

PART VIXEN

REDFIREDOG + DCDC420

Inari wasn't quite sure what had happened when her consciousness returned to her body. The world looked different somehow, and not just due to the height of her new perspective. Her senses had been enhanced - she could see the people below her.. and she could smell their fear, even as their panicked cries rose up to her ears.

Her body felt different as well - she could feel the breeze brushing past her naked body, the sort of winds that she'd normally feel only by standing on the roof of an apartment building, now rushing over her body. Not that she was that surprised... even while crouching down, her rear was higher up than the buildings nearby. Down at her toes she could feel the slight movements coming from the bodies pinned down against the ground by her feet in the ruins she'd left behind her, their desperate efforts to escape barely even tickling her massive form.

The power she held was intoxicating. She could see the survivors from her earlier play running away from her across the overpass - and she could barely stifle a laugh as the corners of her lips turned upward in a mocking smile. Even if they weren't trapped atop a narrow pathway snaking through the air above the city, they couldn't even run the distance of a single one of her colossal steps before she caught up to them... but they were, and she didn't have to do anything more than reach out with a single outstretched finger.

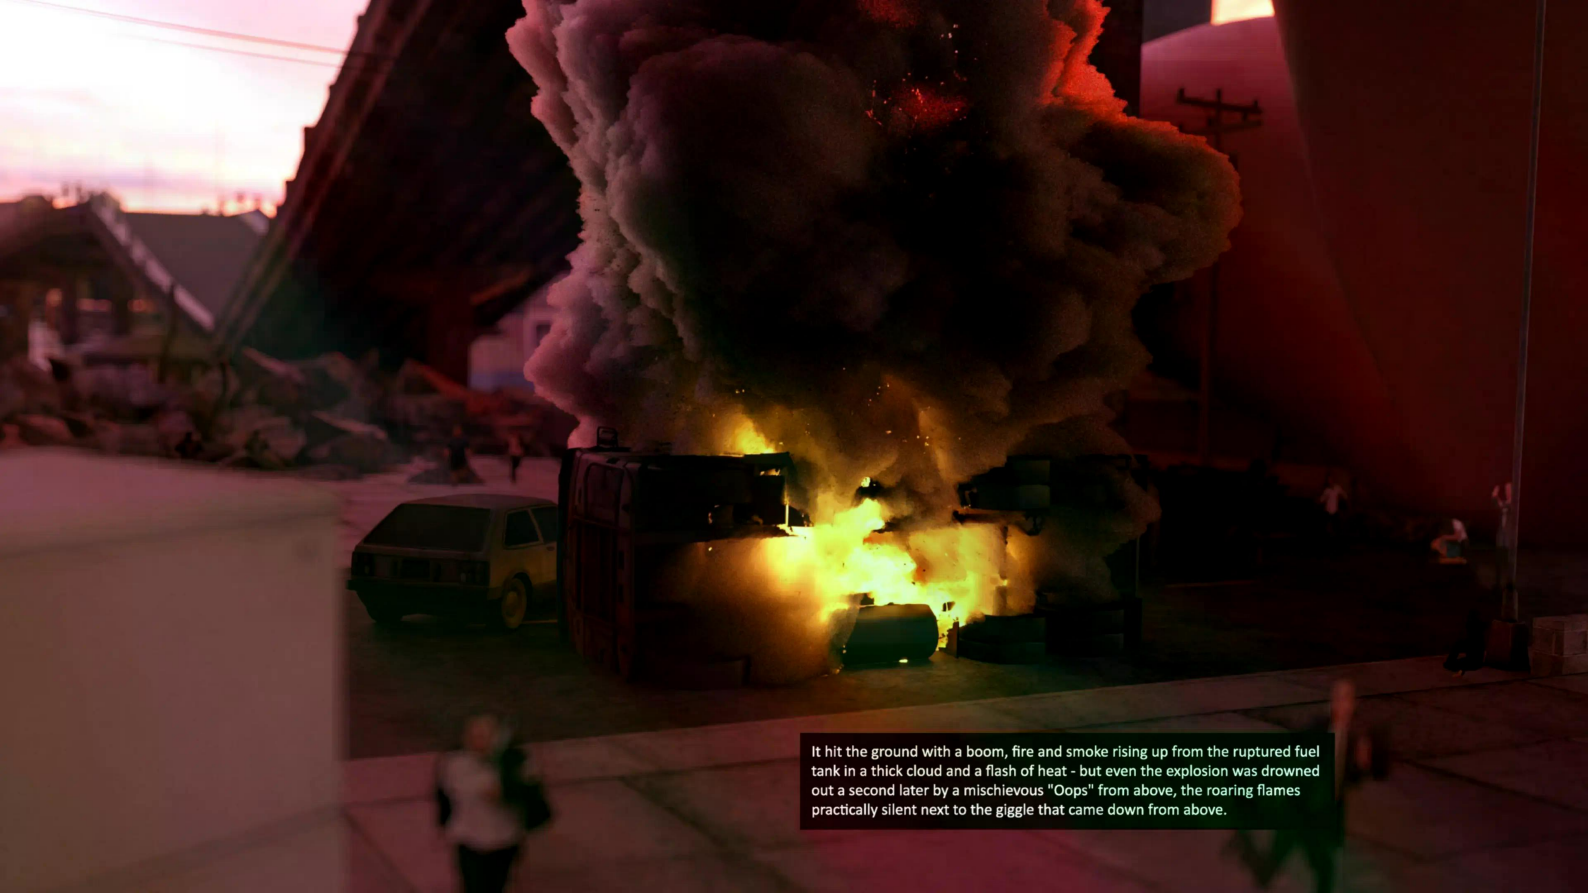

With nothing more than the strength she held in her fingertip she could effortlessly pin someone to the ground, a man who would have been able to overpower her in a second back before she'd grown... and now he was little more than a bug, his entire body unable to put up enough resistance to slow her finger down in the slightest as it ground him into the asphalt, his bones creaking and breaking at the lightest of touches.

Her new toy didn't even last an entire second before being splattered into a stain, the weight and force behind her finger sending out a splash of crimson blood that splattered across the asphalt as if she'd simply popped a grape. "Well, he didn't last long at all... that really isn't enough to satisfy me. There's no way I can stop at just one." The giantess' booming voice rang out across the city with the volume that her size would suggest, so loud that the people closest to her dropped to their knees and clapped their hands against their ears. The city was full of chaos and noise - the sirens of emergency vehicles, the quaking of the ground, the squealing of tires, the distant whirring of helicopter blades cutting through the air, not to mention the screams of those caught too close... but her voice rang out above everything else, booming down from the heavens above as she began to crawl forward.

Her body had grown and changed along with her, her curves growing more pronounced and her breasts growing faster than the rest of her. As she moved they began to sway back and forth - and that momentum alone was enough for her to knock a broken truck off the overpass, the incidental motion of her swaying bust striking it and sending it plummeting down to the ground.

It hit the ground with a boom, fire and smoke rising up from the ruptured fuel tank in a thick cloud and a flash of heat - but even the explosion was drowned out a second later by a mischievous "Oops" from above, the roaring flames practically silent next to the giggle that came down from above.

Inari began to move forward once more, dragging her bust across the road as her body instinctively tried to get more of the stimulation she'd just received, the buckling concrete once again drowned out by her breathy voice. "This world is just full of delightful little surprises. I didn't realize that my nipple would have more horsepower than a truck... but that felt way too good to stop at just one. Hey, all you people down there? I'm gonna crush every last one of you with my tits. Try and give me a nice show before you go, kay?"

As a few traces of dust and rubble fell down from her body, Inari lifted herself up, her breasts now hanging above the road rather than grinding along it. For the people down below, it was as if the sky had suddenly come falling down to earth, the motion of those swaying breasts above their heads triggering the same primal instinct that a mouse would feel as a bird of prey passed overhead - and mixing that instinctual fear with the kind of sexual desire that a woman as voluptuous as Inari's naked form could induce.

As the giant fox-girl began to push forward and catch up to the people fleeing below, her foot idly passed by a building to the side - and sent up another cloud of rubble, the simple act of crawling forward enough to tear down buildings that had taken thousands of hours to build. All the effort that had gone into planning and building what had once been a place to live was reduced to rubble by little more than a stray, unintentional touch from Inari's foot.

Inari couldn't help but giggle again as she saw the people down below running from her breasts - even though their swaying motion meant that she couldn't see them down below half the time. Every single time she shuffled forward across the ground the descent of her hand caused the earth to quake and shudder, and it was enough for one of the tiny people fleeing below to stumble and hit a car that had been abandoned in the middle of the road. One of those huge nipples passed by over his head, close enough that he could see every little detail, the kind of subtle growth that would be unnoticeable on a normal-sized person ominously obvious on Inari's colossal scale.

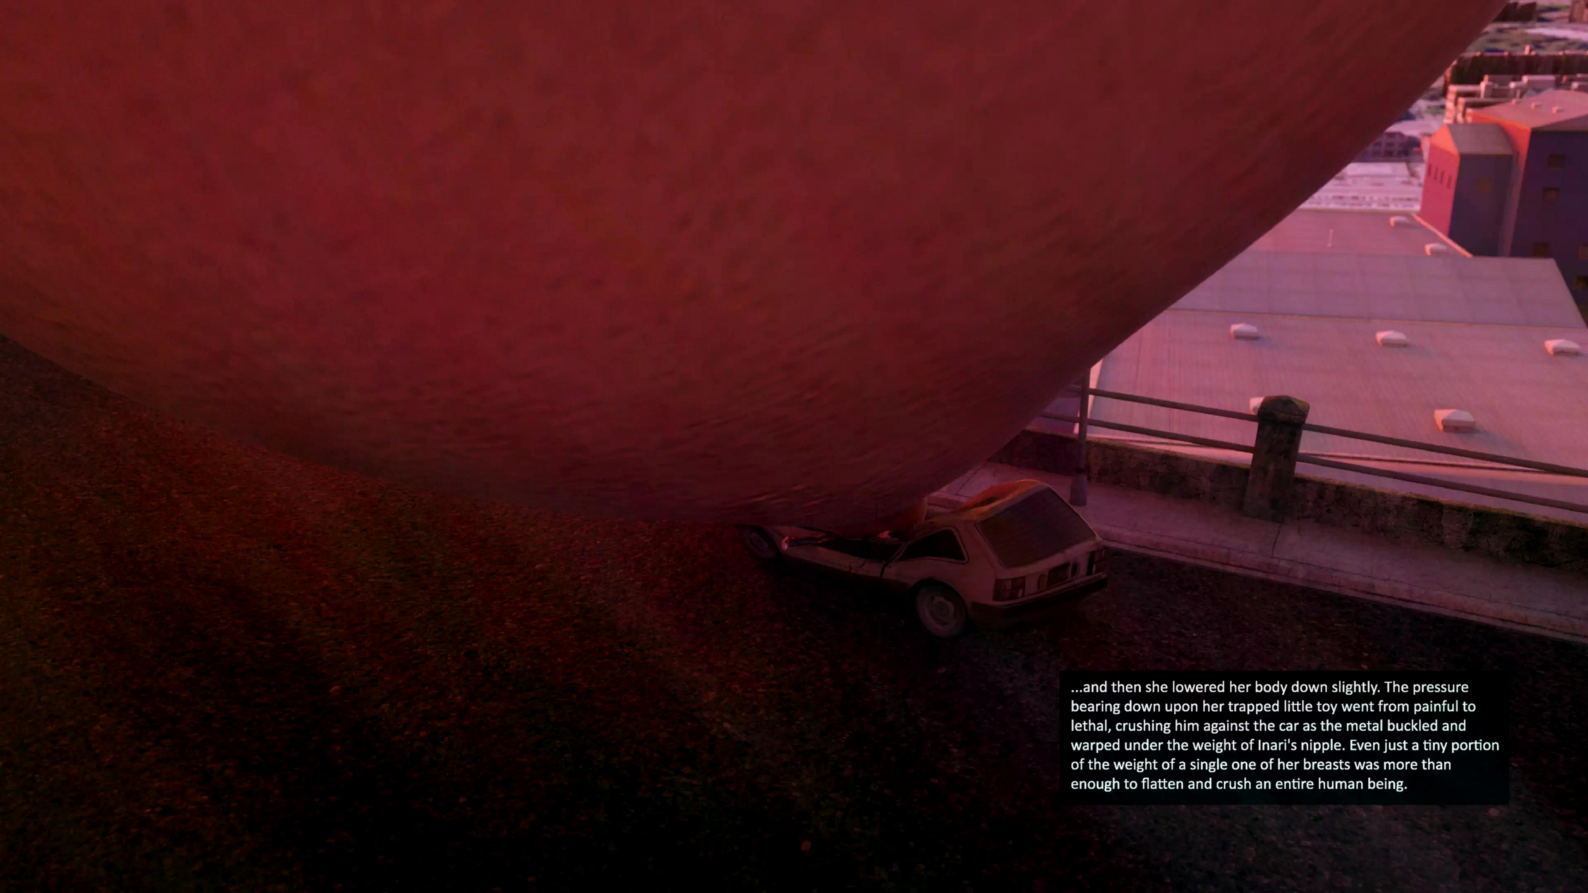

"Wow, I managed to knock you over without even touching you. Kind of pathetic, really... but I can't blame you for wanting to get a closer look at the biggest pair of tits you've ever seen in your life. Not blaming you isn't gonna stop me from seeing just how small a body part of mine I can crush you with though."

Inari shifted her body about, the ground quaking and shaking as she adjusted her position. Those big, hanging breasts swung to and fro through the air above the trapped man's body, passing over him like a pendulum and blowing his hair back with the wind created by their movement. Eventually that big nipple was pointed directly down at his body, giving him a close enough look that he could see just how big it was compared to him - it was several times thicker than his body... and then it started to come down.

A loud sigh echoed down from above, muffled slightly by the sheer amount of flesh between him and the giantess' mouth up above, flesh that was now pushing against his body and pinning him to the car. The warmth of Inari's skin, the scent of her body - sensations that would normally have been pleasurable were now stained with the terrible pain caused by the sheer weight pressing down on his leg and chest, crushing him against the car. He screamed and fought back as hard as he could, but he could barely even push back against the giantess' skin. Instead, those efforts simply caused her nipple to swell and harden a bit more, pushing against him with even more force.

...and then she lowered her body down slightly. The pressure bearing down upon her trapped little toy went from painful to lethal, crushing him against the car as the metal buckled and warped under the weight of Inari's nipple. Even just a tiny portion of the weight of a single one of her breasts was more than enough to flatten and crush an entire human being.

Not to mention the car underneath. That wall of warm flesh bore down on the man from above, spreading over and around his body and smothering him under that suffocating flesh. Inari's breasts may have been as soft and welcoming as any busty girl's, but their sheer size turned them into an implacable wall of flesh that pressed down on the little man pinned beneath them from every angle, even as the car buckled and broke under their weight. The screams coming from beneath were drowned out by metallic crunch of the car bending and twisting, the shattering of the glass windshield, the pop of the tires - and eventually silenced by the splatter of his body popping under that impossible strain.

: "And there he goes. I'm disappointed - he didn't even last an entire minute... oh well. It's not like he was the only toy I had left. Besides, there's just so much of me - I want to use every single part of my body while I play. Knowing that even the tiniest parts of my body can kill someone without me even trying is hot enough that I can't stop at just one."

A surreal scene where the lower half of a giant woman, specifically her buttocks, looms over a city overpass. The skin is a reddish-pink color with a visible texture. Two large, dark, teardrop-shaped nipples hang down towards the road. Below, several people are running across the overpass, and a car is visible in the distance. The background shows a sunset or sunrise sky with warm orange and yellow tones.

Once again the ground shook and rumbled as Inari lifted her body back up off the ground, her breasts once against dangling down above the stragglers left on the road below - and so big that they were pushed together by the sides of her arms. Even just one of her boobs could have stretched across the entire width of the overpass, and the warmth of her body made it feel like a hot summer's day to the people down below.

Looking down past the valley of her own mountainous cleavage, Inari's glowing eyes quickly locked on to the stragglers below, a derisive smirk forming on her face as she realised that she was so big that her breasts could hide that many tiny people from her lofty vantage point. "And while that was fun... I don't think a single person can cut it now. You little bugs aren't even capable of standing up to one of my nipples, and I deserve a bit more stimulation than that. Let's see if I can finish off every last one of you at once." Staring down and shifting her body's position forward, Inari slowly rose up off the ground, those breasts hanging higher and higher in the air above the road...

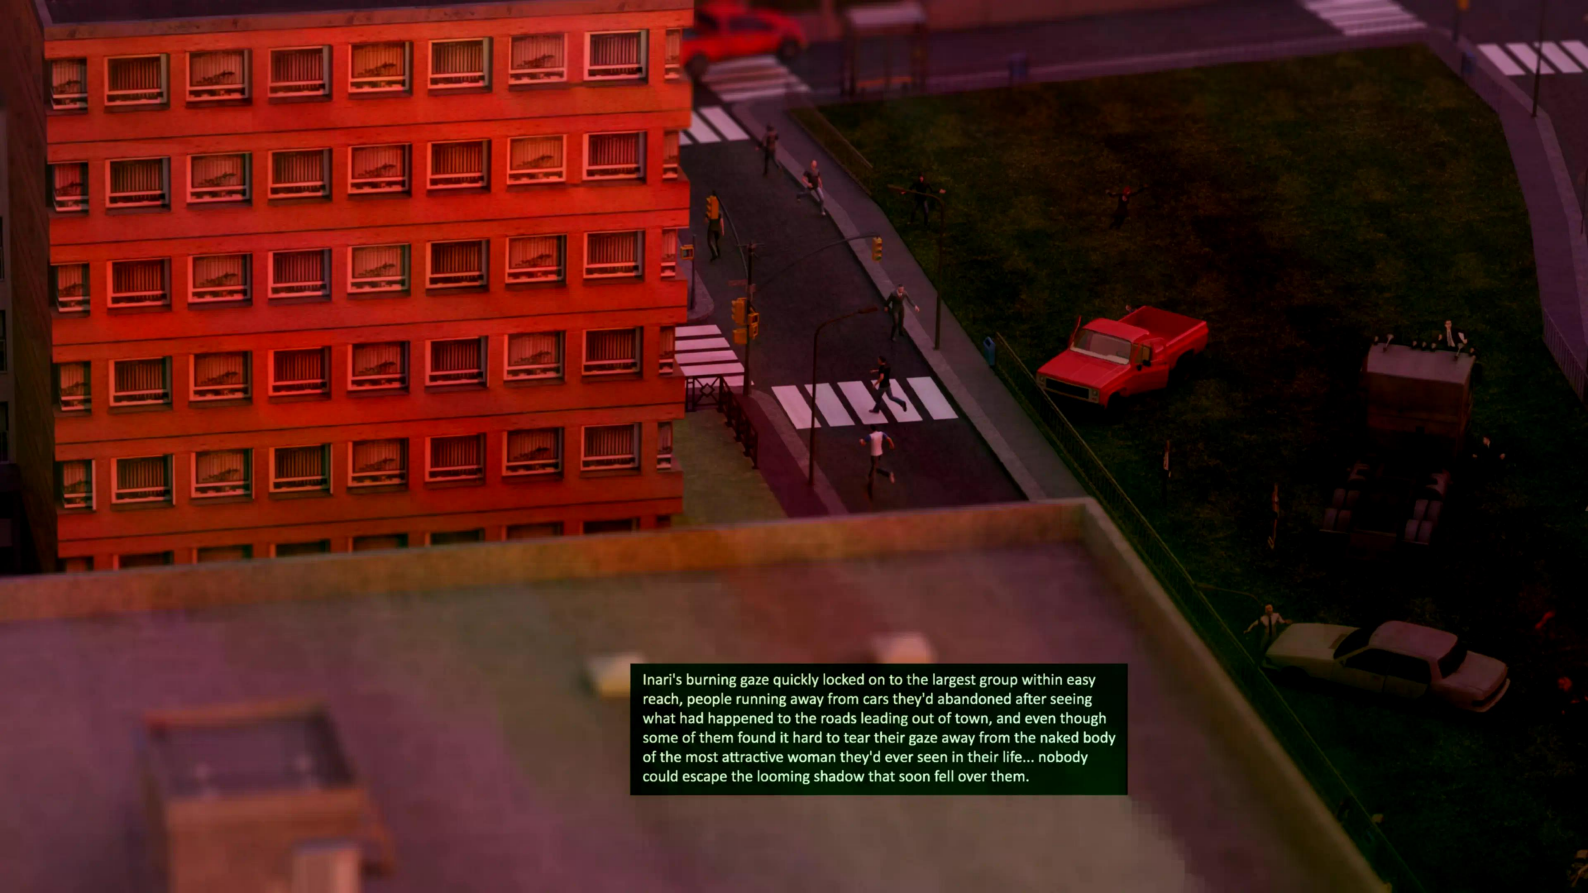

And then they came down with a terrific crash, Inari smashing her body against the ground and letting her breasts smash down against the people caught below her. Her bust came down from above like twin meteors, the sky itself falling down and quickly spilling out across the road. The unlucky people caught beneath were flattened against the asphalt for a brief moment, their bodies totally pinned and immobilized by soft flesh until the force behind them caused the road to crack and break. Inari's boobs easily tore through the overpass and came down on the buildings and ground below, even as the same motion caused her ass to rise up and stick out in the air as if she was showing herself off to the people staring from the skyscraper behind.

Inari's hands spread out across the ground, supporting her body just enough that she didn't smash her face into the road, her mouth open as she let out a gasp at the sensation of causing so much devastation and destruction by just slamming her boobs down against the road. She couldn't even tell how many lives she'd just ended with that little bit of play, and that alone was just as exciting as the slight physical stimulation the meager resistance of their bodies gave her. "That was fun...but nowhere near enough."

Inari lifted herself up off the ground, her iridescent eyes eagerly searching for new prey. She didn't even have to get up off her knees to find new people - she was so much bigger than she was before that even now she was looking down from above the nearby buildings. The news had been broadcasting a non-stop feed of her rampage, but even those people who realised that they needed to escape couldn't get out of the way fast enough... and the motion of their tiny fleeing bodies instantly caught the giantess' attention.

Inari's burning gaze quickly locked on to the largest group within easy reach, people running away from cars they'd abandoned after seeing what had happened to the roads leading out of town, and even though some of them found it hard to tear their gaze away from the naked body of the most attractive woman they'd ever seen in their life... nobody could escape the looming shadow that soon fell over them.

Crawling over to her newfound snacks, the ground rumbling and quaking as her tail lazily swung to and fro behind her head, Inari licked her lips as she stared down from her lofty vantage point. She could see the city laid out before her like a map, every alley and means of escape perfectly visible - at this point she was big enough that escape or hiding was completely impossible. She opened her mouth as if to speak, only for some tiny voice to reach her ears, causing her to turn her head to the side.

Down on one of the buildings below, some brave soul had crawled up onto a roof, waving his arms as he tried to catch the attention of the hungry goddess. "Hey! I-" Before he'd even finished his sentence, the rumbling of Inari's empty stomach rang out, the noise totally drowning out his words. Licking her lips once again, the goddess turned her attention towards him before speaking, her tone as dismissive as it was deafening. "I don't know what the hell you're playing at, but whatever it was... I don't care. I'm going to show you what happens to people who annoy me."

Inari balled her hand into a fist and held it above the man's head - before suddenly slamming it down into the roof, tearing through the building with more force and weight than a demolition ball. The human body atop it burst instantly, splattering apart as a giantess with more power in one of her fingers than an olympian lifter exerted her full strength in one devastating blow... and then turned her attention to the fleeing crowd before her.

Her breasts once again pressed down against the ground, crushing cars, people and anything else beneath them, Inari stretched her hand out, fingers outstretched as she reached forward. "Hey snacks...stop running. It's not like you're gonna be able to escape, so why bother trying?"

Her butt sticking up in the air and giving the news reporters in the helicopter behind her another beautiful view, Inari couldn't stop herself from continuing to hungrily lick her lips as she drew closer and closer to the people running away from her below. Clicking her tongue in audible disappointment at the disobedience of the people below her hand, she simply brought it crashing down on them from above, barely even noticing that a brush from her arm tore open the facade of another building as it crushed the disobedient morsels below... but her disdain didn't last for long before being overpowered by her hunger.

With another shower of debris, Inari lifted herself up off the ground, her swaying curves wrecking another building in the process. Still on all fours, she adopted the posture of a predatory animal - just like a fox as she looked down at her food. Her keen eyes quickly spotted the densest concentration of people, and then...

Moving with a speed that belied her massive size, Inari suddenly pounced, her outstretched tongue coming down out of the sky and creating a massive wall of flesh behind a group of fleeing survivors, the warm moisture of her breath instantly letting them know that their fates were sealed. The buildings around her began to shudder and fall, even the lightest of touches enough to knock them off their foundations as her gigantic body descended.

Inari flicked her head upwards, her tongue following suit as she scooped up a crowd of people with no more effort than she'd need to lick up the last traces of dessert. Shifting her gaze down, she could just make out the people trapped atop the bed of warm saliva that was her tongue... and shivered in anticipation of what came next.

Inari took care not to let any of her morsels fall down as she brought her tongue back into her mouth, trapping the crowd atop it in warm, humid darkness. Her breath alone was like a heavy wind, and her snacks were soon coated in her spit. Screams echoed out from between her lips, but their volume decreased as she slowly closed them together.

Her lips closed shut, cutting off the last traces of light for those caught inside - and then she swallowed with an audible gulp, flipping her tongue back and sending the people inside tumbling down the back of her throat. She could still remember when eating a single person took her a bit of effort... but now she could devour a whole crowd as if it was nothing. Closing her eyes to focus on the sensations coming from inside her mouth, she let out a sigh that her victims could feel and hear rumbling up around them as they plummeted into the waiting, hungry darkness of her stomach. Even with her eyes closed, the burning light behind them shone through as she consumed even more souls.

Letting out a loud, satisfied sigh, Inari opened her eyes once more. Licking up those people had been fun, but at her new size they weren't even enough to count as a snack... and she still wanted more. Concentrating for a moment, she narrowed her eyes and looked around - before her gaze suddenly locked onto a building in the distance, her newfound power letting her easily spot the densest concentration of scared and panicked people trying to take shelter.

As the hand Inari used to steady herself while rising collapsed with a plume of dust, her tail swung along the ground and left a trail of destruction in its wake. "I didn't realise my boobs had gotten big enough that they'd reach my knees like this... not that I mind." Even as she spoke, the giantess began to rise to her full, towering height.

"This is...intoxicating. Everything looks so much smaller from up here - it's kind of hot." Inari's newfound height was still yet to sink in - but her newfound perspective left her mouth watering and her crotch growing moist once more. Not even the helicopter buzzing around made it up to the level of her head, and the knowledge that she was the biggest thing for miles around only added to her arousal. Seeing the buildings down below, she couldn't help herself - lifting up one foot, she held it over the roof of one of the buildings nearby and grinned.

Her gigantic sole came crashing down from the heavens like a meteorite, destroying the building caught beneath her foot more quickly than even a planned demolition, the impact of her stomp sending out a cloud of dust and smoke even as it flipped over nearby cars. Some of the other buildings, already destabilised by her earlier play, began to tilt and crumble due to nothing more than the shockwave her stomp sent out. A few other people were simply caught beneath the toes of her other foot as it shifted slightly forward with her stance.

"I barely even felt that! All that time and effort put into constructing a building like that, all the people living inside of it...and now it's gone because I stomped my foot." Inari had an expression of delight on her face, the part of her that used to be Emily rejoicing and delighting in this novel sensation... and the rest of her exulting in the sheer power that she possessed now.

The knowledge that even simply walking through the city was going to cause this level of devastation and destruction left her cunt dripping wet once again, but her eyes immediately turned to the building she'd seen before. She'd considered hiding her intentions before, but now she didn't see the point - there wasn't any way they'd be able to escape now.

With every footfall sending up a plume of dust and debris, Inari walked over to the most densely populated building in sight... and lowered herself down into a squat. As her tremendous ass blocked out the sky for the people down below, her tail swung back and forth, casting a tremendous shadow over the hotel behind her. "I'm going to be crushing people beneath my feet with every single step I take... so I'm going to take my time and see what it feels like when I use some other parts of my body."

The dust from her earlier steps hadn't even settled as Inari lowered her tremendous butt down from above, taking a moment to steady herself and make sure she was in the right position before...

"Boom!" Falling to the ground with an earth-shaking boom, reducing the entire building to rubble within a second. Even more dust and debris shot out through the city, a few explosions tickling her bare skin as her ass descended to the ground with unstoppable force.

Inari shivered, feeling countless lives come to an end as her shapely behind slammed through the ceiling of the apartment building below, countless lives splattering against her bare skin as she crushed hundreds of people to death by simply sitting down.

"I can.... feel it. Feel them. All those lives ended by my fat butt... I feel like a kid in a candy store. There's so much fun to be had, and you little bugs can't do a thing to stop me... I can already feel the next growth spurt starting. I can feel it welling up inside me - and then you're all going to be that much more insignificant before me."

Giggling to herself, Inari spread her legs out, crushing people and cars alike as her foot bulldozed through another building, the ground cracking beneath her as an idle movement tore through life after life. All she had to do was spread her legs and trucks were knocked over, emergency sirens blared and countless people were crushed and killed against her perfect skin, their souls trapped inside her and used to fuel the next spurt of growth.

Looking down with a smirk, Inari realised that her leg was right next to another well-populated building - and simply swung her foot to the side, tearing through the walls and killing even more people with no more effort than she'd need to knock down a sandcastle at the beach. For the people inside, it was as if a wall of flesh had just come crashing through the wall next to them, getting only a glimpse of perfect, feminine skin before being crushed to death by it. She was not so big that when her foot rested on her heel her toes actually stretched up past the roof of a multi-storey building.

...and that did it. That was what it took to push her over the edge. She was already sopping wet, but that last burst of human life and the energy she drew from their souls was enough to trigger another growth spurt. She'd felt it welling up inside her, but every single time she got bigger the sensations grew more and more intense. Exhaling, she planted her hands on the ground behind her and got ready to grow bigger.

Bigger.

And bigger.

And bigger.

She could feel her body stretching across the ground, her butt covering up more and more of the city below, crushing even more of it as she did nothing more than get even bigger. People, cars, street signs - nothing could withstand the weight and force of her colossal form as it stretched across the ground. Even with her mind preoccupied by the pleasure of growth, she could see another building directly in the path of her foot. She could have reached out and crushed it in a second...but she simply waited.

It was still a shock to the parts of her that used to be Emily. Knowing that her foot was longer than a multi-storey building was one thing, but seeing it tear through one as she did nothing more than grow was something else.

And then it was gone. Not only had she destroyed the building, but the one next to it was starting to crumble and fall as well. "I don't even have to do anything but sit here to crush you... I'm sure some part of me felt guilty about all this, but not anymore. Nobody cares when they step on an ant... and now you're all even smaller than that."

Inari had a curious look in her eyes as she stared down at the aftermath of her growth spurt - the broken buildings, the cracked ground, the clouds of dust and debris. Every subtle movement of her body had more power and force behind it than a professional demolition crew... and her ever-increasing power brought her an ever-increasing amount of pleasure. "That felt incredible... and I can't stop here."

The same supernatural senses that she'd acquired since merging with Inari drew her attention to the hotel she'd been resting her back against, her tail resting atop it. "I wasn't able to fit that whole building beneath my ass before... but let's see how I do now." Lifting herself up off the ground with another boom, Inari couldn't help but bite down on her lower lip as she saw just how high above the world she towered now.

Grinning as she looked down at the ground below, Inari put her hands atop her thighs as she shifted her ass about. Her butt was too big for her to see the building below... but when she saw her shadow stretching out past it, she knew that she was big enough that she didn't even need to aim.

The shockwave that Inari's ass sent out through the streets of the city was on a whole new level compared to the last time. Clouds of debris shot out through the streets, dust and rubble spreading out in a wave that swallowed up entire buildings as the earth cracked beneath her. The hotel she'd been leaning on only a minute ago was flattened by the impossible weight of her mountain-sized body, leaving two cheek-shaped imprints in the ground that covered not just the hotel itself but everything around it.

Inari let out a satisfied sigh as she felt her body spreading out over the ruins, the wall of flesh that was her ass flattening everything beneath it... she was getting turned on. Lifting up her legs and showing off her crotch once again, she took her feet and hung them in the air above the buildings in front of her, her toes flexing and curling as she picked out the most satisfying target. "You're all just so tiny and helpless..."

:The giantess pushed her foot forward, crushing another building under her sole with no more effort than she'd need to crush an anthill. "And I'm just so big. I can't believe a part of me could have ever felt bad about this... all of you, this entire city - being my toy is the highest possible purpose you could all serve."

Inari kept on dragging her heel through the ground, the force she was exerting enough to make the ground shudder and shake. Buildings that she hadn't even touched began to fall down - and all that chaos drove more and more people out onto the streets within easy view of the cruel goddess looming overhead as she looked for another target.

A massive, pinkish-red foot is shown from a high angle, descending upon a city. The foot is so large that it completely obscures the view of the ground in the foreground. In the background, a city with various buildings is visible. Some buildings are being crushed or are in the process of being crushed by the foot. A large plume of dark smoke or dust is rising from the point of impact. The sky is a pale, hazy blue.

A single one of Inari's feet covered up multiple buildings now, crushing several of them in one stomp. For those caught underneath that terrible shadow there was no possible escape - they were too slow, and she was simply too big. Even those who were closer to the edge of her sole found their path blocked, wrecked buildings and torn-up asphalt leaving escape impossible.

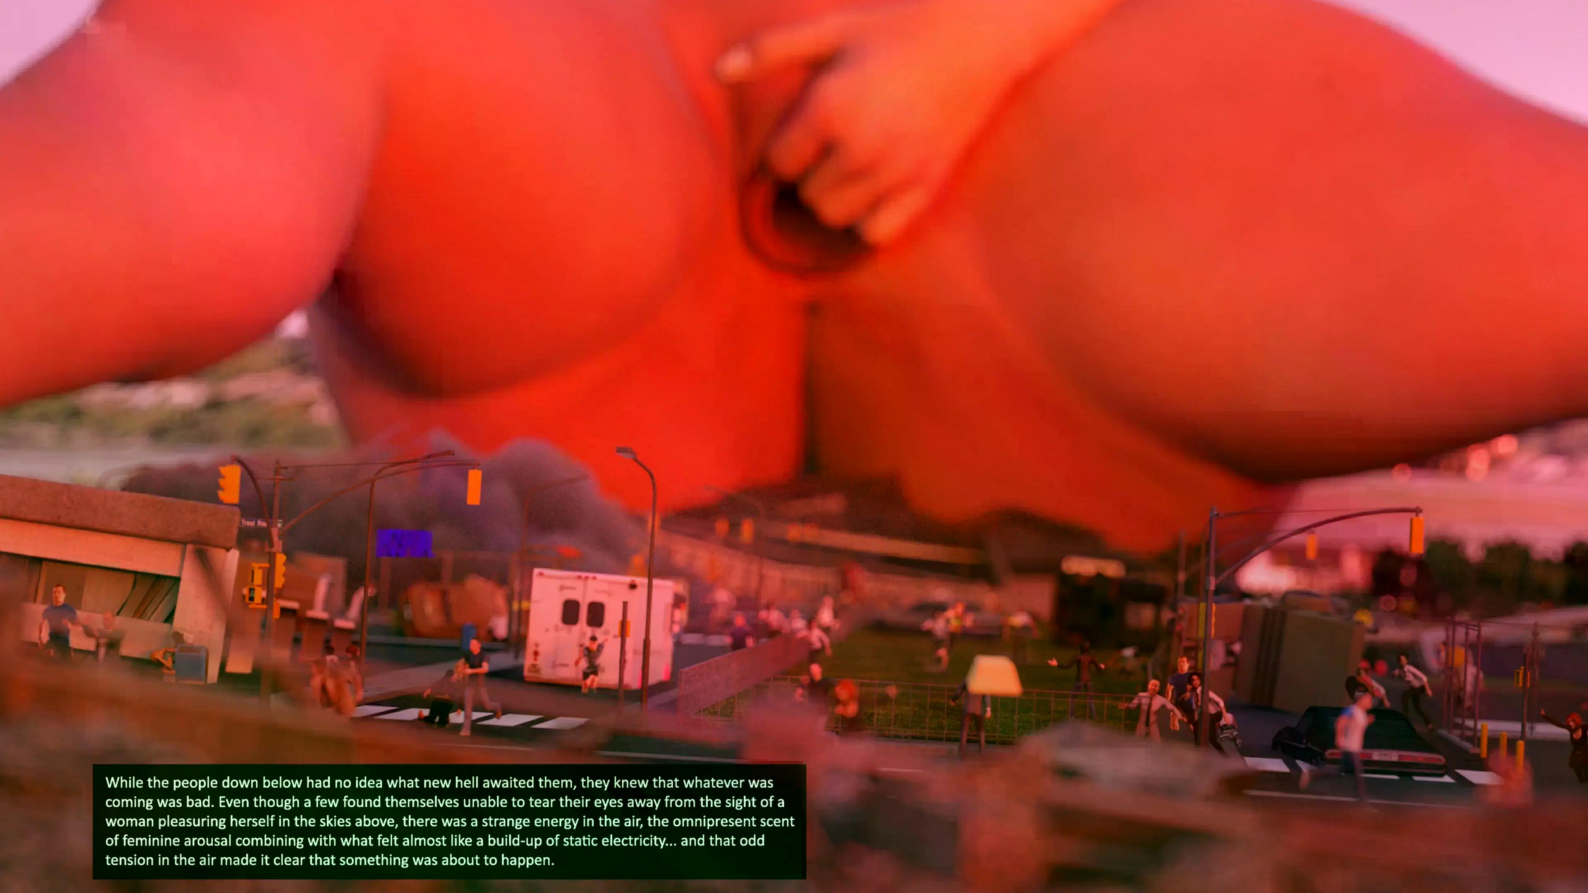

"God this is hot...wait, I should be saying goddess now." The giantess giggled for a moment before speaking again, her voice sending out a shockwave that almost sent the helicopter filming her spiralling to the ground. "Then again, it really is kind of gauche to speak about myself in third person like that, isn't it? Either way... I'm getting seriously turned on."

For the people down between Inari's legs, her arousal was impossible to deny. The scent of dominant feminine sexuality was strong enough on the air that those close enough to her dripping wet lips could taste it on the air with every breath, the air around them growing warm. "I've eaten so many of you little snacks already today... I think I'm going to try something new. I am a goddess, after all - let's see just what else this magic of mine can do."

Her breath growing a bit heavier, Inari supported herself on one hand and brought her other down to her pussy. She was already sopping wet, and the wet sounds of her play echoed out across the ruins below, drowning out the noises of emergency sirens and collapsing buildings - not to mention the screams of those still trapped somewhere under her body. "First I open myself up..."

While the people down below had no idea what new hell awaited them, they knew that whatever was coming was bad. Even though a few found themselves unable to tear their eyes away from the sight of a woman pleasuring herself in the skies above, there was a strange energy in the air, the omnipresent scent of feminine arousal combining with what felt almost like a build-up of static electricity... and that odd tension in the air made it clear that something was about to happen.

It struck those who were closest to her crotch first - a sudden and strange lightness, as if the effects of gravity were weakening. People began to float up off the ground, and it almost felt pleasant at first... before they felt themselves getting tugged upwards by an inexorable pull, moving closer and closer to the giantess they'd been running from.

There was another layer to the sexual pleasure that Inari was bringing herself as she masturbated, her eyes half-closed as her physical stimulation combined with that sense of hunger slowly starting to be filled. Breathing heavily, she kept on playing with herself, forcing her passage open as she watched what was happening down below.

Countless lives found themselves suddenly pulled inside Inari's cunt, almost as if they'd been sucked up by a gigantic vacuum. The scent and taste of the giantess' pussy saturated their senses totally and completely as they were drawn further inside, the darkness around them growing deeper and deeper as the sounds of the giantess' body echoed out around them. Those who went too far in found their consciousness starting to fade, drowning in sexual fluids or brutally crushed by the muscular contractions of her sexual pleasure.

Every single life lost to her snatch sent another little shock of sensual pleasure through the giantess' body, as if another finger or a lover's pair of lips were kissing against her in yet another place. The sensation was overwhelming, building up inside her as her gasps and moans echoed out across the city.

Just as her own orgasm began to build so too did her growth. Waves of sexual pleasure rocked through her, and as each one emanated from her pussy and spread to the tips of her toes and ears she felt herself pulsing bigger, the slow satisfaction of merely eating people replaced by rapid-fire bursts of sensual delight.

As she shivered with pleasure, eyes narrowing, her feet once again tore a path of destruction through the city before her, entire blocks being ground to dust and debris by nothing more than the expansion of her body. Buildings that she'd been crawling over before now simply fell to pieces as the curves of her ass pushed against them...

And it didn't stop. Her pleasure just kept building, and she kept on...

Growing...

And growing...

Inari closed her eyes, her toes curling inward for a second and her back arching as her orgasm finally reached her. Crying out with a moan that shattered glass and set off countless car alarms, she announced her pleasure with a voice that made thunder seem insignificant. Pulling her hand free of her crotch, she spent half a minute simply bathing in the afterglow of her orgasm, her body occasionally twitching and causing even more destruction.

Getting up on her knees, Inari licked her lips as she looked down at the city before her. She'd been causing all that destruction... but there was so much untouched city for her to play with, and it all looked even smaller from up here. She hadn't realised just how much she'd grown during her play, but now that she was looking down from above she could feel herself getting wet once again. "I'm the tallest thing for miles, and I'm not even standing up..."

The ground shook and trembled once again as Inari slowly rose up to her full thousand foot height. "The world looks a lot different from up here... a lot smaller. I think I've outgrown this part of the city - time to move on to greener pastures." Those burning eyes looked over the city, before suddenly locking on to her next target.

Inari was still on the outskirts of the city, further away from the CBD, which meant there were barely any buildings that even made it up to her ankles... but she found herself staring at a rather conveniently sized skyscraper. Looking down and thinking for a moment, she tapped a finger against her lips before giving them another lick."... and that looks like the perfect appetiser before I move on to the main course in the CBD."

Inari didn't pay any attention to the buildings in between her and her target, no more than she would to the carpet in her old apartment... and to exactly the same effect. Every single booming, quaking step ended countless lives and inflicted millions of dollars in property damage as she simply walked to her destination.

It wasn't long before she was standing directly in front of the skyscraper, her perfect skin reflected on the gleaming, sunlit facade. "It's a bit bigger than what I'd play with back before this all started...but I think I'm up for the challenge."

Noticing the news helicopter flying about, she smirked before getting into position, bending forward slightly and raising her tail to make sure that the cameras got a perfect shot of her naked sex - and gave her butt a slap that echoed down throughout the city."Hang on a sec... I didn't realise just how wide my hips had gotten. I can't even see what I'm doing past my own curves... the kind of problems only a goddess would have."

Turning around with some more booming steps, Inari lowered herself down into a squat, making sure to guide her crotch down until her dripping wet lips were hanging directly above the roof of the skyscraper. Beads of her natural lubricant fell down with a splash, landing on the air intake vents and flooding the building's interior with the sweet, heady scent of her arousal.

Spreading her folds open, Inari leaned forward and looked over her mountainous breasts to the best of her ability, making sure that she was in just the right spot. "I can tell that there are still plenty of people inside, too... now we get to see what's stronger - my orgasm or an entire skyscraper."

Inari lowered herself down slowly, shivering and gasping as she felt her folds slowly stretching out and enveloping the roof. Her sexual fluid was running down the glass in transparent trails, and the warmth radiating from her thighs left the inside of the building feeling incredibly warm. As the building itself began to conform to the giantess' body, the sounds of twisting metal and shattering glass echoed through every floor.

Gasping with pleasure as she felt herself stretching out around the sudden intrusion, Inari almost lost control of her legs... almost. Lowering herself down even more gradually, she forced more and more of the building inside herself, stretching herself apart as she took just a bit more of the building into her depths - until she lost control.

Inari's legs gave out from under her as she felt the metallic frame of her makeshift dildo provide just enough resistance to avoid crumbling apart, the resulting pleasure enough to bring her gigantic butt slamming down against the ground and leaving another impact crater, her feet carving more wide swathes of destruction as they spread out. Her pussy clamped down hard on the skyscraper she'd turned into a sex toy, her contractions gripping onto that new source of pleasure and unwilling to let it go.

Even the throes of Inari's pleasure were more destructive than an earthquake, her feet tearing through building after building as her tail crushed even more behind her. The strength of her sex clamping down and gripping onto the skyscraper she'd shoved inside of herself was even greater than the foundations holding it to the ground, and as she leaned back she ripped it clean off the ground, turning what had once been a productive place of business into a more convenient toy.

As her fingers danced over her clit, Inari couldn't stop herself from leaning back, the pleasure coming from inside her growing too much for her to handle. Not only was she feeling the simple physical stimulation of the building itself, her divine senses could pick up the fear and terror of the people trapped within. Those on the higher floors had found their view of the outside world totally replaced by that of the walls of her cunt, the glass breaking in some places and filling rooms up with sexual fluid... and all of it magnified the pleasure she was feeling.

Moaning and gasping, Inari fell down on her back with another tremendous boom, her bust sticking up into the air even as she destroyed an entire city block - solely due to her masturbatory pleasure, her gigantic body causing so much destruction without even a thought.

Inari's hands spread across the ground and her head turned to the side as she felt another orgasm rock through her body, shivering and moaning and bucking her hips with another series of booms, clouds of dust and debris shooting up against the perfect skin of her inner thighs as every little twitch demolished another building.

The fox-spirit was still breathing heavily as she recovered from her most recent orgasm, shivering and twitching as every movement caused the toy inside of her to shift about and touch another part of her sensitive sex. Slowly lifting herself back off the ground, she let out a long, satisfied sigh. "Aaah... I haven't been satisfied like that...ever."

The news helicopter that had been filming the giantess had been buzzing about her for quite a while now - but the giantess had gotten so big that even maintaining a healthy distance was no longer possible. Inari was so huge that even the slight movements of her tail created eddies and currents of air that made the helicopter incredibly hard to control... and now they'd gotten too close.

"There you are...I'd heard that annoying buzzing for a while now, but I left you alone. It's not like I don't want the world seeing me - I'm sure the videos you guys have taken will live on forever online. But now... I'm so big every single camera in the city's going to be locked on me. And besides..."

"I could use a few more lives. Consider it your payment for getting so much great footage." Inari's tail suddenly swatted the helicopter down out of the sky like it was a mosquito, the fluffy tail effortlessly destroying it with a slight thwack.

The sparks of pleasure sent along her tail and up her spine created by the absorption of the souls of the reporters in the helicopter reminded Inari that her toy was still inside her - and now there was nothing distracting her from extracting as much pleasure from it as she could.

Falling back down on her side and creating another earthquake, Inari pushed the skyscraper deeper inside herself, her cunt stretching out around the metallic intrusion before her walls instinctively clamped down, the metal frame creaking and straining under the immense pressure of her pleasure as her gigantic body sent more waves of destruction rocking out throughout the city below.

"Aaah, I haven't gotten it all the way in... I can do better." Lifting herself up off the ground, debris and ruins falling down from her back as she did, Inari looked through the valley of her cleavage and pressed her hand against the base of the skyscraper, shivering and biting down as she forced it deeper inside of herself. Every single meter of progress teased out another gasp of pleasure, another fluttering of her eyelids as she swallowed up more and more of her toy.

The moment she managed to completely envelop the building Inari felt herself orgasm once again, crying out loud and moaning as her body thrashed against the ground. One of her breasts crashed down on and wiped out another set of buildings, concrete and metal breaking apart in a second as it was buried under tons of titflesh.

As another of her thundering moans echoed out across the ruined cityscape, Inari felt herself rolling from side to side as her body was wracked with waves of overwhelming sensation. The walls of her cunt contracted against the building stuck inside it, giving the survivors still trapped inside a view that seemed as if it had come straight from a horror movie, walls of moist flesh pressing and squeezing against the windows in the dark.

...but for all the torment she'd been putting her playthings through, Inari had nothing on her mind but blissful release, her fingers making sure that the skyscraper didn't leave her - and playing with herself all the while, unable to stop herself from extracting every last bit of sensual stimulation she could wring from the torment she was inflicting on those below and inside her. It wasn't much longer before she came once more, crying out loud as the walls of the building inside her creaked and groaned, barely able to withstand the force of her orgasmic contractions.

When Inari could think again she turned herself over, steadying her body on the ground and making the earth shake once again as her breasts came slamming down against the city with an impact that would have dwarfed an erupting volcano. "Aaaah, that felt way too good... but what am I doing wasting my time out here? There aren't nearly as many survivors still hanging around out here for me to get much bigger... I need more."

Her mind too consumed with her need for more stimulation, Inari simply lifted her hand up above the ground as she searched for the biggest concentration of survivors she could reach - and soon found it. "Actually getting back up on my feet with this new body is gonna be tough...not that I'm gonna let that stop me from making the most out of it."

A close-up, high-angle shot of a giant, pale, human-like hand with long, slender fingers. The hand is positioned as if it has just crushed or is about to crush a miniature model of a city. The city model is made of various grey and brown blocks representing buildings and terrain. The hand's skin is smooth and has a slightly pinkish hue. The background is dark and out of focus, showing more of the city model and other parts of the hand. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights on the hand and deep shadows in the city model.

The giant hand that came down out of the sky was enough to effortlessly flatten the building caught beneath, sending out a cloud of dust and debris as what had once been a block of apartments was turned to rubble in the space of a second. Countless people had lived their lives inside those walls - and now those lives were nothing more than fuel for the rapacious goddess who had brought them to an end.

Lifting herself up off the ground, her bust no longer tearing a path of destruction through the city below, Inari let out a sigh as she began to return to her full height, staring down at the destruction she'd caused with a sense of smug satisfaction while the light of the setting sun shone across her body from behind.

A close-up, low-angle shot of a giantess's breasts, which are massive and pale, dominating the frame. They are positioned over a cityscape at sunset, with the sun low on the horizon, casting a warm, orange glow. The city buildings are visible in the distance, appearing tiny in comparison to the breasts. The sky is a mix of orange and pink hues. The overall scene is surreal and awe-inspiring.

The giantess' heavenly physique was now more impactful than actual heavenly bodies, her nipples alone many times larger than the full moon from the perspective of any tiny survivors staring up through the clouds of dust that her movement now generated. It was an awe-inspiring sight, made all the more so by the fact that for so many people it was their last.

As Inari tried to continue standing up, she moved the skyscraper that was still stuck inside of her, the resulting wave of pleasure and stimulating knocking her off balance and bringing her body crashing back down the ground, the earth itself curving and deforming under the impossible weight of her colossal form. "Oops... I think I'm gonna have to actually take that thing out before I stand up."

Looking back and half closing her eyes in anticipation of the physical stimulation she was about to receive, Inari reached back behind the curve of her ass, her knee shifting across the ground and tearing up even more of the earth below. She was now so big that every little motion of her body was an apocalyptic event for anyone unfortunate enough to be caught below. Wincing and shivering, she slowly managed to pull the slick, slime-coated building out of her.

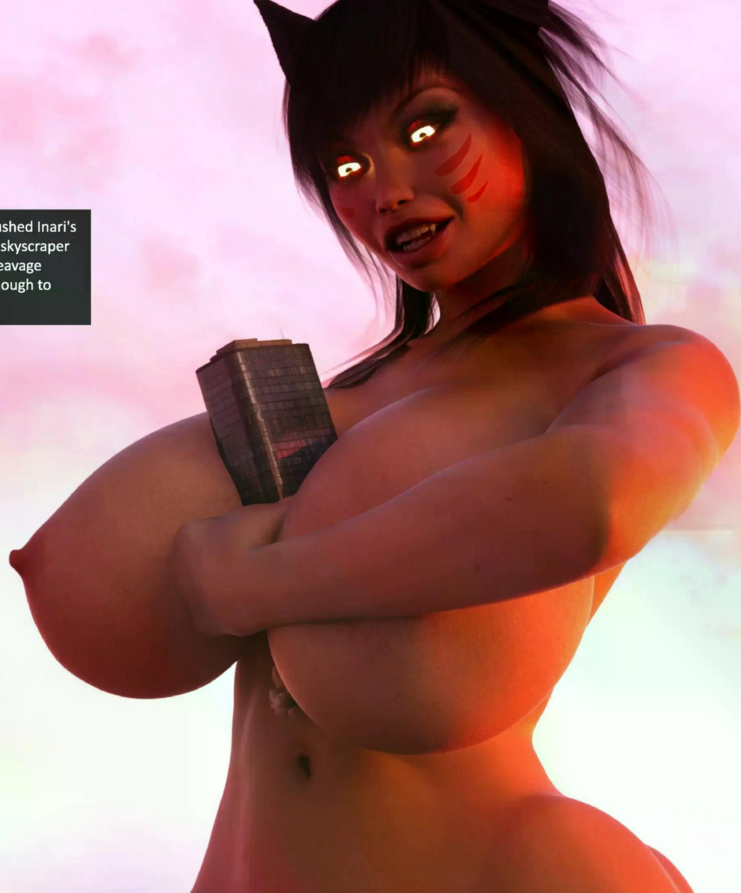

Rising up on her knees as she looked down at her toy, Inari had an impressed expression on her face. "I'm actually surprised that thing managed to survive... but I'm not finished with it yet."

Lifting the building up before her face once more, her fingers pressing against the cracked glass facade, the giant fox-spirit turned her burning gaze over the pussy-juice soaked building and smirked. "I'm impressed... some of you even managed to survive too. That's going to make this next bit feel even better."

There wasn't an industrial machine on the planet that could have pushed Inari's breasts apart - but that didn't mean her hand couldn't. Pressing the skyscraper against one of her tits, Inari made sure it was lodged firmly in her cleavage before slowly loosening her grip. "Even if this building was sturdy enough to survive one of my orgasms... I know it won't make it through this."

Concentrating as she made sure not to let the building fall down to the ground far below, Inari grabbed her breasts with both hands and squeezed them together, the soft flesh pushing against the glass before slowly enveloping the building itself. Even as her fingers brushed against her nipples and sent a few more twinges of pleasure through her body, she kept herself focused on the task at hand.

As the pressure built and built, a few pieces of the skyscraper began to fall down to the ground below - prompting a frustrated growl as she increased the pressure, pushing even more firmly against her bust as she made sure that not a single bit more escaped the fate she had planned.

"What did they even build this thing out of? Must be one of those new earthquake-resistant office buildings..." Her tone growing a bit angrier, Inari pushed against her breasts with even more force, her fingers digging into the soft (for her) flesh even as the skyscraper was compressed and squeezed under even greater amounts of pressure. Walls of warm, soft flesh broke through the windows and broke through the frame of the building, a few stray pieces of debris falling down below in the process.

Scowling as she realised that she actually had to exert herself, Inari gave her breasts one more squeeze - and was rewarded with a plume of smoke and shattering glass as the building finally gave way, accompanied by a terrible snapping noise as some vital support structure inside it broke apart.

Letting out a satisfied sigh, Inari pulled her hands away and let her breasts hang free once again, her broken toy falling down out of the sky once she stopped squeezing it in place. "And there we go... Whoever made that building should get a prize or something - I'm actually impressed it managed to survive as long as it did."

Turning her gaze over to the rest of the city, Inari's gleaming eyes quickly scanned over the central business district, instantly finding the areas with the most survivors left alive.... and looked down at the path before her with a smug grin on her face. "This used to be the kind of commute that would give me nightmares before... but for some reason I don't think the traffic's going to be that bad today." Once again her earth-shaking tread resumed, each heavy footfall sending cracks through a surface that could barely sustain her weight and instantly demolishing anything caught beneath.

PART VIXEN

ART BY REDFIREDOG

WRITTEN BY DCDC420

PART VIXEN

SIZE COMPARISON

PART 7
1000 FEET

PART 6
330 FEET

PART 5
185 FEET

PART 4
120 FEET

PART 3
50 FEET

PART 2
21 FEET

NORMAL PERSON
6 FEET

