

VERDANT VERTIGO - CHAPTER 1

BY AAABBBZZZ

01 William was a 48 year old man having breakfast with his girlfriend Rose who was 44. They had been dating for some time and had moved in together, even though Rose had her 20 year old daughter still with her. Despite this, they made things work as they both had busy schedules.

So I'll be out for the next few days, I'll be working on that long flight this time, flying across the ocean and coming back afterwards. It's such a long stretch of work, but I'll be happy to be home when it's done.

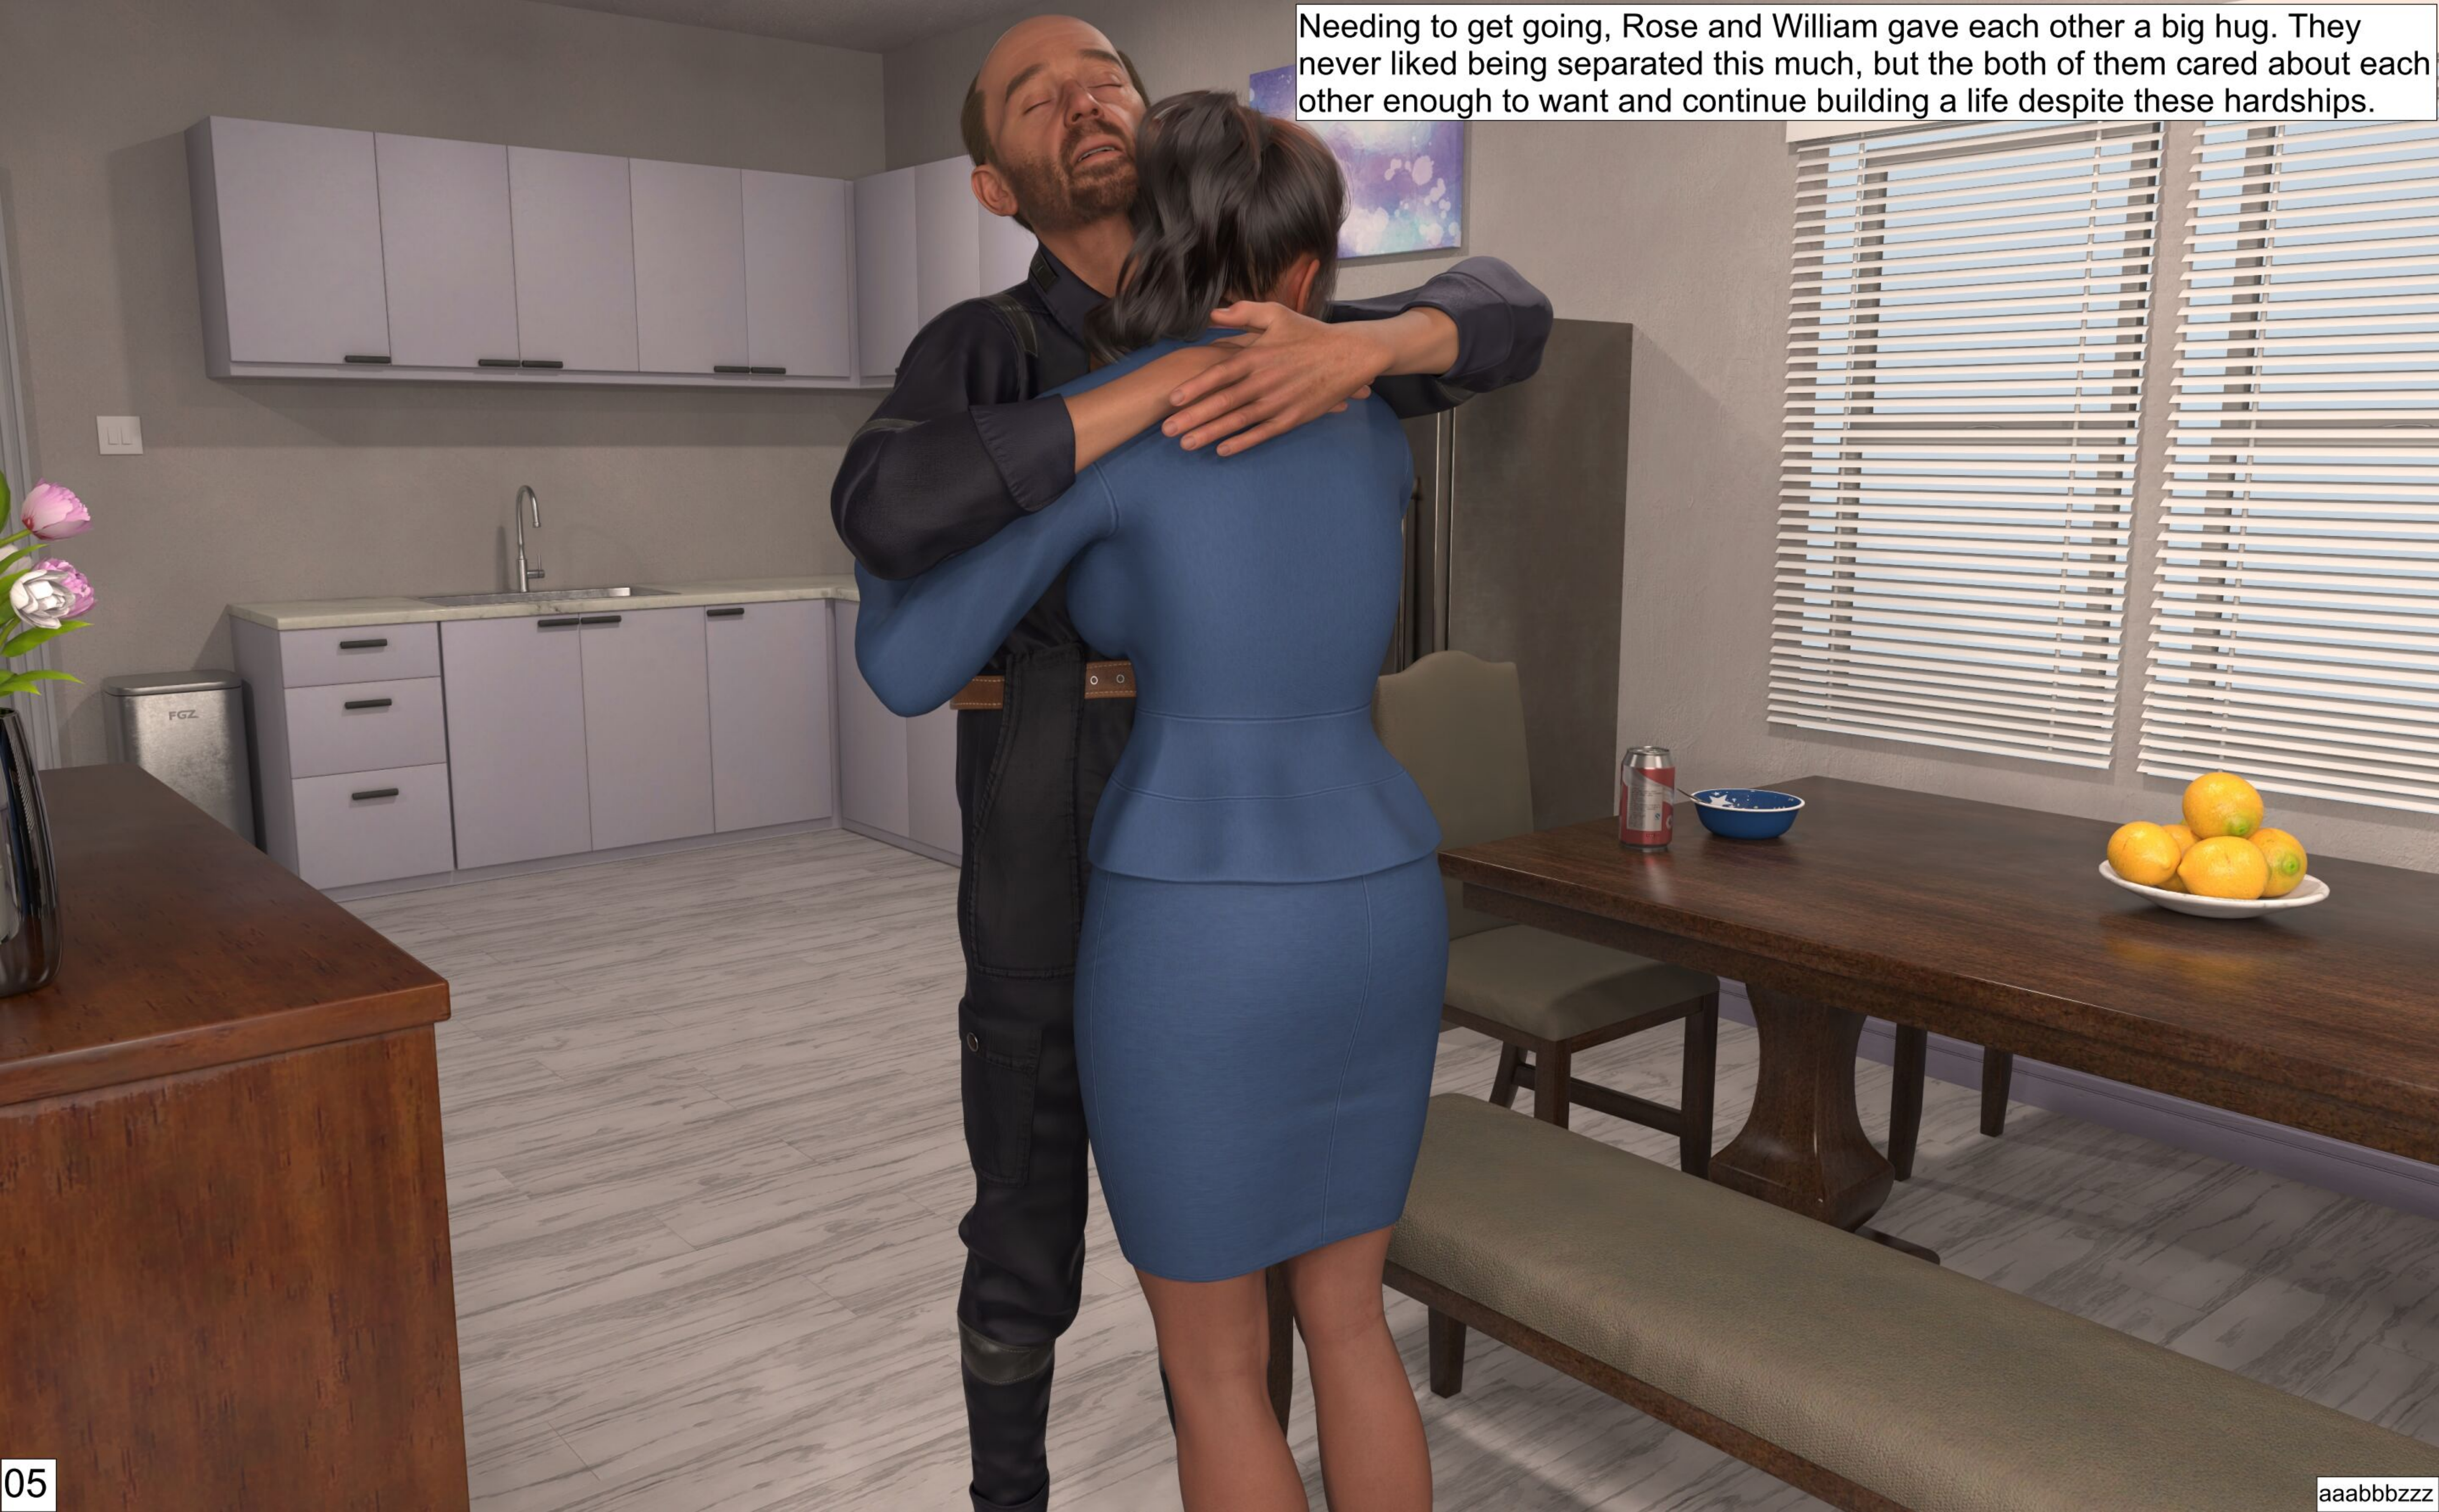

I'll miss you babe! I have a busy couple days coming up as well. I didn't expect to get so many things to work on, but before we know it the weekend will be here and we'll be able to relax together.

Do me a favor and watch over Angela for me. I know she's not your daughter, but one day you'll be her step-dad.

I know we haven't been getting along lately, she's resistant to that idea still, but I'll do my best. We will keep you updated, I promise.

Needing to get going, Rose and William gave each other a big hug. They never liked being separated this much, but the both of them cared about each other enough to want and continue building a life despite these hardships.

Being a flight attendant, Rose would be gone for periods of times. As she walked out of her home she turned around and blow one more kiss to her boyfriend before leaving for her long new few work days.

Hmm... I have some extra time.
It could be a good opportunity to work on my device. We made a huge breakthrough with it the other day so hopefully I can complete it since work has been making me so tired lately.

In his garage, William was tinkering with an experimental device that was able to change the size of things. Being a mover, he wanted to come up with a solution to make things easier on himself. Although it seemed very useful, he knew it was also very dangerous.

Suddenly, the device went off with a green light on accident that lit up the entire room. William quickly backed away, afraid of what the results from this might be. Luckily for him, it was aiming towards a box on his workbench and not himself.

No way! It shrunk that box to just a fraction of its original size. So it's working now? I can't believe it, this is going to make my job so much easier now.

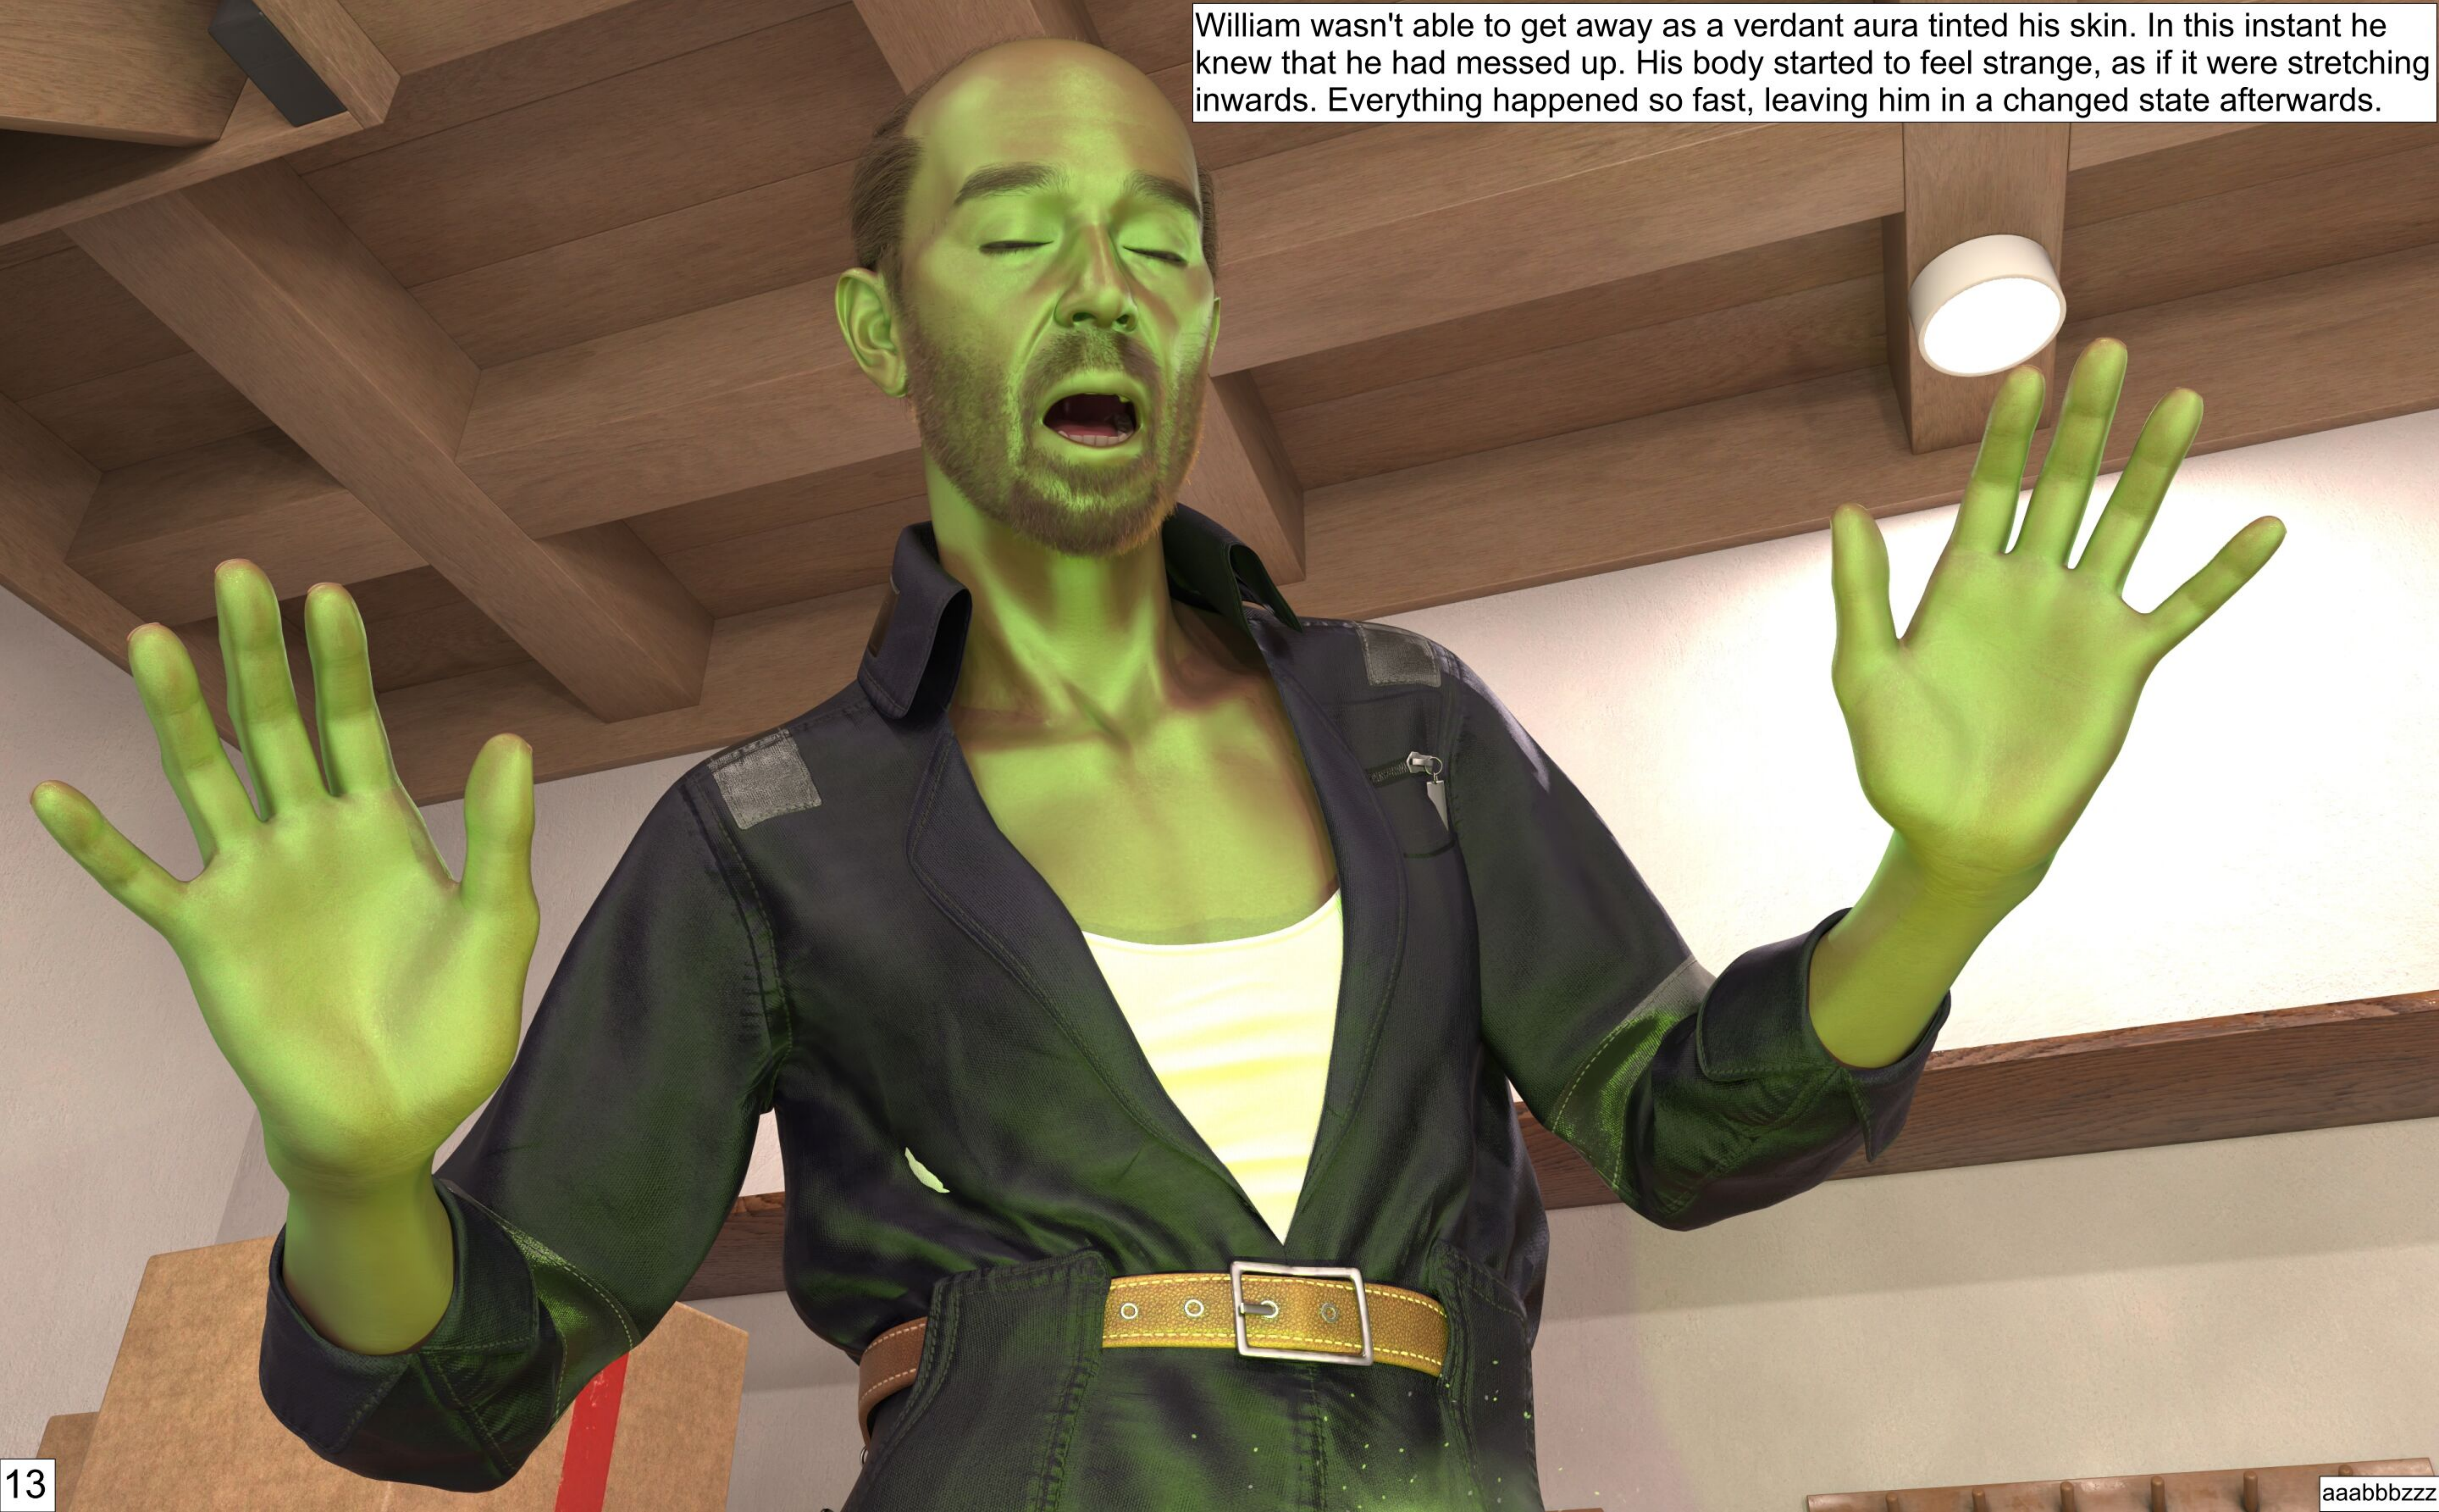

However, I think I should be careful with this. As cool as this is, I have no idea how it works or what the effects are on living things. It would be very bad if this device got in the wrong hands.

As William thought about the power of this new device, he noticed it lighting up again without any warning. Unable to think quick enough, he let go of it, letting it fall to the floor. But when he looked down, he made eye contact with that green light, the same one that shrunk the box moments ago.

William wasn't able to get away as a verdant aura tinted his skin. In this instant he knew that he had messed up. His body started to feel strange, as if it were stretching inwards. Everything happened so fast, leaving him in a changed state afterwards.

Fuck, my head is spinning after that. How did that even happen? That green light was so blinding and I have no idea how the device even activated. Hopefully I can figure it out so it doesn't do that again.

However, once the tiny man was able to recover, his heart dropped. He felt a sense of dread once he realized that he had accidentally shrunk himself. The garage and everything around him was so expansive and he was too small to operate the device. He didn't know what to do, so he started to walk around his house, exploring it at his new size.

It took a minute for William to make it out of his garage, walking through the slightly cracked door as if it was an opening into a whole other world. He was so enticed by the size of everything else that it made him forget how tiny and vulnerable he was now.

This is so unreal, everything is so gigantic now... I just can't believe it. What am I going to do though? I should probably go back to the device and figure out a way to activate it and bring me back to normal.

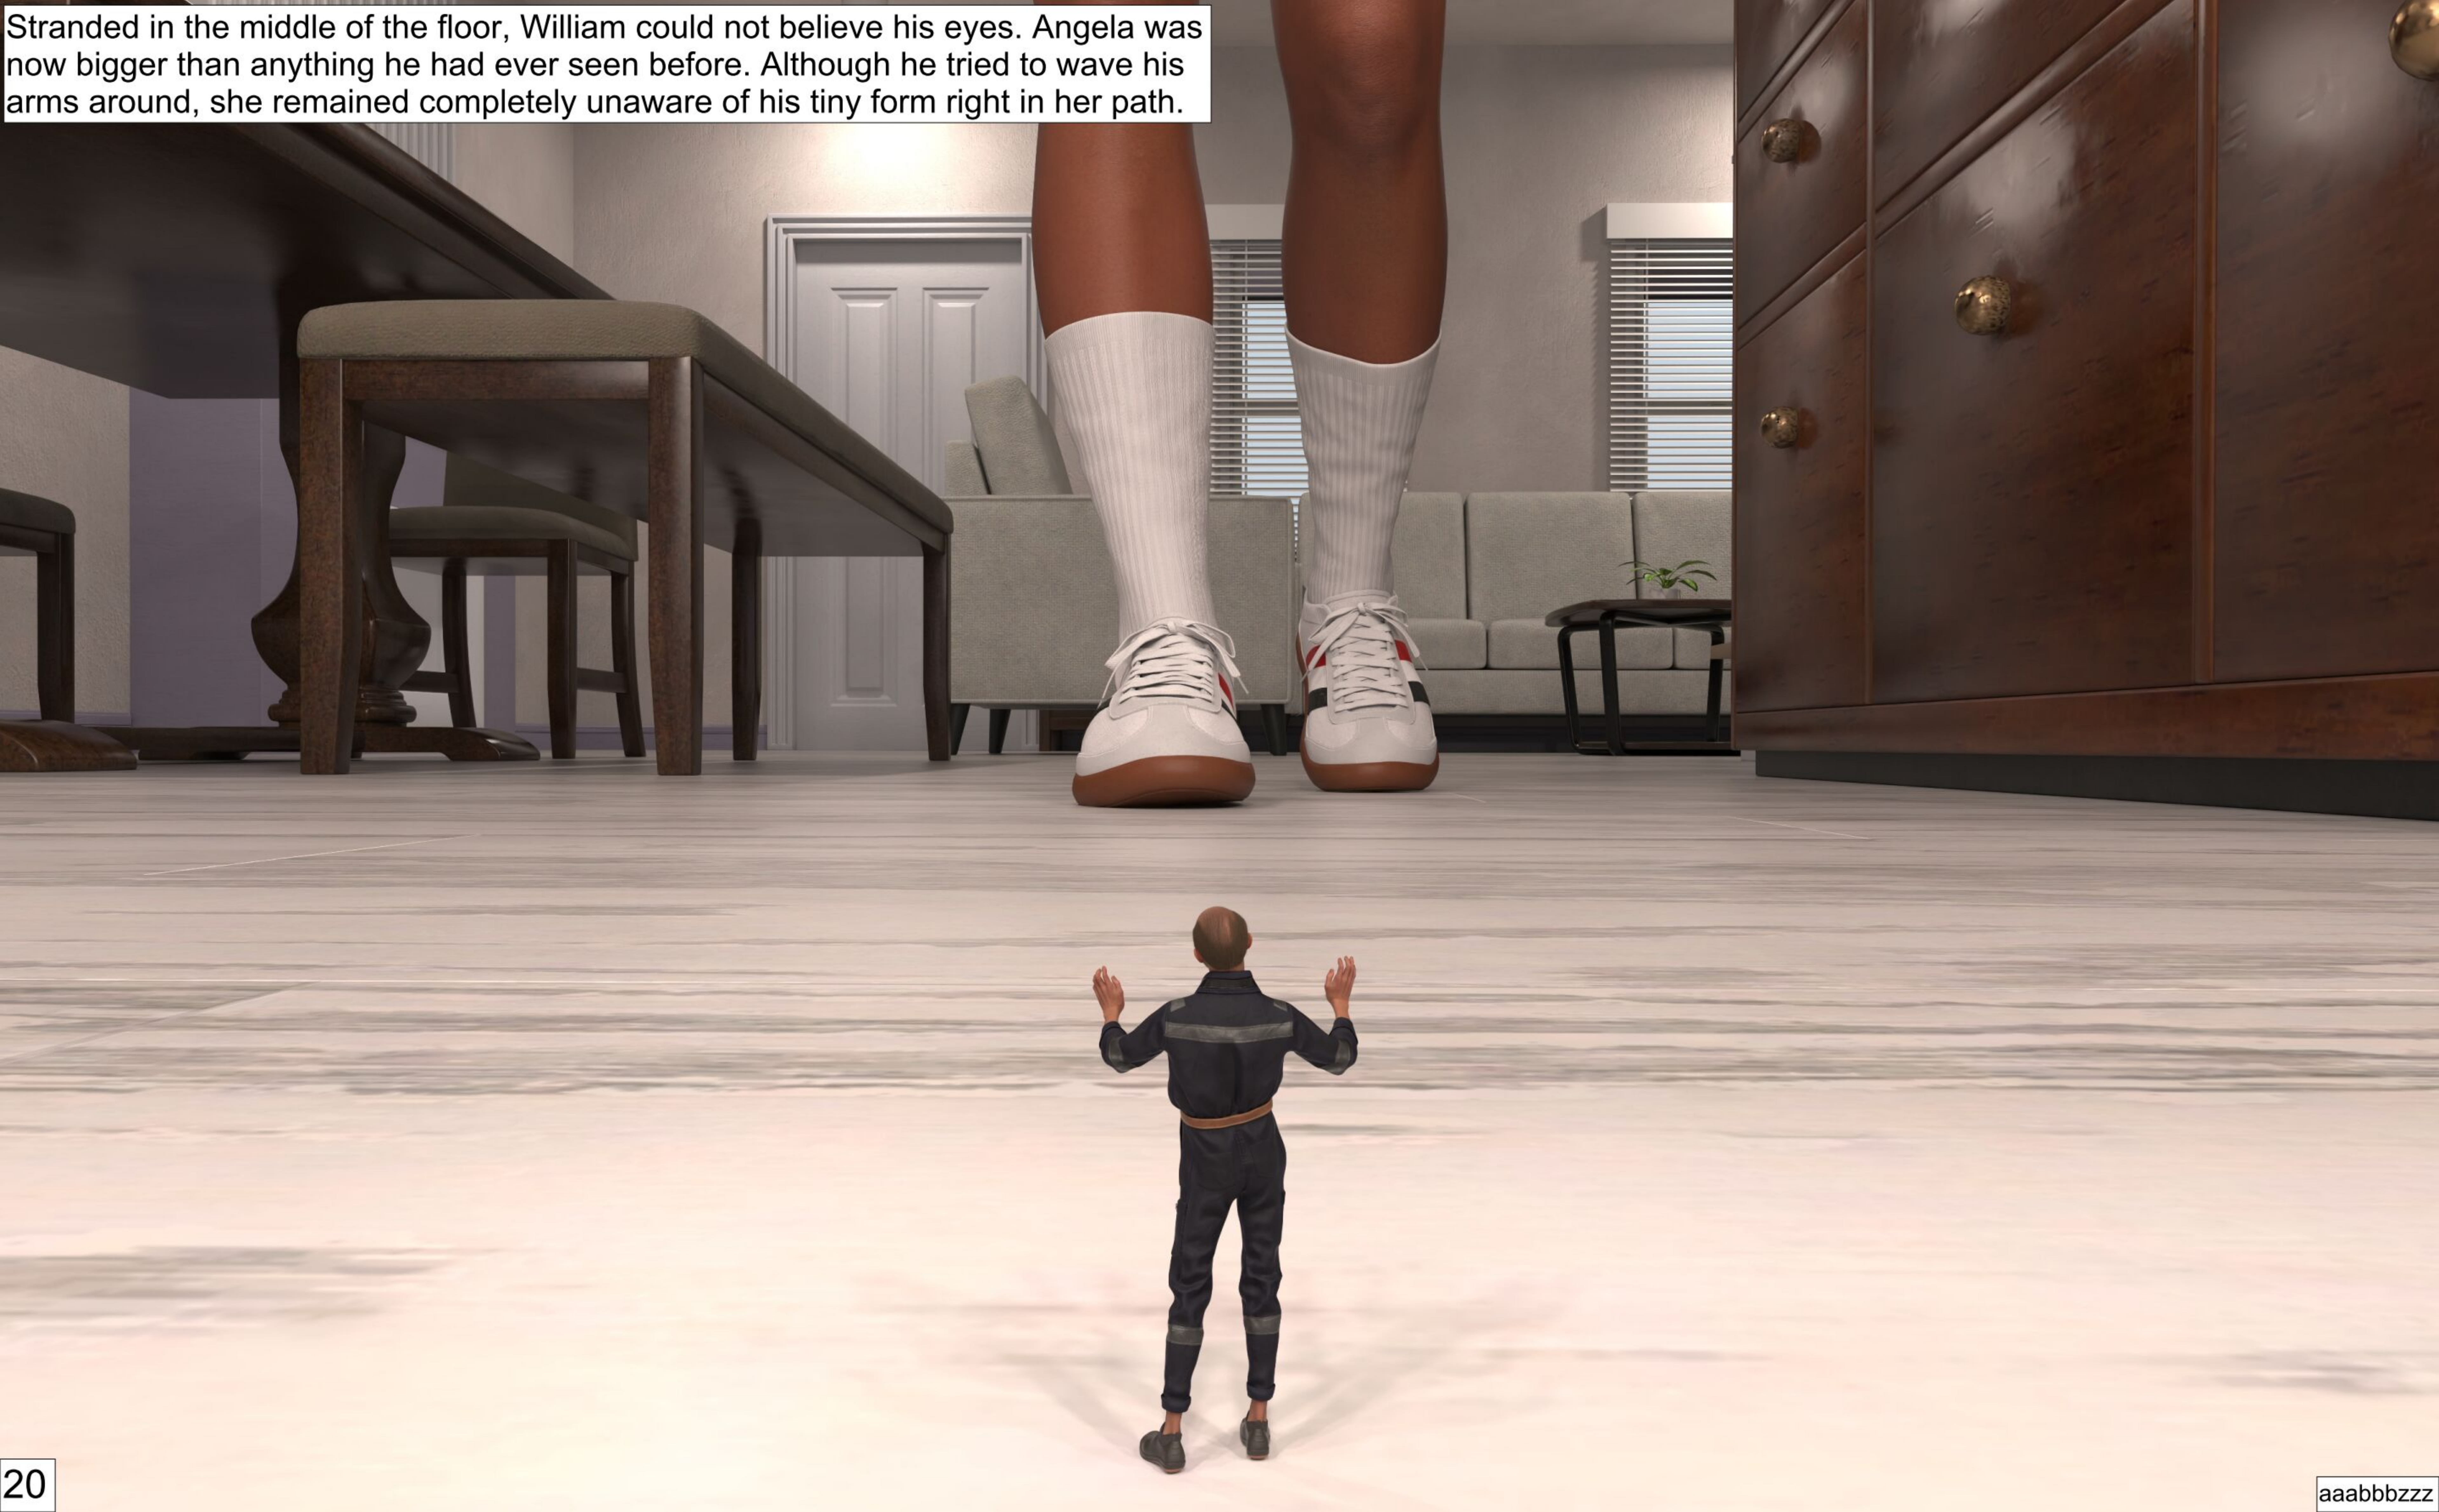

But before William could turn around, he heard a large boom coming from the front door as Rose's daughter walked in. Angela had just come home from class and was completely unaware of anything going on.

Mom! William! Is anyone home? Hello! Why is it so quiet in here? I thought I'd run into someone getting home earlier than expected.

Stranded in the middle of the floor, William could not believe his eyes. Angela was now bigger than anything he had ever seen before. Although he tried to wave his arms around, she remained completely unaware of his tiny form right in her path.

Angela look down here! Holy shit, you're going to crush me! Please notice me! This isn't good, I need to watch out because she doesn't see me.

Diving out of the way in the very last moment, William was able to avoid being stepped on. It seemed like his life flashed right before his eyes as Angela's gigantic foot slammed down next to him, passing by him in an instant.

This is so weird. I knew mom was leaving early to get to the airport, but I thought I'd run into her at least. And where is William? He normally doesn't start work until later on. They must of forgot to tell me their plans.

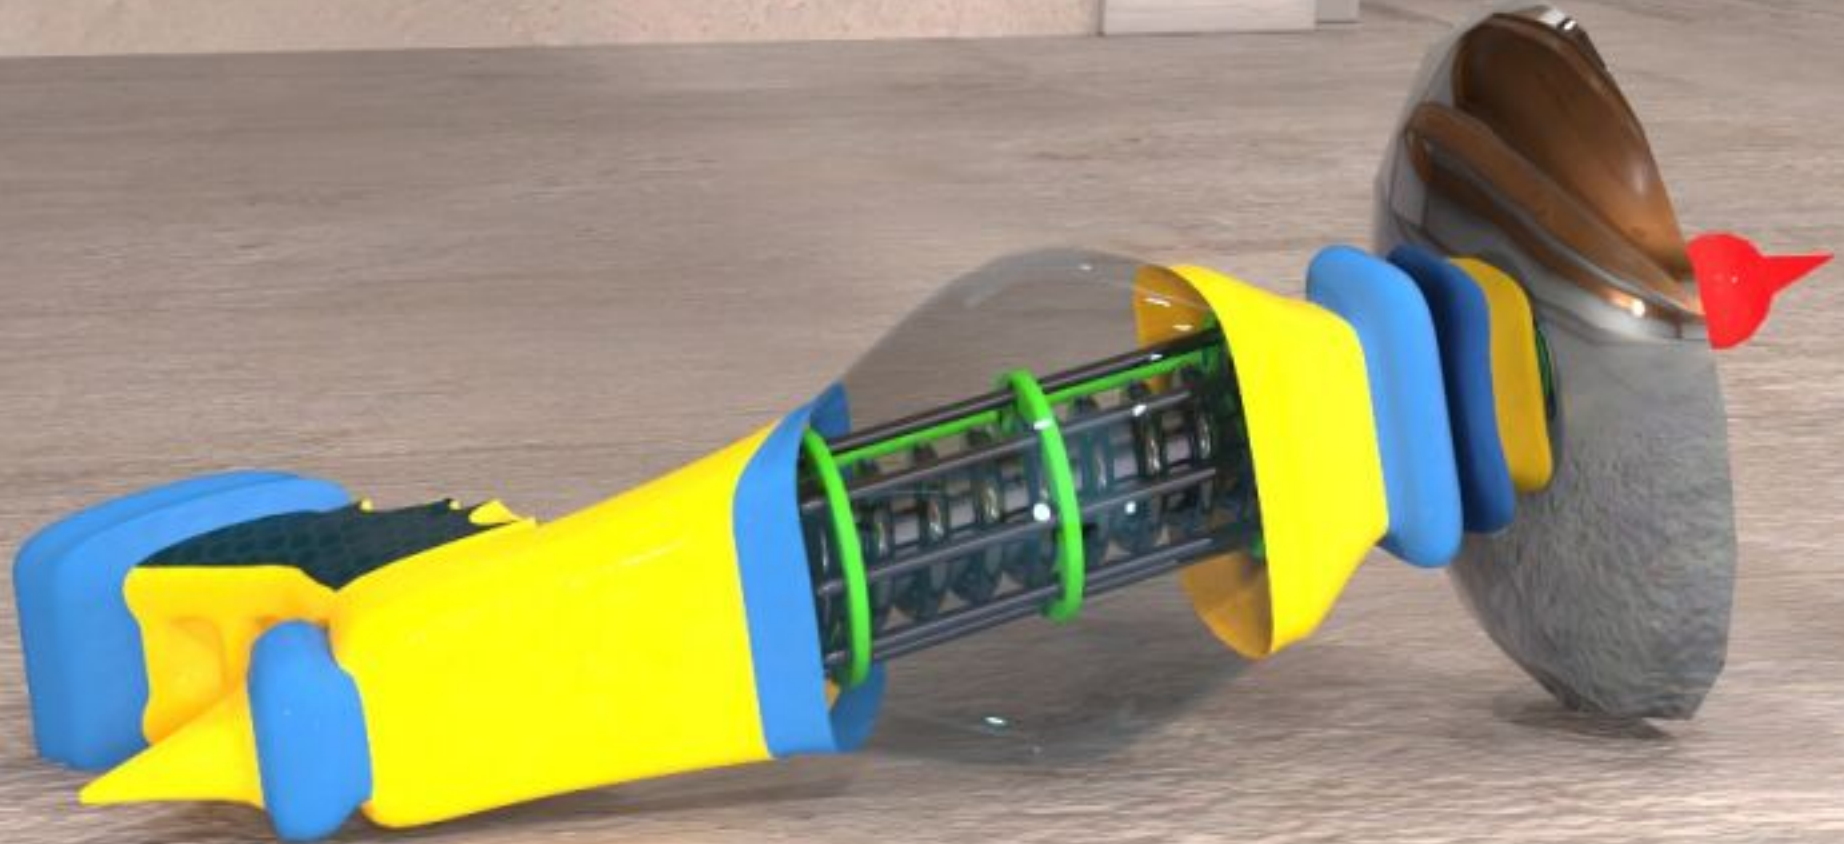

No matter how loud he screamed, it seemed like it didn't matter. William was now just too small for the young giantess to hear him. More and more, the little guy started to feel like a helpless bug as Angela continued to go on without noticing him.

Seeing the garage door open, Angela decided to go check it out. It was strange to see as William always had closed it. But as she walked towards it, the tiny man started to worry about her suffering the same fate as him.

What the hell is this and why are there things all over the floor in here? It's a bit strange, as if William left in a rush Maybe he had a job to get to that he forgot until last minute or something.

As Angela picked up some things off the ground, she was intrigued by this device specifically. It just seemed strange, like a sci-fi toy of some sort. Examining all the different switches and buttons made her wonder what it really was.

I probably shouldn't mess with this stuff too much, William wouldn't like it. Hmm, what is this? It's a little box like these others. That's so cute, I wonder why it's so small like that.

After leaving the device behind, Angela shut the garage door behind her, making it impossible for William to get back to it. She figured that nobody else was home so she walked towards the kitchen to make herself something to eat.

Shit, she locked me out of the garage. What am I supposed to do now? I need to somehow get her attention. But how am I supposed to do that at this size? She's so huge, I need to be very careful not to get crushed.

William stayed out of the way as Angela prepared herself some lunch in the kitchen. He knew that right now wasn't the best time to try and approach the giantess as she seemed to be focused on making her tacos.

When it appeared that Angela was going to sit at the table, the tiny man thought this was his chance. He started to run over as Angela sat down. This was the perfect time to get to her as she would be staying put while she ate her food.

A 3D rendered woman with long brown hair, wearing a white t-shirt with thin black horizontal stripes, stands in a kitchen. She is looking towards the right with a slightly concerned or thoughtful expression. In front of her, on a dark wooden table, is a blue plate with two large, folded flatbread sandwiches filled with meat, white sauce, and green herbs. To her right is a window with white horizontal blinds. A thought bubble originates from her head, containing text. The kitchen background includes white cabinets and a microwave.

I have this strange feeling, as if something is watching me. But that would be crazy, I'm probably just hungry. It was so hot out today and walking around everywhere has got me so sweaty and exhausted.

Eventually the shrunken man was able to reach his girlfriend's daughter. William needed to keep up this pace if he wanted to somehow get Angela's attention in time. As she started to eat her lunch, he needed to come up with a plan fast.

One option that William saw was to climb up Angela's foot. It was tremendously scary to see how large it was compared to him, but if he could get to her skin, maybe she would feel his tiny form and hopefully notice that he was just a tiny human.

This is crazy, I can't believe I'm actually climbing up her shoe. If this doesn't work and she walks off I have no idea what I'll do. It has to work, come on William let's go faster.

Angela continued to eat her tacos, still unknown to the little man down on her shoe. He was far too tiny to be felt so he had to keep up his climb. Every slight movement of her foot though, made it difficult for William to stay on track.

Damn it, she still can't feel me on her sock. I'm going to have to get all the way up there to have any chance. I'm already so exhausted, but this is my only chance, there's no giving up now.

Unfortunately for William, he was interrupted as the giantess started to shift her legs. Using her feet, Angela started to kick off her shoes. The casual movements rocked the tiny man's world in ways he never thought to comprehend before starting his climb.

Oh fuck, I'm slipping! And what on earth is that smell? It's so disgusting! There's no way that's her foot odor, how is that even possible? It's so horrible...

Being so short on breath made this invading scent even worse for the shrunken man. It was so pungent that he was unable to keep his focus as Angela stretched her foot out in relief. At the same time, this caused

41

William to drop towards the opening of her shoe as he lost his grip.

aaabbbzzz

A 3D rendered sneaker, light beige with white laces and a red interior lining, is shown from a high-angle perspective. Inside the shoe, a tiny, dark-colored human figure is lying on its back on a brown, herringbone-patterned floor. A series of white circles of increasing size leads from the person to a large white speech bubble with a black outline. The background is a blurred, light-colored wooden floor.

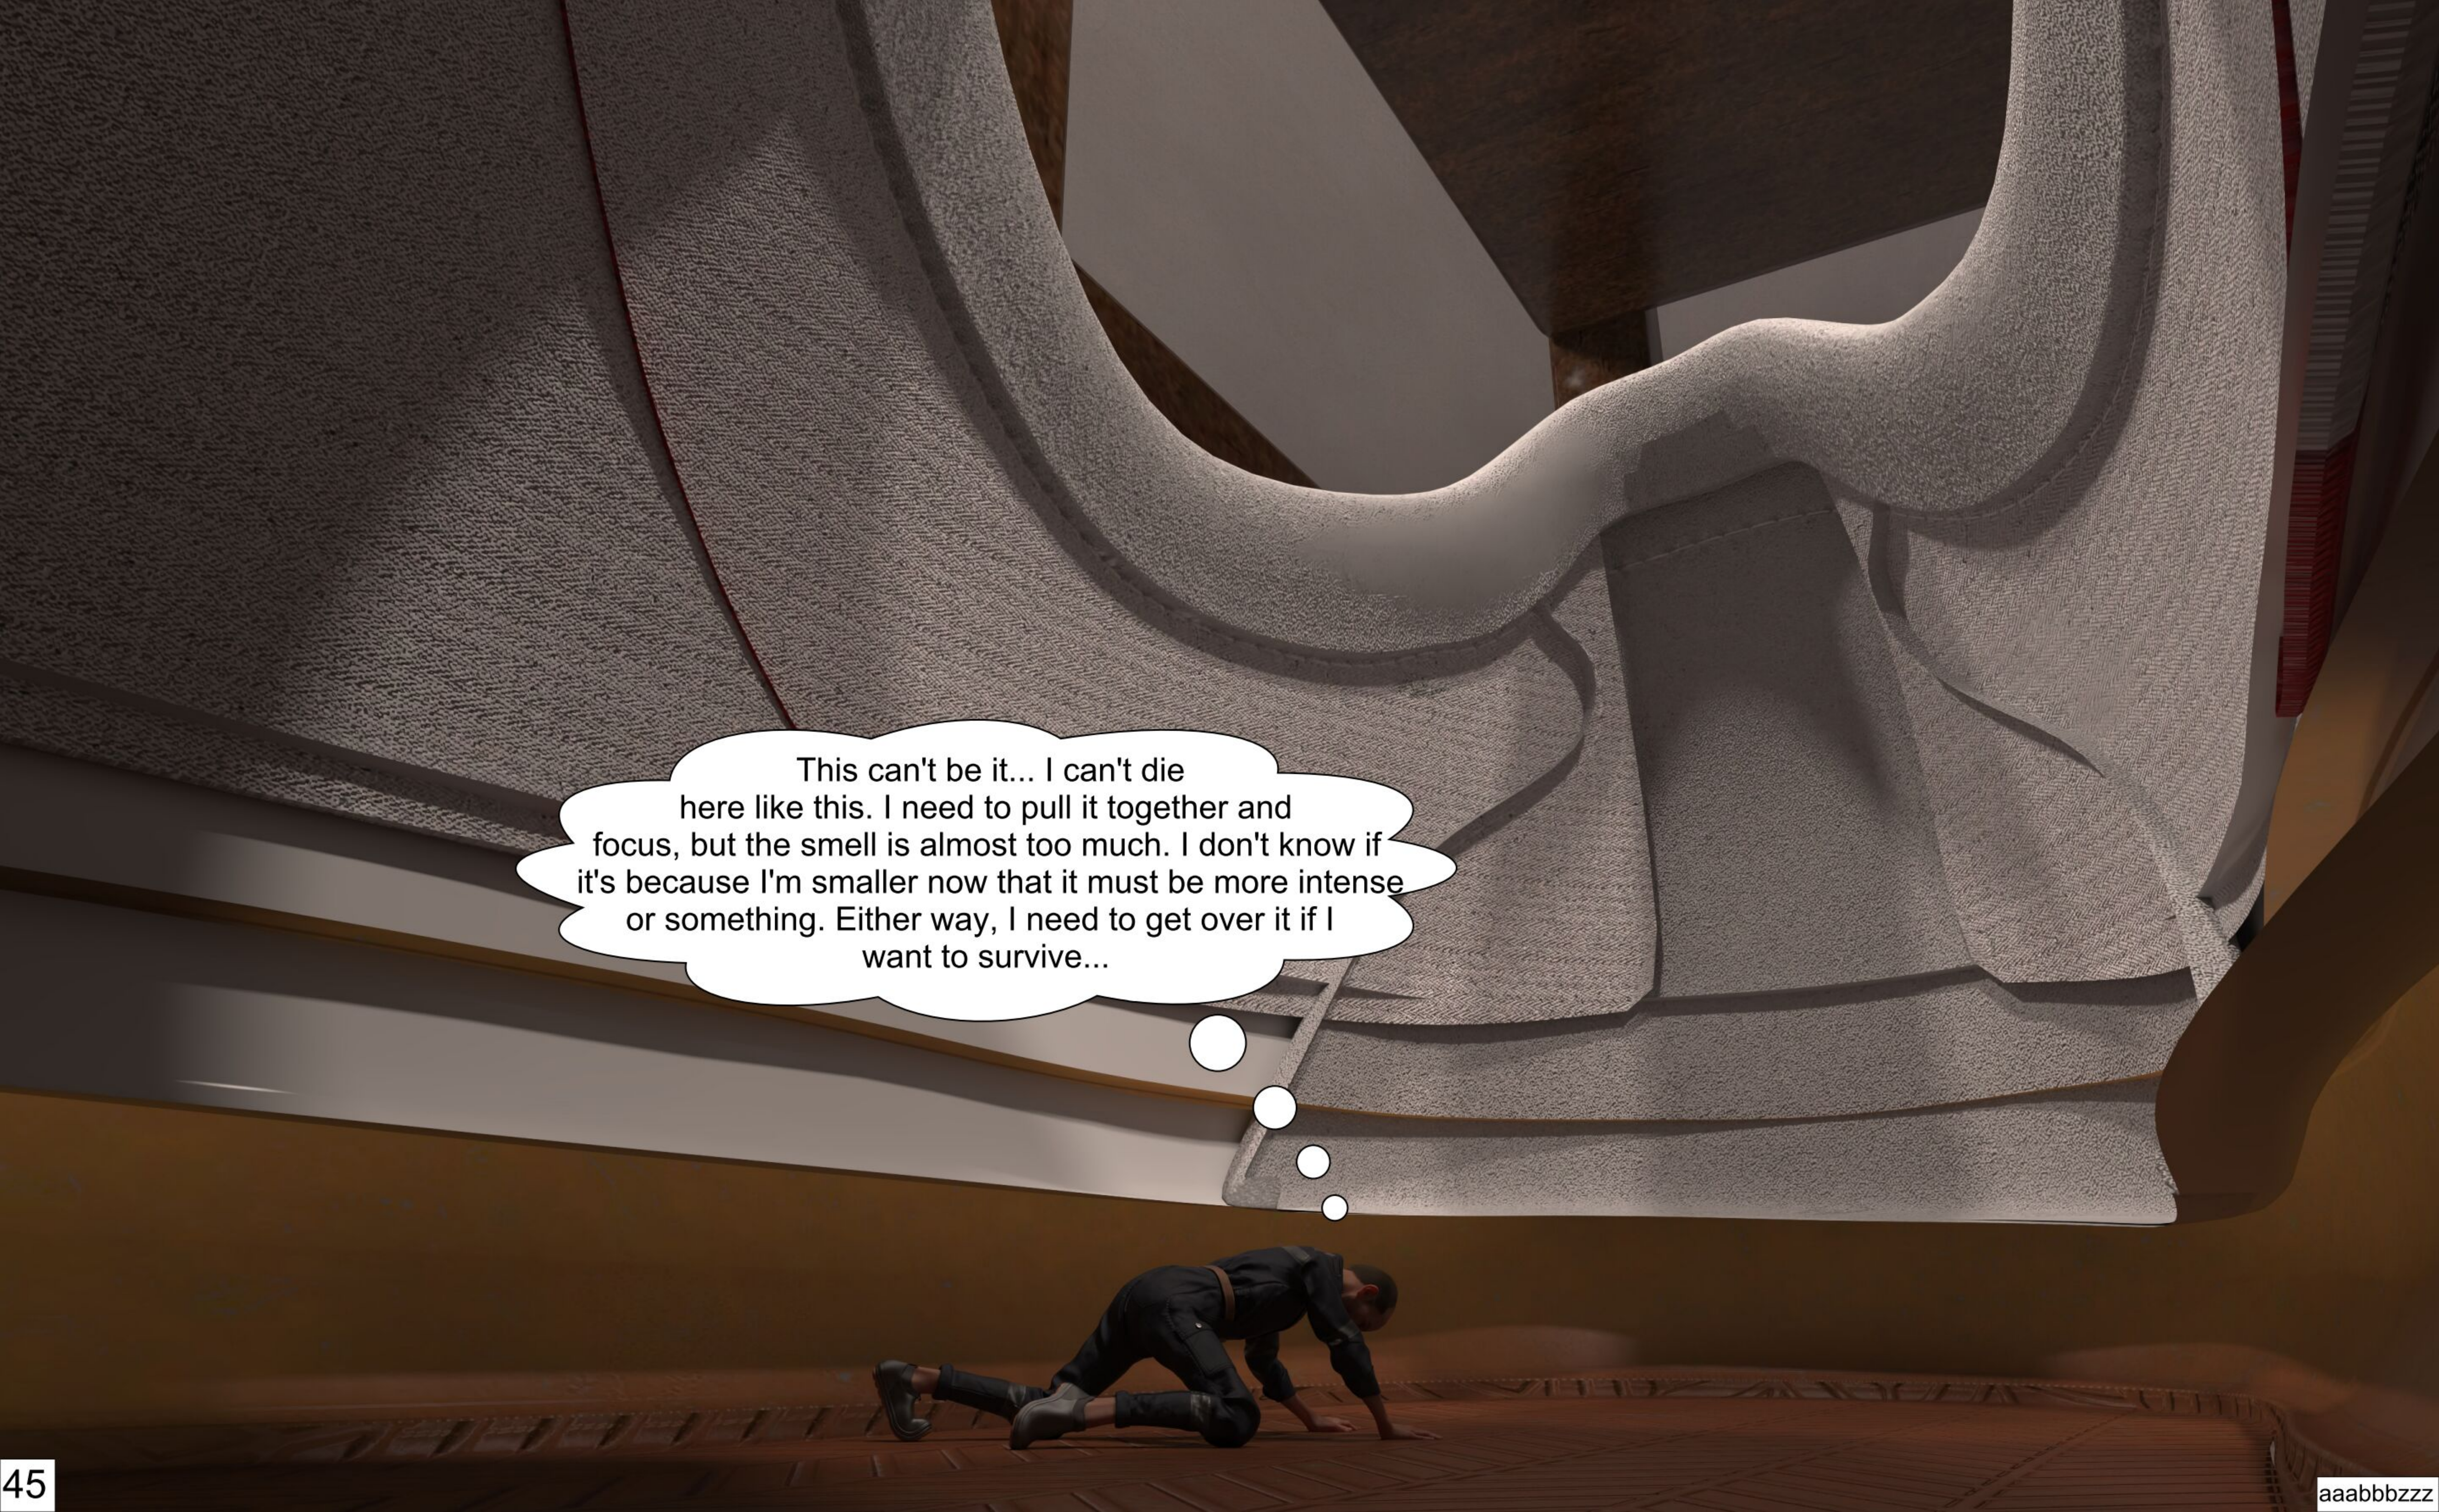

I can't... I can't breathe... Fuck where am I?
I'm inside her shoe! Shit, this isn't good, I need to get out of here and think of a new plan. It's not too late to escape and figure something else out.

At this point Angela was about half way finished with her lunch. With one taco down, she took a moment to enjoy the feeling of having something in her belly. Unaware of tiny William in her shoe, she continued eating without a worry at all.

However, things below were only getting worse. Now with both her shoes removed, the stench of Angela's socked feet made the air even more toxic for the little man. William needed to act fast, but he was struggling to even move now.

A character in dark clothing is crawling on a brown, textured floor. Above them is a large, white, cloud-shaped thought bubble containing text. The background consists of large, curved, grey architectural elements.

This can't be it... I can't die here like this. I need to pull it together and focus, but the smell is almost too much. I don't know if it's because I'm smaller now that it must be more intense or something. Either way, I need to get over it if I want to survive...

Finding some strength, William was able to get his body up as he frantically tried to escape from the smelly shoe. Angela's feet loomed above him like predators as the little guy toughened up as if his life depended on it.

All these efforts were made pointless though as the giantess started to tip her shoe. What was just a casual playful thing to do with her foot was enough to halt William's attempts completely. Falling back into the shoe, he screamed up at Angela, only to be completely unheard like before.

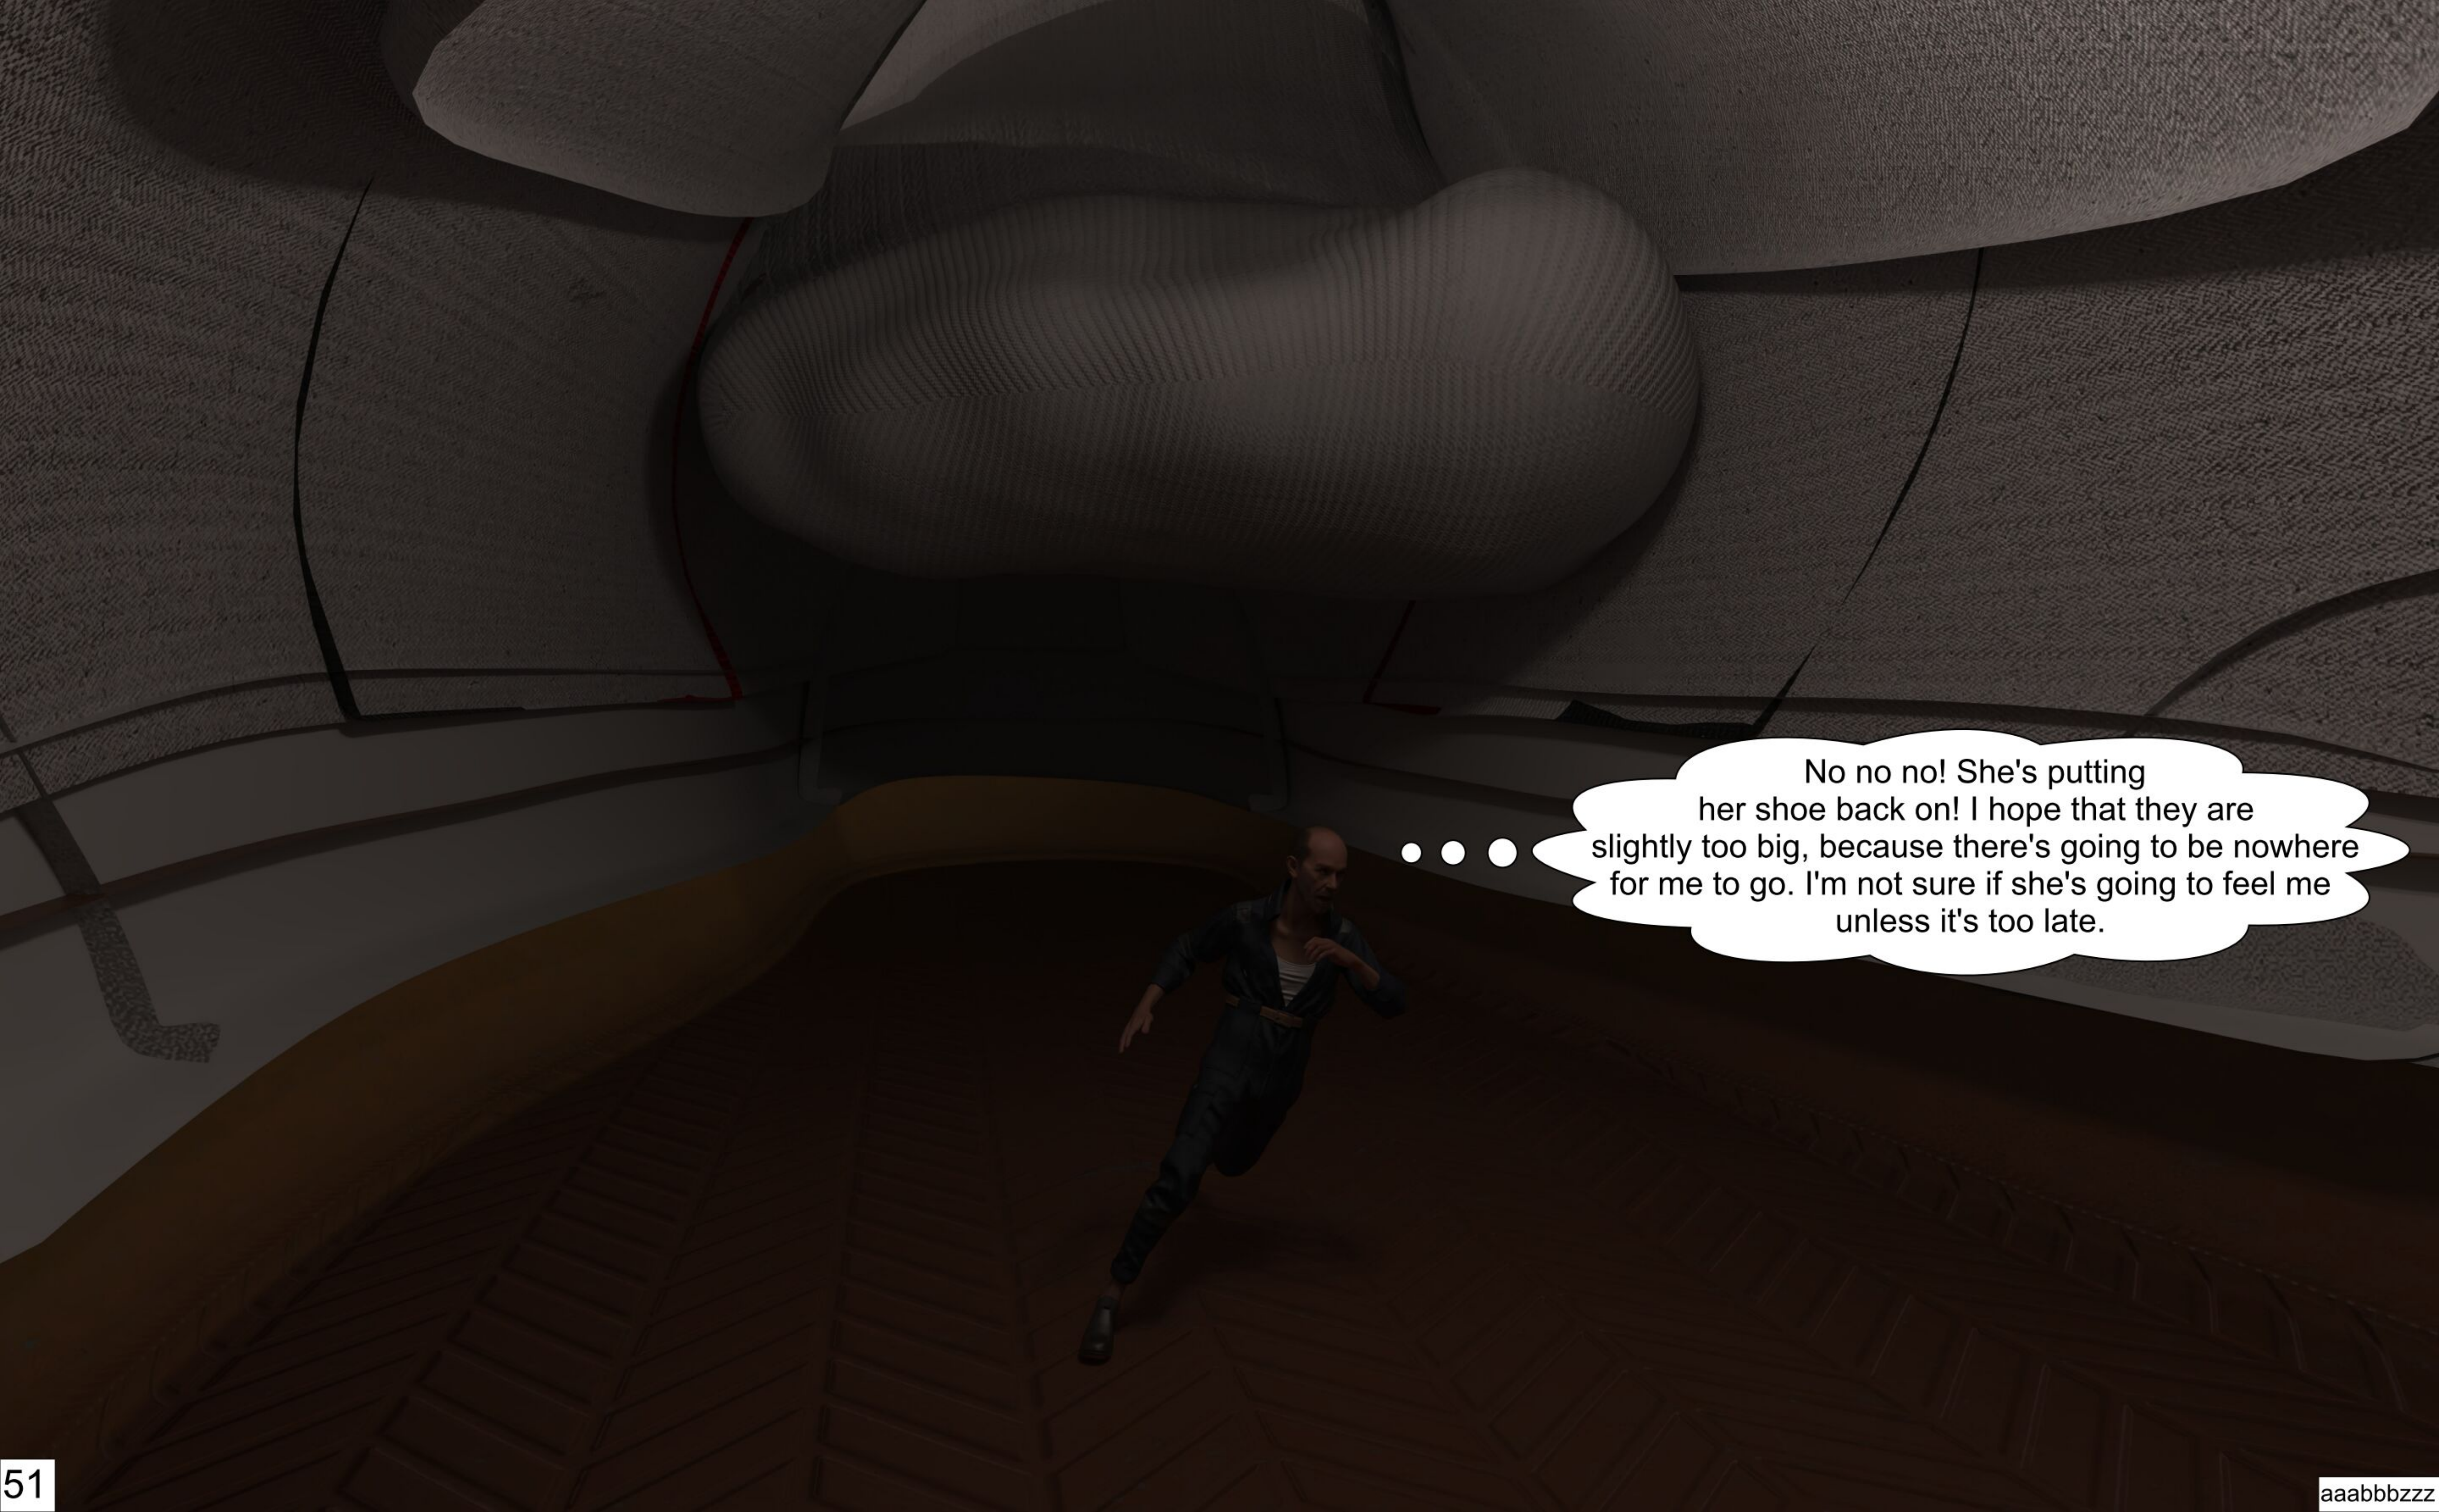

Oh my god
please stop this! Angela I'm down here in your shoe! Please hear me, I need your help! Don't put your foot back down in here!

Mmm... that was a great lunch. I'm not sure if I'm going crazy or something, but it still feels like someone is watching me. I thought that I was just hungry, but perhaps I'm just paranoid, that wouldn't make any sense.

Angela's feelings were spot on, but what she didn't know was that it was the shrunken man trying to get her to notice him. As she finished up her lunch, she started to slip her feet back into her shoes, trapping William in a prison that he thought might kill him.

• • •
No no no! She's putting her shoe back on! I hope that they are slightly too big, because there's going to be nowhere for me to go. I'm not sure if she's going to feel me unless it's too late.

Without any idea, Angela slid both her shoes back on and got up from the table. She walked over towards the kitchen, all the while unknown to the little guy trapped down in the dark and smelly confines of her shoe.

Despite the enormous weight coming down on him, William was somehow not crushed underneath Angela's foot as his shrunken state had made him more durable. Although it was nice to be alive, being forced to inhale the toxic overwhelming scent of her socks was another thing to be afraid of.

That really hit the spot.
I think it's a great time to chill out for now.
It feels great to be alone to do whatever I want.
It's so weird I didn't run into anyone when I came home though.

Walking upstairs, Angela let out a sigh of relief when she finally entered her bedroom. This was her sanctuary, where she could relax and have some privacy. She had started to forget about that feeling of being watched as she closed the door, thinking she was completely alone.

Banging against her toes, William begged for the giantess to notice him. Although it was all a waste as Angela couldn't feel anything through her thick socks. Even though his body didn't squish, the little guy was thinking he would suffocate in here instead now.

I wonder if William will randomly come home or something since I didn't see him. At least he won't bother me while I'm up in my room. It's too bad I never know his schedule because now would be a great time to invite my girlfriend over.

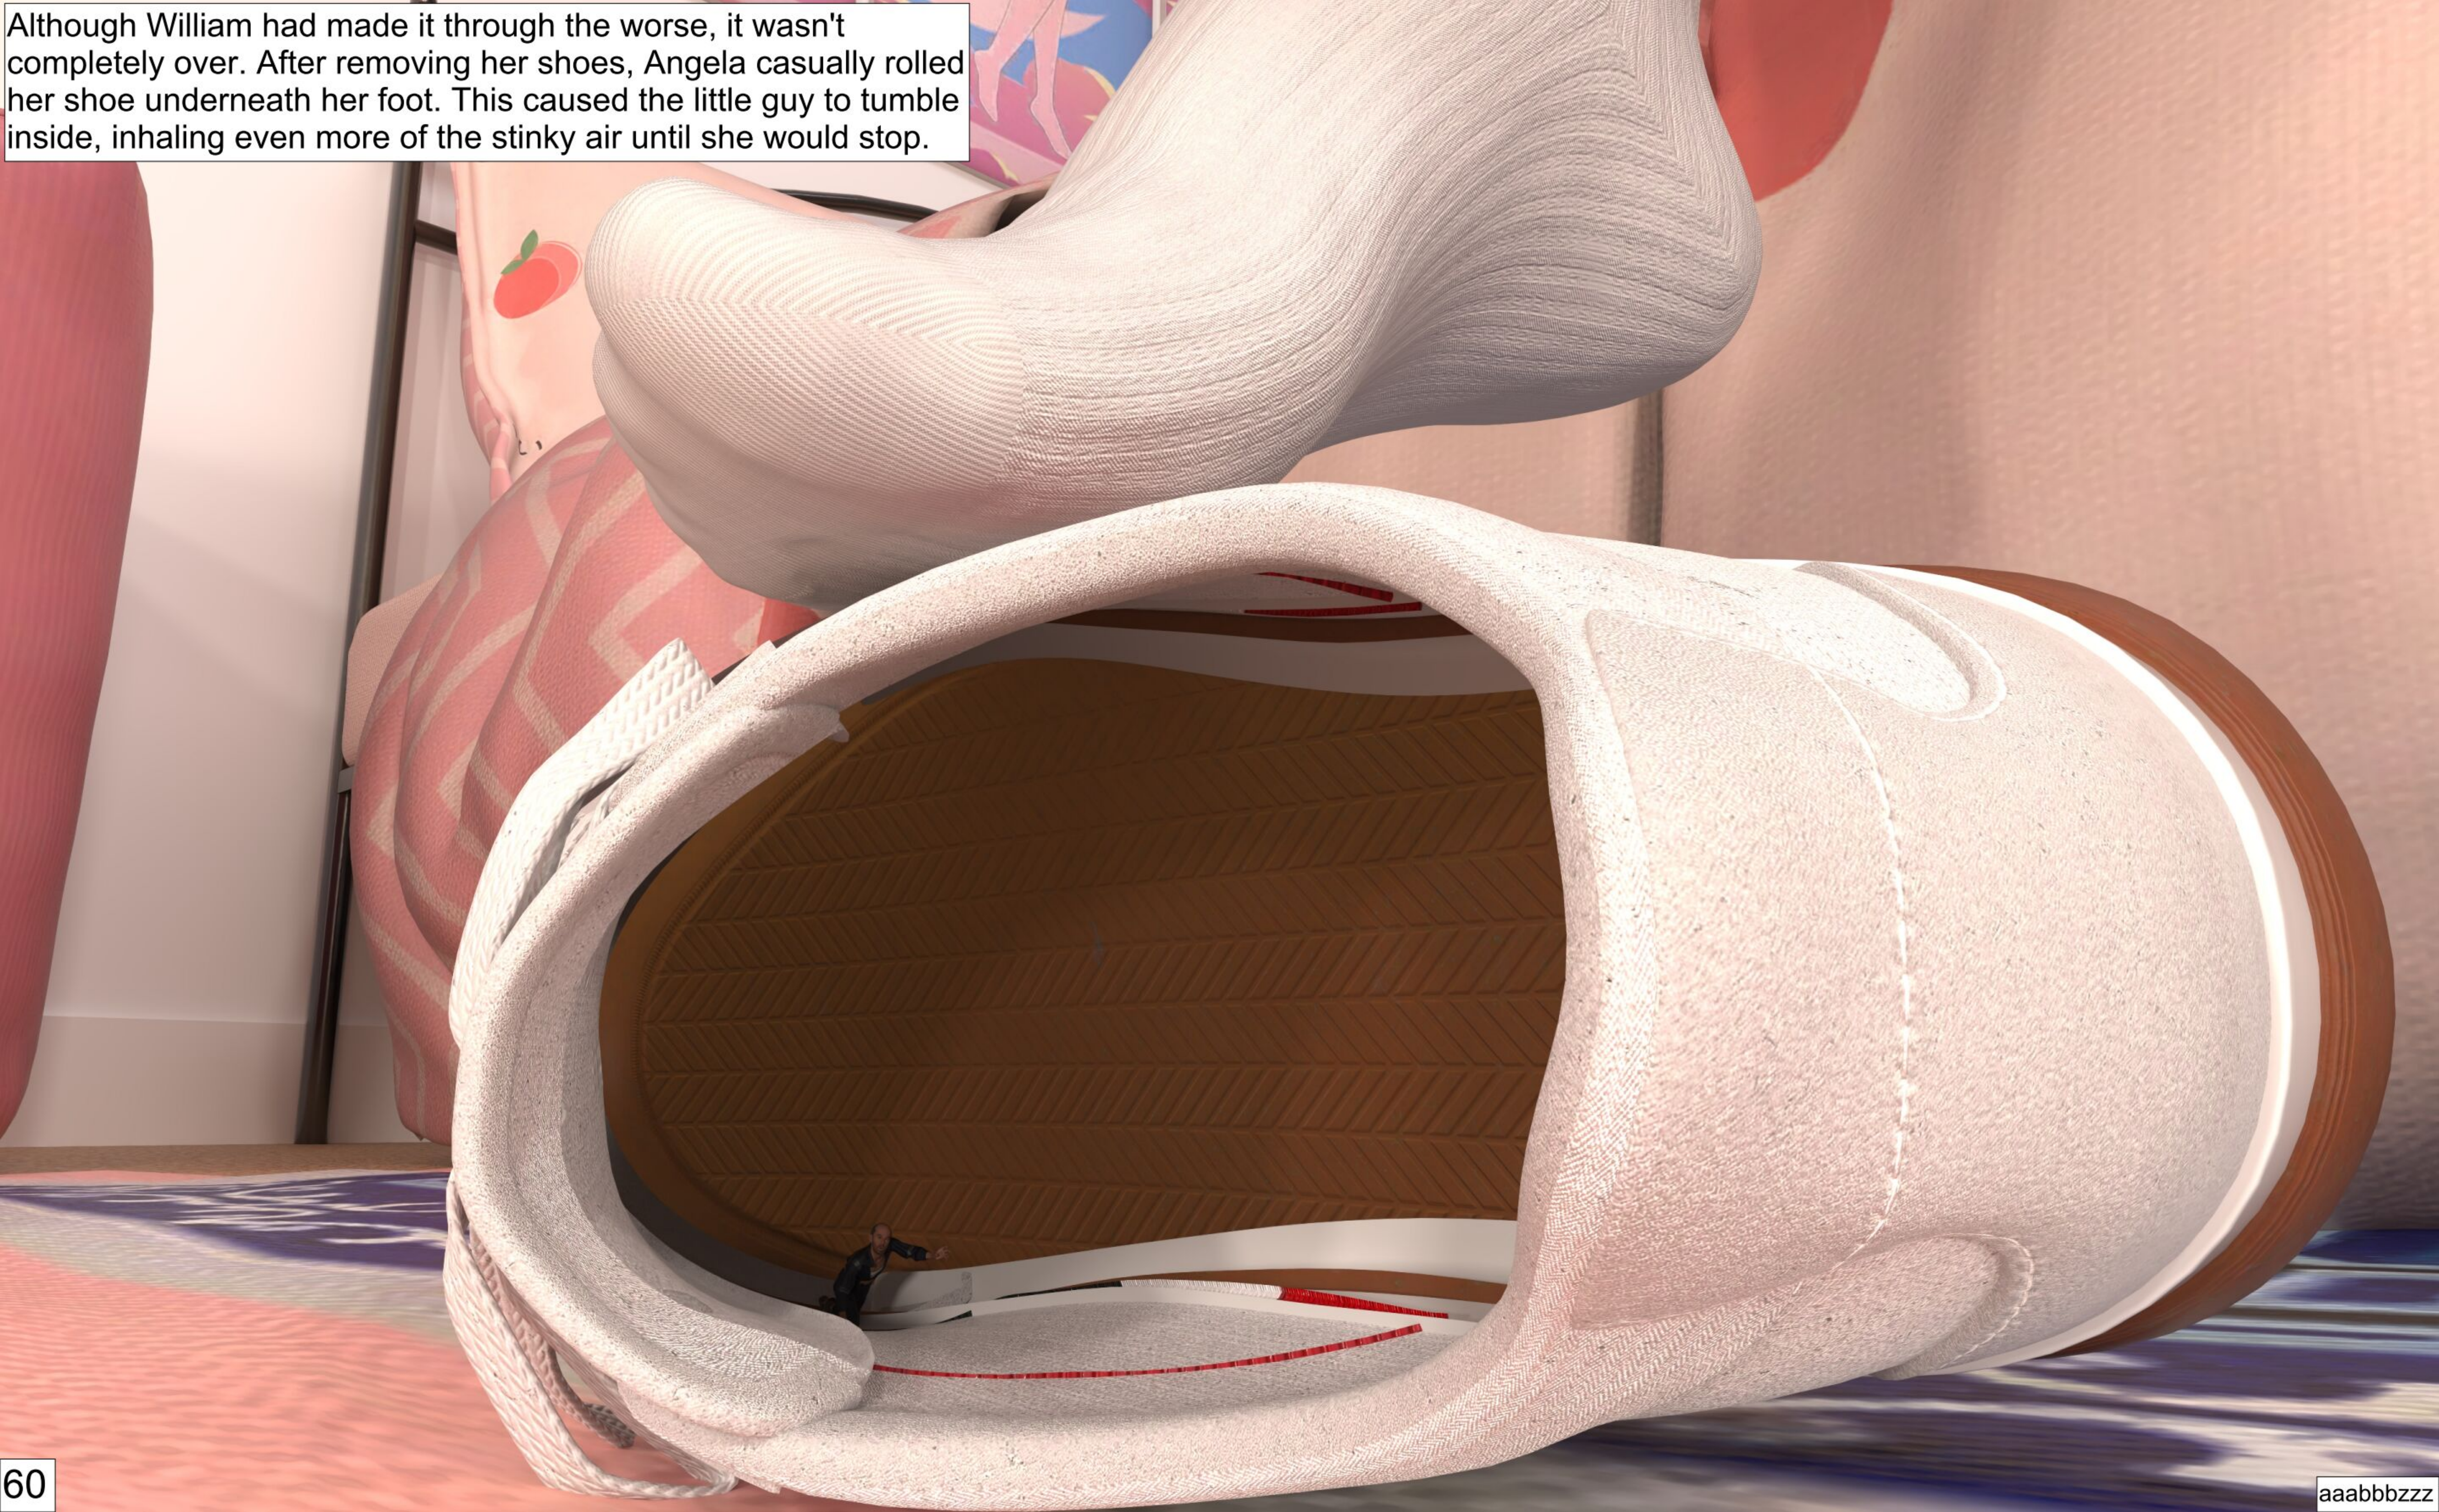

As Angela started to lean back on her bed, she started to kick off her shoes once again, using her feet to help slide them off. From the inside, William felt the life come back to him as light poured in. It seemed like he official survived this wild ride.

It feels so good to finally be out of those shoes again. I've had such a long day, they must really stink. At least nobody else has to witness this, because it's almost too much for me.

Although William had made it through the worse, it wasn't completely over. After removing her shoes, Angela casually rolled her shoe underneath her foot. This caused the little guy to tumble inside, inhaling even more of the stinky air until she would stop.

Hello? Hey Michelle! How are you doing? I'm great. I just finished up with everything and had some lunch. Now I'm alone in my room without anything left needed to do in the day. What about you? I wish we could see each other.

62 While Angela above had her conversation on the phone, William drowned it out. All that mattered was crawling out of the gigantic smelly shoe. When he finally got out, he collapsed on the floor, unable to believe the experience that he just went through.

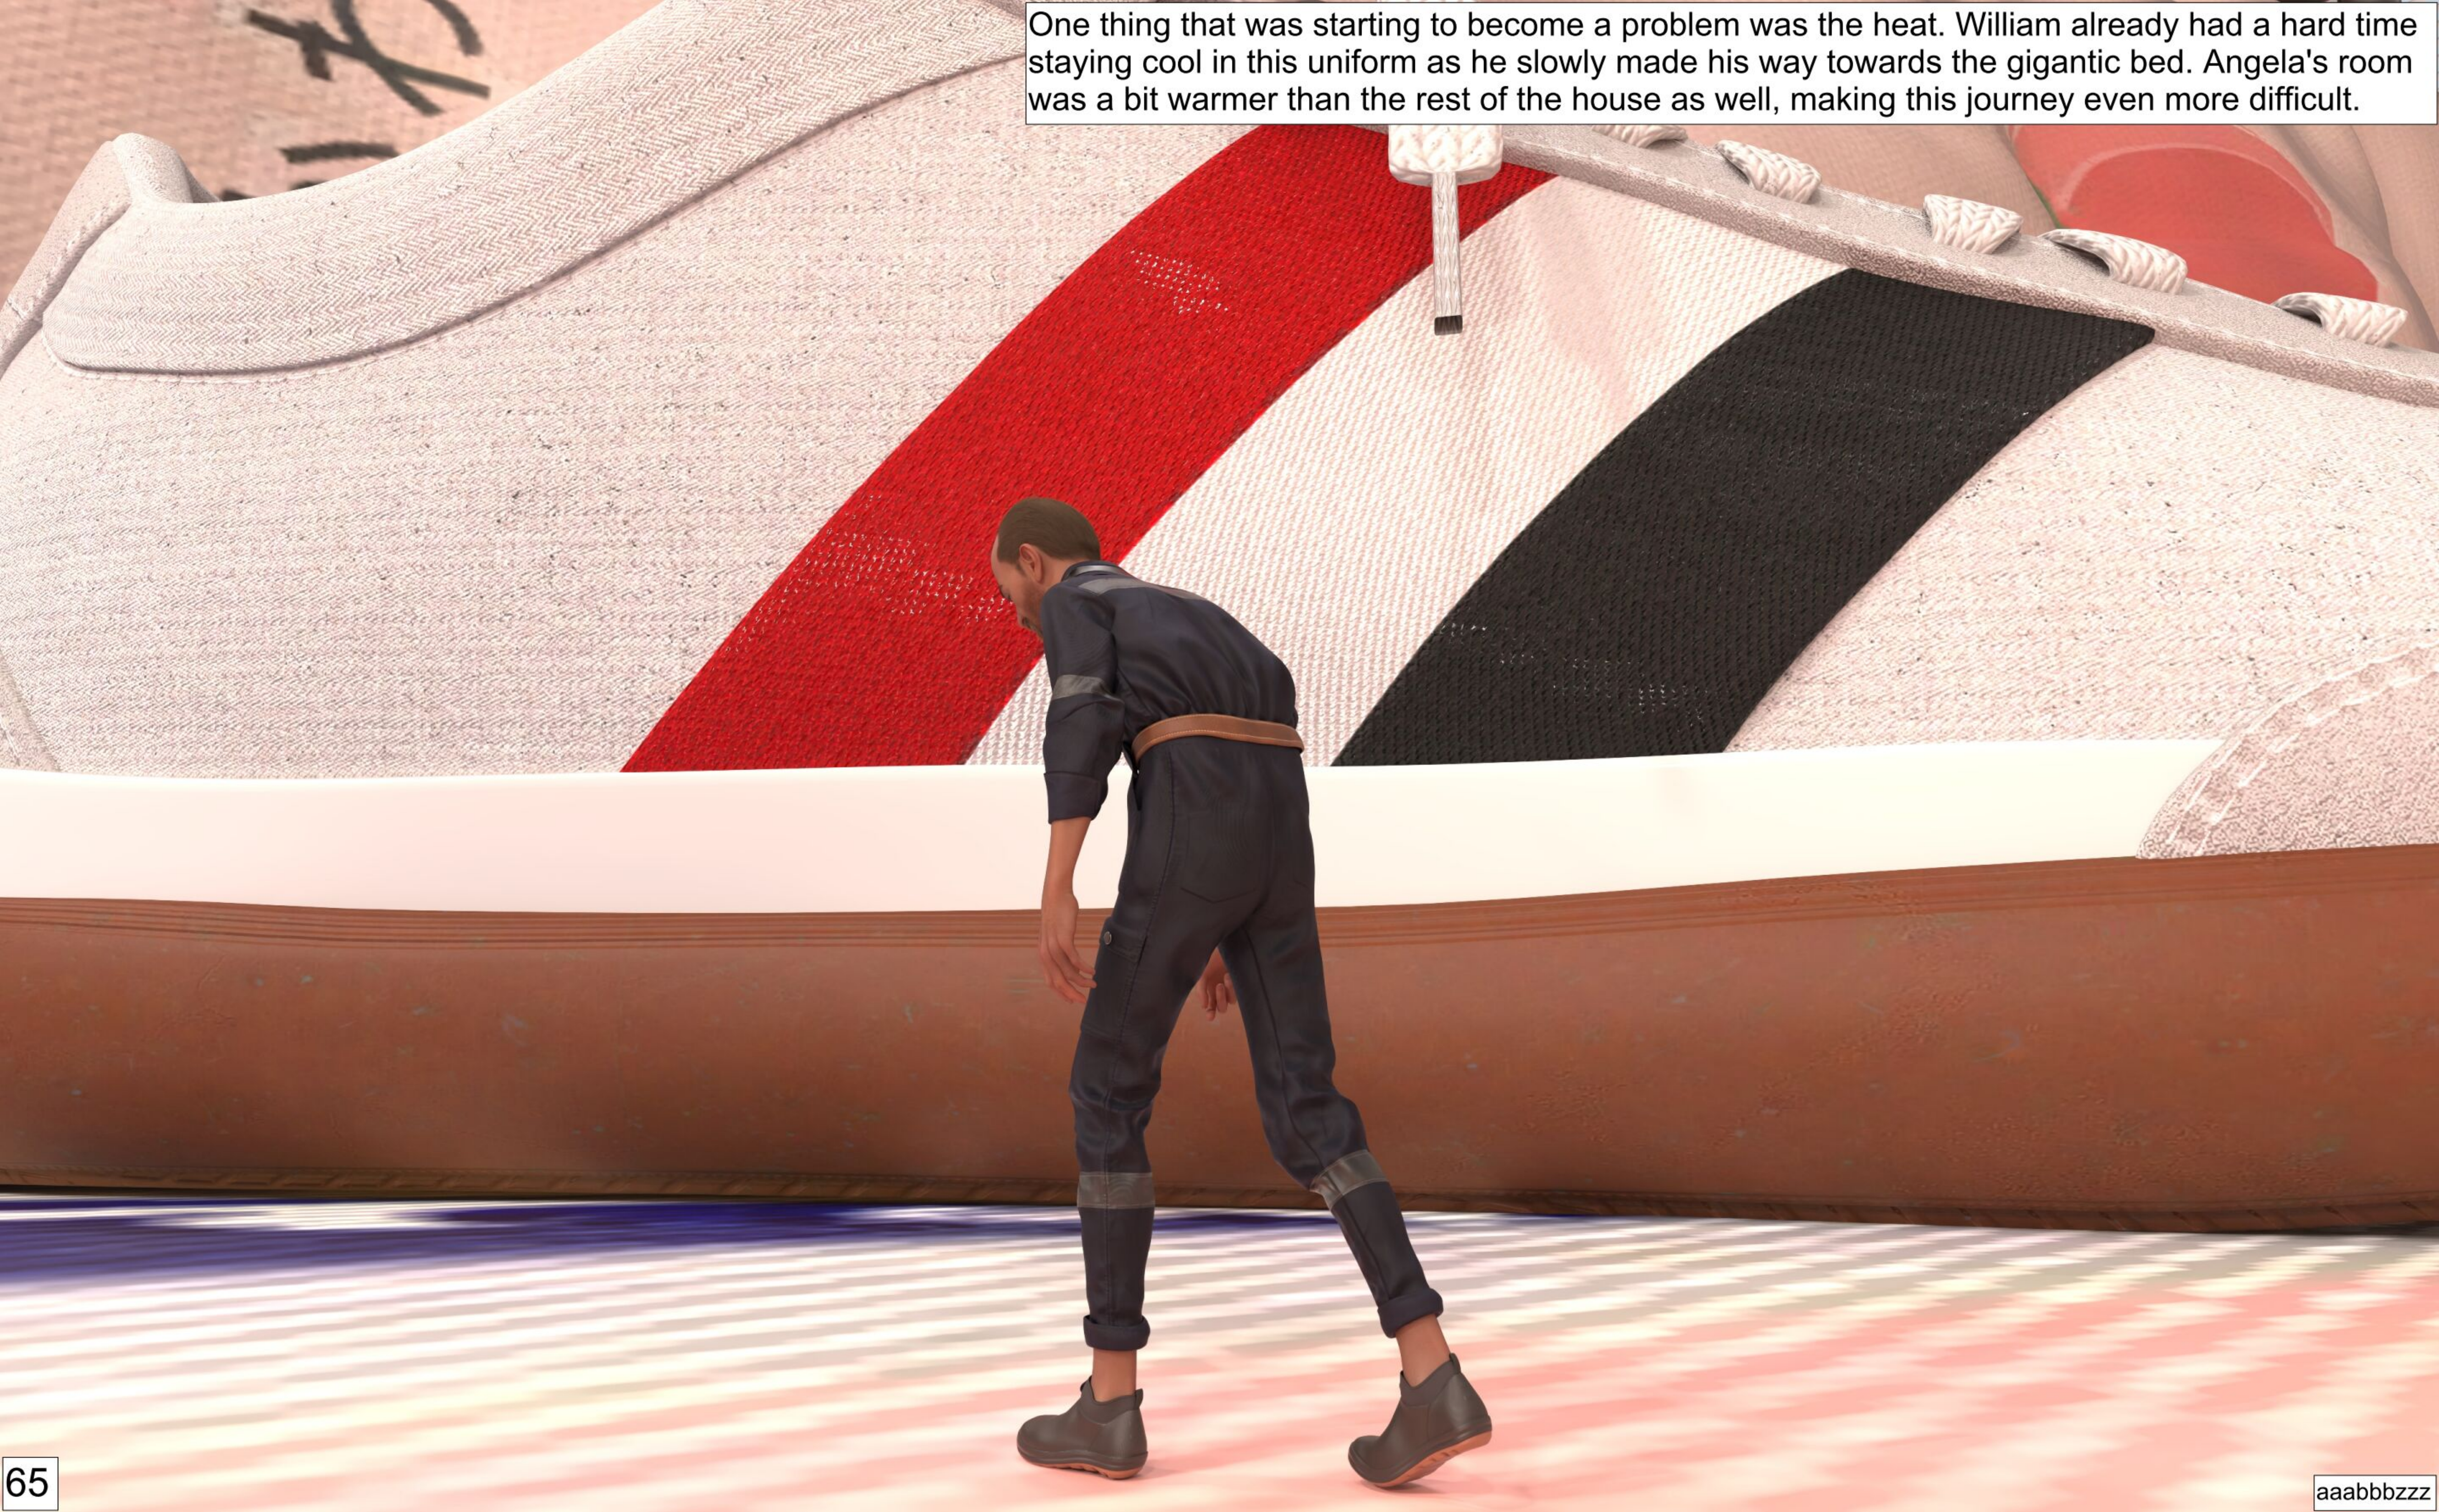

Oh my god that is so hot.
All of this is really getting me in the mood.
We'd have so much fun if we could just get together right now. It's too bad my mom's boyfriend would totally rat me out.

Despite being low on energy, the shrunken man knew he had to pull himself together. This seemed like another great chance to get Angela's attention as she stayed put on her bed while talking on the phone. William had to set out before it would be too late.

One thing that was starting to become a problem was the heat. William already had a hard time staying cool in this uniform as he slowly made his way towards the gigantic bed. Angela's room was a bit warmer than the rest of the house as well, making this journey even more difficult.

Why is it so fucking warm in here? I don't know if I can do this with these clothes on. As much as it might be weird to undress myself next to my girlfriend's daughter, times are too desperate right now.

William decided to remove everything except for his boxers, feeling his body immediately cool down as he left his bulky uniform behind. He felt significantly lighter and less hot, making him believe that he might actually get Angela's attention now.

Wouldn't that be so nice? I miss you too baby. Perhaps we'll find a place next week to have the whole evening alone like last month. Wasn't that so fun? We were so naughty for hours and hours that day...

Still unaware of the little man pursuing her, Angela continued her conversation with her girlfriend Michelle. Although William could hear everything, he wasn't able to pay enough attention as he needed to put all his efforts in climbing up the mountain that was her bedsheets.

What's that? Okay sounds good, I'll be looking forward to that and thinking of you! Until then we'll just have to wait, but it's always worth it. Talk to you later honey.

When William finally made it to the top of the bed, the giantess started to shift her body around. Now, Angela's feet were right next to the shrunken man, almost kicking him right off by accident. Being so close to them reminded of the horrible scent that he was forced to endure not too long ago.

Before the little guy could act on his chance to possibly get Angela's attention, she began to move her body even more. Turning away from William and climbing out of the bed. Despite screaming as loud as he could, the giantess never heard him.

I'm so tired, maybe I should take a nap while I have the chance. It's about that time of day where it's so hard to stay awake, especially after eating. Probably after a little rest I'll try and get some other things done.

William could not believe his eyes when his girlfriend's daughter started to undress right before him. He needed to get her help, but now he was worried what Angela would think if she spotted him while she was in her underwear.

Hmm... I still haven't heard any noises coming from anywhere in the house. William must be gone for sure right? I wouldn't want him to hear what I'm about to do, so hopefully I actually am alone.

Angela smiled to herself as she pulled out a vibrator from her nightstand. She seemed to be in a certain mood for something playful before resting her eyes. When the little man below saw this, he knew that it was going to be a lot harder to explain himself.

Oh no, what is she doing?
It can't be... she's going to masturbate! Fuck, I need to get her attention before it's too late. Things will never be the same if I witness this without her knowing.

As the giantess crawled back into bed, William was able to narrowly get out of the way. He was surprised that she didn't notice something small on her bedsheets, but Angela had her mind set on what she wanted. She yearned to pleasure herself, unknown to her mother's tiny boyfriend below.

I don't know why I'm still getting that strange feeling, as if I'm being watched. That's impossible though. I'll have to forget about it because I really just want to let myself enjoy this private time.

However, Angela was not wrong. Down by her feet was a little man taking in a sight of her long legs. William knew that he needed to focus now, despite being allured by her. But with her bare skin exposed now, he thought this was the best chance he's had.

After slowly approaching her foot, William decided he needed to take the risk. He screamed up at the giantess and tried to touch her toes. His hope was that this sensitive area would help him be noticed quickly, but Angela already had her mind on something else at the moment.

Oh my god...
Mmm... this feels so good. I want to be as quiet as possible in case somebody comes home, but it's just so hard to. I've barely just started and I'm already getting so wet.

○ ○ ○

Distracted by her overwhelming sensations, Angela didn't even notice the tiny man as she kicked her legs forward. William tumbled backwards on the bed, failing his first attempt as the giantess continued her naughty desire.

As things continued, it seemed like getting Angela's attention now was not the best idea. William was in complete shock, never thinking he would see his girlfriend's daughter in a state like this. The buzzing from her vibrator and her soft moans drowned out his tiny cries, making him wonder if he should turn back.

Fuck yes...
Mmm... I can never handle myself with this thing. I've barely gotten started and I feel like I could cum already. Ohhhhh... I can't help it...
Yes yes yes!

With the giantess right next to him, William put it all on the line. He ran up to Angela's sweaty sole and began to pound his hands on her foot. If this didn't work he would surely be out of luck. This was the perfect opportunity, despite the girl being in such a blissful state.

What the fuck was that? Is there something down by my foot? Oh my god it must be a bug or something! Eww that's so gross!

161

かわいい

Before Angela could freak out further, she spread her legs and scanned the area down where her foot was. When she looked down she could not believe her eyes. It was hard to tell as it seemed impossible, but what she saw was a tiny human waving his arms up at her.

Am I seeing things?
You're not a bug, you're a tiny person! How on earth did you get so small and why are you in my bedroom?
I knew I wasn't crazy! Something was here all along.

The giantess closed in even more, unafraid of the little guy as she scanned his body. Suddenly, Angela noticed that this was not just a random person, but her mother's boyfriend. William was happy to finally be noticed, but now he started to worry if she would actually help him.

Is that you William?
What the actual fuck! Where are your clothes and why are you like this? This is so creepy!
I was literally playing with myself and had no idea you were there.

Things were becoming even more worrisome as the shrunken man heard Angela's tone. She seemed more angry than concerned. As she plucked William from the bed, he started to squirm in a way that seemed like he knew he was in the wrong.

I don't know what to even say, it is you! How on earth did this happen William? I knew something was up when I came home, but what disgusts me the most is that you were in my bedroom! You better explain yourself.

Being given some time, William did his best to tell the giantess about how this all happened. He wanted to leave out some details, but he wanted to sound convincing. Although it seemed like an accident, Angela didn't seem to like it still.

Ick! So you rode up in here in my shoe? That sounds horrible! I want to believe you're not some sort of pervert, but that is just so weird. I guess if you're telling the truth though we can fix all of this.

Hearing how the shrinking device was the thing she found in the garage, Angela agreed to help out. She set the little guy down on the bed and got up, wanting to put something on before going back downstairs.

William's heart started to slow down as he began to sense things becoming better about the situation he was in. As he watched the giantess quickly put some clothes on, he had a good feeling that Angela would still help him, despite being upset with the things he saw.

Alright come on William, let's go down there and see if we can fix this mess. I'm sorry about the things you've had to go through, but perhaps you'll be more careful from now on. You could of been easily crushed on accident.

99 Now in the palm of the giantess, William felt completely powerless. Feeling the warmth of Angela's skin radiate on him, the little guy could no longer run if he needed to. His life was literally in her hands and in this moment he felt grateful for her.

As Angela walked downstairs, she began to ponder what to do with knowing there was a device capable of this. The once larger man being reduced to the size of a bug was something so unreal. It was definitely tempting to have a power like this.

Walking into the garage gave Angela chills. She couldn't believe that she could of accidentally shrunk herself just like William. However, she was partly convinced that maybe it could of been on purpose. Despite the little guy's pleas, she wondered if he was telling the whole truth.

Okay stay here for a moment and I'll prepare this device for you. When I saw it earlier on the ground I thought it was just a strange thing. But when I saw all the different dials that said "Grow" or "Shrink," I had no idea it actually worked.

With the tiny man now on the floor, Angela picked up the device and started to investigate it. Without William's help she began to tinker with different options on it, getting herself familiar with how it might work.

Hold on a minute Angela, let me see what you're doing up there! You don't know how the device works and need to be careful! If you don't adjust it properly and shrink me again I'll be nothing afterwards!

Unable to hear William's cries, the giantess took it upon herself to do everything. She pointed the device at the little guy and pulled the trigger. At first he was worried that Angela messed it up, but as he felt his body stretch out instead, William hoped for the best.

Wow it actually worked! Just like that, you're back to normal. I still don't believe it, but your invention seems to be functioning perfectly.

I don't believe it either... thank you for helping me Angela. If it weren't for you I'd be so helpless.

It wasn't a problem. I know I'd want the same help. Maybe you shouldn't be playing around with this type of power though. It could be so dangerous in the wrong hands.

I understand. There's definitely some adjustments I still need to make to protect humans but I think I'm on track. Now, why don't you give me it back before we make anymore mistakes.

Wait! What are you doing William? You're acting crazy, get away from me!

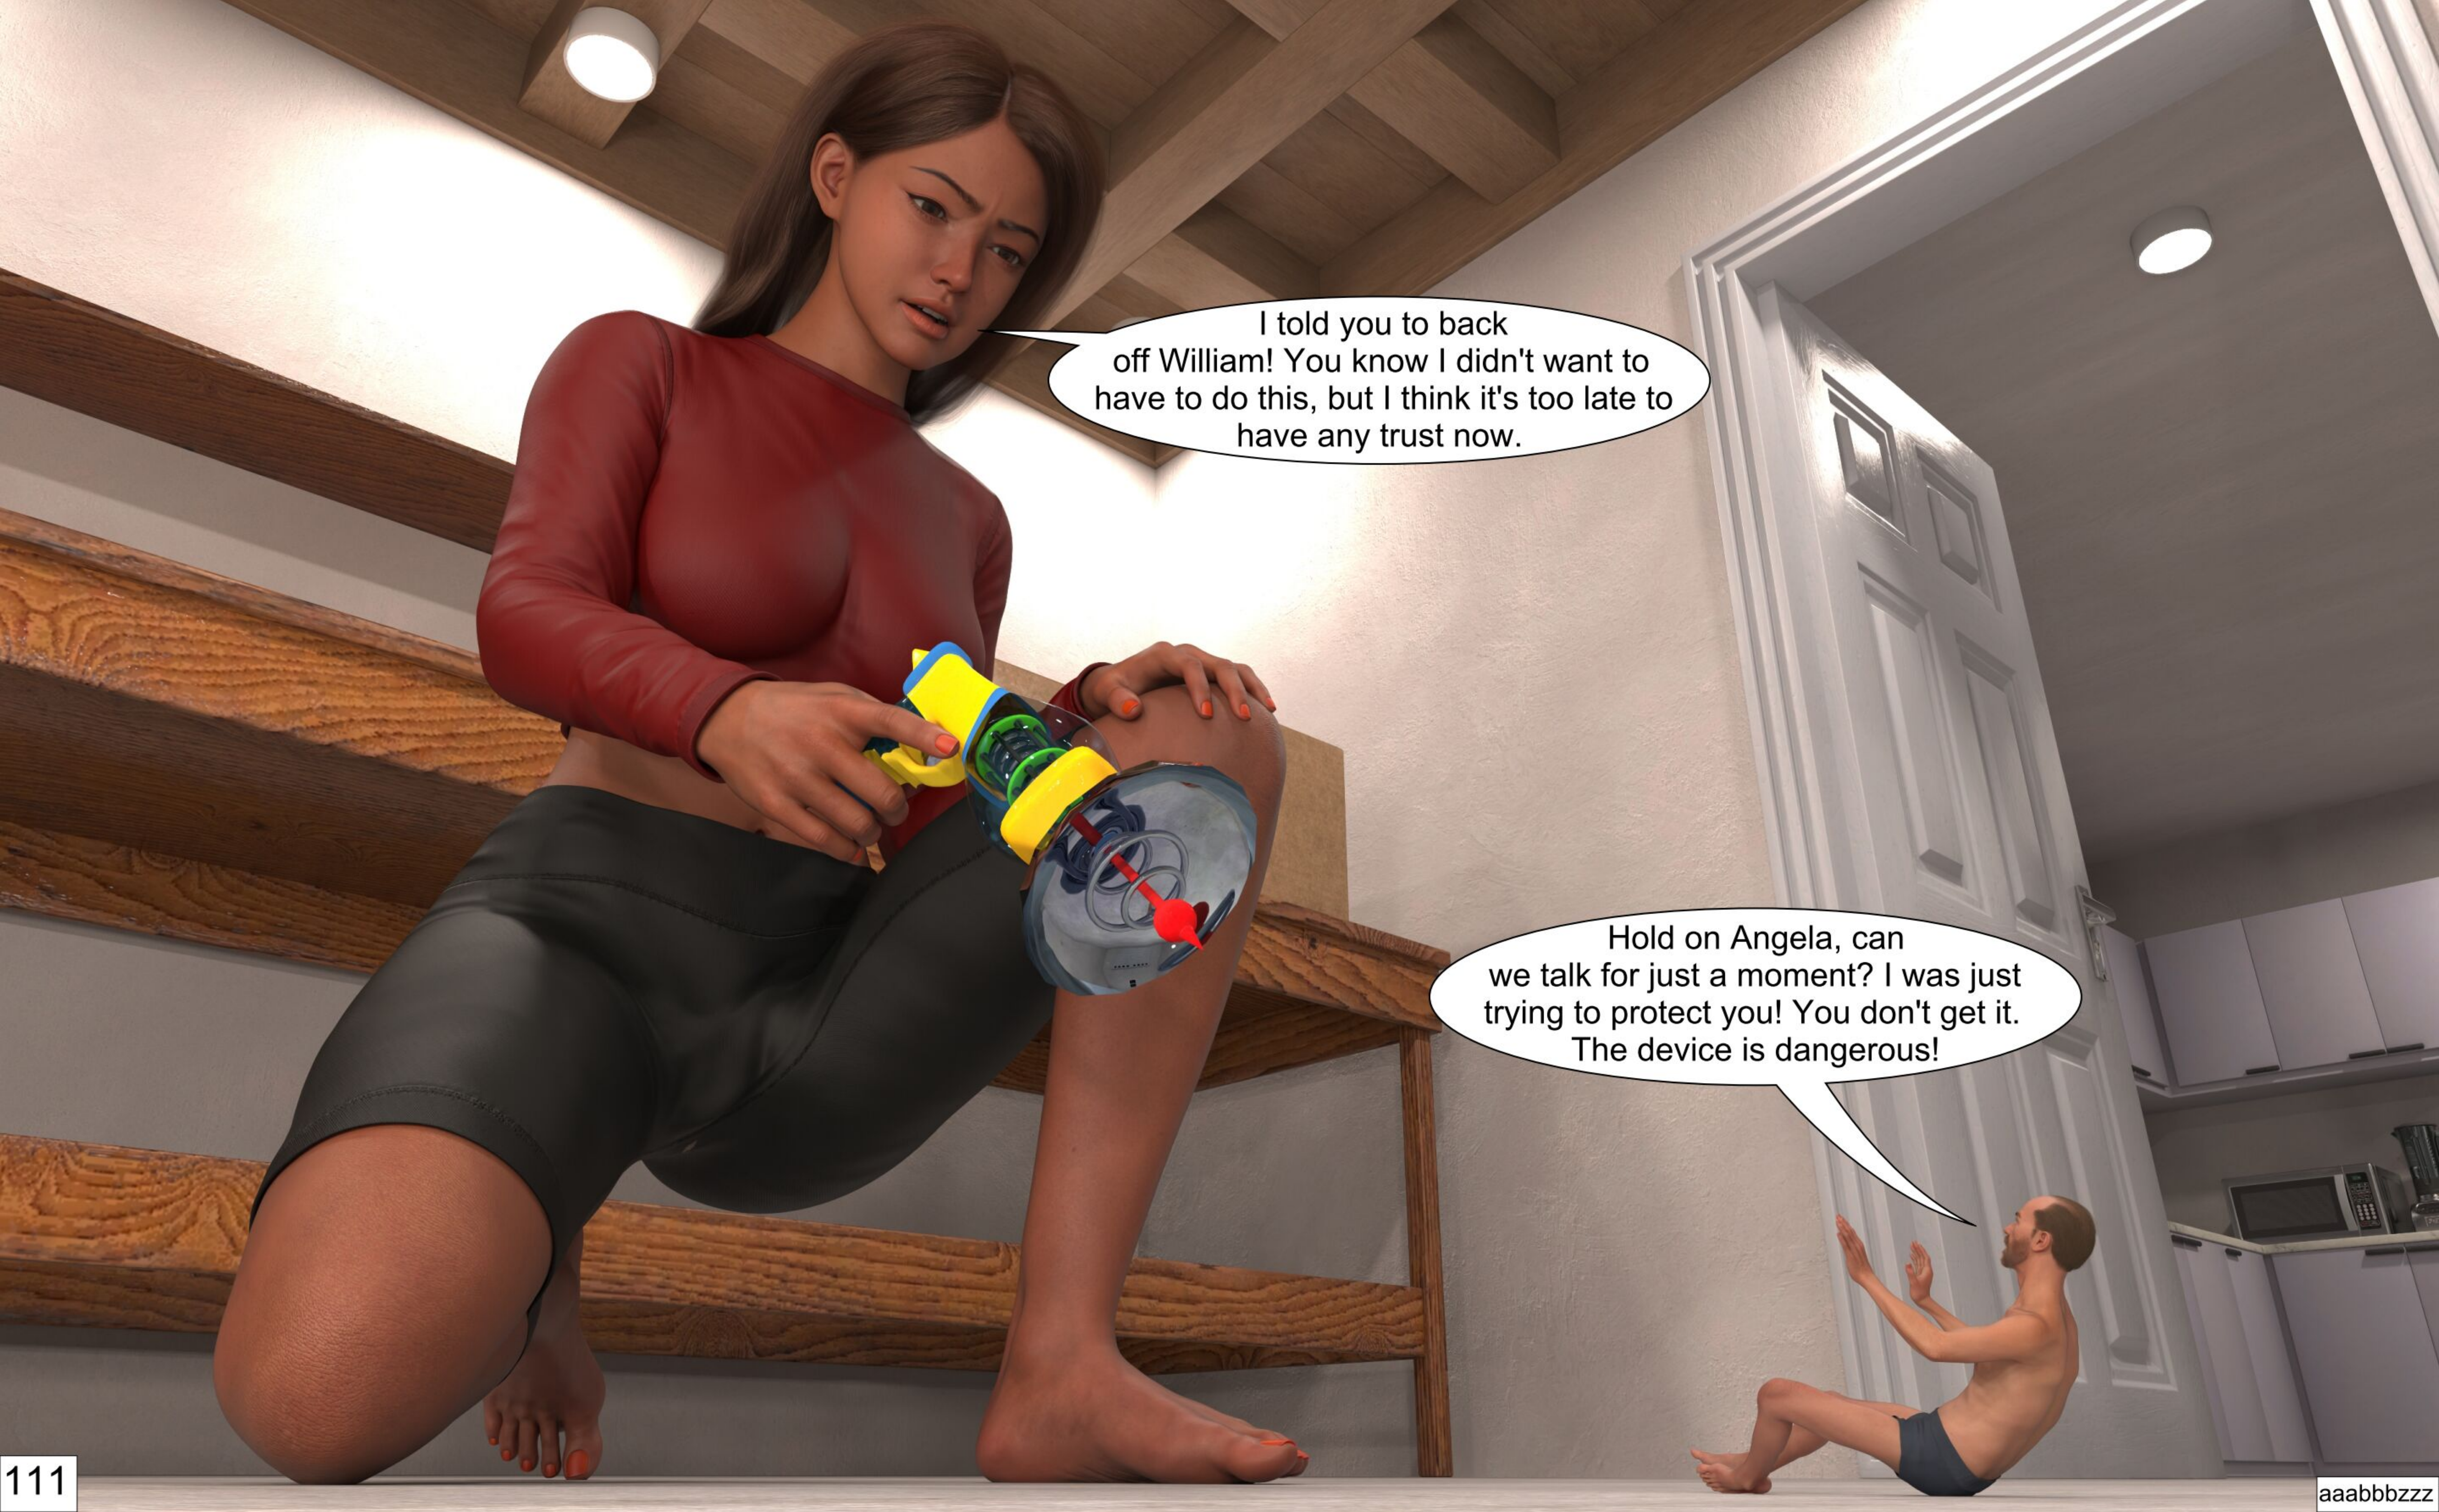

You heard me, give it back you little brat. Someone like you isn't responsible enough to handle the device. Let me see it before something bad happens!

Feeling the aggressive energy from William forced Angela to think quickly. She didn't like the idea of her mother's boyfriend having this power after catching him the way she did earlier. Thinking that she could be in danger herself, she pulled the trigger, lighting up William's body with the same verdant glow as before.

After almost assaulting Angela to get the device back, William found himself shrunken again. This time however, it was not by accident. The giantess held the power all in her hands and he was now too tiny to do anything about it.

I told you to back off William! You know I didn't want to have to do this, but I think it's too late to have any trust now.

Hold on Angela, can we talk for just a moment? I was just trying to protect you! You don't get it. The device is dangerous!

Well if it's so unsafe, why don't we put it down then? If you say we shouldn't mess with it then I'm fine leaving it here. Unfortunately for you though, that means I'm not helping you restore your size.

A huge wave of worry overcame William as he realized the dire situation he was now put in. His girlfriend's daughter no longer wanted to help him. And as he looked up at her towering figure, he suspected that she had other thoughts on her mind now.

Alright let's get out of here.
Maybe you should just be happy that you're not as small as before. You'd be much harder to accidentally step on. Perhaps you might even be useful. So let's go, don't make me tell you twice William.

William hurried as the giantess started to walk behind him. He knew there was no arguing at the moment with Angela's current attitude. It became obvious he needed to wait for her to calm down before trying to convince her anything. However, it left him wondering what exactly she would do now that he was this size.

Good job little man, thank you for cooperating so easily. I know it must be a horrible position to be in, but I think you should stay this way for now. I've always hated the way you would boss me around, so it's my turn! Come on now, follow me into the living room if you can keep up.

However, being the size of a doll proved to be difficult for the shrunken man. He was low on energy from before and could not keep up with Angela's pace, despite her walking slowly in a teasing manner. She continued walking, leaving him behind in hopes he would catch up.

Come on William, where are you?
What a little slacker. If you don't hurry up I promise you'll regret it! Should I text my mom and tell her about how you were trying to be a creepy pervert in my bedroom?

Please don't do that Angela, I'm running as fast as I can!
I already told you it was all an accident. When I talk to your mother about how you shrunk me on purpose afterwards you're going to be in big

After the short sprint over to the couch, William felt exhausted. He felt as if his limit had been reached as he slogged the last few steps. Looking up, he saw Angela tapping away on her phone. It was unknown what she actually was doing, but he had no way of stopping her from doing anything.

There you are! I thought I was going to have to wait all day. Do you want to know who I've been talking to? Well I was going to text my mom about this, but maybe I'll hold that threat for now. Instead, I texted my girlfriend Michelle and invited her over!

What! Are you serious? You better be joking young lady. Just because I'm shrunk doesn't mean you get to disobey all of the house rules! Me and your mother discussed this already, if you're going to live under our roof, then you're going to listen to us.

Angela only slightly chuckled as she heard the tiny man squeaking at her from below. Trying to get taken seriously, William ran up to her foot and started banging on it, continuing to scream up at the giantess as if he had any say in the manner.

A 3D rendered scene showing a woman with long brown hair, wearing a red long-sleeved top and a black skirt, sitting on a light-colored sofa. She is holding a smartphone. Her right leg is extended, and a tiny man in blue shorts is standing on the floor, holding her foot. A speech bubble above her contains text.

Settle down little guy,
you don't get to tell me what to do anymore.
Don't you realize how tiny you are compared to me? I don't even need to try if I want to put you in your place.
Just be grateful I don't shrink you even smaller for fun.

With his heart starting to race, William began to realize how much of this was out of his control. As his girlfriend's daughter took on a bit more of a dominate role, he braced himself as she slammed her sweaty foot down on his tiny body.

Don't you see William?
With just one foot I could end you. You're helpless to my will. So I recommend you be a good little guy for me, otherwise I can decide anytime to punish you. And it looks like Michelle is almost here! Isn't that exciting?

Being smothered underneath Angela's smelly foot made the shrunken man want to cry. He felt completely humiliated as the giantess took pleasure in the control she had over him. It was a horrifying feeling to know that he could be subject to Angela's mercy for a lot longer than expected.

That's enough for now, it looks like she's arriving! So William, I'll be nice and give you the option this time to hide away if you'd like. I understand it might be scary to meet another girl at that size, so if you want to leave us alone
I will allow it.

Huh? Why would she let me do that?
I guess it's better than being forced to meet her.
Maybe I should spy on them though. If her girlfriend seems nice maybe I can try and get her attention in hopes she isn't as crazy as Angela.

Taking any appealing offer he could get, William crawled underneath the couch, feeling lucky that Angela wasn't going to force him to do anything right now. It felt a bit degrading though, as if he were a rodent hiding from danger. He got out of sight perfectly in time as the giantess walked over to the door to open it.

Baby! I'm so glad to see you, thanks for inviting me over. I thought you weren't allowed to have people over though.

Michelle! Thanks for coming over. Come on in. Don't worry, let's just say I've gained some new privileges suddenly.

Michelle was Angela's 20 year old girlfriend. The two had been dating for a few months now and were definitely in a honeymoon phase at the moment. As she came in, they shut the door behind them and immediately gave each other a kiss.

William stayed put underneath the couch as Angela's girlfriend followed her. It seemed as if the two were going to sit down here instead of heading straight up to the bedroom. This gave the little guy some hope, still considering asking this girl for help.

So tell me, how did you get William to change his mind about guests? I always thought it was a bit strict, but I'm glad to see he loosened up a little.

Well, I don't think he's too happy about it still, but he kind of lost the power to be able to enforce that rule. He just really isn't in charge anymore.

As the girls had their conversation, William couldn't help but think this could be his chance. Here was another human that might have the sense to help him. He figured it couldn't be worse than Angela being the only one knowing about his circumstances.

Michelle look down here! It's me William. Please hear me out, Angela shrunk me and I need your help! You need to convince her that this is wrong and to restore me back to normal!

After feeling a slight tickle down by her foot and some strange squeaks, Michelle was spooked. She thought there was some sort of rodent on the floor as she quickly kicked off her sandals and lifted her legs up onto the couch. However when she looked down she recognized that this wasn't a pest, but a shrunken man.

Oh my god Angela, is that William? What happened to him and why is he so small? Not to mention in his underwear.

Don't worry babe, I can explain it all. This is what I was talking about. Apparently he invented a size changing device and shrunk himself. And then I found him in my bedroom without even knowing about it!

Angela continued to tell her girlfriend about everything. How she grew the little guy back to normal and then had to shrink him again. All of this seemed to make it seem like William didn't have good intentions. As his girlfriend's daughter stood up, he started to think that asking Michelle for help was a very bad idea.

You're kidding?
That's so weird! Don't you think he would think of something else to get your attention?
I feel like he crossed a line.

I'm glad you think so too! Everything about it just seemed a bit fishy to me. If you really wanted help William you shouldn't of acted the way you did.

When William looked up at Michelle, he started to lose hope. He could see her being convinced by Angela, making him feel alone and vulnerable. There was nobody to help him or take his side and now it seemed like these girls could do whatever they wanted with him.

Don't listen to her Michelle, that's not how it all went. I was trying to get her attention! You can't really believe I'd be sneaking a peek or something. I swear this is all a misunderstanding and you need to help me get me back to normal!

Unfortunately for William, neither of the girls wanted to take his word. As Michelle also stood up, the two towered above him, making him feel hopeless against their enormous forms. He had no power and was at the mercy of these two giantesses.

So what do you think we should do with him? Obviously we can't ever grow him back, maybe we should get rid of him.

What do you mean, like crush him? As fun as that sounds, I think that would be quite a waste. We could think of ways for him to be useful.

Are you sure? I'd gladly dispose of him for you if you'd like! What do you think of that idea William? I bet you didn't think I could be so cruel. Well, I only am against people who cross me, and I feel like you had a rule about Angela having guests because you didn't like me!

Suddenly, Michelle slammed her foot down, barely missing the tiny man as he fell backwards. Although it seemed like she wanted to step on him, she was just teasing. The girls both could see the fear in his eyes as he begged them to stop.

As the two giantesses simply giggled at William, it became clear that he was in trouble. Trying to back away, the little man was plucked from the floor as Angela got down to grab his leg. She raised him up, bringing him closer to their level as they continued to joke about his helplessness.

You know I was just kidding William! Angela is right, we would benefit a lot more keeping you around. I'm sure we could think of something fun, perhaps even naughty?

Michelle! This is my mother's boyfriend you're talking about. I know he's not much of a man anymore, but I guess he would make a great toy.

The girls both laughed as they minimized William's concerns about the whole situation. As Michelle tapped on his private area with her finger, he started to squirm. It was hard to comprehend, but it seemed like he was going to be nothing but a plaything to this lesbian couple.

After a few more moments of fooling around, Angela decided to swing to her right and throw the little guy down onto the couch. As William bounced off the soft cushion, his mind ran wild with dread. He wanted nothing but to run away, but it was too late for that.

Speaking of naughty things, that's another thing that William never wanted to happen around here. But now that he has no say, there's nothing to stop us.

Oh I like how you think babe. Even though he's still here, we pretty much have this entire place to ourselves. The idea of that gets me so excited.

As for him, what do you think, should we make him watch? I bet it will make him even more angry knowing that we're disobeying his wishes right in front of him.

I like how you think Michelle. What are you going to do little guy? Maybe this is what you wanted anyway when you snuck into my bedroom.

The little man looked up in shock as Angela and Michelle began to make out. He didn't know what to think of this as they seemed to grab each other and softly moan as they puckered their lips with passion.

All of a sudden William didn't have time to react as Michelle turned Angela towards the couch and started to push her downward. Before he had time to get away, his girlfriend's daughter's ass came crashing down right on top of him.

Oh my god babe, my butt landed right on top of William! I can feel him struggling, but I think he's alright. I'm not sure how, somehow his body doesn't seem to break like you'd think.

Maybe there's something about shrinking that makes him more durable. That would explain how he was able to survive inside of your shoe! Oh this is going to be so much more fun if we don't need to be so careful with him.

Although the shrunken man was suffering under the pressure, his body seemed to stay strong. This created an even scarier thought as William worried about the things that the girls might do to him with this newfound knowledge. He struggled to breathe, pounded by the weight and smell of Angela's ass, but it never gave her the thought to need to get off him.

Wow this is an amazing discovery Angela. I don't know how this could be possible, but it's getting me really excited. We're going to have the best time this weekend without any rules. Sorry but not sorry William.

Disregarding William's well-being, the two girls continued to enjoy each other as they made out while on top of the little man. As he squirmed underneath Angela's booty, he could hear everything going on, unable to do anything to stop it.

Not only was this a harsh environment to be in, but it was getting worse. William could feel the warmth of the gigantic couple as their bodies heated up. They were on the road to transition to something more intimate and the tiny man was afraid what that meant for him.

As for Angela and Michelle, this new power was intoxicating. They both couldn't believe that this was their reality. With her mother's boyfriend now unable to tell her what to do, there would be no stopping what these girls would do to others who inconvenienced them.

END OF CHAPTER 1