her eyes flicked up innocently to the man staring down at her with his disheveled appearance, “What should I do now, Mr. Thornhill? Is this how you interview all your female employees?”

A sly smirk spread onto his face, “Just the special cases. And I think you know what you need to do.”

“Mhmmm,” Sarah bit her lip and drew a circle on his thigh with her fingertip, “I think I do too.”

She leaned forward, running her fingernails up his bare thighs, making him groan. She planted her heels firmly into the shag carpet and grasped the thick shaft of his cock in her hand. Without breaking eye contact, Sarah lowered her mouth until her outstretched tongue came into contact with the bulging tip of his cock.

The man let out a guttural groan as Sarah’s mouth enveloped his fat cockhead. Sarah’s hand stroked his straining shaft, brushing up against the gray pubic hair at its base. Sarah moaned around his cock, knowing it would drive him crazy. She firmly pumped her fist up and down his thick shaft. Her mouth stretched to accommodate his outsized girth.

Sarah’s other hand rested on his thigh, her nails digging into his chalky-toned flesh. It wasn’t long before Richard’s own hands found their way onto Sarah’s head, his fingers running through her carefully arranged blonde locks.

“That’s it,” Richard groaned, “Show me what you bring to the table.”

“Mhmm-hmmm,” Sarah moaned in response as she stroked him and bobbed her head up and down his growing shaft. Her tongue tasted the flavors of this man she despised, but she did it anyway. She was determined to make the most of this connection. Sarah twisted her wrist as she stroked, making sure she went up and down on his pole with some added friction.

She pulled back and swirled her tongue licentiously around the head of his cock. Finally, she closed her eyes and eagerly dove back down, licking up and down the side of his ramrod straight shaft.

“I have many skills I bring to the table,” Sarah moaned as she held his shaft just below his fattened cock head and kissed and licked up and down his large column of flesh. Her mouth closed on the side of his girthy cock as she sucked on his shaft. She had to keep moving and kissing around to get to all of his cock. Sarah’s tongue dragged down his impressive dick until it tasted his fragrant pubic hair. It reminded her of the shag carpet her knees were digging into. They were both probably from the same bygone era.

Sarah kept proceeding until she found his ballsack through the hairy foliage and started lapping at it. Her hand started stroking the older man’s hefty cock while he groaned in pleasure. Sarah swirled her tongue around his hairy balls before taking one of them into her mouth and sucking on it lovingly. She reached out with her other hand and gently grasped his ballsack in her hand and started deftly flicking her tongue across it, quickly eliciting another deep groan from Mr. Thornhill.

She cradled his balls in one hand and lifted them slightly so she could lick the base of his scrotum. She felt the older man shudder under the touch of her tongue and suppressed a smile from spreading on her lips. She kissed and licked the underside of his nutsack and even let her tongue brush up against the delicate skin at the top of his thighs around the fat roll of his taint, making him quiver. She dragged her tongue back up to the top of his balls and his shaft, opening her eyes to look up at the man who would be her boss again soon. She lapped at a dribble of pre-cum that had oozed out of his cockslit and made a dramatic show of swallowing it, looking pleased that she’d done so.

Mr. Thornhill’s mouth hung agape as she swallowed the small bit of his load. She raised her eyebrows at him and turned her attention back to his lovely cock in her dainty hand. She wrapped both of her hands around it, the thumb and middle fingers just barely being able to touch. Then she worked both her wrists, stroking him methodically as she looked up at him again.

“So,” Sarah said in the same voice she’d use at work. Her professional, business leader voice, “How is my interview going? Are you pleased with everything so far?”

“Very pleased,” Richard groaned as he pushed down on her head, making her take her eyes off him as her mouth opened and she tasted his pulsing cock again. “You definitely have the skills I’m looking for, and you take the right kind of initiative. You’re a great cock sucker.”

Sarah felt herself beam inwardly at the compliment. It was fucked up. She knew she was good at sucking cock. She felt she always had been, but she’d gotten so much better since starting things with Lester. There was something different about hearing it come from a boss, someone who had authority over her. Praising her in the same way as if she’d done a great job on a project made her feel renewed pride. It was a perverted dynamic, but one in which she was more than happy to indulge.

Sarah worked her mouth into a rhythm and spent the next few minutes bobbing her head up and down on Mr. Thornhill’s cock while stroking his substantial shaft. He didn’t say anything else to her, just sat back with his head on the chair as Sarah expertly sucked his fat cock. The only sounds filling the dirty motel room were her wet slurping sounds, her occasional gurgling moans with her mouth full of his cock, and the older man’s sighs and grunts.

His fingers dug into her hair, and he pulled up on her head. Sarah gasped and took a breath as a long strand of spit ran between her bottom lip and the head of his reddened cock.

“What?” Sarah said, looking up at him, slightly irritated at being broken from her hard work.

“Try that again,” Richard Thornhill growled.

“What can I do for you now, sir?” Sarah said, licking her lips while still stroking his cock with one hand.

“I need to assess some of your other skills,” Mr. Thornhill said with a curt nod of authority.

“Which skills are those?” Sarah bit her lip and looked plaintively into the older man’s hard eyes.

“It’s time to see exactly how tight that pussy is,” Mr. Thornhill chuckled, “You didn’t think you’d just be sucking my cock today, did you?”

Sarah didn't bat an eye at his comment. She just squeezed his cock in her hand and looked up at him with a mask of deep lust, "I'm willing to do anything to show you how dedicated I am to this job....whichever position you want to put me in."

A shit eating grin spread onto the man's face again as Sarah let go of his fat cock and stood up. She lowered her lacy white panties and stepped out of them, but opted to keep her black heels on.

"Get on the bed," Richard said as he got up and started to unbutton his yellowing shirt, "On your hands and knees."

As the man took off his last piece of clothing, Sarah crawled onto the dirty old comforter and got into position on all fours. With her heels still on, she waited for him, on the bed, on her hands and legs in contact with the unclean bedding. Just like the shag carpet, Sarah didn't like touching the comforter with her bare skin. The worst part was that her palms were now face down on it.

The bed shifted back and she felt Richard shuffling behind her. Sarah closed her eyes as she felt her superior's untuned body line up behind hers. The man's hand drifted down, and it was Sarah's turn for a sharp intake of breath as the man's fingers touched and then pressed into her glistening, dripping pussy.

"Already wet for me," Richard mumbled to himself from behind her. He pulled his hand back up, and she heard him run it under his nose, sniffing it. His hands went back down to Sarah's ass, and he started playing with her ass cheeks, grabbing them roughly and grinding his piggish fingertips into them.

"This was the first thing I noticed about you," Richard said, "When you were late for that first meeting. This ass looked fantastic. Fuck, I love it. Who knew you'd be such a slut?"

Sarah looked over her head at him sharply, "I'm not a slut. I'm just dedicated to my job. I need to make sure everyone is performing at their best. That includes you, sir."

"Now THAT is a job description I can get behind," Richard chuckled and held his cock in his hand. He pushed the head up against Sarah's wet opening and ran it up and down the slit.

"Not gonna tell me to put on a condom? Aren't you married?" Richard asked, amused and a little skeptical.

Sarah looked at her wedding ring on her left hand and instantly compartmentalized her actions. This was a necessity wholly apart from the vows she had taken that day.

“I’m married to my work,” Sarah said in a husky voice, “I always give my work 110%. I do what I need to ensure that everyone is satisfied.”

Mr. Thornhill just shook his head as the smile on his face widened, “Jesus Christ, you are something else. If only I’d known sooner, I would have made you my executive assistant.” He reached over into his pants and rooted around until he found something in his wallet. With the smile fixed on his face, he opened the package and rolled the latex sheath down himself until his cock was snugly covered.

He then pushed his cock forward and parted Sarah’s pussy lips, but she scooted forward just a hair so that his cock wasn’t fully inside of her. She looked back at him over her shoulder, “We’re negotiating for a better title than that.”

“Oh? Really?” Richard grinned, “I like your negotiating style. What title did you have in mind?”

“COO. Chief Operating Officer,” Sarah said, looking back over her shoulder at the older man behind her. At his sagging chest with sparse tufts of gray hair and pasty white skin.

“That’s a big job,” Richard muttered as he seemed to mull it over, frowning slightly.

“I can handle big,” Sarah said as she pushed her ass back against him. Her pussy pushed back onto the broad head of his cock. It slid into her easily, immediately opening her pussy up wide to accommodate his expanding girth. Sarah’s ass slammed back against Mr. Thornhill’s pelvis, almost rocketing him back off the bed. His entire length was buried inside of her. She fought to keep her eyes from rolling back into her head.

The older man’s hands quickly gripped her curvy thighs, and a fire lit behind his eyes.

“Now fuck me,” Sarah paused deliberately and looked into his eyes, “Mr. Thornhill.”

“Time to put the new hire through their paces,” Richard said, gritting his teeth. He pulled his hips back, dragging his covered cock with it until just the head was still inside Sarah before he thrust hard into her again.

Sarah almost jumped forward on the bed, not expecting the strength of the thrust. Richard did the same thing again. Then again. Sarah whimpered in pleasure as her fingers curled into the dirty comforter.

“Uh fuck,” Sarah moaned as her body rocked back and forth as Richard Thornhill powerfully fucked her. She whimpered and moaned as his fat cock stretched her and pushed and hit all the best sensitive places inside of her. The places that would drive her towards a mind-blowing orgasm that she desperately needed.

Richard’s hand left her ass and ran up her naked back until he roughly gripped the back of her neck. He held her in place as he fucked her. Sarah thrust her perfect ass back against each of his controlled thrusts. Richard’s hands unfurled until he was grabbing the base of her skull, his old fingers running through her hair.

Then he pushed her head down into the dirty comforter beneath her. His other hand held her hips up and allowed him to push deeper into her. At this angle, his fat cock was smashing against her G-Spot, making her body thrash under his surprisingly strong grip. Sarah couldn’t help but compare the fucking she was receiving to what she’d become used to. Lester was still the person who could make her cum the hardest, but Mr. Thornhill’s methodical, powerful thrusts from his considerable cock were impressive. If she’d never found the apartment in Chicago for her husband, this might’ve been the most competent fucking she’d ever received.

Sarah opened her eyes and saw nothing but red. The dirty comforter was all around her, making her skin crawl. Its unwashed, seedy musk filled her nostrils as she breathed in. Her luxurious blonde hair was splayed out across it. But what the old man was doing felt so fucking good she couldn’t bring herself to protest.

Richard put more pressure on her head as he rigidly fucked her. Her face sank deeper into the comforter. She closed her eyes and tried to focus on the feeling of his oversized cock inside of her, not the comforter covering her lips and face.

His throbbing cock felt so fucking good pounding against one of her most sensitive areas and then another. She couldn’t believe she was in this submissive position, in this dirty motel room with someone like Richard Thornhill. It was so entirely fucked up. Before everything had happened, she wouldn’t even allow herself to mess around with Dan in her office after hours. But now she’d been fucked by Lester numerous times in her one-time workplace. She’d sucked and fucked a janitor, and now she was being pinned to a filthy bed in a dirty motel room with the CEO’s cock pistoning inside of her. She had trouble making sense of it. Of how much she loved it.

Richard’s fat cock head pounding against her G-Spot snapped her back to reality. Her fingers tightened around the comforter as she held on, the expert fucking making her head swim. Her jaw was clenched as she let the older executive pound into her. She was close to cumming already. An idea occurred to her through the fog of her intense pleasure, something that would make her cum harder and maybe get her job back.

“Uuhhh, oh my god, Mr. Thornhill, oh, fuck, wait...” Sarah moved her hand back and caught the CEO’s cock as she purposefully moved slightly to the side. She quickly tugged at the latex condom, and it slid off his cock, leaving it to land silently on the musty comforter. “Now, Mr. Thornhill, sir, please continue fucking the sh-.” Thornhill launched his bare cock forward, back into Sarah before she could finish her sentence.

It was so thoroughly fucked. It wasn’t just the sex and the abuse her G-Spot was taking from his crazily large organ. The complete inappropriateness of the situation and the degrading location of their sordid sex was driving her crazy. She used to think she preferred sex in her own bed, but now she was almost ready to scream in orgasm in a dirty fucking motel room where men regularly took their whores.

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned into the comforter, “Fuck Richard. God. You feel so fucking good.”

“That’s...,” Richard said as he pulled all the way out and thrust back in hard, making Sarah’s body quiver and rock on the bed, “...Mr. Thornhill to you.”

“Yes,” Sarah breathed, “Yes, of course, Mr. Thornhill.”

“Say it again,” he demanded and slapped her ass, making her whine in pained delight.

“Yes sir,” Sarah moaned loudly, “Mr. Thornhill.”

“Good girl,” Mr. Thornhill said in a raspy voice from behind her. His massive cock kept pounding into her sensitive area. Sarah squeezed and milked his cock as best she could from this doggy style position. She felt like a slut being used and abused by someone with potential power over her. He could do so much for her, change her life. He held her fate in his hands.

“You’re gonna make me CUM,” Sarah whined, “Mr. Thornhill. Fuck. I’m so close. God, you feel so, so fucking good.”

“That’s it,” Mr. Thornhill grunted, “Cum on my cock, Sarah. Show me how hard you’re willing to work.”

Sarah pushed down on her knees and rocked her ass back as Mr. Thornhill’s cock pounded into her. Slamming again and again against her sensitive G-Spot. She gripped his cock with her pussy, willing more of its large girth in, trying to get him to pound his cock into her faster and faster. She needed to cum.

“Oh fuck,” Sarah whined, “Fuck. Fuck. Shit. Please. Please. Holy. Fuck! Please. Please. PLEASE!”

Mr. Thornhill just grunted in agreement from behind her and never let up in his repeated assault. She felt sweat from his body drip onto her ass and run down her ass cheeks.

“Cum,” the man behind her grunted as he kneaded her ass and hips, “Cum, Sarah. That’s a direct order. Cum for me. Cum on my cock, you fucking slut.”

“Ohgod,” Sarah’s body thrashed back against his, “Fuck. Fuck! OHGODFUCK!”

Sarah closed her eyes tightly and her teeth ground together as she clamped her jaw shut. Her pussy tightened around his plunging cock like a vise as the starburst explosion started. Every muscle in her body tightened as she felt her eyes roll back behind her eyelids.

“UHHHHHHMMMMMMHMMMMFFMMMM,” Sarah’s throat uttered incomprehensibly as fire exploded inside of her pussy and blasted out across every inch of her body. The fire’s warmth ran over her skin and seemed to crawl into every secret crevice inside of her, “AHHMHMMHMMFFFUUCCCKKK!”

Her toes curled as Mr. Thornhill’s cock pushed past her clenched pussy walls and slowly slid deeper into her before slowly retracting. Then it pushed back in again, hitting that same sweet spot that had sent her over the edge.

“JEESUS!” Sarah moaned, lips touching the nasty comforter as the fire continued to wash over her, wiping her mind blank, unable to focus on anything but the feelings overloading her system.

“Fuck!” Mr. Thornhill grunted as his sagging balls slapped against her pussy lips, “So fucking tight.”

“Ummgmmmm,” was all Sarah could moan in response as her body slowly came down from the orgasmic bliss she’d just experienced. Sarah was still panting when she felt Mr. Thornhill put more pressure on her ass with his body. His outsized cock bottomed out in her, and he kept pushing his odd body forward. The weight of his frame pushed down on her ass until it lurched her entire body forward. Sarah’s bare breasts pressed into the comforter, and her beautiful face slid along the dirty surface of the unwashed fabric.

Soon, Sarah was lying completely prone, face down on the bed, while Mr. Thornhill climbed on top of her, his rock-solid cock still embedded deep within the young mother.

His hanging stomach pressed down into the small of her back as his frame rested on top of her. His hands pushed down on her shapely shoulder blades, sinking her deeper into the grimy bed.

It didn't take long before he started thrusting himself into her again. From this angle, it felt like he was able to fit more of his large cock into her while still slamming its head against the ridges of her G-Spot. Sarah felt like she was going to suffocate. He was pushing down on her so hard, using his weight to do so, that it was difficult to breathe.

Sarah took little breaths as her face smushed against the shabby comforter. Her lungs burned, but she didn't want him to stop. What he was doing felt so fucking good. Being held down and fucked at the same time drove her absolutely wild. His groin was slamming down onto her perfect bubble butt, causing her buttocks to ripple seductively. She pushed back on his advancing cock, desperate to feel as much of it as possible. She knew thrusting back like this would drive him wild, too, especially as he slammed into her and felt her booty against him.

“MMMMFFMMHMMMM!” Sara moaned into the bedsheets and took as deep a breath as she could. She gasped for air as one of Mr. Thornhill's hands shifted from her back and pushed down onto her blonde mane.

“I could get used to this,” Mr. Thornhill muttered, “Your body is so fffucking fuckable.”

“I-I'm glad you...ngh... like it,” Sarah managed to gasp out. She looked up at him out of the corner of her eye and added, “Sir.”

A grin appeared on Mr. Thornhill's older face, “I like that you know your place. I'd heard you could be quite the handful, but it seems like you just needed a firm hand to put you in your place.”

“A firm cock, you mean,” Sarah moaned as his meat pole drilled wonderfully into her again.

She felt the sting of Thornhill's hand slap against the side of her ass cheek as he drove himself forward. “Don't ever correct me.” His cock swelled as he briefly increased his tempo, punishing her with his firm strokes.

Mr. Thornhill chuckled behind her again, “See, this is the problem. I can't hire you as COO. You're going to be too busy on your knees or bent over my desk to get anything done.”

“Sounds like a productive day in my books,” Sarah whined. She let go of the bedsheets and reached a hand behind her to touch Mr. Thornhill’s sweat-covered hip. She loved feeling the way it moved back and forward, thrusting into her and pulling back out.

“God, you are something else,” Mr. Thornhill muttered, running his hands through her hair and over her naked back.

“I know,” Sarah said, pushing up with her hips and thrusting her ass back against him. He was doing too much talking, his pace had changed, and she needed to get it back on rhythm. Sarah began thrusting back into him, faster and faster, squeezing him with her pussy. Milking his cock to get herself off.

His cock head kept spearing her G-Spot, and Sarah desperately wanted to bite down on the comforter. She could feel the sweat dripping off her body, making her naked breasts cling to the bed below her. Adding her own sweat to whatever bodily fluids were already on it. Leaving an indignified part of herself behind in this dirty motel room.

Mr. Thornhill’s phlegmy breath was hot on the back of Sarah’s neck. She could hear his strained breathing as she thrust back onto his cock. His entire body was on top of hers, holding her fixed in place. Their bodies, slick with sweat, gelled with one another. His tongue darted out and started licking the nape of her neck, one of her sensitive areas. She loved it when Dan would do this. Sarah’s hips kept pushing back, taking more and more of the businessman’s cock into her. Desperate for it.

The wet tongue on her neck moved to the side and then up to her earlobe. It was a fucked up, intimate gesture that caused her hips to drive back faster and faster. Mr. Thornhill was breathing hard as he licked her; she could feel the straining of the older man, but he never stopped.

Sarah kept up the steady, intense rhythm she needed to cum. God, she was so close to cumming again with this dirty old sleazeball. What the fuck was her work life going to be like after this?

Sarah’s pussy gripped Mr. Thornhill’s cock hard, and she felt another orgasm rise quickly out of nowhere.

“Ughhh, OH! Fuckkkk,” Sarah whined as her body started thrusting back into overdrive. Mr. Thornhill must have realized what was happening as his tongue snaked down her face and licked her lips. Sarah let go of her breath, opening her mouth as his probing muscle snaked into it.

She couldn't do anything to stop it. She couldn't even kiss him back. She just held herself in place and let her body experience another quaking orgasm. Sarah felt her mind go numb as an explosion went off in her groin and radiated out, touching every nerve in her body. The room suddenly felt molten hot as Mr. Thornhill's sweaty body pushed hers down into the disgusting bed.

"GOD! FUCK!" Sarah's muffled scream emptied into the bed, knowing full well if either room next to them was occupied, she'd be heard. And the occupants would think she was just another two-bit whore like every other woman that came to this place. Her mind flashed to the entire row of rooms in the motel. In each room, a desperate creep fucking a load of cum into a screaming slut. The infinity mirror image shifted, and she was the woman in every room, getting fucked in every conceivable position by the lowest people in Middleton. Her body rocked from Mr. Thornhill's pounding, and she let her tongue touch his as she tried to catch her breath.

Her body was slowly coming back down to reality. She let herself lie there for a second, gently sucking on her boss's tongue while he kept hammering his expanding cock into her. She recognized the urgency of his thrusts. She knew he was going to explode soon, too.

Suddenly, he pulled himself completely out of her. The weight of his body lifted and was no longer felt by hers. She turned on her side to look at the older man.

"On your back. Now, Mrs. Williams," Mr. Thornhill grunted, his face was beet red, just like his unfit chest. It made the stark white and gray hairs on it stand out.

It was incongruous hearing the surname she'd taken from Dan on the CEO's lips in this context, but she did as he commanded without pause, turning onto her back. The thought occurred to her that if she'd gotten the CEO job, she'd never have given this man the opportunity to even look at her, let alone experience her intimately like this.

Mr. Thornhill didn't waste any time. He crawled over Sarah's body until he was straddling her chest, his fat cock gripped in his hand, aimed at Sarah's face as he started purposefully stroking it.

"You're gonna take this on your face," Mr. Thornhill grunted as he stroked himself. Sarah just lay there, waiting for the indignity of what he was about to do. It would be different if it were Dan or Lester doing this. Hell, even if Otis was masturbating in front of her. But this was her first time with Mr. Thornhill, and he was clearly trying to establish some kind of dominance over her forcibly.

Sarah wasn't going to take that lying down. She slid her hands up to the man's stretch-marked ass and let her French manicured nails tease and graze his pale, clammy skin.

"Give it to me," Sarah said, meeting the man's beady eyes, "I want to feel your cum explode on my face. Sir."

Her words made Mr. Thornhill increase his robotic strokes. Sarah let go of the man's ass and brought one hand to her breasts, tweaking the erect nipple while her other hand went down to play with her clit.

"Mhmmmmhm. Give it to me, Mr. Thornhill," Sarah moaned as she touched herself with growing ardor. The cock was right in front of her face; she could see a dribble of precum leaking out before it landed on her chin. She tried to lick it, but her tongue wasn't long enough to get it.

"Please, Mr. Thornhill," Sarah begged, "Cum for me. Give me your cum. Mark me, sir. Mark me with your cum."

"Ughhh FUCK," Mr. Thornhill grunted as he stroked his cock furiously. Sarah closed her eyes when she saw his trembling cockslit expand. Just as she did, a wet, sticky blast erupted from it and painted her upturned face. Rope after rope of the old man's bitter cum landed on her eyes, across her cheek. Goopy strands erupted from his spewing cock, covering her nose and running over her open mouth.

Sarah didn't hesitate. Her tongue left her mouth and licked her goopy lips clean. She kept touching her breasts and clit, eager to keep her body's sensations going. Finally, Mr. Thornhill grunted and rolled off the side, once Sarah's face was completely covered in his abundant loads of cum.

Sarah's left eye began to sting from the seeping fluid. With a quick lick of her lips, she hopped off the bed and blindly reached around until she found the bathroom and cleaned off her face. Once her eye stopped pulsing in pain, she looked at herself in the mirror. The person looking back at her looked like a woman who had been to this motel before, more than once. Her hair was a mess, her makeup running from the mix of water and cum. The skin around her eye was an angry pink shade. Was she looking at her future at the hospital? Would Mr. Thornhill take her to this same room at lunch every day and paint her face with his seed? Just what the hell was she getting herself into now?

Sarah didn't know what to do. She didn't know what to say to him, so she spent another two minutes in the bathroom trying to clean herself up as much as possible. When she finally left the bathroom, Thornhill was already back in his suit, sitting in the chair waiting for her. Her heart sank a little as she noticed the used condom still resting on the ruffled bed.

With little small talk, Sarah got dressed, and they both proceeded outside to his car. As she did, Sarah glanced up and locked eyes with another woman crossing the parking lot. The woman looked like someone Sarah would consider a prostitute. She had hard eyes, and she wore a revealing low tube top and a micro skirt. She looked Sarah up and down and finished the motion with a dirty look, probably assuming Sarah was stepping on her turf. Sarah quickly cast her eyes to the ground, not wanting to provoke an ugly situation.

Sarah got into the car while Mr. Thornhill played with his phone.

“I need to jump on a conference call,” he said abruptly as he dialled into a Zoom meeting and introduced himself. It wasn’t a request or an apology; he just stated it as a matter of fact. The drive back to the hospital was boring and uneventful.

Sarah just stared out the window, listening while Richard, Mary, and others discussed hospital matters. Every time she heard the woman’s voice, Sarah almost scratched a hole in the upholstery of his passenger seat.

The call ended just as they neared the hospital. Mr. Thornhill hung up the phone as he pulled the car to a stop on a road just behind the parking lot.

“That was fun,” he said with a wry smile.

Before Sarah could say anything, he got out of the car. Sarah did the same and stood there awkwardly. His preoccupation during the car ride hadn’t been what she’d envisioned. She’d been hoping to discuss the future of their arrangement and keep the fun, seductive game from the motel going.

“I’m gonna drop you off here. It won’t look right if anyone sees us arriving back at the hospital together,” Mr Thornhill said.

Sarah looked at the distance to the parking lot and her car. What he said made sense, but she wasn’t thrilled about having to walk across an empty field.

“I guess that makes sense. I wouldn’t want to mess anything up,” Sarah said. Mr. Thornhill was looking around, as if he were trying to see if anyone was watching them. He turned back to her with that smarmy smile on his face. Then he brushed a stray strand of hair out of her face and pulled her body to his, pressing his lips against hers. Sarah’s body stiffened as his lips roughly mashed hers, his breath in desperate need of a mint.

After a few minutes of his oral exploration, he pulled back with a self-satisfied smirk, “This was a lot of fun. I’d love to do it again sometime soon.”

“It was,” Sarah said, putting on her seductive eyes and staring into his, “We’ll have a lot more fun when I’m back in the hospital with you.

“Unfortunately, there’s no way we can bring you back in. But that doesn’t mean we can’t do more of this,” Ricard said.

The sexy look dropped from Sarah’s face, and she stared dumbfounded at her former CEO. She felt the white hot anger boiling beneath her skin, “What do you mean you can’t bring me back in?”

“To the hospital. Of course,” Mr. Thornhill said, “Too many people know what happened. They saw it. It won’t look good for us. Besides, I don’t need a COO. We’re taking the hospital in a completely different direction.”

“Are you fucking kidding me!?” Sarah said, raising her voice, “You didn’t want to tell me that beforehand?”

Mr. Thornhill chuckled, “No, that... would have been stupid. I didn’t make you any promises or anything.”

“No, you were just deceptive as fuck. Do you really think I would have let you fuck me otherwise!?” Sarah almost shouted.

Mr. Thornhill looked around and shrugged his shoulders, trying to seem matter-of-fact, “Maybe. I mean, you did fuck that janitor what’s-his-face in a meeting room. I figured the odds were good that you’d let me get inside you.”

Sarah felt the bile rise in her stomach. She was livid. All of this morning had been for nothing. All she had just done behind Dan’s back had been for nothing. She wasn’t securing a future for her family. She had just been taken advantage of, like all the other women who would visit that motel. The difference was, she’d gotten nothing out of it, “I’m going to kill you.”

“Come on. Threats? You seemed to enjoy yourself. There isn’t any reason we can’t do that again,” Mr. Thornhill said as he reached out to stroke her arm. Sarah abruptly hit his hand away.

“Don’t you fucking touch me,” Sarah said.

“We did a lot more than touch, you know,” Mr. Thornhill chuckled again. Suddenly, she realized she hated that sound.

Sarah gritted her teeth and tried to stop the anger from seething out of her. To control herself from slapping this awful man in the face. All the stress and worry about the situation came crashing back down on her like a boulder. She felt the weight of it again and knew it would crush her. And her family.

She had to get out of there. Sarah turned away and started walking across the empty field.

“Oh, don’t be like that,” Mr. Thornhill shouted after her, “We’re both adults. We both enjoyed ourselves. Why not make it a regular thing? We can meet up in the same room a couple of times a week. Don’t be so dramatic.”

Sarah kept walking, the cold wind rushing past her, threatening to push her over. She didn’t look back. She heard his engine start and his car pulling away.

After a few minutes of walking, Sarah got in her car and quickly pulled out of the parking spot. She was going too fast for a parking lot, but she had to get away from Mr. Thornhill and the judging eyes of the hospital behind her. Tears streamed down her face, but she didn’t dare wipe them away at the speed she was going.

The finances that she and Dan had recently gone through came to mind. She wasn’t any closer to solving things and keeping a roof over her kids’ heads. What the fuck was she going to do?

Dan stared down at his phone on the table, trying not to let his anger get the best of him. The girls were at school, and Sarah was running some errands. He had taken his seat at the head of the dining room table and was trying, once again, to find a comprehensive silver bullet to cure the family’s financial issues.

Sarah losing her job had been a significant blow to their financial security. They were already living hand to mouth, unable to save anything in their accounts. He had felt like one unexpected issue going wrong with the house would set them over the edge.

And now he was staring down at one such issue.

On his phone was a text from his father-in-law with the bill for their car repair. Apparently, it hadn’t been a significant repair and didn’t require many parts, but the labor involved in diagnosing the problem had been substantial. There seemed to be multiple issues that had to be individually discovered.

Dan just stared at the total of $3,000. It didn't seem at all real. It was like a cruel joke. He looked at the calendar in front of him and shook his head. Just a few days from now, their next mortgage payment would be automatically deducted from their checking account. There wasn't enough in it to pay either of the bills.

They'd have to dip into their dwindling savings once again, which was painful to do. He just couldn't find a sure-fire way to stop the bleeding. He felt like he was being flushed down the drain, just waiting to fall into the dark abyss at its center.

He needed Sarah to find another job immediately. He needed to either find more clients or find a way to secure more work from the ones he already had. Tricia had mentioned the possibility of his being hired on full-time by Sentinel Securities. He'd need to bend over backwards to try and make that happen for himself; it would solve a lot of his family's money problems.

Just as he felt himself spinning further into despair, the door opened and he heard the familiar sound of his wife's footsteps. Dan wanted to get up and greet her, but he just felt numb and his legs didn't move. He kept staring at his phone, losing track of time until Sarah was directly behind him, wrapping her arms around his shoulders.

"Earth to Dan," Sarah said, "Are you there? Can you hear me?"

Dan blinked his eyes and snapped out of his momentary trance, "Yeah. Sorry. I'm just, just a bit overwhelmed. Sorry, my mind's in a million places. How was your errand? Where'd you go?"

He felt Sarah stiffen slightly behind him for a second, but the moment passed. She ran her hands over his chest and nuzzled her face into the side of his head. Her blonde hair tickled his skin, but he didn't say anything.

"Don't worry, I didn't buy anything," Sarah said.

"That's not what I meant," Dan said.

"I know," Sarah breathed. He could feel her warm breath on her neck, "Sorry, I'm snippy. I guess I'm just overwhelmed, too. What are you looking at?"

Dan sighed and gestured to his phone, "Your dad sent over the bill for the car. It's a lot. Like, a lot a lot."

“How much?” Sarah craned her neck to look over his shoulder at the phone.

“Three grand,” Dan said flatly.

“Three thousand dollars? What the hell?” Sarah said, “They must be scamming us.”

“I don’t know. Maybe. Your dad said his mechanic was an honest guy. But Jesus, I don’t know. It’s just so much money. And we have our mortgage coming up in a couple of days, too.” Dan said, “I’ve just been sitting here looking at this bill for I don’t know how long.”

“We’re going to have to pull money from our savings again,” Sarah said quietly.

“There’s not much left in it. We’ll be able to cover these bills, but the next time something happens....” Dan trailed off, not wanting to think about it and not wanting to worry Sarah. The last thing he needed was for her to get emotional and make an impulsive decision in response again.

“I’m sorry, Dan. I’m so sorry for fucking everything up,” Sarah said, holding back a sob.

Dan just put his hand on hers. Despite everything that had happened lately, he still loved her deeply. He was still mad at her. Frustrated with her, angry at how utterly stupid she had been by putting them in this position. But if he let his emotions get the better of him, they would consume him, and he wouldn’t have a clear mind to figure out a way out of this. He might hold his anger towards her for a long time, but right now it didn’t serve him to hold a grudge.

He almost said, ‘it’s okay’ to her, but they both knew that would be a lie. He also didn’t know for certain if it would be okay. Instead, he opted for, “We’ll figure something out. There must be some way for us to get out of this. We just need to figure it out.”

Sarah just stood there, hunched over with her chin on his shoulder, holding him. He felt a wetness on his face, which he assumed was from her tearing up. He didn’t know what to say, so he just held onto her arm. They stayed like this for a few minutes, both of them just forgetting about the world around them and getting lost in each other’s embrace.

His wife’s arms around him comforted Dan. As mad as he was at her, he couldn’t imagine going through all of this stress and hardship without her by his side. Even though their most recent money issues were exacerbated by her choices, he had plenty of blame for their financial woes, too. Maybe he was finally becoming a proper adult, thinking things like that. But without her, he knew he’d be totally lost, and he’d probably have taken up binge drinking a long time ago.

Their momentary reconciliation was interrupted by the ringing of Sarah's phone. She sighed and walked over to the kitchen counter, where her purse was. Dan hadn't noticed her put it down over there. She reached in, grabbed her phone, and looked at the screen. Dan had trouble reading her face.

"Who is it?" Dan asked.

Sarah paused before answering, "Lester. He wants to FaceTime with me."

"Tell him to go away," Dan grumbled and went back to looking at the papers in front of him.

"Hello there," the ogre's grating voice filled the room. Dan's eyes shot up to give Sarah an annoyed look. Why had she answered Lester's call? What the fuck?

"Lester, I'm sorry. This isn't really a good time," Sarah said, giving Dan a brief apologetic look off-camera. Dan raised his hands and shoulders at her in a 'what the fuck' gesture.

"Danny's there too?" Lester said.

"Yes, we're just going over some things. Can I talk to you later?" Sarah said.

Talk to him later? What the hell? Why had she answered the phone, and why was she talking to Lester like this? Sure, he had recently been her boss, but now he was just Dan's old roommate. He was about to get up and motion to Sarah to hang up when Lester's words made him pause.

"I wanted to go over some things, too. I want to help you guys with your, ah, short-term financial predicament." Lester said. Sarah and Dan's eyes met, and neither seemed to know how to react.

Dan felt a shiver run up his spine, and he immediately felt a sense of unease. Sarah walked over to where Dan was seated, propping the phone up on the table so they could both see Lester.

"Oh, hey, Danny," Lester said as he munched on something that looked orange. Just how this man made Sarah so wild, he would never understand, or so he told himself. "Long time no see."

"Lester," Dan said, holding down his anger, "Sarah and I are busy. I don't have the patience to play one of your games right now, okay? Can you just get on with what you want to say so we can go back to it?”

“Uh, fine, you know you’d be a funner roommate if you didn’t always have that stick up your ass,” Lester said.

Dan opened his mouth to reply, but Sarah put a cautioning hand on his arm. Dan looked at her beautiful green eyes as she said, “Let’s just hear him out. It can’t hurt.”

Dan breathed out, managing to let go of some of his anger. He glanced away from the phone and immediately regretted looking down at the bills in front of him. He felt his stress rising again, and this entire conversation seemed pointless. He needed to get back to figuring out their financial future.

“I want to propose a new arrangement,” Lester said, “One that will benefit all of us.”

Dan looked back at Lester’s ugly, fat, smug face taking up the entire phone screen, “What kind of agreement?”

Lester’s shit eating grin appeared on his face. The grin that just said, ‘punch me.’

“I think it’s time we all stopped beating around the bush,” Lester said. “I know it’s hard to admit certain things to ourselves and to each other, but I think it’s time we all took things to the next level.”

“What do you mean?” Sarah asked.

“Yeah, Lester, just what the hell are you getting at? How does this have anything to do with our finances, which, by the way, are also none of your business,” Dan said.

“I’m talking about a new arrangement like the one we had before, with me covering rent in exchange for dates,” Lester said, staring at them through the phone.

Dan felt his stomach turn at the mention of their arrangement. Sure, it had been important when Walt’s company decreased his salary after everything that had happened with the Lincoln Group, but Lester had by far come out on top in that situation and had abused the hell out of it, by far.

“This new one, I think, would be better. Everyone would get what they want. All three of us,” Lester said. Dan and Sarah didn’t say anything. Lester continued.

“I am willing to help you out financially for as long as you need it. I’m prepared to cover your mortgage costs, utilities, your portion of rent here in Chicago still, and maybe some groceries too,” Lester sat back watching for their reactions.

Dan looked at Sarah and said, “Did you tell Lester how much our mortgage and utilities are?”

“No, I didn’t. I don’t know how he —”

Lester cut her off, raising a hand, “I have no idea what your mortgage or utilities are. But I’m confident I can cover them. And I’m happy to do it. I don’t want Sarah having to undergo any more stress over it.”

Dan narrowed his eyes and leaned in towards the phone, “This is too good to be true, Lester. What’s the catch? What do you get out of it?”

Lester chuckled, “I’m not a saint, Dan, and I’m not going to do this completely without getting something in return. But I think at the end of the day, both of you come out better in this deal.”

“Lester,” Dan said, “Just get to the point. Please.”

Lester rolled his eyes. Sarah put a hand on Dan’s shoulder and gave him a look, coaxing him to be nice. Dan sighed and tried to push all his anxieties away.

“Fine,” Lester said, “I cover your expenses, keeping that roof over the head of your family. I also provide Sarah with the carnal pleasures she desires, and Dan, you get to indulge in your humiliation fetish we all not so secretly know you have.”

Dan hated the way Lester was talking to him, but the mention of him engaging in ‘carnal pleasures’ with Sarah had him half hard under the table.

“All this for more dates?” Sarah asked, seemingly interested in Lester’s offer. Dan didn’t like the offer on principle, but as his analytical mind separated the information from his emotions, it didn’t seem so terrible. It was essentially the same thing they’d been doing for the past few months, but they were having more expenses covered for them. It wasn’t exactly prostitution, but it felt damn close.

“Yes and no,” Lester said, “I’m sure dates will factor into it, but like I said, this is us taking things to another level. Together. The three of us. Think of us as a throuple if you will, but I won’t be living with you. I don’t want to upset the balance of your home life. But I do think we need to come to terms with how closely we’ve all grown for better or worse. And Dan, I will help you indulge in some of your fantasies in ways we haven’t explored yet with Sarah. Like I said, it’s a win-win...win.”

“A throuple?” Dan asked, looking at Sarah, “Is that like a couple?”

“It’s a three-way couple,” Sarah murmured.

“I don’t get it,” Dan said.

“Think of it like this,” Lester said, “Some nights Sarah will spend with me. Others with you. At other times, you get to watch us, go on a date, or take part in some kind of excursion together, where we will all push new boundaries together. Just imagine what it would have been like having a front row seat watching Sarah at that movie theatre.”

“I don’t know,” Dan said, slowly looking up at Sarah for reassurance. He felt like the wind had been taken out of his sails. His righteous anger towards Lester was gone, replaced by confusion and a faint hope that their financial issues might be addressed.

“I don’t have a humiliation fetish,” Dan added. Lester looked at Sarah, then back to Dan.

“It’s okay, honey,” Sarah said, running her hand placatingly along his forearm.

“We’ve been in enough rooms together to have noticed, Dan,” Lester said, “Like how you react when Sarah begins talking shit or when I do. Your emotions are clear right on your face.”

Dan felt his cheeks flush.

“Lester,” Sarah said, “This is a lot to take in. Dan and I need to think about it. It’s not a yes, but we will definitely talk about it.”

“Alrighty,” Lester said, giving them a salute on the screen. Then he leaned in and tapped something, and the screen went blank.

“A throuple?” Dan asked again.

Sarah looked at him and shrugged, “I don’t know what he’s thinking will happen, but what he’s saying isn’t really a throuple. Throuples all live together, like a three-way relationship.”

“Is it because he wants to chip in financially?” Dan asked, “It still gives me the ick.”

“It’s a lot of money. It’s more than just him covering rent like he’s been doing. If he can really cover our mortgage payments alone while we get back on our feet - that’s huge,” Sarah said, sliding into a chair at the table.

“He really should have negotiated better. He basically just said he’d cover all our expenses,” Dan said, “Do you think he proposed this because he was afraid of losing you? Since you’re not at the hospital and won’t need to be in Chicago as much?”

“Maybe,” Sarah said as a notification flashed on her phone.

“What is it?” Dan asked.

“A message from Lester. He says if we agree, he wants us to, uh, ditch the kids and have him over for dinner tomorrow night,” Sarah breathed out, still looking at her phone.

“Does this feel different to you? Different than the normal thing we’ve had going on?”

“I don’t know,” Dan said as he toyed with his phone, the screen still open with the car repair bill on it, “I never know with him. I feel like he might have some different expectations that we aren’t aware of yet. When he says ‘a throuple,’ does that mean he thinks he has just as much say in how things go as you or I do? What’s he expecting? Sex and dates are one thing, but this....is that why he went so hard on the bills? To give him more leverage with us?”

“Probably,” Sarah said, “But just because that’s what he thinks doesn’t mean that’s how it will be. We still outvote him two to one.”

“He doesn’t get a vote. Period,” Dan said, “Besides, you’d both team up on me the first time some wild night comes up.”

“Hey,” Sarah gave her husband a mock hurt expression, “I would not.”

Dan shook his head, “Are we really considering this? We’re talking like we’ve already decided to go through with it.”

“I don’t know. Maybe? I mean, who knows? We’d probably still have Lester in our lives a bit here and there anyway. This way we’re just getting some extra help,” Sarah said as she chewed her lips, “It’s not like it’s prostitution, right?”

“It still feels icky, but everything with Lester is icky,” Dan said, finally shifting his gaze from the auto bill up to the ceiling. “If we do this, it’ll just be for the short term. Until we get back on our feet, and then we’re done with him for good.”

“That’s what we said about the rent,” Sarah said.

“But things got worse after that,” Dan said, “We didn’t plan on keeping things going as long as we have.”

“So we’re doing this?” Sarah asked.

Dan sighed and resisted the urge to pinch the bridge of his nose, “Tell him we’ll try it out, but we reserve the right to end things whenever.”

Sarah typed something on her phone, then looked up at Dan, “So, what should I make for dinner tomorrow night?”

Despite agreeing to this new arrangement, Dan still felt uneasy about everything. It hadn’t helped that Sarah had been the one texting with Lester, and he felt like it took him out of the loop. Every time he saw her on her phone, he felt the urge to grab it and see just what she was doing. He imagined her texting cute little things or flirting with Lester.

When they’d dropped off the girls at Sarah’s parents in the morning, he’d snuck a look over her shoulder and saw that she was just on Pinterest. It was something about decorating a house on a budget.

He felt like he was going crazy. This wasn’t him – all these paranoid thoughts darting through his head. Though Sarah had given him cause to feel this way. The things she’d done behind his back lately. Sure, he knew that maybe she felt justified in those moments, but it was still gnawing at him. He wondered what else she’d do without him. He knew, eventually, she would come clean with whatever she’d done. That part of what they both found hot about all this was doing it without him knowing or him not being in complete control.

But he didn’t like it when he wasn’t in control, even though that was what they were doing tonight by having Lester come over for dinner. Dan knew that control would be wrested away from him. And as much as he hated that feeling, just like the feeling he’d had when he lost his job, he hated admitting to himself how much it affected him and turned him on. He didn’t know what the fuck was wrong with him, but he both loathed and anticipated the thought of having to leave home for Chicago for a meeting with Bill and Elevate Engagement or flying back to D.C.

Would Lester try something at their house again? Dan cursed himself for leaving those hidden cameras he’d bought online in his closet in Chicago. He’d wanted to install them in their home already, but with everything going on lately, it had fallen down his priority list. Now he wished he had them on hand. Especially now that Sarah would be watching their credit card statement much more closely after losing her own job. He couldn’t justify the expense, and he didn’t want to try to argue about having bought them in the first place - bring up the hand grenade issue of trust.

At least he'd already pulled the trigger on buying them. Next time he was in Chicago, he'd be bringing the equipment back with him, along with the last remaining things he had there. And he'd also pay Lizzie a visit. He had some questions about Lester that had long needed answering.

Dan pinched the bridge of his nose as his thoughts had wandered far away from the PowerPoint slide open on the laptop in front of him. He sat back in the chair and blinked, trying to adjust his eyes and make them focus. The chairs around the dining room table weren't the most comfortable in the house. He would have gotten more done upstairs in his own office, but he wanted to be near Sarah as she cooked dinner. He felt a pit in his stomach as he looked over at Sarah, busy in the kitchen cooking some kind of pasta dish. It was as if he were watching her prepare a special meal for another man. In many ways, that was exactly what she was doing, but at least Dan would be present as well.

Even though Dan had requested ribs when she'd asked the night before, she was making pasta. He hadn't mustered the courage to ask if that was what Lester had requested or if it was her own choice. But he knew there were ribs in the freezer that could've been thawed out and cooked.

Dan sighed and closed his laptop. He wasn't going to get any work done when his mind was a jumble of complex emotions like this. Reluctantly, he had to admit that the aroma wafting over to him from the kitchen smelled amazing. He couldn't wait to try whatever it was she was making.

The smell of Sarah's cooking distracted him and let him reminisce about better days, but the moment was fleeting. The doorbell rang, and Dan felt that familiar knot twist in his stomach. The knot was a potent mixture of anxiety, arousal, eagerness, and trepidation.

He looked over at Sarah in the kitchen. She was already looking back at him, her shapely body half turned towards the front door. They shared a look that seemed to say a million different things, but Dan came away unable to understand any of it. He read a flurry of emotions on her face, all of them adding to the growing knot in his stomach. She felt guilty about this arrangement. And she felt even guiltier about how much she was looking forward to it. Dan knew that part of him was looking forward to it as well, at least the idea of it. Or perhaps he was anticipating the unexpected.

But when the doorbell rang again, he rose to stand on shaky legs. He held Sarah's eye as he moved to join her in the kitchen. Together they walked towards the front door. He felt, for a moment, like they moved in tandem. A united front.

But then he stopped. His body just would no longer proceed a few feet from the door, by the edge of the couch. He hadn't planned on stopping, and his mind raced, wondering what his legs were doing. Sarah glanced back at him and seemed to take his stillness as some kind of sign. She read into his actions, but he didn't know what message she took away.

The flat smile she gave him as she turned and opened the door made his stomach twist even harder. He could see her smile widen as Lester came into view. Whether that was real emotion or simply the polite thing one does when answering the door, he didn't think he'd ever know.

His eyes narrowed as he caught sight of Lester. Flowers in one hand and a large wine bottle in the other, a red cabernet, one of Sarah's favorites.

Dan felt the unease rise into his chest as he looked on, seemingly already the forgotten third wheel in this new arrangement. Lester didn't even glance his way, his eyes glued to Sarah, running over her body. Dan's mind flashed back to that poorly attempted threesome at the apartment and his inability to pleasure his own wife. His inability to provide for her, for his family. The bills and the mortgage payments that kept piling up.

Sarah took the flowers as Lester shut the door behind himself. Finally, the odd, fat man glanced at Dan for the first time, and the smile on his face widened. Then, just as quickly, he looked back at Sarah and snaked a fat hand around her thin waist and pulled her to him, his face disappearing from Dan's view behind her golden locks as they kissed, the smacking of their lips audible to the room.

The kiss went on longer than a polite kiss should have. Lester seemed to grind his body against Sarah who, Dan swore he heard a muffled moan come from. They finally parted, and the shit eating grin was back on Lester's face.

Sarah turned around, looking flustered before meeting Dan's eye and quickly looking away, "I need to get back to the stove before anything burns."

Dan felt immobile again as he stood there silently. He'd thought he'd grown past all of this, but the memory of that failed threesome kept playing on a loop in his mind: how he had stepped up and barged into the room, stepped up to intervene and take back Sarah. To fuck her and show up Lester, and to show Sarah that he could still deliver what she needed. But he'd come up so very embarrassingly short.

Lester patted Dan on the bicep with that smug grin on his face as he stepped past him, trailing Sarah into the kitchen. Lester's eyes were glued to Sarah's ass, and he seemed to be shaking his head to himself.

In that short moment, Dan realized that his own fears, anxiety, and uncertainty had set this proposed 'throuple' off onto a course that he hadn't wanted. He felt his control slipping and was unsure of how to get it back.

Lester felt his cock swelling in his sweatpants as he strode confidently into the Williams' kitchen. He felt like Napoleon walking back onto the battlefield after having been exiled to that little island. Judging by the stupid look on Danny's pretty-boy face, Lester was going to be the man of the house tonight.

He knew what Sarah needed, and he'd studied the cuckold psychology enough to understand how to manipulate Dan. It was almost too easy. He really needed to find a way to monetize all his knowledge, or at least a way to develop it further.

He shook his head and let those thoughts slide to the back of his brain as he watched the curves of Sarah's salacious ass sway back and forth as she hurried back to take care of his dinner on the stove.

Lester's eyes stayed glued to her for a few seconds before scanning the rest of the kitchen and dining room. So, what would the Alpha male in a throuple do next?

He didn't really know much about throuples other than what he'd seen in some porn videos or some posts on Reddit where the situation had backfired. He honestly didn't really care all that much. He just knew it was a term he could throw into conversation to put Dan and Sarah off balance while communicating his goal of redefining their relationship. At this point, Dan and perhaps Sarah still thought of Lester as the third wheel, but that clearly had to change.

This was exactly what Lester was going to achieve with this entire ploy. Define the trio's relationship, at least in Sarah's mind, and then eventually push Dan entirely the fuck out of it. It had occurred to Lester last time he'd thought of it that Sarah's children were always going to be a problem.

Short of having them disappeared, which he was not opposed to doing, there was another option that aligned with his other goals. The girls would also be a thorn in Lester's side, the roots that had sprouted from Dan's seed holding Sarah in this failing marriage. That's why Lester needed to plant his own seeds as he'd planned. A seed to ensnare Sarah and pull her down into the dirt with him. A weed to overtake the other plants in the garden and starve them out.

Tonight was not the night to switch out the birth control pills. That would happen soon. Tonight was about altering the paradigm. But as his eyes scanned the room, he thought how much sweeter it would be if Sarah would just stop taking them altogether of her own accord. Plans within plans with backup plans, Lester smirked.

His eyes settled on a chair at the end of the table with a closed laptop sitting in front of it. It looked like Danny boy was doing a little work. Lester would have to dive into their home network records and see just what his roommate was working on. Either way, Lester had found his destination.

He moved decisively to Dan's spot at the table and sat down, pushing the laptop further down the table. He stared dead ahead and interlaced his fingers, waiting for his meal to be served to him. Out of the corner of his eye, he saw Dan finally move into the kitchen with slumped shoulders. Sarah shared a quiet word with him, and Dan moved to begin opening the bottle of wine Lester had left on the counter. The flowers he'd brought had already been arranged in a nice little vase on the kitchen table.

Dan clearly saw where Lester had chosen to sit and hadn't said a thing. Pathetic.

In a few short moments, a steaming plate of pasta was delicately slid onto the placemat in front of him.

"This looks great, babe," Lester said and casually gave Sarah a light slap on the butt. She batted his lingering hand away with a smile and turned towards Dan, who was still in the kitchen.

"Dan, go sit, I'll bring you a plate," Sarah said, moving past her current husband. Lester's dick jumped in his pants at the realization that Sarah had served him first. Dan gave Lester a stink eye and sat across from him at the opposite end of the table. Sarah brought two plates over and set one in front of Dan and the other in front of an empty place in the middle of the table.

Lester stood up and leaned forward, grabbing the place setting and pulling it down to the empty spot next to him, "Come sit down here with me."

Sarah glanced between Lester and Dan before taking the empty seat closer to Lester. Her leg bumped up against his knee. She moved her thigh to give him room, but he leaned his leg into hers, maintaining the contact. Without another word, Lester dug into the pasta in front of him, not bothering to politely twist his fork into an upturned spoon like Dan was doing. That was too much bother; it was much easier to shove some into his mouth and slurp the rest up.

He caught Sarah and Dan sharing another look, but didn't say anything. Clearly, they were both waiting for him to say something, but he let the uncomfortable silence permeate their dinner for a bit longer. He continued to rub the side of his knee into Dan's wife. She was now pressing her leg back into his.

Eventually, Sarah couldn't contain herself, "How's your pasta, Lester?"

"Finger lickin' good," Lester said and slurped up another noodle.

Dan cleared his throat and brought both of their eyes back towards him, "This, uh, new agreement. I think we should iron out some of the ground rules."

"I think it's pretty straightforward," Lester countered.

"I think what Dan is trying to say," Sarah said, placing a placating hand on Lester's forearm. Lester tried not to smile as Dan regarded the physical touch. Sarah continued, "Is that we should go into this with clear expectations on all our parts."

"Again. It's pretty simple," Lester said, reluctantly putting down his fork. The pasta was fucking great, and he hated not having some in his mouth that very instant. "Like in any relationship, there is a division of who takes care of what and who gets certain things."

"I mean, that's pretty simplistic, Lester," Sarah started.

Dan snorted and said, "Have you ever been in a real relationship before?"

Lester didn't want Dan's limited mindset to deter him. He waved them off and continued, "I am providing financial stability."

He counted on his fingers, "I am covering your mortgage, car payment, utilities, groceries, and whatever else comes up. This is normally the male's role in a relationship, while the female takes care of the home and offers sex. As I am doing all the male-centric duties, I am expecting to be the beneficiary of the majority of sex and affection."

"Lester, that's pretty sexist," Sarah said, putting down her utensils and crossing her arms. Their legs were still touching under the table, but she had paused them from moving together.

"That's how the world works," Lester shrugged.

“Sarah and I have an equal relationship. We both made money and shared responsibility for the finances, the kids, the house, and choices. This isn’t the 1940s, Lester. Things don’t work like that anymore,” Dan rolled his eyes.

Runt. “Maybe they should,” Lester said. “And you mean ‘had.’ You had an equal relationship, and it didn’t work out that well, did it? On the brink of financial ruin? You should really be thanking me. I bring much more than what my one-third of this new relationship demands. I am essentially handling all the finances that you both previously provided. I am not doing any household chores. Both of you can more than make up for that. Besides, I won’t be here full-time, so it doesn’t make sense that I contribute to that.”

Lester held in a snicker as Dan pinched the bridge of his nose.

“What do you mean by the majority of sex?” Sarah asked. Lester noticed the subtle shift in her breathing since they’d started on this topic. He suppressed the smile from spreading on his face. He felt her leg begin subtly moving against his own again.

“As in as many times a week as I deem necessary,” Lester said.

“How does that work?” Dan asked, “You just show up and get whatever you want? Whenever you want?”

“I’m not without reason, Dan,” Lester said, “I know you have constraints like a family that will prevent me from taking Sarah to our bedroom whenever I want. But I expect you to make an effort.”

“If you’re not happy with the arrangement, perhaps we can outsource some of the chores and housework to some kind of laborer, but I don’t think Sarah would want to reduce your share of sex. And no, I don’t mean that the laborer would get to sleep with your wife, Dan,” Lester chided.

“That’s not what...what the hell are we even talking about here?” Dan said, throwing up his hands in frustration.

Lester slurped the last noodle of pasta off his plate, “I thought we were talking about ground rules and expectations.”

“We’re not, y-you’re just stating your own rules,” Dan said.

“What did you think this was going to be? That I just pay for everything and there’s an equal balance of power, and we all sit in a circle and hold hands, swaying to Kumbaya music? To be perfectly honest, I bring the most to this throuple. I bring the finances, I bring the fulfilling sex, and I even help satisfy your twisted voyeuristic fantasies. Sarah is the only one giving me anything in return with this meal and with what we all know is going to happen later tonight,” Lester said, “And I don’t even get to live in this house that I’ll be paying for. I’m going to be relegated to staying in a hotel room when in town, which I also will pay for, by the way. I don’t get to enjoy the amenities like you will. The shower’s hot water that my money pays for. It isn’t fair, so I think a few rules like these are a small ask, don’t you agree?”

Lester laid it on thick with his prepared arguments. Neither Sarah nor Dan had thought these things through, but Lester had made sure to. He had come armed with a list of arguments to shut them down and paint himself as the reasonable one. The one actually getting the short end of the stick in this whole arrangement.

Sure, it made sense to a degree, but it was all performative bullshit. Sarah was gobbling it up, her leg massaged into his sensually.

“Lester,” Sarah said in a calming voice as she shared a look with Dan, “We appreciate what you are doing here.”

She put her hand back on Lester’s arm, “I appreciate it. I think a couple of rules won’t be too hard to follow, given what you’re helping us with.”

Lester put his hand on top of Sarah’s, “I just want it to be made clear that I’m not being too demanding.”

“It’s...” Dan started before Sarah cut him off.

“It’s not too demanding,” Sarah said, “You’re right. All relationships are about balance, and we need to balance things out with what you’re providing for us.”

Dan’s eye twitched. It was time to push things up a notch.

Lester let go of Sarah’s hand and pushed his chair back and unbuckled his belt.

“What are you doing?” Dan asked.

Lester didn’t answer him; instead, he looked at Sarah, “I think it’s time you showed me just how much you appreciate me.”

Sarah bit her lip and felt her chest heat up. Lester's commanding words always struck a chord inside of her that she found hard to resist. She glanced at Dan at the other end of the table and saw the familiar conflicting emotions playing on his face.

She knew he hated all of this on some level, but she also knew that it scratched some deep psychological itch for both of them that she'd never be able to scratch by herself.

They had already agreed to move forward with this new arrangement. To Sarah, it didn't seem that different from the previous one and should be easy for Dan to swallow. If he had any objections, he could raise them himself.

Sarah gave Dan a wicked grin and subtle wink as she pushed her chair back. Deep down, she knew the paralysis that Dan could experience in these moments allowed things to move forward. That he might not object, even if he really wanted to. She let that thought slip from her mind as she turned her attention to Lester's ugly face. Her eyes lingered on his unkempt features, the wild stubble, his beady, slightly uneven eyes and wide nose, the hair sticking out between his eyebrows. Even the long hairs protruding from his nostrils. It shouldn't turn her on, but it did. A lot.

Her eyes trailed down his oddly proportioned body until they landed on his crotch, and she could see the outline of his gargantuan organ swelling there. She felt her mouth beginning to salivate even though she'd just satisfied her appetite.

She moved gracefully around the table, tracing her fingernails over its wooden surface until she was standing in front of Lester. She could feel Dan's gaze on her back as she slowly lowered herself in front of his roommate.

Lester licked his lips, and together they lowered his pants and scraggly underwear until his thick, long cock and hairy balls splayed out of them. In the soft lighting of the dining room, the massive organ seemed impossibly large. The head was a vibrant shade of angry red, and the veins pulsed visibly. It stood out as a solid bar of flesh from beneath the paunch of his misshapen gut.

Sarah's eyes widened in response. She understood that Lester's pride was directly fueling his excitement. "You want me to show you how much I appreciate you?" Sarah said in a low, husky voice. Lester's three chins nodded in quivering unison.

"You've been so good to me. To us. I think you deserve a little kiss," Sarah said and leaned forward, taking Lester's cock in her hand and planting a soft, lingering, sensual kiss on the wide head of his cock. She kissed it again. And again, her lips spread and tongue ventured out to french kiss his cockhead like a lover would.

“Mhmmm,” Sarah moaned quietly to herself, getting lost in the embrace. Her hand unconsciously began stroking up and down Lester’s thick shaft, her fingers struggling to wrap around it.

Sarah kept her supple lips glued to Lester’s cock and looked up at the ugly man’s face, “You’re giving us so much, I think you deserve more than a little kiss.”

She looked over her shoulder towards Dan. She could barely see him from this angle, but she could see he’d scooted over a bit to get a better view. She smiled at that. She could just see his eyes, “Don’t you think Lester deserves more than a kiss, Dan? Since he’s the one providing for us now?”

She knew it was hurting Dan, but that this would also arouse him like crazy. She planned to lean hard into this angle tonight to ensure her husband got the most out of her intimate time with Lester.

Dan didn’t say anything, but he sucked in a breath when she finished speaking. Sarah’s wicked smile grew wider, and she turned back to Lester, “You deserve a lot more now that you’re the man of the house.”

She flicked her tongue out and licked up from the base of his cock until it whipped over his cockhead. Then she did it again. She saw the man’s jowls jiggle and knew she had both men in the palm of her hand.

With that thought in mind, she brought the palm of her other hand up to cradle Lester’s king-sized balls. She licked his shaft again and swirled her tongue over the crown of his cockhead before stroking his shaft. Her tongue trailed down until it reached his hairy balls before she dove in further, extending her tongue and lapping at his majestic nutsack.

“Mhmmmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned as his wiry pubic hairs and distinct musk invaded her nostrils. Sarah couldn’t help but moan as she smelled and tasted this primal tool that made her pussy begin to soak her panties. She was losing herself in the moment. She absolutely adored being on her knees before Lester.

“Show me what a good wifey you are,” Lester groaned as she sucked and licked his balls. “Show me how appreciative you can be.”

Sarah redoubled her efforts and moaned a little louder, devouring Lester’s sack and pumping her first up and down his cock as she watched from below. His simple words turned her sensual blowjob into a depraved performance.

“This is the new status quo you need to get used to, Danny,” Lester chuckled from above her. “In every throuple, there is a clear alpha and then there’s the beta. Spoilers, that’s you. You’re going to want to get reacquainted with that hand of yours because Sarah is going to be all mine from now on.” He waved at Dan mockingly.

The words registered in her ears, but Sarah was too preoccupied with slurping on Lester’s staggering cock to really take notice. She licked up his shaft again and opened her mouth wide and took Lester’s cockhead back into her mouth. Her lips stretched to accommodate him. Just the feeling of his massive cock entering her mouth made her shake and clench her thighs together.

“Mhmmhm,” Sarah moaned around Lester’s cock, “Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. Mhmmmm.”

“What’s the matter? Cat got your tongue? Are you mute?” Lester chuckled at his roommate, “We all know it’s better this way. Come on, you couldn’t even get it up last time. Let’s face it, you can’t give a sexual goddess like Sarah what she needs, and that’s okay. It’s not your fault, you’re just not equipped for it, little buddy. But that’s why I… fit so well into this relationship. Not only do I provide financially, I provide sexually.”

Sarah pushed past her gag reflex and took most of Lester’s cock into the back of her mouth, his cock head pushing down into the opening of her throat. It was so warm, she could feel the dense network of veins on the underside of his cock pulsating against her tongue. Lester’s venom-laced words were like fuel for her own depraved desires. Just the sardonic nature of his emasculating words triggered something inside of her. It was so wrong, but she couldn’t help but find herself craving the feeling of Lester’s cock inside of her.

She didn’t hear Dan respond; her eyes were closed as she stroked and sucked Lester’s fat cock. Sliding it in and out of her outstretched mouth. Her tongue ran up and down the bottom of his shaft. Occasionally, she’d swirl her tongue over the expansive tip of it before greedily taking Lester’s meaty pole back into her mouth.

Sarah tightened her grip around his shaft and tugged gently on his nutsack.

“Sarah,” Lester said in a gravelly sing-song voice, “Danny boy is sporting a tent over there. I think he likes being talked down to like this and seeing the mother of his children worshipping her new man. Her real man.”

Sarah’s piercing green eyes looked up at Lester as she slowed her eager sucking. She parted her lips and looked over her shoulder at Dan. The intense gaze that used to turn her on so much was plastered on his face. It still got to her, but so did the looks Lester gave her, the looks the men in the theater, and hell, even the look that piece of shit Richard Thornhill had given her.

All those hungry eyes....

“Is that true, Dan? You like seeing me kneeling in front of Lester? Sucking his big, fat cock? Do you like seeing your wife like this?” Sarah asked, staring into the fire in Dan’s eyes. She could see the war waging behind his gaze, the intense desire to intervene, and the overwhelming need to let this play out. She kept eye contact with him and leaned forward, kissing the side of Lester’s cock. Then she nuzzled it, letting it rest against her cheek.

Her eyes flicked down at the tent in his pants. She had slept with her husband twice since the threesome incident. She knew that he was able to get it up, but she still wanted to add a dash of cruelty. To give him the humiliation he definitely needed tonight. To make this fucked up throuple thing work.

“Why is your dick so hard?” Sarah asked, “The last time we were together with Lester, it wouldn’t work. You’re sending me mixed signals. You better not take it out, otherwise it might disappear again on us.”

Dan’s jaw opened in shock as if he was going to say something, but then promptly closed. She’d left him speechless again, like she’d done so many times in the past.

“That’s enough,” Lester said. He flexed his cock, thumping it against her face.

Sarah turned back to Lester and looked up at the ugly man.

“Danny is welcome to sit over in the corner and watch, but you’re giving him too much attention,” Lester chided.

“Am I?” Sarah challenged, “Are you getting jealous?”

Lester smirked, and a little air escaped his nostrils. The short man flexed his cock, now gripped in her hand. Sarah opened her mouth wide in shock at how strong it felt in her grasp. She slid her other hand up to wrap around it, running both palms up and down his bulky shaft.

“Do you really think I have anything to be jealous of?” Lester grinned. “From him?”

“No,” Sarah scoffed way too quickly, but the words continued to tumble out of her mouth, “No, you really don’t...”

“That’s what I thought,” Lester lowered a hand and lightly tugged at the strap of her black tank top, “Take this off.”

Sarah didn’t hesitate and let go of Lester’s cock and quickly peeled her tank top off over her head, throwing it onto the floor carelessly. Lester’s eyes glazed over as they roamed over her heaving breasts, clad only in a tight, lacy black bra. He licked his lips as he looked down at her and a shiver ran up her spine.

“Jeans,” Lester grunted.

Sarah undid the button at the top of her form-fitting, high-waist jeans and unzipped them. She stood up quickly and tugged them down. She looked over her shoulder at Dan as the top of the jeans lowered down to her ass cheeks, exposing a thin, little black thong that accentuated her voluptuous ass.

Sarah kicked off her jeans, and they landed on her tank top, reminding her of the piles of discarded clothes in Lester’s room. She momentarily imagined what her immaculate house would look like if Lester moved in. As she glanced back at his cock in front of her, the chaotic thought didn’t trouble her as much as it should have.

She didn’t waste any time, going back onto her knees in front of Lester. The wood floor was cold and uncomfortable against her bare skin, but she had more pressing things to worry about. Her mouth was back on Lester’s cock within a half second. This time, his pudgy fingers wrapped up her blonde mane and gripped it tight in a fist, and he started putting pressure on the back of her head, guiding it up and down over his tremendous cock.

“She may be the woman you married,” Lester grunted, “but she’s my slut wife. Watch this.”

“Sarah,” Lester removed his hand from Sarah’s head and pulled his sweatshirt off, tossing it away, adding it to the growing pile of clothes on the ground. She ran her eyes up his hairy chest and flabby body until her gaze locked with his beady eyes.

“Let go with one of your hands,” Lester said. Sarah reluctantly took one of her hands off his shaft and let it drop to his balls, her French manicured fingernails teasing the wrinkled, hairy skin. Lester smirked, “Touch yourself with it. Play with your clit while I choke you with my cock. Let’s show Dan what you’ve learned.”

Sarah’s eyes went wide at Lester’s bold words. It was just so depraved. It was so –

Lester's hand returned to the back of her head and tightened its grip on her hair, pulling her head back down onto his cock. He wasn't gentle with her like Dan was. He thrust up with his hips and rammed his cock back into her mouth. Sarah stifled a gag as Lester's fat fist of a cockhead pushed into the entrance of her throat.

She wanted to choke, but tamped the impulse down. She tightly gripped the broad base of his shaft that was still exposed while her other hand braced her against the chair between his legs.

Dan said something that didn't register in her brain, but Lester interrupted him. "Shh, shh, Danny. This is the good part."

Lester briefly removed his hand from Sarah's head to show her squirming husband that she wasn't being forced to do this. The monstrous man's cock continued to disappear into her mouth.

"Good. Good girl. Now, Danny... listen."

The room was quiet except for the growing gurgling groans and a low hiss of air coming from Sarah's windpipe. Her jaw widened, and she felt her throat expand like something was stuck in it. But then she pushed past that feeling. All three of them heard the unmistakable wet fleshy 'pop' of Lester's cock entering her stretched-open throat. A flood of tears ran freely from Sarah's eyes, and a strangled guttural moan escaped from deep inside her. Her hand tightened its place on Lester's cock.

"MMMMHMMHMMHMMM," Sarah moaned while suppressing a gag on his cock. Her left hand drifted from the chair and into her soaked panties. She quickly found her engorged clit and began rubbing it. Her other hand resumed its place at his crotch, unable to encircle him at the root fully.

"Glllluccck, gllllccuuucckk, glaaack," Sarah heard the wet, spit-filled sounds ring out from her throat as Lester fucked her mouth, her fingers danced and massaged her clit furiously. Lester's control and domination, his rough treatment of her, and exposing her like this to Dan was such a powerful combination that she could already feel her body racing towards the precipice.

"You see that?" Lester said towards Dan, "If you look closely, you can see my cock all the way in her throat. Yeah, bet you've never done that before. Don't think you can reach that far, can you? Can. You?" Driving himself to the hilt with each word.

It was infuriating to Sarah that Dan wasn't saying anything. He wasn't responding or standing up for himself in his own house. But it was also intoxicating to be so thoroughly used and abused in front of him like this. Sarah felt guilt and shame, and erotic fucking fire washed over her as everything swirled around her. She couldn't believe she was about to cum so fucking soon.

"GgggggaaaaAUUHHHHH," Sarah's throat erupted in a gurgling cry as she clenched her thighs around her forearm, her middle and pointer finger lazily massaging her stiffened clit as she felt the first throes of an unprecedented orgasm wash over her body. Lester's hips thrust up into her mouth, his overwhelming cock pushing back down in her throat. Lester's coarse pubic hair covered her face. And Dan watching her. Lester's firm hand on the back of her head. She was such a complete slut for Lester's cock.

"GAAAUHHHHMHMMMAHMMGAAA!!" Sarah came on her fingers as Lester's cock stretched open her throat. It felt amazing cumming while his humongous cock was shoved so deep into her like this. Her entire sense of her purpose, her only imperative, was to allow more of this man's amazing cock inside her body. A tidal wave of pleasure rose up and quickly hammered down on all the nerves in her body. All Sarah could do was hold on while Lester face fucked her and her body convulsed on her own hand.

The room was boiling. Sarah felt the sweat running down her back as her spit ran down over her hand. Her mind was clouding over, and she saw stars behind her eyes. Lester never let up, and she loved him for it. His cock was still pounding into her throat, giving her exactly what she hadn't known she'd needed.

Sarah's body shuddered and slumped, exhausted. Her hand was covered in a glaze of her own orgasmic fluids. She desperately tried to catch her breath through her nose as Lester continued to force feed her his cock. Taking sharp little breaths in for the scant milliseconds until his apple-sized cockhead pushed back into her mouth.

The grip on her head eased, and the pressure from Lester lessened. She pushed back and took her mouth off of his cock and breathed in deeply. Her eyes stung – she hadn't realized tears had run down her face, mixing with her eyeliner.

Lester looked down at her with a predatory grin. Sarah just knelt in front of him, one hand still gripping the base of his cock for support as she heaved in deep breaths. Lester's eyes flicked towards Dan, then he stood up and pulled Sarah up by her armpits.

He spun her around and bent her over the table. Lester's fat arm reached forward and slid his dirty plate and utensils down the table. Sarah braced herself for what was next. She yelped as Lester pulled at her little black thong. It went dangerously tight against her soaked pussy before ripping. Lester let it drop to the floor between her spread out legs and pushed down on her back.

Sarah's bra-clad chest pushed into her family's dining room table before she felt Lester's hot cockhead running up and down her dripping wet slit.

Dan stood transfixed as Sarah's tiny little thong, now a shredded string ripped from her hips, dropped to the floor. He shuddered as Sarah lay bent over their dining room table – the same table where he had insisted their family dine together every night. Where they taught their children to behave and how hard work paid off. It was like a scene from a fantasy-based horror movie, the hero's castle having been attacked and raided by a troll army. The princess, half-naked and bent over the table as the troll commander stood behind her, ready to claim her virtue for all to see.

But in this case, the damsel in distress seemed more than willing to surrender her maidenhead. His wife's form writhed serpentine back and forth on their dinner table, anxiously awaiting Lester's cock. Lester looked like a goblin king as he stood staring down at Sarah's ass, his small, fat frame covered in a coat of dense, coarse hair. The folds of his body not making any sense as odd parts ballooned out like an apple or a pear.

But none of that seemed to matter to Sarah, "Fuck Lester! Stop! Fucking! Teasing me and put it in me. Fuck!"

"Are you sure you don't want dipshit Danny over there?" Lester chuckled, giving Dan a hard, fixed glare.

What the fuck was going on here? Dan felt like he was back in the night during their failed threesome. His failed part in it. He felt powerless, like his hands were off the wheel. Cruise control was engaged, and Dan could only watch as his car drifted off the road on the way to becoming a burning wreck.

Sarah didn't respond to Lester. Her face was pressed against the cherry wood table, but her arm reached back towards Lester, trying to pull him towards it. Lester just smirked, running his fat hands over Sarah's back, grabbing her ass, and then licking his lips.

"Looks like she's all mine," Lester chuckled towards Dan before his eyes lit up. "Time for dessert!" He gritted his teeth and thrust forward, spearing his cock into Sarah's wet, waiting opening.

"UGGGH. MHMMMMUHHHH," Sarah grunted as her body rocked forward onto the table. Dan felt the blanket of humiliation crawl over his skin. He felt so small in this moment, watching his wife be claimed in their own home. For all his insistence that Lester no longer be allowed into their house, he was letting this most intimate and vile trespass happen right in front of him.

“AH-FUCK,” Sarah moaned into the table, her hands sprawling out, trying desperately to grab onto something. To gain some form of leverage to push herself back against Lester’s onslaught. She was up on her tippy toes, her long, toned, slender legs trying to balance as Lester savagely pounded into her. Although she’d been with Lester many times, she’d never before felt the extremity with which he entered her now. More pain, more ecstasy, more all-out filthy wrongness wrapped up in his defilement of the horny mother. Her tanned body rocked against the table, while Lester’s fat, pale folds jiggled with each juddering thrust. Her hands crazily alternated between splaying fully out and then curling back into fists.

“Oh yeah, baby. That’s that good pussy. Nnng. Hey, hey Danny, while we’re here, let this remind us what we’re all bringing to this table... the beautiful wife brings these amazing-ah fuck, get it, get IT! - these amazing dishes.” Lester gestured at the rest of the table.

“And her amazing body.” Lester leaned forward into Sarah, depositing his unfit gut fully on her immaculate, shuddering ass, dropping his controlling hand in the middle of her back, and mashing her down into the cold wooden surface.

“We all know what, ung, unnngh, I bring. The money to support you. And...” Lester paused as a sharp intake came from Sarah’s breath. Lester’s drilling cock flexed steadily inside the young mother.

“Remind me again what you bring Dan?”

Sarah’s gaze lingered on Dan like she hoped he might say something, anything. He’d given her two beautiful daughters. Together they’d bought this house and made it their own. He was the one and only love of her life... Sarah bit her lip as Dan sat there silently, unable to utter a single word.

“Huh, I agree with you. Nothing. You bring nothing to the table. You’re just an audience for us to play for. Glad we’re all on the same page now.”

“Dan... Lester... too muc-” Sarah breathed. A sharp smack landed across her ass cheeks, cutting her off.

“Quiet, baby. Don’t ruin this... for him,” Lester wheezed.

It was an obscene and degrading scene. Dan couldn't pull his eyes away. He was vaguely aware that the living room blinds were probably still open. That anyone could look in and see the sordid display taking place on their dining room table, but he didn't move. He couldn't move. He couldn't look away. Could barely even blink.

Control seemed to be slipping through his fingers. The room spun on its axis. Dan's eyelids fluttered as the blood rushed to his head. He felt uneasy, like an empty boat lost in a storm, spinning and floating away, completely under the storm's control.

A heady cocktail of shame, envy, and arousal washed all over him. He felt the tent in his pants begin to ache. How could he get turned on by this but fail to get it up for a ready and willing Sarah? Sure, he'd managed it recently, but every time that lingering doubt overshadowed him like a dark cloud ready to pour on his parade.

"Squeeze me, momma," Lester grunted, "Squeeze my cock. Gnnng. Ah yeah. Just like that. Good girl, Sarah. Show Danny how well I've trained you."

"Mhmmmfuuuucccck," Sarah let out a long, whining groan. It sounded so familiar, yet so foreign. He understood the words but didn't understand the context that gave rise to them. The way Lester was fucking her was on a different, alien level that he was just grasping to comprehend.

"Uh. Mhmmm. Yes. Uh. Uh. Ah. Fuck. Oh. Fuck. Yes. Please. Fuck. God. God. God Fuck. Lester. Lester. Lester, please!" Sarah whined, finally pushing herself up onto her forearms. Her blonde hair dangled around her face, draping messily onto the table.

Lester thrust forward again, rocking into Sarah, making her body jump enticingly. Dan's eyes widened as he saw Sarah's voluptuous breasts, still encased in her bra, jiggling up and down. He watched transfixed as Sarah's bosom heaved with her labored breathing before rocking forward again as Lester thrust into her.

There hadn't been a condom. There hadn't even been the thought of a condom, much less a discussion. Lester was enjoying his wife with his raw cock, nothing separating him from her. Experiencing her as only Dan had.

A small voice from the back of his mind spoke up That isn't true anymore.

He felt a dollop of precum soak through his underwear.

"Fuck you're so fucking tight," Lester growled.

WHAP

Lester again slapped one of Sarah's flawless ass cheeks, leaving behind a pink hand impression. Sarah moaned and cried out – Dan couldn't tell if it was pain or pleasure, and neither, honestly, could Sarah. Lester thrust into Sarah again, slamming their sweaty bodies together.

The glass that Sarah had set for him on the table fell over and rolled until it fell off and shattered on the floor. Water spilled onto the table, dripping down and pooling amongst the broken glass.. It was only a matter of time before the rest followed. And Sarah didn't even seem to notice.

“OH GOD LESTER!” Sarah half screamed. She was panting into the wooden tabletop. Lester rammed into Sarah again, “UH-FFFFUCK!”

The table's legs squealed across the dining room floor as it shifted a quarter inch. Their fucking was desecrating their home.

“This, this is what I'm talking about,” Lester grunted, both hands clasped on Sarah's hips as he pounded his thick, animal-sized cock into her soaked snatch. “You can't give it to her like THIS, Danny. This is what she needs. A proper fuck from an actual man. Isn't that right, Sarah? You need it like, hhhuh, hhhuh, THIS, don't you!?”

“I need it!” Sarah shouted, catching Dan off guard. She pushed herself up off the table and obsessively thrust her ass back against Lester's cock, “Oh, oooh, Oh fuck! Dan, Danny, I'm sorry. I nee-FUCK! You sent me to his room. Ahh, mmm, this is Lester's pussy now! You sent me into the living room, and I tasted him! I sucked on his big fat COCK! Fuck I need it, Lester. I need you. I need you and that amazing cock of yours. Please don't stop!”

Lester reached forward and roughly grabbed a handful of Sarah's hair in a fist. He pulled, making her yelp as he pulled her head up. Her eyes were wild, and she was breathing frantically. Dan locked eyes with her and didn't recognize the fire behind her eyes. The wanton desire burning within her.

“Tell Danny what you need,” Lester grunted through clenched teeth.

“Oh fuck....Dan....I'm sorry. I need-FUCK....I need his cock,” Sarah whined, “Uhmhm, God. If you hadn't ever shared me. Given me away like you did, I'd never know it could feel so fucking good. Mhmhmfuck. It's Lester's cock. I need Lester's cock. You gave me away. Gave me to him. Made me his. Made me such a slut for his cock.”

Lester chuckled and leaned forward, licking the side of Sarah's face as he held her in place, “Good girl.”

Sarah shuddered at his words. Her bottom lip hung agape as she closed her eyes and focused on grinding herself back onto Lester's cock.

"Tell Danny over there how it feels," Lester commanded.

"So fucking good. So BIG. I feel so full, so fucking full. God, it's amazing," Sarah mewed.

"More full than with Danny?" Lester demanded, pulling on her air.

"YESSSS," Sarah whined, struggling for breath. She bumped her shapely ass back onto Lester's awaiting cock, grinding the balls of her feet into the wood floor. "So full. Never this full. Never. S-sorry Dan, sorry. But you, y-you let him fuck me raw. Oh God. Lester. Don't make me say more. It's mean. So mean. God Lester."

"Heh," Lester chortled, "But this, this is what he needs."

Lester pulled on Sarah's blonde mane again, her hair his makeshift reins, her face came up masked with pleasure. Her eyes were lazy and unfocused as Dan looked at her, "Who's the man of the house now, huh?"

"God, you are Lester. You are," Sarah whimpered.

"Look at Danny and tell him whose cock comes first in this relationship now," Lester said, smacking her ass firmly with his other hand.

Sarah's eyes opened wide, and she looked around at Dan with a vacant, half-glazed gaze, "Lester's cock. Lester's cock always comes first. Uh. Mhmm. Fffuccck yessss. Lester's big, juicy fucking amazing cock comes first."

Her words felt like iron daggers in his chest. He didn't know how much more of this display he could take. Dan's heart felt like it was beating out of his chest. He thought it was going to explode. His cock ached, dying to be released.

Dan's hands went to the waistband of his pants, and he started to undo the button.

"No," Lester said forcefully, "Not yet. You haven't earned that yet. Keep it in your pants, Romeo."

Sarah looked around questioningly.

"Dan's trying to jerk off to this," Lester said.

“Let him,” Sarah said, “That’s what we’re here for. For all of us.”

“Not yet,” Lester said, “He needs to watch and learn his place before he gets to play with it. Tell him to keep it in his pants.”

Sarah groaned in subservience and looked at Dan, “Keep it in your pants. No jerking off. Don’t even touch it.”

This was so entirely fucked. Not only was Lester taking his wife, but now they were both dictating to him just when he could touch himself. Deciding what Dan could do in his own house, with his own body?

“That’s not fai—” Dan started.

“Do it for me, baby.” Sarah said, “Wait. It will be worth it.” Dan watched as she made a half-hearted attempt at a reassuring smile, but she turned her head away as Lester deftly lunged back into her.

Dan let go of his pants, despite the desperate aching of his cock. He couldn’t take much more of this. If he came, maybe it would clear his head and let him approach this better. Figure out a way to flip this situation on its head.

“Don’t call him baby like that anymore,” Lester said, “Got it? That’s for me only.”

“Fuck. Uhh. Mhmmm. Oh, baby. You’re so bad, Lester.” Sarah moaned.

“Shut up. You love it,” Lester tightened his grip on her hair, making Sarah’s face contort, her lips forming an exaggerated ‘O’.

“There’s only gonna be one daddy in this house from now on,” Lester growled, “Who’s it gonna be, Sarah?”

Sarah locked eyes with Dan, but she seemed to see past him, through him, almost – like he was just a piece of the furniture.

“YOU!” Sarah screamed, throwing her head back. Her hair went wild. “FUCK! LESTER! DADDY!! GIVE IT TO ME! DON’T STOP BABY! DON’T STOOOOP!”

Lester grinned and raised his eyebrows at Dan. He licked his ugly lips again and snapped off the clasp on Sarah’s bra in one, quick, practiced gesture.

“God Damn Right,” Lester said. Sarah’s bra hung loosely off her shoulders; her magnificent breasts spilled free. Her nipples were hard and erect as her breasts flounced as Lester expertly pounded her.

“If I’m the man of the house, what does that make Danny?” Lester barked.

“I don’t know. Please, please just fuck me,” Sarah’s voice dripped with needful desperation.

“What does that make him? Hmmm?” Lester demanded again, pounding into her.

“Fuck,” Sarah whined, “I don’t know. I don’t know! A boy!”

“What’s that? A little boy?” Lester barked, his eyes on her husband.

“Yes,” Sarah said, “Fuck Lester, just shut up and fuck me.”

“Oh, I’m gonna keep fucking you. I’m gonna fuck you all night long. I’m going to fuck you on every single fucking surface of this house. I’m gonna drag you from room to fucking room. And Danny boy will trail behind us cleaning up our mess.” Lester said through gritted teeth, “Is that what you want?”

“OH GOD!” Sarah said, “Fuck I want it, Lester. Yes! Please. Fuck me. Own me. JUST FUCKING GIVE IT TO ME!”

“What do you want, Sarah?” Lester laughed and ground his extended cock into her. He pulled back and thrust forward, making the table legs screech against the floor. The plates and silverware all shifted on the table. Another glass fell, spilling its contents onto the table, but it didn’t roll off.

“YOU! FUCK! I NEED YOU! I NEED MORE OF YOUR COCK! I NEED YOUR CUM! GIVE IT TO ME! FUCK! LESTER! FILL ME!. GIVE IT TO ME! I NEED IT!” Sarah’s body was rocking back uncontrollably as she fucked back on Lester’s cock. She looked like a woman possessed, and in some ways she was, but instead of a demon, it was Lester’s cock inside of her making her behave this way.

“Where do you want it?” Lester barked.

“In my pussy. In my fucking pussy,” Sarah breathed hard as she slammed back onto Lester’s cock. Her succulent breasts were hanging, wildly bouncing freely. A determined look of lust plastered over her face. Her fingers dug into the wooden table, her ass cheeks jiggling as they thrust back to meet each of Lester’s powerful thrusts, “Fill me. Fill me with your fucking cum, Lester. Fucking fill me up. God, I want to feel it inside of me. I want to feel it exploding into me! I WANT IT TO DRIP OUT OF ME! I WANT IT IN MY PUSSY AND MY MOUTH AT THE SAME TIME! FUCK I WANT IT EVERYWHERE LESTER!”

“Not until you cum for me,” Lester said as sweat glistened off his flabby chest. He was breathing hard too, “Cum on my cock and I’ll explode inside of you. Then I’ll drag you upstairs for round two. For starters.”

“Holy fuck,” Sarah whined, dropping her head, “Oh fuck. Mhmm. Fuck. Fuck. Mhmm. Jesus fucking Christ, Lester. Uh Lester. Uh. Uh. Uh. Ahmhm. Ah-mhm. Ah-hmmhm Lester. Oh Lester. Lester. Please. Fuck. Mhmm. Uhmhmhm. Lester. Yes. Yes. Right there. Don’t stop, Lester. Baby. Don’t stop. Jesus.”

Dan gulped and watched as Sarah’s body started to thrash violently on the table. She wasn’t looking at him anymore. Her head was dropped down low on the table. The soft light above the dining room table made the sweat on her beautiful back shine. His cock ached, and he thought that he might cum in his pants without even touching it.

His eyes and ears were overloaded with visual and auditory stimulation. His mouth felt dry. It was as if he were having an out-of-body experience, with all control and motor functions unavailable. He’d never lost control this badly before. The only evidence that he still had a body was the pounding of his heart in his chest. It felt like the movie Alien, where the creature bursts out of the guy’s chest.

“Oh fuck. Oh fuck. Oh fuck. Fuck me. Yes. Lester. Pound my pussy. Fuck. GIVE IT TO ME, LESTER! CUM! CUM! CUM! CUM LESTER! FUCK LESTER! I’M GOING TO! I’M...FUCKKKKK!” Sarah wailed as her body tensed and she slammed back into Lester one final time.

“SHIT,” Lester buried himself to the hilt inside of her and let out a loud groan. Dan hated that he knew what Lester’s face looked like when he came. Lester’s left foot energetically stomped on the dining room floor, and then more forcefully a second time.

All of the muscles in Sarah’s body looked rigidly tightened. Her hands were balled into fists, and she was high up on her tiptoes. Her cheeks were red, and Dan watched as her eyes rolled back in her head, her jaw hanging open, her lashes blinking uncontrollably over the whites of her unseeing eyes.

“UHHMHMMMMMMMMMMMM,” Sarah’s mouth curled up in a tight smile as she came. Dan’s wife, mother of his children, was cumming as Lester’s massive tool overfilled her with his illicit seed. Lester groaned as he pulled his cock back and slowly pumped a few more strokes into her.

The sounds of something wet hitting the floor between Sarah's legs announced Lester's load, and Dan winced.

Sarah dropped her head to the wooden table, panting hard. Lester stayed connected to Dan's wife while he caught his breath. Dan locked eyes with Lester, making a shit eating grin appear on the fat man's face.

Lester pulled his cock from Sarah with an audible plop. More wet splats filled the room as cum dripped from Lester and poured out of Sarah, falling onto the wood floor of their dining room. Lester bent forward, wrapping his arms around Sarah. His fat, pale, hairy skin, mushing into Sarah's toned, tanned body, making a fucked up contrast. He hefted Sarah's limp body up off the table, finally allowing her to stand on the heels of her feet. He turned her face to his and planted a wet, slobbering kiss on her lips.

Sarah lazily returned the kiss, clearly exhausted from just being fucked by Lester. Dan tried not to look at Lester's mammoth tool dangling between his legs, glistening with his wife's juices, already back on the rise.

Dan finally got some semblance of control back as the smell of their exhaustive sex hit his nostrils. He stumbled back and sat down in a dining room chair, trying to catch his own breath and calm his racing heart.

Sarah broke the kiss, her eyes falling on Dan. She looked completely and utterly satisfied. A small smile crept to her lips, as if she was happy she had fulfilled something for Dan and given him something he'd wanted from her. Dan didn't know what he wanted in that moment. His mind was a mess of conflicting emotions.

WHAP

Lester slapped Sarah's ass hard, making her jump forward, and more of his cum splattered onto the floor and trailed down her leg. The brute had flooded his wife.

"Let's get upstairs and clean you up before the next rounds," Lester said, grabbing one of her ass cheeks and grounding his palm into it.

"Lester. Holy shit," Sarah said, looking around at the shifted table, the broken glass, the wet floor, and the kitchen still full of dirty dishes, "We made a mess. I need to clean this up."

"Don't worry," Lester chuckled and thumbed towards Dan, "Danny boy got's it."

"Lester...." Sarah said with a frown, "That's not fair."

“How’s it not fair?” Lester chuckled again, “You did the cooking. I did the fucking. Now Danny can do the cleaning. Besides, he just sat and watched, getting a free show. Come on, let’s go upstairs. He can come join us after.”

Sarah looked to Dan for reassurance. He just nodded. Not because he wanted her to go. But because he needed a second alone to get through his thoughts. Sarah gave him a concerned look before Lester led her out of the dining room.

Dan sat there, alone in the chair, in stunned silence. His eyes roamed over the mess all around him. The pools of cum on the floor, the askew dishes. He let out a long, low breath as he heard a pair of footsteps on the floor above him and the sound of the shower turning on.

What the hell had they agreed to?

Toxic Attraction Ch. 34

Dan stood in front of the sink, mechanically scrubbing a plate as he stared unfocused at the bubbles and water before him. Some part of him knew that he had been moving his hands over the same dish for the past few minutes, but the realization never translated into a change in action.

He continued to scrub it with the abrasive side of the sponge. The water in the sink had cooled to a lukewarm temperature; his fingers had begun to prune. He didn't know if the dishwasher was full or empty. He simply needed to make sure things were clean. He wanted to do it by hand.

His eyes drifted up from the soapy water to the dining room. His stomach twisted, and he felt his skin crawl with an overwhelming sense of anxiety. And his hardened dick pressed against the kitchen cabinet below the sink.

Everything was askew in the dining room as if it were the scene of a crime. He just stared into it, almost robotically taking in the sight, not allowing anything about the room to take root in his brain. The table was several feet from where it should be and oriented the wrong way. There was broken glass on the floor and wine pooling at the base of one of the table's legs. Marinara sauce was dappled over the table's surface. And there was a pooling white substance on the floor that his brain wouldn't let him fully acknowledge - his eyes passed right over it. He was aware that a trail of the fluid led out of the dining room and across the kitchen towards the stairs. But his mind wouldn't allow that fact to reach his conscious stream of thoughts.

He looked away from the scene, back to the plate in the sink as he scrubbed it. This he could clean. He let everything else around him melt away as his entire focus rested on the plate in his hands. The suds in the water obscured his reflection. Nothing else existed. He just kept cleaning it.

His brain registered a subtle shift in the ambient noise of the house. His shoulders slumped, and his heart rate increased. He hadn't cleaned the plate enough yet. The world wasn't waiting for him to catch up. The sound of the shower turning off broke his fragile reality, and the plate slipped from his hands, disappearing silently beneath the bubbles.

Dan just stood there, listening. The sound of the water flowing to the shower had allowed him to stay in his trance. Its ceasing made his dick ache more, and his anxiety returned with a vengeance. Still, the shower shutting off was all he heard in the quiet house. Nothing else followed. Maybe he wouldn't have to –

Light footsteps fell on the floor above him. Dan held his breath. Fat, plodding footsteps followed shortly after as his empty stomach twisted in on itself. He'd lost his appetite. He didn't know if they'd been in the shower for an hour or five minutes. He just knew he could have cleaned more of the mess in the dining room within that amount of time.

The footsteps disappeared, and Dan's mind raced, wondering where they had gone. Images flashed through his head. He waited, hoping and fearing that those footsteps would descend the stairs to where he was.

He glanced back at the carnage in the dining room and gulped. He'd never felt so powerless. His attention went back to the ceiling above him. Part of him desperately wanted to ascend the stairs and see what was occurring. Another part of him wanted to put his hands around Lester's neck and not let go. But he found himself rooted in place, unable to move, hands still in the lukewarm water.

The possibilities of what might be happening upstairs kept running through his head. Mental images flashed behind his eyes. His dick was still hard, pressing into the wood of the cabinet. He found himself to be the only one of the newly declared throuple that had been denied an explosive sexual finish. A long, tired breath escaped his lips, and he slowly pulled his wrinkled hands from the water.

He dried himself on a dish towel, trying to ignore the chaotic mess of the dining room. He shuffled out of the kitchen towards the stairs. His body had decided that he needed to see what was happening. Could Lester really be ready to go again? Or were they in the marital bed sleeping? He didn't know which outcome would be worse.

As Dan moved across the living room, movement caught his eye. Outside the large bay window at the front of the house, one of their elderly neighbors was walking his dog. In the shadows, Dan stood and looked from where the man stood on the sidewalk at the end of their property to the still illuminated dining room. He hadn't been able to tear his eyes from the sight of Sarah getting savagely railed while it happened. If anyone had been outside on the sidewalk, they could have seen into the house. They could have watched all that had happened in the dining room.

He thought about turning off the lights, but that would take him away from where his legs urged him to go. He turned and started up the stairs. Halfway up, he froze, gripping the railing.

A soft, feminine moan came from somewhere upstairs. Then a soft groan of satisfaction. As if on autopilot, Dan mechanically climbed the flight of stairs. Each step felt heavier than the one before it. He felt his body moving through the upstairs hallway, but it didn't feel like he was present as he moved. He was just a passenger in his own body. Receiving the input from his eyes as if he was watching television.

The bedroom door at the end of the hallway was partially closed, but soft light spilled from the opening in a wedge on the floor. Sarah's moans of pleasure were louder now. Each step closer to his bedroom door felt like a trespass. Dan pressed his hand to the door and gently pushed it open.

Sarah's nipples went erect the second she stepped out of the warm shower into the cool, air-conditioned bathroom. She quickly grabbed a towel and dried herself off before wrapping it around her body. She looked at herself in the mirror, not believing how the night was progressing.

The things she'd said downstairs in the dining room. The way Lester had ferociously taken her, owned her in front of Dan like that. He'd dominated her. And he'd dominated Dan. She felt herself growing wet again at the thought of the things he'd done. Her gaze locked onto Lester's obscene form, still in the shower. His predatory gaze was locked back onto her as the water hit his pale, mottled skin.

Sarah shuddered, and her knees grew weak. Lester had made sure she was completely clean, running her loofah over every inch of her, letting the soap and cum run down her legs. He'd used his fat fingers to make sure she was clean inside. Then he'd had her wash him using her hands and the shower gel.

The shower turned off, and Lester stepped out, dripping all over the rug in front of the shower. She grabbed Dan's towel off the back of the door, not wanting to run to the hallway closet for a fresh one. Lester took it, gave it one dirty look and dropped it onto the floor.

He stepped closer to her, letting the water pool below him. He looked down at the towel wrapped around her body, and his finger traced the tops of her exposed breasts.

"Remember that time I caught you in just your towel? When Dan's bedroom door was locked?" Lester asked.

"Yes. And we tried to pick the lock to open it," Sarah breathed, staring up into Lester's ugly face.

“I really just wanted to rip your towel off you and drag you into my room,” Lester said.

“Maybe you should have,” Sarah bit her lip as she felt her body heating back up despite the air conditioning.

“Back then, you might not have been so eager for that,” Lester hissed.

Sarah’s eyes darted down to Lester’s crotch, and she reached out and ran her fingers along his flaccid cock, “You might be right. I didn’t know what I was missing back then. But if you dragged me into your room, I’m sure I would have come around.”

His cock jumped as she finished her sentence.

“That would’ve been fun,” Lester said.

“Forcing me?” Sarah asked.

“Breaking you in. Making you submit,” Lester said.

Sarah drew in a breath and whispered, “I think you could have. I’ve felt what you can do.”

Lester chuckled in response, “I can do more.” He grabbed the front of her towel, peeling it off her body, “I’m all wet.”

“Me too,” Sarah said as Lester pulled the towel from her, revealing her naked body. Her flawless skin was completely dry. The squat brute began to dry himself off, not taking his eyes off the perfection of Sarah’s nude form. She held onto his flaccid cock, feeling it begin to become firm again at her touch, “Do you really think you’ll be able to go again, or did you say that just to mess with Dan downstairs?”

“You should know by now that I enjoy fucking with Dan’s head,” Lester said, “And you know damn well I’m going to fuck you all night long. I never kid about that.”

“I’m just making sure,” Sarah said with a lick of her lips.

“Let’s get to the bed. I’m going to take care of my girl,” Lester reached behind her and grabbed a handful of her naked ass cheek and steered her body out of the bathroom towards her marital bed in the next room.

Sarah turned, a smile on her face as she backed up towards her bed. Lester followed her, carelessly throwing the wet towel onto the floor.

He stepped right up into her personal space as the back of her knees touched the bed. Sarah looked down at Lester's beady, piercing eyes and her heart pounding in anticipation. His fat paws ran warmly up her arms and came to rest at her shoulders. Then he pushed her with more force than she was expecting.

Sarah fell back onto the bed, the world spinning for a brief second before she landed. She quickly refocused her eyes and looked down. Standing before her toned legs was what other women would describe as a horrific sight. A fat, troll-like man with ugly, crude features stood staring down at her. His body was oddly shaped with rolls of fat and pasty white skin covered in a thick, uneven matting of coarse hair. A wide, chill-inducing smirk spread wide on his face and the most beautiful cock she had ever laid eyes on dangled bewitchingly between his legs.

"Come to mamma," Sarah heard herself saying as both her legs swayed back and forth playfully before she spread them open in welcome. Lester's grin grew wider as he looked down at the slow reveal of Sarah's naked, glistening pussy. He licked his lips and climbed onto the bed, kneeling before her.

"How long do you think until Dan makes his way up here?" Lester said in a low voice. Although it was poking out from under his gut, she could see that he was almost back to his full length.

"I don't know. Probably not long," Sarah said, just wishing Lester would touch her already.

"He seemed to enjoy what happened downstairs. It was like he was in a trance," Lester said with a soft chuckle.

"I know. I was really hoping he might stick up for himself. But I still enjoyed it," Sarah said, running her calf up Lester's waist.

"You called him a little boy," Lester chuckled, running his eyes up Sarah's body until he locked in. His gaze matched hers.

"I did," Sarah breathed, "I felt so bad saying it. But it felt so good, too. So bad, so... right. I think he liked it."

"I know he did. I told you he likes being humiliated. Loves it, maybe. If he comes back up to watch us, I think we should lean into that again for his sake. Give him what he needs," Lester said.

"For him? Not for you?" Sarah raised an eyebrow at the ugly man.

Lester smiled again, “For all of us. I know you enjoy it too.”

“I never said that,” Sarah licked her lips as Lester slowly lowered his fiendish face between her pristine thighs.

“You don’t have to. I can tell by the way your pussy was squeezing my cock tight and how hard you came when you did,” Lester grinned, his tongue lazily drifting out of his mouth and licking her thigh. Sarah breathed in sharply, propped up on her elbows, locking down at Lester, tasting her.

“Lay back and relax, baby. Let me take care of you. And get ready to put on a show for your little husband,” Lester growled and slowly licked her other thigh, fully extending his tongue. Sarah dropped her head back onto the bed and stared up at the ceiling. The room was dark, with only the light from the bathroom illuminating her view.

She anxiously ran her hands through her blonde hair as Lester’s warm breath cascaded onto her pussy lips. Sarah’s body was tight with anticipation, waiting to feel the thrust of his tongue. He kept kissing and licking the skin of her thighs, right next to her pussy. Her ass rolled back and forth, trying to force a connection with his tongue. He deftly licked the underside of her ass cheek, making her moan sharply.

Then she felt his fat tongue lick agonizingly slowly up her slit.

“Mhmmffffmmhmm,” Sarah moaned, her ass pushing off the bed towards Lester’s fat tongue. He licked the inside of her labia, teasing her languidly. Sarah whined and let her hands run through her damp hair. Lester was such a generous lover, giving her everything she needed.

His plump tongue moved higher, spreading apart her soaking slit until it found its target at the top. Sarah let a guttural groan escape her lips as his broad, agile tongue pressed against the hood of her clit. Then he flicked the tip of his tongue across it, making her entire body jolt, “Uhhh.”

Lester repeated his proficient tongue-lashing. Over and over, running his fat, bulbous tongue back and forth, hard against her sensitive nub. Sarah’s head rolled back and forth, the cool air in the house dancing across the goosebumps on her bare skin, making her nipples excruciatingly hard. Lester’s tongue licked and dragged itself across her engorged clitoris. His lips closed around it, and he then sucked it between his pursed lips.

“OhfuckLesterbaby,” Sarah cried, her thighs clenching around Lester’s head. He never stopped. He kept sucking on her clit like that while his tongue still somehow managed to flick across it. Then he hummed his agreement - a deep bass rumble coming from deep in his throat. One of Sarah's hands ran down her prone body, over her trembling naked breasts, until it came to rest on Lester's undried head. Her nails gently ran through the damp strands of his thinning hair. As he maintained his suction, he began pushing his head forward, then slightly pulling it back before thrusting forward again, humming in a tonal manner throughout. Her hips rocked back, as if she were being penetrated.

Sarah's thighs clenched his head between them. His hands left her thrusting hips and snaked their way up her body until both of them seized a plump breast in each palm. He wasn't gentle. He grabbed them hard, squeezing them fiercely. His thumbs found her hard nipples and started playing with them, pinching them with little regard for comfort. Sarah's chest arched off the bed, seeking more barbaric treatment from his rough hands. The vacuum seal of his sucking mouth never left her clit, he just kept increasing the pressure on it, flicking his tongue over and across it. Humming in grunting breaths through his nose when he could. Working her up, closer and closer to the inevitable orgasm that she could feel rapidly building inside of her.

"Uhhmmmm," Sarah groaned. Somehow, Lester wasn't yet gasping for air, even though she held him in place with her thighs. His mouth was still latched onto her, and he didn't show any signs of letting go.

Sarah knew she was getting close. With her eyes squeezed shut, she focused on the lapping, sucking sensation of Lester's mouth and the way he was viciously manhandling her breasts. The sensations were delivering her to a height of blissful ecstasy she'd only experienced with this conventionally unattractive man. His tongue flicked across her swollen clit as he sucked on it. The rumble from his throat sent a constant vibration through her core. His thumbs were swirling around her nipples as he ruthlessly massaged her breasts. She needed to feel that explosion inside of her again. She had already cum downstairs, but tonight she was going to be selfish and get as many as she could. Her lover seemed up to the challenge

She raised her left leg and placed her foot on Lester's shoulder. Then she did the same with the right one, letting her push her drenched pussy further into Lester's face. He let go of one of her breasts and grabbed her ass cheek, helping to prop her up. Then his other hand followed, and he held her up like a chalice as he dined on her open pussy.

Sarah's leg kicked into the air involuntarily as Lester's mouth feverishly worshipped her clit. It felt so fucking good. Lester knew just what to do to make her feel amazing, where to touch, how to taste. He was always so focused on her pleasure. He stopped sucking on her for a moment to breathe and then resumed, gently running his tongue up and down her clit. Up and down, then side to side, with just the perfect amount of nimble pressure.

“Mhmm. Mhmm. Uhh. Mhmm. Nnnghh,” Sarah’s head thrashed on her pillow. She gripped the bedsheets with one hand while the other stayed planted on Lester’s fat head, encouraging his plunder. Lester’s lips closed around her clit again, and he resumed sucking on it while humming away, his tongue darting out to lap at the source of her sensations from within his mouth. Sarah let go of the bedsheets and grabbed one of her breasts, softly massaging it and tweaking her own nipple between her thumb and forefinger.

“Fuck Lester,” Sarah moaned, her eyes squeezed shut. She ground her heels into Lester’s shoulders, thrusting her ass off the bed, pushing her pussy into his expertly sucking mouth.

“Oh fuck. Fuck. Oh god. Lester,” Sarah whined as she felt the familiar sexual calamity building up inside of her. The burning heat that was about to bubble up and explode, showering her body with waves of pleasure. The ball of pleasure churning within her grew too large for anything to hold back.

“Ah Fffffffuck!” Sarah ground her teeth together as her thighs squished Lester’s head like the oversized watermelon it was. Her thighs held him in a vice as the expanding orb inside of her exploded, showering her insides with a searing fire that touched every nerve. Her skin felt incredibly sensitive as a warm sensation spread out into her chest. Sarah squeezed Lester’s head as she saw stars behind her eyelids, every muscle in her body tensed as her orgasm rocked through her.

“Ohhhhhhffuuuuck,” Sarah moaned as the waves of pleasure coursing through her began to recede. She slowly relaxed her legs, taking the pressure off Lester’s face. She raised her head lazily and looked down at Lester. His face was red, and their combined juices dripped from his cheeks and nose, his eyes locked onto hers as he continued to lap and suck on her clit. Sarah looked at him dreamily after having experienced such an intense orgasm. She’d never been able to cum when Dan had tried eating her out in the past. It hadn’t bothered her; it was just something they’d accepted he couldn’t do. But Lester knew exactly how to touch her.

A floorboard near the door creaked, and Sarah turned her head to see Dan standing there with a thousand-mile stare on his face. His eyes were locked onto hers, but they seemed unfocused.

As the last echoes of her orgasm dissipated, Lester’s tongue continued to stoke the embers of another. “Dan?” Sarah said. She could see her husband’s shoulders subtly rising and falling, his body reacting to the scene before him.

Lester paused in his loving tonguing and turned his head to the side to look at Dan. Sarah wasn't sure how long Dan had been standing there, just inside the door, but she could see the evident bulge in his pants.

Just as Dan's eyes locked onto hers, Lester dropped his head. He lifted her by her asscheeks, higher into the air. Her shoulder blades held her weight on the sheets. His tongue lashed out again, this time licking down her taint until his tongue swirled around her asshole.

"FuckshitLester," Sarah cried, kicking her legs uselessly into the air. She tried clamping her thighs together to stop him, but they only found the top of his head where her hand was still planted. Lester's tongue swirled around her starfish. His head began nodding up and down as he licked her savagely.

"Lester!" Sarah said, her voice coming out shocked and laced with erotic pleasure. She writhed on the bed, trying to both turn away from him while her ass stuck out towards him. They wrestled back and forth on the bed, Sarah trying and failing to turn to the side while Lester held her in place, half bent and up in the air like a pretzel. The entire time, his tongue was lashing at her puckered asshole, prodding her entrance, making her whine.

"L-Lester!" Sarah managed to dislodge one of her feet from Lester's shoulder and planted it on the bed. She pushed on it, flipping her body over away from Lester's probing tongue. But Lester didn't let up. As Sarah flipped onto her stomach, he dropped himself flat onto the bed, tongue still glued to her opening. One of his meaty paws was glued to her ass cheek, holding her down and giving him room to work his mouth. The other hand snaked around her thigh and found her clit with his probing fingers.

Sarah's eyes shot open as Lester began to gently massage her clit while his tongue licked and pushed at her backside. Before she knew what she was doing, her body responded, pushing down on her knees and driving her ass back into Lester's face. She dropped her head to the bed, her blonde hair falling around her.

"Uhmhmhmm," Sarah whined as she pushed her ass back against Lester's tongue. It was swirling, lapping and stroking her asshole. Lester licked up and down, swabbing her anus, sending her completely over the edge. Her mouth hung open for breath as she acted like a depraved slut in front of her husband, "Uhmhmh. Uh...Nggnnn, ggooooodd, uhmhmhmm, uhh, uhh." It occurred to her as she continued to spread her cheeks open for her lover that she wasn't acting.

Lester's fingers danced knowingly around her clit, gently massaging it with just the right amount of tender pressure. Sarah felt her eyes roll back in her head. His tongue was pushing hard against her backside while his fingers expertly applied just a bit of force as they twirled around the seat of her pleasure. How he could keep up two different rhythms like that at once, she had no idea, but she was very fucking thankful that he could.

She knew Dan was in the room, but he was the absolute last thing on her mind. Her brain was solely focused on the overwhelming amount of pleasure coming from the center of her body. As the thought receded, without warning, another explosive orgasm quickly rose like a tsunami inside of her and crashed down on her quaking body.

"Arrghhmfuucccckkkk, oh, ooh, mmhmmmmmm," Sarah whined as her body convulsed, thrusting her open ass back against Lester's fat tongue, her thighs closing tightly around Lester's hand, massaging her clit. Every nerve in her body felt like it was on fire as her torso shuddered and she briefly felt herself drifting from consciousness.

When she finally came to her senses, her body felt as though it was enveloped in a warm hug. Everything felt right with the world for a few seconds as a weightlessness settled over her. Sarah licked her lips and opened her eyes, seeing a tangle of blonde hair obscuring her sight. Lester pulled his tongue and fingers out of her, a soft moan of disappointment escaping her lips.

She felt his grubby animal hands on her hips, and he swiftly rolled her over. The dim light from the bathroom made her shield her eyes at the sudden illumination. When she finally adjusted to them, she saw a shadow splayed out against the wall. She had forgotten Dan was standing there watching them. His spaced-out look was gone, and it now looked like he was consumed with an eager energy. Sarah's eyes went to his hand that was gently stroking himself over his pants.

The bed shifted, and Lester was climbing back up to meet her. He ravenously pushed her legs apart, and she could see his giant cock dripping pre-cum as it pointed right at her. Sarah instinctively reached for it and pulled it towards her opening, needing to feel the heavenly object inside of her. Lester shuffled up the bed until he was kneeling between her open legs, his glistening cockhead gently pressing against her dripping pussy. Sarah pushed her hips down, trying to make a connection, but Lester just chuckled and held his cock where it was.

"Need something?" Lester said.

Sarah nodded desperately, knowing what the ugly man wanted to hear, "Your cock. I need your cock. Please put it in me, Lester. I need to feel it."

“Oh, this cock?” Lester said, flexing his appendage. “This one here?”

“Mhm, yes. That one. I need it. Please, Lester,” Sarah moaned, “I want you. Please.”

“You once told me that it was too bad a cock like this was connected to someone like me. Do you remember that? Now what do you think?” Lester was slowly sliding the head of his cock up and down Sarah’s wet and waiting slit. A few times, she impatiently bucked her hips and almost made a connection with it.

“Fuck,” Sarah gasped, “I didn’t know what I was thinking when I said that. Fuck, your cock is so good, and you really know how to use it. You know how to fucking own me. Come on, Lester fucking put it in me.”

Lester smirked and looked at Dan, “Just stay the fuck there, Danny, no touching.”

Lester then chuckled to himself and stared back at Sarah’s face, slowly pushing his cock into her, watching her expression. Sarah grunted as she felt Lester’s cock stretch her. Even after all this time, each time he pushed into her, it felt like she was going to be torn in two from his invasion. Just as quickly, she felt herself adjust inside to his immense size. Lester stared at her face, watching it contort as inch after delicious inch of Lester’s girthy cock slid into her flooding canal.

“Fuck, you’re always so tight,” Lester said as he pushed himself fully in, his massive hairy balls slapping against her ass, still wet with his drool. Lester settled his weight on top of her, his fat gut pressing down on Sarah’s toned stomach.

“Kiss me,” Lester said. Without a second thought, Sarah closed her eyes and opened her mouth, connecting with Lester’s lips before he’d finished pronouncing the words. Their tongues quickly found each other, twirling and tangling with each other in a saliva-infused mess. Sarah moaned into Lester’s mouth as he slowly pumped his hips. His steel firm cock slid out and then back into her. She wrapped her legs around his wide hips and locked her ankles possessively behind his misshapen ass. For the next few minutes, Lester slowly fucked her like that while they continued to make out gently. Their tongues danced together, their lips softly kissing and touching each other. Her hands came to rest on his upper arms while he made the sweetest love to her.

Eventually, Lester broke their intimate kiss as his thrusts began to increase in tempo and force. Sarah licked her lips, savoring Lester’s distinct taste. She turned her head to the side and relished in the full feeling of Lester’s giant cock moving bare back inside of her. She slowly opened her eyes and saw Dan, still standing close to the door, but now his pants were down at his ankles. His dick was in one hand, and he was slowly stroking it. It looked hard as a rock, and he seemed to be slowly edging it, as if it were a gun ready to go off.

Lester followed her gaze, and a disgusted look appeared on his face, “Hey. Hey, no. Uh-uh. Pineapple.”

The hand on Dan’s cock froze, and he looked at them wide-eyed.

“What?” Sarah asked. She had a stunned expression on her face.

“Pineapple! I said it and I meant it,” Lester said, “Stop stroking yourself to us. It’s unbecoming and creepy. Just stand there and watch. Stay in your lane and we can all enjoy ourselves.”

“Lester...” Sarah said, looking between her husband and the ogre above her, “Be nice, it’s not –”

Lester had taken the time to move his wet lips under her golden tresses, behind Sarah’s red, flushed cheeks, away from Dan’s view. Her husband could barely hear the whisper, but to Sarah the words were all she could hear. “Remember what we talked about,” Lester’s whispered voice boomed in her ear. A thrilling chill jolted down her muscles. Dan gawked as Lester’s tongue dragged across Sarah’s shivering grimace. Then he turned towards Dan, “Do you remember way back when you let me go into your bedroom first? Remember what you said? You told me, ‘you can’t fuck her.’

Then he looked at Sarah, “And you. The night you first sucked on my cock. You told me, you can’t fuck me, Lester.’ Do you remember that?”

“You didn’t know it then, but I knew it was just a matter of time before I flipped the tables on you. I told you. I told you I would slide my cock into you. Now look at you, Danny, standing there with your cock in your hand like a pathetic little cuck while your wife acts like, no, your wife has become my complete slut,” Lester snarled, spittle falling onto Sarah’s breast. “Have you ever gotten a taste of your wife’s ass? Huh? No? Figures. You don’t know what to do with this woman. I gotta tell you, her ass is fucking delicious.”

“Tell him,” Lester said, “Tell him what he needs to hear. Tell him what you told me right before you first tasted my cum.”

Sarah bit her lip and looked at the intense gaze on Dan’s face. She ran her hands over her breasts, “Everything over here on this bed...”

“Everything over here,” She repeated, biting her lip and making a show of touching her naked breasts, “Is just for Lester. My breasts....”

She trailed off as her hands ran up her chest, up her neck and to her lips, “My lips....”

She made a show of rubbing her legs up and down Lester’s body, “Everything is for him.”

As the words left her lips, Sarah’s brain went into overdrive. Cruel thoughts began to swirl through her mind. Things that would both hurt and turn Dan on while also serving to fan the flames of her own wicked desires, “This was what you wanted....”

Sarah started letting the words come out, her mouth speaking before her brain had a chance to process what she was saying, “You....you pushed me towards this...you’ve wanted this for years....and now I’m his...this is everything you wanted....for someone else to own me....to fuck my brains out....to make me feel things I’ve never felt before.....never felt with you...never, never could feel with you...I didn’t love the idea of your fantasies at first....Honestly, I thought they were a little perverted....But I indulged you....because I loved, I love, I love you....but then....but then...the fantasy got real....and....I didn’t know...”

Sarah let out a sexy little chuckle, “I didn’t know sex could be this incredible....to be sexually dominated and physically owned by someone....to feel this full of someone else....fuck.....thank you....thank you Dan....without you I’d never have known what fucking was really like...what it means to get truly and well fucked....thank you...”

A wicked smile grew on Lester’s face, and he started pumping into her faster. She felt his growing cock flexing inside of her. He clearly liked hearing what she was saying, and even his body was responding to it. So she continued, “And now you’ve let Lester...” here she paused to look at him, her eyes looking slightly crossed as she gazed intently into his eyes right in front of her. She gave herself over to the feeling and began a deep kiss with him, pulling away to look into his eyes with awed wonder. The lingering stare into his hard cast look affected her, and she let herself go for a second sensuous kiss, and then a few seconds later, Sarah seemed to remember she’d stopped in mid-sentence. “You let him back into our house....the one time you actually threw him out and I thought that you might change....be a real man....but no... now you’re just standing there...still not doing anything....just watching as Lester fucks your wife....and all you can do is stroke your penis....thats right...penis.....it’s not even a cock....Lester has the cock here....I never knew the difference until I met him...”

“Aw, don’t be mean, so Sarah,” Lester grunted as his expanding cock pounded into her. His rhythm was increasing with each word she spoke. “It’s not Dan’s fault, he’s just a little fella. He can't help it."

As Lester's sweat dripped off his forehead and fell onto Sarah's breasts, she saw the crimson mask appear on Dan's face. His breathing rapidly grew more intense. His cock twitched in his hand, and a dribble of clear pre-cum leaked out of it.

"Just a boy," Sarah moaned and looked up at Lester, "Show him. Let him see how a real man fucks."

Lester grinned down at her and started power thrusting his hips into her. His fat gut dragged down her body and then back up, and he thrust himself wholly into her. He dragged the entire length of his cock out of her, glazed with a thick film of both their combined fluids, until just the glistening head remained inside and then thrust his entire length back into her, over and over, in and out. Lester's fat cock impaled her repeatedly, taking her to places only he could get her to.

"Mhmmfucckk. Oh fuckk. Lester.....God...show Dan how a real man fucks. Show him what a woman should be treated to...."

"Do you think Dan will ever be able to fuck like this?"

Sarah smirked, and a short puff of air left her nostrils, "No.....I don't know if we've ever really fucked before, I'd really have to think about that.....no, we've just had sex...god Lester.....you're a fucking god....."

"Pineapple!" Lester half shouted again, looking over at Dan. Dan's hand had gone back to his crotch. "Jesus Christ, how hard is it not to touch yourself while we're talking. You're like a little boy who's just discovered his dad's Playboys."

Dan blinked and let go of his cock. He seemed utterly shocked that their private safe word had come from Lester's mouth. Sarah squeezed her pussy around Lester's thick cock, eagerly working it into her body. Just hearing the way that Lester was speaking to Dan made her pussy walls even slicker than before. She felt so overwhelmingly wet. Her thighs and pussy were covered in Lester's saliva and her own juices. Everything felt sharper and more heightened.

"Did you hear that, Dan? I'm a fucking sex god," Lester chortled, "Don't worry. It's ok. Now you don't have to fumble around in the dark anymore, trying to figure out how to please your wife. Now that I'm part of the household, I'll do you the favor of taking on that responsibility."

“Doesn’t that sound good?” Lester said as he thrust his full length into Sarah, making her heavy breasts jiggle, “You won’t have to just settle for maintenance sex ever again. I’ll FUCK you like this all the time.”

“God, I can’t fucking wait,” Sarah moaned, thinking about all the sex she’d have on demand now. She hadn’t been sure about this whole throuple idea, but she was coming around now that she was getting the benefits of it. “Fuck Lester. You feel so fucking big. I love it...”

“Tell Danny boy over there to get used to his hand, just not right now, heh heh,” Lester teased.

Sarah moaned, feeling another orgasm rising inside of her, “Just don’t stop, Lester. Don’t stop. I’m close. Again. So fucking close.”

She turned her head and looked at her husband standing there, his cock hard, pointing towards her, “Dan. My love....add some lotion to our grocery list. The good lotion, because you’ll need it. Lester’s the one who’s going to be fucking me from now on. You’re going to have to settle for your hand, and I don’t want you to rub yourself until you chafe. I’m all his.”

“Good girl,” Lester breathed, sweat beading down his face. Her heart warmed at his words.

Sarah stared at Dan’s dick, needing to see him touch it. Needing to see it explode, “Should....shouldn’t we let him....touch it....it’s cruel, Lester, not to let him...”

“What?” Lester asked, “Who are you talking about?”

“Dan,” Sarah gestured as she bit her lip, her breasts bouncing furiously underneath Lester, “Let him stroke it to us. Touch himself and see me moan like he could never make me do.”

“Oh, husband number two?” Lester chuckled, “Mr. Pineapple himself? Bob Dole over there?”

Sarah nodded her head and looked at her husband, “You want that, Dan? You want to stroke it? Touch yourself watching Lester fuck me?”

“Fuck...” Dan muttered, the first words she’d heard him use since downsairs. She took that as a yes. Dan’s hand went to his cock.

“Wait,” Sarah said to Dan, then looked back up at Lester, “Can he? Will you let him?”

Lester’s trademark shit eating grin spread across his face, and Sarah’s pussy tightened around his cock like a vice. She knew that he was about to say something to Dan that would push her over the edge and make her explode.

Lester looked over at Dan in disgust, “Watching time’s over. . It’s time to go, Danny. Go out into the hallway and shut the door, then you can do whatever you want. I just don’t want to have to see that in here. It’s gross.”

Time stood still. Dan just stood there, wide-eyed with his cock in his hand. His jaw opened as if he was about to say something. Lester held still above Sarah. The only thing moving in the room was Sarah’s curvy hips as they bucked off the bed, seeking more of Lester’s cock. She was slowly losing the orgasm she had been building to as his thrusts stopped.

“Lester. Please don’t stop,” Sarah whined as she desperately raised her hips off the bed, pleading for his cock, “Please, Lester, don’t stop. I’m losing it.”

“Not until Dan leaves,” Lester said in a low voice.

Sarah turned her head to look at her husband and the shocked look on his face. She could see the desperate gleam in his eye as precum leaked from his dick.

“Dan, go out into the hallway,” Sarah heard herself saying, “Shut the door.”

Dan’s eyes locked with hers.

“It’s time to go, Dan. Private time.” Sarah said as she sucked on her bottom lip, “Please.”

She watched in both shame and jubilation as Dan shrank from view. With each step back, his features were more obscured, the soft glow from the bathroom barely illuminating his exit. Sarah couldn’t see, but she heard the familiar sound of their doorknob turning. Only it was unfamiliar, the unmistakable shaking of her husband’s hand as he grasped the doorknob. They never broke eye contact as he stepped into the hallway and pulled the shrouded door closed behind him. Sarah’s hips shook harder as Dan’s presence became a mystery beyond the darkness as he carefully pulled the door closed behind him.

The soft click of the door mechanism echoed into the room as Lester leaned his weight harder into Sarah. Her beautiful face glowed in Lester’s eyes as she turned her sweat-soaked face away from Dan's as he slunk into the darkness. Sarah's eyes floated down to meet Lester's. "He left."

Sarah extended her tongue out, but Lester didn't engage. "That's what you wanted..." Her hips ground into Lester. "To be alone with me..." Sarah's delicate hand went up Lester's chest, getting caught on his thick, matted chest hair. Sarah kept rubbing his flabby chest. "Hey...Dan should've left me alone with you that first day... If I had known, I would've begged for this."

Sarah's hips danced across Lester's soft rolls. She felt him swell inside her. "I don't know how you learned to do this...But you fucking took me from my husband," Sarah started holding onto Lester and leveraging her body up and down. Trying to force him inside herself out of horny frustration, "Now fuck me."

Lester grinned and resumed his long, methodical, slow thrusts into her. His plunging cock dragged across her G-Spot, and Sarah visibly shuddered. She tightened her ankles around his ass, and her nails dug into the fat of his back as she pulled him into her.

"Don't be shy now," Lester chortled, "Make sure husband number two can hear you."

"FUCK ME, LESTER," Sarah screamed as Lester's fat, thick cock increased its thunderous thrusts into her. She was connected with this fat troll of a man, as their two bodies became one. She felt an animalistic urge rise inside of her, and she found she couldn't hold herself back. She kissed and licked the top of his nearly bald head, desperate to consume every ounce of this incredible man. The sweat on his forehead tasted bitterly salty on her lips. Her supple hips flew off the bed with each jolting thrust, desperate to meet Lester on his thrusting downstroke.

The web of veins on Lester's cock pulsed in unison inside of her, and she could swear she could feel the pounding of his heart beating throughout her body. Lester was breathing just as hard as she was, both their lustful bodies now slick with fuck sweat. She didn't know where her sweat began and his sweat ended. All she knew was that she needed him more than anything she had ever needed in her life and that she was going to explode.

"UHH. MHMMM.FUCKKK. LESTER...
BABY....PLEASE.....PLEASEEEEE.....FUCKKK," Sarah whined.

"I don't think he can hear you," Lester whispered in her ear, "Make sure to tell him how much of a fucking idiot he was for ever starting this."

“FUCK...DAN....I’M GOING TO CUM ON LESTER’S FAT COCK,” Sarah screamed as she bit into her lip. “THIS IS WHAT YOU WANTED. MY HUSBAND. WANTED ME TO FUCK HIS ROOMMATE. NOW YOU’RE OUT THERE AND HE’S IN HERE FUCKING THE SHIT OUT OF ME. FUCKING ME RAW.”

“IT FEELS
SO.....FUCK....UHHHHHMHMM.....LESTER....LESTER....FUCK.....SHITFUCK..”

“DON’T STOP BABY....FUCK...I’M SORRY, DAN. I’M LESTER’S...I NEED THAT REAL COCK.....FUCK. GIVE IT TO ME.”

Sarah’s pussy clenched onto Lester’s cock like an immovable vice. She wasn’t letting him go. Not now. Not when her body was about to feel so fucking good again. Her nails dug deeper into his back, pulling his fat chest down onto hers. Her big breasts mashed into his flabby chest. Her nipples were dragging across his skin with each powerful thrust of his cock.

Her ankles tightened around his ass, heels digging into his flesh. Lester smirked down at her.

“Cum for me, Sarah. Show Dan who the man of the house is now. Let him hear who owns you.”

“UHHHHMHMHJHUHHH-NNNHAAAHHHHHMMM,” Sarah screamed in the monstrous man’s face as her orgasm exploded. Pleasure radiated out from Lester’s cock, emanating through her penetrated body in mind-bending waves that didn’t seem ever to end. Her lithe limbs pulled and squeezed at Lester’s fat frame like a sausage casing as she gripped him with every ounce of her being. Sweat poured off of him and onto her lips, and Sarah felt the foul tide slide behind her clenched teeth. Sarah’s vision went dark as her eyes rolled back into her head, her lashes frantically spasming. She felt her whole body convulse violently as she continued to cum. Lester’s body crushed her, making it impossible for her to breathe, but she welcomed suffocation if it meant she could hold onto this extraordinary feeling. “FUUUUCCCCCKKKKKKK!!!”

Dan stared at the white panel of the door as he pulled it closed behind him. This was wrong. So not right. So fucking unbelievably wrong. Why couldn’t he just say something? Why couldn’t he just do something? He’d pulled Lester off Sarah before and thrown him out of their house, but now.....Now he just felt so impotent.

How had he let things get to this point?

Because this is what you wanted. Dan thought. He gulped as the voice inside his head continued to fill him with negative, self-destructive thoughts.

“FUCK ME LESTER!!” Sarah’s voice screamed through the door. Dan felt his heart lurch in his chest as he tried to picture what was happening on the other side. Were they still moving in the same position? What did Sarah’s face look like? Was she gazing at Lester or was she looking at the door, imagining Dan standing alone in the hallway?

Dan wished there were a peephole through which he could look. The realization led to a sad and depressing thought that he had been relegated to a peeping Tom in his own home. Dan’s cock twitched as he realized he was still holding onto it.

With a sharp intake of breath, he slid his hand up his shaft and shivered in the tempting sensations he felt. He rested his forehead on the door and fully pictured the lewd scene happening on the other side.

He breathed hard, needing a release. He’d be able to think clearly after that. He stroked himself, trying to push down the pathetic judgmental thoughts about himself.

“UHH. MHMMM.FUCKKK. LESTER...
BABY....PLEASE.....PLEASEEEE.....FUCKKK,” Sarah cried.

Dan started stroking faster, hating every second of it. His face felt flush with shame as he jerked off to his wife’s defilement at the hands of the mountain troll and the fact that she loved every fucking second of it.

“FUCK...DAN....I’M GOING TO CUM ON LESTER’S FAT COCK,” Sarah screamed as she bit into her lip. “THIS IS WHAT YOU WANTED. MY HUSBAND. WANTED ME TO FUCK HIS ROOMMATE. NOW YOU’RE OUT THERE AND HE’S IN HERE FUCKING THE SHIT OUT OF ME. FUCKING ME RAW.”

His heart sagged in his chest as her truths bit into him. He had indeed wanted this. He’d pushed for it. He’d wanted to see her behave like this for years, and now here he was, jerking off alone in the hallway while his roommate crammed his immense cock into the mother of his two children. He’d never imagined this utterly humiliating scenario, but couldn’t stop stroking himself. He increased his pace, feeling his balls tighten and knew it was only a matter of seconds.

He didn’t want to go into the bathroom out here to explode. And he didn’t have any Kleenex he could unleash into. His boxers had been left on the floor inside the bedroom.

“IT FEELS
SO.....FUCK....UHHHHMHMM.....LESTER....LESTER....FUCK.....SHITFUCK..”

Dan couldn't hold back any longer. His balls tightened, and his cock twitched. Cum blasted out of him, painting the bedroom door a new shade of off-white. Cum kept shooting out as Dan tried to catch his breath. He'd never cum quite this much. For a moment, it felt like he was peeing. As the last dribble escaped onto the carpet of the hallway, his negative thoughts came rushing back to haunt him.

Lester still hasn't cum yet. He's still fucking her. Giving her more pleasure than I'll ever be able to. Maybe this is all for the best. Maybe this is what she needs. I'm not enough. I can't give her what she needs. I can't even fucking provide for her. I'm completely worthless.

“DON'T STOP BABY....FUCK...I'M SORRY, DAN. I'M LESTER'S...I NEED THAT REAL COCK.....FUCK. GIVE IT TO ME.”

Dan staggered back from the stained door, needing to get away from it. He needed air. He needed water. He turned away, stumbling down the hallway, one hand braced on the wall as Sarah's cries echoed tauntingly behind him.

“UHHHHMHMHJHUHHH-NNNHAAAHHHHHMMM.”

Dan felt his brain going catatonic again as he stepped down the stairs.

“FUUUUCCCCCKKKKKKK!!!”

Lester smirked down as Sarah's face calmed and she came back down to earth after her massive orgasm. Her hips rested back on the bed, and presently she was struggling to catch her breath. While her eyes were closed, he glanced at the closed door and sneered.

Dan had folded like a house of cards, slinking out of the bedroom with his tail between his legs. Sarah had thankfully gone along with Lester's shit talking plans, but he needed to cement them into place, hopefully skewing her opinion of her soon-to-be ex-husband as the pathetic little worm he was.

Lester wanted to keep fucking Sarah's brains out, but he reminded himself that this was an ongoing campaign to win hearts and minds. He reluctantly slid back and pulled his cock from the warm, airtight embrace of Sarah's pussy, eliciting a disappointing moan from his new throuple mate.

Her eyes fluttered open, looking at him with needful confusion, "What are you doing? You didn't finish...."

"We're just getting started. I told you I was going to fuck you all over this house, and I meant it," Lester fixed her with a determined stare as he got off the bed, his crotch slick with Sarah's dripping juices. He padded over to the door, eager to fling it open and reveal a shocked Dan and parade Sarah down the hall in front of him. Holding the man's wife while he held his dick in his other hand.

When he opened the door, the hallway was empty. Lester frowned but noticed a familiar streak of an off-white substance flowing down the door.

"Looks like Dan enjoyed listening to you, to what we did together," Lester chuckled, holding the door open and gesturing to the trail of fresh cum streaming down it.

Sarah propped herself up on the bed, "Is that going to stain?"

"Probably. But that's something for Danny to deal with tomorrow," Lester said, "Right now it's time for you to get that sexy ass over here. Let's go fuck in the office."

Sarah sat up on the bed and touched between her legs, "I don't know if I can. I'm already so wet. You might slip out of me."

Lester laughed as if she'd told an old joke, shaking his head, "Sarah, that's just something guys with small dicks need to worry about," Lester said, grasping his heavy cock, "This cock ain't 'slipping out.' That's ridiculous. Would your tight snatch ever let this cock fall out of you? Now shut your pretty mouth and get over here."

Sarah bit her lip and quickly crossed the room to where Lester waited. When she was close, he grabbed her hand and pulled her with him down the hall into Dan's office. Lester plopped himself down in Dan's computer chair and pointed to his ramrod straight cock, "Clean it up before we get started again."

Sarah gave him a flirty look, batting her eyes and quickly sank to her knees, grabbing his full-length cock in both hands and lowering her mouth onto it. Lester leaned back in the chair, putting his hands behind his head, hoping Dan would walk by and get a sight of the lurid scene from the office door. His wife, cleaning her juices from her new man's cock as he sat in Dan's place.

“More tongue,” Lester said, “Lick every inch of it.”

Sarah peered up at him, her tongue on the underside of his cock, “Are you sure? Every inch? I could be down here for hours.”

“Heh,” Lester chuckled, “Take all the time you need. The faster you clean it, the faster I’ll slide it back into you. You do want to cum on it again, don’t you?”

“More than anything,” Sarah said, flicking her tongue out again and running it up the entire length of this cock, not breaking eye contact. When her tongue reached the tip of his cock, she ran it back down the side of his spittle-sheathed shaft, cleaning it off completely.

“Good girl,” Lester licked his lips, “Where do you think Dan ran off to?”

“I thought you didn’t care about my husband?” Sarah said.

“I’m just wondering if he’s going to come back upstairs with a baseball bat and crack my head open,” Lester said.

Sarah smirked and shook her head, “No. I think now that he came, he’s probably resting down on the couch, trying to get his mind around all this.”

“No second wind for him?” Lester smirked.

Sarah sighed and licked another side of Lester’s bulging cock, “Not usually.”

“You’re going to have to stop calling him your husband,” Lester said, wagging a scolding fat finger at her, “Now that we’re in a throuple, we should all be equal.”

“Well, I did marry him,” Sarah said right before twirling her tongue around the head of Lester’s stupidly large cock, lapping up some pre-cum that had mixed with the copious fluids she had coated it with earlier, in her bedroom.

“I gave you a ring,” Lester said, “And you accepted it.”

“That just means we’re engaged,” Sarah teased back, not breaking their eye contact. She gave his cock a deep kiss that was identical to the one she’d given him on his mouth when she’d accepted his ring. Lester groaned as she wrapped her pretty little lips around his cock and made its girth disappear into her mouth.

“Ugh, that feels good,” Lester said, “Is that what you want then? For us to have a ceremony in front of your entire family? I gotta say, I’m not a super traditional guy. I’d prefer to do it like they did in the olden days, where everyone gathered downstairs and had to listen while the couple consummated the marriage upstairs.”

“You’re bad,” Sarah said, pulling her mouth off his cock.

“Don’t forget the balls,” Lester grunted.

Sarah ran her tongue down the entire length of Lester’s shaft until it reached his heavy, hairy ballsack. Her tongue began darting in, licking it, through the saliva-dampened matting of hair.

“I’m going to make that happen,” Lester said, “I’m going to fuck you in your bed while your parents and family are downstairs, consummating our marriage. When they hear the sounds, then they’ll understand.”

“This isn’t Utah, Lester. It doesn’t work like that here. A girl can’t be married to more than one man,” Sarah said as her tongue swirled around a graying tuft of hair on his balls, covered in her own juices.

“Do I look like I give a fuck about the law? I don’t pay taxes. I could be a sovereign citizen for all I care,” Lester barked.

“You are such a bad boy,” Sarah said in a mocking tone as she lovingly licked the underside of his balls.

“You think that’s funny?” Lester asked, narrowing his intense dark eyes at her. He loved the defiant side of her personality. He felt like a cowboy working to wrangle a free-spirited bronco. In the end, the wild animal always became nothing more than a mount to saddle and ride.

Lester willfully grabbed both sides of Sarah’s head and pulled her face down into his crotch. His ball sack flattened against her eyes and forehead, her lips mashing into the underside of his dripping nutsack. Sarah moaned, her tongue darting out, licking under his balls. Lester groaned and looked down at her luxurious blonde hair draped over his coarse pubic hair. He pulled her head down further, forcing her tongue to swab his foul taint.

Sarah didn’t miss a beat, eagerly licking her tongue aggressively all over him, “Mhmmmmmm. Mhmmmmnnnn.”

Lester grinned at the reaction. He wasn’t sure if she was enjoying his forcefulness or just delighting in being made to lick such a taboo area, but he didn’t really care. All that mattered was that she was loving it. Her extended tongue muffled her moans, and his oversized balls covered her entire face.

Lester turned Sarah's head to one side, ensuring she licked every inch of his sweat-soaked undercarriage. Then he turned her head the opposite way, eliciting more moans as Sarah eagerly delved into his nethers with her tongue, licking the high side of his taint. Sarah's hand was on his shaft, and she kept stroking him, maintaining his erection with an even motion.

Lester relaxed his hands, and Sarah cradled his balls in one hand and stroked his shaft with the other, all while licking under his balls and between his legs of her own accord. Lester placed his hands on the arms of the computer chair and, with a deep breath, heaved himself out of it. Sarah scuttled back a little, but her tongue never left its diligent work on Lester's taint. He waited a moment in a shaking posture while he regained his balance.

The smile never left his face as Sarah stayed kneeling in front of him, still hungrily stroking and caressing him. He reached down and grabbed his balls and laid them over her face. Sarah kept happily sucking and licking him, even with his sweaty, saliva-covered balls resting on her beautiful face.

Eventually, she pulled back, gasping for breath with a look of lust-tinged awe. She held Lester's cock in her hand and reverently rubbed it over her cheeks, revelling in the feeling of it. Lester couldn't help but widen his smile at how well his little slut was trained and at how much she was clearly enjoying herself.

"Get up, it's time to fuck," Lester grunted, pulling her up by her hair. Sarah winced, and Lester led her out into the hallway, pulling the computer chair with him. He kicked it down the hall, and it banked off the wall, rolling to an abrupt stop with a bang on the raised runner at the top of the stairs.

Lester uncaringly spun Sarah around and pushed her against one of the walls, "Put your hands on the wall."

Sarah didn't hesitate, putting her palms up next to her breasts that were already pressed against the drywall as if she were about to do a push-up. With his cock in one hand, Lester dipped his knees and marvelled at the sensual shape of Sarah's magnificent ass. He bent his knees further and lined himself up with her perfect pussy.

He pushed the head of his cock right up to her entrance, splitting her lips apart just a bit.

"Mhmmm," Sarah said, her head to the side, biting her lips in anticipation.

“Ease yourself back on it,” Lester said. Sarah didn’t hesitate, slowly pushing back on Lester’s king-sized cock, taking more of the unbending organ into her. As she did, Lester stepped back, causing Sarah to bend over to keep his lengthy cock embedded inside of her.

He stepped back again, causing Sarah to bend over further and whimper in disappointment at the distance. He stepped back yet again until his ass was pressed against the cold wall on the other side of the hallway. Sarah kept her palms pressed against the drywall and bent over at almost a full ninety degrees, and she awkwardly took Lester’s entire powerful length inside of her.

“Ohhhhhgod,” Sarah moaned, her jaw hanging open as she readjusted to Lester’s ridiculous girth. He just chuckled, rubbing her stunning ass cheeks together and staring down at the way her lithe naked back arched. He pumped his hips forward, causing Sarah to jolt, her hair and breasts jiggling forward as she jumped.

“Fuck yourself on my cock,” Lester said, “Can’t wait to see Dan’s face when he comes back upstairs and sees you like this.”

“Uhmfffuck, you are so bad,” Sarah said as she dug her palms into the wall and thrust back against Lester’s cock. “You want my poor husband to come up here and see you fucking me like this? See his wife bent over in the middle of the fucking hallway?”

“No, I want him to come up and see you fucking my cock with abandon, being a slut and doing anything for my cock. I’m just going to stand here while you do all the work. Show me, show me how you work,” Lester chuckled.

“You’re an ass,” Sarah said, but kept pushing her butt back onto Lester’s cock, “It’s not my fault it feels so fucking good. Jesus Lester, I didn’t expect any of this.”

“Didn’t expect what?” Lester licked his lips. Sweat was starting to glisten on the back of Sarah’s neck.

“When...ah...mmmm...hmmm,” Sarah moaned as she pushed against the drywall, sending her bouncing ass back on his spearing cock. She slid forward on his turgid pole with an agape mouth before slamming back on it again, “When you said we were a throuple....I thought you just meant more dates...I didn’t know... uhhhhh.....fucckk..... yes.....didn’t....know.....you’d....mhmmmm.....do... this....”

“And what am I doing?” Lester smirked as he mauled her ass cheeks, his fat gut sitting on top of them, adding extra weight to Sarah’s frame.

“Just...uhhhhhh...taking over.....dominating me.....fuckkk.....jesus. You’re the... mmmm... the fucking man... Lester, you feelsofucking good.” Sarah whined.

“Moan louder,” Lester said, “I don’t think Dan can hear you from wherever he slinked off to.”

“MMMHHMMMFUCK,” Sarah promptly moaned loudly just as he’d requested.

“Where is he?” Lester asked, looking down the hallway.

Sarah squeezed his cock with her pussy, “I thought you didn’t care about him. Why are you still talking about him?”

“Like you said. I’m here to dominate, and I’m the fucking man, right? I want him to know the new pecking order,” Lester said.

“Uhhhhhh.....fuck I think you already showed him when you kicked him out of the bedroom,” Sarah whined gripping his cock like a vice.

“Kicked him out of the bedroom to do what?” Lester asked.

“To fucking jerk off!” Sarah snapped, thrusting back onto his cock hard.

“What was it he jerked off, Sarah? What body part?” Lester said.

Sarah groaned in response before saying, “His dick.”

“Whose cock is bigger?” Lester asked, violently thrusting his hips forward again. Sarah groaned and dropped her head, moaning incessantly.

“Yours,” she said without hesitation, “Your cock is bigger.”

Lester grinned. Hook, line and sinker, “That’s true. And whose cock is littler?”

Sarah hesitated for a second before whispering, “His.”

“Whose?” Lester asked, punctuating his question with another sharp thrust, making Sarah stumble for a second. She moved her palms back onto the wall, flexing her fingers.

“Dan’s,” Sarah breathed, a bead of sweat ran down her back and disappeared beneath Lester’s hairy gut.

“This isn’t a dick I’m fucking you with. It’s a cock,” Lester corrected.

“A big cock,” Sarah shot back through a moan.

“How big were the others?” Lester asked.

“Like Dan’s, that size,” Sarah said breathlessly.

“So all small then. You’ve never been in a guy’s changing room then to see the difference,” Lester chuckled.

Sarah didn’t reply. She just braced herself on the wall and was breathing hard as she fucked back on Lester’s cock. That was enough. He didn’t need to press too hard. He just needed to plant the seed in her mind and let it take root. All the dicks she’d seen from the homeless guy to that fucker Vernon and that shithead Jesse to the others at the movie theatre were luckily all bigger than Dan. He wanted her to think less of her husband, and she was well on her way to doing so. And the night was still young.

WHAP

Lester slapped Sarah’s ass, making her jump. His gut jiggled as she did, and her pussy clenched around his cock in shock. It felt fucking phenomenal.

WHAP

His hand came down on her other asscheek, making her clench up again. Lester groaned and threw his head back as he slammed into her with a hard, savage thrust.

WHAP

He left a bright red handprint behind on the side of Sarah’s ass. Lester shoved his cock deep into her at the exact same time. Sarah stumbled, and her hands slipped. Lester’s cock kept going forward as Sarah failed to regain her footing.

Just as she brought her hands up to brace herself, they slipped again on the drywall, and the top of her head hit the drywall, partially disappearing from Lester’s view. Her pussy clenched hard as a vice on his cock, making Lester groan in orgasmic pleasure. This must be what it felt like to get a hand job from one of those professional arm wrestling women with the fat asses in tight athletic shorts.

Lester held still for a second before focusing on Sarah. She was gasping for breath, and he took a step back, sliding his cock partly out of her. Sarah pushed on the wall, revealing a headsized indent in the drywall.

Lester chuckled at his casual destruction of property.

“Jesus Lester,” Sarah said, brushing drywall dust out of her blonde hair, “I told you my hand was slipping.”

“I guess,” Lester shrugged and then forcefully plunged his cock back into her. Sarah stumbled again, and Lester pushed her forward. She wasn’t bent over anymore but was now standing up in a hunched position, breasts mashed into the wall. Lester held her angelic hips and kept sliding his cock in and out of his pretty little wife.

Sarah groaned and seemed happy to have more of her torso supported by the wall to brace herself. Lester pulled her hips back and vigorously lunged his cock back into her, forcing her to take a step to the right. Lester kept pulling her hips and fucking her, driving her down the hallway until he had her butted up against a rattling door. Sarah braced herself against it, and Lester continued to aggressively pound into her clutching pussy. She raised her head and defiantly pushed back against him, seeming to challenge him.

Lester couldn’t keep the shit eating grin off his face. Sarah was something else. No other conquest he’d taken had presented as sweet a victory as this. Maybe it was because she was a married woman, or maybe it was because she was a mother. He wasn’t sure. Maybe it was an X factor unique to Sarah. Either way, he intended to gather more data and determine why she made him feel this way.

Lester gripped the door’s knob without Sarah noticing and quickly turned it.

The door swung open, robbing Sarah of whatever leverage and balance she had.

“Fuck Lester,” Sarah complained as she stumbled forward into the room. Lester held her by the hips and marched forward, cock still embedded inside of her, intending to keep her from regaining her footing.

Sarah’s hands found something solid, and she braced herself against it. Lester knew what room they were in and didn’t intend to give her the time to collect herself. With a lick of his lips, he shook his head and sweat flung off. He lunged his giant cock hard into the young mother.

“Ahh, ffuuck Lester. Jesus....Christ....” Sarah moaned. Lester reached forward and gathered all of Sarah’s free-flowing blonde mane into one hand and brutally yanked it back.

Sarah squealed, her head arching back towards him. Lester put a foot up on the bed. Sarah's hands were on to adjust his angle and dominantly pump his cock up into her drooling pussy. Sarah shot up onto her tippy toes, "Ughh. Uh. Uh. Mhmmmmmmmm."

With all of her hair roughly gripped in one hand, Lester reached around her and mauled her pristine breasts with the other. A soft cry escaped Sarah's lips. Lester hunched over, pulled her back towards him and stuck his tongue into her mouth. The angle was awkward, and he couldn't get it in as far as he wanted, but Sarah tried to make up the difference, moaning and heartily sucking on part of his tongue, "Mhmmmm."

Sarah dropped her ass onto Lester's cock as the vulgar sounds of the slapping of their sweaty skin filled the room. Lester's eyes widened with glee as he pulled on Sarah's bunched hair; her face showed pain, then contorted back to intense pleasure. He spun his tongue around her mouth, her own chasing it, eager to catch it.

Lester's chest grew heavy from bending over in the awkward position for so long, and he let her hair go, breathing in a deep, wheezing breath to fill his lungs. Sarah's hair fell back down around her face. Finally, she raised her head and seemed to open her eyes.

"Lester!" She hissed in a whisper, "What the...uhmhm...Fuck!? We can't...uhhhhh...mhmmmm...can't be in here...."

Sarah tried to raise herself off the bed in protest, but Lester's hand quickly gripped the back of her neck and held her down until her bent elbows were pressed into the bed. She tried to squeeze her pussy around his cock as some sort of protest, but he just revelled in the feeling as she decisively gripped him. He even pulled back until just his cock head was inside of her and slammed himself back in, overriding the tightly protesting grip.

"I'm the man of the house now, Sarah," Lester growled indignantly as he looked around the room with its two twin beds. "That means I fuck wherever I want."

"Ughnnnn," Sarah moaned and dropped her head, seemingly giving in to Lester's words. It was another victory that she wasn't putting up a fight and so quickly capitulated to his demand. She had learned her place, despite her occasional outbursts; he knew he could always bring her to heel this way.

"That's a good girl," Lester cooed from behind her, running his thumb tenderly across the back of her neck. His other hand gripped her hip, and he resumed his rigid, emphatic pumps into her.

"Fuck Lester," Sarah said into the comforter, "I can't...we shouldn't...."

“But we are,” Lester said, “Squeeze my cock like you did before. Do it.”

He felt the buttery walls of her pussy tighten around him, and he let out a satisfied growl, “Mhmm, yeah. That’s, unng, that’s the way daddy likes it.”

He wanted to mark his territory, and he’d decided this room was the best place to do that. To really drive home the change in the status quo in Sarah’s sex addled mind. During sex, he knew a slew of endorphins and other hormones flooded the brain. It was time to hijack them in an attempt to rewire things.

“Ohh shittt,” Sarah moaned, “Lester....your cock....”

“You mean Daddy’s cock, don’t you? Moan it for me,” Lester commanded, slipping his hand off her hip and grabbing a firm chunk of Sarah’s immaculate ass cheek. Lester licked his lips, waiting with anticipation to hear the words leave her lips. To see the young mother, let Lester push past another boundary and drag her further into the abyss with him.

“Fuck Lester....Daddy....” Sarah choked out an ecstatic moan, “Your cock feels so fucking good like this. I could let you fuck me like this all night. I want it all fucking day.”

“That’s it, Sarah,” Lester rubbed the back of her neck affectionately, alternating from being firm and sadistic to reassuring and comforting. He hoped the duality would play to this woman’s need for both rough sex and physical comfort. The next phase would be much different than the hard fucking she was taking right now.

“Let go, cum for me,” Lester whispered in a tender voice. He knew from his angle, his cock would be sliding into her precious G-Spot before it continued up into the rest of her pussy. Lester licked his lips and let go of her neck, letting his fat digits run down her spine, slicked with filthy sweat. He brought them to his lips and licked them lasciviously. Then he reached around under her and found her engorged slit with his spit-slick fingers.

Sarah drew in a sharp breath as the musk of their sweat-dampened bodies permeated the room. Sarah groaned in delight. As Lester was pumping his oversized horse cock into her, Sarah’s pliant hips wiggled back and forth on his thick fingers, dragging her tingling clit against them.

Her hips continued to sexily rock side to side as she tried thrusting her ass back against his invading cock. Eventually, their bodies fell into a pulsing rhythm. She would grind her clit against his probing fingers while he pulled his huge cock back, then she'd drop her ass back on him as he thrust forward.

"Ugg..uhmm....yes....mhmmm...

Les....daddy....fuckkk....uhhmmm....godddd....soogood...Lester...," Sarah moaned with abandon.

"That's it. Let it out. Cum on my cock, Sarah. Cum for me. Show me how a good mommy acts. Give it up to me," Lester smirked, nodding.

"Uhfuck," Sarah panted, her breath growing closer and closer together. Her hips spun faster and faster, the hardened bead of her clit dragging over his fingers, ass slamming back onto his cock, "Fuck. Uh fuck. Yes. Yes. Fuck. God. Fuck, Yes....Lester....god. Fuck. Fuck me. Don't stop. Uh. Mhmm. Uh. Uh..mhmm"

Lester pushed the length of his whole cock into her at the perfect moment as he saw her entire body go tense. Sarah let out a violent scream, "FUCKDADDY."

Lester's eyes lit up like a Christmas tree, and he held his cock firmly buried deep in Sarah's pussy. It clenched around his shaft, trying to milk him for everything he was worth. She was desperately trying to get him to empty his balls inside her. Her back arched, thrusting her breasts out on display towards the Barbie poster on the wall. The rutting ogre pulled back on her hair, and Sarah let out a guttural scream as every muscle on her back and arms grew rigidly taut. She gripped the pink bedsheets in a tightly clenched fist, and her nude body shook visibly on his cock.

Lester let out a breath he hadn't realized he'd been holding. It took every ounce of his willpower not to unleash gouts of boiling cum into the quivering woman's pussy in that tense moment. His years of routine kegel exercises while playing World of Warcraft came in clutch. His vision momentarily blurred as he made the effort to resist.

Sarah's body dropped down onto the bed, completely exhausted. They weren't finished yet. He slid his cock out of her, eliciting a small groan of protest. He circled the small bed until he was beside her resting head. Lester reached down and brushed the blonde strands of hair from her beautiful face. She looked up at him with weak eyes, and a faint, exasperated smile appeared on her face.

Fuck her into submission. Move the goal posts, Lester thought back to one of his goals he'd established on the drive over.

Lester held his cock by the base and pressed the tip of it to her lips, "Clean it up again."

Without any protest, Sarah opened her mouth, letting him push his prodigious organ inside of her. He spent the next few minutes slowly running his cock in and out of her hungry lips. Whether Sarah was aware she'd begun playing with her own pussy lips, he wasn't sure. When she tried to grip his shaft and stroke him with her free hand, he pulled back.

"No hands. Stick out your tongue," Lester said.

Sarah looked up at him with a slightly annoyed look, "When are you going to cum?"

But despite her tone, she stuck out her tongue obediently, letting Lester run his saliva-covered cock back and forth over it, "Heh. When I want to. Y'know, most women complain about guys finishing too early."

"I'm not complaining," Sarah said as Lester started running his cock up and down her cheeks, leaving a slimy trail of precum, her own tangy juices and her glistening saliva. "I just thought I would've made you come already."

"Soon. And it'll be explosive," Lester said as Sarah's tongue darted out to lick his balls. Lester knelt on the bed, making sure her tongue could access all of his parts, just as he had earlier, "You know it will be."

"Promise?" Sarah said as her tongue flicked along the curve of his wrinkled nutsack and she looked up at him with those penetratingly sexy green eyes of hers.

"Just you wait."

Dan sat on the couch, remote hanging limply in his hand as he stared at the TV. There was an old movie on the TV that he vaguely remembered seeing before. Diane Lane and Richard Gere were in it. He was barely paying any attention to it, even though his eyes were locked onto the screen. His entire consciousness seemed to be filtered through his ears as he heard the screams of pleasure echoing from the upper floor down to him.

He hadn't bothered shutting the blinds next to him. It was really late now, and he doubted anyone would still be out walking around. He honestly just couldn't be bothered to. Just like he still hadn't bothered to clean up the mess in the dining room and all the dishes in the kitchen. He knew that it looked like a bomb had gone off in his house, yet he just sat there, catatonically staring at the people on TV, doing his best not to think about everything that was currently happening in his house.

Pineapple, the thought tasted bitter in his mouth. The safeword he'd decided on with Sarah had blindsided him in his own bedroom. Deployed effectively by his roommate (he wasn't sure what to even call Lester anymore) to delay his own enjoyment. He hadn't expected things to spiral this far out of his control. He'd hoped that jerking off to completion would have helped clear his head, but he still felt just as numb as he had beforehand – like he was moving on autopilot and his brain was only half awake. He'd heard about people going into shock; their brains shutting down to protect them from trauma, suppressing memories, emotions or even shutting out sights and sounds. He wondered if this was what his brain was doing at that moment.

As his thoughts seemed to drift in and out, he heard footsteps behind him. He couldn't grasp any of the fleeting thoughts, unable to hold onto them and really process their meaning. But he turned his head and saw a completely stark naked Sarah coming around the corner of the couch towards him. "Hey, hey, Dan," Sarah said with a look tinged with guilt and arousal on her face, "Why are you sitting down here all alone?"

"I...uhh..." Dan trailed off as he tried to think of a good response. The right words to snap him out of whatever this was, "I j-just needed some space."

"See, I told you," the voice from behind him got Dan's hackles up, and he felt the familiar tension return deep in his gut. His consciousness wanted to retreat further into his head to escape this situation he found himself in, "I knew he was having a tough time. Fine. Alright. I'll be a good guy. Go give him a kiss and a hug, Sarah."

Sarah looked over Dan's shoulder with a confused look on her face. Something that Dan didn't catch passed between the two lovers, and Sarah moved in front of Dan, blocking his view of the TV. She sat down, legs on either side of his lap. Her beautiful, perfect, heavy breasts were right in his face. Sarah cupped his cheeks and knelt to kiss him tenderly on the lips. Dan just sat there, his body unmoving. The only part of him that managed to move was his lips, kissing his wife in return.

A whoosh of escaping air came from the leather couch, and it shifted with the burden of a new weight. Dan broke the kiss by looking next to him. His mind immediately thought of an obese walrus as he looked at the shape of Lester's naked body, sitting so casually next to him. Sitting like he owned the place.

The words from upstairs about Lester being the man of the house echoed in his head like a resentful memory. Dan gulped and was aware of his heart threatening to burst from his chest.

"Oh, come on now. You're making me jealous. That's not nice," Lester said as his fat, stubby fingers ran up Sarah's arm. He gently tugged on it, and Sarah slid off of Dan's lap. Lester looked him dead in the eyes, “You don’t mind if I borrow your wife for a bit, do you?” It was hardly a question.

Dan didn’t respond; his mouth opened. He knew socially that a response was expected when someone asked a question, but no words formed in his throat. He was the passenger in a car watching its imminent crash in slow motion. He had no hand on the wheel. All he could do was watch.

“See, he doesn’t mind,” Lester said, gently pulling Sarah over onto his lap. Her thin, toned legs slid over Lester’s obese thighs; she had to stretch her legs open to straddle him. Dan glanced down and saw Lester’s massive organ jutting up towards the ceiling, resting against Sarah’s taut belly.

“It’s good. It’s a good thing to teach your kids,” Lester said in a low voice, “That sharing is caring, don’t you agree, Sarah?”

Sarah rolled her eyes dismissively and put her arms around Lester’s neck. She gave Dan’s roommate a tired look.

“What? Shouldn’t we talk about our household values?” Lester chuckled.

“It’s too much,” Sarah said. She was giving Lester an annoyed look, but even in his catatonic state, Dan could see Sarah subtly rolling her hips up and down, pressing her pussy lips against Lester’s fat, rigid shaft.

Dan’s breaths were coming in shallow bursts now.

“Maybe you’re right,” Lester said with a sigh. Then he pumped his hips up into the air as he grabbed Sarah’s hips and hefted her up. The sight of him pushing himself up warped his body into a strange shape that seared into Dan’s memory.

Sarah grunted, and the next second Lester’s ass was back on the couch, his cock pointed straight up against Sarah’s pussy. He held her up by her hips, as she balanced on her knees. Lester looked over at Dan with that smug shit eating grin on his face, “Any objections? You like sharing her, right?”

Again, Dan opened his mouth to say something. He wasn’t sure if it would be an objection, a rebuttal, a refusal or an all-out agreement. But before any words could manifest in his mouth, Sarah’s sounds cut him off.

“Uhhhhhhhhhhhh,” Sarah moaned sharply, her jaw dropping open as Lester slowly lowered her onto his cock. Dan watched, his eyes going wide as saucers as Lester’s girthy, long, vein-covered cock disappeared inside of his wife. Inch after inch, the shaft of Lester's cock became less and less visible until it was fully embedded inside of her. Lester put his feet up on the coffee table and exhaled in a satisfied groan.

"Uhh fuck that feels amazing, baby," Lester smiled up at Sarah, "I don't know how you always manage to feel so fucking tight."

"I'm glad you like it," Sarah said breathlessly as she stared down into Lester's beady eyes.

"It's like you've never had a cock inside you before," Lester said, then he turned to look over at Dan, "I guess before me, you never actually did. Probably why you're still so crazy tight. Sorry, Danny, I'm not sure your little fella is gonna cut it anymore."

Dan just blinked back at Lester, confused. He wasn't keeping up with the conversation; he was still shell-shocked over seeing Lester's giant appendage disappear inside his wife like some sort of cheap Vegas magician's final trick.

"Tell him, Sarah," Lester said, patting Dan's shoulder with mock comfort, "In our throuple. Who has the little dick?"

An amused smile teased Sarah's lips, and she shook her head, then turned and looked at Dan. Her face was unreadable, a mask of arousal, comfort and something else he couldn't quite place. Something passed between them, as if she wanted Dan to enjoy what she said next. She licked her lips, the same way he'd seen Lester do so many times. The mimicked move irked him to his core.

"You do, Dan," Sarah breathed, each syllable seeming to make her ride up and down on Lester's cock a little faster, "You have the little dick."

Lester seemed to beam at her for her admission.

"Is that little dick going to cut it anymore?" Lester asked. "Tell us."

Without taking her eyes off Dan, Sarah just shook her head. Her eyes bore into his soul, and all at once he felt embarrassment, betrayal, arousal, a consuming rage and a well of deep desire. It was a heady cocktail that his body couldn't process. His head just fell back on the leather couch. On the screen in front of him, Diane Lane was getting railed in a dark staircase, and the guy behind her was much younger than he expected. It wasn't Richard Gere. Weren't they married in the movie? What the fuck had he missed?

“Not if I can have your cock every night from now on,” the words almost dripped sex as they rolled out of Sarah’s mouth. Her body shuddered as she rose up and down on Lester’s log-like cock, her hands still wrapped around his neck. She broke her gaze with Dan and looked deep into Lester’s dark eyes.

“I love riding your fucking cock, Lester,” Sarah moaned, sitting up straight and closing her eyes. Her hands dropped from Lester’s neck to his flabby chest. Dan’s stomach twisted in a knot, seeing his beautiful, fit wife somehow finding pleasure riding a whale of a man like Lester. A smart, sophisticated mother riding the cock of some basement-dwelling loser who only saw sunlight twice a year.

“Sarah,” Lester said, “do you remember right after our first night together? Remember when I asked you how much you enjoyed fucking me?” Sarah opened her bedroom eyes and gave Lester an adoring look, nodded, grinning. “Tell me, tell us how much you enjoy, nng, this. How we’re fucking right now.”

“Ooh, oh, I love it, sooo so much. I remember that day. You licked my pussy and then fucked me in your bed and then fucked me again in the morning on the couch. I remember thinking I’d never cum like that before, and so many times. I didn’t even know I could cum like that. Nobody has ever made me cum by eating me out until you came along. You make me cum so fucking hard I can’t see. Your cock is amazing, Lester. You’re amazing. I never, ever, EVER want to stop fucking this incredible monster you’ve got.”

Dan couldn’t look away from the ongoing erotic horror taking place next to him. Sarah’s hands slid down Lester’s body until they reached where they were connected at her thighs. She ran them up her stomach and held her own breasts for a few seconds, squeezing them. Her hands continued to travel up until she ran her exploring fingers through her blonde hair. She let out a soft moan, sexily arching her back and thrusting out her breasts.

Lester took the offering and leaned forward, his fat mouth open. His ugly tongue stuck out like that of a lethargic, obese frog, and it swirled around Sarah’s areola. Dan’s stomach twisted again as Lester’s gross lips closed around one of Sarah’s delectable, hardened nipples.

“Uhhmmmmmm,” Sarah moaned, eyes closed, head back in clear, unabashed ecstasy. He couldn’t fathom how she was enjoying this so deeply, but there she was, mother of his children, eagerly riding the slob that was Lester and savoring every single second of it, “Nnnnnmhhhhmmmmmm.”

Dan couldn't pry his eyes from his loving wife's face. He noticed for the first time that her hair was messy, and whatever makeup she still had on now looked smudged. Still, she radiated a confident, sexual energy that made Dan feel like he was in the presence of some kind of rapturous sex goddess.

And his own presence seemed to diminish more and more by the second. Again, he felt like he was the third wheel here, a perverted voyeur to this unholy union. Dan cleared his throat, finally finding some words.

"The window...." Dan said, his eyes darting between the open curtains and Sarah, pistoning up and down on his roommate's lap. He knew she was a fairly private person and ordinarily wouldn't want their neighbors seeing what was happening. Sarah opened her half-lidded eyes and looked at him, her gaze unfocused.

"What?" Sarah said softly, her brow furrowing and her mouth abruptly contorting into a telltale 'O' shape as she slid herself back down on Lester's swollen cock.

"The windows are still open," Dan said in a low voice, almost whispering.

"Who cares?" Lester said dismissively, taking his mouth off Sarah's jiggling tit. He leaned back into the couch, hips rising, his eyes roaming over Sarah's tight rocking body. "Let them watch. Let them see who the new man of the house is."

Dan shifted on the couch. Maybe he could find the willpower to get up and close the curtains himself, and from there, perhaps he could regain some control over this situation.

"Be careful," Lester chuckled, "If your neighbors see you standing by while your wife rides my cock, they'll know you're a little cuck."

Then he turned his attention back to Dan's wife, "What do you say, Sarah? Let's keep the windows open and put on a show for everyone," Lester thrust his hips up off the couch, making the coffee table screech as it skipped across the floor.

"Fffuuck," Sarah moaned, dropping her head. She pressed her forehead against Lester's in an intimate gesture. "Leave them open. Let them watch."

It was so out of character for her. Where was his normally dignified wife? The woman who would run back upstairs if the windows were open and she walked by fully covered in her pajamas without a bra on?

With their foreheads touching, Sarah stared into Lester's eyes, "I want them to watch. I want them to see what you do to me."

A shiver ran down Dan's spine. He always loved it when his wife was hyper sexual like this, but usually it was with him. His head swam, and he tried to grasp onto any fleeting thought and make it solid. Lester tilted his head up and kissed Sarah softly on the lips.

She returned the sensuous kiss. What had started as light little pecks gradually turned into something deeper. Sarah slid the rest of her naked, sweat-sheened body forward, her heavy breasts mashing against Lester's flabby chest. His hairy arms entwined her smooth back as she fell deeper into the troll's embrace. Dan watched them both move their heads at different angles as their probing tongues explored each other's mouths. He just sat there as wet, smacking sounds filled the room. Their lips and their privates, connecting and moving with one another.

When they finally broke their kiss, they silently stared into each other's eyes for a long time. Lester smiled. The first time Dan had seen a genuine, non shit talking smile on his face.

"Mhmm...uhhhmmm. Uh, Lester....feels so good," Sarah whispered.

"I'm loving this new relationship we have," Lester said, loud enough for Dan to hear.

"Me too," Sarah said breathlessly as she rode Lester's fat throbbing cock.

"I love being inside you," Lester whispered.

"I love feeling you inside me," Sarah said breathlessly. Lester leaned up and kissed Sarah again on the lips. There wasn't any tongue this time. It looked almost affectionate, caring.

"All good relationships need love to work," Lester breathed, his hands running down Sarah's tawny back until they each clasped one of her asscheeks. He wasn't grabbing them as roughly as he usually did; he was caressing them, "Don't you think?"

Sarah gave Dan a furtive glance out of the corner of her eye, "I do."

"I love you, Sarah," Lester whispered as he tucked a stray strand of her hair behind her ear before returning his hand to her ass. Sarah drew in a sharp breath. Lester rose his hips off the couch a few times, sliding his cock deeper into Sarah. Her mouth hung open, and she sucked in more breaths of air with each thrust.

“I...,” Sarah started, her eyes closed, and she held herself up as she focused on the sensations of Lester’s cock continuously sliding into her. Dan’s chest felt heavy as he waited with bated breath to hear her reply. His dick hurt. Without taking his eyes off Sarah’s face, he knew that he had somehow gotten hard again. All this fucked up situation was getting to his head.

“I...” Sarah repeated as she tentatively bit her bottom lip, “I love you too, Lester.”

At her admission, Sarah buried her face into Lester’s. Her blonde hair obscured Dan’s vision as they sensually made out again. Eagerly sucking on each other’s tongues as their bodies collided in carnal sexual congress.

The walls felt like they were closing in around Dan. He needed air again. He couldn’t just sit here and watch anymore. He stood up and blinked a few times. He tried to breathe, but he still wasn’t getting enough air. The house suddenly felt cramped and stifling. He willed his feet to move and stumbled past the grotesque scene of lovemaking.

Movement from behind her snapped Sarah out of her debauched reverie. She pulled back from another kiss and looked at Lester’s face in shadow. She didn’t find it anywhere near as unattractive as she used to. Lester’s steel pole of a cock felt so good inside her. She loved it. And in her own fucked up twisted way, she loved him. She knew it wasn’t the same kind of love she had for Dan or for the kids, but she got butterflies in her stomach the moment he’d said those three words, and she felt her heart wanting to lurch out of her chest.

Footsteps hit the wood floor beside her. Sarah turned and saw Dan slowly shuffling by them. His dick tenting in his boxers. That surprised her since he had exploded all over their bedroom door less than an hour earlier. He never could get it up more than once a night. Well, not when it was just the two of them.

“Dan? Where are you going?” Sarah said as he dolefully walked away from them.

“I-I just need to get some air,” Dan said.

“Let him go,” Lester said, “He needs some space.”

Dan put his hand on the banister, and Sarah froze, eyes going wide. She didn’t want him to go upstairs. To see the open door to the girls’ room. To see what she’d done in there.

“Dan, wait,” Sarah said, reluctantly pulling herself off of Lester’s lap. She was afraid he wasn’t going to let her go, but his large hands slid off her ass as she struggled to free herself from his deep-set, impaling cock.

Dan stood, one hand on the bannister, not turning around to her. Sarah moved towards her husband, “Not upstairs. Please. I want to clean up first...”

She trailed off, not even sounding convincing to herself. Dan let go of the railing and looked around, searching for somewhere else to go. His eyes locked on the front door for a second, but he seemed to change his mind quickly.

“Are you okay?” Sarah whispered with concern.

“I...I just need some space,” Dan said as he moved towards the door to the basement. “It’s a lot.”

“I know,” Sarah said as she thought back to her declaration of love for Lester. She’d gotten lost in the moment and hadn’t thought through how her words would impact Dan. It had been sex talk, but she knew it was more than that, too. And he’d probably picked up on it, “We’ll talk about it, okay?”

“Hey. This cock ain’t gonna fuck itself,” Lester said, half-joking from behind her.

Dan opened the basement door and flicked on the light. He took a few steps down, hand on the railing to steady himself. Sarah stood at the top of the stairs, watching as her husband walked down the dimly lit stairs mechanically. She really wanted to go back to Lester and finish the job. He hadn’t cum yet, and she needed to make that happen. But she also felt an overwhelming desire to comfort her husband and reassure him in his current state.

“Close the door,” Lester said from the couch. Sarah’s hand gripped the side of the door. Her mind flashed back to earlier in the night when Lester had banished Dan from the bedroom, how Dan had still exploded all over the outside of their bedroom door. She glanced down at his tenting erection and convinced herself that maybe this was what he needed on some level she didn’t yet understand.

Dan turned and locked his gaze on hers as she slowly shut the door on him.

Sarah breathed, one hand on the closed door.

“Sarah,” Lester said.

Sarah let out a measured breath and walked back over to Lester. When his obese form and his fat cock jutting up into the air came completely into view, Sarah felt any remaining trepidation wash away. She quickly rounded the corner of the couch and mounted herself on Lester's waiting cock, breathing out a sigh as she lowered herself back onto its invading length.

"Seemed like Danny's little buddy made a surprise showing," Lester said in a whisper, "Did you see that?"

"I saw it," Sarah said, her breath unsteady.

"Didn't he just blow his wad upstairs? Does he usually get it back up that fast?" Lester mocked.

"No. Never," Sarah said.

"Then what changed? Why do you think his little guy was all hard and angry again?" Lester said.

Sarah let her mind wander, and the only conclusion she could come to was that it arose from what was happening right in front of her. Seeing her with Lester. Hearing her declare her love for the obscene man. Talking down to Dan and talking about his smaller penis. Lester had been right; Dan did get off on all of this. She felt like she could put away any lingering guilt. Her actions were justified, even if he looked shell-shocked going down the stairs; on some level, he enjoyed and wanted all of this.

"Because of us. Seeing us. Hearing us. Together," Sarah breathed as she stared into Lester's beady eyes.

That ugly grin spread over his face, "Exactly. I told you. This relationship benefits all three of us. We gave him something he's probably been craving his entire life."

Lester flexed his cock inside of her. Sarah let out a low moan in response.

"You feel that?" Lester asked.

"Fuck. Yes, I felt it," Sarah said.

"Can Danny's penis do that?"

"No."

"When you saw his little worm poking out, did you want that thing inside you?"

“Not right then,” Sarah breathed shakily, staring into Lester’s eyes, “I had a real cock inside me.”

“Call it a little worm,” Lester said.

“Dan doesn’t have a cock like you, Lester,” Sarah bit her bottom lip, wondering if Dan could hear any of this. He might be listening at the basement door or hearing it all through the vents, “He has a little worm.”

“Why did you marry someone like that? All night he’s acted weak and pathetic just like that little thing he can’t keep in his pants.”

“I...I don’t know,” Sarah said. She knew she loved Dan. She knew he was a great husband and good father, but tonight he’d been a total shell of himself. She hoped he’d come back around.

“A sexy woman like you shouldn’t have just let anyone impregnate you. You should’ve waited around for a real man to do it,” Lester said as he licked and sucked on her breasts.

“Maybe you’re right. Maybe I just didn’t know what I was missing until a real man came along and showed me. A real man with a big, fat, gorgeous cock.” Sarah smiled down at Lester, “Not a tiny little worm.”

The broad, ugly grin broke onto his face as he lapped at her nipple. Sarah’s hands went to Lester’s shoulders, and she pushed him back against the couch. Her eyes wild, she wanted to push Lester. She wanted to play into his fantasy and finally make him cum. No more games, she wanted him to cum. She needed to make him cum hard. And she needed to feel it explode inside of her.

She ground her hips down on his cock and planted her knees firmly on either side of him. She pulled her knees together, locking them against his hips. She leaned over him, letting her naked breasts sway over his chest. Her nipples were getting just a bit of added stimulation from his skin and coarse hairs. She saw her reflection in the open window and didn’t recognize herself.

Sarah lowered her lips to Lester’s ear. She stuck out her tongue and licked his hairy earlobe before whispering, “It’s too bad that the real man I found with this amazing cock is fixed.”

“What...what do you mean?” Lester stumbled over his words. Sarah smiled wickedly, knowing she had him eating out of the palms of her hands.

“It’s too bad you’re fixed,” Sarah said, her breath hot on Lester’s neck. She bit down on his earlobe. “Why’s that?” Lester blurted out, his hands running up her back. She could feel his cock stiffen inside of her. She ground down on it, squeezing it with her flooded pussy. She bit her lip as her eyes threatened to roll back in her skull again. She loved toying with him. She was really getting herself off doing it.

And knowing that Dan might be listening was just the cherry on top. She knew the orgasm building inside of her was going to be a big one. She’d been stoking it earlier before Dan left, and now she was going to fucking claim it.

“Because,” Sarah said, leaning back to look Lester in the eyes, “Now you can’t explode into me with the real thing. With all those little swimmers desperate to knock me up. Mhmmm, that would be fun, wouldn’t it? A nice, slow baby-making session? Your DNA, mixing with my DNA...”

“Fuckkk,” Lester mumbled.

Sarah just smiled wickedly down at him, “Like you said, I’ve only ever been impregnated by a little worm.....I wonder what it would feel like having a nice, juicy, big cock like yours give it to me.”

She chuckled, “I bet it would feel like a firehose spraying down my eggs. It’s too bad we’ll never know.”

“Jesus Christ,” Lester muttered, staring up at her in awe, eyes wide, “I fucking love you.”

Sarah smiled and lowered her head to his. Her lips pressing hard against his fat lips, “Then cum for me. Cum in me. Make me feel what it would be like. Unleash in me. Give it to me Lester.”

Lester grabbed her face and stuck his tongue into her mouth.

“Mhmmhmmhmm,” Sarah moaned around his tongue, her own dancing against his as their bodies violently collided with one another. Sarah was slamming her ass down onto Lester’s cock while he was thrusting up with complete abandon. She pulled back, wanting to stare down at her husband’s roommate as he came.

Lester’s face was beet red as he stared up at her reverently.

“Tell me you love me,” Lester said.

“I love you, Lester. Fuck I love you and your big fat fucking cock,” Sarah said.

“I don’t think Dan could hear you. I don’t think your neighbors could hear you. Say it again,” Lester said, his hands gripping her ass hard as he firmly pulled her body back down onto his rigid, plunging cock.

Sarah could feel the dam welling inside of her, threatening to burst. She knew that it was going to happen any fucking second now.

“If I do that....” Sarah started, “I’m gonna cum.”

“Do it. I’m gonna cum too. I’m going to fill you up until it pours out of you,” Lester spat.

“Fuck,” Sarah groaned as her pussy squeezed his cock. Sarah could feel it threatening to erupt inside her. Heat ran up her back. Her crotch and legs were slick with sex and sweat. She slammed her pussy down, letting Lester’s entire length slide into her, making her gasp. Her nails dug into Lester’s shoulders, and she locked eyes with him.

“I love yo,u Lester. I fucking love you. Do you hear me? I LOVE YOU! FUCK ME! I LOVE YOU, LESTER! FUCK GIVE IT TO ME! I LOVE YOU! LESTER! LESTER!. UGH! FUCK! GOD! LESTER...I....I....LOVE...UGHHMMHMMMMNNNNN,” The damn broke inside of her; she felt a surging torrent of electricity course through her entire body. Lester’s cock spasmed inside of her. She felt his balls lift up, and she felt his shaft expand. A widening band of scalding heat travelled up Lester’s cock and passed between her pussy lips. The hot sensation travelled the entire length of the huge cock inside her, then a geyser of molten cum exploded up and into her.

Lester groaned through gritted teeth. Sarah sucked in a deep breath and clenched her pussy around his cock. He was so deep inside of her as his ropes of cum continued to explode out, showering her insides with its wet, sticky white goodness. Sarah’s body rocked and her eyes involuntarily fluttered closed. Her jaw hung open as her entire body quivered and shook.

The electric current of pleasure ran throughout her being, coursing over every nerve like she’d just stuck her tongue into a live socket. Sarah couldn’t help but let out a primal, guttural groan as her body went limp, falling against Lester’s fat, shuddering form.

They sat there like that, two sweaty intertwined bodies. Both trying and failing to catch their breath. Sarah’s eyes didn’t want to open. She was already so exhausted from the marathon fucking that she let the oblivion of sleep take her with her lover still inside her.

Lester groaned and tried to inhale. Something heavy was on his chest, obstructing his breathing. He blinked, forcing his eyes open. It took him a few seconds to understand his surroundings before the satisfied smirk returned to his face.

He pulled Sarah from his cock, off his lap, and gently lowered her onto the couch next to him. She made a disappointed groan in her sleep but didn't wake up. A slow, milky river of cum oozed out of her well-used pussy and pooled on the couch cushion. Lester pulled himself to his feet and looked around at the mess he'd made of the Williams' home. It looked like a bomb had exploded, and he knew the upstairs was much the same.

He glanced at the closed basement door and couldn't help but chuckle at how easily Dan had folded and retreated to protect his fragile little psyche.

Lester spent the next few minutes finding his clothes and getting dressed. He put a blanket over Sarah to keep up appearances, then found his phone. He typed a short message to Renee, mentioning he was concerned about Dan and that she should check in on the two of them. She didn't respond; it was just shy of 5 AM after all. His dick still swelled with the prospect of one day sliding his cock into Sarah's shapely mother.

Lester took out his phone and flipped it horizontally, starting to record a video. He slowly spun around, filming the entire room, documenting everything. He recorded Sarah while she slept and then crept up the stairs to capture the aftermath of the events that had occurred there.

When he was done, he slipped his phone into his pocket and left through the front door.

Pain stirred Dan awake. He grimaced and rolled into a more comfortable position. He was vaguely aware of voices somewhere distant. He grunted and slowly opened his eyes, looking at the exposed beams of the basement ceiling.

When he'd lain down on the futon last night, it hadn't been so uncomfortable. He'd even tried reminiscing about his first time being with Sarah on the old thing way back in the day. But her moans and screams had quickly dislodged memories of their clumsy and hasty first time together.

Once the couple of voices above him had quieted down, he hadn't been able to sleep. His mind was still foggy, but it raced with errant thoughts, trying to process just what the fuck had happened up there. Had he let things go too far? Was it possible for him to wrest back control of himself and the situation as he had in the past?

The only way to silence his thoughts and actually get some much-needed sleep was for him to jerk off again. He'd hated doing it. Shame filled him, especially as he mentally played back the scene on the couch and those three little words leaving Sarah's lips as she stared lovingly into Lester's eyes.

Someone was shouting upstairs. Dan snapped awake and stood up, making his way up the stairs. He didn't recognize the voice at first, not without his coffee. Maybe Lester and Sarah were having a lovers' spat? Maybe this nightmare had all worked itself out on its own?

If Lester was out of the picture, so was any hope of their family staying afloat.

Dan slowly opened the basement door and peered out. Sarah's parents were standing in the foyer, looking shocked. Her dad's face looked like a tomato as he yelled at Sarah, who had the smallest of silk robes wrapped around her body.

"What the hell happened in here?" James said, arms spreading wide, "It looks like you guys either had a party or a home invasion, which was it?"

Dan's eyes followed his father-in-law's. The coffee table was off-center, and he knew the dining room and kitchen were probably still a mess from the night before, unless Sarah had gotten to it.

"It smells like BO," Renee said, covering her nose.

"Everything is fine," Sarah shouted back at her parents, "Why are you here? We were gonna come pick up the girls."

"We were in the neighborhood," James said dismissively, "What's that fucking smell? Did you have a sex party or something?"

"Dad!" Sarah said through clenched teeth, "Please! The girls will hear you."

As if on cue, two sets of footsteps bounded down the stairs.

"Mom!" Ava said, "There's a hole in the wall!"

"A hole?" Renee asked, "Where?"

“In the hallway!” Sofia said, “Right outside our room. It looks like someone slept in our bed!”

James shot an accusatory glance at Sarah but held his tongue. The door clicked closed behind Dan, and all eyes turned to him.

“Daddy!” Both daughters yelled. They ran over and wrapped their arms around his waist. Dan returned their hugs under the twin glares of James and Renee.

“There’s a lot going on that Sarah and I need to sort out,” Dan said, prying himself from his daughters’ grips. He walked up next to Sarah, “Thanks for watching the girls, we really appreciate it. As you can see, we have a lot of cleaning up to do.”

James was about to speak when the doorbell rang behind him. Dan furrowed his brow and exchanged a look with Sarah. Neither knew who it could be. Dan braced himself for Lester to show up at the worst possible moment.

“Excuse me,” Sarah said, pushing past her parents and opening the door.

A man Dan didn’t recognize was standing there with a clipboard in his hand.

“I have a delivery for uh,” he looked down at the clipboard, “Dan Williams?”

“That’s us,” Sarah said, gesturing over her shoulder to Dan. The guy gave them a nod, “I’ll be right back.”

“What is it?” Renee said, turning to Dan. He didn’t want to tell her the truth, that he didn’t know. He didn’t need to add to the confusion. James stood next to his wife, his eyes intently focused on the basement door.

“We’ll see,” is all he could respond with.

The driver and his partner walked up the driveway carrying something large and brown. As they got closer, Dan thought it looked like it was leather. James and Renee moved out of the way as the men brought it into the house.

It looked like a comfortable brown leather chair. Dan shared a look with Sarah, who made a face indicating she had no idea what it was.

“Bedroom up the stairs?” the man carrying the chair asked.

“Yeah, why?” Dan asked.

“Work order says we are supposed to move it up into the bedroom. You want to show us where you want it?” the guy asked.

“Sure,” Dan said as the men started up the stairs, straining and groaning as they went. He was eager to get away from James and Renee. The men pivoted the chair as they reached the top, and Dan followed. One of them pushed something into the girl’s room.

He paused at his daughters’ door and saw the comforter and sheets on one of the beds all dishevelled. He felt his anger boil beneath his skin, knowing now what had probably happened the previous night. His office chair was in here; evidently, it was the thing the man had pushed out of his way.

Just as Ava had said, there was a large hole in the drywall about 4 feet up. Further down the hall, he looked into his office and saw the chair missing. How it ended up in the hallway, he could only guess.

As he followed the men into his bedroom, he winced at the cum stain he’d left on the door the previous night.

“Where do you want it?” the man asked out of breath.

“There’s fine,” Dan said, pointing to where the men stood. They set the chair down and gave Dan the clipboard to sign. The other man took a picture of the chair on his phone.

As Dan signed the paper, the man pointed at the existing reading chair tucked in the corner, “The paper says we’re supposed to pick up and haul away another chair for recycling. It this it?”

Dan furrowed his brow and looked between the man’s extended finger and the old chair. He wasn’t sure what the hell was going on but he wasn’t going to make an executive decision like that without consulting Sarah. “No. It’s fine Don’t worry about the haul away. Must have been a mistake or something.”

“Easier for us,” the man shrugged. He shook Dan’s hand and made his way back into the hallway with his partner. The partner gestured to the cum stain on the door, and both shared a disgusted look with one another.

Dan looked down at the unfamiliar chair that had been deposited in his bedroom. He didn’t remember ordering a chair, and Sarah seemed just as confused as he had.

When he finally went back downstairs, both the men and James and Renee had left.

“They just can’t mind their own business,” Sarah said, exasperated. The girls were in the living room, watching something on TV—a cartoon about a sandwich-eating, talking snail named Greg who planned to steal the Liberty Bell. “I hate when they just show up out of the blue,” Sarah continued, “We were supposed to pick up the girls. I feel like a teenager with my parents barging in to look for porn or weed or something.”

“It’s a little much. Still, I wish they hadn’t seen it like this,” Dan said.

Sarah’s phone beeped, and she looked at it.

“What is it?” Dan asked.

Sarah handed him the phone. On it was a text message from Lester with a picture of the brown leather chair. Dan squinted, and it looked like the picture the delivery guy had just taken in their bedroom upstairs. Lester had captioned it, “Danny’s new cuckseat.”

Toxic Attraction Ch. 35

The sun had set hours ago, but Dan had needed to get out of the house. He'd been walking for almost an hour without any particular destination. He just needed fresh air, and his body needed to move. He couldn't sit still in that house anymore.

It was all just too much for his brain to process. He hadn't anticipated everything that had happened. The way Lester had simply and suddenly barged in and taken over, completely dominating Sarah and, in turn, him. He hadn't been at all prepared for that. He was aware that his previously meek roommate had a mean streak, but Dan had no indication that he was capable of something like what happened in the dining room. Or the bedroom. Or the rest of the house.

He couldn't believe just how far the sanctity of their home had been defiled.

Dan inhaled the cool night air as he paced through the park. His mind raced in a million different directions, but at least out here, away from it all, he could breathe.

His mind didn't retreat into that safe place inside of him like it did when he was confronted with Lester and Sarah together.

What the fuck am I going to do?

His family was teetering on the brink of financial ruin. Lester was their lifeline. But he and his help were poison. Sarah wouldn't go to her parents for help, and Dan's family wasn't in a position to help. It was Lester and his poison pill, or it was no one.

Sure, maybe they could move into their car or something equally dramatic, but Sarah would never go for that. It wasn't a real possibility. The only option he could see in front of him was swallowing Lester's poison pill and enduring the nasty side effects. The thought of swallowing briefly flashed him back to their dining room, with Sarah choking on Lester's thick cock.

Maybe they could do that for a while, live with Lester's help just until they found some stability and moved on. He'd been scrambling with work for months. Something would have to turn around soon, wouldn't it? Sarah would also need to start looking for work. They'd get back on their feet; they had to.

But what if they didn't?

Soft moans caught Dan's ears, and he found himself walking towards the sound. He came to a dark corner of the park, and lying on the ground were two younger people. One a man, the other a very attractive brunette. Both were in a state of undress, the man's hands in her pants and hers openly stroking his hard cock.

Dan froze in place, just like he did each time he watched Sarah and Lester together. His mind was slowly retreating back into his head.

"What the fuck, perv?" The girl shouted, covering herself up with one hand. Dan's mind reeled, and his consciousness lurched back to the forefront of his mind. He staggered back a step as the guy shuffled to his feet, scared, defensive and on the verge of anger.

"Sorry, I, uh," Dan stammered, seeking to avoid an awkward fight. He turned and hurried away. "Sorry."

He marched briskly back to the better-lit part of the park, looking over his shoulder as he went. His heart hammered in his chest, and he felt himself getting out of breath. He didn't stop until he found himself crossing his front lawn, eyeing his house's door.

His heart didn't slow as he opened the door and crossed over the threshold. He lay his back against the door, closing it, and let out a held breath. After a few moments, he got his bearings again and took in the quiet house. It was late, he didn't know how late. He hadn't brought his phone with him. His eyes took in the living room and the dining room, now back in their cleaned and orderly state. The cleaning he'd done seemed like a blur of lost time to him. But now looking at the two rooms, he couldn't help but picture the chaotic bacchanal that occurred so recently.

Dan climbed the stairs. The girl's door was shut, and both were already in bed. His eyes avoided the new opening in the wall. He'd begun to patch it, but the hole was too large for the repair kit he had on hand. When he reached the end of the hall, his heart started hammering again. Faint light shone into the hallway. Just like before, he approached his own bedroom door, excited and worried about what he would find on the other side.

Easing the door open, Sarah was sitting on the bed in her pajamas, looking at him.

"Where'd you go?" she asked in a quiet voice.

"For a walk," Dan said, "To think."

"The girls were worried. You just left without telling anyone where you were going."

“I, I didn’t think about that,” Dan moved into the room, closing the door behind him. He moved to sit down across from Sarah, but paused, looking at the new chair Lester had purchased for him. He sighed with resignation and sat down in it, “I just had to get some fresh air and clear my head.”

Sarah crossed her arms. “What’s wrong?”

Dan chuckled under his breath, “Oh, you mean other than watching you and Lester defile our house? Nothing Sarah. Nothing is wrong. Everything is great.”

Arms still crossed, Sarah stood up, “What did you think was going to happen, Dan? That we were just going to have dinner, and he would leave? You knew what we were signing up for. You knew what this was.”

“Oh yeah, I just knew that he was going to take you at the dinner table and that you both would talk shit about me all night. That’s one hundred percent what I signed up for,” Dan shook with repressed rage.

“We only did those things because you like it. You react to it. Your face twisted in this deeply expressive way that I’ve never seen before. When Lester has me like that, I might say things that could be belittling to you. And you love it.” Sarah said.

“I don’t,” Dan fired back.

“Really? Is that why your dick was hard all night? I come around to embrace this fantasy of yours, and then you hate me for it. You’re like one of those conflicted internet commenters who jerk off to porn and then write an angry comment afterwards about how bad it was. You want to see it, to live it in the moment, but now you’re acting mad at me to avoid questioning yourself.” Sarah threw her hands up in the air, exhausted.

Dan just shook his head, “No, I don’t think you did it for me. You did it to please your lover.”

“Please him?” Sarah chuckled, “Of course I want to please him. He’s the one throwing us a lifeline and keeping our family afloat. If I have to lean into things a bit, so what? You both enjoy it. I can’t believe I’m being made to feel like the bad guy here.”

“You do more than just lean into it. You love it too. I see the way you look at him.” Dan said, standing up and moving further away from her.

“What? Would you rather I don’t find something in it to enjoy? You’d rather your wife sleep with Lester and be disgusted by every second of it? That sounds sick, Dan.” Sarah said.

“That’s not what I meant,” Dan shook his head. He made an effort to keep his hands at his sides to maintain focus.

“Oh, what did you mean then? That you want me to like it, but not like it too much, or then I’m a slut? You men...” Sarah stammered, balling her fists.

“You’re deflecting from the point,” Dan replied.

“What’s the point then, Dan? Did we take things too far? Maybe. Maybe not. But this is what we signed up for. At any time, you could have stepped in and stopped things.” Sarah said.

Dan pinched the bridge of his nose, “You know how I get. Sometimes I can’t...”

“Get it up?” Sarah said with an acidic tone.

“Can’t think,” Dan said hard, ignoring the barb, “I can’t breathe. My brain doesn’t work.”

“You keep saying that, but to me it feels like you just want to shift all the responsibility off of you and onto me. So you can have your cake and eat it too,” Sarah said.

“That’s not it.” Dan said, “No, I just hate this whole situation. It makes me feel...”

Dan struggled to find the right way to phrase his emotions. Before he could, Sarah said, “...like less of a man.”

Dan winced and felt a pang in his heart. Sarah continued, “You’re struggling with that. Between work, the weight of all our bills and then there’s the way Lester takes command in the bedroom. You’re feeling like less of a man. Not as important.”

“That’s not it. At all,” Dan lied, “It’s about respect.”

Sarah chuckled, “So all of this is about you, but did you ever stop and think what I want out of this? I don’t want Lester to come in and ask for permission before he kisses me. I want passion, I want to be taken, hard. Dominated. It’s not just about what Lester or you want. I’m part of this, too.”

“I think our boundaries are getting blurred. We should have talked about this before,” Dan muttered.

“We did talk about things to an extent. I think you’ve just got buyer’s remorse.”

“I wish we could just pause this whole throuple thing,” Dan said, “So I can figure it out.”

“Dan...I love you. I do. But you always want to stop and think. Sometimes you just need to act. We can’t pause things. We’re in it now. If we pause things, how are we going to cover everything?”

“I don’t know. Savings,” Dan said.

“We need that. There’s not much left, but if things get any worse, we’ll need it.”

“So that’s it then? We just keep letting Lester use you, and I have to be okay with it?” Dan asked.

“I don’t see it that way. Look at it as me using him. And I know it’s all an adjustment. This whole throuple thing. I’m still wrapping my head around it.” Sarah said.

“It didn’t seem like you took much time adjusting...” Dan said, cringing immediately as the words left his mouth.

Sarah shook her head, “You know what. I get it. This new situation —being unemployed again and everything else —is tough for you. But I lost my job too. It’s tough for me too. But I’m figuring it out instead of playing the blame game. You want some fresh air and to clear your head? I think I need to clear my head, too.” Sarah said as she walked to the closet.

“What do you mean?” Dan said.

“I mean, we need some time apart. Both of us. We need to think. Everything’s too... raw right now,” Sarah said.

“I don’t want to leave the girls. I don’t want to be away from them again,” Dan said.

“So what? You want me to go?” Sarah said.

“Maybe I can just sleep in the basement for a bit. We can be in our own spaces,” Dan said.

“I need some physical separation, Dan. We need distance to work things out for ourselves,” Sarah said.

Dan felt the heat rising in his chest, “So what? Where are you gonna go? Are you gonna drive to Chicago to be with him?”

Sarah scoffed, “I was thinking of staying at my parents, but try not to be so insecure.”

“Really? Your parents? They’re going to ask you a million questions. You’re probably going to regret it.” Dan said.

“Not as much as I’ll regret staying here while we tear each other’s heads off,” Sarah said. “It’s not healthy, Dan.”

“None of this is healthy,” Dan shot back.

“See, this bickering solves nothing. The sniping,” Sarah said as she packed clothes in her carry-on, “I can’t keep being the bad guy.”

Dan wanted to stop fighting. The guilt welled up in him, mixing with the bubbling anger. He knew he was casting stones harshly, but he was frustrated to the breaking point.

“Hey, stop,” Dan said, trying to hold Sarah.

“Don’t touch me, not right now,” Sarah snapped, “I don’t want that.”

“Maybe you should stay,” Dan said, thinking of Sarah running off to be with Lester.

“Bye, Dan. I’ll call the girls in the morning, tell them I love them,” Sarah said as she wheeled her suitcase out of the room. Dan sat on the edge of the bed listening as she went down the stairs. He kept listening, waiting for the sounds of her coming back up, for them to apologize to each other like they always did.

He kept waiting as he heard the door close, then the car’s engine came to life, and the car pulled out of the driveway. He kept waiting, certain she’d cool off and come back.

Sarah could hear her parents speaking in hushed, hurried voices down the hall. Sarah had just showered and was now getting ready for bed. Her old bedroom used to have posters of the Backstreet Boys and N’SYNC on the walls. Now the walls had been tastefully updated with a neutral cream hue. It had taken her a moment to adjust to the unannounced change.

There was a knock at the door, and her mom came in. She shut the door behind her. Sarah was always pleasantly taken aback by how beautiful her mother still looked. She hoped she would age just as gracefully as her mother seemed to be.

“Everything okay, Mom?” Sarah asked.

“Just your father being your father,” Renee said, coming to sit next to her on the bed, “To be honest, I get it. Sometimes we just need a break from them.”

“I’m starting to feel guilty about it,” Sarah said, looking down at her hands.

Renee held them, “And you don’t want to tell me anything else?”

“No, Mom, I don’t, it’s just—”

“I won’t pry. I’m sorry. I’m worried. I don’t want to get between you and Dan, but a mother will always worry about her daughter,” Renee said.

Sarah just nodded her head.

“I was thinking…” Renee started, “How about instead of wallowing around here with both of us under your Father’s eye, we get out of town for a bit. Maybe we take a mini girls’ trip. Just the two of us. We haven’t done that in, gods, I don’t know how long.”

“I’d like that,” Sarah said, smiling at her mom, “It would be a good mental reset. Just to get away for a couple of days sounds great. But I can’t really afford to at the moment, though.”

“Well, you two still have your apartment in Chicago, don’t you? We could just go into the city for a night or two. Catch a show. Have dinner. Have some fun. I’ll take care of the rest,” her mother said.

“We do…but…I don’t know…” Sarah began to think about the apartment. About Lester. Her legs shifted on the bed. “I’m not sure if Lester will be there or not. He might not like having us both crash there.”

“You pay rent just like he does,” Renee said, “You let me worry about Lester. I’ll handle him.”

Sarah squeezed her eyes shut and pushed out the stray thoughts that had wandered in. Her mom’s innocent words took on an entirely different meaning to her. Her mother “handling” Lester was something she didn’t want to consider.

Sarah opened her mouth to say something, but her mom held up a single finger, “It’s settled. Right?” Sarah thought about Dan. Wondered what he would think about this plan. But this is what she and her mother needed. Some space. Sarah looked at her mom and nodded, “Okay.”

Lester strolled through the hospital hallway with a giant shit eating grin on his face. Everything about the last encounter at Sarah’s house had been note-perfect. Dan was completely edged out of the equation in his own home. Sarah bending to his every whim, shutting the door on Dan and professing her love for him as they fucked...

He couldn’t have asked for a better execution of his plan. It was intoxicating to push them both like this. To see them continually cross the lines in the sand they had so valiantly tried setting up long ago. He smirked, thinking back to the Sarah Williams he’d first met. She wouldn’t even recognize the woman she has become now.

His phone buzzed in his pocket. A message from Sarah asking whether he would be in Chicago or Middleton. He replied that he’d be wherever she’d be. As he tucked his phone in his pocket, it buzzed again.

He took it out, ready for a flirtatious exchange, but his eyes bulged. It was an alert from a security app installed on his computer in Chicago. Someone was trying to breach his firewall remotely.

“Not today,” Lester sneered, opening another app for his smart plug and killing power to his computer. No power, no access.

Cronos, whoever he was, had some hacker lackeys who were getting very annoying. He’d have to put some more permanent measures in place to stop them.

He sent Sarah another message that read, ‘Chicago,’ before marching back to his office to pack his things. He was just making a courtesy appearance here anyway.

Marcus stared out the window at the cityscape before him, arms crossed behind his back, a wrist in each hand. He hated having incompetent people anywhere near him. “How are you just finding out about this now?”

He could feel Irving shifting uncomfortably behind him, “I, uh...”

Marcus rolled his eyes and turned to face the smaller man on the other side of his desk, “You know I don’t pay you by the word. Spit it out, Irving.”

“Right. Yeah. “Sorry,” Irving sputtered. “Well, we weren’t looking for it.” When we bought our leaked files back, we tried to track down the seller, but he routed himself through a ton of different networks and protocols. We lost him when he pinged off a server in Bangladesh. It was actually quite impressive how he was able to...”

“The point,” Marcus rapped his ringed finger on the wooden desk, “Get to it.”

“Right, uh, yeah, so that was a dead end,” Irving shifted his weight between each of his feet, looking anywhere else in the room besides Marcus’ eyes. “So we started doing some homework, looking for other similar attacks. We almost missed this one, but I had a contact at a small, shitty consulting company called Swan Systems. Anyway, one of their clients in rural Illinois got hacked recently too, but this one was a ransomware demand.”

“And?” Marcus said, his open hands signalled his impatience.

“And we found a connection,” Irving beamed, “I found that connection.”

“Jesus Christ, what is it? Do I need to pay you more to get to the point? What is the connection?” Marcus demanded.

“The guy working with that Jesse kid. The one working with Byron when everything went down. His wife works at the hospital. That can’t be a coincidence.”

“Get me everything you can on both of them,” Marcus said, “Anything else?”

“Yeah, just one more thing. My guy said that their team couldn’t get past the ransomware. It was impossible. But then the wife there brings in some mystery independent consultant that unlocked everything within a week and made Swan look like shit.”

“Find out who that was,” Marcus demanded.

Irving bent forward in a pathetic bow and retreated, scurrying out of the room.

“Are you sure you want to stay at the apartment?” Sarah asked as she neared Lester’s building, “We could always get a hotel or something. Make it a real girl’s trip.”

“Can you really afford that? With Dan losing his job, I’m not sure it’s the smartest thing to do. I plan on paying for the other expenses this trip, Sarah, because I know things are tough, but your dad and I didn't get to where we are today by spending when we don't have to," her mother said sagely from the passenger seat.

Sarah suppressed an eye roll as she eased the car into the building's parking lot. She'd heard this line of sage advice all her life. Her parents loved to tell her how to save and be successful in life. It couldn't have anything to do with the fact that both of them had employers with great benefits and pensions, positions that conveniently no longer existed.

The job market her parents knew no longer existed, but they never took the time to acknowledge it.

"I'll grab our bags from the back," Sarah said, killing the ignition.

Her stomach was in knots the entire ride up the elevator. Her mother was humming something to herself. Sarah didn't know what would happen when she walked through the apartment door. Would Lester already be there? Would he saunter up and kiss her? He'd done that before. And now that they were a 'throuple' it stood to reason that he might expect that. They hadn't gone over any ground rules, such as how to act in front of others. Sarah would die inside if Lester kissed her in front of her mother.

Sarah breathed and tried to focus on something else. "So, have you thought more about what you want to do this weekend?"

The doors opened, and they stepped out. Her mother said, "I still don't know. We need to get some food, for sure. It could be fun to go and have a couple of drinks somewhere. We can always do that Uber thing."

"Drinks? Are you sure? We could visit a museum or something, maybe do some touristy stuff," Sarah offered.

"Leave the tourist stuff for the tourists," Renee chuckled as they wheeled their luggage down the hall. "How often do I get time alone with you like this? Time away from your father? I don't want to stare at a bunch of musty pictures, I want to have fun, Sarah."

"Fun? So you want to hit the clubs, Mom?" Sarah asked, laced with sarcasm.

"Who knows. Maybe. Do you think they have an '80s night?" Renee asked.

Sarah stopped at the door to the apartment and put her key in the lock, "No. I don't think they do."

As she stepped into the apartment, she felt herself getting wet between her legs. She didn't fully understand why, but she imagined it was some kind of fucked up automatic Pavlovian response. Her eyes darted to the hallway, half hoping and half dreading Lester's appearance. As her mom rolled her suitcase in and closed the door behind them, Lester still hadn't come out.

"Maybe we have the place to ourselves this weekend," Renee said.

"Maybe. Or maybe Lester is just playing his video games. He's pretty obsessive," Sarah said.

"Well, whatever. Should I put my suitcase in Dan's room or just leave it out here in the living area?" Renee asked.

Sarah took her mother's suitcase, "I'll bring it to the room. Why don't you make us some coffee and get comfortable?"

Sarah wheeled both suitcases to Dan's room, as her mind raced. She hadn't thought all of this through. There was still a massive peephole on Dan's wall that she couldn't let her mother see. When she pushed open the door to Dan's old room, she was surprised to see the peephole covered by a piece of art hanging on the wall.

Lester must be here, or at least in the city. They'd texted back and forth briefly. He knew she was coming with her mother. He'd taken the initiative to cover the hole and relieve Sarah of an awkward situation. She almost felt touched at his consideration.

Almost. He'd chosen a picture of a half-naked anime girl holding a massive sword. She was posed in a very sexually suggestive manner. Now, instead of a conversation about a peephole, she'd probably have to endure an awkward conversation about Dan's taste in art.

Lester could be such a dick, but at least he was consistent.

When Sarah returned to the living room, she was surprised to find her mother engaged in an animated conversation with Lester, who had apparently just arrived home. As she approached, they both turned towards her. Lester's predatory eyes took their time running over her body, and she suppressed a shudder. He shouldn't be doing that, not in front of her mother.

"Hey Lester," Sarah steeled her nerves, tamping down the urge to pull him to his bedroom, "Did you just get in?" She felt a heat bloom between her legs.

“Yeah, I had to do some running around,” Lester said, “Your mom and me were just talking about your girls’ weekend. Sounds like fun.”

“Lester told me about a bar we should go to called ‘Hummingbird’, it sounds like a lot of fun, and the drinks are cheap. Maybe we could go there after dinner tonight.” Renee beamed.

Sarah cocked her head, “What’s so fun about this place?”

Lester shrugged, “Dunno really. I’ve just heard about it. Seems to be one of the talked-about places in the city. Decent food, cheap drinks, good music.”

“We’ll see,” Sarah said.

“You ladies want some company tonight?” Lester asked, looking at Renee. Sarah was about to shut that down, but Renee spoke first.

“Sorry, Lester. It’s a girls’ weekend. Just me and Sarah. We’re going to spend some quality time together.” Renee said. Relief washed over Sarah.

“Tsk. Too bad,” Lester said, “Maybe tomorrow then? It’s always been a fantasy of mine to have a beautiful blonde on each arm.”

Renee lightly slapped Lester’s arm. Too playful a gesture for Sarah’s liking. “Stop that,” Renee blushed. A crooked smile spread on Lester’s face. Sarah’s stomach turned.

“Alright,” Sarah stepped forward, “Mom, did you make coffee?”

“No, not yet dear, I was about to when Lester walked in.”

“Okay, I was thinking. Why don’t we go for a walk and grab one? I could go for a pumpkin spice latte from Starbucks,” Sarah said.

“Oh, I don’t know, Sarah, we just got in,” Renee started.

“What happened to us having a fun girls’ weekend? We should go out. The apartment will be here when we get back and need to crash.” Sarah said.

“Oh, you’re right. Okay,” Renee said, “Let’s go. See you later, Lester.”

“I’ll be here,” Lester chimed in, “I’ll probably be in my room. Sarah, if you need anything. Anything at all, you know where to find me.”

The statement sounded innocent enough, but Sarah knew what Lester was implying. He wanted her to visit him in his room later. How the hell was she going to do that without her mom catching on to them?

“I always told your Father we should try Indian food,” Renee said as they stepped out of the Uber. Sarah shimmied across the seat and got out behind her mom.

“But he never wants to try anything new. It’s always the same places. The same dishes. I don’t know how that man can live like that. Don’t you ever just want to have a taste of something new?” Renee said, her words coming out fast and furious.

Sarah shook her head. They’d had a couple of drinks with dinner, and her mom was having a good time. The Indian restaurant had been her mom’s idea.

“Janet and her husband just love Indian food. There’s that little spot on 10th, but your father won’t ever go. I’m going to make him take me when we get back. He’ll like that one chicken dish.”

“Butter chicken,” Sarah said, hooking her arm in her mother’s and crossing the sidewalk to the entrance of Hummingbird’s. The place looked dingy, like it had been a mainstay of the neighborhood for decades. Not some new and trendy place like Lester had alluded to. When they opened the door, the place was packed with throngs of people. They slid up to two open seats at the bar.

“What should we order?” Sarah asked, “Do you want another glass of wine?”

Before Renee could answer, a young male bartender came over, “What can I get you?”

“Two shots of whiskey,” Renee said with a big smile. Sarah turned and looked at her mother with wide eyes.

“What? We’re supposed to have fun. Come on, Sarah, don’t be all stuffy. Let loose a bit. That’s why we’re here, isn’t it? The boys always get to have fun, why shouldn’t we?”

Sarah shrugged and turned to the bartender, “Two shots of whiskey, I guess. And how about a couple of glasses of red? Do you have a Cab Sauv?”

“We only have a merlot,” the bartender said. Sarah nodded reluctantly. Shortly thereafter, the bartender returned with their drinks. Renee held up her shot glass to toast with Sarah, and they both downed them, nearly identical disgusted expressions following shortly afterwards.

They sat and talked, sipping their wine, when the bartender brought over two drinks and set them down in front of them.

“Excuse me,” Renee said, “We didn’t order these.”

The bartender winked at her, “Courtesy of an admirer across the bar.”

Sarah looked around but couldn’t see anyone looking in their direction. “What are they?”

“Dark and Stormies,” the bartender said. Before Sarah could ask what kind of alcohol was in them, the bartender left to serve another customer.

When she turned back to her mom, she’d already taken the drink in hand and was taking a long sip from it. “Oh, that’s good,” her mom said, “I didn’t think I’d like it, but it’s good. Who sent it?”

“I don’t know, I didn’t see anyone wave,” Sarah said.

“It’s exciting,” Renee said, turning to sip on her wine.

“What is?” Sarah asked, “The drink?”

“Just being out like this. And having someone buy me —us — a drink. I don’t remember the last time that happened. Or the last time I’ve just gone out for a drink like this with your father,” Renee said.

“Don’t get too excited. It’s probably some ugly guy trying to get us drunk,” Sarah said.

“Well, he can buy me all the drinks he’d like,” Renee laughed, “I’ll just drink them and make him leave with blue balls.”

“Mom,” Sarah said, “Who are you?”

“What? Come on, Sarah. Don’t be such a prude. It’s just a word. Balls.” Renee said again.

“Is this what it’s like when you drink?” Sarah asked.

“Oh please,” Renee said, “I’ve only had a couple. It’s just harmless fun. Don’t pretend like you never have fun like this.”

“What’s that supposed to mean?” Sarah asked.

“What was it like?” Renee asked, “That...adult theater. What happened in there, Sarah?”

“We are not talking about that again, Mom. We already talked about this. That conversation is over.” Sarah said.

Renee signalled to the bartender and asked for two more shots.

“Mom? What are you doing?” Sarah asked.

“Trying to get those lips of yours to loosen up. Come on, I’m buying,” Renee said.

“You’re getting out of control,” Sarah said.

“I’m not. We’ve only had a couple of drinks, Sarah. I told you, I wanted to let loose this weekend. Have some fun. I never get to have any fun anymore. Just give me this, okay?” Renee asked.

“Fine,” Sarah said and downed the shot the bartender placed in front of her. She went back to the shitty wine.

As they continued to talk and drink, Sarah couldn’t help but feel like something was off with her mom. She decided to ask a feeler question, “Is everything okay? With you and dad?”

“Don’t worry about us, Sarah. You have enough relationship things on your plate.”

“Come on. Girls’ weekend, remember? How are you guys doing?”

Renee drained the last of her wine and pushed the empty glass forward. She turned her attention to the dark and stormy in front of her before sighing, “Things are fine. A little boring and domestic, but fine. It’s just...the same thing. Day in and day out. I wish your dad would take more initiative.”

“What do you mean?” Sarah asked.

Renee cocked an eyebrow at her, “You know what I mean.”

“Ew. I don’t need to know that.” Sarah said, downing a large gulp and finishing her wine.

“You asked.” Renee chuckled.

“I sincerely wish I hadn’t,” Sarah spat. She grabbed her own dark and stormy to clean the fresh bile out of her mouth.

Another pair of drinks was placed in front of them, this time in two highball glasses.

“Your admirer again. He said you both look thirsty,” the bartender said before retreating. Again, Sarah scanned the crowd but couldn’t find anyone looking their way. She sipped the new drink, and it tasted good.

Her mom was happily sipping on the drink and had her phone out. Sarah instinctively reached into her purse, pulled out her phone, and saw a text from Lester.

L: How’s the drink?

Sarah scanned the crowd again. She didn’t see him anywhere.

S: Are you here?

L: Maybe.

S: I don’t see you. Are you creeping in the shadows or something?

L: Maybe. Just watching two blondes out enjoying themselves.

S: Leave my mom alone.

L: Sure. It’s not her I’m interested in anyway.

Sarah grinned and raised an eyebrow.

S: Oh? And who are you interested in?

L: A delicious mother who likes getting fucked in front of her pathetic husband.

S: You’re bad. Dan wasn’t happy afterwards.

L: Sure, he wasn’t. But he didn’t stop us. In the moment, he loved it. He just felt emasculated afterwards.

Sarah stared at his words. That was close to what she had said to Dan earlier. She didn't know how to respond.

L: You know it's true. But why are we talking about Dan? I'd rather talk about the sexy blonde at the bar.

S: Sexy? I'm wearing jeans and a t-shirt. That's not very sexy.

L: It's still your body underneath. You can put whatever you want on top, but that body still drips sex.

S: Careful. I don't want you to get worked up. Nothing will be happening tonight. Not with my mom in the apartment.

L: Who says we need the apartment?

Sarah bit her lip.

S: What are you thinking?

L: The stalls in the bathroom aren't too tight. We could both fit in there.

S: That's disgusting.

L: That's why you'll love it. You can keep pretending to be the nice little soccer mom but we both know just how dirty you like to be. Come on, it'll be perfect.

S: I'm not going to leave my mom. We can't.

L: What's going to happen? She'll have a couple of drinks alone? She'll be fine. She's a grown woman.

S: Knowing you, you'll keep me in there for over an hour. I can't do that.

L: I love that you aren't against the idea anymore. You're just trying to find an excuse. Your mom wants you to have fun this weekend, right? You should take advantage of that.

S: I'm not sure it's a good idea.

L: Maybe I'm texting the wrong blonde.

S: Stop that shit, Lester! It's not funny.

L: What? You don't think she likes me?

S: She's married to my father, Lester.

L: And you're married to Dan. I don't see your point.

S: I will strangle you in your sleep.

L: Not if I choke you with my cock first.

S: You are insatiable.

L: Big word for a drunk girl.

S: I'm not drunk. Not yet.

L: You're swaying as you text. I can see you remember?

S: Goodbye, Lester.

L: I'll meet you in there in five minutes. Don't be late.

Sarah sighed and shoved her phone back in her purse. She took another long sip of her latest drink.

"Dan?" Renee said.

"Hmm? What?" Sarah asked.

"Were you texting Dan? Is he upset about you coming on the trip?" Renee asked.

"No," Sarah said. "It wasn't Dan. He hasn't messaged me. I haven't told him we're in Chicago."

"Really? Then who were you texting with?" Renee asked.

"Nobody important," Sarah answered. She tried to push thoughts of Lester out of her mind. Of rendezvousing with him in some dirty public bathroom. The idea made her skin crawl, and she felt dampness between her legs. She shifted in her chair, her bra brushing uncomfortably against her stiffening nipples.

"Then why were you smiling so much?" Renee challenged. Sarah looked at her mom. The dark and stormy was gone from in front of her. Renee was swaying in her seat, clutching the empty highball glass.

“Just some funny GIFs and memes. A friend at work. It’s nothing,” Sarah said.

“Nothing? Like how nothing happened at your house the other day? When your father and I woke you, it looked like a tornado had been through there,” Renee said, “I’m still wondering what you and Dan got up to.”

“You promised not to ask about that this weekend,” Sarah said.

“You’re right,” Renee said, miming a gesture to zip her lips, “I won’t ask about your crazy sex life.”

“Jesus. Mom,” Sarah put her face in her hands, “You need to slow down on those drinks.”

“You’re no fun, Sarah,” Renee said again.

Sarah levelled her gaze at her mom. Then deliberately moved it to the back of the bar in an exaggerated eye roll.

“I’m just saying, Sarah, that I…”

The rest of what her mother said trailed off as she spotted a familiar blob moving through the back of the bar. Lester looked entirely out of place in his ratty graphic t-shirt and basketball shorts. He garnered quite a few stares, even a couple of people gesturing over their shoulders and snickering with their friends.

Sarah knew how to have fun. More than her mother could ever know. She downed the rest of her drink and turned to her mom, cutting her off, “I need to go to the girls’ room.”

“Oh, I’ll come too,” Renee said.

“No. It’s okay. It’s busy in here. Hold our seats. I’ll be right back,” Sarah said, sliding off the barstool. As she did, the room spun, and she gripped the back of the chair to catch herself. She blinked and chuckled at how tipsy she was feeling. It was like all those drinks hit her at once.

Her mom said something again from behind her, but Sarah didn’t catch it. She pushed through the crowded bar, careful not to trip on her uneasy feet. She moved through the throngs of people with a giddy smile plastered on her face. Things began to register more slowly in her brain. She was sure someone had cupped a handful of her ass as she walked by, but it didn't bother her.

She moved into the back of the seedy-looking bar. There was a dimly lit hallway here. Lester was nowhere to be found. She went down the corridor and around a corner, deeper into the building. She felt goosebumps spread onto her arms. She hadn't realized how long the hallway was going to be.

She passed a door to the men's washroom, then stopped in front of the one for women. She blinked, looking back down the hallway at the men's bathroom. She wasn't sure which one Lester would have gone into. Sarah pushed open the door to the women's and stepped in. The washroom was empty. A single incandescent bulb flickered on the ceiling, threatening to go out.

It was absolutely disgusting in there. The tile floor looked like it'd never been cleaned, and grime seemed to cling to every surface. Sarah moved in, and the first stall had a big 'Out of Order' sign. The next was locked, but she didn't think anyone was actually in it.

"Down here," Lester's grumbling voice said from the furthest stall. She walked towards it, back in the direction of the bar and the men's washroom door. She tentatively pushed open the shabby door to the stall and stepped in.

"What took you so long?" Lester said. He was standing there, already naked, nothing left on his body except his long black socks. Her nose wrinkled at the fact that he'd taken his shoes off in here. But her eyes drank in the sight of him. The dark hair covered the fleshy mound of his body. His eager, sinister-looking face. The odd proportions she'd never seen on another human being. And his long, thick cock, already sprouting up through his dense pubic hair, to greet her.

She licked her lips without thinking and stepped into the stall, pulling the door closed behind her. Lester advanced on her immediately with that fucking shit eating grin plastered on his face. He waddled up to her like a toddler.

"I thought you weren't coming? What happened to that?" Lester grinned, pressing his naked cock against her jean-covered pussy, backing her up into the filthy stall door. She cringed as her hair pressed against it, wondering how long it had been since anyone had wiped this place down.

"I just remembered the incredible time you gave me at my house and couldn't resist," Sarah whispered, voice already struggling to contain her burning desire.

Lester chuckled, "That was a good night."

He started to tug on the bottom of her tucked-in white t-shirt as he ground his cock into her. Sarah gasped as her shirt was completely untucked. Lester slowly pulled the thin material up over her body.

“You fully submitting to me. Getting fucked on the dinner table in front of your husband. Him just sitting there like a pathetic cuck while I took his wife over and over again all night long. Lester’s lips were on her neck. His thick tongue snaked out and explored her goosebump-covered skin.

“Shhh. Lester. Someone will hear you,” Sarah moaned, her hands running through the wiry hair on Lester’s chest.

“Who gives a shit?” Lester’s tongue left a hot trail of saliva up her craned neck. His fat tongue swirled over her skin. “No one here knows you. Who cares if they know you’re a little slut or that your husband is a cuck? Heh, you’ll probably just have a line of guys wanting to take a crack at ya.”

“Mhmm,” Sarah let out a soft moan at the idea.

“But then,” Lester continued, “You’d like that, wouldn’t you. You’d like every guy in this bar lining up to take his turn with you after I’m finished.”

“Maybe,” Sarah softly moaned, biting her lip as Lester tugged her shirt up over her body. Exposing her lacy black bra to him. “Could you handle that? All those men having their turn with me?”

Lester’s tongue left her skin, and she groaned in disappointment. His eyes ran over her now-exposed flesh, and a decidedly predatory glint filled his eyes. He licked his lips and finally met her gaze. She saw the hunger burning there and felt her panties soak through.

“As long as I have you first. I set the bar high. The question is, could you handle it?” Lester teased and ground his hard cock into the crotch of her jeans. Sarah bit her lip and closed her eyes, focusing on the feeling of his inflexible cock. “How far would you have gone in that theater if I wasn’t there?”

Sarah shuddered and ground her pussy back against Lester’s cock. Her breasts were rising and falling in quick succession. She knew the answer. She’d known it when her mother had asked her at the bar.

Sarah pushed Lester back a bit and reached down to fumble with the button and fly on her jeans. Lester chuckled and tossed her white t-shirt onto the filthy ground by the toilet. Sarah pushed her jeans down, revealing a black lace g-string.

“What’s a respectable mother doing wearing that?” Lester chuckled.

“Just shut up and get back over here,” Sarah snapped as she kicked off her shoes and stepped out of her jeans, leaving them in a pile on the floor. Lester didn’t move. He just stood there, taking in the exposed sight of her. He had an evil grin on his face.

Lester stepped forward and grabbed her arm, spinning her to the side. Her hands braced against the wall, and Lester pressed his rock-hard cock against her perfect bubble butt. He didn’t waste any time. He pulled back and lined his cock up between her thighs and pushed forward, forcing his cock between her thighs and over her panty-covered pussy.

“Uh fuck you’re such a tease,” Sarah moaned, letting her head droop forward, until her forehead pressed against the wall side of the dingy stall. Her blonde locks fell to each side, framing her face. Lester’s hands were kneading her sensuous hips as he slowly pistoned his length in and out between her thighs.

“I’ll never get enough of this,” Lester grunted, his eyes locked on her ass.

“Good. It’s all yours, Lester,” Sarah moaned.

“Forever?” Lester chuckled.

“Fuck, I really hope so,” Sarah whined.

“I wonder what the third wheel would say to that,” Lester said.

“Uh fuck. Lester, please shut up about Dan. Just give it to me already.” Sarah mewled.

“Heh. Gladly,” Lester sneered. His simian hands left her hips and grabbed each side of her thin, little black g-string panties and pulled with determination. Sarah yelped in pain and heard the fabric rip as Lester tore the garment off her body.

“Oh fuck,” Sarah bit her bottom lip. She could feel herself already dripping down her thigh. She pushed her ass back, seeking Lester’s cock. It ran against her slit, its tip tingling her clit. She thrust back again, trying to make the connection.

Lester just sawed his expanding cock back and forth against her bare, dewy pussy lips, teasing her. Sarah opened her eyes, ready to throw back her head and complain to Lester. Her eyes caught something on the wall.

The drywall was covered in obscene drawings. There were a few spots where it read “For a good time call Jennifer at...”

But what caught Sarah’s eye most of all was an illustration of a spiralling yellow brick road drawn onto the wall. Its intricacy suggested it had taken a lot of work. She’d never imagined she would find a work of art like this in a women’s bathroom.

Just as she was gazing at the evocative landscape. Lester reared back, then pushed forward urgently. The vast head of his rigid cock pressed up against her soaked opening; his size prevented him from moving further. Sarah closed her eyes again, bracing herself against the wall. She felt something cold and metallic and wrapped her fingers around it. She was vaguely aware it was a handicap grab bar.

Without the will to wait any longer, Sarah pushed her curving hips back. A long, guttural groan escaped her lips as she eased the leaking head of Lester’s cock inside of her.

“Mhmmmmfuck I missed you,” Sarah moaned. She gripped the bar harder and pushed her perfect ass back. Lester stood still, letting Sarah do all the work. She didn’t mind at all. She took inch after tantalizing inch inside of her, her jaw dropping open in awe as she did.

“I missed you, too,” Lester spat from behind her.

“I wasn’t talking about you,” Sarah grinned.

Lester just grunted his acknowledgement, but Sarah wanted to keep talking, “I was talking to your cock. That big, beefy, beautiful cock. Fuck, I want it in me all night. I want it all over me in me. I need it. In my mouth. Everywhere.”

“I’ll sneak into your room and fuck you while your mother sleeps,” Lester said.

“Ughh,” Sarah ground her nails into the steel bar. The idea of being covertly fucked like some teenager made her head swim with delightfully perverse thoughts.

Sarah’s bubble butt pressed against Lester’s thighs, and she’d taken his entire length inside of her. She stayed still for a moment, letting herself adjust to his mammoth size. The cool tile below her sock-covered feet was a physical reminder of the disgusting environment she found herself in. But at that moment, she couldn’t think of anywhere else in the world she’d want to be.

Licking her lips, she slid forward towards the wall, easing a few inches of him out of her before sliding back down onto it, “Mhmmmm.”

“Mhmmmm. Yessss.” Sarah moaned.

“Louder, Sarah,” Lester said, giving her taut ass a light slap, “No one can hear you over the sound of the music. Let it out.”

“Uhhhfuck what if someone walks in?” Sarah mumbled a response but moaned louder anyway, “Mmmmmhmmmmmmmm.”

“Then they’ll be jealous of the fucking you’re about to get,” Lester said. He pulled his entire shaft out of her and slammed it back into her hard like he’d done the first time, like he always did. Sarah’s feet skidded on the tile floor, and she pushed against the bar for leverage.

“This is how you were meant to be fucked. From behind in a dirty bathroom stall like a cheap whore. Squeeze my cock, Sarah.”

Sarah clenched her pussy around Lester's cock as he slid it in and out of her. She wanted him to hammer her. To dominate her. To caveman power fuck her in here. She needed to be fucked hard.

“Fuck Lester. Give it to me. Fuck me harder. I need it. Please. Please,” Sarah whined. Lester unhooked her bra. It dangled from her shoulders. He reached around and, with one paw, palmed one of her breasts. He squeezed it hard before letting the nipple roll between his fingertips.

His other hand held tightly onto her ass, not willing to let her go. His fingers on her ass cheek and his thumb resting in her crack, near her asshole. He pumped his cock in and out of her, increasing his unrelenting pace as he went. Sarah felt her eyelashes flutter as they rolled back, revelling in the sensation of Lester's giant cock working inside of her. The bar she was holding onto was amazing, giving her the perfect angle to let Lester's girthy cock pound against her G-spot before pushing deeper past it with every burning thrust.

She pushed back at the same time Lester thrust forward, adding some of her own momentum to the glorious collisions of her stimulated G-spot and his massive, driving cock.

“Ughhhhhhmhmoooooooooooo,” Sarah groaned, raising her head and letting it loll to the side. Lester let go of her breast and ran his hand up her back until he savagely grabbed a fistful of her gorgeous blonde hair. He roughly pulled her head back, and she saw stars for a second.

Lester shifted himself behind her. Sarah used what little leverage she had to glance over her shoulder and saw that he'd put his foot up on the toilet seat and adjusted his angle to allow himself to plunge even deeper.

"Oh! Lester, shit," Sarah moaned as the angle of his cock made her insides dance, "That's nice. So fucking nice. Just like that, baby. Mmmmm."

"Have you followed the yellow brick road?" Lester asked, cock furiously thrusting into her. Her ass slammed back on his pressing thighs, and she could feel the sweat of sex already covering both of them. She didn't know how long she'd been in here. She wasn't sure how long they'd been fucking, but now everything else could wait.

"What?" Sarah said, not focused on the meaning of his words. She was too distracted by his amazing cock pistoning in and out of her like a freight train. She was about to hang her head and go back to mentally checking out when pain flared in her neck.

Lester's hand once again gripped her hair into a tight fist and pulled her head up, "Oh, fuck that hurts."

"You love it. Open your eyes," Lester demanded.

Sarah opened them. Her vision was blurry and unfocused for a few seconds. The drywall in front of her came into focus, along with the graffiti and lewd drawings, doubtless by some adolescent youth. Her eyes went back to the spiralling mural of the yellow brick road.

"You see it?" Lester asked, aggressively pumping his cock into her. He pulled his dripping pole all the way out of her and slammed it back in for good measure, making the horny wife shriek.

"Uh..yeah....yes...on the wall," Sarah moaned, ready to close her eyes and focus on the blissful sensations of their fucking.

"Follow it. Follow the road till the end," Lester said.

"What?" Sarah said, suddenly irritated with him. She just wanted to fuck.

"Do it," Lester said, somehow menacingly slowing this thrusts, "Or I'll stop fucking you."

"Ughhmhmmm. Don't stop. Please don't, Lester. I'll look," Sarah raised her head and opened her eyes. Lester pushed his entire cock back into her, then pulled it back out quickly. Then he slammed it all back in again. His cock felt so hot. So thick. So big. It filled her completely. She moaned, wanting to drop her head, but her eyes were lazily following the spiralling yellow brick road design on the wall. It spun around and around, covering a large chunk of the wall right in front of her. Its center ended directly above the bar she was gripping so tightly.

Her eyes went wide as saucers when she saw what awaited her in the middle of the spiral. A thick, dark cock was now jutting out of the wall.

“What the fuck?” Sarah gasped, her pussy involuntarily clenching around Lester’s pulsating cock. He took a rasping breath and thrust hard into her, pushing her forward towards the wall. She gripped his cock with her pussy lips and pushed back with her ass, pushing her arms down on the bar for leverage. As she pushed back, her head dropped down until she was eye level with the large dark cock. A trickle of precum oozed out of the black organ, and a tress of her stretched down over her face and fell dancing across the broad shaft and head.

“You know what that is,” Lester said, “It’s a cock. Not a penis like Danny’s.”

“I know what the fuck it is, Lester,” Sarah stammered, “But what the fuck is it doing here?” Her ass clapped back against the short man’s pushing thighs.

Sarah heard the undeniable moan in her voice as she spoke. She couldn’t take her eyes off the large, dark cock jutting out of the middle of the wall at her.

“Waiting for you,” Lester said. “It’s been sticking out of there for a while. Someone probably watched you head to the back and hoped that you’d come into this stall.”

“You picked the stall,” Sarah said, licking her lips.

“You share your husband’s tendency of stating the obvious,” Lester let go of Sarah’s head and grabbed both of her hips. He dropped his foot from the toilet back to the dirty tile and pushed her forward. Sarah lurched, not expecting the force of Lester’s effort. Her bare breasts smashed against the cold, nasty, drywall. The steel bar pressed hard into her hips. The lacy black bra hung uselessly from her shoulders. Lester’s fully engorged cock was buried deep inside of her, pinning her against the bar.

The dark skinned cock jutting through the wall pressed into her flattened stomach. She could feel the man’s oozing precum smear onto her skin. Sarah shuddered from head to toe. The cock in the wall pulled back off her and then thrust forward. The unseen man repeated the gesture, his cock head leaving a slimy trail on her skin before ramming back into her to leave another.

Lester hammered her from behind while the stranger probed her front. Sarah's face was pressed up against the wall, against the yellow brick road design. She breathed hard, feeling the different sensations of the two probing cocks. One deep inside her, the other desperately wanting to be.

"You gonna touch it?" Lester grunted into her ear from behind her. Before she could even think about it. The cock disappeared. She waited for it to ram back into her stomach, but it never did. Sarah looked down and watched as a black, weathered hand reached out from the large hole, fingers splayed, and a person she couldn't see touched her stomach.

Some stranger was touching her. While she was naked. While she was getting fucked. His calloused hands ran over her tight, flawless white skin. The arm bent awkwardly, and then the hand moved up, cupping one of her breasts. Sarah let out a sharp breath as this strange man, this man she didn't even know what he looked like, groped her. Groped her breasts with his one hunting hand, grabbing each of them, pinching her nipples, seemingly cherishing each and every touch.

She heard a groan from the other side of the wall and was sure the black man on the other side was stroking himself while he groped her. Sarah thrust her chest forward into the eager stranger's grasping hands.

Lester's cock slid frictionlessly in and out of her, hammering against her G-Spot. She winced, her lips pressing up against the dirty, drywall, stained with something unknown. The black hand on her breast was groping more urgently now, her tit fully in his hand.

"Oh fuck," Sarah's jaw dropped open, scrapping against the drywall.

"Oh fuck," she repeated.

"You getting close?" Lester wheezed as he barbarically pumped his cock into her at a rapid clip. "Yes....fuck...its....don't stop....close...so close...." Sarah panted, her body heating up as she built herself towards something epic.

"Well, don't be so quiet," Lester chuckled, "Let our friend know he's doing a good job over there."

"FUCK," Sarah moaned loudly against the wall. Her hand dropped, and she put it on the back of the stranger's hand, desperately urging him to fondle her harder. She was so close. He seemed to get the hint. The hand grabbed her breasts roughly, his calloused fingers teasing her nipples.

“Uhoh fuck. Right there. Please. Please.

Don’t....fuck....yes....yes.....YESSUUHHHHMHMMMMMM,” Sarah wailed as her pussy constricted around Lester’s cock, holding the massive tool firmly in place. Lester still pushed into her and dragged his cock out before slamming it back in past her defenses. Lester forced his way between the clenched muscles of her inner walls. Her tightness welcomed the invasion; her body knew every inch of him. The unfamiliar hand on her breast tweaked a nipple, and Sarah screamed as her body exploded in a furious orgasm.

Her calves locked, and she went up on the balls of her feet as her world rocked. Her pristine ass jiggled against Lester’s jiggling fat and she clenched her jaw tight as every muscle in her body shuddered in heavenly bliss all at once. The hand on her breasts kept grabbing her, like a conductor at an orchestra guiding them all through a powerful crescendo.

“MhmmmmohhhhGOD,” Sarah screamed into the drywall as the nerves in her body ignited. She clenched her eyes closed so tightly that her vision went completely black for a moment. Her brain swam, and she rocked back and forth, feeling her orgasm add to the alcoholic warmth coating her core.

Breathing hard, she came back to reality, her entire body tingling with heightened sensitivity. The arm groping her breast disappeared back through the wall, much to Sarah’s disappointment. It had somehow taken her lacy black bra with it.

But in the arm’s place, the thick, black cock reemerged as if looking for its reward for making her cum so hard. Sarah gazed down at it, licking her lips. Without a single conscious thought, she reached down and grabbed the thick shaft in one hand, caressing it. She closed her eyes and revelled in the feeling of it in her palm. It was so thick and powerful, and by extension, Sarah was powerful holding it. She gripped it tightly and slowly began stroking it. The cock thrust against her palm, as if it had a mind of its own. Sarah let a big dollop of saliva run out of her mouth, landing on her palm and partially covering the cock within it. She massaged her drool onto this stranger’s cock and began stroking him in earnest, watching with wide, fascinated eyes as he pushed back at her touch.

She stared at the point of contact between her white, creamy, flawless skin and the utter ebony blackness of this new cock. She was transfixed, watching the illicit difference in hue.

Sarah’s momentary reverie was broken by Lester’s hard cock pumping back into her and snapping her back to reality. Sarah groaned, reached out with her other hand, grasped the handicap rail and thrust her bubble back towards her skilled incel lover.

Sarah slammed her ass back against Lester while she stroked the black cock jutting from the hole. With one other hand gripping the rail for leverage, part of her brain registered how much thicker the man's cock was than the safety bar. The bar's steel color wasn't as interesting a contrast against her white skin.

“MHMMMMMHMMMMMFUUUCKK,” Sarah's breathing was labored as she fucked and jerked. Each time she slammed back onto Lester's cock, her hand would stroke the entire length of the man's hard shaft.

They worked like that, all three together in a rhythm that extended for minutes. Sarah fucking Lester's big fat cock. The horny young mother fucking herself back into it while she jerked off a stranger. Several times, she had to spit on the cock in her hand, tempting her to save herself the trouble and just take it into her mouth.

The stranger's cock kept ramming through the dirty hole, desperate for her touch. Sarah couldn't catch her breath. Lester's cock slid in and out, touching deep inside of her, places no other man, not even Dan, had ever touched. Sarah wanted to whimper, to lie down on the dirty tile floor and just take his unbelievable cock while he dominated her.

Sarah's eyes locked on the dark cock in her hand, watching more sticky precum ooze out of it, running over her hand and fingers. A stranger's cum was on her. A stranger with an unknown face.

Sarah kept staring, mouth agape as a sheen of sweat covered her skin. It pooled off her forehead and dripped onto the floor. Lester was breathing hard behind her.

Then the bathroom door creaked open.

Renee had gotten impatient waiting for Sarah. Her daughter had to have been gone for over half an hour. Renee reveled in her buzz as she stumbled down the long, dark hallway at the back of the bar.

Where was her daughter? She still couldn't be in the bathroom, could she? Renee pushed open the door to the women's washroom and stepped inside, peering around at the dimly lit, unkempt room.

“Sarah? Are you still in here?” Renee's head swam with that perfectly heady buzz, and she couldn't suppress the smile on her face. Even though she wasn't graceful on her feet, she felt like she had skillfully glided through the crowded bar to the back area.

She waited for a response, teetering on her feet. She couldn't help but turn her nose up at the disgusting state of the bathroom. Why had this place been so highly rated again? The drinks were cheap, and the bartender definitely had a heavy pour. That probably went a long way in today's economy.

There were some scuffling sounds from a far stall, but otherwise, it didn't seem like anyone was in here. A surprise, given the number of young women in the front of the house. Sarah must have gotten held up somewhere back in the bar.

Before she headed back, all that alcohol had run through her, and she needed to pee. Renee found an open stall and stepped inside.

Sarah's eyes went wide at her mother's voice calling for her. She tightened her grip on the stranger's cock, holding it still. The man didn't seem to mind and kept pulling back and thrusting himself forward through it.

Her head spun, looking over her shoulder at Lester, only to find that condescending gaze already watching her. He looked amused by the situation, the complete opposite of the feeling Sarah felt in the pit of her stomach. She'd come too close to her parents discovering things already. She couldn't bear to be caught in such a compromising position by her mother and then have to talk about it with her afterwards. She'd have to reveal some uncomfortable things to her.

Sarah tried to stand, but Lester planted his hand between her shoulder blades and held her in place. She gave him a hard, questioning look, which he replied to with a solitary finger held up to his lips.

He kicked one foot out and slid her clothes away from the edges of the stall. Another stall door clicked closed. Her mother was still in the room, despite their silence.

Lester narrowed his eyes at her, that evil smile returning to his face. She knew that look. She'd seen him make it a hundred times before. The hand planted firmly on her naked back slid up her back, never lessening its pressure. He gripped the back of her neck, his fingers snaking up into her hair.

With a slight turn of her head, Lester pulled on her hair. She opened her mouth to yelp but suppressed it, not wanting her mother to hear. At that exact moment, Lester thrust hard into her and pushed her head forward to the dark as night cock she still gripped in her hand.

The swollen, engorged head eagerly pushed past her luscious lips and greedily snaked its way over her wet tongue. Sarah gagged, not ready for it. She heard a guttural groan, followed by a hand slamming on the other side of the wall. The shaft pulled back and thrust forward again, desperate for me, even as Sarah held the shaft in a vice-like grip.

Lester never gave her a moment to get her bearings. He pulled his hips back and slammed his cock into her, burying it fully to the hilt, making her rock forward onto the black cock, spreading her lips.

Sarah's free hand gripped the safety bar to keep herself steady as the two men used her. She couldn't help it. Despite desperately not wanting to, she let out a long, soft moan around the stranger's cock, "MMMHHHMMMmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmm."

Sarah's hand loosened its grip on the shaft, just a bit, and she renewed stroking it. Up and down, the saliva from her mouth not providing a glistening sheen, making it much easier to jerk him off. It felt like she was now feeding herself the man's cock. Stroking him into her mouth.

That thought and fullness of her mouth and pussy made her moan again without restraint, “Mhmmmmmm. Mmmmmhmmmm. Mhmmmmmmmm. Mhmmmmmmmm.”

Renee's fingers hovered over the toilet's lever, frozen. She stood in place, with wide eyes as her drunken brain tried to process what she just heard. Did she hear wrong?

She stood up, straining to listen.

“Mhmmmmmm. Mmmmmhmmmm. Mhmmmmmmmm. Mhmmmmmmmm.”

The sound was unmistakable. A woman in the throes of it. As she listened, she heard the accompanying wet slapping sounds. Someone was giving it to the woman. Fucking her. Fucking her hard and fast from the sounds of it. They were fucking without a care in the world about being in public, about the disgusting state of the bathroom. Just a raw experience.

She took a step back from the toilet, not wanting to flush. Not daring to make her presence known. If she flushed, they'd hear and might stop. A warmth spread through her chest, and her breath was coming fast and shallow.

She shouldn't be here. Shouldn't be part of this. Shouldn't be listening to them. It was supposed to be something private. But she felt a thrill run through her. A thrill she hadn't felt in years.

How long had it been since James had shown that kind of passion? Of just having to have her. For her to feel his raw need? She couldn't remember the last time. They'd settled into something of a routine. Nice, predictable. But their sex life was virtually nonexistent. The doctors said something about his low testosterone. But Renee still kept herself in shape, hoping to attract her husband. She'd almost convinced herself that that part of their lives was fine. Didn't need work. It changed with age.

But hearing the other women further down in the bathroom getting publicly pounded had shattered that notion. That need to be touched, to be held, to be fucked came roiling back to life. Renee backed herself against the stall door and let their animalistic sounds wash over her.

The women's soft, pleading, muffled moans. The wet slapping sounds of skin on skin connecting as they fucked. And...something else. Another wet noise. A slurping noise....

Was that why the moans sounded muffled? Was the woman also giving oral at the same time? Renee's head swam at the implication. But as she listened and closed her eyes, it was unmistakable. The woman was taking two coks at once and loving every second of it.

Warmth crawled over Renee's skin, and her mouth went dry. She realized that her hands were running over the front of her shirt, grazing her nipples and the skin below them. It felt nice. She sucked in a breath and held everything still. Letting the sounds of the threesome wash over her as she continued to touch herself.

Dan had forgotten how hard grocery shopping with the girls could be. Whenever he'd gone out in Chicago, it had been fast and efficient. Just get what he needed and get out. The girls trailed behind and wandered off. They touched everything, grabbed snacks and chips, and rushed up to the cart, begging him to buy them.

What should have been a fast shopping trip took twice as long. But now he was in the checkout lane, loading their haul onto the conveyor. He eyed everything, noting the multiple new additions that hadn't been on his list. Of course, the girls had talked him into adding a chocolate bar each that were conveniently located in the checkout aisle.

The cashier rang up the total, and Dan tapped his card to the reader.

Declined.

The cashier gave him a look and, without a word, reset the transactions, letting Dan tap again.

Declined.

Dan sighed, "Let me try my other card."

He slid his visa out and held it to the reader.

Declined.

His cheeks flushed. He never carried cash anymore. Just his two cards.

The lady behind him in line was done loading her stuff and was waiting. Behind her, three more carts waited.

The girls had already opened their candy bars and were digging in. Dan's heart hammered in his chest as he looked between the declined message and the indifferent eyes of the cashier.

"I might, uh, need to remove some things here," Dan said, scanning the already bagged groceries. He felt the stares of the impatient customers behind him as he opened the bags and began prioritizing what was needed.

The girls protested when he set aside their must-have additions.

Ava grabbed the box of peanut butter cookies and shoved them back in the bag.

"You said we can get them!" Ava cried.

"Not today, Ava," Dan said through gritted teeth. The woman behind him crossed her arms and pretended not to be watching.

"But you said! Why does Sofia get her Doritos? It's not fair."

"We're not getting the Doritos either," Dan hushed.

"What!" Sofia protested, "I want them. Please Dad! Please. Mom would let us have them."

Dan ignored the girls' protests, even as they grew increasingly embarrassing in volume. He pushed everything non-essential to the side and set up everything they needed.

"Could you ring just these up?" He asked the cashier. She rolled her eyes, cancelled the transaction and rang everything up. The girls were still whining at him, and he was aware of the scene they were making. They were garnering looks from other aisles.

The cashier finished scanning everything, and the card reader lit up, waiting for him. With dampness in his underarms, Dan held his first card to the reader.

Declined.

He let out a curse that shut both of his daughters up. He held his second card up to the reader, holding his breath.

Accepted.

Dan let out his breath and quickly loaded his trimmed-down groceries into the cart. The girls still protested the entire way out of the store, drawing many eyes and parental judgment. Dan just blocked them out as he wheeled the cart out of the store into the cool night air and headed towards their car.

Lester had thankfully settled into a comfortable pace behind her. Sarah craved his deep, hard, relentless thrusts, but it wasn't what the situation called for right now. Sarah pulled her lips off the stranger's cock and greedily licked around his cockhead, tasting the salty, bitter precum from it.

She tilted forward, pressing the hard, thick shaft against her face. It was warm and felt so big against her, "Ughmmhmm."

It felt so good against her skin. She wished she could see herself. To see what it looked like against her skin, next to her face. She knew the man on the other side of the wall was waiting. Sarah pushed forward until her face was next to the hole and stuck out her tongue, licking the base of the man's shaft. She twirled her tongue around it, eliciting a positive groan from the other side.

That made her smile. She kept stroking the end of his shaft, running her palm over it and the head of his cock as she slowly and methodically licked up his shaft. She made sure to lick all around his impressive girth, coating their stranger's tool in her saliva.

She still couldn't believe she was doing this without even knowing what the man looked like. Was he old? Young? Fat? Thin? She had no idea. It didn't matter. He was just a cock to her anyway.

Sarah licked up to the tip of his cock, swirling her tongue around the head. Flicking it over the sensitive area. Lester cock dragged up and down over her G-Spot, Sarah momentarily stopped her licks and just held onto the cock, getting lost in the sensations of Lester's manipulations.

Her hot air covered his cock as she slowly renewed her focus. She eyed the man's heavy balls and, without a second thought, dragged her tongue down to the base of the shaft again and headed towards them.

They weren't fully through the wall like his cock, but sitting just inside the cutout hole. But she could still get to them. The man almost jumped as her tongue flicked out and licked the flesh of his balls. Through the dense matting of pubic hair her tongue could still feel the goose-like flesh of his nutsack.

The man chuckled from the other side of the wall. To Sarah's dismay, he retracted his cock completely. Her second of disappointment was relieved as the man thrust his ball sack through the wide hole.

Sarah could only imagine what kind of position he was in on the other side, but happily dove in tongue first. His coarse pubic hair pressed against her as she rolled her face against this stranger's meat sack. Her tongue danced across him, teasing and licking. A little hair got stuck to her tongue, but she quickly pulled it off and dived back in.

"That's it," she heard a deep voice groan from the other side of the wall, "Lick 'em bitch."

Sarah's pussy clenched around Lester's cock at his words. It was one thing to touch a stranger, another to suck one she couldn't see. But it was something completely different for a stranger to talk to her in such a derogatory way. Dan never even talked down to her like that.

Dirty talk in the bedroom was something intimate, like what she had with Lester. It was like this man was jumping all the steps and just taking what he wanted from her. The thought made her clench herself on Lester's go again, basking in the feeling of his monster cock filling her.

As she squeezed Lester, he kept pushing forward. In and out. Over and over. She had trouble holding onto him. She was gushing between her legs.

Sarah's hot breathing was coming out ragged as she licked and worshipped the man's balls. She wanted to talk back. To say something to him. To chastise him for speaking down to her. To beg him to do it again. But she couldn't utter a word. Not when her mom was still in the bathroom, just a few stalls down.

She should have left by now, but Sarah hadn't heard her. Maybe she snuck out or Sarah was just too preoccupied with the two cocks to notice. It was fucked up that part of her liked the idea of being caught. For someone to discover who she really was.

The balls disappeared, and Sarah quickly moved to the side before her eye was impaled with the dark man's returning cock.

"Mhmmmmhmmmmmm," Sarah let out a soft moan that seemed to fill the washroom as she eagerly grabbed the mystery man's shaft again. His heartbeat pulsed in her palm from the thick vein running on the underside of his cock.

WHAP

Sarah yelped at the unexpected pain.

Her head spun to see the savage look on Lester's face. He grinned back at her, his ugly features and beady eyes. She still couldn't believe a man built like him could make her feel so fucking good.

He raised his hand again, and their eyes locked. She waited, bracing for the pain. As she tensed, Lester's hand hovered in the air. It was torture, waiting for it to fall. The cock in her had jutted in and out of her grip.

Lester smirked and started to lower his hand. As she relaxed and was about to turn back to the black man's cock...

WHAP

Sarah yelped again, falling forward towards the cock. It pressed against her face hard and moved into her hair. Lester had smacked the same spot twice, and tears formed at the corner of her eyes.

"Uhhhmhmmmmmm," Sarah groaned from the pain. She wanted to yell at Lester and pull him into a deep kiss, but didn't dare say a word. She just turned to glare at him with a mix of fury and wanton desire.

He gave her an evil smile. His entire flabby body was covered in sweat. Sarah could even see beads of it running down his chest. The fat man grabbed her hips with both hands and dug his fingers into her flesh.

He pulled his cock all the way out so just the tip was embedded inside of her, then swayed his hips back and forth, teasing her. Sarah pushed her ass back, seeking more of him, but he made sure his cock stayed where it was.

Sarah stared at him, pleading over her shoulder while the cock in her hand was desperate for attention. It thrust urgently through the hole, needing her.

Through the wall, the man said, “Yo, what the fuck? Put your mouth back on it.. Suck it bitch.”

Lester just smirked at her. Sarah mouthed ‘Please’ to him.

His smirk widened, and Lester licked his lips and plunged his cock forward, pushing Sarah back up onto the balls of her toes. Her lips smacked against the side of the cock. Sensing her face, the man urgently began thrusting forward.

Lester pulled his length out to the tip and shoved it again to the hilt. Sarah’s body quaked before him. He slammed into her again, hitting and passing her G-Spot.

Sarah’s jaw dropped open, “Uhhhoohhhhhmmmmmm —“

The head of black cock rushed past her moaning lips and engorged itself into her mouth. Sarah’s eyes snapped open at the surprise assault before lazily closing just as her lips did around the thick shaft. Lester pulled out and pumped another fresh stroke into her. Then another. Her fist couldn’t keep up with the cock in her mouth’s rapid pace as he fucked her mouth through the hole in the drywall.

“MMMHmmhmmMMHMMMHMmmhmmhmm.

Mhmmhmm....Mhmmmmhm...Mhmmmmhmm....Mhmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned in ecstasy around the thick cock in her mouth. She’d never felt so filled before. Lester’s massive cock filled every inch of her pussy, and this stranger completely filled her oral cavity. She felt helpless. She felt powerful. She felt both men’s desperate need to have her. And the power she held in the ability to make both of them cum.

The idea of both of them exploding into her at once filled her with a deep-seated desire that made her buck her hips back as Lester slammed into her. She felt her bubble butt ripple from the impact and moaned even louder onto the stranger’s cock.

Over and over, Lester slammed into her while the stranger's cock invaded her mouth, fucking against her tongue. Sarah stroked the man's shaft, wishing desperately could use both hands to cover his entire length.

Lester cock pounded against her G-Spot, and Sarah's knees felt weak. Being spitroasted pushed her to her limits, and she felt the orgasm quickly stir inside of her. She held onto the feeling, feeding on all her perverse desires. She focused on it and how fucking full she felt with two cocks in her at once. At how much of a slut she was for letting them use her like this.

She thrust back on Lester's cock, squeezing him as hard as she could. His glorious cockhead speared her G-Spot and electrified each inch of nerves inside of her, igniting them in a tinder of lust.

"Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. Mhm," Sarah moans onto the black man's cock, "Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. MHNMMMMM."

Sarah gasped for breath, opening her mouth wide, pulling back a bit as she gulped the air down. Her stomach and pussy tightened as the wall inside of her holding back her orgasm shattered.

Sarah wailed around the cock in her mouth, fingers digging into it as the fireworks went off inside of her, exploding. Rapidly spread to each inch of her body. Her muscles contracted, she pushed onto the balls of her feet, and a warm flush washed over her skin, delicious pleasure seeping off her.

Sarah's eyes rolled back in her skull as her vision went white, and all she knew was orgasmic bliss.

Renee's jeans hung loosely over her knees. She was biting her lip to keep quiet. One hand was up her shirt, caressing her breasts as she leaned against the disgusting stall door. Her breath was short and raspy.

Her other hand was buried in the front of her soaked panties as she played with herself. Her finger tips were furiously working her clit as she listened to the woman moaning around the cock in her mouth and the slapping sounds of her being fucked.

Renee's eyes were closed tight as she pictured what it would feel like to be sandwiched and used by two men like that. Guilt permeated her being. Touching herself in public to a coupling that didn't involve James. Was this cheating? She didn't know. That was something she could deal with later.

Right now, all that mattered was the way her fingers were working her clit and the insane sounds of this unknown woman being double-teamed just a few feet away. She tried to picture it, how they were positioned. Were they all on the floor? Was the man sitting on the toilet and the woman riding him? Each thought made her buck against her fingers harder.

Breaths came in fast and shallow. The door to the stall emitted a quiet squeal each time she butted up against it. The sounds didn't stop the couple, so she didn't worry.

They must know she was in there. Maybe they didn't care. Maybe it got them off more knowing she was there, listening. Did that make her a part of it? Was she part of this sexual experience, acting as the fourth person?

Her fingers moved rapidly, massaging her clit. She bit her lip, her other hand roughly grabbing at her breasts, thumb pressing against the nipple. Renee began panting, feeling herself getting more and more worked up.

Renee spread her legs further apart and slumped into the corner of the stall. Her skin was on fire, and her pulse quickened.

"Mhm," she let out a soft moan, wondering if the other men would hear her. Wondering if it would get them off, "Mhm. Mhmm."

Obscene thoughts swirled through her head. She knew it was wrong, but she couldn't stop herself. She was breathing hard when she heard the woman begin to tense up. The frantic slapping of flesh.

Renee inhaled hard, her hand grabbing her breasts hard, fingers dancing across her clit like lightning.

"Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. Mhm," the woman's sensual, muffled voice echoed in the bathroom. She was cumming. Renee's fingers touched and touched until her thigh clamped down around her hand, and she drew in a sharp breath.

The stall swayed on its side, and she clamped her eyes shut, thrusting her head back against the wall.

"Uhhmmmmmm," Renee groaned out loud, not caring, half hoping the trio would hear her. Everything felt lighter, and her body flushed with a strong, deep warmth that seemed to permeate through her entire being.

“Mhm. Mhm. Mhm. MHNMMMMMM,” the other woman moaned, competing with her.

She’d never felt so alive. That electric current ran through her body, from her toes, to her pussy, to her breasts and head and connected to something deeper and more primal out there in the world.

As she came down from her high, her fingers and panties were soaked and she struggled to breathe but basked in the warm afterglow of her orgasm.

Renee’s head swam as she stumbled out of the public bathroom after having experienced one of the most powerful orgasms of her life. She couldn’t remember the last time James had given her one that made her knees weak and made her feel lightheaded.

A lazy smile was a permanent fixture on her face as she straightened her clothes and made her way back down the dimly lit hallway. Ahead, a group of young men stood on both sides of the hallway, passing around a joint. A smoky haze clung to the air around them. As they got closer, their bloodshot eyes shifted to her. Even with the drug’s effect, she watched their eyes roam up and down her body.

They liked what they saw, despite the age difference. She made to move through the center of the hallway between them. Her thoughts drifted to the scene in the bathroom of the women taking on two men at once. There were more than two men here. And by the looks they were giving her, Renee could have any of them.

“Want a hit?” A man with bushy eyebrows and a patchy beard held the lit joint out towards her. It stunk as a thin line of smoke trailed up from it.

“No, thank you,” Renee said, inhaling the vapor, “I haven’t had a toké since a Guns N’ Roses concert in the early nineties.”

A wide, stupid smile spread into the man’s face, and he looked up at his friends, “Guns? Roses? Like what?”

The group broke into a low fit of chuckles. Renee took that as her cue and pushed back through the group and headed towards the bar. She needed another drink.

Hurried footsteps followed by the creak of the door told Sarah everything she needed to know. Her mom had heard her cum and shortly afterwards had left the bathroom. She didn't know what that meant, but didn't really care. Not right now.

Just seconds after coming down from her orgasm, Lester was back, thrusting relentlessly into Sarah, giving her no time to recuperate. The stranger's cock still filled her mouth. She moaned and sucked on it, eager for him to finish.

"God, you're such a good little slut. You just let yourself get fucked in the same room as your mother," Lester chuckled, "I don't even know who you are anymore."

Sarah wanted to respond, but her mouth was full of black cock.

Lester pumped into her, still hurling insults her way, "Next time we'll have to get the whole family involved to show them how far their Sarah has fallen."

Sarah's bubble butt slammed back onto him. Lester's hands ran over her ass, squeezing it. They ran up and down her back, spreading the sticky sweat around. Lester was breathing hard. Sarah could hear it in his voice.

His big, hairy, heavy balls slapped against the top of her thighs.

"Is that what you want, Sarah? For your whole family to see you? To learn that you're not a wife, not a daughter anymore, just my slut."

"Mmm-hmmm, Mhmm," Sarah moaned around the black cock.

Lester surged forward, slamming his cock into her.

"Here I cum, baby, take it," Lester howled into the air. Sarah clenched her pussy around Lester's cock as his balls slammed forward, hitting her. She lost her footing for a second, and the cock in her mouth slammed into the back of her throat, making her gag.

She pushed down her gag reflex and felt the head of the cock disappear into her throat. Lester's cock pulsed inside of her, and she felt his shaft expand. A torrent of his hot, sticky cum blasted into her.

She squeezed her pussy around his cock, milking all of it out and into her. Blast, after blast of his baby-making batter spewed into her, filling every crevice inside of her.

Lester heaved as he emptied himself, hand planted on her ass. Sarah shuddered as she was filled to the brim with Lester's illicit cum. The cock in her mouth pushed forward.

Sarah braced herself against the wall, trying to pull her head back. Slowly, the cock disappeared from her throat until she could take it safely in her mouth.

Lester groaned, and with a wet plop, he stepped back, and his cock fell out of her. He sat down on the toilet seat and breathed hard. Sweat dripped off him like he'd just come out of a sauna.

Without the support of Lester's cock holding her up, her knees felt weak. And Sarah still had a cock to handle. She dropped to her knees, skin pressing against the grimy tile.

With her full attention on the stranger's cock she got to work. She slurped his entire length into her mouth, pulling back to twirl her tongue around his cockhead. She pursed her lips and planted a kiss on his dark cockslit, tasting more of his precum.

She stuck her tongue out and licked the head of his cock. She purred, "Are you going to fill my mouth? I want it. Give it to me."

The man on the other side of the wall groaned at her words.

"Give it to me. Mhmm, I love this cock. I want to taste its cum. Give it to me. Give me your black cum. I want to taste a stranger tonight."

"You ever take a black cock before?" the man said from the other side of the wall.

"Mhmmmm, I've played with one..." Sarah moaned as she knelt before this stranger's cock jutting through the wall.

"But I've never had one inside me," Sarah said.

"I'm gonna fuck you," the man groaned, "Break you in real good."

"Maybe..." Sarah licked her lips and stroked the man's shaft against them.

"But not tonight, tonight I want this big black cock to explode in my mouth and fill me up. Mommy needs dessert. And I'm craving chocolate."

"Ugh fuck," the man grunted, lunging his cock forward with urgency, "You're a freak."

"You have no idea," Sarah chuckled and opened her mouth wide. Her tongue extended, and she ran it under the head of the cock, taking it into her mouth. Her tongue swept under his shaft as her mouth closed around him and she sucked him with everything she had. Both hands wrapped around his thick shaft. She twisted her wrists while running them both up and down the shaft, sucking and moaning around his cock.

It wasn't long before the man grunted, and his cock went still. The veins running up his powerful shaft pulsed, and Sarah felt a huge spray of cum blast the back of her throat. She swallowed it immediately as another load spewed into her mouth. She quickly swallowed it as more and more cum flooded into her.

A long, guttural groan escaped from the other side of the wall as his cock shook the last loads of cum into Sarah. She backed off his cock and licked her lips, staring at the huge, strange cock she'd just emptied.

Sarah slumped back on her knees as the cock retreated through the wall. She looked around at her scattered clothes lying on the dirty floor. Lester watched from the disgusting toilet seat, and she made a mental note to make him take a shower afterwards.

She was covered in sweat, grime and cum but felt fulfilled entirely. Guilt and disgust followed shortly afterwards. The man's black hand reached through the hole and tossed a piece of paper at her. Sarah read it. It was just a phone number.

She heard a sound from the other side of the wall, then a shuffling sound. An instant later, a much smaller cock of a different color stuck itself through the wall.

Sarah looked at Lester and shook her head, "I need to go find my mom."

On weak legs, Sarah swayed down the hallway, pushing past a group of hungry-eyed young men. She gulped as they stopped talking in unison, their eyes drinking in her body. Her cheeks heated up as they watched her. She felt Lester's illicit seed pouring into her panties.

She held her arms across her chest, trying to cover her stiff nipples. The man on the other side of the wall had taken her bra. It was mortifying to be completely braless out in public. The shapes of her naked breasts were only concealed by a thin layer of cotton.

She moved out of the dimly lit hallway, back to the packed main room of the bar. The music and loud conversations thrummed in her ears. The heat of the crowd washed over her. Sarah pushed through the throngs of bodies, pressing closely together. Her head swam as her buzz coursed through her.

Two people she didn't recognize had taken up residence at the bar where she and her mom had been. Sarah scanned the crowd, looking for her mother. She caught several men looking in her direction, trying to hold her gaze.

Her heart nearly jumped out of her chest when a large black man sipping on his drink smirked at her. Is that the man from the other side of the wall? There were other men of similar skin color also looking at her. Her head swam, wondering who it could have been. Were they watching her now? Did they know it was her on the other side of the wall?

She held her arms tighter across her chest and moved towards the front of the bar. A gorgeous blonde woman had her elbows on a high-top table with a glass of something in her hand. Two men stood opposite her, eyes clear with intent.

As Sarah got closer, she realized the gorgeous blonde was her mom. Sarah pushed through the crowd and slid up next to her mother. The men's eyes widened as they took in Sarah's form.

"Mom," Sarah said, sliding up next to her mom, "I've been looking everywhere for you."

Sarah smiled politely at the men and tried to keep her breasts covered. Judging by their downward cast gazes, she was doing a poor job of it.

"Sarah," Her mother beamed, throwing an arm around her. She turned back to her new companions, "This is my daughter, Sarah. Isn't she beautiful? I told you she was. She's the one on the girls' trip with me. Getting some time away from our husbands back home."

Her mom swayed as she talked. The men smirked at her mother's mental state and the clear lack of husbands.

"It was nice meeting you," Sarah started to say before her mother turned to her.

"Where'd you go? I couldn't find you. You weren't in the bathroom," Her mother said.

Sarah gulped but quickly recovered, "I got stuck in a conversation. One of Dan's coworkers recognized me. Sorry."

"Itss okay. All water under the bridge," her mother's smile flashed like she just said the funniest joke in the world.

"Mom, I think it's time we call it a night and head back. What do you think?" Sarah asked. Her mother's eyes were closed for several seconds before they lazily opened, and she said, "I need to go pee first."

Sarah knew her mother had just been in the bathroom. Maybe it was the drinks, or an aging bladder or something else was going on. Sarah pulled out her phone and opened the Uber app.

“I’ll get an Uber for us,” Sarah said. The men across from the table protested, but Sarah ignored them. Her mother downed the last of her drink. Dark liquid accidentally poured out of the side of her mouth and ran down onto her shirt, threatening a permanent stain. Sarah made a mental note to wash it for her.

Her mother looked down at her ruined shirt and laughed before setting the glass down hard on the table and turning back towards the bathroom.

Lester stood in a dark corner watching the exchange between a floor full of moving bodies. Idiots and sycophants chatting and trying to score. They were all a waste of oxygen as far as he was concerned.

Especially the two men trying to talk to Renee and Sarah pathetically. He watched as Sarah took out her phone, and Renee turned and moved in his direction at the back of the bar. She swayed, and her eyelids looked heavy.

He watched Sarah, but she was engrossed in her phone as the two idiots tried to chat her up. His gaze shifted to Renee as she moved through the crowd.

Curious.

Lester pushed off the wall and moved on an intercept course with the older woman. Sarah was still on her phone. Renee passed by him without noticing. With a smirk plastered on his face, he reached out and cupped her ass in his hand. His cock stiffened at the forbidden contact.

Renee’s gait shifted, but she didn’t stop. Perhaps he should have grabbed her harder. With one glance back at Sarah, Lester pushed through the crowd, curiously following Renee. He stalked up right behind, having to slow his pace so he wouldn’t bump into her. He stayed close enough, hovering just behind her, that he could smell the scent of her lavender perfume. If she were to turn around, she’d see him there.

Excitement coursed through him at the dangerous game he was playing. Where was she going? He followed her back down the dimly lit hallways towards the bathrooms. He paused at the door to the men’s room, watching Renee. She stumbled for a second as she turned towards the door to the women’s bathroom.

Interesting. Where are you going? Bathroom? Or are you investigating what you heard?

As Renee pushed open the women's washroom door, Lester strode into the men's and quickly went into the furthest stall that shared a wall with the ladies' room. He closed the lock and squatted to peer through the hole in the wall.

Renee's feet moved before her brain could think. She held her breath as she pushed open the women's washroom door. Her skin crawled as she took in the dank sight of the bathroom again. Her stomach turned.

She looked at the stall where she experienced the most powerful orgasm she could remember. Her eyes shifted down the row of stalls to the far one. The door hung teasingly open. Whoever had been in there was gone. The threesome disbanded.

Renee's throat felt flushed as she took a tentative step towards the furthest stall. She pulled the door closed behind her, locking it. The smell of sex and sweat still lingered in the air all around her. She squatted to pee, eyes tracing the wild, obscene drawings on the wall. She'd never seen a bathroom so thoroughly defaced with graffiti.

Her eyes followed the spiralling yellow brick road and then...

A penis. A huge, throbbing, powerful penis was jutting through the wall. It's angry, veiny head pointing right at her expectantly. Her breath caught in her throat as she stared at it. Penis was not the right word. It felt too clinical.

This was something she'd only heard about in whispers with her girlfriends in their youth. This was a cock. A strong, fat, big cock.

Everything suddenly felt warm. Renee's heart threatened to beat out of her chest. Her legs wobbled as she stood to right herself. She couldn't take her eyes off it. It was wrong. This wasn't her husband's tool. This was some stranger. She felt drawn to it. Mesmerized by its size and girth, and the promises of what she could experience with it.

Renee reached out a shaking hand towards it. She needed to know what it felt like. A drip of precum oozed out of its slit and dribbled onto the floor. Her hand was less than an inch away when she clutched it back to her chest.

She continued to stare for a full minute before mentally willing herself out of the stall. She didn't bother to wash her hands. She couldn't stay in there. She was afraid of what she might do. She ran out of the bathroom to find her daughter and get out of there.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 36

Sarah kept her eyes closed for most of the Uber ride home. She'd had too much to drink, and she welcomed the escape of sleep to mute the vivid memories of the bar's bathroom stall. She hadn't expected any of that to happen.

She should have known better. Lester never did anything without a reason. He'd known that hole in the wall was there when he recommended the bar to them. And she'd loved every second of it. Again, Lester knew what she needed better than even she herself did.

Sarah groggily opened her eyes and looked at her mom. To her surprise, her mother was blankly staring out the window, her eyes unfocused.

"You okay?" Sarah asked.

Her mother didn't respond.

"Mom?" Sarah said louder.

"Hmmm?" Her mother blinked, "Sorry, what?"

"Are you okay?" Sarah repeated.

"Yes. I'm fine," Her mother slurred her words, "Just thinking about something."

"Something good or bad?" Sarah asked as the streets of Chicago blurred by the window. She closed her eyes, trying not to get the spins.

"I don't know," her mother said softly. Sarah let herself drift until the Uber pulled up in front of Dan's apartment building. They both stumbled into the elevator and made their way up to Lester's apartment.

Her mother quickly found the couch and face planted onto it. Sarah dazedly laughed at seeing her mother in such a state. She looked around and found a blanket to drape over her. There weren't any extra pillows or linens in the apartment, the way she had them back at home for guests. Sarah's mind let the thought go as she stumbled down the hallway, passing the bathroom and flung open the door to Dan's room. She side-eyed the anime poster Lester had put up on the wall and kicked the door shut. The small, uncomfortable bed called to her. Lester's was much more comfortable, but she couldn't indulge him with her mom in the apartment.

She got under the covers and, with a deep sigh, quickly passed out.

Lester tailed the Uber through the dark Chicago streets. He had hoped Renee would have touched him through the glory hole, but she didn't take the bait. It wasn't a surprise. He had barely begun to work on her. But he saw the signs. The same signs he'd seen with Sarah. He knew he could have her if he put in the work. But the opportunities with her were much less frequent than he'd had with Sarah. He was especially lacking that extra leverage factor of having Dan's fantasy to exploit.

It was a fun side project, but he didn't want to get too distracted. He'd been back in the city for only a few hours before he let himself be dragged out into the world to push Sarah's boundaries. He hadn't even had time to secure his network before outside parties were already trying to penetrate it.

The irony of the situation wasn't lost on him. If Dan had taken better care to secure his marriage and relationship with his wife, he wouldn't find himself in his current predicament. He didn't want to end up like Dan.

As he pulled his car into the apartment's parking lot, he vowed to go upstairs and secure his shit. He parked and watched as the women stumbled out of the Uber and didn't even look in his direction. It was almost too easy.

Lester killed the SUV's engine as the Uber pulled away. He got out, walked across the dark parking lot to the back door, and went inside. The digital sign above the elevator showed the car had stopped at his floor. He pressed the button to call it back down and, on a whim, walked over to the bank of metal mailboxes along the wall. He opened his unit and fished out several envelopes, then froze. His lips turned upwards when he felt the two packages waiting for him.

He fished them out, and his dark, ugly smile grew even wider. Both contained addresses from his mail forwarding service. The one he used to route packages from the dark web. Excellent. Lester felt a surge of energy and rushed to the elevator as the doors slid open.

He rode it up and quickly made his way to his apartment. He hovered at the door, keys in hand, as he listened. He couldn't hear anything from the other side of the door. Still, he waited, not wanting to walk in on the women. Judging by their state of inebriation, it wouldn't be long before they'd pass out. He considered himself an expert on the subject after extensive monitoring and research of his prior roommates.

After waiting for exactly five more minutes, Lester slid his key into the lock and opened the door. The apartment was dark, just as he expected. He took extra care to close the door quietly and stood in the darkness, listening.

The apartment was silent, except for quiet inhales and exhales coming from the couch. Lester took care as he walked across the floor to the back of the sofa, leaned over and peered down at the form of Renee splayed out there.

He felt his cock harden and press into the back of the couch. Excellent. Temptation rose within him, but he pushed it back down, relying on his credo of patience that had served him so well. Everything in time.

Lester licked his lips and tore his eyes from Sarah's sleeping mother. He looked down the dark hallway, wondering where his bride-to-be was. In his room, waiting for him? Dan's? Or passed out in the bathroom? She was predictable, just like her husband. She'd be in Dan's room.

Lester started towards the hallway but stopped, turning back to the sleeping beauty on the couch. He walked around next to her, stopping to hover by her head. She was on her back, hand draped behind her head as a makeshift pillow. The blanket she had been using had slipped down to her waist, giving Lester a clear view of her upper body.

Lester grinned and reached out, cupping one of her generous breasts. Renee didn't stir. He pressed his thumb in and found her nipple and gently applied some pressure to it while he made tiny circles with his finger. That elicited a soft, almost indistinguishable moan from Sarah's mother. Lester's smile broadened as he glanced over his shoulder at the electrical outlet camera embedded in the wall, a nod to his future shelf.

Lester licked his lips and let up the pressure on her breasts. His fingers trailed up the exposed skin of her chest and neck. The smile disappeared from his face as his eyes focused on the older woman. Still, so youthful and beautiful, ready to be conquered by him. His hand cupped her face, and he lovingly stroked it, pushing a lock of her hair back behind her ear. Lester licked his lips again and ran his thumb over her pink lips. Then he pushed the tip of his thumb, just past them, parting them. Renee didn't respond, but Lester sucked in a breath when he touched her teeth. He knew going further would push things into the realm of disturbing her, so he held himself back.

He hadn't been watching her consumption of drinks like he had Sarah's. He didn't know what she'd consumed when he'd taken her daughter in the bathroom stall. Still, he couldn't resist just pushing a bit more.

He licked his lips and pressed them against Renee's. Her body shifted slightly, but she didn't respond otherwise. Lester pulled back and slowly licked the side of her face. She jerked away, but Lester held her in place and left another trail of saliva on her, marking her.

Lester stood up and adjusted himself. He wanted more but decided against it. He grabbed his letters and packages from the coffee table and headed to his lair. The bathroom door was open while Dan's was shut. Predictable.

He closed his bedroom door behind him, running the bolt closed. He fired up his battle station and dug into the packages as it came online. The pale light of the monitor illuminated his obese form as he ripped the packaging open. His cock twitched, and a smile spread onto his face.

<I>Perfect.

Lester quickly typed in his password. The monitor shifted to his familiar desktop. In the corner of the screen, a red blinking icon caught his eye. A critical issue with his network's security needed his attention. He needed to address the attempted attack by Cronos and his lackeys. His mouse hovered over the icon, but his eyes drifted to the package in front of him.

He ignored the blinking icon and shifted the mouse to his folders, pulling up the picture he'd snapped of Sarah's birth control packaging. In the bright light of the computer, Lester's grin looked uglier than usual.

He held up the blister package he'd just received and compared it to the one on the screen. Identical. Lester's cock swelled. He opened up his cameras and his eyes locked on Sarah's sleeping form on Dan's bed. Soon.

Lester licked his lips and focused on the other package in front of him. He opened it carefully, revealing the blank pill bottle. Unscrewing the cap, he dumped a handful of the pills out into his hand, then looked between them and the monitor. Again, a perfect match. And Lester had even had these verified by an independent, discrete lab. Nothing harmful, just placebos.

He would need to wait until the morning to finalize these. He needed to put the pills in the blister pack and then seal the aluminum backing with the heat from a hair dryer. The noise would just wake up the women.

Lester still planned on trying to convince Sarah to get off the pills altogether. But multiple layers and contingencies were just part of good planning.

He pushed the packages aside and finally clicked the blinking icon. He frowned. The expected intrusions into his network were there waiting for him. But he hadn't expected the additional alerts.

The ones tracking inquiries into himself, Sarah and Dan. The alerts he set up for his other conquests and previous roommates were all normal. But someone out there was looking into Sarah, Dan and himself. Jesse perhaps? Or did that little shit open his mouth? The fact that all of them had elevated inquiries was an issue. Someone was looking into all three of them.

He ran down the lists of potential perpetrators in his mind. The list wasn't long. Only a handful of people would know to look at all three of them. Someone like Vernon, Jessie or even Otis. Maybe one of the D&D guys. Not many people had seen the three of them together. Jesse, of course. Perhaps his shitbag boss, Byron. Anyone else? And why were they looking into them?

Lester's mind hovered on Byron. There was something there. Something he needed to look further into.

Movement caught his eye. Renee was beginning to stir. Bad timing. His gaze strayed to the woman's form shifting on the couch. The blanket fell away from her body. Lester was never one to let an opportunity go to waste.

He quickly locked his computer and struggled out of his shirt before dropping his oversized pants to the ground. His ratty boxers quickly followed before the computer's monitor illuminated his naked form.

Easing the door open, Lester stepped out into the dark hallway. He suppressed a grin as he passed Dan's door. Sarah was asleep in there while he played. It was just too good an opportunity to pass up. Another seed, begging to be planted. He stopped, hovering at the entrance to the living room, listening to Sarah's mother stirring. She was making light, little groans as she began to wake.

Lester wondered what she was dreaming about. She had quite the stimulating night, after all. Renee let out one last unsatisfied groan, and he heard the telltale sounds of a shuffling blanket and movement on the couch. Lester waited in the shadows of the hallway, watching.

Renee's darkened form sat up on the couch. She sat there for several seconds before rising and feeling her way around the sofa. Lester planned on accidentally bumping into her on her presumed way to the bathroom.

On shaky legs, Renee moved around the couch, pausing to balance herself. Instead of the bathroom, she headed in the direction of the kitchen and flicked the lights on.

She disappeared from sight, and Lester heard the fridge and cupboards opening. Without waiting, he plodded across the living room floor, taking special care to make his presence known.

Lester slowed his breath, trying not to let his phallic excitement show. He pushed his way into the kitchen and felt his balls contract at the sight of Renee bending over slightly as she looked in the fridge. Her dark blue denim jeans had no business looking that good.

His decision to buy a fridge with the freezer on top was paying off yet again.

“Need something?” Lester said as he stepped forward.

“Uh, um, just looking for your water,” Renee said, still peering into the refrigerator. Lester stepped closer, put a hand on the fridge door, and eased it open, letting him move in.

“The tap is over there,” Lester said.

Renee stood up and turned towards him, “You don’t have any bottles or filtered water or a...” Renee trailed off, her eyes going wide as she turned fully towards him. She swayed slightly as she locked eyes with him, then her gaze took in his naked torso.

Lester grinned internally as Renee’s gaze lowered to his crotch. When confronted with a naked man, women always looked. Always.

Renee took in a sharp breath, and her jaw dropped. Lester knew the best move here was to pretend not to notice. He stepped closer to her, essentially trapping her between himself and the wall behind her. He reached into the fridge and said, “Nope. Just the tap water, sorry. Bottles are bad for the environment.”

He reached into the fridge to grab a can of Coke, pretending not to notice the still flabbergasted look on Renee’s face. When he pulled back up to his full height, he tilted his head at her, “Is everything okay? Did you girls drink too much?”

“Uhhmmmm,” Renee sputtered as she looked at the ceiling. Lester looked as well, following her gaze upward.

“Something wrong with the ceiling?” He asked nonchalantly. He knew he couldn’t press too hard. Not yet. So he moved a few paces away to the cupboard where his Cheetos were. He watched Renee from the mirror on the wall, and caught her breaking her gaze with the ceiling to sneak another glance at his crotch.

“No, uh, it’s just that—” Renee said, “You’re uh, naked.”

“Oh, shit,” Lester feigned ignorance, “Sorry. I’m not used to having anyone besides Dan. I completely forgot.”

Lester pulled out the big bag of Cheetos and turned fully towards Renee, letting his cock slap against her leg.

“Could you do me a favor?” Lester asked Renee who was looking anywhere but at him.

“Uhm, maybe. What favor?” She said carefully, but Lester still caught the slight slur in her words.

“Could we keep my little snafu between us? Sarah would probably yell at me if she knew I did this again,” Lester said.

“Sure, yeah. No problem,” Renee said, meeting his eye with an awkward smile before quickly averting her gaze again.

“Thank you. I’m sorry again. Sarah was caught off guard last time she caught me like this in the middle of the night,” Lester smiled and left the kitchen. Renee let out a long breath.

Lester quickly turned around and stepped back into the kitchen, cock on full display.

Renee’s eyes immediately locked on his cock, eyes going wide again, and she fumbled to close the fridge door.

“Oh, and Renee?” Lester said.

“Y-Yes, Lester?” Renee bumbled.

“Have a great night. Let me know if you need anything. Anything at all,” Lester said. Before she could respond, Lester turned and marched back to his room.

He closed the door but didn’t bolt it. Setting down his Cheetos and Coke, he quickly keyed in his password and watched Renee on the camera. She was still standing in the same place he had left her, with the same shocked expression on her face. It was cute, and Lester let himself grow to full mast.

His naked form had rattled her. And now she knew what he was packing. He hadn't planned the comment about Sarah, but he wondered what she would do with it. Sometimes, the best things in life came from unexpected directions.

Renee steadied herself on the counter before grabbing a glass and filling it with water. She emptied the entire glass in a few swallows, filled it up again and headed back to the couch.

She pulled the blankets up over her and turned away from the camera. Lester watched, hoping for some action, but it looked like the blonde bombshell just went to sleep. Hopefully, she hadn't drunk so much that she wouldn't remember their late-night encounter.

Lester pulled the camera feed to his second monitor, cracked open his Coke and fired up World of Warcraft.

Renee lay there with her eyes closed, replaying the events of the night in her mind. Not only had she willingly stayed in the washroom and touched herself during an illicit public threesome, but she had actively gone back to that stall and stared at the giant cock that had come through the wall, almost reaching out to touch it.

Now, not even a few hours later, her entire mind was trying to do the mental math to understand how someone so short and unappealing like Dan's roommate, Lester, could have one of the biggest penises she had ever seen in her life. She would have said the biggest, but the one at the bar had been huge too. She wondered which was larger.

She closed her eyes tightly, trying to will sleep to take her again and bring her away from these lewd, perverse thoughts. It wasn't right. She was married. And yet, already being in Chicago less than twenty-four hours, she had already seen the private parts of two other men, who weren't her husband.

Lester's cock, hanging limply among the patch of his dense pubic hair, was almost longer than her husband when he was fully erect. James' penis already felt so big and full inside of her. She couldn't imagine how something like Lester's would feel.

Then she realized with a squirm that she had just thought about having sex with Lester. She closed her eyes tighter and started to recite the Lord's Prayer in her head to distract herself.

Dan felt his stomach twisting into knots again as he stared into his refrigerator. Even after going grocery shopping the night before, his fridge's interior looked pretty bare. It wasn't just the declined credit cards; a dollar just didn't go as far as it used to.

He hated everything about his current financial situation. He was supposed to be the provider. The one to put his wife and kids' lives on easy street and leave them wanting for nothing. To be a man and provide. Instead, he felt like a failure, circling the drain, watching his life spiral out of control.

And now, somehow, things were worse than ever. Lester, who was supposed to be a short-term, temporary roommate, somehow weasled his way into every facet of their lives. The obese, ugly man was someone now part of his relationship with Sarah. A throuple, whatever the hell that was.

Dan still didn't understand it himself or how to navigate it. It was easier just to shut it out, not acknowledge it, and pretend everything was okay. His brain was happy to accept this strategy and protect his ego.

The girls were playing upstairs in their room, but their little laughs still echoed down to him. He needed to make them breakfast. He wanted to do something special, like his parents used to for him; eggs, bacon, sausage and a whole great breakfast spread. But the fridge didn't have those things. The best he could do for his girls was cereal or toast.

He calmed his breathing and shoved two pieces of bread into the toaster. He'd make the best damn peanut butter toast the girls had ever had.

Still, the public embarrassment of having his cards declined and having to cut his grocery trip down still weighed on him. He needed money. He needed things with Sentinel Securities to ramp off. He needed his side business to ramp up. He needed to find himself and Sarah new jobs to bring in more cash.

He wished Sarah hadn't left. He was still pissed with her. Still pissed at himself, at the whole situation. But he still wanted her. Still wanted her to be there with him. After such a long time apart, they should try to spend as much time together as possible. Try to chart the future of their lives together.

Instead, she was at her parents and he was home with an empty fridge and an empty wallet. He needed help. At least Lester was covering his rent, mortgage, and other bills, giving him some breathing room.

He didn't like it, but he'd take advantage of —

Lester.

Lester wanted to be part of their lives and help cover some of their expenses. The motherfucker (literally) was supposed to help them pay for groceries. It was the least fucking thing he could do after all the liberties he'd taken with Sarah.

Dan pulled out his phone and shot Lester a quick text:

D: Lester. Time to hold up your end of the bargain. Send over $300 for groceries. Please and thank you.

It was an irritating few minutes before Lester replied.

L: New Phone. Who dis.

D: You know damn well who it is

L: Oh, right, the cuck. How's the new chair? Comfy? Can't wait to watch you use it next time I'm in town.

D: Good one. Now about that $300? You can Venmo it.

L: I could, but I won't.

D: Surprise, surprise. Going back on your word.

L: I'm not a blank cheque to cover your inadequacies, Dan. I'm not just going to fork over $300. You'll probably blow it on something stupid. I want to make sure Sarah is taken care of, and your girls are fed and looked after. What do you want to buy?

Dan typed out a scathing response about Lester's inadequacies but erased it.

D: Groceries.

L: Yes, obviously. But like what? I'm not going to just drop cash on a bunch of sad, ready-made meals for you.

D: Says the guy who lives off Chetoos.

L: Don't disparage Cheetos. And it's my money. I can spend it how I want.

Dan gritted his teeth and typed in a response to try to end this conversation.

D: Lunch meat, buns. Vegetables, eggs, milk, and cookies for the kids. Bananas, Apples, and a few pounds of ground beef. Chicken thighs. Refilling some of our spices. Stuff like that.

L: What kind of vegetables?

Dan squeezed his cellphone in frustration before typing:

D: Broccoli, carrots, celery, lettuce, mushrooms.

L: Gross.

Dan stared at Lester's last message, waiting for him to say something else. When nothing came through, Dan finally replied.

D: Yep, but kids need to get used to it. So the $300?

L: I want you to send me the bill afterwards so I can see it.

Dan rolled his eyes. Lester was toying with him, and he wanted to wring the shorter man's neck.

D: Sure. Whatever you need.

L: Great.

Dan stared at the words, again waiting for more from his snivelling roommate. He opened the Venmo app and refreshed it, waiting for the money to come through. It never did.

D: Lester. The $300? Are you sending it?

L: Nope.

D: What the fuck? We just had this big talk about it. This is part of the stupid arrangement. You're supposed to hold up your end of the bargain.

L: I never said I won't. I just want Sarah to ask me.

D: Why? Why does that matter?

L: Because I want to make sure everything is on the up and up. That there aren't any secrets between us three.

D: That's rich coming from you.

L: Oh well. Whatever. When Sarah wakes up, tell her that you need her new strapping man to buy groceries to feed her kids.

D: Fuck you.

L: No thanks, I'll stick with fucking Sarah. Probably why she is sleeping in so late...

Dan reread Lester's words. Was Sarah in Chicago? With Lester? She went without telling him? Or was he fucking with her? He pushed his cellphone out of his reach, not wanting to look at it.

The smell of burnt toast hit Dan's nose. "Fuck."

The toast for the girls was black and crispy. At some point during his texting with Lester, they'd popped, and he hadn't noticed. They sat too long against the grills.

He retrieved them, threw them out, and put two new pieces in. He made a point to ignore his phone and make sure he didn't fuck up the toast again. After the girls ate and went back upstairs. Dan was just about to reach for his cellphone, bracing for any more texts from Lester.

The doorbell rang, distracting him. Thankfully, the girls didn't run down to see who was there. They were busy playing. Dan crossed the short distance to the front door and opened it, revealing his father-in-law, James.

"Hey, James," Dan said, grip tight on the door. He didn't need this. Not right now. "What's up?"

Dan stood in the doorway, holding the door slightly ajar, not letting his father-in-law just walk in. James gestured to the bucket in his hand. There were a couple of scraper tools on it.

"Here to fix that hole in your drywall upstairs," James said. Dan's shoulders slumped at the reminder of Lester's wild night with his wife. He'd never gotten a clear answer as to how that hole had been created. James wouldn't take no for an answer, not when he had shown up with all his tools already.

Dan stepped back and gestured into the house, "Come on in. And thank you for your help."

"Sure. Figured I might as well. I didn't think it'd get done anytime soon. With the girls gone, I figured I might as well," James stepped in. Dan closed the door and processed what his father-in-law had just said. <I>What did he mean the girls were gone?

He couldn't just ask. Not without coming out and revealing more of his marital issues to his Father-in-Law. Instead, he said, "How are the girls doing? I haven't heard from Sarah this morning yet.

"Neither have I. I think they had a late night last night. You know, I'm not sure what is going on with you and Sarah, but you need to fix it. You made a vow to keep her happy, and I don't think you're living up to it," James said.

"You know, James, some things aren't really your business. We're working through some things, but I'm doing the best I can here," Dan said.

"Is that why I'm here, patching the hole for you?" James asked.

"The hole isn't beautiful, but it's not at the top of my list of things to take care of. I'd rather spend my time looking for a new job or working on building up my client base," Dan tried not to let himself get worked up. Getting into a shouting match with his Father-in-law would do wonders for his marriage.

"How's that going? The job hunt?" James asked as he headed up the stairs, bucket of putty and scraper tools in his hands.

"It's going," Dan said as he debated whether to follow and help his James or just get back to doing his own thing. With a sigh, he climbed up the stairs after the man, ready to endure more veiled criticism.

There was a little man with a pickaxe chipping away at the inside of Sarah's skull. At least, that's how it felt as she slowly woke up. She groaned and pulled the covers over her eyes to block out the bright sun from the window. She knew it was late. The sun was too bright. But she didn't have anywhere to be, and the kids were with Dan.

The pounding wouldn't stop, and she couldn't fall back asleep. With an effort of Herculean will, she pushed back the covers, covering her eyes and sat up in the bed.

She hadn't been counting her drinks last night. How much had she had to feel this fucking bad? The events of the previous night came back to her. Of Lester in the bathroom stall with her. Of the yellow brick road mural on the wall. Of the black cock sticking through, begging to be touched. Of everything she did.

Sarah groaned again as she stood, her head pounding intensified. She wasn't sure how she felt about what had happened. She knew she should feel guilty. She also knew that deep down, she had been incredibly turned on by it. She pushed those thoughts to the back of her head and struggled to the door.

Those thoughts were for future Sarah to figure out. The one who didn't have a splitting fucking headache. She pulled open the door and stepped into the blessedly, darker hallway and crossed to the bathroom to find some Tylenol. When she did, she quickly downed two of them and drank water from the tap.

She needed more water. She knew she was dehydrated. It happened to patients all the time in the hospital. Sarah reluctantly left the dark bathroom and went down the hallway, crossing the living room to the kitchen. A quick, wincing glance showed her mother still fast asleep on the couch.

Sarah grabbed a glass and filled it with water from the tap. She downed it and filled another. She must have been loud because her mother stirred and groaned from the other room. Sarah poured herself another glass, along with her mother and went out to the living room.

"Thank you," Renee said, taking the glass Sarah offered. Her mother's eyes were bloodshot, and her hair was a mess. Otherwise, Sarah envied how good her mother looked after a late-night out.

Unfortunately, her shirt didn't look as good. It was covered in wine and splotches of other colors from the night before. Renee's eyes followed Sarah's, and she looked down at her shirt.

"Crap. I love this shirt," Renee said, dismayed.

"I'll put a load in later. Hopefully, I can get those stains out. Otherwise, Dad might question how much we had to drink," Sarah chuckled.

Renee returned the smile over her glass of water.

“It’s been a long time since I’ve had that much to drink. Last night was something else,” Renee said, trailing off in thought.

Sarah’s heart skipped a beat. Her nerves felt frayed at the idea that her mom had overheard everything that happened in the bathroom and knew it was her. It wasn’t a logical leap to make. She’d gone to the bathroom just before. And her mom had been making comments about her time at the adult theatre and other criticisms.

With a shaking breath, Sarah asked, “What do you mean?”

Renee just waved her hand, “Not important. Just that I don’t usually drink like that, you should really think about stocking that fridge with water bottles or a Brita or something, too. Last night I got up to get a glass of water...”

A sheepish grin appeared on her mother’s face and she shook her head, “And you should tell Dan to tell his roommate to put on a housecoat or something when there are visitor’s staying over.”

Sarah’s head hammered, “What? What do you mean?”

With dawning horror, Sarah knew what her mother meant. She waited in agony as her mother continued.

“Lester walked into the kitchen last night in his birthday suit. I’m not going to tell your father about it because he will make a big issue out of it, but someone needs to talk to that man. It’s not appropriate. Especially when there are female guests at the apartment, it made me uncomfortable.” Renee said.

“He was naked?” Sarah said, feeling the anger seethe inside of her. “Did he try anything? Did anything happen?”

“Goodness no. Sarah, come on. Nothing like that, no. That’s gross. I didn’t drink that much, thank you very much. He just shows up and talks for a bit before leaving.”

“Talked about what mom?” Sarah said. She was both furious with Lester and had a raging desire to stomp into his room and throttle him, while another part of her needed to ride him.

Sarah shivered at her worrying thoughts, but her mother didn’t seem to notice.

“Nothing, Sarah. You’re making a mountain out of a molehill. I was looking for water, and he told me it was just from the tap. He apologized for being naked and then went back to bed,” Renee said.

“I’m going to kill him,” Sarah muttered.

“You won’t even mention it,” Renee said, “He’s probably horribly embarrassed. Leave the poor man alone.”

Sarah was ready to retort something about Lester’s true character and that he, in fact, would not be embarrassed at all. And wouldn’t be embarrassed, not with what he was packing. But she couldn’t say that to her mom. She didn’t even want to know if her mother had seen what hung between Lester’s legs.

“I’m sure he’s fine,” Sarah said, standing up, “I’m gonna go check my phone. After I get a coffee and wake up, I’ll run down to the basement and put your shirt in the laundry.”

“Thank you. Coffee sounds good too,” Renee said, wincing as she stood up and headed to the bathroom.

Sarah went back to the bedroom and found her phone unplugged on the nightstand. On the screen was a message from Dan.

D: Our cards got declined at the grocery store last night. I could only buy a few things. It was embarrassing. Lester is being a dick. Can you make sure he hold up his end of things. I need $300 for groceries. To feed our daughters.

D: Your dad told me you’re not at his house. Girls’ trip into the city? Are you staying at the apartment?

“Fuck,” Sarah muttered and slumped down on the bed holding her phone. She hadn’t been deliberately hiding the fact that she was in Chicago from Dan. She hadn’t felt the need to tell him, not after their blow-up fight. But she didn’t like him finding out like this either and putting her on the spot.

S: I’ll talk to him.

S: Yes, my mom and I are at the apartment.

Sarah stared at the screen, waiting for a response. She watched for the three little dots of Dan replying. She stared at the screen for a full minute, but nothing appeared. She put her phone face down on the table with a clearer conscience. She’d told me, and she’d waited for a response. She even waited a full minute. But I didn’t add anything about Lester being here or about their night out.

Sarah stood up and walked out of Dan's room, leaving her phone on the table. After making coffee and handing a mug to her mom, she couldn't help but think about Lester's closed door. She had a reason to talk to him, besides just wanting to be in his room. But she couldn't let her mom hear their conversation.

"This probably isn't good for my head, but I need it," Renee said as she sipped her mug. "What do you want to do today? After I sleep and get rid of this headache."

"First, I'll get that shirt in the wash," Sarah said trying not to look down the hallway, "From there, I don't know. We could look up a play, maybe? Or find another restaurant to go to. I don't want to go to that same bar tonight. Is there anything on your list for Chicago?"

"A play could be okay, but it would have to be a good show we're interested in. Honestly, I want to go somewhere great for dinner. Maybe somewhere scenic. Besides that, I don't really know," her mom set her coffee down on the table, grabbed her glass of water and took a drink.

"But right now, I just want to close my eyes and get rid of this headache. Do you have any aspirin?" Renee asked.

"I'll go look in the bathroom," Sarah said, "Or ask Lester. Switch shirts really quick before you lie down so I can wash them."

Sarah's head was splitting as she walked towards the bathroom. Her mom unzipped her luggage and switched shirts before lying back on the couch, an arm draped over her eyes. Sarah stole one last glance over her shoulder. And, satisfied that her mom was indisposed for the moment, she walked back down the hallway towards the bathroom. She opened the medicine cabinet and pocketed the Tylenol, making enough noise for her mom to hear. Then she crossed the hallway and softly knocked on Lester's door.

No answer. She knocked again, a little louder.

"Yeah," Lester's voice said through the door. Sarah turned the knob and opened the door. It was dark inside, and she squinted to see. The light from the hallway cast over piles of clothes and other debris littering the floor.

Something moved from where Sarah knew the bed was. It was a weird shape, but the fat worm character from Dan's Star Wars movies immediately popped into her head.

"Mhmm Sarah, come to daddy," Lester's voice said from the darkness much louder than Sarah wanted. Her neck whipped to look down the hallway towards the living room.

She hadn't wanted to step into the room. She didn't want her mom to hear the latch of the door close. But she stepped in anyway, carefully closing the door silently behind her, "Ssshh, Lester. Keep it down."

"Oh, come on," Lester chuckled. Sarah could hear the sounds of sheets ruffling but couldn't see anything in the darkness.

"You were plenty loud last night in that dirty bathroom. Your mom heard you then. Why try to be quiet now?" Lester said at the same level of volume. His voice had shifted from a different direction. Sarah felt her heartbeat quicken, like prey being stalked by a lion at night.

"T-That's...dammmmit Lester you know that's not the same thing. Stop trying to throw me off--"

"On the contrary, I'm trying to mount you again. Been too long since I've had you in my bed," Lester growled.

Sarah felt herself getting wet at his simple words. When had it become so easy for her to just drip like this? "Lester...we can't...my mom."

"Was in the room with us last night," Lester said, his voice closer, "It didn't stop you from letting me fuck you then. It didn't stop you from putting that cock in your mouth either and loving every fucking second of it."

"It's not the same," Sarah's voice wavered before she added some steel to it, "And you know it."

"Bah," Lester said.

"Dan text me," Sarah changed the subject.

"Oh? And what does everyone's favorite cuck want now?" Lester snickered.

"He asked," Sarah hesitated, "If you can send us money for groceries. Like you said, like we agreed to."

She felt Lester's warm breath on her face before she knew he was there. His fat stomach pushed into her. His breath was foul and lingering. "Tell me," he started, "How does it feel to ask another man to provide for your family? To go to another man for help instead of your husband?"

“I don’t know,” Sarah said, “I haven’t thought about it. Can you please just send the money?”

“Tell me how it feels and I will,” Lester commanded.

“Uh. It’s weird, Lester,” Sarah started, “It’s really fucking weird. It’s like watching a fucked up movie, but I’m in it. I never expected to be in this position. It’s wrong. It’s not right. We shouldn’t have to do it. But..”

Sarah trailed off.

“But?” Lester said, pushing his gut into her, pinning her against the back of the door. Sarah suppressed a light moan, worried it might travel down the hallway.

“But...I don’t know...there’s something fucked up about it that I like,” Sarah breathed, the words tumbling out of her.

“Like? You like that your husband isn’t man enough to provide for his family? That someone like me has to take care of you? Take care of your kids? Step into that role that Dan has fucked up so badly?” Lester’s hands were on her arms, caressing them. His hot breath was on her neck, and she desperately wanted to feel his wet lips and tongue on her.

“Fuck,” Sarah breathed. “I don’t know...I can’t...I haven’t thought about it like that.”

“Well lets do some thinking about it right now,” Lester said as his lips touched her neck. Sarah’s knees went limp, and she almost fell into him.

“Lester,” Sarah hissed, but didn’t hear the conviction in her own voice anymore, “We can’t...not here...not now...not again...not with her here.”

“Come on, that’s no fun. I know how much you crave fucked up experiences, what’s one more?” Lester’s breath was hot. She craned her neck closer, desperate for more of him. She shouldn’t be indulging this. Why did she bend so easily for him?

His fat, stubby fingers were lightly drawing circles on her arm, sending shivers down her spine.

“Lester...please,” Sarah said weakly.

“You know how much I like it when you beg,” Lester growled and nibbled on her earlobe. One hand left her arm and kneaded her breast through her shirt. Sarah bit her lip, her mind trying to grab onto something solid to slow things down.

“Lester. Stop. We can’t do this. Not now,” Sarah said with a sharp intake of breath. “I just came to ask about the money. The, uh, mmmm, agreement.”

“The agreement that I provide for you while getting to fuck you whenever I want?” Lester asked.

Sarah recognized the trap. She’d used similiar ones before to great effect, “That wasn’t the exact agreement. We both —”

“We both know,” Lester cut in, “That’s pretty much the gist of our agreement. When you get right down to it.”

Sarah’s hips pushed against Lester, seeking contact with him. But while her body rebelled against reason, part of her was still in control. The part of her that didn’t want to see her life spiral more than it had already. She fumbled on the door, looking for the knob and turned it.

Light crept back into the room, cascading across the piles of dirty mess everywhere. She felt like she could breathe. She expected Lester to slink back in the light but he held his crowd, pressing himself hard against her. The door almost swung back shut but their bodies slid to the side.

“I...we can’t. My mom is expecting me to come back with Tylenol for her. Lester. Please.” Sarah said but she didn’t mean it. A war was raging inside of her and part of her so badly wanted to indulge. He’d just fucked her the night before. She probably still had his cum inside of her but she wanted more.

Lester hand moved off her other arm, lessening the pressure on her. Sarah reluctantly took the opportunity to side step Lester and dart out of the room. In the bathroom she grabbed the aspirin and hurried back down the hallway. A quick glance over her shoulder showed Lester standing at the gap in the door, scowling at her. His naked cock hanging down between his legs. The image burned into her psyche.

Not just his cock, but the dangerous look on his face. It reminded her one of the faces that showed up on Netflix true crime documentaries about criminals or killers. She shuddered at the thought.

“Took me a second to find it,” Sarah said as she poured a pill out and handed it to her mother. Renee took it back with a sip of water and put her head back down on the couch with a quick thank you.

Sarah grabbed her mother's soiled shirt and made herself a coffee. She was antsy, shifting her weight between each foot, trying not to think about going back to Lester's room. She couldn't stay in the kitchen forever and couldn't put on a show in the living room to distract herself. She found herself going back down the hallway towards Dan's room. If she was going to head to the basement to wash her mom's top, she might as well throw in her clothes from last night as well.

Sarah stepped into Dan's bedroom, threw a dirty look at the large breasted anime poster on the wall and scooped up her clothes from last night. She returned to the hall to head downstairs but a hand grabbed her arm and pulled her back.

Sarah stumbled into Lester's face hairy arms and she silenced a squeal of surprise. Her mom was just down the hallway resting but probably not unconscious.

Lester looked down at her with an evil grin and held his finger up to his lips. Off balance, Sarah was pulled back towards the recesses of Lester's room.

She squirmed in his arms despite her rapidly beating heart. They passed by the ajar door, and Sarah's vision was flanked by darkness. The only light came from the sliver of the open door.

"Lester," Sarah hissed, "What are you doing?"

"We weren't done our conversation," Lester whispered, and then his fat lips were on hers. Sarah's breath caught in her throat, making her lips momentarily part. Lester took full advantage, pushing his oversized tongue into the young mother's mouth.

"Mhmmmmmm," Sarah moaned into the kiss, her knees buckling and her weight shifting onto Lester's frame. He stumbled back but quickly regained his footing, his lips never breaking from hers. Lester's hands greedily roamed over her body, and it responded in kind. She arched her back as Lester palmed her breast, pushing her chest into it. His fat tongue continued to spread her pretty little lips and mashed against hers. She tasted his foul breath on his tongue, but it didn't deter her. Somehow seemed to pull her deeper under his influence.

Lester awkwardly lowered them down until Sarah was lying amongst the filth on Lester's floor. Her hair and head laid on something soft, maybe old, unwashed clothing of his. Something hard dug into her back, and Sarah absently shifted it to the side with her free hand. Her legs were propped up at an awkward angle, riding up a mound of something she couldn't determine.

Lester pushed his mass down on top of her. His tongue never left her mouth, sloppily needling into every crevice.

“Mhmmmmmmmm,” Sarah just moaned back into Lester’s open mouth as his tongue probed her. Her nipples were hard against her simple cotton bra, ready to be ripped free. Lester’s hands were all over her, grabbing her breasts, caressing her bare arms, grabbing a double handful of her butt cheeks.

Sarah’s body betrayed her. Her hips lifted off the ground, seeking contact with Lester’s smothering body. She couldn’t catch her breath; her lungs wouldn’t fill with Lester’s mass on top of her. He shifted, and his thigh buried itself between her legs. Sarah moaned harder now that her clit had something to rub against.

Finally, she rolled her head to the side, panting and broke the kiss. The door was still ajar with a sliver of light shining in, illuminating part of them. But the rest of their entwined bodies were buried in the darkness. She didn’t know how loud they’d been. She almost entirely forgot about her mother just down the hall.

Lester went for her lips again, but Sarah turned her head to the other side. She bit her bottom lip as Lester’s tongue left another trail of saliva on her neck.

“You’re mine now,” Lester whispered, “All mine.”

Sarah let the dance in her ears, loving the way they sounded. It was final. So dominating. She needed more.

Lester grinned as he licked the flesh of Sarah’s neck. Gone were her previous objections. Her body under his was responding as he knew it would. She craved him now. His months of conditioning and incremental dialling up of their experiences have made her crave what only he can give her. She may deny, she may object, but she needs him.

Lester’s smile grew wider as he ran his hands over the young mother’s body. He couldn’t help but think of their first meeting and how unlikely this outcome would have been. Entirely impossible from her viewpoint, he was sure.

He didn’t know what to do with Renee. With any luck, she’d join them. But in the cold, sober light of day, he doubted that would happen. But her anger and interruption could spoil everything.

Lester quickly flipped the button on her jeans and peeled down the zipper.

“Lester,” Sarah whispered, one of her dainty hands pressing on his, a silent gesture to slow down or cease. Lester had no intention of stopping.

The blister pack and the pills were here. His ultimate plan, despite all the enjoyable detours, was almost at a close. The only question was how much juice he could squeeze to make his achievement that much better. Lester licked his lips and swatted her hand away.

Sarah grunted as Lester tugged her pants down. Her long, slender legs were exposed to the cold of Lester’s floor, spreading goosebumps over her. She tried again, half-heartedly, to bat Lester away, but she wanted him to keep going.

Lester tugged again, and her pants were completely off, thrown into the dark amongst the piles of other shit on Lester’s dirty floor. <I>You’re on the floor</I> Sarah thought to herself. She was down amongst the grime and filth, living in it. When had her life fallen to this point, and why, why did she fucking love it so much? The thought of Dan drifted into her head, but she quickly let it go. Things were falling apart all around her. She didn’t want to focus on what hurt. She wanted to focus on what made her feel good. What felt right.

Sarah let out a whimper when Lester’s hot breath touched her legs. She squirmed in his arms, biting her fist to suppress a loud moan.

Lester peered up from between Sarah’s legs, with an evil grin plastered to his face. With a lick of his lips, he yanked down her little white panties, causing her to cry out from around her fist. The panties were added to the shadowy refuse of his floor, and he teased her. His warm breath spreading across her bare pussy, making her quiver.

His shit-eating grin grew wide at the subtly shifting of Sarah’s legs. How they parted every slow slight, inviting him deeper. Her butt pushed off the ground, and he knew he had her. Even with the ever-present danger of her mother in the apartment and the threat it posed, Sarah was still under his thumb. He could push her into anything now.

Lester let his long, fat tongue droop from his mouth and licked her inner thigh. Her body bucked, and she turned her hips towards his face, desperate for his hungry tongue to connect with her sweet pussy. Lester just grinned and licked her other thigh and settled his fat mass between her legs, pushing them apart.

He settled onto the ground, his stomach resting on something soft. His arms circled under her legs and swiftly pulled them apart.

“Uhhh,” Sarah groaned at the unexpected movement. Her legs being pried apart, letting herself open up to Lester. She knew it was wrong. Knew it was a bad idea. But she fucking needed him.

Sarah bit her bottom lip hard, feeling the heat of Lester’s breath on her pussy. He flicked his tongue again over her inner thigh, making her squirm with lust. She wanted to scream out to him, beg him to lick her, but just bit her lip harder, trying to stay quiet.

Lester’s tongue flicked over her other thigh, this time closer to her pussy. He smiled as her body rocked towards him again. He tilted his head and licked the other thigh. Sarah’s desperate, muffled groans worked for him. His cock swelled under him, pushing down against the floor.

Lester held his tongue in his mouth and waited, letting his steaming breath wash over Sarah’s pussy. Her hands were in his hair, trying to pull him down onto her. He let the delicious torture last a few more seconds before sticking his tongue out and licking up Sarah’s slit, flicking his tongue over her clit.

“Uh fuck,” Sarah said louder than she should have. Lester repeated the movement again, and Sarah’s ass bounced off the floor, wanting him to do it again. So he did. Her thighs clamped around his fat face. Lester started bobbing his head in time with his tongue.

“Godddd,” Sarah moaned, throwing one arm over her mouth to try to stifle herself. The problem was that she needed to breathe. But Lester’s tongue just felt too fucking good. Sarah’s other hand left Lester’s greasy hair and fell to her side onto a soft pile of clothing. Her fingers pulled the itchy fabric into a tight fist as Lester’s tongue slowly went up and down her slit, paying special attention to her clit. Sarah closed her eyes and let the world melt away, and enjoyed Lester’s attention on her. It was so wrong, but it felt so fucking right.

The young mother was in ecstasy and didn’t see the cold, calculating stare of Lester’s beady eyes peering up at her. She was his. Her body was. Her emotions were, now she just needed her mind to catch up and realize it.

Lester’s hips moved back and forth, teasing his cock on the ground and clothes beneath him. He wanted to climb up and fuck her again, but needed to be a little careful. Fucking Renee was an unpredictable variable, and he didn’t know how the die would be cast if she stumbled upon them. But he wanted to push Sarah’s boundaries a bit with her here.

He closed his mouth around her clit and sucked.

“Uhhfuck,” Sarah moaned into her arm. Lester sucked and sucked, and while he did, he flicked his tongue out, adding an extra sensation to her cliti’s manipulation. A primal growl escaped Sarah’s throat as she writhed on the ground.

Sarah’s ass pushed off the ground as she tried to grind her pussy into Lester’s face. Lester increased the tempo of his sucks on her clit. Her thighs pressed against the sides of his head, locking him in place like an oversized tomato in a vice.

Lester’s hands left her thighs and snaked up her body, running under her shirt. His fat fingers pushed on her skin, going under her bra until both of his palms cupped one of her breasts.

“Mmmhmmfff,” Sarah gasped as Lester grabbed her breasts, her hard nipples pushing into his palms. His fingers gripped her hard, roughly groping her just the way she liked. She liked being manhandled, and she loved it when Lester just took what he wanted. Sarah arched her back, pressing herself into wandering hands. She felt like a wanton slut lying in trash while she was manipulated to the verge of orgasm.

Her head lolled to the side as Lester sucked and touched her body. Her mind drifted and focused on nothing but the electric signals of pleasure flooding her brain. Lester struggled to breathe through his nose with Sarah’s thighs clamped tight around his head. She kept thrusting her pelvis up towards his face. Each time she did, the skin above her pussy would push into his nostrils.

Lester timed his breathing and sucking accordingly. He never broke the pace of his sucks. His lips were planted around Sarah’s clit like a vacuum cleaner, and they wouldn’t detach until she gave him a big O. He grabbed her breasts roughly, pulling on them, squeezing them, sliding his fingers to pinch both nipples at once, eliciting a muffled moan from Sarah.

Sarah’s leg involuntarily kicked out as Lester’s tongue dragged across her clit. She lolled her head side to side, breath coming shallower and shallower. She opened her eyes and saw nothing but blackness around her. Her body was on fire. Lester’s lips and tongue were driving her to the point of no return. She grabbed at the piles of clothing around her, holding onto them.

Her hips pushed off the ground, grinding her pussy into Lester’s face. She bit down on her lips hard, trying not to make a sound. She felt warmth seeping out of her bottom lip and knew she must have bit down too hard.

Lester started to hum something with his lips still planted around her pussy. The vibration of the hum ran over the skin around her slit and pulsated across her clit. She vaguely recognized whatever tune he was humming, but the thought escaped her as her brain was entirely focused on the explosions about to happen.

With a whine, she raised her hips right in the air, pushing hard against Lester's lips and tongue. She knew she needed to be quiet. She was about to cum. Her body was about to explode. She was going to scream. She knew she wouldn't be able to stop herself. She was going to scream so loud her mother would come running.

As she felt all the muscles in her body begin to tighten, that magical glow began to wash over her skin. Sarah grabbed something soft from the dark, bunched it up and shoved it into her mouth.

Lester felt Sarah buck under his face; her thighs somehow squeezed his face even tighter. Her little feet kicked out, spasming, and he heard her muffled scream.

"OOHHFFUUCCMMUHHMMMMMM," Sarah screamed through the unknown clothing in her mouth. She held in place with one hand while the other slapped Lester on top of the head and held him firmly in place by his thinning, greasy hair. Lester felt his hair being pulled from his scalp, but pressed on, ensuring the blonde bombshell currently lying in the filth on his floor came as hard as possible.

Sarah's eyes rolled back in their sockets, and all she saw were stars as her body convulsed from Lester's lips and tongue. Everything was simultaneously numb yet on fire and electric at the same time. Her mind touched on a higher form of human function, in which she was acutely aware of every part of her body at once. She felt parts of her body on fire, rippling with pleasure that she was normally only vaguely aware of.

The spasms of her kicks eventually slowed, and Sarah's ass fell to the floor. She gasped for breath, pulling the rag or whatever it was from her mouth. Her hands went over her shirt, onto Lester's underneth, and she rode out the last waves of pleasure flooding into her.

"Ummm," Sarah groaned, "Fuck. Lester.. You're so good at that."

Lester chuckled. Sarah sucked in as she felt it via his connected lips. With a whimper from her, his lips finally let go of her as he said, "So much for being quiet."

Fear spiked in Sarah, and she dropped her hands to Lester's head, holding him in place. She let her thighs go slack around his head as she listened intently for any sound from the apartment. In her throes of orgasm, she'd forgotten all about her mother.

“Fuck,” Sarah breathed, sitting up. She couldn’t be caught in her. Couldn’t be caught in this position. Lester’s hands fell from her breasts, and she shuffled back away from him, her ass pressing into whatever piles of shit were scattered across his floor.

“I need to go,” Sarah scrambled to her feet. Somewhere in front of her, she heard a disgruntled groan like an old man, and Lester moved in the shadows.

“Cumming and running?” Lester quipped, “I haven’t given you my load yet.”

“I...we can’t...” Sarah said, bending over as she searched the ground for her missing clothes and underwear. All she could find were piles of clothes and other things in the dark. But she didn’t dare turn on the light. She felt like that would equate to being discovered. At least in the dark, she could still hide.

“We will,” Lester said. His hand brushed her thigh in the dark, making Sarah jump. She shuffled to the floor, trying not to trip on anything. She poked her head out, looking down the hallway. No sign of her mother.

Lester watched as Sarah head cut off the light to the room. She wasn’t about to deny him what was rightfully his.

In a dash, Sarah stepped into the hallway and scooped up the clothing she’d dropped there when Lester pulled her into his lair. She darted into Dan’s room, quickly found new panties and sweatpants, and put them on. When she returned to the hall, she cautiously looked back towards Lester’s room, ready for him to try and pull her in again. All she saw was the slit of darkness and the unknown of his room beyond.

Her heart hammered in her chest as she went down the hallway and peered over the couch at her mother.

“Mom?” Sarah asked, worried that she had been heard. The door had been open, even if it was just a sliver.

Nothing. Her mother was breathing softly from the couch.

“Mom?” Sarah said, leaning closer. Still nothing. Sarah let her hackles fall, and her heart finally began beating normally. She silently thanked god that her mother had fallen asleep. Sarah tiptoted to the door and headed towards the elevator.

Lester sat naked on his computer, replaying the recently recorded footage. He loved the way Sarah’s body seemed possessed when he had her in his grasp. The way it moved desperately to get more of him. He watched in perfect color clarity as Sarah grabbed a handful of one of his old, discarded boxers and shoved them into her mouth as she came. It was a hot image, and he quickly took several zoomed-in screenshots. Lester didn't even recognize the pair of boxers; it had been so long.

He logged out and looked around on the floor for a pair of sweats and a t-shirt to throw on. He wanted to cum. Sarah wasn't the only one about to put a load in. He pulled his door shut and marched down to the living room. He pulled his black Crocs from the closet and slipped them on. Before leaving, he peered over the couch at Renee, silently sleeping. He watched her breasts rise and fall as she slept. Pulling his phone out of his pocket. He snapped several pics and videos. Even with the socket camera, Lester always loved different camera angles. They really added something new to the experience.

With an evil smirk, Lester pulled out his cock and stroked it while peering down at Sarah's mother. He desperately wanted to drop it onto her sleeping face, but she'd already been up once. He was a lucky man, but it wasn't that lucky. Still, it seemed like such a wasted opportunity.

With a shake of his head, he pulled his pants back up, tucking his hard cock into the waistband of his sweatpants and following Sarah to the laundry room.

Dan stood there uselessly as James knelt in front of the hole in the drywall. He'd put another smaller cut-out piece of drywall into it and was mudding the seams.

"See how I'm spreading it out in a wide arc? That's how you blend it in to be seamless. The last thing you want is for the patch to be noticeable. This way it won't even if you walk by it and look for it. You really gotta give this a shot next time and see how it goes," James said while he knelt and used the scraper to apply the mud.

"Next time I will," Dan said, trying to keep his voice level.

"Dan," James said.

"Yeah, James?"

"We should talk about Sarah. I'm not sure what's going on with you two. Part of me really doesn't want to know, but I'm worried you're pressuring her into things she shouldn't be doing."

"It's not like —"

James looked at his patch job and stood up, then turned to Dan, “You need to stop. Whatever it is, it’s not right. For heaven’s sake, she was at a sex club. And then whatever the fuck this was the other night. If you don’t stop things and fix your shit, I will.”

Dan sighed and gritted his teeth, “You know James. It’s really none of your fucking business.”

“She’s my daughter. And they,” He pointed down the hall at the girls’ bedroom, “Are my granddaughters. Family. They are my business. And I’ll do whatever I have to to protect them.”

“I get that. So will I,” Dan said.

“Then stop,” James said, angrily grabbing his bucket of mud and setting off down the hallway. “Fix your shit before it’s too late.”

Dan stood alone in the hallway, both hands balled into fists. He didn’t move until he heard the front door close. He almost threw a punch through the drywall next to him, but instead let out a silent rage-filled scream.

Sarah closed the washing machine door, put in her coins and started the cycle. The load was mixed with darks and colors. She’d prefer to have separated them, but she didn’t want to wait around for two loads.

Her mind drifted back to taking Lester’s load in her pussy last night and the black cock exploding in her mouth. She shook her head, trying to dislodge the thoughts and looked around the dingy laundry room.

She’d never liked doing laundry in Dan’s building. For all the rest of its modern amenities, the laundry room was tucked away in a dimly lit basement with old foundation walls. It reminded her of a bygone era. Many of the updated units actually had their own laundry machines. For whatever reason, Dan and Lester did not. It was probably why Lester’s floor was littered with old clothes. He was too lazy and too much of a slob to make the trek down here.

She finally had a second to herself just to stop and think. Her mind went to the area in her body holding on too tightly. Her stomach and chest were where all her stress was held. Her stress had a name, and it was Dan. She loved him. She loved their marriage, and she wanted things to get better, but the last few months had been hard. And their latest blow-up had been even harder. They bickered more than they ever had before, and she knew a large part of that was on her. Maybe he was right, perhaps she should —

The click of the laundry room door snapped Sarah out of her thoughts, and she glanced up. The door opened, and Lester's oddly proportioned body stepped into the room. He smiled widely as he closed the door behind him.

"Lester, what, uh, are you doing here?" Sarah asked.

Lester's shit eating grin just grew wider, "Here to put in a load."

Sarah gulped and felt her cheeks flush. Lester wasn't carrying a laundry basket.

"Your mom's asleep upstairs, we don't have to worry about her hearing us," Lester said, stepping past the row of dryers.

"Lester...." Sarah started. Her heart was hammering in her chest again. "It's a common area....anyone could just walk in."

Lester chuckled and closed the distance between them. Even though she was taller than him, she felt small. The way his predatory eyes sized her up like she was nothing more than something for him to conquer.

"Like you care about that," Lester said and pressed himself up against her. He ground his crotch into her. "You love being watched. I'm going to fuck you in here. I'm going to dump my load into you. And I bet you'd cum even harder for an audience, wouldn't you?"

"Fuck," Sarah breathed and closed her eyes as Lester's mouth touched her neck. She was still soaking wet from the way Lester had made her cum less than fifteen minutes ago. Her skin was still extra sensitive as Lester ground into her. He was picking up right where they left off when she ran out of the room. She knew he wasn't going to take no for an answer. And Sarah did want to feel his big cock slide into her again.

Sarah grabbed the bottom of Lester's ratty, hole-filled shirt and pulled it up over his head. Her eyes drank in his oddly proportioned body: his flabby arms lacking any definition, his man-boobs, his large hairy belly. She needed to have him.

Lester's mouth was on hers, and Sarah melted into him. Lester tugged Sarah's shirt off her and broke the kiss. His lips and tongue were on the nape of her neck, working their way down to her chest. Sarah couldn't hold herself back. Her hand went to his crotch and felt his growing cock through his stained sweatpants. She moaned, either from finally feeling that powerful cock in her hand or because of the way his tongue was tickling the tops of her chest. Lester's hairy knuckles grazed the skin on her back as he quickly unclasped her bra. He pulled the straps from her shoulders as he did oh so long ago on that fateful night in the apartment when she and Dan crossed that line for the first.

Lester stopped licking her long enough to pull the bra completely off her and drop it to the floor. His tongue went back to her chest, licking down her heavy breasts until it swirled around her nipple. Sarah threw her head back, arching her chest into Lester's hungry mouth. She didn't realize she was tugging at the waistband of his sweatpants until they were halfway down his thighs, along with his disgustingly discolored boxers. She pushed them a bit further down before she couldn't wait any longer and reached out and found his swelling cock and grabbed it. A shiver ran through her body, feeling how hot and hard it already was. Sarah moaned and heard it echo back at her from the hard surfaces of the dark and dank basement.

Lester's tongue swirled around her nipple. He took it into his mouth and sucked on it. Sarah groaned as she pumped his cock with her hand. She was pumping it fast.

"Fuck. Lester, I need it," Sarah's voice was hoarse, desperate. "I need your cock."

Lester had her ass pinned to the washing machine she'd just started. The washing machine with her mother's shirt in it. The cycle was starting to ramp up. The suds and water were spinning around, slowly sloshing everything inside. She could feel the rhythmic motions of the machine against her ass.

"I know," Lester said with a smirk, thinking of Han Solo. He pumped his cock into Sarah's hand, causing a new course of moans to ring out from her throat. Lester loved and craved the power he held over her. It was so much sweeter than any of his previous conquests. The willingness. The fall. The corruption. The power.

Lester reached down, grabbed the crotch of Sarah's panties in his fist and twisted it. Sarah yipped as her panties tightened around her. Lester kept twisting and pulling. Sarah bit her lip again as the fabric tore from her hips.

Lester pulled the ripped fabric up to his face and inhaled Sarah's scent. She looked up at him with a mix of horror and arousal that just made him smirk. He dropped the ruined panties onto the cold stone floor of the laundry room and awkwardly shuffled out of the pants at his ankles. Lester growled and pushed himself up against Sarah, brushing past her hands and jutting the shaft of his cock up against her slit. He bent his knees and pushed up, running his cock up and down her slit, teasing her clit.

"Uhhmmmmm, fuck Lester," Sarah moaned.

“Heh, so much for you caring about someone walking in,” Lester chuckled, “You’re already dripping wet for me.”

Sarah needed his cock. After cumming upstairs on the floor of his disgusting room, she was left wanting more. And there was only one thing in this world that she knew of that could give her what she needed. Lester’s big, thick cock, buried deep inside of her.

“I don’t fucking care. I don’t care. Fuck Lester. Please,” Sarah whined as she ground herself against Lester’s cock. She needed him to just dip down and line up the head with her entrance and push in.

Lester’s face was buried in her breasts, licking and fondling them with his hands. Sarah was growing desperate and frustrated. She put her hands on the edge of the washing machine and tried to push herself up onto it. She needed to get higher. To get above Lester’s cock so she could lower herself onto it. Sarah squirmed against the pulsing washing machine, but Lester held her in place, keeping her from moving.

“Fuck Lester,” Sarah panted, “Put it in me.”

“You really don’t care if someone comes in and catches us fucking?” Lester licked up her chest to her shoulder, swirling his tongue around her clavicle.

“I don’t fucking care, Lester!” Sarah shouted, trying to prove her point. She just needed his cock.

Lester just kept teasing her, dipping his knees and running himself along her slit, driving her insane. “Deep down, you want someone to come in. I know how much you like performing for an audience. At the theatre. With my D&D group. That homeless guy...It makes you so worked up and wet. You love showing off how big a slut you are, even when you’re supposed to be some good little mommy.”

Sarah only responds with a grunt as she tried to push her bubble butt off the washer and onto his cock. The load inside the washer was ramping up, the spin cycle increasing.

“Yes,” Sarah breathed, desperate to agree. She’d agree to anything as long as he just fucked her.

“What kind of guy would you want to walk in? Young? Old? Black? White? Arab? Maybe a woman?” Lester raised an eyebrow and chuckled into her neck.

“Not a woman,” Sarah said, pushing on Lester’s forearms, trying to get him to loosen his grip so that she could get free and mount him. “Doesn’t matter,” she was breathing hard already from struggling against Lester. “Doesn’t matter who. As long as they have a cock.”

“Such low standards,” Lester chuckled.

“But I doubt any of them would have a cock like this,” Lester said, digging his grubby, fat fingers into the flawless skin of Sarah’s waist and spinning her around.

Sarah’s eyes went wide at the sudden action. She was turned to face the stone wall. Lester pushed forward with his body, pressing his cock into one of Sarah’s luscious ass cheeks. Sarah’s body was pinned between Lester’s mass and the still-spinning washing machine. Sarah’s pussy pressed up hard against the machine’s cool surface. She cocked an eyebrow as she felt its pulsating rhythm against her clit. She closed her eyes and let herself get lost in the rhythmic cycle as it spun around and around, vibrating against her.

“No one...” Sarah breathed as she let the washing machine’s cycle course into her, “Has a cock like yours. No one.”

Lester just smirked, grabbed his cock by its base and pulled it down her ass cheek until he lined it up with her entrance. Sarah whimpered and wiggled her ass backwards. Lester pressed the head of his cock against her open slit, and her body shuddered in time with the washing machine’s cycle. Lester eased the pressure of his body on her, and Sarah was finally able to push her ass back and take Lester’s cock inside of her.

“Mhmmmfuck,” Sarah breathed as the head of Lester’s cock disappeared inside of her. She dropped her hands to the cool surface of the washing machine, letting it rumble under her. She hung her head and pushed back more, taking another inch of him into her. She couldn’t believe how full he made her feel.

Lester still couldn’t believe how fucking tight Sarah was. After all this time, she still felt like a virgin, and Lester could know. He’d deflowered several. Even after being fucked just last night by his big cock, she was still super tight. Lester groaned as Sarah pushed back and took another half inch, feeling her warm embrace wrap around him. He loved sinking himself into her; she felt so fucking good. She fit him like a warm, tight glove.

“Leeeestter,” Sarah grunted, taking more of him into her, “Holyshit. God. Fuck you’re so big.”

“I love that you always sound surprised by that,” Lester chortled and finally pushed his cock forward, giving her another few inches.

“Ah...Ohfuckme,” Sarah panted, sounding delusional. Lester pushed forward slowly, eliciting more moans of pleasure from his lover. She whined and held herself still as Lester fully buried his cock inside of her. His heavy, hairy balls came to rest at her entrance.

“Fuck I love this,” Sarah breathed, “I love how full...how full you feel inside of me.”

“Just wait until I put a load in,” Lester chuckled and slid himself halfway out before slowly sliding it back in. Sarah’s pussy clamped around him. Lester’s hands were on her hips, and he took in how sexy the muscles in her back looked as they contracted. Sarah’s blonde mane spilled down her back and around her dipped head. He trailed one of his hands up her back until he gripped her shoulder for leverage. Then he pulled out to his cock head and slammed himself into her hard.

“Ahfuck,” Sarah grunted as her body lurched forward, Lester’s fuck fully embedded inside of her. The washing machine hummed against her clit. Sarah was vaguely aware that her mouth was hanging open as she struggled to draw breath. Her fingers splayed out on the washing machine, enjoying her new friend.

“Shit, you’re so fucking tight,” Lester grunted as a bead of sweat ran down the side of his face. “You know what would make you feel even more full?”

“W-what?” Sarah cried impatiently, not wanting to talk. She just wanted to fuck. She reached forward and grabbed hold of the side and back of the machine where the dials were and pushed her bubble back onto Lester’s cock, trying to take control of the tempo.

“If I filled you with a baby,” Lester grunted.

“Uhhfucklester,” Sarah whined at their well-tread fantasy. She knew he liked talking like this, ever since he broke up with his girlfriend, whatever her name was. Sarah knew that there was something seriously wrong with her. She knew because the idea of carrying Lester’s illicit bastard seed turned her on in a primal fucking way that she’d never felt before. It tore against her reality and her presumptions of who she was supposed to be. The idea of being impregnated by someone so much lower than herself, like Lester, made her want to cum right then and there.

“You like that idea, don’t you?” Lester sneered as he grabbed a handful of her bountiful ass. “I felt you’re pussy squeeze me real hard just now. You like it. Thinking about me filling you and knocking you up. Impregnating you. Impregnating Dan’s wife.”

“Fffffff,” Sarah moaned as she pushed herself back onto his amazing cock.

“Carrying my seed inside of you. Nurturing it. I’d love to see the look on Dan’s face. You holding my child to your breast. He’d be even more impotent than he is now,” Lester said through gritted teeth as he pumped into Sarah, “Our own little family.”

Sarah didn’t say anything, but Lester’s words painted a mental picture in her head. One that she couldn’t unsee. Of herself, gently rocking back and forth in a nursery rocking chair, Dan at the door with slumped shoulders and bloodshot eyes. Sarah’s whole attention on the boy she clung against her breast. Lester’s boy.

Sarah gulped and closed her eyes. Lester’s cock pumped into her from behind while the washing machine vibrated and cycled, teasing her clit. The idea kept playing over and over in her head. Her stomach growing in size. All those happy firsts; the ultrasound, the first kick, all of it tainted by Lester’s presence looming over her. How wrong it would be. How deliciously wrong it would be.

The washing machine kicked into a higher cycle, and the vibrations increased. Lester’s cock pulled back and pumped in. Back and in. In and out.

“Ohh...ummmm...mhmhm...ffuuu,” Sarah moaned and let the moment carry her away. Lester’s chubby fingers dug into her shoulder, “You’re close. Do it. Cum on my cock. Cum for me, Sarah. Cum thinking about our child.”

“Fffuuuu....mmmmhmmmmmm....Lesteerr...” Sarah panted as her orgasm built up inside of her. The pressure was steadily increasing; she didn’t know how much more she could take before she erupted. The washing machine spun. Lester pushed into her. Lester dragged himself out. Lester pushed into her deep, touching the nerves there.

“Oh...fuck....me...Lester...mhmhmhm....god,” Sarah panted, unable to catch her breath.

“Cum. Cum thinking about me knocking you up. About Sarah Williams, loving wife and happy mother of two, who was impregnated by Lester. Of my cum drenching you and claiming you and making you mine and giving you the boy your limp dick husband never could,” Lester growled, fingers digging into Sarah’s flesh, “Cum to that, Sarah.”

Lester’s words dug into Sarah’s ears like an earworm, taking control of her brain. Mental images flashed behind her eyes of the conception, of their family, of Dan, of Lester. The pressure built inside of her. She couldn’t breathe. Then it all came crashing down.

The damn inside of her broke, and Sarah’s pussy clenched like a vice around Lester’s cock, “FFFFFUUUUCCCCMMHMMMHMMMMMM.”

An explosive burst of pleasure swelled inside of Sarah's pussy and streamed out into her body, riding and igniting her nerves as it coursed through and filled her. Sarah's body went limp as she came, her breasts and head falling to the cool surface of the washing machine as her whole world just became wrapped up in her orgasm. Nothing else existed.

Pleasure danced over her sensitive skin; her chest was hot on the washing machine as it rhythmically stimulated her clit. A bit of drool dripped from her open mouth as she tried to breathe through her clenched muscles. She stood up on the tips of her toes as her body took complete control.

More beads of sweat ran down Lester's face and back. He couldn't move. Sarah held him like a vice. He wanted to keep pumping into her, but it felt like his cock was stuck in a steel trap. The muscles on her back contracted, and then just as fast as it happened, they all relaxed, and Sarah slumped over the washing machine. The vice around his cock was gone, and he heard his lover, the young mother of two, panting hard as the washing machine continued to spin under her.

Lester took a second for himself. Standing with his cock embedded into her, as he too tried to catch his breath. His fat chest rose and fell in time with Sarah's heavy breathing.

As they both sat there, connected to each other and recovering, the door to the laundry room creaked open.

Lester's head snapped around at the sudden noise. Sarah groggily raised her head, her eyes obscured by her blonde hair. Standing at the door holding a full laundry basket was an elderly man who had to be in his late seventies or early eighties. He stood there, gawking at them with eyes behind his coke bottle glasses.

All three of them just stood there frozen for a moment until Lester felt Sarah's pussy squeeze his cock. Without breaking eye contact with the geriatric old man, Lester thrust his hips forward, making Sarah squeal out in pleasure.

"You're welcome to watch," Lester said to the man.

WHAP

His fat hand came down hard on Sarah's exposed ass cheek, leaving a red imprint behind. The old man's eyebrows raised to his non-existent hairline.

"She likes it when people watch her. Just close the door behind you," Lester said.

Without waiting for the man to reply, Lester turned his attention back to Sarah. He raised his hand to the nape of her neck, grabbed her roughly and pinned her head down to the vibrating washing machine.

Lester heard the door close but didn't care enough to look over his shoulder. The only thing he cared about was the sweet, sweet pussy wrapped around his cock and the mewling moans of pleasure he was causing from Sarah.

Lester held her head down against the washing machine, and Sarah couldn't look back at the door to know whether that old man was still there. She heard the door shut, but all she could see was the outdated washing machine next to hers and the stone wall next to it. She didn't even try to push herself up. Lester's cock was sliding in and out of her at a steady rhythm, effectively pinning her to the vibrating washing machine. The clothes inside continued to spin in a circular cycle that Sarah was very aware of. She was still recovering from her last orgasm, but the rhythmic motions pressing up against her clit were working her back up.

There was a shuffling of feet. Lester looked over to see the old man setting his laundry basket down onto another washing machine, never taking his eyes off Sarah's naked, bent over form.

Lester just smirked, held Sarah in place, and said, "We have an audience, my love. Time to put on a show."

His words made Sarah shudder. She weakly raised her head, rolling onto her forearms. Peering through her swaying hair, she saw the old man standing several feet away next to his laundry basket, staring at her. She gulped, feeling the intensity build in her again. Nothing worked her up like Lester's cock, but having an audience watch her take it was close.

"Fuck me," Sarah said out loud, "Lester, don't stop. Don't stop fucking me."

Before, she was content just to let him take her. To get off to his beautiful cock while the washing machine stimulated her clit. But Lester was right. She wanted to put on a show. She wanted to work this old man up. And delight in his awkward pleasure.

"You ever see a specimen like this?" Lester asked the old man. He didn't give a shit what he said; Lester just knew that interacting with him in some way would push Sarah to another orgasm.

"Umm-er, not in person," the old man stuttered, still planted several feet away from them. "I haven't seen a woman her age in that state of undress for close to fifty years, give or take.”

“Well, today’s your lucky day. She likes to show off,” Lester said, emphasizing his comment with a sharp thrust into Sarah that made her squeal and jump forward. Lester held Sarah by the back of the neck and made sure her head was turned towards the old man.

“Sarah, be a dear and make eye contact with our friend here. I want him to see your face while you get fucked,” Lester said, pulling the hair from her face and tucking it behind her ear. Sarah stared into the old man’s eyes and watched his mouth open agape as he stared at it. This man was way older than her father. And for him to be watching her... it was so fucked up. So wrong. She shouldn’t be enjoying it as much as she did. What the fuck was wrong with her?

“Lick your lips,” Lester said, “Slowly.”

Sarah did as her lover commanded. Without breaking eye contact with the old man, she slowly and sensually licked her lips. She saw a shudder run through him, and he rested a hand on his washing machine to steady himself.

Then he looked down at his crotch with a surprised expression, “Well, I’ll be.”

A crooked smile appeared on the man’s face, “That hasn’t worked without a pill for years. Even then, haven’t had the desire to...but...” His eyes went back up to Sarah, “You’re something else.”

“She is,” Lester grunted and started hammering away at Sarah in earnest. His mind was back to his packages upstairs. The pills and the blister packaging. He’d be knocking her up soon. He just hoped he could get her on board with it. His natural instinct was to be deceptive and manipulative, but what if he could get her on board...

The thought caused him to pump into the young mother faster. Sliding his oversized cock in and out of her at a rapid pace.

“Mhmmhmm...fffuummmckkkk,” Sarah moaned. She hadn’t stopped looking at the old man. Lester hadn’t told her she had to keep looking at him, but Sarah was enjoying watching the man’s face. Knowing how long it had been since he’d seen a woman her age naked. Sarah wanted to show him more.

“Hey, bud,” Lester chuckled, “See my pants over there in the floor? Grab my phone.”

The old man shuffled his feet, trying not to take his eyes off Sarah as he bent over with some effort and retrieved Lester's phone. He eagerly took the opportunity to get closer to the coupling. Lester snatched the phone from his hand without ceasing his pounding, "You're gonna be our camera guy, got it?"

"Um, sure, I guess," the old man said, taking the phone back, "Wait? What's this? Are you calling someone?"

"Yup, but it's a video call. Her husband."

"Excuse me?"

Dan was sitting on his, letting his eyes unfocus as his mind processed everything. It was screaming at him to do something. To take some kind of action. He needed forward momentum. He needed—

His phone started buzzing in his pocket. Pulling it out, it said Lester was calling. Lester never called. Dan hesitated, wondering what Sarah had done to make Lester act so fast about the groceries. He closed the bedroom door, engaging the lock and answered the phone.

His screen flashed and connected to a video call. It took his brain a second to register what he was seeing. Sarah was bent over a laundry machine in a dingy basement somewhere, Lester pounding into her from behind. After a second, he realized it was the basement in the apartment building. Sarah was wailing on Lester's cock, her blonde hair spilling down her.

The camera was shaky, and Dan saw both of Lester's hands on Sarah. Someone else was filming. Renee?

Lester cocked his head to the camera, and the shit-eating grin spread over his face.

"Just your wife holding up her end of the agreement for groceries. The things she does for you," Lester chuckled and pulled back slightly, letting Dan see his long cock before he slowly slid it into his wife. Sarah's body shuddered, her hand gripping the side of the machine. She opened her glossy eyes and looked at the camera, her face a mix of deep desire, anguish, guilt and pure unadulterated pleasure.

"See," Lester said as he pounded into Sarah. The sound of smacking flesh echoed in the small room. "I always thought it was the man's place in the relationship to earn for his family. But that seems to be Sarah's job today."

The camera was still shaking, and Dan's mind raced, wondering who was holding it.

"Well, I guess we're actually supposed to be in this together, throuple and all. I mean..." Lester chuckled, "Not you, obviously, but that's why I dialled you. So you can see how hard Sarah works."

"Isn't that right, Sarah?" Lester said, licking his lips and started pounding into Sarah hard, bucking her thighs against the machine. "Let Dan hear it."

"FfffFUCK," Sarah moaned.

"Say hi to hubby," Lester said, then shook his head, "Or am I hubby? Is he ex-hubby? It's so confusing these days."

"She's married to him?" an old, unfamiliar voice said.

"It's complicated," Lester said, running his hands over Sarah's naked body, "Let's just say it's more of a legal thing at this point."

Dan felt his stomach turn, but he couldn't pry his eyes away from the screen in front of him. Shame and arousal coursed through his veins as he saw Sarah being taken like this. Shame at his own hardening cock and how far his life has fallen. His mind raced, wondering how they came to be there in the basement with an audience watching them. What led them to this point? Who was this guy? What the hell was happening?

He was tempted to race to Chicago, but he couldn't leave the girls. So he sat there, weak and immobile like he always did.

Sarah's mouth hung open as she moaned for Lester. The fat man was feeding her his meat, sliding it in and out of her with wet, squelching sounds. Dan felt impotent as he watched Sarah pushing back into Lester. Her body rocking back to meet his thrusting cock as she braced herself on the washing machine.

"God fuck Lester," Sarah panted. The camera continued to shake in the cameraman's hand. Art of Dan wanted to scream out at him to get closer for a better angle, but the words were lost in his throat. He couldn't willingly encourage this. Lester meant to hurt him. He should just turn the feed off, but he couldn't.

Lester smirked at the camera, "Who fucks you the best, Sarah?"

“Mhmmm, you,” Sarah purred, “You fucking do. I can’t get enough of what you do to me.”

“I fuck her way better than him,” Lester said to the cameraman, “He isn’t equipped for the job.”

There was a nervous chuckle from the cameraman.

“She’s squeezing me so tight,” Lester threw his head back with a groan.

“Take it,” Sarah panted onto the top of the dryer, “Take it, Lester.”

“I love the way you say my name,” Lester grunted.

“Lester....” Sarah moaned into the steel top of the washing machine, “Lester... Lester....fuck...take me....Lester....do it.”

Lester winked at the camera, “You know, when you first moved in, I fantasized about hearing those words on your wife’s lips. Funny how things work out.”

Sweat was dripping down Lester’s back. He was breathing hard and slowed his pace. Sarah whined, thrusting herself back onto his cock, “Please....please don’t slow down right now. I want...I need it...fuck Lester...I need that magic cock now. Don’t stop.”

“I can’t believe she’s his wife...” the old voice muttered again.

“She’s mine,” Lester corrected, “Tell him, Sarah. Say it.”

“I’m...his,” Sarah moaned, her bottom lip dropping open. “I’m all his. Fuck. I need him in me all the time. He just feels so fucking good. Mhmmmm.

Lester....god....hmm....uhhh...mhmmmm....ahhhmhmmmm.”

“That’s why she’s here with me, instead of home with him,” Lester chuckled, “She left her kids and him to jump on my cock.”

“Thats....not...” Sarah panted.

WHAP

Lester slapped her ass hard. “Don’t interrupt the men when they’re talking.”

“Ughhh.....fuck,” Sarah grunted.

“Apologize to our friend,” Lester said.

Sarah raised her head to look at the man behind the camera. Dan wondered if she even remembered he was there watching.

“Sorry,” Sarah said, biting her bottom lip. “Sorry,” she panted again, thrusting her ass back on Lester’s cock. “Fuck...so...fucking sorry...ughmmmmhmmmmmm.”

“Good girl,” Lester snorted, then waved the man over. “Get a little closer for this next part.”

The camera swayed, and Dan saw the tile floor before Sarah came back into view. “Close up on her face,” Lester said from off camera. Dan heard Lester whispering into Sarah’s ear, and a shudder passed through her body.

“Tell him,” Lester encouraged.

The camera stayed locked on Sarah’s face, her eyes unfocused, her blonde hair swaying around her face. Dan couldn’t see Lester, but Sarah’s head kept rocking out of frame as he fucked her.

Sarah sucked in a breath and slowly said, “You lost Dan. Lester won. He—he’s claimed me. I’m his...all his...fuck...mhmmm...he fucks me so good....better—better than I’ve ever had in my life...I’m never not going to want him...I crave him...uhh...mhmmmm.”

Sarah closed her eyes and trailed off.

“UHHMHHH,” Sarah grunted as Lester pushed into her hard, “Fuck...crave him and his thick cock. Fuck I love that...monster...uhh...mhmmm...ahhhmhmm...”

“He’s...gonna fill me,” Sarah bit her lip, closing her eyes as if anticipating that moment, “God, he’s going to fill me up so much...but...”

Her eyes opened, and she looked at the screen with her seductive ‘fuck me’ eyes. The ones that only Dan used to see.

“You’re not going to get to see it,” Sarah moaned as if the words themselves gave her pleasure.

“Bye, Dan,” Sarah moaned as she reached towards the phone. And then the screen went black on Dan’s hand. He just sat there staring at it. Anger, arousal and shame flooded his system. Arousal at the denial. Shame for letting himself be pulled into it and losing himself in the video. Anger at himself, Sarah, Lester and everything.

He was breathing hard with an unfulfilled hard dick, holding his phone limply in his hand.

She pushed down on the washing machine with her hands, defying Lester's grip on her neck. He let the pressure ease as Sarah rose up to her full height. Lester kept her pinned against the washing machine, and Sarah didn't want to lose its sweet vibrations against her.

She kept both hands firmly planted on the washing machine, but thrust out of her chest. The old man moved closer with tentative steps to get a better look. He took in a sharp intake of breath as his eyes marvelled at Sarah's heavy breasts, rising and falling as she breathed. Rocking back and forth with each of Lester's powerful thrusts.

"Jesus..." the old man muttered. Sarah could see his skin slightly hanging loose on his arms and jowls, and the liver spots dotting his bald head. There were wisps of hair on it like he was sadly trying to hold onto whatever bit of youth he had left.

"You think that's good," Lester said, "Just wait and see how hot she is when she cums." Lester put both hands on Sarah's hips, pushing his chunky fingers into her. He wiped sweat from his forehead and started pounding into Sarah. Sarah's jaw hung open, and her eyes unfocused for a second. Lester was slamming into her with everything the fat man had.

When she got back control of her eyes, Sarah saw the old man was lightly touching himself over his pants. His eyes were locked on her breasts and then up at her face. The clothes in the washing machine spun over and over, thrumming against Sarah's clit. She closed her eyes and dropped her head.

"Look at him," Lester grunted through clenched teeth as he pounded into her. His voice was strained, and she felt her bubble butt bouncing against his fat, hairy gut as she fucked him back.

Sarah's eyes snapped open, and she turned her head back to their observer.

"Don't be shy," Lester said, "Tell us how it feels, Sarah."

"Ffffuck," Sarah whined, mouth hanging open in pleasure. She could feel the twist in her face as she rode the pleasure Lester was driving into her. Her body needed to cum again. Desperately.

“Feels good,” Sarah panted, her hands gripping the washing machine as she thrust her ass back onto Lester’s cock. His cock felt so big inside of her that she thought he might split her in two, “So fucking good. God. Jesus. Christ. Lester. Fuck me. Don’t stop.”

“Tell him,” Lester started, “Tell him what you are.”

“I’m his slut,” Sarah said without hesitation. Part of her brain screamed at her outbursts, but her mouth was working on its own, “I’m his dirty little fucking married slut.”

“And she kisses her kids with that mouth too,” Lester chuckled through a pant. Sarah felt her face flush and the heat spread to her chest. She didn’t like people knowing too much about her, but now this old man had seen her naked, seen her getting fucked and knew she was a mom too. It was depraved. And intoxicating.

The old man didn’t say anything, just stared at her, watching their coupling. Sarah could see the bulge under his hand and wondered how long it had been since he’d had an erection. He’d been surprised by it. Sarah had literally revived this old man’s cock without the need for Viagra.

The washing machine thrummed against her clit. Sarah closed her eyes and bit her bottom lip again, tasting the dried blood from earlier. Lester pulled his cock back, all the way to the head and slammed into her with all the force she could muster. He was breathing hard.

He repeated it.

“Umhmffmmhmmmm,” Sarah moaned with an open mouth as Lester pounded her pussy, “Uhh...mhmm...uhhh...ummm..mhmmmm..mhmmmmmm...ffuumhmmmm..ohhhh. OHHH.”

The machine’s cycle kept rocking. Lester kept pounding into her. Pulling almost all the way out before slamming back in. Sarah lazily opened her eyes and saw the old man staring at her with a mix of amazement and ecstasy on his face. She locked gazes with his old, milky white eyes and felt her next orgasm surge up inside of her. She wanted him to see her cum.

“Oh fuck,” Sarah panted, “Lester. Fuck. I’m gonna cum.”

She squeezed her pussy around Lester’s cock, milking him for all she was worth. Lester’s full ballsack slammed against Sarah’s entrance. They were tight and full. Lester let out a loud groan and threw his head back, staring at the dark ceiling above as he let Sarah milk his cock. Her pussy was tight around his shaft, and he knew it was time.

He let everything go, letting his body do its thing and slammed his cock into Sarah's tight pussy grip over and over.

"I'm gonna fill you up, Sarah," Lester growled, "Gonna give you all of it."

"Give it to me!" Sarah screamed, "Fucking give it to me, Lester. Fuck. Cum in me. Cum. Cum for me!"

"Watch our friend, let him see you cum," Lester growled.

Sarah pried her eyes open and stared deep into the old man's eyes, and she felt it. Her pussy clamped down on Lester's cock, unwilling to let him go. Her ass pushed back as far as it could as she felt the fireworks start in her pussy. The first one went off, making her catch her breath in her throat. It only grew and grew until it seemed to wash over her entire body, making her muscles grow taut. Sarah's jaw hung open as she stared at the old man's amazed face.

Lester's cock expanded inside of her. She felt a hot blast of cum shot from it and drench the inside walls of her pussy. She shuddered as the firework exploding inside of her somehow intensified and popped several more times. More illicit cum battered her insides, and Sarah let out a quiet weep. Tears streamed down her cheeks, and she knew the old man was witnessing the most beautiful and profound sight of his long life.

Lester grunted and pressed his gut onto Sarah's back as he struggled to catch his breath. Sarah finally stopped moving under him. Her ass was covered in both of their sweat. Sarah finally broke eye contact with the old man, closed her eyes and just focused on revelling in her post orgasmic bliss.

The old man just stood there, watching, unable to react.

With a grunt, Lester pulled his cock out of Sarah with an audible plop, like a cork from a wine bottle. His cum immediately began to drip down her thigh, but Sarah was just doubled over, catching her breath on the washing machine. It hummed once more, beeped, and the cycle was finished.

Lester stumbled back to the row of dryers behind him, and grabbed his phone from the old man. He snapped a pic of Sarah's form on the washing machine and her leaking pussy.

He smiled and looked over at the old man, "Want to get in the pic?"

It took the old man a second to understand. Only after Lester repeated himself did the old man eagerly step forward and stand awkwardly next to Sarah.

“What are you doing?” Sarah asked as she raised her head and turned around.

“Just making memories,” Lester said as he snapped a pic.

“Don’t be shy, give that ass a squeeze,” Lester said. The old man’s face spread into a wide grin, and he reached behind with his bony, liver-spotted hands and grabbed a handful of Sarah’s ass.

Sarah looked between them, offended, shocked and turned on. She hadn’t asked for this. Lester just acted like he was her property. Maybe she was. Without prompting, the old man grabbed one of her breasts, and a cry caught in his throat when he felt its weight.

“How about a little kiss?” Lester snickered.

Before Sarah knew it, the old man’s lips were on hers as he fondled her. She almost gagged on his old breath and horrid tongue as she pushed it into her mouth. Yet she couldn’t help but return the kiss.

“Alright,” Lester said, “That’s enough.”

Sarah pulled away from the old man, who looked extremely disappointed. His pants were still tented, and Sarah could see a damp mark on them.

Lester was toying with his phone, and Sarah quickly found her clothes and pulled them on. She couldn’t find her underwear.

“Lester,” Sarah said, “What are you doing with those pictures? Please don’t...”

“Relax,” Lester said and looked at the old man, “I just sent them to her husband. She had to earn their groceries. You know how it is.”

Sarah’s face went beet-red. She quickly grabbed her clothes from the wash and threw them in the open dryer.

“I’m going to kill you,” Sarah muttered to Lester as they left the old man in the laundry room and headed towards the elevator up.

“Don’t worry,” Lester said, “I sent them to you, too. You could really make some money off these.”

Toxic Attraction Ch. 37

Sarah shifted the car into park, then took a look at herself in the mirror. She knew it was vain to think so positively of herself, but she looked darn good. Despite all the stress and issues she was going through. None of it showed on her face. Her round, piercing blue eyes still looked back at her confidently, framed by her healthy blonde hair and sharp facial features.

In the passenger seat, Sarah's mom, Renee, put her phone into her purse, looking equally radiant yet further on in years. Sarah prayed she would age as gracefully as her mother seemed to.

"The restaurant should be around the corner," Sarah said, opening her door.

"Is this really the best neighborhood?" Renee asked, still in the car, holding onto her purse tightly.

"Mom, it's fine. Maybe it's not the best neighborhood but all the up-and-coming chefs who want to open their own places can't afford to lease in the more popular areas. You chose this place, remember? Instagram, right?" Sarah asked. A chilly wind ran up her legs, playing with her little black dress.

"It looked nice inside," Renee said before opening her door and stepping out. "If I knew it was this kind of neighborhood I would have told you not to wear that dress."

Sarah looked down at her dress and suppressed a little wicked thrill of enjoyment. It was fun wearing something your mother disapproved of in front of her. It made her feel like a teenager again. Nonetheless, she knew her mom had a point. Her dress was a little too sexy for this dinner with its spaghetti straps, plunging neckline and high hemline. She knew why Lester had purchased it for her. He knew how turned on she got when people looked at her.

She tried not to think of her husband's roommate, but her mind always seemed to drift back to him.

"Sarah?" Renee said, snapping Sarah out of her thoughts.

"Sorry. Yes?" Sarah quickly covered her blush and joined her mother in front of the car.

"I hope it's not far," Renee said, "I don't like you walking around here dressed like that. It attracts the wrong kind of attention."

I love all kinds of attention. Sarah thought. But she did look around at the run-down buildings, crumbling asphalt, debris and swirling litter strewn about. Her mom was right. This wasn't a good neighborhood.

"It's not that bad," Sarah lied, guiding her mom out across the crumbling parking lot and past a row of vacant storefronts. It reminded Sarah of the neighborhood Lester had taken her where the adult theater was.

Half a block ahead, the sign of the restaurant stood out from the building, beckoning them in. As they neared it, the smell hit Sarah's nose first. She couldn't place it, but her mind immediately went to spoiled milk, foot fungus and urinal pucks.

"I KNOW YOU," a raspy, unhinged voice yelled as they passed. Both of their necks snapped towards the sound. Coming down the alley was an old homeless man with a dirty, bushy, crumb-filled beard. His eyebrows were just as frizzy over his crazy eyes. His hair stood wildly on end, jutting out at all angles. The ripped t-shirt was tight over his lean frame and pot-belly with gray chest hair poking through the holes. He was wearing sweatpants, but large sections of the material over his thighs were just missing. Scrawny bare feet were shoved into sandals, exposing his feet crusted with months of city grime.

"Hurry," Renee muttered, taking Sarah's arm, "Let's go." Sarah's eyes went wide as the man scrambled closer. She did know him. He was the homeless man from the night with Lester in the parking lot. The one on the other side of the fence. Across his knuckles were tattoos of the letters C-A-S-H.

Cash reached into the giant hole in his sweatpants and pulled out his cock. "CASH SEEN YOU. GOD'S DIVINING ROD ONLY POINTS TO FERTILE ONES."

Renee tugged on Sarah's arm, and they both hurried towards the restaurant. Cash scrambled onto the street, one hand around his shaft, the other holding one of his flip flops in the air, "CASH'LL TRADE YOU. THIS FOR A HANDY! HA!"

Renee and Sarah hurried into the restaurant, pulling the door closed behind them.

"Good evening," the hostess said to them, "Do you have a reservation?"

Sarah's face was beet red and flustered. She quickly composed herself, "Yes, Williams. For two."

"Excellent right this way —"

The waitress trailed off as something smacked into the window. All three women turned to see the manic homeless man splaying himself against it, humping the glass, smacking the flip flop against it, “LET’S TRADE.”

“I’m...so....” the waitress trailed off again as she saw that Cash’s cock was out, “Sorry about that. This never happens. I swear.”

From the way she’d said it, Sarah didn’t believe her. She quickly led them to their seats, then hurriedly whispered something to one of the waiters, who stomped to the back. Sarah and Renee shared a look before quickly moving their attention to their menus.

Sarah was both mortified and amused by the whole situation. Throughout their appetizers, she couldn’t stop thinking about the random chance encounter, her mind drifting back to that night in the parking garage with Dan sitting in the car while she entertained Lester.

Her mom was talking about the girls’ school, but Sarah wasn’t really listening. She kept thinking about the wild man roaming around outside and the random, chance encounter they’d had so many months ago. She realized she’d finished her glass of wine and focused on its warmth in her stomach.

After the waiter took away their finished appetizers, Sarah got up and excused herself to the washroom. She saw her mom take her out her cellphone and knew she’d be lost for a while in her scrolling. Sarah focused on the wine inside of her and looped around the restaurant back to the front hostess’ station, taking special care that her mother didn’t notice her.

“Forgot something in my car,” she smiled to the hostess, “Be right back.”

The girl smiled and nodded back as Sarah stepped out into the chilly air. In the brief time they’d been in the restaurant, the sun had started to set, and shadows had begun to fall over the buildings. Sarah tried to push any constructive thoughts from her mind. She was operating on autopilot against her better judgment.

She wasn’t sure if this was Lester’s influence or something darker within her, but she stepped into the alley where the homeless man had been. Immediately, she grimaced, his lingering stench hitting her nostrils even though he wasn’t there.

She stepped further in.

“Hello?” she said, surprised by how sultry she sounded. She licked her lips and ran her hands down her dress. Her skin was already sensitive to her own touch. She stifled a soft moan, thinking just how bad of an idea this was. Dan wasn't here. Lester wasn't here. This was just her.

The scattering sounds of bottles and debris further down the alley made her pause. A shadowy figure stumbled out in the dark and just stood there at the edge of her vision. Sarah took a step back but steadied her breathing.

"You want to trade?" Sarah said, purposely injecting sultriness into her voice. The man shuffled forward and Sarah got a better look at him. He was wearing only one flip-flop; the other held in his dirty fingers. She shuddered as she took in the homeless man's form. His busy beard, wild eyes, matted hair and his stained and dirty clothing. Sarah felt herself grow wet, and part of her screamed in disgust. But this man might be the pinnacle of what she shouldn't want. A man like this should never even be allowed to breathe the same air as her, yet here they were in the same dank, dark alley. With her beauty and the beast fantasy in control of her, Sarah repeated herself, "Let's trade. What was it? A handjob for the flip flop?"

"FUCKING A," The homeless man growled and eagerly limped forward towards her. Sarah's nose rebelled, but she pushed down at the bile rising in her throat. The man's crazed eyes locked on the plunging neckline of Sarah's low-cut dress, at the size and shape of her perfect, flawless breasts.

He shuffled further faster with a newly aggressive expression.

"Come to ol' Cashy Cash Cash," the man, Cash, muttered to himself. The hand not holding the flip-flop was outstretched towards her, making grabbing motions. When he got close enough to touch her, Sarah made her move.

"Not like that," Sarah said, grabbing the man by his greasy shirt and pushing him into the brick wall of the building. This wasn't Lester. She didn't need to be dominated. She wanted to indulge her fantasy on overdrive and stoop down to a level she hadn't been to before. She still wasn't going to let things get too far out of control and needed to establish things early.

"CASH FUCKIN KNEW YOU!" Cash shouted at her. Sarah pressed a manicured finger to his lip to shush him up.

"Yes. You did. We're old friends, aren't we? Now, be a good boy and keep that mouth of yours closed. Got it?" Sarah said. She could feel the heat emanating from his body. Cash's crazy eyes seemed to glass over a little, and he lazily stuck his tongue out of his mouth and licked her finger. A surge of repulsion struck Sarah, but she quivered at the same time.

“Flip-flop,” Sarah said, holding her hand out to him. The man looked between her open palm and the flip-flop in his hands several times as if he were evaluating whether it was a good trade or not. In the end, Sarah just grabbed the flip-flop out of his hand and tossed it over her shoulder.

“Now, what was I supposed to trade you again? Oh, that’s right, a nice handjob, right?” Sarah said. Her voice made the man shudder as he slumped back against the brick. A wicked smile spread on Sarah’s face at the effect she was having over him. The power she held. Sarah ran her hand down the man’s body until she found what felt like a long shoelace holding his baggy pants up. She untied its knot single-handedly and pulled his ragged, hole-adorned pants to his knees.

“Oh,” Sarah sucked in a breath as her eyes took in the large, girthy erection sticking out at her. She leaned on the brick wall next to the man, far too close for comfort. Part of her worried his stench was going to rub off on her when she went back to the restaurant. “What do we have here?” Sarah bit her lip and looked up at the man’s eyes.

“That’s CASH’S D—” his voice caught in his throat.

Sarah had wrapped her fist tightly around the man’s girthy shaft, “Divining rod from God, right? Does this mean I’m fertile?”

The crazed derelict just stared back at her without uttering another sound. She squeezed him and felt the grains in the grime coating his cock. His wild eyes were darting all around her body, taking her in. Sarah didn’t break eye contact but leaned forward, breathing through her open mouth. The air between them was heavy and musty. But she gave him one of the sexiest looks she’d ever produced and let some spit drop from her mouth and land on his cock. Sarah massaged her saliva into her palm and onto his cock, giving his rod a much-needed spit-bath.

Then she began to fulfill her end of the trade, running her hand up and down over this homeless man’s cock, stroking him like she would her husband or Lester. She knew precisely how wrong this was. It was a betrayal of her husband and even a betrayal of Lester. But she needed to do it. She felt like she was losing control and just wanted to let it ride. All the stress in her life, her job, the financial strain. All of it took a back seat to the excitement of this moment.

Sarah pumped the homeless man’s cock with her manicured fingers, enjoying the soft, pathetic moans coming from his throat. She’d worried he’d be out of control; loud and unhinged, but she’d been confident he could be subdued. No matter how crazy, a man was still a man and would respond to a woman like her. She knew she had the power over them; she just had to wield it.

Cash's eyes closed behind heavy dirt-stained lids, and he started to grunt and pump his hips forward. Sarah watched him with a horrified fascination, as if she were sitting at home watching an urban nature documentary on PBS.

"Mhmmm, that's it," Sarah cooed, "Pump it big boy. Pump it for me." Sarah skillfully jerked her wrist in time with his pumping hips, squeezing and rotating her fist to give this disgusting old man his perverse pleasure.

Cash responded by increasing the urgency of his thrusts, "Fackin good." Sarah bit her lip, carefully watching every second of his reaction. Part of her brain was wondering how much time had elapsed. It felt like she'd been out here for hours, watching this man respond to the clutch of her dainty little suburban hand.

A dribble of something fell from Cash's bottom lip. His eyes lazily opened, and he drank in the sight of Sarah's heavenly form leaning on the wall next to him. He turned his body towards her as she continued to jerk him. Sarah looked down at the thick cock pointed at her and the precum that was beginning to appear at its slit. This grungy, destitute man could give Lester a real run for his money and just for a split second, Sarah wondered how it would feel inside of her. Would he fuck in a domineering fashion like Lester, or would it be more something like a spastic romp infused with the frenetic energy of a caged animal? She shuddered thinking about just being used like that, nothing more than a hole for a deranged man like him to empty himself into.

Cash's eyes widened, and his grubby, filth-streaked hands - Sarah could see the dirt embedded under the nails - reached out and grasped one of Sarah's breasts. It was only then that she realized how hard her nipples had gotten as she wantonly arched her chest into his touch.

Sarah looked down at the dirty hands groping her and stifled a moan. The dirt and grime on him would leave marks on her dress. That was the thought that convinced her to lower her spaghetti straps. She rolled her dress down to her midsection, letting her heavy breasts fall free in public, for all in the alley to see.

The cool air ran over her naked skin. Part of her still couldn't believe she'd left a meal with her mother to make her way into this dingy alleyway. That she was here with someone like him. But as those thoughts swirled in her head, her fist pumped his cock faster. Her body responding to the depths of her illicit thoughts and her initial repulsion.

Sarah sucked in a breath as Cash's dirty fingers grabbed and marred her naked breasts. Without a thought, she threw her head back and again thrust her chest out into his greedy palm. Cash's hips were thrusting forward, fucking Sarah's delicate hand. She could feel his pulse beating in the veins running along the underside of his cock. The dirty organ radiated an arousing heat.

As she ran her hands over him, something wet ran down the skin of her wrist. In horrified fascination, she saw his heavy, creamy precum running over her hand. She had a homeless man's seed on her skin. Sarah shuddered, and her nipples stiffened even harder under Cash's rough groping.

"Cash knew, knew it," Cash muttered under his breath. His eyes unfocused, staring at Sarah's large udders, "KNEW IT."

He started mumbling something else, but Sarah couldn't make it out. His lips were moving rapidly, but he was whispering to himself in a manic way. Sarah watched his lips move with perverse fascination. It was as if the presence of her body was short-circuiting his brain.

"Get it," Cash mumbled, his hand mauling Sarah's heavy breasts. She couldn't deny that his rough treatment was having an effect on her. The tramp's crude manipulation had added to the fucked up situation; her body was on fire.

Cash's hand drifted down to the bottom hem of her dress and started pulling it up, revealing Sarah's slender legs and tiny white panties.

"Hey! Hey there! Slow down, big boy," Sarah said, tugging the dress material back down. She hadn't expected him to do that. She was supposed to be the one in control. Cash's hands tightened over the bunched material and lifted it again as he thrust himself forward. Sarah squeezed his cock with her palm as he pushed, and it jutted under her dress.

Part of her cringed at his dirty fingers, balling her dress into a fist. But that thought instantly evaporated when the head of his huge cock hit her panty-clad pussy. Sarah's shocked mind did a double-take, and she felt a wetness down there but didn't know if it was from her or from him.

"Fuck," Sarah breathed as Cash's cock head repeatedly punched against her pussy. She closed her eyes and felt herself getting hammered there over and over again. It didn't help that he was close enough that his fetid garbage smell was oppressively heavy.

"Gonna get it," Cash mumbled to himself as he thrust himself against Sarah. She didn't let go of his cock, pumping it with her hand. It had run free of Cash's pre-cum, so Sarah spit down onto his cock, and her hand ran over it and pressed her fresh saliva into his grimy cock skin.

“Gonna get it,” Cash muttered a little louder. His smudged paw left Sarah’s heavy breast, and both his hands grabbed her hips as he fucked her hand.

“Slow, slow,” Sarah muttered, bracing her other hand against his shoulder. She could feel the polluted film of the streets on his raggy clothes. They both leaned awkwardly against the wall, Cash pumping his cock into her hand while Sarah tried to hold him at bay. His fingers dug into her hips and began interlacing with her white panties.

“Gonna get it,” Cash mumbled. Sarah couldn’t help herself and asked, “Gonna get what?”

Cash’s crazed eyes blinked, and some focus seemed to creep back into them. He looked up at her as if seeing her for the first time. His eyes took in her face and her heavy breasts bouncing in front of him.

“What are you gonna get? Cash? What are you gonna get?” Sarah whispered, already knowing the answer.

Cash grunted, “Cash gonna get his nut.”

The clarity in his eyes disappeared, and his hips started humping forward with abandon. Sarah knew the motion. She could feel the urgency in his thrusts against her hand. Cash pulled one side of her panties down, and Sarah stopped breathing.

“Cum for me,” Sarah whispered, “Cum for me. Give me your nut Cash. Get it. Get it. Get it Cash.”

His cock pulsed in her hand, and she watched the homeless man’s face contort into a disgusting and agonizing display of orgasmic bliss. Half her panties were down by her thigh, and Sarah knew her pussy was on full display to this old, dirty homeless man. Sarah squeezed his cock in her hand in a vice-like grip as he struggled to push himself forward. He grunted and groaned, and she felt his cock swell and pulsate in her hand before a thick smattering of cum blasted out, smothering the outside of her pussy. Sarah flinched in both revulsion and sick pleasure, feeling herself being bathed in this man’s spunk. He just kept cumming, completely covering her pussy. Sarah moaned loudly, her knees going weak, her head resting on the brick wall as she struggled to breathe.

Cash’s eyelids fluttered, and he let go of her as he stumbled back, catching himself on a nearby dumpster. Sarah chanced a look down at her soaked pussy and winced as she saw the homeless man’s creamy white cum dripping off of her onto the ground. With a grimace, she carefully pulled off her panties and used them to wipe his seed off of her.

Now that the deed was done, she didn't find it as erotically charged as she had when she'd come out here.

Sarah dropped her soiled panties onto the ground, straightened out her dress and quickly walked past Cash on her way back to dinner. She chanced a look over her shoulder and saw the man pick up her panties and shove them in his pocket. Then he looked back at her with those same eyes that seemed to hold a sliver of clarity.

"FERTILE," He barked at her as she exited the alley and hurried back into the restaurant. The hostess gave her a quizzical look, and Sarah quickly brushed past her and ducked into the bathroom and put herself back together as best she could.

Thankfully, she hadn't been gone so long that she'd raised any suspicions with her mom. When she returned to the table, her mother asked if everything was alright.

"Everything's fine, Mom," Sarah said as the waiter arrived with their food. Sarah sat down daintily in front of her plate. When the waiter left, her mother's nose wrinkled, and she said, "This food stinks. It smells like it was made in that alleyway. What the hell?"

Sarah's face flushed, and she hated the idea that some part of that man was still with her. His cum was probably embedded deep in the pores of her pussy lips, but she hadn't considered that his scent would linger on her.

"Maybe the kitchen vents out into the alley," Sarah offered. Renee still looked disgusted and refused to eat.

"I can't wait to go home tomorrow," Renee said to herself.

After her excursion in the alley, Sarah's stomach was ready to eat. She reached for her fork and froze. She'd been so worried about hurrying back to her mom so her time with that disgusting man wouldn't be discovered that she never actually went to the washroom. She hadn't washed her hands. The grime of that man was still embedded on her hand. As was an opaque streak on the back of her hand that could only be one thing.

Sarah looked up at her mom, who was tentatively poking at her food, still put off by the smell. It wasn't the smell of the restaurant or the food she was picking up on, but the stench that Sarah carried in with her. The evidence of what she had done.

Sarah carefully rubbed the opaque evidence into her skin with her other hand. Every instinct in her told her to get up and wash her hands. But her mom thought she had just returned from there. An extended trip to the washroom.

Her stomach rumbled, and she made a decision. She grasped her fork and dug into her food, despite the scent of her hand.

The sun was high in the sky as Lester steered his SUV down the highway. He was being exceedingly careful to stay several car lengths back from Sarah's vehicle. She probably wouldn't notice him, but he didn't want to be on her radar either.

He hadn't so much as said goodbye when Sarah and her mother left the apartment. But he was ready, watching the camera with his keys in hand. He had several reasons to follow them home.

The least of which was the hospital. He needed to wrap things up there. With Sarah no longer employed there, he had no incentive to continue the ruse. He'd see what else he could milk out of the place before running off into the night.

Sarah's car took the exit to Middleton. Lester slowed his vehicle and breathed a sigh of relief as a few other cars exited as well. He slid his car onto the off-ramp and kept his eyes on the Williams' vehicle.

Sarah took a left - the opposite direction from the way to her home. Lester smiled. He followed, making sure he was at least four car lengths behind them when no vehicle was between them. When Sarah's car pulled off onto a side street, Lester slowed to a crawl, making sure to keep his distance before following.

He stayed a block back until the car pulled into a driveway. Lester pulled onto the shoulder and killed the engine to watch. Sarah and her mother got out and went to the back of the vehicle, where they pulled out Renne's suitcase. Lester licked his lips and took out his cell phone. He snapped pics of them, the house, and Renee going to the door where her husband, James, opened it and greeted her with a big hug and a quick kiss. Sarah exchanged some small talk with her parents before getting in her car and driving away.

Lester drove past the house as the door shut and took a mental image of the house and address to look up later. He turned his attention back to following Sarah and smiled to himself again. A proper plan was only as good as the information on which it was based. Lester usually didn't do field work like this, but found he was enjoying the recon and the possibilities it could open for him.

He followed her car throughout the streets of Middleton until it pulled into the Williams' driveway. Lester killed the engine and watched his corrupted project walk into her own home. As predicted, Dan wasn't home. He'd overheard the fact that he was heading back to Washington on a business trip.

Such unfortunate timing for the cuck husband. When he should be here shoring up his home front, he was called away. Alas. How sad. Lester sat on the street for over an hour, thumbing through his phone, occasionally looking up at the house.

He could just stroll up to the front door and take Sarah. He was tempted to push between her legs and have her curse and scream his name to the empty family house. But Lester knew the value of patience. It had served him well with Sarah so far. She had fallen so far, so fast already.

His phone pinged with emails from the hospital. Several high-priority messages were anything but. Lester rolled his eyes as he read through them, silently cursing himself for ever bothering to get involved with the hospital. He was tempted just to cut and run, but he didn't want to raise any alarms. He'd quit in the next few days and then decide whether he'd burn the place again. Normally, it wouldn't be prudent to ransom the same place twice, especially after the purported upgrades he'd installed himself. But he genuinely hated the people who worked there and wanted them to suffer.

Lester read another email from the CEO, Thornhill and rolled his eyes. It was a company-wide email full of generic, aspirational bullshit that all CEOs nowadays spew. It was a sign of weak men, parroting the talking points of other weak men. Using aphorisms instead of getting shit done.

He opened Discord and read through the messages from his D&D group. They were getting together soon and needed a place to host. Ned's wife had apparently thrown a shit fit after their last session and wouldn't let them host it there anymore. Ned's shop was always a possibility. Lester was tempted to offer his apartment again and see if he could once again push Sarah into situations, but he didn't want any of those little fuckers, especially Eugene, to be able to put their hands on her.

As he looked over the guild World of Warcraft server, a direct message popped up on his sidebar. Lester side-eyed it before clicking on it. It was from someone he hadn't spoken to before.

He opened it and frowned.

UnknownEntity: Hey Dipshit

Lester didn't like that one bit.

Darkspire: Fuck off, Eugene.

UnknownEntity: Wrong. Try again.

Darkspire: I don't really give a shit. Blocked.

UnknownEntiy: The mighty Darkspire is a pussy. Surprise surprise.

Lester stared at the screen and felt his face growing red. He didn't like this on a deep level. He didn't like the idea of some unknown factor coming out of the woodwork and pursuing him. Someone was fucking with him. He mentally ran through the list of his other contacts on Discord when another taunting message came in.

UnknownEntity: How'd you like our little test?

Lester knew the right move was to block this asshole and move on, but the message tugged at him.

Darkspire: What fucking test are you talking about?

UnknownEntity: The one on your network. We're getting close to cracking it.

Lester's eyes narrowed.

Darkspire: Cronos.

UnknownEntity: Winner, winner chicken dinner.

Darkspire: Your team sucks at infiltrating. It's like a bunch of chimps trying to brute force it. I hope you aren't paying them too much.

UnknownEntity: Oh, I am paying them an absurd amount of money. It'll be worth every penny.

Darkspire: All this because I wouldn't send you more videos for you to jerk off to. That's pretty sad.

UnknownEntity: Wrong again.

Lester just stared at the screen and felt a pit form in his stomach. He didn't like this at all. He didn't know who Cronos really was or what his game was, and hadn't taken the time to find out. There were now too many variables he couldn't account for. And he didn't want to play someone else's game. There was no winning to be had.

Darkspire: I don't really care.

UnknownEntity: You should.

Darkspire: Yeah? And why's that?

UnknownEntity: Let's just say that you've built something special with your little network of buyers and contacts. Interested parties want to acquire it.

Interested Parties? What the fuck does that mean? Lester thought. He'd heard enough. He blocked 'UnknownEntity' and moved to restrict the setting on his server, banning new membership and removing the last 100 people who'd joined. UnknownEntity was among them. Lester wondered just how many others were there to fuck with him that he didn't know about. He made a note to comb through membership and cull anyone who hadn't yet purchased or had said they would potentially purchase.

Movement out of the corner of his eye brought his attention back to the street in front of him. Sarah was leaving and heading toward her car. Lester reluctantly put his phone away. In the back of his mind, he was aware that it was the wrong move and he should focus on the Cronos' threat, but he couldn't let an opportunity like this go to waste.

Sarah got into her car, and Lester glanced at his clock. It was probably pick-up time at the girls' school. Lester punched in the address and saw it was a fifteen-minute drive. That gave him a little over half an hour if he factored in traffic and potential pick-up delays at the school. Sarah backed her car out of the driveway and sped off in the direction opposite his car. Once her vehicle turned out of sight, Lester pulled into the Williams' driveway and headed up to their front door.

Lester whistled the Imperial March from Star Wars as he fished his key ring out of his pocket and quickly found his copy of the Williams' key. Dan had done a thorough job of changing the locks, but Lester had ample opportunities working and being with Sarah to copy it.

He let himself into their home and closed the door behind him. He unslung his backpack and dug into it, finding the small box he was looking for. He marched up the stairs and made his way into the Williams' ensuite bathroom. Under the sink, he found the open box identical to the one in his hand and rifled through it. He frowned when he saw only a single, half-used blister pack left. With a sigh, Lester made the changes to his own and swapped it out. His watch told him he'd only been in there five minutes.

He made a swift retreat back to his car and threw his bag on the passenger seat. He took out a red pen and marked the one he'd just taken so he wouldn't mix it up with the others in the bag.

With a quick look over his shoulder, he backed out onto the street. There wasn't another car in sight. He doubted any of the neighbors had seen him. If they had, he'd just say he wanted to surprise Mrs. Williams, but she hadn't been home.

Lester drove off towards the hospital to set his final affairs there in motion.

The dreadful PowerPoint slide clicked on, and Lester felt the familiar feeling of wanting to smash his forehead against the meeting table. Richard had insisted that he attend this presentation with an outside vendor. Lester had declined, but the aggravating man had then insisted. It angered Lester that this vendor was from an IT security firm and that Richard had brought them in without consulting him, his IT director.

It was petty and stupid. Lester didn't give a shit about the hospital's security. But he did hate being undermined, especially by someone as small as Richard was. Lester didn't like the man and had his own score to settle with him because of what he'd said to Sarah. Bringing in an outside vendor, in Lester's domain of expertise, without consulting him was tantamount to a declaration of war.

Lester tapped the table and looked around at the sycophants assembled around the table. Mary from HR and all the other department heads that Lester hadn't bothered to learn the names of. He had to at least entertain this pitch; he didn't want to seem too disinterested, then quit and have the hospital suffer another attack. It would look too suspicious, and Lester realized that he now desperately needed not look like a guilty party. The hospital had security cameras with footage of him. He'd had to take a picture for his ID badge. Maybe the hospital had never been worth the squeeze.

The tall, lanky man with stupid glasses stood at the front of the room, pitching his company's enterprise-level security system. Lester couldn't help the yawn that loudly escaped his mouth. It was all so basic, jargon-y, and filled with buzzwords meant to entice overpaid and hapless C-Suite executives. And it seemed to be working.

Lester covertly pulled out his phone under the table and texted Sarah to ask what her plans for later were. While Dan was away, Lester was going to play. And he would bring Sarah down to another new level, but tonight would take her there in a different way.

"Lester," Richard said. Lester snapped his head up to look at the old man sitting at the head of the conference room table.

“Yeah?” Lester asked, Richard, looking on expectantly.

Richard scowled. Lester wanted to hurt him. “Irving,” Richard said, gesturing to the lanky man, “...asked you a question.”

Lester sighed and turned his full attention to the awkward, angular man. His phone buzzed in his pocket, and he wanted to see how hard Sarah was going to play the ‘resist Lester’ game tonight. Lester made a point of not apologizing for his distraction.

“I was just asking,” Irving said, “About your security protocols. How your network infrastructure is built and what kind of redundancies you have in place. To put an accurate quote together, I’d need to know whether you can use out-of-the-box or if you’d require any custom integrations from us.”

“We’d do the custom integrations ourselves. Look, I’ve seen every kind of network screwup you can imagine. I clean up other people’s disasters for fun. Honestly, half the time I’m the one telling them what the threat actors are going to do before they actually do it.” Lester smirked and cast a glance at Richard.

If this asshole thinks he can just bring someone in and do this job any better, he has another thing coming.

“That’s the problem with your off-the-shelf software. By the time you’ve installed it here, it’ll already be six months out of date. And every system is different. You can’t possibly cover all of a complex system’s weak points. You can’t really understand a system unless you get inside its head. Or make it show you its pressure points.” Lester continued, letting the anger flow through him as Darth Vader might.

“Look, I’ve been running IT long enough to know the difference between someone who thinks they understand security and someone who actually does understand security. Spoiler: most people are deluded. Your system sounds lovely on paper, but until we actually test it and attack it, we won’t be installing it here.”

“I assure you,” Irving said, “We test our software and servers daily for exploits, using the latest methods. We have a team that –”

“You have a white-hat team that works in a nice cozy office doing penetration testing and attacks on its own software? I don’t think that’s sufficient for testing any serious system.”

“Well, then what would you suggest, Mr. Marshall?”

“What would I suggest?” He leaned forward, elbows on his knees. This child didn’t know what he was talking about and needed someone to educate him. “Real attackers don’t sit in ergonomic chairs with HR-approved coffee mugs. They’re not following a checklist item by item.”

He flicked his fingers dismissively.

“They’re hungry. Creative. Unbound. They don’t think like testers—they think like... predators. They don’t care about compliance, or procedure, or whether their VPN cuts out in the middle of a meeting.”

Something passed over Irving’s face that Lester didn’t quite fathom. An understanding of some kind. Lester chalked it up to this kid finally being in front of someone who knew what they were talking about.

“A system isn’t truly tested until someone tries to break it who has no reason not to.”

Irving frowned. “So... what? We hire criminals?”

Marshall smiled, slow and self-satisfied, as if Irving had said something adorably naive.

“No. Not criminals.”

Lester paused for dramatic effect.

“Outliers.”

He settled back, arms crossed, his smile turning sharper.

“People who can’t help thinking sideways. People who poke at a system not because they’re told to, but because they’re curious. Unsupervised curiosity, you understand, is the most powerful penetration test there is.”

Irving hesitated. “And where would we find people like that?”

Lester shrugged lightly, as if it were obvious.

“You don’t find them. They find you.”

He paused, then said, “If your defenses can’t withstand someone who tests your perimeter at... let’s say... two in the morning, on a whim, anonymously, and purely for sport?”

He lifted a brow.

“Then your system isn’t secure. It’s just unchallenged.”

Lester shot Richard an irritated look as his phone buzzed in his pocket again. Sarah had messaged him again. She wanted his cock, and he was going to take her hard and forget all about this stupid hospital.

“Look,” Lester said, standing and checking his watch, “I have another meeting to run to. I’d be happy to look over your proposal or send you whatever you need to make a quote. Just send me whatever it is. I’ll look it over when things are quiet.”

Maybe it would be worthwhile for Lester to test their software out. If he could find an easy exploit, he could attack all of their customers. “Oh, and can you provide us with some references from other companies that use your software? They don’t need to be hospitals either.”

Lester clasped Richard on the shoulder as he walked past him before heading out the door.

“The way Tricia made it sound,” Dan said as he poked at the food on his tray. Sentinel Security had its own cafeteria with mostly comped stuff. It was actually a lot nicer than any of the school cafeterias Dan had ever visited. There seemed to be actual professionally trained chefs in the kitchen instead of being run by old lunch ladies.

Carlos had explained to him that this was not only to increase morale but also to keep all employees on-site. Less opportunities for other entities to compromise employees. Dan watched his ‘coworker’ shovel his baked beans into his mouth and continue, “It sounds like there’s going to be more work coming my way in the near future. I foresee myself getting a lot busier with new projects here.”

“There’s a lot going on,” Carlos said between spoonfuls of mashed potatoes. “And you know—” he said, stabbing his fork and pointing it at Dan, “It would be a LOT easier to talk to you if you were fully on board here. I’m not just talking about additional hours, but on the for real payroll. It’s exhausting dancing around stuff that I can talk to another employee about.”

“Sounds rough,” Dan smiled, “Poor you.”

“Heh,” Carlos chuckled, “Any word on something like that happening? Getting offered a full-time spot?”

“Nada. But Tricia has hinted at it. Something about a lot of internal people wanting my services,” Dan said.

“Be careful with that one. She’s trouble,” Carlos said. “But she’s probably not wrong. A lot of projects get delayed by environmental issues, and you have a reputation for expediting them. Even I’ve heard that, and it’s not even something that concerns my department.”

“Well, put in a good word for me then,” Dan smiled, enjoying the conversation. It was nice to talk about something other than Lester and his marital troubles at home. Being in Washington was a nice escape from everything going on back in Illinois.

“Already have, buddy,” Carlos winked and gave him a thumbs up. “I can’t promise anything, but I think it’s just a matter of timing and budgets. More ‘when’ than ‘if.’”

“Well, it’d be nice if it came sooner rather than later,” Dan said absently.

“Yeah? What’s going on? Need some moola?” Carlos said.

“Everyone can always use more cash,” Dan replied, not wanting to give any insight into his financial situation.

“Well, when you do get in, then you can really start to double dip,” Carlos was now shoving more lukewarm baked beans into his mouth.

“What do you mean? Double dip?” Dan leaned forward.

“We’ve got something called a bounty program,” Carlos said. “Say I’m looking into something specific for one of the three-letter agencies. Super narrow scope, right? But what if, in my searching, I come across a few other bad guys or illegalities? The scope says that’s not part of what I was asked to do, so I don’t need to report everything I see. But Sentinel pays for leads like that. So I could send those kinds of things into our bounty program and get a little kickback for myself. The company brings the info to one of our illustrious ‘clients’ and then maybe they ask us to dig more into it, creating more billable hours. It’s a win-win-win.”

“That’s really interesting,” Dan said. The phrase was the same Lester had used to describe their ‘throuple.’ But now he found his mind immediately turning to his suspicions that Lester was responsible for the ransomware attacks on the hospital and

Jesse's workplace. He didn't have any proof, just his strong suspicions. "What kind of crimes can you report to the program? Violent crimes? Cyber crimes?"

Dan waited for Carlos to finish chewing, trying not to lean out of his chair.

"Anything," Carlos said. "The cyber crimes area is my specialty, so I always like pitching those to the bounty program. But yeah, we could send pretty well any crime over to the clients. It's up to them if there's an appetite for it."

"I assume the bar would be pretty high to submit something, right? You'd need at least some evidence to get their attention." Dan said, casually batting at his food but wholly invested in where the conversation seemed to be going.

"Most of the time, yeah. Those guys are stretched thin, too and don't want to go on any wild, good chases. But if they feel like there's something there, they can always kick it over to us to do a quick background and see if it's worth pursuing." Carlos said.

"Sometimes people come across something that looks fishy, but they don't want to kick it into the bounty program in case it's nothing. We have an anonymous tip line for employees. So people are still encouraged to report crime, but they just leave their name off it and don't make the bounty."

"Huh, so if I came across something suspicious but didn't have much to go on, I could call that tip line?" Dan asked.

"Pretty much," Carlos said, "It's not perfect, but it's what we got."

Back in his little cubicle tucked away in the corner with other contractors, Dan's mind kept mulling over his conversation with Carlos. Was Lester really responsible for the ransomware attacks? Could this be his ticket to a Lester-free life? He didn't know how long it took for things to work their way through the bounty program or for an actual government team with authority to investigate or to contract it back to Sentinel, but for the first time in a long time, he felt a sliver of hope.

He just needed some runway. If something happened to Lester tomorrow, financially, he didn't know what that would look like for them. If things picked up with Sentinel and Sarah got a job, they might be okay. With Lester out of the picture, how would things shake out with Sarah? Would they be okay? Could they find their way back to each other like it had been before?

He didn't like thinking about the future and how far the present was from how they used to be. It just made him sad and numb.

Dan opened the Discord app on his phone and scrolled through the gaming server. He saw Lester's friend Ned asking about setting up another session of Dungeons and Dragons. His blood spiked when he saw Lester had replied within the last couple of hours. Dan opened every channel and scrolled through months-old conversations, looking for anything that even hinted at something incriminating he could bring to the anonymous tip line.

"Well, fancy meeting you here," the sound of the sultry voice snapped him out of his obsessive scrolling. Dan wasn't sure how long he'd been head down in his phone, but it wasn't something he liked to do, or be caught doing, especially not in the workplace.

Dan's eyes shot up to the entrance of his cubicle, and he gulped. Trouble was at his door. Tricia was standing there, looking at Dan like a cat toying with a mouse. And she looked good doing it. Black heels, toned slender legs ending and a snug pencil skirt that was just the appropriate length for a workplace. The pencil skirt hugged her tight and accentuated her natural curves, drawing the eye up to her top, where her bust was prominent yet professional and in full display. Her blonde hair curled around to her breasts, framing her attractive face with that mischievous smile that seemed to hint at an unspoken promise of wild nights.

Dan steadied his breathing and refocused his eyes on his laptop, "It is my little cubicle."

"Mhm, that's exactly what I came to talk to you about," Tricia said, and without invitation moved into Dan's cubicle. She didn't sit in the empty chair tucked on the back wall. She sat herself directly on the edge of his desk, next to his laptop, giving Dan an unobstructed view of her tanned legs outside his peripheral vision.

He kept his eyes focused on his computer, but he didn't fail to notice her uncross and recross her legs. She gently pushed on the arm of his chair with her foot and spun him to face her.

"This little cubicle doesn't suit you," Tricia said, leaning forward. Dan looked up at her, his eyes automatically going to the tops of her breasts on display. When he corrected it and looked up at her face, there was a knowing smile there that he'd been caught.

"A man like you," Tricia said, her foot still playing with his chair, spinning him slightly back and forth, "...needs something bigger Don't you think? When I think of you, I don't think something like this little cubicle will do."

Dan was fidgeting with the wedding ring. Tricia noticed. Her smile grew wider, more predatory.

“Oh?” Dan said, “How often are you thinking about me?”

Tricia’s smile turned predatory, and she said, “More than you would probably think or would be appropriate to discuss in the workplace.”

“Careful,” Dan said, “That almost sounds borderline inappropriate.”

“Oh, it definitely was,” Tricia said, “‘Borderline,’ that’s it. Not something that would get me in trouble with HR. Maybe just a light spanking. Too bad you don’t work in HR, hmm?”

Dan just chuckled, “You’re bad.”

“I know,” Tricia said with a gleam in her eyes, “But I wasn’t kidding about your bigger... office.”

“What do you mean?” Dan asked.

Tricia nonchalantly looked at her nails and said, “Oh, I was just complaining to some of the directors about how much walking I have to do to come down and see you to discuss our projects. You know, I think they like to keep me around upstairs and don’t like to see me slum it down here.”

She put her hand back on her knee and looked at him.

“Anyways, they know how many projects you’re lined up to work on, and it only took a tiny bit of convincing that things would be more productive if you joined us upstairs. There was some pushback about our policy with contractors, but in the end, they’re willing to bend that little rule.”

“Isn’t that the best?” Tricia’s eyes looked over Dan’s body and pointedly paused at his crotch, “Bending the rules?”

Dan didn’t know what to say, but the message she was sending him was crystal clear. He felt himself begin to stiffen and prayed her gaze wouldn’t be focused enough to notice.

“Why don’t you get your things?” Tricia said and ran her fingers slowly over his laptop, shutting the screen. “And come upstairs with me.”

She let the words linger, and Dan felt his mouth go dry. Finally, he managed to choke out, “I don’t have a choice, do I?”

“Not if you want to keep the directors happy. It’s a done deal now. They bent the rules for you, remember? You can’t back out now. Besides, there’s a lot of work for you coming down the pipeline. I’m going to keep you very, very busy.”

Tricia pushed off his desk and, for a few seconds, stood far too close to Dan. Then she slowly turned and walked out of his cubicle as his eyes found their way to her supple, shifting ass. She looked over her shoulder and flashed him a knowing smile, then asked, “Coming?”

She walked away, and Dan grabbed a few of his things and followed her upstairs. After an elevator ride where Tricia effectively used silence to ratchet up the sexual tension, she led him out onto the floor where a lot of his contacts sat. She led him deep into the floor, and they stopped at an inner office.

“This is you,” Tricia said, gesturing to the empty office with a sliding door. It was nice. Nicer than what Dan had with Walt or with his previous employer. There was no window, but it felt nice that people were going to bat for him.

“I’ll let you settle in,” Tricia said, “I’m right down the hall, if you need anything. Anything at all. Don’t be a stranger, neighbor.”

For the second time that day, Tricia walked away from Dan with a seductive movement of her hips. Dan shook his head as he watched her go and stepped into his new office, letting a bit of tension escape from his shoulders.

Irving had barely gotten into his rented car when Marcus called him.

“What’s the verdict?” Marcus’s stern voice said through the speaker. Irving suppressed a sigh at the demanding executive, knowing full well that the man held the fate of his career and future in his hands. Irving had come across some obfuscated details of the man’s special projects. He didn’t know everything, but he knew that the Lincoln Group was into some things that neither the public nor most employees were aware of. Things that skirted normal morals and ethics.

There was a project regarding a self-sustaining community, and some of the deeper files on it made Irving shudder at the scale of ambition and potential implications of such a project.

“Irving,” Marcus repeated with no patience in his voice, “Is he our guy or what?”

“I had to pressure the CEO even to get Lester Marshall to attend that meeting. And he was disinterested and refused to engage for the most part,” Irving said.

“Irving,” Marcus said, and Irving could feel the man’s narrowed eyes through the phone, “I’m not interested in how the meeting went. Is he our guy?”

“I think so,” Irving said.

“Explain,” Marcus said.

“Like I said. He didn’t engage for most of the meeting. But I managed to bait him out,” Irving injected some steel into his voice. “And the guy couldn’t help but latch on to it. Almost waxing poetically about how good he is and talking about people being able to hack into systems in a wistful, romantic, nostalgic way. Factoring in the connections to us, it seems more and more likely he’s who we’re looking for.”

“Good,” Marcus said, “Good. That’s good, Irving. I look forward to reading your full report on the meeting.”

“My phone recorded the entire conversation. I was going to use it to help make notes. But I could send you the audio file if you want to listen to it,” Irving quickly said.

“I don’t have the time. Nor do I want to sit through a manufactured sales pitch. The transcript with his parts highlighted will be sufficient,” Marcus said.

“Okay. I can do that,” Irving held his hands on the keys, ready to start the ignition the moment the conversation was over. “What now?”

“Now we look into the couple. And keep digging into Mr. Marshall,” Marcus said.

“How do you want me to proceed, sir?” Irving asked.

“Your part is done at least for now. You can’t make that same pitch to Sentinel Securities; they’ll see right through it. Besides, you’d never get in the door, and we don’t want to attract their attention. We could manage it, but it’s still something I’d rather not incur. I’ll put another team on them, and we’ll see what shakes out,” Marcus said.

“Okay, that makes sense, I think that –”

Irving paused as the dial tone emanated from his phone, signalling that Marcus had terminated the call. Irving was about to throw out a curse at his boss, but bit his tongue, knowing full well that kind of monitoring and recording technology the company had developed. And he was on a company phone, after all.

He turned over the ignition and silently gritted his teeth as he drove out of the backwater town of Middleton towards O'Hare Airport. He couldn't wait to get home.

Sarah eased her car into the empty parking space up the street from her house. The sun had set, and the street was dark. She hated lying to her parents, but she couldn't have Lester pick her up for their date at the door. As far as her parents knew, Lester was a fixture who remained in Chicago. They didn't need to know about his frequent trips to their town and his connection to the hospital. It was a convoluted mess; she'd rather not get into it with them.

So there she sat, in her car under a busted streetlight, waiting for her husband's roommate to pick her up. That description wasn't entirely accurate. It hadn't been accurate for a long time. Lester was more than just Dan's roommate. She didn't like putting a label on it. It made it too real. But what was to her? Her lover? They were apparently in a throuple now, so did that make him her boyfriend? Her partner? Legally, he wasn't her husband, though he certainly enjoyed performing husband type duties on her.

Sarah fidgeted in her seat and checked her phone. Lester's last message was a simple 'On my way.'

He knew not to pick her up in her driveway. She checked her message history with Dan and sighed at the lack of back-and-forth. Things were tense. Their conversations looked clinical. He let her know he landed in Washington. Then a long time passed until he was on his way back. He hadn't said whether he'd landed yet or not. Sarah wasn't sure if he'd just forgotten or if he'd deliberately chosen not to update her.

He'd said nothing about being hung up on after her encounter in the laundry room. He never even brought it up. Like it never happened. Usually, he might ask for details or seek some relief from her. Agonize over it, which would turn her on and let them get off together—a shared experience. But now, his silence felt deafening.

She knew she wasn't a saint in their evolving commitment. But she also felt like Dan was being unreasonable and that a lot of this situation was completely his fault. She shamefully took full blame for what had happened at the hospital, but first he set them on this course and then tried to slut-shame her into feeling bad about enjoying herself. If it weren't for her relationship or whatever it was she had with Lester, they wouldn't have this lifeline right now. And Dan hated that part too.

Putting her phone away, Sarah closed her eyes and laid her head back on the headrest. Lester hadn't answered when she'd asked what their 'date' would entail, but her body was reflexively burning with anticipation, and she felt a soft dampness between her legs. The feeling was not unpleasant.

A few minutes later, headlights streamed into her vision, forcing her to raise a hand to block the glare and avert her eyes. The familiar large black SUV slowed and pulled up beside her. Its tinted driver's side window rolled down, and Lester's fat face was revealed with a shit-eating grin on it. Without getting out, Sarah rolled her own window down. Before she could say anything, Lester grinned and said, "How much?"

Sarah stared daggers at him and rolled her eyes before getting out of her car and locking it. Without another word to Lester, she walked around to the passenger side of his SUV and got in.

"You sure know how to make a girl feel special," Sarah said as she clipped in her seatbelt.

"Oh, sweetheart, that's not how I make a girl feel special," Lester chuckled, then licked his lips and flicked his tongue out rapidly at her while stroking his crotch.

"You're so gross," Sarah said, looking out her window. The car started forward and cruised down her quiet street.

"You love it," Lester said as he drove, "You love letting a gross guy like me between those slender little legs and making you cum harder than you ever have in your life. Admit it."

Sarah didn't dignify that with a response and just stared out the window.

"Fine. Fine. Be like. Play hard to get. We both know how this works. You pretend like you're better than me. I wear you down. By the end of the night, you're begging for my cock and cumming your brains out. It's fine. This is all foreplay for us anyway."

"Where are we going?" Sarah asked.

"All business tonight, huh?" Lester asked, "I can do that. Let's get down to business. I'm thinking you may have some unresolved issues with the people at the hospital, and I can certainly help with those. But first we need to stock that fridge of yours, don't we?"

“What are you talking about, Lester? I don’t want to go anywhere near the hospital,” Sarah sighed, feeling the cold spike of anxiety and anger boiling up inside her. Just the thought of how poorly she had been treated at the end enraged her. Mary’s condescending face. Richard’s blatant use of her. She realized her nails were digging into the SUV’s leather handrests, and she forced herself to relax and breathe.

“We’re not going to the hospital,” Lester said, but sarcastically added, “Besides, I can’t be seen escorting a fired employee onto the company’s premises. I’d be let go myself.”

“You really like working there?”

“Not one bit,” Lester said and pulled into an Aldi’s parking lot.

“Why did you ever start then?” Sarah asked.

“To help you, obviously. Now that they fired you, I don’t have many reasons to stick around. I’ll be leaving soon.” Lester said.

“Don’t...” Sarah started, as she stared up at the happy couple walking into the front of the store together, hand in hand. Her mind went to the first time she’d gone grocery shopping with Dan after they’d moved into their first apartment together. She’d been so happy then. How had she ever gotten to where she was now? “You don’t have to quit because of me.”

Lester gave her a flat look, “I don’t need their measly salary. And it’s not fun without you around.”

Lester opened his door and got out. Sarah was about to follow suit when Lester hurriedly shuffled in front of the car, darting towards her door. He opened it and bowed with an uncharacteristic flourish that made her look around to see if anyone had noticed.

“What are you doing?” Sarah hissed, eyes darting around.

“Opening the door for milady,” Lester answered, still bowing.

“Stop that, it’s weird,” Sarah said.

Lester let the door hang open and stood back up, “I guess chivalry is dead then.”

She didn’t want to be seen out in public with this man. Chicago was one thing, but here in Middleton, the chance of her running into someone who knew her was much higher.

This was the Aldi's where she usually shopped. She'd rather avoid it tonight, but she had a prescription to pick up.

Against her better judgment, Sarah got out of the car and headed inside with Lester. He tried to hold her hand, but Sarah pulled hers back.

"What?" Lester said.

"Not right now. I don't want to run into someone I know," Sarah said.

"Oh, you're not too good to take my money, but you're too good to hold my hand? I thought we were in a relationship together. You, me, and the big pussycat, or is that only behind closed doors?" Lester said.

Sarah sighed, "You know how it is, Lester. It's not something I want to advertise. Especially here in town."

"Sure, whatever," Lester huffed and grabbed a cart.

Sarah's mind drifted to their fridge at home, and the items and dishes her girls liked. She started to plan her route through the grocery store, then remembered her parents were at home waiting for her return.

"How, um, long are we going to be tonight?" Sarah asked. Lester gave her a confused look.

"I don't have a strick itinerary, why?" Lester said.

"Just..." Sarah started thinking of Lester's SUV backed up in the driveway and unloading groceries with her parents and Lester side by side. The questions that would raise, "I don't want to pick up anything that will spoil in the car if we are out late."

"We can always just drop everything off at your house after this," Lester smirked.

"No, thank you," Sarah said, resolving to only purchase non-perishables, "Let's head to the aisles then. And thank you, Lester, for doing this. I know you don't have to."

"I like to enjoy a slice of the domestic life every now and then," Lester said. He ran his hand up Sarah's back and rubbed it before dropping it down to cup her jean-clad ass. Sarah shot him a look, and he just chuckled in response.

She rolled her hips and hurried her pace to dislodge his hand.

“What? Can you blame me?” Lester said from behind her, “You just look too damn good not to feel.”

Sarah rolled her eyes. She knew she looked good. She’d dressed and gotten ready for their ‘date’ like she would if she were going out with Dan. But she hadn’t dolled herself up too much. She was wearing her hip-hugging jeans and a tank top with a cropped sweater. Her blonde hair hung down by her breasts in light curls she’d styled in.

Sarah pushed the cart down the aisle and began grabbing items to fill it. Snacks for the kids, boxes of pasta, sauce, and other sundry goods that could feed her family. Lester’s plodding footsteps got closer, and their earlier conversation in the car came back to her, “What did you mean in the car when you talked about helping me with my unresolved issues with the hospital?”

Lester’s eyes gleamed, and Sarah saw something dangerous behind them. He grabbed her hand, stopped her in her tracks and pulled her to him. His hips pressed into hers, and she felt his cock pressing into her thigh.

“Revenge,” Lester said.

“Revenge?” Sarah repeated not completely repulsed by the public contact. Lester’s cock felt quite hard, but not yet at its biggest.

“How’s that sound? Let’s take them down a peg for how they treated you. I have it all planned out. You just need to say yes,” Lester ground his hips against her. Sarah bit her lip, trying not to get lost in his subtle movements.

“Against who?” Sarah asked, pushing past her body’s urge to take control and haul Lester out to the parking lot. “Revenge against who?”

“Tonight, it’ll be that bitch from HR. Mary,” Lester sneered, “She’ll get just a small taste of what’s coming to her. What do you think?”

Sarah bit her lip. She hated that woman. She needed to pay for what she did to Sarah. Sarah felt the guilt, shame and embarrassment of her last day swell inside of her. Then the rage she felt. The idea of revenge. A righteous fury rose inside of her, and before she could fully grasp it she said, “Yes. Let’s do it.”

Lester’s arm encircled her shoulders, “That’s what I wanted to hear. Good girl.”

Then his fat lips were pressed against hers, and Sarah felt her back push up against the boxes of kid cereal. Lester ground his hips into Sarah, positioning his body so his bulging cock was pressed against her pussy. Sarah moaned into the kiss, ready to let it go wherever Lester wanted. What he'd said earlier had been right, that she'd eventually just give in to him.

Lester's tongue parted her lips, and she pulled on his clothes, begging him to press harder into her. She was pinned there, moaning in the cereal and snack aisle, when an awkward cough tore her from her reverie.

Sarah's eyes opened to see the disgusted face of an old woman passing by them, shaking her head as she pushed her cart. Lester turned and saw her, too and started to chuckle. It hadn't been anyone she knew. Sarah stifled her own laugh, and they met each other's eyes, and Sarah felt those butterflies in her stomach. She felt like a teenager getting caught being too handsy with a boyfriend.

"Let's go," Sarah said, taking Lester's hand and moving back to the cart. He smiled at her and stepped up to push it, letting her hand fall. They spent the next twenty minutes driving through the aisles, filling the cart with whatever Sarah wanted. A few times, she would look at something and not put it in the cart, feeling like she was taking advantage of Lester's generosity. But then he would simply grab the item and put it in, saying he was "Taking care of his girl."

Eventually, they reached the pharmacy, and Sarah stepped up to the counter. Lester didn't pry and made himself look busy scanning the snack bags nearby.

"How can I help you?" the pharmacist assistant said.

"I'm picking up a prescription. Sarah Williams," Sarah said.

"Oh, I see it right here. One second," the woman said, moving away. A minute later, she came back holding a white paper bag with Sarah's pills inside.

"Just one second," the woman said and rang it up on the computer, "Huh. That's strange. You have health insurance, right?"

Sarah's stomach dropped. The hospital had swiftly kicked her off its plan. For the first time in her life, she didn't have coverage. "No, uh, not right now. I'm between jobs."

"Okay then," the assistant said. Sarah tried not to feel judged, but couldn't help it. She felt like a second-class citizen, "Without coverage that comes to one hundred and ten and fifty-six cents."

Sarah's stomach tightened again, and she fumbled in her purse looking for her wallet. Lester was by her side in a flash, pulling out his wallet and thumbing through a thick stack of bills. The woman's eyes widened at the amount Lester carried, and Sarah couldn't help but be taken aback, too. Lester took out several bills and handed them over to the dumbstruck woman. She gave him a confused look.

"She's my wife," Lester said. The assistant looked back and forth between them, like she was trying to figure out the logistics of how they worked together. Lester just gave her a knowing wink, took the prescription bag, and tossed it into the cart.

Sarah followed him as they headed towards the front of the store to check out.

"Those are your birth control, right?" Lester asked.

"Uh, yeah," Sarah said.

"It's not my business. Obviously," Lester started, "But unless you plan on whoring it up for a bunch of new guys, I don't think you really need those. I'm happy to keep paying for them, but it just feels like a waste of money since Dan and I are both fixed."

Sarah's stomach turned, and the guilt washed over her again. She had decided to get on them shortly after she'd had sex with Lester for the first time. It seemed like a good decision when she'd made it. But things had changed since then. She'd changed since then. It felt wrong to make Lester pay for something they didn't really need.

"I'll think about it," Sarah said as they loaded their groceries onto the conveyor belt. Lester again paid with cash. "Where are we going now? How are we...." She looked around, not wanting to talk about Mary or revenge out loud, "going to do it?"

Lester smirked, "You don't have to worry about a thing, I already set it in motion."

Lester drove them down a dark street Sarah didn't recognize. Lester drove past a house with a sign out front that said 'For Immediate Possession'. He went up the block, turned around, killed his headlights, and drove back to the house. It was a brick ranch with a carport next to it. The grass was overgrown, and it looked like it was on the verge of being abandoned. Lester backed the car into the driveway, under the carport and killed his engine.

"Lester, what are we doing here? Where are we? Whose house is this?" Sarah asked, looking around.

“The house belongs to one Mr. Mahurin, who moved to Jacksonville, Florida, a few months ago. He hasn’t been able to sell the place. The agent showed me around earlier today,” Lester said. He reached past Sarah into the glove box and pulled out a bag of Cheetos.

Sarah just stared at him as he opened it and started munching.

“And?” Sarah asked.

“And what?” Lester put a handful of Cheetos in his mouth, and the orange dust drifted down onto his shirt.

“And what are we doing here? Are you buying the place?” Sarah said.

“This piece of shit?” Lester chuckled, “No way. It’d be a horrible investment in this economy. I’d rather keep my assets liquid. This place is a money pit, I’d just be throwing good money after bad.”

“Lester, did you take me to a derelict building for our date? Is this your idea of showing a girl a good time?” Sarah asked.

“I already answered this. You know how I show a girl a good time,” Lester said and patted his inner thigh. Sarah followed his hand as he raised it from his lap and pointed to the house across the street.

“That’s why we’re here,” Lester said, “That’s Mary’s house. She lives alone.”

“How do you know where she lives?” Sarah said as she squinted and looked at Mary’s house. It was a cute two-story that she’d obviously taken good care of.

“I’m the head of the IT department, Sarah. Have you already forgotten all the information we have access to? It was just a quick search.”

“You know that’s breaking hospital policy, right?” Sarah said, sterner than she’d meant to.

Lester gave her a flat look, “At this point, I think we’re both old pros at breaking hospital policy, don’t you?”

Sarah rolled her eyes, “So what are we doing watching Mary’s house? Are we going to put on ski masks and bash in her knees when she leaves? I’m not sure I’m comfortable with violence like that.”

“Pssh,” Lester said, looking at the time on his phone. “Just watch.”

A few minutes later, a disgruntled-looking man in dirty clothes walked up to the house. He looked over his shoulder like he thought he was being watched. Sarah saw his wild eyes and unkempt beard.

“Who’s that?” Sarah asked.

“Customer number one,” Lester said with a wry grin, “Come on, let’s get in the back and get comfortable.”

Lester silently opened his door, got out, opened the back door and got in. Sarah didn’t know what was going on, but she pushed herself between the seats and sat on the backseat with Lester. He immediately put his arm around her and got suggestively close to her.

The man across the street went up to the doorbell and rang it. He scratched his neck like a heroin addict, and Sarah concluded he almost certainly was one. Mary answered the door and looked disturbed, taken aback by the sight of the man. They talked, and both of them grew increasingly agitated, with the man beginning to yell. Mary slammed the door closed, and the man started banging on it.

“Lester. What the fuck did you do?” Sarah asked. Her voice was heavy with guilt, revulsion and a non-subtle amount of vindictive pleasure.

“Oh, I just put an ad on Craigslist, marketplace and a few other sites that I, ‘Mary,’ was looking to sell my extra diabetic test strips,” Lester said and leaned forward to grab his bag of Cheetos. He popped some into his mouth, then held one out to Sarah with his orange-encrusted finger. Sarah looked at it for a second before taking it and munching on it.

“It’s illegal to resell government-paid strips,” Sarah muttered, her mind racing to the few stories she’d heard while working at the hospital.

“Good thing we aren’t actually selling anything,” Lester said with a chuckle. He put the bag down on the seat next to him and turned to Sarah with predatory eyes. “We’re just going to sit here and watch as Mary has a terrible night as a dozen or so low-lives show up looking to make a quick buck flipping the strips.”

“Lester....that’s...” Sarah started but stopped herself as Lester gently tugged at the bottom of her sweater. Sarah eagerly let him take it off her, letting his eyes feast on the bounty contained in her plunging black tank top.

The man on Mary's porch yelled a string of profanities at her now closed door, then he kicked it hard. He started moving around the side of the house, trying to look into her windows. Sarah smiled, knowing Mary was in there, probably scared and helpless. That woman took joy in putting Sarah in a similar situation, toying with her before letting her go. Now she was getting a small taste of her own medicine.

Lester's skilled mouth danced on Sarah's bare shoulder, causing her eyes to close, and a soft moan escaped her lips. She felt his bloated gut pressing into her side and knew that just a few inches below that, immense pleasure grew awaiting her.

Lester's tongue made circles over Sarah's collarbone, and she swore she could feel the residue of his Cheetos being marked on her skin. At that moment, she really didn't care. His hand slowly traced up from her hip to her stomach until it finally lightly fell over her breast. Sarah sucked in a breath at his touch.

Slowly, the pressure of his hand began to increase as he roughly grabbed her. His tongue traced up her neck, leaving goosebumps in its wake. She stiffened and moaned as his tongue circled around the side of her neck and settled in one of her most sensitive areas. Sarah's own hand rose up and gently caressed the top of her chest, teasingly adding to Lester's manipulation of her body.

A soft moan escaped Sarah's throat as she turned her head towards Lester's. His probing tongue was working its way up her neck and under her jaw. His rough mauling of her breast had her squirming in her seat. She couldn't wait for him any longer. His slow teasing was driving her insane. She reached for him, grabbing his fat melon of a face and pulling his face to her. Her lips hungrily mashed against his, and she pushed her tongue into his mouth, tasting him and his indulgent powder tinged snack.

Lester's Cheeto-encrusted tongue battled against hers, swirling and pressing into it. She turned fully towards him, pressing her body against his, pushing herself harder into his rough palm. Sarah moaned as Lester's thumb and pointer finger pinched her nipple, sending her body into complete overdrive. As Lester's fat tongue seemed to be giving her a free dental exam, Lester pulled back, slipping it out of her mouth.

Sarah opened her eyes, confused and disappointed. Lester's ugly features were turned up in a smirk. He gently pressed his thumb to her chin and turned her head towards the windshield. "Look," he said.

Sarah reluctantly followed his suggestion and looked out the window at Mary's house across the street. At first, she didn't see anything, just the dark street and her porchlight illuminating her house. Then she saw a shadowy figure work its way up the sidewalk and cut across the lawn. This wasn't the same man she'd seen before. He was taller, leaner, and dark-skinned. He looked like he'd lived a rough life, and Sarah couldn't help but think of her encounter that morning with Cash, the homeless man.

She shivered at the thought and decided she'd keep that secret to herself. The man walked up to the door and knocked on it. Lester undid the top button on her jeans. She went to look at him, but he just turned her head back towards the street.

"Leep watching," Lester said and slowly unzipped her jeans. He yanked on them, and Sarah lifted her ass as Lester tried to tug them off over her supple booty. When the jeans were just partway down her upper thigh, Lester abandoned the effort and shoved his greasy, hairy hands into the front of her panties.

Sarah closed her eyes as his brutish fingers traced down her slit.

"Open your eyes," Lester commanded in her ear. Sarah did so, as Mary peeked out a window at her porch. The man saw her and gestured wildly to her. Mary quickly closed the blind, and the man started pounding on her window.

Sarah was about to ask about the first man when Lester's fat finger pushed into her wet entrance. Her head lolled back onto the headrest as his digit pushed further in. He made a 'come here' motion with his finger, and the tip of it pressed oh so agonizingly against her G-Spot.

"Uhh," Sarah moaned into the empty car.

Lester's mouth was nibbling on her earlobe, "I wonder what Mary is thinking right now. She's probably pretty freaked out. A second dangerous-looking man was at her door in her normally safe neighborhood. Do you think she's called the police yet?"

"Uhmhhh," Sarah breathed, "Maybe...probably doing it right now."

"You're probably right. That guy is still there," Lester said as the man on the porch was knocking on another window. "And the other guy hasn't left yet. He's probably around back looking for a way in."

"Why?" Sarah moaned as Lester spun his finger around inside of her. His thumb pressed into the slit about her opening and found her clit. As he fingered her, his fat thumb moved around, teasing her. Occasionally, it hit just the right way for her to roll her hips involuntarily.

"Why what?" Lester said, a teasing tone in his voice.

“Why won’t they leave?” Sarah panted, “Why are they sticking around?”

“Desperate and weak,” Lester’s breath was hot and heavy on her neck. “Predictable, like all weak men. They’ve seen this before. People not wanting to sell the strips. Wanting to jack up the price. Hiding inside as a negotiating tactic. They want these strips. The price I put online was nice and low. Plenty of room for them to mark ‘em up and flip ‘em. Lots of people will buy them who don’t have insurance. It’s a really seedy grey market that attracts pieces of shit like this.”

“This is so bad,” Sarah closed her eyes. Lester pulled his finger all the way out of her, added a second to it and pushed both back in. He felt her pussy grip him as he touched her inside.

“Ahmhmhhh,” Sarah gasped, her eyes prying back open. The first man came running back from behind the house. He saw the dark-skinned man on the porch and said something to him. At first, it seemed civil, but then the shouting started. There was pointing, and then the yelling started.

“And then the competition begins,” Lester said and started to increase the tempo of his fingering. Sarah spread her legs wider, letting Lester get more of his slick digits inside of her. Sarah grabbed the back of Lester’s head and pulled him into a wet, sloppy, lingering French kiss before she had to pause and catch her breath. Lester’s sausage fingers never stopped pistoning, delving deep inside of her and with each withdrawal, he made sure to stroke her G-Spot.

Lester couldn’t suppress the grin on his face as he watched Sarah’s eyes flutter open and watch the two men across the street devolve into a pushing match. It would be even better if Mary was involved, but he couldn’t control every variable. Still, watching Sarah get off to the torture they would put Mary through was such an interesting phenomenon to bear witness to.

The men were pushing and yelling at one another. Sarah watched on as things got physical, and she clenched her pussy around Lester’s dirty fingers. Mary’s head popped out from behind a curtain, and she spoke into her cellphone. She watched the men fighting in her yard and started talking rapidly.

“Lester...” Sarah moaned, eyes closed and threw her head back. Lester’s fat tongue was already working its way down her chest, drawing little circles over her exposed skin. Lester worked his way back up to her shoulder and slowly lowered on her tank top’s straps. Sarah moaned at the motion, and Lester looked behind them at the pile of groceries at the rear of the vehicle. He was pretty sure he knew where the bag with the birth control pills were. Against his wishes, she had insisted on helping him load the SUV after he'd paid for them. Lester had planned to swap things out then, but she'd made it difficult for him. But the best things in life never came easy.

Lester licked at Sarah's exposed shoulder and lowered her other strap, leaving just those of her bra on her shoulders for now.

"Keep watching them, Sarah," Lester said, "imagine Mary inside, freaking out. After all the pain she caused you. Imagine how scared she is. Bask in your revenge. This is just the top of the iceberg. We can keep going and make her life hell."

"Bitch," Sarah moaned as Lester corkscrewed his fingers inside of her. Sarah tried to spread her legs open further, but her tight jeans wrapped her thighs, preventing that. With a frustrated, almost feral growl, Sarah bent forward and pushed her jeans off until they dangled around her ankles. She kicked a couple of times, and they were loose in a pile on the floor.

"Hmm, good girl," Lester chuckled and pulled her panties further down, dropping them onto her abandoned jeans.

"God,...Lester...fuck that feels good," Sarah whimpered. Sarah's skin was bathed in a red and blue glow as the police cruiser slowed in front of Mary's house. It pulled into the driveway, and Sarah bit her lip, eyes lazily opened, watching the scene play out. The men jostling stopped and separated as two police officers got out of the car. Mary was back at the window, clutching herself with the phone pressed to her ear.

"Ummm," Sarah whined, pushing her scrumptious ass off his leather seats to meet his thrusting fingers. "Fuck I need your big cock in me now."

Sarah's hands were on Lester's pants, already finding his hard cock through his sweatpants. She couldn't make up her mind on what to do. She was stroking it through his pants, but kept having to stop to tug on his waistband. In the end, her hand plunged below it and grabbed onto his naked shaft.

"Uhhhh," Sarah groaned, feeling the gigantic warm cock in her hand and the beating life of its pulse. She couldn't help but think of the alley. "Take it out," Sarah moaned, "Take it out, Lester."

Lester didn't reply and just shuffled awkwardly out of his pants until they were dropped on the floor next to Sarah's. She licked her lips and stared at Lester's long, fat cock, partially wrapped in her hand. She wished the other homeless man were here so she could compare them and then know which one was bigger.

Shouting momentarily stole her attention from Lester's cock. The dark-skinned junkie was face down on the ground with his hands pinned behind his back. An officer was kneeling on his back, and for an instant, Sarah felt guilty about all of this being set in motion for her benefit. The other man was sitting up, clearly cooperating with the police. The second officer helped secure the black man, and they loaded him into the back of their squad car.

One of the officers quickly went up to the front door and knocked. Sarah tightened her grip on Lester's cock when Mary poked her head out, a terrified expression on her face. Long gone was the stern, arrogant woman sitting across the desk from her, shattering her entire world.

Sarah was enjoying this. Seeing that horrible bitch get taken down a few pegs. Sarah couldn't stop watching, but she was aware that her hand was sliding up and down Lester's fat cock. And she was aware of his eyes boring into her, enjoying her reactions to the scene.

The police officer was talking to Mary while the other officer talked with the first junkie.

"Lester," Sarah breathed without taking her eyes off Mary's troubled face, "Fuck me."

"Get up," Lester said, pulling his fingers from her with a dripping squish.

Sarah let go of Lester's cock and planted her hands on the sides of the seat in front of her and pulled herself up, ass in the air. Lester shuffled in behind her, and without waiting for him to say anything, Sarah reached between her legs, grasped his fat cock and lowered herself onto it.

"Ughhhhhhmhmhhh," Sarah groaned as she was split open. Her eyes rolled back in her head for a second as she adjusted herself to him, feeling her body expand around Lester's massive organ. Sarah finally took his enormous cock all the way to the hilt and felt him buried deep inside of her.

Lester flexed his cock, and she couldn't suppress a plaintive moan from escaping her lips. Sarah groaned and raised her body in reverse cowgirl and slid her wet opening up his cock. Lester lifted his fat ass and pushed his growing cock up just as Sarah was sliding back down onto it.

"Uhhh...god...Lester," Sarah moaned.

“Yeah, baby. Take my cock. Enjoy it while you watch the show,” Lester said, snapping Sarah back to reality. Her eyes were on the scene in front of her. To her disappointment, it looked like things were wrapping up. The first junkie had disappeared, and the officers were getting in their car and pulling out of the driveway.

“It’s over,” Sarah said, clenching herself around Lester.

“The night’s still young,” Lester said, his hands deftly unclasping her bra and pulling it free of her body. Sarah felt so exposed as the police car backed out at an angle, its lights shone across Lester’s SUV. For a brief moment, Sarah thought they could see her, naked and riding a man’s cock. But then they drove away.

Lester’s fat hands went to Sarah’s hip and breast. He squeezed both of her curves hard as he pumped his cock into her. Sarah bit her lip and let her head fall, her blonde locks trailing down her back and around her face.

“Fuck, Lester,” Sarah moaned loudly now that the cops were gone. “You feel so fucking big. So fucking big.”

“That’s because I am big,” Lester said, and slapped one of her ass cheeks hard. Sarah yelped and winced, but Lester held her hip firmly down, keeping her embedded on his cock. His hand left her breast, and both of his hands started mauling her ass cheeks, his fingers near her asshole. Using them to grab her cheeks, pulling them down onto him as he fucked her.

Beads of sweat started rolling down the windows, and they began fogging with condensation. Lester couldn’t have that. Especially the front windshield. He leaned to the side and pressed the button to roll down the window. Thankfully, the car’s battery hadn’t turned off completely with the engine yet.

“So big,” Sarah moaned, “So fucking big.”

“Heh,” Lester chuckled, “Your mom thought so too.”

“Mhmmmm....wha —”

Lester dug his fingers into Sarah’s sexy hips and started pummeling her pussy with his cock. He heaved at the awkward angle, thrusting his fat gut into the air and shoving his cock deep into Sarah. Pulling it back out quickly and hammering it back in again, not letting her get a second to compose herself or catch her breath.

“Uhhhh,” Sarah grunted as Lester’s cock battered her insides. Her mind was still trying to process what he had said, but each time his fat cock pounded into her and rearranged her guts, hitting her G-Spot perfectly, her mind lost focus, and she lost any grasp on rational thought.

She grabbed onto the leather seats in front of her for support as Lester mercilessly fucked her like a machine. Her jaw hung open as Lester hit all the right fucking spots. Lester was in heaven, sitting behind Sarah, watching as her body ground back on his cock as he power fucked her. Her ass was bouncing up and down, jiggling in time with every violent thrust. He just wished she could see those marvellous orbs rocking for him. Sweat dripped down Sarah’s back, and Lester managed to quickly lick it up without breaking his punishing pace. He pushed his head back onto the top of the seat to help him thrust his cock up and down into his quivering lover.

As he admired the taut muscles contracting on her back, he saw more movement out of the corner of his eye. Another one of his Craigslist catfish victims was walking across the lawn. This one, Lester recognized.

“Lookey, lookey,” Lester grunted.

WHAP

A red handprint was left on Sarah’s ass as she cried out. She turned to look at him over her shoulder with an angry, seductive look, “What the fuck?”

“Look who came for the party,” Lester smirked at her as he nodded to the windshield. Sarah’s ass was on fire. She wanted to punch Lester in the face, but instead turned to look. A figure was making its way across the lawn, and it wasn’t the first junkie she’d seen. This one looked a little more put together, older, wearing some kind of dirty uniform –

“Oh my god,” Sarah moaned and clenched around Lester’s iron-firm pole. He fucked her through it, and Sarah’s whole body vibrated, “Otis.”

“Yep. Looks like our boy’s trying to make a quick buck too,” Lester chuckled. Walking onto Mary’s porch was one of the hospital’s former janitors known to them both. The sleazy, stalkery Otis, who had trailed Sarah throughout the hospital. The one she’d blown in the boiler room at Lester’s prompting. The one who’d taken her from Dan in Lester’s office. And the one she’d been fired for fucking in a meeting room.

Lester grinned at the unexpected outcome. They were all here. All the players in Sarah’s downfall. He hadn’t planned this. He didn’t believe in fate either, but sometimes life had a funny way of working out that just seemed too convenient to be mere coincidence.

Sarah tried to track what was happening across the street, but it was like watching TV during an earthquake. Lester's cock was still pummeling her, raking through her inside.

"Mhmmhmmmmffffuuuuu," Sarah's mouth gaped as Otis ascended the stairs and gently knocked on the door. He looked over his shoulders, up and down the street, before knocking again.

"Fuccckk," Sarah groaned as Lester's already fast tempo increased. She didn't know how he was doing it or how he was hitting the angle that he was, but it was magnificent, and she wasn't going to let him stop. Her nails dug into the leather seats, and she pushed her ass back against his thundering waist. His giant cock lit up all the nerves inside her pussy, making Sarah want to close her eyes and let them roll back in her head. She felt the sweat running down her breasts as she struggled to breathe. The air in the car was thick with their sex.

The house's front door opened, and Sarah saw Mary. She'd opened it a bit too much. Her face looked confused, expecting to see one of the police officers; her expression morphed into a look of horrified surprise as she recognized Otis. She tried to slam the door, but the former janitor's hand slammed against it, keeping it from closing.

With the car window open, Sarah could hear Otis's shouts. She couldn't quite make out the words, but she could hear the indignant anger he seethed with. Lester's cock throbbed inside of her, and for a second, Sarah let herself fall all the way onto its massiveness, dropping all her weight onto his waist.

Lester gritted his teeth and struggled to breathe, his skin coated with sweat. Finally, he let the straining position go, knowing he couldn't hold it anymore. Sarah's full weight on his hips was proving too much for his untested lower back, which was strained from hunching over a computer all of his adult life.

With a quick breath, he pushed forward on Sarah's shoulder, sending her between the two front seats. Her hands landed on the car's centre console, and Lester awkwardly stood behind her, his head to the side pressing against the ceiling as he leaned his torso forward.

Sarah gasped at the new angle of Lester's cock. Her hands were planted hard on the plastic. She dropped her head as she gasped for breath. Lester's fingers were wrapped in her hair a second later and then he balled it into his fat fist. He reared her head up, holding her in place.

“Open your eyes,” Lester snarled, “Look at what you’ve done.”

Reluctantly, Sarah’s eyes opened. Across the street, Mary was screaming and crying, trying desperately to close her door as the janitor stood there verbally berating her.

“Oh fuck,” Sarah cried. Otis’ anger. Mary’s fear and desperation. The bitch was getting what she had coming to her. Lester pumped into her violently from behind, and Sarah felt her body ramp up. “Oh fuckinggodd.”

A small part of her mind cried out in horror at the scene unravelling in front of her. How badly it could devolve. But it was drowned out by the desperate need of her body to cum. At the righteous, justice taking place across the street.

Sarah’s fingers ground into the center console, splaying out as she pushed her hips back onto Lester’s cock. Lester had to re-plant his feet and hold onto one of the seats for leverage as Sarah’s hard thrusts back threatened to knock him off his pudgy feet. He gritted his teeth and pumped his hips forward, not about to lose this momentum.

“Fucking watch Sarah. Take it. Take my fucking cock while you watch what you’ve done,” Lester growled.

“Uhhhhfuccckkkk,” Sarah whined as the shouting across the street intensified. Otis punched the door with his hand, and Sarah swore she felt the impact deep inside her pussy. “Mhmmmmmm. Mhmmmm....ahhhhhffffff....Lesster.....ffuuuccckkkkk..... godddddd....mhmmmmmmmm.....mhmmmmmmmm....ahhh...ahh...ahhh...ahhh..ahhh... uhhh....Lester.....FUCK.”

Sarah’s body spasmed, and her orgasm hit her hard all at once, rocking through her body like chain lightning. She lurched forward towards the center console, clenching her pussy around Lester’s cock before thrusting hard back into it, taking every inch of Lester’s thick cock, agonizing, torturously deep inside of her. She couldn’t stop herself from doing that if she wanted to.

Her eyes were fixed on the screaming woman across the street. The sides of her vision started to get blurry, and stars started flashing from the house and lawn before her eyes rolled back in her head. Her eyelids fluttered closed, almost like a seizure, as her face contorted in the ecstasy of a higher plane of pleasure.

Lester pushed into the balls of his feet and rammed his cock forward one last time as his balls tingled and swiftly unleashed a torrent of cum deep into the besotted young mother of two. Lester grinned like a maniac as her bottom jumped and writhed as he deposited his potent seed inside of her. Soon, he'd watch this act knowing conception was finally taking place.

Sarah's body clenched even harder around his cock, milking every last drop from the huge pole. Sarah groaned as the fireworks inside of her exploded, and then the rushing heat of wetness of Lester's load blasted into her, soaking into every crevice and part of her, fully claiming her as his. Sarah screamed as another orgasm rippled through her, eclipsing the first and rewiring her brain to accept a new level of pleasure.

Lester's thrusts eased up, and Sarah finally was able to catch her breath. Her eyes remembered how to open. Across the street, Otis was still standing in the doorway. Mary was still desperately trying to close the door, but Otis's anger had waned, and he was staring across the street at the house they were parked at.

"Shit," Sarah whispered, "Did he see us?"

Lester pulled out of her with an audible plop of a cork, and his seed spilled out of Sarah. He flopped back onto the bench seat, "What?"

"Otis," Sarah said, scrambling back next to Lester, behind the cover of the front seats, "He's looking right at us."

Lester raised his head to look. Otis was indeed looking at them, but the frantic woman screaming at him seemed to snap him out of it. He turned back to her as another shadowy figure was standing at the edge of the lawn, watching the exchange.

"Lester," Sarah said, pulling on her panties. They were already soaked from just a second of contact with her dripping, drooling pussy. "We should go."

Lester let out a big, dramatic sigh, "Fine. Fine. No romance anymore, huh? No spooning. Just wham-bam-thank you, Lester."

"Lester, if they see us..."

"What? They're gonna fire you again? Who cares?"

"Please, Lester," Sarah said, "Let's go."

"Uh, whatever," Lester said. He reached into his opened bag of Cheetos and shoved a handful in his mouth before silently opening the door. His fat naked feet hit the asphalt driveway as his cock swayed between his legs, slick with Sarah's juices. He watched the exchange across the street and saw the shadowy figure turned to look at him. Neither

Mary nor Otis noticed. Lester silently got into the driver's side door and slid behind the wheel.

Sarah was lying on the back bench, trying to pull her jeans over her voluptuous ass when Lester started the car. His headlights shone, illuminating Mary's porch and her struggle with Otis. Both of them stopped what they were doing as Lester flicked on his high beams, momentarily blinding both of them. Lester peeled out of the driveway and off into the night as Sarah struggled to get dressed in the backseat.

Lester drove naked for a few blocks before throwing out, "So much for Dan tonight, huh? I remembered to call him last time so our throuple could be complete, but looks like tonight he got ice'd out, huh?"

Sarah pulled on her tank top, "We should have called him. I haven't been able to get a hold of him."

"His loss," Lester shrugged, "Hey, speaking of, how do you want me to drop these groceries off with your parents still there?"

"I don't know," Sarah said, cursing herself for not thinking of this before, "Can you drop me off at my car and then just wait?"

"You want me just to wait around. How long?"

"I don't know, maybe twenty or thirty minutes? I'll try to get my parents to leave, but they might want to talk, especially my mom."

Something clicked in Sarah's head, "What did you mean when you said that about my mom? While we were having sex."

"Oh, nothing," Lester shrugged, "Just that I've noticed her checking out my bulge on numerous occasions. Think I have a chance?"

"Lester just shut the fuck up and stay away from my mom. Or else." Sarah said.

"Sounds like a sexy promise to me. What do you have in mind?"

Sarah didn't respond and put on her sweater. She didn't bother getting in the front seat with Lester and just buckled one of the seatbelts for the bench.

Lester pulled onto her street and silently parked his SUV behind her car. He killed the lights and said, "You know, the thing about those test strips.... It's funny, the hospital is missing a bunch of them.”

“How do you know that?” Sarah asked.

“Well, because I doctored the hospital’s inventory today and fudged an invoice. Some are missing. If someone were to alert them or the police to the theft, it might just make a detective look twice at any recent incidents relating to them in the area. It is a federal crime afterall.” Lester turned to look at her over his shoulder with an evil grin.

Sarah saw the pieces he was pulling together and gave him a wicked smile, “That’s.....evil. Genius but evil.”

“I thought you’d like it,” Lester said, turning back to the frontseat. “If someone were to make that call. Anonymously, of course. It could be quite the issue for Mary. Shame. Head of HR and all. What do you think? Does my love want me to tip them off?”

Sarah chewed her lip for a moment before answering, “She does.”

“Done then,” Lester said, tapping the steering wheel, “I’ll take care of it while you go talk to your parents.”

Sarah leaned forward and kissed Lester on the cheek before leaving his SUV and getting behind the wheel of her vehicle. She drove it up the street and pulled into the driveway. Lester watched her go inside and counted to thirty. He slipped out of his door and went and opened the trunk.

It took him a minute to find her bag, the one Sarah had picked up at the pharmacy, and he quickly sliced it up and switched out the blister packaging. With a giant shit-eating grin, Lester walked back up to the driver’s side door, naked cock flopping around and got back behind the wheel.

His keys rattled as he unlocked the apartment door. Dan’s hackles went up as he pushed the door open, anxiety and tension creeping into him. He didn’t know what was waiting for him inside. He could just imagine the living room covered in Sarah and Lester’s fluids as they fucked on the couch.

Or worse, just the faint moans of Sarah coming from Lester’s bedroom and Dan needing to go and investigate, reluctantly looking through the peephole in the wall to see his loving wife on her hands and knees as Lester plowed into her from behind with his huge cock.

But the only thing that met Dan in the apartment was silence. Dan just stood there, hand on the doorknob, bracing himself for the inevitable sound of Sarah's ecstasy. But it never came. They hadn't been talking. He hadn't texted her. As far as he knew, she was still in Chicago, and her parents were looking after the girls. He hated this. The dance they were doing.

But the apartment was silent, so Dan shut the door and stepped all the way in. This place was supposed to be his home away from home, but all Dan felt was a pit in his stomach. His fight or flight response nudged him in the back of his head to get the hell out of there.

But Dan wasn't going to be there long. He wanted to get back to his real home and face whatever the fuck waited for him there. Still, he stood there alone in the living room, just listening. Waiting for the next inevitable gut punch.

After a full minute of silence, he finally began to believe that he was safe. He tightened his grip on his bag and walked down the hallway to his room. It was empty. So was the bathroom. With a heavy heart, he lifted the new obnoxious anime poster and looked into the peephole to Lester's room. It was dark, and he couldn't see or hear anything. He didn't hear any sounds of pleasure nor the snores of someone sleeping.

Dan mustered his courage, stepped back into the hallway and tried Lester's door handle. To his surprise, it opened. He peered into the darkness for several seconds, then slowly shut the door. He didn't want to step in there. It felt wrong.

Back in his room, Dan went to his closet and knelt to go through his things. With his bag open, he finally retrieved the hidden cameras he'd purchased so many months ago and stuffed them in. He knew Lester was probably having his way with Sarah while Dan was away. He needed to know what was happening. And part of him thought about documenting it in case he ever needed proof.

The idea of a divorce from Sarah made his stomach turn. Shattering their family like that. But another part of him whispered that he should get his ducks in a row, just in case.

With all the cameras loaded in his bag, Dan was about to leave when he found something else he had forgotten about. A simple, plain-looking USB that he'd been given by that mysterious man Martin to use in Byron's office. It was supposed to be a keylogger or something like that.

Dan stared down at it in his palm and debated just throwing it out. He was done with the Lincoln Group, and there was no need for it. Instead, he tossed it in his bag with the hidden cameras.

Having spent less than fifteen minutes in the apartment, Dan was back outside heading to his vehicle. There was one last stop he wanted to make before the sunset, and he headed out of Chicago.

He punched the address into his phone and followed the map until he pulled up at another apartment building across town. It was a large twelve-story building that looked nice, if not a little run-down. Dan couldn't help but wonder how much the rent was and if it could beat his current place. It was hard to beat free rent, though, courtesy of Lester.

Someone was walking out as Dan was walking in, so he got into the building without buzzing in. As he rode the elevator up, he couldn't help but think about Tricia and the potential lucrative projects on the horizon. He tried not to dwell on how enticing she looked earlier and whether she'd actually follow through if he ever challenged her flirtations. Instead, he thought about the upcoming projects and the amount of billable hours he could accrue. Or the dangling carrot of full-time employment. He felt like he was on the cusp of securing a part of his life that could have a domino effect for him. He didn't dare say anything out loud to Sarah, in case it didn't come to pass or that Lester would somehow find out.

His sixth sense told him that he couldn't let Lester know about any potential success coming his way. The elevator dinged, and Dan got off on the sixth floor and quickly found the apartment number he was looking for.

He knocked on the door and waited, unsure of what he'd find on the other side. After a few seconds, the door opened, and a beautiful, young redhead appeared in the doorway. Dan was taken aback by just how stunning the young woman was. And just how pregnant she was. Dan couldn't help but stare at her stomach for a few seconds before looking back up at her face. It was hard to judge because she still had an athletic frame, but she looked several months pregnant.

"Can I help you?" The young woman asked.

"Lizzie? Right?" Dan asked before shaking his head, "Sorry, I'm Dan. Dan Williams. Do you remember me?"

"Vaguely," Lizzie said as she scrunched up her face and took him in, "What can I help you with...."

"Dan," Dan said.

“Dan,” Lizzie said, “What can I help you with?”

“We met briefly, months ago. I’m Lester’s roommate,” Dan said.

Lizzie’s hand went to her pregnant belly, and a look of distress crossed her face. “What do you want?”

Dan opened his mouth to say something, but a male voice from inside the apartment spoke first. “Liz, who is it?”

“Nobody,” Lizzie said, her athletic frame tense, “Wrong apartment.”

Lizzie moved to close the door. Dan felt a sudden surge of momentum, finally, after all these months. And stuck his foot in the way.

“Listen,” he said, his voice low so her boyfriend, fiancée, or whoever couldn’t hear. “I don’t want to cause trouble for you. I’m the one in trouble. Aren’t I?”

Lizzie swallowed hard and quickly broke eye contact, “I can’t. I don’t want to get involved. Please.”

“I wouldn’t be here if it weren’t serious,” Dan hissed.

“Please,” Lizzie whispered, her voice nearly breaking. Her hand on her pregnant stomach, “Please just leave us alone. Please.”

Dan wanted to press the issue further. Force her to talk. To say something to reveal her past with Lester. But this young woman’s eyes were welling up, and she was pregnant, and Dan didn’t want to be an asshole and push her too hard. Maybe send her into distress, and something happens to the baby.

Dan let out a defeated sigh, reached into his pocket and found an old receipt and pen. He jotted down his phone number and forced it into her hand.

“Okay. I’ll go,” Dan said, “But take this if you think of anything. Or can tell me anything. Please...”

His shoulders slumped, and he added, “I think my wife and I are in trouble. But I don’t know how deep in it we are. Can we trust Lester?”

Dan removed his foot from the doorjamb and stepped back, looking at this teary-eyed young woman with his shoulders slumped. She was beautiful, but now, when he looked at her, she looked so frail, like a scared church mouse. There was something there.

Lizzie crumpled up the receipt and shoved it into her pocket. “No,” she said, and without meeting Dan’s eyes, she shut the door. Dan stood there and heard the lock engage and then the chain clasp.

He shook his head as he walked away, feeling both defeat and a renewed sense of dread. The girl had freaked out as soon as he mentioned who he was and how they were connected by Lester. It didn’t seem like that was just heartbreak from a failed relationship. But maybe it was a sore spot with the husband or whoever was in there. Hearing about Lester was probably the last thing they wanted, especially with their growing family.

Dan pressed the call button and waited for the elevator to return. He smiled faintly, thinking about Sarah when she was pregnant like that. Sarah had been similar, with a small stomach, but somehow the weight stayed off. It was like that all the way up until she gave birth. He idly wondered how far along Lizzie was. He felt even more like shit that he’d tainted what should be a happy time for them with unpleasant memories. The last thing she probably wanted to think about while she was growing a precious baby inside of her was Lester.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 38

Sarah pulled up to the kiss-and-ride spot in front of the school, turned around, and helped each of her two girls out of their booster seats.

“Bye mom!” Ava and Sophia both yelled in unison as they hauled their backpacks out the door. Sarah sat at the wheel, watching her girls catch up to their friends and walk into the school.

“Love you too,” she muttered. The car behind her honked, and Sarah immediately felt her stress return. She pulled away, trying not to let her girls’ nascent independence get to her. They were growing up. It was part of the deal. She reminded herself that it wasn’t because of her issues with Dan. She was conflating unrelated things. Sure, maybe they’d picked up on how icy things were at home, but the way they’d left the car had nothing to do with that.

Ever since Dan had gotten back from his trip, they’d done their best to avoid each other. Which only made Sarah’s head spin more. She didn’t want to have another argument. She didn’t want to feel any hurt or guilt anymore. She couldn’t handle any more of that, not with her parents, her job loss and everything else going on in her life. And the fact that Dan wasn’t trying to talk to her, to bridge the gap, only made her mind jump to conclusions and made her angry and hurt all over again.

She wanted things back to the way they were. Only, she knew that wasn’t entirely true. She wasn’t ready to cut off Lester. Sure, he was their financial lifeboat, but the fat, ugly man had somehow managed to worm his way into her life, and she wasn’t sure she wanted to let him go.

Her mind was a mess. Which caused another car to honk at her for overstaying her welcome at a stop sign. Flustered, Sarah drove her car on autopilot until she found herself in front of her parents’ house.

She didn’t pull into the driveway, just stopping across the street, wondering how she got there. It would have made more sense for her to go home, but here she was. Part of her longed to go in, back into her childhood bedroom, back to a time when things were just simpler. But she couldn’t go in. Not with how nosy her parents had become. Sure, it would be nice to visit, but she knew they were worried and eventually the conversation would turn to her and Dan and their activities.

Sarah laid her head back against the headrest, knowing she needed to drive away before being spotted. As she was about to start towards home, her phone rang. There was a moment of expectation; she hoped it was Dan, but the display showed it was Lester.

She hesitated for a half second, but then answered it. “Hey Lester.”

She put the car into drive and drove away from her parents’ street.

“You mean, ‘Hello Daddy’, don’t you?” Lester’s deep voice said. Just hearing him correct her sent a shiver up her spine. What is wrong with me? When did I become so easy?

Sarah bit her lip; her eyes widened when she saw how fast she was speeding down the cozy residential street. She needed to get under control. When she didn’t answer, Lester’s voice came through the speaker again, more decisively this time.

“Say it.”

Part of Sarah wanted to roll her eyes, thinking of the short, fat man on the other end of the line. Her own mouth betrayed her, as she was surprised to hear her sultry voice purr out and say, “Hello, Daddy.”

“Mhm, that’s much better, Sarah. You got my cock hard just hearing your voice,” Lester said.

Sarah felt her chest getting warm and tried to keep her focus on the road. “Lester,” Sarah said, the sultry leaving her voice, “I’m driving. I need to be careful.”

“Find somewhere to pull over. I got something to show you,” Lester said.

“Send it. I’ll check it when I get home,” Sarah said.

“No. Pull over now. You need to see this. Now. It’s happening live,” Lester said.

Sarah sped through her immediate surroundings and pulled off the road, steering her car behind a deserted gas station that nature seemed well along in reclaiming. There was no good reason for anyone to be back here, and thankfully, there weren’t any derelicts loitering around. The asphalt was roughly potholed, and an old chain-link fence ran around the back of the store; large plants and bushes grew between the steel posts.

She parked and took her cell phone out of its holder. “Okay. I’m parked. What’s up?”

Instead of replying, Lester hung up abruptly. One second later, she got a video call from his phone. She pressed the button, and Lester’s fat, hairy neck filled her screen. He pulled the camera back, and she saw his signature shit-eating grin that both pissed her off and instantly made her a little wet.

“Just watch,” Lester chuckled. The camera switched to the back of his phone, and she saw Lester’s shuffling feet as he walked down a hallway. She recognized the floor. He was at the hospital. The angle shifted, revealing a clear glass railing, then turned downward so it looked over the lobby atrium. An unusual number of people were loitering around in one corner, and Sarah couldn’t figure out why. A few seconds later, two uniformed police officers, flanked by hospital security, appeared in the frame, escorting a handcuffed Mary out of the building. Her head was turning back and forth, speaking frantically to both officers, but whatever she was saying was drowned out by the murmuring of the crowd.

Sarah watched as they took her outside, and Lester moved the phone to a window view overlooking the area in front of the building. Mary was being placed into the back of a police cruiser as confused patients and families looked on.

When the police drove away, the camera’s angle changed back to Lester’s triple-chinned, stubble-filled neck and face.

“You like that?” Lester chuckled into the phone, the low angle capturing his gullet bouncing as he walked. Ceiling tiles and lights flashed by his head as Sarah watched the unflattering image.

“That was....” Sarah sorted through her feelings, trying to process what she’d just seen. On one hand, it was mortifying to see an executive at the hospital she’d worked so hard to build and maintain be escorted out, handcuffed, by police in front of the staff and the public alike. This would surely incite a firestorm of bad PR and controversy. On the other hand, it wasn’t her responsibility to care anymore, and she loved, absolutely loved, seeing that bitch taken down and thoroughly humiliated. She loved that it happened in front of everyone and knew how embarrassed Mary must be. It was even better knowing that Mary had nothing to do with it. It was all karma for how she’d treated Sarah, and now justice was being served.

And she had Lester to thank for all of it. It was wrong. Logically, she understood that. She knew that framing someone was bad and completely immoral, but what had Sarah gotten from trying to be good and playing by the rules? Getting shafted by the hospital’s board only for them to bring in another shitty old white man to run the hospital when he had no business doing so? Dan had been good his whole life, but he had been laid off twice. Both of them had been upstanding people, and now they lived in a smoking crater of financial ruin. What was the point of playing by the rules anymore?

“Amazing,” Sarah finally breathed, replaying the events back in her head. Watching the look of anguish on Mary’s face. It was delicious. “Fuck Lester, that was the best thing I’ve seen all day. I thought watching all those guys bang on her door was satisfying, but this. Shit, is she going to go to jail?”

“She’ll probably do at least a bit of time, waiting for her trial. I don’t really know. But there’s no way she’s coming back to the hospital. Not after that. Richard’s already spinning it. It’s fucking great.” Lester chortled. He was still walking through the hallways, but Sarah didn’t know where he was.

Sarah found her breathing was coming in shallow bursts. Her skin felt warm, and she realized she was incredibly turned on. Maybe it was from getting payback, or maybe it was because she’d been talking to Lester and he had helped her dominate the woman. Whatever the cause, she felt an electric thrill run through her. Then felt several more bolts pulsing across her body.

She heard the sound of a door opening and then closing from the audio of Lester’s phone.

“Where are you?” Sarah said, staring intently at Lester’s ugly face from the unflattering angle.

“Mary’s office,” Lester smirked, “Just taking a poke around while everyone is busy gossiping.”

“I don’t know why...” Sarah started, ashamed and unsure as the words tumbled out of her mouth, “But that, that really turned me on.”

“I can tell,” Lester said, “Your face is flushed. And you’re giving me that look.”

“What look?” Sarah challenged. She wasn’t that predictable, was she?”

“That look like you want to fuck,” Lester said. He flipped the camera and showed Sarah the view of Mary’s office. Her personal items were still there, waiting for her return. They would all be loaded into a banker’s box and tucked away in the security office until she showed up to claim them. Mary’s cellphone was still sitting on her desk. Lester put his phone over it. Sarah didn’t understand what he was doing until his large, thick cock appeared. It was already half hard. Lester flopped it down on Mary’s phone.

“She’ll eventually get this back and put her face up against it,” Lester chuckled as he slowly rubbed his hand down the length of his gigantic cock. Sarah stared at the screen, watching in awe and envy as Lester’s cock grew and grew until it was as hard as a steel pole, entirely dwarfing the phone. The device looked almost comically small in comparison.

“Like what you see, blondie?” Lester chuckled.

“It’s...” Sarah trailed off as Lester continued to stroke his cock over Mary’s phone.

“It’s that hard because of you,” Lester said, seriously, “I’m thinking about what we did the other night. How we made all of this happen. And I’m still looking at you, right now. Watching me. Your eyes are glazing over, and your chest looks sexy as fuck when you breath heavy like that.”

Sarah’s eyes refocused, and she forgot that Lester could see her. Even though she was staring at his cock, she realized that he was probably staring at her eyes and face. She shifted in her seat, unconsciously moving into a more seductive pose. She licked her lips and stared at the phone like it was a piece of meat she wanted.

“Oh, I like that,” Lester’s voice said through the speaker, and he started stroking himself faster. “Put on a show for Daddy.”

The word sent a shiver straight down Sarah’s spine. She started to sway, rhythmically in her seat, her green eyes locked on the screen and Lester’s sweeping strokes.

“I want to see it,” Sarah said, biting her lip. “I want to watch it explode.”

“I can do that,” Lester said, “But I want to watch you too. Why don’t you get more comfortable?”

Sarah looked around at her surroundings. An abandoned gas station, the high chain fence with overgrown weeds linked through it. She could hear the sound of cars passing on the nearby street, but couldn’t see them. Sarah reached down and slowly peeled off her t-shirt, letting Lester feast on the sight of her breasts barely held back by a lacy blue bra. She tossed her shirt into the passenger seat and put her full attention back on Lester.

He started to speak but stopped as Sarah’s fingers began to trace a line along the top of her bra cup, running over her exposed skin. Now it was her turn to hear Lester’s heavy breathing over the phone, like a stalker from a 90s movie. Like so much about her lover, the sound both disturbed and turned her on.

Sarah knew she was slipping again, falling into Lester’s web, but it made her feel so much better - she couldn’t stop herself. She listened to his creepy, heaving breath as her fingertips trailed along her skin. She slid them up her bra strap on her left shoulder and heard Lester's voice hitch. She remembered when he had done this to her, reached out while she was being intimate with Dan and pulled down her bra strap. It was the first time he'd touched her there. She hooked a finger under it and let the strap fall.

She smirked at the screen, knowing Lester was watching her. She wanted to put on a good show for him. She ran her fingers between her cleavage before moving over to the other strap. She played with it, teasing the camera. On the screen, Lester's huge cock was still there, but he wasn't stroking it; he was just holding it.

"Lester," Sarah whispered, "Don't stop stroking him. I want to keep watching. You stop. And I'll stop." Lester didn't respond, but his hand began sliding back up and down his shaft. Sarah reached behind her back and unclasped her bra. She held it in place with the other hand but took her arms out of the straps.

"Let me see 'em," Lester commanded. Sarah smiled wickedly and leaned towards the camera, giving Lester a fantastic view of the tops of her breasts straining for freedom.

"No," Sarah said.

"The fuck?" Lester growled, "Take that fucking bra off now."

"No," Sarah repeated, "I want you to ask nicely. Say please."

"What the fuck?" Lester snarled.

"Tsk. Tsk. Tsk. Language," Sarah smirked and waved a finger at the screen, "Naughty boy. Now say please, or I'll put them away."

"Sarah, you don't —"

Sarah raised one of her bra straps, and Lester stopped talking abruptly. She raised her eyebrows at the screen. There was silence for at least a full minute.

Then she heard something she'd never heard Lester say before, "Please."

"Good boy," Sarah said, and she let her bra fall off her, her heavy breasts coming into full view for Lester. Anyone walking by or peeking behind the gas station would see a gorgeous topless blonde in her thirties, moving seductively in her car.

"That wasn't so hard, was it?" Sarah mewed. It was easier to be like this when Lester wasn't here in person. If she'd tried that in the bedroom, he would have just thrown her on the bed and done what he wanted. But she had some power here, and she loved using it.

“I’m going to fuck you so hard the next time I get you alone,” Lester growled, “Make you pay for this shit.”

“Promise?” Sarah licked her lips and leaned forward towards the phone. She cupped her breasts and let her fingertips graze the skin. She threw her head back as her fingers passed over the nipples. She inhaled sharply as her other hand unbuttoned her mom jeans and her hand dove into her panties.

“Fuck Lester. I want that beautiful cock of yours,” Sarah said, her fingers finding her clit. Sarah looked seductively at the camera mounted on her dashboard and rubbed herself. She knew Lester was liking what he was seeing. His fist was running up and down his cock with abandon now, Mary’s phone still in the background.

“That’s it, Lester,” Sarah moaned, “Stroke that big fucking cock for me. God, I want to see it explode. Fuck.”

Sarah could just picture the geyser of cum that Lester would unleash. She knew how it felt inside of her, the feeling of his massive cock pulsating. His heartbeat thrummed through his cock as it was buried inside of her. Then it began twitching as it exploded. A torrent of cum blasting out of it, soaking her insides with gouts of his seed.

Sarah’s fingers danced over her swollen clit as she grabbed her breast hard, just like Lester would. “You’re gonna watch it explode,” Lester breathed, “But soon you’re gonna feel it explode inside of you. I really hate wasting all this cum when I could be dumping it in you.”

“I like that. I want that. Lester,” Sarah hummed.

“You want what?” Lester growled as he jerked his cock.

“Cum. Your cum. In me. On me. Fuck I want it everywhere, Lester,” Sarah let go of her breast and slid two fingers up to her mouth, “I want to taste it. Taste you. I want it pouring down my throat. Fuck I want you cumming in my mouth while you cum in pussy at the same time. Fuck Lester, I need it.”

“You’re gonna get it. Don’t you worry,” Lester chuckled, “I’m going to fill you up so much that it won’t matter that you’re still taking that stupid pill of yours.”

“Oh god,” Sarah groaned as she bucked against her hand. Lester’s nasty words danced through her ears and tickled a part of her brain that pushed her ever closer to her inevitable orgasm. Her clit was so sensitive. She wanted to close her eyes and just let her imagination get her there, but she couldn’t keep her eyes off Lester’s massive organ and the way he was deftly stroking it. It was seductively mesmerizing.

A bit of precum leaked out the end, and Lester paused mid-stroke, adjusting the angle of his phone to show it. He dabbed the head of his cock down onto Mary’s phone, and Sarah licked her lips, watching the string of cum connect to Mary’s phone before it broke. Her stomach flared with a sense of jealousy that didn’t make any sense, but for a moment, she hated Mary just a little bit more than she had before.

It was irrational, but she didn’t want that woman anywhere near Lester. He was hers.

“You think...” Sarah started but trailed off as she watched Lester begin stroking his cock in earnest again. He paused his fist, waiting for her to continue talking. “You think your cum is that potent that you could just defy science, Lester?”

“I know it,” Lester said back. “It’s just nature taking its proper course. Like they say, nature finds a way.”

Sarah shook her head but couldn’t keep the sly smile from his face. Lester was so full of himself and so full of shit. But he knew how to work her up. She leaned towards the camera, hands back on her heavy breasts. “Hmm, I’d like to see that,” she said sarcastically. She tried to say it in a sexy way to challenge him.

But Lester took her comment a different way, “You want to see that? You want to see me knock you up?”

“I..”

“You want to see your tummy swell with Lester junior?” Lester snarled, “What’ll your parents say when they see that the kid looks like me, huh? They’d know, and your entire world would come crashing down.”

“Jesus,” Sarah muttered, feeling the heat rise inside of her, “That’s so fucked up, Lester.”

“It’s going to happen, Sarah,” Lester said.

“Won’t your vasectomy have something to say about that? Even if your little swimmer found a way to beat the pill,” Sarah breathed, she pinched her nipple and her fingers rocketed across her clit. She was getting very close.

“Nature finds a way. God’s will and all that shit,” Lester belched.

“God’s will,” Sarah moaned unintentionally. Half laughing, half delirious, well along the path to her orgasm.

“Yep,” Lester grunted, his hand flying up and down his cock, “It’s fate. Your pussy, my cock. You’re a great mother, Sarah. I couldn’t think of anyone better to raise my spawn. What do ya say?”

“It’s hot. A hot idea,” Sarah panted. The windows of her car were fogging up. If someone came around the corner of the building, they’d no longer be able to see her. “But crazy. Couldn’t happen.”

“But what if it did?”

“Fuck, Lester. I’m close.”

“Just picture it,” Lester said in that gross whisper through the speaker, “My cock buried deep inside you. So deep. Deeper than Dan was when he did it. My cum exploding out into you. Flooding every little crevice inside of you.”

Sarah’s fingers danced over her engorged clit. Her hips bucked against her hand, and she desperately wished she’d pulled her stupid mom jeans down to her ankles. She squeezed her breasts and threw her head back against the chair. Through half-lidded eyes, she watched in desperation as Lester pumped his cock in his hand.

“You know how much cum I make. I could probably fill a glass with it. Just imagine all that cum. Millions of my swimmers battering at your eggs, piercing one and rushing in.” Lester said, “We both know it’d happen. There’s no way around it.”

“I thought....” Sarah panted. “You didn’t want kids. That’s why you got the...”

“I don’t. Still don’t,” Lester said, “But that doesn’t mean I wouldn’t want to fuck a baby into you. You Sarah. No one else. I’d want to fuck a baby into you. Watch your eyes dilate, and you feel me cum and know that my seed is taking root. That I’ve inseminated you. That someone besides your little husband has knocked you up.”

Sarah grabbed her breast hard. Her mind reeled at the thought. She’d always had a Beauty and the Beast type fantasy, and the idea of a beauty like herself being impregnated by an unworthy beast like Lester seemed like the ultimate height of that fantasy. Especially if she begged for it to happen.

“Fucckkk, Lester,” Sarah moaned, “I’m so close.”

“Open your eyes,” Lester snapped.

Sarah hadn’t realized she closed them. Her heavy breasts were rising rapidly as she struggled to breathe. Her thighs pressed down around her hand. She lazily opened her eyes and saw that Lester had put the phone down on Mary’s desk.

The angle had changed. Now she could see his entire, disgusting body, cock in hand as he pumped it. Mary’s phone was still there, sitting just below the head of Lester’s cock. Her eyes were glued to the phone, watching Lester vigorously masturbate, watching his beautiful cock. Watching his oddly proportioned body gleam with sweat, his hairy chest heaving just like hers. She felt so fucking turned on.

“Think about it,” Lester grunted, “Think about the look of shock and horror on Dan’s face when he realizes you’re pregnant. The doubt and pain he’d feel. Think about how he’d react when he realized it wasn’t his. When you told him you were carrying my child.”

“Lester....” Sarah whined. It was a poisonous thought. It was too fucked up. She didn’t want to think about it. But it was there, playing in the back of her mind. The look of hurt on her husband’s face. The pain he’d feel. The mixed emotions he’d face.

“And then watching as you push a child that isn’t his into this world,” Lester said, “And you loving that boy more than you do him.”

Sarah’s fingers flew across her clit, picturing Dan standing there like an outsider watching as she embraced her new family. Dan outside the window as she cuddled with Lester, sharing soft romantic kisses. The driving rain pouring down on him.

“You want that, don’t you. You want my cum to flood you and knock you up. Say it.” Lester demanded.

Sarah’s breaths were coming in short, ragged bursts now. She bucked her hips into her hand, pressing her clit hard into her fingers. Her nipples pressed into the palm of her other hand.

“Yes...” Sarah’s traitorous words left her lips, and she came. Hard. She screamed in ecstasy as her hips bucked off the chair and she came onto her stroking hand. White lightning shot up from her pussy, rocking across her body.

“Open your eyes,” Lester said sharply.

Despite all her muscles seizing, she opened her eyes, and Sarah saw Lester’s cockhead expand, and then ropes of cum came blasting out, landing on Mary’s cellphone and desk. Sarah’s orgasm crescendoed, then another hit her at the sight of his explosion. She didn’t look away. She didn’t blink. Her eyes burned as she held them open, witnessing the beauty of Lester’s cock spasming and cumming all over Mary’s things.

Sarah’s thighs pinched her hand, and her body flipped to the side as rope after rope of cum painted Mary’s desk. Lester’s groan emanated from her phone, and it was music to Sarah’s ears. Her second orgasm raced through her body, electrifying her nerve endings and sending her mind reeling to a higher plane.

As the last rope of cum sprayed out of Lester’s cock, she almost let her eyes close. But he firmly slid his fist down his shaft, pushing out a few last drops that fell lazily onto Mary’s phone. Finally, she slumped behind her steering wheel, spent.

Lester smeared his jism on the desk with Mary’s phone, her purse and other belongings.

“You’re such an easy slut,” Lester sneered into the phone. His three chins back on display. “Such a slut for my cum.”

“And you’re a fat pig,” Sarah groaned, exhausted from her seat, “Who fucks like a thoroughbred.”

“You’re not wrong,” Lester chuckled, “I can’t wait to slide this inside of you soon.

“Ugh, I don’t even think I can drive right now. I feel drunk,” Sarah said. She wasn’t kidding. Her knees felt weak, and her head was spinning. All she wanted to do was crawl into bed and sleep for the next week.

“I’ll pick you up later then. Go home and sleep. And say hi to Danny-boy for me, okay? I need you rested for what comes later.” Lester said.

“What’s coming later?” Sarah said, her mind still in the process of returning to earth from her orgasm.

“You will be,” Lester answered. “And me, - a bucket full of cum.”

Lester ended the call. Sarah just slumped back in her seat for the next fifteen minutes, catching her breath and then drifting off for the last few minutes. She woke up with her pants around her thighs and her hand buried in her panties with all the windows fogged up.

She looked at herself in the rearview mirror and saw that her mascara was running down her face, “You’re a mess.”

Lester slumped back in his shitty hospital office. He hated this place and counted down the days before he could leave this dumpster fire forever. With Mary out of the picture, there was only one thing keeping him here, and that thing was Richard. The miserable shitstain really thought of Lester as an IT flunkie subordinate. Lester didn’t care. It was to his benefit to be viewed at the margins of society, just as Dan had seen him.

People always underestimate you and leave themselves open to attack.

He rubbed his pants against his cockhead, as a little bit of fluid leaked out. He rolled his computer chair forward and powered on the machine. The nice thing about his position was the expense account. Unlike the rest of the plebs in the hospital, he’d made sure to give himself quite the nice little rig that he was going to take with him. It had way more computing power than anything else in the hospital, which is exactly what he needed.

He loaded his attack kit and went after his own private network back in his Chicago apartment. He hit it from several different vectors, just as he had been doing for the last few days. Even with his intimate knowledge of how his own network was set up, its defenses and its weaknesses, he wasn’t able to penetrate it. No network was one-hundred percent secure, but he felt confident that if he couldn’t penetrate it, no one other than well-funded state actors could.

That fucker Cronos and his minions wouldn’t be able to get past his beefed-up security. He just wished he’d scraped more information on the guy. He’d have to start doing that for all his clients, he knew he was dealing with. He didn’t like an unknown variable on the field. Especially one that seemed to have a hate boner for him. His comment about ‘interested parties’ wanting access to his network had irked him. It wasn’t his local network the guy was talking about, but the business network of buyers and sellers Lester had cultivated over the years. He didn’t understand why someone other than the police would be interested in that.

Lester navigated away from his attack packet and back onto the hospital network. He zeroed in on Richard's terminal and saw that it was active. He mirrored the screen and watched as Richard spent the next five minutes trying to compose a bland, generic, inspirational CEO LinkedIn post. It was nauseating, and Lester couldn't wait to be done with this place.

Lester rolled his eyes and tried not to vomit. It was all so performative. All corporate culture was. Employees perform for the manager; they perform for the executives, who then perform for the board. They perform for the stockholders and investors. Theater all the way up. It was all such a waste of time.

He hated sitting in that dingy office. But he wouldn't have to for much longer. As he watched Richard's screen, he noticed, not for the first time, that the man stored all of his passwords in his Chrome browser. This man was old enough to have been around during the beginning of the Internet. Did he really value convenience over privacy that much? Sometimes these plebs really just made it too easy for him.

He could remote into Richard's laptop and cause all kinds of havoc, but he needed to bring Sarah into this to get her revenge. Let her enjoy it and cum to it the way she had the other night with Mary and how she'd exploded a few hours ago on the phone.

It was hilarious to Lester how Dan didn't seem to factor into this equation at all. He knew Dan was back in Middleton, but Sarah hadn't so much as mentioned him. It was like her husband didn't exist. She used to try to loop him into things, but now it was like he was just the forgotten third wheel in their shame throuple.

Lester turned off the screen mirroring. He had everything he needed. It was time for Sarah to play her part. And finally, after all these months, it was finally time to start pumping his baby-making batter into Sarah and knock her up. From what he'd read online, most women who go off the pill get pregnant after the first year of trying. Some after the first three months. Lester didn't want to wait that long and planned to bathe her in his cum. Repeatedly.

Dan checked his phone for the third time that morning. His texts with Sarah had slowed to a glacial pace. She hadn't responded to his last message, but he saw that she'd read it. He sighed and trudged down the stairs to the basement.

Everyone was gone. The girls were at school, and Sarah was off to who knows where. She should've been back from dropping the girls off by now, but he didn't want to send a text asking where she was, only for it to lead to another blow-up.

He passed his college futon, which was now serving as his bed, and headed to the breaker box. Opening it, he scanned the breaker names and switched several off. Back upstairs, he got out his screwdriver and started removing the plate on the plug in the living room.

He used his power tester to ensure there was no current running through the plug before removing it from the housing. He disconnected it and fished one of the security camera plugs he brought from Chicago out of his bag. It was easy to install; he just reconnected the wires, secured it to the box and put the new cover over it. There was a pinhole slit in the cover that would let the camera see out into the room; all he had to do was connect to it using an app on his phone.

In a focused, half-conscious daze, Dan spent the next hour mechanically removing and replacing the plugs in different rooms throughout the house. He still wasn't sure why he was doing it or what he hoped to achieve.

At one point, it was just to monitor the house and know when Lester tried to show up. But things had shifted so much lately that part of him thought he was collecting evidence for an eventual divorce. The idea of him being kicked out of the house and Lester moving in, raising his girls and sharing Sarah's bed plagued him during the early hours of the morning.

He reached into his bag for the last plug. This one was going in their ensuite bathroom. He felt around for it, but his hand grasped something else. It was a piece of plastic the size of his thumb. He pulled it out and recognized the keylogger that Martin had given him, the one he was supposed to install in Bryon's office in Minnesota. That hadn't worked out, but he'd still held onto it.

He gave it a once-over, trying to decide whether to throw it out or see if there was any use for it. His phone chimed from his pocket, and he threw the keylogger tool into his backpack. Sarah must have texted him back.

But when he opened his phone, it wasn't Sarah. It was Tricia, his flirty coworker from Sentinel Securities. He didn't open it. He put the phone on the cool tile floor and sat against the wall, head in his hands as he tried to figure his life out.

Tricia's message made him think of Carlo telling him about the tipline. He still hadn't found anything on Discord that he felt like he could report to it. Nothing on Lester's Darkspire online persona.

Even if Dan somehow took Lester off the board, how would Sarah react? Would she be happy, or would she get even more pissed at him? He really needed to man up and try to talk to her, but part of him was afraid of what he would hear.

With another sigh of defeat, he opened his phone and checked Tricia's message.

T: Hey there, where's my big Dan? I miss that guy. The office is so boring without him. When is he going to come back here? I have so many things that need his special attention.

Dan read it over a few times, the words burrowing into his mind. He flipped to his conversation with Sarah and saw she still hadn't responded. When was the last time she even opened it?

Dan fired a response back to Tricia.

D: Oh, really? What needs my special attention Trisha?

He left the phone on the floor and went back to installing the last hidden camera.

It was just bad timing. Sarah opened the front door to their house at the same time that Dan was coming down the stairs. He froze when she walked in. Her stomach turned, feeling a mix of anger, guilt and sadness as she saw him stop. She felt like she was walking on eggshells around her own home lately.

"Hi," she barely managed. Hoping that it would ease the tension. The other half of her was ready to jump into an argument at whatever Dan said in response. She hated being this way, but she was just so angry. Angry at him. Angry at their fucked up situation. She had so much anger coursing through her that it seemed to rule her every response. The only time it ever abated was when Lester made her feel something different.

"Hi," Dan said. He hadn't moved, but he also wasn't making any eye contact. Was he standing still because he was afraid? Ready to fight? Or was it because he wanted to reconcile? His inaction irked her. His inaction was what had put them in this situation in the first place. Her mind slid into an angry place without her even realizing it.

Sarah let out a deep breath and tried to control herself. She took off her shoes and tried to pretend like Dan's presence wasn't painfully awkward.

"How was drop off?" Dan said.

It was a neutral question. Something she could work with, "It was fine."

She realized that it sounded bitchy and was a conversation-killer. Then she added, “The girls jumped out of the car without saying ‘I love you,’ they ran off to their friends and didn’t look back. I keep forgetting how old they’ve gotten now.”

“It’s crazy,” Dan said with a sad smile on his face, “Seeing how fast they grow up. Seeing how fast things can change. For all of us.”

Sarah didn’t know how to respond, so she just leaned against the door, waiting for him to say more. It took almost a full minute, but he finally did.

“Look, Sarah, I don’t want to fight. I don’t. I really don’t want to fight with you. You’re the person I love the most in the world. I, I don’t want it to be like this. I’m sorry for what I said. It’s just...things have been so messed up. I don’t....my mind is fucked up. I can’t think straight, and this whole situation....Lester...your parents....work....the money....it’s all just too much. It’s so stressful and fucked. I really just wish we were back like we used to be,” Dan said.

He finally looked up at her, and she felt her heart skip a beat. She knew he was hurting, but his face just looked so frail and weak. Desperate. She sighed and stared down at the laminate flooring.

“I don’t....“ I don’t like it either,” Sarah said. “Everything is harder than it needs to be.” But I don’t know if we can ever go back to the way things were, Dan. Too much has changed. I’ve changed. We’ve both been through so much. Even when it just comes to work, we’ve both been through the blender. I don’t even know what I’m going to do for work, I have no idea where we’re going,” Sarah said. She hadn’t expected the tears to well up in her eyes, but here they were.

“I don’t know either, Sarah. I want us back to where we were, but maybe we can try to figure out something new. Something that fits us now. You, me and the girls. Together. We’ll figure it out together.” Dan said.

“Dan, it’s just...fuck.... It’s all so fucked. How can we even figure anything out when we are both unemployed? Where do we go from here? Just leech off Lester for the rest of our lives? I feel like everything is crumbling around us, and he’s our only lifeline. I don’t know how to build a new future together right now. I’m not seeing it.”

“We can’t just keep treading water. We need to move in a direction here, Sarah,” Dan said, “We gotta figure out that direction.”

“I can’t even see it, Dan,” Sarah said, balling her hands into fists, “I don’t know where we go. I don’t know what it is I want.”

“Do you still want me?” Dan said, his voice weak, “Do you know that much? About what you want?”

Sarah finally looked up at him and saw the hurt and desperation in his eyes.

“I think so,” Sarah said quietly, “I want to. I want us. I want you in my life. I still want our family. I just don’t know how we get back there.”

“Let’s not overthink it,” Dan said, “I want you. You want me. You, me and the girls. That’s all that matters. Fuck everything else, okay?”

“What about Lester?” Sarah said.

“What the fuck about Lester?” Dan shouted angrily. “He’s not part of our family, Sarah.”

The anger boiled up inside of her. She thought she had control over it, but it burst up like a pot of water boiling over, “He’s our fucking breadwinner, Dan. Without Lester, we don’t have a house. We can’t pay the mortgage. It’s nice that you want us to be together, but without Lester, our life falls apart. We can’t just live in a fantasy scenario where love is enough. Love doesn’t pay the bills, love doesn’t keep food on our kids’ plates, Dan. We can’t just cut him out.

“And because you love fucking him, right?” Dan spat.

“Jesus, Dan,” Sarah shouted, “Yes, I love the way he fucks me. Is that what you want to hear? I love how rough he is. I love letting his disgusting hands touch me. I love how good his giant cock feels inside of me. Is that what you want to hear? That the man who is paying for your family to survive is an amazing lay too? Get over yourself. I’m talking about our family’s foundation. We don’t have one right now. We have no money. We can’t build a future like that.”

“We’re in a shitty spot,” Dan said slowly, the anger still seething from him, “It’s really shitty. But it’s just for a little bit. Lester’s lifeline was only supposed to be for a little while. I’m close, Sarah. Close to getting something more permanent or at least something more lucrative with Sentiel, okay? I don’t know the details. Maybe it’ll be enough for us.”

“We can’t plan around maybes, Dan. I want to. I do. It sounds nice. But maybe it isn’t a plan. Maybe it isn’t a future. Would you risk the girls’ future on a maybe? We’ve been doing maybes for a while now, and they keep backfiring. Maybe moving to Chicago will help, maybe finding a roommate will make things easier. Maybe business will pick up.

Maybe your company won't lose a client and downsize. Maybe they'll keep you instead of laying you off. We can't depend on maybes, Dan."

"Well, what then? I haven't seen you apply for any jobs, Sarah. If you're not willing to settle on maybes, what are you willing to do? I haven't seen you create one resume or fill out any applications. What are you waiting for? Maybe a job will just fall into your lap?" Dan said.

"It's not...." Sarah knew he was right. She was coasting. She needed a mental break from working. After every fucked up thing that had happened she just needed a little break. She couldn't push herself to put a resume together. Not yet. But she couldn't say that to him. She couldn't let him win. "It's not the same. It's not. And you know it."

"No. What I know is that the minute I got laid off, I started throwing up applications like crazy. Hell, even before that, I was putting out resumes and trying to get freelance clients. I've been working like crazy for us," Dan said. "I'm working for our future, Sarah. I have been. You know that. Shit, I never wanted you to have to be put in the shitty situation of being fired. I know that sucks. I know it hurts, but we both need to try."

Sarah stopped herself from snapping at him. He was right. She knew it. She knew she should try. But it just felt so good. So easy to be taken care of. To let Lester help lighten the load. The idea of putting out a resume, going to an interview and being rejected, being thought of as incapable, was incredibly frightening. Being put back into that box like she had been at the hospital, terrified her.

"I know," Sarah said through gritted teeth, "I know I should do more. I just....it....god. What's wrong with me? I don't even recognize who I am anymore. I feel like this scared little girl who can't do anything."

Dan's face softened, and his shoulders slumped, "I don't see you like that. You're not a scared little girl. I know you've taken some punches... a lot of punches lately. But I know who you are, Sarah. You're smart, you're strong, you're confident. You're a kickass mom and wife, and you kill it at work."

"I don't think I've been any of those things for a long time, Dan," Sarah said, wrapping her arms around herself.

"You still are," Dan said, "We just need to get back to it. We'll figure this all out, okay? I promise."

She leaned her head against his chest. Dan's arms encircled her, and for the first time in weeks, she felt good. Secure. She wanted him to hold her like this all night.

"We'll figure it out, okay?" Dan repeated.

"Okay," Sarah whispered into his chest. Then she added, "I'll try to start looking for a job."

"It's not, I didn't mean to sound like an asshole about it," Dan said. "I just...I want you to know I'm trying, okay? I'm trying to build that future for us. Forge a path out of this world of shit we're in now. It will get better. I promise."

"I know," Sarah whispered, "It's just hard to see it. I don't want to hope. I don't want to hope and be let down again. I'm not...I don't mean you let me down...I just don't want to get my hopes up. It hurts too much."

She looked up at him. He was there, staring back at her with those beautiful eyes of his. Before she could react, his lips were on hers. Sarah let the world drift away and melted into her husband's kiss. It felt good, something she had been missing for such a long time.

It wasn't long before they were upstairs, leaving a trail of their clothes behind them. The bed rocked as they fell onto it, tearing at each other. Mouths on skin, hands everywhere. Sarah gasped as Dan pushed into her; she clawed at his back. She needed this. She needed his cock inside her. After all their fights, she needed this moment together. But even more, after her morning with Lester in the car, she desperately needed to do this.

Dan pumped his hips, and she felt him bottom out inside of her. She wanted more. She wanted to be touched deeper. He slid in and out of her, desperately pumping his dick into her. Sarah bit her lip and tried to focus on how good her husband felt, but her mind kept drifting to Lester. She knew it was fucked up. Thinking about another man while she reconciled with her husband, but the more she tried to fight against it, the more her thoughts betrayed her. Lester's cock filling her cellphone screen. Mary being marched out to her car. Lester and Sarah entwined, watching those dirtbags knock on her door and yell at her. The look of fear, the way she was humiliated in front of everyone.

Dan's cock slipped out of her. She was soaking wet. Too wet.

Dan lined himself back up and pressed in. Sarah shook her head, trying to dislodge the thoughts of Lester. She didn't want to ruin this moment. Dan was pumping into her; his breathing was heavy and hot on her neck. The room was filled with the wet sounds of their coupling, and her head was filled with thoughts of Lester.

“Take me, Dan,” Sarah purred. She couldn’t hold the thoughts back. She leaned into them. “Reclaim what’s yours.”

She bit his earlobe as she said it. Dan’s hips bucked at her words, as a shiver ran through his body. He started breathing harder. She knew she had him. Despite everything, the fantasy still had its hold on him.

“Fuck me, Dan,” Sarah moaned into his ear, “Fuck me. Fuck your wife.”

Dan’s hips pumped. And Sarah felt the sweat on his back. “Fuck me better than him, Dan.”

Sarah’s ankles locked around Dan’s waist, desperately urging him deeper than he was capable of going. Her hips rose off the bed, slamming into him, trying to make up the difference. She needed more.

“Ughfuck,” Dan groaned as her pussy clenched around his cock.

“Fuck me Dan. Fuck me better. Do it. I know you can. Harder. Fuck me harder, Dan,” Sarah whined. Dan slammed his hips into her, hard. He was slamming himself in and out of her. “Fuck me like Lester does,” Sarah moaned in his ear.

“Fuck me hard and deep like he does Dan. Fuck me,” Sarah moaned wantonly.

Dan slammed himself into her. He gasped and did it again. And again. Sarah’s hips were flying off the bed to meet each thrust, only to be slammed back down into the mattress. She clawed at his back.

“Dan. Fuck me. Harder.” Sarah gasped, finally feeling something. She could feel a spark of an orgasm, teasingly, tantalizing, just out of her grasp.

“Don’t stop,” Sarah gasped. She could get it; she could get her second orgasm of the day. She knew it. Dan started to slow; he was gritting his teeth, like he was trying to hold himself back. Sarah’s head thrashed on the bed, her nails dug into his ass cheeks.

“Don’t...don’t stop, Dan. Please. I’m so close, don’t fucking stop,” Sarah said.

“Hold on, just stop for a second,” Dan grunted. She felt his hips flex.

“No. Don’t stop,” Sarah said, “If you stop...” she looked her husband hard in the eyes, “I’m going to have to go back to Lester tonight so he can fuck me properly.”

“Ugh,” Dan grunted, going rigidly still. His eyes closed, and she felt his ass cheeks clench even more firmly. His cock spasmed inside of her, and they both felt it as his cum blasted into her. Sarah held onto him, pumping her hips up off the bed onto his cock as he tried to thrust inside of her.

She was so close, so agonizingly close. All the cum pouring into her mixed with her own juices made his cock slid in and out without gaining any purchase. She slammed herself down on the bed and thrust upwards, trying to take his cock into her.

She groaned in frustration as it slipped out, cum and her juices spilling out of her onto their comforter.

“Fuck,” Dan grunted, punching the pillow as he flipped his body off of her. Sarah clasped her hand between her legs, not wanting more of it to spill out onto their bed. She shuffled off and darted into the bathroom and into the shower to clean herself.

When she returned to the room, Dan was still lying on the bed waiting for her. He looked conflicted. “Did you cum?” He asked quietly.

“I was close,” Sarah said, not meeting his eyes, “Really close.”

“Fuck,” Dan said, “I think I was just too worked up.”

“Oh, I could tell. You love it when I talk about Lester,” Sarah said.

“I hate it,” Dan muttered, but then they shared a glance that told her everything she needed to know.

She got up, walked over to the closet and started going through her clothes.

“What are you doing?” Dan asked.

“Trying to find an outfit to wear with Lester,” Sarah said, “He’s supposed to be taking me out tonight.” She levelled a wicked gaze at him. As much as she knew things had to change, how they had to evolve and find a better path forward, a better future as a family. She didn’t want to let go of Lester. Not yet. She knew it hurt Dan. It was a point of contention. Lester. It hurt his pride and his ego; he wasn’t any different than most other men. And she knew that Lester liked to turn the knife and torture him. But on some level, she knew her husband liked it. And if she could walk along that knife's edge and have the best of both worlds, she would.

“What?” Dan said, his face a mask of hurt and jealousy. Sarah didn't want to fight. Not now. She was tired of the drama and fighting. She let her towel drop. Dan's angry eyes left her face and cascaded down her body.

She sauntered over to him, giving him her fuck me eyes. She crawled on the bed towards his still naked body. “I told you,” she whispered, “That if you don't make me cum. I'm going to go to someone who will.”

Dan opened his mouth to reply, but Sarah's mouth opened faster. She pushed down on his chest as her head descended towards his crotch and took her husband's cock, slick with her own juices and his dribbling cum into her mouth.

“Goddammit,” Dan muttered as Sarah worked on her husband and urged him to cum again.

The girls were upstairs playing in their room when Lester's SUV pulled into the driveway. He didn't bother getting out. He'd insisted on picking her up. Sarah knew it was another of his male power plays.

Dan fumed at the imposition, but she'd sapped enough of his energy during their afternoon tryst that he didn't put up much of a fight. He still didn't like the arrangement. But he'd come around to her way of thinking. They needed Lester. At least for the short term. They needed his help financially to stay afloat, and Sarah needed him to keep fucking her.

She felt a pang of guilt at forcing the issue. Using the taboo of their sex to help coerce Dan. But Lester had blown her mind wide open at the possibilities of what sex could be. And she didn't know if there was any way she could ever close that Pandora's box now.

Dan stood at the door, his face beet red, a pouting mixture of anger, arousal and injury. Sarah hated how much his look turned her on. Lester honked from the driveway, and Dan turned to the open door, staring daggers at him.

“Someone's gonna see if he keeps doing that shit,” Dan said through clenched teeth. “The girls are right fucking upstairs, and we have nosy neighbors.”

“Shhh,” Sarah said, putting a finger on Dan’s lips, “It’ll be okay. Give me a kiss before I go.”

Dan pried his eyes away from the dark SUV and reluctantly leaned in and gave Sarah a quick kiss.

“Did my lips hurt you that bad?” Sarah said with mock offense, “That looked painful.”

“No. It’s not...you know what it is,” Dan said.

“I know,” Sarah whispered, “I know. It’ll be okay. I promise. Like you said, we’ll be okay, right?”

“Right,” Dan said, “I’m looking up jobs for you while you’re gone.”

Sarah chuckled, “Okay. I can’t wait to look at them.”

“You sure you have to go?” Dan said as Sarah stepped to the door.

“I have to earn my paycheck somehow,” Sarah said, her eyes flicked up to the top of the stairs, “Besides, I don’t think you want us in here.”

“We should have got your parents to babysit,” Dan said.

“We already use them too much as it is,” Sarah said. Lester honked his horn again, and Dan stiffened.

“Alright, I’d better go,” Sarah said as she flashed him a sweet smile. She turned and went down the front walkway and met eyes with Lester. Her sweet smile grew until it went from ear to ear. She hurried around to the passenger side of the car and got in. Lester was still staring out his window at Dan.

When he finally turned to look at her, he smirked, then reached over and roughly grabbed the back of her head and pulled her into a sloppy kiss. Sarah was taken aback and caught herself on the center console before melting fully into the kiss.

When she finally came up for air, she saw Dan over Lester’s shoulder, standing in their doorway with that same conflicted erotic expression on his face. Lester followed her eyes and chuckled, “Put your seat belt on, safety first.”

Then he giggled; she wasn’t sure why, but he started backing out of the driveway. As he pulled onto the street, he honked again and took off. Sarah looked over her shoulder as they drove down the street until she couldn’t see Dan waiting in the doorway any longer.

“Where are we going?” Sarah asked, looking down at the tight black dress she had struggled into. It fit her curves all the right ways. It hugged her hips and breasts, pushing the girls up in a way that screamed for attention.

“Revenge,” Lester said, raising his eyebrows comically at her.

She pursed her lips before saying, “Richard?”

“Richard,” Lester confirmed, nodding his head, “By this time tomorrow, he’ll have been fired by the board.”

“How?” Sarah said, “What are we going to do?”

“Nu-uh,” Lester said, “Not we. What you’re gonna do.”

“How am I going to get him fired by the board?” Sarah asked, “Are we roping him into the whole selling diabetic strips thing? I don’t see that working.”

“You’ll see,” Lester said, running a red light. “Right now, Richard is sitting alone at a bar like he usually is every night. He doesn’t like going home to his wife until it’s late and she is blitzed out of her mind on wine and valium.”

“How do you know that?” Sarah said, looking skeptically at Lester. He was smart. Creepy smart. But even that seemed like a stretch, “Did he tell you that?”

“No, I inferred,” Lester said, “He uses a company phone, remember? I have his location sharing turned on. He’s there every night after work. I’ve peeked in at him. He’s always alone at the bar. He stays until late. And he’s had conversations with his wife about picking up her prescription or wine on the way home.”

“That’s such an invasion of privacy,” Sarah said, crossing her arms. “It breaks so many hospital policies.”

“Do you want to get revenge on this fuckwad or not?” Lester said, raising his voice.

“You really enjoy fucking with people, don’t you?” Sarah said.

“I do. Some more than others,” Lester said.

“Do you get off on it?” Sarah asked.

Lester chewed on her words before answering, “I like winning. But sometimes I get off on it. In the right scenario, like fucking with Dan. I love fucking you and making him watch like an impotent little boy.”

“That’s fucked up, Lester,” Sarah said.

“I know you get off on that shit too, Sarah, don’t lie to me.”

Sarah didn’t respond for a full two minutes, just staring out the windshield, mulling things over.

“So, what’s the plan tonight?” She finally said, breaking the silence.

“That’s my girl,” Lester said, leaning over and grabbing a handful of her thighs. His fat fingers dug into her flesh, and she winced in pain.

He let go of her leg and reached into the glove box. A grungy-looking plastic red diamond attached to a key dropped out. Sarah recognized it.

“Is this?” Sarah started as she reached down to pick it up.

“Yup. Same place,” Lester said. “Same grungy fucking motel where you fucked Richard behind my back.”

“How did you know what motel?” Sarah asked.

“Richard’s phone’s location is always on. I made sure of that. It’s a corporate phone. It wasn’t hard to put the pieces together.” Lester mocked.

“Okay, sure, but why? Why do you have this key here?” Sarah asked, but she already had an idea where this was heading.

“You’re going to go into that bar. And you’re going to seduce him back to the room. He keeps a bottle of whisky in his car. When you’re inside, I’m gonna put something in it. Then, when he’s out, we’re gonna blow up his career.” Lester said gleefully.

“Lester, I’m not sure about this one,” She hugged herself as she shook her head, not wanting to go back to the dingy motel where Richard had used her body and discarded her. The final stamp on her tenure at the hospital, a last spit in the face. “I don’t want to go back there.”

“He fucked you over, and then he fucked you there,” Lester spat. “It’s time to fuck him there, too. We’re gonna fuck up the one thing he cares about. Not his marriage. His career, how people see him.”

“How are we gonna do that?” Sarah asked, “What are we going to do once he’s back in the room, passed out? And where did you get something to sedate him with? How do you know how to do that?”

“Never mind the little details,” Lester waved his hand at her dismissively. “It’ll all work, you just need to worry about how you’re gonna seduce him.”

Sarah rolled her eyes, and now it was her turn to chuckle, “Have you seen this dress?”

She gestured to herself, and Lester’s eyes lingered far too long on her body then was wise for someone who was supposed to be driving. She added, “He won’t stand a chance.”

Sarah straightened her dress, pulling it down before she pushed open the doors of the dimly lit bar. All eyes turned to her, but she pretended to ignore them as they ran over her body. It was a necessary skill most women had to develop; she was well aware of every single one.

Sarah looked around without focusing on anyone in particular. This looked like an after-work watering hole filled with the type of businessman who delayed going home to their wives. At least Lester was right about that.

Seated alone at the bar was Richard, eyes fixed on the TV behind the bar, a glass with dark brown liquor in his hand. Lester had suggested she go right up to him and just ask him back to her room. But she knew better; men enjoyed the chase. They enjoyed ‘winning’ and conquering, and Richard was no exception.

She slid into a seat at the bar and ordered a cabernet. It was a shitty vintage, but she kept the frown off her face as she slowly nursed it. It didn’t take long for a man to approach her, directly cutting off her view of Richard. Sarah politely, yet firmly, dismissed him, saying she was waiting for her husband. The man walked back to his table, where the group of men waiting there loudly laughed at his failure.

In the mirror behind the bar, Sarah saw Richard turn to see what the noise was about. When he did, his eyes landed directly on Sarah. He smirked and played with the wedding ring on his left hand. His eyes went back to the screen, but he kept turning to look at her. The smirk didn’t leave his face. Sarah just waited patiently as she sipped the disgusting wine.

It only took two minutes before Richard hefted himself off his stool and walked down next to where she sat.

“Sarah Williams,” he said, his eyes running lasciviously up and down her body. “Been a while.”

“Not long enough,” Sarah said back, giving him a sharp glance. Now that he was so close, she was having trouble keeping her rage at him contained. How easily he’d cast her aside after she’d opened herself for him.

“Come on, don’t be like that,” Richard said, his hand moving predatorily over the back of her stool. She knew then that she had him.

“Be like what?” Sarah said, giving him a dirty look.

“So hostile. We can still be friends, right?” Richard smirked as he stepped in closer to her. She could feel the heat radiating off his old, declining body, the smell of a day at the hospital. His musky, old man cologne was as cloying as the wine in her glass.

She turned, pointing her exposed knees at him. His eyes tracked them, and he looked like a salivating dog. “I’m actually here looking to make new friends,” she said in a sultry voice, “But you’re scaring them all away.”

“Oh, a new friend, huh? Whatever for? Does your husband know you’re here?” Richard said, not stepping back.

“My marriage is none of your business,” Sarah said as she sipped at her glass.

“Still being so standoffish, just like at the hospital,” Richard shook his head, “What kind of new friend are you looking for?”

Sarah levelled her gaze at him, reached into her purse and pulled out the hotel room key. She set it on the bar top and held Richard’s gaze, “The kind of friend who can give me what I need.”

Richard cocked an eyebrow at her, and the grin stayed plastered to his face. “Why roll the dice on a random new friend? Last time we had our fun, you seemed to really enjoy yourself. I did too.”

He picked up the key and slid it into his pocket. “Let’s go.”

Sarah held his eyes with hers for several seconds, giving him a contemptuous gaze. She reached out for her glass and downed the last of it before throwing some money on the bar. She slid out of her chair and headed towards the door without another word. There was a groan from the group of guys in the back, and she saw Richard wave at them from the overhead mirror as he followed her out.

“Come on,” Richard said once they were outside. He slid his hand around her waist, “My car’s this way.”

Sarah’s skin crawled under his touch. His fingertips pressed into her dress, eager to touch what he could feel underneath. “I knew you’d want more,” Richard whispered in her ear. When they got to his car, he pinned her against the passenger side door. His lips were on hers. He tasted like cheap whisky, but Sarah returned the kiss as he pressed his crotch against her. She could feel the heat from his growing cock as he ground himself against her. Despite her contempt for this man, her body was responding to his actions. Her back slackened against the door, and Richard pressed in harder. Sarah stifled a sincere moan as his tongue speared past her lips, spreading them.

Before she got lost in the moment and fucked him right here in the parking lot, she pressed a hand to his chest. “Slow down, big boy,” Sarah gasped, “Let’s go back to the room. I need something else to drink before I do this.”

Richard smirked as he withdrew, clearly happy with himself. He backed away and opened the passenger door for Sarah, a stark contrast to when he’d last kicked her out of it. Sarah got in and Richard went into the driver’s side. He reached into the back, where there was a leather satchel. He rooted around in it until he pulled out a flask filled with whiskey.

“Here, take a swig,” Richard said as he started his car. It didn’t seem like Lester had gotten in here, but she pretended to take a drink anyway. Richard drove them to the rundown motel, his hand greedily massaging her thigh the entire time.

“Your turn,” Sarah said, handing him the whiskey. He took a long pull from it.

“Bring it in the room,” Sarah said, opening her door, “Let’s party.”

Richard’s smile widened. He took another drink, grabbed his satchel and followed her into the dirty room, different from the one they’d used, but just as squalid. Sarah took the whisky from him and pretended to have another drink. She handed it back to Richard as his arms encircled her from behind. His cock pressed against her backside, and again, Sarah found herself responding to its growing presence. Her ass wiggled back against it seductively without her even realizing it.

“Let’s finish this,” Sarah said as she let go of the bottle. Then his lips were on her neck, kissing the area that Dan, and then Lester, had learned could work so well to get her going.

“Mhmm,” Sarah let a moan slip out. If Lester’s plan didn’t work, she would be bent over the bed soon. Richard took another long pull of the whisky and handed it back to Sarah. His hands landed on her breasts, and he gave them a gentle squeeze. He quickly found the straps of her dress, and it wasn’t long before he’d pulled them down her arms. He wasn’t watching her pretend to drink.

He pulled her to the bed and sat on it, as he pulled the dress down her body, exposing her lacy white bra and thong underwear. He clearly liked what he saw as her dress dropped to the floor. He didn’t even seem to notice as Sarah handed the whisky back to him, and he absent-mindedly drank a healthy swig from it.

Sarah stepped up between his manspreading legs and swayed her hips alluringly. His grubby hands were on her thighs, running up the delicate material still hugging her hips. She pushed them down as she knelt. Her knees pressed into the disgusting carpet that was harder than it should’ve been. Sarah suppressed a gag, wondering when the last time the rug had been steam cleaned. Her hands ran up and down Richard’s pants-covered legs, teasing him. She raised an eyebrow at the flask, “You gonna finish that?”

Richard looked at her through half-lidded eyes, seemingly swaying in place. He offered it to her with a shaking hand, slurring his words, “You want it?”

“I’m gonna have my mouth full of something else,” Sarah said as she tugged at his worn belt.

Richard laughed and leaned back on his elbows, emptying the contents of the flask down his throat. In one swift motion, Sarah pulled Richard’s belt out of his pants and threw it on the floor. Her hands quickly worked the clasp of his pants while Richard started unbuttoning his shirt. He raised his hips as Sarah pulled down his pants and boxers together, letting his fat cock spill out.

Sarah let out an unsteady breath, staring down at its length. Thoughts of her scheme with Lester slowly retreated to the back of her head as she grasped his cock and felt its warm power in her palm. Without waiting, she lowered her mouth to it and sucked it in.

“Ughh,” Richard groaned as he laid back on the bed. The empty flask tumbled to the floor. Sarah stroked his swelling shaft and savoured the taste of the man as his hard cock slid in and out of her mouth. Sarah moaned and pulled off his cock, licking down his hardened shaft, her hand running up and down it. She moaned into his cock, getting lost in the act. Her other hand cradled his wrinkled balls. Sarah licked up his shaft and swirled her tongue around his cockhead, catching the precum that had begun to slowly ooze out of it.

There was a click from somewhere close by, but only part of Sarah's brain registered the sound.

"Such a trooper. Still going at it, huh?" Lester's voice said, shocking Sarah out of her sex induced trance. She looked over to see the odd little man standing at the foot of the other queen bed, going through Richard's satchel. Fear spiked in her, and she glanced up at Richard. He was splayed out, starfished on the bed, heavy breaths coming from his throat.

Sarah pulled herself back, her hand still wrapped around his cock as she regarded him.

"He's out," Lester said tersely, "Good job."

Sarah reluctantly let go of the cock and rose to her feet. She went next to the bed and tentatively poked Richard in the chest. He grunted in his sleep in response. Lester came and sat down next to the passed-out executive. He had Richard's laptop on his lap. He grabbed Richard's hand and pressed his finger to the key on it, unlocking the system.

"He saves all his passwords to Chrome," Lester chuckled, "Idiot."

Sarah noticed for the first time that Lester was wearing latex gloves as he typed away on the computer. She looked between her passed-out former CEO and her husband's roommate's fat frame, hunched over the laptop. It was surreal to know this was happening in a dirty, no-tell motel. When had this become her life? She should be home watching trashy reality TV on Netflix right now, not living it.

Instead, she was standing in nothing more than her lacy white bra and panties in the middle of this bizarre scene. Lester continued to ignore her, typing away, and Sarah began to regret the whole thing. At least Richard had been paying attention to her.

"Come here," Lester said, patting the bed next to him. Sarah wrapped her arms around herself and walked to him. She had to move Richard's arm in order to sit. The screen in front of Lester was filled with a myriad of different windows, some she recognized as hospital applications, others looked like Richard's personal files.

"Let's get started," Lester said and pulled up LinkedIn. He had a message composed that appeared to be formatted as a DM. It was sloppily written, the hallmark of someone who was drunk. Instead of being sent as a DM, it was going to be posted to Richard's wall. It made it seem like Richard was talking shit about hospital staff and a couple of the board's members.

"Shall I do the honors?" Lester asked. Sarah swallowed, knowing there was no going back from this. She nodded, and Lester pressed the enter key. The screen refreshed, and the post was now up on his wall.

Next, Lester opened Richard's email. There was suddenly another sloppily written email, and this time she recognized the name of the female department head it was addressed to. But Lester had added the entire hospital directory to the email.

"Gonna be hard to walk this back, especially without Mary to cover for him," Lester said, "I'm sure the board is gonna want to get an emergency HR person in sooner rather than later. They'll have to deal with this at once."

"It's crazy," Sarah said, knowing it would land like a bomb in the hospital. The email was quite suggestive and propositioning of the married department head. Sarah knew her, she wouldn't take it well. This is something she'd bring right to HR.

"He's going to know it's me, Lester," Sarah said, "He'll know I did this."

"His memory will be fuzzy. Trust me," Lester said, "Besides, what's he gonna do? Tell his wife you went on his laptop while he was innocently in a grungy motel room with you? The divorce will ruin the guy. I mean, so will this, but you know what I mean."

"Let's wait to send this one," Lester said, putting the laptop onto the nightstand. He eyed her up and down, "Now what can we do while we wait?"

Before Sarah could answer, Lester's hands were on her bare hips, pulling her towards him. He licked his lips, and she felt his cock pressing against his sweatpants into her hip. She stifled a moan as his fat lips kissed her neck and trailed down to her heaving chest.

"Been dying to fuck you since our little video call this morning," Lester said, "Should have made you drive over and suck me off in the hospital parking lot."

"Mhmm, what made you hotter? Seeing me in that car playing with myself or fucking over someone like Mary?" Sarah held onto his shoulders as Lester's tongue started its expert lapping at her breasts.

"Both. I love fucking with people. Like Mary. Richard. Dan. Mhmmm. Whoever," Lester said between slurps of her breasts, "But it was hot seeing you get off to it too."

Touching yourself while I stroked my cock. Knowing what we did together. Real partners in crime.”

“That was so hot,” Sarah breathed, revelling in the memory of Mary being escorted out of the building. She’d reclaimed some of her power. She opened her eyes and looked over at Richard’s passed-out form. And she’d reclaim just a bit more of the power they took from her tonight.

Lester pulled her down onto the bed, lying with his waist right next to Richard’s head, “Take it out.”

Sarah cocked an eyebrow at Lester, but wanted to see where he was going with this. She pulled down his ratty sweat pants. The large bulge in his tight white underwear looked cartoonishly comical. She shook her head and pulled the raggy briefs down too, freeing the massive organ that she had been salivating over since earlier in the day.

“This is what I wanted,” Sarah said aloud to herself. Lester possessively grabbed a handful of her pretty blonde mane and pulled her down onto his cock. Sarah didn’t so much as hesitate. She opened her mouth and took Lester’s enormous cock into it, moaning as it filled her. She slid her tongue underneath his bulging cock, tasting him, confirming that he hadn’t cared to shower before their ‘date’. It disgusted her, but another part of her was so attracted to how Lester just did whatever he wanted and made no apologies for who he was.

“Mhmmmm,” Sarah moaned around Lester’s cock. She looked up at him seductively, seeing his fat head and stubble spread unevenly across his three trembling chins. It wasn’t a great angle, but she was looking at him through eyes shaded with lust, knowing what he could do to her.

“Suck my cock right next to your boss,” Lester chuckled.

Sarah’s eyes darted to Richard’s passed-out face, his mouth hanging agape as he snored away. Part of her wished he was awake to watch what was about to happen. She loved putting on a show for an audience. This was fucked up, but she was loving it. Richard had walked in here thinking he was going to fuck her, only for Lester to take his place.

“You’re essentially cucking Richard tonight, you know that?” Sarah asked as she lovingly licked up Lester’s hairy shaft.

The fat man chuckled, “Yeah, I guess I kind of am, aren’t I? Too bad he’ll never know about it. Not like old Danny boy - did you see how impotent he looked standing at the door? Jesus, how could he just let you leave with another man like that?”

“Mhmmm, it must have been humiliating,” Sarah teased as she worked Lester’s shaft with both hands, admiring it as it grew even larger.

Lester slapped Richard on the face and chuckled to himself. “Dan is the best to fuck with. He’s always so weak. And he hates how much he enjoys all of it.”

Sarah thought back to their afternoon reconciliation. Dan had been so angry and worked up before, yet a few hours later, he’d just stood by as she walked out the door to go to Lester, knowing she was going to fuck him.

“God, you’re a pro at that,” Lester said, hands behind his head as Sarah bobbed up and down on his cock in a well-practiced motion. She licked the underside of his cock in her mouth while her hands consummately worked his shaft and gargantuan balls. She could do this all night, worship his powerful cock. She lowered her head, pushing his cock into the back of her throat. Her lips were spread wide as she struggled to take all of him in. The angle wasn’t the best when she came from above; she couldn’t fit his entire length all in. His pubic hair wasn’t even touching her nose.

“You’ve taught me well,” Sarah purred, “I’d never sucked a cock this big until you came along.”

“I love when you talk dirty. Fuck, it’s hot knowing an innocent little milf talks like that now,” Lester said.

“I was never innocent,” Sarah said, playing with his cock. Looking at it thoughtfully, “And I’ve always talked dirty.”

“Well, you better save some of that dirty talk for when we call Dan in a minute,” Lester said.

A shiver shot through Sarah, her thighs rubbing together. “You want to loop Dan into this? I thought you wanted me all to yourself?”

“Let’s just say I’m in the mood to spread the humiliation around tonight,” Lester shrugged and pulled off his dirty shirt. “And I know it gets you off, too. Mary, now Richard here. Dan needs a turn. Actually, get up here now. Take those panties off.”

Sarah shimmied out of her white lacy thong and gave one more look to the sleeping Richard, then crawled up the bed to Lester’s cock. The feeling of the cool air of the motel room on her newly exposed pussy reminded her just how wet she was. She was about to mount him when his hand stopped her, “Not yet. Just rub yourself against it for a second.”

Somewhat annoyed, Sarah pressed her pussy lips against the girthy shaft of Lester's cock. She ground herself against it, feeling its hardness and veins run over her clit and pussy lips. It felt good, and soon she got lost in the rhythm. But each time she pulled up near his cockhead, she had to stifle the instinct to just slam herself down onto his massive shaft.

Lester fumbled for his phone at the side of the bed. He gave her a sly smile as he opened it up. He showed her the screen when he'd pulled up Dan's contact info, and he hit the dial button for a FaceTime call.

It rang and rang. Sarah was worried that he wouldn't answer. But then she heard her husband's voice.

"What do you want, Les...." Dan trailed off, and it took Sarah a minute to figure out why. Lester was now pointing the camera directly at his cock with Sarah's pussy behind it in the frame.

"Okay, Sarah," Lester said, "Now be a good girl and slowly get on my cock. We don't want Danny to miss any of this."

Sarah bit her lip, wishing she could see Dan's face, but Lester held the screen toward himself. She wasn't entirely sure if her husband was still there with the lack of sound from his end. Sarah pushed her pussy against Lester's thick shaft and rose, inch by inch, until her pussy was positioned directly over Lester's surging cock head. Without waiting for permission or another denial, she slowly lowered herself down on it.

Lester's fat cockhead pushed her lips aside, then gradually disappeared inside of her.

"Ffffuuckk," Sarah moaned. Lester was pointing the camera up at her face now, capturing her reaction to taking in his cock. She looked at him seductively, pleading to the camera and Lester for more as she lowered herself further.

"Stop," Lester said, his hand on her hip. Sarah shot him a disappointed look. Lester pointed the camera at his cock and her pussy again, "See that, Danny? I think that's about your whole length. What I've got inside her right now."

He panned the phone down to the bottom of his shaft, showing him the extra exposed inches of his throbbing shaft still not in Sarah yet, "We've got a long way to go until she's properly filled up. How's it feel knowing I touch parts of your wife you'll never be able to? Hell, your fingers probably can't even get as deep as my cock can. And that's not even considering how much wider I spread her pussy open."

“Okay, Sarah, all the way down now. Make sure Danny sees how much of my cock you can take,” Lester said. Sarah bit her lip and nodded, lowering herself down Lester’s massive appendage, inch by heavenly fucking inch. Lester kept switching the camera to frame her face and then lower to show Dan as his cock slowly disappeared within her.

Finally, Lester was fully embedded inside of her, and the lust-racked wife took a second to breathe and adjust to his size. All the while Lester was filming her reaction, “Faces you’ve never seen on her, right little buddy? Sarah, you ever notice how Danny just doesn’t talk or respond when we’re fucking? Weird right? Like I kind of want an ‘atta boy’ or high five, ya know? I mean, I am doing his job in keeping you satisfied. Or should we call it my job now that we’re in a throuple? It’s hard to keep straight.”

Sarah groaned. Lester’s cock felt so fucking good inside of her. She needed this. Needed to feel this full. Through half-closed eyes, she stared down at the obese monster that was Lester. His wispy hair on his head was out of control like a dishevelled mad scientist. She knew it signalled a lack of proper care and hygiene but her body didn’t care. To her, in that moment, it told her that he didn’t care about anything else, other than being with her. Other than making her feel amazing. She bit her lip and found herself drawn to his scruffy and unkempt look.

“All I know is now I’m bringing home the bacon and giving Sarah what she needs.” With that, Lester thrust his hips up, pushing deeply into Sarah and making her jump with pleasure. “You’re kinda expendable at this point, little buddy.”

“Fuckkk Lester,” Sarah moaned, her jaw hanging open as she looked past the phone, locked on Lester’s glaring beady eyes. He felt so fucking good, better than the last time. She felt so full, fuller than she had earlier with Dan.

“I needed this,” Sarah panted. She ran her arms up Lester’s body, almost ignoring the camera entirely. Lester eagerly angled the camera to catch every move she made.

“Tell Danny,” Lester said. Sarah gave Lester a naughty smile and looked down at the back of his phone.

“I needed this,” she whispered huskily. She licked her lips and gave Dan a special message, “I didn’t get what I needed today.”

“And what did you need, baby?” Lester whispered.

“Lester,” She moaned into the phone’s camera, “I needed Lester.”

Lester's smirk grew, and he laid back as far as he could, holding his phone close to his chest to point it up at Sarah's beautiful form. He captured her as she eagerly rode his cock, up and down, her mouth quivering with pleasure. She threw her head back in ecstasy, her hands grasping her breasts. She played with herself, palms pressing into her firm nipples, all the while Dan stayed silent on the other end.

She both hated and loved his silent complacency. Sarah looked down at Richard lying there, unconsciously playing a part in a wicked threesome. Or foursome, she reminded herself. It was all so deliciously fucked up. She knew Lester liked fucking with people. She knew Dan got off on being humiliated. So she decided to lean into both urges.

She bit her lip and leaned forward, giving Dan a great view of her ample hanging breasts. She continued to frantically ride Lester's cock, it hurt so good, felt so right inside her. She stifled a soft moan. "Dan, he's, he's going to make me cum."

The words were like music to Lester's ears. He was half tempted to look down at his screen and see Dan's reaction, but Sarah was a much more appetizing vision to look at. Sarah's little whispers toying with her husband were cute, and all but Lester wanted to kick things up a notch. Pull them both into his own perverse fantasies, letting the couple act them out without either one realizing it.

"Did you tell him?" Lester asked as he strenuously pumped his misshapen hips up off the bed, "Does he know?"

"No," Sarah said. A confused look momentarily appeared on her face, then quickly disappeared, replaced by the seductive look of a willing accomplice. "I was waiting for you to do the honors."

"Good girl," Lester said, letting one of his hands trace up Sarah's thigh and hold her hip in a domineering fashion. She was finally his. It might not be tonight, but he knew it would happen soon, once her hormones regulated. She wasn't on her birth control anymore. To Dan and Sarah, the words would all just be the pretense of dirty talk, but he knew the truth behind them.

Lester suppressed a cackle as he watched Sarah ride him. Ride him with her fertile body on his naked, unprotected cock.

"Danny," Lester said, unable to wipe the shit-eating grin off his face, "We're trying." He stopped himself from saying more, his laughter almost bursting out.

Dan didn't respond, but Lester could hear his pathetic breathing and the sound of ruffling coming from his phone. He didn't care to look at his roommate's face. Lester controlled himself and continued, “Sarah, Sarah’s stopped her birth control. And I got my operation reversed.”

Sarah cocked her head, trying to read him. He thrust his unfit hips up off the bed to silence her.

“Ughnmhmmmm,” She moaned, her hands slapping down on his gut to brace herself for the pounding from below. She panted hard, and her pussy tightly squeezed his pistoning cock. She loved all of this.

“Your wife is unprotected,” Lester said, “You really should have stopped her from leaving tonight. You just let her walk out the door to be impregnated. Fucking cuck.”

Sarah shivered on top of him, her blonde hair framing her beautiful face as she sucked in a hissed breath. She opened her eyes and looked up at Lester with the rawest, most animalistic fuck me eyes he’d ever seen from her. She was practically glowing with incandescent lust.

“We didn’t want you to miss out on the moment,” Lester said, “Sarah wanted you to be there at the conception of the next mouth you’re gonna have to feed. We decided to try for at least one more.”

“Fuck baby,” Sarah racked her nails against his sunken chest and bloated gut as she rode him cowgirl. Lester wanted to flip her over and pound her. To really drive into her spread-eagled when he unleashed his cum into her. But there was something wicked about watching her willingly ride him to the point of no return, pushing him up into her of her own will, accepting it and letting it happen.

And a perverted part of Lester wanted Dan to sit there and watch the insemination happen. He never cared or got off on Dan being there. But he did take great pleasure in inflicting mental scars on the man, and this could be another, perhaps the greatest of them all. Sarah’s complicity in the act made it feel like his cock had never been harder than it was in this moment.

“I’m sorry,” Sarah said huskily, staring down at the phone, “I didn’t know how to tell you. I know we always talked about stopping at two, but...god Dan...”

Sarah was playing her part perfectly, but she didn’t know how close to reality what she was saying was. “Just the thought of Lester cumming in me and knocking me up....at first it was just a fantasy but fuck...I can’t....I want it to happen, Dan...God, I need him to....I want him to explode inside me completely unprotected and do it. Do it. FFuuckk...”

“Don’t be sorry,” Lester said, comfortingly rubbing her thigh as he filmed her, “Danny wants this to happen. Otherwise, he’d speak up, right?”

Amidst her involuntary expressions of lust and pleasure, she managed to give him a knowing smile, “Dan, you want Lester to put a baby in me? To fuck your wife like crazy until he finally claims me completely like this? By making my belly swell with another child? Is that what you want, Dan?”

Lester chanced a glance down at the screen. Dan’s face was an intense mix of arousal and anger. Surprisingly, both of his hands were visible, balled into fists. Lester noted that the man wasn’t jerking off as expected of the sad cuckold he’d become. It looked like he was trying to muster the mental fortitude to respond. Just as he opened his mouth to speak, Lester pressed the mute button on the screen.

Sarah licked her lips, expectantly, waiting to savor her husband’s reply. All the while, she slowly teased herself, riding up and down Lester’s staggering cock at a snail’s pace. Dan’s mouth was moving on the phone screen, visible only to his roommate. Lester looked up at Sarah, “I guess he does, otherwise he would say something, right?”

“Okay. Fuck. Okay,” Sarah breathed as she increased her pace, eyes locked on her obese lover’s. Lester felt her vaginal walls tighten around his cock, and he gave a couple of lazy thrusts up into her in response. Sarah’s mouth hung open agape with each one. “We’re doing this,” she breathed, fully getting into the fantasy, letting it run rampant through her mind, “Lester’s really going to knock me up. Your fat, creepy slob of a roommate is going to impregnate your wife. This is what you want? Is my husband really going to let this happen? That’s so, sooo fucked up.”

“It’s fucking pathetic,” Lester growled. He held the phone and leaned his arm against the cheap plywood headboard, propping it up so the screen faced the wall. He was done fucking the young mother with one hand. He grabbed both of Sarah’s lithe hips and pulled her down onto his straining cock.

“Ughhhhhh...mhmhmhmhm,” Sarah moaned, rolling her hips in time with Lester’s angry thrusts. She was already working herself up to an orgasm. She planted her hands on Lester’s chest, then slid them up to his slumping shoulders and started licking his hairy chest while her perfect ass worked up and down the contours of his ridiculously large cock. The angle felt amazing. Between loving licks, she whisper-groaned, “Fuck. Close.”

Lester ran his hands over her hips and ass, letting the woman he owned do her thing. She bucked spastically up and down on him, her tongue bathing his skin in cool saliva.

She pushed herself up so that she was face to face with Lester, looking into his beady eyes, “Feels so good, Lester. I’m almost there.”

“Cum for me, Sarah, give me one. Squeeze me. I have buckets of my cum to dump into you tonight,” Lester breathed foully.

“Fuck I want it. I want it, Lester. I want all your cum. Fuck, please,” Sarah’s eyes rolled shut as she focused on the sensations of Lester’s disproportionately grandiose cock sliding in and out of her sopping slit. She pushed her ass up and down, taking his cock in her pussy, sliding against the rough ridges of her G-Spot.

An entirely new feeling began coalescing in her stomach. It had the tingling of a massive orgasm, but it felt deeper somehow, like it was bubbling up from where her mind connected with her body. In an instant, something essential felt like it broke, and all at once, a tsunami of pleasurable fire seemed to rip through the break and spread out across her quaking body. Her toes curled, and she forgot how to breathe as all her muscles tightened in excruciating rapture. Sarah’s mouth hung open, twisted in ecstasy as her orgasm hit her in exultant waves, spiralling across every inch of her soul.

“Guuuhhh-Mhmmmmmmmmmm-Uhhohhhhhhhh.”

“Not sure Danny knows that sound,” Lester muttered to himself in awe of the shaking wife’s display. Sarah’s pussy squeezed his cock like a vice and stayed perfectly still, gripping the bulky girth mid-shaft for several seconds. Once Lester heard Sarah take a breath, both of his fat hands dug into the skin of her hips. He hoisted up his sizable waist and speared her pussy deep with his overgrown cock.

“Uhhhh,” Sarah said, caught utterly off guard. Lester dropped his jutting hips back down to the bed, then repeated the emphatic movement, lifting Sarah’s body up with him. Each time she inhaled sharply in response. It took three or four thrusts for her to begin to catch her breath and start aggressively pounding back down onto him, “Uhhh.”

Lester’s grungy hands were all over her now. Her toned back, her bubble-shaped ass, her sloping breasts. He was hungry for her, hungry to plant his sloshing seed deep within her fertile womb. Sarah ground her hips down on Lester’s towering cock, agonizing over how amazing it felt inside of her as it touched deeper than Dan or any other man had ever been. Ignited more of the nerve endings inside of her, filling her with life-altering pressure. The urgency of his hands on her body made her wetter than she could ever remember, but this beast of a man was in no danger of slipping out of her. Not when there was so fucking much of him.

Lester again pushed his hips up hard, pushing Sarah further up off the bed. He felt like this must be what a fucked up yoga pretzel pose felt like, but then Sarah’s eyes closed while her mouth expelled a held breath. It was worth the exertion. With another huff of breath, he dropped his jiggling hips to bed, eliciting another loud moan from the sexy mother of two. Lester kicked his leg out in exertion, and it hit something hard. He didn't have time to look, but he suspected it was Richard's head. As he thrust up again, he gave it another boot for good measure.

Sarah responded to the motion, "God Lester. Fuck. Feels so good, baby. Sooo good."

"It's gonna feel even better when my cum explodes into you. Hitting every part of you, filling you up, making you..."

"...Knocked up," Sarah finished his sentence, "Making me pregnant! Putting your baby in me! Fucking it into me! Fuck I'm gonna have Lester's baby, Dan."

"Beg for it," Lester said as Sarah's well fucked pussy squeezed his cock firmly again. She felt amazing, wrapped around him. It felt deeper than any connection she'd ever experienced. He stared up at her, her beautiful face staring back at him with an unquenchable blaze of want and desire. Looking at him like he was the only thing that mattered to her. The phone had been completely forgotten as they held each other's loving gaze. Lester's giant balls prickled, an early sensation of his impending eruption.

"Please, Lester. Please do it. Do it. Fuck. Explode in me. I want to feel your cum pouring out of me," Sarah humped on his piercing cock. Each time she went up and down, her mouth seemed to quiver. As the words poured out of her, she repeatedly slammed herself down on him faster and faster. There was a light sheen of sweat on her immaculate face and shoulders. Lester's hips thrashed wildly up off the bed, meeting her downward momentum. He kicked Richard in the head again in their passionate frenzy.

"I need to feel your cum, make me pregnant, Lester. Knock me up. Fuck. Make me a mommy, Lester. I want it!" Sarah cried, pounding down so hard on his inflated cock. Sarah let the words slip from her mouth, lost in the sensations of Lester's giant cock deep inside of her. She'd say anything to keep feeling like this.

Lester grabbed both sides of her face and pulled her lips down to meet his. They mashed together, tongue and teeth. A kiss as ugly as it was fiery. Both of them hungry for the other. Their tongues clashed, battling for supremacy in each other's mouths, swirling around ferally, exploring every inch of the other's open oral cavity.

They parted, a strand of saliva breaking between them, both panting hard, each of them fucking the other into delightful oblivion. For a moment, Sarah forgot all about her birth control pills and felt like she was actually on the verge of being impregnated again.

Being knocked up by this beast of a man, by their outlier on the edge of society. But she didn't stop for a single second. Not even to give it a moment's thought.

"I'm gonna cum," Lester declared in a bellowing voice. Someone in the room next door knocked hard on their wall, angry at the interruption.

Sarah slammed back down onto Lester, his declaration and its consequences clear in her mind.

"Do it!" Sarah screamed, "Cum for me, Lester! Cum...Mhmmm....FUCK CUM. GIVE IT TO ME."

"GONNA," Lester breathed hard, "GONNA KNOCK YOU THE FUCK UP."

"DO IT!" Sarah screamed in his face. She pushed forward and kissed his lips again. Lester's body was thrashing beneath hers as they fucked athletically. She broke the kiss and in a hoarse whisper, said, "Knock me up, big boy. Fill me with your seed. I want your cum. Drench me. I want it. Make a baby in me."

Lester roared, his hips raising off the bed as he rammed his cock as deep into Sarah as he possibly could. She held onto him, wrapped around him with both her arms and legs. She clenched down with her pussy around his cock, feeling every inch, every twist, every vein of his perfect organ. As she did, her body shuddered, and she screamed as an incredible orgasm tore through her shaking form.

The knock from the other side of the wall came again, and the sound left her conscious brain as everything, every stimulus and sensation seemed to swirl together inside her. She was a mass of writhing, pleasure, fireworks going off inside of her, her eyes rolling back until just the whites of her eyes were exposed as her head tilted back to face the ceiling. She lost her breath as her body tensed to a breaking point, and a fluid warmth spread through her in a mind-blowing, nuclear chain orgasm.

Then the awaited event happened. Lester's cock expanded inside of her, and she felt a magnified waterfall of splattering cum deluge inside of her, blasting across her insides, bathing her in gouts of Lester's hot, sticky, forbidden baby-making batter. It felt so thick and heavy as it poured into her. It was impossibly scalding, and her body rocked as another unthinkable orgasm rose up out of nowhere, dwarfing the detonation before it and crashing down on her writhing form, making her go completely limp.

Sarah's exhausted body fell onto Lester's, forcing him down to the bed as she continued convulsing in abject mind-shattering pleasure. Lester's cock kept emptying itself inside her fertile pussy. Loads and loads of Lester's illicit swimmers blasted into Sarah, exploring each part of her, flowing down his balls to stain the unclean comforter.

They breathed hard together, a hot sticky mire of limbs and fluids, lying together connected as one entity. They both drifted off to sleep contentedly, completely forgetting the cellphone that had fallen onto the floor.

Across town, Renee was seated on a barstool. She was supposed to be at her book club, but when she arrived, she saw a text saying it had been cancelled. James was already off playing pool with some of his friends, and she didn't want to go home to an empty house. But she hadn't explicitly planned on going to a bar.

She sat there, hesitantly drinking her fine wine, aware that men were looking at her. She wondered if any of them would approach her. She'd stopped at the first place she'd seen, and normally, she wouldn't ever step foot in a place like this, let alone on this block. It was what she could only describe as 'seedy.'

But she sat there and sipped at her drink. When it was done, there was an itch she just had to scratch. It had been plaguing her. Always there at the back of her mind at the most inappropriate times. She slid off the barstool and headed toward the bathrooms. The hallway was gross, the walls looked sticky, but she soldiered on.

Just a quick bathroom break and I'll go, she told herself. She found the door marked for women and went inside. It was just a single stall, and she locked the door behind her. She glanced at the wall but didn't see what had filled so many of her recent dreams. There was no hole in the wall. No hungry man on the other side.

She shook her head. It was stupid. She shouldn't even be here. Without using the facilities, she went back out to the bar to settle up. As she did, a man approached her. She saw him coming from across the bar, his eyes trailing her up and down. He looked like the kind of rough-and-tumble man a sub-contractor might hire for manual labor. Before he could get any closer, she dropped a ten on the bar and hurried out the door to her car.

As she drove off, peeling out of the run-down neighborhood she was acutely aware of a hot dampness starting in her panties.

The phone rang twice before Marcus answered it. He didn't check the number but muted himself on the video call.

"Marcus," he said, watching the screen. One of the scientists in their cognitive divergence division was presenting on results from one of their latest test subjects. How he'd scored on his most recent test. It was promising to see how much he'd changed after their repeated nudging and influence while the man slept.

The integrated audio and visual system built into the house had made their delivery system all too easy. And the scientists could even test and deploy new hallucinogenic messages remotely.

"It's me," a deep voice said from the other end of the line.

"Right," he said, recognizing the voice. It wasn't a high-priority call, but it was the one he'd been waiting for. The on-screen demonstration was much more promising for the future of the Lincoln Group and its benefactors than whatever information the caller could provide. "What do you have?"

"Interesting stuff here. Fucked up stuff, actually. Maybe it's something in the water here, but I followed 'em. The guy, Lester, from the hospital. I don't know how he does it. But get this, he overlaps with the other people you sent me to look at."

Marcus rolled his eyes. Obviously. He didn't say it; he always kept his information siloed, especially from those in the field.

After a bit of silence, the man continued, "Anyways, the blonde, Sarah, she's got two kids and, as you know, she's married to Dan Williams. Well, get this, she's some kind of freak, right? Pulling behind a gas station in the middle of the day just to have a go at herself. Later that night, Lester picks her up from her house, where her husband is just standing there, letting her go with him. So fucked up, right? Well, it gets even weirder. They go to a bar, and she heads inside. Then Lester gets out of his car and goes into the parking lot, gets in another car for a few minutes, then gets back in his own car. Sarah then comes out with another man and leaves with him in his car, the one Lester had gone into. Our boy Lester tails them back to this rundown motel. Sarah and the guy go in, and then Lester follows them after a few minutes. There was a gap in the curtain, and I could see inside after Lester had gone into the same room as Sarah and the old man she'd picked up."

"The old man was passed out on the bed, while they fucked, loud too. All about knocking her up and stuff while he filmed it."

Marcus tapped the desk with his fingers. It was a messier situation than he'd expected, but none of it had to do with Lester hacking into their network.

"Anything else?" Marcus asked.

"They both woke up in the middle of the night and left the room with the old dude still passed out. He drove her home. I didn't stay to see what happened with the old man."

"I want you to get into Lester's office at work and take pictures of everything, got it? Don't be seen."

"I know how to do my job," the voice said before the line cut out.

Marcus rolled his eyes again and filed the information away for later. He unmuted himself and returned to his meeting to see what developments were coming from their other divisions.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 39

“Just stop,” Dan said firmly into the phone, watching Sarah enthusiastically ride his disgusting roommate. He waited for his loving, yet estranged wife to slow but she never even slowed down. She just kept riding that slob’s massive organ. “Sarah, stop. Pineapple. For fuck’s sake.”

It had taken all of Dan’s willpower to finally voice the words raging through his head. Having already cum to the scene on the phone had helped clear his mind, too. But Sarah didn’t stop moving, her face contorted in pure sick pleasure. The arousal that had been pumping through his veins dissipated, and Dan felt his heart begin to sink. His chest felt heavy as the lurid scene continued to unfold. Then the camera shifted, and he had a new view of Sarah, mostly obstructed by Lester’s pudgy arms that were grabbing at her hips.

He couldn’t tear his eyes away from the screen, ashamed that his cock was still hard watching his wife being thoroughly defiled. A text message from Tricia popped up at the top of the screen, but he quickly swiped it away.

Sarah and Lester shifted, and the phone spun dizzily before going black. Dan ended the call and lay back in his bed. He looked over himself in disgust. On a whim, he opened Tricia’s message.

T: I need it.

It took Dan a second to understand what she was saying. In his last message, he’d asked what needed his special attention. Dan fired back a response.

D: Professionally?

T: Maybe.

Dan sighed, knowing he was moving down a dangerous road. But he’d just watched his wife riding his obese roommate begging to be impregnated in their far-out-of-control bedroom fantasy. Dan and Sarah had briefly reconnected, but now it felt like they were still oceans apart. Dan decided, not for the first time, that he needed to do something to change his situation.

D: Let’s talk once Sentinel hires me full-time.

T: Negotiating? Now? Gotta admit, that’s kind of hot.

D: What would it take to make that happen?

T: There's already been chatter about it. I'm sure I can tip the scales. But you'll owe me.

D: Oh yeah? And what would you want?

T: I'm sure you can guess.

D: I have a pretty good imagination.

T: Kinky.

Dan put the phone on the bedside table and ran his hands over his face. He didn't want to sleep on the futon tonight. He was going to sleep in his own damn bed. He pushed himself up and crossed to the door, going down the hallway to check on the girls. They were sleeping soundly, blissfully unaware of the issues between their parents. He pulled the door shut and rested his forehead against it, longing for simpler times.

Downstairs in the kitchen, he poured himself a glass of water and tried to calm himself down. The laptop was still open on the dining room table. The same table that Lester had so blatantly taken Sarah on during their recent dinner conversation.

He'd reformatted and updated Sarah's resume for her, a token sign of his effort in still wanting her, wanting them, to succeed. He'd even found a few jobs nearby, and in Chicago, she was qualified for, and had them printed out and had arranged them in a neat stack. Why did he even bother? It all seemed so pointless in the face of being ignored and emasculated on the phone again.

Dan so wanted this day to be over. He went upstairs and crawled into their marital bed, pulling the sheets over him. He lay on his side, eyes closed, but his brain wasn't turning off. The mental images of Sarah's seductive face, moaning and screaming in pleasure, were burned into his mind. He drifted in and out of consciousness. In and out of reality. His fleeting dreams were filled with visions of Sarah and Lester. His conscious thoughts held the same pictures. Sometime in the middle of the night, or it may have been early morning, he heard the front door lock engage. A single set of footsteps slowly crept up the stairs and came to their bedroom entrance. Dan held his eyes shut and swore. Sarah stood there at the door, just looking at him for several seconds. He didn't stir.

She went into the bathroom and started a shower. Dan braced himself, waiting for a second set of footsteps. This set plodding and monotonous, but that sound never came.

She was alone. The shower cut off after a few minutes, and Sarah slid into bed next to him. He didn't dare turn and look at her, afraid of what he'd see. Was she on her side, looking at him, waiting for him to say something? Or was she content, oblivious to his pain, perhaps she'd turned away and was facing the wall?

Dan just lay there until he drifted off to more uncomfortable dreams.

Sarah had slept in way longer than she would've if she'd still been working at the hospital. She'd loved her routine of making coffee, getting the girls off to school and then fully attacking her workday. She'd prided herself on being the most capable person at the hospital and getting the most done in her day. Sure, her job wasn't as directly impactful on patient health outcomes as a surgeon, doctor, or even a nurse's, but she helped in ways often overlooked or unseen by patients and staff. She kept everything running.

Now she woke to an empty house. Dan was gone, presumably he'd dropped the girls off at school. She checked the time on her phone and groaned. Almost noon.

The events of the night before slowly returned to her mind. Her rendezvous with Richard, luring him to the hotel and then....her insane lovemaking session with Lester.

"Lovemaking," Sarah scoffed at herself. But she couldn't deny that's what it had felt like. They shared something more than just fucking now. Sure, sometimes it was just getting pounded, but last night, their dirty talk....part of her almost believed what they were saying to each other.

She sat up with a groan and put her head in her hands. Her skull was throbbing, and she made her way to the bathroom to pop a Tylenol. She felt some of Lester's warm cum seep down her leg, and she quickly wiped it up. Before bed, she'd gone into the shower to clean herself up, but still some of his generous load was embedded inside of her. While she was there, she grabbed her birth control pill and swallowed it. As it hit her tongue, it tasted funny, but she quickly forgot about it, moving downstairs on autopilot for coffee.

The pot dripped excruciatingly slowly as she swayed unsteadily. Finally, her cup was full, and she tasted the warm heavenly nectar, giving her brain the wake-up call it needed. She spotted Dan's laptop and papers on the dining room table, and she moved over to see what he'd done.

She picked up the first sheet of paper and saw a new resume for herself, professionally formatted and updated with her recent experience. She couldn't remember the last time she'd even made a resume, and the idea of making one had been a barrier to her even wanting to start her job search. She put her resume down and looked at the other stack, which was printed and stapled job postings. She took the papers and her coffee to the couch and thumbed through them.

Some of them were actually interesting. Better than that, she didn't feel intimidated by any of the jobs. She knew she was more than qualified and could kick ass in these roles. None were on the level of hospital CEO, but all of them would be fine for the short term.

"Thanks, Dan," Sarah said to the air, feeling the knot tighten in her chest. He was still there for her. After everything. She'd wanted to ask him about last night. What he thought of it. Why hadn't he spoken up? She knew when he was really turned on, he'd just freeze, his brain unable to process what he was seeing. Not wanting it to stop.

She grabbed her phone and texted him, "Thank you." She didn't know where he was, but she'd give him space. Things were delicate, and she didn't want to push. Another notification at the top of the screen caught her attention. She opened Instagram and saw a request to follow her. Otis.

She scrunched her nose up seeing his name, but clicked through to his profile. It was exactly as she expected: shirtless pictures of the man, him posing with a beer or guns. Lots of political ramblings. She denied his request. She had enough going on right now and didn't want to allow that kind of additional chaos into her life. Though a small smile played at her lips, thinking of their encounters in the hospital. While she regretted them on the whole, she couldn't deny that she'd fully enjoyed her time with the former janitor.

She opened her texts and didn't see anything new from Lester. That irritated her. Especially after last night. She fired him a message.

S: Anything new happening there?

After a few seconds, the three little dots appeared, followed by Lester's response.

L: Yup.

She stared at the screen waiting, but a follow-up response never came.

S: And? What's happening?

L: Richard stumbled in late.

Sarah was getting frustrated, but Lester sent her another text before she could type one.

L: Talk later. Don't want to text about it.

Sarah stared at the words for a minute before they clicked for her. He didn't want to leave a trail back to either of them. She hadn't thought of that. Lester's level of conniving always surprised her. It should be worrying, but she found it a comfort in situations like this one.

L: Did you have fun?

Sarah licked her lips and texted back.

S: Oh, I did. It was quite explosive.

L: Did you take a pregnancy test yet? Did I knock you up?

Sarah shook her head and rolled her eyes, thinking of the impossibility of what he was suggesting. They were double-protected, but she was getting turned on that Lester was bringing up his fantasy. She'd be lying if she said it didn't turn her on, too.

S: I don't know, I think you're going to have to try a few more times to make sure it happens...

S: ...Daddy

L: I'll fill you up as many times as I have to.

Sarah smiled, thinking of the stream of cum that had still leaked out of her this morning. Before Lester, she hadn't known that a man could make that much cum.

S: Promises, promises.

Sarah put her phone down on the table, her eyes landing on the stack of job postings. After another cup of coffee, Sarah took the papers over to the laptop and decided now was the time to throw her hat into the ring again.

The links were all still open in the browser, and her resume was open in Word. She saved a PDF of her resume and started applying for jobs. Writing a cover letter for each one was annoying, but she powered through. One of the postings asked her to apply on LinkedIn. When she logged in, she was greeted by an out-of-date profile she had yet to update. But what caught her eye was a post in her network that was suddenly getting a lot of activity.

It was Richard's post from the night before. It looked just like a drunk rambling DM. The message bashed the hospital, some of the board members and really made Richard look bad. It was a surprise he hadn't taken the post down yet. Sarah's jaw dropped open when she saw that there were over 200 comments and reactions on the post. Scrolling through them, Sarah saw several of the named board members and other notable hospital community members.

"He's cooked," Sarah said, pushing herself back in her chair, staring at the screen in disbelief. Then a wide smile spread across her face. "He's done."

She sent Lester another text.

S: Saw a wild post on LinkedIn.

Lester just sent back a shocked emoji. Then, a link to a local news website. There was a story about a local, unnamed executive at the hospital who'd been arrested for fencing critical diabetic test strips online. There was even a picture taken in front of Mary's house.

S: I want to fuck you.

L: Soon

Sarah pushed away from the table. She'd work on the rest of the applications later. At the moment, she was too turned on to think properly. She marched up to her room, clutching her phone in her hand. Pulling open a drawer, she rooted around until she found a vibrator that hadn't been used in a long time.

She pressed the button and smiled as it started to pulsate in her hand. The batteries were still good. Sarah laid down on the bed, dropped her panties and touched it to herself. Her eyes tightened in pleasure, and she started to suck in small breaths. Lazily, she opened her phone and sent Lester a text.

S: Send me a pic of your cock.

L: Why

S: I need it. Now.

Sarah threw her head back down and went to town on herself, working the shaft of her vibrator inside herself. Her thighs clamped around it, and she turned on her side, running, bucking her hips against it. Her phone dinged, and she slid it open to see a picture of Lester's massive cock filling her screen. It was from his office, but that detail didn't matter to her. She stared hungrily at its veins, how thick it was and how her phone's screen couldn't contain it.

"Fuckk," Sarah whispered to herself. Her eyes alternated between closing and being lost in pleasure to looking at her phone through her slitted lids. Another picture of Lester's cock head appeared in the chat, and Sarah moaned, "Mhmmm."

S: Don't stop.

Another picture, this time of Lester's giant, hairy, heavy balls, came in. Sarah pressed a button, and the vibrator's speed increased. Her head lolled to the side, and she worked the amazing invention in and out of her. Her phone dinged again, and another shot of Lester appeared; this time it was his gross lips with his tongue sticking out of his mouth.

Sarah groaned, her eyes locked on his disgusting tongue. She licked her own lips, imagining how that fat tongue tasted. Another picture. Lester's ugly face. Another picture, Lester's shirtless body,

"Mhmmmmfffm," Sarah moaned. She felt it. It was close. Just a small one. Right around the corner. "Mhmmm...Lester.....mhmmmmlessterrr....god..."

Sarah stared at Lester's shirtless, disgusting, oddly proportioned body. She craved it. Sarah's mind was lost in lust. She pushed her vibrator in and screamed hoarsely as she came. An erupting warmth spreading out from her pussy and flooding into her entire body. Sarah dropped her phone. The mental image of Lester burned into her mind as her vision blurred, her eyes closed, and she saw stars.

"Fuck..." Sarah groaned in the aftershocks of her orgasm. She pulled her vibrator out and dropped it onto the sheets as she fell back to sleep.

Lester sat in a meeting room with the other remaining executives at the hospital. Notably absent was Richard. But on the large projector screen in front of them was John Walsh, a member of the board. Lester was eagerly casting glances around the room, watching each of their reactions in turn.

Lester's face held contempt and worry, but beneath the surface, Lester was gleeful. It was a new sensation to be inside the belly of the beast when one of his machinations had successfully attacked it. He'd taken down the systems of over a dozen companies through the years and always wondered what it would be like to be a fly on the wall as they panicked and strategized on the inside. He'd seen some of that when they'd first brought him in to help with the ransomware attack he himself had orchestrated.

"Richard is stepping down as CEO," Mr. Walsh said to the room from the screen. "We misjudged his character when we recruited him, and for that, the board would like to apologize to you and your teams. We should have gone with our other choice at the time, but regrettably, that is no longer possible."

Lester met the eyes of his fellow executives, matching their shocked disbelief. He mirrored their shaking heads and distraught appearances. While hanging on to John's every word.

"Some of you may have seen Richard's unfortunate LinkedIn post before he took it down," John sighed into the camera. "Suffice to say, he was trying to message someone else privately while accidentally posting it to his wall. The content of that post, combined with other emails and communications he sent are the reason for his dismissal. The role of the CEO should be to lead the hospital and improve patient outcomes, and the board feels that Richard no longer possesses the tools necessary to accomplish that."

"The content of some of those other communications is quite sensitive and will not be repeated here. The board has been made aware of a handful of them. Unfortunately, we expect at least one will result in a lawsuit against Richard and, possibly, the hospital. As I am sure many of you are aware, after the hospital's recent ransomware attack, we cannot afford another public controversy. It is critical that we maintain the faith and trust of our community. If asked about Richard or the lawsuit, simply say you can't discuss it. If issues or questions continue to be directed to you, please get in contact with the hospital attorney who has been briefed and is standing by."

Lester could feel the tension in the room. He wished he could taste it. It was palpable, and the only thing better would be fucking Sarah on the table in front of everyone and rubbing his ability to do so in all of their faces.

"The board is immediately conducting an extensive and exhaustive search for a new CEO that can pick up the pieces from this and lead the hospital to a new and prosperous future," John added, "I am back to being your point person on all corporate matters for the time being until that new person is in place."

When John disconnected from the meeting. The other executives just sat in silence for a few moments before quickly devolving into petty gossip about Richard and the new allegations. Lester stayed silent, observing how these so-called corporate executives were nothing more than teenagers in business outfits, just like the rest of corporate America.

The system was broken and run by idiotic performative children. It didn't take long for everyone to start filing out, going back to their respective domains across the hospital. Lester headed down to his gutted IT department. When he left, which would be soon, this place was going to crash and burn. He was holding it together on his own, and whoever took his position after him would need to restaff and retrain from the ground up. With Richard gone, Lester had a great, plausible reason to depart. He'd say he didn't want to be involved with a team like the one Richard had personally put together.

Lester pushed open the door to his office and looked around. He'd only been in here briefly this morning before the meeting, but he had the same sense of unease as before. There was something off about his office, but he couldn't place his finger on exactly what it was. He hefted himself into his chair and checked out his surroundings. Running his hands over his desk, he couldn't find anything different. His mouse was slightly askew, but that wasn't out of the ordinary.

He sat with a frown, examining his surroundings. His phone chimed, pulling him out of his observations. He cocked an eyebrow. It wasn't who he expected.

Sarah's mother's message surprised him.

R: Can we talk later this week? I'd like to ask more about the sort of things that happened in Chicago.

L: What sort of things are you talking about?

Lester sent a message to Sarah while he waited for Renee's response.

L: So what do I get for sending you those pics?

Lester didn't need to wait long before another message came in.

R: I'd rather talk than message, if that's okay.

L: Sure, Renee, how about tonight?

Three dots appeared, then disappeared. She was trying to compose a response and was second-guessing herself. Lester smiled and pressed his advantage.

L: I'm actually in Middleton on business, but leaving in the morning. I'm heading overseas and won't be able to talk while I'm away. Let's meet and talk face to face.

He knew Sarah's mother was nonconfrontational and accommodating. He just needed to tip the balance in the right way to make things happen.

The three dots appeared, but before her message appeared, Lester fired off another one.

L: I have to run to a meeting. Let's talk tonight. 7:30 at The Varnish. See you then.

The three dots disappeared, and Lester smirked to himself. Gotcha.

His phone chimed, and his smile grew even wider.

S: Me.

L: What time?

S: Once the girls are asleep.

L: I'll come around nine.

S: Don't be late. I need it.

L: You're gonna get it.

S: You better deliver big daddy.

Sarah watched from the kitchen as Dan wheeled his carry-on suitcase to the front door. He didn't look at her. She was annoyed by his silence. She was tired of how, one minute, he could be hot and the next, cold, like he was now. He'd come around and even taken her to bed, and now he wasn't even going to say goodbye. She'd invited Lester over for some fun and thought it might be a nice change of pace for Dan to be present, but now he was leaving. She debated for a second, not necessarily cancelling her plans, but she wanted to at least try to talk to her husband first.

Part of her wanted to just go upstairs and take a bath with a glass of wine. She couldn't believe he was going to act like such a child and just leave. Where was that assertive man she'd fallen in love with? The man she'd had two children with. She hadn't seen that guy for a long time.

She ground her teeth and walked to the edge of the kitchen, leaning against the doorframe, "Going to Washington or Chicago?"

"Washington," Dan said without looking at her, "It sounds like they might have something big for me."

"Sounds great," Sarah said sarcastically. She couldn't hold back her anger anymore, "Were you just going to leave without saying anything? What's going on?"

Dan dropped his luggage to the ground and slumped his shoulders. He sighed, "I don't know how much longer I can do this, Sarah. This back and forth. This up and down. It's killing me."

"It's killing me!" Sarah shouted. "You're the one who is acting like this. Why?"

"Why? Why?" Dan repeated, half laughing. She heard the hurt and pain in his voice. "Why the fuck do you think? I asked you to stop. I asked you to stop with Lester last night but you didn't. You just kept riding him. You chose him over me. Again."

"I didn't..." Sarah started, biting her tongue. The anger in his voice was setting her off. She wanted to snap at him. She couldn't hold it back, "You didn't say anything. You just sat there not saying anything, like you always do. Letting another man take your wife. Again."

"I did. I told you to stop. I even fucking said pineapple, but you didn't stop," Dan said. His phone buzzed, and he checked it. "My Uber is here."

"Whatever," Sarah said, "Go."

Dan slammed the door behind him. Sarah walked to the door and watched him get in the black sedan. Part of her wanted to go after him, the other part of her wanted to curl up on the couch and numb herself with a glass of wine.

She rested her forehead against the door as the sedan pulled away with her husband. What the hell is happening to my life? She thought back to when they'd gotten married and then when they'd had the girls. Their quiet nights together. The fun they'd had going out on dates. Her life had been perfect, exactly what she'd always wanted. How did they get here?

Her thoughts came back to how unreasonable Dan was being. It was like he was trying to push her away. He hadn't said anything on the phone and was probably just pissed at himself yet again for being overcome and freezing at the sight of her and Lester enjoying themselves together.

She still couldn't believe that Lester had fucked her in the same bed as her passed-out boss while her husband watched on the phone. It was deliciously fucked up and something only someone with a sour mind like Lester could come up with. He just loved fucking with people, and Sarah found an odd power there that she was attracted to.

Even as Sarah performed for the camera, her mind had been on Lester and his lovely cock. Part of her had wondered if Lester had even called Dan or if he was just recording her. Lester held the phone, but his eyes were always on her.

Lester held the phone. Lester enjoyed fucking with people. He especially enjoyed fucking with Dan. Could Lester have muted Dan on the call? Had Dan actually tried to stop them? Had her husband manned up and commanded her to stop? Would she have if she'd heard him?

Sarah quickly ran to the kitchen, grabbed her phone, and texted her husband.

S: I think Lester muted you on the call. I couldn't hear you say stop.

Dan read Sarah's text for the third time before turning his phone face down on his desk. He'd come right to the Sentinel offices after landing in Washington, eagerly burying himself in work to distract himself from continuing the conversation with Sarah. He was happy to be away. He didn't want to be anywhere near that house at the moment. If his daughters weren't there, he seriously didn't know if he'd ever go back.

It was too painful. Going around and around. The same issues, the same arguments, the same outcome. He was tired. Tired of feeling like shit. At least here, at Sentinel, he could be himself, his old self. The one who he really was, not the pathetic cuckold he found himself assuming the role of in Middleton.

Dan turned back to the current conversation. Carlos was sitting in Dan's cubicle, speaking in an animated yet hushed tone.

"I mean, it's kind of nerdy, I know, but a couple of us get together at lunch on Fridays. We book one of the meeting rooms on the third floor. There aren't many people using them, and most people on the third floor don't come into the office. " And no one else likes going all the way down there for meetings,” Carlos said. “You could come and just check it out, right?” No commitment. Easy. Once you start with us full-time, you don’t have to come every Friday, but it sounds fun, right?”

Dah held up his hands in defense, “Let’s not put the cart before the horse. I don’t have an offer yet. Hell, no one besides Tricia has even talked to me about it. I’m just gonna keep my head down and keep doing my work, alright?”

“Semantics, whatever,” Carlos said with a shrug, “I hear it’s gonna be a done deal. I didn’t want to invite you before, since no one would be looking to bring in a part-timer to the game who might leave and throw off the dynamic. But since, or if, you get in full-time, you can join us now, right? Have you ever played D&D before?”

“Once,” Dan said, shaking his head, “It wasn’t the best experience.”

“You probably had a shitty dungeon master,” Carlos said without missing a beat, “Just wait until you meet Omar. He’s from accounting, and he’s the best. He comes up with some insane campaigns, and there’s always a twist or a way to defeat the boss that you just don’t realize. It’s a ton of fun. We’ve been running our current campaign for a few months now, and it’s awesome. What class did you play as?”

“I don’t know, I think it was some music guy or something like that. Everyone thought he was weak,” Dan said.

“Bard probably,” Carlos said, his fingers tapping the desk, “Not my favorite but they can be cool. Maybe I can help you come up with your build at lunch tomorrow if you want.”

“Sure, man,” Dan smiled at his new friend’s eagerness. He didn’t want to shut the guy down or tell him that he had no interest in D&D. It reminded him of his roommate and his fucked up situation, something he definitely didn’t want to think about.

“Alright, coolio,” Carlos said as he rolled up his sleeve to check his watch, “I gotta go. Meeting on redoing some of our technical SOPs.” He made a gun with his hand and mimed shooting himself in the head, “Kill me now.”

Carlos got up and left the cubicle, leaving Dan alone with his thoughts. He opened the Chrome browser on his computer and started typing in an address before thinking better of it. Probably best not to do that on the company network.

He turned his phone over, pointedly ignoring Sarah’s message and opened Chrome, going to the address he’d memorized. He logged in, and his screen populated with several camera feeds of his house. He had a view of their bedroom, the master bathroom, the kitchen and the living room. Thankfully, the bed was empty, but so was the rest of the house. Sarah must have gone out.

Images of her riding Lester's cock in his car filled his mind until he got up to go for a walk.

Lester sat in the crowded bar parking lot as the sun was beginning to set over the small town of Middleton. He hadn't had a reason to come to the seedy part of town again lately, but it reminded him of some of the less-than-reputable neighbourhoods in Chicago that he liked to frequent. The ones with businesses like adult theatres would be shunned and ostracised, or gentrified out of nicer areas. The underbelly, where outliers like him could thrive.

He saw her car drive by once again. Lester couldn't keep the smirk from his face. It was the third time Renee had passed the bar, trying to work up her nerve to park and go inside. Lester just waited. Patience had always served him well.

Worst case, she drove home. In which case, Lester would go pay her daughter a visit for a night of festive debauchery and impregnation. Best case, she went in for a drink, and Lester pushed things further with her. Then he'd go and visit Sarah. In either scenario, he won. This was just a pleasurable distraction.

Lester's cock stiffened when her car finally pulled into the parking lot. She sat there for another five minutes before she finally composed herself and stepped out. Lester's eyes drank in her form. She was wearing plain jeans and a loose t-shirt, but there was no hiding her curves. Lester's eyes travelled up and down her form as she nervously walked across the parking lot, clutching her purse. She looked like she could be Sarah's older sister. From her blonde mane to her heavy chest and bubble butt, she had just about everything Lester liked in a woman.

When she disappeared inside, Lester opened the center console of his SUV and pulled the device out. The car shifted as he got out of it, and he took a roundabout way to the bar entrance, making sure he passed Renee's car. He bent down as if to tie his shoe next to her rear wheel well and placed the magnetic device under the frame.

He straightened up and went inside. Tracking her could prove useful in the future, but he wasn't sure. It was another variable he could monitor and account for. Serendipitous meetings and all that. The bar was half full, but more people would filter in as they came off shift. Renee was sitting alone at a table, nervously playing with her glass of red wine. Lester hid his scowl and changed back into the nervous, meek roommate Renee had met with her husband, James.

He gave her a polite wave as she met his eye from across the bar. He scooted into the booth next to her as a waitress came over and asked for his order.

“Coke,” Lester said, then remembered to add, “Please.”

“Thank you for coming, Lester,” Renee said over the music. Lester chuckled internally at her thanking him for attending his own setup date that he’d forced through. So polite.

“Of course, that’s what friends are for, Renee,” Lester said, turning his body to mirror hers. People were more at ease when you mirrored them. Their brains unconsciously took note of it and filed it away. Using Renee’s name was also part of his game. People liked hearing their names repeated. It endeared you to them. “I was worried when I got your text. Is everything okay?”

“Yes, of course. Sorry to worry you. Everything is fine,” Renee waved, “I just...wanted to find out more about...well...you know...it’s a delicate topic...”

“Of course,” Lester said with a smile, putting his hand on his heart. He held her gaze sincerely as he said, “I can be discreet, but I don’t really know what you’re looking for me to tell you.”

Renee broke eye contact and played with her wine glass again, “I want to know what you know. What you’ve seen. I know you said Sarah and Dan were into some things, but I want to know what kind of things. All I know is the theater she went to when he was out of town.”

Interesting. Lester thought. “Can I ask why you want to know? I know you care about your daughter. About both of them. But I don’t know if I feel comfortable talking about things they’d rather keep secret, you know.” Lester said carefully, trying to weave the needle.

“I just need to make sure Sarah is okay,” Renee said.

Bullshit Lester thought. He wanted to ask her why she stayed in the bathroom of the bar in Chicago so long after she’d heard a woman was getting fucked in there. Or why she stared at his dick when he was naked back in the apartment. She was interested in learning more about what was possible.

“I’ve never seen her in any danger,” Lester said, “But...”

“But what?” Renee asked.

“I don’t know if I should say,” Lester said, looking down at the table. Renee put her hand on Lester’s arm, and his cock sprang away from his body. Bingo.

“Lester, please,” Renee said, scooting closer to assure him. He looked up at her and saw the outline of her breasts through her t-shirt. He wanted to see what they looked like under there.

Lester let out an exaggerated sigh, trying to be sincere. “Okay, I guess I can tell you. They’d always have these dates when Sarah came into town. They wouldn’t always say where they were going, but they’d come back sweaty and smelling like, like sex.” He whispered the last word.

Renee’s eyes widened.

“Sometimes when Dan would be at work. Sarah would go out on her own, too. She’s sometimes come back in the same condition. Maybe she was just meeting Dan somewhere, or maybe she was doing something else. “ I don’t know,” Lester watched Renee’s face as she processed the information. “A couple of times they came back to the apartment and went into Dan’s room.” They weren’t alone. I could hear them through the wall.”

“Was..um...when they...went into the room,” Renee stumbled over her words as her brain tried to process Lester’s lies, “Was it with a....another woman...a man?”

“They were definitely men,” Lester said.

“Men?” Renee asked, eyes wide.

“Yeah. The few times it was definitely another man, but there was one time where it was at least two guys. They wouldn’t stop talking after uh, you know. IT. Even at like three in the morning. I had to bang on the wall to get them to be quiet.”

Renee’s jaw hung open as she fidgeted with her wine glass. Then she grasped it and downed its contents in one go.

Lester upped the ante, “One time I saw Dan’s laptop open on the couch when he went to the bathroom. Don’t say anything about this, please? Okay?”

Renee signalled the waitress for another glass and silently nodded her assent for Lester to continue. Lester slumped his shoulders and leaned in, “He was on a website for some kind of sex club in Chicago. It seemed like a club with all these different beds and stuff. I didn't get a good look at it, but I think couples go there to be watched or to...swap."

Renee gulped. The waitress put a new glass of wine in front of her, which Renee quickly took a drink of. "Well, that's... a lot. I'm not sure what to think here."

"I didn't want to get into it, but it feels good to say something to someone finally. I've been holding all that in for months, keeping their secrets. Thank you." Lester said.

"Thank you for telling me, Lester," Renee said with a thousand-yard stare. She was looking out at the rest of the bar. Lester could see the wheels turning in her head. Lester's eyes danced over her body, and his shit-eating grin broke through his meek demeanour. Renee's nipples were as hard as snowpeas.

Lester flagged down the waitress, "I think we need another round, please."

It was getting close to eight thirty, and Lester was surprised that Renee hadn't left the bar yet. Instead, she was complaining to him about things, particularly her husband and his lack of drive to do anything new. He liked eating the same meals and going to the same restaurants.

"There's just no surprise anymore," Renee said, swaying in her seat, "It's just the same thing over and over. The same bland food. On repeat. I want to try new things. I want to live. We're not senior citizens, not yet. There's still life yet to be lived."

Renee's eyes drifted up to the back wall of the bar again. The one with the bathroom sign. Lester could do the math. It wasn't the first time she'd looked back there. She wanted to take a look and was working her nerve up again. Lester saw his opening and leaned in, "You know, it's okay if you go to a different restaurant."

Renee blinked her eyes at him, like she'd forgotten he was there. She'd been unloading her issues but had seemed to forget who she was talking to, "What do you mean, Lester?"

Thankfully, the music was louder now. More people packed the seedy bar, and Lester had to scooch closer to talk into her ear, "If James wants to eat at the same boring restaurant, that's fine. But you can go to other ones too. Just to have a taste. Maybe dessert. Something sweet. He doesn't even need to know."

Renee pulled back, looking at Lester, trying to parse his words, “I don’t want to go to a restaurant alone.”

“Who says you have to be alone?” Lester said. “I’m sure there are a lot of delicious things out there just waiting for you to taste them.”

Renee’s eyes went back to the back wall. She seemed to study it for a moment before she said, “It’s getting late, Lester. I’ll be heading out soon. I just need to use the little girls’ room. Thank you again. For everything. I appreciate your candor. You don’t need to wait for me if you want to go.”

“Sure thing,” Lester said as Renee got to her feet. She steadied herself on the table and walked back through the throngs of people. Lester got up, as though he was leaving. She didn’t look back at him, so he turned around and also walked back through the crowded bar, parting people the way a shark would part a school of fish on the way to its prey.

Renee’s hand was on the hallway wall as Lester followed her. He ducked back around a corner, and she looked both ways before pushing into the bathroom. Lester went into the men’s room and quickly found the stall on the furthest wall that abutted the ladies’ room.

The big hole in the wall was still there. Lester had hoped he might end up in here when he pushed this place as their meeting location earlier. He crouched and peeked through the hole. It was so amateurishly made, unlike the discreet creation back at his apartment. The stall door on the other side of the wall opened. Lester saw the familiar t-shirt and jeans and heard a quiet gasp from the other side. Lester grinned.

He couldn’t see her face from this vantage point, but he could see her body. She was just standing there, immobilized, looking at the hole. If she’d have crouched to inspect it, she’d have seen Lester’s ugly face and beady eye staring back at her from the far side of the stall. Lester waited, patiently watching to see what she would do. If he just stuck his dick through, he might scare her off.

Women were easy, though. The longer she lingered, the more her anticipation would build. She turned around and fiddled with the stall’s lock before turning back to the hole in the wall. She paced back and forth for a second, and Lester could make out her nipples hardening through her shirt. Renee went to sit on the toilet, then stood back up, nervous indecisiveness telegraphed through her curt motions. Lester unbuckled his belt and dropped his pants. Renee nervously paced on the other side of the wall. As Lester stood, he lost sight of her as he slid up to the hole and stuck his swelling, hairy cock through.

Renee stopped her pacing in the dirty, repugnant bathroom stall and stared at the growing male appendage that was now pointing at her. Her mouth hung open as she stared at it. It was at least twice the length of her husband's and much, much thicker. It looked angry and wild, surrounded by a forest of dense pubic hair. She'd never seen a penis that large before.

Her mind drifted to the night in Dan's apartment when Lester had walked into the kitchen naked. She gulped. It hadn't been the first time she'd thought about Lester's tool. Her mind had drifted to it more than once while they'd had their drinks.

She put the thoughts of the odd man out of her mind and tried to figure out what she was going to do. The stall door was right beside her. She could leave anytime. Get into her car and go straight home. But she'd been drawn to coming back here all night, all week really, wondering if one of these holes would be here. She'd lie awake at night fantasizing about this exact moment. But it was all just a fantasy, wasn't it?

Now that it was here, sticking out at her, it was so vividly real, too real. Renee stopped in her tracks, realizing only after a moment that she'd moved her body closer to the fully hard cock. It didn't move. It just stayed there, erect and waiting, sticking out of the wall like a steel bar. It was hard and thick, and she wondered desperately how something that big would feel inside of her. If she could even fit something that size into her body.

She pushed all thoughts of James out of her mind. She needed to satiate her own curiosity, or her fantasy would continue to distract her and dominate her mind. She tentatively reached out and gently grasped the shaft of the cock. It was hot to the touch, and she felt the man's heartbeat in her palm. She'd planned to touch it, wash her hands and leave, but she found her fingers encircling the cock and holding it tight.

A whimper escaped her lips as she saw how her fingers stretched to wrap around it, barely able to touch her thumb and middle finger. Then the cock slowly pulled back and pushed forward, using her grasping hand for its pleasure. Renee's knees trembled. She'd just begun jerking off a cock that wasn't her husband's. The stranger's oversized dick pulled back and thrust forward slowly again, and Renee quivered. She heard a muffled groan from the other side of the wall.

This man. This stranger was using her hand. And she was letting it happen. Renee leaned on the wall, unable to stay upright on her own. She watched in horrified fascination as the man pumped himself through the wall into her waiting hand. There was so much of his length on either side of her hand. She marvelled at how long his cock was. Even if she used both her hands, she wouldn't be able to cover him. His cock was even bigger than she could see when she thought about the part of it in the wall between the two rooms.

Renee's other hand slowly moved up the wall. She knew what it was doing, where it was going, but she just watched as if it were acting on its own. Her delicate fingers touched the edge of the hole, grazing the dense pubic hair until her fingertips glanced off the shaft of his cock. The dick never stopped its slow, pumping. Renee's fingers slid around his shaft and grasped. She held his thick cock with both of her hands as it pumped in and out. In and out.

Renee moaned, feeling the velvety skin of the thick cock slide in and out of her soft palms, using her grip for its own pleasure. She didn't care what the man on the other side of the wall looked like. She was completely lost in the moment. She stared down, watching the cock fuck her hands. The thick head of it pulled back against her grip, then powered forward, forcing her fingers apart. She didn't know when she'd started stroking it on her own. Her grip was tight on the shaft as she worked her hands up and down. It was still insane that both of her hands couldn't cover the length of his shaft. "Sweet Jesus," Renee breathed hard. A part of her brain chastised herself for taking the Lord's name in vain, but it was drowned out by the wanton desire burning through her. She pictured herself dropping to her knees on this filthy floor and letting this stranger put it in her mouth, tasting him. Or even more insane would be dropping her jeans and letting him press it into her.

Renee shuddered at the thought. She wished she could touch herself through her jeans, but she didn't dare take her hands off the man's cock. She marvelled at how large he was in her small, soft hands, the strength of his veins pumping blood to his engorged cockhead. The wild pubic hair sticking through the hole was disgusting, and its primal scent twinged Renee's nose, but it barely registered to her brain. She just leaned against the wall, marvelling at the male organ in her hands. Her breasts rose and fell along with her heavy breathing. Her nipples strained against the cups of her bra.

She bit her lip and stepped slightly closer to the thick cock. This was wrong. She knew it. This wasn't her husband. He was out, thinking she was at her bookclub again. She moved next to the throbbing cock and could feel the heat emanating from it. Renee couldn't stop herself.

Reluctantly tearing one of her hands off the massive member, she unclasped the button on her jeans and unzipped them. She struggled out of the oppressive garment until it got stuck just above her knees. Her white panties were already soaked.

She pressed herself forward until her panty-clad pussy came in contact with the side of the cock. The shaft pushed forward, rubbing against her pussy lips and clit. Renee shuddered and held the cock in her hands, stroking it as it ran against her. She leaned lazily against the wall, eyes rolling back in their sockets as she lost herself in the sensations.

Over and over. The cock dragged across her sensitive area, sending electric sparks of pleasure through her body. Her own blonde hair cascaded down her shoulders and brushed her skin; it felt like a lover trailing a feather across her overstimulated nerve endings.

Her eyes shot open as the cock moved. The man on the other side of the wall pulled back, making her lose her grip on it. The angle changed. It wasn't pumping straight out into the stall. It pivoted and shot out of the hole.

The head of the cock pressed hard directly against her soaked panty covered pussy.

"Ohhh," Renee gasped, not having expected the quick movement. She tried to pull away, but the cockhead forcefully tapped her pussy and clit again. Her knees felt weak, and she let go with one hand, bracing herself against the wall, while the other held onto his thick shaft.

It kept poking at it. The man on the other side of the wall must be bending his knees. The cock was thrusting into her and rubbing up and down. He was grinding into her and dragging his cock up and down her panty-covered slit. Renee gasped, hanging her head in arousal and shame as she stared down at the man's precum mixing with her own juices already soaking into her panties.

"Oh god," Renee moaned and felt her hips move. They turned side to side, rubbing her pussy against the massive organ. Renee let herself go and closed her eyes, feeling the hot, strong shaft glide up and down her smooth palm. Felt it rub itself up and down against her pussy and clit.

Renee groaned and tried to catch her breath. She was thankful the dirty stall didn't have a mirror, or else she'd have to see herself look like the harlot in Ezekiel 16:15-63. Renee let her jaw hang as ragged breaths escaped her throat.

The cock was pounding against her, running up and down her slit. Renee's hand, bracing herself on the wall, was holding all of her weight, and her pussy pushed against the cock slamming against her. Her half-lidded eyes opened, and she realized that her other hand was stroking the cock. It dawned on her that she could easily step away or redirect the cock away from her with her hand.

But she didn't.

Instead, she let it use her. She let herself get lost in the moment as she used the wide and imposing cockhead to pleasure herself. Renee gasped as the cockhead punched against her slit.

It pulled back and pushed forward again. This time, it dipped lower and pushed between the top of her thighs, coming to rest between her legs. It slowly raised and Renee watched in horrified fashion as it moved up part of her pussy lips through her panties. It pushed forward and tapped against the bottom of her opening. It retreated a bit but pushed forward, back and forth. It dragged against her opening, unable to penetrate her with the right angle.

Renee just ground herself against it, her chest rising and falling in rapid succession. She couldn't take her eyes off the massive organ pushing against the thin, wet material of her panties.

"Ohhh.....myy...." Renee panted. It was so surreal. This had been what she'd fantasized about. She was having an out-of-body experience. This wasn't her. This wasn't real. This couldn't be. Her marriage vows. All the years...

Her cheeks flushed, and she felt her shirt clinging to her body. This wasn't how her night was supposed to go. She'd just wanted information, instead she had the biggest cock she'd ever seen in her life battering up against her sopping wet pussy.

Renee arched her back, revelling in the feeling of her nipples pressing against the restraints of her bra. This was too much. She couldn't breathe. She was standing on the tips of her toes as her body ground itself back against the cock. The cockhead slipped up and pushed hard against her pussy lips, spitting them open as it inched up her. It touched her clit, then passed it.

Renee gripped the shaft in her hand and directed the cock back down to her clit. She pulled it open and down, grinding herself against the cockhead as she directed the motion of the cock. Up and down. Over and over.

Renee couldn't catch her breath. The feeling between her legs dictating everything. She felt on the verge of something she hadn't experienced in years. "Oh god...oh god...oh god...forgive me.." Renee panted, "Pleaase lord forgive me."

"Pleaseee LORR-UHHHHHH," Renee's head ached back as she bellowed out, "OHMHMMMM!" A rush of long forgotten sensations rushed through her, exploding out from between her legs and radiating up her body. Fireworks of pleasure exploded inside of her. All the air left Renee's lungs as her muscles clenched. She gripped the cock in her hand tightly, holding it against her clit. She felt it pulse in her palm.

A flood of wet sticky cum exploded out of the cock head, blasting against her already soaked panties.

“Ohgoo—” Renee cried as her orgasm hit another level, leaving her knees weak and her arched over against the wall for support. Cum kept blasting out of the cock, spraying her panties, soaking into them. She could feel its hot, urgent wetness through the thin material. The cum dripped off them, running down her thighs, dripping into her jeans below her. Soaking in and permanently staining them. Renee thought she was going to collapse.

As her orgasm receded, she found the willpower to roll herself away from the cock, moving towards the wall to catch her breath. As she did, the cock sprayed, covering her hand in its thick cum. Renee fell back against the wall, panting, staring at her hand in awe as the man’s substance stretched between her fingers like thick pancake batter.

The cock was still sticking through the wall, spasming as more cum launched itself onto the floor, pooling and adding to the sticky tiles. Renee’s brain finally caught up to the moment. She didn’t know what to do. The cock was still here, she could hardly breath and she was covered in a stranger’s cum.

Pushing herself to her feet, she struggled out of the stall to the sink, desperately washing her hands to rid herself of the stench of the other man’s cum. She wiped furiously, trying to rid herself of it. She looked down at her soaked panties and tried to decide whether to take them off or pull up her jeans to hide what she’d done.

Voices from the hallway made her decision for her. Female voices, headed this way. She quickly pulled up her jeans just as the young girls entered. Renee hurried to the door. Behind her, she heard one of the girls, “Holy shit, look at that thing! Crissy, come here!”

Renee stumbled out to the hallway in a daze, bracing herself against the wall. She pushed through the crowded bar area and ordered one last drink. Not wine. Something strong. Whisky, straight. She downed the contents in one swift gulp to settle her nerves. What had she just done?

She sat at the bar staring down at the glass. Time stood still, her mind racing, unable to concentrate on any single thought. Her stupor was broken by a male voice too close to her.

“Hey, are you having another drink or are you heading home?”

Renee slowly turned her head to see the beady eyes on the fat face of her son-in-law’s roommate, Lester. She shivered and tried not to glance down at his crotch.

“Lester,” Renee breathed, wondering if he could tell how flushed her face was. Did he notice? Was she breathing normally? “I thought you left.”

“I did...I mean...I was,” Lester blubbered. Renee just stared at his ugly face, lost in thoughts of what had just happened in the bathroom. When she finally tuned back in, the awkward man was still stumbling over his words, “I made it all the way to the parking lot when I remembered what a seedy area this was. I thought it would be, uh, chivalrous to walk you to your car. Are you ready to go?”

Renee glanced past Lester at the far wall where the bathrooms were. She was curious to see the man who emerged.

“Renee? Are you okay?” Lester asked.

“I’m fine,” Renee said, sliding off the stool. It wouldn’t do her any good to see who the man was. Nothing good could come of it. “Thank you for staying. I certainly think it’s time I called it a night.”

“Let’s go, I’ll walk you to your car,” Lester said, leading the way, pushing through the throngs of people between the bar and the door. Renee resisted the urge to look back over her shoulder. Instead, she focused on how tight Lester’s shirt was and the back fat that struggled against being contained by it.

She suppressed the instinct to gag. Thankfully, Lester pushed open the door, and the cool night air was the wake-up call Renee needed. She needed to get home. Now. Renee took the lead, moving through the parking lot towards her car. She’d had a few drinks but felt good enough to drive.

Her sedan was in sight, and she fished her hand into her purse and retrieved the keys. As she was about to open the door, Lester put a hand on it.

“Goodnight, Renee,” Lester said from behind her, his warm breath on her neck.

She turned to face him with a polite smile on her face. Her panties were still soaked from the stranger’s cum. “Goodnight, Lester, thank you again for coming to meet me—— mhmmm.”

Lester's fat lips were on hers. She took a step back, her bubble butt pressing against the cold car door. He took a step forward, pushing against her. She put her hands on his chest, and then she felt it. Lester's hard cock pressed against her thigh.

"Mhmmm," Renee moaned. That was the opening Lester needed as his fat tongue snaked its way into her mouth, dragging over her own. Renee's knees buckled, and she melted into the kiss, her pussy still desperate for connection with that large cock in the bathroom. She thought she'd had control over herself, but she found her tongue dancing hungrily against Lester's.

Lester grinded himself against her, and Renee found her body doing the same. Her hands never left his chest, balling his stained shirt in her hands. But Lester's hands travelled the entirety of her body. Touching her. Grabbing her. Pulling her face deeper into their kiss.

A voice in her mind screamed, and Renee broke the kiss, panting. She pushed against Lester. He took a step back with a toothy grin on his face. She stared at him, unsure what to do next. She hadn't expected something so bold from such a meek man. She wiped his saliva off her lips.

"You're welcome," Lester said.

"For what?" Renee breathed, her gaze travelling over Lester, trying to reassess him. Her eyes paused on the substantial bulge in his sweatpants. She fumbled behind her, unable to break eye contact with his tented pants and pulled her door open.

"For coming to meet you," Lester said, "Call me anytime, Renee."

Without answering, Renee got in her car, locking the door. She peered at Lester through the door, and images of him taking her in the backseat flashed into her mind. All she had to do was invite him in. Instead, she keyed the ignition and pulled out of the parking lot. She held a hand up to him, but didn't quite manage a wave. The odd man just stood there watching her go.

Dan was putting the finishing touches on his presentation. It was a big one. The report that would decide his future with Sentinel Securities. He needed them to give him a job. He'd studied their upcoming projects and knew he could help save them a lot of time and effort. His meeting tomorrow with the executives would be his chance to prove himself.

But his mind was not on the project at the moment. His head wasn't even in Washington. Instead, it was back home in Middleton. Specifically, wondering what Sarah was doing at that moment. He knew he needed to trust her. But the way they'd left things made his stomach turn. He opened his phone and read her last message again.

S: I think Lester muted you on the call. I couldn't hear you say stop.

Dan put his phone face down on his desk and pinched the bridge of his nose. He didn't know what to think of her message. It screamed like a desperate attempt by her to explain what had happened. How they had both simply ignored him. Lester, he expected that from him, but Sarah?maybe he should have expected it from her, too.

There was the slimmest of chances that she was telling the truth. Or at least a version of what she believed to be the truth. But Dan didn't want to open his heart up to that possibility. He didn't want to let himself get hurt again.

He focused back on the screen in front of him and mindlessly tabbed through the well crafted powerpoint slides. The only sound on the floor around him was the quiet clicks from his keyboard. Everyone else had long since departed for the night, but Dan needed to nail this. He checked the time. It was late. A small break wouldn't hurt him.

Walking to the breakroom, he stretched and found his phone in his back pocket. He glanced around. The floor was empty, not another soul in sight. With a sigh, he opened the app to remotely view the cameras he'd surreptitiously set up in his home. He braced himself for the inevitable heartache and opened the feed.

The bedroom was empty. He thumbed through the different cameras until he saw Sarah sitting on the couch in a silk emerald robe. She looked incredibly sexy, the garment riding high up her thigh while offering great glimpses of cleavage.

He was relieved to see that she was alone. But the robe didn't sit right with him. He checked the other feeds and didn't see the girls. They were either down for the night or with their grandparents. He didn't know which. Sarah hadn't told him.

He thumbed back to her message and started to type a response. Then he deleted it. Dan didn't know what to say. He didn't know how to find the words that would convey what he was feeling. Like a chump, he just sat there watching his wife for a few minutes before getting a bottle of cold water from the fridge and going back to his desk. Break time was over; he needed to absolutely kill this presentation. For himself and his family, and whatever future he and Sarah had together.

Sarah sat on the couch waiting for Lester. He was late. She sipped her glass of wine and flipped through Netflix, trying to occupy her mind. Dan still hadn't returned her text, but she'd seen that he read it. She'd hoped he'd try reaching out to her. Give her a reason to maybe call things off with Lester tonight.

Another part of her was glad he hadn't. It meant that she'd get Lester all to herself. But she had a bone to pick with the man. Had Dan really tried to speak up? Based on how upset he'd been, she was thinking he might have. Which meant that Lester had probably muted the mic to cut her husband's audio off.

That both irked her and turned her on. It was shameful to admit to herself, but she did enjoy how Lester would constantly fuck with people. The power he wielded over them. In just a few nights, he'd changed the fates of Richard, Mary and the entire hospital. He loved to fuck with people. She got that. She was somewhat surprised to find herself attracted to that.

But Lester was fucking with Dan now. The love of her life. Father of her children. It wouldn't be the first time he'd fucked with him. Ever since Dan had moved into that god-awful apartment, Lester had been fucking with him in one way or another.

Did Lester see Dan as just another person to fuck with? There had been so many times when Lester had claimed to be doing this for them. For their fantasy. He'd seen him do things to benefit Dan. It chilled her to think that all of that might have just been an act.

The doorbell rang, waking Sarah up from her conflicted thoughts. She checked her phone one last time for a message from Dan. Nothing. Sarah gulped down the last of her wine and stood up, straightening her sexy emerald robe and walking to open the door.

She opened the door to see Lester standing there in his stained shirt and dirty sweatpants. There was a fresh, wet stain on one leg. He smirked at her, his toothy smile stretching from ear to ear. She'd never seen him grin like that before.

"What...the girls are asleep, we need to be —"

"Daddy's home," Lester chuckled loudly and stepped into the house like he owned the place. Sarah didn't even have time to close the door before Lester's fat, short, hairy arms wrapped around her waist. He dipped her back, pulling her thigh up as he pressed himself against her. Sarah was nearly horizontal, staring up at the ceiling, feeling Lester's hot, hardening manhood pressing against her through the silk robe. Lester licked his lips, flicking them in and out like a snake and raised his eyebrows comically at her. His lips met hers, and he pried them apart with his fat tongue.

Sarah felt his cock stir to life and begin to increase in length and girth as it inched its way up her slit. A guttural groan escaped Sarah's lips as she felt it pushing into her; she knew the promises of pleasure that it held. She melted into the deep kiss, letting Lester's tongue probe and dance around her mouth like a live serpent. Sarah's arms wrapped around Lester's neck, and her tongue came alive, sucking and sliding over his. Tasting alcohol on him.

Her mind whispered that she'd rarely seen Lester have a drink, but her mind couldn't hold onto the thought for long as Lester ground his hips against her, rubbing his cock against her covered pussy. She moaned into the kiss, battling him with her tongue. His hands ran up her body, grabbing her thigh hard, kneading her ass and breasts possessively.

Finally, Lester ripped at the robe's belt. In one swift motion, he undid the flimsy material. Sarah felt the cold night air dance across her exposed skin. The silk material fell away from her torso. Lester's hand was on Sarah's bare breasts in a second, grabbing them hard, pinching her nipples.

"Mhmfmfff," Sarah groaned at the rough treatment, loving the sensations. She cracked an eye open, and her lips paused in confusion. Why could she see Lester's SUV? The door is still open....

"Les-Mmmppppffff," Sarah was cut off by Lester's fat tongue swirling around in her mouth. When it finally momentarily receded, she tried to continue, "Lester! The doorrroooooohhh."

Lester ground his sweatpants-clad cock against Sarah's panty-covered pussy. The thin green material was the only piece of clothing she had left on. It matched her robe.

"Ughnnmmn," Sarah moaned, the words getting lost in her throat. Lester sneered, grabbing her by the back of the head and pulling her mouth back onto his. His tongue pushed in again, spreading his acrid saliva into her mouth. Sarah's mind raced, but her body melted again into his kiss, pulling on Lester's torso for leverage so she could grind back against his cock.

Lester's mouth hungrily devoured her own, and she struggled to breathe. And then Lester was lowering her down. She felt the cool tile press against her exposed bubble butt, and it gave her brain a little jolt. She turned her head. Lester's flicking tongue followed, battering at her lips. "Lester, the door," Sarah managed to whisper, avoiding Lester's probing tongue, "It's open."

Lester gave a dramatically exaggerated look over his shoulders, "So?"

He turned back to Sarah, forcing his lips back onto hers. He shuffled on the floor, spreading her legs and sinking his sweatpanted cock onto her damp pussy.

“Ughhmhmm,” Sarah groaned, feeling the hot, thick cock pressing against her. The little panties were both a curse and her last lifeline from being taken on the floor of her home for the entire neighborhood to see.

Sarah turned her head again, “Lester. Let’s shut the door. Someone might see.”

“Fuck off. You don’t give a shit. You like being watched,” Lester grunted as he pulled his hips back and slid his cock up and down Sarah’s slit. Her silk panties were already soaked.

“I..I don’t...not them....not here...Lester...please...” Sarah struggled with the words as her body begged for her panties to be ripped off.

“Why not?” Lester sneered.

“Please....” Sarah begged.

“Fine. But you gotta do something for me first,” Lester said, pausing his oral assault on her.

“Yes. Okay. Whatever, let’s just move this upstairs,” Sarah breathed hard, regretting but also relieved as Lester’s body weight on her eased up as he moved off her. Lester stood, his cock sticking straight out of his sweatpants, forming an impressive tent.

Sarah pulled at her robe, trying to cover her nudity and ward off the chill of the night air as she sat up. When she was pushing herself to her feet, Lester said, “Stop. Take it out first.”

“What?” Sarah said, eyes darting to the open front door. The cool breeze wafted into the house, ruffling her blonde hair.

“You heard me. Don’t act dumb. We both know you know what I want. Skip the whole song-and-dance you always put on. You don’t wanna fuck on the floor here? Then take it out,” Lester said, glaring down at her.

“You can be a real asshole,” Sarah mumbled, her fingers going to the waistband of his dirty sweatpants. She hooked them underneath and pulled the ratty elastic down; his sweatpants and tight, once-upon-a-time-white underwear came down to his ankles. Sarah chanced another look out into the dark night, mortified that someone might be out there watching. But all she could see was the light pooling under the street lights and the soft glow of lamps and TVs behind the surrounding houses' closed windows. She eyed her neighbor's house with the best line of sight to her. All the windows were dark, but she couldn't tell if the curtains were drawn.

"Kiss it," Lester said, "Then we go upstairs."

Sarah glared up at Lester, rolled her eyes and quickly darted forward, planting a peck on the massive head of the large bulbous organ.

Lester rolled his eyes, "This ain't a middle school dance, baby, give it a real kiss."

Sarah huffed, glanced outside again before taking Lester's cock in her hand and giving the crown a slow, passionate kiss. Her tongue darted under it, twirling around the head as she sucked and kissed it. Her tongue licked the slit, tasting the flavor of his cum even though she didn't see any leaking out.

A loud slam jolted her out of her reverie. The cold air from outside had been unexpectedly cut off. Lester had slammed the door while she'd lost herself sucking his cock. He grinned down at her, stepping out of his unwashed sweatpants and gross underwear.

"The girls are sleeping," Sarah scolded him in a hushed voice.

Lester just chuckled, "I'm not your husband. Don't you take that tone with me."

"This is my house, Lester, I'll talk to you however I damn well --"

Sarah's scolding was cut off by a mouthful of Lester's fat cock. He swiftly grabbed her hair in one fist, holding it tight while his other hand braced the side of her face as he shoved his cock in. Sarah sputtered as the head of his pole hit the back of her throat. She gagged, her hands instinctively going up to Lester's hairy thighs. The head of Lester's cock aggressively hit the back of her throat again, dragging across her tongue.

Sarah tasted the unmistakable tang of Lester's cum but still didn't feel any of the sticky substance in her mouth. The head of his plunging cock hit the back of her throat again as Lester's grip on her hair tightened. The next time he thrust forward, Sarah was ready for him, and she moved, opening wide. The head of Lester's cock pushed deep inside her throat. His balls slapped at her chin as she extended her mouth as wide as it would go and took Lester's enormous cock down her throat. She suppressed her natural gag reflex and let Lester throat fuck her.

“Mhmhmggaggggggfcckkk,” Sarah moaned around Lester’s cock. Her mouth was going into overdrive, producing saliva to make the process easier. “Gggaackkkggaaakkggaaakk.” An equal amount of moisture was being produced between her legs.

“Obi-Wan has trained you well, padawan,” Lester muttered. He pulled his cock from Sarah’s throat as she desperately gasped for breath. Using his dripping hard cock, he slapped her across one cheek and then the other, snickering to himself.

She glared up at him, panting for breath, wiping the saliva from her mouth, “What the fuck has gotten into you?”

“Oh, it’s just one of those nights, y’know?” Lester said with a grin. There was something hidden behind his eyes that she couldn’t quite understand. “Where do you want it?”

“Want what?” Sarah said, standing on unsteady feet.

“Where do you want to make a baby? Your bed where you and Dan made the other two or somewhere fucking dirty? Lester stood, stroking his cock.

Sarah wanted to be mad at him. Then she remembered she was furious at him. Instead of answering his question, she fired back, “At the motel, with Richard. Did you mute Dan?”

“Fuck Dan,” Lester barked, pushing towards her. He backed her up until her luscious bubble butt was pressing against the living room couch. Both of Lester’s hands rose in unison to her shoulders. He roughly gripped the edges of her robe and pulled it down to her waist. Material was still trapped between her ass and the couch otherwise, it would be a heap on the floor.

“Tell me,” Sarah said, matching the intense anger now visible on Lester’s face.

Lester smirked at her, “Of course I did. Who cares what dipshit Dan had to say?”

“I did,” Sarah fired back.

“Bull-fucking-shit,” Lester sneered, “If Dan was telling you to stop. You wouldn’t have stopped.”

“You don’t know that,” Sarah said.

“I do,” Lester said, reaching down between them and directing his cock against Sarah’s pussy. He ground it into her. She gasped, marvelling once again at its size and girth even though it had just been in her throat. It was molten hot as it pressed against her, its heat tracing a path between her thighs. “You wouldn’t let him take this away from you. Would you?”

Sarah stared back at Lester with a fire in her eyes, but her mouth wasn’t able to form an argument against him. All protest was lodged in her throat as she tried to breathe. As determined as she was to maintain a defiant expression on her face, Lester’s cock grinding against her broke through her facade as the inevitable pleasure crept into her features. Lester smirked.

“There’s my girl,” Lester sneered. He roughly ground himself against her, grabbed the back of her neck and pulled her into him for a kiss. She closed her eyes and opened her mouth, desperate to taste him again. The kiss never came.

Sarah opened her eyes to see Lester smirking at her, pleased with himself at how ready she was for him to continue. His meaty, fat hand with its hairy knuckles ran down her skin until it gripped the sides of her panties.

“Admit it. You don’t give a shit if I fuck with Dan. Richard, Mary, Dan...” Lester trailed off. “None of them matters.”

Sarah gulped. A chill ran up her spine. Lester was lumping Dan in with the people she’d watched him fuck over. The people whose lives Lester had entirely decimated. Lives Lester had ruined. Her breasts rose and fell as a realization washed over her. Lives they had ruined. Both of them. Sarah had been complicit, if not outright responsible, for both Mary and Richard’s downfalls. But Dan...had she contributed to Dan’s downfall somehow? Events raced and replayed through her mind, grasping at disparate puzzle pieces just out of reach. She felt a pit in her stomach, but didn’t understand why.

Lester’s cock ground into her again, eliciting another small moan from her lips. She knew this was wrong. The girls could come down and see her pinned to the couch like she was by this short beast of a man, scarring them for life. To her right, Sarah realized that despite closing the door, she’d never closed the living room drapes. The house was dark, but still....the danger was there.

“But Dan...” Sarah’s mind tried to grasp her fleeting thoughts.

“Doesn’t matter,” Lester said as he played with her panties. A wicked smile spread across his face. “Unless....”

Sarah's heart hammered in her chest as Lester ground into her. She was hanging on Lester's every word. "Maybe his pretty little wife can properly incentivize me not to mess with him. What do you say?"

Sarah gulped again and slowly nodded her head. Lester's fist seized her panties. Pain seared her ass as the sound of ripping fabric filled the room. Lester pulled his fist up victoriously, holding her torn panties up by his head. He pulled them to his face, inhaling deeply before discarding them over his shoulder.

Dan's presentation sat untouched on his computer. He sat there, looking disgusted as he watched the events unfold on his phone. The pit in his stomach was growing. Shame, anger and a strong tide of arousal battled one another inside of him as he watched his camera feed.

He hadn't meant to get his hopes up. But part of him really believed she wouldn't go through with it. After he'd finally responded to her text, trying to give her the benefit of the doubt on what had occurred. Trying to rebuild that bridge, he'd been dismayed by her lack of response.

He knew she was at home. He knew she had her phone in her hand and was sitting on the couch. Why hadn't she responded? So, he'd opened up the cameras. And there was his loving wife, the mother of his children, lying on her back on the floor, being mauled by his roommate. Moaning for him with the door wide open for the entire world to see.

And now Lester was inhaling the aroma of her panties like some kind of sick pervert, and Sarah was still turned on by this absolute turd of a human being.

On his phone, Sarah moved wantonly to kiss Lester, but he pulled his head back, grinning.

"Beg me to stop fucking with your husband," Lester said. Sarah bit her lip, and Dan watched her face as it slipped into that all too familiar expression of a seductress. It seemed so natural to her. Too natural. Which one is the real Sarah and which is the role? The seductress or the wife and mother?

"Please, Lester," Sarah said, her body swaying back and forth, "Leave Dan alone. He's had a hard enough time lately. With losing his job. Twice. And everything else. Please don't fuck with him anymore."

Dan's stomach turned. Even thousands of miles away, he was being used as part of their sick, fucked up fantasy. Putting him down and using him like some absent prop to get both of them off. His dick strained against his dress pants.

Lester had a Cheshire Cat grin plastered on his face. He pulled Sarah from the couch and spun her around, bending her over the back of it. Her nails dug into the leather material as Lester reached down and grabbed his bulky shaft. He held her by the back of her neck, dominantly pushing her head down.

"You're already fucking dripping wet," Lester chuckled as he ran the head of his cock up and down Sarah's slit.

"Please, Lester," Sarah said, "God. I need it."

"Beg," Lester said.

"I'll do anything," Sarah purred, swaying her ass back and forth, seeking contact with Lester's cock, "Just leave Dan alone."

Sarah gasped, and her body lurched forward violently, and Dan knew that Lester was pushing himself inside of her. Sarah's face contorted in pleasure as his fat roommate worked more and more of his massive organ into his blonde wife. Dan brushed the tears from his eyes and watched as she went up on the balls of her feet, Lester feeding more and more of his monster into her.

Finally, the odd little fat man sighed in satisfaction, and Sarah moaned in ecstasy, feeling the entire length of his cock buried inside of her. Dan slumped in his chair, unable to tear his eyes from the phone but unable to bear what he knew would happen next.

Sarah's angry thoughts fell away as Lester's cock filled her. It hurt as she stretched to accommodate his size, but the pain blended with other sensations to bring her close to orgasm - it felt amazing inside of her. She was bent over the couch as Lester slowly pulled his cock back out of her until just the apple-sized head remained buried within.

With the slow movements, Sarah groaned, "Umhmmhmmmmmm."

"Poor Danny," Lester chuckled, "Oh well."

“Please, don’t fuck up Dan’s life like you did to the others.” The words tumbled out of Sarah’s mouth. Her brain didn’t even process what she was saying, let alone fully understand it.

Lester just chuckled, “Who says I haven’t already fucked it up?”

Sarah’s mind raced. What did he mean by that? Was this all part of his fucked up fantasy? But she needed to hear him talk about Dan. She needed more of it. So the only word that came out was, “How?”

WHAP

Lester slapped Sarah’s ass hard, just as he rammed the full length of his cock back into her. His hand stayed glued to her naked ass cheek for leverage, his dirty, cheeto-laden finger nails digging into her supple flesh.

“How haven’t I?” Lester said loudly. Too loudly...the girls.... Sarah winced in pain, but her body shuddered with increased pleasure from the fullness she was experiencing. “Cuck’s in a different fucking zip code, and I’m balls deep in his wife. Mission, nnggh, accomplished.”

Lester’s immense cock pulled back. Then pushed in. Out. In. Out. In. Slow and steady. Slow and steady. Sarah was gasping for breath as she took it all in. Her bubble butt was spreading against Lester’s hairy gut as he powerfully fucked her. Her breasts pushed down into the cold leather of the couch.

“And now....I’m gonna dump....a whole load....” Lester said through gritted teeth and he seesawed his cock in and out of Sarah. “Of my cum....into his wife...and knock her the fuck up....while she fucking begs...me....for...it.”

“Uhhmmhmmhmm,” Sarah moaned at the vile words. Her mind was a complete mess as the lust-addled words tumbled out of her mouth. “Fuck....Gonna fill me....with your nasty cum....”

“Fucking A,” Lester said, licking his lips, “You’re gonna be dripping for days.”

“You promised....” Sarah breathed hard, “Not to fuck with Dan. Not to fuck with my husband. But you’re gonna put a baby in me?”

“I never said I wasn’t gonna fuck with you,” Lester said cheerfully as he rammed his cock into the hot wife hard and fast. Sarah wasn’t ready for it. She’d been used to the slow, steady pace. His meaty fingers gripped her neck and waist, and he took his pleasure and pounded her with abandon.

“Ughhh....mhmmtttt....godd....Lester....” Sarah screamed from his phone speakers. “You’re so....such a fucking asshole.....asshole whose gonna knock me up....ohgod.”

Dan felt a bead of sweat run down his temple. His eyes burned. He didn’t remember the last time he’d blinked. He forced his eyes shut. Then opened them.

“Uhhhhmhmmtttttttttt....yes....fuckk...do it....don’t tell my husband.....fuckkkkk. FUCCKKYES!”

Something moved to Dan’s right. His eyes finally broke from the screen, a momentary reprieve from his heart being totally eviscerated. A slender and toned body filled his view and a hint of perfume filled his nostrils. Dan’s eyes traced up the female form until they landed on Tricia’s face. She had a bemused look on her face and raised eyebrows.

“Uhhhhhh....MHMMMMMMMM....FUCK. FUCK. FUCK! FUCK! FILL ME! FUCKING GIVE ME A BABY ASSHOLE!”

Dan gulped.

“Porn? At work?” Tricia said, stepping into his small cubicle, invading Dan’s personal space. “Kinky. I never would have expected that from a straight shooter like you. But I guess every man has a dark side.”

Dan didn’t speak; his mind raced. Mortified at being caught Mortified at someone else seeing the shame of his wife being consummately used and pleased better than he could ever do.

“It’s hot. Seeing that side of you,” Tricia said, boldly pushing one of her stocking-clad legs between Dan’s knees. “I won’t tell if you won’t. This can be our little secret.”

“YES...OH GOD YES...” Sarah’s pleading screams filled the silence between them.

“Show me what you’re watching,” Tricia said, reaching for his phone, “Show me what got you so hot and bothered that you’d risk watching it here, of all places.”

Dan grabbed her wrist, halting it as her fingers touched his phone.

“EMPTY THOSE FAT FUCKING BALLS INTO ME YOU BASTARD,” Sarah wailed.

Tricia stared at her hand, then back at Dan. The contact of his hand on her wrist was electric. Dan's cock twitched. Sarah's ever louder cries of pleasure filled the dark floor. Dan pulled on Tricia's wrist. She willingly fell onto his lap, and Dan hungrily pressed his lips against hers. She moaned into the kiss as Lester's grunts filled the room.

Lester pulled tight on the soft blonde locks in his fist. Sarah grunted in newly felt pain, her lithe back arching back towards the fat man working behind her. Lester's long tongue snaked out and licked Sarah's neck, sending familiar shivers through her whole body. He yanked her hair again, this time from the side. Sarah turned her head to the left, and his large tongue speared into her mouth. The angle was awkward, but Sarah moaned into the awkward kiss; their tongues lapped and battled each other. Saliva dripped from their mouths, dripping down onto the leather couch below.

Lester's other hand snaked around and grabbed one of her exposed breasts, palming it. He roughly squeezed and mashed her tender flesh with his fingers. Sarah's mouth opened wider, her moans ringing out through the house. Lester pulled his cock all the way out to just the head and slammed it back in, jolting Sarah forward again, breaking their lusty kiss.

"OHHHHHHHHFUCCKK!" Sarah wailed. Lester slammed into her again, and Sarah's grip on the couch faltered. She slipped, her torso falling onto the cold surface, her breasts pressing against the cool leather cushion. Lester's fist still held the hair at the base of her neck, but his fingers splayed out, gripping her neck, holding her in place as he slid his cock in and out of her. Sarah was on the balls of her feet, taking every thrust.

The slapping sound of skin on skin filled the Williams' living room. The air was thick with the odor of their sweat. A bead of it dripped off Sarah's forehead and landed on the couch. She felt another chilling bead roll down her neck and disappear between her ass cheeks.

"Ohgod," Sarah moaned, Lester's vice-like fingers wrapped around the back of her neck.

"God won't help you now," Lester chuckled, "Pray to me."

"Lester...Lester....fuck....LESTER...." Sarah moaned, "Fuck you're such an asshole."

"This asshole's the one that's gonna knock you up," Lester chuckled, "My balls are fucking full of cum. Just waiting to be unleashed."

God Sarah thought, hanging her head. She couldn't think straight. Her mind had already been scrambled by an amazing orgasm and Lester's unrelenting thrusts. She knew what he wanted to hear. She knew the words that needed to escape her throat.

"GIVE IT TO ME!" Sarah wailed. She clawed her way back up the couch, digging her fingers into the leather and thrusting her pert ass back against Lester's ramming cock, "Stop talking about it and just fucking do it! Put a baby in me behind my husband's back. Knock up a married woman, you fat asshole!"

Lester grunted, his breath coming out raggedly as his sweat mixed in with the hair covering his torso. He wiped his thinning hairline with the back of his hand and gripped Sarah's hips, his swollen cock pounding into her. His gut rested over her fantastic ass as their skin slapped together.

"Put your bastard, baby, into me. Fill me with your nasty cum and do it. Just don't tell my husband." Sarah said. As the words left her throat, she felt another orgasm quickly ramping up inside of her. The overt betrayal of Dan was sending her over the edge.

"Oh, he's gonna figure it out when your belly starts swelling up," Lester cackled, his groping fingers digging deep into her flesh. "And here and I thought you didn't want me to fuck with him anymore."

"You can't fuck me without fucking with him," Sarah cried, "I need it, Lester! I need to feel you cum in me!"

"Heh," Lester snorted, "I've been fucking with him since day fucking one."

"I know, you bastard, you sick piece of shit," Sarah cried as she thrust back against Lester's invading cock. Her pussy clamped down around his massive member, holding him like a glove. Refusing to let him go for anything.

"This sick piece of shit is about to impregnate you," Lester said, "How's that for fucking with him? You know what's the best fucking part? I never got snipped. I still got all my swimmers, and they're about to explode into you."

"FUCKK!" Sarah panted; her lungs were on fire. Her muscles felt weak, but she pushed on, chasing that orgasm that was so close she could almost taste it. "FILL ME! FILL ME WITH THEM YOU FAT FUCKING FUCK! IMPREGNATE ME!"

"IMPREGNATE ME!"

Dan was vaguely aware of Sarah's voice from somewhere in the cubicle but he wasn't picking up on every word. His mind was focused on the other blonde beauty grinding against him. Their tongues hungrily intertwined, his hands aggressively exploring the curves of her body.

Dan couldn't wait any longer. Tricia's hands were already undoing his belt. Once freed, she got up off his lap and pulled down his pants. Dan's hands dove under her skirt and hiked it up. Not stockings, he thought, garters. Tricia's stockings were held up by garters strapped to her thigh. He swiftly pulled down her panties, eliciting a shocked cry of pleasure from the exposed woman. She was staring down at his erect cock.

"Looks like someone's happy to see – hey...oh," Tricia cried as Dan's hands roughly pulled her back down onto his lap. His cock was sticking straight up as Dan lined her up with his straining cock. Tricia panted, "Do you have any...Ohhhh."

Dan cut her off as his cockhead spread her moistened pussy, and he pulled her down onto his naked cock. Shock and pleasure were plastered on Tricia's face as Dan grabbed both of her ass cheeks and started thrusting up into her off his office chair.

"Dan, my god, who are..." Tricia cried, thrusting her chest against his face, "I never thought--"

Dan nuzzled his face against her blouse. He let go of one of her asscheeks and fumbled with buttons until her chest was partly exposed in the small office. His tongue and lips met the flesh of her breasts, and his hands went back to caressing her ass.

"Dan. Oh God, Dan. You're an animal," Tricia breathed hard.

Dan just grunted an affirmative. Focused on the feeling of his cock inside Tricia. Her little mews of pleasure as he powerfully fucked her.

Both of them were lost in the moment, ignoring the cries of pleasure coming from the phone on Dan's desk.

"AhhFUCK LESTER!" Sarah cried, her body moving rapidly back and forth as she pushed back on Lester's meat only to have his girthy cock pound forward and pin her against the back of the couch in response. Sarah felt like she was in heat. She wanted his cum to flood into her. It felt like more than sex. It felt biological. Primal. Inevitable.

Sarah was also overheating. Her skin radiated heat like she was standing under the sun in the middle of the desert. Her mouth was dry, and her throat felt ragged from screaming, screaming for Lester's cock.

Sarah's pussy clenched down on Lester's cock as she felt another orgasm begin to rear its head, "OH...SHIT....FUCK....LESTER....DON'T STOP...." Sarah cried, arching her back sexily and thrusting her bubble butt towards the obese monster behind her, "DON'T FUCKING STOP YOU UGLY BASTARD!"

"I'm there," Lester growled from behind her. Sarah could hear the sneer in his voice.

She dropped her head fully panting as her lungs burned, "DO IT, LESTER! I NEED IT! CUM IN ME!"

"ARGHFUCK!" Lester bellowed like a moose. His voice echoed throughout the house. From outside a neighbor's dog started barking. Sarah felt Lester's hairy, oversized balls move and clench up beneath her, then the pulse of his cock. The head greatly expanded in size and then...

Hot, sticky cum blasted up and deep into her soaked pussy. The moment she felt it, her orgasm came crashing down on her like a furious tidal wave, washing pleasure over every nerve ending in her body. Sarah went limp, still clutching Lester's cock as she had the wind knocked out of her. Cum exploded inside of her, and Sarah's body convulsed. She felt her eyes rolling up into the back of her skull, and all she saw was white as millions of fireworks of pleasure erupted from her pussy and cascaded throughout her trembling body.

Lester's greedy fingers dug into her flesh as more and more of his illicit seed poured from his shaft into her. Rope after rope of steaming cum blasted into Sarah's fertile pussy. Lester chuckled internally as he thought about the events from earlier in the evening with Renee. He groaned as the last of his cum sputtered out of his cock and seeped into Sarah's pussy. He fell on top of her sweaty back, breathing hard as he caught his breath.

Sarah collapsed under the big man's weight, remaining pinned to the couch. She struggled to breathe as his formidable weight crushed down on her, her mind still dazed from the powerful orgasms. She shut her eyes and focused on her breathing as Lester's thick cock stayed embedded inside of her.

Tricia trembled in the aftermath of an orgasm as Dan's cum drenched her insides. Her hair was a mess, her clothes lay strewn about his cubicle. She'd only meant to come down and tease him. She loved teasing men, especially married ones like Dan. It gave her a thrill.

But tonight...she hadn't expected him to actually act on her teasing. And she hadn't expected him to fuck her. Her mind raced as she pulled herself off her potential new colleague. There was a wet spluch sound that was foreign to her, and she realized it was her cum-filled pussy as they disengaged.

How many kids did he say he had? She knew he had at least one. The cum poured down her thighs, and Tricia braced herself against the cubicle, "That..."

Tricia started to say something, but for once, she was at a loss for words. Dan was splayed out on the chair, breathing hard, looking at her like a conquering hero. Her eyes broke from his and went to the phone screen still blasting his porn. There was now a hairy obese man on the screen with a ridiculous horse-like cock dangling between his legs. Tricia didn't see a woman anywhere. Gross, what the fuck is Dan into?

"I...Jesus...Dan," Tricia said, debating between using her clothes to stem the tide of cum pouring out of her or just rushing off to the bathroom. They weren't the only people in the building, though. She couldn't just walk out of here like this. She quickly pulled on her clothes, her panties instantly soaked from the outward flow of Dan's cum. She grabbed kleenex from his desk and tried to clean off her leg. She shoved some down into the front of her panties for good measure.

"That was good," Dan muttered as he played with the ring on his finger, "Exactly what the doctor ordered."

Tricia didn't know what else to say. She needed space to think. "I'm gonna go clean myself up. We made a mess."

"That we did," Dan said. As she moved away, he didn't try to stop her. She redid the buttons on her blouse, and she walked towards the door, not sure what to feel about what had just happened.

Sarah Williams lay there lazily kissing the big fat man that wasn't her husband. The fat man rolled away, his sweaty body flopping back on the couch like a beached whale. Mrs. Williams grabbed her robe from the floor and, on shaky legs, disappeared from view.

Ted stopped the recording on his phone and sat back in stunned silence. He couldn't believe what he'd just witnessed. He picked some lint from his belly button, smelt it, then flicked it away. He'd secretly lusted after this next-door neighbor for years.

He loved watching her in the backyard or walking around her house in skimpy clothes, but this was something else. He'd seen this odd fat man around a few times but didn't know what his deal was. But tonight, from his second-story window, he'd had quite the view.

She'd fucked that ugly fat guy. Really, the fatty had fucked the living shit out of her. He rose up off his chair and stomped into the bathroom to look at himself in the mirror. He didn't like what he saw. His stomach bulged over his boxers, and his flabby chest sat on top of the sorry sight. Every time he saw himself, he expected to see the young high school linebacker, but instead, an old, ugly man looked back at him from the mirror. He hadn't been that boy in over fifty years.

But if that ugly fuck had been able to get with the young mother. Maybe he had a shot, too.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 40

Renee turned off the engine and sat back into the seat, breathing hard. She'd been shaky the entire drive home and worried she might get into an accident. She half expected James to come out to the garage and ask why she was just sitting there, but she knew she had to compose herself.

After what she'd just done, she needed to steady her face more than anything else. She'd touched another man's penis. Not just touched it. Stroked to completion, until it exploded all over her naked sex. She could still feel her soaking wet panties clinging to her skin and felt shame and arousal coursing wildly through her body. Her face felt hot, and a look in the mirror confirmed that her cheeks were notably rosy.

She still couldn't believe that, on a whim, she'd gone into that bathroom. She hadn't even needed to pee. She'd gone in to see if there was a hole in the wall like the other place she'd been to. She hated herself. And she was mad at Lester for suggesting the place. They could have just talked over the phone.

She shivered and wrapped her arms around herself. Dan's roommate had made a move on her, and she'd been too surprised or maybe turned on to reject it properly. She was a married woman. And Lester had even met her husband, James. It wasn't right. But with how hyped up she'd been from the man behind the wall, her defenses had slipped, and she'd let it happen. Let him press his body against hers. Press his penis against her body. Push his lips and tongue against hers. She still hadn't forgotten that night in the apartment when she'd seen what the odd little man had between his legs.

Maybe she'd done something to give him the wrong kind of signal. Or maybe there was more to Lester than she realized. Either way, she needed to keep her distance from the man. She didn't want to find herself in that situation again. She didn't want to confront how she'd responded to his advances.

Renee took a deep, steadying breath and smoothed out her clothes before getting out of the car. She didn't want to face James, terrified he'd see the guilt all over her face. But she needed him. God only knew how much she needed him in that very moment. She wanted to tear his clothes off and pull him into their bed.

The door to the garage closed silently behind her, and she quickly crept through the house to find her husband. To her dismay, she heard him before she saw him. Heard them.

Loud, obnoxious voices coming from their den. Renee dropped her purse onto the kitchen counter and walked into the adjoining room. James was on the couch surrounded by his buddies watching some football game. Bottles of beer sat on the table in front of them.

“Hi, boys,” Renee said from the doorway. It came out way more sultry than she’d intended. All the men’s eyes snapped off the screen to look at her. The eyes of James’ friends ran over her body, and she suppressed a shiver. Her mind began to assess each one in ways she’d never done before: bedroom prowess and the imagined size of their members.

“Uh, James,” Renee said hurriedly, trying to suppress the uncomfortable thoughts from taking root, “Can I have a word?”

James got to unsteady feet and picked his way across the room until he reached his wife. She grabbed his hand and pulled him into the kitchen. She gave him a playful look and whispered, “Why don’t you get rid of your friends, and you and I can have some alone time upstairs?”

James swayed a bit, bracing himself on the counter. It took him a few seconds before a knowing grin appeared on his face. Then a frown, “It’s the start of the second quarter. Late game in San Francisco. I can’t just kick ‘em out now. It won’t be long, honey. Tell you what, you go on upstairs and take a nice bath, and I’ll come up when the game’s done.”

“Okay,” Renee said flatly. James hadn’t noticed her thighs rubbing together, and she tried to contain herself. James leaned in and kissed her. He tasted like beer. Shouting erupted from the other room, and James quickly disengaged with her and ran back to see what he’d missed.

With a sigh, Renee went upstairs, trying to block out the sounds of the loud TV and adult man children excitedly reacting to what came out of it. She took James’ advice and got into a bath, letting herself relax under the warm water. Her mind kept drifting back to the lurid events of the night, despite her best efforts. To her eternal shame, her fingers had unconsciously found the sensitive areas on her body, and Renee indulged herself for a few moments before chastising herself and getting out of the bath. She needed James. Now.

After she dried off, she slipped into a sexy pair of lacy purple bra and panties, then pulled a comfy robe around herself. She laid herself seductively on the bed and waited for her husband. Time ticked by slowly. Renee scrolled on her phone aimlessly while her eyelids got heavy. She drifted. Her mind played a reel of the night’s events, but altered. In this dream, she let the man on the other side of the wall put his penis inside of her. She felt him stretch her out. When she looked over her shoulder, the wall was gone, and Lester was standing there, embedded inside of her. She opened her mouth to say something, but all that came out were wild moans she didn't recognize the sound of. It was such a shocking and disgusting dream that she woke herself up, her heart slamming against her ribcage.

Renee looked at the time and saw that it was late. Well past midnight and in the early hours of the morning. With a groan, she crawled from bed, tied the robe tightly around herself and tiptoed down the stairs. The TV was still playing loudly from the den, some kind of sports recap show.

James was leaning back, head draped over the back of the couch, mouth open, snoring loudly. A couple of his friends were in similar states in other chairs.

Men, Renee scoffed, turning on her heel and marching back upstairs, not taking care to be quiet any longer. She stripped her sexy attire off and crawled back into bed, desperate to chase the dream she'd just escaped from.

The stress relief from the previous night was exactly what Dan had needed. He hadn't come to Washington to break his marriage vows. Surprisingly only part of him felt at all bad about what had happened. The rest of him felt vindicated. Felt whole. Like he'd recaptured a part of him that was missing.

He didn't let himself dwell on it. Or on Sarah and Lester. Today, he focused on what was important.

"Let's be frank," Dan said, "The kind of threats and issues Sentinel deals with now are only going to grow more complex in the very near future. With the rapid rate of change over the last few years, that future is probably going to be here before any of us expect. Your current infrastructure plan is good, albeit one based on past assumptions. I would expect the need to arise for rapid scaling to meet client demands. That means more data centers and other critical infrastructure to build and maintain. I can help streamline that process and make it profitable from an operational standpoint. It's a heavy lift, but it's not an impossible task. If you give me the opportunity, I'll take this off your plate and run with it, positioning Sentinel Securities for a bright and prosperous future."

Dan confidently pressed the button on the clicker in his hand, and the PowerPoint slide advanced to his closing slide, which featured his headshot and large text that read 'Thank You.'

A few of the men in the room nodded appreciatively and looked around at their colleagues. Tricia was there, but surprisingly, she wouldn't meet Dan's eye. It was odd. She had set up this meeting and had pulled all the strings for him. The video playing on his phone last night must have upset her somehow. He just hoped it didn't cost him this opportunity.

A few of the men and women began an open discussion, beckoning Dan to sit. They asked him questions about his presentation and his opinions on initiatives from various departments. Dan was eager to participate, sliding back into the role of the seasoned professional he was. It felt good, and he knew he was nailing this.

When the meeting was over, Tricia was the first to leave, almost bolting for the door. Dan nodded and shook hands with everyone else. An older man, Gordon Armstrong, stayed behind and pulled Dan into a conversation. Gordon was one of the firm's partners.

"Great work, Dan," Gordon said, "You really gave us a lot to think about. Coming in, I thought our five-year strategy was sound, but now, well, I want to look at it again, especially given all the points you brought up. Do you really think there is that much room for cost savings with our data centers?"

"I do, and to be honest, what I presented was on the conservative end," Dan said with a smile, "I don't like to over promise, so I don't, but I'm confident there's more we can do."

"We're really lucky we found you when we did. How you didn't get scooped up by someone else, I'll never know. It'll be good having you on the team."

Dan cocked his head. Gordon laughed and patted Dan on the bicep, "It's a yes from me. You're employment that is. I'll have HR draw up some paperwork for you to sign, but I think it's a no-brainer. Welcome to Sentinel Securities."

He went to leave before turning back as if an idea had just occurred to him, "You're based in Chicago, right? Maybe we can get together, your wife and mine, for dinner. A welcome to the firm kind of thing. That work for you?"

"Of course," Dan said, trying to keep his best poker face, "I look forward to it."

With that, Gordon turned and left the room, leaving Dan alone. He pumped his fist into the air and couldn't hold back the giant grin from spreading on his face. He couldn't wait to see what the offer was. He knew it would be good, though part of him tried not to get excited. He opened his phone to call Sarah but paused, re-reading their last exchanged messages. Dan put the phone away and headed for Tricia's office.

It took two knocks before he heard her utter 'Come in,' from the other side. He slid into the room, easing the door closed behind him. Tricia looked up at him, and he couldn't read the expression on her face.

"So," Dan said, pushing past the awkwardness, "How'd I do?"

"They loved you," Tricia said with a flat smile that didn't seem genuine. "I think you're a lock."

"Gordon said some kind words to me after, so we'll see," Dan said. He didn't want to give away what was said in the conversation in case Tricia was having a change of heart. "What's going on, Tricia? You are uncharacteristically unflirty today."

Tricia rubbed her eyes, "Just tired."

"You sure? You haven't been the same since you left me in my cubicle last night."

"I just..." Tricia started, "I didn't think that it would actually happen. Not like that."

"Like what?" Dan said, feeling his cheeks start to burn. This was an odd conversation to have with someone other than his wife. His stomach was uneasy. He didn't want to fuck this opportunity up. He never asked for this. It had always been her pushing it.

"I didn't expect you to be so...aggressive," Tricia said, not meeting his eye. "I had to run to the pharmacy to get Plan B this morning. I've never done it like that without a condom."

Dan smirked, and Tricia's gaze got icy. He put up his hands in a placating manner, "I'm fixed, Tricia. I got the snip. You have nothing to worry about."

Her shoulders relaxed, but she kept her icy gaze locked on him, "You have to be more careful. We can't just...God. I sound like a bumbling teenager. Give a girl a heads up next time."

Dan pulled the door open with a smile, "Next time, huh? I guess you enjoyed yourself after all."

Her eyes went wide, darting to the farm of cubicles beyond her door. Before she could respond, Dan stepped out, closing the door behind him. It felt weird, openly flirting with her like that. He'd kept himself reserved for so long, but it was starting to feel like the scales were being balanced. But there was a long way to go before they were.

The sound of stomping feet eased Lester into consciousness. He didn't open his eyes, but he slowly left dreamland. He felt more at peace than he ever had in his entire life. His body was completely relaxed, and everything just felt as it should.

He inhaled, caught a familiar strawberry scent, and knew Sarah was close by. As his mind stretched out and became aware of his surroundings, he knew the pretty little mother was curled up against him, her head on his chest, her luscious blonde mane splayed out over his hairy chest.

She mumbled something in her sleep and nuzzled into him. His fingers traced over the taut muscles of her naked back. She was warm to the touch. Lester couldn't help the shit-eating grin from spreading on his face. Sometimes he had to remind himself to enjoy the little things. Moments like this. He'd come so far. Way further than he'd ever expected to get. Much further than with any of his prior conquests.

Lester's cock grew against Sarah's toned leg. It was time for him to deposit another load into the fertile young mother. He scrunched up his ugly face and heaved his immense bulk off the bed, turning Sarah onto her back.

She groaned in protest, but her eyes fluttered open, staring up at him. She blinked, confusion and revulsion giving way to acceptance and want. Lester smirked again, dipped his fat lips down and mashed them against hers.

"Uffmmhmmm," Sarah groaned, surprised. Lester's flabby chest and large gut pinned her nubile young body to the mattress.

"You're mine," Lester mumbled before resuming his sloppy, saliva-filled kiss. Sarah moaned into his mouth as he ground himself against her naked body. Her hands slid to his arms. Lester grabbed the back of her neck and mauled her awake with his tongue, forcing it into her mouth. He held her neck in a vise grip, turning his head and pushing his fat tongue into every crevice of her mouth. His other hand was underneath her, mauling her ass cheek.

His cock pushed against her bare, naked thigh, inching its way upwards. Sarah's hand went to his chest, pushing against him, trying to get a breather. But Lester pushed ahead anyway.

He shifted his bulk on the bed, his legs pressing into the mattress as he expertly shuffled them, hooking her knees over them. As his giant, hairy stomach pressed her down into the bed, he lined his cock up with her entrance.

Much to his delight, she was already wet for him. He grinned, breaking the kiss as his large cock head ran up and down her slit.

“Lester...I...just...” Sarah started, but the words died in her throat as Lester slowly and firmly thrust forward. The head of his cock separating her pussy lips, barging in, eliciting a sharp intake of breath from the mother of two. Lester ground his fat hips forward, easing her legs open as the head of his cock disappeared inside of her.

A guttural groan of pleasure replaced Sarah’s fading words as another inch of his massive veiny cock entered into her. Her face was a mix of pleasure from the sensation and frustration at being silenced, disregarded. Lester pumped forward, his eyes gleaming as he watched her. Watched the fight kindle in her eyes, the desire to say something, the desire to give in to her baser instincts and their shared history. His grin widened when he felt her hips rise off the bed to meet his.

He sank his cock further into her. She cried out, bottom jaw hanging open as he stretched her pussy. He was always amazed at how tight she was. How, no matter how often or how hard he fucked her, she’d somehow transform back to feeling like a virgin’s tightness. Like she was new for him every time.

Lester licked his lips, clutched his fingers in the hair at the base of her skull and pulled her face up towards him. He kissed hard, her hips bouncing off the bed now, seeking more of his cock. He obliged. Lester plunged his entire length into the once faithful wife and nailed her to the bed, almost knocking the wind out of her as he drilled down. He grabbed her by the head and forced her to his chest, her tongue lolling out and began licking him through the coarse hair.

Lester pumped his hips, splitting her legs open wide. He felt her calves come to rest on his ass. Her head was held pinned to his chest, but she was like a bitch in heat, tongue circling, licking him, needing to feel and taste him.

After their eventful night, she just couldn’t get enough of him. Lester couldn’t help the shit-eating smirk from being glued onto his face. He used to have to hide it around her. Not wanting to show his true intentions. They’d come so far. His naked cock was buried in her unprotected pussy, and she was begging for more of him. Needing more of his cum. He was making sure to take full advantage of the time he was given. There was nothing to stop him.

He pulled Sarah from his chest, her eyes lazily opening as his tongue slowly retracted into her mouth. He pushed her into the mattress, hands on both of her shoulders as he pounded her with his cock. His thumbs dug into her collarbone as he fucked her into heavenly oblivion, his cock driving in and out of her at reckless speed.

They grunted in unison, no words passing between them, just a brutal, primal knowledge of what the other was experiencing. Sarah looked up at him, disbelief on her face. She still couldn't get used to how often Lester could fuck her.

His big, heavy, hairy balls were slapping against her ass. Lester hooked an arm under one of her knees and brought it up, giving him a new angle of attack and letting his cock get just a bit deeper inside.

"Ughhhnm," Sarah groaned in reply, her eyes fluttering closed, her nails digging into the flesh of Lester's arms. He had her. She was his. His to own. His to breed.

Lester felt a primal sense of ownership and the drive to reproduce. His hips began to buck forward wildly, losing control of himself. Sweat trickled down his back and dripped off his forehead, splattering onto Sarah's abundant chest. He flexed his cock inside of her and her body shivered.

"I can't wait to cum in you," Lester sneered, "Again."

Sarah just bit her lip, eyes closed tight, focusing on enjoying the moment. Lester was grunting loudly, plowing forward like a prized stallion loose in the barn with a thoroughbred mare. The bed creaked rhythmically under the violent force of their fucking.

The pitter, patter of rushed footsteps that had awoken Lester floated into his ears, but he quickly dismissed it, focusing intently on the task at hand. Sarah's eyes flew open. With a strength neither of them knew she had, Sarah's hands pushed on his chest. Her exposed hips pushed off the bed, fully embedding his cock into her as she tried to flip him onto his side.

Lester relented and let himself be moved. Sarah's hands reached for the comforter, but it had fallen off during the middle of the night marathon sex session. She reached further forward to grab it and pulled it up over them. But she wasn't fast enough.

Her daughter Ava stood with one hand on the doorknob, a look of confusion on her tilted face.

"Mom?" she said, barely above a whisper. Thankfully her sister wasn't there with her.

“I...I’ll be right there, honey. Mom’s just getting ready. Close the door. I’ll be right out.” Sarah’s words nervously poured out of her. Lester held his breath under the comforter. What an interesting development. He just hoped it wouldn’t come back to bite him on the ass.

“Ava,” Sarah snapped, “Close the door honey.”

The door shut, and Sarah sighed. Lester grabbed her by the waist and tried to pull her back down to him. She shifted, evading his stubby fingers and rushed out of the bed, “Fuck.”

Lester’s arms went behind his head as he watched her hurriedly pull a robe around her naked form. “Relax,” he drawled, “Nothing you can do about it now.”

“She might have seen us!” Sarah whispered hard at him, “Seen you. I knew it was a mistake the moment you came in here last night. I should have just let you sit out on the porch all night. This is too fucked up.”

“She probably didn’t see a thing. Even if she did, they’re kids. They don’t know what’s what.”

“Kids are smarter than you think, Lester,” Sarah said, going to the door. She cracked it open, looking down an empty wall. When she looked back at him, she spoke in a voice, daring him to defy her, “Stay here. Be quiet. I’ll be back in a little bit.”

“Whatever,” Lester said, letting his eyes close once again.

Sarah hurried down the stairs to the living room. The girls were both on their tablets, but Ava looked up, meeting her mom’s eyes. “Thanks for waking me up, Ava,” Sarah said, “I overslept.”

“It’s almost eight,” Ava said slowly.

“I know. I know, I’m sorry,” Sarah said, rushing into the kitchen, her mind racing, trying to decipher Ava’s face and her words. She poured them both a bowl of cereal and hit the start button on the coffee machine. The coffee helped her swallow her supplements, and she made a mental note to take the other one upstairs when she got dressed.

“Ava,” Sarah said, watching her daughter use her spoon to play with her cereal, “Are you okay?”

“I’m fine mom,” Ava said, putting on a smile that didn’t quite reach her eyes. Sarah studied her daughter for a few seconds before returning to finishing her food. “I’m going to get upstairs and get your clothes.”

Sarah hurried up the stairs, taking time to catch her breath and steady herself at the top. She grabbed clothes for the girls and, with a second thought, brought their toothbrushes and hairbrushes down from the bathroom downstairs.

“Here’s your clothes, girls,” Sarah said laying the clothes out on the couch. “Your brushes and toothbrushes are on the counter. Let’s brush down here just for today, okay? Can you girls do all that while I get ready? Then you can go back to your tablets.”

Both girls nodded, Ava less enthusiastically. Sarah crept back upstairs to get changed. She’d need to get the girls in the car and out the door in thirty minutes to drive them to school, otherwise they’d be late.

This time, she locked the bedroom door behind her. A large mass moved under the comforter, and Sarah wondered how the legs on the bed frame hadn’t snapped off yet.

“Get over here,” Lester said from under the heavy blanket, “We have business to finish.”

“Not now, Lester,” Sarah said, her voice filled with panic. She hurried to the closet. “I need to drive the kids to school. We overslept. I think Ava saw us.”

“She didn’t see anything,” Lester said, “Relax.”

“I can’t relax,” Sarah stammered, sorting through her clothes to find something that wasn’t wrinkled. “I don’t know how I even faced her or how I can do it again. It’s mortifying, Lester. I didn’t want to expose her to this. To you, to any of this. It’s a nightmare.”

Sarah kept moving hangers, looking for something to wear. Lester groaned and rolled off the bed, stretching his back in the process. She didn’t look, but could see a large mass making its way to her out of the corner of her eye.

“Lester, not now. I’m panicking inside. I can’t do this.” Sarah stammered, still unable to find anything to wear. There was nothing. Nothing to wear. She didn’t know what to do.

“Shhhhhh,” Lester said, sliding up behind her. His hands fell over her robe-covered shoulders, gently massaging them. His still hard cock poked against the back of her robe. “You’re overreacting. You snapped at her; she’s probably just hurt. Relax.”

“I can’t relax,” Sarah snapped. Her heart was beating out of her chest, and she couldn’t think straight. She was spiraling. Just like when she’d been caught with Otis at the hospital. Her world was falling apart, and she wasn’t in control of its downward descent. Lester swiftly undid the belt on her robe, his other hand brushing it off her shoulders, where it fell to the floor.

“Lester!” Sarah said, panic in her voice. “The girls. I can’t, what if—”

“Relax,” Lester said as he pushed forward. Sarah almost tripped as he bumped into her, spearing her ass with his dick. She reached out to catch herself; the only thing in sight was the bar holding her clothes. Lester’s hands were on her hips as she shifted his cock to settle it between her thighs. He pushed forward, running against her pussy.

“They’re downstairs, Lester, awake. We can’t – Ugh,” Sarah’s words choked out.

Lester’s cock head pushed into her, followed by his girthy shaft. Sarah struggled, her breath catching in her throat.

“Ahhffff-Lesssstee—” Sarah whined as Lester fed her his cock. Her body instinctively pushed back against him, taking more of him inside of her.

“Oh, but we can,” Lester grunted into her ear, hand snaking around her body to cup her breasts, the other holding her hips in place. Lester thrust into Sarah, and she gripped the closet bar for dear life. The clothes shook on her hangers as Lester picked back up right where he had been. Lester pinched her nipples, groping her breasts greedily. Sarah arched her back, pressing them into his meaty palm. Her mind felt like mush. As much as she didn’t want to do this right now, she needed it. She needed the distraction, didn’t want to think about confronting yet another stressor in her life. Even if this very act was the cause of that stress.

Sarah opened her mouth to speak. To try and slow things down and get a handle on herself. As if he were a mind reader, Lester’s hand left her breast and sharply grabbed her hair, twisting it into a swirling ponytail that he yanked back on. Sarah’s arms swung, holding the bar as Lester jerked her back, his fat tongue licking up and down her neck like a frenzied dog.

“Let go,” Lester grunted.

“The girls...” Sarah managed to breathe out before Lester yanked her back, impaling his cock entirely into her. Sarah’s arms gave out and slipped off the bar. Her legs felt like jelly; the only thing holding her up was Lester’s strength. He pulled her down onto the carpeted floor of her walk-in closet.

He didn't waste any time. Sarah was on her hands and knees, and Lester was still inside of her, sliding his swollen cock in and out of her from behind. She took it. She took his cock doggstyle and let her forehead rest on the floor. His large gut sat on top of her perfect bubble butt, jiggling with each forceful thrust.

His stubby, fat fingers gripped both of her hips as he hammered at her. Sarah could still hear the sounds of the TV show coming from downstairs and bit the flesh of her forearm, desperately trying not to make any noises. She failed. Moans escaped her lips, but she bit down harder, muffling them with her own body.

"MMMFFMMMMMM," Sarah whined throat the flesh of her skin as Lester's cock repeatedly punched into her. He slid it all the way out to the tip and pushed it back in hard. Sarah's body jolted forward, and Lester had to shimmy to keep up with her. She wanted to collapse onto the ground and let him take her, but he held her hips up, keeping her in doggstyle. Lester was lightly chuckling behind her as he drove his naked cock into her again and again.

"Yeah...", he said lazily, "They're gonna be late for school. Their mama's too busy fucking."

Sarah's body clenched around his cock at Lester's words. It was disgusting, dirty talk, but the idea of abandoning her responsibilities touched something inside of her and made her body push back onto his cock. Sarah whined into her forearm, desperate to stay quiet as her body took over and fucked Lester back. He kept thrusting hard, and Sarah struggled to push back on his assault.

Sarah's blonde hair fell around her face, obscuring her vision. Her eyes were unfocused, and Lester brutally fucked her, savoring each and every pointed thrust. Each ridge and vein of his cock is dragged in and out of her. Lester started pumping into her with abandon, and Sarah did all she could to keep up with his building rhythm. Their bodies shuffled as they fucked. He'd thrust forward, and Sarah's body would move half an inch. He'd pull back and do it again. And again. Sarah's elbows slid across the carpet until her head was back in the bedroom. Light came from the crack under the door from the hallway beyond. Somewhere out there, her family was diligently waiting for her. But Lester had her in his grips and he wasn't letting her go.

"Fuck you feel so goddamn good," Lester grunted, "Keep squeezing me like that. Ah, yeah, just like that, Sarah."

"MMHMMFFMMMM," Sarah moaned into her arm.

“That won’t do,” Lester said, reaching around and grabbing Sarah by her throat. He lifted her up off her arm, and her rapid gasps filled the room.

“Please...Lester....I can’t...Need to be quiet.....they’re...” Sarah panted.

“What’s your name? Say it,” Lester said.

“Sarah,” she panted as Lester squeezed her throat.

“Full name,” Lester said.

“Sarah Williams,” Sarah answered.

“No. Try again,” Lester punctuated the sentence with a sharp jab of his cock, driving decisively into her G-Spot. Sarah groaned and dropped her head. She didn’t know what he wanted her to say. Her mouth moved, her brain not even registering what she was saying, “Sarah Marshall...”

“Good girl,” Lester chuckled, “Fuck, I can’t wait to bust inside of you.”

“Ughhhhhh. Mhmmmmmm. Mhmmmmmm. MHMMMMMM. Ugh...” Sarah’s moans were coming fast and heavy. She couldn’t control herself anymore. She wanted to muffle herself, but Lester wouldn’t let her. It wasn’t her fault. She gritted her teeth, trying to clamp her mouth closed, but it was hard to breathe. Lester’s hand on her throat was making it difficult. She couldn’t breathe deeply enough through her nose. Not while Lester pounded her into oblivion. She had to open her mouth to gasp for breath, but as she needed another string of moans rolled out of it. “Ugghhhhhhhh....Mhmmmmmm... Gaawwww.....ffuuuuuu....Leessssmhmmmmmmmm.”

“Such a bad girl,” Lester snickered, “You ready for my load?”

“Ughh fuck....give it me Lester....”

“Tell me what we’re doing here, Mrs. Marshall?” Lester grunted.

“Making a baby,” Sarah said automatically without even thinking about it.

“Making a baby,” she whispered and started thrusting back on him in earnest. Her perfect bubble butt slapped against Lester’s fat thighs. The room was filled with the sounds of wet skin on skin contact as she aggressively fucked back on Lester’s enormous cock. His grip tightened on her hips as he held on against her onslaught.

“Fuckkkk....Mhmmmmmm....agghhhhhh...ughhhhh...yessss.....a baby...” Sarah’s manicured nails dug into the carpet. She strained and pushed herself onto the balls of her feet for additional leverage as she fucked back into the disgusting man behind her.

“Oh fuck....yes....” Sarah moaned. She pushed up off the ground, burying one hand in the carpet. She reached back with her other hand and held onto Lester’s hip, urging him forward. Lester didn’t need the hint. He gleefully power fucked her hard and fast just the way she liked it.

Sarah’s eyes rolled back in her head as her orgasm rapidly took shape inside of her. Lester’s big, fat, ugly cock was hitting every sensitive nerve ending inside of her pussy, and she was loving every fucking second of it.

“Here it comes, Sarah,” Lester grunted, burying his cock into her. “Big old load of Lester coming up.”

Sarah didn’t respond, just gritted her teeth and fucked Lester back. She felt his cock begin to quiver inside of her. The delicious throb running up and down his shaft as his balls started to empty. The second the first blast of his hot jizz sprayed into her, Sarah came.

“UGHHHHHHHFFUUUUMHMMMMMMYEEEEASSSSSSSSSS,” Sarah cried out to her bedroom. “LEESSTEERGOD.”

Pleasure rippled across Sarah’s body; her muscles all went rigid as her lungs burned from holding her breath. Her eyes felt like they rolled back in her head, her eyelids almost twitching as more and more of Lester’s illicit cum flooded into her. Fireworks kept exploding inside of her, washing her in blazing pleasure.

Sarah moaned, unabashedly into her open bedroom, forgetting everything around her but the need for Lester’s cum and how amazing the copious fluid made her feel. An ocean of cum seemingly poured into her as she clamped her pussy down on his cock, letting it pulsate and blast off inside of her. Sarah’s insides were drenched and coated in Lester’s seed, and still her body tried to milk more out of the overweight beast.

Her head had dropped to the floor as she lay there panting. Through gritted teeth and a gasping mouth, Sarah mumbled, “How can you cum so much...”

Lester just chuckled and gave her perfect bubble butt a light slap before backing up and out. A wet sound like someone stepping on a sponge filled the room, and she gasped in disappointment when his cock left her. She felt so empty, but the deluge of cum pouring down her thigh made her fall onto her side in the fetal position.

She winced. Her knees and elbows burned. She was vaguely aware that they'd thoroughly been rug burned from the intense fucking. She realized that they'd moved several feet from where they'd begun.

Lester groaned from somewhere behind her as Sarah's body and mind slowly came back down to earth. She could hear his heavy breathing. She could hear her own heart thumping in her chest. And she could hear the sound of the TV downstairs.

Ava and Sofia drifted back into her mind, and Sarah's post orgasmic bliss was traded with white hot parental panic. She heaved herself onto unsteady naked legs and wandered further into her bedroom to find her phone.

The girls were already running late for school. Sarah turned back to the closet to find something to wear, but stopped at the sight of an ugly, hairy, naked Lester lying there like some kind of pulsating, pupating larva from a sci-fi movie. Cum ran down to her knee, and Sarah spun and awkwardly ran and hobbled into the bathroom.

She cleaned herself up as best as she could with water and a washcloth, wishing she had time for a full shower. Still, she popped one of her pills from under the counter and swallowed it dry.

Back in the bedroom, she pulled on a dirty pair of panties and felt them immediately get wet from the steady flow of cum still leaking out of her. She grabbed a pair of sweatpants and an oversized hoodie of Dan's and put it on, no longer caring about her appearance. She was already so fucking late.

"I'm gonna drop the girls at school," Sarah said into the closet, not bothering to check on Lester. She hurried out of the bedroom, closing the door behind her. Downstairs, she hurried to get the girls ready for school, trying to ignore any red flags of awareness from Ava.

As they hurried out the door to the car, Sofia asked, "Whose car is that?"

Sarah's heart skipped a beat at the sight of Lester's black SUV sitting in the driveway. Fuck. Fuck. Fuck.

"I don't know, honey," Sarah lied as she urged the girls towards their own vehicle, "I'll figure it out later when I get back, okay? Probably just one of the neighbor's, maybe a relative or something. Let's get in the car."

As the girls got in the backseat, Sarah rushed around the driver's side. "Uh....hey... Sarah, how's it going?"

Sarah glanced up as she pulled the door open. Their neighbor Ted was strolling down his front steps, heading in their direction with an awkward look on his face. The guy gave her the creeps, but Sarah didn't have time for this right now."

"Are your relatives visiting?" Sofia shouted out from the backseat.

"My....what?" Ted asked, stopping in his tracks.

"Sorry, Ted," Sarah said, mortified at being caught in public in such a frumpy outfit.

"We're running late for school. Talk to you later!"

Not leaving any room for further conversation, Sarah got in, pulled the door shut and turned over the ignition. While Ted stood awkwardly on his lawn, Sarah peeled out of the driveway and headed towards the girls' school.

As she drove, her knees burned whenever she touched the brakes, her sweatpants grazing them. Thankfully, traffic wasn't too bad, and she arrived at school without issue. Both girls leapt from the car, not bothering to say goodbye as they headed inside after their classmates. Sarah called the office to let them know before parking a few streets away, and as her mind raced to catch up with the morning's events.

She put her head in her hands and groaned to herself at somehow making a bad situation worse. She didn't want to think about it anymore. The girls were tucked away at school for six or so hours. Alone time was what she needed. Unfortunately Lester was still waiting for her at home, and if she went back there... she'd be fucked into oblivion. She'd be nothing more than a sweaty mess in her bed, likely missing school pick up. Again.

Sarah pulled out her phone to scroll through Instagram to distract herself. It only took a few minutes of meme posts and videos before a news story caught her attention. It was from the local paper, about a hospital employee who had been caught selling diabetic test strips to lowlives on Craigslist. Sarah's breath caught in her throat as she read the story, and she found a renewed dampness between her legs that wasn't just Lester's cum.

Immediately, she opened up LinkedIn and checked Richard's profile. He had turned it private, masking all his posts and profile details. Sarah just stared at the screen. She'd gotten her revenge. Both Mary and Richard were out at the hospital, just like she was. She couldn't imagine the turmoil there. She wanted to help. But they'd never allow her back. She missed that part of her life, being core to an organization and helping it thrive. The fact that her work could impact patients and their families had been such a fundamental part of her identity for so long, so she felt moorless without it.

She navigated to her LinkedIn page and decided it was time to really put the effort into her job search. And she had an ace in the hole. She texted Lester.

S: Hey, so I was wondering. Could I get a letter of recommendation? You know, because I worked for you for a bit?

Lester read Sarah's text message again before tossing his phone onto the pillow next to him. He was lying starfish in the Williams' marital bed, idly playing with his soft cock. What fucking part of their arrangement did she not get? He was gonna take care of her. Her and the baby. She didn't need to work.

Why couldn't she just fucking accept that and go along with his plan? What was this letter of recommendation bullshit? Lester seethed and rolled his rotund body off the bed and stomped into their ensuite bathroom. He pissed in the bowl without putting up the lid before plodding over to the sink and looking at Sarah's pills. He smirked as they continued to dwindle, almost like a countdown to his magnum opus.

While he loved fucking Sarah and degrading her in her own place, their house was boring. Lester couldn't just sit around here all day. He grabbed his phone and texted her back without answering her question.

L: When are you coming back?

S: I'm going to see my parents for a bit.

L: Come back and clean up my cock first slut.

S: I'm already here, Lester. Sorry.

Fucking bitch.

Lester wasn't about to just wait around like some domesticated animal. He got dressed and left, driving to the closest McDonalds and eating the Big Mac in the parking lot. Technically, he was supposed to be at the hospital working, but he really didn't give a shit. There wasn't a CEO to fire him, and Lester wasn't sticking around there much longer. He wasn't going to be asking for a letter of recommendation.

Heh. Lester thought. Maybe there was one last hurrah the place could offer if Sarah really wanted to earn her special little letter. After finishing up with his burgers, Lester grabbed some supplies from the grocery store, including a couple of bags of Cheetos.

He spent the rest of the afternoon watching anime in his hotel room and playing on his gaming laptop, then ordered in for dinner.

It was only then that he texted Sarah, letting her know that she had to earn her letter and meet him in the hospital parking lot that night. On a whim, he checked the app connected to the tracker on Renee's car.

With a devilish smirk, he headed for the door.

Renee sat in her car, chest already rising and falling as she tried to work up the nerve to enter the seedy bar. She knew she shouldn't be here. But her body ached for relief. After James had fallen asleep in the den with his juvenile football friends, she had tossed and turned all night. She needed to be touched, to feel the thrill of connection.

Yet her husband hadn't even tried to make a move on her in the morning. She was ready to crawl up the walls; she was so horny, but James was spending the day nursing a rare hangover.

That's why she found herself outside the same bar she'd visited the previous night. She'd left dinner for James in the fridge, for him to heat up when he was ready. With the sun disappearing behind nearby buildings, Renee was torn between what she desperately wanted to do and what she knew to be the right thing.

She shouldn't even set foot in this part of town, yet here she was ready to go inside the local bar for degenerates. She busied herself to keep from dwelling on it, adjusting her hair and outfit in the mirror. This time, she was in a conservative black dress, but it still hugged her in the right places and illustrated her lovely figure.

Going into a bar wasn't wrong, she tried to convince herself. She didn't have to go to the bathroom area this time. She could just get a drink to calm her nerves and then leave. On shaky, toned legs, she stepped out of the car and headed for the entrance.

It was early, and the bar was still filling up. The local blue-collar workers were just starting to filter in. She felt eyes on her, but ignored them. She sat at the bar and ordered herself a red wine to give her hands something to do. She glanced at the door, knowing it was only a few feet away and she could easily leave anytime. She was in control.

Renee was surprised when she finished the last sip of wine. She quickly ordered another, only to find it drained in just a few minutes. It was time to go. She'd been silly to come here. But first....she decided to use the washroom. She buried the voice that said she was lying to herself, that she didn't even have to go.

Renee passed through the jostling crowd and down the dark hallway until she reached the women's bathroom. There were several stalls she could have chosen, all of which seemed unoccupied. But her body moved towards the one against the far wall. She slipped inside and locked the door behind her, heart pounding in her chest as she stared at the hole in the wall.

This time, there wasn't a cock sticking out. It was empty. A pang of disappointment filled her as she took a tentative step forward into the cramped cubicle. She stared at the crudely made hole, transfixed, waiting for something to happen. Her shoulders were rising and falling in time with her breasts. Then she saw it.

A hairy knuckled hand appeared in the hole. It gestured to her, its fingers beckoning her forward. Alarm bells rang in her head. It wasn't too late to march out back to her car. Instead, Renee stepped forward with bated breath.

The hand reached out and touched the smooth skin of her leg. Renee stiffened at the touch of a man other than her husband. She quivered and braced herself against the wall as the hand trailed playfully up and down her exposed thigh, caressing her. It rose, playing with the hem of her skirt. Dancing across her skin until the bold fingers disappeared beneath the material and reached behind her to lightly cup her ass.

Renee moaned into the wall as the unknown stranger kneaded her. His fingers flexed, gripping her supple flesh, and he tugged, pulling her against the wall. Renee's face was pressed against the dirty wall as this strange man's hand groped her. He pulled up the bottom of her dress, exposing her bubble butt to the dingy washroom stall.

The front of her dress rose as well, Renee's legs rubbing together as she groaned against the dirty wall. She was breathing hard, still trying to comprehend the new and exciting experience. She felt a thrill coursing through her that was dangerous and addictive. She needed more.

Her breath caught in her throat as the man's hairy thumb hooked around the side of her panties and gently started tugging them down. Renee weakly grasped the other side, holding it up. There was a brief moment of tug-of-war before the material slipped through Renee's releasing fingers. Her bare pussy became exposed to the cool air of the room, and a shiver ran up her spine.

Her panties hung limply between her thighs, the meaty hand moving back to grope and roughly maul her exposed ass. It tugged her closer to the hole until her thighs and midsection were awkwardly pressing against the wall.

Something wet flicked over her exposed pussy, and she instinctively recoiled, trying to back away. But the meaty hand held her in place. It flicked out again, quickly like a snake's. Then it happened again. Renee groaned, and her thighs instinctively parted. It was the man's tongue. This stranger's outstretched tongue was licking her through the large, roughly cut hole.

The next lick gained better access to her, dragging its way up her pussy lips and flicking over her clit. Renee moaned openly at the stimulation and felt a smile tug at the lips of the man attached to the tongue. He lapped more vigorously to which she rewarded with more moans of her own. Her delicate, manicured fingers stroked the dirty wall, her hips bucking forward to meet the stranger's unfurling tongue. It coiled and swirled the opening to her pussy, it dragged up her clit before two lips encased it, and an amazing, sucking sensation sent a shockwave through her entire body.

In all their years of marriage, James had never done this. He'd never gone down on her despite asking it of her. Now a stranger was giving her attention her husband never had. And Renee was hooked.

Her hips savagely bucked against the man's expert manipulation, and all sense of time was lost as Renee grinded herself against the man's outstretched muscle, urging him with her moans to keep going. She could feel it. She could feel a heady orgasm brewing inside of her, and she needed to feel it erupt. Renee's jaw hung limply open as she struggled for breath; every fibre of her being felt more sensitive. The cool wall felt amazing against her skin. She flexed her fingers, stroking the dirty surface, despite the disgust in the back of her head.

Renee was openly moaning for anyone to hear, on the tips of her toes as she let this delicious stranger taste her. Lick her. Suck her. Renee ground herself against the tongue. She was so close. She threw her head back, prepared to scream in orgasmic pleasure as her nails dug into the wall.

The tongue abruptly retreated.

Renee stood still, grasping the wall, thrusting her hips forward, waiting impatiently for its wet return. Waiting for it to finish what it started. Waiting for it to give her the Big O she craved. She needed. But it never came.

She finally let out a choked, disappointed breath, going back down to the flats of her feet as she lost the moment. It was beyond frustrating. Her body still burned with need, disappointment running through her. Why? Why? Why not let her finish?

The hinges of the women's washroom creaked, and Renee went stiff. Heavy footsteps sounded out on the sticky linoleum floor. Renee didn't take her eyes off the wall less than an inch in front of her face. Her breath caught in her throat.

There was a knock on the stall door.

"It's...." Renee struggled to breathe, "Occupied."

The knock came again. Twice.

With a shaking hand, she reached down and pulled up her panties. She tried to straighten her dress out and worried just how out of sorts her hair and makeup were after her latest encounter.

The knock came again.

"Just one minute," Renee breathed, glancing at the hole in the wall, unsure what she would do if the tongue or something else reappeared. She grabbed a roll of toilet paper and flushed the toilet.

With a deep breath, she stepped towards the stall door, unlocking it. The door swung inwards, causing Renee to abruptly step back. She squinted, confused by what she saw. She expected a young woman to be standing there, tipsy and desperate to use the facilities.

Instead, she saw...

"Lester?" Renee said, clamping her knees together. She tried to get her breathing under control. "What...What? What are you doing in the women's washroom?"

"What's the matter?" Lester smirked, stepping into the tight stall. "Cat got your tongue?"

He raised an eyebrow, smirked, and flicked his immense tongue out then up and down lewdly.

"Lester...." Renee said as the pieces clicked together in her brain.

"That's my name," Lester said, easing the stall door closed behind him. He locked it. The stall suddenly felt way too tight. Renee felt the blood drain from her face.

"You..." Renee said, "It was you."

“Guilty as charged,” Lester chuckled and licked his lips, “I have to say, you taste delicious. It was the least I could do after the lovely double-fisted handjob you gave me last time.”

Renee glanced at the hole, then back to Lester’s face. Then she glanced down at his crotch, eliciting a broad smile from the short, chunky man. He again flicked his tongue at her mockingly.

“You wanna see it again, dontcha?” Lester wiggled his eyebrows. Renee was about to say ‘no’, but her voice caught in her throat. Lester pounced on her hesitation, swiftly dropping his orange-stained grey sweatpants to the ground. Through his tight once-white underwear, Renee could see his giant appendage straining against the fabric. Lester shuffled out of his sweatpants, leaving them strewn over the disgusting linoleum floor. Then, before Renee could protest, his underwear quickly followed. The tight material had been holding back his fat, which plopped down as did his massive penis. Renee stared at it for a few seconds before her eyes snapped back up to Lester’s irksome smirk.

He took a step forward, and Renee backed up against the too close wall. Neither of them said a word. She just started into his mocking eyes, clear with his intent as she struggled to breathe. Lester licked his lips and pressed his fat gut against her abdomen, pinning her to the wall. His eyes broke from hers, scanning down her body, to her lithe neck, rising and falling breasts and the bare skin of her arms. Lester reached out with a hand, and Renee flinched. He gave her a look of contempt before reaching his hand out again. This time, it found the strap of her dress.

He lazily ran his fingers up and down it, playing with the material. Renee was practically gasping. Lester shifted his weight, and his hard dick poked against her slim dress-clad thigh. Lester slowly pulled down the strap of her dress, exposing naked skin to this ugly, little man.

He did the same with the other strap, and the dress fell to the floor. Lester’s smirk widened.

“Yum,” he muttered, shifting against her, his penis now trailing up her thigh. She felt it leave a trail as it went, and she couldn’t help but draw comparisons between Lester’s body and that of a fat slug. She went up on her tiptoes when the head of his cock pressed against her pussy through her underwear.

“This is wrong,” Renee finally managed to eke out.

“Is it? Then why are you here? Why did you come back here?” Lester said.

“It’s wrong. With you...it’s....”

“It’s the same thing. My cock was right here pressing against you like this last night. And you let me lick you today. It doesn’t matter that it’s me or someone else on the other side of the wall,” Lester chastised, “You have a need, and I’m here to fulfill it.”

Renee opened her mouth to disagree, but Lester’s fat lips mashed against hers as they had in the parking lot. She mumbled something into his mouth in protest, but that only allowed him to stick his fat, slobbering tongue into her mouth. She tasted junk food and cheese on him, as his tongue slid around her, bathing her in his taste.

She could feel his smirk against her cheeks. His hands were on her now. One on her hip, pressing her against the wall. The other on the nape of her neck, guiding her in how he wanted to be kissed.

The tearing of fabric filled the small stall, and Renee tried to yelp in pain. Lester’s fat hands pulled on her panties, pinning them against her skin until the material gave way, ripping away in his brutish hand. He held her neck in place, not letting her look down, but his hand was back on her hip, now devoid of the panties. His naked cock now butted up against her pussy, leaving his stain of pre-cum upon her sex.

Lester’s head slithered around like a snake as his tongue explored every crevice of her mouth. His hand on her hip was urging her forward into his cock, then back again, forward then back, like he was patiently guiding her. Lester dipped his hips and thrust forward, his cock pushed between Renee’s thighs, gliding against the bottom of her pussy. He pushed in and out, grinding his cock against her. His hand on her hips, guiding her body forward and back along his shaft, making it slick it with her own dripping juices.

Lester rolled his tongue one last time inside her mouth before slurping it back out and staring her hard in the eyes. He held her gaze as his hand left her neck and snaked around her back, expertly unclasping her bra. As it fell to the floor, her breathing increased, making her breasts rise and fall in rapid succession. Lester broke eye contact and leered at her naked breasts, licking his lips.

Neither said a word, but both seemed to understand the eventual conclusion. Lester grinned and pulled Renee off the wall, wrapping her in his arms as he planted another kiss on her. She let him move her around the enclosed space and realized that her lips were kissing him back. His tongue was in his mouth, battling with his.

Then he let go and spun her around. She was abruptly thrust forward, and her hands came to rest on the sticky surface of the toilet’s tank. She curled her nose in disgust, but her jaw dropped as she felt the head of Lester's massive cock pushing her thighs apart and knocking at her soaking entrance.

She drew in a sharp breath, eyes focused on the chipping paint on the block of concrete in front of her.

"Uhhhh," Renee grunted as the head of Lester's considerable cock parted her lips. A million thoughts raced through her head in that singular moment. Pleasure, regret, fear, arousal, need. Then he was inside of her. Renee felt her pussy stretch around him, painfully but oh so heavenly good at the same time. He pushed more of his growing cock in, and she felt her toes curl. His persistent cock pressed against her G-Spot as he slowly fed more of himself into her.

"OH GOD," Renee screamed as an incredible orgasm ripped through her out of nowhere. She clamped down on Lester's embedded cock and wailed, thoughts racing through her mind. Betraying her husband and their marriage vows, letting an ugly cretin like Lester inside of her. How big his fucking cock was. "AHHGGMHMMMMMM," Renee screamed, digging her manicured nails into the sticky porcelain. Lester held still, letting her orgasm ride on, echoing through her body.

As she started to come down, her muscles trapping Lester's cock released, and she started to breathe normally. Then Lester pushed another inch into her, putting her right back at the point of no return. She felt another stupefying orgasm swiftly rumble to life inside of her. Lester fed her another inch. Then another, and she was up on her toes, pushing back on his cock, needing to feel the entire thing inside of her. Desiring the pain that accompanied the incomparable pleasure as she was stretched out.

Lester pulled his cock out of her and slowly fed it back in.

"OHGOD. SWEET JESUS GOD. OH GOD," Renee moaned in amazement.

"Heh," she heard Lester chuckle from behind her as he fucked her. As another man besides James fucked her. She'd never broken their marriage vows in their thirty years of matrimony but now Lester was stomping and spitting on them while he gradually split her open.

"You enjoying what a real cock feels like, aren't ya?" Lester said, his cock coming almost all the way out before slamming back in. Renee gripped the side of the tank, thankful she had something to hold onto. Lester pistoned in and out of her, and Renee's ass slammed back on him.

She couldn't remember the last time James had taken her like this. Or the last time she'd had spontaneous sex at all. She'd never had sex in a bathroom before, her mind drifting to that woman at the bar in Chicago getting it from two guys. She was that woman now.

Lester's stubby fingers kneaded into her hips, leaving trailing red marks. "Squeeze it, Renee."

She did, she tried to grab onto his cock again with her entire pussy, but it was just too large and strong. It kept pushing out of her grip, but felt so fucking good when it did. The more she tried to grasp it, the more she could feel the veins and its delightful slight curve, the warmth of the shaft as it pounded in and out of her.

"Yeah that's it. Shoulda known Sarah's mom would be a good fuck," Lester growled.

Renee dropped her head, her blonde locks dangling around her face, just touching the top of the toilet. She was struggling to maintain her footing. Each time Lester pulled back, she readjusted herself and thrust back to meet him with a slap.

"This....this is so wrong," Renee moaned.

"Oh shut up," Lester chuckled as he slammed his cock into her, "Stop squeezing me then. Get up and leave."

Lester held himself still. Renee continued to thrust her body back and forth on his cock, fucking herself enthusiastically on him.

"That's what I thought," Lester said, keeping his unmoving position, "You want this more than I do. Otherwise, you'd stop. Isn't that right?"

Renee didn't answer. Couldn't answer. Couldn't possibly admit that to herself. But her undulating body told him the truth. It slammed back on him hard.

Lester's gravelly voice boomed again from behind the trembling woman, "Y'know, if your asshole keeps winking at me, I may have to put something in it."

The toilet lid cover shifted, scraping porcelain against porcelain. As Renee was about to push her bubble butt back on Lester he lunged forward with his cock, burying his entire fat length deep within her all in one go.

"Ahhhh, please..." Renee panted desperately, "I can't – uhhh—can't stop."

“I wanna hear my name on those soft fucking married lips of yours,” Lester said, digging his fingers into the flesh of her hips. “Say it.”

“Mmm—Lester—please....” Renee’s mind whirled at the idea of giving into another man’s sexual desires, not her husband’s, “Right there—Lester....god.”

“Hallelujah,” Lester snorted and pumped into her. Renee’s eyes were closed. Lester’s big, hairy balls were slapping against the tops of her thighs with each frantic thrust.

“Please....please....don’t stop.....please...I’m...uhhhhhmmmm.”

“You gonna cum for me again? Cum on my big fucking cock? That what I’m hearing? Well then, you should know I’m getting close too. Give it to me, Renee. Show me what James has been missing this whole time. Let loose for me. Howl at the fucking moon.” Lester shouted. His tempo increased to a frenzy, pumping his huge cock in and out of her at an unstoppable rate.

Renee’s brain felt like it was being completely scrambled, her nails dug into the sides of the porcelain cover, and she jostled it free of the tank. It scraped against the back of the toilet, hitting the concrete block wall as they anxiously fucked. Renee slammed her ass back against Lester hard as the stirring of her orgasm grew faster inside of her. She tried clenching down on his cock with her pussy, but the man wouldn’t be stopped. He was like a rutting animal.

“Oh...Lord....Mhmmm,,,ah...hah....ha.....ah....Les.....ah...OHGOD.” Renee screamed, her pussy clenching as a shower of pleasure rumbled and exploded inside of her. Her vision went white, her arms lost all their strength as she collapsed, hugging the tank of the toilet. Pleasure roared through her, setting all her nerves on fire. Her legs grew weak, shaking as if every calorie and ounce of energy her body contained was kindling for her unbelievable orgasm.

“Get ready,” Lester roared. His mammoth cock pulsed inside of her and she felt the giant head somehow expand. Renee’s eyes snapped open when realization struck her. It happened at the same time that a lengthy shot of warm sticking goo blasted off inside of her. The walls of her previously faithful pussy were drenched in Lester’s spewing cum. His balls heaved, pumping more cum down his wide thrumming shaft as he emptied himself inside of her. Renee’s orgasm eclipsed its previous zenith and shook her hard, making her question her reality and her faith. Cum seemed to jet out of Lester’s cock as Renee’s body gave out, slumping against the toilet.

Lester stayed embedded in her for almost two full minutes before he pulled his cock out with a plop. Renee sagged but caught herself. Touching the toilet was disgusting, and she tried to right herself on shaking legs. She wouldn't even sit down on a public toilet normally, yet here she was touching it with all parts of her exposed body.

Lester held her dress up over her head and lowered it back over her. She cursed and grabbed the hemline, pulling it back up so his cum wouldn't touch it. She awkwardly grabbed handfuls of toilet paper and shoved them between her legs to capture and clean the escaping cum. She threw the toilet paper into the toilet and grabbed another bundle, wiping more and more of the disgusting man's cum out of her. But it never ceased. More kept flooding out of her. Renee kept wiping as Lester got dressed. She threw more and more toilet paper into the toilet until eventually, the flood of cum dwindled to a trickle.

She glanced around and found her ripped panties on the corner of the floor. She wouldn't be able to use them to help her stem the dribbling flow. Renee winced as she touched the toilet handle to flush it. The water surged, and the bowl whirled only for it to get clogged with all the cummy toilet paper.

"Think we got a blockage," Lester smirked, already back in his grubby sweatpants and shirt. He opened the stall door and held it open like a gentleman. Renee stepped past him to the sink, quickly washing her hands. She pumped globs of soap onto her hands, furiously scrubbing, trying to wash the toilet grim and the shame away. She didn't recognize the woman looking back at her in the mirror. Wild, crazy, unkept hair and smeared makeup. She tried to tame her hair and improve appearance but there was no helping it.

"I'm going home," Renee said quietly as she left the washroom. Lester followed her, lingering too close for comfort. As she went back into the main bar area, several eyes looked at her, knowing smiles forming on their faces. With Lester trailing right behind her, there was no doubt about their connection. She quickly pushed through the crowds and out into the cold night air.

"You sure you don't wanna go for round two?" Lester asked as he stepped up beside her and cupped her ass.

"I'm going home to my husband," Renee said as she marched to her car.

"Too bad he'll never be able to satisfy you as good as I just did tonight," Lester said, still following her.

"You're not half the man he is," Renee said, flinging open the door. Her mind was a mess of emotions and arousal. She just knew she had to get away from Lester before she made another bad decision.

“You mean his cock isn’t half of what mine is,” Lester said.

Renee pulled the door closed and hit the lock button.

“What? No kiss goodnight?” Lester chuckled as she turned over the ignition and pulled away. So much for Dan’s meek roommate. She’d seen the real Lester tonight. He was an ugly, petty man. And apparently a sexual prodigy.

Sarah was stiff, her eyes darting around the parking lot as she pulled her car into a spot. She really didn’t want to be back here. Unpleasant memories flooded her mind, and she tried to control her breathing and heart rate as she could feel them both spiking.

She was still coming to grips with how a place she had worked at for so long, contributed so greatly to and still identified with, a place that still is as a strong part of her self-identity and self worth could also cause her to have mini-panic attacks.

Thankfully, it was late and most of the day staff had gone home. The dim lot was mostly empty. She still parked far enough back that she hoped no one would see her or recognize her car. She felt heat rush to her cheeks at the thought that any of her coworkers had probably heard the rumors of why she’d been fired: messing around with a lowly janitor and pervert stalkers like Otis. It irked her that her professional reputation, something she’d spent years meticulously cultivating, could be torn down in a single instance.

She’d texted Lester, begged him to choose anywhere else to meet, but he’d insisted on the hospital. She’d even gotten a babysitter to watch the girls so they could go anywhere else but he’d held firm. When had she grown so subservient to what Lester wanted?

She took out her phone and sent Lester a text.

S: I’m here

L: I know. I see you. Come inside.

S: Lester, I don’t want to be here.

L: Come on. It’ll be fine.

S: Can you at least meet me at the maintenance entrance?

L: No, I want to watch that sexy body walk across the parking lot. Stop wasting time. Let's go. Come to daddy.

Sarah sighed and turned off the screen. She looked down at her outfit and shook her head. Lester had demanded she wear a sexy black dress, something wholly inappropriate for her former workplace. She would never have considered showing so much cleavage and bare leg, not to mention wearing something that hugged her form so tightly that it left little to the imagination.

She looked at herself in the mirror and let out a long, slow breath, then got out of the car. Her heels clicked on the asphalt as she walked towards the hospital. She purposely didn't look up at the windows looming overhead, knowing anyone could be up there watching, and her dress and appearance would no doubt catch their attention. But somewhere up there, she suspected Lester was staring down at her.

She hoped that this would be the last time she had to set foot in this building. As her mind raced, she thought of her parents, aging and needing medical treatment. What would it be like to have to sit by her parents' side while the nurses and doctors talked behind her back? At one point, she could have arranged for them to receive VIP treatment, but now... she was a pariah.

She opened the back door to the atrium and stepped inside, the faint antiseptic cool air a familiar comfort she hadn't realized she'd missed.

"Over here," Lester's voice came from a side door that only maintenance and janitorial staff used to access the hospital's back hallways. Sarah quickly moved to the door, her heels clacking on the floor, drawing looks from visitors. She quickly stepped through the door and breathed a sigh of relief at being out of the public eye. It was also very unlikely that other medical staff would see her here.

Lester shut the door behind her and pointed to his lips. Sarah rolled her eyes and planted a polite kiss on his fat lips.

"What, no tongue?" Lester complained.

Sarah stuck out her tongue at him before saying, "Alright, so my letter of recommendation. Did you write it?"

"Not yet," Lester said, "To be honest, I'm not quite sure what to write or if I can honestly write you a letter."

"What?" Sarah said.

Lester walked away down the narrow corridor while speaking over his shoulder to her. She was clearly meant to follow. “I mean, we only worked together for a short period. And my reputation is everything. I’d hate to put it on the line only for something... unfortunate to happen again.”

“Are you serious?” Sarah snapped, quickly catching up to the plodding fat man.

“I am. I think we need at least one more work assignment before I feel comfortable writing the letter,” Lester said as he sauntered up to a maintenance elevator. Sarah looked up and down the hallway for any sign of hospital staff.

“Don’t worry about it,” Lester pressed a button to call the elevator and waved his hand dismissively in the air, “I’ve taken care of everything.”

The elevator door opened, and Lester stepped inside. Sarah followed, asking, “What do you mean, you took care of it?”

“Employees,” Lester said, as if that explained everything. When Sarah just looked at him, he explained, “With Mary and Richard gone as well as at least one other department head, big brother isn’t watching anymore. So some maintenance guys got the night off, or their schedule changed to floors we won’t be on. The only bummer here was all the stupid babies that had to be born today. I was really expecting the maternity ward woulda’ been empty. But no.”

The cart started moving, and Sarah noticed the floor they were headed to. “We’re heading to the executive floor?”

“Duh, like I said, stupid babies,” Lester said.

“Why are we going there?” Sarah said.

“Well, obviously, I am going to fuck you all over the CEO’s offices. What better way to say fuck you to this place? It’ll be both of our last hurrahs.” Lester said as the elevator dinged and the door slid open. Without looking back, Lester stepped out, and Sarah followed. She’d been on this floor so many times in the past. It was all familiar to her, except for some of the names on the doors. Lester hooked an unexpected left, and Sarah found herself in the floor’s break room. Lester had the fridge door open and grabbed two cans of Coke.

“For later,” he said before heading back to Richard’s old office.

“Do you know when they’re going to hire a new CEO?” Sarah asked, following closely behind.

“Don’t know. Don’t care. I won’t be here,” Lester said flippantly. It irked Sarah that he could just casually disregard the hospital’s future direction like this. If only she’d been promoted to CEO, things would have been so different.

“The hospital is going to need stable leadership...” Sarah said flatly.

“Not really my thing,” Lester said, “Sure, the paychecks were alright, but they’re just a drop in the bucket.”

They’d arrived at the CEO’s office, and the placard still had Richard’s name on it. “Shall we?” Lester said, holding up a key, unlocking the door and stepping inside. Sarah walked in after him, imagining herself in this office. She’d rarely been in here since Drew was fired and Richard had taken over. It was like peering into a different reality of what could have been. One in which her life wasn’t in ruins, and she was at the top of the hospital’s food chain.

Lester paced around the room, looking over the contents. The big oak desk with a plush leather chair, the table set near the window with a couch and two chairs for small meetings. Bookshelves and filing cabinets.

“Let’s get more comfy,” Lester smiled and started to remove his clothes. He hadn’t even bothered to dress up in the workplace, wearing a frumpy, ratty pair of sweatpants and a sweatshirt. He got buck naked, and his hairy, oddly proportioned body was on full display. Part of Sarah’s mind recoiled, but then she found she was almost salivating. Before Lester could command her, she lost the dress, letting it drop to the floor in a heap, showing Lester the lacy black bra and panties she’d chosen. His eyes roamed over her body, focusing lewdly on her breasts.

“I can’t wait to see what those look like when you’re pregnant,” Lester said, licking his lips.

Sarah struck a seductive pose, resting a hand on her hip. “Well, you’re just gonna have to work harder on making that happen, aren’t you?” She teased.

Lester smirked, “You have no idea...”

He plodded behind the desk and sat his fat naked ass down in Richard’s comfy leather chair. A chair she knew from expense reports had been custom-ordered by Thornhill himself. “This chair is comfy, I might steal it,” Lester said before beckoning her over with his hand, “Get over here, get on your knees and get to work so I can properly recommend you.”

Sarah gave him a devilish smile, “You’re going to recommend how good of a cock sucker I am? What kind of job do you think I’m applying to?”

She got on her knees in front of Lester without breaking eye contact, her hands coming to rest on his thighs. She stared up at him before slowly sticking her tongue out and moving towards his cock.

“You never know,” Lester said with bated breath.

Sarah’s tongue came in contact with the underside of Lester’s growing cock, and she closed her mouth around it. It stretched her jaw, but she’d long grown used to taking his girthy meat in her mouth. As she started to suck him, she noticed his cock tasted sweeter than normal. She had an idea about that, but it wasn’t the time. Both of her hands quickly found his shaft, and she started working it, stroking it up and down in alternating directions like she knew he liked. She looked up at the fat man sitting in the boss’s chair. She expected him to have his eyes shut and hands behind his head, but he was watching her intently, studying her for a reason she couldn’t put her finger on.

Sarah pulled her mouth off his cock, but didn’t stop stroking it, “What?”

“What?” Lester responded, too quickly.

“Why are you looking at me like that?” Sarah said.

“I’m just enjoying the show,” Lester said, putting a hand on the back of her head and guiding her back down to his cock. He had a weird smirk on his face, but Sarah put it out of her mind. He pulled her head to the side and made her lick up and down both sides of his shaft. She cleaned every inch of his cock, and he pushed her head down to clean up around his balls; the same sweet taste lingered there as well. As did the jungle of coarse pubic hair she had to wade through.

Sarah flicked her tongue back up the length of his shaft, swirled it around the head of his cock, dabbing the pre-cum there before parting her lips and taking as much of him in her mouth as she could.

“God, you’re a fucking pro,” Lester muttered.

Sarah moaned a hearty affirmative around his drool-coated flesh, “Mmmmm-hmmmm.”

Lester rested one of his hands on the back of her head, guiding it up and down. His fat thighs pushing off the leather to pump his cock into her waiting, stroking hands and her warm little mouth.

Sarah was getting lost in the moment, overwhelmed by her desire to please the man in front of her. She loved making Lester cum, making him shoot from conquering a powerful cock like that. But then again, she'd always wanted to please the man that sat in this chair. This room had always held power over her.

Sarah's rug burned knees hurt as she knelt and sucked Lester's cock with abandon. She was moaning, her body arching and reacting as she sucked him with everything she had.

Lester's hands fell to her naked shoulder, putting gentle pressure on her. Sarah slowed her loving embrace of Lester's cock, not quite content yet. She still took a few more laps and licks and sucks as she slowly pulled herself off his god-like appendage. She flicked her eyes up at Lester, wondering why he was stopping her from getting what she wanted. As she looked up at the triple chinned monstrosity above her, she said, "Why are you stopping me? Don't you want to give me what I want?"

Lester's smirk widened from ear to ear, "I'm gonna give you what you need. But we don't want to waste a drop, do we?"

Sarah cocked her head at him, one of her hands still trying and failing to wrap around his girthy cock as she pumped it up and down. Finally, she understood, and a smile crept across her face to match Lester's ugly one.

"You mean," Sarah said in a low husky voice as she continued to stroke Lester's cock. Her other hand ran provocatively over the sensitive skin at the tops of her breasts. Her own playful touch sent a shiver up her spine, "You want to cum in my pussy?"

Lester's jowls shook as he nodded brusquely. Sarah bit her lip, "You want to flood me with your cum and put a baby in me?"

She knew by now that Lester liked playing with this fantasy. She'd always found the baby-making sessions with Dan some of the hottest and understood why Lester would get off to having them with her. Sarah slowly let go of Lester's cock, taking a few extra seconds to take her eyes off it. She seductively stood, looking down at the fat little man with the girthy cock sitting before her. How she found herself so attractive and compelled by this man, she didn't know.

She stepped forward, prepared to mount and fuck him right there in the leather chair, but Lester put a hand on her stomach, stopping her. He awkwardly hefted himself out of the chair, looking like a chunky pretzel as he did. He plodded around the desk and, with some effort, pushed Richard's former couch up against the floor-to-ceiling window so the seating area was against the glass.

"Get over here," Lester growled in a low rumble. Sarah licked her lips and followed. Lester held up a hand and helped her climb over the arm of the couch, where she laid herself down on her back. Lester didn't so much as climb over but gracefully tumbled. He crawled over the couch, closing the distance between them.

As he neared, Sarah's knees voluntarily parted, allowing his short, fat, hairy body to climb over her. She sucked in a breath when she felt the large head of his cock press against her already slick opening. He mumbled something she couldn't hear, but in that moment, all she cared about was him filling her up. Her hips rose off the bed, urging his cock to enter. Her slender, toned legs wrapped around his ass, trying to pull him forward, yet somehow that flabby body of his had enough muscle to resist her. His hand was on her waist, the other on the back of her neck as his slobbering mouth found hers, kissing and sucking on her bottom lip.

"Mhmmm," Sarah moaned involuntarily, her lips closing around his. Sucking and kissing him back. Their mouths opened, and their tongues danced around each other, playfully sucking and licking each other.

His lips broke from hers and traced down her neck, leaving a fresh trail of goosebumps in their wake. Lester kissed the sensitive areas of her neck and collarbone, places at one time, only Dan knew about, but now Lester had found even more that he regularly exploited. Sarah turned her head to the side, giving Lester better access to her. She moaned and writhed under him, begging for him to push his cock into her and give her what she needed.

Her lazy eyes opened, looking out over the darkened parking lot. The sun had long set over this place, and for an instant, it felt like the hospital had been plunged into darkness ever since Lester had started working here. Ever since he'd come into her life. But the moment was fleeting, lost amid the sensations Lester was giving her. She happily let the thought slip from her grasp as Lester's cock started to slide up and down her opening.

Sarah moved her hips in time, catching the head with her pussy. Lester sucked in an unprepared breath, and his cock had just parted her lips. Sarah's heels wound together around his ass, and she flexed the muscles she'd built in the gym, pulling him in. She had him. The head of his cock was inside of her, and Sarah's jaw opened as she breathed hard.

“Uhhmmmm,” Sarah moaned as she felt the veiny ridges of Lester’s cock scrape across her sensitive, slick pussy walls. Lester had resumed slobbering all over her chest, licking her flesh. Her back arched from the leather couch, urging him forward, pushing more of her flesh into his rancid mouth for him to taste.

Lester hungrily lapped at her as his hips ground forward. Her nails dug into his back as inch after agonizing, pleasurable inch of his cock entered her.

“Oh Lester...,” Sarah muttered, her own tongue lazily licking the skin of his neck, “Lester.”

“Sarah,” Lester growled with a smirk, “You feel so good around me.”

“God, you feel so good, Lester....So big....I can never get enough of your cock.” Sarah almost cried as another inch disappeared inside of her.

“That was the plan. To get you hooked on it. Willing to do anything for it,” Lester whispered in her ear.

“Fuck, I’ll do it. I’ll do anything. Just don’t stop, baby. Don’t stop. You feel so good... so fucking good,” Sarah whined, hands running over Lester’s back like a woman possessed, tongue, lips tasting his hairy flesh as she needed him. He was feeding her his cock, agonizingly slowly, and she was going wild like a bucking mare.

“You’re so fucking hooked,” Lester chuckled in her ear. Sarah didn’t even respond, her hips driving off the couch, seeking more and more of his cock until he filled her up completely. Her hands joined her ankles on his ass, nails digging into them, trying with all her strength to pull him forward.

“Hooked enough to let me fuck you,” Lester whispered, “Hooked enough to let me impregnate you.”

“Fuck,” Sarah moaned into his chest, “Please stop teasing me, Lester. Just do it. Do it. Fuck drive it into me and fuck me. Fuck me, Lester. Do it. Impregnate me.”

“Nnn-Mhmmmm,” Lester muttered, pushing another inch in, making Sarah gasp. She felt so full. So stretched out. Lester pushed another inch, his last all the way in until his balls slapped on Sarah’s ass. She groaned in sheer pleasure, unable to move as his gut and his cock pinned her in place.

“I’m going to make slow love to you tonight,” Lester muttered, pulling his cock mostly out and slowly thrusting it back in. Sarah’s body was going wild, demanding him to go faster, harder. His slow deliberate pace only served to increase her arousal and frustration. She moaned, begged, pleaded for him to give her more. Her body was crawling, pulling and urging him on while Lester spent the next ten minutes methodically making love to her.

Sarah's eyes were glazing over, looking out the window at the moon high in the sky. Pleasure and contentment washed over her body, the rest of the world and her troubles melting away in this perfect moment as Lester and she were one.

"Oh god Lester. Baby. Please. I need you." Sarah moaned.

"That's what I like to hear," Lester whispered sweetly in her ear. Sarah was ready to convulse under his touch. "My balls are already full again after draining them twice today."

"Mhmmm," Sarah moaned, images of their early morning session drifting back into her mind. Lester had put so many loads into her the past little while that she had lost track. The thought of his abundant, sticky, warm loads filled her mind, and she craved that feeling.

"God Lester. I want it. I want your cum in me. I need you to fill me. Fill me with your disgusting cum. Fuck you want me addicted? I'm already so fucking there. I'm addicted to your cock. I'm addicted to your nasty fucking cum. I need you to fill me with it."

"My balls are gonna explode. Shooting all of it into you," Lester whispered, "Filling you completely with all my baby-making cum. There's no way you're getting out of this without getting preggers."

Sarah's mind raced, knowing Lester's fantasy. Knowing what he wanted to hear. Knowing what she wanted to say to drive him wild.

"Yes, Lester. Yes, please," Sarah moaned, begging, his teeth biting his earlobe, "Please do it. Make me a mother again. Fill me and knock me up. I want your baby, Lester. Give it to me."

"I'm going to breed you," Lester growled. Sarah's hips bucked off the couch as Lester's cock drove into her. His pace quickened, growing more frantic. Her silky words were doing this job, driving him crazy. His body told her all she needed to know. He was getting close. Close to cumming. And her body was pushing herself towards it too. She could feel a big orgasm growing quickly and wanted to cum with him. Cum together like the lovers they were. Her pussy clenched around him like a vice, nails digging into his back, ankles pulling him, not letting him go, not letting a drop go to waste.

She leaned in to what he wanted, “Breed me. Breed me, Lester.”

“Louder,” Lester said harshly, “Breed me. Ohhmmmm breed me. Breed me,” Sarah said, her voice rising in volume. “Lester. Lester. Fuck-uhhhhhmmmm Breed me, Lester. Bred me.....fuck.....give it to me, Lester! Bred me with your fucking cum! Breed me!”

“Gonna make you pregnant,” Lester growled. Her hands were slick with the sweat from his back. Their bodies coated one another as Lester expertly fucked her into oblivion.

His thrusts were coming more urgently now, and Sarah’s body raced to keep up. Her hips thrashing off the couch in time with his thrusts. She felt a ball of tension building in her stomach, in her pussy, in her very soul.

“BREED ME!” Sarah shouted. The words, the naked desire for Lester to fill her seemed to be the key to unlocking that ball of tension. She felt it unwind inside of her as pleasure erupted into her body. “FUCK LESTER. I’M...DON’T STOP.....BREED ME. CUM IN ME, LESTER!”

“Take it,” Lester grunted, thrusting his cock into her, “Here it comes. My cum. Your fertile pussy. Take it.”

“GIVE IT TO ME!” Sarah cried into the night like a wolf baying at the moon. She grabbed Lester with her entire body, as his cock expanded inside of her. The head growing wider. She felt its slit open, and a torrent of cum erupted into her, battering her insides with its sticky, milky goodness.

“OHGODFUCK,” Sarah cried as her pussy exploded with ecstasy, sending her mind spinning. Every inch of her tensed as a wave of tinging pleasure rippled through her body, making each muscle go taut and knocking the wind out of her lungs. Her nails dug into Lester, her jaw going limp as her eyes rolled back in her head, the only sound emanating from her body, the throaty groans of unbridled need and passion. Lester’s cock kept pulsating, sending fresh explosions of cum deep into her fertile pussy, the millions of little sperms swimming inside of her seeking her egg to conquer.

Sarah finally let out a breath, wheezing as Lester collapsed on top of her. His body slick with sweat. Her mind was dazed, and she couldn’t process anything as she drifted off for a second.

When she woke, she was alone on the couch. Her head pounded as she sat up, only to notice a damp spot under her ass. A pool of Lester’s sticky cum leaked out of her at some point and was all over the couch. She scooted up, away from it, looking outside at the night sky, the moon no longer visible, having travelled higher and out of view. How long had she been out?

She looked around the darkened office, but Lester was nowhere in sight. She groaned and pulled herself free of the couch, finding her purse and checking the time. It was early morning, and she needed to get home. Lester and his clothes were gone. And she couldn't find her dress anywhere.

She tried her best to find it, to no avail.

Fucking Lester, she thought. She pulled open every drawer in the office, looking for something to wear. There was nothing. Being a man's office, of course, there weren't any throw pillows on the couch or chairs. Richard's plump leather chair was also missing. Naked, Sarah crept into the hall. She tried the first door to another office, but it was locked. So was the next. She crept through the floor looking for something, anything to wear.

To her growing horror, there wasn't so much as a hospital dressing gown anywhere.

"I'm going to kill him," Sarah muttered as she crept along. Occasionally a splat would sound from behind her as more of Lester's cum dripped out of her, splattering onto the floor. Sarah spent the better part of half an hour looking for something, anything to cover herself with, but couldn't find anything.

She made a decision and crept back to the maintenance elevator she'd ridden up on with Lester. She crossed her fingers and hit the button. When it arrived, it was empty, and she rode it down, watching the numbers slowly tick by. It opened on the ground floor, and Sarah quickly navigated the hallways to the maintenance exit and sprinted naked across the parking lot, heels in her hand and got into her car. Thankfully, there was a blanket in the back that she covered herself with for the late-night drive home.

Renee couldn't sleep. It wasn't just James snoring next to her. Her mind was too wired, continuing to go over the night's events. Even after her lengthy shower, where she'd scrubbed and scrubbed, she still felt like she had Lester all over her and inside her. She couldn't fathom what she'd done. In the span of just a few moments, her entire life had been flipped upside down, and she'd let another man besides her husband inside of her.

She stared up at the dark ceiling, picturing that porcelain lid of the grungy toilet as she was fucked. She hated how hot a situation she knew it had been. She couldn't reconcile how much she enjoyed and thrived in that moment with the post-sex regret coursing through her.

It felt like she was awake for hours, just staring at the ceiling. The more she thought about Lester and the evening's events, the more worked up she got. She was disgusted with herself but turned on her side, reached under the covers and found James' penis.

She'd always thought it was large and filled her completely but now.....she'd experienced something else and it just paled in comparison. Still, she stroked it, until it grew hard.

"Wha?" James sputtered, still half asleep.

"Make love to me," Renee whispered huskily. She could hear him starting to drift back, sleep claiming him again. Renee threw back the sheets and climbed on top of her husband, doing her best not to think of Lester.

Dan opened the door to his house expecting the girls to come running up to him. They didn't. Then he remembered they were in school at this time.

He found Sarah in the kitchen, contemplatively drinking a cup of tea. She looked up and gave him a flat smile.

Dan settled on the chair next to her.

"Sentinel Securities offered me a job," Dan said.

"Really?" Sarah said. Dan noted a spark of hope in her eyes, a look he hadn't seen in a long time.

"It's good Sarah. Really good. The pay is more than I've ever been offered, not including the health plan and other benefits. They have big, ambitious plans and want me at the center of it." Dan said.

"What's the catch?" Sarah asked, "Do they want you to move to D.C.?"

You. Not us. Dan thought.

"No, we won't have to move to D.C. I'd have to travel there often, but we don't have to live there," Dan said. "But we can be done with all of this," Dan said, gesturing to the air around him. "No more struggling. No more stress. No more Lester."

Sarah played with her teacup, staring down into the liquid.

“What do you think?” Dan asked, staring at his beautiful blonde wife, desperately hoping to get back to where they’d been before.

Toxic Attraction Ch. 41

Lester's fingers strummed across his desk as he hummed the theme song from his favorite anime. He was spinning back and forth in his chair, feet bare on his office carpet.

Today was the day. Today, he would finally be done with this awful fucking place. It was a long time coming. Ever since he'd maneuvered people and select situations to help Sarah get herself fired and fall further under his thumb, the clock had been ticking. Hell, it had been ticking since he'd first accepted the position. He didn't need the money and didn't like the work. It was all a means to an end, and now he wasn't about to waste his fucking time anymore.

He unplugged the USB from the computer, having downloaded the security footage of Sarah sneaking naked through the building. Lester got up and stretched his back, looking out of his office window at the rows of empty cubicles – a department he'd slashed and savaged after taking over.

They were gonna be so fucked. The best part was that Lester might still get paid. With the lack of an HR head, that department was scrambling, and it would take them a while to process everything payroll-related. The IT division was about to be a shitshow without him. He went back to the desk and typed away, deleting all the custom scripts and automation he'd put in place, as well as all the urgent emails related to hospital systems and operations that would need to be addressed soon before things stopped working.

Lester hadn't set out to fuck with these people, but he'd enjoyed it. He relished the idea that these people would scramble and panic without him. Knowing his actions could have a ripple effect on so many people's lives and waking hours was intoxicating. Sure, he could have a positive influence if he wanted, but he got a huge thrill out of just fucking with people.

So Lester continued deleting critical files and turned off the security cameras for the next four hours. He triumphantly cracked his back and smiled before grabbing his phone and sending some lewd texts to Sarah's mom. He couldn't help but chuckle to himself as he did.

With those items on his to-do list accomplished, he went into the hall where he'd left the hand cart, already loaded up with expensive computer equipment he'd ordered on the hospital's dime. Sticks of RAM and processors, SSDs, and other items he felt he was owed.

He wheeled it through the halls, down the elevator and out into the parking lot, where he loaded his haul into the back of his SUV. Back inside the maintenance area, he left the hand cart by the door and took the elevator back up to the floor where he'd fucked Sarah in the old CEO's office. He walked through the administrative halls, glancing in at the little worker bees going about their day. Someone stopped him, panicked about not being able to connect to the email server. He told them he'd look into it, chuckling as he walked away, knowing that none of the skeleton crew would be skilled enough to be able to fix it.

He strolled past the large window, looking in at Richard's office. The couch was still propped up against the window overlooking the parking lot, and the plush leather chair behind the wooden desk was missing. It was tucked away haphazardly in the back of Lester's SUV.

He found the small, mousey woman in her office. He didn't bother to learn her name. She had dark circles under her eyes, and her desk was a scattered mess of papers. When Lester entered, she looked up, annoyed and frustrated, clearly the new interim head of HR was drowning in unaddressed work.

"I'm quitting, effective immediately. Have a nice life," Lester said, turning on his heel and walking out of the office. The woman sat there stunned for a few seconds before rushing out and chasing Lester down the hall.

“Lester. Mr. Marshall, please come back to my office so we can discuss this,” she said, scurrying panic in her voice.

“We just did. I’m leaving,” Lester said as he walked to the elevator.

“I’m sure Mr. Walsh and the board would want to speak with you before you depart. Perhaps offer you a counteroffer or an incentive of some kind. Please, can we just discuss this? Stability is paramount at this time for the continued successful operation of the hospital. Please, can we talk?”

“Yeah, no. We’re not doing that,” Lester said, punching the elevator button. As the doors opened, Lester stepped in.

“Please, Lester, we need to discuss a transition plan at least...”

“Fuck off,” Lester barked. The small woman’s eyes went wide as she stepped back, allowing the doors to close. Lester hummed to himself, watching the digital display as the numbers crept down.

As he stood there, Lester fished out his phone and sent more texts to Renee. It showed she’d seen his other messages but hadn’t responded. Lester strode out into the lobby and powerwalked through the atrium, out the back doors to his car, planning never to set foot in a shitty place like this again.

Dan should have been on top of the world, but he couldn’t help but dwell on the pit in his stomach. He kept his eyes on the road as he drove the now very familiar route between Middleton and Chicago.

He'd signed the offer of employment with Sentinel Securities that morning. It should have felt like a win worthy of celebrating with his wife. But his smile of triumph never reached his eyes; instead, it felt like a hollow victory.

He knew it should matter. This position, the pay, it was everything he'd ever wanted. He'd be making more now than he had before he'd been laid off, working on projects at a national scale for an organization with international reach and the opportunity to network beyond just a small group of Chicago clients. He was going to have to let go of some of them, like the friendly one, Bill from Dynamic Engagement. This was the shot of adrenaline his career, and more importantly, he needed.

After working for Walt and failing to secure better work, he'd almost begun to believe he was that weak person his mind kept telling him he was. The same weak person who had let Lester take advantage of his fantasies and worm his way into their lives. Just a pathetic cuck. But that wasn't who Dan was, not really.

He re-gripped the steering wheel, signalled right, checked his blind spot, and moved onto the off-ramp. His eyes lingered on Sarah's blonde hair, and the pit in his stomach tightened.

She'd barely said two words since they got in the car. She'd grown quiet when he'd told her he wanted things to go back to the way they were, before Lester, before Chicago. He'd slept on the couch, giving her space, but she didn't try to engage him, and he couldn't bring himself to try to talk about it again. Sentinel Securities was their golden ticket out of the mess and into building a better life.

He was afraid part of her wanted to stay down in the muck with Lester's influence. He'd underestimated just how much of his wife he'd lost to the awkward little man. It was infuriating. He thought it was just sex, but Sarah got something more out of it that he still wasn't sure about. If she didn't go along with what he wanted, could Dan really go it alone? Could he bring himself to do that?

Tricia popped up in his mind. He hadn't told Sarah about her. Part of him wanted to. Martial guilt creeping in. But the other part of him, the one he was listening to, didn't feel that he owed Sarah an explanation at all. She'd kept things from him; she'd shown him how their relationship could be.

Dan gritted his teeth and tried to shake the thoughts free. This wasn't a good way to approach his marriage. If he kept thinking like this, it was doomed. And he didn't want that. Despite all the shit, he still loved Sarah and wanted to make things work. Tricia would never replace her, not like that.

The off-ramp exited to a streetlight in the heart of Chicago. Dan signalled left and drove them to their hotel. Driving into Chicago with Sarah gave him a level of anxiety he hadn't realized he'd had. But pulling into the fancy hotel instead of the grungy apartment helped set him at ease. He'd feel better if Sarah had firmly committed to moving forward without Lester, though.

"We're here," Dan said, putting the car in park. Sarah finally broke eye contact with her phone and looked up at the hotel before them.

"It's really nice," Sarah said quietly.

"This is what me working at Sentinel Securities does for us. For our future," Dan said, noticing the slight flinch from Sarah. Maybe he was pushing it too hard. He didn't think so. But she purposely didn't pick up on his comment, instead getting out of the car first.

He sighed. This fucking sucked. He hated it. And was getting tired of it. He needed to put an end to the shit with Lester once and for all. He hated that he was starting to watch the security cameras at his house obsessively. And he hated that she kept reinforcing the reason why he'd installed them. He'd watched a replay of Lester taking Sarah on the closet floor. Her face contorting in carnal pleasure. Yet he'd still told her he loved her and wanted a future together. He'd buried that memory and didn't tell her he knew about it. She used to tell him the details of all their encounters, but now it was like a separate part of her life he wasn't invited to.

Dan kicked open the car door and went to the back to grab his suitcase. They checked in and settled onto their respective queen beds in the room. Dan wanted to say something, but couldn't bring himself to do it.

The problem was that they needed to be on their game and present a united front to Gordon and his wife. Gordon was his new boss at Sentinel Securities and had invited him out to dinner with Sarah tonight as a sort of 'welcome to the company' thing.

Dan shifted on the bed, then got up and moved next to Sarah. She looked up at him, and he held her gaze. Despite his heart telling him not to, he reached out and grabbed her hand, taking it in his.

"I really hope tonight goes well," he said, his thumb stroking the back of her hand, "It means a lot to me that it does. I really want things to work out here. It's such a good opportunity. It's not like the last job I had. There's real growth potential for me. For us. I can see a bright future for you, me and the kids, Sarah. I want to grab it. But I want us to reach for it together."

Tears welled up in the corners of her eyes. Her fingers squeezed his. "I want that too, Dan."

He wanted to press. Ask for clarification. Ask about Lester. About leaving him behind. But for now, he wanted this little victory—this connection.

“I love you,” Dan said, bracing for the gut punch of a delayed response. But she answered right away, “I love you too.”

A sad smile spread across her face. The instant he saw it, Dan’s arms were around her, holding her. She buried her head in his shoulder, and they just sat there, holding each other for a time.

“We’re gonna be okay,” Dan whispered and kissed her hair. He tried not to think about the way Lester would hold it wrapped in his fist while he viciously pumped his naked cock into her. He was beginning to feel like a Vietnam vet having unwanted flashbacks.

“Are you okay?” Sarah whispered, her hand on his chest, “You’re breathing so fast.” He hadn’t realized that he was almost panting, thinking about Lester fucking Sarah. Like he was having some kind of delayed panic attack.

“Yeah, I’m fine,” Dan lied, trying to get himself under control. It felt similar to how he’d freeze up whenever Lester would fuck Sarah in front of him. He wasn’t prepared for these thoughts to creep in and affect him like this. He balled his hands into fists to get himself under control. Sarah nuzzled into his neck, her warm breath on his skin. Dan’s shoulders relaxed, and the pit in his stomach unclenched.

His fists relaxed, and his fingers stroked his wife’s hair. “I want this,” Dan whispered, “More of us. I miss this.”

“I miss it too,” Sarah breathed out shakily. “I don’t know which way is up lately. I feel like I have no anchor and I’m just adrift in the currents.”

“I got you,” Dan said, rubbing her back. He felt his cock stir. He wanted to take her right then. Reconnect with her. But they had to get ready for dinner. “I wish we could just stay in tonight. Enjoy the city together. I don’t want to go to dinner. I just want to stay here with you.”

Sarah pulled back, eyes dry of tears and put her hand on his chest, “We have to go out. My husband got a kickass new job and needs to start working on that promotion with his new boss.”

She kissed him softly on the lips and smirked, standing up, “Besides, you have a hot wife to show off.”

She gave him a dangerous smile and slid around him, moving towards the bathroom, closing the door behind her. He heard the water start and pictured her disrobing. He tried not to dwell on her use of the term ‘hot wife’ and the other way he could have taken that. Images of Sarah moaning under Gordon’s old frame filtered into his head.

“Fuck,” Dan grumbled, getting up and pacing around the room. He needed to stay busy. While Sarah got ready, Dan ironed his clothes and watched ESPN on the TV. When Sarah finally emerged from the bathroom, she was wearing a sexy black dress that hugged her in all the right places but was loose enough to still seem conservative. There was a nice amount of skin, but there wasn’t enough cleavage to upset the other wife. Dan had to admit that Sarah really knew what she was doing with her apparel and when to wear it.

“You look amazing,” Dan said, feeling his heart beating faster and the familiar swell of his cock as his eyes ran over his wife’s body. A red blush tinted her cheeks as she thanked him. The drive to the restaurant only took a few minutes. Gordon and his wife, Ann, were already there waiting for them.

“Gordon,” Dan said, shaking his new boss’s hand, “Great to see you again. This is my wife, Sarah.”

Gordon's smile didn't falter, and his eyes stayed locked on Sarah's as he introduced his wife. From what Dan could see, his new boss's eyes didn't stray down to look over Sarah's form at all—a good sign of a consummate professional.

They joined the other couple, ordering drinks while looking over the menu.

“So, Sarah,” Gordon said, closing his menu, “What kind of work are you in?”

Dan was about to answer for her, to save her from the complicated situation she found herself in, but she put a hand on his thigh. He closed his mouth as she said, “I’m taking a hiatus at the moment, actually. For the last several years, I served as the executive administrator of a hospital. Unfortunately, there’s been a lot of executive turnover recently and some fairly large structural changes, which gave me pause, so I’m taking a step back from things and evaluating where I want to spend the next three to five years of my life.”

Gordon nodded along, then said, “You know, that is commendable. Too often we jump from one opportunity to the next, running full tilt, only to wake up unsatisfied, unchallenged and just miserable. And it impacts and spills over into all other aspects of your life. It’s not the American way to take a break. I know, as a culture, we look down on that. That’s how our society is wired. But I think it’s smart. Where you spend your time, especially away from your family, is something that you should take care in deciding.”

“I couldn’t agree more,” Sarah said with a soft smile.

“That is why I’m glad your husband has decided to join our team. I’m assuming he’s as careful and discerning as you are when it came to making this decision?” Gordon said with a slight twinkle in his eye and a smirk.

“Dan made the decision rather quickly,” Sarah said, “He’s been telling me for months how much he enjoys the work and challenges that your company presents and what a great opportunity it would be. He’s been trying the company on for size for a while and has liked what he’s seen. It didn’t take any convincing from me by the time the offer came down,” Sarah smiled.

Gordon clasped Dan on the shoulder and smiled at him, “That’s great. Just great. We’re going to do great things together, Dan. I think you’ll really make your mark on the company.”

“I hope so. I’m really looking forward to getting started in earnest,” Dan said.

“The whole team loves him. Everyone went to bat to convince us to bring him on board. Tricia and the others on the team. They all convinced us how much money and time we’d save by bringing him aboard,” Gordon said as the waiter arrived at the table to take their orders.

Dan silently prayed Sarah hadn’t picked up on Gordon using the name Tricia. He’d hate to have to try to lie to her about it. After the waiter was done taking their orders, Dan quickly shifted the topic away from work, asking Gordon’s wife about herself. Any speed bumps to the conversation quickly dispelled as the foursome fell into a lively back and forth that didn’t lull as their food arrived.

The cooks in the back really outdid themselves, and they all ate, laughed, and enjoyed one another’s company. Dan was feeling good, and not just because of the free-flowing beer but because he was clicking with his new boss on a personal level. He could see the potential this relationship held and how it could open doors for him in the future. And for the first time in a long time, he was just enjoying the company of another guy who wasn’t a complete sleazeball around his wife. It was refreshing to remember that reality was very different from what he’d experienced recently. It was a bonus that this guy was his new boss, and hopefully, they could continue this burgeoning relationship.

Things were going great. Until someone from the other side of the restaurant started to make a scene. “You fucking slut!” A man loudly slurred, catching the room’s attention. Dan’s eyes snapped up from his conversation with Gordon to see an overweight, dishevelled man in a suit stalking across the restaurant, waving his arms wildly. It was clear he was drunk by the way he moved. He was a mess: dappled stains on his shirt, his tie was loose and crooked, and he dragged his feet while he walked.

“You fucked them, and ya fucked me, you fucked everybody!” the man wobbled then steadied himself on a couple’s table as he passed by. Dan realized, perhaps a few seconds too late, that the slurring man on uneasy feet was shambling in their direction, his cock-eyed head fixed directly on Sarah.

“What the hell?” Gordon muttered as his wife skittered back in her seat. Dan’s eyes shifted between the approaching man, who he vaguely recognized and Sarah. His wife’s face was as white as a ghost, and she looked like a deer in the headlights.

The older, drunken man stumbled up to their table. His voice rose for the entire restaurant to hear, “You conniving fucking bitch. I ought to punch you in the fucking throat for what you did. The fucking board. I know it was you. I don’t know how, but fuck you did it. And then she left me!” The man slurred, punctuating each sentence as he pointed an empty beer bottle at Sarah.

“I...” Sarah swallowed, looking at the rest of the table. Before Dan knew what he was doing, he was on his feet between the drunken man and his wife.

“Back off, buddy,” Dan said, hands raised in front of himself defensively, “Look, why don’t I buy you another drink and you can tell me all about it?”

“Fuck you and fuck her!” the man barked, swaying uneasily on his feet. Dan had moved on instinct to protect Sarah, but now realized that this was also a show to his boss on how he'd react to a difficult situation. He couldn't just knock this guy out. "She ruined my fucking life!"

Get in line pal, Dan thought then dismissed the errant thought.

"Take it easy," Dan said, hands still up in front of him, "Let's take it down a notch, alright?"

"She's gonna fuck you too. I got fucking fired because of her. Fuck you. Fuck you too," he shouted at Sarah and threw his bottle down. It smashed into pieces on the tile floor. A couple of the staff came out of the kitchen and were slowly making their way through the dining room.

"I think there's some kind of misunderstanding," Dan said carefully, trying not to directly look at the cooks who were quickly closing in on the man from behind.

"She's a fucking whore!" The man shouted as a cook slipped in behind him and pinned his arms over his head. The other cook rushed forward, helping to restrain the belligerent old man. They forced him out of the restaurant to a chorus of claps as a police cruiser pulled up on the street outside.

Dan turned back to the table, sharing an exasperated look with Gordon. "Are you okay?" he asked Sarah. She quickly nodded her head, averting her eyes from everyone else at the table.

"Did you know him?" Gordon asked, looking between Sarah and Dan.

"Never seen him before," Dan said as he sat back down. Sarah crossed her arms, "No idea. He must have been on something."

“More like, ‘on several things,’” Gordon’s wife muttered. Gordon gave Dan’s shoulder a gentle squeeze, “You did well, distracting him like that. Quick thinking.”

“I wasn’t about to let him keep approaching us, hurling insults like that. He was drunk out of his mind,” Dan said, putting an arm around Sarah’s shoulders.

“Let’s order another drink,” Gordon said, swallowing what was left of his. The couple had another round of drinks, watching the man outside be arrested and taken away in the back of the cruiser. When their drinks were finished, they called it a night and parted ways.

On the drive back to the hotel, after a few quiet moments Dan asked, “Who was that?”

“Richard,” Sarah said quietly, “The guy who beat me out for CEO of the hospital after Drew left. He just got let go too. It was...hot...how you stood up to him like that. Even when his face was all red and angry.”

Dan opened his mouth to ask a follow-up question. Ready to ask what Richard had been yelling about. Was there any truth to what he said? But before he could speak, Sarah said, “I’m going to blow you when we get back.”

Dan’s jaw abruptly closed, and he knew better than to press the issue right now. Back in the room, Sarah was tearing the clothes off Dan’s body as they fell onto the bed. She started maneuvering down the bed, yanking off his boxers.

“I guess I’d better thank Richard,” Dan drunkenly muttered.

“Thank you, my husband, for being a big, strong man and standing up for me,” Sarah said, licking her lips and staring down at Dan’s lengthening penis.

“I just stood there. It was those two cooks who took him down,” Dan said. Sarah’s fingers encircled his dick, her eyes staring up at him with wild excitement, “You’re right. You did just stand there. Maybe I should go back to that restaurant and thank those two men, personally.”

Dan groaned, his head falling back on the pillow. His hips arched off the ground when he felt Sarah’s tongue touch the head of his dick. “Fuck,” he murmured, letting his wife take him somewhere he hadn’t been in a long time.

“Should I go?” Sarah asked, flicking her tongue up his shaft, “Go back to the restaurant. Leave my husband here with a hard on, needing to take care of it himself?”

“I...” Dan felt the all too familiar pull. Of falling. Of being out of control. He gritted his teeth, trying to hold on as Sarah’s fist pumped his cock up and down, her tongue swirling around the head of his cock. “I’ll do it.” Sarah whispered to his cock, “You know I will. At one point, this would have all just been bedroom talk, but now... do you think I would actually do it?”

“I don’t know...” Dan panted, his hips jutting up off the bed, trying desperately to find Sarah’s mouth. She extended her tongue and quickly swirled it around the head of his cock, making him groan in pleasure.

“I think you do,” Sarah said with a soft moan. “You’ve seen me do things that you...that we both...never thought I’d do. I still surprise myself. Do you think I’d do it? Do you think I’d go down there, find those cooks, and taste what they’ve prepared for me? Hmmm? Lick them just like this?”

Sarah licked up the length of Dan's cock, making him shudder. "I wonder if I could make them both go off at the same time," Sarah mused as she played, licked and stroked Dan's cock, "Or maybe I'd let one of them fuck me."

"Jesus Christ," Dan muttered, his hands making fists with the bedsheets as Sarah toyed with him.

"Is this what you meant when you said we would be all done with this? Done with Lester? Did you really mean that? That you want me to stop touching you like this, talking like this?" Sarah whispered, "Did you really want me to stop playing with other men? Is that what you want? I know you crave it. I've always known how bad you crave it. I wonder if you could really even help yourself from thinking about it, wanting to see me do it."

"I..." Dan started, his mind racing. He wasn't expecting this. Wasn't anticipating how to react. Didn't know what to say. They'd been so cold and distant earlier that he hadn't expected her to go in this direction.

"I...I...I..." Sarah teased, "You love this. You don't want to, but you do." Her mouth engulfed his cock, and he started to suck him off in earnest. Dan just groaned, trying to keep his hips from bucking, from thrusting his cock deep into her mouth. Dan was amazed that Sarah took his cock completely into her mouth, her tongue lapping at the underside of it.

"Tell me you want to keep going with everything," Sarah breathed as she stroked his cock. He could feel her hot breath on his dick.

"I...I don't know," Dan said trying to fight off his impulses to go along with anything so he could cum. "Maybe. But not with Lester. On our own terms. We figure things out together."

Sarah put her mouth back on Dan's cock and sucked him while stroking his shaft. Dan put his hand on the back of her head, urging her on. His hips bucked off the bed in time with her hand movements. His mind raced at the idea of Sarah returning to that restaurant to thank those cooks properly. Thanking them for taking down her old CEO. Stopping the nastiness he was spewing. The lies...

"Was Richard lying?" Dan asked, things clicking into place. Richard said she fucked over people, but maybe he was saying she fucked them. She'd fucked Otis the janitor there. And he knew that Lester had taken her in the hospital at least once. "Did you fuck Richard?"

Sarah gasped, coming up for air, "What if I did? What would you think about that? Would it turn you on?"

"Jesus," Dan groaned as she gripped his cock. The thought of Sarah under a man like that, letting someone like that inside of her. Moaning aloud to someone like that. He hated that it turned him on. It was such a fucked up situation. "You did. Didn't you? And somehow he got fired for it."

"He deserved it," Sarah said, her hands slamming down on Dan's hips, pinning him to the ground as her mouth descended back on his cock. Dan's mind swam, mental images running through his head. He knew he was slipping, spiralling like he always did. So he grabbed the back of Sarah's head and thrust up to meet it. She squeezed his cock hard. Dan continued to thrust over and over until he felt his balls seize and his cock expand, and his cum shot out into Sarah's waiting mouth.

"Ughh," Sarah grunted at the quick release of his cum. Her groan was quickly followed by gulping as she swallowed her husband's load. Dan fell back onto the pillow, letting out a breath he hadn't realized he'd been holding.

The brain fog cleared, and finally, he could think clearly again, albeit sleepier than before. "What did you do? How'd you get him fired?"

Sarah looked up at him, wiping cum from her lips. "It's not important."

"It is important. The fucking guy almost derailed dinner with my new boss," Dan said exasperated, "Sarah, I'm trying to build our life back up here. I can't have shit like this popping up and surprising us. What if he hadn't been drunk and said something convincing? What if he'd said your name? I'd be screwed."

"He didn't lift a finger when I got fired and then took advantage of the situation. We were just getting payback," Sarah said.

"We?" Dan asked.

"Me," Sarah paused, "And Lester."

"You come to me with your problems. Not him," Dan said.

"Lester took the initiative," Sarah said, "And now Richard got what he deserved."

"Maybe. But this just reinforces that we need to be done with Lester," Dan said. "Or else our life is going to spiral out of control like this. He only brings chaos. Sarah, for us. And the girls. We need to be done with all this shit."

Sarah slumped back on the bed, dejected, "I know. I don't even know who I am sometimes. I think you're right." She gulped and looked up at him through teary eyes, "I don't...okay...we're done."

Renee stared at her phone screen, vaguely aware of how short her breaths were coming. She should delete the conversation, block the contact, and be done with it. But she was mesmerized by the messages. How lewd and domineering they were. How much attention was he spending on her? And pictures...it was disgusting. Yet she couldn't look away.

She laid in bed in only her bathrobe, scrolling through the conversation. She reread them over and over, her fingers tracing the trim line of the robe on her chest.

L: God you were so fucking tight

L: Moaning in a public bathroom

L: How'd you like my cock?

L: I knew you'd be a good fuck

L: God if only Sarah could see what I did to her mother

L: Did my cum leak out of you all night?

L: Did you touch yourself thinking of me yet?

Then there was a picture of Lester's mammoth cock, angry and veiny, staring back at her.

L: I can't wait to slide this into you again

L: To hear you moaning my name

L: I want to fuck you in your marital bed

L: Or better yet, Dan and Sarah's bed

L: Come on, Renee

L: Don't be shy

L: I can see that you've read these. Are you touching yourself to them?

L: You want more don't you? You want me to fuck you in a public bathroom again?

L: Come on baby, lets meet. I'll let you suck my cock this time.

Renee snapped off her phone and threw it across the bed before she did something stupid. She'd already broken her marriage vows, and the guilt was eating her alive.

Why? Why the hell was she thinking about cheating again then? And with someone so despicable as that? She'd thought Lester was meek and polite, but now she'd seen the real thing. The real monster he was. And she couldn't stop thinking about him.

The excitement she felt. She wanted more of that. She hadn't realized how much she'd been craving excitement in her life. She laid back on the bed, acutely aware of where her phone was and the nagging pull of it on her mind. She wanted to reach out and grasp it, look at it and revel in what she saw. Instead, she calmly breathed like they taught her in yoga class, ran her hands slowly over her robe and closed her eyes.

She focused on the sound of the water from the next room. James was in the shower. Renee was getting ready to crawl up the walls. Finally, she undid her robe and stormed into the washroom. James looked at her, confused, from behind the shower pane. His eyes trailed down, and it took him a second to realize she was standing there, completely naked. She posed seductively on the door frame.

"Umm," James stuttered before a smile spread onto his face. He rinsed off the last remaining soap on his body, turned the water off, grabbed his towel and started drying off.

"I need you," Renee said as James stepped out of the shower. "Now."

She strode over to her husband and grasped his growing erection. He looked shell-shocked, but Renee needed it. She dropped to her knees, skin pressing against the cold tile floor and took her husband into her mouth. Her mind immediately drifted back, wondering whether Lester's cock would fit and how she would tackle it. She pried her eyes open to look up at her husband, trying to focus on him, not letting that brutish, disgusting man worm his way into her brain. James looked down at her with a relaxed smile. One of love, understanding and care. And his dick grew hard in her mouth, and his hands ran through her hair. She realized that wasn't what she wanted in that moment.

With his dick now as hard as a rock. Renee held his gaze and slowly stood up, still stroking his cock. She tugged on it as she stepped backwards.

“Renee...what are you..” James sputtered.

“I want you to make lov...” Renee started but corrected herself, “Fuck me. Fuck me like this. Now.”

She let go of his cock and gripped the porcelain lid of the toilet. She closed her eyes and pushed her ass out towards her husband. She swayed back and forth, waiting for him to take her. She could visualize the dirty bathroom wall of the bar in front of her,

“Renee...” James said slowly, “Why don’t we get comfortable in the bed?”

“James, just fuck me,” Renee said, shocked at how desperate her voice sounded. Her husband put a hand on her bare hip, and she felt the head of his cock search for her opening. She bent slightly, pushing her ass back and lined herself up with it. James was about to say something, but Renee pushed herself back, opening herself up and taking his dick into her.

She groaned, dropping her head, her blonde hair spilling over the top of the toilet. She pushed herself back on James’ dick, taking more and more of it into her until...she felt her ass cheeks pressing against his hips. She pushed back harder, trying to take more of him into her. It took her a second to realize there wasn’t any more to his dick. She stifled her disappointment, quieted the areas inside of her that longed to be touched and began to fuck her husband.

James struggled to keep his wet feet planted on the tile floor, but he got both of his hands on his wife and started to pump into her like she had oddly demanded. Her beautiful bubble butt slammed back against him with an intensity he wasn’t used to.

James did all he could to hold on as Renee started to moan desperately and completely out of control as they fucked. He wanted to lie down on the bed. This wasn't like them. But Renee was making new sounds he hadn't heard before, and he already found his breath coming in shallow as his body took over and started pumping back matching her frenzied pace.

Renee pictured herself bent over the toilet, that short, fat, ugly, disgusting man pumping into her behind with his incredibly large cock. His gross hands on her body. Despite her husband's lack of inches, she was slowly building herself up to an orgasm. She focused on it, tying it to the image of Lester and their dirty bathroom rendezvous.

James was grunting as he pumped himself into her. Renee clenched down on his cock and felt the warm, tingling sensation begin to grow inside of her. James grunted and lurched forward, his dick spasming and erupting inside of her. She almost doubled over, and she had to brace herself on the toilet as he caught his breath. Her growing orgasm quickly fizzled out, and she wanted to scream.

L: Are you in Chicago?

Sarah stared at the text, biting her bottom lip. Her thumb hovered over the keyboard to reply, then she withdrew it and clicked the screen off. In the mirror, her face was full of conflict. She had just told Dan that they were going to be done with Lester. Yet, a few minutes later, a simple four-word text had her itching to respond to the deplorable little man.

What is wrong with me? Sarah thought to herself. She could hear Dan in the next room, snoring away. She kept looking at her reflection in the hotel bathroom mirror, trying to decipher the gaze staring back at her. They both knew, deep down, what they wanted to do. They knew what they should do, which was to follow through on her agreement with Dan to be done with Lester.

Her phone on the counter was like an itch she needed to scratch. No matter how much she tried to ignore it, its mere presence was a tug on her consciousness. She focused on herself in the mirror, trying to slow her breathing, look into her eyes, and whisper that she could do this. She didn't need Lester. She watched her eyes flick briefly to the phone, her shoulders sagging. The bright screen shone in her face again.

S: Yes.

It was agony, waiting for a reply. Her mind raced, wondering what else Lester could be doing. Why was he taking so long to type back? What if Dan woke up and found her hiding in the bathroom texting Lester? She let out a gasp of air she hadn't realized she'd been holding when the three little dots appeared at the bottom of the conversation.

L: Why aren't you here?

S: Dan has work stuff

L: I don't care about Dan. Why aren't YOU here?

Sarah chewed her lip, trying to decide how to respond. She knew how she could lead this conversation to Lester's bed. It wouldn't be hard. In fact, all she had to do was suggest it, and Lester would happily take her there. Or take her someplace else, like that theater...

L: Why aren't you over here getting fucked?

Sarah put the phone down on the counter and took a deep breath. She shouldn't be continuing this conversation. She should crawl into bed with Dan. But she'd just given him a blow job, and they always turned her on. She wanted relief. But she wanted some semblance of that old life back, too.

S: It's late. We'll talk tomorrow.

Sarah silenced her phone and powered it down. As quietly as she could, she exited the bathroom and crawled into bed with Dan, trying not to wake him. She lay awake thinking about how Lester would respond. How irate he'd grow when she didn't message him back. And if she could sneak out of the hotel and meet Lester and be back before Dan woke up. That thought was disturbing, but even as she admonished herself for it, she also knew that she could slip out without Dan knowing.

She lay there, tossing and turning, trying to think of anything else until sleep finally took her.

Sarah didn't turn on her phone when they woke up. She had Dan facetime the girls and check on them, since they were with Dan's parents. Sarah had suggested they stay an extra night in the city. It would be good for them to reconnect and spend time together. Even as she said the words to Dan, he mind told her she was lying to him and herself. That there was another motive for staying. She ignored the voice and spent the day visiting sights around the city.

They fell back into a familiar, comfortable rhythm together as they talked and ate. It felt like old times. It felt good. Then, while Dan was in the washroom at the restaurant,

Sarah turned on her phone.

L: Sarah

L: Get over here

L: Now

L: Where are you?

L: Did you really fucking go to sleep?"

L: What the fuck?

L: I swear to god, Sarah The last message had come in a few minutes after she had shut off her phone. Before she could talk herself out of it, Sarah sent a message.

S: Hi

She flipped off her phone, face down on the table and mentally berated herself for sounding like a teenage girl. She had just spent the day with her husband and had given in to texting Lester the second she was alone.

L: I'm going to punish you for leaving me hanging last night.

S: I'm sorry. We're here for work stuff.

L: Come over tonight

S: I can't. Sorry Lester.

L: Come on. I'm having D&D at my place, and I want to show you off. The cuck can come too.

Sarah was about to tell him they were going to slow things down. She didn't want to say they were breaking things off yet. She wasn't sure she was ready for that. Yet.

S: Not this time, Lester.

L: Come on, I have a bunch of your dirty panties here. Come pick them up at least.

L: And Dan left some stuff in the kitchen. Like his work mug.

“What's up?” Dan said, sitting back down in the seat across from her.

“Uh? What?” Sarah put her phone face down on the table. Dan eyed it, “Your face looked flustered. Everything okay?”

Yes,” Sarah smiled, let out a breath, and said, “No. Sorry. It’s just...Lester just texted me. I know. I know we are stopping things. He just said that we left stuff at his place. Like your work mug? I don’t know, he’s trying to get us to go there.”

Really?” Dan asked, flatly.

“Yeah, I know. I didn’t say we were. But he’s being pushy. He has his nerd friends over tonight, I think he wanted to...you know. Show me off or whatever,” Sarah said. Dan didn’t reply but took a long drink of his water. Dan seemed lost in thought. Sarah looked down at the empty plate in front of her, bracing for the inevitable argument. She didn’t think Dan would float the idea of divorce, but just the idea terrified her.

“Maybe we should go over there,” Dan finally said.

Sarah’s eyes snapped up to look at her husband, who still seemed to be chewing on the idea. “What?” Sarah asked, “Why? After last night, I thought...I thought we were going to be done with him.”

“Yeah, I know,” Dan said with a shrug, “I just love that travel mug.”

Sarah stared at him, dumbfounded. He returned her gaze before a smirk broke on his face. He shook his head and held his hands up, “I’m just kidding. We have other travel mugs. And I know I said we should be done with him. With all of it. And I still mean that.”

“So you were just joking,” Sarah said, feeling a sense of disappointment creeping over her, “You don’t want to go over.”

“Oh no, I still think we should,” Dan said.

“That doesn’t make any sense, Dan. Why would we go over there if we are going to be done with him? Isn’t it dangerous? Maybe leading him on?” Sarah asked.

“Or...” Dan said slowly, “We could have one last opportunity to rub his face in it. Show him that you’re now off limits. That we are done, and he gets to go back to his sad little life.”

“That...sounds like something Lester would do,” Sarah said, her heart beating a little faster. Dan shrugged, “Maybe. I don’t really care what he’d do. I have an idea. I don’t want to spoil it. It’s a good one, though. And I’m feeling more like myself lately. What time is his D&D game starting?”

Dan was half surprised his key still worked as it turned in the apartment door. It had been a while since he’d been back. And given his lack of employment in Chicago and his moving out, he’d expected Lester would have changed the locks and found a new roommate by now.

Yet, as they swung the door open, the apartment looked just as it did before, as if it had been waiting for them: the sharply appointed decor, the new couch. Dan felt a false sense of comfort stepping into the apartment. Sure, this place had a ton of unpleasant memories, but it also held some good ones. Childless nights with Sarah on the couch, enjoying each other's company.

Dan was beginning to lose himself in a strange sense of nostalgia when his reverie was shattered by the fat, plodding footsteps of Lester coming down the hallway. His body tensed. Sarah must have noticed, putting a hand on his lower back and closed the door behind him.

"Well, well, well, what has the cat dragged in?" Lester huffed, dragging a large card table behind him. Dan wanted to scoff at the light sheen of sweat on the man's face. "My slut and the cuck," Lester chuckled, "Come on over here, Dan and help me set this up."

"Yeah, that's gonna be a you thing," Dan said, steeling his nerves, determined not to fall back into the familiar trappings they'd repeatedly found themselves in. He took Sarah's hand and led her to the kitchen. "We're just here to pick up our things."

He quickly found his travel mug in the cupboard and frowned, "Did you use this?"

"Of course I did. It's in the communal cupboard," Lester grunted, bending over to straighten the fold-out table's legs before turning it upright. He went into the closet, brought out several folding chairs and set them around the table.

"What is this?" Dan winced, peering into the cup. He showed Sarah the strange brown streaks running up and down the interior.

"Coke, probably," Lester shrugged, turning back to his setup, "Hey, where's my kiss, Sarah?"

“You drink Coke out of a can,” Dan muttered, then locked eyes with Sarah and shook his head. Sarah seemed visibly tense just as her husband had been, but she was holding herself together.

“We’re just gonna grab our stuff and be out of your hair,” Dan said, eyeing Lester’s prominent thinning hair. Dan held Sarah’s hand as they crossed the living room. Lester stepped into their path, eyeing up Sarah. He licked his lips, and Dan suppressed the urge to shove him.

“Something’s up,” Lester said, finally pulling his eyes from Sarah’s body. “What’s going on?”

“Nothing that concerns you,” Dan said, “We’re just getting our things and leaving.”

“Oh? I thought you were going to stay and play some D&D. It was so much fun last time.” Lester smirked.

“Where’s her stuff?” Dan asked, crossing his arms. He knew that just like them, Lester was planning something.

“On my bed,” Lester attempted to wiggle his eyebrows, but it just looked stupid. There was a soft knock on the door, stealing their attention.

“Get your things,” Dan said quietly to Sarah, urging her down the hallway.

“I left something else out on the bed for you,” Lester said with a mocking sneer, “Go put it on.”

Without waiting for a reply, Lester went and opened the door. Sarah looked unsure about what to do before she went down the hallway and disappeared into Lester's room. Dan felt that familiar tug as he watched her disappear into the troll's abyss. Thankfully, his awkward, portly roommate was opening the apartment's front door.

"Hey Dan, what's crackin'?" Ned asked, walking through the door with his hands full of bags of Cheetos. The man hadn't changed since the last time Dan had seen him. He looked like a mini Lester, less chunky and more meek. His beard needed to be trimmed as it was bordering on scraggly, and he wore the nerd staples of thick glasses and cargo shorts. "You joining us tonight? Been a while since you've played, but I think I have your character sheet on my phone. It was a bard, right?"

"That guy who sings? I think that was it." Dan said with a shrug.

"Yep, Dan's joining," Lester said, eyeing him, "And Sarah will be too."

The elderly wizard-looking man Eugene bumped into Ned, almost dropping the cardboard box he was carrying. His thinning, grey, wispy hair and long white beard put some extra mileage on him since the last time Dan had seen him. He looked ancient, "Your girlfriend...Sarah. She's here?" His lecherous eyes darted around the room, lecherously looking to scan Sarah's body.

"Yep, she's getting ready in the bedroom." Lester forcefully took the cardboard box from Eugene's hands and plopped it on the table.

"Hey, I painted some new miniatures. Be careful," Eugene snapped, quickly moving to the box to check its contents. Last into the apartment was Greg, who had slid past the others and was now next to Eugene, removing things from the open box. Greg looked like a meek textbook nerd: rail thin, clothing a couple of sizes too big, thick glasses and squirrely eyes.

He gave Dan a curt nod before going back to the box. Lester slammed the door shut and turned to Ned, “Soda’s in the fridge. So are the bowls.”

“On it,” Ned said, turning from the others and heading into the kitchen. Dan set his travel mug next to the couch and waited for Sarah. The other guys set up a board with the miniatures and began laying out a bunch of game pieces and notes behind a large wedge of cardboard at the end of the table. Greg sat behind the cardboard with Eugene and Lester taking seats on opposite sides of each other. Ned returned shortly after and went to sit next to Lester, but was shooed away to another seat. Eugene looked at Dan expectantly. He just stood there, leaning against the couch, waiting for Sarah.

His head snapped down the hallway when the door at the end clicked open. Dan’s heart started to pound into his ribcage as Sarah walked out wearing a sexy little emerald robe, carrying a small grocery bag filled with her clothes and the other garments she’d left behind at some point. He inhaled deeply. This hadn’t been part of their plan. Hell, Dan hadn’t even told her what his plan was. She’d done this of her own volition.

Dan swallowed, eyes trailing up her body. Lester was smirking at him before he even saw Sarah appear, knowing the outcome by reading Dan’s face. The jaws around the table dropped when Sarah walked into the living room.

“Hi, boys. It’s been a while. Did you miss me?” Sarah purred. Dan felt his chest tighten. She’d fallen back into her old routine so easily—this sultry persona. Thankfully, Dan had kind of been aware that this might happen. He loved it when she acted like this, but just wished she didn’t do it for Lester on her own.

There were silent, enthusiastic nods from all around the table. Lester just chuckled and patted the chair next to him. Sarah gave Dan a furtive glance, her cheeks going a light tint of rose before she averted her gaze and sat down next to Dan’s rotund roommate.

None of the eyes turned towards Dan, who, once again, stood apart from the main event. All eyes were discreetly, or in Eugene’s case, not-discreetly, undressing Sarah. She pretended not to notice and reached towards the bowl of chips. Her robe loosened at her chest, giving Ned an appreciative glance at her cleavage. His gulp could be heard all the way from where Dan was standing.

He felt the familiar sting to his ego. The feeling crept further into him, making him waver and grasp onto the familiar comfort of going prone, letting the events play out before him. Dan balled his hands into fists and took a step forward, pulling a chair out and sitting down at the table.

“Alright,” Greg said from behind the standing cardboard, “Let’s begin.” The diminutive man cracked his knuckles and began to lay out the story for tonight’s game. Apparently, it was a new campaign in which the characters met in a tavern to find someone with secret information about the location of a lost ancient magical treasure. Dan half listened, instead opting to watch Sarah’s eyes dart around to each member of the table. When she landed on him, her gaze faltered a bit. Lester seemed to notice, reaching out a hand to squeeze her thigh that the robe barely covered.

Dan steeled his nerves, looking down at the character sheet on Ned’s phone. He’d spent enough lunch hours with Carlos in Washington that he was more prepared for this little game than he was last time. He listened as Greg explained the situation, and their characters took turns entering the tavern, trying to identify which character there had the information they required.

Dan stared at Greg, getting his attention and putting a finger to his nose. Greg looked confused, but Dan thought it stood out enough that the guy might go along with what Dan was planning.

Lester was once again playing as his barbarian character and said, “Lady Val, come, let’s sit by the fire.”

“I’m going to go talk to those rough-looking men at the bar,” Ned said, repositioning his character. “I’ll engage them in a conversation.”

“I’ll cast a mind-reading spell and see if anyone is thinking about the relic,” Eugene said, his eyes staring at the table in front of Sarah’s breasts.

“It fails,” Greg said from behind his cardboard, “Dan, Cassius Silverstrings, your move.”

“Tell me, Mr. DM. Does this tavern have rooms available for rent?” Dan asked.

“Indeed, it does,” Greg said, “Five gold.”

“I pay five gold to the innkeeper for a room,” Dan said. This move got Eugene to break his stare at the table and look up at Dan, surprised. Ned gave him an enthusiastic thumbs up while Lester looked disinterested and kneaded Sarah’s leg.

“I stroll up onto a table, with my lute in hand and begin to play,” Dan said, moving his little figure on the table. “I target the Maiden Val as my rich voice captures the attention of the room. My song has a strong charm effect, and it’s a song of seduction.”

“What?” Lester snapped.

Greg hid a little smile, “...okay. Roll Performance check.”

Dan grabbed the dice off the table and rolled an 18. Greg nodded. “You passed. Val finds her loins stirring, and she leaves Dar the Barbarian and saunters up to listen to Cassius’s performance.

Dan leaned forward, “I seduce her with a song.”

Greg peered at him over his cardboard sheet, “...okay. Roll Performance.”

Dan rolled the dice. It landed on a twelve.

“Pass,” Greg said with a knowing look to Dan.

“I charge at the bard with my sword drawn, to impale him,” Lester said, breaking the turn order but casting the dice anyway. It rolled a sixteen.

“Sorry, it needed a twenty,” Greg said. Lester slapped his hands down on the table.

“My song makes the cleric disrobe,” Dan said and rolled an eight. Sarah raised her eyebrows, looking at Dan with a playful look. She put her hands on his, stopping his die roll. She stood up from the table and unknotted the belt holding her robe together. She let it drop to the floor, standing completely stark naked before the group of assembled nerds.

There was a sharp intake of breath from several of the men. Lester slammed his hand down on the table, but no one’s eyes diverted from Sarah’s body. She swayed seductively to a song only she could hear, her curves and movements mesmerizing the assembled men.

Dan threw his die onto the table and said, “I take the cleric upstairs and fuck her until the morning.”

He didn't even look at what the die roll came back as. He stood and grabbed Sarah's hand and pulled her from the room, down to his vacated bedroom. He locked the door behind them, threw Sarah onto the bed and crawled in after her.

"What just happened?" Ned muttered, tucking his boner up into his waistband and looking around at the rest of the group.

"Lester's getting cucked, that's what happened," Eugene chuckled, "Cucked by the bard!"

Lester balled his hands into fists, clutching the little miniature figure in them. He shook and stared down at the table as Eugene's comments and laughter rang out. He seethed. In the same way, when girls in high school had made fun of him all those years ago. Before he'd learned he could take what he wanted.

"UHMHMMMM," A wanton moan echoed from down the hallway, making the men grow still. Lester abruptly stood, knocking his chair over in the process. He stomped away from the group, disappearing down the hallway.

"Did Silverstrings really just do that?" Ned said, eyes wide. "I...I should have tried that...do you think she would have..."

"I don't know," Greg said as he debated whether to pack up the board and pieces for tonight, "I've never seen Lester so angry."

“Of course he’s angry. His hot girlfriend finally came to her senses and traded up. Jesus Christ, just listen to them going at it.” Eugene chuckled.

“UHHMHMMM. FUCK,” Sarah’s sultry screams could be heard from where the men sat. Ned looked out of sorts as he tried to focus on anything but the sound he could hear. “I can’t wait to post about this on the subreddit,” he said to himself.

Eugene stood and started down the hallway.

“W-where are you going?” Ned said, reaching out to stop him, but he pulled his hand back when he noticed Eugene’s erection tenting his sweatpants.

“Gonna see if I can get a closer look,” Eugene said, walking away from the table and down the hallway. Greg couldn’t look up. He started putting the cardboard and the other pieces into the box.

“Did he really pass on those checks?” Ned stammered, awkwardly trying to sit to conceal his own boner.

“Yeah,” Greg lied, finishing packing the box. He might not have done that if Lester weren’t so mean to him. Still, he hadn’t expected anything in real life to happen.

“Dan... what’s gotten into you?” came Sarah’s words from down the hall.

Lester pounded on his bedroom wall, trying to get Sarah's attention. How the fuck could she do this to him? Sweat dripped down his back, and his face was flushed. He wanted to scream and hit something. He closed one eye and peered into the peephole, only to be rebuffed by the back of the anime poster he'd mockingly put up when Renee had visited.

But Sarah and Dan ignored his fists. Her moans echoed through the thin walls, and Lester felt the impotent rage he hadn't experienced in decades. He kicked over a pile of dirty clothes and almost chucked his model of the USS Enterprise at the wall, but calmly put it back down. He threw the door open, intending to pound on their door.

He stopped short when he saw Eugene with an ear to the door as he stroked himself through his sweatpants.

"Oh, what the fuck!" Lester snapped. Eugene's eyes went wide, and he stood up, trying to cover his erection. Then he smirked and said, "Sounds like your girl is getting fucked by an alpha male."

"Get the fuck out of my HOUSE!" Lester screamed, stalking towards the older man. Eugene smirked, put his hands up placatingly and walked back to the other room. Greg was holding the box of D&D items possessively as Ned sat there awkwardly.

"Get out!" Lester bellowed; his cheeks felt hot. Greg was already out the door as Lester struggled to catch his breath. Ned stood awkwardly, torn between leaving and trying to help clean up. Another step into the room by Lester made him drop the bowl of chips and dart out of the door. Eugene was chuckling as he pulled the door shut behind him.

Lester spun and marched back down the hall. He slammed his fists against the door, "FUCK."

Dan pumped into Sarah with a renewed energy he hadn't felt in a long time. His energy. This felt like he was himself. Sarah's face contorted in pleasure as he fucked her. His feet were planted on the floor as Sarah ground herself against his cock, lying on her back on the bed. Dan grunted, hands mauling Sarah's shapely naked breasts.

It had been invigorating to expose Sarah to the group of nerds like that. And it had also been like a shot of heroin to steal his wife away from Lester in front of them. Sarah's pussy clenched around his dick.

Dan was aware of the pounding sounds at the door, but neither he nor Sarah stopped to care about them. Her legs wrapped tightly around his waist, urging him deeper and deeper. Dan hadn't felt this alive since he'd fucked Tricia in the office. Sarah's hands clawed at him, desperately needing to feel him.

A primal sense to fuck his wife surged through him. He gripped her toned thighs and thrust into her. She pulled him down by his shirt, their tongues swirling around each other. Desperate energy coursed through them as the pounding continued at the door.

Eugene howled in laughter, "Did you see the look on Lester's face? Dan is my new hero. I think I'm going to name my next character after him. Dan the Daring. Dan the Dastardly. What a legend."

"Lester was really upset," Ned said, fingering the elevator button for the tenth time. Greg clutched the box of D&D supplies possessively, his eyes on the floor. "I've never seen him so mad."

“Yeah, it was awesome,” Eugene said. Then, in a lower voice, he whispered, “How about those tits? Jeezus, Sarah has a fantastic body. I hope she comes to the next D&D night. I’ll make sure to spec in some love spells.”

Greg silently shook. Ned said, “I forgot how to breathe. Literally. When she dropped that robe, my body stopped breathing. We really should record our sessions.”

“Amen to that. It happened too fast. I want to see those globes again,” Eugene held up his hands in front of his face, groping the air and flicking his tongue up and down. The elevator dinged, and before they could step in, a nondescript man walked out, paused and looked at Eugene sucking on a pair of pretend breasts. Ned nudged Eugene in the side. The older man just laughed and pushed past the guy, then stepped onto the elevator. Greg and Ned followed after him, Ned hammering the closed door button.

The man watched the elevator door close and headed back the way the men had come. His eyes darted to the apartment numbers until he stood in front of the one he’d been searching for. He pulled a toolkit from his pocket, looked up and down the hallway, then pulled out a small snake-like device and plugged one end into his phone. He knelt, pushed the camera end under the door, and looked into the apartment.

Lester Marshall was pacing back and forth, holding a trembling bowl of Cheetos. He furiously shoved them into his mouth. The man’s brow furrowed as he watched the scene. Where were Dan and Sarah Williams? Their car was in the parking lot, they wouldn’t be anywhere else but in this apartment.

He pulled the snake free and put it back in his toolkit. Before he sent an update to Marcus, he’d stick around a bit longer and see what developed.

“It’s been a while,” Sarah said dreamily from atop Dan’s chest. She was wearing just the stark white sheets as she lay with him. Dan’s hands were clasped behind his head, feeling yet another victory.

Sure, having sex with his wife wasn’t something to celebrate so strongly, but he couldn’t help but smile. Life was on the upswing, and after tonight, they were done with this shitty apartment and Lester for good. Things were looking up. He couldn’t wait to see Lester’s ugly face as they strolled out of here and out of Lester’s life for the last time.

“It was long overdue,” Dan said, stroking Sarah’s back. He smiled and kissed her head. They lay like that for a while, just enjoying each other’s bodies. Lester had stopped pounding on the door at some point. Dan didn’t remember when.

“Dan,” Sarah said softly, “Are we going to be okay?”

Dan hesitated for only a second before answering, “Yeah. We will. We just need to put all of this behind us. It’ll take a bit, but I think we can be stronger than ever.”

She kissed his chest and nuzzled into it, “I hope so.”

“I know so,” Dan said, his fingers grazing her naked back. He wanted to lie with her forever. But the bed was uncomfortable, and the sheets itched. And the sooner they were out of this hellhole, the better.

“We should get out of here,” Dan said.

“Do you want me to get off you?” Sarah said coyly, her hand brushing his chest.

“No,” Dan said, “But I do want us to get out of there. The sooner we’re away from all of this, the better.”

Sarah pushed herself into a seated position, her blonde hair flowing freely down her naked back. She swallowed and nodded her head, giving Dan a smile that didn’t quite reach her eyes, “You’re right. Let’s go.”

Dan swung his legs off the bed with a groan and began grabbing clothes. He pulled on his boxers, then his pants and shirt. Sarah was still sitting there, completely naked.

“Uh, babe, aren’t you going to get dressed? Or do you want to walk down to the car naked?” Dan asked.

Sarah rolled her eyes and pushed herself off the bed, standing stark naked before him, “A charming bard disrobed me with his song in front of the whole tavern, remember?”

“Ah, yeah,” Dan chuckled, “Your robe is out in the living room. What about your clothes?” Dan moved towards the door.

“Lester’s room,” Sarah whispered. Dan froze with his hand on the doorknob. He’d hoped not to have to interact with the short, weirdo again. Having his last memory of Lester be ineffectively banging on the door would’ve been nice.

“Alright, give me a second, I’ll get your robe,” Dan said. He pulled the door closed behind him. Lester’s door was thankfully closed so that he couldn’t hear any rumblings or gaming noises. It was dark, probably the middle of the night, and the fat bastard was fast asleep.

He went to the living room but couldn't find Sarah's robe. The table was still set up, but everything else was missing—no nerds, no soda, no bowl of chips and Cheetos. Something moved out of the corner of his eye, and Dan swore he'd seen something at the bottom of the door. He stared in that direction for several seconds, but it must have been his sleepy mind playing tricks on him.

Unless Eugene or one of the other nerds had taken Sarah's dress as some kind of jerking off aid, there was only one place in the apartment it was. He stared daggers down the hall at Lester's closed door. Even when Dan had gotten the upper hand on the smug bastard, Lester still had a card to play, knowing full well they wouldn't leave without getting Sarah's clothes.

Hell, Dan was tempted just to have her leave naked and not have to play into his roommate's plan. She could wear his clothes for all he cared. We went back to his old room and cracked the door. Sarah stood there, arms crossed over her breasts, trying in vain to hide her nakedness.

Dan's eyes scanned up and down her body briefly, and he felt the surprising urge to go for round two. He quieted that voice and said, "The robe and the bag of your old clothes are gone. Lester probably has it in his room."

"Of course he does," Sarah said, pulling the door open, "Wait here, I'll get them."

"No, I'm gonna come with you," Dan said. She shot him a questioning glance, "I don't want to leave you alone with him."

"I'm a big girl, Dan, I can handle myself," Sarah said, letting her arms fall from her breasts.

“I know. It’s just that Lester seems to have a way of convincing you to do what he wants. Earlier, you didn’t have to come out wearing that robe. We could’ve just left. But you still did what he said,” Dan whispered.

“I did that because you said you had a plan,” Sarah said in a low voice, “I figured it had something to do with teasing those boys.”

“Whatever. It all worked out, right? Let’s just go in and get the clothes.” Dan said, walking up to Lester’s door. He tried the handle, and it didn’t budge. Locked.

He raised his hands to bash on the door the same way Lester had been doing earlier, but Sarah gently grabbed his wrist and shook her head. She softly knocked and said, “Lester. Are you awake? We’re leaving, but I need to get my clothes. Can you open the door?”

Only silence came from the other side of the door. Sarah gently knocked again and repeated her message. This time, slow, plodding footsteps could be heard approaching the door. Dan braced himself.

The door was pulled open, and his short, ugly roommate stood there very naked. Dan regretted that his eyes dropped to Lester’s member and immediately looked up at the ceiling. His brain told him that the brief moment of the appendage he’d glimpsed confirmed that Lester was packing and that his dick was semi-hard.

He finally looked down from the ceiling when he realized no one was talking. Sarah’s breasts were rising and falling rapidly as she stared at Lester’s face. His eyes were roaming over her body as he slowly licked his lips. It finally dawned on Dan that both of them were naked. Lester’s dick began to harden in front of them until it was jutting out like a steel rod pointed directly at his wife.

Dan's throat went dry. His jaw was opening, but no words were coming out. He hoped Sarah would speak for them, but her mind seemed to be doing a hard reset. He began feeling like a third wheel again, doomed to spectate as this troll ravaged his wife. Dan clenched his fists until the nails dug into his palms, and he stepped forward, "We're leaving. Just give us Sarah's things."

"Leaving, huh?" Lester raised an eyebrow to Sarah, "What happened to our rules? Our throuple. I thought we were in this together."

"That's all done now," Dan stated flatly, pushing out his chest a bit. Lester didn't seem to be intimidated; instead, he stepped back and gestured for them to enter his room.

"Just give us the clothes, Lester," Dan said.

"As you can see," Lester gestured to the floor covered in piles of dirty clothes, "there are lots of clothes in here. You're going to have to be more specific. Scratch that, actually. I don't really care enough to get the clothes. You can pick them up yourselves."

Dan stepped into the room, eyes scanning the piles of garbage and clothing on the floor, looking for anything that might be feminine. He was about to take another step in, but realized Sarah was still standing at the threshold, naked. He looked back over his shoulder and saw Lester turn and whisper something to Sarah.

"Nope," Dan said, "Not happening."

He grabbed Sarah's wrist and pulled her into the room with him, shooting Lester an irritated glare. He turned to his wife, "Alright, what were you wearing earlier? Do you see it? Let's grab it and go."

The door shut behind them with an audible click. Dan turned to see Lester pressing his back against the door. “Lester, what the fuck do you think you’re doing?” Dan asked carefully, stepping around a pile of plates littered on the floor.

“I’m closing my door, what does it look like?” Lester shot back.

“Open it. Now. We’re getting our things and leaving. We’re done with all of this. Done with you.” Dan said. Lester shrugged and opened the door a crack, technically following Dan’s command. “Is that right?” Lester said, his hand going to his cock while his eyes feasted on Sarah, “Sarah, is this true? You’re done with this?”

Lester shook his cock to punctuate his sentence. Sarah stayed uncharacteristically quiet, seemingly torn between them. Dan squeezed her hand. She returned it and looked at him. He saw the uncertainty in her, yes, a stark contrast to the determined woman from earlier.

“Yeah, we’re all done,” Dan said.

“So hostile,” Lester chuckled, “Well, if this really is the end of the road. I’ll be sad to see you two go. It’s been a lot of fun after all.”

Dan kept scanning the room, looking for Sarah’s clothes, “Fun’s one word for it.”

“Oh, don’t be like that, Danny-boy. At least, don’t lie to yourself. We both know you enjoyed watching me fuck your wife. Whether it was in this bed, in your bed, in the car, wherever. You stroked yourself to completion so many times that we both know it would be a lie to say you didn’t enjoy it.”

Dan stiffened at Lester's words. Sarah's nipples stiffened as well.

"I gotta say, I never thought it would end like this. It's a bit anticlimactic, isn't it?" Lester said, stepping towards them. "Shouldn't we go out on a high note? One more memorable night? Instead of going out with a whimper, we should go out with a bang. What do ya say?" Lester licked his lips, looking over Sarah's body. His cock was hard and jutting out towards them. Dan gulped at the sight of his wife standing here in this filth, naked, with this short troll of a man openly feasting on Sarah's body.

She broke eye contact with Lester and slowly turned her head to look at Dan. He could see it. The lust in her eyes. The desire for this ugly man. It didn't make any sense. A stray, betraying thought crept into Dan's mind, asking him Would one last night really change anything?

Dan felt himself waver. He was staring hard at Sarah's eyes, trying to figure out how to convey his feelings without speaking out loud. He hesitated, and something passed between them. A glint of recognition in her eye. An understanding.

Sarah turned to her husband, "Dan, you've been so great today. Protecting me from the bad men and being there for me, and with me. You took me into your room and made me yours. I think you deserve a reward. Something I know you want really, really badly." She'd begun to move as she spoke to him, bending slightly to express herself, letting the droop of her breasts catch the eyes of both men.

"And Lester, you do kind of have a point," she glanced down at his erect cock. "After all that's happened here, all we've been through, it does seem kind of... unfinished without a proper goodbye." She'd stopped bending and now her chest was heaving. A drop of precum leaked from Lester and stretched a gleaming thread as it fell from his cockhead.

Dan's chest tightened, a war inside between his desire to escape the confines of the apartment and his need to watch Sarah perform.

As she faced Dan, she licked her lips in anticipation, a gesture eerily similar to Lester's. She broke eye contact and turned to Lester, "One last time. One last night together. You're going to fuck me like it's the last time you'll ever have me. Give me the best fuck of my life to remember you by."

Dan's heart hammered in his chest, his knees going weak. Lester flashed him a smirking, arrogant smile, and he crossed the dirt-laden floor and possessively pulled Sarah into his untuned arms. She groaned when his cock, dripping with precum, touched her skin, pressing hard into her. Lester enveloped her in his flabby, hairy arms and dipped her as a dancer would. For Dan's sake he made a show of running his hands up Sarah's naked body before he roughly grabbed the back of her head. He slowly licked his thick lips. Dan's breath caught in his throat when his wife again unconsciously mimicked the motion. The fat man slowly lowered his lips to hers, and at the last second before connection, Dan saw her lips open, allowing Lester's foul tongue into her mouth.

His wife moaned into the deepening kiss, her body seeming to melt into Lester's body, pulling on him with desire. Her hands ran over his pale skin, reaching down immediately and grasping his cock. She groaned again, wrapping her delicate, French manicured nails as far around it as her fingers would let her.

Dan's mouth was dry as he tried to swallow. What the fuck did I let happen? The genie was out of the bottle again yet...he knew he could put it back in. But he felt his brain and body disconnect. Lester's hips started humping forward, jutting the precum-soaked tip of his cock against Sarah's thigh. It inched higher and higher, leaving a sludge-like trail in its wake.

Dan's foot inched forward. If he said something, would they stop? Would Sarah? She didn't stop the last time he told her to on the phone. Did Dan want her to stop? His head felt foggy, and he couldn't think straight. He kept blinking over and over, breathing harder and harder.

Sarah eagerly stroked Lester's cock, desperately against herself, smearing his creamy pre-cum onto her skin like some kind of fucked up moisturizer. They stumbled back until Sarah's bubble but pressed against the edge of Lester's low bed.

The analytical part of Dan's brain noted, not for the first time, how the bed seemed to be at the perfect height for Sarah's luxurious behind. Lester edged himself forward, splitting Sarah's legs apart. Sarah still held onto his cock, lining it up with her opening and running it up and down her slit. Lester's oozing pre-cum mixed with Sarah's juices. She was thrusting her chest against Lester, her body desperate for him to fuck her. Their heads continued to wildly thrash from side to side as they hungrily kissed, moaning their lust for each other.

Dan saw flashes of entwined tongues and lips in the rapid motion, Sarah's beautiful blonde mane moving so quickly it seemed to blow in the wind. Sarah's hand grabbed Lester's cock tightly, stroking herself with it. Then she lowered it and juttied herself forward. Lester held his hips still and broke the kiss. Sarah breathed heavily, looking up at him with a look Dan could only describe as love and adoration. His heart broke. Again.

Lester smirked at Dan over his shoulder and nodded, "Take a seat, champ."

Sarah blinked, looking at Lester, then turned to follow his gaze. She seemed to look through Dan, blinking hard, struggling with recognition. Dan's leg bumped into something that slid back—Lester's gaming chair. Sarah's gaze pierced him, and his legs went weak. He fell back into the chair, scooting it back so it bumped the desk. The monitors came on, casting a light blue glow over the copulating couple in front of him.

Lester was still smirking at him, while Sarah's body writhed in need. "Hey," Lester chuckled, "Remember when you both used to insist on condoms?"

Before anyone could reply, Lester bent his knee and thrust forward, the head of his cock disappearing into Sarah, “UHHHHH.”

Her fingers latched onto Lester’s hairy shoulders. She moaned as Lester fed her his giant cock. Dan watched inch after inch of Lester’s cock disappear into the loving mother of his two children. Sarah groaned in pleasure. Lester’s fat ass cheeks jiggled as he pumped more and more of his swollen cock into Sarah. Her legs wrapped around his oddly proportioned body, pulling him in deeper.

His fat tongue lapped at her collarbone, her fingers running through what was left of his thinning hair. “Uhhmmmm...ffuuuuckkk,” Sarah groaned, her bottom lip hanging over her chin, sucking in air.

“Ohfuck Lester,” Sarah moaned, kissing his balding, fat head, “Uh, uh. Ah... Uhh..Mhmmm...fuuuuhhhhhh.”

Lester glanced wryly over his shoulder at Dan, that shit-eating grin still plastered on his face. Sarah tugged at his body, her head thrown back, a mask of pleasure covering her face. Lester sneered, “I didn’t hear her making sounds like these earlier. Guess that’s what happens when you send a boy to do a man’s job.”

“Dan wants you to be louder,” Lester whispered, “Don’t hold anything back. Show him what we’ve been working on.”

“Uhhhh...Mhmmmmmm...god yes, Lester,” Sarah moaned, finger nails raking across Lester’s back, “Fffuck.”

Dan gripped the chair’s arms, having his out-of-body experience. It had been a long time since he’d had a front row seat to this horrid affair. Lester began picking up the pace, his fat hips beginning to jackhammer his cock into Sarah. Each thrust elicited a hearty grunt of pleasure from her. Gone were the soft, pleasurable moans from Dan's session with his wife earlier. Even her screams sounded different. More animalistic. Primal.

Dan felt like he was watching a wild-animal mating ritual on the Discovery Channel. Lester's fat sausage fingers grabbed onto Sarah's thighs. He pulled on her legs and pumped his pale naked cock into her. Sarah fucked him back, her bubble butt rocking against the bed, thrusting her body back onto Lester's unyielding cock. They ground against each other as if it were a competition for dominance.

"Fuck. Ohhhfuuck," Sarah moaned, throwing her hair back and screaming at the ceiling. Lester snarled and grabbed the back of her head. His fat tongue was already sticking out of his mouth as he pulled Sarah to him. Her mouth, still parted from the moan, took his writhing tongue inside.

"MHMPHMMM," Sarah moaned, eyes flying open at the sudden invasion. Dan's heart sank. Her eyes looked at the fat man in front of her affectionately, almost lovingly, as she closed them and melted into the wild kiss, her mouth and body moving with a passionate fury that Dan had rarely seen.

The headboard slammed against the drywall. Their bodies rocked against the end of the bed, making the bed's legs slide across the floor. Dan opened his mouth, but nothing came out. Sarah was lost in bliss, seeming to have forgotten all about him.

Lester broke the kiss with a groan and dipped Sarah back onto the bed. She moaned as her body touched the soft blankets, and she pulled Lester back into a frenzied kiss, her ass lurching off the bed as Lester slowly fed the entire length of his stiff cock back into her.

“Mmmhmmmm,” Sarah groaned, raking Lester’s back with her fingers. Lester’s stubby body knelt on the bed, his mass entirely covering Sarah’s tight body. The fat gut around his waist pressed down into her, making it hard for her to breathe. Sarah whined under him. Dan’s eyes were fixed on Sarah’s attractive calves as she dug her heels down into the bed, flexing them, and ground herself as she desperately tried to arch herself up to meet her lover’s anxious possessive thrusts.

Lester broke the kiss, leaving a gasping Sarah panting below him. He looked over his shoulder and shot a glare towards Dan, daring him to do something, anything. Dan’s nails dug into the arms of the chair. He felt something stir in him. He was about to get up.

Lester emphatically pulled his cock back all the way to the head and slammed his entire length back in with all the force he could muster.

“UHHHMHMMMMMMMHMMM,” Sarah moaned, the sound reverberating through the room, followed by lower, softer groans of pleasure that rocked Dan to his core. His legs went limp, the words in his throat a jumble of nothingness.

“UH. UH. UH. UH. UHHH. UHHH. UHHH,” Sarah’s moans echoed off the walls as Lester continued to crazily pound into her repeatedly. She arched her back, her bare breasts pushing into his chest, gleaming with sweat.

“UH. FUCK....LESTER....MHMMMM,” Sarah moaned, her ass flying off the bed to meet his relentless thrusts. “UHHMMMM.”

Sarah clamped her eyes tight. Dan watched in horrified fascination as her lips formed the perfect ‘O’. He watched all the muscles in her body go taut, feet digging into the mattress, toes curling as his loving wife came.

An incandescent shower of explosive pleasure erupted inside of Sarah and overwhelmed her senses; her concept of time and space didn't matter anymore as her body drowned itself in the sensation that only Lester's massive cock could give her. Lester smirked down at her as he pumped his hips forward. He licked his lips, ran his hand down Sarah's thighs and grabbed onto both of her delectable ass cheeks. He collapsed down on her and humped into her at a rapid pace like some kind of fucked up sputtering slug.

Dan's stomach twisted at the sight. A mass of sweaty, hairy wan skin engulfed Sarah's entire body. The only thing he could see was her head and her legs jutting out from under his disgusting body. Her feet weren't planted on the bed anymore. Lester held her ass up, lifting his wife off the mattress as he pounded into her.

Sarah groaned in wheezing pleasure, crushed under Lester's weight. But she didn't want it to stop. Her head lolled to the side as she struggled to breathe, struggled to catch her breath from the blissful orgasm still radiating through her. Struggling to breathe from the oncoming tsunami of a second, thanks to Lester's new angle, and his rapid, ceaseless fucking.

"OH...OH...OH.....UH...UHH," was all Sarah could utter through wracked breaths. Her lungs burned under the strain of Lester's weight. Dan couldn't move. Just watched as Sarah's legs kicked out and his wife started another back-to-back orgasm.

"FFFUUUUU," Sarah's scream seemed to rattle the walls. It reverberated in Dan's ears, seemingly settling there and threatening never to leave. When her scream trailed off into a desperate whimper, her heavy breathing was the only thing left making noise. Until Lester began to thrust into Sarah again, and the wet, slapping sounds of colliding flesh rang out. She threw her head back, her eyes seemingly amazed that the sex was still going this intensely.

Lester was whispering something in Sarah's ear that Dan couldn't hear. He leaned forward in the chair, straining to try and catch a word, but all he heard was a throaty purr from Sarah. It seemed to echo in her chest.

With a heft, Lester pushed himself up, and Dan could finally see his wife's body again. Drenched in sweat, either hers or Lester's. What made him wince was the dark curly hairs clinging to her breasts and torso, transferred from Lester's body. His normally prim wife didn't seem to notice or care. Her breasts were too busy rising and falling rapidly as she struggled to catch her breath.

She struggled up onto her elbows, her body looking like it was ready to collapse into the bed. Her hair was a mess, and sweat ran down her face. She blinked, her eyes searching the room. Lester pulled his cock out of her with an audible 'splutch.'

Her eyes finally settled on Dan, her face blank of recognition for a few seconds before saying, "Dan...what are you doing?"

Dan swallowed, thinking hard. His lips finally made word shapes and said, "W..watching."

"You should be doing more than that," Sarah said, licking her lips the same way Lester did. It unsettled Dan. He didn't respond, his brain racing against a sea of testosterone and neuro chemicals.

"Take out your dick for me," Sarah said, biting her bottom lip. Lester grunted and heaved himself off the bed, repositioning himself. Sarah looked back at him, a wicked smile on her face, and shakily climbed onto her hands and knees. Lester knelt behind her, one hand on her hip, the other on his throbbing cock as he gently stroked her pussy lips with it.

"Mhmmhmm," Sarah moaned, wiggling her ass back, searching for a connection. Her heavy eyelids opened again, piercing Dan's, "Take it out. I want you stroking it for me."

Dan shimmied out of his pants, his dick already tenting his boxers underneath. Sarah looked at the boxers with derision, and he quickly lost them too. His hand was already on his dick, the feeling of his palm a much-needed sensation compared to the strain of himself against his pants. His cock twitched at the sight in front of him, and Dan felt as if he stroked it much more; it was going to explode all over himself.

“Okay, Dan,” Sarah breathed hotly, “Show me how much you like this. How much do you want to keep watching me...UH.”

Her sentence broke off as Lester pushed his cock into her. He only put a couple of inches in, then pulled it all the way back out, and slowly fed her his entire length. Sarah’s head dropped to the bed in recognition of his building cadence, a mass of blonde locks showering down around her face.

Lester kneaded her hips with his pudgy sausage fingers. His sweaty gut sat atop her perfect bubble backside, but like a quivering blob that stared angrily at Dan. It was such a fucked up sight to see his wife shaking with desire, thrusting back against such a horrid creature, while her jaw hung open in half pain-half pleasure as she struggled to breathe.

Lester had a permanent sneer on his face and an expression Dan couldn’t quite place. Something was lurking there, beneath the surface, that he didn’t recognize, but it felt threatening.

“Sarah, my love,” Lester said hoarsely, sweat dripping down his fat skull. As he slowed his thrusts, eliciting a whimper of need from Sarah. She raised her head, her eyes partly visible through the blonde curtain of her matted hair.

“What?” Sarah breathed heavily.

“Have you and Dan discussed which room is going to be the nursery?” Lester drawled slowly as he deliberately pumped in and out of her. Dan swallowed.

“Personally, I’m in favor of you side sleeping. You know, making sure it’s there in your bed every night,” Lester chuckled and locked eyes with Dan, “What? You haven’t discussed this at all? Buddy, you’d better get prepared for what’s coming in nine months.”

WHAP

He slapped Sarah’s ass cheeks, sending a ripple through them. It rippled through his gut, making a sickening wobble. “Ah, Sarah grunted, fingers digging into the mattress. Lester licked his lips, “And you. You better get ready for what’s cumming in a few minutes.”

Dan didn’t like what Lester was doing. Didn’t like this sick fantasy of his. To impregnate Sarah. It crossed a boundary. Even though part of Dan shook at the very idea. His whole goal tonight was to shut Lester down. With a dry throat, he said, “She’s on the pill. It’s not happening.”

Lester’s smile grew wider. Dan again saw something darkly sinister behind his eyes, but still couldn’t quite identify it. Lester ran his hands lovingly over Sarah’s body and said, “Maybe.”

He left the words hanging in the room. Dan’s mind tried to puzzle together what he meant by that. Sarah hadn’t seemed to hear him. Her face was a mask of pleasure as she ground herself back against him, sucking in little gulps of breath.

Lester's hand snaked up Sarah's back, grabbing her by the hair at the nape of her neck. He balled her pretty blonde locks into his fist and yanked up. Sarah's head snapped up, glossy eyes locking onto Dan's. She looked like her mind was far away.

"Maybe the pills won't work," Lester said slowly, his naked cock thrusting in and out of Sarah. Driving deep inside of her at this glorious angle, hitting places inside of her that only Lester had ever touched. It felt like a hot, veiny steel living rod impaling her, and she craved more and more of it inside of her.

"You hear those stories all the time. Condom breaks. Pills fail because of medication. Vastectomies well....life finds a way," Lester said in a slow, deliberate voice. His face turned into a grimace, his thrusts growing more and more urgent.

"What do you say, Sarah? Should we stop? What if none of that works? What if your pills don't work? What if I start shooting real cum into you? Flooding you with it," Lester grunted, yanking her hair, reaching around with his other hand and mauling her naked breast. "Are you going to stop?"

"No," Sarah panted, answering far too quickly for Dan's comfort. "No," she repeated.

Lester licked his lips. He was pistoning machine-like in and out of her now. Sarah was opening up, moaning, her throat sucking in air faster than her lungs could process it. "You'd let me cum in you? Flood your fertile womb with my potent seed?"

Dan wanted to roll his eyes at the way Lester spoke like a neckbeard incel. But all he could do was swallow, hearing his wife's lewd admissions. It was hard to dispute his words when he had his cock this deep inside of Sarah.

“Yes...fuck,” Sarah moaned, her arm muscles tight as she ground her palms down into the bed and pushed her body back onto Lester’s invading log of a cock. “I want your cum to explode inside of me. I want to feel it. All of it.”

“Even if it knocks you up?” Lester grunted.

Sarah’s body shuddered, and for the first time, Dan saw pleasure and acceptance on her face. The curl of the corner of her lips as she smiled. In that moment, he truly doubted that Sarah would actually stop this if there was a chance Lester could impregnate her. The idea of Lester’s seed flooding into his wife and seeking her egg made his cock involuntarily twitch, and a stream of precum dripped out of it. He loosened his grip on it, worried it would go off at the slightest provocation.

“Ummm...uhhhh...yess...” Sarah breathed rapidly, wanting to say anything to keep Lester inside of her. To keep this amazing feeling building inside of her. “I want it. I want it to knock me up. I want you to put a baby in me, Lester.”

“You want me to fucking breed you. Say it,” Lester snarled.

“Breed me, Lester,” Sarah panted. She urgently thrust herself back into him, revelling in the feeling of his cock battering against her cervix, even moving past it and dragging over her sensitive nerve endings, “I want you to breed me. Fucking breed me, Lester.”

Lester raised his eyebrows, his smile growing wider than Dan thought possible. Wider and even more sinister. Lester’s eyes flicked up to Dan.

“What about you, Dan? You want to see me breed your wife? Breed her right fucking in front of you? Knock up the woman you love and made your wife? Impregnate the mother of your children? Flood her with my heavy seed? Huh?”

Dan's heart hammered in his chest, and his cock twitched. He couldn't breathe. The room felt small. It felt like it was closing in around him. Everything seemed to spin. Sarah's urgent grunts and groans were too much for him. Flooding into his brain like erotic heroin that he needed more of to exist.

"Cat got your tongue, huh?" Lester sneered, "You just gonna sit there while I cum in her aren't you? This is your moment, hero. This is your chance to stop me from impregnating Sarah Williams. And you're just going to fucking sit there and watch as she gets knocked up. Knocked up and begging for more. Aren't you, you little cuck? Watch your wife get bred."

Dan couldn't move. He couldn't breathe. It was all happening so fast. There was too much to process.

Lester yanked on Sarah's hair, pulling her head back up. She winced and let out a yelp. Lester licked up her back as sweat dripped from him onto her. "Look at your husband, Sarah."

Sarah's eyes lazily locked onto Dan. They flittered over the quivering dick in his lap and onto his conflicted face, "Watch as the man you love sits idly by, as you get knocked up by his disgusting roommate. Watch as he lets you get bred. Watch as he absolutely wants it to happen."

"Ohhhh," Sarah's face contorted at Lester's words. They were pushing her over the edge. She felt the pressure and warmth rapidly building inside of her, convulsing into something gigantic. "Ohhhlllester."

"Tell him what's about to happen, Sarah. Tell him what he's letting happen," Lester panted.

“Ahhhhmmmmm Dan.....Dan....he’s...he’s going to cum in me,” Sarah whined in fervent anticipation. “He’s going to fucking knock me up. He’s going to breed me. Breed your wife.”

“Unless he stops me,” Lester whispered the primal challenge to the room. Dan felt an oppressive heat radiating from the enjoined couple in front of him. It threatened to wash over and suffocate him. Part of Dan wanted to protest, but he was already too far gone. Immobile. What the hell happened to me?

“Ohfuck....” Sarah groaned, her eyes locking with Dan’s. “I’ve always wanted a son... Lester...” Dan swallowed. Getting a vasectomy had been logical, the right decision. They could give the girls a better life. Another baby would have been expensive. That’s why they’d done it. Why he’d done it. But he knew part of Sarah had wanted to try for another. A boy. A boy, he never gave her.

“I’ll give you a boy,” Lester grunted with a sneer.

“Fuck...Lester...please,” Sarah whined.

“You have maybe thirty seconds,” Lester said, his hands possessively roaming Sarah’s body, groping, mauling her ass cheeks. “Before I fucking unload into her. Before my heavy balls flood her with my baby batter. I dare you to stop me.”

Dan’s fingers were gripping the arms of the chair, nails digging into the leather. His dick twitched in his lap.

“He’s hard as a rock, Sarah. Look at his dick. He wants this. He wants you to be bred. Pathetic.” Lester sneered. Dan’s vision blurred, his face red-hot.

“Pathetic,” Sarah repeated, chewing on the words for their taste. Breathing was getting hard for her. Her own orgasm was rapidly building, and all conscious thought was starting to slide out the window. “Breed me, Lester. Fucking give me that cum. I need it. Make him watch.”

“Ughhh,” Lester groaned, “Squeeze it, baby. Milk all the cum out of me. Work for it. Show Dan how much you want me to breed you.”

“Yes, Daddy,” Sarah huffed. Dan’s heart twisted hearing that word from her lips. The word that had so many connotations. But his heart twisted further as she followed it up with, “Make me pregnant, Lester. Give me your baby. Fuck it into me. I want to feel it grow inside me.” She was actively thrusting her open cunt back onto the sweaty brute.

“Heh,” Lester licked his lips and pushed her head down into the mattress, “You’re about to get a deluge of Lester DNA into your unprotected pussy. Milk it out, baby. The pills aren’t gonna work, and neither is the snip.”

“Give it to me. Flood me!” Sarah squeezed her pussy around his veiny pulsing shaft. She felt his heavy, hairy balls slam into her. Her body started to burn with an intense white hot fire, and part of her knew, deep down, that this was truly an act of mating. Dominating Dan while she was bred in front of him. Stealing something away from him that would never be returned.

“FFFF-ffuck LESTER BREED ME,” Sarah cried, tears rolling down her cheeks as he pumped his full length into her in rapid succession. Lester sneered at Dan, “Too late, little cuck. She’s gonna get a big load of me.”

Lester turned his attention back to Sarah and said, “Here it comes, baby. Take it.”

“AAHHHUUHHGNMMMMMMMMGMMMMMMMM,” Sarah cried, her pussy holding onto Lester like a vise, milking him decisively as his veins began to pulsate. Liquid hot cum sprayed out, drenching her insides in Lester’s virile, disgusting cum. It splattered against the walls of her pussy. She milked it thoroughly, taking it deeper as she came. Fireworks exploded behind her eyes, and burning heat coursed through her, igniting her world on fire that burned hot with pleasure. She quaked, her own body convulsing and thrusting back onto Lester’s invading cock. As he came, her body rabidly squeezed and sucked more and more of his illicit seed, deeper and deeper inside of her. She cried out as another nuclear orgasm eclipsed the first, sucking the air from her lungs.

Her world spun, and time seemed to lose all meaning. Her world was just a wave of rippling pleasure she wanted to ride forever. Primal pleasure. Of biological functions succeeding.

Her eyes rolled back in her head as she collapsed into a messy heap on Lester’s bed, consciousness slipping from her grasp. Lester grunted and fell onto her before rolling off to the side, the large mast of his cock sticking up into the air, glimmering with their shared drooling juices.

Dan slumped in the chair, his dick quivering in front of him, cum running down its sides and pooling on the surface beneath him. He’d cum all over himself. His dick, exploding on its own accord. He felt weak, in more ways than one.

His brain was still fogged up, looking at the sweaty bodies tangled on the bed in front of him. It tried to grasp comprehension but failed. He sat there, alone as both Lester and Sarah’s breathing took on the familiar cadence of sleep. He looked down at his lap, disgusted with himself and slowly, weakly got to his feet and went into the bathroom, cleaning himself up.

When he was done, he looked into the room at the sleeping couple. His mind was a war of hate and self-disappointment. He'd been sucked in, just as he promised himself he wouldn't be. His body was exhausted, and sleep called to him. Sarah was already out, a sleeping mess after Lester's insemination. He didn't want to wake her. Didn't want to face whatever look she'd hold in her eyes. He didn't want to see the disappointment, the hurt, or the naked contentment.

He fell into his own bed and let sleep take him.

Niko snuck back into the living room after Dan disappeared into his room. He quietly left the apartment and prepared himself to report to Marcus.

Sarah woke him when the sun was already coming in through the window. She was dressed, and there was a mix of emotions he couldn't properly read.

"Ready to go?" She said quietly, almost hopefully, that he'd say no. Dan sat up and couldn't meet her eye.

"Yeah," he said to the flood, his voice coming out weak and tired. He cleared his throat and repeated himself. They gathered their things, Sarah, at some point having found her belongings in Lester's room.

They made their way to the living room, where Lester was waiting for them with a shit-eating grin on his face. Dan wanted to punch him, but felt somehow smaller than the short, pudgy man in front of him.

“We’re leaving,” Dan declared, leaving no room for argument or discussion. “We’re done. Don’t contact us.”

He squeezed Sarah’s hand, hoping to instill strength into both of them. She didn’t squeeze back.

“Oh, I don’t think so,” Lester said far too casually.

Dan flung open the door, and Sarah was right behind him. She looked back and forth between Dan and Lester. He squeezed her hand again, this time to be reassuring. He needed to get her out of this apartment. Out of Lester’s clutches.

“We’re done. Fuck off,” Dan said, pushing the memories of last night out of his head. He tried adding steel to his voice, “Last night was a mistake. It’s not happening again.”

“Want to bet on that?” Lester sneered. A wide, evil grin spread across his face, and he held out a cellphone, showing Dan the screen. Dan squinted, not wanting or caring to see whatever Lester was showing him. Sarah gasped.

Dan squinted and took a step back. On the screen, Sarah was begging to be bred on her hands and knees as Lester plowed into her from behind. Dan watched himself sit pathetically in the computer chair. Watched as Lester roared and came inside his loving wife. Watched as Dan’s own cock betrayed him, standing on end as it quivered and cum spurted out of it.

“Now,” Lester said slowly, “Let me tell you how things are going to go.”

Toxic Attraction Ch. 42

“What the fuck?” Dan blinked, staring at Lester’s outstretched phone screen. His brain took a few seconds to register what it was he was seeing. Sarah, Lester and himself on the screen. Dan’s face felt red hot, looking at how pathetic he was sitting in Lester’s chair. “What the fuck?” Dan repeated, trying to break himself out of his mental loop. Lester chuckled and pulled the phone away as Sarah tried to reach for it. He casually strolled back into the living room, leaving Dan and Sarah standing at the open door. They stood frozen in place for what felt like an eternity as their brains tried to fit these new pieces together. Lester slumped back in one of the chairs, completely disregarding them, eyes down in his phone. They had been so close. Dan’s foot had almost crossed the threshold, leaving the apartment for good. But now he was hovering at the door with Sarah at his side.

“What the hell, Lester. Delete that,” Sarah hissed, taking a step into the living room. Dan’s stomach twisted, and the image of a bear trap jumped into his mind. “Lester, are you listening to me?”

Lester just thumbed his phone like he hadn’t heard her. There was a noise out in the hallway. They could be discovered. Dan couldn’t bear to glance toward the noise and reluctantly shut the door and engaged the lock. He saw a smart smile flash across Lester’s face, as he did before it quickly disappeared. “Look,” Sarah said professionally, calm, supporting her voice. “I understand you’re probably upset about us wanting to end things like this. We didn’t give you much of a heads-up. I know you’ve grown attached, but recording us like that, it’s not okay.”

“You’re completely right,” Lester said, looking up at her. Sarah’s shoulders seemed to relax a touch.

“Then fucking delete it,” Dan snapped. Sarah shot him a hard look over her shoulder, urging him to calm down and let her handle it. She steeled her face before turning back to Lester.

“Lester. Please, don’t have us end things like this. I’ll always look back at our time fondly. More than fondly. But if we end things like this, it will ruin it for me. Forever. Can you just delete the video, and we’ll pretend it never happened?” Sarah said, putting a hand on Lester’s leg as she sat at the table.

Lester sighed and again said, “You’re right.”

“Can you delete it then, please?” Sarah said softly. Dan hovered behind the couch, watching the interaction, stomach twisted at how soft and familiar Sarah was talking with this asshole. His eyes were glued to where Sarah’s hand gently rested on Lester’s fat thigh.

Lester played nervously with his phone and asked, “Are you really leaving? For good.”

Sarah shared a glance of uncertainty with Dan. He nodded. Something colored her face, but she put on a smile and turned back to Lester, “Yes.”

Lester held his phone towards her and made a show of deleting the video. “Thank you, Lester,” Sarah said, gently rubbing his leg. “And delete it from the trash folder,” Dan said. Lester shot him an annoyed look, thumbed through his phone, and repeated the deletion process. “Thank you,” Sarah said softly.

“One last kiss? Before you go?” Lester sounded pathetic, and Dan wanted to punch him. He couldn’t believe Sarah would fall for this. But without looking at her husband, Sarah leaned forward and pressed her lips to Lester’s. It was soft and drawn out. Not hungry. Almost loving. Dan’s stomach twisted further. Sarah broke the kiss with a smile and left Lester sitting there. As Dan turned to walk with Sarah to the door, Lester sneered, “That’s just the one copy.”

“Excuse me?” Dan spun to face his shorter, dumpier roommate and narrowed his eyes, “What the fuck did you just say?”

“I said,” Lester stood, squaring his shoulders and looking more imposing than he had any right to be, “That I just deleted a copy. I have that video and more backed up. Locally and in the cloud.”

“Lester....” Sarah started before Dan cut in, “Are you serious? What kind of fucking game are you playing right now?”

“Deadly serious,” Lester smirked. He was enjoying this. Enjoying how irate Dan was getting. Dan felt like he was playing right into Lester’s hand. “And I’ve been playing this game since the first fucking day you emailed me to see the apartment.”

Dan balled his hands into fists at his side. Before he could step forward, Sarah was between them, stopping him, “Lester, what are you talking about?” Lester rolled his eyes, “You two sure are fucking dense sometimes, aren’t you? That video was just the tip of the iceberg. Think back over all our lovely times together in this apartment. All those orgasms. All those late nights?”

Realization dawned on Sarah's face, "No...you...Lester...no...that's not..."

"Not what? Did you just think I was some disposable incel man you could throw away whenever you wanted? You two have been dancing on my fucking strings since the jump," Lester chuckled. "Man, this part is always so much fun."

"I'm going to kill you," Dan seethed, stepping past Sarah. He rounded the couch and grabbed Lester by his shirt and pinned him against the wall, "I've been wanting to hit you for so long, and now you've finally given me a reason to."

"Oh, was fucking your wife senseless and making her cum harder and more often than you ever could not end—"

Dan threw a haymaker into Lester's gut, sending the pathetic little man sprawling onto the floor. Dan was ready to hit him again, but Sarah held onto his arm. Lester wheezed from the ground, struggling to catch his breath as he clutched his gut.

He groaned and sat back in a seated position against the wall, looking up at them, "Your friends, colleagues, any recruiters you use, your mother, fathers, siblings, nephews... internet strangers. How will they react to the videos? Hm? Wonder what your friends at your fancy new job will think."

Dan cocked his hand back, and Lester laughed, holding his gaze, "You know how many times you've complained about work in this apartment? About colleagues? Your little clients? Poof. Gone." He snapped the finger of the hand not clutching his gut.

"What do you want?" Sarah's voice shook. Dan couldn't tell if it was from fear or betrayal.

"Well, first Captain America here is going to sit down and finally understand what his fucking place is," Lester said. He held his side, pushing himself up the wall into a standing position, staring up at Dan. Dan shook with rage, fist still clenched and cocked back.

"You going to hit me again? Go ahead. Even if you kill me, last night I made sure everything will be sent to those you respect and love unless I stop it. And keep stopping it. Let's see how tough you are when you get fired from your new job, and neither of you can find work for the next fucking decade." Lester said.

Dan shook with unbridled fury. Against every fiber of his being, he lowered his fist back down to his side. Sarah stepped in front of him, "Lester...don't do this...what do you want? Why are you doing this?"

“Because I can, and why not?” Lester said. Lester pointed to the couch, “Sit down, Dan.”

Dan didn’t move.

“Now,” Lester snapped.

“Let’s sit,” Sarah whispered, grabbing onto Dan’s arm and guiding him to the couch. He thought the leather might melt under the immense amount of rage-driven heat his body was throwing off.

“So what? You just manipulated us, all this time? Manipulated me into sleeping with you?” Sarah said, hurt plainly evident in her voice. “Yes and no,” Lester said with a grin, “But don’t expect me to start monologing like some two-bit villain. I hate that trope. Honestly, it’s so cliché, and I’m not a hack. All you need to know is that you belong to me now. Both of you. So your little ride off into the sunset is cancelled, capiche? Good. Glad we understand each other.” Lester left them sitting there, minds racing to understand just what the hell was happening. From the hallway, Lester called back, “Sarah, whenever you’re ready, darling.”

Before either of them could ask what he meant, Lester’s door shut, leaving the couple completely alone. Dan stared at the electrical outlet in the wall, recognizing, for the first time, the small slit where a camera hid. He’d seen these devices before. He’d bought similar ones and installed them in his own house. His own bedroom.

“Godammit,” Dan muttered, feeling like the biggest mark in the world. He should have seen this coming. He’d seen the red flags. He’d known something wasn’t right. He’d even confessed this to Sarah. But they both had still gone along with it. Sarah had fallen deeper than he had but still... What the fuck... “I should have seen this coming,” Dan muttered to himself. Sarah looked shell-shocked. Not crying, not upset, just numb. “Are you okay?”

“I don’t know,” Sarah chewed her bottom lip. She absently picked at her nails like she had a new nervous tic. “I don’t know what I’m feeling.”

“Me neither,” Dan said bitterly. He put his hands to his face and groaned into them. “The sick fuck is probably watching us right now.” Sarah stopped picking her nails and crossed her arms over her chest, ineffectively trying to shield herself. Dan looked at the apartment door. It felt so far away now; moments ago, they had been ready to cross over it, “I just want to go home.”

“Me too,” Sarah said softly. She gulped and stood, not looking at her husband.

“What are you doing?” Dan asked, trying not to look at the camera, where he knew Lester was enjoying watching them. He caught sight of another outlet with a hidden camera and felt the sea of rage boil inside of him anew. “I’m going to get us out of here,” Sarah said quietly. “I’ll go see Lester, and then we’ll go.”

“What?” Dan asked, “What do you mean? Why...”

It clicked into place, and Dan’s stomach dropped. Sarah, his beautiful wife, leaned in for a brief kiss before pulling away. He watched her disappear down the hallway and desperately wished he had punched Lester way harder than he had.

Lester gleefully watched the monitor in front of him. Watched the downfall and submission of Dan Williams, the once proud and strong father, reduced to putty by someone he looked down upon.

“Oh joy,” Lester hummed to himself before shoving a handful of Cheetos into his gullet. Sarah’s lithe body moved gracefully down the hallway towards his room. He watched, with one eyebrow raised, trying to discern the emotions plastered on her face. She tried his door handle, but he’d locked it, just in case Dan had further ideas of heroism. There hadn’t been a delayed sending mechanism; he just needed Dan to back off and not hit him again. Lester didn’t like physical confrontation; it was beneath him. He silenced the part of his brain that reminded him of the violence of too many unpleasant memories growing up.

Lester hefted himself out of his computer chair, wincing at his stomach in the process. He opened the door and gestured for Sarah to come inside. She gave him a hard look but had no hesitation as she stepped back into his lair. Lester locked the door behind her, eyes trailing over her tight jeans and white t-shirt. She’d snuck out of bed before he could give her another deposit, and he was ready to rectify that.

“You’re disgusting,” Sarah said, holding her arms as she looked at his monitor. The screen was split with different camera feeds, and Dan sat on the couch in the upper corner. Lester didn’t feel the need to hide this side of himself.

“And yet you’ve let me fuck you and cum in you over and over,” Lester said, stalking through the piles of refuse and debris towards his prey. “Begging, pleading, even demanding.”

“That was before I knew about all of this,” Sarah gestured to the screens, her eyes lingering on Dan. “Before I knew what a fucking creep you were.” Lester laughed hard enough that he winced at the pain coming from where Dan had punched him. He kept chuckling, "Oh that's funny. Did you forget about my cameras? All over the apartment. I'd sit here and listen to you and Dan shit talk about me, talk about how pathetic and how much of a loser I am. How much of a creep I was. Yet that didn't stop you from spreading your legs and letting me stick my cock up your married pussy did it?" Sarah's hand connected with Lester's cheek, leaving a large red mark. He felt it, momentarily disbelieving that she'd actually struck him. Sarah regarded her hand with wide eyes in a similar sense of disbelief before uttering, "I'm sorry."

She stood up straighter, "No, I'm not sorry. You've been lying to us and making porn of us this entire time."

"How many times have you let me record us? Huh? You're not this much of a prude," Lester sat on the end of his bed, crossing his arms over his gut. "You know that's not the same thing, Lester, so don't pretend it is," Sarah snapped.

"I know what the real issue is here," Lester said with a 'tsk', stepping up to Sarah. She didn't meet his eyes and took a step back. Lester knew it was time to press and did so, "You feel betrayed, that I lied to you, deceived you, but that's not how it is at all."

"How is it then? Sarah shot back, her eyes finding his. Sarah flinched as Lester cupped her cheek. He held it there anyway, "It-it's because I'm falling in love with you, and I think you love me too, and I was afraid to lose you. I thought you were about to walk out of my life. So I got desperate and wanted to show you the real me. All of me. Finally." Sarah opened her mouth to say something, but closed it. Perfect, Lester thought. Keep them off balance. Keep them guessing, conflicted. Never able to ground themselves.

He stroked her cheek with his thumb and saw the uncertainty as she tried to process his words. Distraction, misdirection. "I thought Dan was going to take you away from me," Lester said. Sarah opened her mouth to say something, but Lester sealed it shut with a kiss. He felt the tension in her body. Her shoulders rise up, her eyes open, her muscles flex. He ground himself into her, his body pressing against hers, his tongue probing her lips. The tension in her body eased as she melted into the insistent kiss. Lester smirked internally and pulled her tighter against him, encircling her body with his flabby arms. He pulled her against his gut and felt her knees give a little.

Lester pressed his advantage, increasing the passion of the kiss. Lips, tongue, speedily overwhelming her senses. He ground his lengthening cock against her. Lester's tongue trailed down to her sensitive spot on her neck. A soft moan escaped her lips.

His hands roamed over her body, grasping, groping. Chubby fingers on her ass, pulling it forward while he ground into her from the front. Hairy knuckles dragging over her chest, kneading and grabbing her breasts hard, the way she always responded to.

“Lester...” Sarah panted. He didn’t give her the chance to finish her sentence, silencing her with his tongue. He humped against her. She moaned into the kiss, her own tongue sliding into his mouth, roiling over his. He took her hand and guided it down to his sweatpants-clad cock. She moaned again into his mouth. He didn’t even need to make her grab it; her little fingers failed to circle around his shaft as she began rubbing him through his pants. He needed to keep up the offensive. In one fluid motion, he pulled down his sweatpants, letting his cock fly free. He thrust forward, pressing the shaft against Sarah’s open palm, his cock head pressing against her stomach.

Sarah sucked in a sharp breath, Lester’s meatstick urgently hammering against her. Need rapidly began to overtake her. She gripped his shaft as much as she could. It was warm. Its veiny underside pulsed in her palm, tamping down logic. Lester thrust determinedly, and she stroked him. She knew how those thrusts felt. Reasoning began to dissipate.

Lester spun them until Sarah’s bubble but was braced on the end of the bed the way it had been the night before. She knew what the path to pleasure was from here. It was a well-worn route she longed to travel. More. She needed more like last night.

Lester’s leg spread her knees apart as he continued to hump against her, pushing himself into her hand. He was towering over her now, and Sarah felt enclosed once again by his mass, taking up most of her vision. Lester thrusting grew more desperate, faster and faster. His cockhead slid into her palm, leaving a greasy trail of precum before it jutted out and hit her in the stomach.

Her other hand dropped from his shoulder and found his hairy balls. Her delicate fingers teased them the way she knew he liked. Part of her brain screamed at her to get her shit together. To focus. But she couldn’t remember what she needed to focus on. She didn’t want to focus on that because it would veer her off this path to pleasure.

“I need you,” Lester whispered, voice dripping with desperate energy. Sarah kissed him back, licked him back, her body and mind in sync, trying to communicate how much she needed him too. “I love you,” Lester repeated over and over as he kissed her. The words danced in Sarah’s ears, touching something in her. Opening something in her and filling it. His hairy hand was on her ass, and he tugged it forward. Tugged her towards him. He tugged again, and her perfect jean-clad bubble butt shifted off the end of the bed, and gravity took her. She slid down, gasping and disappointed, away from Lester’s slick lips. His hand travelled up to the back of her head.

She lazily opened her eyes and looked straight into the angry, pre-cum dripping slit of Lester’s cock. Her hands hadn’t left his balls and shaft. Sarah let out an involuntary moan as she stared it down, her own hands moving like phantoms with their own minds, stroking and teasing the massive member. Cum gloobed out of his cock and fell down onto her white shirt. She was breathing hard, mouth dry. She licked her lips. Lester smirked at how transfixed Sarah was by his cock and did the only logical thing. He thrust it forward into her face. Her grip tightened on his shaft, now with both hands. He speared her in her cheek. Sarah turned her head, opening her mouth wide and took his thick cockhead into her mouth, letting a guttural groan escape from her throat and dance along his cock. Lester smiled, gleefully at the way her lips parted. At her moan, the wet warmth of her mouth as she began to suck him. Began to suck his cock literally minutes after he fully revealed himself. Lester chuckled, looking over his shoulder at the monitor. Dan was ineffectually pacing in the living room now, pausing every so often to stare down the hallway. Get comfortable asshole, Lester thought. Sarah was lovingly worshipping his shaft.

“Mhmmmmhmm,” Sarah moaned, sending vibrations into Lester’s cock, “Uhmhmmmmmm.”

The sounds were like music to Lester and evidence of how far Sarah had fallen under his thumb. He held himself still while she sucked and stroked him. Both hands moving in perfect unison, abilities that would make a concert pianist red with envy.

Sarah twirled her tongue around his shaft, letting its weight settle on her as she lapped at it. She pulled her mouth off and started licking and sucking down his shaft between her furious hands. Lester grinned, watching as the young mother made sure his cock was perfectly lubricated for her hands to glide up and down his shaft.

Lester put his hands on his fat hips, letting Sarah take her time, worshipping his cock with abandon. This is what he’d been training her for. Overwriting of what she should do, falling back into well-worn routines within her mind. Neural plasticity in action. She gripped her shaft as tightly as she could with her fingers and stroked Lester’s monster cock. She gulped, her mouth salivating as she went back to licking around her hands, licking every thick fucking inch of Lester’s shaft. She went further, her nose tickling against the coarse hair of his ballsack Her tongue whipped around like a hurricane, washing over his unkempt balls, slathering him in her saliva. Lester groaned in satisfaction, grinning from ear to ear as Sarah bathed his balls with her tongue. She was on her knees, devouring him just a few minutes after he’d revealed himself, and Dan sat limply in the living room.

He ran his hand through Sarah’s hair, her blonde locks flowing between his fingers. He brought his hands to the base of her skull, giving her a gentle massage, and she moaned, tongue delving deeper into the jungle of pubic hair. Lester flexed his fingers around the base of her skull. Sarah's body tensed up at the joy of pain, her fists reflexively gripping his shaft tightly in response. He didn't let up. She thrust forward, his cock pushing through her fists, fucking her palms.

"Uhmhmmmm," Sarah's throat moaned. Lester pulled her head towards him, her face disappearing into his pubes. He thrust up while pushing her further down. Her tongue lapped out, dancing along the underside of his balls. Lester pushed forward again, and Sarah fell back slightly, holding onto his cock so she wouldn't fall all the way back to the floor. His balls were in her mouth; she sucked and licked, still holding onto his shaft, jerking it up and down. Lester was bent over like a troll, holding onto Sarah's head as he fed her his balls. He pushed forward, her tongue lapping up against his coarse pubic hair, venturing further down as he pushed. He could hear her muffled moans from under his taint, her tongue swirling around as Lester was bent over, groaning openly. She tried to catch her breath, but Lester redoubled his efforts, pulling on her face, pulling her deeper into his undercarriage until he felt her tongue swirl around his asshole, making him shiver. The lewd act made Sarah's body squirm with pleasure as she moaned into his ass. Her hands were still jerking him off with abandon. Lester bent down further, sending his asshole against Sarah's lapping tongue. She quivered and shook, a mix of revulsion and arousal coursing through her. Lester pulled her hair into a tight fist, forcing her back off his asshole, her tongue dragging over his skin, past his taint to the other side of his coarse balls. She had a second to gasp for breath, straining to open her eyes, blinking hard in time to see Lester's dripping cock spearing towards her. She didn't have time to open her mouth as the cockhead rammed her succulent lips. It pushed forward, prying the mother's lips apart before inch after inch of it disappeared into her mouth.

Sarah's hand reflexively squeezed the shaft, trying to push it back, and the other slapped Lester's thigh. The fat man redoubled his grip on the back of her head, pulling her mouth onto his cock as he fed it into her mouth. "Gaalaalkk," Sarah's voice made inaudible sounds as her spit was forced back by the invading cock. She struggled to get her touch under it, her lips strained wide trying to accommodate his size. She held back her gag reflex as his cock head pressed into her throat. Then the cock pulled back, giving her an instant to breathe through her nose before it rammed itself back in, bruising the back of her throat.

"Gaaallk," Sarah's throat sounds like a saliva-soaked chew toy,
"Gaallkk...Gaaalkkl...Gaallkk."

Lester held her tight as he fucked her throat. He revelled in the tears forming at the corners of her eyes, in her fingers tightening and then slowly relaxing, giving in to his needs. He felt the shift, Sarah's head started to bob on its own in his hand as he force feed her his cock. He couldn't keep the smirk from his face. He grabbed her by both sides of her head, stepping up to straddle his legs over his chest and fucked those pretty lips. Her throat and mouth made the most interesting sounds accompanied by soft, inaudible moans as he body responded on the floor below him. She peered up at him, through watery eyes, with a primal desire to please him. Lester's fingers pressed into the sides of her head as he speared her mouth, driving his cock back down into her throat. Sarah stifled gags as saliva poured down her face. Lester's heavy, hairy balls hammered her chin. With disappointment, he pulled his cock all the way out, and Sarah turned her head, gasping for breath. Her breasts rising and falling rapidly, her lungs burning with fire. The room spun around her due to the lack of oxygen. Lester wasted no time. He hefted her up onto the bed, stripped her of her jeans and tore her white panties off at the hip, making her squeal. Sarah was still breathing hard, wiping tears from her eyes; the room was still spinning, and stars were dotting the edges of her vision. But she felt Lester line himself up with her.

He grunted and pushed himself inside of her. Sarah gasped, her legs going up reflexively, spreading to give her lover better access. She had to spread further to accommodate his large gut and wide frame, but she managed to wrap her legs around his hips. Pulling him inside of her. Her lungs still burned, and she couldn't catch her breath. "Uhhh.....uhhhhh....hmmmmmmhmuhhhhh," her breaths came out in half-moans, half-struggles for air. She blinked, putting her hands on Lester's hairy chest as her brain tried to process everything. Little by little, more oxygen flooded through her veins up into her skull, and she knew Lester was close. He was humping into her with abandon, sweat already cresting his brow. She stared up at his ugly, panting face and for a horrified moment her skin crawled knowing this cretin was inside of her. Until she felt him touch places that no one else had ever touched, besides him. Nerves she hadn't known existed came to life, begging for more. She squeezed his cock and felt him shudder. She licked her lips, hands running over his skin to grab the back of his head and pull him down into a sloppy, urgent kiss. His fat tongue swirling through her mouth as his hot breath gasped and washed over her skin. Lester broke the kiss, pushing himself up by his flabby arms. His hands pinning her shoulders down to the bed as he rammed himself into Sarah, splitting her open. She knew what was coming. She'd seen him like this before. She knew he was close to his end. She felt the urgency in his movements, her body desperately slamming up off the bed to keep up with his thrusts, getting herself close. But his cock was impaling her to the mattress, pinning her there for his pleasure. She squeezed around him, feeling his naked shaft. The powering, thrumming veins running up it as his cock head engorged itself inside of her. "Ohhfuckk," Sarah groaned, licking her lips. Her throat was dry and bruised, and she struggled to suck in more air. "Fuckk. Mhmmmm. Lester." Lester's eyes flicked to the screen, smirking. Dan had heard her moans. Lester's eyes snapped back to Sarah, intensity burning down into her. He was focused and determined, and Sarah's body responded, arching her back so her breasts pushed against the fabric of her bra, giving her a little agonizing tease. She wanted to feel him. Feel his naked, fat body pressed against hers. She arched, straining, trying to get close to him, but he held her down in place as he power fucked her.

“Uhhhhh...Mhmmmm....Oh....Uh....Oh....uh...uh...uh...” Sarah’s mind and body were disconnected. Her body was in control, moaning for Lester, moaning for the impending orgasm she was working herself up to, “Lester. Close. So close. Fuck. God fuck.”

“Let him hear you cum,” Lester growled as sweat dripped off his nose and onto Sarah’s lips. Her tongue snaked out and took it into her mouth greedily. “Let him hear how you still cum on my cock, even after everything you learned today.”

Lester started to hammer her with abandon, his cock pounding into all her sensitive places, rearranging her insides in the process. Sarah’s moans rang out, and she knew her husband could hear her. There was no way he couldn’t. No way he couldn’t hear her wails of pleasure as Lester pistoned his massive cock inside of her. Her eyes started to roll back, and she wasn’t registering the sounds she was making anymore. Her vision started to go white as her orgasm clawed its way up inside of her and thrummed, pulsating and colvusing in her pussy, becomoning Lester’s cock further and further into her, radiating out into the rest of her body in hot flashes that seared her irsies.

Lester grunted, loud and purposely, letting himself be known as the conquering lion as his balls burst. He kept hammering into Dan’s wife as his cock exploded, shooting load after load of hot, sticky cum deep into her fertile pussy as she milked it out through her orgasm. Her pussy convulsed, pulling more and more of his acrid cum deeper into her. Her body shook and clenched itself around Lester, tears streaking down her face.

“Ughhh,” Lester grunted and pumped two final times into her before collapsing on top of her. His heavy frame was crushing her body while his cock held her in place. Sarah was already struggling to breath but now her lungs were compressed and couldn’t inflate.

“Lester...” Sarah wheezed out, “Can’t breathe.” With a groan of annoyance, Lester rolled off of her, his cock spinging free with a wet pop. Sarah’s lungs fully inflated for the first time in what felt like forever. She blinked back tears, looked at the beached whale next to her, and felt revulsion wash over her. The thoughts of what he’d done were slowly seeping back into her. She sat up quickly and felt the bastard seep out of her.

“I’m leaving,” She said to herself, grabbing her clothes and heading towards the bathroom. Lester didn’t chase after her. He just groaned and turned on his side, watching the cameras as Sarah tried, futilely, to clean herself in the bathroom. His boys were too deep for that to matter.

He watched her rush into the living room and exchanged short, heated whispers with Dan.

“I’ll see you two real soon,” Leste called out. Dan cast an angry, cuck like glance at one of the cameras before leading Sarah out of the apartment.

Lester laid back on the bed, hands behind his head, enjoying the feeling of someone seeing him for who he truly was. It had been a long time. He smiled to himself. He owned them now, more than he ever had. ***

To put it mildly, Renee was spiralling. Her gut was twisted into knots about what she’d done. About cheating on her husband. After decades of being faithful to him, she had slipped. Slipped hard in that disgusting bathroom stall and gave in to her base desires like a harlot from the bible. And she still hadn’t admitted it to her husband. To her growing shame, she’d even pulled him into a lewd reenactment of her time with Lester, making him take her from behind while she bent over the toilet. And thought about him. That disgusting man who had been Dan’s roommate. She wanted to warn Sarah about who this man really was, but...how could she? How could she without admitting to her daughter the things she’d done with the man? Renee ordered a second glass of wine, resulting in raised eyebrows from some of her friends. One wine with lunch wasn’t something any of them would bat an eye at. But they’d picked up on the way she was drinking like a fish today and not engaging properly in conversation.

They were at one of their favorite lunch spots, a busy cafe by the water where they could sit and gossip for a few hours. This was usually one of Renee’s favorite parts of her week, but her mind wasn’t present. It was back in the dirty bathroom stall with him. And his cock. The word felt dirty in her mind. She pulled back from it while her body responded to the memory. She took a large gulp when the waiter brought her glass, prompting gentle probing questions from her friends. Renee eased back into her practice social matriarch role and brushed them off, leaning more on simply enjoying their company.

But she couldn’t wait to get out of there. Get home and let the thoughts run free, just for a few minutes, while she uncovered the secret toy she’d hidden away from James for years. Let the thoughts run free just for a bit while she took care of herself. Then, like her toy, she could put it back in a secret box and pretend it didn’t exist.

That was her plan.

Her plan fell apart when she spotted Lester staring at her from across the restaurant. He was seated, sipping on a dark soda, then raised it towards her. Her mouth dropped open, and she had to force herself to close it. Her words were colliding. Lester was here. In the same building as her friends. And his slob like apperance made him stick out like a sore thumb. She felt herself slightly shake. This was the worst place he could ambush her. Her friends would ensure that a rumor of her affair with an unkempt, ugly man would spread like wildfire through their close-knit community. He couldn't be here.

"Are you okay?" one of her friends asked, "You look like you're going to have a heart attack."

"I'm fine," Renee tried to get her breathing under control. She was anything but fine. She spiralled further out of control as Lester stood up and started to stalk over to her table. She wanted to crawl into a hole and pulled the hole closed behind her. The room was shrinking, and she couldn't look up at him. She stared blankly at the white table in front of her, worried that even a glance would give her away to her friends. They look over their shoulder and see this gruff, ugly bottom feeder, then glance back at her, instantly making the connection.

Lester smirked and winked at her. Renee's stomach twisted into knots. She thought she was going to crush her wine stem in her fist; she was clutching it so hard. How did he find her here? How did he know where she was? Heat flushed over her chest with each step closer Lester took. But then, he broke away towards a side hall where the bathrooms were located. There had been a purpose to that. A message. He didn't want to intrude on her friends. He wasn't trying to blow up her life. But he was here for a reason, and she needed to find out what that was.

"Excuse me," Renee said, rudely cutting her friend off as she spoke, "I'm going to head to the ladies' room."

"Do you want me to come with?" one of her friends asked. "No, it's okay. I'm sorry for interrupting. I'll be right back," Renee said, patting her friend on the shoulder. She glanced back, making sure none of her friends were following, then proceeded down the hall into the ladies' washroom. All the stalls were empty, and there weren't any holes in the wall. She swallowed hard, went back into the hallway and ducked into the men's room. The stall at the far end of the room had its door open, and Lester stood there waiting for her.

"I knew you'd figure it out," Lester said. Before she could respond, question or demand what he was doing, he disappeared into the dingy stall. Renee gritted her teeth and walked after him.

“What the fuck do you think you’re doing?” Renee hissed, jabbing a finger into his chest. She waved her hands back towards the restaurant, “My friends are here. They can’t know about us.”

“Us?” Lester chuckled, reaching out and stroking a strand of her hair, “You make it sound like we’re having an affair. Is that what we’re doing here?” She slapped his hand away, ignoring his question, “What are you doing? Why are you here? What game are you playing?”

“I’m not playing any games,” Lester said, licking his lips. He reached behind her and pulled the stall door closed, locking it. Renee felt the dingy walls begin to close around her. “I had to make a deposit earlier.” Renee blinked at him, “What?”

“I had to make a deposit, so I didn’t finish getting my dick sucked,” Lester said as if that explained anything.

“You’re disgusting, and you have another thing coming if you think, for one second, that I’m going to —”

“How many times have you touched yourself thinking about me? Huh?” Lester sneered. Renee’s words caught in her throat. Lester chuckled to himself, “Yeah, yeah, I can see all over that pristine little face of yours. Did it hurt? When James couldn’t stack up? Felt empty, didn’t you?”

“Don’t you say his name,” Renee blurted out. Lester just shrugged and started undoing his belt. Renee felt her cheeks heating up and took a step back as Lester’s pants dropped. She rubbed what looked like a tube sock through his stained white underwear.

Lester stepped forward, his fingers pulling down the waistband on his undies. His fat, long cock sprang out, flopping towards her. She gulped, her eyes finally breaking from his mammoth appendage. “I.....we.....”

“Sshhh,” Lester chuckled, “You knew exactly what was going to happen the second you left that table.”

“I didn’t,” Renee breathed, voice wavering.

“You didn’t have to come. You didn’t have to come into the bathroom. You didn’t have to come into the stall,” Lester stepped forward, his cock pressing against her, spearing her back into the side of the stall. His gut followed, pressing into her stomach, holding her in place, “There’s only one thing that happens between you and me in a shitty bathroom like this.” A soft, weak moan escaped Renee’s lips. Lester’s words lanced through her, and she knew, deep down, what she'd been walking into. What she had been walking towards. Lester's grin widened like he could read her mind. Her knees buckled.

Lester's fat hand with its sausage fingers stroked her cheek, and his potato-like head with its greasy hair leaned close to her. She could smell the artificial cheese on his breath before his lips pressed against her, his fat tongue prying apart her lips and salivating into her mouth. He kissed her hard and fast, with wanton desire that Renee craved. He hungered for her as James used to. She craved more of it.

Lester broke the kiss, leaving Renee panting and staring up at him with conflicted arousal. She sucked in a deep breath, her chest rising and falling against Lester's. Her legs were weak, and her head was starting to spin, but she managed to utter out, "Lester...we can't...not here...my friends...I can't..."

"You don't want your friends to see what you look like after you've been fucked senseless?" Lester said. She imagined walking back to the table, her outfit a mess, mascara running down her cheeks, her hair in disarray. She'd be mortified.

Lester's hand left her cheek and played with her hair. His hand settled on the top of her head, and he applied gentle pressure. "That's why you're gonna suck my cock. Then the next time I see you, I'll fuck you rotten." She didn't know what that meant, but her body responded to him, pushing out from the wall to grind against him. She sucked in more air and let him push her down. She slid down his disgusting, fat body, his gut pressing against her face until she was eye to eye with his dripping manhood, jutting out, waiting for her. She gulped at the sight, not having been this close to it since it had been sticking out through the wall in the other bathroom. Lester's beady eyes watched her, clearly entertained by what was happening. Renee's knees touched the cool tile floor, and her instincts told her to shower. But a deeper instinct made her bottom lip fall open. Lester wasted no time.

He gently saw his opening and took it, pressing the head of his cock against the small gap in her lips. Her mouth opened further for him, and she buried thoughts of James and the rest of her family deep inside of her and took another man into her mouth.

"Mhmmmm," Renee immediately moaned around Lester's cock as inch after inch of him dragged across her tongue. It felt so big in her mouth that she struggled, opening her lips wide to accommodate him. It was awkward, but she continued to moan around it. Her body recoiled at the taste of him, like he hadn't showered for days. She didn't know what she should have expected from him but the large cock invading her mouth made those thoughts drift to the back of her mind as his member slid in and out. Her delicate, married hands gripped his shaft. Neither of them could wrap around him. She opened her eyes to see Lester's wide grin as he caressed her cheek. It felt almost like a loving gesture, which was at odds with the rough and careless way he was treating her. Intruding on her lunch, invading her personal space. But she didn't have to follow him back here. He'd been right. She'd chosen to do that. Chosen this.

Her tongue snaked out of her mouth, running it down the length of Lester's hot shaft. Renee trembled, tasting the bitter, disgusting man, but she felt her panties dampen and cling to her. This was so wrong, but it felt like just what she'd been craving. Her body took over, her mind taking a backseat. A passenger watching herself slobber all over this man, who wasn't her husband's cock. Renee stroked and licked Lester, her minty fresh tongue delving down his length, getting lost in the foliage of his ballsack. She suppressed a gag at his coarse pubic hair, pushing through it to find two hefty balls that felt heavy enough to belong on a breeding bull. She trembled at the thought of how much semen they contained. She supposed she'd find out soon enough.

Lester's hand snaked into her hair and yanked her back. She gasped, eyes going wide as he spear his cock into her mouth. Her head hit the stall wall as Lester tried to impale her with his cock. She threw her hands up in protest, pushing against her thighs, but Lester was relentless. Not only did his cock stretch her mouth wide, but he kept pushing forward, nailing the back of her throat.

Renee's protesting hands turned to iron grips on Lester's hair, pasty thighs as she struggled to breathe and accommodate his pace. But somehow, her throat let out a guttural moan at the treatment. A deep, unwavering, primal need for more of what Lester was doing. She revelled in the feeling. Of being treated this way. Her body shuddered again, and she realized that at some point, one of her hands had left his shaft and was between her legs, teasing herself. Shame and heat spread onto her face, but she didn't have time to think about it. Lester was humping against her, battering her forward with his hairy gut while his cock was buried deep in her mouth.

She's heard the nasty term once. Face fucking. She hadn't really pictured what it meant then, but she knew what it was now. Lester was fucking her face, the same way he'd fuck a two-dollar whore. And Renee wasn't even getting paid.

"Mhmm...Mhmmm...Mhmmm," Renee moaned, unbound as her head thumped over and over against the dirty stall wall. Renee sucked in air through her nose, trying and failing to fill her lungs. She needed to breathe. When Lester reared back before a thrust. Renee pulled her mouth free, gasping. Lester thrust forward, his cock stabbing into her cheek and running against her face before meeting her ear. Lester's hands never left her. His hips didn't stop thrusting. He rubbed his putrid Adonis cock against her face, smearing whatever makeup she'd applied. Her own saliva wet her skin as Lester kept up his unrelenting barrage of thrusts. Renee grabbed his cock, as if to slow his face, but all she accomplished was stroking it in time with Lester's urgent thrusts.

She saw his balls heaving, like some kind of alien sci-fi monster from an 80's horror classic and knew that her time was short. "You're throat or your face," Lester said through gritted teeth. He redoubled his grip on her hair, eliciting a wince from Renee as her hair struggled to stay in her skin. Renee still struggled to breathe. The one thought running through her head was that she couldn't go back to her friends wearing a mask of Lester's cum. She breathed hard, opened her mouth and took Lester back inside.

The oversized head of his cock hit the back of her throat and smacked her back against the stall wall. Her hand reflexively squeezed Lester's shaft, and she felt it pulse in her palm. Lester drove his cock forward. Renee felt the head expand in her mouth.

Warm cum shot down the back of her throat. Renee tried to pull back, but Lester held her firm, unloading load after load of his virile seed into her mouth. Renee had no choice but to swallow. And swallow. She feared she wouldn't be able to keep up with it as more and more salty cum emptied out of Lester and flooded her mouth. She swallowed and sucked in a breath around Lester's cock, cum dripped down her chin. She scooped it up before it stained her clothes.

Lester grunted in satisfaction, and his hips seemed to wiggle. He chuckled to himself and slowly dragged his cock out of Renee's mouth, letting her breathe properly. He pressed his cock to his upper lip, and more cum oozed out, running down her face.

She kneeled there, breathing hard as she wiped his cum off her face. Horrified, she splayed her fingers out wide, seeing a web of cum stretching between them. Lester slumped back against the wall, grinning at her like some maniac pervert.

Renee tried to get to her feet but failed. Her knees had gone to sleep. With disgust, she grabbed onto the dirty stall handle and hoisted herself up and stood on shaky legs.

"Don't do this again," Renee said, hating how weak her voice sounded. "Next time I'm going to make love to you," Lester said, still slumped against the wall. Renee's stomach turned at Lester's words, but she was still acutely aware of her drenched panties clinging to her pussy. She left the stall in disgust and regret, chastising herself. Her reflection in the bathroom's mirror stopped her in her tracks. Her makeup was a mess; she'd done the one thing she'd hoped to have avoided. She hurried to the sink and washed her face, thankfully she had some makeup wipes in her bag and did the best she could to make herself presentable.

Lester hung from the wall of the stall door, staring at her like he was about to drag her back in and have his way with her. The idea of feeling his cock inside of her again sent a thrill coursing through her that she was barely able to suppress.

“You’re an asshole,” Renee spat.

“Never said I wasn’t hot cheeks,” Lester chuckled and started to walk towards her. Renee grabbed her purse and dashed out of the bathroom. She took a deep breath as she walked back towards her table. The air was cooler out here. Less oppressive.

“Are you okay?” One of her friends asked as she sat back down. The other women at the table eyed her, likely noticing her change in appearance.

“Yes, thank you,” Renee said, trying to calm her beating heart. She didn’t elaborate or offer an explanation, and her friends moved on in conversation. Renee sat there in a lull, her mind trying to process everything. It wasn’t until one of her friends made a joke that she tuned back into the conversation.

“Uh, look at that guy. It looks like he hasn’t showered in weeks,” her friend said. The women were casting conspiratorial glances across the restaurant. Renee looked up in time to see Lester, dressed like the slob he was, sauntering across the restaurant like he owned the place. He looked in their direction and fired finger guns at their table. The woman all scoffed and turned away.

“What a creep,” one said.

“Like he’d ever have a chance. Such a disgusting man,” another said. Renee sank lower in her seat, trying to hide her reddening cheeks. ***

Without the prison cell of his hospital job, Lester was getting annoyed with the commute between Middleton and Chicago. It didn’t make sense to keep travelling back and forth between the two. He knew he should focus on getting a new roommate. He wasn’t playing as much WoW as he wanted; he kept spending time in shitty Middleton hotel rooms, that wouldn’t be comped anymore. And he hated that shitty small town.

But he’d invested so much in Sarah and Dan. And he was close. Closer than he’d even come to fulfilling his goal of impregnating that young mother. And she’d allow it to happen willingly. Or, at least as much as Lester was comfortable.

He chuckled to himself as the elevator doors opened and he sauntered out into the hallway. He strode down to his apartment, shaking his head at the thought that even after he’d revealed part of himself to Dan and Sarah, he’d still fucked her and left her leaking with his load of cum. He'd lied about so much, yet they hadn't clued in to the fact that he'd never had a vasectomy. It was right there in their faces, but he'd done such a thorough job of presenting them with evidence and layering the lies that he impressed even himself.

His keys jingled as he unlocked his front door. The apartment was quiet, devoid of life. No Sarah. No Dan. He saw it for what it really was. A set. A trap. A fake slice of domestic life meant to lure in his prey and make them feel comfortable. Drop their guard. Let him in. He kicked the door shut behind him and went to the only real area of his apartment. His bedroom. He switched on the light, squinted, and shut them back off again. He dropped his bag somewhere on the floor with the other refuse and plopped down at his command center. Dan had sat in this chair naked. He'd need Ned to come over and clean it for him. Lester shook the mouse, and his screen came alive. Lester's heart kicked into overdrive.

Several windows were open on the screen. Files were moving. Status bars shone, alongside his flashing warning lights. He glanced at his phone; his computer hadn't sent him a single notification. Someone had breached his system. Breached his state-of-the-art network. WHAT THE FUCK! Lester thought. He scrambled, mouse in hand, trying to decide what course of action to take first. How had they gotten in? Who had gotten in? What files were they after?

The images flicked over the screen too quickly for Lester to process. He tried clicking on them, clicking on his Discord, opening his cloud database, but his mouse was unresponsive. So was his keyboard. He kicked his chair back and flopped down hard onto the ground, wheezing at the impact. Lester pushed his large frame under the narrow desk, reaching through the tangled maze of computer wires until he found the power bar. His fat thumbs scrambled around until he found the power button, and he pressed it. The whirling in the computer's fans slowly ceased. Lester lay on the floor, gasping for breath, sweat running down his forehead as the anger bubbled up inside of him.

"Motherfuckers!" Lester said, pushing himself up. His head hit the underside of his desk, stoking his anger further. He crawled backwards, like a seal with its head stuck in a tree trunk. After a brief struggle, he got to his feet and tore his router out of the wall.

He opened Discord on his phone. He'd been signed out. He tried to log in, but it said his username and password combination were incorrect. He tried again. And again. No movement. He tried to recover his password, but the recovery email never reached his inbox.

"Fuck. Fuck. Fuck. Motherfuck," Lester seethed. He booted up his computer, without internet and tried to look through the logs to find out what happened. He needed the internet, though. He needed to check the infrastructure of his dark web operations. His clients. His livelihood. He spent the next eight hours in a Mountain Dew-fueled fever dream, running diagnostics on his machine and his network. It had all been compromised. Everything. Everything he'd built. Accessed, scraped, and in many cases, he was now locked out of a vital area.

He couldn't abide by that. He started burning down what he still had access to rather than let whoever this was access it. He wouldn't be some puppet on a string. And he still had his hardbacks up. "I'll fucking kill them," Lester said, slamming his finger down with each letter on his keyboard.

The attacks were similar to the ones Cronos had attempted before. But much more sophisticated and higher in volume. They'd come from all angles, overwhelming his system's defenses. If he hadn't been out of town playing paddy cake, this wouldn't have happened.

He would have been able to shut them down before they started, live in real time. Was being thoroughly compromised like this worth getting his dick sucked? In the moment he'd wanted nothing more, but he couldn't keep going on like this. He'd fucked up, and now he was paying the ultimate price. ****

Dan's hands were numb. His knuckles white. Despite the car's air conditioning, there was a thin layer of sweat on his forehead. He just stared ahead, out the windshield in a daze as traffic crawled alongside him. He kept gripping the steering wheel, afraid of letting go. Even though his car and those around it weren't moving, he couldn't let go. If he let go, he'd spiral back into that dark place again. The place of no control. Of weakness and submission. Where everyone else decided his fate. The video on the phone played again in his mind. Lester and Sarah. Entwined. He swallowed, trying to push the memory down. He tried to block out Sarah, going again to Lester's room. Going back there, after they'd learned that this fat piece of shit had been recording them since the beginning. Threatened to expose them. Threatened to expose things Dan had done and said in that apartment. There were so many possibilities that Lester could have recorded. And then, her wails of pleasure. Despite the betrayal and reveal, Sarah was still screaming in pleasure, tucked behind the closed door of that obnoxious asshole.

The car in front of him drifted up a few feet. Mechanically, Dan followed suit. His mind was a million miles away from the snarling traffic jam, embedded in the searing memories of Sarah crying out in pleasure over and over again. He pictured his hands. Staring down at them while on the couch, listening to his wife. He could remember them vividly. Empty, not doing anything to stop the situation.

But what could he really do? Lester had maneuvered around them so deftly. What could Dan have done? He'd thought he was getting an edge on the situation. They'd been so close to being done with Lester for good. But it had all been a sham. Dan thought he was finally winning, but Lester had been playing an entirely different game from the start, and Dan wasn't even on the board. And now he was back here, mentally tapped. Going through life like a numb zombie, trying and failing to stop thinking about his failures. He'd seen the concern in Sarah's eyes when he'd left. They'd been close to getting back on the right path towards where'd they been. And now....he didn't know where they were. Adrift in the dark.

He hugged the girls and held the emotions off his face, worried he'd break down in front of them. A few more hours and his plane would be taking off out of O'Hare, and he'd be in Washington. Able to breathe again. The cars ahead of him started to move, and the off-ramp came into view. Traffic stopped again while Dan stared at the ramp sign. He signalled and took it, escaping the slow, immovable traffic. These roads were clear. Dan could move freely again. Decide the destination, not be subject to the whims of others, as he had just been.

But was he really in control? He parked and looked up at the looming apartment building. He took the elevator up, found the familiar hallway and knocked on the door. A beautiful short redhead answered. Dan held her gaze but could feel the curves of her body. Her alluring presence was overwhelming.

"You," she whispered, pulling the door to her, hiding the rest of the apartment from Dan. "Get out of here. What the fuck are you doing here?"

"Lester," Dan breathed hard, grasping at the words as they flittered past in her mind.

Her features softened. "Yeah," she breathed.

"He..." Dan felt himself losing his grip. His body was ahead of him. His shoulders rising and falling with his breath as he tried to piece together a sentence. Anxiety crawled through him. "He was recording us the whole time. He...he wouldn't let us leave."

"That's what he does," Lizzie said quietly, her hands cradling her pregnant stomach. "He's always in control. People like us...he traps us, and then it's too late."

"Why the fuck didn't you fucking tell me!" Dan shouted, making Lizzie jump and take a step back. "I came to you for help. Why the fuck didn't you tell me about him?"

“I tried,” Lizzie seethed, pushing towards him, “I tried. What do you think he’d have done if he knew I told you about him? Hmm? He’d destroy me.” Dan threw his arms to the side, gesturing to the hallway, “You’re already out. I’m the one with him stuck in my life. You’re free of him. Free!” She cradled her stomach and murmured, “I’m not.” Before Dan could parse that response. The door flung open, a man about Lizzie’s age strode out and immediately put himself between her and Dan. “Who the fuck are you?” the man asked. Lizzie tried to grab his arm, but the man shrugged her off. She stepped back, hands still on her stomach. “I’m Dan,” Dan said, trying to de-escalate this situation. “Dan. Whatever. Why the fuck are you here, Dan?” the man said. “Isaac, he’s just,” Lizzie started, but Isaac waved her off. Dan sighed, “I’m leaving.”

“Good,” Isaac said, staring at Dan, waiting for him to make a move, “Get the fuck out of here.”

Dan gritted his teeth and slowly backed away down the hallway, not wanting to put his back to Lizzie’s boyfriend or husband. Isaac stayed in the doorway, waiting for Dan to turn the corner. When he did, Dan quickly went to the elevator and rode it down to the ground floor. He didn’t breathe until he got back in his car.

It had been dumb to go to her. He didn’t know what else to do. He wanted to be angry at someone, but he just ended up mentally berating himself. The poor girl had been terrified. He’d terrified her. He felt like an asshole, but part of him was still angry at her for not warning him when he’d come for help before.

Not that it would have done any good by then. Dan thought. He had already been well into Lester’s web by then. Sarah under his thumb. Things were worse than ever. He didn’t see how it could get even worse. ***

Dan slumped in his chair, rubbing his eyes, trying and failing to focus. This wasn’t what he needed right now. He couldn’t be the guy Gordon and the other execs wanted. He couldn’t be the guy he’d convinced them he was. Convinced himself he was.

He was a mess. His new office was new, and the staff was nice. Everything about his new job and his warm introduction had been nice. But Dan was feigning his way through all of it. Going through the motions. His mind back in Chicago in that shitty little apartment listening to his life fall apart as the trap closed around him at the same time Sarah’s legs opened for Lester.

The screen in front of him was littered with onboarding documents, welcome emails and plenty of other distractions. He couldn’t focus on any of it. Being a bit slow at first would be expected of a new hire, but Dan had been consulting with Sentinel Securities for months. He needed to get his shit together.

Dan was staring, unfocused at the screen, when a knock came at the door. Gordon strolled in with a wide smile on his face.

“First day in the new position and we’re already overwhelming you with SOPs and emails, huh? Don’t worry so much about it, take it a little bit at a time, and it’ll all be fine,” Gordon said with a smile. On reflex, Dan returned the smile, but it didn’t meet his eyes. He drifted back into his well-honed corporate small talk persona, “Yeah. You know how it is.” He ran a hand through his hair, “Just trying to get all this onboarding done and plan out my next steps.”

“Oh, and thanks again for dinner the other night,” Dan quickly added, “Saran and I had a great time.”

“So did we,” Gordon nodded. “Dinner even came with a bit of a show.”

“Yeah, that was weird,” Dan said, feeling his conversational well going dry. “That reminds me. I meant to look more into that guy.” Gordon rapped his knuckles on the desk.

“Really?” Dan said as dread washed over him, “A random drunk merits that much attention?”

“He got close to my wife and I,” Gordon said, “I don’t like that. I want to know who he is, in case he ever gets close to use again. That’s the line of work you’re in now.”

“Yes,” Gordon waved a hand dismissively at Dan’s office, “You’re mostly focused on our infrastructure and new builds, but ultimately we’re all about threat assessment and negating it. You understand that, right?”

“Crystal,” Dan said with a nod.

“Good. Well, I just wanted to welcome you to the team. I’ll let you get back to it,” Gordon said, nodding, then disappearing from the doorframe. Dan immediately slumped in his chair and pinched the bridge of his nose, wondering what fresh hell Gordon would uncover about Richard. Gordon was a smart man, and he’d easily connect the dots to Sarah and the hospital. Dan drifted in and out of bursts of productivity throughout the day. He met new colleagues, was introduced to teams in other offices via Teams, and completed all the onboarding paperwork required by HR. His phone blinked to life, grabbing his attention.

Trisha: Hey, big boy, did anyone give you a proper welcome to the team? I’m talking about a nice, long, warm welcome.

Dan's heart started to beat faster. This might be exactly what he needed. He stifled the debate over whether this was cheating. Sarah's screams of pleasure still echoed in his ears.

He arranged for Trisha to visit his hotel room after work. It was just past six when she knocked on his door, wearing a sexy little black dress that she hadn't been wearing at the office. Dan pulled her inside, slamming the door behind him.

No flirting, no preamble. She was on her back foot as he kissed her, tore at her clothes with his hands until the dress was a crumpled pile on the floor. Tricia gasped, falling back on the bed, dragging Dan with her. He needed this. Need to reclaim how he felt. He'd felt powerful the last time with her and had gone on a tear afterwards. She was the answer, the cure to what he was feeling. This mouth battled each other as Dan pulled off his own clothes.

He wrapped his hand around Tricia's panties and yanked them off. Tricia licked her lips and pulled Dan's belt out of its loops, throwing it across the room. She pulled his boxers down and grasped his dick. Confusion flashed on her face. Dan's heart was beating out of his chest. He needed her. Wanted to fuck her so badly. But his dick was soft in her hands. She gave it a few tugs, trying to will it alive. She moved seductively on the bed, waiting for him. Needing him just as much as he needed her. Thoughts of Sarah and Lester dominated his mind. He stared at his dick, pleading to god to let him get hard.

But it stayed soft. Tricia smirked and got onto her knees and took his dick in her mouth. She made exaggerated and very convincing moaning sounds around his soft cock. Her head bobbed up and down on him. Five minutes later, he was still soft, and she finally gave up. "What's the matter? First day mess up your nerves?"

"Something like that," Dan said, flopping back onto the bed and closing his eyes. "I don't know."

"Well," Tricia said. Dan creaked an eye open. Tricia was getting dressed. "When your dick is working again, give me a call. Last time was something. This time...not so much."

Unceremoniously, she left. There were no comforting words like Sarah would have given him, no reassurance. Just cold, hard reality crashing down around him. Dan left himself drift off to sleep.

At some point in the night, his phone buzzed, waking him. A notification from the camera he installed in the house. It dawned on Dan just how convincing some of the cameras he'd installed had been.

As he fumbled to open the app, he realized that Lester probably had hidden cameras set up all over the apartment, and they'd never looked twice at any of them.

In the dark room, Dan bathed in the light of his phone. Opening the camera app, his eyes went wide.

"I have five minutes, Niko," Marcus said as he hovered behind his office chair. He poured two glasses of whiskey. He took an appreciative sip, then placed the other on the desk and pushed it towards Niko. The wiry man sat in one of the two plush chairs of Marcus' office. "I've already read your update on the Marshall situation," Marcus said, swirling his drink and sniffing it. He took a long pull from it, letting silence fill the room and making Niko wait. "What conclusions do you come to, given all the information?"

"Well, I see it like this," Niko downed the entire glass of whiskey in one quick gulp, failing to appreciate the sophistication of the liquid or its subtle notes. "First, we got big ol'tub of jelly, Lester, right? Now looking back, he always has these sexy little roommates that only last a few months. Why's that? Well, because of what he does to 'em. Now there's them, the couple. Up until a few years ago, upstanding suburbanites, right up until Dan loses his job and gets desperate and moves to Chicago and rooms with Lester. That's then things get interesting. I don't know when or how, but it looks like Lester managed to start fucking the wife and from what I heard, fucks her pretty damn good, making her a scream queen."

Niko put the empty glass back down on the wooden desk. Marcus eyed it, annoyed. There was a coaster right next to where he put it down. The desk was from an old-growth tree. Despite the implied circle the glass might leave, Marcus didn't let his annoyance show. Never let them see what you're thinking.

"Now that's all just dressing, right? Under it all, Lester is some kind of computer whiz. He hacked up even, according to our IT nerds, hacked that hospital Mrs. Williams worked at too. Given that, he's quite an interesting bloke, I'd say. Much more interesting than some of the goons you have me tail."

Marcus nodded along. Niko was great at gathering information and somewhat competent at reaching conclusions.

"That'll be all, Niko," Marcus waved a hand. Niko jumped up from the chair, saluted and left. When the door was shut, Marcus took the glass off the desk and rubbed away any stray liquid. There wouldn't be a ring. Marcus allotted himself a couple of minutes to think on this issue before his next meeting. Lester had been an annoyance, but could be turned into quite an asset. His corruption of the wife seemed to line up quite well with one of the upcoming projects the Lincoln Group was working on. He'd love to have his team interview Lester and unravel his methods. Niko wasn't privy to the IT investigation that Marcus' team had performed. Lester had built quite an interesting presence on the dark web. While there was no doubt that the small, beady-eyed man had ability, he lacked imagination and scale. Something that Marcus aimed to exploit in the near future.

The only question on Marcus' mind was what to do with him. Lester needed to be dealt with for intruding on their networks. But the more Marcus learned, the more interesting Lester became. Should he recruit him? Perhaps empower Dan and aid him in regaining a foothold in his marriage, angling Lester where Marcus could exploit him.

Marcus pulled up a picture of Sarah Williams and let his eyes wander over her form for a few seconds. There were other options too. Personal benefits Marcus could reap.

Decisions. Decisions.

Lester kept his entire system dark. They'd gotten in. He didn't know how far. He didn't know what they had taken. But they'd locked him out of servers and accounts. He couldn't get them back, no matter how many exploits he threw at them.

He was hitting a wall, over and over, and there was nothing he could do about it. He'd let himself get distracted, and now everything he'd built had crumbled. He stayed offline, segregating his computers from the World Wide Web.

There was only one thing he could think of left to do. His car whirled into the Williams' driveway. It was late. He hadn't called ahead. He didn't care anymore. There was nothing they could do to stop him. He wasn't playing the nice roommate, the benevolent boss. This was the real him. He stomped up the driveway and pounded on the door. He grimaced and knocked again, gentler. He didn't want two crying brats awake as he pounded their mother. He didn't need the distraction.

Sarah's beautiful face appeared in the window next to the door, holding a cotton robe around herself. Her blue eyes were wide as she stared out at him. "Let me know," Lester seethed, nodding towards the door. She disappeared. The door unlocked. She pulled it open a crack, staring out at him, "Lester, what the fuck are you doing here? It's late. The girls are asleep."

“Is Dan here?” Lester said, pushing the door open and stepping past her. Lester’s blood was boiling. He wanted to fuck Sarah in front of Dan, make him watch as his wife moaned for him. He needed to take back control, and this was the only way he knew how.

“No...he...uh...had to fly out for work,” Sarah said slowly, looking him up and down, “What’s going on, Lester? Are you okay?”

“No. Not even fucking close,” Lester seethed, balling his hands into fists as he paced in the Williams’ living room. “Not even fucking close.”

“What’s wrong?” Sarah asked, tying the robe’s belt together. Lester’s nails were digging into the palms of his hands. He clenched harder, enjoying the pain. It distracted him. He needed to get back into his servers. To take the war to them. Yet he was here. With her. Why?

He flexed his fingers in and out, his breath ragged. “Lester,” Sarah said, tentatively stepping towards him. He could see the conflict on her face. The war going on below the surface. The push and pull of her emotions. His machinations come to life. Sarah had never seen Lester like this. The strong emotions. He was upset. Was this him showing her another part of himself? A peek behind the curtains? She’d berated herself, over and over, after what had happened in the apartment. How she’s so easily gone down to her knees, how she’d let him fuck her. After everything he’d apparently been doing since she’d met him. How he’d tricked her and Dan. But the more she thought about it, the more she wondered how complicit she was in it all. She gone along with most of it. She’d even let him record her a few times. Maybe it was just Dan he was putting up an angry show for. Competing with him for her. And now he was, visibly upset and pacing in her living room.

She didn’t know what to do. Part of her wanted to kick him out. The other part of her wanted to soothe him and try to make everything okay. She barely knew which way was up anymore. She didn’t know what was right. But she was glad Dan wasn’t here. Not now. Lester needed her. She didn’t want them to fight.

Despite the angry voice berating her from the back of her head, Sarah stepped forward and put her hand on Lester’s shoulder. He tensed, visibly, his eyes seemingly distant, snapping onto her.

“It’ll be okay, Lester,” Sarah said softly, in the same tone she used when her girls get upset, “Whatever it is, it’ll be okay.” She felt the tension melt from his shoulders, his breathing returning to normal. His eyes shifted from the manic desperation he’d just been pacing with to something she recognized. Hunger. His eyes flittered up and down, over her robe-covered body.

A shiver ran up her spine as she watched his transformation. Lester licked his fat lips, and now it was her turn for her breath to come in fits and starts. He reached out, grabbing her robe's belt and firmly pulling it loose. She didn't stop him. Her white cotton robe came undone, revealing her little silk nightgown underneath. She sucked in a breath as Lester's gaze left a trail of goosebumps over her flesh.

Sarah breathed hard and took a step back. She didn't bother covering herself, "You're sick, you know that? I should slap you for what you did to us." Lester's chuckle came out like a warm growl. He stepped forward. She stepped back.

"You weren't complaining while my cock was in your mouth. Or when I was buried inside of you," Lester said, "Even after you learned all of it, we still made sweet, sweet music together. I'm sure Dan enjoyed listening to it."

"You're so fucking fucked up," Sarah turned, walking away into the kitchen. Lester shook his head, following after her. She hadn't thrown him out. He knew it was just a matter of time until her facade dropped yet again. "You lied to me," Sarah spat when he walked in. "Omitted," Lester said with a shrug, "The rest was true. Well, true enough."

"My marriage is at a breaking point because of you, Lester," Sarah breathed, "I don't know if we survive this now, too."

"Oh, stop," Lester said, putting his hands up, "Your marriage is at a breaking point because you're husband is a little cuck, and his wife loves to fuck me. And now he has buyer's remorse. This has nothing to do with it."

"You recorded me. Us. So many times, that's fucking creepy," Sarah shouted. She winced and in a lower voice, said, "It's disgusting." Something about being called creepy irked Lester. He strode across the tile floor, quickly closing the gap between them. Sarah held her ground, planting her feet. Lester pulled Sarah to him, pressing his body against hers and pinning her against the counter.

"You like disgusting," Lester said, his tongue sprawling out of his mouth. He licked her neck, and he felt her stiffen under his touch. "You like getting dirty and crawling in the mud with me. Now you can stop feeling guilty about it with Dan. Now he knows you have to go along with it. It's a win-win."

"I hate you," Sarah said. Except it came out as a half moan, Lester grinding his cock against her. Her silk nightgown was riding her thighs. Her perfect bubble butt was pinned against the countertop as Lester ground into her. He shoved his leg between her knees, parting them, and she sucked in breath. "You fucking love me," Lester growled. Sarah gasped as Lester's hands were on her shoulders, tearing her cotton robe down to the counter where it was pinned between the granite and her body. His tongue was already on her collarbone. Her body squirmed against him, half to get away, half to squirm for more. Her hips squirmed against his cock, and she shuddered. He roughly pushed his leg to one side, knocking her knee away. He stepped in, now firmly between her legs. With one heft, he had her arched back over the counter, her legs spread open for him.

Her grinding against her, his cock already hard as a rock, sliding up and down her little panties. Lester gave an approving growl as he held onto her for support. His body was moving under his. He pulled his head back, staring hard into her eyes. She couldn't catch her breath.

His shit-eating grin spread. He'd seen her submission in her eyes. Her want and desire for this outcome. He was like Thanos. Inevitable. Defiance rose inside of her, but it was snuffed out by his fat, greasy lips mashing against hers. She couldn't breathe. His tongue pruned her lips apart and snaked into her mouth,

"Mhmmmmhmmmm," Sarah moaned into him. Her chest arched, pressing against him through the thin material of her nightgown. Her ankles began caressing his thighs, hooking behind them, beckoning him in. Her soft hands on his hairy biceps. Together, they pulled his shirt off. Her feet pushing down his sweatpants.

Lester humped forward, his cock spearing at her panty-covered pussy. Sarah arched her back, pushing her hips forward to grind against Lester. She quivered, feeling his throbbing cock so fucking close. Whatever angst she felt. Her anxiety and panic at the situation. The cock in front of her would release her from it all.

Lester pulled the rest of her nightgown down to her waist, freeing her bountiful breasts for him. He grinned eagerly and began to lap at them. ***

Dan gulped and watched the camera feed. Sarah was pinned against the counter. Lester, for some reason, was there, in his kitchen, about to ravage his wife. He could call her. Or call him. Interrupt them, but would they even care? He stared at the screen and shifted in the bed. His dick hurt. It was hard. Shame filled his heart, but he couldn't tear his eyes away from the screen. ***

Ted had seen the SUV pull into the driveway like a bat out of hell. He'd been sitting there hoping to catch a peek of Sarah, but she'd had her windows drawn. He still hadn't worked up the courage again to tell her he knew her secret.

It was this fat bastard with the greasy hair again. Now he was showing up in the middle of the night, on the same day that Dan left for a work trip? He wasn't guilty enough to think it was a coincidence. The man barged into the house, and the door slammed shut behind him. That's when Ted made his move. He slinked out of his back door and over to the Williams' lawn. Keeping to the shadows, he crept through their yard. The front window curtains had been drawn, so as quietly as he could, he opened the gate latch and snuck into the backyard.

He'd only ever seen their yard from his upstairs window. Never stepped foot in it. But here he was, in the middle of the night as the moon hung in the sky, walking on foreign soil. The thought of catching Sarah in a compromising situation already had his old cock hard as stone. He rounded the corner of the house and came up just out of view of a back patio window. He heard raised voices. Maybe he could rush in and save the day if she were in trouble.

But when he looked in, the greasy man had the voluptuous Sarah Williams pinned against her kitchen counter. The mother of two's body was grinding against the fat man's. Ted thought his heart was gonna stop when the short man pulled down her nightgown, letting Ted's eyes feast on Sarah's naked breasts. He couldn't help himself and started stroking himself through his blue jeans.

This woman he'd lusted after from afar for years was right here on the other side of the glass. Half-naked and getting ready to fuck. Ted watched as the short, fat man reached down and yanked on something. Sarah yelped. Ted heard it through the glass and wondered how her kids hadn't. His mouth went dry as the big man held up a wad of white panties in his hand. Heat and anticipation was written all over Sarah Williams' face. Her large, bare breasts rose and fell in time as she waited. Ted didn't breathe either. The three of them locked in place.

Then, with an angry glint in his eyes, the fat man grunted and thrust forward, causing the blonde mother to scream. ***

"AHHFUUCKK," Sarah screamed as Lester shoved his entire length into her without preamble. There was no teasing. No foreplay. Lester punched his cock into her pussy, making her stretch around him. Her wet walls gripped him as he pulled back, preparing herself for more of him. Sarah held onto him, bracing herself as he thrust his entire length into her again. He pumped into her, his balls slapping the side of the counter, her knees bending to reach behind his ass, hooking her ankles in a desperate attempt to pull him deeper.

Lester licked his lips, and Sarah grabbed him by his thinning hair and pulled his disgusting face down to her chest. He didn't need to be told twice. His swirling tongue danced across her skin until it found her nipple. “Uhhmmmm,” Sarah moaned as his wet, hot tongue teased her. He flicked it up and down. Then swirled around her nipple. Sarah arched her back further, pulling her head down as his cock pounded up into her. His mouth closed around it, and he started sucking on it, eliciting more guttural groans from the young mother.

Lester was bucking his hips, relentlessly pounding his fat cock into Sarah. She threw her head back, blonde mane flying as she fucked him back. Her hips rocked off the counter in time with his thrusts, legs pulling him in for more. Sarah groaned, chest pushed out into Lester’s face. His melon-shaped head getting lost in Sarah’s breasts. He changed nipples, assaulting the other, and Sarah groaned her encouragement. This is what she’d been waiting for.

Lester pulled up from her chest, wiping saliva from his mouth. A determined look on his face, his hands grasped her shoulders, pulling her down, her ass pinned against the counter. His fingers dug into her flesh, sure to leave marks in the morning. Lester’s cock head drove into her pussy, hitting dangerously close to her cervix. Each time he pulled it back and rammed it forward, it dragged across her G-Spot, sending little shocks of addictive pleasure coursing through her. Sarah’s hips rolled with Lester’s thrusts; she was grinding herself against him for maximum pleasure like some kind of wanton slut.

“Still disgusting?” Lester grunted, sneering down at her. She stared up at him, a mix of revulsion, spite and love. She grabbed him by the back of the head and pulled him into a sloppy kiss. There was no coordination. Wild tongues splayed out of their mouths, licking and tasting each other’s lips and faces.

“Fuck,” Sarah gasped as they came apart. Saliva had dripped down their faces and coated her heavy breasts. “Oh god.”

“Tell me how disgusting I am,” Lester grunted. Punctuating each word with a thrust. “Tell me how fucking disgusting the fat slob who is fucking you is.”

“You’re fucking disgusting, Lester.” Sarah panted. “And I’m the one whose fucking you, right?” Lester demanded. Cock hitting all the right places inside of her.

“Yes. Fuck. Yes, you are. Don’t stop,” Sarah whined. “The disgusting bastard who is going to knock you up?” Lester growled again. Sarah’s mind felt drunk. He was loving and leaning into this fantasy so much lately. She didn’t know why. She just loved how much it turned him on. “I’m gonna get knocked up by a disgusting fucking creep,” Sarah panted, lost in the moment. Her body shifted, her ass planted onto the counter as she fucked him back. Lester was breathing hard, face red like a tomato. Suddenly, he pulled his cock all the way out of her and dragged Sarah off the counter. She stumbled to stand, the muscles in her legs having forgotten how to work. He grabbed her by the hair and pulled her out of the kitchen, through the living room and pushed her back onto the couch. Sarah blinked hard, lying back, looking up at the ceiling. She stared down her naked body, her lean legs. Beyond them, a hairy troll-like monster loomed, getting closer and closer. A giant sledgehammer cock dangled between his legs, already wet with her juices. Her toned knees spread as he approached. Her breathing quickened. He stepped up, kneeling on the couch, her legs fully open for him. He lined himself up, the head of his cock tickling her entrance. She bucked her hips off the couch, trying for a connection..

He grinned down at her. Then looked past her to the wall. She couldn't tear her eyes from him. She needed him. Lester looked between her and the wall, licking his lips.

Dan's heart almost jumped out of his chest when Lester looked right at him. At the camera on the wall's outlet. It looked like he was seeing Dan, stroking himself in his dark hotel room. Lester smirked and gave the subtlest of nods. He knew Dan had the cameras. He recognized them. He'd known all along.

Terror coursed through Dan's veins. Lester had always known. Lester licked his lips, his grin spreading. He turned his attention back to Sarah while she buckled beneath him, eager for his cock.

"I'm going to fuck a baby into you tonight," Lester said in a low, serious voice.

"Do it," Sarah whined, desperation dripping. "Do it, Lester. Fuck a baby into me. Make me pregnant."

Lester shook his head, that cocky smile still dancing on his face, "No, you don't understand. I'm going to do it for real. Tell me you want it."

"God, Lester, please do it. Just fuck me. Please," Sarah begged. Dan's stomach twisted, and pieces fell into place. Impossible pieces. No. Not impossible. Improbable.

"I'm gonna fuck you with my disgusting cock. No vasectomy. Just pure superior DNA. You good with that?" Lester said, staring down at her.

"Lester," Sarah said seriously. Dan could see her breasts rising and falling on camera. She was struggling to catch her breath. Her hands went to his, pulling him towards her, "Breed me."

“Breed me,” Sarah said, knowing the words were the key to Lester’s fantasy. She craved his hungry look. She wanted more of it. She knew the words to say to make that happen. Lester’s grin widened, and he looked behind her again. Sarah turned her head to see what he’d been looking at, but at that second Lester pushed his cockhead into her, causing her to jump. “Breed mee Lester,” Sarah cried, filling herself stretch. Feeling so wonderfully full. She licked her lips, the way Lester did, pulling him down onto her. “Breed me, Lester. Fill me. Make me yours.” She pulled his greasy head down, her tongue already out to meet his fat lips. Their mouths collided in a desperate battle of deep hunger. Tongues clashing together. Lester grunted into her mouth, his hips bucking, pumping his cock into her.

“Ohhhhh...mhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhm,” Sarah cried out, clutching him, feeling his entire length burrow into her. Her body stretched to accommodate him, and for the hundredth time, Sarah was amazed she could take Lester’s cock inside of her. He spread her open.

“Uhhhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhm,” Sarah moaned, a tear running down her cheek. His cock pushed in, igniting her nerves, pushing past where Dan could reach. Her body responded, rocking back, pushing off the couch. Making sure he hit all the wonderful places inside of her.

“Lester,” Sarah cried, clutching him hard. His cock felt like a molten rod inside of her. Hot and slick. “Oh god, Lester.” His tongue wrapped around hers. Sarah sucked on it. Moaned around it. Lester’s slow, deliberate speed was driving her insane. She needed more of it. Harder. Faster.

“Lester,” she breathed. “Lester. Lester. Lester. Please. Please Lester. Faster. Please fuck me faster. Lester.”

Lester pulled back, staring into her eyes. He had the oddest smile on his face. It wasn’t the usual smirk. He stared at her. Hard. continuing his slow, deliberate strokes into her. Slow and deep. Agonizingly slow. “Beg me to breed you again,” Lester said, pulling almost out all the way, then quickly pushing all the way in. Quick pull out, fast thrust in. “Uh...Uhhh...ohh...mhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhmhm,” Sarah’s throat responded. Her body seizing up, trying to match the new pace on instinct. Lester slowed back down again. Agonizingly teasing her.

“Oh god, Lester.” Sarah moaned, his mind swirling. She knew what he wanted. What she had to do to get more of him. It was so easy, “Breed me, Lester. I want it. I want you. I want you to pour into me. Fill me. Fill me with your cum. I want to be full of you.”

Lester's eyes grew manic. He pushed up from her so his sloth-like body hovered over hers. Sweat dripped off him, painting her breasts. His pace quickened. Thrusts coming faster and faster. Urgently. She'd said the right words. Unlocked what she wanted. She needed to keep it going, the words tumbled out of her mouth, "Give it to me, Lester. Cum inside me. Breed me."

"Gonna. Fill you." Lester grunted, breath coming out ragged. The couch protested under them as Lester began to power fuck her into it. "My little sperm are gonna be swimming inside of you."

"I can't wait," Sarah's hands dropped to her breasts, kneading them, pinching her nipples. All thoughts dedicated to the idea of Lester exploding inside of her. "God, I need it, Lester. I need your cum."

"I'm going to knock you up Sarah," Lester said. "I know. Do it," Sarah begged, arching her back. Breasts pushing into her hands as she did. Her hips flying off the couch, only to be pinned down by Lester's cock as he impaled her.

"I'm serious," Lester said. Sarah cracked an eye open, looking up at this hideous troll-like man looming over her. Staring down at her with a manic expression. Dead serious. Eyes ablaze with a ferocity she hadn't seen. A deep need and desire somewhere there behind his eyes. She gulped, on a deep level knowing he was serious but understanding it was impossible. Her brain was on fire. She felt the embers of an orgasm being stoked in her pussy. She wasn't about to stop.

"How....god....just do it. I want it, Lester," Sarah licked her lips. Her legs wrapping around his ass, pulling him deeper.

"Fuck the vasectomy," Lester barked, making her jump, "Fuck your pills. We're just two people fucking. You're fertile. My swimmers are free. Goalie's out of the next. Completely unprotected."

Something thrummed inside Sarah. Her hips bucked. Her orgasm was rushing towards the finish line. Her hands flew to the back of Lester's sweat watermelon head. She pulled herself up and bit his bottom lip, pulling it out. "God. Do it. Cum in me, Lester. Make me yours. Fuck your bastard into me. I want it. Please..."

As the words spilled out of her mouth, Sarah felt it. Her body going into overdrive. She wasn't stopping for anything. Her hips slammed off the couch to meet Lester's immovable body.

“Oh god. Lester. Yes...please....fuck.....fill me....fill me...fill me...FILL ME,” Sarah screamed. She dropped back to the couch, hands on her breasts. Lester thrust into her, balls slapping against her ass. “Fuuuckkmhmmmmmm.” Sarah’s eyes rolled back in her skull. Everything went white. A surging river rushed forth and battered down the dam holding back her orgasm. It rushed into her. Fireworks exploded throughout her body all at once. Warmth spread through her very being, overwhelming her senses. “I’m gonna cum,” Lester announced, somewhere far away. “My potent, virile seed is going to unleash deep inside –”

“Ohhh...just...fucking...do it...” Sarah whimpered through ragged breath, “Let’s make a baby.”

“UGGHHHHH,” Lester grunted. His cock head expanded inside of her. His ball slapped her ass and stayed there. She felt them heave. Sarah gasped. A thick, hot rope of cum blasted deep into her. It ignited her orgasm, punching through an unknown ceiling inside of her, surging to new heights. It dwarfed what came before, melting her brain.

Her head lolled to the side. Another sticky rope of cum exploded into her. Her vision returned, fuzzy. The first thing she saw was Lester’s ugly, contorted face as he came. Bloodshot eyes piercing her soul. Jowels shaking. Her body seized around his cock. Pussy milking him. Another thick rope painted her insides. She felt impossibly full. Thick cum filled every inch of her insides.

Lester added another glob of cum. More. Hot and thick. Sarah’s eyes rolled back as she came again. Her skin was on fire. Her mind drifted from her body. She shuddered as it overwhelmed her senses. Everything was warm and right. Perfect. As it should be. Lester grunted and collapsed onto her. She felt cum leaking down to her asshole. She sucked in a breath, brain returning to her body. Lester rolled onto his side, cock still embedded deep into her. Exhaustion took her, and her mind faded into sleep.

Dan held his phone in one hand, staring at the sweaty sleeping bodies. Her heart felt shattered. Shame coursed through him. His other hand was covered in a sticky mess. His dick ached. It was still hard despite cumming a few minutes ago.

His stomach turned.

A simple question kept churning through his mind. He couldn’t stop it. He was questioning everything.

What if Lester could knock Sarah up?

Toxic Attraction Ch. 41

Lester groaned as he rolled over. He wanted to stay in bed, but nature was calling. With some effort, he hoisted himself up, kicking off the sheets, and sat up on the edge of the bed. He blinked and looked around for a few seconds, not recognizing his surroundings.

There was a light snore coming from behind him. He twisted, like a troll peering up from under a bridge, and saw flawless skin on a naked back. A blonde mane and a little bit of her bubble butt peaking out from beneath the sheets.

His sleep-deprived brain waffled on whether it was Sarah or Renee. They both looked so similar. It was only then that the surrounding scenery clicked into place. Dan and Sarah's bedroom. Lester chuckled to himself and grinned, remembering the previous night. How Sarah begged for him to breed her. The way he'd displayed their animalistic breeding right in front of one of Dan's stupid hidden cameras. Did Dan really think he wouldn't notice those? Peon.

Lester kept his eyes on Sarah, tracing the curves of her body. Imagining how it would change once her stomach began to swell with his child. It was a delicious thought. One that he let himself get momentarily lost in. His DNA swirling and combining with hers. Right under Dan's nose. Perfection.

He was happy with himself. He plodded to the bathroom and started to take a leak, not really caring about accuracy as he yawned and stretched. His stream bobbed up and down as he did. Lester drifted blissfully between fully waking and being lulled back to dreamland. He couldn't wait to slide into Sarah again. Maybe he could convince her to come back to Chicago with him for a few days of debauchery. Having her all to himself in the apartment, making sure he got her knocked...

The apartment. He'd come straight from the apartment after he discovered his network had been taken down. That someone had got the better of him and had stripped away his access to everything he'd spent the last dozen years building. The stream abruptly cut off.

He flushed and was about to stomp out of the bedroom, but paused and looked under the sink at the blister package of pills Sarah had there. He allowed himself a moment to smirk before the scowl painted over his face.

Lester retreated to the bedroom, casting one last lingering glance at Sarah's naked form and the promises it held. She sucked him in. Brought him here to this godforsaken town. He couldn't defend his empire from here. He needed a computer.

Down the hallway, Lester found Dan's office and quickly got onto the computer. He didn't bother closing the office door. It would be funny if one of the girls woke up and discovered him. It would create all kinds of delicious chaos.

If he couldn't be back in Chicago at his command center, a computer with a spark of electricity would be the next best thing. Dan's computer was pathetic by comparison, though. It had an old processor and just a bare amount of RAM. Lester wouldn't be able to do anything process-intensive. He itched for his own computer. To be back in Chicago, trying to right the wrongs that had been perpetrated against him. But he was here.

He still kicked himself for running. Running away from Chicago. From his problems. Running to her. For comfort. Like a lost little boy. Lester shook himself and put those thoughts to the back of his head. He needed to focus.

Fingers flew across the keyboard as Lester tried to remote into some of his servers, trying to get in through a backdoor. He didn't have his usual toolkit, but he didn't know if those had already been compromised. He'd have to build everything from the ground up. Again.

Lester tried several different backdoors. Attacked his own servers from different vectors. A bead of sweat ran down his head. Either he'd done too good a job closing these off and building a semi-impregnable system, or Cronos or whoever he was working with had locked things down even tighter.

Lester pounded the keys with his fingers, trying everything he knew. Trying to get back into the system he built.

Somewhere in a dark server room, a script fired on a server. It had one simple purpose. To capture IP addresses of anyone trying to access one of the servers. It filed the information away in a database to be reviewed.

"Jesus fucking christ, relax already, will you?" Lester complained as Sarah hurriedly ushered him down the stairs. She'd barely had time to get her bathrobe wrapped around herself. It was early. But not early enough.

The girls would be stirring soon. She needed to get Lester out of the house before they did. He hadn't been in the bed when she'd woken up. It was a miracle she had a full bladder and forced herself to her feet. Her body yearned for the bed. To rest, to sleep after the night of strenuous activities that Lester had put her through.

She'd found him naked in Dan's office on his computer. Feet away from the girls' bedroom door. If one of them had woken up, they would have discovered him. He was being careless on purpose, and it irked her.

She shoved his broad, flabby back, pushing him down the stairs.

"I get it. You'd think after the orgasms I gave you last night, you'd be a little more grateful," Lester complained loudly.

"Shut the fuck up," Sarah hissed as they took the last step down onto the main floor. She shoved an armful of his clothes at him. "They'll hear you."

"Please, if you didn't hear their mom howling at the moon last night, they aren't gonna hear me now," Lester chuckled. He took the clothes and started putting them on. Agonizingly slowly. Sarah knew her window of opportunity was quickly shrinking. She needed him out.

"Lester, I swear to God," Sarah started, but Lester cut her off.

"Yeah, you were doing a lot of that last night," Lester grinned. "You got quite biblical."

"Lester, it's not funny. Please. For me," Sarah kept casting glances up the stairs, her chest was tight, just waiting to hear a door open and the familiar pitter patter for feet bound down the stairs.

"Alright, whatever," Lester finished dressing in his customary sweatpants and stained shirt. He stretched, loudly yawning as he padded to the door. "Give me a kiss before I go."

"Lester," Sarah said, feeling her blood begin to boil. He was toying with her. He shouldn't be toying with her. She'd already accepted him into her home after everything he'd done. After he revealed he'd been recording her in who knows how many compromising positions. She needed to address that. To make him delete it all. But right now she needed him out.

She angled her head down and planted a kiss on his fat lips. His tongue immediately darted out, and he pulled her in tight, pushing against her. Sarah let him. She let this short, troll-like man kiss and grope her. And her body kissed him back, groaning into his mouth.

Once her mind caught up, she managed to push him off her and wipe the saliva from her lips. "There. Happy? Time to go."

"I didn't say I wanted a kiss on the lips," Lester grinned, lowering the waistband of his pants. His cock was already hard, jutting out as he held it pointed at her. "Come on now, don't be shy."

Sarah rolled her eyes and gulped. She kept the mask of annoyance on her face, but her knees had gone weak at the sight of his dick. What was wrong with her? Why did she respond like this? To him of all people?

She kept a fiery gaze locked on Lester as she quickly lowered herself and pecked the end of his cock with her lips.

"Come on, that wasn't so bad, was it?" Lester sneered as she got back to uneasy feet.

"Satisfied?" Sarah asked.

"Not in the least," Lester said. Something dark passed across his face before it disappeared just as quickly. "You should show more respect, my dick's the thing that's gonna give you that baby you've been craving."

Sarah's breath caught in her throat. She straightened and shook off the momentary flashback to the night before. That talk of getting knocked up had turned her on. Lester had caught that and wasn't letting it go.

"Yes, Casanova, you caught me red-handed. Please, oh please, I will henceforth show you all due respect," Sarah said flatly. The smile disappeared from Lester's face. Sarah tugged the door open and ushered Lester outside.

She could tell he was annoyed, and part of her was happy about it. He was a manipulative asshole. And he was fucking with her and Dan in a way that she should have gone scorched earth on. But he had his claws in her. In her life.

As he walked to his car, Sarah froze. In the early morning light filtering into the street, Ted was already on his lawn, gardening. And he was watching Lester do the walk of shame. As much as she wanted to dash back into the house, she held her ground, standing uncertainly on her porch. She didn't want him to see her falter.

But Ted didn't look surprised. He had a knowing smirk on his face. Like he'd caught her with her hand in the cookie jar. Lester didn't seem to notice. If he did, he didn't care. The short man got into his SUV and backed out of the driveway.

Ted watched Lester go before his gaze fell back on Sarah. He looked like he was about to say something. Before he could, Sarah gave him a polite wave and headed back inside the house.

She knew he knew. She knew he knew. It was like their own little secret. Their own filthy little secret. Something they shared. It was kind of intimate after all. Ted paced back and forth in his living room, thinking about his encounter that morning.

He stayed up all night after watching them through the window. Waiting for him to leave. He downed the contents of his Red Bull and placed it on the table with the others. He'd timed it perfectly. He'd been there when that fat, greasy man left. Sarah had seen him.

She knew, he knew. She must be going crazy over there. Thinking about him. Wondering what he'll do with that information. What he might try. He was surprised she hadn't come over to try to convince him of some false narrative. That would have been too easy. He would have loved beckoning her into 'talk'.

But she was probably doing the same thing he was. Pacing. He stopped and thought about that. There was something there that he couldn't quite articulate. Some kind of dance between them. A push and pull only they knew about. Maybe she'd see the beauty in that. Ted downed another Red Bull and ignored the heart palpitations he felt. He couldn't pace there any longer. He was outside within the minute, crossing his lawn and the Williams' driveway before his brain caught up with him. He was running on instinct. Each step forward pulled him closer to her. Their little game was reaching its crescendo.

He rang the doorbell and shifted his weight from foot to foot. Each second dragged on, and for the first time since discovering their little dance, he realized he had no idea what to say.

The door opened.

Sarah stood there, and Ted couldn't help but stare. His eyes drank in her form, every curve of her body. The long legs, her hips, the way her clothes clung to her curves, and the magnificent rack and those killer collarbones. And her face...

He almost took a step off the porch when he looked at that face. She looked like an angel with that blonde, beautiful hair flowing behind her. She narrowed her eyes, but kept a radiant white smile on her face.

“Hi Ted,” she said slowly. It looked like she was doing some mental math in her head. Ted swore she’d felt the pull of their little dance, too. “How are you doing?”

“I’m doing real well,” Ted put his hands in his pockets and rocked forward on the balls of his feet. “Real good.”

She raised her eyebrows at him and waited. This was supposed to be the part where she begged him. Pulled him inside and begged for his silence. But she just stood there expectantly.

Ted sputtered, “I wanted to apologize for earlier.”

“Oh? No need, Ted, but thank you,” Sarah said with a smile. She gestured behind her, where Ted could hear the girls. “I need to run and get the girls ready. Thank you so much for stopping by, though.”

As Sarah was about to close the door, Ted blurted, “That guy earlier. He wasn’t Dan.”

Sarah froze and turned back to him, “No, he wasn’t.”

“Not your husband.”

“No.”

“Okay. Well. I think Dan has a right to know, don’t you? Unless, of course, you want to keep this our little secret.” The words tumbled out of Ted’s mouth, and he hated how it sounded. Those fucking Red Bulls had hyped him up way too much.

“Oh? And what exactly are you proposing?” Sarah held the door close to her. She had a predatory gaze on her face. Purely sexual. Something like a cat toying with a mouse.

“I’ll tell him. I’ll tell him all about what I saw. Unless we can come to some kind of agreement.” Ted steadied himself, trying to project confidence he wasn’t feeling at the moment.

“What kind of agreement, Ted? Spit it out,” Sarah said with a sultry air.

“Well, I think, for starters, we should have this discussion in a more intimate environment,” Ted leaned in as he whispered. Sarah raised an eyebrow at him.

“Intimate, hmm?” She half moaned, and Ted felt himself tent in his pants. His mouth was dry, and he desperately wished he’d brought a Red Bull with him.

Sarah leaned closer, and he mimicked the movement. Getting close enough that he could smell her strawberry perfume. Her lips were right there, full and slightly wet. Sarah straightened her face. “Ted. I say this as a neighbor and someone who respects their privacy. Get off my porch now. Don’t bring this up again. Understand?”

The door slammed shut in his face. Ted just stood there, momentarily flabbergasted, not understanding what had happened. Going from extremely aroused to deep shame and guilt in a matter of seconds. His face flushed with embarrassment.

Ted walked quickly—not running—back to his house and disappeared inside.

It wasn’t a great look for Dan to leave Washington so early. In reality, he should have stayed and networked with his new colleagues. Several staff members were still working in cubicles, but Gordon had insisted that Dan receive an office. And now he was back, landing in Chicago.

It was a bad look. He knew that. They had promised to accommodate his position, and he was technically a remote employee first. But he knew the expectations. They wanted him in the office. They were likely just entertaining him during the job’s introductory period.

He knew it wouldn’t last.

Gordon hadn’t let the smile fade from his face when Dan had told him. But his eyes weren’t smiling. They were calculating. Dan knew he was fucking up, getting off on the wrong foot with the man.

But he couldn’t just sit in his hotel room night after night watching the sordid affair play out on his home cameras. Cameras. One’s Lester apparently knew all about. He’d been so focused on fixing his work life that he’d let his family life slip.

And now he was further under Lester’s thumb than ever before. The cretin had recorded who knows what on his own hidden cameras throughout the apartment. Whether there were more recordings, Dan didn’t actually know. But he needed to find out.

And more importantly, he needed to find out if Lester could actually impregnate his wife. He’d gone along with a lot. Let a lot of things slip. First, it was the sex. Then the condom coming off. But he’d rationalized that all and been okay, because Lester had had a vasectomy. Dan knew that. He’d driven him to the fucking appointment.

But he couldn't shake the image of Lizzie's pregnant stomach. And Lester's insistence on using pregnancy talk during his sex with Sarah. And how enthusiastically she had taken to it. The math just wasn't adding up to him. Or, at least, he didn't like what it was adding up to.

When he got off the plane, he didn't take an Uber to the apartment. Instead, he went to see Lizzie again. It was dumb and probably a terrible idea. But he needed to ask her a question. One she wouldn't like. But he needed her to answer it.

His hands unconsciously balled into fists as he rode the elevator up. When it dinged, and the doors opened, Dan hesitated before stepping out. He was afraid of what he was about to learn. Part of him, the one that stayed still while Lester ravaged his wife, wanted him to just stay in the elevator, let the doors close and ride it back down.

His fingernails dug into the palms of his hands, and he stepped out into the hallway. The doors slid closed behind him. Even with his heart hammering in his chest, Dan strode down the hallway towards Lizzie's apartment. She wouldn't be happy to see him. He swallowed.

Dan steadied himself on the wall, drawing on strength to do what needed to be done. He knocked on the door and waited.

It wasn't Lizzie who answered the door. The man who had yelled at him last time appeared in the doorway, his smile vanishing instantly when he recognized Dan.

"What the fuck are you doing here?" Issac demanded. Dan raised his hands peacefully.

"Look, I just need two minutes. I just need to ask Lizzie one question," Dan said.

"Elizabeth," Issac corrected. "Fuck off, right now, buddy."

"Issac? Whose at the door?" An alarmed woman's voice called from inside. Issac drew the door closer to himself. "You have five seconds to get out of here."

Dan steeled his resolve, "I'm not going anywhere until I talk to her."

From inside the apartment, soft footsteps grew closer. "Who is it?" came a whisper behind Issac.

"Lizzie," Dan said loud enough for her to hear, "Can I talk to you for one second?"

“That’s it,” Issac grimaced, stepping into the hallway and pulling the door closed behind him. His hands sprang up, pushing Dan back against the hallway’s wall. Dan didn’t want to fight. He knew he should walk away. But this guy was standing between him and the answers he needed. So Dan shoved him back. Issac was younger than him, but Dan still made him stumble.

The door opened, and Lizzie poked her head out. Her protruding stomach evident. Her eyes went wide when she saw Dan.

“Lizzie, one quick question and then I’ll never —”

Issac’s fist connected with Dan’s eye, and his head snapped back against the wall. The hallway around him spun for a second as Dan sagged back into the wall. Issac was holding his hand. Dan blinked, getting his bearings. Issac stood, favoring his hand and started saying something that Dan’s brain couldn’t process. As Issac advanced on him, Dan reacted on instinct, a kick snapped out and took Issac in the gut, making him double over.

Dan clenched his fist. Rage boiled over inside him. Months of frustration. It finally had an outlet. One that had started this. He cocked his fist back and was about to drive it down into the man’s temple with all his strength.

“No!” Lizzie shouted, “Please don’t. Don’t hurt him.”

Dan hesitated, fist shaking. It would feel so good just to hit something. Instead, he kicked Issac in the shoulder, sending him sprawling onto his side. Dan fell back against the wall, panting. He locked eyes with Izzie and said, “One question, and then I’m out of your life for good.”

“What is it?” Lizzie said, reaching down to try to pull Issac to his feet.

Dan’s eyes darted down to her stomach. “It’s about Lester.”

Lizzie stiffened, but had to know that was the only reason Dan would be here. Dan stepped closer, keeping his voice low. “Months ago, he asked me to take him to an appointment, but now I’m wondering, well, is Lester —”

Issac lunged and tackled Dan into the opposing wall. Drywall crunched under his weight. Before he could shake the stars out of his eyes, another fist connected with his face. Then another pounded into his stomach.

Dan fell onto the hallway floor and spat blood onto the carpet. A kick connected with his ribs.

“Fuck off,” Issac shouted, rearing another fist back. Izzie latched onto his arm, holding it in place.

“Come on,” Lizzie said carefully. “He’s done. If you keep hitting him...”

She let the words hang there. Issac slowly lowered his fist. “Don’t come back,” he commanded and pushed their door open. He ushered Lizzie inside. The door clicked shut. Dan rolled onto his side and cradled his ribs. He just lay there on the floor for several minutes before he found it in himself to get up.

He glanced at the closed door, debating knocking on it again. His bruised face told him not to. Having not completed his mission, he slowly slunk back to the elevator and rode it down to the street, and called an Uber.

It dropped him off at his old apartment, where his car was still parked. He winced as he got into it and let his eyes close. Everything hurt. He hadn’t been beaten this badly since middle school. He should have socked Issac in the face when he had the chance. He just sat there for several minutes until he stuck the keys in the ignition before pausing.

He craned his neck and looked up at the building in front of him. All the unpleasant memories churned with the erotic desire he and Sarah had experienced here. A thought passed into his mind. He got out and headed into the building.

Like all the other times, Dan wasn’t sure if Lester was home or not. The main living space sat untouched, like a sick display in a museum about modern living. He went to the closet and found the small bag of tools and fished out a Philips and a flathead screwdriver. The wall outlet was his first stop. He took it out and, just like he had expected, it had a camera built into it. Just like the ones he’d installed in his own house.

“Motherfucker,” Dan muttered. He went to other outlets in the room, inspecting each one. He found more cameras. He found another in a picture frame. There were some in the kitchen. What about his bedroom? As he scrambled across the living room, he was met with Lester’s plodding footsteps.

As was growing increasingly too common, Lester was naked. His flabby, hairy, oddly proportioned body came into view, making Dan stop in his tracks. Lester had his trademark shit-eating grin on his face, and Dan wanted to kick him in the dick that he knew was dangling between his fat roommate’s legs.

“What the fuck happened to your face? You try to steal some Girl Guide cookies or somethin’?” Lester chuckled.

Dan wanted to say something smart. To say something like he’d just been visiting with Lester’s ex-girlfriend. But kept his mouth shut. Information was power, and Lester had already been six steps ahead of him.

“Cat got your tongue, too? Guess it’s for the best then,” Lester shrugged and pushed past Dan and grabbed a Coke from the fridge. “You doing some renovating around here?”

“Just cataloging what a creep you’ve been,” Dan retorted.

Lester chuckled again. The sound of it made Dan ball his fists. Lester eyed him, “I seem to recall hidden cameras in your house, too.”

“Mine were to monitor my family. Not blackmail people and create sick recordings,” Dan fired back.

“Tomato, tomato,” Lester shrugged. “And we both know you just wanted to watch me slide into that sweet wife of yours while you jerked off in that sad little hotel room.”

Dan didn’t respond, which garnered another laugh from Lester, “He doesn’t even deny it. So pathetic.”

“Pathetic? You’re the fat blob that stays in your room all day playing video games meant for kids,” Dan snapped.

“And yet still, somehow I am drowning in pussy. Your wife’s pussy, to be exact. Even after all of this. Even when she learned the truth, she still couldn’t get enough of this.” Lester punctuated his sentence by grabbing his dick and waving it at Dan. “The simple truth is, she just doesn’t care as long as she’s getting her daily dose of Lester.”

“That’s bullshit, and you know it. She’s just going along with this because you’re holding it over our heads,” Dan kept balling his hands into fists. His knuckles hurt. So did his face.

“Keep telling yourself that, bud,” Lester shook his head.

“You know it’s the truth,” Dan said.

“Whatever you say, boss,” Lester waved Dan off like he didn’t exist.

“We both know it,” Dan felt like he was grasping at straws. Trying to throw something at the wall to stick. To hurt him. He ignored the part of his brain that kept bringing Lizzie’s stomach to the forefront. “That’s why you’ll never do anything with that footage. You’re too desperate for more of my wife. You’ll do anything for her.”

“She’s more my wife than yours lately,” Lester gave him a hard look. “And don’t try to be brave and test me, Dan. I can do a lot more damage than you can even imagine.”

“Yeah, whatever. You keep telling yourself that, you little incel. Go talk a big game to your gaming buddies. It doesn’t work on the rest of us in the real world.”

“I guess we’ll see about that then,” Lester shrugged as he plodded back down the hallway. “Oh, and an envelope came for you. It’s on the kitchen table.”

Before Dan could say anything else, Lester was back behind his closed door. Some kind of techno-esque music for some game blared through the walls. Dan stared down the empty hallway for several seconds before realizing Lester was probably watching him on another hidden camera. He steeled his expression and decided he needed out. He wouldn’t check his room for cameras. He knew they were there. Why wouldn’t they be? A creep like Lester probably covered his bases.

The envelope on the kitchen table was a plain manila envelope. It was thin. There wasn’t much in it. Dan opened it, and his heart dropped. An attorney on Jesse’s behalf had served him with a civil lawsuit. The document talked about the incident that took place at their former employer when Dan had punched Jesse in the face. He was being sued for battery, assault, intentional infliction of emotional distress, and negligence. Dan’s stomach dropped as he read its contents. This was the last thing he needed. Another person coming for him. This time, with the legal backing and power of a lawyer.

Dan stared and reread the document several times. It dawned on him that if there were any hidden cameras left in the kitchen, Lester was probably watching him right then and laughing to himself. Dan gathered his things and left the apartment.

It only took him a couple of hours to drive back to Middleton. The girls greeted him at the door and were horrified by his face. So was Sarah. He’d played it off, saying he fell down the stairs at work, but Sarah was suspicious.

Even though Sarah was in the room and asked about his trip and his new workplace, he could feel the distance between them. Like a boulder rested between them, neither knowing how to remove it. He cringed when the girls sat on the couch where Sarah had been begging Lester to breed her. It had just happened. He suggested they all go into the backyard and kick a soccer ball around.

After they got the girls down for the night, Sarah finally confronted Dan about his growing black eye.

“What happened to you? You didn’t fall down the stairs at work,” Sarah said. Concern touched her voice, and it made him happy to know she still cared about him.

“No, it didn’t happen in Washington. I made a stop after I landed in Chicago. I —”

“Lester did that? He hit you?” Sarah asked.

Dan was surprised that she’d even consider it a possibility. The idea that Lester could physically hurt him. Had the events of the past months really diminished him so much in her eyes?

“No. What? Are you kidding? Lester? You think Lester did this to me? Really? Lester?” Dan asked incredulously.

“I don’t know. I just...I didn’t know where else you’d stop besides the apartment. And Lester can be surprising...” Sarah trailed off, and Dan knew exactly what she meant. But it hit a nerve.

“Oh, you mean like how he’s been a fucking pervert this whole time and recording us? Recording you? Now he wants to blackmail us with it? That kind of surprise?” He fired back.

Sarah sighed and wouldn’t meet his eye. Silence hung between them. Dan caved and apologized, “I’m sorry. It’s just...still a sore subject. I hate that we’re here in this situation and that you and him are still...you know.”

“It’s complicated,” Sarah said. Before he could ask for clarification, she continued, “So what happened to your face then?”

“I tracked down Lester’s ex-girlfriend. You remember her from that one night? Early on in the apartment? Lizzie?”

“Yes,” Sarah said. Dan saw what he thought was jealousy pass over her face, but he didn’t know what she was jealous of. The mention of Lester’s ex, someone else who had been with him or that Dan had gone to see a pretty younger woman. “What happened?”

“Her boyfriend happened. He didn’t like me showing up there to talk to her. We got into a fight. I should have put him down, but I didn’t want to...” He trailed off, thinking of Lizzie’s pregnant stomach. His eyes glanced at his wife’s flat belly. “I could have hit him and didn’t, and he took advantage of that.”

Dan gestured to his black eye and bruised cheek, “And now I have this for being a gentleman.”

“What...why are you there in the first place? Why’d you go to see her? Dan, what the hell?” Sarah said.

Dan gestured around him, “Because of all this. The trap we’re in. We’re under Lester’s thumb. I wanted to know more about him. Remember, I was investigating him? Well, I’ve been back at that. Trying to learn more about it. She hates him. I don’t think they were ever actually dating. She seemed afraid of him and...”

Sarah narrowed her eyes, “And what?”

“She’s pregnant.” He let the words hang there, hoping she’d grasp the weight of them.

“Good for her, I guess,” Sarah said. “What does that have to do with Lester?”

“Lester’s the father,” Dan said.

“She said that? Is that why her boyfriend attacked you?” Sarah asked.

“No, she didn’t, but the timeline fits. I think. It makes sense, doesn’t it?” Dan said.

“Lester’s had a vasectomy, Dan. You drove him to it,” Sarah said.

“I drove him to a building. He went inside. I checked, and it’s actually a urologist who has an operating room there. But do we know for sure if he actually got the operation done?” Dan said.

Sarah put her face in her hands, “You sound so paranoid right now, Dan.”

“Yeah,” Dan raised his voice, “obviously. This fucking guy has been lying to us from the get-go, and we keep letting him get away with it. He keeps pushing things past our comfort zone, and we keep letting him. And let’s not forget the creep has been filming us without our consent or knowing for I don’t know, since we’ve met him? And now he’s trying to blackmail us with it. So forgive me for being paranoid, Sarah.”

“I get that. I do. I know he’s fucked up. But the vasectomy was months ago. It would have had to have been scheduled before you even moved in. Why would he lie about something like that? It just doesn’t make sense,” Sarah said.

“Because he wants to knock you up,” Dan said, “That fat fucking bastard wants to impregnate you.”

Sarah chuckled. Ice ran in Dan’s veins. It sounded too much like a Lester chuckle. “Dan, that’s just...a role play thing. Part of Lester’s fantasy. It all started after he got fixed. There’s not...” she searched for the right words, “some big conspiracy here.”

“Yeah? Well, we didn’t think my creepy roommate would ever bed my wife, but here we are. And we never thought he’d make secret recordings of everything and threaten to blackmail us, but here we are. We can’t trust anything he’s ever said.

“Well, I don’t know. I mean, okay, even if Lester had this big grand plan to knock me up, he’s still not going to. I’m on birth control, remember? He can fire his little swimmers into me all he likes, but nothing is going to happen.”

“Birth control isn’t always 100% effective, though, right? Still, isn’t it fucked up that he would do that? Aren’t you mad that he isn’t firing blanks into you like he claims?”

“If,” Sarah corrected, “if he is doing that. And that’s a big if. I’m going along with this for argument’s sake, Dan. But I feel like you’re grasping at straws. Even if you’re right, I don’t know what...”

“What? What I want you to do about it?” Dan asked. “It’s yet another fucked-up thing he’s done.”

“I don’t want to argue, Dan. I really don’t. I’m so tired of arguing. Of going around in this circle again and again. It’s exhausting. I’m tired of it. Please. I don’t want to talk about Lester right now. Okay? If you have some proof or whatever, let’s talk about it, but please, can we just drop this for right now? It’s all we talk about.”

Dan stood and paced through the room. He wanted to dig into this, convince her to see his point of view. But she was pumping the brakes, dousing the fire of his argument.

“Okay,” Dan finally said. “Okay. But I’m not giving up on this.”

Sarah sighed, “I know. Just for tonight. Okay? I just need a break from all of it. And I don’t like seeing you get all worked up.”

“I’m not worked up,” Dan said.

“Dan, you went to question your roommate’s ex and got into a fight with her boyfriend. You probably scared the poor girl half to death.”

“You make it sound a lot worse than it was,” Dan said. “I’m dropping this for tonight. But we’re gonna stop Lester. I don’t want him holding this shit over our heads.”

“I know, okay?” Sarah said, “But please, let’s just watch a movie or something. I’m going to pour myself a glass of wine.”

Dan let Sarah put something on Netflix. He didn’t care what. His mind still raced as the movie played, and Sarah curled up on the other side of the couch.

Lester stared at his rig. The former centrepiece of his empire. The computer sat dark in his room, mocking him. He’d disconnected the cameras from it, reducing his visibility. He didn’t want someone else tapping into the feeds and identifying him.

It might be paranoid, but he didn’t get to where he was without being careful. As far as he knew, they’d only compromised his servers.

Only my servers Lester thought as bile rose in his throat. That was everything. He powered up his computer without connecting it to the internet. Everything seemed fine at first glance.

He spent hours running diagnostics on it. Using his phone, he downloaded toolkits and other tools, then manually transferred them to the computer. He did all he could to ensure it was clean. In the end, he still wasn’t convinced.

The breach had shaken him and his confidence in his system’s security. He wiped the device and started over. But his irritation and anger at the situation boiled over inside him. He felt out of control. Like he had when he was a child.

He’d sworn to never feel like this again. There was one outlet where he could exercise dominant control. He knew it wouldn’t fix his situation, but it would help briefly. He took out his phone and began putting his package together.

Dan wheeled the car onto Sarah's parents' street. The girls were in the back with their headphones on, watching a show. In a low voice, Dan said, "We need to call his bluff. He can't...we can't just let him keep dictating things to us. We don't even know what he has recorded."

"You said you found lots of cameras," Sarah cast a glance over her shoulder to make sure the girls weren't listening. Ava smiled and waved at her. Sarah returned the smile and turned back to Dan. "There's a lot that happened in that apartment."

"We don't know how long they've been there," Dan started but falter, "But you're right. He might have some stuff we don't want getting out there."

"Probably a lot of stuff," Sarah whispered. "I'm in all of it. All of it, Dan. We can't let anyone see it."

"We can't just let him run our lives, though," Dan said. "We were supposed to be done with all of this. Not just bending over and letting him..."

Her husband had smartly trailed off, but she knew where he was going. He couldn't reconcile how, even after Lester had revealed himself and his nefarious actions, she could still lower herself to sleep with him. And not just sleep with him, actively engage, enjoy and participate in the creepy man's deplorable fantasies.

She'd thought about that many times herself. The rational part of her brain, which she found to be quieter and quieter when it came to Lester, knew it was wrong. She hated him. That made sense. But a larger part of her screamed for more. The more rancid Lester had become, the more it tweaked her Beauty and the Beast fantasy. The more she shouldn't, the more she wanted him.

But she couldn't admit that to Dan. It was a part of her that she wasn't ready to let him see. She certainly didn't want the world to see. But she suspected Lester already knew. That private connection sent a guilty thrill through her.

"I know," Sarah finally said, filling the silence that hung between them. "We should be done with him. We tried. He's just desperate to...keep things going."

"Yeah," Dan said, staring hard at the road.

She knew what he was thinking. That Lester had some ridiculous grand plan to knock her up. Sure, Lester had done some sneaky stuff, and he liked fucking with Dan, but she didn't think he'd do that. Not to her. There was something there between them. A connection. Maybe a fucked up one. But Lester wouldn't do that. It was just ridiculous.

Who faked having surgery? Besides, she was on birth control, anyway. She was safe. Dan had just let his paranoia lead him down a strange path. She hadn't realized how much this was affecting his mental state. It would be in his best interest to stop things with Lester, or else he might reach some kind of breaking point.

Sarah let out the breath she hadn't realized she'd been holding. Dan pulled into her parents' driveway, and the kids flew out of the car, running up to the door and impatiently pressing the doorbell. Sarah gave Dan's hand a gentle squeeze. He closed his eyes and squeezed back.

Dinner with her parents was uneventful. Her mom had made a Shepard's pie, and her father was busy doting on the girls until dessert was served. The girls quickly finished their bowls and ran into the basement to watch YouTube unsupervised. Sarah's mom made coffee for everyone, and they sat around the dining room table talking about Dan's new job in Washington while Sarah expertly deflected any questions about her own work.

"It sounds like an intimidating place to work," her father mused as he sipped his coffee, "Its secretive nature. All the important people watching over your shoulder as you work. I'd hate to screw up."

"It's not so bad. Everyone's pretty nice. Serious and all that, but nice enough. We had dinner with my boss and his wife in Chicago, and it," Dan paused, and Sarah saw the moment the memory crossed his eyes. He quickly recovered. "Well, he said after in the office that he and his wife had a great time. We get along really well so far."

"That's wonderful. I think that having a good relationship with a boss is important—" Renee started to say more before the buzzing of all their cellphones made her pause.

The synchronized vibrations rang out across the table, each of them eyeing their own device. They exchanged a quick look, then looked at their phones.

"What the hell..." James muttered. Renee just stared wide-eyed at her phone before James snatched it out of her hand. With a disgusted look, he put it face down on the table. Sarah's heart dropped. On her screen were two people fucking. There were big emojis photoshopped onto their faces, but Sarah knew the blonde in the video was her. Unfortunately, her sound was on, and her moans of ecstasy echoed into the room. The oddly proportioned, hairy body had to be Lester's. If that wasn't evidence enough, well, she knew based on other proportions it was him.

The clip flickered. Sarah caught quick flashes of the action before the big emojis covered the faces again. Her body bent over with Lester's heavy, hairy frame behind her. His thick cock sliding deep into her from behind, his gut pressing against her back as he gripped her hips, pulling her onto him roughly. Her legs trembled a little in the shot, sweat shining on her skin while he thrust steadily, making her ass jiggle with each push, her hand clutching the sheets tight.

Dan silently clicked his screen off and put his phone down. His face was stone.

“Did we all just get the same disgusting video?” James asked. Sarah’s heart skipped a beat. She didn’t know when the video had been taken. She didn’t remember it. It was in the apartment, but...she reached for her phone and thought better of it. Not in front of her parents. But she was sure her hair had been shorter.

“I don’t know, maybe,” Dan responded to her father flatly, “I turned my phone off pretty fast.”

“Was there some blonde whore on your screen too?” James asked. Sarah’s stomach dropped when she heard her father talk about her like that.

“James,” Renee chastised, “Language, please.”

James held up a hand in apology, “You’re right. I’m sorry. Why did we all receive the same video at the same time? What’s going on?”

Sarah fidgeted in her seat, biting her tongue. How red was her face getting? Thankfully, Dan cut in, “I don’t know. Maybe we all downloaded a virus or something. Maybe the group chat on Messenger?”

“It came in as a text message. I’m going to call the number and read them the riot act,” James said.

“I wouldn’t do that,” Dan said, “It’s probably just some scammers from India or something. You don’t want to provoke them. Just block them and move on. I bet a lot of people all over just got the same message.”

“It’s sick,” James continued, “It’s a good thing the girls are downstairs. For Christ’s sake, sometimes they play games on my phone when we’re babysitting. What if the message had come in then?”

“Well, thank God it didn’t,” Sarah finally managed to speak.

“Maybe you can bring this to your boss,” James said to Dan. “See if you guys can take down whoever sent it.”

“Now that’s an idea,” Dan said, turning to Sarah. “I’ll see what I can do about it.”

Sarah’s blood ran cold at the idea of him sharing the video at work. “Maybe not share the video. It’s porn after all. That’s not a good look for a new employee, right?”

Renee eagerly nodded her head, “Yes, that’s probably a good idea. Don’t want to make a bad impression after all. Don’t let this filth stain your new work, Dan.”

“Probably right, but still, I don’t like that someone could just send this to us. It’s a violation,” her father said. He didn’t know just how much the woman in the video had been wonderfully violated, over and over again.

“I’m going to go check on the girls,” Sarah said, rising from the table.

“Oh no, their tablets, you don’t think,” Renee started. Dan shot her a grave look, like he was going to strangle Lester.

“I’m sure they’re fine. They don’t have data,” Sarah said as she moved towards the basement.

“They’re on the same Wi-Fi,” Dan said, prompting her father to immediately call their cable provider.

Downstairs, the girls were blissfully unaware of what had transpired. Glued to a stupid doll dress-up YouTube video. She quickly checked their tablets and thankfully didn’t find anything out of place. She slumped onto the couch behind her daughters and typed WTF to Lester.

He had more videos. Dating back to who knows when. Worse, he just demonstrated how easy it was for him to send them to people she knew. It was some kind of fucked up power play.

“Mom, are you okay?” Ava asked.

“Yes, honey,” her voice came out hurried and half-panting. “Why do you ask?”

“I don’t know,” Ava shrugged and turned back to the TV. “You’re breathing funny like you just ran a race.”

Sarah took stock of herself. Her heart was hammering against her ribcage, and her breath was shallow and labored. She was turned on, despite everything. The thought disgusted her.

“Mommy is okay, honey. Go back to your show.”

Ted was in the front yard when the Williams pulled up in their driveway. He stiffened, the embarrassing encounter with Sarah still fresh on his mind. It was the only thing he could think about as he was alone in the house. That look she gave him, when she played along, made him erect every time he thought about it.

But now, he had to struggle not to think about it. Not when he was out in the middle of his yard in shorts, tending to his garden. The Williams’ girls bounded out of their car, giving him a friendly wave and shouting “Hi, Ted!” before bounding off into the house.

He saw Sarah stiffen. Dan gave him a friendly wave as well and followed the girls inside. Sarah cast a nervous look his way and quickly diverted her eyes. Her steps were quicker than usual, and he didn’t get to feast on the sight of her bubble butt for long.

But her demeanor had changed. Was it because Dan was with her? Before she had confidently shut him down, putting him in his place. But now...

She was nervous.

Ted had all but given up hope on ever bedding the beautiful blonde. After their earlier encounter, he’d been worried to even look in her direction and incur her wrath. But now she was nervous. He could work nervously.

‘WHAT THE FUCK’

Renee typed into her phone. That’s how she felt, but the words on the screen made her blush and think about all her Sunday school classes she attended as a child. She erased the words and typed in new ones.

‘WHAT THE HELL’

This still felt morally wrong to send. She erased it and typed in ‘WHAT THE HECK.’

She dropped her head in shame at how unserious it came across. Renee stared at her phone for a long time. Hours ago, the screen had lit up with Lester fucking another one of his conquests. That video had been shared with her husband, her son-in-law, and even her own daughter.

Lester had somehow sent it all to them as a way to send her a message. To rub her face in her illicit affair. What was she doing?

She put the phone down. Then picked it back up. She couldn't just let him do this. James flushed the toilet, and she tossed the phone onto the end of the bed and picked up the book she'd been reading.

James stretched with a yawn and sauntered into bed. He had been grumbling on the phone with the cable people for hours and had embarrassingly explained the entire situation to some poor, naive girl from India. It felt like Renee's own private hell.

"I'm gonna hit the sack," James said. He kissed her on the cheek and rolled away from her. Renee felt the anger boil up inside her. It didn't make sense. But she wanted to smack her husband on the back of the head with the book. Instead, she closed it and turned off the light, plunging herself into darkness. She stared up at the ceiling trying to sort out her feelings when it dawned on her.

She'd wanted sex. She was horny, and James had rejected her outright by going to bed without so much as a glance her way. The contact from Lester and the video had done more harm to her than she initially realized. It was good that the room was dark. The heat in her face and chest would be evident to James if he'd rolled over and looked at her.

She tried to sleep, but it evaded her. She couldn't get comfortable. Couldn't stop thinking about the night's events in a strange, aroused shame spiral. When she eventually did drift off, her dreams weren't much better. Lewd images plagued her, along with emoji people and Lester's giant manhood.

She awoke in the morning, drenched in sweat. James was already downstairs, and the smell of freshly brewed coffee drifted up the stairs. The first thing she did was grab her phone and type:

‘WHY!!?’

The response came later when she was forcing herself to enjoy her coffee. Three eggplant emojis. She didn't understand what that meant and had to look it up. Her face went red. James was talking to her, but she could barely pay attention. Her phone was face down on the table, but it was all she could think about.

Tension coiled in her chest, and she half expected James to confront her about everything at any second. At the way she'd broken their marriage vows. How she'd gone into that bathroom more than once. How she'd let Lester defile her.

She shifted her arms in front of her as she forced a conversation with her husband, trying to hide her erect nipples. They hurt, and she had to take several calming breaths to get her heart rate under control.

Her phone buzzed on the table, and James immediately looked at it. She snatched it, maybe too quickly. But she couldn't have James look at it. She feigned a sigh. "It's not one of those disgusting videos," Renee said. James visibly relaxed. On her screen was a close-up picture of Lester's cock.

Renee gulped and glanced at it one last time before putting her phone in her lap.

"The guys said we'd tee off around ten today. I hate going that late, but Roger likes to sleep in. I mean, he's retired, so I don't know why..."

The phone buzzed again. It vibrated in her lap, and she felt herself shudder. She clenched her thighs around the end of it so James wouldn't hear the noise. It vibrated again, and she stifled a small moan in the back of her throat. Each vibration sent a thrill into her, touching against her pussy. And the lewd knowledge of what might be on the screen.

James kept talking about his upcoming round of golf. Renee waited with bated breath for the text message to arrive. She had to get up and get a glass of cold water to calm her system down. She silenced her phone to stop the vibration.

"Well, the boys are probably all making their way there so I'd better head out too," James finished his coffee, got to his feet and kissed Renee on the head. "You let me know if you get any more strange messages today, okay? If you talk to Sarah, tell her I'm sorry again for what happened."

"There's no need for us to apologize," Renee said.

"I know," James said as he headed to the garage door. "Still, though, it's not right. Alright, hon, but I love you."

"Love you too," Renee said brightly. When the door shut, and she heard the garage door begin to rise, she quickly checked Lester's messages.

L: Why what? You didn't like what I sent? I thought you would. Jealous?

L: Admit it, you've been thinking about it all night.

L: You know, I'm in the neighborhood... Maybe you, me and James should have this conversation in person. What do you think?

Her stomach dropped. He couldn't really be close by, could he? Why? Why would he be close by? Clutching her phone, she ran to the front window and peered out. James was backing out of the driveway. There weren't any cars parked up or down the street. Lester couldn't be close by. He was just fucking with her.

She let out a relieved breath. James' car pulled onto the street and disappeared.

L: Was that you or James in the car?

Renee's heart skipped a beat. She swallowed, thumbs trembling over the keyboard.

R: What?

L: The car that just left. Were you in it, or was that James leaving? Did he leave you home all alone?

Renee leaned back against the couch for support. Things were spiralling out of control. She frantically typed, erased, and retyped a message. On the third time clearing it, she heard a car pull up into the driveway.

Behind the steering wheel of the large SUV was a portly, small man with beady eyes. Lester. Renee's stomach flipped. Before she knew what she was doing, she was out of her front door, casting nervous glances across the street and storming up to the man who was just about to get out.

"What? Lester, what the hel-heck are you doing here?" Renee demanded.

Lester smirked, "Just wanted to make sure that little video didn't cause a ruckus. Did you like it?"

Renee ground her bare feet into the concrete. "Lester, you need to leave now."

"Yeah? I mean, sure, but then I wouldn't be able to explain to James why I accidentally sent that to his phone, too. I'm really sorry about that."

"And Sarah and Dan's phones? Was that just an accident, too?" Renee demanded. She felt sick. Her accidental dalliance with Lester was pushing into uncomfortable territory she wasn't ready for or able to predict. He was here in her driveway for Christ's sake!

“Oh,” Lester chuckled, “Yeah, that was for a different reason.” Before Renee could press him on that, he continued, “Anyway, do you mind if I just come inside to chat?”

“Yes. I mind very much, actually,” Renee said. “Lester, this is my home. I know....”

She struggled to find the right words. There weren’t any. There weren’t any to convey the quiet guilt and longing she felt. The way that guilt seemed to wrap around her soul and suffocate her. She forced words out anyway, “We can’t do this. It needs to stop. I can’t– ”

“Is that really what you want?” Lester pressed, his eyes running up and down Renee’s body. It was only then that she realized he was out in the driveway in his pajama pants and a t-shirt without a bra on. Lester’s eyes were laser-focused on her nipples beneath the material. She crossed her arms on instinct. “It seems like this conversation is having an entirely different effect on you.”

“I meant what I said,” Renee said. Lester sighed like a patient parent. That condescension pissed Renee off.

“Alright then,” Lester shrugged, “I’ll just come back later then. See if James is in then.”

He shifted the car into reverse and slowly backed out of the driveway.

“Why?” Renee said. “Why? Forget about the thing you sent. It doesn’t matter. Lester, enough, okay? This has gone too far.”

“What’s gone too far?” Lester said. His voice carried up the street, making Renee wince. She cast uncertain glances around, just waiting for a neighbor to come out for work.

“I can’t...I don’t...we can’t do this here.” Renee begged. “Please.”

“Well, then let’s go inside and chat like I said,” Lester demanded. Renee knew where that might lead. She wanted to just let him leave, but the threat of him coming back and talking to James at any given time was too much to bear.

“No, not inside, just...”

“Get in,” Lester said.

“What?”

“Get in. Let’s go for a drive and talk. Then I’ll drop you back off.” Lester said.

Renee looked down at herself. Bare feet, pajama pants, and an oversized t-shirt without a bra. She wouldn't be caught dead going anywhere like this. Lester seemed to pick up on her reluctance, "The windows are tinted. We're not going for a picnic or anything. Just a chat to bury the hatchet. It'll be quick. I promise. I just have some things to say, okay?"

Renee stayed planted in the driveway. Lester nodded, "Okay then."

The SUV slowly crept backwards again.

"Wait," Renee seethed, marching up to the window. "Okay, but quickly, okay?"

Lester smirked like he'd expected this outcome all along. He jerked his thumb over his shoulder to the door behind him, "Get in."

Renee cast one glance up and down the street before hauling the door open and getting into Lester's SUV. It was filthy inside. Fast-food wrappers were scattered across the seat and the floor. It smelled of neglect. She barely had time to pull her belt on before Lester accelerated, the car flying out of the driveway and onto the street. Lester shifted it into drive and took off.

Renee tried to initiate a conversation, but it was awkward sitting right behind Lester. He didn't give her much in the way of responses. She took to staring at the back of his neck, how the hair on his back peaked up over the collar of his old shirt. It climbed up his neck until it reached the base of his scalp, where it became impossible to distinguish what was back hair versus head hair.

They drove through the bad part of town, and Lester pulled into an overgrown alleyway between some deserted homes. Without a word, he turned off the engine, got out, and opened the door next to her.

"Move over," Lester said impatiently. Renee undid her belt and slid back over the grungy seat. With a heft, Lester pulled himself into the car. The suspension dipped as he did. Lester's face was red as he finally pulled the door closed behind him. He turned to her with a predatory look on his face and said, "Let's talk."

Renee stiffened. She knew that look. She'd seen it on the faces of men all her life. She swallowed and composed herself. "Lester, I made an error in judgment. I am sorry if I led you to believe this was something more than it was or that it was something that would continue. The messages you sent last night to my family were a wake-up call, one that I can't ignore. Lester, I can't say it's been fun, exactly, that...I'm not sure what to call it, but it's time we stopped whatever this is."

Lester seemed to chew on her words, then shrugged, “Nah.”

Renee blinked.

“Excuse me?”

“Nah. It means no. No, thank you,” Lester said nonchalantly.

Lester smirked and turned to her. He pushed his bulk over the seat towards her. She slid back but butted up against the door. He got right into her face.

“Just tell me one thing,” Lester breathed his Cheeto breath onto her. “That video got you fucking wet, didn’t it? How jealous did you get?”

“I...” Renee started and felt her cheeks get warm. “Just stop, Lester. This isn’t funny.”

“No, it isn’t,” Lester agreed. “Did you get jealous of the blonde in the video? Jealous that I might be with someone else? It’s an older video, but I thought you’d still appreciate it. What did you think?”

“It was disgusting,” Renee said. Lester just leered at her.

“Yeah...” Lester mocked, “Is that why those nips are as hard as diamonds?”

Renee glanced down at her chest, then moved to cover her clearly protruding nipples with her arm. Lester’s hand moved to her hip. Renee’s breath caught in her throat.

“Tell me what you really thought of the video,” Lester said. Renee was about to respond when Lester’s lips crashed into hers. His large, rotund body sank onto hers. Renee could feel his gut press into her stomach and thighs. And she could feel IT.

She was simultaneously disgusted and turned on beyond belief. If only James had fucked her last night, she wouldn’t be such a whimpering mess right now. But he hadn’t. And he had left this morning to go golfing while Renee climbed the walls.

She pushed against him with all her might. But he was like an immovable boulder. She pushed again, this time with her hips, and stopped immediately when she pressed herself against his member. A weak moan escaped her lips. He wanted her. Desired her. Was right here. Hard and ready for her.

Something in Renee relented. And Lester must have felt it because he’d tugged her down onto her back and was lying on her, grinding his cock against her. Renee stiffened, her senses overwhelmed by Lester, the reek of the car and his breath. But her body overrode all of that as her hips inexplicably rose off the sticky seat to meet him.

Her throat made a pathetic, weak sound as her lips opened and she kissed him back. Her mind tumbled as her hands went to the back of his fat head, fingers lacing through the hair on the back of his neck as she pulled him deeper into their kiss. She felt him smirk against her lips. It disgusted her, but she was far too out of control to let a feeling like that stop her.

Lester's fat fingers were on her. Pulling at her pajama bottoms. He tugged them down, which was impressive given his bulk, which was pushing them flat. She felt her bare legs meet the air conditioning in the car. Lester's tongue rolled around her mouth. Her chest arched off the seat, pressing into him, her nipples grated against his chest, sending a thrill of electricity through her.

Renee needed more. She was out of control. And she loved how it felt.

Her panties were next, bunched with her pajamas around her ankles. Lester didn't wait. He broke the kiss, bucking back and dropping his sweatpants. This was her moment. The moment when Renee could stop all of this. Stop it before IT came out. Before she did something she regretted, again.

The door was right there, along with a million possibilities. She stayed still while Lester dropped his pants. She caught a glimpse of old, stained underwear before they were lost on the floor amongst the takeout containers and old Coke bottles. But her eyes were locked on the hard, girthy cock staring back at her. Pre-cum dribbled out of it. Something inside Renee quaked.

Grubby sausage-like fingers gripped her knees and spread them open. Renee swallowed, and Lester rested his weight on top of her. It felt like taking a punch to the gut when his stomach's weight pressed into her. But she felt his dick rising up her leg and bit her lip. Lester didn't try to kiss her. He just stared at her face. She furrowed her brow, wondering what he was doing, why was he —

The tip of his cock pressed against the pussy. She was already soaking wet. So wet. So desperately wet for him. She cringed inside at how easily she readied herself for him, even at her age. James always needed lots of foreplay before she was ready for him. But here she was, dripping wet for this ugly man.

Lester's grin widened, and she finally realized what he was smirking at. He edged his hips forward, and his cock parted her lips and sat at her entrance. He wanted to watch her face as he entered her. Watch the conflicted arousal and desire on her face give way to pure, undiluted pleasure. And that's exactly what he did.

Lester pushed his cock forward, and he entered her. Slowly. Agonizingly slow. Renee's body quivered, and she felt the mask of her face slip as Lester slowly pushed into her. He was teasing her, tormenting her. Dragging it out to break her will to his. Her hips bucked off the seat, desperately trying to take more of him into her. Lester's ugly grin widened.

"That a girl," Lester said in a low, throaty voice. It sent shivers through Renee.

"You're a bastard," Renee said, but it came out hot and flirty. She didn't want to look up at his ugly, sneering face anymore. She grabbed both sides of his watermelon-fat head and pulled him down into another kiss. She closed her eyes and pretended it was anyone else, but all she saw was that lecherous smirk. She needed this.

Her fingernails clawed at his flabby back. She urged him on. Lester obliged, dipping his hips and sending his entire length into her.

"Ohhmmmm," Renee groaned out the side of her mouth as Lester's fat tongue danced into it. His cock was hot and thick inside of her. Renee's hips pushed back on his, meeting him as he pulled his cock out before deliberately ramming it back in.

Renee's brain scrambled. All it could process was the feeling of his large cock inside of her. In and out. In and out. Their bodies moved in unison, tongues colliding. Their bodies coiled together. She was vaguely aware that the windows had, at some point, fogged up.

Renee's head lolled, and she opened her eyes. Lester was staring down at her, panting. Sweat ran down his face before beading down his chest or dripping onto hers. Renee licked her lips and tasted his salty sweat. His hands were on her shoulders, tugging her down as he thrust up into her.

Lord... Renee thought as Lester's expansive cock touched in places so deep that her nerve endings craved attention. Deeper than James had ever explored. Part of her cried inside at that thought. That she was sharing a part of herself so deeply with some disgusting pig instead of her husband. But it wasn't something she could ever share with James.

Lester leered down at her with his beady eyes. He looked like he was getting off on every subtle movement of her body. Her hitched breathing. The rising and falling of her breasts under her shirt. The quiver of her bottom lip.

Lester grunted and thrust forward. She felt massive, hairy balls slapping against her ass. His stomach burst forward, pushing her knees further and further apart. Renee's legs kicked, trying and failing to wrap around Lester's massive bulk. His jowls jiggled as he fucked her. Renee's stomach turned, but she gripped him with her pussy, milking him. Pulling him deeper. Not letting him go.

That's when she felt it. The undeniable orgasm was quickly rushing up towards her. Her hips slammed up to meet Lester's thrusts. His cock greedily plunged into her.

"Uhhmmhmmm," Renee purred, her eyes closing. She licked her lips. "God...help me."

The only sound that followed was Lester's labored breathing. Renee's soft, little, increasingly desperate moans. Their bodies moved together, back and forth in a dance leading to its inevitable climax. Renee's body was done waiting. She clawed at him, pulling him to her. Her body pushed back against him, gripped him, pulled on his cock, desperate not to let it go.

And Lester smirked. That disgusting shit-eating grin.

Renee lost control a moment later. Like a teenager in the back of an older student's car.

"Ohgod, Oh. God. Please..." Reene begged, "Oh GOD!"

The car seemed to shudder as an explosive orgasm tore through Renee, sending her eyes rolling back and her mind flashing white. Everything was warm and on fire. Pleasure burned through her, lighting up everything it touched. Her mind melted.

Lester's thrusts grew more urgent. She knew what was coming. Her pussy gripped his cock on instinct. Pulling him deeper, not letting him go. The words rolled out of her mouth before her mind could stop to process them, "God. Lester. Cum..."

The words seemed to snap an awareness into place. Her lazy eyes opened in time to Lester's face contort in satisfaction. She felt him expand inside her and, with a sobering realization, remembered he wasn't wearing a condom.

Lester grunted, and his cum blasted into her. It hit the inside of her walls, rope after sticky warm rope flooding into her. Each jolt sent aftershocks of pleasure coursing through her. She felt lost in the moment, her pussy squeezing him. Intent on not wasting a drop of him.

Her mind was on fire, but little thoughts of doubt raced inside of it but utterly drowned out by the overwhelming sensations coursing through her, radiating out from deep inside her pussy. Lester let out one last triumphant grunt and collapsed on top of her. His sweat-stained skin pressed against her.

She felt full. Not just because of his cock. But because every inch of her was flooded with his cum. She brushed away her blonde hair clinging to her face.

“Get off me,” she whispered. Lester groaned in protest, but pushed himself to his knees. His cock plopped out of her with a pop, and she felt a rush of sticky liquid rush out from between her thighs. She clamped her hand down to block it, then felt foolish and let it drip onto the already sticky seat.

Lester languished back against the window, catching his breath, eyes roaming over her with glee. She covered her eyes and tried not to think about the last ten minutes. Without a word, Lester eventually got himself dressed and moved back into the driver’s seat. Renee pulled her pajamas back up and waited for him to take her home.

Dan had had it with Lester. He’d gone too far this time. Too far. But he’d shown how far-reaching that hand could be. He showed he could get to their family. And he had the videos to destroy them.

Sarah had sent a dozen furious texts to Lester that had gone unanswered. The not knowing was the worst part. Silence. She’d even debated having Dan drive her up to the apartment in Chicago and confronting him, but he’d talked her down.

Dan racked his brain searching for a way out of this. He felt trapped. Like an animal in a cage with no way out. He spun in his office chair. But no matter which way he looked at it, Lester had them. He didn’t know what videos he had. Probably dozens of Sarah in compromising positions. Probably just as many of him, doing something equally shameful, like not intervening as another man took his wife. Or worse, Dan jerking off at the peephole in the wall.

He didn’t know what Lester had. When he’d used them against them, or how far his reach could be. It wouldn’t be out of the realm of possibility for Lester to reach Gordon or his new work colleagues.

He tried not to focus on Lester. Instead, he tried to focus on things he could control. But then the threat of a civil lawsuit clawed out from the depths of his mind. He needed a lawyer, an expense he couldn’t swing at the moment. Not when he was just getting back on his feet. The timing sucked. He knew Jesse had been too quiet, but he’d just hoped things would get better.

Hope. the word tasted bitter. Hope was for fools. He couldn't hope his way out of the situation with Lester. He needed to take action. Dan thrummed his fingers across his desk and reached into his work bag, pulled out his laptop. He booted up the company's VPN and logged in to the limited area of the employee directory he could access remotely. He found his target. The tip line. The company's bounty system was used to draw attention to matters they could sell to their three-letter-agency clients.

Dan began typing a dossier on Lester. Assembling all he knew about the man, his habits and his practices. And his suspicions. And every possible issue he thought federal law enforcement might have against someone like Lester. Most of it he couldn't verify without going on the record as a firsthand witness. But he hoped it might be enough to get someone to look into Lester Marshall.

A knock came at the office door. Sarah was there, standing in her pajamas. "I got the girls down. Took a while, but they are out."

"Why do you look like you want to hurl?" Dan asked.

"Lester finally just responded to me," she said hesitantly. "He's here. In Middleton. He wants to talk."

"Motherfucker," Dan snapped. "What? Are we just supposed to rearrange our whole lives around his every whim?"

"I know. He's...god I can't believe he sent that fucking video to my parents. I want to strangle him, but..."

"But?" Dan pressed, anger simmering.

"I don't want anyone to see me like that," Sarah gulped, "raw like that. If he hadn't put that stupid emoji on my face, my parents would know all about...us...what we've been doing. I couldn't take that, Dan. Just the constant, incessant badgering and questions about me. About our marriage. The girls would pick up on it and...fuck I'm spinning."

"I know. I get it." Dan said.

"I'm sorry, but I don't think you do. It's not you in these videos," Sarah said.

"It might be. He said he had things on both of us. What if..."

"There are no videos of you getting fucked and acting like a slut," Sarah said. That strung more than it should. Lester might have videos of Dan and Sarah together, but they were just a footnote to the events that happened in that apartment.

Dan changed the subject. "What does he want?"

"I don't know. I haven't responded," Sarah said warily.

"Ask him. Then we can deal with it." Dan said. He thought about how much better life might be if Lester just happened to have a heart attack. Maybe there was something at the hospital they could slip him that would do the trick. He'd be doing the world a favor.

"He wants to come over. To 'talk'," she said, making air quotes around the word talk.

Dan steeled himself. He was going to confront Lester about everything. The footage, the Vasectomy. Lizzie. All of it.

"Set it up," Dan rose to his feet. "Let's get this over with. Rip the band-aid off and see what we're dealing with."

"The girls..." Sarah said breathlessly.

"We'll figure it out. Keep it downstairs or something." Dan said.

Sarah's fingers hesitated over the phone. "I don't like this. Part of me likes giving control over to him. Losing control. But not like this. Not when it feels like a guillotine is hovering over our heads."

"We'll figure something out," Dan said.

"You know he's going to try and fuck me tonight, right?" Sarah asked.

"Yeah," Dan replied firmly. Sarah held his gaze for a few seconds before turning away and tapping on her phone.

"It's done," she said without looking at him. Dan settled back into his chair and felt like a bullet train was speeding towards him. Lester was coming. He had a limited amount of time to figure out how to confront him and try to get out from under his thumb.

"Okay. Well, I guess we'd better get ready," Dan said, turning to his computer and pressing the send button on the report. He mentally crossed his fingers, hoping it would result in something happening to Lester. Sarah stayed in the doorway, arms crossed over her chest.

“You okay?” Dan asked.

“Yes...no...I don’t know, Dan. I never thought we’d be in this position,” Sarah said. Dan thought of all the positions he’d seen Sarah in while with Lester and wasn’t at all surprised at this one they found themselves in.

“We’ll figure something out,” Dan said, rising and pulling Sarah into his arms. She rested her head on his chest and let him hold her. Dan’s mind started to turn with possibilities. In movies, assassins cut the brake lines on cars. Was that something he could do? His key to the apartment still worked. Maybe he could grease the shower or put something in one of Lester’s Coke cans. He pictured Lester, with a smile on his face, choking on a handful of Cheetos.

“What will we do?” Sarah asked quietly, “It’s like he owns us now.”

Dan didn’t hear the weight that her words should carry. It almost felt like she was already resigned to her fate, but just saying the words for him. That nagged at him. She still wanted Lester. Had Dan ever held that much of a hold over her? The thought made something in him twist and break.

“We’ll figure something out,” Dan repeated. He held her like that for a while until she broke away and said, “I need a drink. Do you want one?”

It wasn’t a good idea. They should be sharp for this. He should be. But a drink sounded like the thing he needed. They headed downstairs to the kitchen. Dan waited for Sarah to pour a glass of wine, but she poured a shot of vodka and slammed it. She slid one to Dan, who eyed it. She slammed another. Dan followed suit.

“We should slow down,” Dan said.

“I don’t want to do this without this,” Sarah said. You’ve done it lots of times without it, Dan thought, but kept it to himself. This time did feel different, but he took another shot anyway. It burned going down, and his chest grew warm. It felt nice after it settled. They didn’t talk, just made eye contact with the counter. Eventually, Sarah did pour a glass of wine for each of them. By the time he’d finished his first glass, he felt that comfortable buzz settle on him.

Sarah was outpacing him, and he knew she was heading towards a different inevitable conclusion than he was. Still, he tried to think through the problem. He’d done the tip line. He’d done what he could. Short of killing Lester, there wasn’t anything left for him to do. Was there?

His thoughts screeched to a halt when the doorbell rang. Sarah shared a long look with him. He didn't move. With one last long gulp that emptied her glass, Sarah breezed across the kitchen floor and answered the door. Dan didn't get up. He stared down at his glass as the voices drifted to him.

"Why, long time no see sexy lady," Lester's overbearing voice said. Dan finished the last of his wine. "You got a kiss for Daddy?"

He heard the sound of wet lips smacking together. The door shut hard, but the sound of lips still persisted. It lasted longer than it should have. It gutted him how swiftly things had gone from a united front to this. But maybe he was being overly dramatic. Dan pushed himself up to his full height and strode into the living room. His living room.

Lester had Sarah pinned against the back of the couch. Her back leaned over it as they frantically kissed. Lester was already grinding away at her. Her white robe had fallen open, revealing her bra and panties underneath, a stark contrast to Lester's grungy sweatpants and stained shirt.

Dan just froze, staring as he was ignored. He was like a ghost in his own house, a spectator watching events unfold. He cleared his throat. Sarah froze for a second, but Lester's assaulting tongue and hips continued.

He cleared his throat again. Louder this time, and stepped forward. He put his hand on Lester's shoulder and forcibly pulled him off, Sarah. Lester stumbled back, eyes wide. Dan clenched his fist and, for a second, almost punched him in his fat, pudgy head. Lester righted himself, and his trademark grin appeared on his face, "Oh, Daniel, I didn't know you were home. Lately, you've learned to leave Sarah and me alone. Which I appreciate."

"Yeah, that's not happening. You crossed a line this time, Lester. There's no going back from it," Dan said. Lester eyed Sarah, who was still leaning against the couch, panting. At least she had the common sense to pull her robe closed around her.

"I've barely even crossed the line so far tonight," Lester said, "Believe me, bud, you'll fucking know it when I do."

"I'm not talking about this," Dan gestured to Sarah and, unfortunately, to Lester, whose pants were sprouting a tent. "You sent a video to Sarah's parents and us."

"Oh yeah," Lester scratched his chin. "That. Well, I did put the emojis over the faces. You're welcome. I didn't have to do that, you know."

“Shut the fuck up, Lester,” Dan snapped. “Just shut up. For once in your pathetic life, shut up. We aren’t doing this anymore. I don’t care. Okay? I told you we’re done. You’re going to delete everything you have, understand?”

Something dark passed over Lester’s face but disappeared an instant later. Then he broke out laughing. And kept laughing. He laughed so hard that he had to put his hand on his stomach, and he doubled over in pain from laughing so much. Eventually, he stopped, standing up and wiping a tear from his eyes. “Did you...did you honestly think that was going to work? That you just demand something and I do it? What are you, a fucking toddler?”

Dan’s gaze hardened. Lester checked his watch.

“You know, if nothing else, Dan, you are predictable. Lovingly predictable. You always act with anger, but that flame always dies out into an ember before I snuff it out,” Lester chided. His eyes drank in Sarah’s bare legs.

Sarah and Dan’s phones dinged. Lester pointed at the air, “You might want to go check that.”

Dan’s eyes burned with fury. He didn’t move. Sarah gripped her robe’s belt tightly and stumbled away into the kitchen to check her phone. She gasped.

“Lester, you piece of shit,” Sarah said. Her chest was still rising and falling as she returned to the living room, but Dan wasn’t sure if that was anger or arousal from earlier with Lester. Maybe both.

“What is it?” Dan asked. He hadn’t left his spot. Sarah held her phone out in front of Dan. On the screen, Sarah was on her knees in the apartment. Lester lowered the strap on her bra as he stood over her. Dan sitting on the couch, touching himself, watching. It had happened so long ago that Dan barely remembered it. That meant Lester had months and months worth of footage.

“Ta-Da!” Lester chuckled to himself. “Now you’re going to stand there and process what this means. Yes, I have more. Yes, there is a lot. No, I’m not going to be nice and delete it all. Yes, I plan to leverage this. And yes, I can keep doing this as long as I want. And yes, I have a long reach. Who do you think would most like to see this? Someone at Sentinel? Maybe the teachers at school? What about your family, Dan? We haven’t really explored things there. You have a sister, don’t you? I think you should introduce us. I have some things I’d like too..”

“Enough,” Dan sighed and winced at how defeated his voice sounded. The only option he could think of here was to punch Lester in the face and never stop hitting him.

“You notice that I didn’t send that right now, right? It’s on a delay. Like the other messages to the other recipients,” Lester nodded and stepped around him. He took Sarah’s phone and tossed it on the couch. Then he spooned Sarah from behind. She shivered, but Dan couldn’t help but notice the small sway of her hips as she pressed back into him. Was Sarah just faking being upset earlier? It was like all her resistance melted before his eyes. Once Lester got a hold of her, her resolve crumbled, if it was real to begin with. Dan, not for the first time, felt like an outsider. A bystander. Witnessing something he shouldn’t be privy to. It made him sick. The idea that his wife would just lie to him over something so serious like this. Was she even his anymore? The thoughts kept swirling, adding to his paralysis.

“So yeah, like, checkmate,” Lester wiggled his eyebrows. His hands moved to Sarah’s shoulders and pulled the robe from them, revealing her angelically smooth skin. Lester planted kisses along her shoulder, and she sucked in a breath. “Intoxicating, isn’t she?”

Dan’s hands balled into fists, seething. The familiar paralyzing erotic tension washed over him, threatening to douse his anger, just like Lester said. Lester eagerly watched him as Sarah’s robe fell to the floor. His kisses on her skin intensified as he cupped her bra-clad breasts. His tongue lolled out as he kissed her skin.

With a hand, he held her waist, encouraging and directing her to grind against him. She gave Dan one last apologetic look before closing her eyes and leaning her head back against Lester. They swayed together, Lester’s pudgy fingers running down the front of her body until they were buried in her panties. Sarah quivered, and the urgency of her swaying increased until she was actively grinding against Lester’s cock. He shuffled out of his sweatpants and pressed hard into her.

He peered up at Dan over Sarah’s back as he licked the sensitive spot on the back of her neck, “You’ve failed to account for how smart I am. And how much Sarah has fallen for me.”

Dan wanted to punch the smug, monologuing little man. He’d seen too many movies and was trying to emulate a cool villain. But the hero in this story didn’t have some trick up his sleeve to stop him. At least not yet.

Dan had to just watch as Lester ravaged Sarah. She didn’t even spare a glance his way like she used to in these scenarios. Back when it was them doing this for their fantasy. His fantasy. Lester watched him tauntingly as he pushed Sarah over the couch and ground into her backside. Her throaty moans escaped her lips, and Lester seemed to revel in it.

“You should really just stay in Washington,” Lester chuckled, “It would be better for everyone.”

“You never got a vasectomy, did you?” Dan blurted out. Lester cocked his head.

“You took me to the appointment,” Lester said, “How dense are you?”

“I went to see Lizzie,” Dan said.

That got Lester’s attention. He narrowed his eyes, “Oh?”

Dan just let it hang there for a second, waiting to see how Lester would react. Lester shrugged and continued humping into Sarah. He pulled back and yanked her panties down to her ankles, making her gasp. Lester licked up her legs until he began tonguing her ass cheeks. Then he plowed forward, his face disappearing between her cheeks.

Sarah’s head arched up, her fingers slamming to grip the couch as her hips thrust back on Lester. She wiggled her pretty bubble butt against his face as Lester’s tongue swirled around her asshole. Dan watched in horrified fascination as Sarah came undone at Lester’s expert manipulations.

“Lizzie’s pregnant,” Dan said flatly.

Lester ignored him, continuing to tongue Sarah’s asshole and making her go wild. One of his hands held her hip, the other was in front of her, playing with her clit. Sarah ground herself back on him, soft little moans emanating from her.

Lester stood up and wiped saliva from his stubble-covered face. He looked at Dan and shrugged, “So? Nice job, Sherlock, you saw a woman with a pregnant stomach and made the logical deduction. Congratulations.”

“Is it yours?” Dan said, ignoring the barb.

“I don’t see how that’s possible,” Lester shrugged, then checked his watch. “The next video drops soon.”

Ice ran through Dan’s veins, his mind losing the script on his interrogation plot.

“What video?” Dan demanded.

“One you really, really don’t want anyone seeing,” Lester said, “it’s too bad it’s not just the two of you on that distribution list.”

“You...fucking...bastard,” Sarah panted, but as she did, her ass still stuck out, looking for more of Lester. A sheen of sweat ran down her back.

“Your turn, lover boy,” Lester said. He pushed Sarah flat onto the couch. “On your back.”

She listened to his command so easily, flipping over.

“Prep her for me,” Lester said and pointed at Sarah. Her body was already wriggling there in anticipation of more of Lester.

“What?” Dan demanded.

“How fucking dense are you?” Lester snapped, “Go eat her out, and I’ll pause the next drop.”

Dan hesitated. Lester just stood back, looking at his watch.

“I..” Dan started, but Lester cut him off.

“Tick-Tock,” Lester said.

“Please,” Sarah whined, looking at Lester. Then back to Dan. “I need it.”

Dan felt a punch to the gut at how easily Sarah had fallen for this. Was there no coming back?

“Fuck,” Sarah said, hands going to her breasts as she slowly convulsed on the couch, touching herself, thighs running together. Lester wiggled his eyebrows at him. Dan frowned, but thoughts swirled through his head. What was in that video? Who could Lester reach? He couldn’t find a way out of it.

“Fuck you,” Dan spat at Lester, then moved between Sarah’s legs on the couch. She moaned at the contact, pushing her pussy up to meet Dan’s swirling tongue. She put her hand on the back of his head, guiding him as he licked up and down her slit. He found her clit and began to suck on it, alternating between licking it up and down, swirling it in a circle.

Sarah’s elated moans started to flood into his mind. He felt himself get hard, in spite of the murderous thoughts swirling in his head. Sarah’s nails scraped over his scalp, sending a shiver down his spine. He knew how fucked up this was. It was all too fucked up. His buzzed brain struggled to find a way out of this. He knew his confrontation and questioning had been clumsy. He'd fucked up, and now he was eating Sarah out while Lester watched. What the fuck had happened?

But Sarah's erotic moans lulled him deeper into what he was doing. His hands grabbed her waist, eliciting another moan from her. He dug in, swirling his tongue around slowly. Deliberate. Her hips pushed off the couch into his face. Her juices spread over his lips and onto his cheeks. She was loving this. And Dan was happily obliging as all other thoughts melted away.

Dan went to town, getting lost in Sarah's body responding to his actions. He ground himself against the couch, his hard dick pressing against the leather as he humped forward with every lick and nod of his head.

Then something tapped the back of his head. Hard. Then again.

Dan pulled his face from Sarah's pussy. She was looking up past him. Dan turned to see Lester about to flick him on the head. Instead, he put his meaty hand on Dan's shoulder and pulled him back. Dan lost his balance and fell to the ground. Lester was already in his place, cock in hand as he lined himself up with Sarah's pussy, pushing her legs wider so Dan could get a view of what he was about to do to his wife.

"This is what you've been waiting for, huh?" Lester asked. Sarah licked her lips and nodded her head. Lester stroked the head of his cock up and down her pussy lips, her ass rising up seeking more of him. Pleading for him to slide it into her.

"Dan seems to think I was lying about my vasectomy. Some grand conspiracy about me knocking up Lizzie, what do you think about that?" Lester asked as he teased Sarah.

"I...I don't know...I think...Ahhmhmm," Sarah was cut off as Lester started to feed his cock into Sarah. Her body revelled in the sensation, cutting off all speech. Her fingers dug into his biceps as he towered over her, his flabby gut seemingly dripping off and melting over her skin. He watched her responses eagerly. Drinking them in.

"I mean, even if I did lie about that, you wouldn't stop this, would you?" Lester continued, pushing his hips forward. Sarah didn't respond, but her body coiled around Lester, pulling him deeper. Desperately needing more of him. Dan just gulped from the floor, watching. He was close. The wet smacking sounds of their coupling echoed in his ears.

Lester cast one glance at Dan, "I guess that's a no."

The fucking fat bastard smirked, took Sarah by the chin and turned her face towards Dan. She didn't open her eyes. Her face was a mask of needy pleasure. Lester let his tongue coil out like a snake and possessively licked her lips. She let them open with a moan, her own tongue lolling out to meet his. They collided, wrapping around each other, sucking. Lester forced his tongue into her mouth, eliciting a deep, pleasurable moan from Dan's wife. Then he turned her away from him, Lester's massive, hairy body blocking Sarah from view.

Lester began rutting into her with full abandon. Dan was used to Lester slowly working her up, controlling himself, but he was thrusting like there was no tomorrow. Some small part of Dan told him that he'd already worked her up himself by eating her out. And now Lester was taking full advantage of that.

The balls of his feet dug into the couch as he pushed forward, driving his cock deep into Sarah. Her own body shuddering with each thrust. Her legs were splayed wide around him, heels eagerly digging into his ass, trying to will him deeper and deeper. Dan couldn't see his wife's face, but he could hear her. Wet smacking sounds of lips. And the unmistakable sound of her moans getting louder and louder.

Sweat covered Lester's skin with just a few minutes of exertion. He broke the kiss and continued his fucked up diatribe, "Do you want me to pull out?"

"No...noooo," Sarah moaned, her head thrashing to the side. Dan gulped. She never made those sounds with him.

"I can put a condom on, if you want," Lester continued.

"Fuck...noo...just fuck me...please Lester," Sarah whined. It was needy and desperate, making Dan's stomach turn to knots. He tried to push himself to his feet. To get away from all of this, but found that the paralyzing arousal had returned. He couldn't move.

"What do you want? Where do you want me to cum?" Lester continued.

"In me...In me...." Sarah seemed to beg. Her fingers clawed at his shoulders, trying to pull him back down onto her. "I want it in me, Lester...."

"But Dan thinks I'm not fixed...." Lester let the words hang there, waiting for her to pick them up.

Sarah didn't respond, so he continued.

"You know what that means, right? What's he implying?" Lester asked.

In a whisper, Sarah said, "Yes."

A smile crept over Lester's ugly face, "Good girl. Tell me."

"It means...ah...it means...uhmmhmm," Sarah licked her lips, "It means your cum wants to fucking knock me up. That's what it means. That you never got fixed. That your sperm is just...going to fill me."

"Mhmmm, that's it. Going to fill you. Flood into you. Find that egg and put a baby in you," Lester growled. Sarah bucked off the couch, fucking him back earnestly. Her breaths were coming in heavy. She was going wild under him. Dan could tell the idea was turning her on. And all he could do was watch. He kept telling himself over and over that she was still on birth control. If Dan's wild theory was right, they were still okay.

"Beg me for it. Right here in front of your fucking husband. Beg me to do it," Lester said.

"Fuck! Lester!" Sarah shouted, "I want it...I don't care anymore...I just want to feel your cum in me...Jesus...god I need it...I need it all...fill me, Lester...god make me pregnant, you fucking bastard."

"Atta girl," Lester licked his lips, "Gonna pump you full until your tummy swells, Sarah."

"God, just fucking do it, Lester," Sarah's head lolled, and her thrusts off the couch became more urgent. Dan could tell she was getting close. He knew the signs, but this was something else entirely.

"Make me pregnant," Sarah cried.

"You hear that, Dan?" Lester chuckled, "Your wife wants me to breed her. And a gentleman obliges a lady," Lester grunted as he pumped his cock into Sarah. "God, she feels so fucking tight. But I bet you already knew that, didn't you, Mr. Detective? You think you're so clever, don't you? Trying to figure stuff out."

"But," Lester hammered into Sarah.

"It. Doesn't." He punctuated the word with another hard thrust into her. Her breasts jiggled, and her body began to tense up.

"God...Lester...I'm gonna.."

“Matters,” Lester spat. Spittle flew out of his mouth and landed on Sarah’s face. Her eyes were tightly closed and her mouth was turned into an ‘O’.

‘Cum...oh...fuckk...’ Sarah moaned as her face contorted. Her entire body went rigid as Lester plowed into her. He power fucked her with several rapid thrusts.

He threw his head back and shouted, “Here is cums, Sarah. Your husband is about to watch you get bred and isn’t doing a thing to stop me.”

“Fuck...give it to meeee!” Sarah whined, her nails digging into Lester’s arms as her body spasmed under him as she came.

Lester roared and tensed. And Dan knew he was unloading his cum into his wife. Sarah’s face reacted in surprised pleasure with each rope of cum. Dan could see her expression change over and over as Lester poured his seed into her.

Dan’s mind picked up on something else. Footsteps. Upstairs. His paralysis lessened, and he threw himself to his feet and scrambled up the stairs as the sound of rutting and wet smacking of lips and desperate moans continued behind him.

He got to the top of the stairs just in time before Ava, wiping sleep from her eye, was about to come around the corner.

“Dad? What’s that noise?” she asked. Dan bit his lip, trying to calm his beating heart. “It’s...just a movie, honey. Now go back to bed.”

“Can you stay with me? That movie...it’s scary sounding.”

‘Yeah,’ Dan sighed, rubbing his eyes, “It is. It’s a really scary one.

“Does it have a happy ending?” she asked quietly.

“I don’t know,” Dan sighed, ‘I haven’t watched it before. It’s not looking good, though.”

Dan realized what he’d said and gave his daughter a comforting pat on the back, “I’m sure it will. Most movies do right?”

“Yes,” Ava said.

Dan needed to get her back down to bed. He didn’t want her wandering downstairs and discovering what was happening. But he didn’t want to leave Sarah in Lester’s hands. He was torn, but let his daughter lead him back to her room, where he put her in bed and settled into the chair next to her, waiting for her to fall asleep.

He had to steady his breath as the walls threatened to close in on him. What the fuck had happened to his life? He was here, in his daughter's bedroom, while his wife got railed downstairs by his piece of shit roommate. Worse, Sarah was enjoying every second of it. The lines were blurred more now than they'd ever been. Not only could the kids easily discover what was going on, but Dan had completely overlooked Lester just sauntering into their house for everyone on the street to see. He was so worried about the pictures and video of Lester's but he was letting something like this happen?

He'd let it happen. He'd just....stood there passively again like some curse had claimed him. He felt weak and pathetic. And that thought made him cringe, but his heart quickened at the taboo nature of it all. It sent a thrill through him that he wished he could quit.

He closed his eyes and tried to think of anything else. He didn't want to think like this, not right now. He was sure he could hear sounds coming from downstairs, but this was the last place he wanted to think about then. He closed his eyes tight and let the flashes of images of Lester and Sarah drift by, trying to will anything else to take their place.

The sounds downstairs persisted as the alcohol and images claimed Dan, and he dozed off trying to imagine what was happening.